

Taxpayers Pay For Losses On Solons' Meals

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anyone on the brink of mental starvation can usually scavenge a nourishing tidbit or two among the left-over news releases in the Senate press gallery.

On my latest visit to the hand-out table, I was able to find some food for thought in the script of a television program, which is produced periodically by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Keating, a New York Republican and part-time monologist, goes on the air to answer questions sent in by his constituents. On this week's program, some of the questions came from inmates of penal establishments.

Keating, who has a way with words, described these letters as "institutional mail." One of the letters he quoted from began like this:

"Dear senator:

"Since I saw you last there has been a radical change in my social status. I am now in prison."

Another letter came from a man in Sing Sing, who told Keating that "You're connected with the federal government, and in a slightly different way, so am I."

The Sing Sing man said he had reason to believe that the food served in the Senate restaurant was superior to that served in the prison dining room. This struck him as being unfair.

"In my opinion all people working for the federal government should get the same food," he said.

In reply, Keating pointed out that not all of the advantages were on the side of the Senate. Senators, he noted, have to pay for their meals.

Keating's rebuttal was well expressed as far as it went, but there were several things that he left unsaid. He could have mentioned, for instance, that the Senate restaurant is to a certain extent subsidized, just like Sing Sing.

The restaurant, which is operated by a private company, has been losing money at the rate of about $42,000 a year. The extra tab is picked up by the taxpayers.

Last Friday, in an effort to promote more "economy and efficiency," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed that

Agency Tackles U.S. Airliner Seats Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has tackled one of aviation's toughest questions—should U.S. airliners be equipped with rear-facing seats for safety purposes?

FAA recently held a conference on the subject with several "interested parties." Now it is studying their comments to determine whether there should be a federal regulation requiring aft-facing seats.

Those comments ranged from violent ayes to equally violent nays. They included:

—The Air Transportation Association (ATA), representing the scheduled airlines, said all available evidence shows rear-facing seats in some crashes could be more dangerous than conventional front-facing.

—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said a lot could be done to make crashes more survivable but that seat direction did not appear to be a major solution.

—Aerospace Industries Association (AIA), representing aircraft and engine manufacturers, recommended further research into the rearward-vs-frontward controversy but expressed "reasonable doubt" that rearward seats offer any real increase in crash safety.

—Armed Forces Institute of Pathology urged immediate adoption of an FAA rule requiring rearward seats.

—Col. John P. Stapp, Air Force rocket sled pioneer, also urged mandatory aft-facing seats but said the federal government should subsidize their cost.

—Capt. Homer Mouden of Braniff Airways, representing the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA), said even if rearward seats were safer, we'd be better off spending the money to make airports safer, inasmuch as that's where most survivable crashes occur.

An ATA official cited studies by the Cornell aviation crash injury research program which showed

(1) that the strength of seat floor attachments and seat belts are more important than the direction of the seat; (2) that in crashes where there are survivors, the speeds involved are so low, seat direction plays little or no role, and (3) there are some crashes involving side or even aft directional forces in which rearward seats would be more lethal than front-facing—such as in a ground-loop, cartwheel or the second and third impacts which often follow initial contact with the ground.

An FAA spokesman said he did not have any idea when the agency would reach any conclusions.

Industrial Team Formed To Help C-C Committee

An industrial team of experts in various fields is being organized to act as an advisory group to the general Industrial Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in seeking new industry for Pampa.

Chamber board of directors meeting yesterday in Coronado Inn, heard a report covering the subject from Floyd Watson, committee chairman.

The advisory team will be made up of individuals familiar with electric power, water, sewage, gas, communications, manpower, taxation transportation raw materials and general community information.

This group, Watson said, will be available to work with the general Industrial Committee in compiling information needed in presenting Pampa to prospective industries looking for an industrial site in the area.

A new brochure covering all fields of information about Pampa also is being put together and will be published soon, Watson said.

In other business at yesterday's board meeting, Lucian Young was named general chairman of the July 4th celebration and fireworks display to be held at 8:45 p.m. Independence Day in Pampa's Recreation Park.

Rules and regulation for the 1962 Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show have been mailed to all vocational agricultural instructors in the Top O' Texas show area, directors were told.

Dates for the show have been set for March 5, 6 and 7 next year.

present to pay tribute to Kinard. In accepting the plaque, Kinard said:

"Actually only a small corner of this plaque belongs to me. There should be a joint ownership with all of the school board members, the teachers, principals and many others who have helped bring about any measure of success we have attained in the past 16 years."

Mrs. Kinard was presented with a bouquet of roses.

Other guests at the luncheon included Rep. Graeger McIlhenny of Wheeler, Charles Smith and Virgil McGee, both of the State Highway Department in Amarillo.

E. Roy Smith, chamber president, presided at the luncheon and announced that it was the final membership meeting until September.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce met jointly with the senior chamber. Some 170 persons attended the luncheon.

na talks between Khrushchev and President Kennedy would not rule out the possibility of war over Berlin unless the Soviet leader alters his present course.

Open warfare is a distinct possibility, they said, if Khrushchev carries out his threat to force the Allies out of Berlin by the end of 1961 or make them deal with the East German Communists in order to stay.

But Khrushchev's renewal of his Berlin threats was not as chilling to U.S. authorities as the disclosure that he completely fails to understand that the President cannot suddenly change course on critical issues or make treaty arrangements without referring to Congress.

U.S., British, and French officials are conferring again on possible military moves to crack the Berlin blockade if Russia gives East Germany control of the access routes to the Red-encircled city.

Baptist Men Cause Fish 'Famine' At Lake Meet

More than 500 Baptist men created a "fish famine" at Cargray lake Monday night, it was learned today.

The men were at the lake for the annual Palo Duro Association Brotherhood fish fry. Last year there were 178 in attendance at the event.

This year the refreshment committee, headed by the brotherhood president, John Gikas of Pampa, prepared fish for about 300 men.

Gikas and his committee, James Nipp and Otto Mangold of Pampa, C. C. Kelly of White Deer and Doug Adkins of Phillips, served the fish along with tea and some accoutrements.

They served 344 men and ran out of fish.

Before the serving of the 344 had been completed, members of the committee saw that the food supply was going to be short. Some of them came into Pampa and obtained nine cooked hams. They returned to the lake. Meantime the plates at the lake had been exhausted. The ham was served

The committee had received payment from the men who had been served fish in sufficient amount to pay the expenses of the event. The ham - eaters suddenly became guests. There were 99 of them. Each man was supposed to have paid $1 to eat fish. The 99 didn't eat fish, so they didn't have to pay. If any of them did it was on a voluntary basis.

Dr. Winnifred Moore of the First Baptist church of Amarillo was the principal speaker.

At the close of the event Adkins was elected the brotherhood president to succeed Gikas.

Other officers elected included Don Ormon of Borger, vice president; Bert Pemberton of Pampa, secretary - treasurer; C. Kelly, stewardship leader, and Roy Stine of Borger, Royal Ambassador leader.

The First Baptist Church of Borger won the attendance banner, reporting 101 men present. The efficiency banner was awarded the First Baptist Church of Stinnett.

The commission agreed to turn $4,000 in insurance money over to the association to help build the new barn.

The city set July 11 as the date to accept bids for the new structure.

Early Kennedy Regime Books Slow Sellers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: The torrents of words out of Paris early this month about Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her ardent admiration for French culture and styles must have escaped undersecretary of State Chester A. Bowles. Or Bowles may be a man of unusually deep conviction on certain subjects.

At any rate, the undersecretary spoke here the other night to the national convention of the American Booksellers Association. The news magazines still were full of photographs of Mrs. Kennedy as she captured Paris in an ultrachic gown by Givenchy, the noted French designer.

Bowles was not talking about Mrs. Kennedy, but about foreign aid and the need for those in recipient countries to help themselves if they are to deserve American assistance. The State Department official said those deservings of aid had to decide whether their own money was to be spent on essentials or frittered away in "such things as French evening gowns and champagne."

There was much back and forth among the booksellers about the flood of volumes about the President and those around him. Not one of the new books has shown any sign of coming close to the popularity of the Chief Executive's own "Profiles in Courage."

The booksellers seemed to feel that some of the early works were too early and superficial to be of lasting value. There was, however, considerable trade interest in the forthcoming "Kennedy Circle," being brought out soon by a new publishing house, Robert B. Luce, Inc., of Washington.

"Circle" was written by 14 Washington reporters, each spotlighting one or more members of the Kennedy team of advisers and cabinet officers. Elie Abel of the Detroit News, for example, did the chapter on Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who was president of the Ford Motor Co. when tapped for the cabinet.

Abel tells how McNamara in his first meeting with Kennedy on Dec. 8, 1960, wanted something set straight the minute he met the President-elect. Did Kennedy write "Profiles in Courage" himself? Assured that Kennedy indeed wrote the prize-winning book, McNamara then proceeded to discuss the business at hand joining the cabinet.

It must have been one of the greater examples of stoicism which few husbands would attempt or undertake, but press secretary Pierre Salinger thinks it is correct that from the time the President injured his back on May 16 until the White House formally announced it June 8, Mrs. Kennedy knew little or nothing about it.

The President's wife was standing only a few feet away from him in Canada when he hurt his back at a Colonial tree planting in Ottawa May 16. They returned together from Canada May 18. They were at Middleburg, Va., together over the weekend of May 20-21. The following weekend, Mrs. Kennedy again was in Middleburg while the President rested at Hyannis Port, Mass., and walked on crutches around the home of his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The elder Kennedy knew about his son's new back ailment, as did the President's brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy who spent the Memorial Day weekend with his family next door to J. P. Kennedy's Cape Cod home.

To have kept the extent of his pain from Mrs. Kennedy all during the subsequent ceremonies in Paris, Vienna and Lodo before she flew off to her holiday in Greece must have taken a certain amount of gritty determination.

1962 Economy Growth Of $40 Billions Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon forecast today that the nation's economy would grow $40 billion in 1962 — a boom rate of expansion of nearly 8 per cent.

Dillon said this prosperity would bring with it wage-price inflation unless labor and management practice "a high order of self-restraint."

In a major defense of Kennedy administration budget policies, Dillon told the National Press Club that the expected $3.7 billion federal deficit in the year starting July 1 "is both inevitable and appropriate."

The secretary asserted in his prepared address the deficit would not be inflationary because there is great unused productive capacity in the nation and a large pool of unemployed labor.

"Rather, therefore, than creating inflationary pressures," Dillon said, the fiscal 1962 deficit "will be helpful in putting our unused plant capacity and labor force to work."

He said "the chances are good" that the nation's total business activity will rise $40 billion in 1962 to a record year-end rate of $570 billion a year.

This would provide a record $90 billion in general tax revenues in fiscal 1963—enough to pay for higher government spending and to reduce the national debt, Dillon said.

HOLDS RECORD

The superliner United States, which averaged 35.59 knots during a trip in July of 1952, holds the trans-Atlantic speed record for liners.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Before Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda left home for his United States visit, a humorous remark in Tokyo was that the most important moment of his trip would come when photographers snapped pictures of him shaking hands with President Kennedy.

In a similar light vein was the warning that in the United States he should take care to see that his wife did not walk behind him.

Among older, tradition-minded Japanese the gesture is a relic of old imperial Japan where indeed the female status was that of a second-class citizen.

Today, although her voice may not be as strident as that of her Western sister, the Japanese female is fully emancipated—as may be demonstrated at any time by a walk through the streets of Tokyo. Her vote counts fully as much as her husband's.

But in the first remark there was a ring of truth.

While Ikeda's leadership of his Liberal Democratic party is not presently endangered, he is not overly popular with all elements of the party and he has been having some legislative difficulty.

Street mobs of the same kind that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Tokyo a year ago, recently also forced the government to abandon efforts to pass through parliament a bill which would have given police greater authority to prevent just such demonstrations.

Among Ikeda's supporters there was the hope that a friendly meeting with President Kennedy would give Ikeda new stature at home.

Three and possibly four topics were uppermost in the minds of the two leaders as they began their talks this week.

One was a perennial. It dealt with the subject of Red China. Among many Japanese businessmen and politicians there is the feeling that U. S. policy toward Red China is too rigid. While Ikeda may be expected to reiterate that his government has no intention of according diplomatic recognition to Peiping, he may also be expected to ask that the United States give greater understanding to the fact that Red China is in Japan's natural trading area.

TV's 'Hennessey' And 'Peter Gunn' Deive into Mystic Arts Realm

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Such skeptics as "Hennessey" and "Peter Gunn" explored the mystic arts in their individual ways Monday night and arrived at the same conclusion: There's always a rational explanation lying about, so never make a to-do over voodoo.

In "Hennessey," a CBS-TV rerun, Roscoe-Karns, as Admiral Shafer, learned that his stabbing pains weren't caused by Harvey Spencer Blair's doll-sticking hobby, but by some extra pins in a new uniform. In the ABC-TV private eye episode in the next time slot, dependable old Craig Stevens showed some fearful Haitians that local disease, fire and murders were caused by a greedy plantation owner, not by voodoo. I've been on the ouija board with Rod Serling, John Newland and Ronald Dahl, those "Way Out" Twilight Zone chaps who go one step beyond the rest of us. They assure me that the scheduling of two anti-voodoo stories on one night is overwhelming proof of voodoo's power. As the song goes, "Voodoo something to me."

"No matter how good a TV documentary series is, we just can't get people to watch it."

Those are familiar words in televisionland. There is ample evidence around to give the statement validity. But before I accept this situation as an unalterable fact of TV life, I'd like to see the networks shake loose and use some show-biz on the problem. They employ ingenious audience building devices for non-entertainment programs. Now let them plug public affairs programs the way they herald new comedy or adventure shows, or variety specials.

At present, if a network has a documentary coming up, the viewer can expect to hear some brief, perfunctory announcements about it during station breaks. Chet Huntley will intone a few words about the crisis in railroad ing or Rhodesia and that's it.

If, on the other hand, an ice skating special is coming up, the plugs are more intensive, more attractive and occasionally delivered on regular variety hours through the guest shot process.

Ad agencies try to get the star of the show to deliver the commercials because they figure the star's popularity will rub off on the product. That is why Jack Paar makes the pitch for micro-nite cigarettes. Dick Clark sells chewing gum, Garry Moore sells cameras and Arthur Godfrey sells you-name-it.

Why, then, can't Perry Como or Dinah Shore pause between songs and deliver a plug for a forthcoming "NBC white paper"? Why can't Ed Sullivan, who has plugged countless motion pictures on his show, plug an important "CBS Reports" presentation? Why can't Lawrence Welk personally call on his fans to give the next "Close-Up" a look?

Non-entertainment programs such as "Railroads: End of the Line?" or "Algeria and e-Gaulle" or "The Troubled Land" all contain gripping scenes that could be shown, coming-attraction style, on popular variety shows to help hook an audience.

This show-biz approach is based on the theory that a significant number of viewers have voluntarily shut themselves out from TV documentaries. To them, the mere thought of a documentary connotes heavy going.

If it takes a Garry Moore or a Perry Como to open their eyes to the kicks they're missing, I say it's worth the try. Until the networks try blending some carefully designed plugs for public affairs programs into their high-rated entertainment shows, it seems unfair for them to claim that the task of building audiences for non-entertainment programming is a hopeless, thankless task.

The Channel Swim: Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany will be interviewed next Sunday on ABC-TV's "Editor's Choice." The subject: "Khrushchev's Stern Attitude Toward Berlin and West Germany."

Composer-pianist Andre Previn and his jazz trio will perform on CBS-TV's "Accent" next Sunday when the program studies the evolution of jazz styles.

Charles Collingwood and CBS-TV's "Person to Person" cameras visit Chuck Connors and Claire Trevor for the Friday, July 14 half-hour... "The Machine Calls

It Murder," originally presented episode to be seen next season on in May, 1960 as an NBC-TV "Mystery theater" drama, returns to the same Sunday night time slot on July 2. The mystery stars Larry Blyden, Everett Sloan and Betsy Von Furstenberg. Ann Blyth portrays an ostracized frontier saloon dancer in "The Clementine Jones Story," now filming as a "Wagon Train" H. E. Hill or A. J. Hill.

HILLS OF HOME

LUTON, England (UPI) — The postman here has to knock at least twice. If there is a letter addressed to Mr. Hill at 25, West Hill Road, it could be E. H. Hill, now filming as a "Wagon Train" H. E. Hill or A. J. Hill.

Dallas Officers Sight Elephant Grazing On Lawn

DALLAS (UPI)—Two patrolmen saw an elephant yesterday and they swore it wasn't pink.

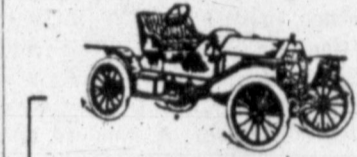

Patrolmen W. A. Everitt and R. L. Cargile rubbed their eyes twice when they spotted the animal grazing on an east Dallas lawn.

They approached with caution, but the 3,000-pound elephant charged them.

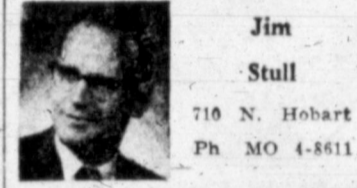

Moments later, one of the patrolmen radioed this message to the dispatcher:

"My partner is being chased by an elephant."

The dispatcher had no instructions. The animal belonged to a soft drink firm's traveling show which tours shopping centers. Its owner soon showed up and quieted the baby elephant, whose name is "Stormy."

President's Condition Stirs Some Questions

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Lest someone spot it and leap to a conclusion, portable oxygen equipment, including tank, inhalator and small tent, goes wherever President Kennedy goes. This is a standard precaution followed for at least the past three presidents as part of emergency medical equipment always on hand when a chief executive is away from the White House.

The presence of oxygen equipment in the baggage of the Kennedy party when the President travels these days bears no relation whatever to his current back ailment. The oxygen moves routinely along with other rather un-aesthetic trappings of the presidency including medical bags, first aid kit, spare batteries for short wave radios and submarine guns.

When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower visited Paris in 1957 shortly after his mild stroke, a French photographer spotted the case containing oxygen equipment and a few hours later, Paris newspapers were in an uproar. Only time and the continued public appearance of Eisenhower calmed the furore. The French press would not be placated by explanations that the same sort of equipment was carried in the back of former President Harry S. Truman's automobile when he occupied the White House, and that it was standard equipment on the travels of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Oxygen is used for resuscitation in accidents or other emergencies. Heart patients frequently carry oxygen bottles in their cars.

Possibly the only time the emergency was in Afghanistan. The high altitude of the capital city, Kabul, and the climb up a long flight of stairs to his apartment in the royal palace left Eisenhower limp with exertion. His doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, placed him under the oxygen mask for about a half hour; then the President got up and attended a royal luncheon in his honor.

Unless the White House is holding back some important medical information—and there is no reason to believe this is true—Kennedy's current back condition is not to be compared with Eisenhower's series of quite serious and dangerous illnesses.

Yet, the manner in which some of the news about the President's back has been handled has led to unfounded rumors and frequent dissatisfaction among the reporters who must keep the public abreast of the chief executive's condition.

The President and some of his inner circle seem to believe that detailed, even technical, medical information about his back might create in the public mind a vision of a chronically sick man. If this is their reasoning, it may be doing the President a disservice.

So he has a bad back. So do countless other American men who go about relatively normal and productive lives, grousing a lot about the discomfort, gobbling aspirin when the pain is acute, wearing all sorts of uncomfortable corsets and constantly comparing notes with each other on specialists, osteopaths, heating pads and new nostrums.

Why, then, would it not be a sound idea for Dr. Travell to sit down with some reporters, go over the whole situation in precise detail and thus save everybody, including the President, a lot of unjustified rumor and speculation?

Graham Invited To Visit Queen

LONDON (UPI) — American evangelist Billy Graham and his wife have been invited to tea with Queen Elizabeth at 5 p.m. Thursday in Buckingham Palace, a palace spokesman said today.

Graham is in Britain on a six-week series of evangelical appearances. He also had tea with the queen during his last "crusade" in Britain.

The spokesman said Prince Philip would not be present at the tea because of another engagement.

Correct Security Record Essential, Official Declares

Is your social security record correct? If you don't know, Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office has some advice on how to find out, and why it is important to do so.

It is really very easy to verify your social security record, Geldon points out. All you need to do is ask your social security office for a free postcard form to obtain a copy of your social security account.

After completing and mailing the form, you will receive a statement in a few weeks telling you what earnings have been posted to your account. If the statement does not agree with your records, contact your social security office.

It is important that your record be correct for two reasons: It is used to determine whether you have worked long enough for you or your survivors to be eligible for social security payments upon your retirement, disability, or death. If you have worked long enough to be insured, your earnings are then averaged to determine the amount of the social security check payable to you and your family.

FALL OUT VICTIM
EVESDON, England (UPI)—Maurice Smith pleaded guilty to driving without a license but refused to accept one piece of prosecution evidence—a statement attributed to him by police: "My license must have fell out of the car."

LAVENDER MONEY?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Inquiring Photographer Jimmy Jemal, who asked opinions on the proposal to color U.S. paper money of different denominations, received this answer from Walter Sheldon for today's column in the New York Daily News:

"It would be my luck to have the big bills colored soft lavender, my wife's favorite color."

A. V. Margo, both of Rio Grande City.

District 4—Bob Allen and W. S. Ródiques, both of Raymondville.

Producer—Handler members and alternates:
District 1—John Benson, San Benito, and Ted Akin, La Feria.

District 2—C. A. Ripley, Mercedes, and Dan Seitz, Pharr, producer—handler members; and Robert B. Johnson, Edinburg, and C. T. Peters, Donna, as their respective alternates.

One of the principal functions of the Texas Valley Tomato Committee is to recommend to the secretary of agriculture—after investigation of supply and demand conditions—the grades, sizes, and qualities of tomatoes which should be shipped from the production area.

FBI And Ohio Family Mix In Wheat Battle

SIDNEY, Ohio (UPI) — The Deloye family of Yorkshire RFD 1, which battled FBI agents over wheat quotas Monday, says the next move is up to the government.

Robert P. Deloye, 30, and the FBI agents disagreed on what happened but both sides said there was a scuffle. They also said guns, pitchforks, children, women and dogs got into the dispute.

Six FBI agents wound up with cuts and bruises.

Henry Deloye, 30, was taken to a Dayton hospital for rest after overexertion.

His son, Robert, was charged with assaulting a federal officer and released under $15,000 bond.

The outbreak came when six FBI agents went to the farm to question the Deloyes. They wanted to know about an attack they allegedly made on two U. S. deputy marshals who went to the farm last February with a federal court order requiring the Deloyes to pay a fine for overplanting their quota.

The government said the Deloyes took after the marshals with an ax.

Robert Deloye accused the FBI agents of trespassing. He said they ignored a notice at the entrance to their property stating: "No trespassing by any federal employe."

"They were ordered off our property twice and refused to leave," he said. "Then we got mad. They pulled their guns. We were all under gunpoint."

Deloye said that he and his father "wrestled around" with FBI agents. The agents won, handcuffing the two men.

Ed Mason, agent in charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, said the elder Deloye lunged at one agent with a pitchfork and that Robert swung at another. Mason said Robert also drove a tractor across the driveway to block the agents' exit once they got on the farm.

"Then the wives, the kids and the dogs all got in the act," Mason said.

Morton Escapee Caught At Farm

MORTON, Tex. (UPI) — R. A. Vestal Jr., 31, who used a broom to break out of jail, was recaptured Monday on his father's farm near Morton.

He was arrested Sunday on a bad check charge and within three hours had used a broom handle to chip his way through the wall of his cell into another room and escape.

The President and some of his inner circle seem to believe that detailed, even technical, medical information about his back might create in the public mind a vision of a chronically sick man.

"With an all-electric home, my wife has time to go on business trips with me in our airplane," Mr. Robinson said. And the travel is as convenient as the electric living, because the landing strip is right at the house.

"We are very happy with the operating cost. The heat pump and the other electric appliances in our electric home are very economical," Mr. Robinson said. Live Better Electrically as the Robinsons do. It's modern living — economical, too.

MODERN TRAVEL MODERN HEAT

HERE ARE MR. and MRS. ROSCOE ROBINSON OF SEMINOLE, TEXAS IN THEIR GOLD MEDALLION HOME

Mr. Robinson uses an airplane in his business — and that's a mighty fast and time-saving way to travel. Modern, too.

But the Robinsons say, "THE HEAT PUMP IS MORE MODERN THAN AIR TRAVEL."

The Robinsons go on to say that "we are more comfortable than in our former home" and they add the fact that "we have less hay fever."

Comfortable — clean — healthful — these are just a few of the advantages of electric heat. Ask your Public Service manager to tell you about electric heat — and the special electric heating rate.

This midsummer bride has beautiful hands, the better to display her sparkling rings. A colorless protective coating has solved the problem of splitting and peeling fingernails.

Sparkling New Wedding Rings Show Off Better On Beautiful Hands

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The bride who doesn't enjoy displaying her wedding ring doesn't exist. On her wedding day and there after people ask to see her rings and she gladly shows them. They are worn, of course, on smooth hands with tapered, lovely nails.
But supposing there's a problem of nails that split and crack — nails that act up if you use nail polish very often?
This is such a common problem that, of course, there has to be a solution. You start with a special medicated cream that's meant to be massaged daily into the cuticle. It gives necessary lubrication where the nail is alive and growing. It also promotes the growth of strong, beautiful nails.
Its companion and ally is a full-strength protective coating that you brush on like polish. This is clear and colorless so you can wear it alone or underneath your favorite polish. It will, the makers

Dear Abby...
Butcher Has
Great Big Mouth
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been gobbling his dinner every night so he can go fishing about 8:30. He doesn't get back until 2 or 3 the next morning. He always has a big catch. I've been having fresh wide-mouth for dinner ever night, and putting some in our freezer, and passing it around to all the neighbors. Can you imagine how I felt when the butcher at the fish market asked me how I liked the fish my husband bought? I haven't spoken to my husband for two days. When I decide to talk — what should I say?
"FISHERMAN'S WIFE!"
DEAR WIFE: Tell him if the fish had kept their wide mouths shut they wouldn't have been caught. And the same goes for him and his big-mouthed butcher.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, 24, has accepted a diamond ring from a handsome, married man and the father of three children. She claims she isn't breaking up his home as he now spends more time with her than he spends with his wife. She knows his wife, and says she is a dried-up clothes horse.
Our daughter is willing to continue going with this man in the hope that one day he will get his freedom and marry her. We don't want to stand by and watch her throw her life away waiting for him. We want her to return the ring, along with the clothes and gifts he has given her, and break up with him for good. Or else I want her out of my house. My husband says if she lives alone she will become more involved with this man. She has quit her job (at his request) so they can have more time together. Am I wrong to ask her to choose between us — her parents — and this man? Please help us to help our daughter.
HEARTSICK PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Your husband is right. If you turn her out of your home, her last lifeline to morality and decency will have been severed. Encourage her to go back to work. And pray that she comes to her senses soon and realizes that this man is a selfish, ruthless two-timer who eventually will give her the same treatment he is now giving his wife.
DEAR RABBY: I am 18 and my steady boy friend is a little older, and much more experienced than I am. We are very fond of each other. You could say we are "in love." Like other young couples, we kept after a date.
A while back you had a letter in your column signed "Never Did." It was from a mother who wanted more than anything in the world for her daughter to be married in a white wedding gown because she "never did." I cut out that letter and carry it in my wallet. I have reread it a hundred times. It has helped me. Dear Abby, more than you will ever know. Thank you for printing it. Sign me—

Short Slip Problem Answered By Expert

MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
If you have a sewing problem—ask me. I'll try to help through this column. Just write in care of your newspaper.

SMALL SLIP PROBLEM
Dear Mrs. Picken: I have some lovely nylon slips that are too small for me. What can I do? N. S.
Dear N. S.: Buy two slip lengths of nylon lace insertion or ribbon in a matching color, wide enough so that the two lengths will give you the needed width.

Carefully cut directly down each side seam, or pull the thread (if a chain-stitch), which such seams usually are. Stitch edges of the insertion or ribbon to the cut edges. Use a zig-zagger stitch if you have such on your machine.
Turn ends, stitch them. This method not only increases slips to needed size, but can well decorate the garment.
Silk is more difficult. Hemline of pure-silk can be opened out, washed, and replaced as for cotton, but beware of trying this with rayon.

In shortening a skirt that you may want to lengthen later, be careful to avoid a razor-edge press.

HOW-TO-SHORTEN TIP
Dear Mrs. Picken: I have a lovely long evening dress that is about two inches too long, but the bottom is finished so beautifully I hate to shorten it there. Have you an idea to help me?—M. M.
Dear M. M.: Rip the zipper from the lower end to two inches above the waistline. Lift the skirt up necessary amount, open the waistline and make a new line, cutting off or folding in as much of the skirt length as is required.
Press the waistline and the placet edges. Replace the zipper. In

Auxiliary Selects June Topic Study

LEFORS (Spl) — The Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary met recently in the home of Mrs. Luther Berry. Miss Doris Halley presided as the GA Allegiance was repeated by the group, Rebecca Spardin read the prayer calendar, and prayer for the missionaries was led by Glenda Shirley. Community mission was chosen for study in June.
Miss Shirley was in charge of the program, "A New Beginning in an old World," assisted by Rebecca Spardin, Doris Halley, Oweda Jernigan, Glenda Shirley, Mrs. David Robinson and Mrs. Luther Berry. Closing prayer was led by Mrs. David Robinson.

NEAT SCARF TRICKS
Dear Mrs. Picken: I love chiffon scarves, and in colors to match all my dresses, but I cannot buy them ready-made and haven't time to hem such by hand. Any suggestions?—O. S.
Dear O. S.: Yes, chiffon scarves are lovely — even stoles—of pure silk chiffon and so reasonable in price.
For a stole, just fold selvages together, stitch the ends across and press; or remove selvages, stitch lengthwise edges together and the ends, leaving an opening in one end to turn seams inside.
For single-edge scarves, buy getting a new waistline, it is good to pin a tape around, and mark with chalk the exact line you want on the bodice so it will be correct when finished.

Dear Mrs. Picken: Sleeves in my dress wrinkle as though they had too much material in them. What do you advise?—J. G.
DEAR J. G.: No doubt your sleeves are too full. Rip the sleeves out most carefully.
Mark their tops at the shoulder seams. Pin sleeves to place, working each way from the shoulder seam. Baste each sleeve in.
This should give you a little surplus in the sleeve at the underarm. Just take a deeper seam there. Taper the seam off at the elbow or bottom of the sleeve.
Fit the garment to be sure it is right before restitching.

DEAR MARY BROOKS PICKEN: I have a rayon jersey dress. I took in the side seams to make dress smaller—now seams pucker. What can I do?—C. B.
Dear C. B.: Pin the seam to tissue paper, stretching it in an ever-so-slight curve. Stitch, using a small machine stitch.
Lay seam on your ironing board. Open seam with your fingers, then press it open. Smooth out as you press.
It may be necessary to use a damp cloth over a dry one to insure a completely smooth seam.
Do you have a sewing problem? Send it to Mary Brooks Picken, care of this newspaper. While Mrs. Picken cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in the column.

REDUCING DIETS CAN BE HARMFUL

Doctors at a medical meeting recently, were advised by one of their members to quit calorie counting for their overweight patients and to start finding out what is worrying the fat ones.
"It is true," this doctor stated, "that the obese person is fat because he eats too much and he must eat less to reduce."
A strenuous reducing diet can do a great deal of harm: in some cases possibly more harm than the excess weight. We believe that a strenuous reducing diet should not be undertaken, except upon the advice and supervision of a physician.
And don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulky person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for your doctor. Never take any treatment for a glandular condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "battle of the bulge" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a rigid diet, take off weight, and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation liquid diet over a protracted period.
Vitamins versus Reducing
Within the past year or so, several reducing "Plans" have appeared on the market. You will find by studying the "Plan" that it consists of a regimented diet, vitamins and minerals. Now vitamins have their uses and if you want to take vitamins or your doctor has prescribed them for you for a specific lack of any one of a number of vitamins, that is one thing, but for reducing, that is something else again.
If you will study the above mentioned "Plans" you will probably note that the plan calls for a regimented diet, which of course should take off weight. You will also note that the pills or tablets you take are vitamins or minerals. Of course the said minerals and vitamins will help to fortify you for the lack of essential food you are foregoing, but you cannot live on the vitamins. You must have sufficient, well balanced food to maintain health. Therefore, why pay for a "Plan" if you want to go on a starvation diet, you can do it very easily, but as we mentioned before, a rigid diet should not be attempted without your doctor's advice.
The Harmless Way
Here is a way to help you take off weight that is not based on the rigid diet and vitamin "Plan."
You eat what you want, but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates. The preparation referred to is called Barcenatite, which you can get at any drug store. Over nine million bottles of this preparation have been sold in Texas in the past 18 years.
Here is all you do. Just get a four-ounce bottle of Liquid Barcenatite from your druggist. Four contents into a pint jar. Add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful (twice a day, as per directions on label). That's all there is to it. There is nothing harmful in Barcenatite. In fact, thousands of people take it after losing the required weight, as a tonic. You can lose weight with Barcenatite without starvation diet or calorie counting. Cost just $1.59.
LOST 30 POUNDS
Here is a letter from another grateful user of Barcenatite. This one from Mrs. Paul Cooksey, 606 25th St., E.R., Pampa, Texas. Mrs. Cooksey wrote as follows: "I stay trim; the Barcenatite way. It is a simple, practical way to lose weight. I have lost 30 pounds taking Barcenatite and continue taking it as a tonic for the wonderful feeling of pep, vim and energy it gives you."
LOST 15 POUNDS
Mrs. J. Wright, Sr., 119 N. Starbweather, Pampa, Texas, writes us that she had lost 15 pounds taking Barcenatite and now takes it as a tonic.

Remember The White Sox? 'Not Dead Yet' Says Lopez

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Remember the Chicago White Sox?
Or more important, remember all those snickers less than two weeks ago when Al Lopez said they still could win the American League pennant?
No one is laughing any more at either Lopez or the suddenly come-alive White Sox, who have won 11 of their last 12 games and now are the hottest team in the majors.
Lopez rates some kind of a bow. He claimed the White Sox could

E. T. Hicks, D.D.S., announces the removal of office to 710 W. Francis Orthodontics exclusively Phone 5-4018 still win it all 11 days ago—when they were in 10th place.

"The Giants were 13½ games behind in 1951 and they came on to win," Lopez recalled. "They were that far back in August. This is only June, so how can anyone say we're dead yet?"
Lopez has a point, particularly the way the White Sox have been moving up. They're now sixth, only 1½ games out of fifth, and even though they're still 11 games off the pace, like Al says, there's still a long way to go.
The White Sox ran their latest winning streak to four games Tuesday night by beating the Cleveland Indians, 5-3, and handing Jim (Mudcat) Grant his first defeat of the season following seven straight victories.
Grant lasted only one inning during which the White Sox scored all their runs. Rookie J. C.

Martin capped the rally with a three-run homer. Turk Lown who relieved starter Billy Pierce after the Indians scored all three of their runs in the fifth, scored his fifth victory.
The Detroit Tigers lengthened their lead to 1½ games with a 5-4 triumph over the Washington Senators; the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Athletics 6-2; the Minnesota Twins nipped the Baltimore Orioles 5-4 and the Boston Red Sox outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 11-8.
The Cincinnati Reds retained their 11-game lead in the National League, beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 11 innings, although dropping the nightcap, 6-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers took over second place with a 3-0 win over the Chicago Cubs; the Milwaukee Braves edged the San Francisco Giants, 2-1, and the Pittsburgh Pirates handed the Philadelphia Phillies their sixth straight setback, 6-2.
Norm Cash hit his 20th homer and a triple in the Tigers' triumph over the Senators. Jim Bunning evened his record at 6-6 but Hank Aguirre had to bail him out when Washington rallied for four runs in the eighth. Dick Donovan suffered his sixth defeat. All have been by one-run margins.
Roger Maris belted his 28th homer as the Yankees moved into second place with their victory over the A's. Bill Stafford won his fifth game although Jim Coates mopped up. Joe Nuxhall was the loser.
Pinch hitter Julio Becquer's homer in the last of the ninth off Jack Fisher was the payoff blow for the Twins after Earl Robinson's homer in the top of the ninth had tied the score. Harmon Killebrew hit his 17th homer for the Twins. Reliever Chuck Stobbs was credited with his first victory of the year.

Bill Monbouquette was staked to an eight-run lead by the Red Sox but still failed to go the distance against the Angels. Leon Wagner hit his 17th homer for the losers, Earl Averillo his 12th and Steve Bilko his sixth. Carl Yastersonski hit his fifth for the Red Sox, who kayoed loser Eli Grba in the second inning. Monbouquette's record now is 7-6 and Grba's is 5-7.
The Reds ran their winning streak to six games by beating the Cards in the opener when reliever Bob Miller walked Don Blasingame with the bases full in the 11th, but Bob Gibson checked the league-leaders on five hits in the nightcap. Joe Cunningham drove in three runs with as many hits in the finale to send Joey Jay down to his fourth loss against night victories. Reliever Jim Brosnan was the winner in the first game.
Sandy Koufax struck out 14 Cub batters and hurled a two-hitter in posting his 10th victory for the Dodgers. Koufax had a no-hitter until Ernie Banks singled with two out in the seventh. The only other hit off him was Don Zimmer's single in the ninth. Glenn Hobbie (4-6) was the loser.
Warren Spahn registered the 296th victory of his career and his eighth of the season in holding the Giants to four hits. The Braves collected six hits off Mike McCormick, two of those being homers by Hank Aaron and Frank Bolling. The defeat dropped the Giants to third place.
Two-run homers by Dick Stuart and Don Hoak proved to be the margin of Pittsburgh's victory over the Phillies. Both blows came off loser Art Mahaffey (6-7).

Max Hickey, Chisum In City Meet Finals

Max Hickey survived a last gasp effort by Grover Heiskell on the final hole here Tuesday afternoon to gain the finals of the Pampa City Golf Tournament.
Hickey will meet Melvin Chisum, who eliminated Buster Carter, 1-up, today at 4 o'clock in the finals.
Heiskell, in a dramatic bid to tie the smooth-stroking Hickey, saw his 30-foot putt die inches short of the cup on the 18th hole. He would have sent the match into an extra hole if his putt had dropped.
Cree Ekes By First Bank
Ronald Curlee quelled a First State Bank uprising in the final inning here Tuesday night at Optimist Park to give Cree a narrow 7-6 win.
Jerry Cudecke was the winner; John Snell the loser.
Ludecke banged out two hits for Cree and York (3-hits) and Massey (2 doubles) featured the losers attack.

Patton Is Favored In 'Southern'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Billie Joe Patton, just getting acquainted with the Holston Hills County Club layout, was one of the men to beat today as the Southern Amateur golf tournament reached the match play stage.
Swinging into actual competition for the first time during the match play will be defending Champion Charles B. Smith, Gastonia, N. C.
Patton, long-time gallery pleaser from Morgantown, N. C., won Southern Amateur medalist honors for the third time Tuesday, qualifying with a low five-under-par 129. The unexpected entry played Holston Hills for the first time Monday, firing a 71.
On Tuesday, the happy-go-lucky lumberman improved that by three strokes with a hot 33 on the back nine and only 26 putts for the day's work.
Patton has never won the crown and his best showing so far was runnerup in 1955.
"I actually played better Monday as far as hitting the ball, but I was chipping them much closer Tuesday and naturally I was putting better since I didn't leave those long putts," Patton said.
The low 64 from a field of approximately 200 faced a cut-off mark of 156 and a playoff today was necessary to decide the final qualifiers. A steady rain fell Tuesday and the weatherman predicted more of the same today.
Trailing Patton by one stroke were young Dudley Wysong, McKinney, Tex., and Gilbert Wesley, Red Bay, Ala., who had qualifying marks of 140. Wysong Tuesday came up with the best round of the tournament, a 67.
Bunched at 142 were Bert Burdick, Baton Rouge, La., and John Gross, Jr., Birmingham, Ala.
Dave Smith of Gastonia, brother of the defending champion, and Dillard Traynham had 143s and University of Tennessee Freshman Randy Glover, Florence, S. C., had a 144.
Former champions qualifying included Ed Brantly, Signal Mountain, Tenn., with a 148; Charlie Harrison, Atlanta, 148; and Tommy Barnes, also of Atlanta, 149.

Maris Holds 18-Game Bulge On Ruth's Mark

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Maris holds an 18-game bulge on Babe Ruth's magic record of 60 home runs in a season today but all it gets from the New York Yankee slugger is a deprecating shrug.

Statistics say that the young man from Minnesota could break Ruth's most sought after mark. He is 10 games ahead of Ruth's pace and has an additional eight games because of league expansion; his current homer pace figuring out to a rough, round 65 blasts.

"But nobody is going to break Ruth's record," the sharp-featured Maris asserts. "And that includes me."

All modesty aside, however, Maris certainly seems in position to mount the most serious threat to Ruth's record since Ralph Kiner hit 54 in 1949. It is conceivable, too, that he may make a run at or past the 58 belted previous to that by both Jimmy Foxx and Hank Greenberg.

There are several solid reasons why the green-eyed 26-year-old Maris figures that he, at least, will not be the one to shatter Ruth's record. The first is that a bug on timing, he feels a hitter can lose this precious ingredient on a moment's notice. Once it is gone, all record possibilities go with it.

The second is that the closer any hitter gets to Ruth's mark, the more rival pitchers start to bear down on him. In this case, even if he retains his timing, the odds are that he'll start drawing more and more walks instead of being able to swing freely at anything in the vicinity of the plate.

"I'm more concerned with my batting average," Maris insists. "That's the thing that figures to help the team more than anything else I can do."

Maris realizes only too well the many things which additionally can stop a player just when everything looks rosy. In his case it has been such items as broken ribs and an emergency appendectomy. Both times it knocked him out of action, ruined his timing and made a fiasco of his hopes.

Yet, these personal disasters led to his current position as a key member of the Yankees, Cleveland and Kansas City both gave up on him to give him his shot in Bronx pin stripes and his initial payoff was winning honors last season as the American League's Most Valuable Player.

His average didn't do it.

That was a mere .283. But he hit the jackpot by leading the American League in runs batted in, with 112, and was second to Mickey Mantle's league leading 40 home runs by a mere matter of one.

There are those who assume that Maris has changed. For he was labeled early as a malcontent. The answer is that, while shy, he actually is articulate and bluntly outspoken.

THIS TIME OF YEAR? — Norman Snead, left, former quarterback for Wake Forest, slips the ball to Art Baker, who played fullback at Syracuse, in practice for All-America Bowl Game to be played in Buffalo, N.Y., Friday night.

All-American Bowl Lineups Announced

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Tentative starting lineups were announced today for the first All-American Bowl football game Memorial Stadium.

The coaches of the West squad, Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Washington's Jim Owens, presented their starting eleven Tuesday after a rain-drenched practice session at the University of Buffalo's Rotary Field.

The number one unit included Marv Luster of UCLA and Danny La Rose of Missouri at ends; Kurt Genger of Washington and Roland McDole of Nebraska at tackles; Wayne Harris of Arkansas and Rufus King of Rice, guards; Roy McKasson of Washington at center; quarterback Bob Schloredt of Washington; halfbacks Glynn Gregory of Southern Methodist and Tom Mason of Tulane and fullback Tom Watkins of Iowa State.

Rip Engle of Penn State and Bill Murray of Duke, coaches of the East team, said they would use alternating lineups with most players getting a chance at both offensive and defensive assignments.

The first east unit included Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh and John Brewer of Mississippi at ends; Joe Rutgens of Illinois and Ken Rice of Auburn at tackles; Tom Gilburg of Syracuse and Al Vanderbush of Army at guards; Tom Goode of Mississippi State and Allen Green of Mississippi alternating at center; quarterback Norm Snead of Wake Forest; halfbacks Joe Bellino of Navy and

Docs Advise 'Smitty' To Give Up Baseball

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal catcher Hal Smith was told by doctors Tuesday that he should quit baseball because of a heart ailment.

The 30-year-old Smith, who says "I never felt better in my life," was told by one of his doctors that if it were for him to decide he would not let Smith play again.

"The sickest I've been," said the still jovial Smitty, "was when they made me smoke cigarettes in a test."

The examination, which took eleven days, indicated that Smith is suffering from a coronary artery condition which was first evidenced by upper abdominal and chest pains two weeks ago.

Doctors said that the stocky backstop must have complete separation from physical activity and have recommended that Smith rest for at least three weeks.

Smith was hitting 248 when he left the lineup and had 10 runs batted in. Rated by many as the best defensive catcher in the game, Smith appeared in the 1959 All-Star game. His best year with the Cardinals was in 1956 when he hit .282.

Smith is still undecided as to what he will do when he leaves the hospital. Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine told Smitty, "there is a place in the Cardinal organization for you if you want it."

He is also considering doing a radio show similar to one he has been doing in the off season in St. Louis. Smitty is a great fan of country music and has written and recorded some songs of his own.

Smith is a native of Barling, Ark., and one of three youngsters.

This is the second time that a catcher has had to give up his playing career because of a heart ailment. Bill Sarni, a one time catcher with the Redbirds before being traded to the Giants in 1957, was forced out of baseball that same year with a heart condition.

Bye-Bye Joe?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—For Joe Gordon, the third parting from Frank Lane could end a colorful baseball career for the former manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

Gordon, fired without warning Monday after leading the club to its most successful road trip since it came here in 1955, has begun thinking seriously of quitting baseball for good. He has managed in the American League almost four years, most of them under Lane.

But the straw that broke Gordon's baseball ambitions came when he was dismissed as Kansas City's field manager on orders from club owner Charles O. Finley, who had several run-ins with his manager over the handling of players.

"I suppose there are a lot of things I might say, but what would it accomplish?" Gordon commented, before leaving here today for his home in Sacramento, Calif.

"I don't know whether I'll ever go back into baseball," he added. "Things like this make you wonder if you want to stay in this business."

Herb Adderley of Michigan State; and fullback Claude Gibson of Bill Brown, both of Illinois.

Mohawk Pounds One Bull, 11-7

Gary Molberg, winning his fourth game of the season, allowed only four hits as Mohawk Signs defeated One Bull 11-7 in a Western League game Tuesday night at Western Park.

Molberg settled down behind fine defensive play to hold One Bull in check after Nick Brumfield's grand slam homer had given the losers a short-lived lead in the first inning.

Losing pitcher was Sherman Mitchell.

Lane Hooten and Dave Schaub contributed sterling defensive play for the winners.

Milliron Edges Shelby Ruff

Milliron Engineering kept pace with league leading B&B Pharmacy Monday night at Optimist Park as they struggled to a 9-3 victory over a "luckless" Shelby Ruff team in an Eastern League Game.

Both Milliron and B&B are now 9-2; Ruff 6-4.

Milliron's John "Buzzy" Franklin pitched a steady eighthitter to earn his fifth win and contributed to his own cause with two hits.

Brother Mark Franklin rapped his fifth homer, a single and double to pace the winners attack on losing pitcher Leroy Slater, who deserved a better fate.

Slater whiffed six but bad hops and miscues kept the "game" hurler in hot water.

Tommy Rose (2-for-3) and Larry Turcotte (2-for-4) paced Ruff at the plate. Mike Edminister, Carl Lang and Mick Porter sparkled at the bat for the winners.

B&B Pharmacy Rips C&M TV

B & B Pharmacy snapped a two-game losing streak Monday night as they ripped C & M TV, 15-3 in a Northern League game at Eastern Park.

Winning pitcher was Jim Hollis; losing hurler was Mike Pursley.

Leading hitters for the winners were Hollis (4-hits), Rob Clements (4-hits) and Gary McCarrell (3-hits).

C & M's leading batsmen were C. Combs (2-hits) and Gary Ikard (4-hits).

Windsor, 28-4

Windsor, benefitting from a "zillion" walks, waltzed to a 28-4 win over Sealtest Tuesday night in Eastern League play at Eastern Park. It was their ninth win without a loss.

H. D. Larue was the winner; Gomez the loser.

Story behind the headline:
Sandra Palmer Repeats As Women's West Texas Golf Champ

"If only my putt had dropped on No. 19."

Lila Austin, Pampa's top feminine par-buster, was bemoaning her fate Tuesday in last weeks Odessa Tourney.

The smooth-stroking Pampa Golfer — who later captured Championship consolation honors — was eliminated from the top bracket during the tournament's first day of competition by El Paso's Mrs. Mike Baimas.

Lila's Waterloo came on the 22nd hole, when she bogied while Mrs. Baimas's was turning in a par.

Lila, in describing the end, says: "I drove my tee shot into the rough, my second shot I missed, and my third try sailed over the green. Then, my approach shot, which would have halved the hole had it been good, landed three inches shy."

In proving that golf is a "game of inches," Lila missed a golden opportunity to end the match on the 19th when her birdie putt was only two inches shy.

Lila's consolation prize was won in unusual circumstances.

She advanced to the finals by eliminating Susan Alstrien of Midland on the 6th hole of the front nine and won in the finals by taking out Mrs. J. R. Brown on the sixth hole of the back nine.

"The rain forced us to alternate using the front and back nines," Lila explained.

Good Heavens
The mother of a Houston LL baseball player has been charged with simple assault for fighting with another woman after a kid's baseball game. Mrs. Dorothy Horton, 32, was charged in the court of peace. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Mary Courtney, 35, wife of one of the coaches.

"I took a baseball glove and worked her over all right," Mrs. Horton said Monday.

The fight occurred after a game between the Eagles and Pirates. The Eagles, coached by Mrs. Courtney's husband, lost the game but claimed they won by default because they said the other pitcher was ineligible.
