House Tax Bill Faces Rejection

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas senators generally agreed today that the House's 2 per cent sales tax has gone about as far as it will go in the Legislature.

That is to the Senate State Affairs Committee, where Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center, chairman of the group, said he expected the group to substitute its 2 per cent general sales tax for "that vicious tax." The committee begins hearings on the bill at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

The Senate's tax would hit items costing more than 25 cents. The House levy would apply to items costing more than $5. Food, medicine and farm goods would not be taxed under either bill.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, a committee member, was vehement in his criticism of the House's bill, which passed Saturday after four days of indecisive debate.

"It won't raise the money it will take to print it," Parkhouse said. "The House didn't have the guts to pass a bill that would get the job done."

Many senators said there was no way to determine accurately whether the bill would bring in the $328 million the House estimated.

Lane said if the Senate let the bill go through "it would beat all of us, including the governor and the speaker."

Several members of the House have speculated that the Senate would accept the measure with slight amendments to put the same tax pressure back on the House.

Lane said the House bill was a "warmed over Pennsylvania plan," such as Gov. Price Daniel recommended. Daniel favors a program of selective sales taxes. He campaigned against a general sales tax.

Lane accused the House of sending "something over here with the idea we'd put together a decent sort of bill."

The bill also contains a gas pipeline tax, an increase in driver's license fees, and a two-factor corporation franchise tax formula.

Daniel told lawmakers he thought the bill "was the best compromise" they could pass, whereas he told them in the regular session he would veto the Senate's tax bill.

Lane complained the franchise tax was "watered down."

Parkhouse said the pipeline tax was "just buying a lawsuit." He referred to two previous attempts to tax pipelines that were declared unconstitutional by the courts.

Senators were in no better mood to accept the House's $2.52 billion state budget. They rejected the attempt to substitute it for their $2.49 billion budget and (See HOUSE, Page 4)

Eichmann Trial Draws To Close

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann and his accusers, the state of Israel, rested their cases today on charges that the former Nazi lieutenant colonel engineered the slaughter of six million Jews.

At the request of the prosecution, the court called a nine-day adjournment—until Aug. 3—to give the prosecutor and defense attorney opportunity to prepare their summations.

The end of the presentation of evidence came as the trial was entering its 15th week. It began April 11.

It may take weeks or months for them to decide whether Eichmann is guilty of one of the most monstrous crimes in history and should be sent to the gallows for it.

The prosecution submitted to the court about 1,500 documents and put 112 witnesses on the stand to support its charges.

Eichmann's only defense witness was himself—and the affidavits of 10 former Nazis who testified in foreign courts because they either would not come to Israel or could not for fear of arrest here.

In his five weeks on the stand, under questioning by both his own lawyer and the prosecuting attorney, Eichmann did not attempt to deny that he was involved in the Nazi murder machine.

But he based his defense on the contention that he was only a helpless cog in a bureaucratic machine that carried out orders and organized deportation trains, and that he never ordered the liquidation of Jews himself.

U. S. Demands Castro Release Seized Airliner

MIAMI (UPI) — The 38 persons aboard a hijacked Eastern Air Lines Electra passenger plane were being held incommunicado today by the Castro government, despite U. S. State Department demands that they and the $3.5 million aircraft be promptly released.

NONSENSE — Marlene Schmidt, Miss Universe 1961, a refugee from East Germany, labeled as nonsense a charge by East German Communists that the U.S. rigged the flight of East German refugees to the West. In New York on vacation, the 24-year-old beauty said she fled to West Germany from the Soviet zone a year ago and her winning couldn't possibly have had anything to do with flights of refugees.

At noon today Cuba announced the plane passengers would be released.

The passengers, who included top-ranked Cuban boxer Luis Rodriguez, went to lunch Monday under armed guard. They are being held at the Jose Marti airport hotel in Havana. The plane sat today at the end of airport runway.

In Havana, the government-controlled newspaper El Mundo said authorities had examined the passengers and crew members in an effort to establish their identity and the circumstances that led to the "unexpected arrival" of the airliner in Cuba.

According to El Mundo, the plane was re-routed by a passenger who explained he acted because U. S. authorities had repeatedly refused to permit him to go to Cuba.

A UPI Havana dispatch reported that Cuban authorities were trying to make contact with representatives of Eastern Air Lines to arrange for returning the rest of the passengers to the United States.

The State Department demanded through the Swiss embassy in Havana that the Cuban government release the plane, its 33 passengers and 5 crewmen.

Gilbert de Dardel, counselor of the Swiss embassy, said he was denied permission to see the passengers by Cuban military intelligence.

De Dardel told United Press International in Miami by telephone that he delivered the U. S. (See AIRLINER, Page 4)

City Commission Upset About Urban Plan Deal

Pampa's City Commission indicated in no uncertain terms today that it is not happy with the contract entered into between the former City Commission and a Dallas consulting engineers' firm to draw up an overall comprehensive plan for land use in Pampa's urban area.

The firm of Koch & Fowler and Grafe, Inc., of Dallas, has been working on the plan and Charles T. Spivey, director of planning for the consulting engineers, already has filed two extensive interim reports on work completed thus far. Spivey has appeared before the City Commission each time a report has been filed.

The planning reports by the Dallas engineers are prepared under contract for the Texas State Department of Health and financed in part with an urban planning grant from the Housing and Home Finance Agency under Section 701 of the Housing Act of 1954.

The City Commission today received a bill from Koch & Fowler and Grafe for the second report which was filed last month. The city already has approved payment of $4,050 for the first report. Today's bill for the second report was in the amount of $4,480. Four more interim reports are due on various phases of the comprehensive plan. Total cost of the project is $20,000.

Fair And Warmer Weather Forecast

Fair and warmer. That's the weather forecast for Pampa and vicinity through Wednesday.

Late tomorrow there may be some high cloudiness over parts of the area—but hardly more than that, according to the outlook today.

Tonight's low will be 68. Tomorrow's high 96.

President Keeps Silent About Crisis Proposals

People To Hear Of Program In Speech Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today kept under close wraps the proposals he will lay before the American people tonight to meet the Berlin crisis.

Democratic congressional leaders held their weekly conference with the President at the White House but reported that he did not tell them what he would say in the radio-television address he will deliver at 8 p.m. CST.

Nor, they said, did Kennedy reveal the contents of the message he will send the House and Senate Wednesday to carry out the steps he will announce tonight. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the President was still working on tonight's speech.

He said it was not being changed substantially but was being redrafted by the President and his staff assistants.

Kennedy's follow-up message to Congress will refer to civil defense, Salinger said. The President was reported to have decided to call for an expansion of the nuclear bomb-shelter program.

Salinger labeled the speech as "important" but declined to go along with the description of "second inaugural address" coined by at least one Washington correspondent.

The President's multi-purpose program, sure to involve a certain degree of new national sacrifice and austerity, was aimed at preparing Americans for continuing East-West tension, as well as potential trouble over Berlin.

Much of what he says to the nation tonight will be incorporated in a message to Congress Wednesday asking for specific legislative action. The White House said other messages dealing with preparations for recurring international crises, might go to Capitol Hill later.

Kennedy's speech text was one of the more carefully prepared documents of his six months in office. After returning Monday from a weekend on Cape Cod, the Chief Executive kept his schedule free of appointments and conferred with a series of top advisers.

He was expected to ask for authority to raise the ceiling on the size of the armed forces by as much as 100,000 men, plus increasing the draft calls next month, adding two new divisions to the Army and one new Marine division, calling some specialists in the armed forces reserves into active duty and accelerating certain aspects of the civil defense program.

Allies Told Acid Berlin Test Slated

BERLIN (UPI) — NATO Secretary General Dirk Stikker warned the Allied Powers Monday night that Russia might be willing to run "considerable risks" to stop the Berlin gap in the Iron Curtain.

Even as he spoke, refugees continued pouring into West Berlin from East Germany.

Refugee officials said 2,515 East Germans had sought asylum from Saturday through Monday, raising the month's total so far to 23,000. The exodus has been unmatched since the anti-Communist workers' revolt in East Germany eight years ago.

Stikker's speech was broadcast over RIAS, the radio station in West Berlin operated by the U. S. State Department.

"What the Soviets really want is absolutely clear," the Dutch official said. "They wish to completely eliminate this last island of freedom and Western way of life in the Communist empire."

Berlin is completely surrounded by Communist-held territory and is 110 miles from West Germany.

All indications are that the Soviets will unleash a new crisis over Berlin late this summer or early in the fall," Stikker said. "It is clear that we are dealing with a goal of great proportions for which the Soviets may some day be quite willing to accept considerable risks."

Stikker said NATO must match Russia in military strength and determination "lest we undermine the fundamentals of our political and military doctrine."

The East German Communist news agency ADN reported Monday night that a group of American professors, businessmen, trade unionists and religious leaders visited East Berlin Monday as guests of the Communist "German Peace Council."

The group, led by Dr. Jerome Davis, former Yale University professor, wants to study the suggestions made by East Germany for a German peace treaty, ADN said.

The agency said Davis also conferred with Johannes Dieckmann, president of the East German "Peoples Chamber."

Master Masons Slate District Open Air Meet

Some 1,000 Master Masons from 60 lodges in ten Masonic districts of Texas and visiting Masons from neighboring states are expected to attend an open air meeting Saturday night near Skellytown.

The meeting, first of its kind for Masons in the Panhandle, will be held on the Andis Ranch, three miles west of Skellytown.

The meeting is being promoted by Masonic lodges in Districts 52, 95, 96, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102 and 103 in Texas.

Principal speaker for the huge Masonic gathering will be Robert L. Dillard Jr., deputy grand master of Texas Masons, of Dallas. Several other officers from the Grand Lodge of Texas are expected to attend the affair along with other past officers and visiting dignitaries.

Dillard, vice president and general counsel for Southland Life Insurance Co. in Dallas, received the highest honor conferred by the Scottish Rite of Free Masons in 1953 when he was coroneted a 33rd degree, honorary inspector general.

Dillard was born in Corsicana, Texas, and attended school in Wichita Falls. He holds degrees from Southern Methodist and Harvard universities.

Masons are expected to begin gathering in Skellytown shortly after noon Saturday. The Pampa Shrine Club will start serving a barbeque supper at 6 p.m. and the program is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

U.S. Solon Leaves For Cambodia To See About Defects In Road

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Frank Clark, D-Pa., was en route to Cambodia today to see the defects in the Cambodian-American friendship highway which he said were "improperly and unfairly" blamed on one of his constituents.

The highway, built two years ago as America's No. 1 foreign aid contribution to the Southeast Asian country, is falling apart.

Clark, who is traveling at taxpayers' expense, said in a statement announcing his departure that he planned to return later this week and make a report. He is making the trip as a member of the House public works subcommittee on roads.

His constituent is the Michael Baker Engineering Co. of Rochester, Pa., which performed the engineering work on the highway. A representative of the company was reported accompanying him.

Congressional investigators led by Rep. Porter W. Hardy Jr., D-Va., have been inquiring into charges that poor construction and engineering by the Baker firm and the contractor, A. L. Dougherty & Co., of Hammond, Ind., caused the trouble. The road originally was designed to cost $15 million but more than $30 million has been spent on it.

The diplomatic efforts appeared to be a race against time. While Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today sought a face-saving solution for France and Tunisia in the crisis over Bizerte.

Hammarskjold planned further talks with Tunisian-President Habib Bourguiba who invited him to survey the situation personally. The two statesmen conferred for an hour Monday night after Hammarskjold's arrival.

53 Persons Hurt In Train Wreck On Georgia Line

MACON, Ga. (UPI)—A fleet Central of Georgia passenger train skidded head on into a 55-car freight train just 200 feet from a passing track Monday injuring 53 persons.

The scene of the accident was a small switch station at Griswoldville, 10 miles east of here, a virtual ghost town since the Civil War.

All but 22 of the injured were treated at Macon General Hospital and released early today. In serious condition with undetermined injuries was George B. Wheeler, 66, of Savannah, Ga., engineer of the passenger train "Nancy Hanks."

Albert Kelly Sr. of Macon, a crewman aboard the freight said his train was creeping toward the passing track and a flagman had been sent ahead to warn the approaching passenger train.

He said warning "torpedoes," which resemble firecrackers and explode when a train passes over them, had been placed along the tracks to warn the crack Atlanta-Savannah passenger train of the freight's presence.

Kelly said the train skidded into the freight at about 25 miles an hour. Railroad officials placed the official blame for the collision on a "communications breakdown" involving switching arrangements.

None of the passenger train's nine cars was derailed and only four freight cars left the tracks.

Living Costs Toward High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living climbed to a record high in June.

A report today from the Labor Department will show whether it was a new high or the peak first reached last December and equaled in February, March and April.

In advance of the department's release of the consumer price index for June, economists disclosed only that it was higher than in May.

The May reading was 127.4 — meaning prices were 27.4 per cent higher than in 1947-49. This meant it cost $12.74 in May to buy goods and services priced at $10 in 1947-49.

The record high is 127.5. An increase of only two-tenths of a point would lift the index to a new peak.

British To Get News Today On Austerity Plan

LONDON (UPI) — British taxpayers get the bill today for the best years of their lives—the last decade of "Tory prosperity."

Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd was expected to announce new austerity measures to cure what he called the "very, very severe" economic ills that have plagued Britain during the most prosperous years in her history.

Politicians, economists and Britons down to the man in the local pub almost unanimously predicted the chancellor would call for greatly increased taxes, higher bank interest rates, reduced government spending and possibly orders to keep wages and profits down.

In the decade since Sir Winston Churchill led the Conservative party back into parliamentary power, Britons enjoyed an unprecedented fattening of the average man's wallet.

During this time, the average British workman switched from a bicycle to an automobile to get him to work. His weekly paycheck almost doubled to about $40 a week. He got television, a hot water heater and even began switching from tea to the more expensive coffee.

But the "prosperity" caused what Lloyd has termed a period of financial "crisis after crisis."

Overdrafts For Family Bared In Bank Closing

ZAPATA, Tex. (UPI)—Manuel Medina, president of the Bank of Zapata which closed last week and financially crippled the town and county, accepted full responsibility Monday and attorneys said people may not lose as much as was first feared.

Medina showed up at a receivership hearing and identified a bank ledger sheet that showed overdrafts for his family in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

He also said the bank lost more than $200,000 in deposits recently because of a run on the institution.

Medina owns five-eighths interest in the bank. His family owns the rest.

"I am the only one responsible for the management of the bank," Medina also appeared briefly before the county grand jury, but no report was issued. The grand jury recessed until Thursday, and Dist. Judge James Kazen also recessed the receivership hearing until Thursday.

Medina said he would be in Monterrey, Mexico, and available to receive auditors whenever necessary.

The bank is one of the few private banks left in the state. It was not regulated by either a state or federal agency, and there was no insurance on deposits.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., was saying the other day that Congress should look into the national crime situation with special attention to conditions in the capital of the United States. Good idea!

Something special will have to happen to alert the citizens in other parts of the United States to crime in the capital of their country. Maybe something such as the incident during prohibition when a United States senator was shot down on Pennsylvania Avenue in a cross-fire between cops and bootleggers.

It should not be more shocking, however, than the simple statistical story of crime in Washington, D. C., as it is compiled by local and federal officials. The police reported this month that in the capital city of your nation, serious crime had increased by 8.8 per cent in the 12 months ended June 30.

Federal Bureau of Investigation records project a more startling crime rate comparison for the calendar years 1950 and 1960. This was a period in which the population of the District of Columbia decreased by 4.8 per cent.

Comparing the 1950-1960 crime rates, the FBI found increases in serious offenses per 100,000 population, as follows:

Murder	28 per cent
Robbery	58 per cent
Burglary	33 per cent
Larcenies	38 per cent
Auto theft	61 per cent

There was in this period a 2 per cent decline in forcible rape.

Another FBI tabulation reflects (A) the average number of serious crimes reported in Washington during the 1957-59 calendar years, (B) the number of serious crimes reported in the 1960 calendar year, and (C) the percentage change.

Increases in 1960 above the 1957-59 averages were 8 per cent for murder, 11 per cent for auto theft, 13 per cent for aggravated assault, 30 per cent for burglary, 30 per cent for larceny of over $50 and 48 per cent for forcible rape and 57 per cent for robbery.

From 1957 to 1960, the population of Washington decreased something less than 2 per cent. The overall increase in the rate of serious crime per 100,000 of population in that period appears to have been more than 28 per cent.

The American people might be expected to be alarmed and ashamed of the condition represented by these statistics. There is no evidence of alarm, shame or, even, interest. This writer, transplanted to Washington, D. C., from the Osage Plains, believes the general citizenry is uninterested because it does not give a hoot about the capital city of the United States.

The citizens like to vacation here, visit the White House, look at Congress. That is all. Mere curiosity.

Marriage Group Opposes Dating By Early Teens

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the nation's top marriage counselors appealed today to American parents to reverse the "dangerous and unhealthy" trend toward dating in the early teens by outlawing dating by children under 15.

Dr. David R. Mace, executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, writes in the current McCall's Magazine that the development of a libertine generation may well be the deciding factor in our defeat by the "puritan" generation of young Russian Communists. "It seemed to me as I compared the two cultures last year (on a visit to Russia), that America was saying to its youth, 'have fun!' — while the Russians were saying to their youth, 'be disciplined!'"

Mace said that the "unique" American custom of teen-age dating is probably the reason that the American divorce rate is four times that of comparable Western countries; he listed these damaging side effects of dating in elementary, junior high and even high school age groups:

— Dating imposes a social tyranny. If you don't have a date for the dance you don't go at all. This creates anxiety and forces insecure boys and girls into going steadily simply to ensure social opportunities.

— Dating fosters a subtle form of mutual exploitation whereby a boy tries to exploit the girl sexually and the girl exploits the boy financially. This does not develop healthy comradeship and can produce predatory males and spoiled females.

— Dating gives young people a taste for variety and change. If a boy runs into difficulty in his relationship with a girl, he just drops her and finds another. This carries over into marriage and is the reason for the divorce habit.

— Dating among youngsters who are not wage-earners is ludicrous and sinfully expensive and gives boys and girls a distorted attitude toward money, which is supplied by their parents.

"The sexual element has proved more and more into prominence," said Mace. "Anyone who imagines that immature teen-agers can be out together in pairs, in the complete privacy that automobiles afford, in a culture that is saturated with sexual suggestion, and not indulge in sexual experimentation is just not being realistic."

Mace said the results are apparent in the rising rate of pregnancy among teen-age girls, hasty teen marriages, and the rocketing incidence of venereal disease among the 10 to 15 age group. He said as bad as the situation is, he believes it will get worse.

Oklahoma Area Tops In Output Of Helium Gas

KEYES, Okla. (UPI) — A processing plant near the Oklahoma Panhandle town is the hub of the world's largest supply of helium, the light gas used for years in dirigibles.

Helium is taken out of natural gas from fields in Beaver County, then distributed by tank cars and trucks. Surplus is piped to a gas field near Amarillo, Tex., for storage.

About 370 million cubic feet of helium is consumed each year, and demand increases about 50 million cubic feet a year.

Helium is used as a mixture for anesthetics, tracers in sub-surface reservoirs, gas and water lines, and in vacuum instruments, besides filling dirigibles. Nose cones of rockets have been filled with the gas.

Texas Calf Crop May Set Record

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas calf crop this year is expected to total 4,137,000 head, the highest since 1955, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

The crop would be a 1 per cent increase over the 1960 number of 4,078,000 head. Cows and heifers at least two years old numbered 5 million head, up three per cent from the previous year.

Crawford Street Paving Project Money Is Ready

Commissioner L. P. Fort told other city commissioners today that arrangements have been reached for a paving and housing project sought by residents of Pampa's colored district can be put in the planning stage.

Fort said enough money has been raised to pay the property owners' share of a Crawford street paving project and that all now needed is to have the area rezoned so that prospective home owners can obtain housing loans.

The City Commission recommended that the property owners go before the City Zoning Board and ask for consideration of their proposal for rezoning.

Documents Stolen From Auto Found

Insurance papers and stock receipts reported stolen last Thursday night from the car of Donald P. Johnson, 819 N. Warren, have been recovered.

House

Both Houses of the Legislature were concerned over higher automobile insurance premiums Monday.

A House Legislative Investigating Committee heard detailed testimony from Angus McDonald, chief actuary for the State Insurance Board, on why the state agency approved an average 15 per cent rate increase effective Aug. 1.

Senators criticized the board during a half-hour floor debate for authorizing the higher premiums. Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio said the three-member agency had become "a runaway board that is not amenable to reason."

Airliner

The first three days of this week have been declared national holidays for the celebration of the anniversary of Premier Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement.

The ministry was virtually unstaffed as a consequence, De Dardel said, so he had to deliver the memo to a minor protocol functionary who promised to relay it to the ministry's chief administrative officer.

De Dardel said he hoped for an answer today. The ministry said an official communique would be issued concerning the plane, but there was no indication when such a statement might be released.

The ministry put an embargo on the release of any information concerning the airliner.

The plane took off from Miami International Airport at 9:05 a.m. Monday and landed in Havana at 10:22 a.m. It was Eastern Flight 202 for Tampa, New Orleans, Dallas and Fort Worth.

The plane, piloted by Capt. W. E. Buchanan of Miami, was about 15 minutes out of Miami when an Air Route Traffic Control radar set noticed it veering south.

An F102 "Delta Dagger" Air Force jet piloted by Capt. H. G. Hayes of Pittsburgh took off from Homestead Air Force Base south of here, intercepted the plane, and followed it as far as the three-mile limit off Cuba before turning back.

Hayes said he was unable to talk with Buchanan. But he said he talked with another commercial plane in the area which overheard Buchanan say he was headed for Havana with "a gun at his temple."

It was not known how many persons were involved in commandeering the plane, the second such airplane hijacking here within three months. Eastern said a check of the passenger list yielded no clues to the identity of the hijackers.

Eastern said it was totally without information about the passengers or crew, or what the Cuban government intended to do about the plane.

"We've just run into a blank wall trying to get information," a spokesman said. In a recent speech, Castro warned that "if it should occur to someone to steal a plane and fly it here, we shall keep the plane as they keep ours."

Castro referred to several Cuban planes impounded in south Florida and sold to settle a $500,000 bill owed a Miami advertising firm by the Cuban government for a tourist promotion program.

In the last hijacking case, the Cuban government released a National Airlines plane and its seven passengers within a few hours. The plane was seized May 20 while on a flight from Marathon to Key West.

Soviet Spaceman Feted By Cubans

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro and his revolutionary government feted Soviet spaceman Maj. Yuri Gagarin at the presidential palace Monday night in a gala beginning to a week of national celebrations.

Castro and Foreign Minister Raul Roa escorted the bearded Russian hero to the party at which President Osvaldo Dorticos was the official host. At 10 p.m. the Cuban officials and the guest of honor went onto a terrace to wave to a cheering crowd.

Tornado Strikes In Lufkin Area

By United Press International A small tornado slammed to the ground near Lufkin Monday and a six-inch rain pounded Rock-springs on the Edwards Plateau.

The twister ripped off the roof of a garage at the farm home of L. D. Burnaman near Lufkin. There were no injuries. Property damage was estimated at $2,000. The torrential rain at Rock-springs, west of Junction in South-west Texas, was the heaviest recorded by the U.S. Weather Bureau Monday.

Hunt Under Way For Businessman

DALLAS (UPI) — A search began today for Thomas A. Taylor, 27, resident Wylie, Tex., businessman who has been missing since Saturday.

Wylie Police Chief Barney Gay-lor said Taylor was last seen Saturday afternoon in a downtown Dallas Western Union office.

Fine And Jail Sentence Meted

Cloyd Othel Lynam, 421 S. Russell, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail yesterday when he pleaded guilty before County Judge William J. Craig on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Stock Switching Features Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — There was plenty of stock switching by institutional investors during the second quarter despite the apparently dull nature of the market in that period, according to Arthur Wiesenberger & Co.

The brokerage house said that mutual funds and investment companies have been buying into the more stable "quality" issues and downgrading the "glamor" stocks in their portfolios.

The Wiesenberger study said that oils, utilities, banking and finance, printing and publishing, metals and mining shares led the list of industries favored by the institutions. Heavily sold were stocks in amusements, appliances, drugs, cosmetics and building.

Massachusetts Investors Trust, the nation's oldest mutual fund, reported that total net assets at mid-year were $1,688,684,864, up slightly from $1,688,113,472 on March 31 and 13.7 per cent higher than total assets a year ago.

The recent sagging markets have reflected indecision, rather than any tendency on the part of investors to jettison stocks, according to Standard & Poor's Corp. While some further reaction is possible under the stress of Soviet threats, S & P says it would look upon this as an opportunity to put excess funds to work in well-regarded stocks of basic companies.

Taylor owns clothing stores in Wylie, Dallas and Tyler. Gaylor said Taylor had about $300 in cash with him when he disappeared.

Commission

(Continued From Page 1) "I think the disgraceful thing about this whole deal is that we are latching onto the federal government to take a hand in our local affairs."

Said Mayor Sidwell: "It looks to me like the federal government sent out some super-salesmen and sold us a bill of goods in order to get its foot in the door. However, it may be that we have a contract and are stuck with it."

Commissioner Newt Segrest expressed his disapproval of a federal control in local government. "However," Segrest said, "we may have inherited something here and we may have to live with it."

Commissioner Lloyd Simpson stated that the city probably was "stuck with what already has been done," but wondered if it was worth while to keep on with it.

The possibility was brought up that maybe the city could get its money back. City Manager John Koontz said he thought it would be a little difficult to get money back from the state or federal government but said what the city did about future payments on the project would be up to the commissioners.

"I honestly think we're being ripped," Mayor Sidwell said. City Attorney Robert Gordon and Commissioner Leon Holmes were not present at today's meeting.

The commission decided to table the whole matter until next week when legal advice could be sought from the city attorney.

Although they are named after Andreas Dahl, the Swedish botanist, dahlias first were used as food by ancient Mexicans.

Two Parked Cars Reported Looted

Burglars with a penchant for automobile accessories have been busy in Pampa.

E. T. Winn, a guest at the Coronado Inn, reported to police that thieves stole three floor mats, spotlight, flashlight and a cigarette lighter from his car on the Coronado parking lot.

The tail light, cigarette lighter, turn indicator handle, rear view mirror and the knob from a gear shift lever were stolen from his parked car, according to a report filed with police by Gene Pitman, 1137 Prairie Dr.

Alfred Huggins, 2107 Duncan, reported the theft of a complete set of plumbing tools from a pickup truck, parked in front of his house.

City Sidewalks Not For Autos

Police Chief Jim Conner said today he had received complaints from several sections of the city on the parking of cars across city sidewalks.

The chief said the practice is dangerous in residential districts where small children riding tricycles are forced to go around cars parked across sidewalk driveways.

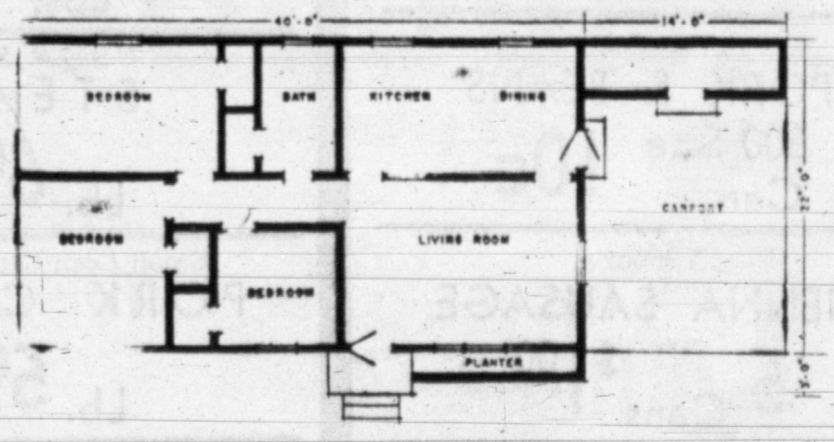

"It could save a life if motorists would remember this when parking their cars in driveways," the chief said.

Adventurous TV As Seen Sunday Pleases Critic

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — The more adventurous the TV camera grows, the more valuable our TV sets become.

When the medium goes beyond the standard film fare of hoof-hardened Hollywood back lots and brings us the unexpected, vital picture of today's world, I find myself ready to forgive a good many of the vulgar aberrations that derive from TV's adherence to ratings.

The weekend offered a number of uncommon samples to broaden our range of experience. Each sample, I noted, bore a hard dateline. There wasn't a Desilu, Four Star or Warner Brothers credit in the batch.

Moscow: Earlier this month, the United States was represented in Moscow's huge Lenin Stadium by a squad of track and field stars and a 17-member crew of technicians from ABC-TV. The track meet represented the first time that a European TV show was covered exclusively by Amer.-U.S.S.R. meet comprised a two-hour "Wide World of Sports" offering Saturday.

The coverage, though limited to about 15 events, was sharp, fresh and dramatic. The 70,000 Muscovites in the stadium seemed generous with their applause for the U.S. men and women winners, but they saved their loudest cheers for the Russian high-jumper Val Brumel. In the climactic portion of the program, Brumel was shown setting a world record to defeat John Thomas after a tense, exciting duel in a rainstorm.

Paris: A thoroughly pleasant visit to "an artist's Montmartre" was made Sunday by CBS-TV's "Accent," which is touring the continent this summer. Winston Burdett was guided through the jumping artists' sanctuary by film director Jean Renoir, son of the French impressionist Pierre Auguste Renoir.

Burdett's native guide proved to be one of the most unaffected and interesting performers I've ever seen on TV. Despite the cameras and microphone, Renoir succeeded in conducting himself as though he was actually enjoying a private chat with a sympathetic visitor. He'll return to "Accent" on Aug. 6.

Berlin: A full-hour report on an urgent matter knocked Shirley Temple's brand of reality off the screen on NBC-TV Sunday night. Bearing the snappy title, "Berlin: Where the West Begins," the special abounded in excellent film footage. It ranged in content from blunt, repetitious exhortation by anchor man Piers Anderson to the lively, vivid commentary of Joseph C. Harsch from London. In between, globs of statistics to decelerate the pace. Lacking on the program was a give-and-take period for the commentators. A factual rundown on the Western Allies' right to be in Berlin might have brought the story into sharper focus.

Cape Canaveral: Astronaut Virgil Grissom was a surprise addition to Saturday's televiewing as he met newsmen to tell about Friday's ups-and-downs. His humility, awe and detailed description of life inside a space capsule made this a far different picture than the one conveyed by astronaut Alan Shepard.

The Channel Swim: "Cops and robbers," the story of crime in America from pre-Revolutionary war days to the present, will be a full-hour "Project 20" special on NBC-TV next season. Edward G. Robinson, whose current acting roles avoid casting him in a hardboiled light, will be the narrator.

Cuba ranks fourth among nations of the world in iron ore reserves.

East Germany Chiefs Can't Control People

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — While Nikita Khrushchev stirs up trouble over Berlin, East Germany seethes with the worst discontent since the uprising of 1953. That has been reported confidentially to the State Department and the Pentagon.

These reports give encouragement to those diplomatic and military planners who argue that, if the U. S. stands firm, the Soviets finally will stop short of war over Berlin.

Food rationing is being tightened; in some parts of East Germany, meat is available only two days a week. The shortages of meat, cheese, milk and butter are going to get worse.

Crops this fall are expected to be worse than last year. Only 75 per cent of the potato crop was planted, only 33 per cent of the silage corn acreage used.

East German workers again are daring to complain openly and to demonstrate about working conditions. A labor code has been enforced. It calls for a six-day work week, a maximum of 12 days vacation annually and a ban on strikes.

The flow of East-German refugees has increased sharply. One weekend this month, some 4,500 crossed over. The refugees, swarming from the East in record numbers, speak of below-the-surface mutterings and rumblings in cities throughout the Eastern zone. Almost half the refugees are under 25.

East German farms and industry face serious shortages of men. Appeals have been sent out to housewives to join the 7.8 million labor force. Women already make up 4 per cent of that force. The Reds lost a lot of their best managers and skilled technicians.

The shortage of medical doctors is acute. At last reports there was only one doctor for every 4,000 East Germans. (In the U. S., there is one doctor for about every 750 Americans.)

Discontent over the collectivization of farms, completed last summer, is growing, not slackening off. Food deliveries have declined. There are frequent reports of loafing on the job.

The whole economy is under a strain. Industrial expansion goals have been cut. Machinery imports have been reduced. Housing programs are lagging.

It is now certain that this fall, when the Berlin crisis may be at its worst, the East German regime will be forced to send large numbers of "volunteer" clerks, factory workers and soldiers to help in the fields. This is certain to further curtail industrial output. It's probable that even the Russian troops will be called on again this year, as they were in 1960, to help with the harvest.

All this could give the Russians pause in any military showdown over Berlin. But it's also a spur for Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep the Berlin waters muddied and to divert the unsettled East Germans from their problems.

COOL CUT
NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — The heat wave drove Mrs. Mary Guerrieri, 31, to a beauty parlor Monday.

She had 30 inches of her 4-inch, waist-long hair cut for the first time. After it was all over, she picked up the cut hair as a souvenir and commented, "I feel cool at last."

Tips For Duplicating 'Vacation' At Home

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Well, our household just solved its 1961 vacation problems. Or rather, the National Recreation Association did it for us.

And a good thing the group got into us in time; we had just bought into a cooperative apartment house and were wondering what we'd use for travel money on a vacation.

To the rescue of us and all in similar straits — lots of longing to go places, little cash to organize an association bulletin on how to live it up and love it at home. At least this year, we will be supporting the local businesses.

The association's executive director, Joseph Prendergast, said an at-home "tour" was quite simple to plan. Just write down the things you would do if you traveled, camped out, went to a resort, rented a cottage. Then make another list to see how many of these things can be duplicated in your home town.

Take for instance a vacation at a resort. Once there you would find out what the resort offers in recreation. At home, though, you could do the same. Just check the local recreation department.

At a resort, you would load up with film and camera. At home, load up with film and camera. At a resort, you would go on side trips. At home, try organizing a one-day safari, by car, by foot or on bicycles to neighboring points of interest. At a resort, you might "just rock." At home, "just rock— or else in the hammock, sit in the sun." Or, say you planned a camping trip. On one, you would rough it in blue jeans; at home, blue jeans to your heart's content.

Camping, you would cook out. At home, cook out over a barbecue grill or a local picnic area. Camping, you would get back to nature. At home, do the same. Camping, you would hire, canoe, or horseback ride. At home, walk, hike, go boating, hire a horse.

Say you planned a trip abroad. You would collect folders, read books, talk to friends, consult experts. At home, ditto; try investigating your part of the world through the chamber of commerce, visitors' bureaus, public libraries, and the similar facilities of neighboring towns.

Going abroad, you would plan an itinerary. At home, map out what you want to see and then go when the weather and mood say "go."

Abroad you would pack, unpack, pack. At home, skip it gladly. Abroad you would eat strange foods. At home, see what foreign-style restaurants offer. Abroad, you would shop for the kind of thing you "can't get at home." At home, shop to buy "the kind of thing you CAN get at home but ordinarily don't."

Abroad, you would take in show places, museums, a zoo. At home, do likewise. History is made at home as well as overseas.

Abroad, you would worry about foreign currency and the language. At home, relax. You're the vacationer not always running out of francs or lira, and you speak the language like a native.

COFFEE ICE CUBES

Brew extra breakfast coffee and allow it to cool. When cool, pour into refrigerator tray and freeze into coffee ice cubes, turning temperature control to coldest point for rapid freezing.

Ice coffee can then be made any time by pouring regular strength hot coffee over the cubes.

Jacqueline Doll Newest Toyland Item All Set For Christmas Season Ahead

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — So Mrs. John F. Kennedy is the apple of your little girl's eye?

The child can do more than plaster her room with pictures of the First Lady.

A "Jacqueline" doll is the newest thing in Toyland, a place where the Christmas season started some days ago.

The doll that's a spittin' image of Mrs. Kennedy was among dozens of dazzling toys unveiled by the Toy Guidance Council.

Keep Children Occupied

Now if the serious youngsters in your house insist on vacation guidance toys but aspire to be something other than "First Lady," there are other new toys to keep them satisfyingly occupied.

For babes who can hold things in their arms, there's an educational musical teddy bear the child plays by number. Ears, feet and hands give off a different musical note when pinched. Each is numbered.

The chemistry and construction sets are so complicated that parents figuring on helping junior can only help themselves by brushing up on chemistry and mathematics.

Useful to Parents

Some of the boys are bound to be useful to parents. In that class is a private phone system that operates on a beam of light. You have one, the person you're calling has one. You both turn on the lights, make the light beams meet and plug in the ear gadgets.

The voice travels over the light and you simply talk the normal way. The gadget sends voices 30 feet—say from one end of a football field to the other.

Also of use to parents: tape recorders, radios, phonographs that are as complex as the ones the family uses routinely.

The science and space toys continue plentiful. Only one space problem needs more consideration.

That is: where to put all these toys once you get them home from the store.

If your food capacity is small, and you are trying to add weight, try to eat more often. Cut down on your intake of water, tea and coffee with meals — they add volume without calories — and leave room for more food.

Honey has been known and used for centuries. In fact, honey was one of man's first foods.

Dear Abby...

Grade In Hollywood Is All Uphill

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I can remember I have wanted to be an actress. I am 16, and I know I have as much talent as anyone I have seen in the movies. But I can't get anyone to give me a break. Some people say you have to have lessons in dancing, singing, speech and even tumbling. I have read the success stories of all the big stars, and none of them took any lessons. They are just natural-born actresses who were discovered and got a break. Just what does it take to make the grade in Hollywood? I'll do anything.

WANTS TO BE A STAR
DEAR ABBY: Don't you believe that all it takes to be a "star" is a break. Years of hard work and study are required. The dancing, singing, and speech lessons will help you — if you have talent. If you haven't — the tumbling will prepare you for the fall.

DEAR ABBY: My beloved mother passed away a few months ago. From that awful day to this I have not shed one tear — in public. But, oftentimes when I am alone, my grief is uncontrollable.

All along, even at the funeral, I was able to talk about her without becoming emotional. I was the one who comforted my father and was being torn apart inside.

I am not looking for sympathy, but some people have said that I am hard and cold and could not have loved my mother very much. Abby, this is not true. I wish people would understand that it is possible to have very deep feelings without making a public spectacle of oneself. Whether you print my letter or not, I want to thank you for giving me someone to tell this to. Just writing this letter has helped me tremendously.

A PRIVATE AFFAIR

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the following: Am I just old-fashioned, or is it all right for a dog to lick and kiss a small baby in the face and mouth? The baby is so small at present he isn't able to turn his head to protect himself.

I like dogs, but I can't stomach this. I was told by the baby's parents that there is nothing wrong with it. That a dog heals its own wounds this way. This may be true, but am I wrong in feeling this way?

I. M.

DEAR K. M.: I think you are right. It is a disgusting sight, and who can say at any moment how healthy the dog (or baby) is?

CONFIDENTIAL TO RUTH: If the shoe fits, put it on, take a long walk and think it over.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Individuality, Not Clubs Is What The Aged Want

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Nowadays it seems that every community or organization that wants to do something for older people decides to sponsor a club for "senior citizens."

It seems to me that some persons who sponsor such clubs don't really understand the "senior citizens" they are trying to help.

In the first place, why should any older person be intrigued by the offer of membership in a club made up of a group who have no more in common than that they have lived about the same number of years? Why should a man or woman of 70 be more interested in joining an organization being informed just to get a group of 70-year-olds together than a man or woman of 40 would be interested in joining a club for that age group?

Older men and women are just as varied in their personalities and interests as any other age group — so why expect them to be congenial just because they have celebrated the same number of birthday?

In the second place, older people don't really want to be set apart in clubs organized just to keep them happy and content. Older people want to be a part of the world they live in, sharing their interests, enthusiasms and concerns with people of all ages.

If we were half as much concerned with the loneliness of our older citizens as we pretend to be, we wouldn't be forming senior citizens clubs to set them apart. We would offer them special invitations to join the organizations in which we, ourselves, are interested members. And we would give them a chance to work in such groups, to speak their minds and have their say. We would offer them our companionship, friendship and fellowship — not just membership in a club that sets them apart from all other age groups.

Golden Camouflage Designed For Those Who Must Avoid Sun's Rays

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
This year, the prettiest clothes display bare arms, shoulders, backs and necks. But few women possess flawless skin. A golden suntan can be a great help here. But if, for some reason, you cannot take the sun, then there's a great help in a new water-proof make-up designed to camouflage imperfections.

It comes in suntan shades and is ideal for the woman who must avoid the sun. It also is a boon to the woman with those tiny blue veins which mar and spoil the thighs and legs, making it impossible to wear a swimsuit or shorts. For it provides effective cover-up.

It is intended to be buffed down with a lamb's wool buffer after application. This polishing gives the skin a smooth and velvety finish.

Once you've applied it, you, too, can shine as conspicuously as any golden beauty in her white pique or black chiffon. This is a fairy from the leg make-up of years ago which looked great when you first got it on but promptly came off on chairs and clothes. This make-up is here to stay — until you wash it off, that is.

HAIR RAISING
Sitting in the chair next to me at the beauty salon was a girl in her late teens. As the hairdresser started to comb out her hair, she said: "You know, since the birth of my baby, my hair has been coming out to the extent where it has me worried. Can anything be done about it?"

was intent on teasing her hair. "Oh," he said, "I will tease it and make it look as if you have lots of hair." He did. Then he finished up with a big squish of hairspray.

This was no answer, of course. But he simply wasn't interested. Most salons are not these days. He might, however, have told her to give herself oil treatments at home, to make daily use of a really good hairbrush, to take her vitamins and to get enough rest.

But chances are that he was not aware that she should do these things. It's up to each one of us, these days, to see to it that our hair is kept healthy and shining. For hairdressers simply cannot be bothered.

EYEBROW CARE
If your eyebrows are curly and unruly, it isn't necessary to pluck them all out. Pluck from underneath, just as you would if you had perfect brows. Then take a manicure scissors and, very carefully, clip your brows to the wanted length. If necessary, fill in with an eyebrow pencil, following the brow outline, of course.

Quick Honey Chocolate Sauce
When the family calls for ice cream, you can give them an extra treat if you cover it with this quick honey chocolate sauce. Melt 1/2 pound semi-sweet chocolate in top of a double boiler. Gradually add 1/2 cup cream and 2 tablespoons honey beating until smooth.

One pound of body fat supplies about 3,500 calories when it is oxidized for energy.

Texas Loop Wins Again

The Texas Loop team continued to dominate the Mexican League in Pan American Association action Monday night with four out of six games going to the Texas loop, but it took late inning rallies to squeeze out victories in two of the games.

Amarillo shoved across a pair in the bottom of the eighth to edge Veracruz 8-7 and San Antonio did the same thing to nip Puebla 2-1.

In other action, Ardmore clobbered the Mexico City Red Devils 12-6; Victoria beat Monterrey, 14-3; Poza Rica nipped Tulsa 5-4 with Herminio Cortes smacking two home runs for the Mexicans; and the Mexico City Tigers shut out Austin 7-0 on Arturo Cacheux.

The action dropped Austin into the fifth place in Texas League standings and moved Victoria up into fourth one half game ahead of the Senators. Amarillo kept its two-and-one-half game edge over second place Tulsa.

Roger Kudron went the distance for Ardmore, giving up five hits.

Victoria exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning, including a homer by Larry Stubing, and Veracruz lumped four runs into the second inning and chased Amarillo starter Hal Stowe. The Gold Sox managed to tie it up in the seventh on Mike Mathison's homer, then nailed it down in the eighth, winning for relief hurler Bill Drummond.

Another round of single games are on tap tonight with Mexico City Tigers at Austin, Poza Rica at Tulsa, Monterrey at Victoria, Mexico City Red Devils at Ardmore, Puebla at San Antonio and Veracruz at Amarillo.

Max Carey Inducted Into Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — "I hope I'm worthy of this playing for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1891.

Hall of Famers Frank (Home Run) Baker, Joe McCarthy, Ray Schalk and Bill Terry were introduced at the ceremony that marked the election of Carey and Hamilton by baseball's 12-man committee of veterans.

Los Angeles and Baltimore followed the inaugural festivities with a show of power in today's brand of baseball. The Dodgers defeated the Orioles, 6-2, with the aid of a Willie Davis home run and doubles by Tommy Davis and Doug Canill. Whitey Herzog homered for Baltimore.

Carey, who stole 738 bases while playing for Pittsburgh and Brooklyn from 1910 through 1929, said it was "a wonderful thrill" to be enshrined among baseball's greatest players.

A replica of the bronze Hall of Fame plaque was accepted by Hamilton's daughter, Mrs. Howard Prior of Belmont, Mass. Hamilton, who died in 1940, had a lifetime batting average of .344. He set the all-time record of 115

Eastern Has Big Inning

A big fourth inning 10-run outburst carried the Pampa Eastern League All Stars to a one-sided 12-4 triumph over Carson County, while the Pampa Pony Leaguers were swamping Childress 14-3 last night.

The Pony League team will clash with Childress All Stars again tonight at Optimist Park at 8 p.m. Thursday night the Eastern Loop stars journey to Plainview for a battle with Plainview's representative club at 7:30 p.m.

Hard-hitting Carson County, who had scored 27 runs in its previous two games, ran up a 3-0 lead before Pampa struck back. A double by Edwin Campbell and singles by Bobby Rapp, Ralph Fredrickson, and Brook Choate plus two errors staked Carson County to its early margin.

Jackie Strickland's walk, Dickie Henley's double, and a fielder's choice cut the lead to 3-2 in the last of the third. Then came the explosion in the fourth. The Easterners sent 16 men to the plate in the wild fracas that Berry Price initiated with a two-base hit. Seven hits and a walk followed in succession with shortstop Jack Thompson getting the big blow, a two-run homer over the center-field fence.

H. D. LaRue was the winning hurler although he gave up 12 hits. LaRue also collected two hits but Henley was the game's leading hitter as he collected three singles.

For Carson County, their lone bright spot was a solo homer by Ralph Fredrickson.

Jim Arthur scattered five hits, fanned 11, and slammed a two-run roundtripper to pace the Pony League victory. He also collected a single and walk in two other trips to the plate.

First baseman Steve Molberg banged out three singles, while centerfielder Doug Scagg had a double and single, and shortstop Phillip Smith collected two safeties.

For Childress, Philip Self hit a solo homer in the second inning.

Dan Rivas held the Sultans to five hits. Monterrey scored on solo homers by Vinicio Garcia, Jose Luis Padilla and Claudio Solano.

The Tigers exploded for five runs in the second inning and chased Austin's starter and loser, Veracruz Brubaker.

Veracruz lumped four runs into the second inning and chased Amarillo starter Hal Stowe. The Gold Sox managed to tie it up in the seventh on Mike Mathison's homer, then nailed it down in the eighth, winning for relief hurler Bill Drummond.

Another round of single games are on tap tonight with Mexico City Tigers at Austin, Poza Rica at Tulsa, Monterrey at Victoria, Mexico City Red Devils at Ardmore, Puebla at San Antonio and Veracruz at Amarillo.

Larker Not Mad Over Push Swim

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — First baseman Norm Larker of the Los Angeles Dodgers said today he has "no hard feelings" over being pushed fully clothed into a Cooperstown, N. Y., hotel pool by teammate Dick Farrell.

"I was a little mad at the time because I didn't expect to be pushed into the water when I had all my clothes on," said Larker. "But then I realized we were just fooling around and Farrell and I shook hands. We'll just go on playing ball now like we always have."

Reds And Tigers Victorious Again

By United Press International
Revenge is always sweet — and Joey Jay's may be so sweet that the Cincinnati Reds will taste a World Series melon.

Discarded as a pitcher "who'd never make it" by the Milwaukee Braves last winter, Jay has emerged as the key pitcher in the Reds' surprising battle for the National League pennant. And he's rubbed salt in the Braves' wound by whipping them three times this season.

Jay scored his most important victory of the season Monday night when he hurled a 9-3 victory that snapped the Braves' five-game winning streak and increased the Reds' first-place lead to two games. With a 14-5 record, he is well on his way to becoming Cincinnati's first 20-game winner since Ewell Blackwell posted a 22-3 record in 1947.

Jay, who went with Juan Pizarro to the Reds in exchange for shortstop Roy McMillan in the winter deal that was supposed to "clinich the pennant" for the Braves, limited his former teammates to nine hits. He seemed to grow stronger after rain interrupted the game for 28 minutes in the sixth inning and held the Braves to three hits the rest of the way.

Frank Robinson drove in three runs with his 29th homer and two singles and stretched his hitting streak to 19 games. Chico Cardenas, Vada Pinson, Gene Freese and Gordon Coleman had two hits each in the Reds' 14-hit attack that routed old nemesis Warren Spahn.

Spahn, the gallant old southpaw who is closing in on the magic 300-victory mark, was tagged for six hits and three runs in four innings to suffer his 12th defeat against nine victories this season. He was trying for the 298th win of his career against a team over which he had a 57-21 bulge at the start of the season. The Reds have beaten Spahn five times this year.

The Reds led, 3-2, after six innings but broke open the game with two runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth against relief pitcher Tony Cloninger. Robinson connected for a two-run homer in the seventh to boost the margin to 5-2 and the Reds added four more in the eighth during which Cardenas hit his homer and Robinson connected for a key double.

The Detroit Tigers lengthened their American League lead over the idle New York Yankees to one game when they beat the Los Angeles Angels, 5-2, in the only other major league action of the day or night.

Rocky Colavito's 28th homer of the season, a three-run drive, and a two-run homer by Dick McAuliffe provided the Tigers with all their runs and made it easy for Jim Bunning to win his 11th game of the season. Angel starter Jim Donohue held the Tigers to two hits until the sixth inning when singles by Jake Wood and Bill Bruton set the stage for Colavito's homer.

McAuliffe connected for his two-run homer in the top of the ninth to give Bunning a couple of unneeded insurance tallies.

Bragg Gives Up Football

DALLAS (UPI) — Don Bragg, the Olympic pole vault champion who wants to be Tarzan in the movies, gave up professional football Monday before he even started.

Bragg signed a contract with the Dallas Texans just before morning drills, but the team doctor told him he could not play immediately because of an ear infection.

He decided he had better drop out of football altogether, and caught a plane back to his home in Philadelphia.

"Bragg has had trouble with his ear for some time," Coach Hank Stram said. "A week before he came to Dallas he went swimming in Atlantic City and got it infected. When he arrived here a doctor decided he couldn't practice while the ear is infected."

"He was put on the active list Monday, but he decided he'd better drop out of football, so I gave him his release."

Prexy Announces All-Star Changes

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Dick Butler, president of the Texas League, announced Sunday two replacements in the lineup for the all-star team which will play the Mexican League all-stars July 30 in San Antonio.

Jim Schandever, San Antonio pitcher, replaces Morris Stevens also of San Antonio, who is in a hospital for a back operation. And outfielder Jose Tartabull of Victoria replaces Doug Clemens of Tulsa, who moved up to Charleston of the International League this week.

Colts Rap Hamlin 3-1 Behind Nicky Curtis

Nicky Curtis pitched a masterful and knocked in one run to lead three hitters as the Pampa Optimist and the seven hit-Pampa attack. Ray Dean, Larry Powers, Tom Snow, in the first game of the state playoffs at Lubbock.

The victory enables the Colts to advance to the second round Thursday night to face the winner of the Plainview - Seagraves contest at 7:00 p.m. at McKenzie Park.

Curtis fanned nine and walked only two batters in chalking up a win. Bobby Seitz collected two hits

Snead Says PGA Links Are Tough

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sam Snead, three-time winner of the PGA championship, complained loudly today about the course where he will bid for a fourth title this week, the North Course at Olympia Fields.

"Tough," he said after a practice round. "I'll say it's tough. Whoever put those traps out in the middle of the fairways ought to have his head examined. And who grew that rough?"

"They ought to cut some of that rough before we play," he went on. "But I know they won't. Of course, it's the same course for everybody, so we all got the same troubles."

Snead actually did better on the course—6,722 yards and par 70—than most of the rest of the contestants who played practice rounds Monday. He said he was "one under."

"The back tees make this course play awfully long," he said. "But they've got the fairways so narrow, they're hard to hit. Why, on one hole, the 15th I guess, Cary Middlecoff was in the middle of the fairway on his drive, and he didn't have a direct line at the green. He had to slice his shot to get it in."

Snead said the rough was thick, easy to get into, and hard to get out of.

But most of the practice scores reported were in the middle 70s with a few in the lower 70s. Most of the players were shooting two or three balls and practicing putting on every green.

Though complaints were frequent about the thick rough, the narrow fairways and the length, there was nothing but praise for the greens.

"They're smooth," one contestant said. "Not fast, but good speed, and they'll get faster as the week goes on."

Red Wing Star Signs Contract

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe, captain of the Detroit Red Wings, has signed his 18th contract with the National Hockey League club and is looking forward to at least "four more years" in the big time.

The great right wing, who sets a NHL record every time he scores a point, signed after a brief huddle Monday with general manager Jack Adams and said, "only four more to go."

Cowboys Receive Good Line Play

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, an explosive team offensively last year but with trouble spots in the offensive line, received two pleasing performances in practice Monday from guard Mike Falls and center Mike Connelly.

Both sparked in a line scrimmage. Falls is a University of Minnesota graduate and Connelly, a second-year man from Utah State.

Bill Herchman, a tackle, and end Nate Borden also stood out in the line scrimmage. Herchman is a 6 foot 1, 251-pounder with five years of NFL experience. Borden has played pro ball six years.

Postal Slogans

There's been a surge of discussion in recent months over the John Birch Society. Someone noticed that this organization had been pushing a slogan as a part of the meter stamping process done by the Pitney-Bowes meter mailing machines.

If there were ever a good indication of why Americans should not permit the government to handle their mail, this is it. Simply because the government presumes to offer a service, it assumes a proprietary interest in what you write; will not permit you to make a statement which has some pretty sound historic foundation; will open and read your letters if it thinks you are a criminal; and in certain extreme instances will censor or arrest you for what you write.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

In time of war the power of the government over your private communications is enormous. Actually, the power is there all the time, altho permitted to lie somewhat dormant until hostilities actually begin.

The thinking of the postal authorities appears to be that when people get mail thru the U.S. postal system they tend to accept any printed slogan on the face of the envelope which slogan is printed in the same ink as the stamp itself, as an official government pronouncement.

While I sympathize with your daughter, who has probably been influenced by repetition of the verse to poor fitting or individual sensitivity, certain persons develop changes involving the whites of the eyes (corneas) and the inner lining of the lids (conjunctivas). These changes consist of uneven stippling, speckling and even scrapes (abrasions), conjunctival redness (congestion) and excessive tearing.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

The right of human beings to communicate freely with one another should never be abridged. A private mail - carrying system managed as a business enterprise and operating without taxation and other forms of coercion, would be a wonderful advance for this nation.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

Meanwhile, however, because of a connection between the John Birch Society and a particular slogan, the use of the slogan is being banned.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

On its face that few of us would take notice of it except for the extremely serious implications under the surface. For it seems to us that the Post Office decision to rule this slogan out of order is based, not on the John Birch Society, but rather on its desire to control.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

In view of this control to be more accurate the statement should be amended to read: "This nation was started as a Republic, converted into a Democracy and is now a Bureaucracy. Let's change it back."

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

Now, there's an interesting slogan which is far less accurate than the one over which the postal authorities are bawling. Let's check that point. Republicans vote. Does this mean that what we are getting in the way of government is Republican? The Republicans say it is.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

What if you don't vote at all? Does this mean that what we have is NOT your government? On this last question, perhaps the Republicans have a point. For if anyone is going to try to saddle us with ownership of the present bureaucracy, we'd like to be in a position of rejecting any and all connections.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

We know we've helped to pay for it; but that payment has been forced and insofar as we are concerned is invalid as an indication of either contract or ownership. An agreement made under duress has long been held to be invalid.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

We believe the Post Office Department is in gross error and that it has no business trying to regulate what any of us say on envelopes we own and by means of postage-meter machines for which we pay.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

Think of this the next time you accept something government provides. When you are on the receiving end of a government handout, regardless of what it may be, there are countless other human beings who have been oppressed, exploited and injured just for your benefit.

But we noticed a short while ago that the Post Office Department is now officially ruling that this slogan cannot be used on the privately owned meter machines because the slogan has become "controversial."

Do you honestly believe that a system of this kind is moral and can endure?

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Q—My two girls are very allergic to poison ivy. The one I can cure with creams but the other doesn't respond to the same medication at all. My doctor says very vague when I questioned him about preventive pills. Are these on the market? Do they do any good?

A—Aqua Ivy Tablets are on the market and properly taken have proven effective in 8 of every group of 10 who previously suffered from poison ivy. In a carefully controlled study by Dr. M. A. Vassale of Palisades, N. Y., treatment was preceded by skin tests using a poison extract in dilutions of one to 100, one to 1,000 and one to 10,000. All those with positive tests were treated. However, those who showed the greatest sensitivity were treated more cautiously. And, of course, no one was treated at a time when exposed to, or suffering from, sensitivity to poison ivy, oak or sumac.

The suggested preventive schedule starts at least three months before the expected time of exposure. A half tablet or less is taken daily for the first two weeks, a whole tablet daily for the next two weeks and one and a half tablets thereafter until 100 have been taken. Except for an occasional eruption of blisters, usually on the webbing of the fingers, no side effects of treatment are usually encountered.

Q—My daughter has to wear glasses. She thinks they detract from her appearance and now wants to be fitted for contact lenses. Is this perfectly safe?

A—Most often contact lenses produce no ill effects when properly fitted. However, whether due to poor fitting or individual sensitivity, certain persons develop changes involving the whites of the eyes (corneas) and the inner lining of the lids (conjunctivas). These changes consist of uneven stippling, speckling and even scrapes (abrasions), conjunctival redness (congestion) and excessive tearing.

Chiari's backstage threat to resign comes at an especially awkward time for two reasons: (1) The special meeting of the Inter-American Economic & Social Council, slated to convene in Uruguay on August 5, is to be the stage for strenuous U.S. efforts in behalf of the Alliance for Progress.

Chiari's resignation might lead to a renewal of the tumult and violence that caused a serious Panama crisis a few years ago. This time a pro-Castro seizure might be attempted. An active Castro underground is known to exist in Panama, and Chiari has been determinedly combatting it.

Under Panamanian law, he would be succeeded by either the First Vice President, Dr. Sergio Gonzalez Ruiz, who is also Minister of Health in Chiari's cabinet, or by the Second Vice President, Colonel Jose Domindor Bazan, head of Colon, second largest city in that country.

Neither is deemed strong enough to preserve order and avert a possible government overthrow.

STRANGE MYSTERY — Congressional leaders alarmed by this explosive situation are baffled by the Administration's laxity in doing anything about it.

Notwithstanding the President's frequently avowed concern about improving Latin American relations, particularly through the $500 million - funded Alliance for Progress, Chiari's repeated pleas for help have fallen on deaf ears.

Representative Daniel Flood, D-Pa., who has long been warning about a "Panama danger zone," arranged for Ambassador Augusto Arango to confer with President Kennedy on much-needed economic aid. The President assured him he would personally look into the matter.

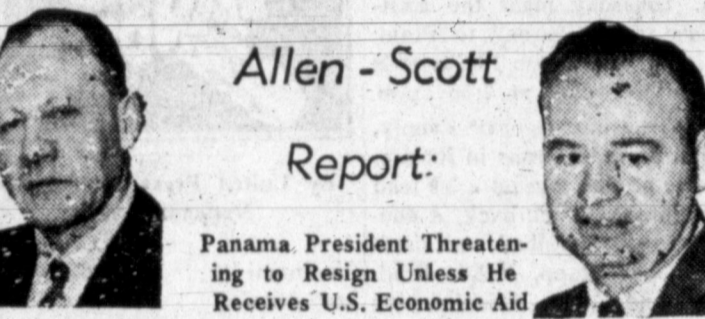

But months have passed and nothing has happened.

So Chiari, in despair, has finally sent word to both the White House and State Department that he has decided to retire to private life unless the U.S. acts promptly on his long-pending economic aid requests.

It remains to be seen what the Administration will do — if anything.

Fidel Castro has boasted that a pro-Castro regime will be in power in Panama "by 1962." The beefy Cuban dictator is also known to be planning to send a delegation to the Inter-American economic conference in Uruguay.

Roughing It On The New Frontier

Allen - Scott Report: Panama President Threatening to Resign Unless He Receives U.S. Economic Aid

WASHINGTON — The small but crucially strategic Republic of Panama is on the verge of again exploding in a grave crisis.

President Roberto Chiari, vigorously anti-Castro and friendly to this country, is threatening to throw up his job in protest against what he considers the inexplicable failure to obtain long-sought U.S. economic aid.

Particularly outraging Chiari is his inability to get $20 million in loans or grants for low-cost housing.

He has been trying to get these funds since taking office last fall. The housing plan was first submitted to the Eisenhower Administration, but got nowhere.

Chiari's backstage threat to resign comes at an especially awkward time for two reasons: (1) The special meeting of the Inter-American Economic & Social Council, slated to convene in Uruguay on August 5, is to be the stage for strenuous U.S. efforts in behalf of the Alliance for Progress.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUYSEYER

A retired professional man in San Diego, aged 74, with a wife slightly younger, asks whether to try to improve his income by switching from 'savings and loan to mutual funds.

The inquirer adds: "At our age safety is quite important. I am totally and permanently disabled and draw $210 per month from insurance. We have $52,000 in building and loan which pays 4 1/2 per cent. We have no other holdings except a small income on small, unspecified amount from the oil royalty."

"We naturally want our money to earn as much as possible and especially to keep pace with higher cost of living, but, as I said, safety, is all important to us."

In analyzing the status of this couple, it is essential to point out that more than half of the family income — the disability payment to the husband — will stop at the time of his death. If the husband should predecease his spouse, she presumably would be left with income of only $2,340 a year from savings and loan, and a small unspecified amount from the oil royalties.

Because of this family situation, with inability to augment capital through earnings, a prudent and cautious procedure is advisable. Even the good mutual funds would create an uncertainty as to income expectation, and at this stage of life the couple is less concerned with future growth than present assurance of income.

Since nothing is said of theirs, the couple ought to be willing to exhaust principal as well as use income earnings.

This can be accomplished, in two ways — one guaranteed and one not. The Guaranteed approach would be to use $52,000 to buy a joint and survivorship annuity, payable to the husband for the rest of his life and continuing for the benefit of the surviving spouse for the rest of her life. This monthly income of $329, or $4,046.64 a year, if taken on an annual basis, as compared with the present return of $2,340 from savings and loan. This is not to be interpreted as an opinion that annuities are superior to savings and loan deposits and mutual funds in all cases.

(This recommendation is predicated, for example, on the assumption that it is not important to pass along any capital to heirs.)

The chief theoretical objection to this first approach is that it still leaves the couple almost completely dependent on fixed dollar receipts — the disability payments. This provides no hedge against inflation and no provision to "keep pace with higher cost living." The fund could be set up as a living trust with a dynamic trust company for the benefit of the husband, with automatic provision that in the event of his death it would revert to his wife. The trust company could be authorized to invest in stock and to invade principal if needed in order to provide for the care of the couple.

There are two practical reservations. First, the fund is rather small for this special tailor-made service. Some of the larger trust companies limit their activities to larger funds, but perhaps this can be arranged through authorizing the fiduciary to invest in common trusts operated by the bank. A second point is that the value of this plan depends on selection of a fiduciary with good investment know-how. It should be borne in mind that the trustee acts for the maker of the living trust, who as-

MORE GRIM PRESSURE — Russia is reinforcing its already large forces in East Germany. More than 15,000 Soviet troops have arrived there in the last few weeks. They are being used to bring the 20 Soviet divisions up to full combat strength. That is now estimated at around 90 per cent for most of the divisions.

The Kremlin may declare all bus and underground transportation in Moscow free. This dramatic announcement is reportedly slated for the Communist Party Congress in Moscow in October. According to authoritative Iron Curtain sources, if the free transportation service works in Moscow, it will be extended to other Russian cities.

THE LADIES — The First Lady inadvertently interrupted a high-powered White House conference and got a wary reaction. Mrs. Kennedy was showing Senator Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., and Representative J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., through the historic mansion while discussing with them legislation they are sponsoring to ensure that art and antiques given the White House become permanent government property. Purpose of that is to prevent the loss of such treasures as happened in the past. She excoriated the two lawmakers into a study on the second floor, which she thought was empty, only to find the President, meeting there with Defense Secretary McNamara, General Maxwell Taylor and several other high officials. The First Lady apologized for the interruption, to which the President replied with a rueful smile, "Oh, that's all right. We're just discussing some small matters like the Berlin crisis."

Senators Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., and Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., are doing their swimming at their own and not taxpayers' expense. They have declined an invitation from their 98 male colleagues to use the $50,000 white-tiled swimming pool in the multi-million dollar new Senate Office Building.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY — LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Rocket scientists at Aerojet-General were baffled Sunday when an igniter in a rocket experiment failed to ignite.

Chemical experts were called in and asked to find out what was wrong in the gadget which is shaped somewhat like a vacuum bottle. It turned out to be a foreign substance on the igniter.

The verdict: the firm's mongrel mascot had mistaken the igniter for a fire hydrant.

Hank Has His Troubles With The King's Italian

ROME, Italy — There is a persistent notion that the best way to learn a foreign language is to practice conversation with a native.

This isn't just an American notion. It is just as strong on the Continent as it is at home, and the classified section of the Rome papers are sprinkled with offers by Italians to swap Italian talk for English talk.

"Cultured Italian seeks English conversation in exchange for Italian conversation. Two hours a day. Will meet anywhere."

This is a typical ad, and I have answered three of them so far. I met my first cultured Italian at Trevi Fountain and there, at the water's edge, we "talked" for two hours. Well, one hour, really, for there are always hundreds of Italians cooling off by the fountain, and hundreds of tourists throwing coins, and it took me an hour to find my new friend.

He didn't speak as much English as I do Italian — I can say "Good Morning" — and our conversation was the next thing you've ever heard to 11 a.m. on Armistice Day. We just sat by the fountain and stared at one another, dipped our hands, shook hands, finally bowed to one another and went our way.

My second conversation piece was a high school boy who knew almost as much English as I do.

He assumed the risks of investment. On the other hand, the insurance company makes an inflexible contract to live up precisely to its commitments to make fixed dollar payments for life.

Unfortunately, in this life, you cannot have your cake and eat it too. The financial responsibility is with the individuals whose funds are involved.

In the circumstances before us, it seems to me that federally insured shares in a savings and loan association are more suitable than unguaranteed stakes in a mutual fund. If the husband were young and not disabled, I would take a different view. In view of the importance of the federal insurance, the funds should be divided among a variety of institutions so that there is not more than $10,000, the insurance maximum, in any association. As compared with annuity payments, here is a theoretical difference in availability of funds. In the event of trouble, when it would be necessary to rely on the federal insurance, it should be borne in mind that under the law the individual could receive bonds, instead of immediate cash. A savings deposit in a bank or savings bank is in a somewhat different position. The savings deposit is technically a liability of the institution, whereas in the savings and loan association the customer pays shares of participation.

Finally the reader states: "I will be willing to pay a fee for the advice provided it is not too much."

There is no fee. The comment is given as a service to readers.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

In the circumstances before us, it seems to me that federally insured shares in a savings and loan association are more suitable than unguaranteed stakes in a mutual fund. If the husband were young and not disabled, I would take a different view. In view of the importance of the federal insurance, the funds should be divided among a variety of institutions so that there is not more than $10,000, the insurance maximum, in any association. As compared with annuity payments, here is a theoretical difference in availability of funds. In the event of trouble, when it would be necessary to rely on the federal insurance, it should be borne in mind that under the law the individual could receive bonds, instead of immediate cash. A savings deposit in a bank or savings bank is in a somewhat different position. The savings deposit is technically a liability of the institution, whereas in the savings and loan association the customer pays shares of participation.

Camp Rehabilitates Convicts, Helps State Reclaim Lands

WASHOUGAL, Wash. (UPI) — The men working in the foothills of the Cascades 16 miles northeast of here lead healthy, outdoor lives though they are serving prison terms.

They work during the day with axes, power saws, "cats" and heavy road equipment, but there are no armed guards watching them, or barred cells to lock them in at night.

The men are inmates of a unique forestry honor camp. They fell towering snags on rugged hillsides, build roads, plant trees and fight fires for only 50 cents a day — but they take pride in their work. The program has become something of a mission for officials of the State Department of Resources and the Department of Institutions.

Men of the Washouga Honor Camp and the Larch Mountain Honor Camp 26 miles farther west are methodically rehabilitating the Yacolt Burn — a vast, fire-blackened area where grotesque dead snags poke the sky by the countless thousands as a reminder of this country's most costly series of raging fires.

Oldtimers who saw the original 230,000-acre fire in 1902 say smoke made the sky so dark chickens roosted at midday and communities for miles around needed lights at noon.

Twelve other major fires since then have rampaged across the original burn, destroying young trees and halting all prospects for natural reforestation of the land.

The carefully-screened group of 34 inmates from the state penitentiary and state reformatory is working on a 110,000-acre section of the burn, gradually nursing it back to productivity.

It's a joint Institutions and Resources project that has been highly praised by officials of both departments since its beginning at the Larch Mountain camp five years ago. The Washougal camp was opened only a year ago.

Lands Commissioner Bert Cole strongly supports the program. "I'm completely sold on the project from the standpoint of conversation," Cole says. "And I'm convinced it's proving of immense value in rehabilitating individuals whose lives have been upset by troubles."

Cole said when the project area is back in full production it will be adding about $3.4 million annually to the state and nation's economy. He said the area has a potential capacity of producing 5 million board feet of timber each year.

He and project forester Walter Nelson are also enthusiastic about the added fire prevention and fire fighting force available because of the program. Highly-trained men from the Larch Mountain camp have fought 18 fires since the camp opened. Nelson said in an interview that he has "always been pleased with the production of the inmate."

"There's an American Indian! You see one, you see 'em all!"

Correction officers who maintain control and discipline say men in the camps have far greater morale than inmates of regular institutions.

The men live in neat army-type barracks. They get three healthful meals a day and are allowed a variety of recreational facilities including television, a gymnasium and evening dips in natural mountain stream swimming pools.

Pet deer wander through the carefully groomed yards and one inmate is engaged in a continuous game chasing them out of his vegetable garden.

The inmates are never called "convicts." Most of them have only a few months remaining in custody when they enter the honor camps and there is a planned atmosphere of "near-freedom" in their way of life.

A lot of work has been accomplished during the first few years of the project — but much remains to be done.

Inmates have felled more than 200,000 snags constructed miles of roads and built many water reservoirs for fire-fighting — but the Yacolt Burn is still a giant sore spot, a critical fire area and largely unproductive.

The slow, often hazardous work will take years to finish — but the important thing to conservationists is that a start has been made.

The cost is comparatively low. And the rewards in the form of character building and conservation are expected to be long-lasting and far-reaching.

For more than 10 years the United States has followed a policy toward Nationalist China branded even by its friends as unrealistic.

It is illustrative of the unrelenting pressures of world complexities that at this particular time the United States must divert a part of its attention from threatening crises in Berlin and Tunisia to consider a change in its China policy.

U. S. policy in the United Nations in the past found its expression in adamant refusal even to debate the possibility of a U. N. seat for Red China. Such was the American influence in the U. N. that for 10 years it successfully barred the question from the agenda.

But the winds of change which have swept the world, also have swept the United Nations.

The United States no longer is assured a majority vote, and the possibilities of a two-China U. N. policy are being increasingly discussed.

On the island of Formosa, the Chiang Kai-shek government is angered and dismayed.

Nationalist newspapers help fan the flames and the American community of 10,000 persons in Taipei feels increasingly the resentment against a reported softening of Washington's position toward Red China.

There is no more anti-Communist leader in Asia than Chiang Kai-shek and it would be pleasant indeed if he were able to pass his declining years undisturbed in his dream of a reconquest of the mainland.

But that seems not to be. For in Chiang's one-track determination lies the hard decision facing the United States.

Published in New York is a small, new publication called "War-Peace Report". It is oriented toward support of the United Nations and in its July issue carries what purports to be a survey of 96 of the 99 members of the United Nations.

It reports that more than three-quarters of the U. N. members believe Communist China should be seated as the representative of China both in the Security Council and in the General Assembly.

It says more than two-thirds of the members believe Nationalist China should remain in the General Assembly.

The 50th state, incidentally, is Hawaii, which is out of bounds unless you are willing to have your pet spend 120 days in quarantine.

Tourists Advised To Check Rules Concerning Dogs

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you are planning on taking the family dog along on your vacation this summer, here's a word of caution: while Rover can travel in 49 of the 50 states in relative, though leashed, freedom, a variety of documents will be needed to get him legally across state lines.

The other 12 states have no specific regulations, although counties in two of them, Virginia and Kansas, have their own rules. But even where there are no formal rules, state veterinary officials recommended that animals be "properly protected" before they are taken on a trip.

mainland states which allow transport of dogs is to regulate it only in order to prevent outbreaks of rabies and communicable canine diseases such as distemper and hepatitis.

Thirty-seven of these states have specific laws governing the entry of out-of-state dogs, according to a survey by Pitman-Moore Company, a manufacturer of veterinary pharmaceuticals.

Proper protection for a traveling dog includes as a minimum a rabies shot and vaccinations against distemper and infectious hepatitis, the number one and two disease killers of dogs.

Pitman-Moore points out that the reason for the 120-day quarantine period in Hawaii is because that state, like Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and some other island areas, has eradicated rabies and wants to stay free from the disease.

Motor vehicle accidents during 1960 caused 38,200 deaths of the 83,000 accidental deaths from all causes that year.
