$359 Million Money Bill Debated By State Senate

Reds Assail West Berlin Job Holders

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists today opened an angry campaign against the thousands of East Germans who work in West Berlin.

Many of the 53,000 so-called "border crossers" failed to report for work today. Reports reaching here said hundreds were pulled off commuter trains and buses and told they must find jobs in the East.

Placards denouncing them as "traitors" who sold their labor to the "militarists" were posted in their neighborhoods.

Some were evicted from their homes for refusing to give up their Western jobs. Others were ordered to report to police stations and explain why they worked in the West.

Communist-sponsored resolutions passed in factories demanded "measures be taken" against the border-crossers.

Just Tuesday night East German boss Walter Ulbricht threatened to slam the Iron Curtain shut on the refugees fleeing his regime.

Eyewitnesses said many hundreds of East Germans were refused passage in the largest Communist police action since the mass exodus of refugees from the zone began early last month.

Despite the unprecedented checks, about 1,000 more East Germans made it to West Berlin today and asked for political asylum.

How many East Germans were caught while attempting to flee could not be determined. The number might have been as high as 500. They faced trial under a law forbidding flight to the West or "preparations to flee."

Curb On Cuban Goods Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., introduced a bill today that would outlaw interstate movements of goods going to or coming from Cuba.

"This bill, by prohibiting interstate transportation of goods to or from Cuba, will bring a halt to the more than $1 million per month Castro is getting from this trade, in addition to the land, cattle and poultry he is buying here to support his revolutionary government," Rogers said in a statement.

Rogers said he introduced the bill because "after repeated attempts to get the State Department to bring a halt to all trade with Communist Cuba, it has become evident that only strong action by the Congress will provide the means to end Castro's continuing supply of American dollars."

Tipsy Driver Didn't Bluff This Officer

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Carl Crider, a police officer in suburban Garland, could not have been more astonished.

The tipsy driver he was chasing Tuesday suddenly wheeled into a driveway in a residential area and drove right into the garage. Crider followed.

"Let me see your driver's license," he demanded.

"I'm on my own property now," the man said. "I'm going in and going to bed."

Crider knew it was a bluff. . . and called it.

"Not in my house, you're not," he said quietly.

Missile Fund Vote Near; Air Force Reserve Alerted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House was expected today to complete congressional action on President Kennedy's request for almost $1 billion worth of extra missiles and warplanes.

The bill, approved by the Senate last Friday, is the second part of Kennedy's rush defense buildup to deal with the Berlin crisis.

The President signed into law Tuesday a resolution authorizing him to call up as many as 250,000 reservists for a year's active duty if necessary.

Immediately after he signed the bill, the Air Force selected 28,000 men in 71 Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve units for possible recall to active duty. Authorities, however, doubted that any of the alerted units would be called up before October.

The order affected 25,000 Air National Guardsmen and 3,000 Air Reservists in 28 states and the District of Columbia. The units concerned have 650 fighter planes and 100 transports.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, said the additional weapons provided in the legislation before the House would bolster U.S. military power greatly.

Approval by a roll-call vote was expected this afternoon. The authorization measure then would be sent to the White House for Kennedy's signature.

The bill includes $41.6 million to repair the fire damage which occurred to the carrier Constellation at the Brooklyn Navy Yard last December. Vinson said the ship will be ready to join the fleet early next year.

He said the legislation also would help to make major improvement in this country's military sealift and airlift.

Vinson said this was absolutely necessary if America was to have the capability to move additional combat forces promptly to wherever they may be needed.

Anti-submarine warfare also would be strengthened to meet the Soviet underwater threat, he said.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved Tuesday a record peacetime defense budget of $46.8 billion, including all the new

2 Per Cent Tax On Sales Basis Of Package Plan

AUSTIN (UPI) — State senators added $2 million to a tax package today to raise its potential revenue to an estimated $359 million, most of which comes from a 2 per cent general sales tax.

Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, brought the revenue measure to the floor for debate by a 26-3 vote.

The State Affairs Committee unanimously approved the bill Tuesday. It was a substitute for a tax package passed earlier by the House.

The bill, as expected, already has many House members grumbling they cannot accept it. If rejected by the House, it will go to a conference committee in hopes a compromise can be reached before the Aug. 8 deadline on the 30-day special session.

Gov. Price Daniel, who urged the House to kill the Senate's tax bill in the regular session and said he would veto it if it passed, was cryptic in his approach to the new bill.

"My views have been fully stated on the tax matter," Daniel said in a statement. "I will have no further statement until the Senate and the House have finished their work."

Key feature of the Senate bill is a 2 per cent sales tax on most items costing more than 25 cents to raise $309.5 million. The levy would exempt work clothes costing more than $10, groceries, drugs and farm necessities.

Many representatives were bitter about what the Senate did to the gas pipeline tax they passed. The tax, to raise $18.5 million, was retained, but the State Affairs Committee added a non-severability clause to the levy. This means that if any part of the tax is unconstitutional the entire levy would be void.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston, author of the tax, said a questionable section was added to the levy before it left the House. He said he urged the committee to redraft the section, but members ignored him and added the non-severability clause.

Eckhardt said this made the measure "clearly unconstitutional," and left the pipeline tax a "bogus, hollow sham of a bill."

The bill also contained a continuation of the present $2.75 per $1,000 corporation franchise tax that is due to revert to $2.25 on Aug. 1, the end of the current fiscal year. The House had recommended a new two-factor franchise tax formula.

The Senate tax package also included a 50 per cent increase of driver's license fees to raise $7.3 million, equalization of coin machine taxes to bring in $24,000, a transfer of motor fuel taxes to save $6 million, and equalization of the gross receipts tax.

Town's Tight Welfare Code Faces Court Test On Friday

Astronauts Get Happy Welcome To San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The man in the bright red shirt and red sports coat was America's second man in space, and he stole the hearts of the crowd on hand to greet him.

Virgil (Gus) Grissom grinned from ear to ear. He waved to the kids in the crowd, happily signed autographs and shook hands with dozens of persons before Air Force officials hustled him away to an Air Force limousine.

Grissom arrived at the San Antonio International Airport Tuesday night shortly after four other astronauts headed by America's first spaceman, Navy Cmdr. Alan Shepard, flew in.

The other two astronauts were due to arrive today. The seven will begin routine physical check-ups today at Lackland Air Force Base.

With Shepard were Marine Lt. Col. John Glenn, Navy Lt. M. S. Carpenter and Navy Cmdr. Walter Schirra Jr.

A crowd of about 275 persons were on hand to greet them. Shepard smiled. The rest appeared grim. The crowd was disappointed because John Peterson, of the public affairs office of the Space Task Group at Langley Field, Va., and Lt. Comdr. T. E. Craig, commanding officer of the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in San Antonio, did not let them say anything to the crowd or newsmen.

But that all changed when Grissom arrived. He acted like a schoolboy on a holiday and seemed as tickled to see the persons on hand to welcome him as they were to see him.

When Peterson and Col. W. L. Hellmantoeller, chief of information at Lackland's Air Training Command, tried to rush him into an Air Force automobile, he brushed them aside.

He signed a few more autographs, then walked inside the air terminal to sign the dignitaries book in the ground hostesses' office.

Blind Girl Gets Right To Teach

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — Blue-eyed Mary McCollough, 23, is the daughter of a school teacher. Ever since she can remember she has had one goal in life—to teach school.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey asked the state cabinet Tuesday to certify the Stetson University graduate as a full-fledged teacher. The state's top officials agreed to waive a requirement that all teachers be physically fit and voted to give the red-haired Miss McCollough a teaching certificate.

Miss McCollough has been completely blind for the past eight years.

Creek Scene Of Tragedy In Virginia

HAYSI, Va. (UPI) — James Nowlin, 42, and his two sons were cleaning debris Tuesday from flood-swollen Bartlick Creek when Troy Nowlin, 12, screamed and fell dead in the water.

Kirby Nowlin, 13, tried to pull his brother from the creek. He died as swiftly as Troy.

Nowlin rushed frantically to aid his sons. He died as soon as he stepped into the rushing water.

Rescuers called to the scene found a 4,400-volt power line immersed in the creek, an aftermath of Monday's flash flood which swept through this mountain hamlet in southwestern Virginia. All three had been electrocuted.

Check On Pampa Plan Scheduled For Today

A check on progress on Pampa's Comprehensive Plan was scheduled for a late afternoon meeting today in City Hall.

City Manager John Koonitz said he had received a letter this morning that F. J. VonZuben Jr., chief engineer of the Environment Department, Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Health Department in Austin, was coming for a meeting with city officials and city commissioners.

Only yesterday, at a meeting of the City Commission, the Comprehensive Plan was attacked by at least one city commissioner as being a step in the direction of socialism.

City Attorney Bob Gordon has been asked by Mayor E. C. Sidwell to examine the possibility of breaking an existing contract with Koch & Fowler and Grate, Inc., Dallas planning engineers, who already are working on the third phase of their planning for Pampa. Payment of a $4,480 bill, submitted by the engineering firm, is being held up pending the city attorney's consideration of the request.

City Manager Koonitz said all city commissioners had been invited to this afternoon's meeting. It was scheduled for 4 p.m.

Latins Will Get U. S. Aid Promise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon was to confer with President Kennedy today before leaving for the Montevideo meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council. Dillon and his delegation will go to the meeting prepared to pledge far-reaching financial assistance to Latin American countries willing to use the money to help their people.

New York Suit Seeks To Block 'Crackdown'

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI) — Newburgh officials today sought legal moves to protect the city's "crackdown" welfare code from a court injunction requested by the state on charges the relief regulations are illegal.

Joseph Mitchell, city manager, said "immediate steps" would be taken to challenge an order for a court hearing here Friday on an injunction being sought by the state to set aside 12 of Newburgh's controversial 13 points aimed at tightening welfare handouts to unwed mothers and able-bodied men.

State Attorney Louis Lefkowitz, who is the Republican candidate for mayor of New York City, announced Tuesday he had obtained the hearing order from state Supreme Court Justice John P. Donohue. The justice ordered Mitchell, Peter Z. Petrillo Jr., acting city welfare commissioner, and the city council to answer why the code should not be suspended until its legality could be determined.

Newburgh's crackdown became a heated issue even before it went into effect July 15. The state said the rules endangered federal reimbursements for the entire state welfare program. Mitchell denied they were illegal.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a leading possibility for the GOP presidential nomination, attacked the code, which won a quick defender in conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, another top potential candidate for the Republican nomination.

Newburgh, a city of 31,000 persons located about 50 miles up the Hudson River from New York City, claims that $983,085 of its approximately $3 million annual budget goes for welfare purposes to 915 persons on relief — less than 3 per cent of the city's population.

Mitchell has indicated approval so far of the results of the crackdown. He said one family, which was getting aid to dependent children and home relief while the children had bank accounts and insurance, will be given vouchers for rent, food and clothes instead of cash. He also has threatened to invoke the rule in two cases to cut off aid to unwed mothers who have additional illegitimate children.

The only regulation the state has not challenged was one requiring able-bodied welfare recipients to report monthly to the welfare department.

Party-Loving Hollywood Clan To Visit President's Father On French Riviera

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The talent-rich, party-loving Hollywood band known to all but itself as the Clan leaves this week for a 10-day vacation at the French Riviera home of President Kennedy's father.

Frank Sinatra, the Dean Martin, the Peter Lawford and Janet Leigh have accepted an invitation from Joseph Kennedy, Boston multi-millionaire whose daughter is married to Lawford.

Spokesmen said Sinatra, unofficial leader of the group, and the Martins are expected to leave Thursday for Europe, along with Sammy Davis Jr. and his wife, actress May Britt. Davis is scheduled to open a long show engagement in London. Lawford has a commitment to appear on London TV.

Miss Leigh, the wife of Tony Curtis, said she would meet Pat Lawford, sister of President Kennedy, in New York next Monday and they would leave from there.

Miss Leigh said Curtis was not going because "he's preparing his 1959 Buick Invicta. Must sell wholesale at once. Leaving for South America." 401 N. Wells. Adv.

Republicans Plan Regional Meets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican leaders will hold a series of regional conferences this fall to light the fuse for their 1962 political campaign, GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, announced today.

Miller told a reporter that meetings will be held in the East, South, Midwest and Far West to begin the GOP campaign to win control of more courthouses, statehouses and the House of Representatives next year.

Restaurant Chef Hired By Senate And For Reason!

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although very few of our senators suffer from malnutrition, I can't blame them for wanting to improve their diet.

Dining in the Senate restaurant is not exactly what you might call an adventure in good eating. It's adventurous, all right, but in a different sort of way.

I mean, anyone who eats there can readily understand why the place was never recommended by Duncan Hines. It probably wouldn't even be recommended by James R. Duncan, who is a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

The food served in the restaurant can best be described by a phrase once used by Ralph McGill, the well-known Georgia journalist, in an article he wrote on southern cooking.

McGill opined that the cuisine put out by certain roadside diners in Dixie tasted like "a fricassee of old campaign speeches." Senate food has that quality, too, at times.

At other times, it tastes more like the cooks had barbecued the Congressional Record.

The odd thing about this is that the senators endured this fare for years with only a minimum amount of carping. It was only after President Kennedy hired that French chef last spring that they began to get really fed up.

Ever alert to maintain equality with the executive branch, the Senate this week officially installed in its Capitol kitchen a chef; he is a full-blown maitre d'hotel, with credentials from such posh places as the Waldorf-Astoria in New York and the Sheraton-Park in Washington.

When I heard about the hiring of the maitre d', whose name is Robert E. Sonntag, I hastened over to the Senate dining room to have a chat with him. I wanted to find out what was in store for our senatorial gastronomes.

Sonntag made it clear right at the outset that he had no intention of stuffing the lawmakers with truffles and other such exotic dishes. The restaurant will continue to feature American-style cuisine, whatever that is.

But if an individual senator demands pheasant under glass, Sonntag will endeavor to oblige, even if he has to don an apron and prepare the dish himself.

A handsome, ruddy-faced fellow who still retains a Gallic accent, Sonntag took me on what I can't resist calling a "cook's tour" of the kitchen, pointing out potential improvements along the way.

He said his main aim will be to add variety to the menu and give a Continental touch to the old stand-bys. He even has hopes of making the "famous Senate bean soup" more palatable.

I fear, however, that it will take an act of Congress to perform the latter feat. The only way to improve that bean soup is to repeal the Senate rule requiring that it be served every day.

Tower Criticizes Distressed Areas Tag On Counties

WASHINGTON (UPI) Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said Texans resent being held up before the nation as living in an underdeveloped area in need of a federal handout.

He made the remarks Monday in protest to the designation of 47 Texas counties as distressed areas.

Tower said the move was made without "prior consultation with or knowledge of the business and civic leaders of these counties."

He said he had received a great many complaints from the counties affected.

High School Girl Advises Politicians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Linda Waite, a cheerleader by trade, has some advice for people in a somewhat related field—politics.

Miss Waite, who leads cheers at Bennington, Vt., High School, says teen-agers don't dig politicians like they ought to, and it's the politicians' fault.

It seems some politicians came to Bennington to try out their pitches on the kids. They "spoke far above our level," said the perky 18-year-old. "We couldn't understand them."

She suggested they revise their campaign talks for teen-age audiences.

Miss Waite is a "senator" from Vermont at the annual Girls' Nation, now in progress.

"I didn't know much about government" before getting involved in the mock politics venture, she said.

At Girls' Nation, each state sends two "senators" to form political parties, hold elections and set up a model government.

Miss Waite, a junior in high school, is a member of the Federalist party, the minority faction. The majority is the Nationalist party.

The week includes a scheduled visit Friday at the White House, where President Kennedy is expected to say a few words to the girls.

Trunk Air Lines Look To Autoists For New Income

NEW YORK (UPI)—The men whose job it is to keep the nation's trunk air-lines "in the black" are looking to the motorist for a good chunk of their future market.

Stuart G. Tipton believes, Tipton, 50, balding, blue-eyed Indiana-born lawyer, has been president of the Air Transport Association of America, with headquarters in Washington, since 1955. Among the numerous concerns of his office is the balance sheets and return to stockholders which the domestic trunk airlines show, each year.

This is so, Tipton said on a trip to New York, because the air lines must remain financially healthy to do their job.

He told a congressional committee in May, and will tell anyone who wants to talk about it, that the earnings of the trunk lines, the big ones—flying between major centers of population, are substandard. In 1960, his figures said, they realized a net profit after taxes of $1,188,000—a profit margin, he said, of barely six one-hundredths of one per cent on gross revenues of almost $2 billion.

To keep the revenues and passenger-mile figures rising, they have to make sure that in an expanding population they find more persons to ride planes. Where?

"Everyone knows that we will have to continue a higher rate of growth," said Tipton.

"And we'll have to seek it somewhere in the 66 million miles of private automobile, intercity, travel."

"Auto traffic is the target. It has to be the basic field for the expansion of our industry."

"Part of the job is going to be to convince families of the range, time and comfort factors of airline travel."

BLAMED IN DEATHS

TORONTO (UPI) — Ontario Attorney General Kelso Roberts said he would prefer parental control and common sense to a government ban on the sale of snorkel diving equipment. Use of the diving masks has been blamed for the recent deaths of three young swimmers in the province.

Meteor Could Conceivably Start War, Expert Thinks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—World War III could conceivably be touched off by a meteor, mistakenly by a panicky nation for a missile, says space expert Murray Kornhauser.

Kornhauser, manager of General Electric's missile and space projects, said precautions against such a disaster should be taken now.

Speaking before the opening of the western regional meeting of the American Astronomical Society, Kornhauser said public education about meteoric events and a simple radioactivity test would

Nevada's Chief Free Of Charges

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Criminal charges against Gov. Grant Sawyer and two other state officials involving violation of Nevada's open meeting law were dismissed yesterday.

Justice of the Peace Pete Supera dismissed the complaint at the request of Reno Newspapers, Inc., at the beginning of the trial. He said he was acting "in the interests of justice" since the corporation had brought the complaint.

Sawyer, Atty. Gen. Roger Foley and Controller Keith Lee were arrested June 23 on a complaint signed by Frank Johnson, manager of the Carson City bureau of the Reno Evening Gazette and the Nevada State Journal.

Johnson said the officials, acting as the State Highway Board, barred him from a meeting dealing with a federal report on the controversial Reno freeway project. Sawyer said it merely was a discussion at an informal gathering of his advisors.

The 1960 law, signed by Sawyer, said that public meetings must be open except during discussions involving hiring and firing of employees.

Mrs. Johnson Service Pends

Final rites are pending for Mrs. Bess Gertrude Johnson of Lefors, who died this morning at 10:50 in the Worley Hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born June 11, 1900 in Commanche and had made her home in the Lefors area for 23 years. She was a member of the Lefors Methodist Church.

Survivors are her husband, Daniel of the home; one son, Daniel of Pampa; her mother, Mrs. Eula Northcutt of Desdemona; four brothers, Virgil and Roy Northcutt of Desdemona, Dennie of Brownwood and Lyman of Overton; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Dallas, and Miss Eva Northcutt of Desdemona.

Arrangements will be announced by Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Summer care for your skin includes (left) a translucent gelée which tints the skin while promoting a tan. To camouflage a white skin on a tennis court (center), use a coffee-colored lotion that stays on until you wash it off. The moment you get home from beach or court, apply a moisturizer (right) to your face, throat and arms. This is essential to keeping your skin soft and dewy. For while the sun is essentially beneficial, it is drying to skin.

How To Go To College On Shoestring:

Eat Mashed Potatoes With Lemon Pie

NEW YORK — To get along in college on a shoestring: Try to live on no money at all. Learn to eat mashed potatoes with lemon pie, or any other strange food combinations you happen to get for nothing.

Resist snacks, calls home and borrowing money.

These are the suggestions of 18-year-old Beatrice Wein, who reports in the August SEVENTEEN on how she got along with almost no money in her freshman year at Pennsylvania State University. Here are some helpful hints on the way Beatrice managed on only $132 for her first semester after paying tuition and other fees.

1. Buy used books and supplies. Beatrice and her roommate got around the $9 price of a gym suit by jointly buying a used one and, since they had gym on different days, splitting the $5.50 cost.

Don't go in for activities that overlap mealtimes; eating out is too expensive. And if you absolutely can't get back to the dining hall, have friends bring back some food for you; you'll have to get used to whatever weird combinations they can provide. Or whip up your own food. Beatrice recalls that when she got tired of just plain peanut butter on crackers, she sprinkled instant coffee on top of the peanut butter.

Guard That Crystal Skin From Sun

To Have Dewy Complexion With Tan

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When summer rolls around, we flock to the beaches, pools and tennis courts at every leisure moment. Our complexions once again must face their annual bout with sun and salt water.

There's no denying that a smooth sun tan is attractive. But if you're in too much of a hurry to get one, you'll either become beet red or dark and cracked.

Your first day out, start with five minutes of sunning on each side and increase the time gradually each day until you reach the desired shade of tan.

If you begin to see your skin grow pink in the sunlight, cover up. You've had enough.

Use an effective lotion or cream to screen the sun's rays. One such is a translucent gelée which gently tints the skin and is claimed to promote a deep and rapid tan without burning and peeling.

If you have a back yard, where you can acquire some tan before you make your first "public appearance" in summer sports, fine. If not, you can camouflage your winter pallor with a water-proof coffee-colored lotion that will give you a natural-looking tan in a minute. It's ideal, too, for covering uneven tan patches on dress-up evening dates.

As soon as you get home from the beach, shower to remove all traces of salt. Then apply a moisturizing emulsion to your face, throat and arms to prevent dehydration from the sun and salt spray.

Be sure to lubricate the skin around the eye area while you are on the beach. Sun wrinkles are unattractive, and mar an otherwise beautiful sun tan.

It's true that constant care is required if we expect to enjoy a soft, dewy complexion, and an even, smooth tan in summer. But the look of health and beauty that can be achieved makes that effort well worth while.

The Big Look Or The Sleek Look

Milady Can Choose This Autumn

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fall and winter sports clothes head in two directions. There's the big look. And there's the sleek look.

The big look includes the bulky sweaters with wide, deep necklines, the square-shaped overblouses and the pleated and flared skirt.

The sleek look includes the hooded jersey tops, the bright plaid short skirts worn over knee length jersey pants, the long, sleek fitting V-neck sweaters, and the million of pairs of stretch pants being run up in the nation's garment centers.

Many manufacturers show skirts worn with other colors jackets for a "separates unit" look. Skirt shapes range through the very straight to the pleated to the flared. One of the revivals of the season is the jumper, shaped like the chemise. It is worn unbelted, and stands alone as a dress or a hangs straight or flares a little, cover for sweater or blouse.

Competing with sweaters as a favorite top are capes and ponchos.

Watch also for rolled collars standing away from the neck, for belted tunic tops, for knee-length skirts, culottes, bras, button and fringe trim.

Colors never have been so splashy; some complement each other, others are meant to clash, as in pink combined with orange.

Dear Abby... "Sewed-Up" Couple Become "Unraveled"

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a very attractive young man came to my door selling magazine subscriptions. I invited him in because I was interested. We talked a few hours and I fixed him coffee. I found him very appealing. He has a wife and children, but is having trouble at home and needed someone to talk to. When he left, he forgot his necktie and a large envelope with some business papers in it. I have his name and telephone number. Should I call him up and tell him to stop by and pick up his belongings? I would like to see him again. I am married, but my husband travels.

TEMPTED
DEAR TEMPTED: Pile his "belongings" into an envelope and mail them to him. He had no business removing his necktie, and you shouldn't have encouraged him to make himself so much at home. You apparently found each other "appealing," which is the way people who are already "sewed up" become unraveled. Forget him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old, and my problem is this: My boy friend asked me to kiss him and I told him no because it wasn't a real date — he was just walking me home. Did I do the right thing? I like this boy very much, but I am not allowed to date yet.

NOT SURE
DEAR NOT: You did the right thing. But don't get the idea that when you are on a "real" date, you have to kiss every boy who asks you.

DEAR ABBY: We were married three years ago. We had a large wedding. My husband was still in the Service. Many of our friends offered to buy us dishes and glassware, but we had no place to store these things, so we didn't select a pattern.

Now we are settled in an apartment, and would like to have these gifts. The friends who offered the glassware and china have never given us anything. We know their intentions were good. Would it be proper to let them know we could use their gifts now?

REGRETS
DEAR REGRETS: Nope.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers to you for saying a kind word about the girls in girly shops. A generation ago I bumped (and ground) out enough money to buy my parents a little home. I also put my brother through Law school. I was never ashamed of the way I made my living because I always lived right.

I went to church every Sunday morning, which is more than you could say for a lot of people who sat in the front row every Saturday night. Sincerely yours,

MATTERS OF NOTE

Vegetable Mart Will Be Short, Bureau Predicts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today summer supplies of fresh vegetables are likely to be moderately smaller than last year but above the recent 10-year average.

Supplies of cabbage, carrots, celery, snap beans and sweet corn promise to be close to those of last summer, the department said. But prospective supplies of other major fresh items are moderately to substantially smaller. About 10 per cent fewer watermelon will be available, but moderately more cantaloupe.

Demand for both fresh and processed vegetables is expected to continue strong, the department said. If supplies are about in line with July indications, prices received by growers for fresh market vegetables during August and September are likely to average moderately above those of a year earlier. Retail prices also will be up moderately.

Over-all supplies of canned vegetables in the 1961-62 season probably will be slightly larger than last season, and moderately above average. Frozen vegetable output is continuing to expand, with supplies this season expected to reach a record.

Potatoes are in heavy supply. Production of summer potatoes in the East is somewhat smaller and in the Midwest about the same as last year. But prospective output in the West is up materially.

The department will purchase ready-to-cook frozen turkey for the school lunch program as a means of helping to remove excess supplies from the market. The amount to be purchased will depend on offering prices in relation to producer prices and quantities offered.

McNamara Urges Kennedy's Civil Defense Program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told Congress yesterday several million Americans—"perhaps several tens of millions"—might be killed in a nuclear attack on the United States.

However, McNamara said President Kennedy's new civil defense plan could save at least 10 to 15 million lives. The plan calls for preparation of shelters from radioactive fallout.

McNamara, who took over national responsibility for civil defense today under a presidential order, spelled out Kennedy's program in testimony before a House military operations subcommittee.

He said the plan calls for locating and marking great quantities of community shelter space in existing buildings

Two Big Risks Declared Involved In Berlin Crisis

Berlin is a tale of two cities, one Communist and one free. In the following dispatch the general European news manager of United Press International examines the divided city, its people, its leaders, and the Soviet pressures that are building up toward a showdown in the cold war.

By HARRY FERGUSON

BERLIN (UPI)—Let's face up to the big question right away. Is something about to happen here that will start World War III? A nuclear war, that is, with missiles raining death on New York and Moscow, Leningrad and London, Kiev and Paris? Is the awesome prophecy in the Book of Revelations about to come true—that the armies of the world are assembling at Armageddon for the ultimate battle in which "the cities of the nations fell . . . and every island fled away and no mountains were to be found?"

The answer is probably not. At least no responsible person familiar with the complicated problem of Berlin with whom this correspondent has talked thinks any such thing is likely. One of them said "the odds against a nuclear war would have to be at least 500 to one."

When you put the question of whether there is going to be a big war direct to Willy Brandt, the tough mayor of West Berlin, you get this answer: "I do not think so. But it would be tragic not to realize that this crisis carries some risks."

What risks? There are two big ones:

—That by accident or design a local war fought with conventional weapons would break out, but with both sides holding back their hydrogen bombs temporarily.

—That the Western powers could be bluffed or maneuvered out of Berlin, leaving the West Berliners deserted and disillusioned.

If the West is forced out of Berlin, Russia will have won the cold war.

No American pledge of moral support or military assistance to small or neutral nations resisting Communism would be worth a dime. One by one, like ripe plums, they would fall into the lap of Nikita Khrushchev.

So much for what the statesmen and politicians think. What about the average man living in West Berlin?

We must make a careful search for him. We want a man old enough to have lived through several crises in Berlin. He must not be too rich or too poor. Not a pessimist and not an optimist. A man with his feet on the ground. Our search goes on until we come to the corner of Martin Lutherstrasse and Motzstrasse, turn into a small shop and shake hands with a tall man wearing a white cap.

Case History: Name, Hermann Tech, Age, 53. Married with one child. Owns a butcher shop. Works 12 hours a day and makes a fairly good living. Was an infantry man in the German army during World War II. Wounded a total of five times. Captured by the Russians in a battle near the Don River. Three years of hard labor in the Soviet Union. Made his way back to Berlin blockade in 1948.

Question: Mr. Tech, do you think there will be a war?

Answer: There will be no war. The Russians cannot afford a war with nuclear bombs. If there is a war with conventional weapons, the Russians will lose it because they don't have enough materials.

Q. Do you ever get worried and plan to leave Berlin?

A. I will never leave Berlin. If the Russians should take over Berlin then a lot more of the world also would become Communist.

Q. How do you think this crisis will end?

A. Khrushchev must give way and he will give way. A big war would have too many risks for him.

Q. Then you think Khrushchev is bluffing?

A. Not exactly. But he is asking for a lot in hope he will get a little of what he wants.

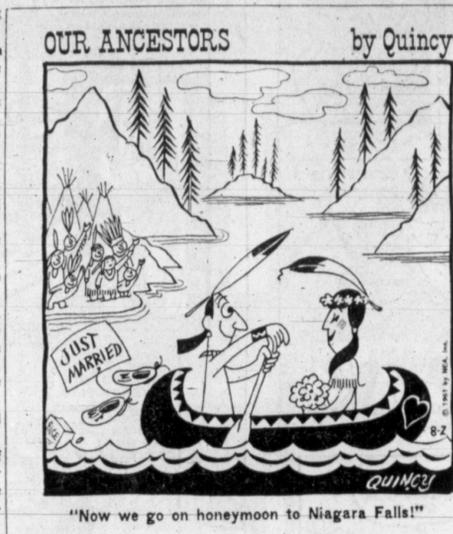

Q. Do you think the Western nations will desert Berlin?

A. No. The West is gathering its strength.

The customers come and go. Hermann Tech jokes with them as he slices and wraps the meat. They laugh at his jokes. Nobody mentions the current crisis. Nerves are steady. People who live in houses on the slope of a volcano are unlikely to have a nervous breakdown worrying about an eruption. And, like Hermann Tech, they never plan to run away from it.

Geography and vital statistics:

Berlin is 110 miles inside of Communist East Germany. The city is divided into four sectors—American, British, French and Russian. West Berlin is made up of the British, American and French sectors and has a population of 2,200,000. East Berlin is the Russian sector and has a population of 1,100,000. The area of West Berlin is 185 square miles; East Berlin, 155 square miles. There is no physical barrier between the cities. Only a jagged line, blood red on the Berlin maps, shows where one city stops and another begins. Unless you are carrying a map you can cross a street and, without knowing it, be in a different city and a different world. There is a cafe on the borderline where the back door is in East Berlin and the front door is in West Berlin. Fifty thousand Germans live in Communist Berlin but work in West Berlin. Twenty thousand persons live in West Berlin and work in East Berlin. There is a subway and an elevated railroad running between East Berlin and West Berlin, and anybody can ride on them. How and why this crazy-quilt arrangement was made is something we will deal with later, but let us turn now to the subway and the elevated train. They are the holes in the Iron Curtain, the escape routes to the West, the freedom trains into a brave new world.

All you need is a nickel and plenty of nerve.

"Berlin," said Khrushchev, "is a bone in my throat." Here is why: Since July 1 an average of one person every 90 seconds has been fleeing from Communist Germany into West Berlin. Communist statistics are suspect, but the best estimate is that between 1949 and 1959 the East German population declined by 2,400,000. Now it is declining faster than ever.

This is an intolerable situation to the Communists. Here in Berlin the two rival political systems of our time are in a show window, side by side, for everybody to see. A German can go window shopping any time and size up the rival systems like a housewife examining the vegetables in a supermarket. Every day recently about 1,000 Germans have made up their minds in favor of the West.

Once a man has made up his mind what does he do?

Case History: Ulrich Guntard, 20, and his wife Gundula, 23. He comes from East Prussia and is a skilled craftsman specializing in construction of small boats and yachts. Two and a half years ago the Communists drafted him into the East German army. Assigned to the Ninth Armored Division and rose to the rank of sergeant at a salary equivalent to $53 a month. When his military service term expired, Communist officials turned up at the camp and offered Ulrich and several of his friends jobs with the East German police force. He decided to accept the job rather than continue his military career because he was getting weary of the constant political indoctrination to which he was subjected in the army. Every Thursday for eight hours he and his friends were forced to attend lectures on the virtues and glory of Communism.

He was told that in event of war he would have to fight the West German army and the idea of shedding the blood of his countrymen revolted him. ("They are my fellow Germans; I do not want to fight them"). After he joined the police force he was invited to become a member of the Communist youth organization. He with us and began questioning people. They wanted to see identity papers and they wanted to know what you had in your bag. They worked fast, but not fast enough to get around to Gundula and me. They must have caught some important people in our car because at the last stop before we crossed into West Berlin the three detectives got off and took three men with them. Then I breathed easier and so did Gundula. We got off at the Neukoeln station in the American sector of West Berlin and we were free."

Ulrich and Gundula carried their bags to the Marienfelde refugee center and we shall follow them there to see what happens. But first, the answer to this obvious question: Why doesn't Khrushchev stop the flow of East Germans into West Germany by refusing to allow the subway and elevated trains to run into West Berlin? Because it would do serious damage to the economy of East Berlin. As has been noted, 20,000 persons live in West Berlin and work in East Berlin. Many of them are skilled labor and East Berlin needs them.

Then there are the 50,000 persons who live in East Berlin and work in West Berlin because that is the only place they can get jobs. Example: Mrs. Ilse Meiss is a middle-aged woman married to a man employed in an East Berlin factory. He doesn't want to leave his job. She can't get a job in East Berlin, but in West Berlin she has found employment as a cleaning woman. She earns 40 marks (ten dollars) a week, and makes the trip back and forth to West Berlin every day. She doesn't want to flee to the West because she wants to stay with her husband. But she needs the $10 a week for her food budget. She is trapped.

POLICE CATCH UP

RETFORD, England (UPI)—Police often smiled as they saw Robert Hamilton, 22, run past in his track suit on his early morning exercises along Retford's country roads.

But today Hamilton was in jail, convicted of breaking into two homes during his runs and running off with the loot.

Nation's 'Funnybone' Still Found Healthy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Joseph Finigan is on vacation. Dick Shawn is today's visiting writer.)

By DICK SHAWN
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Has America had its funnybone amputated? Someone asked me that the other day.

No, I answered the fellow. The funnybone is still in place, sides are still spitable and aisles are still occupied by delighted rollers. "Well," he reasoned, "no one laughs at a pie in the face anymore."

This fellow was obviously a disgruntled pie-in-the-face aficionado.

He was burned up that most of today's younger comics are former Rhodes Scholars, whereas Harpo Marx and the classic comedians of a few decades back boasted of having flunked second grade more times than any kid on their block.

"Some guy gets up and gives out a patter that either sounds like an editorial page or an excerpt from the Encyclopedia Britannica and that's supposed to be humor," this fellow griped.

America hasn't lost its sense of humor I explained. It's simply that a big portion of our populace humor has matured, too. But the American ability to laugh still runs the full gamut.

There are healthy signs in the way Americans laugh today. Much of the sadism has gone out of their humor (witness the fact that more pies are consumed than tossed these days.) That's healthy. Best of all, Americans laugh best at themselves.

The quickest way to evoke a giggle is to get the audience to identify with the butt of the joke. And since, as Mr. Lincoln said, this is a government "of the people," when that Phi Beta Kappa type comic gets up and pokes fun at our famous people, he's really getting the people to laugh at themselves.

This is still the country with the most of its downtown sections. "Julius Caesar excluded all chariots from downtown Rome, and after that Rome became a great city," Smith said.

Amarillo Takes Two From Tulsa Oilers

By United Press International
Amarillo bolted two full games further in front of Tulsa, its nearest rival for the Texas League lead, last night by taking both ends of a twin-bill from the Oilers.

It gave the Gold Sox a 5½ game bulge over Tulsa.

Tom McNulty got credit for the 2-1, three-hit opener, but needed help from Paul Erickson in the seventh when Tulsa got its only run. Loser Lou Vickery gave up seven hits that produced a pair of runs in the fourth and another one in the sixth.

In the nightcap, Amarillo won 8-4, spotting the Oilers four runs then moving in front on a five-run outburst in the sixth on Chuck Buheller's grand slam homer. Amarillo banged out 14 hits against three Tulsa twirlers, with Lynn Rube the loser. Jack Cullen was the winner in relief.

In other games, San Antonio shut out Austin 4-0 on Ralph Prince's six-hitter and Victoria edged Ardmore 6-5 in 10 innings.

Dallas Team Cuts Rookies

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Texans of the American Football League cut six rookies from their roster Tuesday, and fullback Jack Spikes returned to practice.

Spikes had been hobbled with a leg injury. He may start the pre-season game against New York's Titans Saturday night at Cobb Stadium.

Rookies cut from the squad were ends Danny House of Davidson and Leon Conway of Grambling; halfbacks Robert Montgomery of North Carolina College, Don Stephenson of Grambling and Roy Hodge of Dayton, and tackle Raymond Moore of Dallas University.

DISTRICT WINNERS — The Pampa Pony League All Star team copped their district play-off series by trouncing Littlefield 8-3 Monday night. The All Stars will play in Lubbock tonight in the first game of the Sectional Tournament. Pampa will meet the Lubbock Southern Loop stars at Klap Park at 8:30 p.m. The tournament is a double elimination series. Thus far in three play-off series, Pampa has won six out of eight games. From left-to-right on the first row: Herman Waite, Ronnie Oler, Lanny Lewis, Ronald Curlee, Tommy Henley, Philip Smith, Steve Molberg, and Jerry Garrison. Second row: Vernon Roper, Manager; Jimmy Brown, Roger Owen, Johnny Luedecke, Kerry Roper, Jim Arthur, Max Taylor, Doug Scaggs, and co-manager, John McClain.

Ralph Houk Fined And Suspended Skipper Meted $250 Penalty

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk, a clever, calculating thinker, starts paying the price today for trying to outguess an umpire.

Houk, freshman manager of the New York Yankees, was suspended Tuesday for five days and fined $250 by American League president Joe Cronin for his run-in with umpire Ed Hurley last Sunday.

The incident developed in the second game of a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles. Baltimore had won the opener from the league-leaders, 4-0, and was ahead, 2-1, in the ninth inning of the nightcap when the Yankees loaded the bases with none out.

Cletic Boyer, taking on a 3-2 pitch, was called out on strikes by Hurley and then pinchhitter Hector Lopez grounded into a double play to end the game.

At this point Houk charged out to home plate and started shouting at Hurley about the called third strike on Boyer. Hurley, in his report to Cronin, claimed that Houk jostled him.

Asked after the game why he hadn't protested the decision at the time Boyer was called out, the alert-thinking Houk, referring to the rule which calls for immediate ejection on a protest of a ball-strike decision, had replied, "What good is a manager in the clubhouse?"

Alert at all times, the former major in the Rangers had tempered his steam to avoid dismissal at a crucial time. And yet he still was tagged with the stiffest penalty ever inflicted by Cronin in his office of league president.

Houk, out on a fishing trip all day Tuesday, was glum when he arrived home and would comment only that he thought the penalty "pretty tough in view of the offense."

Yankee general manager Roy Hamey said: "I think the suspension is too severe for a first-time infraction."

Houk's suspension started at 12:01 this morning and runs through Aug. 6. Because of Yankee doubleheaders both today and Sunday, the major will sit out seven games.

Old Master Arcaro Keeps On Winning

By United Press International
Eddie Arcaro, an old master at riding horses, is off to a typical start at the annual Saratoga Springs meetings.

The 45-year-old veteran shows only two winners in as many days, but both have come in feature races where the big money is to be made. Arcaro booted home Jaipur in the opening day Flash Stakes and then won Tuesday's feature aboard Wise Flushing. Although he broke last in the field of six and was third at the halfway mark, Wise Flushing responded to Arcaro's steady handling to breeze to the wire by four lengths over Raft. It was the second victory of the year for the consistent 3-year-old colt and he returned $5.10, $3.40 and 2.90.

Wise Flushing was clocked in 1:11 3-5 for the six furlongs.

All Star Games Decision Nears

BOSTON (UPI) — A joint committee of players and ball club owners will meet within two weeks to decide whether to recommend two All-Star games again next year.

The final decision will not be made until the committee's report is submitted to the club owners at their December meeting in Miami Beach, according to Bob Friend and Gene Woodling, player representatives of the National and American leagues, respectively.

The player representatives of the clubs met here Tuesday and voted in favor of continuing to play two All-Star Games.

Friend, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said the players want two game primarily because the public want two. He said All-Star attendance figures prove it.

The returns from the All-Star Games go toward the players' retirement fund.

Judge Robert Cannon, the players' attorney, said he would ask Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to set up the joint committee of player representatives and club owners to work out "practical details" of future second All-Star Games. Site of this meeting was not immediately decided upon pending Frick's action.

The player representatives also discussed the problem of Negro housing during spring training in Florida. Cannon said negotiations are underway between certain teams and communities in the Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla., area.

Liston Goes Into Court

Philadelphia (UPI) — Heavyweight Charles (Sonny) Liston, whose brushes with the law cost him his boxing license and a No. 1 challenger's rating, made another court appearance today.

The boxer went before Judge Victor Blanc to answer a variety of charges which had been dismissed by magistrates at earlier hearings only to be restored by the district attorney's office.

In June, Liston was arrested for failing to obey a policeman's order to move on at a street corner. Liston apologized and the case was dismissed by a magistrate next morning.

Last month, Liston and a companion were arrested by a Fairmount Park guard after a brief auto chase in which the officer fired a shot. The guard said the two men allegedly forced a woman motorist to the side of a road.

Liston again gained a dismissal from a second magistrate after apologizing in court. The charges against the men included impersonating officers; failure to heed an officer's command and dousing their car lights in an effort to resist arrest.

Texas Champ, Valdez, Loses

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Flashy Sixto San Miguel of Laredo and San Antonio, scored a technical knockout Tuesday night over Texas featherweight champion Frankie Valdez of San Antonio in the 9th round of a non-title fight before a crowd of 1,298.

San Miguel, a trim welterweight at 134½ pounds, decked Valdez three times in the ninth before the referee stopped the fight 2:31 deep in the round.

Valdez was five pounds over the featherweight limit of 127.

San Miguel is now unbeaten in 10 professional fights. It was the third knockout loss by Valdez in his last three fights.

Other results on the card: Silky Shelton, San Antonio, and Andres Herrera of Piedras Negras, draw (8).

Marshall Wells of Houston KO'd Baby Alonzo of Piedras Negras in 2:31 of the second round; Willie Watson of Houston beat Gil Tapia of San Antonio; Melvin Mott of Houston and Larry O'Conner of San Antonio fought to a draw.

Yanks, Dodgers Flag Favorites

By United Press International

The major league pennant races move into their August "dog days" today with the favored New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers hoping that the luck of the schedule will help them draw away from their flag rivals.

The Yankees, leading the Detroit Tigers by a game and a half in the AL, will play 15 consecutive games against the bottom four teams of the league in the next two weeks while the Dodgers, a half-game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds in the NL, open a 13-game home stand that comes just when it appears the team has "jelled."

Baseball experts on hand for the majors' second All-Star Game in Boston agreed that both front-runners have an excellent opportunity to take command of the races in the next two weeks — the Yankees because the Tigers seem to be fading and the Dodgers because they're overdue for a run of good fortune at home.

The Yankees begin an 11-game home stand against Kansas City this afternoon and then play Minnesota and Los Angeles at home before playing a three-game series at Washington. The Dodgers have a two-game series with San Francisco tonight and Thursday night and then play the Cubs, Braves, Cardinals and Reds. The Dodgers, 34-19 on the road and 28-22 at home, have won eight straight games and 10 of their last 11.

Both the Tigers and Reds have two-night doubleheaders today, the hard-pressed Tigers against the Senators and the Reds against the forlorn Phillies. The Tigers have lost four of their last five games while the Reds recently bounced out of a five-game losing streak with seven victories in nine games.

For the moment, at least, both races must be viewed as two-team affairs. The Orioles, despite their heroics in New York last weekend, are 8½ games out of first place, including 10 in the loss column; the Giants are eight games behind the Dodgers.

The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates are 1½ games behind Los Angeles and at three games under the 500 mark are a lot closer to seventh place than to first.

Dallas Nips Houston 6-5

By United Press International

The league-leading Indianapolis Indians split a twin bill at Omaha Tuesday night, dropping the opener to the last-place Dodgers, 4-3, and winning the nightcap, 4-1.

A pair of seventh inning homers gave third-place Denver a 7-4 win at second-place Louisville and Dallas-Fort Worth shaded Houston, 6-5, at Houston.

Three Omaha pitchers scattered seven hits and allowed the Indians to score only on Don Pavletich's three-run homer in the fifth.

The Dodgers pushed across their winning run in the bottom of the eighth.

Lineman Will Miss Contest

WACO (UPI) — Ray Gene Hinze, an outstanding lineman from Waco La Vega High School, has reinjured a knee and will not be able to play in the high school all-star football game.

The Texas High School Coaches Association said at Austin that Hinze, a tackle, will be replaced by James Favors of Beaumont South Park.

Grid Stars Hold Drill

CHICAGO (UPI) — The College All-Stars were scheduled to get their first look tonight at Soldier Field, site of Friday night's nationally televised clash with the pro champion Philadelphia Eagles.

Coach Otto Graham said the squad would run through one drill on the Northwestern University campus where they have been training for a month and then would come here by bus to run through another scrimmage under the lights of the lake front stadium.

Graham said he wanted the players to become familiar with the vastness of Soldier Field where a crowd expected to reach 90,000 would view the game.

After today, only one more drill will be held. The squad will rest for the big charity game.

Tuesday, the All-Stars chose end Mike Ditka of Pittsburgh and linebacker E. J. Holub of Texas Tech as co-captains.

Cage League Set Meeting

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Basketball League will make final preparations to open the season in October at a meeting of officials of all eight teams starting today.

Items to be settled, Commissioner Abe Saperstein said, include the final draft of the schedule rules, playing sites, an exhibition schedule, and players under contract.

More than 40 owners, coaches and business managers were expected to attend.

Saperstein holds the franchise for the Chicago Majors. Other teams in the league are the Pittsburgh Rens, Washington Caps, Cleveland Pipers, Kansas City Steers, Los Angeles Jets, San Francisco Saints, and Hawaii Chiefs.

RAIDERS DROP BACK

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Earl Randolph, a defensive back who played college football at Arizona State, was released Tuesday by the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League. Randolph played last season for the Dallas Cowboys of the National League.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to go to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Rev. Stands For Liberty

Because we are prone to applaud laws which force others to conform to our way of doing things, we might expect churches which observe Sunday as their Sabbath to support vigorously the enforcement of blue laws.

But at least some churches and ministers do not want to force others to follow their customs. Rev. Paul Jones Miller, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church at Odessa, has let it be known that he deploras the U.S. Supreme Court decision which upheld the Sunday blue laws in Maryland, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

In a church bulletin prepared by him, Rev. Miller condemned the Supreme Court action as a "direct slap at religious liberty as guaranteed by the Constitution."

He continued, "If we are going to give all our citizens religious liberty, what right have we to force the Jews to observe Sunday by closing businesses? What right have we to force the Seventh-day Adventist to observe Sunday? What right have we to force any man to observe any day against his own will?"

Denouncing the court decision as a blow to liberty and calling upon all Baptists to protest the ruling, Rev. Miller added, "If you must force man to obey what you think is religiously right or what the majority says is religiously right, is neither Christianity nor liberty."

Rev. Miller neatly nails down the matter. If we do not wish to be forced to observe Saturday or Monday as the Sabbath, we should not force others to observe Sunday. Rev. Miller is to be commended for recognizing and respecting the rights of others, and

The Real Frontier

Man's future is linked inexorably to what he is and knows rather than to what he can do. The tools man can devise will provide the doing. The rugged unexplored terrain of the future lies in the direction of man's intellectual and spiritual development.

'Creeping Capitalism'

In the current impasse over Berlin and the heightening interest in places such as Kuwait, Cuba and Laos, we in America are prone to point out the erosion of our own private enterprise system by the advance of creeping socialism.

There is good reason for our concern. Without doubt, this nation has adopted many a program in recent years and in years not so recent, which follows the socialist concepts with tenacity and accuracy. But we could find some small comfort, we suppose, in the fact that Russia, our declared foe in the cold war, has been experiencing something in the nature of "creeping capitalism."

In spite of all the Russians have been able to do politically, and they have total political power entrenched in the Kremlin, they have not been able to subsist and at the same time enjoy their "socialistic paradise" without permitting certain amounts of capitalism to occur.

Even the Russian Constitution bears evidence of this fact. The very first chapter of the Constitution of the Soviets, which it makes clear that socialism is to be the basic economic policy followed in the Soviet Union, goes on to open the doorway to private ownership of homes, gardens, farm tools and the like. Moreover, while Russia officially decries the "profit motive" it has granted full recognition of something that stands pretty close to it, namely, "material self-interest."

So, even as the Soviet government insists that the "vile, opprobrious system of decadent Western capitalism" is about to be defeated and even "buried," there are thousands of Russians who have adopted this same system and are practicing it in order to keep life in their bodies and hope in their hearts.

Of course, at the moment, "creeping capitalism" is principally something enjoyed only by the upper classes among Russia's prosumably "classless" masses. It is encouraged among commissars and bureaucrats by the existence of a system of "blat" or graft, wherein the commissar who is paid a bit of money on the side can manage to get you just about anything you want. These "blat" payments encourage the commissar to a better life, even if it does come thru dishonesty and bribery.

Today, Russia has a whole commissar class of "talkach," who are professional "fixers" such as those so frequently observed in and around Washington, D.C. For enough rubles, almost anything can be had.

This system of bribery and fix began in the years immediately following the October revolution of 1917 and made it possible for many millions of Russians to survive during those dreadful years. Total socialism administered from on high, did bring such starvation and distress to the whole of Russia that even Lenin had to back water and agree to what was called a "New Economic Policy," which made possible private trading, private ownership and private profit taking, albeit in small doses and for a limited few.

Repeatedly there have come from the Soviet Union items in Pravda or Trud which reveal that in the hinterlands, and Russia has a lot of hinterlands, pockets of free enterprise still flourish. Also the official position of the government is one of horror and chagrin over these events, there is no doubt that in many a remote village and backwoods community, plenty of free enterprise still goes on.

Clandestine exchanges of goods and services still occur frequently, even in Moscow. People meet in alleys and late at night to swap what they have produced for something they would rather have. About one sixth of all food stuffs are now exchanged in the black market. Official markets contain such a paucity of produce and that

IT'S THE LAW

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

RIGHT OF WITNESSES

By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say. Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his client's story.

Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court.

On some rare occasions you could be called upon to testify about something affecting your own standing in the community. As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

If you are ever in such a bind, consult a lawyer of your own choice on what to do. The lawyer who called you to testify has a sworn duty to protect his client, not you. But your lawyer is sworn to keep what you tell him secret and to advise you in your own interests within the law.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.

2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.

3. Wear clean, conservative clothes.

4. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.

5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.

6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.

7. If you err — and people often do — correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail, say so. Don't bluff.

8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.

9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he can stop you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial."

10. Keep cool and don't sass back.

11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people — the lawyer, for example; and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.

12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fail to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

(This newfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

GETS RESULTS

NEW YORK (UPI) — There was a method to William Kring's madness.

Police thought Kring had gone daff when his car weaved down a highway and deliberately cut in front of their vehicle with lights flashing.

When they caught up with him, however, they found a hitchhiker sitting beside him with a 38-caliber pistol in his hand.

Kring told police the hitchhiker, identified as John Dowling, tried to rob him, and so he started his crazy car antics to attract attention. The hitchhiker's gun was empty.

Trophy Seeker

LACONIA, N.H. (UPI) — The world championship sled dog races are to be held at Laconia Feb. 24-26.

Twenty-mile races will be held daily. Keith Bryar, of Center Harbor, is expected to defend his title. He is seeking the second leg on of such poor quality, that the Russian citizen, anxious to better himself and his family, is constrained to seek elsewhere. If he does, he can get what he wants, at a price.

So, while we can agree that creeping socialism in this country is a very present evil, we must note with some distinct pleasure that the Russian politician isn't having it all his own way. Creeping capitalism in Muscovy is a delight and reason for encouragement on our side of the world.

McClary Reports Khrushchev's Aims on Berlin, CIA Confirms Kremlin Pressure for Seizure

WASHINGTON — Premier Khrushchev is bent on wresting even far-reaching objectives from the West in the war — threatening Berlin crisis.

As detailed by the Kremlin ruler to John J. McCloy, special White House disarmament adviser, in their two-day meeting at Khrushchev's Black Sea vacation villa, these seven aims are:

—Recognition of satellite East Germany by the West.

—Western acceptance of current East German boundaries.

—Recognition of East Germany sovereignty over East Berlin.

—Acceptance of East German control of all air and ground routes to West Berlin.

—West Berlin to be made a so-called "free city."

—Western armed forces there to be sharply curtailed.

—Discontinuance of the "use of West Berlin as a Western Intelligence center, propaganda and refugee center."

This sweeping Communist bill of demands was transmitted to President Kennedy by McCloy immediately after returning from Moscow for further deliberations in the long-stymied disarmament negotiations.

Khrushchev told McCloy he is willing to negotiate on the ominous Berlin issue, but only on the basis of his demands.

He also left no doubt he intends to sign a "peace treaty" with East Germany regardless of any overtures or anything else the NATO allies may propose. Most probable timing of this satellite pact is October, shortly after the September election in West Germany and before the meeting of the Russian Communist party in Moscow.

Immediately after signing this treaty, East Germany will assert control over all access routes to West Berlin.

East German police will replace Soviet guards and inspect all vehicles and stamp entry documents. Refusal to comply will lead to arrest or ejection, or both.

MORE BAD NEWS — The Central Intelligence Agency, in a special report to the President, has fully confirmed McCloy's grim message — and added some additional disquieting information.

According to this CIA study, based on Iron Curtain and other sources, unrest in East Germany is becoming so widespread and acute that the announcement of a Statistical CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire's urban and rural population is on the increase.

The state's Planning and Development Commission reported the Granite State's urban population increased 46,960 persons, or 15.3 per cent, during the past decade to 353,766. During the same 10 years, the rural population rose 26,719, or 11.8 per cent, to 253,155.

FEDERAL JOBS RISE WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., reported today a net increase of 37,007 civilian employees in the executive departments last fiscal year. The June 30 total was 2,419,618 compared with 2,382,674 a year ago. Byrd heads the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

CHANGING TIMES

(Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman) Once it was the thing to emigrate to the United States. Through the capitalist system by work and thrift a man could acquire a competence. Relatives would be brought over. The second generation would be college trained, hold high positions in business and the professions, and be assets as citizens.

Now the ambitious, intelligent native gets western education through private or government scholarships. He returns to his own country. Through political favoritism, flattery to Americans and business acumen, he gets rich off United States foreign aid. We taught him how to play this game.

WITNESS

(Chicago Tribune) Whittaker Chambers was a sensitive and complex man who served the communist enemy in his time and, because of that service, came to know and loathe that enemy in every recess of his being. His penitence was complete, and it led him reluctantly into a wracking experience in which he had no recourse but to denounce a man who had once been the closest of his friends.

That man was Alger Hiss, a brilliant New Dealer who rose high in the state department, was secretary general of the conference at which the United Nations charter was drafted; was the confidante at Yalta of President Franklin Roosevelt, and who, at the time of his delayed confrontation with Chambers, was the eminently respectable president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Chambers had no desire to destroy Hiss. In testifying about the penetration of the Roosevelt and Truman government by Soviet espionage agents, he wrote, "My purpose had always been to disclose the conspiracy, never to injure any individual man or woman."

But the lies and evasions of Hiss, who finally forced the issue by bringing a slander action against Chambers, left Chambers no option but to produce the proof that Hiss, through his government service, had been a Communist and that he had relayed to communist spies official documents betraying the secrets of his government. Microfilm of these papers, secreted by Chambers for many years and finally produced from a hollowed out pumpkin on Chambers' Maryland farm, brought the conviction of Hiss on a charge of perjury. He was sentenced to five years in federal penitentiary and served 44 months before being released.

A Chambers saw it, Hiss and the other hidden Communists "had chosen the kind of war they meant to fight. They were implacable and I saw at last that there was no choice but to fight them just as implacably, though without their rancor, to the finish which their own impotence made unavoidable."

Thus Chambers became a witness — a term which stemmed from his Quaker faith — and he was an unsparing witness not only against Hiss and those who would destroy their own country in order to serve communism but in judging his own character and actions before his redemption.

The story of his ordeal is told in "Witness," his account of himself and his connection with the Hiss case, certainly one of the memorable books of our time.

What made his story peculiarly poignant was that when Chambers broke with communism, he felt that he was knowingly choosing the side of probable defeat in the revolutionary conflict of the 20th century.

In a moving letter to his children, he said, "Human societies, like human beings, live by faith and die when faith dies. At issue in the Hiss case was the question whether this sick society, which we call western civilization, could in its extremity still cast up a man whose faith in it was so great that he would voluntarily abandon those things which men hold good, including life, to defend it. At issue was the question whether this man's faith could prevail against a man whose equal faith it was that this society is sick beyond saving. At issue was the question whether, in the desperately divided society, there still remained the will to recognize the issues in time to offset the immense rally of public power to distort and pervert the facts."

Chambers, who came to a realization of truth out of the immensity of error, died last Sunday and was quietly laid to rest. We do not know whether, at the end, he was as pessimistic about the survival of liberty as he was in that earlier year. But his work and his words are witness to all of us of the struggle we face and the sacrifice it demands. His service to his country was great; peace to his ashes.

Decision Is Reached To Share Knowledge

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME, Italy — Every once in a while I take stock of what I know, and am always pleasantly surprised at the knowledge I have accumulated over half a century of living.

The last time I did this, which was yesterday, I asked myself why I didn't share the facts, figures and information that was in my head. Some of it, anyway. So I think I will, and here's a start.

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

In a previous column I gave the results of a nine-year study conducted on the effects of diet on blood at levels at the Rockefeller Institute.

Briefly stated, these studies suggested that the level of blood fats (lipemia) was most often dependent on the manner in which the body converted carbohydrates (sugars) into fat, and least often on the presence in the body of an inherited enzyme capable of digesting body fat. In neither instance was the level due to the relative amount of fat in the diet or the kind of fat that was ingested.

Fitting in with his laboratory study was an experiment conducted by Dutch physicians on Trappist and Benedictine monks.

Now the Trappists live on a food intake of milk and vegetables (lactovegetarians). The Benedictines favor a mixed diet. Here then was an ideal opportunity to observe the effects of diet on such conditions as arterial hardening (arteriosclerosis) angina pectoris, hypertension and disturbances of heart muscle (myocardium) due to obstruction of the coronary arteries.

Here in summary are the results:

There were no significant differences in the blood pressure levels of the monks of the two orders.

The average blood cholesterol levels were considerably higher in the Benedictines (who were also considerably heavier).

The incidence of myocardial infarction and of angina pectoris was about the same in the two groups but considerably lower than that of middle-aged men of the same age in the general population.

The higher level of blood cholesterol in the Benedictines suggested that the mixed diet might somewhat favor the development of arteriosclerosis, but that myocardial infarction was more likely the result of strains and stress against which monks of both orders were protected by their monastic lives.

I don't for a moment imagine that these pronouncements will influence greatly the American public that has learned to look on eggs and butter as accomplices to the No. 1 killer. And I haven't the vanity to hope that they will restore the price of eggs to a level comparable to that of other foods.

But maybe I can get an "A" for Effort.

Stocks To Take Upward Course, Report Predicts

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Wies enberger Investment Report says it remains of the opinion that the major course of stock prices is upward.

Despite the apparent setbacks the U.S. has encountered in the foreign field and the probability of further disturbing incidents abroad, the report says the strengthening business and economic situation here should prove more than an offsetting influence so far as financial sentiment and the level of stock prices are concerned.

From a technical standpoint, A.M. Kidder & Co. says the sharp market rally we have just seen is "thoroughly unconvincing." The brokerage house says it remains cautious, and aside from defensive gold and silver stocks, would nurture its buying power for a possible better opportunity in the future to get back in.

Standard & Poor's Outlook says the market's sudden upsurge undoubtedly will now be tested by profit-taking after which it would expect the advance to continue at a more measured pace. It continues advocating a substantially invested position with emphasis on reasonably valued cyclical issues where new commitments are indicated.

Hornblower & Weeks says reversal of the short-term downward trend last week points to the probability of an early test of overhead resistance in the 700-715 area of the D-J industrials. "The traditional summer rise now seems underway after all," it concludes.

Information On Draft Given By Pampa Board

The Pampa Selective Service office in the Rose Bldg. still is being swamped with inquiries from draft registrants, Mrs. Kathleen Zmotony, clerk, said today.

Mrs. Zmotony said she would like to clear up one question that seems to be bothering most of those seeking information.

"And that is," Mrs. Zmotony said, "that selective service registrations are not transferrable from one board to another. The registrant must at all times keep his original draft board informed of his current mail address."

It was also pointed out by the draft board clerk that registrants who need duplicates of registration cards should write to their original local draft board.

"The duplicates can only be obtained from the office where the original registration was made," Mrs. Zmotony said.

No new orders on the draft quotas have been received in the local office since President Kennedy's speech of a week ago in which he said the draft calls would be speeded up.

Groups Seeking New Auto Pact

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers expressed hope today they can reach agreement on a new contract before a self-imposed 3-day deadline expires the end of the month.

Both sides served notice Monday to terminate the present 1955 contract covering 310,000 workers at midnight Aug. 31.

British, French Leaders To Meet For Consultation

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan intends to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris by mid-September for consultations that could set off a Western summit, diplomatic sources report.

The projected meeting will be devoted to a review of the Berlin problem as well as Britain's decision to enter the six-nation European Common Market on certain conditions.

The sources said the meeting could develop into a full dress Western summit or a series of bilateral meetings to firm up Allied policy on Berlin.

De Gaulle's policies on Berlin, Germany and above all on NATO may require further qualification, the sources said.

The Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris this week are expected to draft a number of Berlin contingency plans. But they were also expected to prepare plans for negotiations with Russia.

The ministers were not now expected to produce the final Allied blueprint for Berlin.

This, it appeared, would be reserved for a summit or summits later this fall, probably shortly after the elections in West Germany in September.

All Big Three Western powers responsible for Berlin now are agreed to stand firm on their rights in the divided city. There is no discrepancy of policy on this point, government sources stressed.

Britain, defining her stand more closely on the eve of the Paris talks Monday listed these three issues on which there can be no "deal" with Russia:

The right to self-determination of the West Berliners and of all Germany.

The Big Three Western powers' rights to be in Berlin.

Mexico Suspects Red Penetration Promotion Move

By JAIME PLENN
MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The recent visit here of Jacques Mornard's Mexican wife has renewed speculation regarding Communist plans to utilize the slayer of Leon Trotsky to promote Latin American penetration.

Mrs. Rogelia Mendoza Buenabad, who was Mornard's common-law wife during his prison stay, spent several weeks in Mexico recently and conferred with Eduardo Fucha, first secretary of the Czechoslovakian embassy.

Fucha was one of the Czech embassy officials who accompanied Mornard (alias Ramon Marcader Del Rio) when he flew to Havana in May of 1960, after his release from a 20-year prison term.

Mornard had been in the penitentiary since 1940, when he was tried and found guilty of splitting the Russian exile's head open with an axe.

Prison officials recently unveiled a large outdoor mural which may set a new trend in the rehabilitation of delinquents.

The 65-foot long and 10-foot high painting by a young Canadian is regarded as "therapeutic," psychiatrists of the men's penitentiary in the suburb of Ixtapalapa said.

Arnold Belkin, the 30-year-old painter, said he spent a year of research and another 10 months
