Russian Lands After Orbiting World 17 Times In 25 Hours Pressure Grows For U.S. Space Effort Speedup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional demands for a speedup in the U.S. space program increased today and there were indications the target date for putting the first American into orbit might be moved up.

The successful orbiting of the second Soviet cosmonaut brought new pressure from the Senate and House for space agency officials to send a U.S. astronaut around the earth this year.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee and Chairman Overton Brooks, D-S.C., of the House Space Committee were among legislators urging spurred U.S. space efforts.

Lt. Col. John Powers, spokesman for the U.S. man-in-space program, said it would be possible for this country to "buy time" in its space effort by devoting money and talent to achieving orbital flight. This would mean abandoning any plans for more suborbital flights.

Present U.S. plans call for putting one of the seven U.S. astronauts into orbit late this year or early next, with most experts betting on 1961. Brooks wants this country to orbit a man by November.

George M. Low, chief of the space agency's manned flight program, said it would be "quite some time yet" before the United States could duplicate Russia's feat of keeping a man in prolonged orbit.

NASA authorities said that after a space ship makes three orbits of the earth, it is necessary to go on to 17 before the vehicle is in position to come down at the planned landing area. This is because of the spin and tilt of the earth.

Three orbits will be attempted in the first U.S. round-the-world space flight. A 17-orbit trip is expected sometime around the end of 1962. To that extent it can be said the Soviets are some 18 months ahead of this country.

The United States plans three preliminary Mercury man-in-space shots with an Atlas missile booster in the immediate future.

The first, scheduled in a few weeks, will have a mechanical astronaut aboard. The launch vehicle is now on its pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

If successful, that flight will be followed by an attempt to put a chimpanzee in orbit. The third shot in the series, the one that now may be advanced, will be the manned flight.

Low said the U.S. program was "being pushed hard and has been pushed hard" and there was no way to speed it up. He said he did not believe the Soviet achievement would alter the American program.

Kennedy Joins In Appeal For Curb On Arms

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — President Kennedy and U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson answered Russia's newest manned orbital flight with an appeal to the Soviets for international action to prevent the arms race from spreading to outer space.

Kennedy heads back to Washington today to await fresh clues on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plans to force a showdown in Berlin.

Kennedy spent the weekend here — his sixth in a row — relaxing with his family and conferring with Stevenson on U.S. policy for the U.N. assembly meeting next month.

Before leaving Sunday after an overnight stay, Stevenson told a news conference that Russian contributions to the conquest of outer space commanded admiration and that Titov's flight was another step forward.

But, he said, the event "sharpens the need for some international action to regulate the use of outer space for peaceful purposes and to keep the arms race from spreading to that field." He voiced hope that Russia would delay no longer in cooperating for this purpose.

The holiday White House said Titov's comment reflected the President's views.

Flier Suffered No Bad Effects, Moscow Claims

MOSCOW (UPI) — A 26-year-old Soviet cosmonaut who called himself "The Eagle" soared 17 times around the world in 25 hours and returned to earth today in "excellent condition." He covered nearly twice the distance from the earth to the moon.

Moscow Radio triumphantly announced that Maj. Gherman S. Titov, Siberian-born son of a school teacher, landed at a "pre-arranged" point on Soviet territory, near where pioneer space man Yuri Gagarin landed April 12.

The announcement said Titov was aloft 25 hours and 18 minutes and had traveled 434,000 miles. He landed at 7:18 a.m. Moscow time (12:18 a.m., CST).

The announcement implied Titov stayed inside the ship, named Vostok II until it reached the ground but it did not indicate whether the cosmonaut himself steered it to earth.

During the flight, which began at 9 a.m. Sunday (12 a.m., CST), Titov guided his 10,480-pound craft manually, ate three meals and broadcast goodwill messages to the world.

He was so at ease in his period of prolonged weightlessness that he slept for more than eight hours nestled in the capsule speeding through space at 17,750 miles an hour.

It was the longest, fastest space flight in history and the Soviet air force pilot completed it in "excellent condition," Moscow Radio announced.

Titov orbited at heights ranging from 110.3 to 159.3 miles above the earth, passed over every continent and scores of the world's largest cities and apparently showed no critical physical or mental effects — either from an extended period of weightlessness or cosmic radiation.

Western observers were not permitted to witness the takeoff or landing, but the space ship was sighted and heard from a number of points in the United States and other parts of the world.

(Western officials hailed the achievement as a tremendous scientific feat but expressed uneasy fears at the psychological advantage it might give the Russians as the Berlin crisis builds.)

The Soviet people were overjoyed. Soviet scientists confidently hailed it as the forerunner of a manned flight to the moon. They predicted at least one flight of three or four days would be made — with two or more men aboard — before next October's 22nd Communist party congress.

The United States has shot two men into space but none into orbit. Its first manned orbital flight is expected to be tried late this year or early in 1962.

Moscow Radio said the results of the flight "opened further broad vistas of man's cosmic flight."

It reported that Vostok II carried "living organisms" as well as Titov for the study of the reaction on them to prolonged radiation exposure. It did not say what the organisms were.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who exchanged messages with Titov during the flight, was scheduled to address the nation on radio and television this evening. It was expected he would spend considerable time glorifying Titov's feat and extolling the "superiority of socialist society over capitalism" as he has before.

If the flight was long for Titov, it was almost unending for his 24-year-old wife, Tamara, who waited at home. Part of the time Gagarin's wife, Valentina, was there to comfort her.

Rodeo Opens Tuesday; 'Kids' In Action Today

Pampa's downtown streets were lined shortly after noon today for the Kid Pony Parade, first act of the week-long 17th annual Top O' Texas Rodeo. The show belonged strictly to the youngsters, this afternoon and tonight.

The parade formed at 12:30 this noon on W. Foster St. and wound through the downtown area with its colorful floats, bands and marching units.

The first performance of the Kids' Show was scheduled for 3 p.m. with admission free and the second and final performance starts at 8 o'clock tonight when spectators must pay to see the show.

Groups 1 and 2 held the stage in the rodeo arena at this afternoon's show and tonight Groups 3, 4 and 5 will perform. Tonight's performers are made up of children in the 11 to 15 year-old group. This afternoon's contestants were in the 5 to 10 year-old bracket.

Tonight's miniature rodeo program will include boys' flag race, boys' bull riding, girls' reining contest, girls' boot race, boys' saddle race and boys' calf roping.

The big Top O' Texas Rodeo, which has gained the reputation of being the world's finest amateur show, takes over Tuesday and runs through Saturday night with rodeo performances nightly at 8 o'clock. Deadline for registration in all rodeo events falls at 10 a.m. Tuesday at rodeo headquarters in Coronado Inn.

Tops on the Tuesday program is the big rodeo parade which begins forming at 2:15 p.m. in W. Foster St. and starts to move at 3 p.m. through downtown Pampa. True heart of the parade this year will be the Canadian Wagon Train, comprised of 22 covered wagons and 125 riders. The Canadian caravan also will be a feature of the opening night's rodeo performance and will take part in the Grand Entry.

Tuesday afternoon's parade will be a colorful pageant headed by the Amarillo Air Force Band and will include a national guard color guard, rodeo officials, cowboys, ranch entries, roping and riding clubs, ranch girls, city and county officials, State Highway Patrol, miscellaneous riders, the Canadian Wagon Train, decorated floats, Miller Bros. band, antique cars, western vehicles, commercial floats, various marching units and other groups.

The crack Pampa High School Band, official band of the Pampa Rodeo, will be among the units. Rodeo clowns will be in the pageant to amuse youngsters and oldsters alike.

Reserved seats and general admission tickets may be obtained daily in the lobby of Coronado Inn and at the rodeo grounds box office at 7 p.m. each rodeo performance night.

Morris Stephens of Quitaque, stock producer for the rodeo, and his crew of cowhands were busy all day Sunday after the stock arrived here making final preparations and completing last-minute details.

George M. Low, chief of the space agency's manned flight program, said it would be "quite some time yet" before the United States could duplicate Russia's feat of keeping a man in prolonged orbit.

NASA authorities said that after a space ship makes three orbits of the earth, it is necessary to go on to 17 before the vehicle is in position to come down at the planned landing area. This is because of the spin and tilt of the earth.

The United States plans three preliminary Mercury man-in-space shots with an Atlas missile booster in the immediate future.

Canadian Wagon Train Rolling Toward Pampa

Canadian's Wagon Train rolled along this morning toward Pampa and the opening of the Top O' Texas rodeo Tuesday.

The Wagon Train, bossed by Arvil Johnson, left Canadian Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The train wended its way along Highway 60, impeded considerably by a flow of automobile traffic reported unusual for Sunday. Many of the autoists were obvious repeat-ers, apparently enjoying the "Old West" spectacle meandering up and down the hills of the area.

There were 18 wagons starting the trek from Miami with four more joining today, making a total of 22. In addition there were 125 horseback riders. There was an average of nine persons in each covered wagon. Johnson reported a total of about 350 persons on the trek.

The train was 30 minutes late arriving at the Jim Campbell ranch 13 miles west of Canadian Sunday night. The arrival time had been scheduled for 6 o'clock. The train arrived at the ranch camp site at 6:30 o'clock.

Assisting Johnson in directing the train was Ed Stephenson, the "Flint McCullough", or major scout for the train. There were two front scouts, Jess Bessiere, and Hoyt Welch, and two rear scouts, Wilson Crawford and Roy Sheets. Sue Hext was the woman "star" of the train.

Johnson also has three right hand men. They are J. D. Bessiere, R. E. George and W. R. Hext. Junior scouts are Bill Hext, Freddie Otis, Jim Graham and Johnnie Johnson.

The wagons stopped in a circle Sunday evening on the Campbell ranch. Pens were available for the livestock and an abundant water supply available from a well complete with windmill. The ranch owner said a little more wind was needed than was blowing Sunday night but the water supply was ample.

Once the wagons had stopped and teams freed of harness and saddles added, the train's participants began to gather around

Jubilant Reds Planning Big Welcome For Flier

MOSCOW (UPI) — Jubilant Russians, caught napping at the start of Gherman Titov's space journey, today prepared a rousing hero's welcome for their second successful cosmonaut in less than four months.

Soviet scientist confidently hailed Titov's trip as the forerunner of a manned flight to the moon. Informed sources told United Press International that a triumphal return to Moscow and a victory parade through Red Square will be held for the 26-year-old major, just as they were after Maj. Yuri Gagarin's flight April 12.

Loudspeakers mounted in the streets began blaring the news immediately after Titov's safe return was announced.

Titov's voice, recorded from space, was played over and over again on the radio.

The propaganda buildup is expected to continue until Titov returns here for what is expected to be the largest public celebration since the war and greater than that which greeted Gagarin.

Titov's launching caught Moscow on a quiet Sunday morning. Thousands of Muscovites were weekending in country homes or beating the heat with swims in nearby rivers. Many were asleep when the first announcement of the launching was made by Moscow Radio.

There was no spontaneous outburst and the streets were relatively quiet in comparison with the jubilation that greeted Gagarin.

"Some are threatening error," he added without elaboration. In the obscure language of Marxism, "error" can be anything from a suppressed desire for freedom to open revolt.

Gerhart Eisler, top East German propagandist since he skipped the United States, warned that the government would use "force" to halt the flow of refugees.

East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht was said by informed sources to have told the Soviets it was necessary to take immediate action rather than wait out a peace treaty.

Sheriff Probing Man's Death In McClellan Lake

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan today was continuing investigation of the death of 24-year-old Clarence R. Weatherholt of Amarillo whose body was found floating in Lake McClellan late Sunday afternoon.

The sheriff said an autopsy had been ordered to determine the cause of death. It was scheduled late this forenoon in an Amarillo funeral home where the body was removed from the Poston Funeral Home in Panhandle.

The body was found about 4:35 p.m. Sunday in 25 feet of water some 35 to 38 yards from shore at the west end of the lake, according to Sheriff Jordan. The sheriff said it was discovered by Calvin Follis, 938 Schneider, Pampa, who was on a fishing outing with his son.

Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham of Pampa, acting as coroner, said he would not give a verdict until after the investigation and autopsy have been completed. Coroner Graham accompanied the sheriff to Lake McClellan Sunday.

Authorities apparently were not certain whether Weatherholt had drowned or whether he was dead before his body entered the water. It was reported today an Amarillo man present when the body was recovered said Weatherholt's face appeared "banged up." Sheriff Jordan said the victim had a discolored eye. It was also reported another witness had said Weatherholt had been struck during a scuffle Saturday night.

Weatherholt was a member of a party of five or six men and two boys who had gone to the lake on a fishing trip late Saturday. According to Sheriff Jordan, Weatherholt and a companion had been left beside a campfire on the shore while the others left in a boat to run a trot line. The companion said he left for about 20 minutes and when he returned at 12:30 a.m. Sunday, according to the story related to Sheriff Jordan, there was no one around the fire and Weatherholt was missing. The spot was about a quarter of a mile

Report Awaited On Tax Program

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas lawmakers today anxiously awaited a report from a House-Senate conference committee on taxation.

The committee worked day and night Sunday. The report from behind the locked doors where they toiled indicated they were far from a compromise on the $360 million tax problem.

Lawmakers are pressed for time. The 30-day special session ends at midnight Tuesday.

Another down-to-wire tax fight is in prospect. The regular session died in a turmoil after Speaker James A. Turman cast the deciding vote to kill the Senate's tax recommendation.

If a tax package is approved, lawmakers must also take care of a record $2.5 billion budget and a teachers pay raise.

Under heavy pressure from teachers to pass a tax bill—any kind of a tax bill—many lawmakers have altered their thinking about the pay raise.

Many now indicate that they favor a graduated program as advocated by Sen. Bruce Reagan (See TAX, Page 3)

24 Persons Die In Plane Crash

VIENNA (UPI) — A Hungarian airliner crashed in a Budapest suburb Sunday, killing all 24 persons on board, Budapest radio announced today.

The victims included 20 passengers and a crew of four. While the announcement did not say so, the victims were believed to have been aboard a DC3 type aircraft used by the Hungarian Malev airline, which conducts Sunday sight-seeing tours over Budapest.

The airline uses a number of old Soviet-built planes and small Western-built aircraft. For its long runs, Malev uses exclusively Russian-built planes.

Uneasy Farmers Add To Red Berlin Woes

BERLIN (UPI) — There were indications today of growing unrest among East German farmers in the face of Communist efforts to plug the Berlin escape route through the Iron Curtain.

Hundreds of Germans continued to evade Red checkpoints during the night and early this morning to bring to 4,000 the number of refugees who fled to West Berlin through the weekend.

All were in a rush to cross into West Berlin for fear the escape route might be cut off even before any peace treaty between the Soviet Union and its puppet German regime is signed.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has threatened to sign a treaty by the end of the year, but some Germans feared the alarming flow of refugees might force his hand earlier.

Windstorm Hits At Lake Texoma

By United Press International

Thundershowers peppered scattered areas in Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf Coast today in the wake of Sunday's wild windstorm at Lake Texoma.

The lake storm, called the "most destructive in the history of the lake", apparently took one life. Authorities searched today for an Oklahoma man, Charles Lay, 25, Shawnee, who apparently drowned during the storm.

Officials said damage at Lake Texoma would total at least $250,000.

Hardest hit was the Island View Resort, near the center of the lake, which was crowded with "fun cruise" visitors on hand for a scheduled regatta. The wind demolished or damaged at least 50 boats, and heavily damaged a number of piers.

One caught fire when the wind toppled the pier, and broke gasoline lines, allowing the fire to spread over the surface of the water to moored luxury boats.

Five-day forecasts predicted temperatures 1 to 5 degrees below normal across Texas this week. Rainfall was expected to vary from light to heavy in scattered thundershowers and thunderstorms.

University Coed Now 'Miss Texas'

BEAUMONT (UPI) — Linda Jacklyn Loftis wants to sing with the New York Metropolitan Opera Company, but her goal in the more immediate future is the Miss America crown at Atlantic City, N.J., next month.

Miss Loftis, 19, a Golden-haired Texas Christian University coed from Fort Worth, is the new Miss Texas.

She won the crown and title Saturday night over 43 other contestants in the pageant at Beaumont. She won the preliminary from Verd's "La Traviata."

The blonde Miss Fort Worth measures 35½-23½.

Fly-In Breakfast Set For Saturday

The Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, working under the direction of Ralph Prock, chairman, will sponsor a Fly-In Breakfast at Perry LeFors Field Saturday morning, August 12, from 7 a.m. to 12 noon.

Breakfast will be served between the hours of 7 and 11 a.m. The general public is invited to have breakfast and mix and mingle with the private fliers of the Top O' Texas area.

A program of spot-landing and parachute jumping will begin at 10 a.m. The awarding of prizes will occur at 11 a.m., according to Prock.

The Pampa Shrine Club will be in charge of food arrangements. The menu will consist of bacon and eggs, toast, coffee, and jelly going at $1 per plate.

Prock said that the public is urged to attend the meeting.

of Corpus Christi instead of a flat $800 raise this year.

Reagan wants to give teachers $600 this year, $200 in 1963, and $200 in 1965.

The $2.5 billion budget is in the hands of another conference committee. It needs only a few final touches to be ready for a vote, if a tax program is completed.

The major points of contention in the tax conference are a 2 percent general sales tax and a controversial gas pipeline levy.

Two Supreme Court justices, four governors and actress Jane Russell, president of the Women's Adoptive International Fund, are among speakers who will address an estimated 10,000 lawyers and guests at the five day convention.

Committees met last week to prepare about 70 reports, recommendations and resolutions for submission to the 257-member House of Delegates, ABA policy making body.

They include proposals to place judicial appointments above party politics, to endorse U.S. policy opposing United Nations admission of Communist China, and to amend U. S. Senate standing rules to strengthen rights of witnesses before investigating committees.

Delegates also will review a national "war survival study" of steps to avoid civil authority breakdown under surprise atomic attack.

Another proposed recommendation asks that Congress extend for five years the commission and advisory committee on international rules of judicial procedure.

Convention speakers include Supreme Court Justices Charles E. Whittaker and Tom C. Clark and the governors of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Weatherholt is survived by his wife and two children in Amarillo.

Cuban Money Act Charged To Inflation

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — A travel ban that went into effect over the weekend as a preliminary to a currency changeover by the Cuban government was scheduled to be lifted tonight.

The government halted all ship and plane travel in and out of Cuba over the weekend to prevent refugees from taking money out of the country.

All plane flights were canceled and the port of Havana was closed, with three ships waiting outside the harbor entrance.

The currency changeover means that all bills now in circulation must be traded for new ones by today.

(State Department officials in Washington said the currency changeover was aimed at halting "rampant inflation" in Cuba. They said the Cuban government has doubled the amount of money in circulation during the past year and the currency changeover seems aimed at producing a "tremendous deflationary effect.")

Bar Association Opens Sessions

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Witness rights before congressional committees and civil authority under atomic attack headed topics today at the 84th annual convention of the American Bar Association.

Two Supreme Court justices, four governors and actress Jane Russell, president of the Women's Adoptive International Fund, are among speakers who will address an estimated 10,000 lawyers and guests at the five day convention.

C-C To Sponsor College Course Again This Fall

Extension courses from West Texas State College will again be offered in Pampa beginning about September 14, according to James Hart, chairman Adult Education Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor, following a meeting with Hueylyn Laycock, director of Public Services of West Texas State.

Course in the following fields will be offered provided there is sufficient interest and instructors available. Laycock said: Business, (accounting and shorthand), languages, (French, German and Spanish) English courses, art courses, education courses, history courses, government courses and economics courses.

Organizational meetings for courses that will be available will be announced within the next few days giving complete details.

All classes will be held in the Pampa Junior High School building with Superintendent Jack Edmondson. Tuition for each individual course will be $30 for three hour courses and $40 for four hour courses plus a laboratory fee of $2 per course to take care of janitor services.

It was pointed out by Laycock that these courses could be used for college credit or self improvement, as desired.

A total of one hundred and sixty six people participated in seven courses here last spring, and according to college officials interest was excellent.

B. R. Nuckols, county school superintendent of schools, will serve as coordinating secretary to the Adult Education Program, according to Hart. Anyone having any questions might get in touch with Nuckols' office, Telephone MO5-5281. However, specific information will not be available until the college has had time to analyze local demands and determine whether or not instructors will be available.

Further information will be available within the next few days, Hart concluded.

City Managers Begin Meeting

LUBBOCK (UPI) — Lubbock Mayor David Casey delivered the welcoming address today at the opening of the West Texas City Manager's Association conference in Lubbock.

Association President W. E. Routh, Odessa city manager, is directing the sessions. City officials from 39 West Texas towns are attending the conference.

Speakers include Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and Elio Urbanovsky, professor of horticulture and park management at Texas Tech.

Rodeo

details to get the rodeo off to a fast start.

Top O' Texas rodeo enthusiasts began chompin' at the bit today awaiting the opening performance. The gala under-the-stars extravaganza will run five consecutive nights — Tuesday through Saturday — at the rodeo arena in Recreation Park.

The sheriff's department, Pampa police and the Texas Highway Patrol have made special plans to handle traffic to and from the rodeo grounds.

This week has been designated as Western Week in Pampa by the Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. A $50 cash prize will be awarded to the Pampa store which does the best job, in the judges' opinion, of promoting Western Week.

In the rodeo performances each night cowboys and cowgirls from over the Southwest will be competing for some $7,500 in cash plus all entry fees which are being added to the purses this year.

Nat Fleming, popular rodeo announcer of Wichita Falls, Texas, will be at the microphone to call the events.

All of the regular rodeo contests will be featured this year including calf roping, bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bulldogging, bull riding, double mugging, cuttin contest and the cowboy's barrel race.

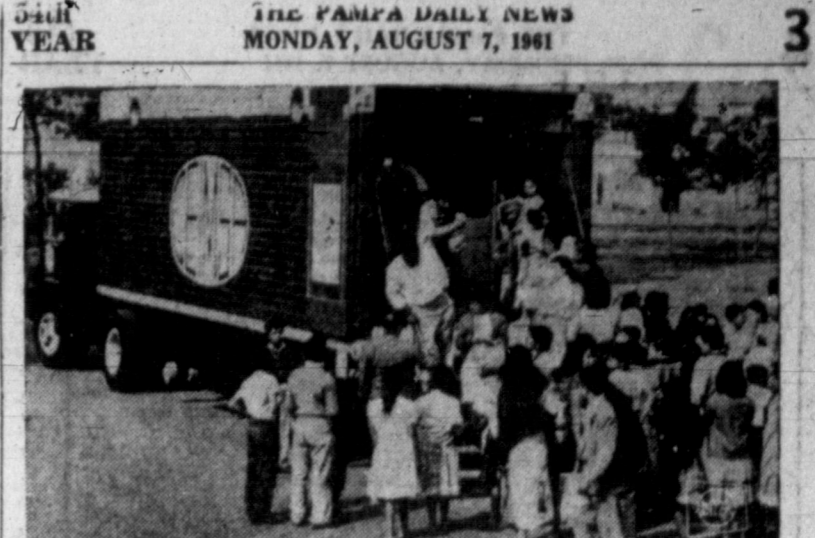

An American Quarter Horse Show will be held Thursday and Friday. This event is expected to attract some of the nation's best quarter horses. The winners will be presented at the Thursday night show.

The ever popular cutting horse contest also is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at 8 a.m. The six of the top ten cutting horses in the nation are expected to be here.

Special added attractions to this year's show include the Pampa High School Band cueing the rodeo nightly, the Miller Bros. Western Band playing for dancing in the National Guard Armory, Chester "Bobo" Barnett, world famous circus clown, bull fighting rodeo clowns, and the popular Calf Scramble, featuring 4-H and FFA boys from Wheeler, Roberts, Carson, Hemphill and Gray counties.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Morris Stephens of Quitaque, Texas. This string of bucking stock is recognized as about the toughest to be found and the cowboys should be in for a rough time.

Probably the most exciting part of the show will be the return of "The Wild Brahma Gold Rush," where a wild bull is turned loose in the arena nightly, with a $100 cash prize on his neck the first night. Any cowboy entered in the show will be eligible to take the money from the bull's neck, and it is not as easy as you might expect.

MOBILE MARKET—This is how Mexico is helping to solve needy family food problems. Six mornings each week, 64 trailer trucks, such as the one above set up shop in the outskirts of Mexico City and sell food at half price, supermarket style, to the residents of these poorer sections.

Cattlemen Will Hold Picnic At Thompson Park

The Top O' Texas Hereford Association, meeting in the Coronado Inn Saturday, drew up plans for their summer picnic and clinic to be held at Thompson Park four miles east of Miami on Tuesday, August 29.

A barbecue dinner, prepared and served by the Pampa Shrine Club will be spread at 6:30 p.m. followed by a brief educational program, according to Paul Dauer, president of the breeders association, Panhandle. Speaker for the occasion has not as yet been determined but is expected to be someone capable of explaining new trends in beef cattle judging.

Wayne Maddox of Miami is in charge of this phase of the program. Members and families of the Top O' Texas Hereford Breeder Association and their invited guests will be in attendance at the August 29th meeting.

Concessions, for the big rodeo crowds expected, will be handled by various youth organizations of the city where all types of soft drinks, hamburgers, etc. may be purchased to insure a "full evening."

The Top O' Texas Rodeo, as we know it today, is in its 17th year and the show seems to grow bigger and better. Jake Osborne, President of the Association, in discussing the show, said that "nothing is being left undone to make this year's rodeo the best in the history of the organization."

UAW Threatens Strike Vote Call
DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers today threatened to ask for a strike vote from 310,000 General Motors workers if no progress is made in new contract negotiations this week.
UAW vice president Leonard Woodcock, after a series of week-end regional meetings with local union officials, said he found wholehearted rank and file support behind a move to get strike machinery in motion at GM.
Woodcock said the 11-member UAW bargaining committee at GM has voted to ask the union's international executive board to authorize a strike vote because of a lack of progress at the bargaining table.
The same strike authorization request may also be made for 120,000 Ford workers and 60,000 Chrysler employees represented by the union.

Mickey Mantle Hits 3 Homers

United Press International

Mickey Mantle vaulted 19 games ahead of Ruth's record pace Sunday when he hit three homers during the course of a 15-inning 7-6 and 3-2 doubleheader sweep against the Minnesota Twins.

Back in 1927 when Ruth set his record, he hit 17 homers during the last four weeks of the season. That September barrier has thwarted baseball's greatest home run hitters who sought to break the Babe's record during the past 33 years.

And now Mantle has hit 43 with nearly eight weeks left in the season. Projecting his present pace through a 162-game schedule, Mantle would wind up with 68 homers.

Mantle's homers helped the Yankees widen their American League lead to 2½ games over the Detroit Tigers, who split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians. The Tigers won the opener, 2-1, but lost the second, 5-5.

In other AL games, the Chicago White Sox swept a twin bill from the Washington Senators, 5-4 and 3-2; the Kansas City Athletics edged the Boston Red Sox, 1-0, after losing the doubleheader opener, 4-2; and the Los Angeles Angels-Baltimore Orioles gain was rained out in the third inning.

The Los Angeles Dodgers took over a lead of one percentage point in the National League race when they defeated the Chicago Cubs, 11-4. The Cincinnati Reds dropped back to second place by splitting a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds won the nightcap, 3-2 in 10 innings, after dropping the first game, 9-4.

The San Francisco Giants edged the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals swept a twin bill from the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-1 and 3-2.

Mantle's three homers — two in the first game — gave him the major league leadership, two ahead of teammate Roger Maris. The blows also moved him past Joe DiMaggio and into ninth place on the all-time homer-hitting list with a career total of 363.

Despite Mantle's blasts, it took two dinkier hits to win both games for the Yankees. Yogi Berra drove in the winning run in the 15th inning of the opener by barely beating the relay to first base on his potential double play grounder. John Blanchard tied the score in the 10th with a homer after Bill Tuttle had hit one to put the Twins ahead in the top half of the inning. Rookie Hal Reniff was credited with his first major league victory in relief.

In the nightcap, Cletis Boyer singled home Mantle in the ninth inning to earn rookie Roland Sheldon his eighth triumph.

Don Mossi held the Indians to three hits and Bill Bruton singled home the winning run in the seventh inning of Detroit's first-game victory. In the nightcap, Jim (Mudcat) Grant survived a 10-hit attack and pitched the distance for his 11th win. Don Dillard and Tijo Francona hit back-to-back homers for the Indians, who broke open the game with a four-run, seventh-inning rally.

The White Sox scored a run in the ninth inning of both games to beat the Senators. Roy Sievers' infield forceout brought home the winning run in the opener and made a winner of reliever Warren Hacker. An error by Washington's Coot Veal let in Chicago's tie-breaking run in the nightcap as Billy Pierce pitched an eight-hitter. Dale Long homered in each game for Washington.

Jim Archer pitched a four-hit shutout for Kansas City to win the second game after the Red Sox had won the opener with the help of Chet Nichols' airtight 2-3-inning relief job.

In the National League, Maury Wills hit his first major league homer and Frank Howard added another to ease the way to Johnny Podres' 14th win. Podres yielded 10 hits, including homers by Billy Williams and Don Zimmer.

Vada Pinson's two-out 10th-inning homer capped a Cincinnati comeback that beat Pittsburgh in the nightcap. Jim Brosnan, who pitched three hitless relief innings, was credited with his seventh victory.

In the first game, Don Hoak and Roberto Clemente hit homers to send 15-game winner Joey-Jay down to his seventh defeat. Clem Labine's 3 2-3-inning shutout relief stint saved the victory for Vinegar Bend Mizell. Gene Freese and Wally Post hit Cincinnati homers.

Stu Miller was summoned from the bullpen with two men on base in the ninth and struck out Frank Bolling to clinch the Giants' victory over the Braves. Matty Alou's two-run homer provided the Giants with their winning margin. Joe Adcock homered to touch off Milwaukee's two-run ninth inning rally.

Ray Sadecki drove in all three runs and pitched a four-hitter in the Cards' opening-game victory over the Phils. In the second game, Carl Sawatski's bases-loaded single in the ninth drove in the winning run and made a winner of Bob Gibson.

Phil Niekro was Austin's winner in relief. Ron Goerger was loser. Ray Whitrow smached a two-run homer in the fifth for the Senators and Ralph Holding hit one for San Antonio.

Tonight San Antonio moves to Ardmore, Tulsa at Austin and Amarillo plays at Victoria.

Chargers Get Rise In Gate, Beat Champs

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Coach Sid Gillman was "satisfied" today and San Diego football fans were ecstatic when the American League San Diego Chargers overpowered the Champion Houston Oilers 27-14 in a debut game today.

A crowd of 12,304—more than the paid attendance at the Chargers' final two games in Los Angeles last year—became nearly uncontrollable at the final gun of the exhibition game.

A shower of seat cushions were tossed onto the field as the Chargers — first major league team ever to sport this city's name — jogged to the locker rooms at game's end.

The game Sunday marked completion of a dream by the citizens of the rapidly growing city and of Charger owner Barron Hilton. The fans, who sounded off with bugle calls and shouts of "charge" during the game, had spent years hoping for a major league team.

SCORES TWO TD'S

HUNTSVILLE (UPI) — Halfback Wayne Gooch of Harrold scored two touchdowns and passed for two extra points Saturday night to lead the West to a 16-6 victory over the East in the annual eight-man football classic. It climaxed the annual six and eight man coaching association school at Sam Houston State College.

Sequin Smashes Lubbock Twice In Playoff Tilts

ALICE, Tex. (UPI) — The Sequin Steelers won the Texas Semi-Pro baseball championship with 13-2 and 13-11 victories over the Lubbock Hubbers at Alice Sunday.

The doubleheader sweep gave Sequin the best of three series and qualifies the Steelers for the National NBC tournament at Wichita, Kan., Aug. 18.

Joel Tiggett smashed five home runs in the doubleheader to lead Sequin.

OCEANPORT, N.J. (UPI) — Sir Gaylord won the $123,410 Sapling Stakes, closing day feature at Monmouth Park.

FRACTURED STEAL

Tulsa Loses To Amarillo

By United Press International

Ardmore whipped Victoria 7-4 in the Texas League Sunday night and Mickey McGuire's grand slam homer in the third inning clinched it.

In other action, second place Tulsa edged Amarillo 4-3 and Austin nipped San Antonio 6-5 despite being outth 13-9 by the Missions.

Paul Toth went the distance for Tulsa, scattering 10 hits. Jim Burton and Bill Drummond gave up 10 for Amarillo.

For Ardmore, Al Nagel got things rolling with a second inning circuit clout and McGuire wrapped it up the next inning over the right field fence on loser Vic Davis' offering. Two more runs in the seventh were just insurance.

Phil Niekro was Austin's winner in relief. Ron Goerger was loser. Ray Whitrow smached a two-run homer in the fifth for the Senators and Ralph Holding hit one for San Antonio.

Tonight San Antonio moves to Ardmore, Tulsa at Austin and Amarillo plays at Victoria.

Fullmer Fractured Elbow During Bout

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Promoter Norman Rothschild said today he hopes middleweight co-champion Gene Fullmer's fractured right elbow will be healed in time for him to fight for the undisputed world title in early December.

Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, fractured his elbow Saturday night while making his sixth defense of the National Boxing Association's middleweight title against slugger Florentino Fernandez of Cuba at Ogden Municipal Stadium.

Although 30-year-old Gene fought the 14th and 15th rounds with a right arm so numb he could not use it, he managed to survive a terrific battering in those sessions and win a 15-round split decision over Fernandez.

Rothschild, of Syracuse, N. Y., who was co-promoter with the Intermountain Boxing Club on Saturday, hopes to have Fullmer meet the winner of the Terry Downes-Paul Pender "rubber match" in a fight for the undisputed world title. Downes of England, who is recognized as world champion in Europe, Massachusetts and New York, is tentatively scheduled to fight ex-champion Pender at Boston Sept. 23.

Rothschild said he understood Fullmer's broken elbow would be healed in less than two months. The fracture was discovered Sunday when Gene went to Dr. Reed Clegg's clinic in Salt Lake City to have the right hand X-rayed. He thought he had fractured the middle knuckle because his right arm went numb in the 14th round. Clegg quickly discovered that the elbow and not the hand was fractured. The knuckle was only bruised.

The right arm was placed in a cast from wrist to shoulder.

Grid Tilts Televised

NEW YORK (UPI) — College football's armchair quarterbacks will view a total of 23 games on 13 dates this year beginning on Sept. 16 with a national telecast of the Pittsburgh-Miami, Fla., game at Miami and ending with the annual Army-Navy classic on Dec. 2.

On five of the 12 Saturday dates, Oct. 21, Nov. 4, 11, 18 and 25, three regional games will be presented. On the 13th date — Thanksgiving Day — the traditional Southwest Conference game between Texas and Texas A & M will be presented.

The NCAA telecast schedule, with all games over ABC-TV, follows:

Sept. 16 — Pittsburgh at Miami; 23 — Arkansas vs. Mississippi; 30 — Oklahoma vs. Notre Dame.

Oct. 7 — Iowa at Southern California; 14 — Game to be selected; 21 — Syracuse at Penn State, Tennessee vs. Alabama and Southern California vs. California, regional; 28 — Game to be selected.

Nov. 4 — Dartmouth vs. Yale, Missouri vs. Colorado and another game to be selected, regional; 23 — Texas vs. Texas A & M; 25 — Syracuse at Boston College, Washington State vs. Washington and another game to be selected, regional.

Dec. 2 — Army vs. Navy.

Maury Wills Hits First Home Run In Major League

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It took little Maury Wills of the Dodgers hits in seven innings against the Athletics. But he gave up just one run and was charged with the defeat.

Stallard pitched relief in four games late in the 1960 season and made his 34th appearance of the present campaign Sunday. The start was his fifth in the majors.

Wills, a switch-hitting shortstop who stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 160 pounds, achieved that goal Sunday when he connected in the fourth inning against lefty Jack Curtis of the Cubs.

Open Crown To Sanders

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Don't overlook Doug Sanders in golf's gold rush.

While the golf world has been absorbed in the cash register race between Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, along has come Sanders to within striking distance of tiltin' the till.

Sanders, the wise-cracking Georgian, playing out of Ojai, Calif., continued his drive for top money honors when he won the Eastern Open title Sunday.

The victory was worth $3,000. This boosted his total earnings for the year to $49,000. Player continues to lead the pack with $38,000.

Palmer has collected $56,000. Sanders was uncertain about how many more tournaments he will play on the tour this year. But it's likely to be a lot more than either Palmer or Player. There are seventeen remaining on the schedule.

Ken Venturi of San Francisco missed a five-foot putt to tie Sanders for the Eastern Open.

Venturi, who has had a series of close setbacks to keep him out of the winner's circle the past year, started the final round in a deadlock with Sanders.

Sanders closed with a 69 for a 275 and Venturi had 70 for 276.

High School Stars Hurt

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Both basketball squads awaited word from the training room today on the seriousness of injuries to key personnel as North and South football and basketball squads hit the third day of their abbreviated pre-game practice schedule.

The North cage squad thought it had escaped the Sunday drill session unscathed by the injury jinx, but a minor twisted ankle injury to 6-5 Larry Franks of Nacogdoches took a turn for the worse after practice and began swelling.

Franks, a front line contender for a starting berth in Wednesday nights coaching school cage classic, underwent the ice treatment on the injury during the night and trainer Wayne Rideout hoped the East team would recuperate rapidly.

Earlier, the rival South squad had seen Tim Timmerman, a 6-6 Houston product with a 26 point scoring average slowed by a leg bruise. His injury, however, was not considered as serious as Franks.

The North squad went through a half-court scrimmage Sunday with towering John Paul Fultz of Dallas-Samuel shaping up as the key main in Coach O. W. Follis plans. He also had words of praise for the outside firing of Amarillo Palo Duro's Steve Carter and the defensive work of Robert Roland of Hedley.

The South's drills were marked by the ease with which Robert Zamara of South San Antonio handled himself on Coach Hal Lamberts fast break and with his ball handling.

The basketball players, as well as the 36 grid stars in camp for Thursday nights football game, appeared to be withstanding the summer heat and humidity.

Passing and receiving were in the spotlight in the grid camps with both coaches Joe Golding of the North and Peteragus of the South seemingly well pleased and undecided about which of their three quarterback candidates would rate the starting calls.

The South has such talented signal callers as Walter McReynolds of Galveston, Danny Barfield of Pasadena and Timmy Doerr of Cleburne, while the North has Bobby Maples of Mt. Vernon, Joe Dixon of Dallas Samuel and Norman Smith of Monahans.

Noteworthy receiving was tuned in for the South by Pat Nelson of Orange, whose two-stitch cut under an eye was the only grid injury of import, and Wilbur McDonald of Ingleside. In the North camp, it was Knox Nunnally of Midland, Tommy Doyle of Lamessa, Pete Lammons of Jacksonville and Max Gatlin of Lubbock.

Both squads spent nearly an hour of their Sunday drills in dummy scrimmages for timing. Herb Beazley of Anahuac, who missed Saturday opening drills, was on hand for the Souths Sunday sessions.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral precepts expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Spending Drop Short-lived

Total state spending in fiscal 1960 increased 1 1/2 per cent over fiscal 1959, says Tax Foundation Inc. In fiscal 1960, spending totaled $31.6 billion; in fiscal 1959, $31.1 billion.

The smaller than usual annual overall rate of increase, says the research organization, is largely attributable to a drop in spending for unemployment compensation benefits during fiscal 1960, before the recent recession began.

This seeming relief from the customary big, year-by-year increases, the Foundation says, is likely to be short-lived when fiscal 1961 is finally compared with fiscal 1960.

To combat unemployment, the federal government this Spring authorized a $1 billion program of temporary unemployment compensation for jobless workers who had exhausted their benefits.

The program would be financed by advance of federal money to be repaid later by a temporary rise in the federal u.c. tax rate. It seems inevitable, says the Foundation, that u.c. payments in the states will be higher in fiscal 1961 than in fiscal 1960.

Unemployment compensation benefit spending amounted to $2.4 billion in 1960. The previous peak expenditure for u.c. in 1960—$3.3 billion—stemmed from the temporary anti-recession measure enacted by Congress in 1958 which made additional u.c. benefits available, as well as from state extension of additional u.c. benefits. Excluding u.c. spending, the increase in state expenditures in 1960 was less than the Foundation, than in the immediately preceding periods.

Between 1959 and 1960, the growth in general state expenditures was 4.7 per cent. Over the previous fiscal periods—1956 to 1957, 1957 to 1958, and 1958 to 1959, the growth was 11.8 per cent, 11.6 per cent and 10.5 per cent respectively.

There was a general scaling down in size of spending increases for the various state government functions in 1960. The exception to the downward trend appeared in education which reached $272 billion, 10 per cent above such spending in fiscal 1959.

Spending for welfare, $3.7 billion in fiscal 1960, exceeded fiscal 1959's $3.5 billion and 1958's $3.2 billion, but the percentage increase from 1959 to 1960 (4.8) was less than in the period 1958 to 1959 (10.7).

On the other hand, highway expenditures increased in size among state functions, reached $7.3 billion in 1960, 4 per cent above the $7.0 billion of fiscal 1959. Between fiscal 1957 and 1958, highway spending rose 14.2 per cent, the highest annual increase since fiscal 1954-55.

Capital outlay in 1960, $6.6 billion, was 64 per cent less than in fiscal 1959. Intergovernmental spending reached $9.3 billion, a new peak.

Ballot Box Ethics

Pampa News and its sister Freedom Papers are not alone in questioning whether political action by a majority makes an activity right when it would be wrong when undertaken by an individual.

There has come to our attention an article "Ethics at the Ballot Box," by the Rev. Kenneth W. Sollitt, minister of the First Baptist Church of Midland, Mich. A mimeographed reprint was sent to us, and we believe it is worthy of passing on to our readers.

"Five ethical problems rise to haunt me every time I approach an election. And when the election is over I often wonder what percentage of the voters could have honestly considered the ethical considerations involved. Here are the problems that bother me:

"1. If it is wrong for a politician to buy votes with his own money, what makes him a great humanitarian when he buys millions of votes with other people's money? Is bribery on a large scale right and on a small scale wrong? If so, why?

"2. In labor relations, why is it wrong for the law to rob the many and right for the many to rob the few? Or is robbery still robbery no matter who takes unfair advantage of another? Is it how we commit the crime that makes the difference? If you think it is, that brings up a third problem:

"3. Why is it wrong to take what belongs to another with a bullet in a gun but right to do it with a ballot in an election? Does making a thing legal make it right? If four of us go out to dinner and three of us decide that the fourth must pick up the check (and three out of four is a whopping majority in any democracy), then that ought to be right, too. Is the majority always right? Or is it that we just don't feel so guilty about being wrong if the majority shares our guilt. And that brings up another question:

"4. Can we delegate our responsibility for wrongdoing by electing to public office candidates who offer to do wrong for us? Who is guilty when we vote for the man who promises to rob collective Peter to pay our selected Paul? Or have we accepted the communist principle that 'the end justifies the means'?"

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

A correspondent complains that our paper is not sufficiently constructive and is too critical of too many things. It would surely be more pleasant to say bright, humorous things and to speak optimistically, but is that what our country needs at the present time? Aren't we in a serious situation and don't we need to look realistically and bravely at the facts? We shall never get out of our present predicament unless we are willing to do so.

Something has happened to the moral standards of the American people. They are not what they used to be. Our economic condition is very unhealthy and dangerous. In many parts of the world we are despised, laughed at and treated with contempt.

Not long ago the mayor of a great city in our country was carrying on his activities from his cell in a jail. A few years ago a man was elected to the House of Representatives within one month after being released from prison for tax evasion. Another Congressman in a tight spot eased the pressure upon himself by announcing that he would support the Presidential candidate of the Party to which he did not belong. Later he switched back to his own Party and his case was dropped.

The appointee to a responsible office in Washington has a double police record which he concealed in applying for several government jobs. When questioned he said he did not wish to put the F.B.I. to a month's work checking on his record. Nevertheless the Senate Committee reported favorably and his appointment is expected to be confirmed.

We know that there are Communists among us who seek to destroy our government, yet they continue to serve in responsible positions and on occasion receive honors and high acclaim.

We owe more money than all the rest of the nations of the world combined, and are proceeding heading in the direction of more and more inflation and yet when anyone like ourselves screams about it he is accused of being negative and destructive. Those who make great sacrifices even unto death sometimes, to uncover subversion and treasonable activities among us are smeared and hounded out of public life and sometimes to the grave.

The McClellan report stated that Cape Canaveral labor operated at 40 per cent of expected normal productivity. Some workers received as much as $1000 a week. Ditch diggers were paid $287 a week. Truck drivers earned $324 per week and warehouse clerks $262. Two elevator operators were paid $360 per week. Some workers were earning as much as $26,000 per year.

No wonder the President said that the country "cannot afford the luxury of avoidable delays in our missile and space program. Neither can we tolerate wasteful and expensive habits and practices which add to the great financial burden." These are fine words but they must be followed by vigorous action.

These are only a few items starting out at us from newspapers and reports on our desk in one afternoon. They could be duplicated almost every day.

Yesterday I was told of a school teacher who had reached retirement age but continued to draw full salary for 167 days while doing nothing because she had accumulated that much sick leave. We know that many people remain in hospitals longer than necessary because "the insurance company pays." We know there is much malingering, footdragging and featherbedding and multitudes of people drawing a day's pay for working an hour or two and sometimes for not working at all. Others draw full wages and are on relief at the same time.

We know that our government is sending large sums of money to finance our bitterest enemies like the Communists Gomułka of Poland and Tito of Yugoslavia and Communist-oriented tyrants such as Sukarno in Indonesia.

If you could sit where I sit and see these dispatches and reports coming across your desk in endless stream day after day you would not be a loyal American if you did not raise your voice day after day in an effort to warn your fellow countrymen that we are in danger of losing our liberty, our self-government, our prosperity and our lives.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

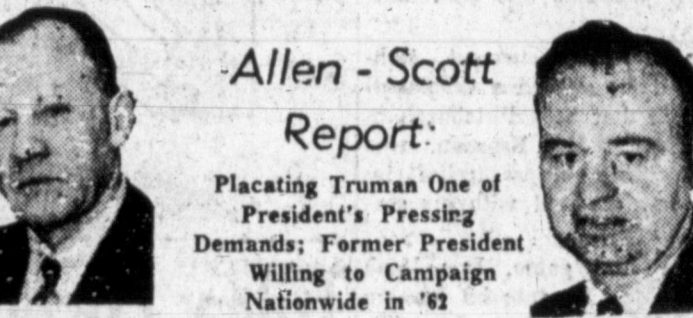

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

It's up to you.

Placating Truman One of President's Pressing Demands; Former President Willing to Campaign Nationwide in '62

WASHINGTON — The war-shrouded Berlin crisis holds other pressing dilemmas for President Kennedy in addition to coping with the irascible threats and machinations of Nikita Khrushchev.

Not the least of these harassing demands is placating former President Truman.

One of the things Kennedy felt impelled to do before making his grim telecast to the nation was to call up Truman and discuss the matter with him.

Reason the President deemed it necessary to take the time and trouble to do this, despite the strain of this tense occasion, was a blunt hint from Truman that he was being slighted in not being consulted on Berlin and other urgent problems.

The former President communicated this gripe through Washington officials who visited him at Independence, Mo.

Truman had no complaint about Administration policies, particularly domestic. He warmly approved them. But in discussing foreign affairs, he expressed surprise that his views had not been sought by the President.

To underline this grievance, Truman noted pointedly that Kennedy had consulted Eisenhower, Nixon and General MacArthur — all heartily disliked by Truman.

One of Truman's callers remarked that the abortive Cuban invasion had been taken up with him; that a special briefing had been arranged. To which the former President retorted sharply:

"Yes, but not by Kennedy. He didn't brief me, Lyndon Johnson did. He came out and told me about it after it was all over. That was all right as far as it went, but it didn't go very far."

Notwithstanding this backstage grievance, Truman is making it clear he still is the old political warhorse and is champing at the bit to get into the fray again.

When Senator Vance Hartke, Ind., chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, asked if Truman would campaign in next year's crucial congressional election, his eyes lit up and he beamed with happy anticipation.

"I'm ready and rarin' to go," enthused Truman. "I'll help in every way I can. I'll campaign in any state for any Democratic candidate for Congress who wants me. Of course you know I am still pretty controversial in some areas. So I'll campaign only where I'm asked and where I think I can do some good. You can count on me to the hilt for that."

One Senator already has Truman's promise to electioneer for him — Wayne Morse, D-Ore. That pledge was made during the former President's last visit to Washington.

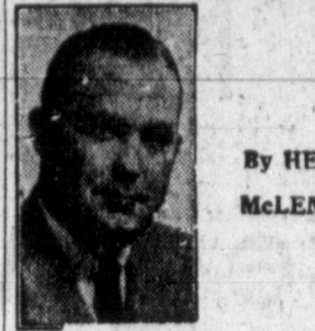

"There is no one I'd rather campaign for than you," he told Morse. "You are my favorite Senator, and I mean that. You are also the only real farmer in the Senate. So if you want me, I'll be in your corner fighting in '62."

"I want you," replied Morse, "and I'll be counting on you. You can help me a lot."

POLITICALS — Kentucky's former Governor "Happy" Chandler and one-time Senator Earle Clements, until recently bitter enemies, are now working in warm harmony against Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt, slated to run against Senator Thurston Morton, lately resigned Chairman of the Republican National Committee. Morton defeated Clements in 1956 largely because of Chandler's hostility. But now he and Clements, in a common dislike of Wyatt, have joined forces to oppose him. Just how that will pan out remains to be seen, because Chandler has his cap set to run for Governor again. To grease the wheels for that campaign, a birthday party was staged for him in Lexington attended by 2,000 henchmen — and hopeful job aspirants — who forked over $10 a plate. Foremost among the speakers was none other than his one-time bitter foe, Clements. Barring a last-minute change in plans, Judge James Parsons, elected to the Superior Court of Cook County, Ill., last November, is slated to be the first Negro appointed to a federal district judgeship in the Continental United States. A former Assistant U.S. Attorney in Chicago, Parsons is being backed for this appointment by Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill. If it goes through, Parsons will be the twelfth Negro to sit on a federal court. Six have served on the D.C. Municipal Court, two on the Customs Court, and four on the District Court in the Virgin Islands.

Hankering

By HENRY McELMORE

ROME, Italy — I have been on the Cunard Line's mailing list ever since I crossed on the old Mauretania when that beauty held the Blue Riband of the Atlantic for speed.

The line keeps me informed on plans for new ships, which ones are in drydock, the dates of summer and winter cruises, changes in management, and promotions and retirement of officers.

The latest bulletin from Cunard arrived a few days ago and puzzled me at first. It said that fruit machines had been installed in all the public rooms of the Queen Mary in an effort to combat competition from airlines.

What an odd way to lure customers from the airlines, I said to myself, and tried to picture the Queen Mary filled with automatic vending machines that served oranges, apples, bananas, pineapples, and perhaps grapefruit and kumquats.

I was about to write my first letter to the Cunard folk when I remembered that in England a fruit machine isn't what it sounds like, but a slot machine. With their gift for naming things, the English took one look at the lemons, plums, and cherries on a slot machine and gave it the apt name of fruit machine.

Cunard made it quite clear that the fruit machines are aimed at Americans. There will be a scattering of machines designed to take an English sixpence, but most of them will handle American nickels, dimes, quarters, and fifty-cent pieces.

An American fruit machine expert has been signed on as a crew member to watch over the machines and provide free instruction to those passengers who do not know how to play them. I presume that newcomers to the sport will be taught the slow pull, the fast pull, and the quick, angry jerk. Also that it is bad sportsmanship to move in on a machine which a man has played for hours without luck when he goes off for more change.

I doubt if the airlines will take this brilliant competitive move by Cunard lying down. My guess is that the airlines will counter with the introduction of bingo, craps, and blackjack.

"We are flying at an altitude of 4,000 feet," I can hear the loudspeaker say on a jet, "and our first game will be a picture frame bingo. Ready? B-11, J-19."

Or, "Your Captain is Captain Donald Gates and he wishes you all a pleasant trip and would like to announce that a crap game will start in the lounge as soon as cruising altitude is reached. Will the passengers please pee-pee for the dice. The Captain will fade all uncovered bets. Thank you."

Cunard is about to build a new super-liner and as yet has not chosen a name, although it has been rumored that Prince Charles would be honored.

If the fruit machines are a success, and they may well be, I think it would be fitting and proper for Cunard to call the new ship the S. S. Three Plums, or the S. S. Jackpot, or the S. S. Two Lemons And A Peach.

The installation of the fruit machines will settle the problem of what to give for a bon voyage present. What could be a happier choice than a few rolls of nickels, dimes, and quarters, handsomely packed in a wicker basket?

Pegler Says:

Government Brutal Toward Americans in 'Worst Hour'

NEW YORK — Sometimes when I read glib headlines and newspaper stories about "foreign aid," I think terrible thoughts about the frightful cruelty, the brutality of the Government of the United States toward widows of hard-working, reasonably decent and conscientious American citizens as soon as their tired eyes are pressed shut, usually, it seems to me, in the awful hour or two after midnight. The nurse, if there is one, or the doctor, as soon as he can get there, then gets on the phone and says to some local authority, "Mr. Jones has expired."

We have many pathetic little eulogisms for "died," but they do no good. "Expired" is the term used by professionals. It means "died." Others tried to soften the awful finality of death by saying "passed away" or "passed on" but the brutal fact is that he or she died. There is no worse word than "died" or "dead" or "death."

But the "government" of my country, for all its benevolence toward politicians in unseemly jungle patches far away, takes a snarling, sadistic joy in pouncing on horrified, stricken, lonely Americans in the worst calamity of life. The Government leaps to snatch away their savings and even seal off their legitimate possessions of money and other estate beyond conceivable taxes for indefinite periods until the Treasury and the State tax departments have had their leisurely exultant joy over this agony.

And don't let any of them tell you anything else. That is the "policy," the sentiment of this monster, the Government, toward Americans in their worst hour.

One day I read a routine but piercing story in the papers of a silly little escapade which began as innocent mischief and rushed on to horror about one a.m. Three young, rising executives had worked late and then went on the town to drink a little before catching the trains for Long Island and Connecticut — their several ways.

They were married men and one of them had three little children and, I heard later, a small equity in a house where they lived. Somehow a pretty woman crossed their view in a drinking place and this one seems to have arched his neck and whinnied. At that, her escort had to show his masculine chivalry and there were words. Probably the young husband would have liked to back out of this jam, but there comes a stupid instant of challenge in such things and in a second he was swinging, probably weak swings, for he certainly was no athlete at that moment. The other fellow, who knew boxing, moved inside a swing and clipped him on the chin. The young man went down, his head hit what a pulpy sound which has meant death to the fallen in two professional fights that I remember.

The police came and he was dead. It wasn't murder. I doubt that it was even manslaughter, for the man who hit the punch could not have intended to kill this man for a mere smirk at his girl, who may have meant nothing to either of them.

I did not need to be in that little home in the suburbs that night and in the days following to know what the lavish, extravagant Government of my country was doing to that frightened, hysterical widow. Their savings account was tied up before the bank opened in the morning, you may be very sure. My Government is very swift and efficient. Their checking account was stopped, too, so that she could not even cash $10 for groceries or to buy black for his funeral. Their safe deposit box got a strange, ghastly device put there by my Government, a button to denote that this box could not be opened until officials of State and Federal sought gather in a little room with perhaps an attorney or accountant to paw over tender little treasures — perhaps a love note which he had put on her pillow some time and she had put away to keep; a lock of their first baby's silky hair.

The officials are impersonal and, to be fair to them, may not enjoy their performance of their sacred office in collecting money for Laos or Viet Nam. In countries which this widow and her husband never heard of but which their children will nourish by denial of shoes and probably of some food, this little, faceless, unknown, friendless American family will receive no acknowledgement. Thanks, if any, will be expressed in dry political resolutions to President Kennedy.

I can almost hear the catchpols of Internal Revenue hounding that girl for years afterward.

By God, they are going to get that money! Let her get a job and go to work. Park the children with her in-laws. Bring in her own mother to keep the house together. Get out! Get out and work for Laos and the expense accounts of the Senators and Congressmen who created this great beast of Government.

And no funny business. What about that deduction of $123 in that tax return six years ago? Pay it. Plus compound interest at six per cent. No sniffing now. Cut the children's school lunches. Patch and mend and do without for richer rugs and paneling for the offices in the new Senate Building. And for a memorial of 30 acres to F. D. Roosevelt in Washington.

If we but knew what it does to Americans in the darkest hour, we all might hate the Government of the United States.

Red Threat In Asia Pondered By Allies

PARIS (UPI) — Agreement on how to meet the Soviet threat to Berlin today allowed the United States and its European Allies to plan against the Communist menace in other parts of the world.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the British, French and West German foreign ministers agreed Sunday night to give Russia the choice of "reasonable" peace talks on Berlin or tough military measures backed by an economic blockade.

Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville resumed their talks here this morning with discussions on Laos, Viet Nam, Korea and the Congo.

The German phase of the talks, dealing with the crisis touched off by Russia's threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, was completed. West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano planned to return to Bonn this afternoon.

On what appeared to be a broad general agreement on Western policy in the face of the announced Communist intention to sign a peace treaty before the end of the year, the ministers turned over details to senior officials.

Conference spokesmen said the West plans three parallel lines of action:

—A rapid buildup of military power.

—A possible economic crack-down against the Communist bloc.

—Efforts to get the Russians to the conference table.

Foreign Aid Bill Debate Resumed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today resumed debate on President Kennedy's controversial $8.8 billion long range foreign aid program.

Debate over the touchy advance planning proposal and the $4.3 billion foreign aid program for the current fiscal year began last week.

The measure is believed to have a favorable chance of passage in the Senate but trouble has been brewing in the House, especially over the provision for Treasury borrowing without prior congressional review.

Thirty House Democratic backers of the President's bill Sunday asked for assurances the money would not be wasted. They said they approved the aims of the program but felt compelled to be "constructively critical" in view of past waste.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and New York's two GOP senators, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, all spoke out for the five-year borrowing authority.

But Chairman Otto E. Passman, D-La., of the House Appropriations Committee that oversees foreign aid spending, and GOP conservative spokesman Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Ariz., criticized the measure as "unconstitutional" and "dangerous."

Other congressional news: Hijacking: The Senate aviation subcommittee was expected to approve today legislation to make plane hijacking a crime punishable by life imprisonment. Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., predicted the subcommittee members would vote approval at a closed hearing and send the measure to the Senate Commerce Committee.

Orbital Flight Basis Of Worry To Free World

By United Press International

The free world today hailed the scientific achievement of Russia's around-the-clock orbiting of cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov, but worried aloud about the military and propaganda significance of the feat with the Berlin crisis approaching a showdown.

Newspapers around the world, both Western and Communist, banner-lined the space flight. Americans turned out of their homes to try and spot the five-ton space ship over Charleston, S.C., and American television cameras were pointed skyward in Hollywood in an attempt to see it.

Editorial tribute in the Western press was tempered with words of warning to Allied leaders.

Explicit was the London Daily Express: "This further demonstration of Soviet superiority in rockets is a tremendous propaganda boost for Mr. K (Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev) on the eve of his big speech on Berlin."

Khrushchev tonight replied to President Kennedy's speech on Berlin, a speech which U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson says surely "aggravated" the Soviet leader.

A noted space age authority, Sir Bernard Lovell, head of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, called the Soviet achievement almost "incredible" and chided Westerners who doubted that Yuri Gagarin had orbited the earth.

"I hope this new and even more striking success will demonstrate to such doubters the utter folly of their attitude. It is not only sheer folly, but extremely dangerous in the world today not to believe these startling facts."

Prof. Alexandre Ananov, president of the French Astronautical Society, expressed belief the United States was doomed to second place behind Russia in space.

"I fear the lag can never be made up," he declared. The reaction of Dr. William Pickering, director of the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, was far different. He called the prolonged orbit a "very interesting experiment from a physiological standpoint." But, he said, "from a rocket standpoint this flight is simply allowing it to remain in orbit for a longer period of time."

The Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris did not comment on the feat, but the West Germany Frankfurter Allgemeine noted that "the Soviet chief has taken pains to put the Western foreign ministers... under pressure."

The London Daily Telegraph worried editorially that the United States' lag behind Russia in developing heavy space loads was "ground for anxiety from a strategic point of view."

White House Publicity 'Breaks' Found Curious

By Merriam Smith

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

The question of commercialization of the White House and its occupants arises periodically from rocking chairs to new hats try to cash in on the popularity and pulling power of the first family.

This sort of thing has been going on for years. But the situation is a bit curious just now because of what any fair Madison Avenue man would regard as something less than consistent standards.

For instance: The household purely personal assistants staff at the White House and the President and Mrs. Kennedy have signed promises never to sell or tell their personal accounts of what goes on inside the family while resident in the White House.

For instance: Dress Designer Oleg Cassini is perfectly free to exploit to the hilt the fact that he designs many of Mrs. Kennedy's clothes. Cassini could not buy such gold-plated advertising for a million dollars. The current "Ladies Home Journal" has an extensive layout on Cassini as "Designer to the First Lady," including a picture of the gown she wore at her recent Mount Vernon party for the visiting president of Pakistan. As the story says, "a dress for any season."

For instance: The maternity nurse who has ushered in the babies of virtually all members of the immediate Kennedy family has a rather intimate memoir in the current "Good Housekeeping."

Thus we have a situation where the butler may not talk about serving after-dinner coffee in the White House, but the maternity nurse may sell and tell about the birth of the President's two children—because she's not on the White House staff.

It should be pointed out, however, that the freedom with which designer Cassini is promoted as one of the First Lady's chief couturiers is not exactly a new White House situation. The dress and hat designers for Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower were quite well known too.

Part of this publicity for dress designers comes from natural curiosity in American women—who made the First Lady's dress? It has been a rather safe bet for a number of years that a President's wife did not make her own clothes. But in satisfying this curiosity, the door is opened to dollar-value exploitation which

House does not countenance use of the name or likeness of either the President or his wife for commercial purposes.
