

Court Gives Oil Firms Weapon In Price War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A recent decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals at New Orleans has armed oil companies with price-war weapons in localized situations.

The ruling, which ripped another hole in the Robinson-Patman price discrimination act, upheld Sun Oil company's right as a major supplier to cut prices to a single filling station dealer so the dealer could compete with a price-cutting private brand station.

The edict was vigorously opposed by the Federal Trade Commission which had charged Sun with discrimination because it did not give all its dealers the same price cut. The commission is now debating whether to ask the Supreme Court for a reversal.

The opinion put another interpretation on the Supreme Court's famous "good faith" decision some years ago. In that case the court held against the FTC and held the Standard Oil of Indiana acted in good faith when it sold gasoline to four Detroit jobbers at a price lower than it charged its retailers to keep from losing the jobbers to a price-cutting competitor. The justices said this was all right so long as competition was not lessened.

As an outgrowth of the Detroit case, Sen. Estes Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, has annually revived S-11 — a bill that would outlaw good faith as a defense in cases where competition was removed.

The subcommittee reported the bill to the judiciary committee last May 7 without recommendations. This did not kill it but it had the effect of retarding committee action. Paul Rand Dixon, the new FTC chairman and counsel for Kefauver during S-11 hearings, favors the bill and is currently awaiting a report from his legislative staff on the objectives of the measure.

The New Orleans case originated in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1955 where a sun outlet found itself bucking what the appeals court called a "bouncing ball price policy" of a private brand station. Sun not only lost customers but its dealer, Gilbert McLean, had to close shop because Sun's price relief came too late to bale him out.

The Federal Trade Commission charged Sun with breaking faith with its other Jacksonville dealers on grounds the company could not grant McLean a "good faith" price cut unless it was to meet Sun's own competition. The agency argued that Sun was not directly competing with the private brand station. It said Sun could cut McLean's price only if a rival supplier offered McLean an equally low price.

But the appeals court — the first at that level to rule on the good faith issue — held that Sun was in fact competing at retail. It said there was no doubt that the private brand station threatened to and finally did deprive Sun of McLean as a customer.

In more pungent language, it said the FTC "denies the realities of the market place in refusing to accept the undeniable fact that a supplier of gasoline competes with a supplier retailer at the consumer level through filling station operators; (that) it tends to spread rather than localize price wars; and makes it impossible, as a practical matter, for a supplier to defend one of its filling stations, fighting for survival, or even to defend itself against destructive price raids of a supplier-dealer."

The court said the FTC offered Sun only three alternatives — to convert to chain store operations; to let the dealer go broke; or to reduce its prices everywhere it operates. It said the effect was "to bury the small independent retailer" and force Sun, "perhaps ruinously, to reduce its prices to all dealers in the United States."

Ohio School Gets Science Aid Grant

OSFORD, Ohio (UPI) — Miami University has received a $12,595 grant from the National Science Foundation for a one-year study on "Improving the Elementary Teacher's Abilities in Selection and Use of Science Equipment."

Dr. L. Warren Nelson, education professor who will direct the study said it has been found that much equipment supplied elementary teachers is unused because the teachers are unfamiliar with it.

"One-fifth confused a tuning fork with a horseshoe magnet," in placing orders for equipment, Nelson said.

Negroes Prime Factor In Newburgh's Story

By WARD ANNE
NEWBURGH, N. Y. (NEA)

Most of the worst slums slated for renewal are occupied by Negroes. The biggest chunk of welfare money for migrants and mothers of illegitimate children goes to Negroes.

Not so strangely, the NAACP has been against the 13-point reform plan, but makes no comment today, now that the plan is in effect.

And while many of the city's 5,000 Negroes are in favor of welfare reform, the word is already out, this reporter learned on a tour of the worst-blighted areas in Newburgh, against talking with strangers — especially the press.

"You cannot teach colored women for 250 years that they are chattel to be used as breeding stock," Rev. Burton says, "and then expect so-called incorrigibles to learn overnight that illegitimacy is bad."

"And these slums were not caused overnight either. Or in the past three or four years. Migrants did not let this property run down."

"But if you think these 13 points can halt the flight of Negroes from the south — from starvation — you're wrong. They're going to keep on fleeing. Maybe you can build a wall for a while around Newburgh. But like the driver ants, they'll move around it and keep on going."

Officially, of course, Newburgh denies any anti-Negro aims in its plan. But unofficially there is considerable dispute about the matter.

One former law-enforcement official says that he had been involved in many midnight roadblocks in Negro areas where all cars were stopped and searched for knives and guns.

"Then we'd go up to a couple of white neighborhoods and do the same thing to keep the NAACP from yelling 'prejudice.' All we wanted to do was to get the word down South that Newburgh was a tough town and if you were thinking of staying on after you'd come up for the harvesting, you'd better be prepared to get a job and live peacefully."

In Newburgh today, however, it's no longer a veiled threat. Apprehensive observers say that the city council and manager Joseph Mitchell may have gone too far in putting up a wall against migrants to retreat gracefully if trouble is threatened.

It will be surprising, informed sources say, if Negro response to this challenge is limited to an expected policy of non-cooperation by landlords and tenants whose agreement is needed before urban renewal demolition can begin.

Tips Help One Select Flatware

URBANA ILL. (UPI) The woman who wants flatware "to have and to hold" should consider how easy it is to hold and use.

That's the advice of Robbie Blakemore, University of Illinois home economist. She judges the permanent value of flatware by its functionalism: how well the knife cuts, the fork skewers and the spoon stirs and scoops.

Check flatware for weight and balance, too, Miss Blakemore counsels. "The pieces should not seem unduly heavy in any one part," she said. "And they should be easy to hold and use."

Museum Center Keeps Civil War 'Battle' Going

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Two grandmotherly ladies with strong ancestral pride that would warm a general's heart are fighting the Civil War all over again. Their battlefield is the Oklahoma Historical Society museum. Their weapons are relics and souvenirs collected from both sides of the great conflict of 100 years ago.

On the third floor of the museum are two memorial rooms—one honoring the heroes of the Confederacy, the other dedicated to those who died to preserve the Union. It is said to be the only museum in the nation with separate exhibits.

The Confederate Hall, located on the south side of the building, naturally, is the pride of Mrs. T. F. Gorman, a former history teacher who has been curator for 16 years. Her father, grandfather and uncles fought for the rebel cause and for many years she has been a member of the Daughters of the Confederacy. She has served as state president and national officer for the organization.

About 10 paces north is the Union Hall, where Miss Katherine Ringland is in command. Her father and grandfather also were soldiers, "for the Union, of course." Miss Ringland, a former kindergarten teacher, took over as curator of the Union exhibits in 1955 after her father died. He had been in charge 12 years.

Both ladies take pleasure in relating events of the war, with unerring accuracy and perhaps a bit of prejudice, for visitors who stop by.

The separate memorial rooms were authorized by the Oklahoma Legislature in 1921.

Since Oklahoma was still Indian Territory in 1861, it was not unusual that its residents fought on opposite sides.

The Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes had moved here from the southeastern United States and were southern in customs, manners and ideas. Many of them were sympathetic to the Confederate cause.

A Cherokee, Stand Watie, was commissioned a brigadier general and was the last Confederate general to surrender when the war ended. His picture and Army commission hang in the museum. Those with southern sympathies formed the Confederate Indian Brigade.

Fighting on the Yankee side were the First, Second and Third Regiments of the Indian Home Guard.

Of particular interest to Oklahomans are scrolls hanging in each of the halls which list names of the Indian soldiers.

Mrs. Gorman is extremely proud of a tattered and faded Confederate flag. It was carried by the Fourth Missouri Regiment and was never surrendered.

Copies of paroles and passes granted Confederate prisoners are part of the collection of documents.

In Miss Ringland's care are several Abraham Lincoln memorabilia. A glass case houses a chair used by Lincoln, one of his hats, a pair of spectacles and a lap robe. Across the room is a desk shared by Lincoln and Gen. U.S. Grant at Galesburg, Ill.

New exhibits arrive for both rooms almost every day. Mrs. Gorman's latest acquisition is a black mourning ribbon bearing the words, "Noble Women of the South."

Miss Ringland said one reason relics are sent to the museum is that more families are living in apartments and do not have enough space to keep them.

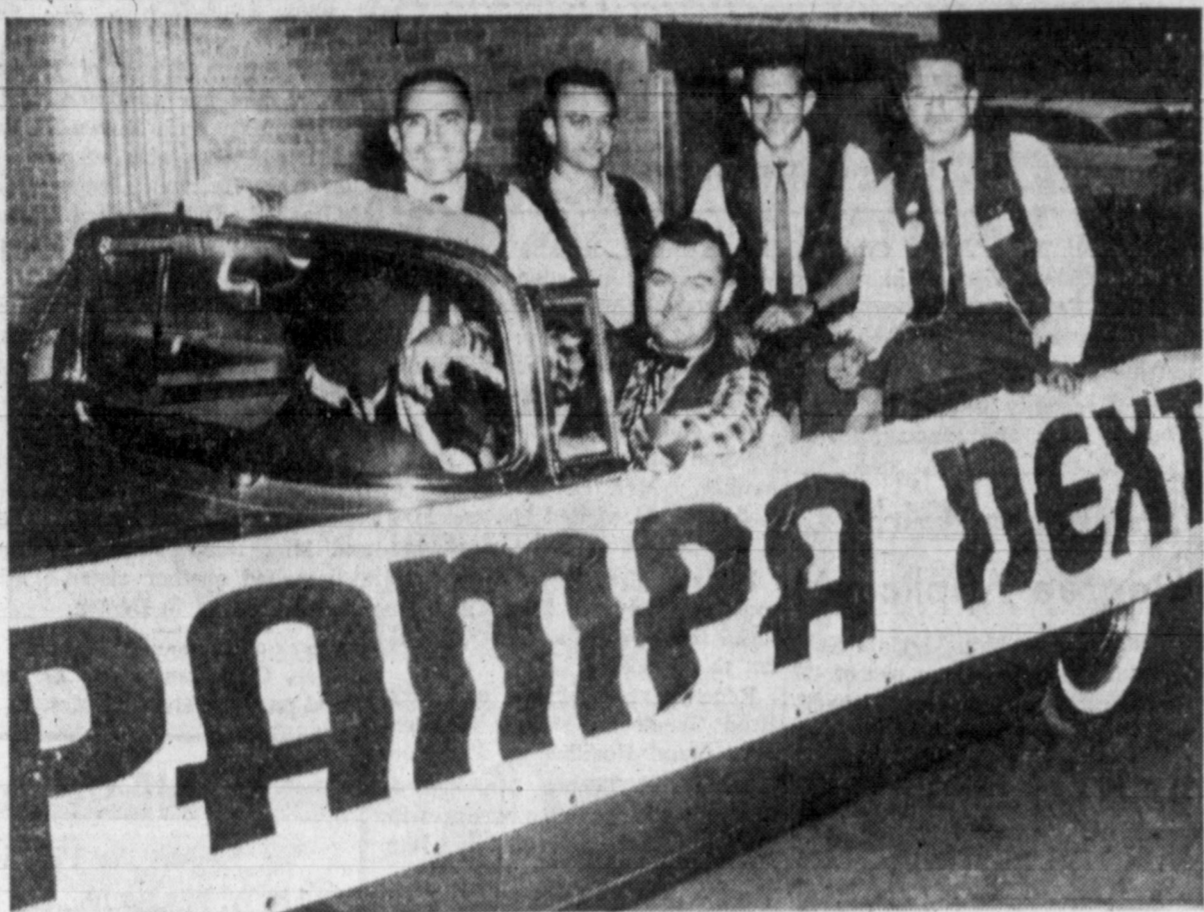

Tourists from all parts of the world visit the museum and the Civil War Centennial observance has created a mild rush.

"This is the busiest year we've had," Miss Ringland said.

Mrs. Gorman said she has more difficulty obtaining new items for the Confederate collection and identifying them because the war records were kept in each of the state capitols. All of the Union records can be found in Washington, she said.

Despite her "deep South" background, Mrs. Gorman said she tries to take a fair-minded view of the war.

"I married a northern man and I taught history so I try not to be prejudiced," she said.

HEADED FOR REGIONAL MEETING—This delegation of Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members left Saturday morning to attend the Jaycee summer Tri-Regional meeting in Plainview. The Pampa club will be bidding to bring the winter Tri-Regional Convention to Pampa. ### Investment Firm Bestows Honors

Five directors of Southwestern Investment Company were recognized with the presentation of diamond-studded 30-year service pins at the company's fourth quarter board meeting Thursday in Amarillo.

President and Chairman R. Earl O'Keefe presented the jeweled lapel pins to S. Wayne O'Keefe, executive vice president and director, and directors M. K. Brown,

C. P. Buckler, and S. D. Safranko. O'Keefe opened the director's meeting with the presentation and a short testimonial honoring the 30-year directors, and expressing appreciation for their services. At the close of his remarks, O'Keefe was presented his own 30-year pin by M. K. Brown, one of the senior members of the Board.

At the meeting the directors declared the regular 12 1/2 cents quarterly dividend on outstanding common stock, and dividends at regular rates on all issues of preferred stock, payable Sept. 1, 1961 to stockholders of record Aug. 21.

In each of the past five years the Board has declared a 3 per cent stock dividend. In view of existing conditions, no action was taken on the stock dividend at this

Construction To Start On Stadium

EL PASO (UPI) — Sen. Rjalph Yarborough, D - Tex., turned a golden spade of soil Saturday officially to start construction on El Paso's new, 30,000-seat Sun Bowl.

Yarborough predicted that the new stadium, to be completed in time for the 1963 Sun Bowl game, would make El Paso a center of athletic events in the Southwest.

The new stadium, to be built in a picturesque site on the Texas Western College, will cost $1,750,000 and will seat more than twice as many spectators as the old Sun Bowl.

The football stadium at West Texas State Teachers College includes outlets for spectators' electric blankets among innovations.

Shawnee State Forest, largest forested area in Ohio, covers approximately 33,419 acres.

time. Although some improvement in business conditions during the last 60 days was noted, it was the opinion of the Board that improving conditions should result in increased earnings before additional stock dividends are paid.

In addition to dividend action, the Board considered reports on the major divisions of the company by vice presidents Farris C. Oden, Edward C. Shaw, W. D. Campbell, and Robert C. Hill.

Perryton's Birthday Fete Starts Thursday

PERRYTON (Spl) — Events ranging from alligator wrestling to a Wheatheart of the Nation contest are planned for the 42nd annual Perryton Birthday Celebration which will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 17-19.

The first event of the celebration will actually be opened Monday evening, when the Rhodes carnival begins operation on the First National Bank parking lot across the street south of the city hall.

Perryton Jaycees will man the ticket booths throughout the week, with opening slated at 7 p.m. each evening and at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

On Thursday night, the Perryton Rodeo Club will stage the "Little Britches" rodeo. A parade will be held on Main Street at 5 p.m. Thursday and the kids' rodeo will begin its performance at 7:30 p.m.

Bob Jenni, curator of reptiles at Lincoln Park Zoo in Oklahoma City, will open a reptile exhibit in the unoccupied half of the old Ideal building north of Sears, at 10 a.m. Friday. The show will be open until late in the evening Friday and will re-open Saturday morning at 8 a.m., remaining open until late again.

In addition to rattlesnakes, gila monsters, cobras and others already promised, Jenni said this week that he would bring along three alligator wrestlers.

First of four rodeo performances will be held Friday starting at 2:30 p.m., sponsored by the rodeo group. Other shows will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m., and on Saturday at 2:30 and 8 p.m.

The rodeo club will also sponsor a square dance on Thursday night following the Little Britches Rodeo. The squares will be in session on the Wheatheart Shopping Center parking lot.

Johnny Lee Wills, one of the best known Western Bandsmen, will play for the celebration dances, sponsored by the Jaycees.

The dances will begin at 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings at the Veterans Memorial Building.

A parade will kick off the activity on Saturday, the principal day of the celebration, with the floats, bands and other entries to start moving down the street at 9:30 a.m. Entries are to be in position at the intersection of 9th and Main by 9 a.m.

Featured in the parade will be the Khiva Drum and Bugle Corps from the Amarillo Shrine Club, the American Legion Kiltie Band from Oklahoma City, the Perryton Ranger Band, and Bonnie Gay and her Gayettes from Quanah, along with plenty of floats, horses, clowns and others.

Immediately following the parade, the intersection of 2nd and Main will be fenced off for the street entertainment, and visitors are requested to remain behind the fence at all times.

A channel 10 band will provide music during the free barbecue which will start at 12 noon, with 12 serving lines to quickly handle the crowd.

Top quality food is expected, with nationally-known Walter Jetton of Fort Worth having been contracted to furnish barbecued beef, cole slaw, potato salad and smoked ranch style beans.

Old timers will be served at the same time on the courthouse lawn with the Perryton Rotary Club in charge of arrangements for that event.

In the evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m., beauties from the wheat growing regions of Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas will compete for the title of Wheatheart of the Nation.

The Perryton Jaycees, sponsors of the celebration, feel that this year's program offers something for everyone and will be doing everything possible to insure that all visitors have a good time.

Boys' Ranchers Schedule Rodeo Labor Day Weekend

AMARILLO (Spl) — A young Boys Rancher, who has found "a shirt-tail to hang to" at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, has been chosen as the symbol of the famed annual Boys Ranch Rodeo that will be held at the Ranch over the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 3 and 4.

This will be the 17th annual presentation of the "only rodeo of its kind in the nation." All of the contestants are Boys Ranchers and it is the biggest Labor Day celebration of the Golden Spread.

Riding professional rodeo stock, boys from eight to 18 will compete for points and prizes in calf, steer, Junior and Senior bull and bronc busting competition. Approximately 90 boys will be competing in two divisions and will be riding under R.C.A. rules.

Clowns and trick riders have been carefully selected from among the top riders of the Ranch and will provide the color and excitement along with the other special-attraction participants. The hundreds of behind-the-scenes activities of the rodeo will be handled by the boys themselves.

More than 7,000 persons witnessed the rodeo last year and an even larger attendance is expected for the two performances this year. Special seating arrangements will enable spectators to watch the boys under the large shade trees of the Ranch and ample parking areas will be provided for cars.

Performances will be held at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Students Cited For Scholarship

WEATHERFORD, Okla. (Spl)— Bobby D. Hill, Mobeetie, and Sandra Cannon and Don Ray Blaylock, Pampa, have been cited for outstanding scholarship for the summer session which ended at Southwestern Oklahoma State College here July 27. Miss Cannon, Hill and Blaylock have been listed on the Dean's honor roll.

Warning Issued On Fly-By-Night Tank Cleaners

Pampa homeowners were warned today to be on guard against gyp itinerant septic tank cleaners who rove the country - side during the summertime leaving a trail of dissatisfied customers in their wake.

W. L. Veale, secretary of the Solicitors review board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, stated that according to the National Better Business Bureau, gyp itinerant septic tank cleaners are as active as ever this year.

The typical gyp itinerant, Veale explained, may tell his prospective customer that he had had a call to pump and clean a septic tank in the neighborhood, and that he "just had time and space in his truck to pump one more tank." As likely as not, he will drive an unmarked truck, but create the impression of being a local concern by stating that he is working out of some nearby community. If an estimate is requested, Veale added, he usually explains that he cannot tell what the price will be until the tank is uncovered.

Before going to all the work of uncovering a tank, he bends every effort to get an order signed. If he succeeds he will uncover the tank and proceed immediately to pump it out. Upon completion, a bill is presented which may be two or three times the prevailing local rate.

Inexpensive Idea

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — An Idaho legislator thinks he has the next candidate for the name-changing trend which makes state colleges into state universities.

State Rep. Carl Burt of Ada County says there is wide support for making Idaho State College into Idaho State University. The University of Idaho is the other major state-supported school in the Gem State. "It won't cost us anything," Burt argues.

Homeowners needing the services of septic tank cleaners can avoid victimization by dealing with established concerns of known reliability. If in doubt, Veale cautioned, make inquiry of the Chamber of Commerce.

Pigs Are Picky In Their Eating

HAYWARD, Calif. (UPI)—Hogs after all, may be as choosy about their food as human beings.

George H. McNeely, University of California Agricultural Extension farm advisor for Alameda County, said hogs given a choice of five varieties of barley found one more palatable than the others.

McNeely fed hogs California-grown barley in a self-feeding experiment to find the differences in the palatability of the barley varieties.

The pigs stuffed themselves on a type known as California Maricut. When it was exhausted they wolfed the four other varieties like good pigs.

DON'T BE A DISHWASHER BUY ONE

O.K., so you don't wear a skin diver's suit and use a stiff broom when you do dishes by hand. You'll have to admit, though, that this kind of equipment would come in handy when water is splashing all over the sink and you can't remove some stubborn dirt.

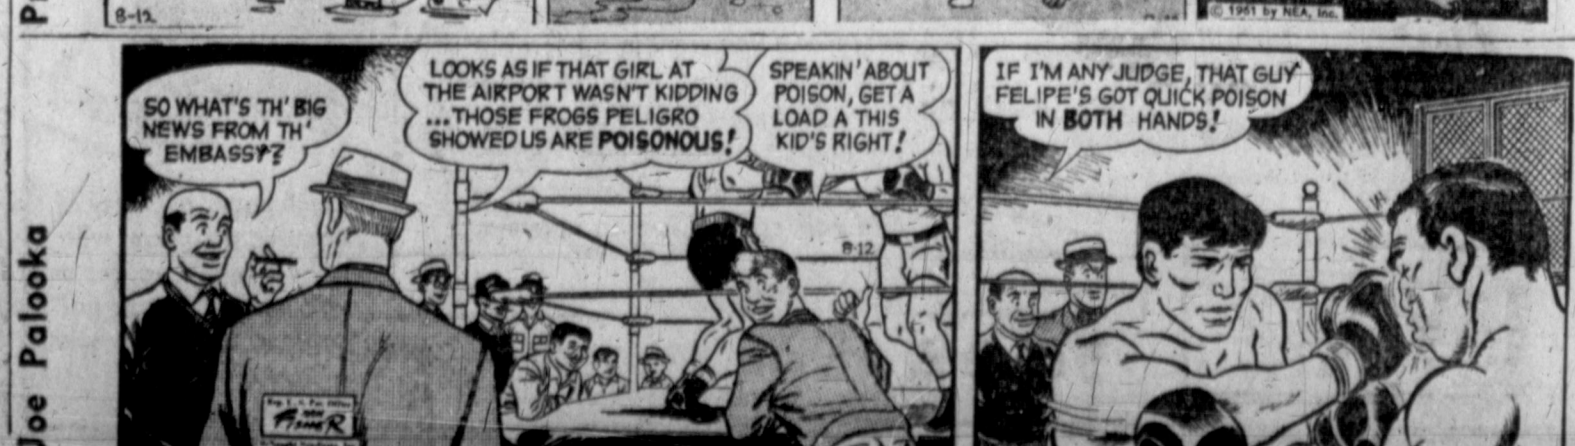

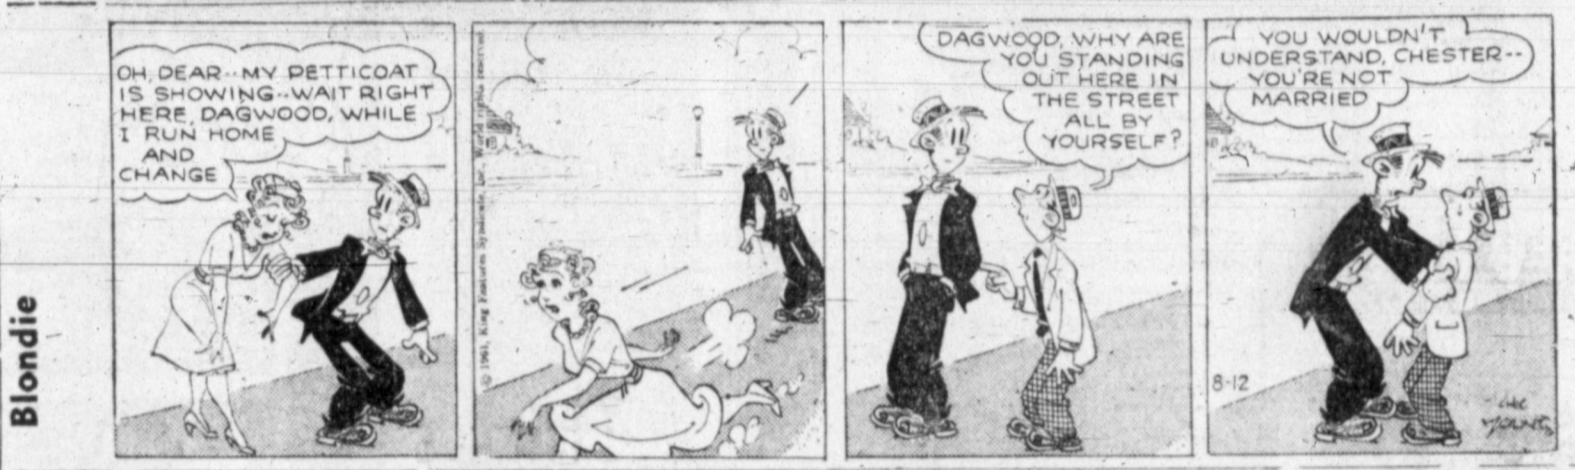

The simple, healthful, economical solution to dishwashing is an electric dishwasher — portable or built-in. Just 1 1/2¢ worth of electricity will do the job each day — and you'll save that in finger-nail polish and lotion, alone.

Live like the lady you are — do dishes electrically.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

Does the woman exist who couldn't use more storage space? Even when there is space to build extra closets, outside labor is expensive. Then, too, many husbands are allergic to hammer and nails. But here, girls, is an idea you can carry through by yourselves.

Old-fashioned, Victorian wardrobes (with two long doors at front) are a dime a dozen. Nobody wants them right now. But you can use one. Paint the outside to match walls or woodwork. Paint or paper the interior. Add shelves where needed and there you have a linen closet, toy closet or clothes closet with shelves at one side and rod for hanger on the other. It could also hold hi-fi or TV. The possibilities are endless. But do give it new hardware for a more important look.

Dear Polly: Thank heavens for people like you who know decor. When we did our floors years ago, we found lovely knotty pine flooring beneath the RED paint. I like my ceilings white, my walls in solid colors. I use chintz draperies and matching slipcovers. You really know your business but I am writing to pass along an idea from my daughter, who is also a decorator. Where there are children and things get hard use, they advise sailcloth covering for upholstered furniture.—Mrs. H. C. A.

Dear Mrs. H. C. A.: Thanks for your kind words. I am printing your letter as others may gain from your own good idea in matching slipcovers and curtains. The sailcloth idea is a sound one, too. As for those painted floors, it takes all kinds of taste or this would be a dull world.

Dear Polly: I have a small bedroom that is to double for a sitting room and bedroom for a young married couple. Rug is gray with cinnamon, beige and green combined in a scroll design. Woodwork and chair are maple. What color should I use to cover the studio couch? Also chair color and color for draperies, please. I have yards of white material. Could I use this —L. B. R.

Dear L. B. R.: It would be thoughtful to consult that young married couple about their likes and dislikes. My suggestions would be to paint the walls white and use that fabric for draw curtains banded in green and cinnamon. Couch could be covered with a

Ruth Millett

Woman's Rival

Is Own Husband

It's getting harder and harder for we women to keep ahead of the man in the twin worlds of fashion and beauty.

Once we could count on men to make a nice nondescript background for our frivolous fashions. But no more.

Sports shirts are every bit as loud and attention getting as patio dresses.

Masculine aids to beauty (such as hair tonics, after shave lotions, shaving cream, shower soap and so on) get more flagrantly scented every year — and more alluringly packaged.

Men's suits now come in all sorts of subtle colors — instead of being restricted to blue, black, gray or brown — the way they once were.

There's absolutely no limit to how wild a sports coat can be. And if a man isn't sporting ruffles on his evening shirt he is probably wearing a dinner jacket so loud his wife has to wear a simple little black number to keep the two outfits from clashing horribly.

Then there are those fancy neckties at fancy price, put out by top designers, that the men can't seem to resist and which have a way of causing as much comment as a woman's new bonnet.

As if the men hadn't gone far enough in stealing our thunder, some barbershops are now going in for hair-dyeing. Pretty soon mama won't even be able to count on papa's gray hair to set off her own blond rinse.

But the very latest attention-getting gimmick the men are sure to fall for is a line of neckties that are scented to match their designs. For instance, suitcases adorn the leather scented ties, and coins decorate the tie with a copper cent. (Maybe the design that goes with "cut grass" scent is a lawnmower. Anyway, let's hope so.)

Now how is mama going to compete with papa for attention at a party when he gets the girls crowding around to have a sniff

CHEESE SPECIAL
NEW YORK (UPI) — Blue cheese dressing is delicious on summer salads. Several hours before serving, finely cut 2 green onion into 1 cup of sour cream, using white and a little of the green tops. Add 2 tablespoons of mayonnaise, 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, ½ cup of crumbled blue cheese, and salt and pepper to taste. Allow to ripen before using.

MATURE PARENT

Do you want Jimmy to put his blocks away? Then say, "Let's see if the big lumberman can lift those heavy logs into their box."

Do you want Fran to leave her sandbox to come in to lunch? O.K. Say, "Let's skip over to the back door together."

Is it hard to get Billy into his pajamas at bedtime? For him the incantation is, "I'll close my eyes and see if you're ready for bed by the time I count 10." If this doesn't work, you are advised to try saying, "Get into your pajamas, and see what a big surprise I've got for you."

These are typical discipline suggestions made in a book by a well-known child development expert.

Not one will work unless we feel the companionship we are expressing. Once, maybe, and that will be it. If we do not genuinely enjoy our skipping togetherness with Fran, our second offer of it will elicit from her, not obedience but the quick look that registers our phony friendliness.

If we are not truly involved in that bedtime game of counting 10, we'll open our calculating eyes to find Billy gone, hiding himself from us behind the locked bathroom door.

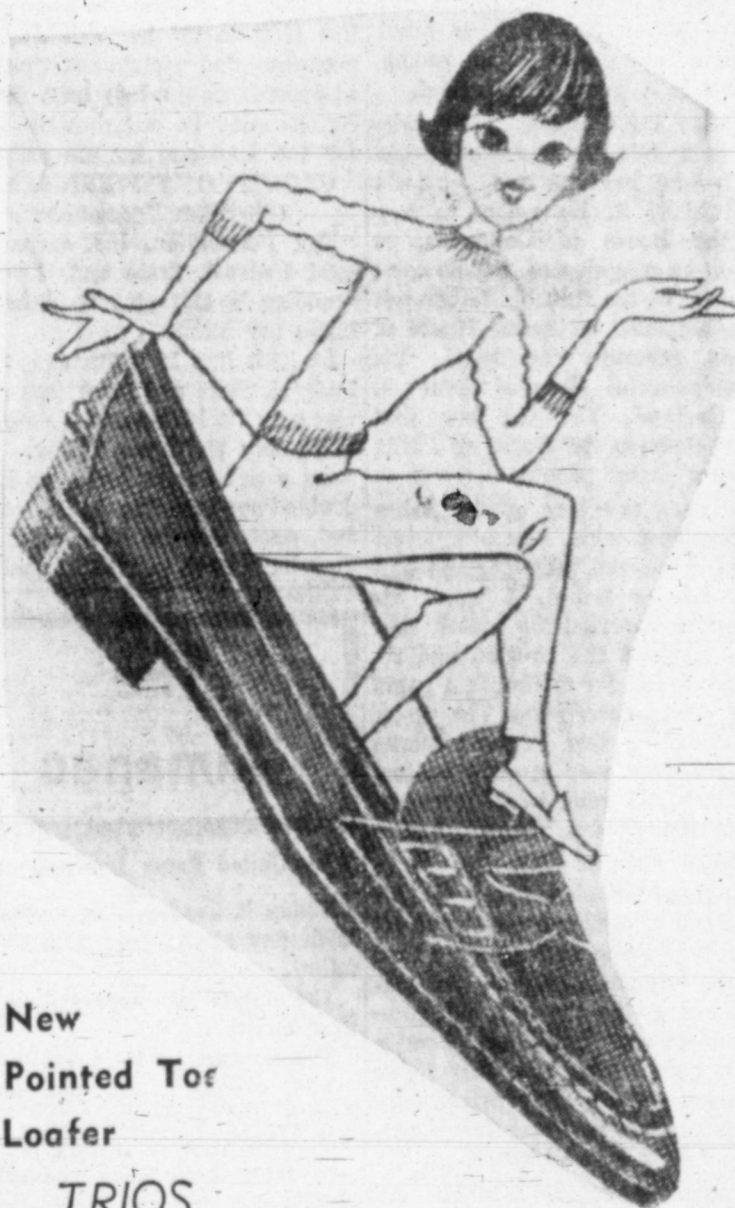

Yet, this expert never so much as mentions the importance of honest feeling behind these suggested formulas.

So, the young parents who read her book will use them without honest feeling. When they fail to produce, the young parents will blame, not the expert's advice, but themselves. And they will resent Jimmy as a very peculiar child for kicking his blocks into chaos instead of falling for the "lumberman" trick.

Tricks are the one thing we cannot afford in the discipline of children.

If we don't truly want to skip into the house for lunch with Fran, let's not pretend we do. Let's settle for respect for our wish to feed her. If we have that, we don't need tricks. We just pick up our small girl in our arms and say, "O.K., my poppet. It's time for lunch."

Scientists Are Working To Ease Space Travel

UNIVERSITY PARK Pa. (UPI)—Scientists at Pennsylvania State University are pushing research that would give future space travelers the natural physical attributes of natives of the Andes Mountains in Peru. The South American natives who live at altitudes of 15,000 feet have larger lungs and other adaptive features which allow them to exist on the small amounts of oxygen in their rarified surroundings. Use of these natives as astronauts is unlikely. Space travelers will be highly trained persons who normally live in areas near sea level and can't exist on less oxygen than is available at 10,000 feet. Recent studies suggest that conditioning programs may be set to lowland dwellers with many of the abilities peculiar to the Peruvian highlanders. To facilitate this research, biophysicists at the university have converted an obsolete wind tunnel into an acclimatization chamber. This will be used to study how animals react to continued exposure to oxygen deficiency. Altitudes of 20,000 feet are simulated in the chamber. Oxygen, because of the space required to store it, will present a critical supply problem on a journey into space. Any reduction in the amount of oxygen needed by space personnel through use of prior conditioning would aid in hurdling one of many serious barriers to prolonged space flight. A second benefit that might accrue from such acclimatization is the ability to withstand emergencies when the oxygen supply is not sufficient to meet survival needs. Such an instance might occur if the spacecraft cabin was punctured by a meteorite. A conditioned person would have more time to don a pressure suit and take corrective action before blacking out. Kite flying is the favorite sport on the Maldiv Islands, a British-protected sultanate of the Indian Ocean.
