Auto Groups Start Work Pact Meets

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers union start a new round of contact negotiations today for nearly 600,000 auto industry workers.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, calling for a tough but flexible stand at the bargaining table, was slated to meet GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton for the first bargaining session in the auto industry since 1958.

The opening day activities were expected to be largely ceremonial. Reuther will repeat the scene Thursday at Ford and Friday at Chrysler as negotiations begin with those firms.

Then bargaining teams will settle down to a long summer of trying to write new contracts before the present ones expire Aug. 31 at the big three auto firms.

The UAW would be able to call a strike after that date and to prepare for the possibility it has built a 640 million strike fund.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg has indicated the government would take some kind of action in the event of a strike.

"A strike in the auto industry would be intolerable," he has said. "The administration will always lend its good offices to avert an economic calamity."

The UAW claims automation has caused widespread unemployment and suggested several "cold new concepts" to create more jobs. The UAW's program includes a flexible or shorter work week, salaries instead of hourly wages for factory workers and earlier retirement.

In addition the UAW wants the companies to pay the full cost of hospital-medical insurance (the worker now pays half). The union also has called for continued contract clauses covering cost of living and annual 2 1/2 per cent "improvement factor" pay raises.

The companies, for their part, said they are determined to resist any inflationary wage increase.

Court Okays School Plan

Two Gray County independent schools, McLean and Alnreed, approximately 28 miles apart were partially merged yesterday.

Lewis M. Goodrich, 31st Judicial District Judge of Gray County rendered a verdict at 11:30 p.m. in favor of the annexation for the defendant, which was the McLean School. The June petit jury was unable to reach a decision following five hours of deliberation.

According to a report from the office of Bert Nuckles, Gray County school superintendent, only 10 of the 190 Alnreed school district sections were annexed by the court's decision.

Twenty-one students have already transferred from Alnreed into the McLean School system. Five have transferred from the McLean district into Alnreed. All school transfers had to be completed by June 1, according to the county school office.

Attorneys representing the complainants were, Douglas, Thompson and Douglas of Pampa. Hill and Adkins of Shamrock represented the defendant.

Meany Will Seek Labor Post Again

UNION HOUSE, Pa. (UPI) — George Meany was reported today to have decided to run for his fourth two-year term as AFL-CIO president despite sharp criticism from some of his fellow union leaders.

Meany, who will be 67 in August, appeared to be in full charge at sessions of the AFL-CIO Executive Council considering tough policy proposals.

The council was scheduled to receive a visit today from an old friend — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg — who planned to arrive at this union summer camp by helicopter.

Memorial Pondered For Texan Who Exclaimed, 'I Can't Sit Here And Listen'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — When a visitor stood up in the House gallery Monday and shouted that "I can't sit here and listen to this any more," he was expressing a sentiment I have often felt myself. (He was a Dallas dressmaker listening to a speech about federal aid to education.)

I wouldn't go so far as to say that his utterance ranks with Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death." But there is no doubt that he gave vent to emotion that is shared by many of his countrymen in this era of rampant verbosity.

The only difference is that most of us just mutter about it under our breath. Or else we beat a silent retreat to the nearest exit.

When I first heard about the spectator's outburst, I thought it would be a fine thing if some of us chipped in and erected a memorial to commemorate the event. I had in mind hiring a sculptor to carve a piece of marble into the shape of a badly bent ear. Under it would be engraved the immortal words "I can't listen to this any more."

I abandoned the idea, however, in fear that my motives would be misunderstood. Someone would be sure to claim that I was advocating disturbances in the congressional galleries.

Actually, I recognize as well as anyone the wisdom of forbidding spectators to engage in what Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., used to refer to as "audible manifestations of approval or disapproval."

Were it not for this rule, a lot of kibitzers would be trying to participate in the debates, answer the quorum calls and vote on important bills. Legislating from the galleries has been tried several times and it doesn't work too well.

Doctor Reports Air-Conditioning Causes Disease

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two disease-causers of these days are air-conditioning and boredom. One affects the skin, the other attitudes. This news was laid before the 110th annual meeting of the American Medical Association today.

Dr. Marvin E. Chernosky of Houston claimed to be the first doctor to recognize air-conditioning disease. It is an itch due to the skin being kept always dry by air-conditioning in the office, in the home and in the car which takes the victim back and forth between office and home.

Boredom as a disease was advanced by Dr. Dana L. Farnsworth of Harvard University. Boredom is coupled with "aimlessness and lack of meaning and purpose," and these, he said, make up "the great sickness of our age."

"Our preoccupation with the exploration of outer space, coupled with the almost willful avoidance of learning how to understand and control ourselves, is the dramatic expression of our social sickness."

"Medicine has made enormous strides in alleviating pain and prolonging life. It is now confronted with the task of enlarging its function to include giving meaning to the life it makes possible."

Birch Society Facing Postmark Slogan Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spokesman said today that the Post Office Department has moved to suppress use of a postmark slogan associated with the controversial John Birch Society.

James Kelleher, Post Office information chief, said in response to an inquiry that the department had received numerous complaints about the slogan "This is a republic, not a democracy — let's keep it that way."

Kelleher told United Press International that the complaints were passed on to the Pitney-Bowes Meter Co. of Stamford, Conn., which licenses its postage dispensing meters to private concerns. The firm has asked members of the anti-Communist John Birch Society to stop using the slogan.

World Famous Clown To Perform At Rodeo

A change has been made to make this year's Top O' Texas Rodeo more attractive to cowboys competing in the major events.

Rodeo Association directors, meeting in City Hall last night, decided to add entry fees to the regular $100 purses for the rodeo at Recreation Park here Aug. 7-12. The fees amount to $30 for each rider.

E. O. Wedgeworth, association secretary, announced today that a contract was signed yesterday for the appearance of Chester (Famous) Barnett of Chicago, world famous clown, who will be this year's special rodeo attraction at all afternoon and night performances.

Rodeo association officials also have received word that the Canadian Wagon Train, a caravan of oldtime vehicles, which will leave Canadian for Pampa on Monday, Aug. 7, will be twice as big this year. Arvil Johnson of Canadian, in charge of the wagon train, was in Pampa yesterday to complete arrangements for the overnight trek.

Johnson said the train this year will be a colorful pageant of some 50 vehicles and 100 riders. An overnight stop will be made between Canadian and Pampa and the train will arrive in Pampa Tuesday, Aug. 8, in time for the big rodeo parade scheduled for 3 p.m. that day.

Rodeo Association officials say the 1961 parade is expected to be bigger and better than ever before. Pampa merchants will be requested to begin work early on their parade entries and floats.

Promotion and advertising of the rodeo kid pony show and quarter horse show will begin July 5, Secretary Wedgeworth said. A caravan of six automobiles loaded with pretty girls will start out July 14 to cover the Top O' Texas area with posters and advertising.

De Gaulle said it was necessary to bring an end to the situation which has kept France in war in North Africa for nearly seven years because of the situation in Europe.

This was an obvious reference to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's threats to sign a peace treaty with East Germany by year's end and attempt to push the Allies out of West Berlin.

Partitioning of Algeria would permit France to protect the settlers and the pro-French Moslems in a smaller area. Therefore, fewer troops would be needed.

House measure to granting Kennedy's controversial proposal to allow persons to buy homes costing up to $15,000 with no down-payment financing and 40-year mortgages.

Homes in this price range could be bought under FHA mortgage insurance with a total down payment, including closing costs, of 3 per cent of the purchase price.

The catch-all measure, called up first by the Senate, is a compromise between differing measures passed earlier by Senate and House. It comes closer to meeting President Kennedy's wishes than either of the two earlier bills.

Charging that it contained "most of the worst features of two incredibly bad bills," Republican conferees refused to sign the report setting forth results of the Senate-House negotiations.

Problems In Berlin Charged To Reds

Berlin, Algerian Crises Prompt Move In France

PARIS (UPI) — France began work today on bringing home some of its half million soldiers in Algeria, determined to solve its North African problem before a Berlin crisis strikes by the end of the year.

President Charles de Gaulle, who has been ruling France with near dictatorial powers since the April revolt in Algiers, disclosed the strategy Tuesday at a garden party.

He said he already had ordered a division of troops home from Algeria and more would be coming soon.

He said France would resume negotiations with the Algerian Moslem rebel leadership but that whether an agreement is reached or not, something is going to be done to change Algeria's status this year.

De Gaulle said it was necessary to bring an end to the situation which has kept France in war in North Africa for nearly seven years because of the situation in Europe.

Kennedy Warns Soviet Threats To Be Resisted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today labeled the mounting Berlin crisis as "Soviet manufactured."

He warned Russia that threats of fresh aggressive acts will not undermine Allied unity and determination.

"There is peace in Germany and in Berlin," the President said at his first news conference since May 5.

"If it is disturbed, it will be a direct Soviet responsibility."

Kennedy's remarks came as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said in Moscow that any Russian peace treaty with East Germany will guarantee continued Western access to West Berlin. But Khrushchev still emphasized that control of the access routes would be in the hands of the East German Communists, and that arrangements would have to be made with them.

Other presidential news conference highlights bearing directly on the tense East-West relations: The President disclosed he has asked for the convening of a special panel of eminent scientists to study whether the Soviet Union has been or could be engaged in secret testing of nuclear weapons.

Kennedy bluntly challenged Khrushchev's forecast that the Soviet Union would outproduce the United States by 1970. Kennedy said that under the present rates of growth of both nations, Soviet output will not reach two-

Michigan Mayor Planning Tea For Racial 'Clowns'

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, brushing aside charges of racial discrimination in his city's public facilities, plans to invite "freedom clowns" in for tea when they hit town next month.

"Freedom clowns" is Hubbard's phrase for a group of "freedom riders" who are planning a trip through this white-dominated city of 112,000.

The journey was announced Tuesday by Judith Yesner, leader of the Ann Arbor chapter of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE). No specific date has been set.

Miss Yesner said CORE members would make the trip in the hope of breaking down racial discrimination in "public facilities."

She said "quite a few" restaurants in Dearborn discriminate against Negroes.

Hubbard denied that there was any discrimination in public facilities in his city and called the riders "freedom clowns making the rounds." But he said they would be invited to come to tea in the mayor's office when they arrive here.

Miss Yesner also said "You know Negroes cannot buy homes in Dearborn." Asked if her group intended somehow to test the housing situation in Dearborn, Miss Yesner said they had no such plans.

Noted Writer And Texans Lost As Plane Crashes Into Ocean

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A camera case found floating in the water and engraved with the name of Ed Koterba indicated today that the United Feature Syndicate columnist was aboard a plane carrying five men which crashed into the Pacific Ocean Tuesday. Three bodies have been recovered.

Coast Guardsmen still were searching for Koterba and another missing occupant of the twin-engine Beechcraft Bonanza which plunged into the water 300 feet off the resort community of Lapush, Wash., after hitting a power line.

One of the dead was the Kansas City Star travel editor and music critic, Ned M. Trimble, 34. Koterba, 42, of Bethesda, Md., a veteran Washington correspondent and columnist, has been writ-

Ship Strike Groups Hold Secret Meet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal factfinders, a secret session with leaders of striking seamen and owners of dock-bound ships behind them, resume public hearings into the nationwide maritime strike today.

The off-the-record meeting Tuesday night brought together leaders of five major striking seafaring unions and shipping line representatives. It represented an attempt by the factfinders to carry out an extra-curricular assignment from President Kennedy to try and get negotiations started again.

There have not been any formal negotiations since the second day of the 13-day old walkout by the men who sail America's merchant fleet.

The first full day of public hearings moved today to an air conditioned room at the Edison Hotel. Only a brief organizational meeting was held Tuesday.

David L. Cole, chairman of the presidentially appointed inquiry board, said no announcement would be made on Tuesday night's private talks.

By law the panel is confined to gathering facts on the labor dispute and reporting to the President, but Cole said Kennedy gave the panel the task of trying to get the shipowners and unions talking again.

The fact-finding panel's report to Kennedy is due Friday. Indications are the hearing could last until then. Kennedy has been expected to have his brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, seek a federal court injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act which would send the 75,000 strikers back to work for an 80-day cooling off period.

However, two of the striking unions — the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union — have claimed that because their members are officers and supervisory employes they are outside Taft-Hartley jurisdiction.

If their challenge before the panel is upheld in court — and they threatened to go to court — even an injunction to send striking seamen back to work wouldn't untie the ships because they need officers and engineers to sail.

New Injunction Issued To Keep Refinery Going

HOUSTON (UPI) — A district judge issued his second restraining order in two weeks Tuesday against the National Maritime Union, barring it from interfering with workers returning to their jobs at the Texaco, Inc., installations in Port Arthur.

At the American Oil Co. Refinery in Texas City, a NMU official Tuesday marched in front of the main gate of the plant for an hour in defiance of an injunction prohibiting picketing.

The official, International Agent S. D. George of Galveston, said he would also picket other shifts. He was protesting an injunction issued by Dist. Judge Donald Markle of Galveston last week barring NMU pickets at the main gate of the Texas City refinery.

Todd Shipyards Plant Picketed

HOUSTON (UPI) — The National Maritime Union today threw up pickets at the main entrance of the Todd Shipyards in Galveston and most workers at the shipyard refused to report for work.

It was the first time NMU had picketed the big Todd Shipyard in Galveston since the nationwide strike was called two weeks ago. But the installation had been picketed before by members of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association.

Todd employs about 1,500 workers in Galveston in three shifts. The pickets were thrown up before the morning shift arrived.

'Dagnet' Stars Finds TV Snared In A 'Rut'

'Freedom Riders' Plea Is Rejected

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—A federal judge yesterday denied a plea which challenged the constitutionality of Mississippi's arrests of "Freedom Riders."
District Judge Sidney Mize of Biola, Miss., said it would be improper for him to grant a writ of habeas corpus until the matter is taken through the Mississippi state courts.

The plea was brought before Mize by two attorneys who claimed state courts favor segregation and the matter should be "pried out of their hands" by federal courts.

A total of 164 riders has been arrested here since May 24 after attempting to integrate waiting rooms in bus, train and plane terminals. They have been convicted on breach of the peace charges.

However, attorneys William M. Kunstler of New York and Jack Young of Jackson claimed Mississippi authorities are using the breach of the peace statute illegally to enforce racial segregation.

has changed drastically since I had my "Dagnet" series on the air. It's actually appalling how TV seems to have drifted into the same rut it used to accuse the motion pictures of being in.

More and more it's gone for violence and sex, although the top people are now taking a good hard look at the picture, in this respect. And certainly, with the FCC castigating it, television will almost have to improve its programming.

When I feel the time is propitious, and I've got the right property, I'll return to television—but not before. First, I'd like to see TV clean its own house.

Don't misunderstand, I'm not knocking the medium. After what it did for me and Joe Friday, I could never knock it. After all, if it hadn't been for TV, I might have been a clothing salesman all my life.

But I want to wait a while before I get back into it. And I think it will take a little time before the public fully forgets the image it had of me as Friday—the policeman.

I've got an idea I've been working on, based on articles from a national magazine, which would make a tremendously exciting TV series. I own the rights of this, and who knows — maybe something will come of it in the future.

Right now I'm working on feature films — for the movies. With Bob Mitchum, Frances Nuyen and Martha Hyer, we did a comedy called "The Last Time I Saw Archie."

In a month or two, we'll know how successful we were. Why? The answer is simple — economics. I can come out of a feature film with at least the same amount of money as I would out of a TV series with much less of a personal work load.

And I don't have to sell commercials — just tickets.

'Truck Stop' Industry Growing Over Nation

DETROIT (UPI)—It used to be a saying that you could always count on a good cup of coffee at a truck stop.

Nowadays, along with the coffee, you're likely to find bowling, tennis, miniature golf, outdoor movies and swimming pools.

With nearly 10 million trucks on the road every year a whole new kind of truck stop industry has grown up in the past decade, catering to the men who ply the nation's highways for a living.

Some of the accommodations are pretty fancy. No longer does a driver have to pull to the side of the road and curl up for a nap. Now he can pull into an ultra-modern truck stop.

This came about largely because of federal laws limiting driving time by commercial truckers. Since they are forced to stop for rest, regular tourist motels might have suited their purpose, except for one hitch—space. A semi-trailer takes as much space as eight cars. Motel operators weren't so happy when trucks crowded out the cars.

So overnight truck stops began growing with most offering luxury accommodations as fine as those at fancy motels. Prices for meals and lodging are reasonable since the truck stop operators make their money on the big gas and oil bills run up by the big rigs.

An extra service particularly appreciated by truck drivers is free transportation. Unlike motel tourists, once the truck driver's rig is serviced and parked for the night, he is stranded without transportation. To offset this, many truck stop operators make arrangements to take drivers to movies and local sports contests.

Even though they may spend several hours at a truck stop time is important to the drivers, especially those hauling food. A truck will carry as much as $50,000 worth of produce on the way from Florida to New York. There may be as much as $500 difference in value if the truck arrives in New York at noon in stead of 4 a.m.

It's a big business because, unlike tourists, truckers travel the same routes week after week. If a driver is satisfied he'll stop again, even if only for cigarettes. One truck stop, for instance sells over $5,000 in cigarettes a month.

Time To Adjust May Be Needed By Stock Mart

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard & Poor's Corp. says it sees nothing basically wrong with the stock market, and a serious setback in the initial stage of a business upsurge would be most unusual.
It feels the list may need a little more time to adjust its position, feeling this will be merely a temporary interruption in a major upward movement.

Hemphill, Noyes & Co.'s technical studies say that the market might be approaching a top and that it should be watched more closely, but as yet there are no signals indicating a significant decline.

Spears & Staff writes that the intermediate decline now in progress has a while yet to run but believes the major trend remains bullish.

United Business Service says the threat of steel strike a year from now could stimulate inventory accumulation and carry steel output for the next 12 months to a level challenging the 1955 record of 117 million tons.

Business news continues favorable, the international situation murky, and the stock market position strong, according to Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. The firm says the expected summer rise in stock prices should soon get underway.

Dallas Schools Must Integrate, Judge Declares

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson ordered Dallas schools to begin desegregating on Sept. 6 but condemned the federal government for "forcing" it on the community without its consent. "The court's decree may take effect through the office of the U.S. marshal or with the soldiers' bayonets," he said. "It is forced just the same. "The people of Dallas by four-to-one majority vote now stand for segregation. They have integration now not by consent, not by choice, but by force."

'Freedom Rider' Movement Plans Talked At Meet

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Leaders of the "Freedom Rider" movement agreed Tuesday night to continue the anti-segregation demonstrations in Southern bus, train and plane terminals. The group reported after a secret three-hour strategy session that the rides, which have ended in jail for 164 persons here, should continue in efforts to exert "moral pressure" against segregation. Among those attending the meeting were the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Gordon Cary of New York, director of field activities for the Congress of Racial Equality. Two other organizations which have been sponsoring the rides were also represented.

Arabs Are Urged To Rally To Aid Oil-Rich Kuwait

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia rallied the Arab world today around the oil-rich sheikhdom of Kuwait, which is threatened with annexation by Iraq. The king cabled eight Arab heads of state to affirm "the ties of brotherhood" between Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, Mecca radio reported. The United Arab Republic said in a government statement it rejects any annexation of Kuwait by Iraq and called for "Arab solidarity." The statement said: "It is unfortunate this sudden development should come in the wake of the proclamation of Kuwait's independence, which would have been the furtherance of the Arab nationalist spirit." Mecca also broadcast a Saudi government request to the Arab League to convene at "the earliest opportunity" to consider Kuwait's application for membership in the league.

Publicity Urged For Parents In Juvenile Cases

TYLER (UPI) — The outgoing Smith County Grand Jury suggested Tuesday that the names, addresses, and parents of "all juvenile offenders" be made public. The report was handed Judge Otis T. Dunagan by Shirley Simons Jr., jury foreman. The report said that rigid enforcement of laws about juveniles consuming liquor was lacking in Smith County and in Tyler. It recommended an establishment of a juvenile detention home for youngsters needing to be taken out of homes, but who are not proper subjects for confinement in state training schools.

Junior College Decision Delayed

More information is needed before a conclusion can be reached on the feasibility of locating a junior college in Pampa. This was the decision reached yesterday at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Public Improvements Committee. E. L. Henderson, committee chairman, said it was the feeling of committee members that more information was needed following a discussion of a report by Dr. C. C. Colvert of Austin, special consultant in the junior college field. Dr. Colvert was in Pampa late in May and made a study of the area with a view to the possibilities of locating a junior college here. "The matter will have to be given further study before any conclusions can be reached," Henderson said. It is possible, the committee chairman added, that Dr. Colvert may be asked to return to the city to make a more intensive study of the proposal.

Warning Issued On Firecrackers In City Limits

Police Chief Jim Conner warned today that there is a city ordinance prohibiting the exploding of firecrackers inside the city limits. The chief said the annual firecracker complaints have started earlier than usual this year. "There is a law against shooting firecrackers," Chief Conner said, "and we intend to enforce it." Police said there also is a law against the sale of firecrackers inside the city limits. The trouble is, he stated, that stands are set up outside the city limits and the firecrackers are purchased there. Numerous complaints have been received, the chief said, of noise caused by the explosion of fireworks.

Burglars Loot Cigaret Machine

Thieves broke into a concession stand at the Top O' Texas Drive Inn theater some time after closing time last night and looted a cigarette machine of some $30 in change. Ollie Wilhelm, manager, told police the theft was discovered about 1:30 a.m. today. The theater is located at 2115 N. Hobart St.

Man With Broken Arm Is Lucky

FORT WORTH (UPI) — George F. McGee, 17, had a broken arm today and considered himself lucky. He was helping hoist a 2,500 pound safe into a downtown office building when the safe slipped from its sling and fell. It grazed his forehead and broke his arm... but another inch or so and it would have killed him.

Beaumont Ouster Hearing Started By Federal Judge

BEAUMONT (UPI) — A hearing on a suit to oust Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin from office for allowing vice and gambling to run rampant in Jefferson County began today before Judge Harold Clayton. Griffin was suspended from office in the wake of an investigation on the breakdown-of-law enforcement in the Beaumont and Port Arthur areas by a legislative crime committee. He was one of a number of county officials accused of letting illegal activities flourish in the county with their knowledge.

Talks May Clear Laotian Muddle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials hoped today that talks with pro-Western Gen. Phoumi Nosavan of the royal Laotian government would clarify the muddled political picture in strife-torn Laos. Phoumi, defense minister and deputy premier in the Vietnamese government, was scheduled to arrive here late today from Switzerland where he met with other principal Laotian factions. The pro-Western leader will confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and special U.S. Ambassador Averell Harriman, who returned only Tuesday night from the Laos conference in Geneva. Phoumi also is expected to talk with President Kennedy. American officials said they hoped to stiffen the royal government's stand against excessive concessions to the neutralist and pro-Communist elements in Laos which might lead to an eventual Red takeover here. Neutralist former Premier Souvanna Phouma also was invited to visit Washington this week, but so far he has not accepted.

Mrs. Thompson Rites Thursday

Interment rites for Mrs. Nancy Jane Thompson of Skellytown will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Assembly of God Church in Skellytown with the Rev. Robin Byars, pastor and the Rev. Mervin Hall, pastor of Skellytown First Baptist Church, officiating. Mrs. Thompson died last night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. P. Gasaway in Skellytown. She was born Oct. 7, 1876 in Little Rock, Ark. and had made her home with her daughter since 1930. They moved from Burkburnett to Skellytown in 1934. In addition to Mrs. Gasaway, she is survived by two sons, Ernest and Bill Musick of Wichita Falls; one sister, Mrs. Molly Bradley of Snyder, two brothers, Bill Thompson of Norman, Okla., Claude Thompson of Lubbock; 10 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Rites Tomorrow For Mrs. Abnet

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Irene Abnet will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church with Fr. Edward J. Cashman officiating. Mrs. Abnet died at 12:05 p.m. Monday in her home, 515 S. Somerville, at the age of 60. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Panhandle Death Case Hearing Set

A hearing for Mrs. Josephine Elder, charged with the butcher knife slaying of her husband Charles Martin (Shorty) Elder, has been set for August 28 at 10 a.m. in the District Court of Carson County. Mrs. Elder, 43, a Panhandle housewife, was denied bond yesterday when she was arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. L. Powell and pleaded not guilty of killing her husband. She is being held in the County jail. Carson County Attorney Frank Dove, and John Forbus, district attorney from Childress, handled the questioning of Mrs. Elder. County Sheriff John Nunn was in charge of the investigation. Luther Gribble, 100th Judicial District Judge of Carson County will preside at the hearing for Mrs. Elder. Interment rites for Elder will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Panhandle Christian Church with the Rev. Joe Kennedy, pastor, officiating. Survivors include his wife; three brothers, E. D. and Earnest of Panhandle and Carl of San Angelo; and a sister, Mrs. L. E. Beason of Dumas.

Threat To Congo Unity Disclosed

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The unification of the Congo was threatened today by reports that troops of leftist leader Antoine Gizenga might start a new offensive into north Katanga. One report said that United Nations soldiers already had disarmed one of Gizenga's patrols which crossed the Katangese frontier. U.N. officials in Katanga were reported to have cabled Gizenga a request to halt the apparent offensive of his troops against north Katanga. Informed sources said the telegram warned Gizenga that the United Nations would oppose any such armed aggression. Under a U.N. Security Council resolution passed Feb. 21, the United Nations is authorized to use force, if necessary, to prevent civil war in the Congo. It was reported that a battalion of Gizenga's troops arrived in the town of Senterly, in the eastern part of Kasai Province, two days ago.

Pampano Receives Master's Degree

W. Cecil Steward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon C. Steward, 1320 Terrace, was recently awarded a master's degree in Architecture from Columbia University, New York City. Steward attended Columbia on a fellowship from the Ford Foundation, doing research on public schools for the city of New York. He is a graduate of Pampa High School and received his B. A. degree from Texas A&M. After a brief visit with relatives and friends in Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Steward have returned to New York, where he will be employed in the design department of Perkins and Will Architect Firm in White Plains. Mrs. Weldon Steward and Mrs. Travis Wilson of Dumas attended the commencement exercises.

Kennedy

(Continued From Page 1) Furthermore, he said, a small increase in the American growth rate "well within our capability" would mean that Russia could not out-produce America at any time in the 20th Century. He pictured Britain and France as determined with the United States to maintain the freedom of West Berlin. The President was asked if the administration was considering a partial mobilization because of the mounting Berlin crisis. He said no such plan had reached his desk, but that the results of pentagon studies and the conclusions of a special German problem study group, would come up in the National Security Council meeting Thursday. At one point, the President, in response to a question, said that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro had not bargained in good faith for the release of 1,200 invasion prisoners in return for 500 agricultural tractors. Kennedy said that unless Castro changed his position "the situation will remain as it is," meaning that Castro will continue to hold the prisoners. At the outset of the news conference, Kennedy plunged immediately into the subject of Germany and Berlin with a lengthy statement, possibly his gravest to date. "It is of the greatest importance that the American people understand the basic issues involved and the threats to the peace and security of Europe and of ourselves posed by the Soviet announcement that they intend to change unilaterally the existing arrangements for Berlin," Kennedy said. "The 'crisis' over Berlin is Soviet-manufactured," he added, relating the history of Soviet actions since the 1948 Berlin blockade. He said Soviet conclusion of a so-called peace treaty with East Germany could not abridge Allied rights in Berlin and would amount to "a repudiation by the Soviets of multilateral commitments to which they solemnly subscribed and have repeatedly reaffirmed." The President found it clear in recent statements by the East German regime that the rights of the citizens of West Berlin would be "gradually but relentlessly extinguished." "No one can fail to appreciate the gravity of this threat," he said. "No one can reconcile it with the Soviet professions of a desire to 'co-exist' peacefully."

City Dweller Offers Some Gardening Tips

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every now and then I get an urge to leave the U.S. government temporarily to its own devices and spend a few pastoral hours communing with Mother Nature.

The last time this yearning came upon me, Mother Nature was out to lunch. So I communed instead with Raymond van Overschelde, who makes a pretty good substitute.

The reason I regard Van Overschelde as a suitable stand-in for Mother Nature is because he is one of Wall Street's biggest African violet tycoons.

He is, in fact, an expert on all phases of apartment house farming.

Van Overschelde, to make the introduction formal, is head of horticultural activities for the F. W. Woolworth Co. He makes his headquarters in a 23rd floor office in downtown New York, which is about as far from crab grass, not to mention black aphids, as you can get.

Until meeting Van Overschelde, who passed through here on a business trip, I had never associated a five-and-dime store with the agrarian movement. But he told me that Woolworth had been in this line for 82 years.

Furthermore, he said, it has the largest garden supply business in the world.

The company now caters strongly to the multi-flora needs of the suburban agronomist, but over the years its mainstay customer has been the city-dweller with window box and planter.

City dwellers make good customers because they provide so much repeat business. They buy a potted plant, take it home and kill it, and then go out and buy another.

"Why is the casualty rate among potted plants so high?" I asked Van Overschelde.

He said the chief cause in the flower pot was over-watering. A good rule of green thumb, he said, is to "water a plant thoroughly once a week and let it suffer in between."

I do not think, however, that Van Overschelde's advice will ever be widely followed. Most people cannot stand to see an African violet suffer.

I've known people who couldn't sleep at night because they fancied they could hear a geranium crying for water.

They may take the pledge and actually refrain from watering the plant for a day or two. But the next thing you know, they are sneaking drinks to it while nobody is looking.

In this connection, it is my solemn duty to report that the latest novelty in indoor gardening is a miniature lime tree. The idea is to place the plant on the home bar and use its fruit in concocting nostrums that call for a dash of something sour.

Now suppose you've got a party going on, and maybe a dozen people circulating around with glasses in their hands, and probably 90 per cent of them are compulsive plant waterers.

It doesn't take much imagination to figure out what's going to happen. Before the night is over, you're going to have a lime tree that's potted two ways.

Redstone Rocket Proven Success In 'Final' Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL—(UPI)—The difference between America's old Redstone and new Polaris missiles is one of experience. A pair of rocket firings with opposite results proved this point Monday.

The Redstone, direct descendant of the old German V2 and "grand-daddy" of U.S. ballistic missiles, lumbered over the Atlantic on its final military flight here. Its success was almost a foregone conclusion.

The Polaris, a complex new weapon the Navy has touted as the keystone of the nation's streamlined missile defenses, had its chance earlier in the day. It missed the target by scores of miles.

The development of the 30-ton Redstone came after hundreds of thousands of work hours and eight years of testing. The missile has virtually patented the word "success" for flights like the one Monday night, at ranges up to 200 miles.

Redstone is not gone entirely from the cape. Its reliability won it a key role in the nation's manned space program, as booster for suborbital "training" flights like the one Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard made on May 5.

Another of the slender little rockets is being groomed here for a similar sub-orbital shot around July 18 by another astronaut, probably Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn.

The Polaris is a comparatively new, and vastly more complicated rocket. It is a two-stage missile, designed to be fired from moving nuclear submarines beneath the ocean's surface.

Its development meant overcoming a multitude of problems. Some are still there. One "bug," electrical or mechanical, got into the propulsion system of an advanced Polaris fired from a ship at sea Monday. The engine cut off too soon and the rocket fell far off target.

The years of experience that went into Redstone still lie before the Polaris. The Navy reportedly is pouring extra hundreds of thousands of dollars into the program to increase its reliability.

New Orleans Airport Alters Racial Policy

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A federal lawsuit trying to knock down color barriers at lavish Moisant International Airport has apparently caused a breach in the Jim Crow policy.

"We have a new policy now," said E. Neil Wannan, manager of eating facilities at the $2.25 million terminal-building. "We will serve Negroes in the coffee shop."

The Justice Department filed a suit Monday charging the airport broke a non-discrimination clause in the agreement under which federal funds paid half of the terminal building's construction cost.

Until a few days ago, all Negroes wishing to eat in the sumptuous international room or the spacious, less pretentious coffee shop were shunted off to a six-stool snack bar where cellophane-wrapped cookies, sandwiches and coffee in paper cups are sold.

Wannan said terminal policy still bars Negroes from the plush International Room, site of a series of sit-ins by a group of Negro professional people who have filed separate lawsuits against airport discrimination.

"We feed Negroes in this terminal. This firm (Interstate Hosts) operates facilities like this in all parts of the nation. Here, because of local custom, we have excluded Negroes from certain areas of the terminal," Wannan said.

Wannan did not say whether the new policy was the result of Justice Department negotiations precedent to the filing of Monday's suit.

A. P. Tureaud, attorney for Negro plaintiffs in two private anti-discrimination suits against the airport, said however, that he had been in close liaison with the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division for the past few weeks.

Tureaud, a Negro, was admitted with his wife and two children into the International Room Sunday night. However, after the y were seated, the hostess told them the International Room was "reserved" and suggested the snack bar.

Other Negroes testing racial policy over the weekend were turned away from the International Room but were admitted to the coffee shop, which previously had a ban against Negroes.

For the past several years, federal funds generally have been used in the South only for construction of runways, hangars and like.

The Justice Department decided it could move in the New Orleans cause because federal funds had helped finance the terminal building at Moisant. But elsewhere in the South, little money from the federal treasury has gone into terminal waiting rooms and restaurants.

BUILDING RECORD POSSIBLE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges reported Tuesday that construction activity of all kinds is headed for a record $58 billion in 1961. This would be 4 per cent better than last year's near record.

LBJ's Daughter Learns To Live Fish-Bowl Life

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—To Lynda Bird Johnson, 17, being a celebrity has both its good and bad points.

The daughter of Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice-president, is getting a healthy share of the Washington limelight and finds life has changed since her father became the number two man in the nation.

Recently, she was queen of the annual azalea festival in Norfolk, Va., and says now of the experience, "I found out what it is like to be in the public eye all the time, and I nearly went crazy."

She munched on a bowl of popcorn as she talked to me with typically Texas frankness: "I like people, but every once in a while I like solitude."

The pretty, dark-haired Lynda Bird said that even with politics surrounding her, she has no desire to become a politician. Still, she hopes to major in history and government when she eventually goes to the University of Texas.

"My mother majored in history and she's turned out successful," Lynda Bird explained proudly.

Lately, she's found she can give her father assistance on quotes that he can use in speeches.

For example, when Vice-President Johnson was preparing for his two-week tour of Southeast Asia, his bright and breezy daughter reminded him of the Kipling quote "East is East and West is West" and also the end of the quote that few persons recall, which is: "until two strong men stand face to face."

A college prep student at the National Cathedral School for Girls which she attends with her sister, Lucy Baines, 13, Lynda Bird says she does about four to five hours homework at night. She drewled that her marks are "fair to middlin'."

Lynda Bird a tall Texan (five feet, 10 inches), is shapely, and looks like a bobby soxer in the daytime. She wears saddle shoes, white socks and shirtwaist dresses in bright colors to school in the summer. She dates only on weekends.

When she's dressed for a prom, she looks like a debutante in a full skirted white strapless gown. She wears no makeup in the daytime and very little at night.

Asked how she gets along with her younger sister, who strives to be a grown up, Lynda Bird replied: "Fairly well. I wouldn't say perfect. If you find two sisters who get along perfect—that would be strange."

She said her mother and father select most of her clothes and "they have wonderful taste."

Both Johnson girls are used to having their parents abroad on White House business. The Johnsons leave their children in the care of friends who temporarily move into the home.

Foreign Commentary

By ARTHUR J. DOMMEN

HONG KONG (UPI)—Mao Tze-Tung's gift to communism—the people's commune—exists in China today in name only.

The commune in which millions of peasants are now beginning the annual wheat harvest and transplanting rice seedlings is a very

Cubans Training Invasion Force, Newspaper Says

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Herald reported yesterday training of military forces opoed to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro has resumed in Miami.

The newspaper, in a copyright story in its Tuesday editions, said a 6-foot, 7-inch ex-Marine named Jerry Patrick has opened headquarters in a local boarding house. He commands a group of about 100 men, the Herald said.

The newspaper said the trainees, most of them American, have been practicing parachute jumping openly at an abandoned airfield near Miami. Neighbors have been startled to watch Patrick, a bearded giant who wears a floppy Australian bush hat, directing parachute-rigging drills in a street near the boarding house, the Herald said.

Patrick's group is called the Intercontinental Penetration Force (Interpen) and is associated with the Junta Revolucionaria de Liberacion Nacional, a Cuban revolutionary group headed by exile leader Sanchez Arango, the Herald said.

Training of exile forces in South Florida died off after the recent unsuccessful Pig's Bay invasion. The Herald said it had known of the training resumption for several days, but withheld publication of the story until Sen. George Smathers D-Fla., announced Sunday that he had learned that anti-Castro forces were training again.

different thing from what was hailed by the Peiping authorities in 1958 as the final step on the road to communism.

And Mao himself has yet to admit that the system of people's communes is basically unsound. Observers in this listening post believe he never will.

If the natural disasters, which have plagued China's harvests for two years in succession, let up this summer, observers say the communes will continue to exist in their present modified form.

Just as Mao has exploited the peasant to build up his country into a modern industrialized socialist state, so he will keep the level of concessions to peasant discontent just above the point at which he rises to open revolt, these observers believe.

This view is supported by the development of China's agricultural economy under the Communists. The first transition or the peasants—from mutual aid teams to cooperatives—was not an altogether smooth one. In the spring of 1955, Peiping discovered the peasants were not joining newly formed cooperatives "voluntarily." But there were growing signs of anger at having their ownership of land tampered with. At that point there was a temporary easing off of pressure and the number of cooperatives even declined slightly. In a speech that July, Mao promised a renewed drive to form cooperatives as soon as adjustments were made.

Today the cooperatives, which have been incorporated into the communes, are referred to as production brigades.

As a result of recent concessions, the production brigades now have a wide margin of autonomy in making decisions about production.

No precise statistics are yet available on just how badly China's economy has been affected by the combination of political mismanagement and natural calamities.

Some localized demonstrations of protest have been reported. But it is unlikely such instances are any more numerous today than they were following the bad harvests of the summer of 1956.

Ruth Morse Circle Has Picnic Supper
 CANADIAN (Spl) — The members of the Ruth Morse Circle entertained their husbands with a picnic supper in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church recently.
 Attending were Messrs. and Mrs. L. S. Hardage, Perc Hill, Bob Moreland, Jim Mitchell, Carl Zybach, Harry Rathjen, and Mrs. Martha Newton, Mrs. C. R. Tippy and Jim Johnston.
 Turn colored clothes inside out when drying in mixed loads.

Mrs. Browning Class Hostess

LEFORS (Spl) — The Lydia Sunday School class of the Baptist Church met Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Fred Browning with Mrs. Bess Cole, president, in charge for the monthly social and business meeting.
 A devotional was given by Mrs. B. J. Spradlin. A Bible quiz furnished entertainment. Mrs. Floyd Chitwood led closing prayer.
 Attending other than those mentioned were Meses. Fred Blackwell, U. S. Whiteley, W. D. Fulcher, Floyd Chitwood, Mary Hatfield, and Hugh Braly.

Junior Auxiliary Meets For Study

LEFORS (Spl) — The Junior Girl's Auxiliary met Wednesday evening with Leahwana Nowlin, president, in charge. "Let Others see Jesus in You," opened the meeting, followed by scripture reading by Sue Thacker and prayer by Helen Thacker.
 Dawn Hill led in prayer. The program was made up of two parts, "Stewards of Life," by Cathy Harrington and the second Elizabeth Phillips.
 Mrs. C. H. Earhart served refreshments.
 Visitors were Mary Shirley and Linda Jernigan. Members present were Elizabeth Phillips, May Lee, Cathy Harrington, Sue Thacker, Leahwana Nowlin, Dawn Hill, and Philip Earhart.

Fourth of July table decorations are colorful and easy to make. Jaunty toy soldier, left, is filled with small favors for the children's table. Four red firecrackers add a lively note to the buffet table, right, for the adults.

Gala Touches For July Fourth Dining

KAY SHERWOOD, Newspaper Enterprise Assn., says that if the Fourth of July will spark a gathering of your clan for a party, decorate one table especially for the children. The grownups can enjoy themselves buffet style while the children are diving into their refreshments.
 Table decorations can be clever but simple enough to put together so that older children can help. When I'm rounding up supplies for a major picnic, gala decorations are usually out of range because of limited time.
 We'll be entertaining some visiting relatives this year. These decorations — four firecrackers for the adults' buffet and a surprise toy soldier for the junior table — will add a colorful touch. The making of them will be turned over to the 12-year-olds who seem to have plenty of time to lounge around the kitchen with hands in the cookie jar.
 For the jaunty toy soldier we'll need a large empty oatmeal box, construction paper, plastic tape, and a rubber ball. Cover the box half in red and half in blue construction paper. Leave the bottom open. The belt is a band of white plastic tape which is also crisscrossed over the chest.
 White cardboard epaulettes are taped across shoulders with slits at ends to hold cardboard arms in place. The head is a rubber ball taped to a short piece of cardboard tubing. Features are cut from colored plastic tape or colored gummed paper.
 To make the tricorne hat, cut a paper cup down to two inches for the crown, place in a five-inch circle of blue construction paper, attaching the brim edges to cup in three places. Fill the soldier with balloons and other little favors from the dime store. Tape a piece of paper over the opening, then tape on foot shapes cut from white paper.
 Give out the surprises and plan a few games the children can play at the table that will keep them quiet for a half-hour after eating. Each child could learn a few sentences from the Declaration of Independence beforehand and take turns reciting what they have learned.
 Another quiet game is "Who Am I?" using names of famous men in American history such as Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, Robert E. Lee, Daniel Boone, etc. Write on small pieces of paper and tape one to back of each child. By asking questions they try to guess who they are.
 Firecrackers to liven up the adults' buffet table are cans (cleanser or breadcrumb) wrapped securely in a piece of bright red construction paper with an extra inch allowance at each end. These ends are slashed into tabs and pasted down on top and bottom of can. Cut circles for the top of each can; decorate bottoms with a four-inch wide ruffle of flameproof white crepe paper. Decorate two cans with conical features cut from colored gummed paper and the other two with letters and a numeral cut from a newspaper.

Dear Abby... Wants To Graduate To Regular Doctor

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since my birth I have gone to the doctor who delivered me. He is a pediatrician, and a wonderful one. My complaint is that I am now 13 years old, and I think I should stop going to a pediatrician and go to a regular doctor. My mother won't hear of my going to another physician until I am 16. I hate to walk into his office and see mothers and little tiny babies there. Can you help me change my mother's mind?

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Suspicious," whose husband leaves the house at 4:30 in the morning to get to a job at 7:30 not to be suspicious. I had the same problem. My husband did (and still does) the same things. I made him go to a doctor and the doctor told me not to worry. He said my husband was a worrier and to leave him alone. He drives to work before daylight every morning to be sure he gets a parking space.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man I fell for hard. He is perfect for me in every way except one, religion. I am not wishy-washy about my religion. I am a devout believer, and support my church. He says he will marry me if I change my religion to his. And he has given me one week to make up my mind. I am bewildered and heartsick, because I love this man, but I can't forsake my church and join his. I know he loves me. What shall I do?

DEAR TORN: He may love you, but he loves himself more. Tell Ass't Minister Feted At Party

Club To Sponsor Girls' Ball Team

LEFORS (Spl) — The 20-30 Club met in the home of Mrs. Ray Dickerson in a special summer meeting Friday night to vote on the sponsoring a girls ball team. They decided to sponsor "the Dolls" team and to buy black letters for white blouse for each player on the team.
 The club is also to treat the team to cokes after games.
 A family night was planned for July 7 in the Hobart St. Park in Panama.
 Each member presented ideas on programs for the year book next year.
 Attending were Meses. Wanda Archer, Lena Cain and Darrel Merideth Cox, Elaine Dickerson and Lori, Coleen Dunn and Jonetta, Jinny Pinner, Donna Sims, and Geraldine Dunn.
 Summer's bare fashions call for strapless bras. So do low back plunge dresses.

McNeeley Rated 10th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight challenger Tom McNeeley of Arlington, Mass., was dropped to 10th place among contenders today by the Ring Magazine because of inactivity.

Unbeaten McNeeley, apparently set for a shot at Floyd Patterson's crown at Boston in September, was dropped from ninth to 10th and replaced on the ninth rung by Robert Cleroux of Montreal in the Ring's latest ratings. The switch was made because of Cleroux's recent knockout victories over Roy Harris and Alex Miteff, and McNeeley's comparative inactivity in only one fight this year. McNeeley is unbeaten in 23 professional bouts, which included 19 knockouts.

Pone Kingpetch of Thailand, world flyweight champion, was named "fighter of the month" because of his successful defense of the 112-pound crown against Mitsunori Seki of Japan at Tokyo on Tuesday.

Hacker, Pizarro Boost White Sox

United Press International

Add Warren Hacker and Juan Pizarro to the mountain of evidence that no pitcher can be considered "through" until he's experienced the magic treatment of Al Lopez.

Both Hacker and Pizarro seemed headed down the long trail to baseball oblivion at the start of the season but they're two of the major reasons for the Chicago White Sox' amazing climb from last place to fourth in the American League pennant race. And just in case Chicago fans need a good omen, it was a pair of National League castoffs — Gerry Staley and Turk Low — who played vital roles in the White Sox' last flag win in 1959.

Win Twelfth Straight
The astonishing Sox rolled to their 12th straight victory and made it 19 wins in their last 20 games when they whipped the Detroit Tigers, 6-5 and 11-1, Tuesday night before 37,271 largest crowd in Detroit history. The sweep moved the White Sox to within 7½ games of first place and shaved the Tigers' first-place lead to a half-game over the New York Yankees, who dropped a 7-6 decision to the Los Angeles Angels.

Hacker, ex-Cub called up from Chattanooga three weeks ago, received credit for the White Sox' first-game victory on the strength of a two-run eighth-inning homer by Minnie Minoso.

Pizarro, ex-Milwaukee disappointment, turned in his fourth straight win during the streak with a nifty five-hitter in the nightcap. The White Sox supported him with their biggest attack of the season, a 19-hit barrage which included three hits each by Pizarro, Andy Carey, Jim Landis and Luis Aparicio.

Yost Hits Homer
Eddie Yost's three-run homer and a homer by Ken Hunt were the big blows for the Angels, who beat the Yankees for the third time in five meetings at Los Angeles.

The Washington Senators snapped a 10-game losing streak

McKinley Wins At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Fourteen Americans, led by young Chuck McKinley and ageless Gardner Mulloy, moved out for second round action today in the men's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

McKinley, a 20-year-old Davis Cupper from St. Ann, Mo., was pitted against Albert Gaertner of South Africa while Mulloy, a 47-year-old veteran of the tennis wars, met former Stanford University quarterback Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., in one of two All-American matches on Wednesday's schedule.

Second round action in the women's singles also was on tap Wednesday. In one of the feature matches, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., met Mexico's talented Yola Ramirez.

with an 8-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians, the Minnesota Twins whipped the Boston Red Sox, 6-5 and 6-3, and the Baltimore Orioles swept a two-night doubleheader from the Athletics, 5-3 and 7-2, in other American League games.

Six-Figure Bonuses Are Under Fire

CHICAGO (UPI)—Major league baseball wants a long range plan to get more and better ball players for less money.

Representatives of all 20 clubs to be playing in the major leagues in 1962 approved appointment of committees to study and recommend solutions of problems now facing the minor leagues and also to recommend a method to escape the current trend toward six-figure payments to "bonus baby" high school boys.

Commissioner Ford Frick described the projects as a "five, ten or three year plan" to prepare baseball to meet its problems "as they come along."

However, he said that both the problem of excessive payments to bonus players and the minor leagues needed "immediate" attention.

He suggested the study by baseball's committee might result in realignment of minor leagues, perhaps in expansion of them, to build a larger supply of players for possible future expansion of the major leagues.

The committee which Frick will appoint to study the problem of bonus players will have a free hand to take any steps it believes necessary to stop what the commissioner described as "wild spending" for bonus babies, and he said it should consider planning, programming and legislation on the subject.

"Baseball recognizes that this bonus thing is getting completely out of hand," he said. "It needs control. I've got some ideas on the subject, but I haven't given them to the owners yet. They've got some ideas too."

A request of the Washington Senators to hold the 1962 All Star Game was approved, and action on whether there shall be a second All Star Game was deferred until December, when a committee of club owners will meet with player representatives to discuss the point.

Temperamental Types Enliven Sports World

NEW YORK (UPI) — Freud could have said it, but it was a gentle, even-tempered man noted for his calm quiet name — Alvin Dark.

"A man just can't keep everything inside himself."

So Alvin, manager of the San Francisco Giants, laid violent hands on a metal stool after blowing a tight ball game and hurled it viciously across the locker room. In the process, he cut his finger badly.

He has, it might be added, a lot of company in the world of sports.

Most of the temperamental types are well known for their pyrotechnics. They are the guys with the sea-level boiling point and the low-pressure escape valve.

Take Tom McNeeley, the Boston heavyweight who is looking to battle Floyd Patterson, the invisible man, for the world heavyweight title. McNeeley had such a terrible temper that he went to a psychiatrist in an attempt to curb himself.

It would seem that this might be a great asset to a fighter, but that doesn't necessarily hold true. Lose your temper and you lose your head, and when your chin is sticking out from the bottom of it the results can be disastrous.

The late Al (Bummy) Davis was so irate over a decision one night that he began to play football with the referee. He was banned for life, a decision which stood several months the way the fight dodge operates. And many pugs have returned irately to their dressing room and proceeded to beat the locker doors, thereby doing more damage to both parties concerned than they every did in the ring.

Baseball is loaded with skyrocket guys, say like Ted Williams, Jim Piersall, Don Drysdale, Johnny Temple, Eddie Stankley and Mickey Mantle. It ever was Mantle's wont, after striking out, to return to the dugout and kick the water cooler.

But the baseball champion was Russ (The Mad Monk) Meyer. He once walked into the shower still carrying his spiked shoes and then, igniting a new batch of adrenalin, hurled a shoe at the ceiling. It stuck there.

On at least one occasion he was terribly embarrassed by his temper. Meyer charged umpire Frank Dascoli and advised him of the proper situation in terms of vitriol. It was unfortunate because the words were choice and the television microphone hung over plate. The wires fused.

Tommy Bolt is the golfing champion in the apoplexy department and holds all records in club throwing whether you are considering number, distance or accuracy.

"I don't throw clubs any more than anybody else," Bolt fumes at the thought. "It's just that the galleries want to see me lose my temper and they needle me into it. They do things to make me mad and then yell 'Throw it, Tommy.'"

Robinson May Take 'Middle' Title Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sugar Ray Robinson announced today he may take another shot at the middleweight crown in London this September.

Robinson, 40-year-old former welterweight and midweight champion, said: "promoter Harry Levine of London phoned me and suggested that I fight the Pender-Downes winner in September."

Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., is scheduled to defend his European New York Massachusetts share of the 160-pound championship against Terry Downes of England at London on July 11. In their previous title bout at Boston, last Jan. 14 Pender stopped Downes on cuts in the seventh round.

Pender won his title-share on a split decision over Robinson and verdict over Sugar Ray, five months later. Both fights were at Boston.

Robinson hasn't fought since March 4, when he attempted to recapture the NBA version of the middleweight title from Gene Fullmer at Las Vegas, Nev., and lost a unanimous decision.

Than Heart Attack Rickey More Worried About Pirates Fate

SUDBURY, Ont. (UPI)—Branch Rickey expressed more concern today about the plight of the Pittsburgh Pirates than about his second heart attack in three years.

The 79-year-old Rickey, founder of baseball's farm system and one-time president of the Pirates, was in "satisfactory" condition at Sudbury Memorial Hospital following a "severe attack" at his Canadian fishing camp Tuesday.

Ruff Stymies Crall 7 To 4

Shelby Ruff, capitalizing on 10 walks defeated Crall Products 7-4 Monday night in a Northern Little League game at Optimist Park.

LeRoy Slater, the winner, allowed only four hits and whiffed seven.

Johnny Kuhn, who probably deserved a better fate, gave up only three hits but experienced control trouble. He whiffed 10.

Phillip Young, in a pinch-hitting role, delivered the games vital blow — a two-run double.

Larry Turcotte and Johnny Marsh contributed the other Ruff bingles.

Osborne (2-for-3), along with Parrish and Hamilton, banged out the losers four hits.

Amarillo Tops Giants 5 To 3

By United Press International
Tulsa unleashed an 11-hit attack against a pair of San Antonio pitchers Tuesday night to secure its hold on second place in the Texas League with a 5-4 victory over the Missions.

In other action, Amarillo maintained its seven and one-half game edge over the Oilers with a 5-3 decision against Victoria, and Ardmore exploded in the seventh to chalk up all four runs in a 4-2 game with Austin.

Paul Toth held the Missions to five hits over the distance, including Craig Sorenson's two-run homer in the eighth. Ron Goerger, chased in the seventh by a three-run outburst, was the victim. Jack Damaska and Fred Koenig each hit round-trippers for Tulsa.

Bill Drummond spotted Victoria three runs in the first, then blanked the Giants the rest of the way with a bit of ninth inning support from Paul Erickson. The Gold Sox nailed the game down with three runs in the eighth on nine hits. Clark Johnson was the loser.

Hank Hemmerly went the distance for Austin, holding the Rosebuds to four hits, but a pair of bobbles helped turn the tide. Les Narum came on in the fourth, when Austin scored both its runs, to win. Narum, starter Alex Castro and George Gaffney who came on in the eighth limited the Senators to three hits.

Rickey, who was hospitalized for several weeks in 1958 following a seizure at his home in suburban Pittsburgh, spent a restful night Tuesday night.

Hospital administrator Horace V. Snyder said Rickey would be in the hospital "for some time."

The bushy-browed Rickey was to have been honored this week-end in Pittsburgh by the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association as winner of the group's "humanitarian of the year" award.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guidelines expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Oppressive Tax Search

We have mentioned the fact that governments tend to grow more and more oppressive when their search for ready cash becomes difficult.

When a given state or nation finds itself up against the realism of production and at the same time its political overlords will not control their own ambitions, certain laws are passed or rules invoked which grant arbitrary and totalitarian powers to the collectors of taxes. An impressive instance of this kind of thing, culled from the law books of one of our sister states, has recently reached our desk.

We reproduce herein certain of these rules to show how far down the road toward totalitarianism and oppression we have already traveled.

ADDITIONAL POWERS OF THE TAX COMMISSION — ACCESS TO BOOKS AND RECORDS — HEARINGS — INVESTIGATION OF COMPLAINTS.

(1) Require individuals, partnerships, associations, and corporations to furnish information as to their capital, funded debts, investments, value of property, earnings, taxes, and all other facts called for on these subjects so that the commission may determine the taxable value of any property or any other fact it may consider necessary to carry out any duties imposed upon it, or ascertain the relative burdens borne by all kinds and classes of property within the state, and for these purposes their records, books, accounts, papers and memoranda shall be subject to production and examination by the commission, or any employee thereof designated by the commission for such purpose, and all property in this state shall be subject to visitation, investigation, examination, or listing at all times by the commission or by any employee thereof designated by it.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — It has been many weeks now since I have been able to sit down in the cool of the evening with my personal witch, Lavarella Nkritha, because she has been hidden away in the jungle fastness of Haiti, her native island. Half of her native island, I forgot that the Dominican Republic has the other half.

My personal witch is an astoundingly beautiful young woman with an occasionally astounding gift for pinpointing events weeks and months in advance and although, like most witches, she is capable of fielding a whopping error every now and then, she has demonstrated her gifts on the plus side too often for comfort. For example, if any of you Nkrithists remember, she forecast, last December-January, a violent, tormenting winter and has to be given "A" for that. She was right. It was vile. She forecast, at that time the unpleasant death in 1961 of "a prominent government leader." Well, certainly the late Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, Sr., was a prominent government leader. Not one of ours—but prominent and a leader.

In March, Lavarella vanished from New York and since I do not set up voodoo relations with her on a weekly basis it was some weeks before I realized that she had gone. A visit to that sector of Manhattan where she lives resulted in a beautifully perfect set of careful evasions by all in sight. No one, man or woman, cared to comment on Lavarella or her whereabouts and only after strong persuasion did I at last get this: "She maybe make pilgrimage, maybe."

Since then, convinced that the only pilgrimage she could or would make would be back to Haiti, where she is a major witch and greatly admired in the local hoongans as the drums beat in the Haitian nights, I have sent a stream of messages to Haiti and, at long last, there has drifted in a reply. It is terse:

"No communication, Lavarella. This either means she has no communication to make, doesn't wish to make any or positively won't make any, all of which she would stick to rigidly if that were her decision. It is annoying. The probabilities are that with her country in the throes of disintegration — which is a mild way of describing what is happening in Haiti — she felt the compulsion to go home and do what she could either to invoke the voodoo gods or bring about a better atmosphere politically. Never a really political person, Lavarella retained enough Haitian brio to sustain an interest in her country and she may, at last, have decided to throw her lot in with the oppressed working people. They were always her chief supporters and among the things that even a self-elected President of Haiti is not likely to tangle with is an utter, complete and practicing voodoo witch.

There is not the slightest evidence, not even a tiny fragment of evidence, that Lavarella's long absence in the mountain hoongans is to be tied in with Trujillo's sudden death. She rarely, if ever, mentioned the Dominican Republic, had a vast disdain for it, and felt it was not anything to capture her interest. Nor is there any evidence at all that Haitian politics had anything to do with Trujillo's end. If she is cooking up noisome stews and invoking fierce jungle gods, it is to upset the seats of the mighty in Port-au-Prince.

Lavarella is a very handy girl with the powdered corneal, the braying goat, the bird feathers and the gourd rattles in the Haitian nights when the bongos resound across the valley and if she set her mind to tracing a pentagon with corneal on the hard earth floor of a hoongan and calling down wrathful demons on Haitian politics, I have no doubt she would, in time, bring about their fall.

Maybe — just maybe — we'd better watch Page One for the news out of Haiti.

Lavarella is on the scene.

"We Will Bury You —"

ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Some surprisingly good news is in store for long distance telephone users.

The Federal Communications Commission, under congressional proddings, is planning to slash rates charged by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its affiliated companies.

The amount of the rate reduction, which is now under consideration by the Commission, is expected to run between $75 million and $117 million a year — or range from one to ten percent on individual calls depending on the distance.

These and other details are to be ironed out at a special commission meeting that FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow is calling for July.

As a forerunner to the rate decision, the FCC Commissioners plan to confer on July 10 with telephone company officials to determine whether the new rates can be worked out by negotiation or whether hearings will be necessary.

That's what Chairman Minow is telling congressional and other government officials who inquire about the Commission's long distance telephone rate-making plans for 1961.

He reports that the rate decision revolves around a determination by the Commission of what is "a fair and reasonable rate of return" for AT&T on its long distance lines investment.

For the first five months of 1961, AT&T, the world's largest corporation, averaged a profit of 7.8 percent on its long distance phone calls. This was also the earning rate for 1960.

CELLER PLAN — Representative Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., whose prodding was responsible for a $50 million-a-year cut in rates in 1959, has asked the FCC to roll back AT&T's profit return to 4.5 percent.

Under the Celler proposal, the FCC would cut back rates by $117 million a year. He contends that if the Commission had fixed AT&T's long distance profit return at 4.5 percent in 1955, as his subcommittee advocated, telephone users would have saved $650 million.

The Commission's staff has notified Chairman Minow that they favor a cutback of about one percent in AT&T's profit rate which would call for a rate reduction of slightly more than $75 million.

In addition to the long distance rate decision, the Commission is investigating the prices and profits of Western Electric, a subsidiary, to determine how its operations affect the profits of AT&T. The telephone company purchases nearly all of its equipment from Western Electric.

Note: FCC records show that AT&T has contractual or partnership arrangements with more than 50 foreign communication companies or governments.

THE BOX SCORE — GOP House leaders are planning to go all out in their opposition to President Kennedy's federal public school aid bill when it comes to the House floor next month.

Representative Charles Halleck R-Ind., House Minority Leader, is passing the word that he wants a straight party line vote against the

Everybody's Money

Loose talk about unemployment creates confusion concerning the current economic trend and outlook.

Comparison of the absolute number of jobless persons with past periods is misleading unless related to the size of the work force. In a dynamic, expanding economy it is the ratio between the unemployed and the employed which is the significant and telltale figure. Thus, with technology changing rapidly and the population increasing, both employment and unemployment have been rising at the same time.

While such distinctions clarify the over-all picture, they are a small solace to family heads and others out of work.

Automation and related technological changes create an ability to produce a complex product, such as an automobile, with fewer manhours than in past historic periods.

The impact is to throw out of work certain groups, especially those without currently needed skills and older workers.

The effect on older workers is compounded by the working of private pension systems. There is reluctance to take on even qualified personnel after 45 or 50 because of the high cost of assuming pension burdens on newly employed senior workers. Unless this subject is thought through constructively, an essential social gain in the form of private retirement income plans will work harmfully to special groups. One remedy would be to vest pension rights in the individual, so that he could carry along accrued bookkeeping benefits from the old employer to the new. Where no provision has been made for pensions by the former employer it would be preferable for the older worker to waive pension rights from the new employer rather than to have the issue bar him from gainful employment.

As for disrupted younger workers at the bottom of the heap — persons without special knowledge or skills — they obviously should be retrained for the changing needs of the national economy.

Already some of the socially conscious employers are assuming a new responsibility in this area. The response by employers to technological unemployment, which was fashionable a generation ago is already deemed outdated. The former remedy of a dismissal wage — a lump sum payment to workers dislodged by advancing technology — is regarded as insufficient, for it leaves the individuals stranded after the money has been spent.

General Electric has pioneered in looking ahead to oncoming specific technological unemployment, and has initiated plans for training employees involved in new skills which will be in demand. Engineers and machine tool designers are instructed to relate their activities to the human impact, and to avoid unnecessary dislocations.

Where an employer is not organized for in-training courses, some assume the cost of paying tuition in outside schools and in correspondence courses.

Obviously it would be visionary to suggest that ordinary laborers and unskilled workers reorient themselves by enrolling in colleges. Many have not gone through high school, and would lack the qualifications for college entrance. Besides, the cost would be prohibitive.

For example, the tuition rate at Columbia University is eight times what it was during World War I. In addition, workers with family responsibilities couldn't afford to forego income while pursuing a career as students. Furthermore, the already crowded college campuses would have no facilities for taking on enormous numbers from the ranks of the unemployed.

What is little known is that more individuals take courses by mail from correspondence schools than enter college campuses as freshmen each year. In many companies, the employer pays all or part of the correspondence school fees.

In addition to the privately operated, well-known correspondence schools, which provide the opportunity to learn by mail, there are university extension courses sponsored by colleges, and organizational schools directed by the armed forces and various trade groups.

There would seem to be an opportunity for expansion of correspondence courses in this area of retraining unskilled workers dislocated by technological changes. Such courses should be greatly simplified to be meaningful to groups not gifted in study habits.

ROME, Italy — Few things are more flattering to an American living in a foreign country than to be asked by a friend, an acquaintance, or even a complete stranger, to give advice on how to make a trip abroad more pleasant, both physically and financially.

I got one or two such requests from home each week, and nothing does my ego more good than to answer them. It's fun to draw on my travel experiences (this time in Italy) and see if I can be of any help.

Many want to know if advance hotel reservations are absolutely necessary. I say no, and advise against booking ahead. Once in a while this causes a little inconvenience, but this is more than made up for by the gain in flexibility. There's always a room to be had somewhere, and to have to arrive at a place on the exact day and hour is a nuisance.

A little more about hotels. De luxe ones cost more, but the main difference between de luxe and first class hotels are, it seems to me, price and chandeliers. De luxe hotels always have massive chandeliers, but if you are not crazy about chandeliers first class hotels are every bit as satisfactory. And, as often as not, there is only a thin line between first and second class hotels. And many of the latter have more convenient addresses.

Always stand up for coffee, sandwiches, and snacks if you want to save money. Once you sit down at a table, even a small, tipsy one, the price is nearly doubled. And there is always a cover charge at a table. This goes even for the restaurant of the hotel at which you are staying. Guests pay a cover just as non-guests do.

If you are not a wine addict, always ask for the wine of the locality. In most cases, it is the best, for Italian wine does not travel well. Don't ask me why because I don't know the answer, but like small children, it has a tendency to fall apart on a journey.

Always add up a check in Italy, or pretend to. No one will think you are cheap for doing it, or a penny-pincher. Just the opposite. You'll be given credit for having common sense.

Don't worry about garlic in Italian food. There isn't as much used as there is in New York or many other American cities. Yugoslavs, not Italians, are the real garlic lovers of the world.

Don't expect much of a shine when you leave your shoes outside your hotel door at night. Boots give them a lick and a promise and that's all. And so would you and I if we had six or seven floors of shoes to handle each night.

Change your money at banks. Nowhere else if possible. Banks now give 819 lire to the dollar at the least, and hotels and restaurants and shops give anything from

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Q — A school principal asks "Should sneakers be worn by children in place of shoes or should their use be limited to gym activities?"

A — Most of the foot disturbances of later life are the result of the combination of slovenly shoeing and misuses and abuses of the feet.

Each of these causes contributes to the other. Faulty gait causes faulty wear of shoes. Faulty shoes produce faulty gait. And the combination of the two faults eventually produces fallen arches, bunions, ingrown toenails, corns, plantar warts, hammer toes, foot strains and most distressing of the lower back (so-called "lumbarago").

Now a school principal would probably have to neglect all of his many other duties and obligations if he tried to correct faults in gait. And I doubt if parents or children will pay much attention to his recommendations about shoes. Good shoes are expensive and they take a terrible beating. And sneakers are the order of the day with most of the younger set, especially since they're easy to slip on and off. So, with no great confidence that my advice will be heeded, I nevertheless would urge limiting the use of sneakers to gym activities if I had anything to say about the matter.

Q — "I've just been married and our first child was a mongoloid. I know the condition is very rare but I can't find out if there's a chance that our next child will be the same. My husband and I both love children and we just couldn't stand being disappointed again. Our baby only lived a few months."

A — According to best available sources of information, mongolism is probably in the category of embryopathic disorders. That means that the disturbance occurred to the baby during the months that it was carried in its mother's womb. Hence it is not apt to occur to the next baby as it would if it were due to some hereditary disease or disorder.

I would certainly encourage our correspondent to make at least one more trial of pregnancy.

However, it might be a wise precaution for both parents to have complete examinations, including blood tests, before conception is attempted.

Then, if all is well, as I am sure it will be, they will have every prospect of producing a fine, healthy baby.

A thought for today: German philosopher Immanuel Kant said, "In the judgments of pure reason, opinion has no place."

600 to 615 at tops. And there is a bank on every corner in Italy, or so it seems.

Don't get in a horse-drawn carriage in Rome without fixing the price beforehand, and the same goes for a gondola in Venice. There is an established rate, but you'll never get it. Gondola travel, by the way, is very romantic and very expensive.

Try to be polite when refusing street vendors of bric-a-brac. They don't mind a polite refusal, but "face" is of great importance to them. A sharp dismissal hurts them deeply, and to pay you back they will continue their pestering.

In buying silk, remember that there are 90 grades of the stuff over here just as everywhere else. Some of it comes from mighty silkworms.

Italian bus service, both in the cities and "cross-country," is the best in Europe. Fine buses go everywhere, all the time.

Union Dues For Politics

The Supreme Court, in a split decision, has ruled that a union shop worker may prevent the union from using part of his dues for political purposes.

The decision is, on the face of it, a wise one; but the basic abuse is the union shop itself.

The case arose when six Georgia railroad workers tried to restrain the union for using their dues for political purposes. The Georgia supreme court had ruled in favor of the workers and went on to order the union to return a portion of their dues.

The U. S. Supreme Court upheld the Georgia court except to say it went too far in ordering the union to return the member's money.

A union shop is a blood brother of the outlawed closed shop. A closed shop forces a worker to join the union as a condition of his or her employment. This has been outlawed by the Taft-Hartley act.

The union shop permits a non-union worker to take a job in a union shop, but after a specified length of time he must join the union or quit. It is a refinement of the closed shop but not a whale of a lot better.

The Faceless Ones who pay their union extortion to earn a living have no idea where the money goes. They read about Hoffa's expense accounts, his limousines, his income tax problems, his indictments, his financial maneuvers. And they read that Reuther has represented to the Congress that every one of his serfs strongly endorses whatever stand he wishes to take.

They know their money is used for political purposes — such as to support our own Little Embarrassment in the Senate, Ralph

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE BLACKMAILER (Chicago Tribune)

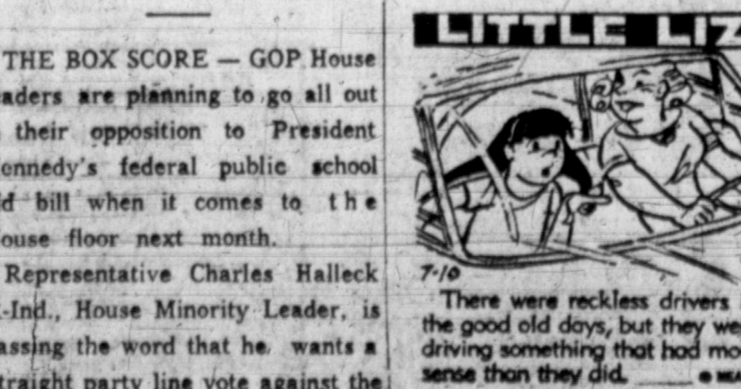

The awful Castro, with a sense of imagination never displayed in Washington, unloaded a delegation of 10 prisoners from the recent abortive invasion in Miami Saturday. He sent them here by air to appeal for support of his offer to release 1,200 invasion captives in return for 500 bulldozers needed to clear land for agriculture.

The Kennedy administration, already sufficiently embarrassed by the American directed fiasco at the Bay of Pigs, was obliged to hold still and permit the return of the Cubans it had sent on an errand mission. A committee of do-gooders, including Mrs. Roosevelt, Milton Eisenhower, and Walter Reuther, promptly sprang into being to encourage the Castro blackmail.

Well, we suppose that, inasmuch as the Kennedy administration got the invaders into their pickle, it owes them some exertions to spare their lives. But we don't think the cost of the bulldozers, if the trade is consummated, should be borne by the public thru subscription or the taxpayers thru appropriation. Properly, it might be met out of the Kennedy family fortune.

There were reckless drivers in the good old days, but they were driving something that had more sense than they did.

Dinosaurs' Graveyard Proving Tourist Lure

DINOSAUR NATIONAL MONUMENT, Utah (UPI)—The largest dinosaur cemetery ever found lies in remote eastern Utah, but 142,403 Americans found their way to the sun-drenched mountain spot in 1960 to view fossil skeletons entombed 130 million years.

lions of years has exposed natural formations eroded by wind and water. But the dinosaur quarry is the most accessible part of the monument at present, although work begins this year on an improved road system to at least part of the canyon area.

AMBASSADOR TO U.S.—David Ormsby-Gore, one of Britain's most skilled diplomats, will become Britain's ambassador to the United States this fall.

The steel and glass building, the north wall of which is simply the sandstone mountain face containing the fossils, was built and dedicated in 1958. In its first full year of operation, 1959, the center played host to 11,493 persons. The figure jumped to 142,403 last year and is expected to rise higher this season.

The fossil bones are found in the Morrison sandstone formation, in a layer 8 to 12 feet thick. Since digging began at the site in 1909 more than 300 dinosaur skeletal specimens have been removed.

Governor Daniel Speaks

Lobbyists Called Main Backers Of General Sales Tax For State

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gov. Price Daniel has taken a stand against a general sales tax and state income taxes to provide Texas with needed increased revenue.

By GOV. PRICE DANIEL The main fight for a general sales tax is being waged by the lobbyists for special interests and such pressure groups as the Texas Manufacturers Association, which find in this tax a means of avoiding further taxation on natural gas pipeline companies, interstate corporations and alcoholic beverages. I concede that many good citizens and legislators favor the general sales tax for entirely different reasons, but every informed person knows that the captains of the cause and the financiers of the fight are the special interests which advocate broad-based taxation only so long as it is not broad enough to cover them.

There has been much dispute as to the initial and ultimate impact of a general sales tax, as between individuals and commercial enterprises. No one has challenged my estimate of the ultimate impact as being 90 per cent on individuals and only 10 per cent on business.

Africa's Future Said Dependent On Farms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What of agriculture in Africa, where more than a score of independent nations have blossomed in recent years?

In 1955, only five countries on the African continent — Egypt, Libya, Ethiopia, Liberia, and the Union of South Africa — were sovereign states. By the end of 1960 Africa had entered the arena of the modern world with the force of an explosion: 22 additional countries had become independent nations.

wide margins for increased output. All of the subsistence agriculture and a large part of the commercial farming depend almost entirely on human labor with the aid of the primitive hoe. With a broader application of improved cultural practices, Africa's farmers could increase their yields materially.

Any compromise should include these items: 1. A natural gas pipeline tax written as suggested two years ago but which was not enacted. It did not contain the unconstitutional provision recently knocked down by the Texas Supreme Court.

After about 70 million years the ancient sandbar was a mile below the surface. But in the past 60 million years a mountain system was built up by the folding of rock beds. And over millions of years the mountain eroded away so the bones now are back at the surface.

Clearly, the main political problem to be faced is no longer independence. Much more challenging is the matter of establishing progressive socio-economic development. To meet this challenge, Africa must continue to depend—probably for two or three decades—mainly on its agricultural resources.

Tannous said that with such abundant agricultural, mineral, and waterpower resources, progressive industrial development can be assured.

2. Adoption of a two-factor formula for determining the corporation franchise tax. This would affect only the 11,660 corporations engaged in interstate business and sales and would not cost the 33,000 wholly domestic corporations any more than they now pay.

Much evidence is available to support such a conclusion, according to Afif I. Tannous, an economic analyst for the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS). Probably the strongest is the number of people engaged in agriculture. Without a single exception—from Egypt and Morocco in the north to Nigeria and Ghana in the west to Kenya and Tanganyika in the east — the large majority of people in each African country depends upon agriculture for a living.

In the African countries, agriculture is the dominant way of life upon which national organization must be developed and securely anchored. There is no other solid base. Tannous said that even the promising possibility of industrial and urban growth must be tied, at least at first, to agricultural development.

Excites Nancy is the challenge of being on her own. "In Washington my mother was in the spotlight all the time," she explained. "But out here I'm on my own. I thought I would miss Washington, but I don't."

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TOKYO (UPI)—The death toll from the heavy rains and floods which have pounded southern areas of Japan for the past four days has climbed to 52, police reported today.

One aspect of the new career

No. 10 Downing Street Repair Job Will Cost Million Dollars

LONDON (UPI)—A million-dollar repair job is underway at No. 10 Downing St., which has housed British prime ministers for more than 225 years.

No. 10 Downing St. has survived air raids, an assassination plot, and countless remodeling projects by the prime ministers and their wives. Now, however, it is undergoing its most extensive rebuilding job since 1732, when the government took it over.

The smoke-gray brick walls of No. 10 and its neighbors at 11 and 12 are being rebuilt for strength and safety, and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has taken up temporary quarters in the residence of the first lord of the admiralty, recalling President Truman's move to Blair House during White House repairs.

The names of Downing St. tenants are chapter headings in British history, and most of them also figured prominently in American history. There was Robert Peel, who started the modern London police force and gave the "Bobbies" their name, and Disraeli, who bought the Suez Canal from his Downing St. office.

Sir Winston Churchill probably knows better than any other Downing St. tenant that the seat of the British government was housed in a precarious frame for many years. He lived there through bombing raids, and wrote in his wartime memoirs: "Downing St. consists of houses 250 years old, shabby and lightly built by the profiteering contractor whose name they bear."

The war came to Downing St. during the tenancy of its best-known prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, who describes in his memoirs how a bomb hit the Treasury Building, 50 yards away. The concussion shattered a window in Downing Street's kitchen and might have killed the kitchen staff if Churchill had not ordered them to safety a few minutes before.

The contractor was George Downing, nephew of Massachusetts Gov. John Winthrop and one of the first graduates of Harvard. Downing was born in 1623 or 1624, went to the colonies when he was 14, and settled with his family in Salem, Mass.

"A violent shock showed that the house had been struck," Churchill wrote. "We went to the kitchen to view the scene. The blast had smitten the large tidy kitchen crockery into a heap of black dust and rubble."

As a reward, he got knighthood and a piece of land adjoining St. James's Park. Sir George put up four houses, laid a cobblestone street, and had it named for himself.

George II offered the house to Sir Robert Walpole in 1732, and Walpole combined the buildings.

Acting Debut Made By Daughter Of Former U.S. Treasury Boss

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nancy Priest, daughter of former U. S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, is making her acting debut on a TV show and the pretty young lady says a knowledge of Washington politics should help in Hollywood.

Forty-two prime ministers have lived at Downing St. or used its offices since Walpole's time. Their politics and achievements have been amply chronicled. The house remains as a record of their home life.

The eight years Nancy spent in Washington were a sort of training ground for Hollywood, she said.

With almost every change of office, there has been at least a change of curtains, inspired by Mrs. Prime Minister.

"You have to be a politician to be in films," she said with a smile. "In politics and movies you have to ride the fence sometimes. A lot of people are temperamental and sometimes you might disagree with something that's going on. So you have to use a little bit of diplomacy to get what you want."

Lloyd George's wife is supposed to have had the first modern bathroom put in in 1916, although government records are vague on that point.

Miss Priest admits her mom was a little wary of the dramatic plans and Nancy said "she wouldn't have chosen it for me. But then, I didn't choose acting, it just happened to me."

The most elegant piece of remodeling, paradoxically, was done in the 1820's, when radical feeling was so strong that there was a plot to blow up the entire cabinet as it sat down to dinner.

"I haven't really made any acting plans," the attractive blonde Nancy said. "So many girls would give their right arm for an opportunity like this."

Chief conspirator Arthur Thistlewood was executed, and it remained for another famous man of the day, the architect Sir John Soane, to change the dining habits of the prime ministers in less violent fashion.
