U.S. Moon Shot Is Set For Monday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States is planning to launch a 10-story high rocket Monday in an attempt to "crash land" a television-carrying space capsule on the moon.

The flight of Ranger-3, America's gold-plated hope for ending nearly four years of frustrating failures in lunar exploration, is expected to produce the most detailed photographs ever taken of the moon.

This is one of three such U. S. moonshots planned for 1962—and each is so complex that the federal space agency said it would be satisfied with one success.

If all goes well, Ranger-3's package of instruments will soar 240,000 miles through space in about 66 hours and will televise 180 or more pictures in the last 40 minutes of the journey as it plunges toward the lunar surface.

A 96½-pound capsule is designed to burst from the main section and be slowed by a retro-rocket for a landing at a speed of about 100 miles per hour on the moon—a crash it is specifically built to survive.

There, the rugged ball of instruments should labor for at least a month relaying to earth information that will be valuable in selecting landing places for manned flights to the moon after this decade.

The Ranger-3 shot, if it gets off on time, will kick off what shapes up as one of the most spectacular weeks in U.S. space history. The nation hopes to put its first astronaut into orbit Wednesday, and has scheduled an attempt to put five satellites into orbit with a single rocket during the week.

The moon has been one of this nation's most elusive targets in space, despite a series of attempted direct hits and lunar orbit shots during the past four years. Russia hit the moon once, with its 858-pound Lunik-2 on Sept. 13, 1959.

On Oct. 4, 1959, the Soviet Union's 348-pound Lunik-3 circled the moon. That satellite took photographs of the moon's previously unseen "farside," but came no closer than 4,373 miles to the lunar surface itself.

Ranger-3 will be aimed at the familiar side that always faces earth. It is expected to continue televising pictures until it gets within 15 miles.

An Atlas-Agena rocket, the most powerful vehicle currently in use by the United States, will send the payload into a 13-minute "parking orbit" around earth, then kick it toward the moon at a speed of 24,500 miles per hour.

B-B Pellet Fired Through Window

An unidentified person last night shot a hole with a B-B gun in the picture window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Howard, 618 Bradley Dr.

Police received a report at 8:35 p.m. from the Howard residence that someone had just fired through the window. The hole, police said, was made by a pellet fired from an air gun.

Officers said the Howards were home at the time, but no one was injured.

Police Chief Jim Conner, issued a warning to parents not to allow children to carry air guns.

Bank Robber Says He Just Needed Money To Pay Debts

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (UPI) — A Houston tavern owner who admitted robbing the First National Bank of Cushing, Tex., of nearly $32,000 and kidnapping a Texas Ranger during his getaway today said he did it because he "had some debts I wanted to pay."

"I didn't really want the money," the confessed robber, Marcus El Carter, 36, said. "I just had some debts I wanted to pay. A lot of people I owed I should have paid."

A 14-year-old Pampa girl who was stricken with crippling polio at the age of two is now able to dance, swim, play baseball and even drive a car, thanks to those who contributed to the March of Dimes.

Betty Jo Pate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pate, 1212 E. Foster, was stricken with polio, Aug. 9, 1949, while living in Stillwater, Okla.

Miss Pate moved with her family to Pampa five years ago. She has returned to Oklahoma three times for major surgery on her legs and each time contributions given during the local March of Dimes campaigns has helped the girl on her way to recovery.

Jaycee Banquet Set For Bosses

The "Bosses' Night" banquet, sponsored by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

The annual event will be highlighted by the naming of the outstanding young man in Pampa for the "distinguished service award for outstanding community service."

The award is given annually as a means of recognizing civic effort by an individual. E. O. (Red) Wedgworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will present the award.

An award for the outstanding boss of a Jaycee member will be presented along with eleven "spoke" awards to club members who have completed the necessary requirements in their first year of membership.

A musical program will be presented under direction of Hugh Sanders, Pampa High School choir director.

Bank Robber Says He Just Needed Money To Pay Debts

The small East Texas bank was held up just before the 3 p.m. closing time Wednesday and the bandit fled in a late-model white automobile.

Carter kidnaped Texas Ranger Tully Seay, who stopped him, and later released him in Beaumont. Not long afterward, Chambers County Sheriff Louis Otter spotted the robbery car headed for Houston and ordered the driver to pull over and halt. He said Carter surrendered meekly.

Below Zero And Snow Due In Pampa Tonight

The weatherman predicted this noon that Pampa will have two to four inches of snow and the mercury will plummet below zero tonight.

Three below zero tonight was the noonday forecast, with the snow continuing through the night and not ending until sometime tomorrow.

Pampa had light snow falling all morning. The ground was white at noonday. The cold front moved in during the night and sent the mercury to a low of 10 above at 6 a.m. At noon today the Pampa reading was 14 degrees.

Light snow fell across the upper Panhandle early today, while rain, drizzle and fog covered most of the rest of Texas.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said a wet cold front which edged into the state was causing a storm

Rusk Is Called For Questioning On Congo Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee today called in Secretary of State Dean Rusk to spell out U.S. policy in the Congo.

Members of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on African affairs ordered today's hearing closed to avoid any slip which might upset the "delicate" negotiations now going on in the Congo.

Chairman Albert Gore, D-Tenn., announced, however, that after the initial testimony by Rusk, Under Secretary of State George Ball and Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams, the committee will decide whether to hold open hearings. It also will determine to what extent the secret testimony shall be made public.

The subcommittee may hear Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary for international affairs—the U.N. specialist—at a hearing Friday. Whether this will be open or closed remained uncertain today.

Rusk, it was announced, did not ask for closed hearings. He has said publicly the department would welcome a review of the whole U.S. policy in the Congo, where United Nations forces have been used to hold the breakaway Katanga Province in the central government and stabilize order.

Rusk appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee for three hours Wednesday to discuss America's role in the United Nations.

Most of the talk centered on the controversial administration plan to buy half of the $200 million U.N. bond issue.

Archbishop Asks Punishment For Massacre Leaders

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, The Congo (UPI)—Roman Catholic Archbishop Cornelis has demanded the immediate punishment of those responsible for the massacre of 19 Catholic missionaries on New Year's Day.

Archbishop Cornelis sent out cables protesting the murders in Northern Katanga to United Nations Acting Secretary General Thant, President Kennedy, French President Charles de Gaulle, Queen Elizabeth II of Britain and Italian President Giovanni Gronchi.

Cornelis was joined by Catholic leaders throughout the world in protesting the massacre—the details of which were released Wednesday in Leopoldville.

'It'll Be A Cold Day --'

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Madison office of the Internal Revenue Service received the following note recently:

"I've been saying for a long time now that it would be a damn cold day in January before the government would get any more taxes out of me. I think the day has come."

Along with the note, the envelope contained a tax form, a check and a newspaper headline which read, "15 degrees below in city."

Experts Watch Power Struggle Inside Kremlin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The course of the cold war for some time to come may be determined by the power struggle apparently taking place in the Kremlin, Soviet affairs experts said today.

U.S. officials are keeping a close watch for outward signs of Russia's internal troubles. They are trying to anticipate the outcome of what is believed to be a wide-ranging argument involving Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other top members of the Presidium.

American authorities said the United States was not moving on any front to try to take advantage of the Soviet internal political dissension because it was not yet clear just what the result is going to be.

The real effect on East-West relations could come only if there is some change in Soviet policy, which would require a new and different reaction from the United States and its allies.

For the time being, government sources said, it is impossible to say who will win the Kremlin contest, or who will succeed Khrushchev should he be ousted.

Washington had no information about the lineup of top Soviet officials on the simmering ideological dispute involving Red China, Albania, and the future of Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Officials said, however, that Khrushchev apparently has won a skirmish by achieving victory for the time being in the Molotov affair. This was their interpretation of Pravda's bitter attack Wednesday on the old Bolshevik and former foreign minister.

The Communist party paper denounced Molotov as a die-hard dogmatist for opposing Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence.

As for the broader aspects of the apparent power struggle, diplomatic experts here said it unraveled (See KREMLIN, Page 4)

G. O. P. Calls It Another Pattern Of Big Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today sent Congress a $92.5 billion budget for the 1963 fiscal year — biggest ever in peacetime — but said he still hoped to eke out a "modest" $500 million surplus.

He called it a blueprint for national "growth and strength."

Kennedy's first complete budget called for repeal of the 10 per cent tax on train and bus travel, and a 1-cent increase on both regular letter and air mail stamps. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon said the administration also hoped to cut income taxes early in 1963.

Initial congressional reaction to the budget generally followed party lines. Republicans rapped it as another pattern for big spending and scoffed at the forecast of a surplus, but most Democrats praised it as a model of fiscal responsibility.

The new budget assumed that the Berlin crisis would be over by the end of June and that the nation's economy would expand steadily and fairly briskly for at least 18 months.

Unless these assumptions are realized, Kennedy's projected surplus could be wiped out, Congress also could upset it by rejecting proposed revenue plans or fixing higher price tags for some programs.

The President said his proposed spending for the year starting July 1 was necessary to provide: —A strong and versatile military force able "to strike decisively" against an aggressor. He

Here's What Happens To Tax Dollar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — How Uncle Sam will spend the federal budget dollar in fiscal 1963:

- Security and Space—63 cents.
- Interest on Debt—16 cents.
- Veterans Benefits—8 cents.
- Farm Programs—6 cents.
- Health and Welfare—6 cents.
- Other Activities—9 cents.

(National security includes spending for armed forces, atomic energy, foreign aid and other international activities. "All other activities" include general government overhead; housing, highway, aviation, water projects and other domestic programs.)

Where Uncle Sam will get the budget dollar:

- Individual income tax—53 cents.
- Corporation income tax—28 cents.
- Excise taxes—11 cents.
- Other revenues—8 cents.

called for nearly 1,600 ballistic missiles, an armada of more than 30,000 planes and 2,684,000 men under arms.

"Mastery of space," including manned flight to the moon by 1970, Kennedy made no mention

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of the federal government will rise an average of $11.53 for every man, woman and child in the United States under President Kennedy's budget for the 1963 fiscal year.

Based on a Jan. 1 population of 185.2 million, the current $81.1 billion budget for fiscal 1962 figures out to $480.02 for each American. An expected population increase to 188.2 million next Jan. 1 would apportion the projected $92.5 billion 1963 budget into slices of $491.55.

of Soviet space achievements but made clear the United States would not settle for second best.

"The nation's social and economic growth."

In Congress, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., described Kennedy's program "a sound, constructive budget, geared to a great and expanding future for the world's greatest country." He said he was especially pleased with the emphasis on national security.

But House GOP Whip Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., called the President's proposals "wholly unrealistic." He said "the only hope for a balanced budget is in our Republican determination to answer the American people's prayer for a reduction in government expenditures."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., hailed the budget as "a sound formula for maintaining both fiscal responsibility and the forward momentum of the nation's economy."

Chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., of the House Appropriations Committee reiterated his view that any budget could be cut. He said the total was "high" but he thought Congress would be inclined to go along with the President.

Rep. John Taber, R-N.Y., top GOP member of the appropriations group, said Kennedy's budget was "absolutely ridiculous" and predicted Congress would cut it. Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Appropriations Committee forecast "another deficit next year."

The President predicted that unprecedented prosperity would reduce unemployment sharply and generate a record $93 billion in tax revenues in fiscal 1963. That would be a whopping $10.9 billion jump over this year. Spending would rise by $3.4 billion.

Budget Director David E. Bell defended as "reasonable" Kennedy's assumption that the Berlin situation would permit the release by next July 1 of the Guardsmen and reservists summoned to duty in last year's crisis. (See BUDGET, Page 4)

Jaycees Planning For City Survey

Pampa Jaycees held their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Palm Room at City Hall with 51 members and guests present.

Plans for the annual Bosses Night Banquet, to be held tomorrow were discussed.

The annual Distinguished Service Award given to Pampa's outstanding young man will be presented at the banquet. The affair is held annually to honor the bosses of Jaycees.

The Community Development Survey, designed to determine feelings of the public on community problems and possible improvements, was discussed and plans for initiating the survey were announced.

The program Tuesday was presented by Travis Lively, Pampa businessman, who spoke on "Constitutional Government." Lively was introduced by Gene Barber and gave an eye-opening talk concerning mismanagement among governmental employees. Lively spoke on the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States and its effect on the nation.

"A re-evaluation of State Department and other agencies is in order," Lively said.

Bob Wisdom was introduced as a new member of the club. Wisdom is an announcer with a local radio station.

December Rain Below Normal

AUSTIN (UPI)— December was drier than usual, but Texas had more rainfall last year as a whole than it had during 1960.

The State Board of Engineers reported yesterday that December rainfall was below normal except in parts of northeast and north-central Texas. Temperatures were below normal during the month in northern Texas, but above normal in the southern half of the state.

For the year, 14 of 21 areas surveyed by the board showed higher rainfall than 1960. Galveston's rain was more than 20 inches above 1960, Houston's more than 16 inches higher, and Abilene's 13 inches higher, the board said.

Largest decreases were at Laredo, down nearly six inches, and Fort Worth, down three inches.

The board said conservation water storage in major Texas reservoirs declined from 9.8 million acre-feet to 9.6 millions during December.

5 Castro Enemies Reported Slain

MIAMI (UPI)— Havana radio reported today five enemies of the Castro regime were shot to death and an unmentioned number of others wounded when they tried to steal a yacht to flee the island.

According to the official report, the men tried to board the government yacht Pretecto at Barlovento Harbor, near Havana, on Monday to force the crew to take them to freedom.

$68-Million In Budget For Projects In Texas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today asked Congress to appropriate $68,634,300 for bureau of reclamation work in Texas during the next fiscal year.

Budget

 But he conceded that this may not happen.
 Bell said Kennedy's order that the budget be balanced was felt throughout the government. But he maintained that military spending was determined strictly on the basis of defense needs, not economy.
 Two Kennedy proposals would affect the pocketbook of nearly every American. One would repeal the 10 per cent tax on rail and bus fares and reduce from 10 to 5 per cent the tax on plane travel.
 The other would provide for a 5-cent letter and an 8-cent airmail stamp as part of a $592 million postal rate increase.
 Congress appeared likely to approve both proposals.
 But the lawmakers showed little warmth for Kennedy's renewed request for federal aid for school construction and teacher salaries. His request for broad tariff-cutting authority to deal with the European Common Market faced searching scrutiny.
 In assessing the outlook for peace, Kennedy said a nuclear holocaust posed the greatest threat to national survival. But he said this was not as likely as limited wars if this country maintained forces which would "make nuclear war disastrous to any foe."
 Kennedy gave this picture for fiscal 1963 compared with the current fiscal year (1962):

	(billions)	(billions)
Revenue	$52.1	$53.0
Spending	$59.1	$59.5
Difference (def) (sur)	$7.0	$0.3

The President's spending figure of $59.5 billion would be a peacetime high approaching the record wartime expenditures of $85 billion in 1944 and $96 billion in 1945. It was $3.4 billion higher than this year.
 Military outlays were by far the largest single item. Kennedy estimated they would climb to $48.3 billion next year. They were $46.8 billion this year.
 In a statement sure to draw Republican fire, the President

$58,809,800 for similar work in Texas.
 Two of the 36 new-start water projects for the army corps of engineers were included in the Texas budget. They called for $500,000 for the Bardwell reservoir and $948,000 for phase II of the Houston ship channel deepening to 40 feet project.
 In addition, part of the money for interstate projects will be spent in Texas, but there is no state breakdown available. These projects included $940,000 for aquatic plant control (with Louisiana); $750,000 for Denison Reservoir (with Oklahoma); $550,000 for Red River work (with Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana).
 Two reservoir projects got the largest recommendations — $10.2 million for McGee Bend and $10 million for Waco.

Budget At A Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fiscal 1963 budget at a glance:
TAXES: Hold income and excise taxes at present levels. Repeal 10 per cent tax on railroad and bus tickets, with airline ticket levy to drop from 10 to 5 per cent next year. Raise first class letters to a nickel and airmail to 8 cents.
SPENDING: $92.5 billion, up $3.4 billion from this year. Most of increase goes into national security programs.
REVENUES: $93 billion, an increase of $10.9 billion over this year. Forecast assumes continued "brisk recovery" from last year's recession.
SURPLUS: $500 million if all goes as budgeted. If the economy falters there could be a deficit.

City Trucks Not To Remove Limbs

CITY Manager John Koontz announced today that city trucks will no longer pick up tree limbs in residential areas except during city-wide clean-up campaigns.
 According to Koontz, many residents have hired tree trimmers from out-of-town with the understanding the city would haul the limbs away.
 "This is not true and the city will not do the job the trimmers should do," Koontz said.

$10-Million Asked For Sanford Dam

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today asked Congress to appropriate $18,634,300 for bureau of reclamation work in Texas during the next fiscal year.
 This compared with a $14,415,000 request for similar work for the present fiscal year.
 Largest of the new requests was $10 million for continued work on Sanford Dam and reservoir of the Canadian River project.

 doubtfully has had some effect on the current Soviet handling of the Berlin problem.
 They said the outcome of the struggle may considerably affect whether Russia eventually adopts a tougher Berlin policy, or lets the crisis die down for the time being.
 In addition, the Soviet-Red China dispute is having ramifications in Southeast Asia.
 The Russians appear to be urging more restraint on Communist elements in Laos and South Viet Nam. The Red Chinese are trying to increase their control of local Communist forces and put them to greater efforts against pro-Western governments in the area.

Radio Newsmen Killed In Crash

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI)—A radio news reporter from Texas was killed today in a highway accident and patrolman C. H. Clark was seriously injured when he was struck by a truck while directing traffic around the wreckage.
 Officers said Earl C. Vandervoort, 38, of Dallas, Tex., was killed instantly when his car smashed into the rear of a truck which was stopped for a red light at the intersection of Highways 11 and 80 here.

L. H. Johnson Rites Pending

Funeral services are pending for Lester Harper Johnson, 65, 429 Hughes, who died at 8:30 a.m. today in Highland General Hospital after an illness of two years.
 Mr. Johnson was born Nov. 7, 1896 in Pelahatchie, Miss., and moved to Pampa three years ago from Borger. He had lived in Borger for 16 years after moving there from Briscoe.
 He is survived by his wife, Besie Johnson of the home; one son, Roy H. of Borger; one daughter, Mrs. Ralph Markham of Church Rock, N. M.; one brother, Walter of Pelahatchie; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
 Arrangements will be announced later by Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mrs. Meadows Rites Friday

Interment rites for Mrs. Grace Meadows, who resided at 705 E. Jordan, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Glyn Adsit, pastor, the Rev. James Todd of the Claude Christian Church and the Rev. Roy King of the First Christian Church in Lubbock, officiating.
 Mrs. Meadows died at 11 p.m. Tuesday in the Highland General Hospital.
 The casket will not be open at the church service.
 Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Fallout Booklets At Post Office

SOME 1,500 booklets dealing with nuclear fallout arrived at the Pampa Post Office this morning.
 The booklet, published by the Office of Civil Defense, is entitled "What To Know and What To Do About Nuclear Attack".
 The booklets are 46 pages long and can be obtained at the post office windows while they last.

Petition Filed For New Trial

STINNETT, Tex. (UPI)—Local 351 of the International Union of Operating Engineers and the parent union filed amended motions Wednesday for a new trial of a $1,186,568 damage suit brought against them.
 Twenty-eight men sued the local and international, charging that officials caused them to lose their jobs in a May, 1958, strike at a Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery at Borger.
 Judge Max Boyer of the 84th District Court found for the men in the summer of 1961. The local and parent union listed 819 points in which they contend that 84th District Court was in error when it awarded the money to the men, former members of the union and employees of Phillips Petroleum Co.
 Judge Boyer did not announce when a hearing on the amended motion for a new trial will be held.

Thieves Get $30 And TV Antenna

Burglary of Ward's Minit Mart, 600 E. Frederic, last night was reported to police today by Carl Jones, store manager.
 Police Chief Jim Conner said entry was obtained by removing boards nailed across the roof and then kicking a hole in the sheet rock ceiling. The burglary occurred sometime between 11 p.m. last night and 7 a.m. today, according to Jones.
 Investigation revealed $30 in small bills and change was taken from the cash register and six cartons of cigarettes were missing.
 Police received a report from D. L. Yeager, 1136 Sierra Dr., yesterday afternoon that the television antenna mounted on top of his home had been stolen sometime between Monday and Wednesday.
 Yeager told police the house was vacant for two days and when he returned the antenna was gone.

49th Reservists To Be Released

FORT POLK, La. (UPI) — Officials announced today about 530 Army reservists training with the 49th Armored Division here would be released within a week after they apply for separation from active duty.
 Maj. Gen. Harley B. West said an estimated 50 officers and 486 enlisted men from the 4th Army area—including Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma—were eligible for release.
 He said they come under a recent directive permitting separation after five years honorable active and reserve service. The directive applies only to reservists recalled from a ready reserve control group to assignment with units on active duty.
 West pointed out to be eligible a man must have completed ready reserve obligations before Oct. 1, 1961, and have signed up for no further ready reserve service after Oct. 2, 1960.
 Men affected are reservists recalled to active duty to bring the 49th and other units to full strength. It was not revealed whether new replacements would be required for the 530 men.

Recording Firms Go 'Under Fire'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sex record-album covers, record counterfeiting and price-cutting were under fire today from the head of a recording company.

Enoch Light, president of Command Records, warned that the record industry will "suffer a black eye" unless it launches a self-regulating and policing program.

Light maintained that price-cutting would result in inferior recordings and ultimately damage the entire record market.

Album covers showing scantily clad models in seductive poses also drew Light's scorn.

Something Special For Coffee— Orange Marmalade Ring Loaf

At a local benefit auction recently, a fresh loaf of homebaked bread went for a high price. The enthusiastic bidding reminded us just how much people love fresh, homemade goodies.

If people are willing to outbid each other like that, you can bet they'll enjoy a treat from your own oven when they stop by for coffee. Why not oblige with this delicious Orange Marmalade Ring Loaf at the next kaffeeklatsch?

Besides sweet orange marmalade, the loaf is baked with nuts and topped, if you choose, with a thin sugar icing. For a spread, put cream cheese in the hole in the center. With a bread like this, of course, the coffee should be your very best — rich, freshly brewed and still steaming hot when it's poured.

Orange Marmalade Ring Loaf

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup coarsely-chopped nuts
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup orange marmalade
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon melted butter

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in nuts. Combine remaining ingredients. Add to flour-nut mixture. Stir only until blended. Turn into greased 5-cup ring mold. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 45 minutes. Remove from mold. Cool several hours before serving. If desired, frost with thin confectioner's sugar icing and fill center with cream cheese.

Onion Rings Are Good With Pork

An unusual accompaniment to encircle a platter of roast pork, why not try these Pickled Onion Rings.

PICKLED ONION RINGS

Peel and cut 4 medium onions into 1/4 inch slices. Cover with water to which 2 tablespoons of salt are added. Let stand several hours. Simmer for about 3 minutes in the same salted water. Drain. Separate into rings. Blend together 1 1/2 cups red wine vinegar, 1/2 cup water, 2 cups sugar, and 2 teaspoons pickling spices. Bring to boiling point. Pour hot vinegar solution over onion rings. Let stand until cool.

Old-Fashioned Baked Beans With Pork Blend Aromas And Tastes With Appeal

A pork roast and a crock of old-fashioned beans baking in the same oven will cause a mingling of aromas to make the family remember mama for a long time. And it's an easy-on-the-cook dinner to prepare, too, for once the food is in the oven there's nothing to do except to go away and leave it alone.

The beans are slow baked in a 325 degree F. oven for five to six hours to develop the rich baked flavor. Into the same slow oven goes the fresh pork loin roast. Fresh pork is tender enough to be oven-roasted in a low-sided open pan. The most traditional seasons for a pork roast are salt, pepper and sage.

OLD-FASHIONED BAKED BEANS
(Yield: 10 to 12 servings)

1 pound navy beans
1/2 pound salt pork
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1-3 cup molasses
2 onions, cut in half

Wash and soak beans overnight in cold water to cover. Drain, place in saucepan, cover with water, and simmer 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until skins burst. Blend in sugar, salt, mustard, and molasses. Scrape pork rind and cut pork into 2 inch pieces. Place the onions and most of the pork in the bottom of a 2 quart bean pot or heavy casserole. Turn beans into bean pot without draining. Press remaining pork into beans, leaving only rind exposed. If necessary, add enough additional boiling water to cover.

When you next plan to have stuffed green peppers for the family dinner, try oiling the peppers before baking. Their color will then stay fresh and green.

ing water to cover the beans. Cover the pot and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 5 to 6 hours. Add more water if needed, to keep beans moist. Remove cover during last 30 to 40 minutes of baking to brown.

Maple Sugar Heart Cookies Are Sure To Win Friends And Influence People

A winning path to your family's heart or to be given as a cheer-up gift for a friend, who is kept indoors with a cold, these little Maple Sugar Heart Cookies are sure to win their hearts.

MAPLE SUGAR HEART COOKIES
(A crisp, rich cookie)

Yield: 5 dozen, 3 inch hearts
2 sticks (1 cup) butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten

1/2 cup dairy soured cream
1 teaspoon maple extract
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Heart Frosting
Decorator's Frosting
Red tinted coconut
Cream butter. Add sugar and cream again. Add egg, sour cream, and maple extract. Gradually add flour which has been sifted with baking powder and salt. Chill well, at least 1 hour. Roll half of the dough to 1/8 inch thickness on a well floured board or pastry cloth. Keep remaining half of dough refrigerated. Cut with cookie cutter, working quickly. Roll out remaining half and cut. Bake on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. (If cookies are not to be frosted, they may be sprinkled with sugar before baking.) Frost the cookies with Heart Frosting. Trim the edges of half of the cookies with white Decorator's Frosting. Place the tinted coconut around the edges of the remaining half.

Variation: Vanilla or other flavorings may be substituted for the maple extract.

Heart Frosting: Bring 3 ounce package cream cheese to room temperature. Cream together with 2 tablespoons dairy soured cream. Blend 3 cups sifted powdered sugar into cream cheese mixture until smooth. Tint the frosting a delicate pink.

Decorator's Frosting: Beat 1 egg white until stiff. Fold in sifted powdered sugar until the frosting is stiff enough to break off when used in a cake decorator.

OUTDOOR EXERCISE FOLLOW-UP Welcome Warm-Up Drink

Half the pleasure of a winter sport, be it skiing, skating, sledging, or watching your favorite hockey or football team in action, is the "warm-up period" after the fun.

Bring your friends in for a steaming, energizing cup of brew, and provide plenty of tasty hot morsels for munching.

Nutritious and delicious is the V-8 Hot Toddy, pictured here. Sweetened with brown sugar and fragrant with ginger, bitters, and cloves, this warmly satisfying drink makes an ideal wintertime pick-up.

Serve it piping hot from a heat-proof carafe or coffee jug. Clove-studded orange or lemon slices make an attractive garnish for individual cups or mugs.

V-8 Hot Toddy

2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 dash aromatic bitters
1 can (24 fluid ounces) V-8
2 thin slices lemon
2 whole cloves
2 thin slices orange, cut in half

In saucepan, combine brown sugar, ginger, and bitters; add V-8. Heat, stirring now and then. Add lemon slices (studded with cloves) and orange slices. Heat another minute or 2; do not boil. Makes 7 to 8 servings.

Hang a large aluminum-covered asbestos pad against the wall adjacent to your stove. It will be easier to wash grease splatters from this removable pad than from the wall itself.

Exercise Helps To Lose Weight

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am 16 years old and am trying to lose weight. Do I have to exercise as well as cut down on food?

A—Yes, According to Dr. Jean Mayer, associate professor of Nutrition at Harvard University, lack of physical exercise is one of the major factors in obesity in adolescents. A great majority of obese teen-agers actually eat less than average adolescents of the same sex. It is the inactivity of the obese adolescent which easily accounts for the calories which produce excessive fat deposits. Stepping up exercise even with out paying much attention to diet invariably results in weight loss, Dr. Mayer reports. If you weigh 150 pounds and walk one mile at rate of 4 miles an hour, you will utilize 350 calories. If you ski for an hour, you will use up between 600 and 700 calories.

Q—My children often ask for peanut butter sandwiches instead of the meat sandwiches I think are better for them. Am I right?

A—You are probably thinking in terms of protein value. Four tablespoons of peanut butter supply the same amount of protein as 2 ounces (a small serving) of lean, cooked meat (without bone). Therefore, if your children get enough meat, eggs, poultry or fish at other meals, the use of peanut butter in their school lunch box, is another way of adding more first-class protein to their daily

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Nikita Khrushchev remarked that war would not spare the famed Acropolis of Greece, he did not endear himself to the Greeks nor did he frighten them. Nor did the Greeks tremble in the first few days of this year when the Soviets demanded a blueprint of the Greek military structure on the grounds that it could pose a threat to Soviet borders.

The answer was a firm suggestion to the Russians that they mind their own business.

As a nation firmly aligned with the West through NATO, and more lately through association with the European Common market, Greece tries to remain as aloof as possible from its Communist neighbors.

But, since nearly 25 per cent of Greek export goes to the Soviet Union and other members of the Communist bloc, and she has common borders with three Communist countries, such an attitude is not always easy.

Lately, this geographic proximity has been the cause of more than common interest.

The Soviet Union, occupied in Berlin, in Laos and with internal and party problems, still has found time to probe the western Mediterranean end of the NATO defense line.

As a Balkan nation, Greece also must watch for changes which may occur as result of the break between the Soviet Union and Albania.

Greece still is in a state of war with Albania and still is pressing its claim to a strip of southern Albania, which the Greeks call northern Epirus.

Since its break with the Soviets, Albania has been seeking improved relations with the West, including an offer to resume diplomatic relations with Greece.

Since its own civil war and Yugoslavia's break with Stalin, Greece has maintained consistently friendly relations with Yugoslavia. But now Greece suspects a change may be in the making in Soviet-Yugoslav relations, especially since the Soviet-Albanian break.

The alarm bell for Greece was an official Yugoslav suggestion that Greece recognize the existence of a Macedonian minority. When Yugoslavia has set up a republic of the Yugoslav federation with a language of its own, the suggestion seemed more than a coincidence.

Contributing to any Greek consideration of the Balkan situation is the knowledge that Communist bloc nations still harbor some 70,000 Greek Communist guerrillas who fled after the 1946-49 civil war and now are awaiting another chance.

Tinkling Bells In Tree Basis For Court Action

HOUSTON (UPI)—A neighborhood squabble over the tinkling of small glass bells in the night today wound up in court, with more legal action threatened.

Robert B. Sorenson has filed two misdemeanor charges of unnecessary noise against his next-door neighbor, Gus Kelinske, over the bell-tinkling incident.

The squabble started last summer when the Kelinskes decided to enhance the beauty of their mimosa tree with glass bells.

The bells tinkle in the wind, and this was the basis of Sorenson's complaint.

"They keep us awake," he said. "They didn't bother us in the summer when the air conditioners were going. But this winter we have been sleeping with open windows."

"The whole thing is absurd," Kelinske, a hardware buyer, retorted. "The tinkle couldn't compete with the noise of passing jets or the sirens on the nearby freeway."

"Anyone who can put up with all those city noises but can't stand the gentle tinkle of these

V Commercial Medics Driving Him To Drink And Fizzy Water

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A few days ago I developed a sinus condition of the type described in leading medical journals as "really a pip."

Not wishing to offend anybody, about the experience has led me to revise my thinking a bit as regards the practice of medicine on television.

I am not, I should make clear, alluding to Ben Casey or Young Dr. Kildare, or even old Dr. Gilliespie. Everyone knows those guys are just play acting.

I refer to the sincere, dedicated, professional looking types who deliver the TV commercials. Some time ago I began letting them prescribe for my ailments and I gave up going to doctors.

This worked out fairly well because my ailments generally were of the kind euphemistically described as "overindulgence in food and drink." These attacks were diagnosed over the airwaves as "excess acidity."

My TV medical advisers offered a choice of two remedies, one a fizzy water produced by dropping a tablet into a glass and the other a fizzy water produced by dropping some crystals into a glass.

A few trial-and-error experiments clearly showed that I responded better to the crystals.

With the onset of my sinus attack, I turned on the magic box to see what might relieve the most annoying symptom, which is a headache. Almost immediately I became confused.

One commercial stated unequivocally that doctors recommend a combination of ingredients to blot out the pounding of hammers, the ringing of bells and the flashing of lightning in the human head.

But another commercial averred just as positively that most doctors themselves take aspirin.

Obviously I needed to consult a specialist, so I began turning the knob in search of commercials that prescribed medication designed exclusively for sinus trouble.

I found a number of them, including one that promised to relieve congestion in all eight sinus passages. Unfortunately, however, the brand names all sounded so much alike I was unable to remember which was which.

It was impractical to try them all and I hesitated to pick one at random for fear it would only eliminate congestion in seven sinus passages. Therefore, I devised a simple home remedy which other sinus sufferers might find beneficial.

What you do is overindulge in food and drink until your sinus condition has been obscured by an onslaught of excess acidity.

"I SAY, OLD CHIEF"—Flipping their feathers over American Indians, Laurie and wife Eillias of Shrewsbury, England, like nothing better than to dress up in Sioux Indian costumes and pretend to be Chief Black Panther and his squaw. They are members of the "English Westeners Society," whose members all over Britain do research into the history of Indians and the American West.

Tower Planning Counter Attack To JFK Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, next to the newest member of the Senate, has announced he soon will introduce a comprehensive legislative program as a conservative counter to President Kennedy's new frontier proposals.

Tower conceded in a press statement that he doesn't expect all his bills, ranging from foreign policy to farm and tax measures, to get immediate action by the Democratic-controlled Congress. But he said that these, and others from his conservative colleagues, "will help to blueprint a conservative program."

"We cannot attract Democratic and independent votes in 1962 and 1964 by compromising our convictions," he said.

He said his bills would include a resolution asserting that victory over Communism is the aim of Congress and that mere coexistence will not do.

Other measures will call for tax reduction, budget-balancing, labor union anti-trust bills; and the effect of federal legislation on state laws, etc.

SOME MORE TROUBLE

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—The patrol car pulled alongside the sputtering auto and Officer H. O. Wendell asked, "What's the trouble?"

"The ——— tinfol keeps dropping out of the ignition," replied the driver, fumbling under the dash with one hand and steering with the other.

Wendell arrested him and a passenger on suspicion of auto theft.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Rev. Crawford Trotter, in a recent letter to the community, expressed concern over driving reactions of "some slower and elderly persons."

Trotter said he is "barely touching 75 years of age."

Bonds Planned For Education

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury is considering offering the public a new "Education Savings Bond" to encourage families to save for the college education of youngsters.

The new bond, if issued, would return to eligible savers somewhat more than the 3 1/2 per cent now earned by Series E and H bonds held to maturity.

In 1959 the Treasury favored bringing out such a bond but dropped the idea after learning of opposition by key members of Congress.

An education bond—which might be designated Series EE—could help strengthen the savings bond program in the face of new competition from banks for thrift money. It also would give parents and youngsters a special way to save for the rapidly mounting cost of going to college.

Engineers Hope Winter Drivers Use Tire Chains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Traffic engineers throughout the country are hoping that motorists learned a lesson from the usually severe snow and ice conditions in some parts-of-the-nation last year.

They hope motorists have learned to be prepared for severe weather conditions, even if they live outside of what is normally considered the snow belt.

The best way to prepare for these conditions, the engineers said, is to equip a car with snow tires and keep tire chains in the trunk. Chains, they said, are really the only reliable weapon against getting stuck in winter weather.

The traffic engineers formulated plans to prevent or minimize serious trouble this winter soon after the snows cleared last year, according to Traffic Engineering magazine, the official publication of the Institute of Traffic Engineers.

They met at New York City in March in what the magazine described as the first meeting which recognized winter as a public enemy of sufficient importance to warrant a gathering of experts.

Basically, the experts decided the best weapon against this public enemy is an informed public. And they immediately began a program of doing just that.

They conceded that this education process might not be needed as much in the northern tier of states. But "many drivers in Eastern cities apparently learned (about the hazards of winter driving) for the first time" last year, the engineers said.

A severe snow storm which hit the nation's capital on the eve of President Kennedy's inauguration last January, forced District of Columbia officials to put forth an all-out effort to make sure the in-

Teenagers In Russia Take To Rock 'n Roll

By HARRY FERGUSON

LONDON (UPI) — The news today is that we have the Russians on the run, with a secret weapon that comes over the radio. The British Commonwealth has another scheme which, if it works, might mean that Soviet resistance would collapse in 1964.

Rock and roll and crooning are undermining the will of Russian youth to resist. Also an attempt is being made to introduce cricket into the Soviet Union, but the Russians — realizing that anybody who plays cricket won't have time to wage a cold war — are being cagey. They know that cricket is a game you play all day and argue about all night.

Nobody knows the name of the Western genius who corrupted Russia with crooning and rock and roll, but he is the man of the hour. His triumph came to light in a front page article in the Soviet magazine, the Kultura, official publication of the Ministry of Culture. The author is Anatoly Nivkov, a member of the Soviet organization that dictates musical policy. Let him have the floor:

"Singers are whispering and talking instead of singing. Their subject matter: the gray sadness of the melancholy, complaining endlessly about the petty nuances of life, a rendezvous that did not take place, an unsuccessful declaration of love and a secret and misunderstood love."

He writes that dance music was "turning into loud and aggressive shouts and groans" and added: "It is said—young people like this music. What kind of young people? Amongst our youth are parasites, idlers and flappers. Do we have to adjust ourselves to their needs?"

The answer to that question is yes. Comrade Nivkov, like your correspondent, is a square who sees no virtue in rock and roll and crooning. Squares cannot win a hipster world. Your correspondent was a host at a party for teenagers some years ago and attempted to divert guests from rock and roll. He was forced to flee in confusion from a concerted attack launched by a group of American parasites, idlers and flappers.

In boxing parlance, rock and roll is a left jab to the face of Russia. Cricket is the crushing right-hand punch that could score the knockout.

auguration parade route would be clear.

Elsewhere in the district, however, chaos resulted. Abandoned cars could be seen on some of the main streets for days after the storm.

Traffic Engineering said snow removal vehicles and fire-fighting equipment were unable to move in many other Eastern seaboard cities because of cars abandoned on streets. Boston had two fire deaths attributable to delayed fire engines. Officials said it was only luck that prevented greatly increased losses in other fires.

Motorists in the Eastern cities are not likely to soon forget the personal difficulties they had because of traffic jams caused by the snow. And traffic engineers hope they will benefit from these experiences.

Financial Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Assyrian carved their cuneiform characters onto stone; the Egyptians wrote on papyrus; today a business man suggests that the historian of the 39th century might find that in our time, tape did most of the work.

In the years since World War II, the use of magnetic recording tape has grown almost beyond the optimistic estimates of those who introduced it.

Originally aimed primarily at voice reproduction jobs, magnetic tape now bobs up in such fields as oil exploration; helping fly planes and guided missiles; storing computer data; communicating with the sending apparatus of satellites.

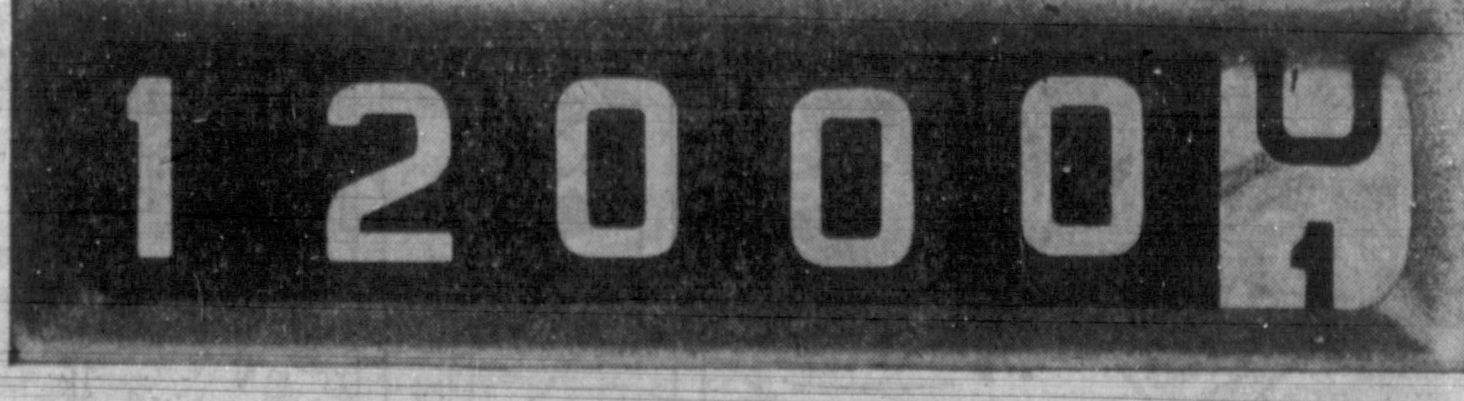

"Magnetic tape and the tape recorder," said Dr. W. W. Wetzel, divisional vice president and general manager of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company's magnetic products division, "have become the pencil and paper of the electronic age."

Almost all adult Americans and a great many younger ones know what magnetic tape looks like; a ribbon from a quarter-inch to two inches wide, coated with a chemical compound, ferrous oxide. The recording tape, "sound-sensitive," introduced by MMM in 1947 was the quarter-inch size; the two-inch size, introduced in 1957, came into existence as video tape, used for recording both sound and picture on tape for immediate playback without processing.

About 1,000 video tape records are in use today, a company

Now—
Ford frees you forever
from the expense and bother of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here—
and only the cars from Ford have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

When you own a '62 Galaxie or Fairlane, you don't have to drive with one eye on the odometer to make sure you're not forgetting an oil change or a grease job or other servicing. Ford's twice-a-year maintenance saves you time, saves you money. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

Casual Early American furniture is made of steel. Weather resistant, it can be moved to the terrace or patio in summer. Finished here in antique yellow, chairs and deacon's bench in the background have bright seat pads in a calico print. Round dining table top is Philippine mahogany.

Casual Furniture For Indoor Winter Life

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Casual furniture which has escaped the confining category of "summer" furniture owes much of its success in modern homes to its versatility. Its use is not tied to any season or weather report. To long-time homemakers like myself, describing furniture as "casual" is confusing. In our hopelessly old-fashioned household, all the furniture is, or soon will be, casual through usage. Summer furniture refers specifically to that heterogeneous collection of canvas and plastic stored with the window screens.
Our "underprivileged" children do not have a family room in which to romp with their friends — a lack they feel as keenly as I do when they are romping in the living room.

In homes more attuned to modern living, casual furniture is most often intended for a family room and it may offer an extra bonus of weather resistance. This means it can winter by a fireplace and summer on a terrace (which brings it back into the summer furniture fold). The rust-resisting finishes applied to metal frames and the special treatment of wood frames or table tops make this possible.
When you intend to switch chairs and tables indoors and out, according to the season, you must consider which designs are compatible with your indoor and outdoor backgrounds.
For example, one young homemaker I know fits her wrought iron into a winter-time background of walls papered with grillwork panels and a garden scene which, in turn, blends with the provincial furniture used elsewhere in her home.
Although our forefathers might shake their heads in wonder, a popular indoor-outdoor group of casual furniture leans to Early American styling. Recent additions to this group have reinforced its suitability for many traditional family rooms. While the general shapes of the deacon's bench, spindle chairs, rockers and so forth are reminiscent of early days in New England, a lot of changes have taken place.

Furniture frames, instead of being hewn from pine, are cast in steel — coated and colored in rust-resisting finishes. Table tops are oil-treated Philippine mahogany stained for the old plank effect. Seat pads are polyfoam covered with bright checked or printed fabrics.
One of the new pieces in this medium-priced group is the ever-popular 43-inch round dining table that is as handy for games, cards, refreshments or dinner by the fire as outdoors in the sun. Spindle-back chairs which bear a vague resemblance to captains' chairs are roomy and comfortable. The new finish in antique yellow is a gay addition to the earlier barn red and charcoal finishes.
Because of the indoor-outdoor character of this furniture, one piece that caught my eye is the deacon's bench which could offer convenient seating at the front entry to visitors while they remove snow boots.

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I have a friend who is always borrowing my homework. It grates me to have her copy in 10 minutes what it took me hours to do.
I wouldn't mind helping her out once in a while, but she hasn't done a single assignment since the year began.
I can't be a tattletale and tell the teacher.
Will you say something about this in your column? — Feeling Gypped.

If you spend time on homework this is just as much yours as money earned from a job.
You should "feel gypped" and she should feel guilty.
Tell her what you think just as you wrote it in your letter to me: "I spend hours on my homework. I feel cheated when you copy it in 10 minutes."
People like this should realize how much they are resented. In time they become intensely disliked.
Those who copy aren't really getting something for nothing. Each time exams come around they envy the do-it-yourself gals.

Conditioner Comes To Rescue Of Hair Damaged By Cold Wind, Heated Rooms

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Dull and lifeless hair that won't hold a set is the problem of many women at this time of year. There are reasons for this: overheated rooms, outdoor cold and negligence. Many of us have relied too heavily on a professional set, failing to back it up with vigorous brushing and hot oil treatments.
Knowing this, one large beauty house has put out a combination hairdressing and conditioner which comes in both spray and tube forms. This is a concentrated conditioner which contains, the maker says, a combination of moisturizing ingredients.
To use it for a preshampoo treatment of dull or dry hair, apply it lavishly and brush it thoroughly into the hair. Then shampoo as usual.
For daily use as a hairdressing, put a little on the palm of your hands, then stroke it on the hair and brush it in.
Keep this in mind, however: because this is a concentrate, a very little goes a long way. If you overdo, you're likely to end up with hair which needs shampooing at once. The time to be lavish with it is right before you give yourself a shampoo.

Dear Abby... Bridegroom's Getting Ring Through Nose

By ASIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you pick a "best man" for a wedding? I always thought the best man should be the groom's best friend. My son grew up with a certain young man in this town, and those boys were like brothers. That fellow was in my home as much as he was in his own. He is getting married and I know my son felt hurt when he wasn't asked to be best man. The "bride" asked her fiancé to ask her brother (whom he doesn't even know) to be best man because he is six feet two and will look better in the bridal party than my son, who is five feet six. Can you beat that? I'd like your comments.

VERY VERY HURT
DEAR VERY: A man who lets his bride select his best man is starting down the aisle on the wrong foot. Look for a double-ring ceremony — one for HER finger, the other for HIS nose.

DEAR ABBY: The other night my husband and I went to a party. The daughter of a very respected couple in town consented to baby-sit for us. We paid her the standard sitter's wages.
Imagine my annoyance when I returned home and found that this teen-ager had spent the evening looking through my drawers, closets, correspondence, bank statements and other personal items.
The children were well taken care of, Abby, and nothing was missing. But I would like to know what makes a child from a good home behave like a sneak and peeping Tom the minute she is left alone in another person's home.

UTTERLY FLABBERGASTED
HEAVY SNORER
DEAR SNORER: See an eye, ear, nose and throat doctor. Perhaps you have an obstruction that can be corrected. If not, I recommend beeswax ear plugs for those within hearing distance of your trumpeting.
CONFIDENTIAL TO B.C.C.: Marriage is like politics. You are too old for it only if you THINK you are.
How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

Kreis Is Court Magician With Flair For Manufacturing Points

By DICK RABE
Daily News Sports Editor

A magician is - sometimes described as one who possesses the power to do mysterious things with different objects.

The Pampa Harvesters have their own version of a "magician" in Wayne Kreis, the fiery 5-10 guard who is a regular sorcerer on the hardwoods every Tuesday and Friday night when the local crew goes into action in 3-AAA play. Kreis is forever baffling opponents with his hidden ball tricks and fancy set-ups which seem to stymie opponents from the word go.

Kreis, who is a junior this year, is second in individual scoring for the Harvesters this year in loop play, having poured in 78 points in the first five contests for an average of 15.6 points per game. Wayne's personal high in district competition was against Lubbock's Westerners, when he found the range with 19 points.

Kreis played guard on the 9th grade cage team and then made the grade last year at the guard slot on the freshman team. This year the "little sparkplug" is the stalwart in Coach Terry Culley's offensive attack along with big Randy Matson, the 6-6 post man who together with Kreis form one of the most potent one - two punches in the district.

Wayne is a real "gunner" on offense, either setting up two pointers for his favorite target.

Gindorf Is Tops From Charity Line

Bobby Gindorf, former Harvesters cager, continued to set a rapid pace from the free throw line for Texas Tech's Red Raiders through the first four games in conference play.

Gindorf is batting .1000 in conference action, dunking in 10 out of 10 from the charity line. On the season, he has popped in 24 out of 35 for a .686 average.

Gindorf has also led the Red Raiders in scoring during two contests, with 21 against Vanderbilt and 20 against William Mary in non-district play.

Matson, beneath the basket or faking to one side and then lofting a casual field goal through the hoop with the nonchalance of a real pro.

Kreis plans to major in pre-law if he gets a chance to go to college with a possibility of playing college ball, at guard, naturally.

"It just depends if I get a scholarship or not, I'd like to go to the University of Texas if I can, but I'm out to get an education primarily", the amiable star pointed out.

If Kreis continues to "pour 'em through" the baskets the way he has so far during the first part of loop play, that scholarship looks like it is as good as in his pocket.

And besides, the guy's got another year to play yet. The Steers had better take notice - they might have a future cager in the making in Harvesterland.

Pampa Enters Perryton Ring Event

Perryton's second annual District Golden Gloves tournament gets underway tonight with Pampa's Optimist club boxers one of the seven teams entered in the three - day event.

About 60 - 80 boxers are expected for the tourney, which will include teams from Berger, Stinnett, Lefors, Liberal, Guyton, Okla. and Perryton. The tourney will include matches in the high school, open and Pee Wee divisions.

Trophies will be given to champions and runners up in all divisions. There will also be a "fightingest fighter" award and the Reese W. Taylor award to the Perryton boy who has given the best all - around effort for the year.

Admission prices will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students all three nights.

Lefors Boys, Girls Lose

Lefors boys and girls dropped a pair of cage contests against Canadian Tuesday night.

The boys lost 58-32 with Anthony McCool getting 21 points for the losers and Muir connecting for 21 also for the winners.

The girls lost also, 47-34.

It was the first district game for both the boys and the girls.

NEW LINE COACH

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)— James J. Lyda, Texas High School Coach of the Year in 1958 at Elgin, was named line coach at Abilene Christian College Wednesday.

Les Wheeler was promoted to the head coaching job last month.

Lyda became head coach at Elgin in 1958 and led his team into the Class A finals with a 12-3 record.

Tide Downed 67-40 By Miss. State

By United Press International

You can't play control basketball against Mississippi State and expect to win.

Alabama learned this lesson the hard way Wednesday night in dropping a 67-40 decision to the 13th-ranked Bulldogs.

In a futile attempt to slow down Mississippi State's vaunted attack, Alabama played it close to the vest throughout the first half of their game at Starkville, Miss. But it didn't work. The Crimson Tide scored only five points in the first 20 minutes, enabling Mississippi State to open a 21-5 lead.

Alabama abandoned its "stall" in the second half but it was too late. The Bulldogs, with their reserves carrying the load, easily galloped to their 12th victory in 13 games.

Leland Mitchell scored 20 points and Red Stroud added 18 to pace State's attack. Gary Blagburn led Alabama with 16.

Sophomore Brian Generalovich scored 29 points in leading Pittsburgh to a 77-66 victory over Columbia, North Carolina romped to a 66-56 victory over North Carolina State behind Larry Brown's 21 points, and Penn beat St. Joseph's, 66-60, for the first time since 1946 in the only other major game on Wednesday night's thin schedule.

Groat, Snider Ink Major League Pacts

United Press International

One took a cut and one took the same money as last season but both look forward to 1962 as a year of vindication.

Dick Groat, the National League's "Most Valuable Player" of 1960, conceded "1961 was a bad year" and accepted a nominal cut from general manager Joe Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates to about $27,000.

Duke Snider, admitting "I haven't shown my neighbors a good season yet," signed with the Los Angeles Dodgers at no less in pay and looked forward to a new lease on his baseball life in the Dodgers' new Chavez Ravine stadium.

Each is a key man in the 1962 fortunes of his team.

Groat, the inspirational leader of 1960, is being relied upon by the Pirates to return to the form that catapulted him into one of the game's top stars, Snider, the last of the old Brooklyn stars still playing with the Dodgers in Los Angeles, is recognized as a possible answer to the team's lack of long-range firepower.

"I was bad last year," admitted Groat. "I didn't play the baseball that I'm capable of playing. There is no explanation, I just want to forget the nightmare 1961 season. Maybe it just was one of those things. I'm looking forward to the 1962 season to return to my 1960 form. I've written 1961 off the calendar."

Snider, who signed for between $30,000 and $35,000, admitted it's been one frustration after another since the Dodgers transferred from Brooklyn to his home diggings in Los Angeles but speculated that the new home of the Dodgers would enable him to show his true power.

"Maybe in this park I can come up with an old fashioned year," said Duke, who hit 40 or more homers in five consecutive seasons at Brooklyn between 1953 and 1957.

The San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs announced the signing of two rookies each.

Gil Garrido and Charles Peterson, 19-year-old rookie shortstops, agreed to terms with the Giants and Harvey Branch, 22, and Don Prince, 23, were the two young pitchers who signed with the Cubs.

NEW MANAGER
HOUSTON (UPI)— Former American League infielder Fred Hatfield was named playing manager of the Modesto California League baseball team today by the parent Houston Colt 45's.

Hatfield goes to Modesto after two seasons as player-manager of Little Rock in the Southern Association. He hit .317 last season for the Travelers and brought his team in third place for the second consecutive year.

A 36-year-old Lanett, Ala., native, Hatfield played with Boston, Chicago and Detroit during an eight-year stay in the American League which began in 1950.

Four Changes Made In College Football Reducing Injuries Major Concern In Passage Of New NCAA Rulings

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — There will be four changes in the rules of college football next fall, most of them minor but there will be no change in the substitution rule.

The NCAA football rules committee, which wound up its three-day annual meeting Wednesday night at the Monte Carlo Hotel, also added one rule change for high school teams and eight "recommendations" — expressions of committee opinion which do not carry the force of rules.

One of the rules changes and five of the recommendations were aimed at cutting down player injuries, an increasing source of concern to the colleges and high schools.

The principal safety-oriented recommendations called on the colleges to fit their players with protective mouthpieces, and asked that the NCAA injuries committee undertake a study of football equipment.

Some articles of equipment, notably face masks and plastic helmets, have been criticized as potentially dangerous by medical groups and other observers of the game.

About the only rule change which might materially alter football strategy next fall is one which will permit punting teams to down a kick within their opponents' 10-yard line.

Formerly, if the kicking team downed a punt within that area, it was declared a touchback and the ball was brought out to the 20-yard line.

Other changes reduced the penalty for an illegal shift from 15 to 5 yards, making it the same as for illegal motion; increased from 5 to 15 yards the penalty for a defensive player kicking a forward pass or a place kick held by an opponent; added language to the rule prohibiting blows with "the fist, extended forearm, elbow, or locked hands."

The only high school change required home teams instead of visiting teams to change jerseys if it was necessary to put both teams in the contrasting colors which are required. The rule remained the same in the colleges where visiting teams must make the uniform change as before.

Two Colleges Contend For Small Title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defense-minded Westminster (Pa.) and high-scoring Prairie Vie A&M (Tex.) moved up into contending positions for the top spot in the United Press International small college basketball ratings, held for a second straight week today by Tennessee State.

Westminster, suffering its first setback of the season to major power Pittsburgh last Saturday night — after 10 straight victories, advanced to the runnerup spot behind Tennessee State this week, while Prairie Vie, winner of 11 of 12 games — eight of them in lopsided fashion — took over the No. 3 spot.

Twenty-two of the 35 coaches — five each from the nation's seven geographical sections — named Tennessee State the top team, while four picked Westminster and three named Prairie Vie. However, both the Pennsylvania and Texas schools gained enough second- and third-place votes to move up into challenging positions.

Westminster, which has held 11 opponents to an average of 54 points per game, finished with 247 points — five more than Prairie Vie and 69 behind Tennessee State, which last week split a pair of games, beating Kentucky State, 105-94, but losing to Lincoln (Mo.) 109-105, in three overtimes to run its season record to 8-2.

Making room for Westminster and Prairie Vie's rise was Grambling of Louisiana, the pre-season choice of the coaches to win the small college championship. Grambling (13-3) split a pair of games last week (in games played through Jan. 13), and as a result dropped from second to fourth.

Hofstra (12-1) advanced from sixth to fifth; Wittenberg (8-2), seventh a week ago, moved up one notch to hold down the No. 7 spot, and Evansville (6-6) slipped from third to eighth in other notable changes.

Harvey Has Big Skid To Stop

By United Press International

Player-coach Doug Harvey of the New York Rangers, who engineered the "big surprise" of the first half of the National Hockey League season, is faced today with the problem of stopping what looks like the "big skid" of the second half of the campaign.

With ex-Montreal star Harvey showing the way, the Rangers were the early-season surprise contenders of the circuit. But they have now lost six straight games and the Detroit Red Wings can take over fourth place from them tonight by beating the Boston Bruins.

The Toronto Maple Leafs handed the Rangers their sixth straight defeat Wednesday night, 4-2, when they tallied four goals in the third period. Frank Mahovlich led the assault with two goals.

The Montreal Canadiens remained two points ahead of the Maple Leafs in the race for first place when they beat the Chicago Black Hawks, 7-3. Bob Rousseau scored two goals for the Canadiens, who had a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period and a 4-2 margin after the second period.

The triumph enabled Cleveland to move back into a tie with the Rochester Americans for first place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League. Wayne Larkin of the winners and Earl Balfour of Pittsburgh scored two goals each.

The ability to win the "big ones" is bringing the Springfield Indians closer to the Eastern Division championship. They edged second-place Hershey, 2-1, on Billy McCreary's third-period tally to extend their lead to 12 points.

The Springfield and Hershey teams played a scoreless first period. Kent Douglas of the Indians and Pete Conacher of the Bears scored once each in the second period to set the stage for McCreary's winning goal in the final stanza.

Thomas Named HSU Head Coach

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)— Jack Thomas, who has been line coach at Texas A&M College, has been named athletic director and head football coach at Hardin-Simmons University.

Thomas, a native W. Luling, Tex., who played his college ball at Tulsa, succeeds to the posts formerly held by Bill Ledbetter and Howard McChesney, both of whom resigned last month when Hardin-Simmons announced a financially prompted de-emphasis athletic program.

The school also announced it would grant a dozen athletic scholarships a year — a modified reversal of its earlier announced plans to drop its scholarship program entirely.

Thomas coached at Seguin, Tex. High School for three seasons starting in 1948, was an assistant coach at Trinity University, Victoria Junior College, Southeastern Louisiana and Mississippi Southern before joining coach Jim Myers staff at Texas A&M two years ago.

Since Myers was fired at the close of the 1961 season, Thomas has been a talent scout for the pro Houston Oilers.

Barons Bump Hornets, 8-3

By United Press International

Assistant coach and wingman Fred Glover turned in a three-goal "hat trick" to lead the Cleveland Barons to an 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Hornets Wednesday night.

The triumph enabled Cleveland to move back into a tie with the Rochester Americans for first place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League. Wayne Larkin of the winners and Earl Balfour of Pittsburgh scored two goals each.

The ability to win the "big ones" is bringing the Springfield Indians closer to the Eastern Division championship. They edged second-place Hershey, 2-1, on Billy McCreary's third-period tally to extend their lead to 12 points.

The Springfield and Hershey teams played a scoreless first period. Kent Douglas of the Indians and Pete Conacher of the Bears scored once each in the second period to set the stage for McCreary's winning goal in the final stanza.

What Betterment?

THE STATE Department's policy planning council chairman, Walt W. Rostow, formerly some sort of White House hallboy, has come forth with a smashing platitude which is being hailed, in some quarters, as a significant foreign policy pronouncement.

Mr. Rostow has assured his U.S. taxpayer that none of his funds will go to foreign nations unless those countries "show an impulse to betterment deep within them."

Mr. Kennedy sounded a similar note when he talked about further money to Latin American countries.

The party line, now, is that we are "helping others to help themselves" and that the recipients of our tax - money must show a "deep impulse" to better themselves.

This is patent nonsense, of course. Foreign countries - that is, their ruling politicians - look upon our giveaway programs as an example of Yankee nuttiness. It's "up-for-grabs" money. Even the fabulous U.S. taxpayers can't support the entire world. The amounts of money going to foreign countries can't trickle down to every needy person. It fits on the top of the economy and whenever a dictator is thrown out, you read about him stuffing $1,000 bills into suitcases. Ever wonder where some of that money came from?

This operation bootstraps has some additional built - in foolishness. When we talk about "betterment" we think in terms of flush toilets, or number of TV sets per square inch, or inner spring mattresses. It never occurs to our do - gooders that not everybody puts as high a value on a flush toilet as we do. Not everybody wants to sleep on an inner spring mattress or watch a TV western.

What is "betterment", and who is to decide what these people must do? We can't suggest anything, or we are accused of trying to run another sovereign nation.

Should we subsidize basic industries in Latin American countries - and then put high tariffs on their production?

Should we give them a few billion if they promise not to eat so many frioles for breakfast but get in the habit of drinking orange juice?

Should we make them promise - honest injun! - not to let anyone extract any more morinda? We ought to make everyone wear shoes, preferably with rubber heels.

Who is going to define this "betterment" and decide whether things are, in fact, better or worse? And who is going to decide whether things are better or worse for the U.S. taxpayer who puts up the money? Who's that again? The U.S. taxpayer? Must be one of those uncommitted nations.

The Property Question

It is possible that some of the strength many believe to exist within the communist movement derives from the vast number of things people believe communism to be.

Today, it is popular to assume that virtually everything you don't like is the product of communism. And while it is undoubtedly true that the major objectives of communism have penetrated virtually every area of human thought and action, it still has a central purpose and is understandable only if its hub is understood.

We have heard it said that communism is:

1. A false economic system.
2. A false religion.
3. A false racial theory.
4. A false political system.
5. A program to destroy morality.
6. A program to destroy the human race.
7. A program to contaminate our water supplies.
8. A program to make Russia the world ruler.

We have also heard it said that communism favors vivisection, modern art and certain minority groups; that it propagates pornography, favors illegitimate births, thrives on bad manners and generally comprises all of the crime, evil and viciousness the world knows.

We are wondering if this massive lumping together of practically anything and everything that some or most of us don't like, and then calling it all "communism," isn't in process of making us believe that the communist menace is one whole of a lot bigger and more impressive than it really is. We're not trying to whitewash it. It is certainly bad enough. But surely we don't have to build it up into a gargantuan of terrifying mien and overpowering strength.

Actually, communism resolves itself to the first point, ONLY. It is an economic system which is false and runs counter to economic laws as they exist. That is all. But because all of us are forever involved in the economy, ramifications of the communist theory can be found just about every place where human beings meet to exchange goods, services or ideas.

As Marx himself was to phrase it, "Communism is the most radical rupture with traditional property relations."

Would communism cease to exist, for example, if all people became professed Christians? The answer is no. Belief in a particular religious system would not cure the property question raised by communism.

If, for example, the white or the black race became dominant totally and relegated all other races to secondary status, would this solve the communist riddle? Not at all. It could even be an instance of communist expansion as it relates to the property question.

Would communism cease to be if we all became "good Republicans"? The answer is, again, no. The property question would still be unresolved.

If everyone stopped smoking, drinking, swearing, looking at pornography or reading pornographic matter, would this eliminate communism? It would not. The property question remains.

Do communists seek to destroy humanity? Obviously not, since they, too, are human. If all members of the Communist Party were wiped out, would this cure the property question? It would not.

What of the water question, the vivisection - question, the modern art question, the minority group question, and so on? Again, the property question remains unanswered.

Communism can only be understood when it is placed within its own proper framework of reference. There is simply no way anyone can understand communism, nor serve effectively in opposition to it, and at the same time remain in economic ignorance.

The communist question is the property question. This is all that it is.

And here the real confrontation occurs between the two major theories relating to who is supposed to own how much of what. The communist theory has it that all property, particularly productive property, must be centrally owned and/or managed. The free market theory has it that all property should be owned privately and that even productive property can best be utilized when it is privately owned and managed.

The anti - communist will favor capitalism. The anti - capitalist will support communism.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK - They are both dead now and no harm can come of discussing a facet in the life of Jerry Giesler, the famed Hollywood attorney. The other one who has gone on to whatever awaits us beyond is Errol Flynn. My impact upon, or association with him, if you prefer, goes back to a time when Mr. Flynn was in very hot water indeed in connection with alleged improprieties with an under-age girl.

Circumstances had made me a factor in Mr. Flynn's life and, perforce, I was concerned for him in his then about to start trial in Los Angeles. At the time, I had no particular reason to consult Mr. Giesler, who died the other day in Beverly Hills. He was Flynn's problem, or vice versa. But the telephone rang one night and a deep, somewhat ominous voice suggested that I would be wise to meet with the speaker at an inconspicuous drive-in restaurant at 7:30 the next morning. "It's in the Flynn matter," the stranger said.

So I drove there and, having described my car, soon saw another car pull alongside and stop. A man got out. Over the years I've known many a racketeer, from the shambling stumble-bum to the sleek and glossy men at the top. This was a hoodlum, about midway in his career upward and upward in the rackets. I pegged him at a glance.

He slid into the seat alongside me, we ordered modest breakfasts because we had to then because we wanted them, and when the waitress had brought them and retired to her post, the stranger spoke up.

"I think you can help your man," he said. "I think you got a way to make things nice for him."

"Are you from Giesler?" I demanded in astonishment. "That's not the issue," he said. "This issue is your man. I have a suggestion."

"Let's get to town," I said. "We're fiddling right now. Put it out for me."

"Your man is going to take a lacing from the press," he said. "They have it in for him. The stories will be poison."

"They can only report the proceedings of the trial," I said. "Good or bad for Flynn, that's all a news story can do. That he has to face. The rest is nonsense."

"Don't be stupid," he said. "The boys and girls with the typewriters can take the hide off him. You know that. The plan, friend: give me one Big One in cash. I'll buy ten suits of clothes at $100 a suit, good merchandise, I'll give them out to the boys in the press and your man will get a good press. The girl will be marked crazy."

"I was indignant. I was indignant at the affront, at the implied insult to the reporters, at the coarseness of the approach and said so. He shrugged and said: "Okay, chum. Play it your way and save a lousy Big One. But you'll be sorry, so will your man."

He took off in his car, I paid for both breakfasts and drove downtown. I called on three reporters even they getting ready to go to the courthouse. I told them exactly what had happened - with quotes. One was as indignant as I, the other two merely said: "Thanks for telling us. You have no worries now, neither has Flynn." Obviously, they spread the word - there had been an attempt, for whatever mysterious reason, to bribe the press into reporting the Flynn trial favorably and that attempt did not originate with Flynn or anyone connected with him. The press was wonderful.

Back in Beverly Hills, I called a man associated with Giesler and said it straight out - did anyone of any character in that office have anything to do with that attempted bribery? He exploded louder than anyone else, demanded a physical description of the racketeer, got it, and informed the police at once. They began hunting the man.

I don't know and never asked if he ever was found. I don't know to this day if this was a cheap way to latch onto $1,000.

Matter of Fact

Do cats really see in the dark? No, they don't. The "headlight" effect of a cat's eyes is a kind of mirror that catches every available ray of light. So, even though cats can't see in total darkness, they put small amounts of light to good use. As any cat-lover knows, feline prowlers navigate with amazing effectiveness in the dim light of the stars.

The Old Turkey-Pull Game

ROBERT ALLEN Added to Food Shortages

WASHINGTON - Red China is in a grip of even worse internal disasters than its increasingly desperate shortage of grain and other food.

Widespread industrial breakdowns also are afflicting Peiping's Communist rulers.

In a startling report to congressional leaders, Central Intelligence Director John McCone has disclosed that in the past year China's industrial production suffered such critical declines as to seriously affect the morale and effectiveness of its armed forces.

According to CIA compilations, overall production in 1961 fell a staggering 80 per cent under 1959. Virtually every major Chinese industry experienced enormous decreases.

Foremost among these amazing reductions are:

- Coal output off 80 per cent; electric power 70 per cent; pig iron 76 per cent; rolled steel 90 per cent; crude oil 75 per cent; cement 72 per cent; cotton yard 74 per cent; flour 75 per cent; sugar 90 per cent; cloth 72 per cent; paper 80 per cent; matches 60 per cent.

Clothing and fuel have become so scarce the Reds have put out feelers to Western countries for large purchases. As in the case of their immense grain imports, the Communists want long - term credits.

"These astounding lags in industrial production spell real trouble for the ruler of Red China," McCone told the congressional leaders in his first report since becoming head of CIA. "For one thing, they have forced cutbacks from 60 to 75 per cent in deliveries of rations and all types of weapons and equipment to the military, which has the highest priority."

"Already there have been a number of small but significant uprisings among both the civilian population and the military, which had to be put down by the use of force. We have authenticated information on these incidents in different parts of the country."

"These developments could lead to far-reaching consequences to the U.S. and the rest of the free world. When Communist masters become desperate, they do desperate things."

WHAT MAY HAPPEN - In an effort to divert mass rage at these mounting internal disasters, the Peiping rulers have greatly intensified their "hate America" propaganda.

This latest anti-U.S. fury, McCone warned, could be the prelude to new Red military aggressions in Southeast Asia. This ominous possibility is being closely watched.

Another outgrowth deemed highly likely is a series of purges among upper-level Communist leaders.

There have been rumblings of that in party publications. Also Mao Tse-tung has been touring interior centers delivering biting dissertations on shortcomings and failures. The top Red mogul has been forebodingly harsh.

McCone attributed two factors as primarily responsible for the extraordinary breakdown in industrial production - the three successive crop disasters (1959-61) that caused the desperate food shortage, and widespread mismanagement and incompetent planning.

"It started with the crop failures," McCone said, "and was compounded by the so - called 'great leap forward.' That grandiose scheme made tremendous propaganda, but it was ill conceived, ill managed and completely disastrous. On top of all these misfortunes, China has been severely hit by a flu epidemic. Our information indicates that is particularly bad in the interior."

Peiping's increasingly bitter ideological warring with Moscow is also playing an important role in this situation.

Because of the fierce party feuding, the Soviet has withdrawn its supplies and other aid. McCone pointed out that is forcing China to turn to Western countries, notably Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Britain and France, from whom large quantities of grain and other commodities have been bought and are being sought.

Who Will Foot The Bill For Higher Education?

By FAYE HENLE

Here's a question I've been expecting from you: On what investment can I get a guaranteed 10 per cent return?

And, here's the answer: education.

Expenditures for education have been doubling every 10 years. Last year, according to a study by the Chase Manhattan Bank, formal education cost Americans nearly $45 billion, an amount equal to 9 per cent of production of all goods and services.

Included in this staggering figure were the salaries of two million teachers, plus salaries of others in schools and colleges. It included the maintenance and carrying charges on $43 billion in buildings and equipment as well as the time and effort of 13.8 million high school and college students, whom it is pointed out, might otherwise have contributed to the nation's output.

Because so many people realize the 10 per cent or more return that education yields, the pressure for education is great. A study financed by the U.S. Office of Education under its Co-operative Research Program affirms the economic significance of learning and notes:

"State colleges and universities will enroll an increased proportion of the nation's student population."

Based on a survey of 3,000 families on the question of financing education, half felt that a larger part of the cost of higher education should come out of tax funds.

This same survey reports an overwhelming majority of parents plan to send their children to state colleges, thus imposing more pressure than presently on states and the federal government to finance education.

Why the interest in state - endowed education? In many instances it costs about half as much to attend a state endowed college as it does to attend a private college. Many educators point out that good students are, and will continue to be, lost to private colleges because of rising costs.

It seems now that business is stepping in to insist that our economic growth is directly related to our educational gains. The bank study points to the fact that the rate of return on investment in education is about the same as the rate of return on business investment. They say, we have not passed the point where a dollar invested in education would yield the community less than a dollar of new plant and equipment.

The question then is: who is to support the financial needs of education, private enterprise or the government?

If you are in any position to make your voice heard, you might drop a note in the company suggestion box. I think you should press for more aid to education from private enterprise. Not only should more dollars come from private citizens but also greater vigilance over the rising cost of learning.

The bank study suggests more efficient programming of classroom use over a longer day and longer school year to reduce from $12.7 billion to $4.3 billion the funds which it is estimated will be needed to add new classrooms between now and 1970.

CONVERT - President Kennedy has won one important Republican congressional backer for his controversial proposal to purchase 100 million of United Nations bonds. Senator Alexander Wiley, Wis., senior Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, has told the President he favors that. Said Wiley, "When you're right, I'll back you, and on this you are right. You can count on me to help in any way I can." The President assured Wiley he will take him up on that.

Egypt's cotton crop, its major source of foreign exchange, has been so severely hit that U.S. cotton is being imported to keep textile mills running. Two factors are behind this cotton disaster: Bad weather and bungled land reform that broke up large and productive farms into small and inefficient holdings. Dictator Nasser loudly touted his incompetent land program, but it's proving very costly to Egypt - and possibly to him, too. It's his latest serious setback.

Child Study WASHINGTON (UPI) - Factors which cause the separation of children from their families will be studied under a new research and demonstration program announced recently by Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau.

The child welfare grants program was authorized under the 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act and was given an appropriation of $30,000 by this year's congress.

In 1943, Moscow announced the lifting of the German siege of Leningrad, which had lasted since the autumn of 1941.

In 1950, the U.S. Senate repealed the federal tax on oleomargarine despite pressure from American dairy interests.

A thought for the day: Greek philosopher, Aristotle, once said: "Democracies are most commonly corrupted by the insolence of demagogues."

Four Young Diplomats Gladden 'State's' Heart

By PETER EDSON

OUR ANCESTORS by Quincy

"He's so elated over his victory that I haven't the heart to tell him the war was over before he won it!"

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The first time in years, there's hope. Back in Washington to report, Nolting admits the situation won't improve overnight and may be not even this year. It's a long-time job. A lot depends on ability to control Viet Cong infiltration from the north and stabilization of the situations in Laos and Cambodia.

Two other foreign service stars the State Department now points to with pride are in the Congo. The first is Amb. Edmund Asbury Gullion, 51, a Kentucky-born son and grandson of Army officers, also a Princeton man. He was given his first ambassadorial assignment to Leopoldville last September after service all over the world and two years of wrestling with disarmament.

In four months, he has brought together Congo Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula and Katanga President Moise Tshombe for talks on unification.

Basis for an agreement has been reached. It still has to be carried out and it may fail. But for the first time there's a chance for peaceful settlement.

The spectacular foreign service man in the Congo, however, is Lewis Hoffacker, 39, Pennsylvania-born graduate of George Washington U. An Army lieutenant and a Ranger, he was assigned as consul to Elisabethville, Katanga, from the U.S. embassy in Paris.

U.S. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, R-Conn., credits Hoffacker with "one of the bravest acts I have ever seen." With their wives, they were in one of President Tshombe's cars, on their way to dinner in his house. They were stopped by a truck across the road, surrounded by soldiers. From the truck came cries for help from a badly beaten U.N. official.

Leaping from the car and shouting that he was an American consul, Hoffacker, though unarmed, rescued the official and carried him to the Tshombe car. Later Hoffacker effected the rescue of two other U.N. officials being held by undisciplined Katanga soldiers.

His laconic report to the State Department closed with the sentence, "Dinner was slightly delayed."

Missouri has 27 state - owned and operated parks.

Catholics Asked To Consider JFK Politician Only

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Catholic Free Press of Worcester, Mass., counsels members of that faith to judge President Kennedy as a politician, not to judge him as a Catholic.

That is good advice for Protestants, too, for everyone. John F. Kennedy is the President of the United States, not the Catholic President of the United States.

There has been no act of his in the White House that would justify thinking of Kennedy as the Catholic President. He deserves, however, to be called a politician. That is an honorable description and it fits the President well. Kennedy has credentials to qualify as a politician, perhaps the best president-politician of this century. That is a high mark because in this century Kennedy must be measured against two of the best, a pair of Roosevelts, TR and FDR.

It is not necessary to look behind the door to discover the political motivation of most of Kennedy's maneuvers. They are legitimate, they are effective and they are a great bar against the political objectives of the Republican party.

Consider a recent announcement by Pierre Salinger, White House Press secretary: Salinger announced a March 19 speaking engagement for Kennedy in Berkeley, Calif., and a hefty federal contribution to California's $1.7 billion water project.

President Kennedy had approved a Department of Army finding that the federal government should contribute $68 million toward the building of Oroville Dam on the Feather River. Congress has authorized but not appropriated the money. The authorization stipulated that the Army and the President must approve.

The political fact is that the water project is a major reactor in California politics. It is wholly identified with Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Democrat, who probably will oppose Richard M. Nixon in this year's gubernatorial election. The money and the President's visit to California should be worth votes to all Democratic candidates, especially Brown.

Consider Kennedy's recent visit a birthday dinner for Democratic Gov. Michael V. DeSalle. DeSalle put a lot of muscle in Kennedy's 1960 pre-convention campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Pending when Kennedy went to Ohio was a question whether DeSalle would seek re-election. Other aspiring Democrats complained angrily that the President's visit was a build-up toward announcement that DeSalle would run again. Last week, DeSalle announced he would run.

A good politician never forgets. Kennedy did not forget that he owed DeSalle something. A good politician always delivers. Kennedy delivered for DeSalle by going to his birthday party.

Kennedy was a good enough politician to turn the religious issue to his own advantage in the 1960 campaign. He is good enough now to shy away from some of his platform promises, notably on civil rights, without losing the support of Negro voters without whose votes he could not have been elected.

'Angelic' Youth To Be Questioned Further On Fire

CHICAGO (UPI)—Further questioning of an "angelic looking" 13-year-old boy has been ordered to determine whether he set the Our Lady of the Angeles School fire which claimed 95 lives in 1958.

State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward instructed his aides to launch an investigation of a purported confession which the Chicago Tribune said in a copyright story was given to private lie detector expert John E. Reid.

Ward's decision followed an hours-long conference of Chicago and suburban Cicero police, Reid and Ward's aides.

Authorities withheld the boy's identity and declined to reveal his whereabouts. They said he was bedfast with a virus infection. They denied rumors the youth had run away from home.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Columnist Glenn Corbett liked England so much during the filming of "The Pirates of Blood River" that he has taken an option on a house on the Thames.

He says it's "just in case any movie turns up over there next year."

Just How Deep Is The So-Called Split Between Soviet Union and Red China?

EDITOR'S NOTE: How deep is the split between the Soviet Union and Red China? What are its implications for the Communist world, for the underdeveloped nations, for the West and for Nikita Khrushchev? These questions and others are discussed in the following dispatch based on the findings of UPI correspondents in Moscow, London, Washington, Tokyo and along the periphery of the Bamboo Curtain.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The split between the Soviet Union and Red China is so deep it cannot be compromised so long as Mao Tse-tung remains alive or Nikita Khrushchev stays in power. It no longer is correct to consider Moscow the center of world communism. There are now three centers, Moscow, Peiping and Havana, may become a fourth.

Despite steadily deteriorating relations between Moscow and Peiping, Western observers see little chance of an open break between the two giants of world communism who remain dependent on one another and united in their hatred for capitalism.

These are some of the conclusions reached by United Press International correspondents reporting from Moscow, Washington, London, Tokyo and along the border of the Red Chinese Bamboo Curtain.

The Sino-Soviet dispute springs from a basic difference over interpretation of Leninist doctrine and in that respect is strictly ideological and internal. However, it also has its outward aspects which may be seen and heard.

Ideologically, the dispute is between the Khrushchev theory of "peaceful co-existence" and his claim that if Lenin were alive he would revamp his theories to bring them in tune with the modern world. He accuses the Red Chinese of "dogmatism."

Mao Tse-tung accuses Khrushchev of "revisionism" and holds to the theory of the "inevitability of war."

So intense is the struggle for leadership that it is spreading to other Communist parties outside the Iron Curtain, with factions of both represented.

Physical evidence of the dispute may be seen in Moscow and in Peiping's efforts to ease Red China's dependency on the Soviet Union.

From Moscow, Henry Shapiro, UPI correspondent there for more than 25 years reports: "In the last two years, the number of Chinese students in Soviet universities has diminished steadily."

"Although the Chinese colony in Moscow still is large, there is very little or no socializing between the Russians and Chinese or between Chinese residents and other foreign Communists."

"There are also reports that the staff of the Chinese Embassy in Moscow has been reduced recently."

"There also has been a steady reduction in technical aid to China and in trade. A Chinese trade delegation was scheduled to arrive in Moscow in October. A low-level delegation arrived only in late December."

Donald May, UPI State Department reporter in Washington, cites a story illustrating Russian irritation with fanatic Chinese students parroting the Red Chinese party line in Moscow. In a slighting reference to their next door neighbors, a Russian told an American:

"The Chinese make us feel like Poles."

From London, UPI diplomatic correspondent Karol Thaler reports: "Peiping lately has been looking increasingly to the West for economic needs. She has been buying—and continues to do so—wheat from Canada and Australia. She reportedly has just concluded a major wheat deal with France, and she has to buy transport planes from Britain."

"Recently, Peiping agreed with Albania to set up a joint shipping company to operate the China-Albania route. This apparently was to counter Russia's reported blockade of flights between Albania and Red China across Soviet territory."

Red China apparently is continuing to supply Albania with wheat despite her own shortages both in grain and foreign currency.

The Chinese airplane deal with Britain met with severe American criticism because a NATO country was giving the Communists valuable modern planes. It also touches off considerable speculation about the motives which prompted Peiping to turn to a Western country for the supply of planes which Russia thus far has delivered.

From Moscow, Henry Shapiro, UPI correspondent there for more than 25 years reports: "In the last two years, the number of Chinese students in Soviet universities has diminished steadily."

"Although the Chinese colony in Moscow still is large, there is very little or no socializing between the Russians and Chinese or between Chinese residents and other foreign Communists."

"There are also reports that the staff of the Chinese Embassy in Moscow has been reduced recently."

"There also has been a steady reduction in technical aid to China and in trade. A Chinese trade delegation was scheduled to arrive in Moscow in October. A low-level delegation arrived only in late December."

Donald May, UPI State Department reporter in Washington, cites a story illustrating Russian irritation with fanatic Chinese students parroting the Red Chinese party line in Moscow. In a slighting reference to their next door neighbors, a Russian told an American:

"The Chinese make us feel like Poles."

From London, UPI diplomatic correspondent Karol Thaler reports: "Peiping lately has been looking increasingly to the West for economic needs. She has been buying—and continues to do so—wheat from Canada and Australia. She reportedly has just concluded a major wheat deal with France, and she has to buy transport planes from Britain."

"Recently, Peiping agreed with Albania to set up a joint shipping company to operate the China-Albania route. This apparently was to counter Russia's reported blockade of flights between Albania and Red China across Soviet territory."

Red China apparently is continuing to supply Albania with wheat despite her own shortages both in grain and foreign currency.

The Chinese airplane deal with Britain met with severe American criticism because a NATO country was giving the Communists valuable modern planes. It also touches off considerable speculation about the motives which prompted Peiping to turn to a Western country for the supply of planes which Russia thus far has delivered.
