President Asks Authority To Carry Out Tariff Cuts

Quick Approval Sought On 'New Approach' Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today asked Congress for authority to carry out an unprecedented tariff-cutting program to strengthen the Western alliance and outstrip "for all time" the Communist economic challenge.

In a special 5,000-word message the President declared that "sweeping economic developments" have rendered traditional American trade policy "obsolete." He outlined a five-year program which would give him:

—"General authority to reduce existing tariffs by 50 per cent in reciprocal negotiations."

Special authority, in dealing with the European Common Market, to reduce or eliminate all tariffs on products in which the United States and Common Market countries account for 80 per cent or more of the world trade. This would include motor vehicles and other heavy industry, chemicals, machine tools and other items.

Kennedy asked prompt congressional approval of what he called the "far-reaching and unique" new approach. He said it was necessary to enable the United States to compete with the powerful Common Market and retain leadership of the non-Communist world.

"We cannot ourselves, stand still," he declared. "If we are to lead, we must act. We must adapt our economy to the imperatives of a changing world, and once more assert our leadership."

Anticipating strong protectionist opposition to the new program, the President proposed government financial and technical aid for "companies, farmers and workers who suffer damage from increased foreign import competition" under lower tariffs.

But he warned there would be no "subsidy program of governmental paternalism" to keep inefficient industries afloat indefinitely.

Kennedy said "escape clause" and "peril point" provisions would be retained to give relief to damaged industries. But officials said these would be applied only on an industry-wide basis.

Relief for individual companies would come under the President's "trade adjustment assistance," consisting of tax, depreciation allowance and other temporary aid while "adjustments" were made to enable the affected firm to compete effectively against imports.

Censor Quiz Shifting To State Dept.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The focus of the Senate inquiry into censorship of anti-Communist speeches by U. S. officials was shifting today to include the State Department as well as the Pentagon.

Members of the Senate subcommittee expressed lively interest in the blue-pencil role of the State Department as they called two retired military leaders—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, former chief of naval operations, and Gen. Thomas D. White, former Air Force chief of staff.

President Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that the administration would continue to provide "guidance" for military officers and other high officials when they deliver speeches on foreign policy and other sensitive subjects.

Kennedy, who said he submitted his own speeches for review, indicated he differed with former President Eisenhower. In a statement Tuesday to the Senate group, Eisenhower said military officers should be allowed to speak out on the Communist threat.

Questioned about Eisenhower's remarks, Kennedy said: "Everyone has given their views. I've given mine. President Eisenhower is entitled to hold his."

Burke's appearance before the Senate subcommittee was a return engagement. He read a statement at the opening session Tuesday and was being recalled for questioning.

Sen. Francis Case, R-N. D., commented that the State Department, rather than the Defense Department, seemed to have been responsible for many changes made in speeches delivered by Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, Army research chief.

Gunfire, Bombs Echo In Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—Gunfire and bomb blasts echoed through the streets here Wednesday night, but troops and police appeared to have halted the worst of a week's wave of Communist-fostered terrorism.

The latest unofficial estimates placed the toll of the week's leftist violence at 28 dead and more than 140 wounded in Caracas alone. Scores of known troublemakers were under arrest.

Kennedy Swings Into Showdown Fight Over Urban Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today plunged into a showdown fight for congressional approval of his proposal to set up a new Cabinet Department of Urban Affairs and Housing.

In dealing with Congress last year, Kennedy applied pressure but generally refrained from open conflict over legislation. This policy vanished Wednesday when he heard the House Rules Committee by a 9-6 vote had turned down his urban affairs bill.

Within minutes after the committee action, Kennedy went before a crowded news conference to announce he would resubmit the bill in the form of a reorganization plan. Under this strategy, the urban affairs plan will go into effect unless either the House or Senate votes to kill it. The rules committee has no power to prevent a reorganization plan from coming to a vote.

Furthermore, Kennedy said that if he gets his new department, the first secretary of urban affairs will be Robert Weaver, the present housing administrator and first Negro to hold such a high-level federal office.

Some Republicans immediately criticized the President on charges of attempting to mask his legislative defeat with a purposely generated civil rights issue.

Rep. Clarence Brown, Ohio, senior Republican on the rules committee, said Democrats were attempting to convert the issue into "a civil rights matter."

"If President Kennedy really wants a Negro Cabinet officer," Brown argued, "why doesn't he name Weaver secretary of health, education and welfare to replace Abraham Ribicoff?" Ribicoff is expected to quit soon to run for the Senate in Connecticut.

"This is a government of law, not individuals," Brown said. "Mr. Weaver is not the issue."

In the rules committee, all five Republicans and four southern Democrats voted to keep the bill from going to the House floor. Five liberal northern Democrats and Rep. Homer Thornberry, D. Tex., voted for the bill.

Kennedy, in his 20th Washington news conference since entering the White House, said he was "somewhat astonished at the Republican leadership which opposed this bill." He said the reorganization plan would be submitted right away.

Minuteman Shot Again Success

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's Minuteman "instant IBCM" soared 3,200 miles through space today in its fourth straight successful shot from an underground launching tube.

The Air Force triggered the 56-foot, three-stage missile into action at 10 a.m. Less than half an hour later, the rocket plunked a dummy warhead on a target in the mid-Atlantic between South America and Africa.

For this testing center, it was the second successful shot of a solid-fueled missile in less than 12 hours. Wednesday night, the Army fired its Pershing "shoot and scoot" rocket more than 200 miles to test a fusing and arming device for nuclear warheads.

The bullet-shaped Minuteman, the nation's newest intercontinental ballistic missile, blasted from the bottom of an 85-foot steel and concrete firing "silo" squarely on time, after a perfect count down.

Girl To Be Held For Crime Spree

BIG SPRING (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Gifford Jones said Wednesday that Donna Marie Stone, 14, will be held at Big Spring until after John Edwin Meyers, 32, her companion in a cross-country crime spree, is tried for murder on March 12.

The pair admitted killing four persons last year. It was expected earlier that Donna Marie would be returned soon to Chicago, where she and Meyers are from. However, Jones said it had been decided to hold Donna Marie in jail here until after Meyers' trial.

Outlook Favors Orbital Flight Early Saturday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The fine weather over Cape Canaveral is expected to end within a few days but it should hold good through Saturday to enable astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. to make his orbit around earth that day, it was announced today.

Glenn was ready to go and the countdown was proceeding toward the Saturday target date. The forecast of bad weather ahead made America's space scientists even more eager to get him off.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the Weather Bureau had reported that "major changes in pressure systems in the northern hemisphere indicate that favorable weather conditions over the Atlantic area may be coming to an end within the next few days."

A forecast of partly cloudy with light to moderate seas was made for the three prime recovery areas where aircraft carriers are waiting to pick up the astronaut.

If all goes as planned for the next 48 hours, the 40-year-old astronaut will travel 81,000 miles around the world in less than five hours while a Ranger-3 capsule is crossing 240,000 miles of space toward a "crash landing" on the moon.

Ranger-3, a 727-pound package of instruments designed to collect and transmit the first close-up photographs of the lunar surface, is scheduled to be launched aboard a 10-story Atlas-Agena rocket Friday afternoon.

The federal space agency is aiming at a spot between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., EST, Saturday to send Glenn on his hazardous voyage aboard an Atlas rocket. If Ranger-3 is launched successfully, it will be about one-fourth of the way along its 66-hour journey when Glenn goes up.

Laos Provincial Capital Expected To Fall To Reds

NAM THA, Laos (UPI) — Pro-Communist rebel forces mounted a strong offensive against the provincial capital today and the city was expected to fall within hours.

As Red forces pounded against the outer defenses, authorities mobilized every available man for the final fight. Non-combatants prepared to flee.

It was the biggest offensive by the Communist rebels since the Laotian cease-fire agreement went into effect late last year.

Officials passed out World War I rifles to barefoot local militia on the town's airstrip this afternoon for a last-ditch stand which officers feared could come before nightfall.

American military advisers prepared to blow up a gasoline dump and burn their military supplies as reports from the field grew progressively worse.

Government forces defending a ridge 12 miles west of here reported that one of their companies broke this morning under rebel attack.

Villagers fleeing into the city from the south said enemy units had outflanked the western ridge of Nam Tha valley and had driven to a point only eight miles south of here.

A third rebel force had also marched into the valley north of here.

Heaviest fighting continued today on the western ridge, where four enemy battalions hammered at the royal army's outnumbered mobile group.

The group earlier today shipped out every man and supply item not absolutely necessary for the fighting, including usually vital radio equipment.

Leaders Plan For Adobe Walls Scout Fund Drive

Leaders in the upcoming scout development campaign of the Santa Fe District Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council met here last night for their first training session in a fund drive scheduled during the week of February 7-13.

Frank Culbertson, district chairman, reported that 38 men attended the session held in Coronado Inn.

E. E. Shelhamer, general campaign chairman in the 15-county area of the Council, told the group that almost one and a half years of planning had preceded the launching of the campaign. A long-range council planning committee has carefully studied the need for improvements and expansion at the Council Camp, he said.

The recommended improvements include a camp service building, provisions for storage of camp equipment, central showers for campers, development of new campsites, building of a caretakers home, new boats and canoes, and many other items. Shelhamer also stated that the long range planning committee had recommended building a Boy Scout camp. (See SCOUTS, Page 4)

Rusk Pushes Action To Ostracize Castro

PUNIA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked the foreign ministers' conference today to oust Fidel Castro's Cuba from the inter-American system. But he left it up to the Organization of American States council to decide how and when to do it.

Rusk's proposal was a back-down from the original U.S. plan to urge the other American nations to break diplomatic relations with Cuba immediately and to propose economic and political sanctions.

Opposition from such nations as Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Chile forced the United States to modify its stand. Leaving it up to the OAS council to decide how to implement any policy decision made here means a delay of at least 30 days.

An American delegation source said the decision was made during a post-midnight private meeting. There was a "meeting of minds" at that session between Rusk and delegates from Mexico, Colombia, Panama, Chile and Brazil, the source said, but no commitment by the others to support the American plan.

Specifically, what Rusk did was to ask the foreign ministers here to make the policy decision to exclude Cuba from the inter-American system, and then to direct the OAS council in Washington to determine how to implement this decision.

Mexico, Brazil and other countries which wanted a strictly legal course of action have argued that the present conference has no authority to suspend Castro's regime.

Rusk proposed these points: The conference should recognize that the Cuban regime is a Communist satellite. It should declare that the "Cuban commitment to extend Communist power in this hemisphere is incompatible with the inter-American system."

Texas Professor Defends Textbook Reference To Red

AUSTIN (UPI)—A professor told a Texas legislative committee Wednesday that high school students won't become Communists merely because the name of a suspect Communist is listed in a text book bibliography.

"We have good kids," Dr. Douglas Morgan of the University of Texas told the committee. "They are sensible, moral, tough kids."

"I honestly don't believe the presence in the bibliography of a name of a man accused once by a U. S. Senate committee of being a Communist is going to make Communists of my children, and I think it is ridiculous to say it will."

The committee is studying state textbook selection procedures. An earlier witness, J. Everett Hale of the "Texans for America" organization, complained that public school history texts contain collectivist leanings and refer to the United States as a democracy.

"Texans for America contend that the United States is a republic."

ASTRONAUT AND FAMILY — Zero hour is less than 48 hours away for Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. who is scheduled to be shot into orbital flight around the earth at 7:30 a.m. Saturday from Cape Canaveral. He is shown here with his wife, Anna, his daughter Lynn and son, Dave, at their home in Arlington, Va. Their smiles tell the story of faith that everything will be all right.

Cattlemen Warned Of Market Controls Fight Ahead In 1962

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The nation's cattlemen were warned today they may have to fight hard in 1962 to ward off efforts to put federal marketing controls on their beef.

C. W. McMillan of Denver, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said in a speech prepared for the ANCA convention that 1962 may be one of the toughest the cattle industry has ever faced.

He said cattlemen would have to fight to stop lowering of tariffs on imported beef and to keep the beef business free of the shackles associated with many government programs.

Some 2,000 cattlemen from all over the nation assembled for the 65th annual ANCA convention that opened here this morning. The session will feature discussions on current industry problems and addresses by prominent cattlemen. It will end Saturday with election of officers and adoption of resolutions.

"The only way we have continued to serve the consumer with more and better beef is to avoid arbitrary controls and by letting our production meet the market demand rather than a paper estimate," McMillan said.

TV Is Worrying About Drift To Federal Control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A television network executive said today the industry is worried about a "drift toward indirect, but nevertheless effective, program control by the government."

However, Columbia Broadcasting System President Frank Stanton said he did not believe the Federal Communications Commission actually intended to censor TV.

He told the FCC at hearings which opened today on network policy that "we have been seriously concerned" about what he called the drift toward indirect censorship.

"Our fear of program control is based on very deep convictions," Stanton said. "We do not see it primarily as a matter of our own or being gored. We see it as a matter of pressing public interest."

Stanton and other CBS executives presented opening testimony. The National Broadcasting Co. is scheduled to testify next week and the American Broadcasting Co. the following week.

Stanton said the struggle for survival due to increased competition and the "gradual elevation of the educational level of the American people" would eventually improve programming.

...and his air force between 325 to 375 aircraft, some of them Russian-built MIG jets and Ilyushin jet bombers.

The big stumbling block is lack of shipping necessary to launch and support an invasion. The ships Indonesia does have are urgently needed to ferry goods and supplies from one island to another in the vast archipelago.

Defense Minister Gen. Abdul Nasution is said to have estimated he would need half of all Indonesia's commercial shipping for three months if he were to mount an attack.

Grave civilian shortages would be certain to ensue, thus facing Sukarno with the risk of serious domestic turmoil.

Further, if the Dutch choose to resist, they could make victory long in coming and costly. Aiding them would be New Guinea's unfriendly terrain of mountains, jungles, marshy valleys and narrow beaches.

Other factors also mitigate against any attempt to take the big island by force.

One is Indonesia's severe shortage of foreign exchange.

Another is Nasution's reported reluctance to tie up his army for any length of time out of fear of an attempted Communist takeover while the army's back is turned.

The staunchly anti-Communist Nasution also is reported to oppose formation of local militia who might fall into the hands of the Communists. The Communists have the largest and best organized party in Indonesia.

As for Sukarno's troubles at home, his lack of foreign exchange has forced him to impose an unpopular austerity program. Floods followed by drought have created a serious shortage of rice, a staple in the Indonesian diet.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

If Indonesian President Sukarno wanted to go to war over New Guinea, as he has threatened so many times, last week's Dutch attack on three of his torpedo boats offered him a tailor-made excuse.

In Jakarta, the question is being asked, why didn't he use it?

Westerners who ask the question also supply a variety of answers.

One is that, for all his talk of taking New Guinea by force, "in a thousand small boats if necessary" Sukarno is not prepared for an all-out assault.

Another is that by generating among the people war fever against the Dutch, he has found a convenient means of diverting attention from serious difficulties at home.

Sukarno has an experienced army of 350,000 men. His navy includes two destroyers and two submarines obtained from the So-

Fog And Drizzle Move In; Colder Forecast Friday

By United Press International
Light rain, drizzle and fog covered most of Texas today. Forecasters said a cool front would push into western Texas tonight and cover the entire state by late Friday.

Visibility was near zero from the fog at several points in the state. The fog was especially thick in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and along the Gulf Coast.

Nearly every town in the state had at least a trace of rain, ranging upward to .43 of an inch at El Paso. Overnight low temperatures ranged from 37 degrees at Dalhart to 59 at Beaumont.

The fog was so thick on the Gulf Coast that all air traffic was halted overnight at Houston's International Airport. Shipping also was tied up.

Visibility at times was reduced to 100 yards in the Houston-Galveston area, and generally it was no better than a quarter of Rain was reported in the early morning hours at El Paso and Wink, and there was some drizzle at San Antonio.

The Weather Bureau said the rain would spread eastward during the day, but temperatures were expected to remain moderate.

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Safety belts would be required on all cars sold in Michigan after Jan. 1, 1963, if a bill introduced by Rep. Oscar E. Bouwsma, R-Muskegon, is passed by the 1962 Legislature.

A law enacted which took effect Jan. 1 this year required cars to be equipped only with the brackets for safety belts on the front seat.

would get extended unemployment compensation benefits, with coverage up to one year for all workers and longer for those too old to learn new skills. There would be financial aid for workers desiring to move to areas of employment.

Kennedy spotlighted the six-nation Common Market, which Britain and possibly others are planning to join, as the single development most radically altering the world trade picture and necessitating a broader American approach to the problem. The Common Market countries are Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

"Almost 90 per cent of the free world's industrial production... may soon be concentrated in two great markets—the United States of America and the expanded European Economic Community," the President said.

"A trade policy adequate to negotiate item by item tariff reductions with a large number of small independent states will no longer be adequate to assure ready access for ourselves—and for our traditional trading partners in Canada, Japan, Latin America and elsewhere—to a market nearly as large as our own, whose negotiators can speak with one voice but whose internal differences make it impossible for them to negotiate item by item."

Merger Stalled By Strike Threat

NEW YORK (UPI)—Threats of a strike and a congressional investigation today clouded the merger picture for American and Eastern airlines.

The Transport Workers Union warned it would strike against both carriers next Thursday unless it received assurances none of its members would lose their jobs in the proposed consolidation.

France Pushes Fight For Life Of Government

PARIS (UPI)—The French government, fighting for its life, today shaped severe new measures to crush the right-wing Secret Army Organization (OAS) before the OAS topples the government.

President Charles de Gaulle summoned his cabinet Wednesday to discuss ways of stopping the outlawed organization, which is dedicated to overthrowing his administration and keeping Algeria French.

Government spokesman Louis Terrenoire said the Interior Ministry would announce extremely efficient new steps within the next few days.

There was no lull in the campaign of terror by the OAS. Authorities said the extremists exploded seven bombs around the country even while De Gaulle and his cabinet were discussing how to stop them.

A total of 19 of the deadly plastic shattered the peace of French cities and towns in the 24 hours up to midnight.

The government started its own counter-attack. Authorities declared all OAS statements illegal and conducted 461 separate searches in the Paris area alone Wednesday.

The ban clamped down on all OAS communiques and information, and made it illegal for anyone to disseminate them, either orally or in print.

Paris Police Chief Maurice Papon said more than 2,100 police operations have taken place throughout France and that 749 persons still were being held Wednesday. He did not specify how many were OAS members.

Eight persons died in Algeria on the second anniversary of the week-long "settler's revolt" in which young Europeans threw up barricades and fought off a full-scale military charge in which 20 were killed.

Wednesday's violence brought the unofficial Algerian death toll since the first of the year to 440 dead and 821 injured.

Elder, Ed Knox, Don Lana, Gerald Sims, Jim Brown, John Gikas, Bill Harris, Ed Williams, Jack Miller, Doug Halley, Kay Fancher, Art Aftergut, Norman Henry and Lester Jones. Dr. Jim Chase, E. L. Henderson, Bob Curry, and Warren Hassa have been named to serve as majors, each in charge of five teams.

Culberson announced that Fred Neslage, Ed Myatt, Judge Bill Craig, and Don Cain will serve on the advance gift committee.

Girl Tells About Trip To Europe

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard a talk by Anna Jo Watson, Pampa High School senior, recounting her recent experiences in Germany and Denmark while living with a German family.

Club president Roy Sparkman reminded members of the ladies' night banquet which will be held at 6 p.m. February 13 in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Club visitors and guests were Otis Holiday, Dave Tucker, Ray Ainsworth, K. I. June and H. S. Wilbur.

Texas Surveyed For Launch Sites

WACO (UPI)—The chief of the Minuteman missile program said Wednesday night that surveys of possible sites for underground launch sites have been made in Texas and in the vicinity of Oklahoma City.

But, Brig. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips said, no details of the surveys can be made public now and it has not been decided whether Minuteman, a solid fuel intercontinental ballistic missile, will be located at bases in the Southwest. Phillips addressed 500 members of the American Rocket Society.

Desertion Charge Denied In Court

Weldon Ross, 411 Texas, was released on $500 bond yesterday after he pleaded not guilty in County Court to a charge of wife and child desertion.

The complaint was signed by his wife, Delores.

Yarborough Out Of Governor Race

Yarborough quickly added President's position on his possible candidacy was not overriding.

Cherry Jubilee Cuplets

Cherry desserts are symbolic of two well loved holidays—Washington's Birthday and Valentine's Day. If you are planning to celebrate these days or some other fun occasion during the "cherry" months of January and February, here is a festive, new dessert to serve.

Cherry Jubilee Cuplets are made with a special ice cream flavor, appropriately called Cherry Jubilee, which is heaped high in crisp, cookie shells. To create the delectable flavor, Meadow Gold has twirled vanilla ice cream with generously fruited cherry ice cream. You'll find it in stores now.

Cherry Jubilee Cuplets
 8 egg whites 1 cup sifted bread flour
 ¼ teaspoon salt ¼ cup finely chopped, blanched almonds
 1½ cups sugar
 1 cup melted, cooled butter ¼ gallon Cherry Jubilee Ice Cream

Add salt to egg whites; beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar and beat until thick and glossy. Slowly blend in butter. Fold in flour and almonds, mixing well. For each cuplet, take ¼ cup batter and turn out onto well greased and lightly floured cookie sheet, putting just two on a sheet. Spread each out into a 6½ inch circle. Bake at 350 degrees 6-8 minutes. Carefully remove from cookie sheet. Place each over back of custard cup, pinching into pleats in 4 places to form cuplet. Leave until cool. Remove and fill with ice cream. Makes 12 servings.

Steak Aroma Alerts Family To Good Food

Just the aroma of this Saucy Steak will alert your family to the fact that there's good eating ahead. This isn't a fancy dish—it's an old favorite, beef round steak, in new attire.

So often the homemaker who earns her family's praise as "best cook in the whole world" is the one who puts a refreshing pinch of imagination into the standard menus she knows the family will like.

Here's a delightful new way of preparing that old favorite, beef round steak. This dish in many ways is similar to Swiss steak which is also prepared by braising. Try it soon for a dinner with family or friends.

Beef round steak can be purchased as one large cut... or in many markets (especially self-service) the round is sold in serving size pieces. For this Saucy Steak recipe, purchase a full-cut beef round steak which is about ½ inch thick.

The seasonings are combined with the flour before pounding into the steak. For the pounding, use a meat hammer or the edge of a sturdy pie pan. After this is done, cut the meat into serving-size pieces.

Before adding any liquid, brown the pounded steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off any remaining drippings and you're ready to add the liquid.

The main reason this steak is called "saucy" is that it is braised in condensed onion soup. Don't dilute the soup... add it directly from the can. Then add the water, celery seed and chili sauce.

Be sure the frying pan is tightly covered, and let the meat simmer (don't boil) for about 1½ hours or until it is tender. After the enticing saucy steaks are lifted to the platter, there will be a tasty sauce to serve over them.

A PERKY DINNER menu calls for a new meat dish—Saucy Steak. It's a different way of preparing popular beef round steak. The meat is pounded with seasoned flour, browned, and braised in onion soup flavored with chili sauce and celery seed. These savory seasonings suggest its name—"Saucy Steak".

A menu of old favorites will complete your meal.

SAUCY STEAK
 1 beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
 ¼ cup flour
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon pepper
 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup
 ½ cup water
 ½ teaspoon celery seed
 2 tablespoons chili sauce

Cut steak into 3 or 6 servings. Pound to ¼ inch thickness. Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge steak pieces with seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Add onion soup, water, celery seed and chili sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours or until meat is tender.

'Happy Jello' Adds To Menu Pleasure

Gelatin salads are colorful and convenient, and so endlessly varied that they are a welcome part of any dinner menu. But Red Cherry Salad Ring Burgundy has even more to offer. Featured as "Happy Jello" at a well-known San Francisco restaurant, its tangy flavor has made it the specialty of the house. The secret is the California Burgundy used as part of the liquid. It's delicious.

RED CHERRY SALAD RING BURGUNDY
 1 (1-lb.) can red sour pitted cherries
 1 cup California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
 2 packages lemon-flavored gelatin
 Dash of salt
 ¾ cup thinly sliced celery
 ½ cup chopped pecans
 Drain cherries, reserving syrup. Combine syrup and wine; measure and add sufficient water to make ¾ cups liquid. Heat this liquid to simmering; add gelatin and stir until dissolved; add salt.

Cool, then chill. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in cherries, celery and nuts. Pour into an oiled 1¼ - quart ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens and serve with mayonnaise or a fruit salad dressing. Cream cheese balls rolled in chopped pecans go nicely in the center of this ring.

New Ice Cream Taste For 'Cherry' Holiday

Cherry Jubilee Ice Cream is being featured nationally by the Meadow Gold Ice Cream Division of Beatrice Foods Co. in January and February.

As special flavor for the two months, formula for the fruited delicacy is two-thirds cherry ice cream twirled with one-third vanilla ice cream. It has been created especially for the "cherry" holidays occurring during this period, including Valentine's Day and Washington's birthday.

De Luxe Lunch In Spare Time

Ham Mousse De Luxe, as this recipe is called, has a way of creating complete awe among guests. Yes, and there will be leisure time to spend if you have a luncheon planned.

HAM MOUSSE DE LUXE
 2 cups ground cooked ham
 2 bouillon cubes
 1½ cups boiling water
 1 tablespoon gelatin
 ¼ cup cold water
 2 eggs
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 ½ cup butter or margarine
 ½ cup finely chopped celery
 ½ cup finely chopped green pepper
 3 large sweet pickles, chopped

Dissolve the bouillon cubes in boiling water. Soften the gelatin in cold water. Separate the eggs. Beat the egg yolks well, add prepared mustard, bouillon liquid and butter or margarine. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture has a consistency of custard. Stir in gelatin. Cool slightly, and add ham, green pepper, celery and chopped sweet pickles. Beat egg whites until peaks are fairly stiff and the tip ends only slightly rounded. Fold egg whites into mixture.

Prince Charles Plans To Attend 'Rugged' School

LONDON (UPI)—Prince Charles, 13, is to attend Gordonstoun—a school so rugged that a boy who was expelled said his "heart bleeds" for the heir to the British throne.

Gordonstoun, Prince Philip's old school, with its spartan discipline of cold showers and physical training was recalled as a "complete horror" by Lord Rudolf Russell, 17, son of the duke of Bedford.

"It will make the poor devil a man if he can stick it and put muscles on his arms," Lord Rudolf, who twice ran away, told reporters. "And I hope he likes boiled potatoes because he'll have them every lunch and supper. My heart bleeds for him."

The Buckingham Palace announcement Tuesday that the prince of Wales will go to Gordonstoun in Scotland was considered by some an augury that Charles will become a chip off the Prince Philip block.

His mother, Queen Elizabeth, was believed to favor Eton, the traditional training ground for royalty and the British upper classes.

TOOTHY TOTS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tooth extraction is declining where children are concerned.

American pedodontists, specialists in children's dentistry, report that dentists do not extract children's teeth unless it is absolutely imperative. Generally, the dentist prefers to fill a small cavity in a child's baby tooth.

Arrest Believed Near In Series Of Jewel Thefts

DALLAS (UPI) — The arrest of a daring jewel thief—possibly the "King of Diamonds" who has robbed wealthy homes of $689,000 worth of jewelry since 1957—may be near, Dallas police indicated Saturday.

Police said two men, one in Dallas and one in Tyler, had informed them they thought they knew the identity of a man believed to have robbed the home of hat manufacturer Harry Rolnick of $17,000 worth of jewels and furs.

The suspect may be the notorious "King of Diamonds," police said, although the Rolnick burglary differed slightly from the pattern of the "King's" jobs.

The suspect was identified from an artist's sketch of a man known to have been around the Rolnick home Jan. 9, the day it was burglarized.

The sketch was drawn from a description given by J. C. Edwards, 27, a handyman for one of Rolnick's neighbors. Edwards told police he saw a suspicious-looking Latin-American hanging around the Rolnick home the day of burglary.

The sketch was printed in newspapers and shown on television. A Dallas man saw the drawing in the Dallas Times Herald and told police he might know the suspect. A Tyler man saw the sketch on television and reported he was sure he knew the man's identity.

Handyman Edwards said the Latin-American asked him Jan. 9 if the Rolnicks were home, and told him Rolnick had hired him to do some yard work. He was last seen walking toward the Rolnick home.

Rolnick, who was out of town at the time, said upon his return he had hired no one for any type of work around the house.

Detective Bill Cantrell, assigned to work on the "King of Diamonds" burglaries, said it was almost sure that the man was the one who robbed the Rolnick home, but that he may not be the "King."

Group Acts To Change 'Unfair Tax' On Sales

AUSTIN (UPI)—William E. Loose of Houston has told a legislative committee that local school board and parents should help decide how school texts are chosen.

Loose testified before a special House committee studying state textbook selection practices.

"The real solution to the textbook problem is that these groups of parents and patriots ought to have a full opportunity to present their views before the thing gets crystalized and the texts are settled upon."

Loose praised Canyon rancher J. Evetts Haley, leader of the ultraconservative "Texans for America," for his opposition to some textbooks adopted by the State Board of Education.

"We should let the school boards locally submit lists of people qualified in these matters," Loose said, "to serve on the textbook adoption committee. Also, we should let the State Board of Education add some books to the list in addition to those recommended by the committee."

Mrs. Joseph Antonelli of Midland attacked several books and authors in recommended reading lists found in textbooks as "of questionable loyalty."

She read lists of passages from several books in which swearing and other four-letter words were used by characters.

Committee member Rep. John C. Alaniz of San Antonio remarked, "you cannot hide the fact that there are people in our society who talk that way."

Mrs. Antonelli replied, "I don't know of any... at least there are none in my acquaintance, Mr. Alaniz."

Small Investors Play Vital Role In Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors living in smaller cities may at times feel that from the towering buildings of big cities come the decisions that determine or affect their income from investments in business or industry.

The head of a national real estate and development company which has large holdings in metropolitan real estate looked over his stockholder records today and came up with a related finding: Not only may investors from non-metropolitan areas have a pocketbook interest in the goings-on of those who labor within the skyscrapers and hotels of large urban centers, but they may also have an interest in the buildings themselves or the lands on which they rest, through the ownership of realty securities.

Louis J. Glickman, president of Glickman Corp., made a study of stock transfer records of five consecutive business days selected at random recently. In those days, more than 56,000 shares were transferred.

The New York metropolitan area accounted for 60 per cent of the shares transferred.

But 12.8 per cent was delivered to investors living in cities of less than 60,000 population. An additional 27.2 per cent went to investors living in cities or suburbs other than the New York area.

Some of the stock went to a dweller in a hamlet of 10 persons in Shasta, Calif. Other portions went to holders in such well-distributed small cities or villages as one in the state of Vermont, with a population of 250; in Pennsylvania, a town of 1,698; one in New Hampshire, 3,916; a small city in Pennsylvania, 5,010; one in Kentucky, 3,133.

Mind Like Steel Trap May Not Be A Virtue After All

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A mind like a steel trap may not be such a virtue after all.

The person who clamps his mind around an idea the way a trap clamps around a bear's leg is considered to be dogmatic, and a team of research psychologists had some ego-shaking things to say recently about dogmatic individuals.

Compared with those who are less dogmatic, they said, the dogmatic type is likely:

- To have less self control, to be impulsive about making up his mind before he gets all the facts.
- To have less adaptability when faced with unusual problems.
- To have less scholastic aptitude.
- To be interested in education mainly as a means of vocational development, with the idea of improving his money-making ability rather than seeking intellectual challenge.

These conclusions were reached in a preliminary report on a study of 4,506 freshmen at six California junior colleges. They were presented by psychologists—Dr. Walter T. Plant and Dr. Charles W. Telford of San Jose State College at a convention of the California State Psychological Association.

Focus of their research was a test for dogmatism — "the openness and closedness" of the mind — developed by Dr. Milton Rokeach, a fellow at Stanford University's Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences.

In it, the students were asked for their reactions — violent disagreement, complete agreement or something in between — to series of statements.

Typical statements might be, "Russians and Americans have nothing in common," "loyalty and patriotism are the most virtuous things children can learn," or "The worst thing that can happen is for a member of your group to turn against the group."

Having learned how dogmatic each of the students was according to the Rokeach test, the researchers correlated this information with results of standard scholastic and personality tests and with statistics about the students.

The result was a marked tendency for the more dogmatic students to show certain characteristics, while less dogmatic ones showed others.

Plant said that students who intended to end their formal education after two years of junior college tended to be more dogmatic than those who planned further study.

Those who were most dogmatic, he said, probably were going to school "to hasten upward social mobility."

The psychologists said, however, they were surprised to find no significant pattern in the scholastic values of those who rated high and low on the dogmatism scale. Appreciation of creative work appeared to be the same, they said.

Dear Abby.... Little Tenderness With Big Sleepy Head

By ASIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How can you get a 20-pound, 28-year-old man out of bed in the morning? He is slower to get up than the child. By the time he is ready for breakfast it is cold, and everyone has eaten and gone. He has punch a time clock so it is important that he get to work promptly. This is upsetting me. I would appreciate some tips in you or your readers who have had the same problem. Thank you.

DEAR LIED ABOUT: Don't waste your time and energy fighting groundless rumors. Ignore the lies and the liars.

DEAR ABBY: That was some answer you gave "LIKES 'EM FAT." I used to "like em fat," too, until I found out that my wife's insurance is costing me a lot more because she is 50 pounds overweight.

LIKES 'EM AVERAGE

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

ADELLE

DEAR ADELLE: Do you yell, "HEY — GET UP!" Or do you gently brush his bewhiskered cheek with an affectionate kiss? Waking him with a little tenderness. Bring a steaming cup of tea to his bedside. If this isn't work, let the big lug get to work late a time or two. Some people have to learn everything the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: Why should the bride's family pay for everything? I think it is time for a new book on the subject. My daughter is getting married and it is going to cost me a fortune. Our family is small, and we don't have many friends. They are including every relative they ever heard of, and neighbors and friends enough to fill the downtown auditorium, and we are getting stuck for everything. I would like to hear what your readers have to say about this.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE
DEAR FATHER: Traditionally, it is the bride's family who puts on the wedding. If your finances are limited, restrict the number of guests the groom's family may invite.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school. We recently moved to a city many miles from my home town. Every afternoon after school I take my 10-month-old baby sister for a walk. Some of the kids at school have told me that there is a rumor going around school that my little sister is really MY child. They said they heard her raising the child as their own. I have cried myself to sleep every night since I heard this terrible lie. How can I let people know the truth?

LIED ABOUT

The teen-ager who is wise in the ways of looking pretty will never neglect the foundations that do the most for her figure. This tall, willowy teen-ager wears (left) an embroidered white pique overblouse with her pink slacks, brodered white pique overblouse with her pink slacks. Underneath, there's a two-way stretch pantie girdle to smooth hips and derriere. Pale blue wool dress (center) with bloused top and flared skirt looks better because of contoured bra to round out the bustline. Before she finishes dressing each morning, she checks both hand mirror (right) and full-length mirror to make sure that her appearance is right for the clothes she has chosen that day. Her clothes never trouble her by wrinkling badly or riding up.

Fred Waring To Paint Musical Picture On Large Canvas For Concert Patrons

When Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians bring the all-new "Let Freedom Sing" to the Pampa Junior High School auditorium at 8 p.m. on Jan. 29, local concert goers will see and hear a production that Waring himself, a master of the musical picture painted on a large canvas, calls a "major undertaking."

Admission to "Let Freedom Sing" is by membership only in the Pampa Community Concert Ass'n, which is sponsoring the concert.

Friendship Class Has Luncheon

The Friendship Class of the Church of God met recently for a luncheon and exchange of Secret Pal gifts in the dining room of the church.

Plans and ideas were exchanged for the current building project.

Attending were Mmes. Bruce Topper, James Rigby, Tom Teague, Charles Fleming, Elvold Callan, Robert Douthit, Earl Kyle, Wayland McPherson, Ernest Willis, Arthur Pfeil, Lovis Hartfield, Linda McCowen, Ruby Harris and Carolyn Goodner.

It was announced that the next meeting is planned for Feb. 14.

nor is it a parade of Fourth of July excitement. It is, rather, a musical portrait of the things synonymous with America — the ideas and events and the spirit which gave birth to the United States of America and have preserved this nation ever since.

Told in familiar music in the Waring manner, as well as in the words of the most eloquent spokesmen of their times — men like Whittier, Emerson, Longfellow, etc. — the new production also encompasses many familiar songs of special significance.

A feature of the program is the stirring Roy Ringwald composition for orchestra, soloists and chorus, "The Song of America," which was termed by former President Eisenhower, "my favorite piece of patriotic music."

In all, "Let Freedom Sing" promises to be an exciting musical tribute to these United States, a large scale Waring presentation that has been over a year in the making and that Waring notes "We present with considerable pride."

The presentation, according to Waring, "has been a matter of much thoughtful study. Its great range of tonal and emotional color has called for long periods of intense preparation." Preparation, it may be added, that has become synonymous with a Fred Waring production.

Teenagers Need Figure Control For Trim Look

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There's no denying that teenagers have an avid interest in clothes. And many have a wardrobe chock full of lovely things for every occasion.

But even a vast wardrobe is no guarantee that you'll be well-dressed. Dressing smartly is more a matter of wearing the right clothes for your figure, with the proper foundations to produce a trim look.

A tall, slim girl can dress dramatically in bold, contrasting separates that reduce height. She can wear horizontal stripes and flared or gathered skirts to disguise top-slender hips and thighs. Underneath, she should wear a contoured or even a padded bra to round out her bustline. A two-way stretch girdle that will simply create a smooth line is all she needs.

The heavier tall girl should wear gentle lines that discreetly bypass the figure. Her necklines should be V-cut, not round. And if she wears prints

Mrs. Tidwell Feted With Stork Shower

A pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Billy Tidwell Jr. was held Friday in the home of Miss Dianne Tidwell, east of the city. Assisting hostesses were Mmes. Bill Caswell, Jimmy Davis, Robert Henderson and Miss Linda Hyatt.

A pink and blue theme was carried out in the table decorations with a Stork forming the focal point of interest. Pink and Blue decorated cakes and punch were served to guests.

Miniature fancy diapers, filled with mints, were given as favors. Approximately 45 guests attended or sent gifts.

"Dancing" Hair Spring Coiffure

This collection of "Dancing Hair" fashions has been designed by the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association for the youngest and gayest spring ever. The new styles will be featured during National Beauty Salon Week, which will be observed February 11-17.

The new "Dancing Hair" fashions introduce a wonderful range of variety into the coiffure picture with a dancing hair "up" line and a dancing hair "down" line to harmonize not only with variations in new clothing silhouettes, but also to add zest to a variety of spring and summer social functions and activities.

In the "Dancing Hair" fashions featuring the new "up" line, wave patterns swing generally in an upward or verticle mood for special party and evening wear. In the "down" line, waves sway with a fluid and more horizontal direction for carefree daytime wear, though the line can be dressed up for special occasions.

In both, you will always find a saucy flip-up of curl, either at the top, the sides, over, under, or just about anywhere, but always dancing. In both, you will need professional permanent waving and expert hair shaping for easy care, and to lend necessary freedom to the dancing pattern of waves.

or plaids, they should be of minimum contrast.

Her underpinnings should really control her figure. Her brassiere should mold, not accentuate her bustline. Her girdle or pantie girdle should be one-way stretch, or reinforced in front and back for firm control. If her thighs are heavy, long-legged pantie girdles will help.

The girl who is small and slender looks best in high or round necklines, crisp, stiff fabrics that stand away from the body and full or wide-pleated skirts. She may need a contoured or lightly padded bra. She should also wear a garter belt with pantie attached to flatten the tummy that most teen figures, no matter how perfect otherwise, seem to have.

If you're short, but curvy, too, choose necklines that play up the face, carefully controlled, skirts that stand away from the body, and vertical lines to make you appear taller and slimmer.

You'll definitely want a bra with firm shaping, and a girdle that really holds you in. Don't however, make the mistake of buying a foundation that's extra snug. It can actually make you look heavier by causing bulges above and below the garment.

A comfortable, controlling girdle can be a girl's best friend. The same can be said for the right bra. They should improve your figure and the fit of your clothes, and if they do, you'll be truly well-dressed.

ASK THE DESIGNER by gail dugas

Dear Gail: My mother-in-law has given me a lovely set of garnet jewelry which includes brooch, earrings and bracelet. It once belonged to her mother. But some of my friends tell me that garnets are old-fashioned and have gone out of style, that nobody wears them anymore. I like them very much but don't want to be out-of-date. The stones and the settings are really lovely. Please advise me.—Mrs. M. J.

Dear Mrs. M. J.: Undoubtedly, your set is a Victorian one and probably consisted originally of necklace, earrings, brooch and a pair of bracelets. This is what jewelry designer Stanley Church has to say on the matter:

"Among the precious and semi-precious stones, garnets are always in good taste. This past Christmas, my best selling number was a large garnet set as a pendant-pin. It retailed for around $300. Garnets have never gone out of style."

To this, let me add: Make the most of the glowing color and wicked black sparkle of those garnets. They are meant to flatter. Don't wear them as a mere fashion accessory; let them dramatize an entire costume.

Dear Gail: Recently, I saw a picture of Mrs. Kennedy that I didn't care for at all. She was walking away from a skating rink wearing some kind of figured sweater, tight pants that looked

Matson Leading Scorer In Harvesters Attack

By DICK RABE
News Sports Editor

And big Randy sinks another one for the Harvesters.

These are the words often times repeated by announcers during the 1962 cage season in covering the Pampa Harvester cage-tits and in seeing big Randy Matson, the 6-6 post man for the Harvesters sinking another two pointer for the local crew.

Matson, who is a junior this year, is currently leading the Harvester offensive attack with an average of 17.1 points per game through the first seven contests. The popular cage star has found the range with 120 points in loop play and is among the top ten in the district in scoring.

Last year, Matson led the Harvesters in scoring in district play with a total of 212 points for fifth place among players in the district. Matson also landed a berth on the second team all-district squad.

Randy is a picture of perfection under the basket, either taking a pass off from a teammate for a two pointer or driving up the key for a swisher himself. Matson's 6-6 frame means trouble for opposing cagers going up for a rebound underneath the basket, since the Harvester star is all business underneath that net.

Matson will be one of the key figures when the Harvesters host Palo Duro Friday night in the Harvester fieldhouse. Though the local crew dropped a 75-63 decision to the Dons in the season opener, Matson had his finest hour in district play this year with 26 points.

Tuesday night Randy poured in 18 more to lead the Harvesters from the floor and maintain his 17 point plus average for the 1962 campaign. Matson has come on strong in the last few outings to take over the individual scoring honors for the Harvesters away from teammate Wayne Kreis. Both boys form one of the best one-two combinations in the district with their potent offensive attack.

BECOME PARENTS

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — World skating champions Hayes Alan and Carol Heiss Jenkins became the parents Wednesday of a seven pound, four-ounce boy, their first child. Jenkins, now an Akron attorney, married Miss Heiss in 1960 after her triumphant Olympic performances.

Matson, who also played junior high ball at the post slot, hopes to play college ball if he gets a chance to go. Randy plans to major in business administration after completing his final year of ball at Pampa High school next year.

"I don't know exactly where I might go to college, but I know I'd like to play college ball," the husky Matson replied.

Matson, who is almost a cinch to nab all-district honors again this year, is likely to nab a few scholarship bids in the process after winding up his cage career in 1963 for the Harvesters.

Idzik Named Head Coach At Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—The University of Detroit named John Idzik head football coach Wednesday but indicated the sport may be on the way out at the university unless the Titans get better support at the box office.

Idzik, 33, a University of Maryland graduate, was named to succeed Jim Miller, who resigned earlier this week to accept the head football post at Boston College.

In moving up from the backfield coach to the head coaching job, Idzik was authorized to name one full-time and two part-time coaches to his staff.

Two other assistants, Robert Hicks and Joseph Clark, were handed new contracts.

The warning that Detroit's football program is not on solid ground came from Fr. Laurence Britt, university president.

He said, "every effort will be made to establish football on a permanent basis" but pointed out that community support of the Titans in recent years had not been sufficient to insure continuation of football indefinitely.

Lakers Trample Royals, 136-123

By United Press International

The presence of one man—Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor—and the absence of another—Boston's Bill Russell—made a difference in two key National Basketball Association games Wednesday night.

Baylor, playing his first league game since being recalled into the Army on Jan. 2, scored 38—backing up Jerry West's 50 points—and the Lakers defeated their nearest Western Division rivals, the Cincinnati Royals, 136-123.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 leaper who probably ranks as the top defensive man—and one of the top rebounders in basketball—was missing from the Celtic lineup with an injury as Boston lost its first game of the year to St. Louis, 135-126.

In the other NBA action, Wilt Chamberlain took more shots in one quarter than any other player in the history of the league—an even 20—made a few of them, and ended up with 55 points to lead Philadelphia over the Chicago Packers, 122-108; and the Detroit Pistons handed the Syracuse Nationals their fifth straight loss, 111-102.

West, the only guard to score 50 points or more in the NBA this season, did it for the second time Wednesday night. However, most of the 7,275 fans that turned up at the Sports Arena in Los Angeles came to see Baylor.

"You don't know what he means to our ball club," insisted Laker coach Fred Schaus. "He makes our lineup so flexible we can use anyone anywhere."

The victory helped cool off the Royals, who had cut the Laker lead over them to 6 games from a full 9. Los Angeles is now 7½ ahead of the Royals, who got a 32-point effort from Oscar Robertson.

Bob Pettit scored 28 for the Hawks, who got 39 points in each of the last two quarters to overtake Boston. Lt. Len Wilkins, like Baylor on leave from the Army, scored 22 for St. Louis. Five men had 19 points or more for the Celtics—topped by Tom Heinsohn's 28—but without Russell the Eastern Division leaders couldn't stop the Hawk offense.

Chamberlain's total of 20 shots in the third period was two higher than the former NBA record of 18 field goal attempts set by Baylor last season. Wilt made 8 of those shots and enough others to lead Philly over Chicago for the seventh straight time.

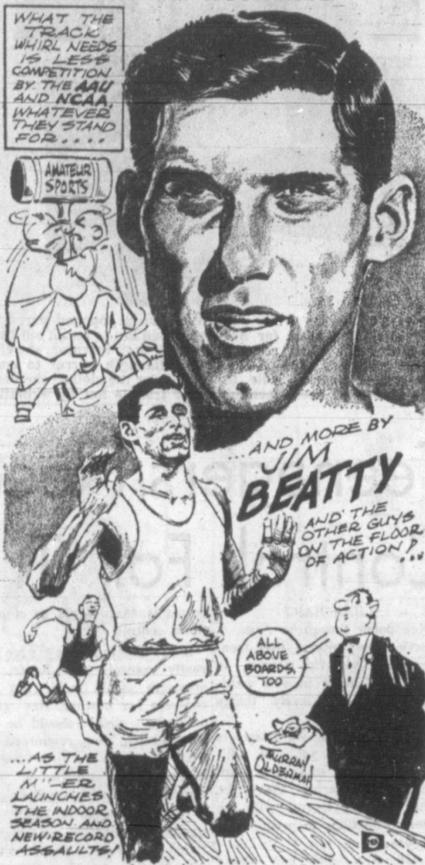

Syracuse, which a few days ago was riding along with a seven-game win streak, got within two points of Detroit, 89-87, midway in the fourth period. But Jackie Moreland hit a free throw and three baskets to put the Pistons far in front.

Ridan Considered One Of Best Race Horses

MIAMI (UPI)—The things you read in the papers—and Fearless Fraley's reaction to a few of them:

That four "aristocratic" chunks of turf from St. Andrews golf course in Scotland are being guarded by U.S. plant quarantine authorities until after the international turf conference at Miami Beach and then will be burned because of "golden nematode," a voracious varmint worse than the boll weevil or the Japanese beetle.

Making you wonder how idiotic somebody was to feel that viewing this clod would "inspire the people who keep the nation's golf courses green." A lot of American golf pros, who were treated as peons at St. Andrews, wouldn't care if that antique cow pasture was burned in entirety. The Royal and Ancient never has learned that people are more important than those two words.

That Ridan, one of the Kentucky Derby candidates, is regarded by some Miami horsemen since his three-year-old debut victory in Hialeah's Hibiscus Stakes as one of the best of all time and "another Count Fleet."

Making you slightly suspicious, since the colt never has been a mile yet and has scored all his victories in sprints. The proof of the pudding will be when they move up to a mile and an eighth then to the mile and a quarter Derby and the mile and a half Belmont. One clocker calls him "simply unbelievable." Old Fearless thinks that the athletes of today are better than the old ones so I'm willing to believe Ridan, when he shows me. But he's got to go fast—and far—to be another Count Fleet.

That Mrs. Thomas Cronin, wife of the former butler to Princess Margaret who now serves grog at Dania jai-alai, says "Ernie pubs are far superior to American bars."

Making you wonder who she's comparing waiters.

That Ingemar Johansson portedly is "trim and eager" his ring comeback Feb. 2 against former British Empire heavyweight champion Joe Byrnes and is "determined" to get into the world picture.

Making you wonder why, but so trim against Floyd Patterson the last time out, he wasn't eager, Sweden's man of a looked like the cast iron stuffer of a dainty woman gardener, maybe a crashpother counting money, as he knelt through 10 count. Eagerness might what he needed all along, along with the disappointed tomlers.

That maybe it's the beaten toms, or maybe plain guys unable to accept the incredible, who are responsible for the current wave of sports cynicism just as much as the presence of basketball point fixers and the hoodlums control of boxing.

Making you agree with Dick Hackenberg of the Chicago Sun Times, who said it. His point that an underdog which barloses, by less than the "spread" doesn't get credit for a gas effort. The guys who shot the wad simply start yelling "fix." Meaning that when you do blow a bet, don't take it out on the players who tried harder as were more effective than you thought possible. Even the pro give it the old college try, whether you believe it or not. So, unless there's concrete evidence to the contrary, enjoy those upsets as figure that a tank job is a putting in a swimming pool.

Lucky Tournament Kicks Off Today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The stars of the pro golfing firmament tee off today in the $50,000 Lucky International tournament with most of them quaking in their water-logged boots over the condition of the Harding Park greens.

It's the first round of the tournament that last year served as a springboard to fame and fortune for young Gary Player of South Africa.

But this time the snows and rains have made a shambles out of the greens.

"I can't complain about that, however," said Player after turning in a fine three-under-par 68 in the pro-am event Wednesday, for which he picked up $375, on a tie for second place. "I knocked in a half-dozen good ones."

But most of the others had complaints.

"The greens are just terrible," said Billy Casper, the former National Open king, who generally is considered the peer of the current putters. He carded 71 while missing a half-dozen putts of less than five feet in the pro-amateur.

"Just don't quote anything I have to say about the greens," said Doug Sanders, one of the top three money winners of 1961. He carded a 73.

The snow and cold sent frost into the greens and they haven't had a chance to dry out. Officials rolled them Wednesday night to try and squeeze out some of the water.

"But it's too late now," said Bobby Rosburg, who had a 72.

Par on this municipal course, which is open 365 days a year, is 36-35-71. It is 6,672 yards long. There is very little roll on the fairways.

No Power, No Short Fences

HOUSTON (UPI)—Paul Richards, Colt 45 general manager, subscribes to the theory that if you don't have home run hitters, move the fences back.

National League batters will find wide open spaces waiting for them this year when they play the Colt 45's.

Richards, who has concentrated on building up a defensive team, ventured a guess Wednesday that there will be "fewer home run areas than other parks" at the Houston stadium.

The fence will be 360 feet down each foul line. Dead-away centerfield will be a hitter's nightmare. It will be 420 feet away.

"I've found that there's no way of winning unless you can get them out," Richards said. "Our success at Baltimore was due mainly to our defense."

Lefors Dogs Give Coons A Rough Time At Meets

LEFORS (Sp) — Alex Watkins, Luther Coleman, Mark Watkins, R. L. Jordan and Everett Coleman attended a Coon Trial Hunt Meet at Quitque recently to enter their dogs in the competition.

Everett Coleman's dog Joe, Luther Coleman's dog Lucky and R. L. Jordan's dog Red, were entered in contests which included putting the coon in a barrel. The first dog succeeding in getting him out was the winner. A coon was placed on a log in water, a hole in the ground and up in a tree with the same competition for the dogs in each contest.

Approximately 150 - 175 persons attended the meet with over 75 dogs to participate in the sport.

Lefors dogs failed to come up with any first prizes in this particular competition, but have won many times in the past.

Indians Win Hockey Tilt

By United Press International

Bill Sweeney of the Springfield Indians continued his drive toward the century mark in points scored for the second straight year with two goals and one assist Wednesday night as he led his mates to a 6-3 American Hockey League victory over the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Sweeney, who led the AHL with 108 points last year, upped his season's total to 59 points, a 1.4 average per game, as Springfield opened up a 12-point margin over Hershey in the Eastern Division. Larry Regan tallied two goals and had an assist for Pittsburgh. The game ended in a fight between Ted Harris of Springfield and Norm Corcoran of the Hornets.

The Buffalo Bisons moved into a tie with Rochester for second place in the Western Division, one point behind Cleveland, by downing Providence, 5-1, in the only other game Wednesday night. Cliff Schmutz scored two goals for the Bisons.

The Lee eighth team won, 41-40 with Ken Williams getting 13 and Ted Bird 12 points. Gary Crossland and Williams each played stalwart ball on defense for the winners.

Lee ninth lost their game, however, 43-32. Robert Howard had 18 points for the losers.

Both Lee teams will entertain Phillips here Thursday in their next cage encounters.

Austin Wins, 43-13 Over Baker Five

Six more games were scheduled in 5th and 6th grade action Tuesday night.

In 5th grade games, Austin beat Baker, 20 - 4; Houston downed Mann, 16-5 and Lanier over Travis, 13-10.

In 6th grade action, Austin beat Baker, 43-13; Mann whipped Houston, 22-20 and Travis won over Lamar, 8-4.

Roger Still Holding Out For More Green

United Press International
Strangers get Roger Maris' photograph for nothing but the New York Yankees can't get it for $60,000.

They tried Wednesday and got nowhere when baseball's new owner run king paid an unexpected visit to their office, stayed only 10 minutes and then departed without signing after asking for $70,000.

"We were friends when I came in and were still friends when I came out," said Maris about his brief conference with general manager Roy Hamey.

"I'm not going to discuss my salary publicly," he added.

"Whatever comes out will have to come from the Yankees."

Maris received $42,000 from the Yankees last year and has been offered an $18,000 raise.

Hamey, a good businessman and an eminently fair one, undoubtedly is trying to get the fact across that the Yankees are perfectly willing to reward their players, but prefer to do so over a period of years.

He can cite the case of Mickey Mantle and explain to Maris how it took Mickey 10 years with the club to earn the $82,000 he will draw for the coming season.

Maris, no slouch in the business league himself, has a formidable argument in rebuttal.

He's in a position to say, "I've been with this club two seasons and I've won the most valuable player award both years, so why is it necessary for me to wait so many years for my money?"

A handful of players on other major league clubs did agree to terms Wednesday.

One of them was Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who slipped to a 6-12 record in the bullpen last season after an extraordinary 18-1 mark the year before.

Face, tagged for 12 home runs last season, said he was through "taking his licks" from rival hitters, but he did have to take a slight cut on his 1962 contract.

Outfielder Gus Bell, pitcher Craig Anderson and catcher Clarence Coleman returned their signed contracts to the New York Mets, who now have satisfied 14 of their players for the coming season, while the Cleveland Indians announced that outfielder Tito Francona was their 15th consignee.

The Chicago Cubs, first major league club to sign all their players the past two years, look as if they'll make it three in a row with 31 men under contract already. Rookie pitchers George Gerberman and Wayne Carlander were the latest to agree to terms. Only six Cubs remain unsigned.

The San Francisco Giants corralled three rookie pitchers — right-handers Ray Feldman, Paul Colacacci and Matt Gayeski.

Wright, Smith Pocket Money

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — Lady pros Mickey Wright and Marilyn Smith pocketed top prize money but male amateur Dorsey Nevergall stole the golfing show Wednesday in the windup of the annual Naples Senior Invitational tournament.

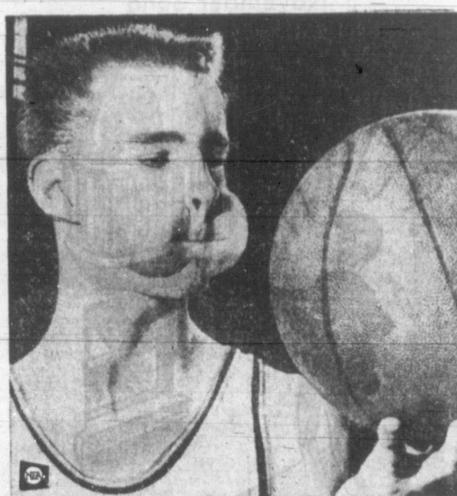

Miss Wright and Miss Smith had 36 hole totals of 143 over the Naples Beach Club course and split $1,225 first-place money. Both faltered from their par-busting in the opening round.

Patty Berg of Fort Myers, Fla., was third with a 146 total and took home $450. Three golfers were tied at 149 — Mary Lena Faulk of Sea Island, Ga., Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Kathy Whitworth of Jal, N. M. Each won $325.

Each of the 25 women pros, plus amateur Bea Morley of Fort Lauderdale, played with three men amateurs for a pro-am team championship, and it was Miss Morley's team that won.

Team members were C. J. Farley and Ted Olsee, both of Grand Rapids, Mich., and star Florida amateur Nevergall.

Nevergall wound up with a 141 total that outshone all the pros. He had steady rounds of 70 and 71.

Old Arch Faced With Same Ring Problems

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the next week Archie Moore doubtlessly will give the New York State Athletic Commission a "splitting" headache it never felt while unifying the bantamweight title nor planning a cement job on the middleweight crown.

The commission was pleasantly relieved on Jan. 18 when little Eder Jofre of Brazil won sole possession of the bantamweight (118-pound) title by knocking out Johnny Caldwell of Ireland, the rival claimant.

And Wednesday, commission chairman Melvin L. Krulwich glowingly announced that Gene Fullmer, Terry Downes and Paul Pender had agreed to settle the middleweight (160-pound) title split.

Old Johnson of Philadelphia and Doug Jones of New York. Johnson is recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association. He was contracted to defend his NBA title against Jones at Miami Beach on Dec. 2 but withdrew because of an injured toe. Jones fought heavyweight Eddie Machen, instead, and suffered his first defeat in 20 professional bouts.

Now promoter Chris Dundee of Miami Beach is demanding that Johnson defend for him against Jones before risking his NBA title against anyone else, including Archie Moore. And that is a very important angle for shrewd Archie.

"How can I sign now to defend against either of two men who already are tied up by a promoter's contract?" he asks regretfully. "And who else could draw the reasonable money that a champ is entitled to?"

Meanwhile Archie and his advisors have practically completed negotiations for a non-title fight with heavyweight Alejandro Latorante of Argentina at Los Angeles March 30.

What promoter or TV sponsor will offer Moore "reasonable" money for a defense against the legally involved Johnson and er, for that matter, while ancient Archie is practically slated for a non-title bout with slugger Lavorante, who might inflict a defense-delaying injury?

Less troublesome was the middleweight situation which chairman Krulwich practically clarified as follows:

—Terry Downes of England will defend his share of the title against ex-champ Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., on April 7 at Boston. Downes is recognized as world champion by the British Boxing Board of Control, the European Boxing Union, Massachusetts and New York.

—The Downes-Pender winner will fight Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, within "three months" after the April 7 bout. Fullmer is recognized as world champion by the National Boxing Association.

Krulwich said his commission and the British Boxing Board of Control had verbal assurances from the three fighters and their managers that they would unify the 160-pound crown before July 7.

Amerson Says No Amateurs In NFL

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Glen Douglas Amerson, his baptism of fire in the National Football League behind him, sums up his first season: "There are no amateurs in the NFL."

The former Texas Tech quarterback, pushing 200 pounds after a college career at 185, completed his first season with the Philadelphia Eagles in the playoff for third place against Detroit in Miami. It was a good year for Amerson, barring a dislocated thumb, an assortment of bruises, and two disastrous late-season losses to the Eastern Division champion New York Giants.

Glen, unknown and ignored by both the NFL and the American Football League in their drafts, got his chance to crack the Eagles as a defensive halfback on the recommendation of former Philadelphia fullback and Tech coach Jim Parmer. He reported for his first workout with the then world champions last July.

"I was scared to death. I used to sit in front of my locker and wait for word from the trainer to report to the coach. That meant you were cut—released by the Eagles."

However, he says his life as an Eagle rookie was good, and the veterans, including defensive halfback Tom Brookshier, went out of their way to help him.

Glen was a spectator during much of the early going for the Eagles last season, riding the bench behind Brookshier, a former Colorado University star. His first starting role came after Brookshier suffered a broken leg when blocked by Chicago Bear end John Farrington.

"What a first game," says Amerson. "Starting against the Giants in Yankee Stadium is a real nice way to break in."

Glen's job—stay up with Giant end Del Shofner, former Baylor and Los Angeles Ram star.

"Shofner is real tough for a defensive halfback, the way he swings his arms and his speed," says Amerson. "And he's almost unstoppable on a sideline pass."

Minor Loop To Suspend Operations

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — A closed meeting to discuss the plight of the ailing Southern Association resulted Wednesday in the minor league suspending operations for the 1962 baseball season.

The action came after officials of the South Atlantic League rejected a proposal to merge the two circuits. The Sally League, however, accepted applications for membership from two Southern Association clubs—Nashville and Chattanooga.

Hal Totten, president of Southern, opposed the idea of the merger that would have made the Sally League a 12-club loop with east and west divisions of six teams. He suggested instead that two of the Sally franchises be transferred to his loop and that each league operate with six clubs.

Sally League president Sam Smith was not receptive to either of the ideas. He did not want to lose two teams that apparently function efficiently. Neither did he want to include two distance clubs of the Southern Association — Evansville, Ind., and Little Rock—because of the traveling involved.

The Sally League was receptive to applications of Nashville and Chattanooga to join the eight-club loop. But the invitation was contingent on Nashville finding another major league team affiliation by Feb. 5. Should Nashville fail, neither team would be admitted to the Sally League.

Hogs Belt Tulsa Five

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Arkansas Jerry Carlton got hot in the final minutes Wednesday night to give Arkansas a 99-77 non-conference basketball win over Tulsa, which had closed the gap to four points with six minutes to play.

Arkansas, of the Southwest Conference, relaxed a bit too much after leading comfortably most of the game. But Carlton, who led individual scoring with 26 points, provided the points to blunt Tulsa's late rally.

Jerry Malloy was high for Tulsa with 19 points.

White Appointed Backfield Coach At West Texas State

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—Howard White, assistant football coach at New Mexico State for the past two years, was appointed backfield coach at West Texas State College Wednesday.

White, a graduate of Southern California, succeeds John Roberts, Roberts recently accepted the head coaching job at Cameron, Tex. High School.

White coached eight years in California before going to New Mexico State. He was head coach for five years in high schools and three years in junior colleges, compiling a record of 38 wins, 16 losses and three ties.

Miami Splits Two Contests

Miami's boys and girls split in cage action Tuesday.

The Miami boys won over Briscoe, 50-49 with Mark Arrington hitting for 23 points. Tim Flowers had 13. The boys had to come from behind in the last quarter to win.

The Miami girls lost, 63 - 40. Donna Byrum had 16 points for the losers while Charlene Fulks had 26 for the winners.

U.S. Has But One Bobsled

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (UPI) — The United States was left today with only one team in the international four-man bobsled championships next weekend, but that sled will carry the hopes of two countries.

Coach Stan Benham announced Wednesday that the team headed by U.S. Marine Cpl. Gary Sheffield of Lake Placid, N.Y., would not race.

"It was my decision," Benham said. "He and his boys want to go but I can't let them—conditions have been too rotten for even a single practice run, and Gary never has driven a four-man sled before."

However, the U.S. team won perhaps an even bigger victory Wednesday when it was disclosed that the American foursome captained by Lloyd Johnson of Madison, Wis., would be riding a bobsled volunteered to them by a West Berlin team which has been eliminated from the championships.

Niels Jatzow, the West Berlin captain, offered the use of the sled to Johnson with the remark: "Americans have done so much for Berlin. It's a pleasure to do something for you."

Johnson, now a manufacturer's representative in Frankfurt, is the only member of his crew with previous bobsledding experience. Completing the team are Walter Monaco, East Haven, Conn.; Jim Howard, Ware Shoals, S.C.; and Bill Gleason, Rensselaer, N.Y.

Despite a raw squad and a comparatively poor showing in the recent two-man races, both Benham and Johnson are confident of a strong effort in the four-man event. Their main hope centers on the light average weight of the team to give it an edge on a fast start and plenty of pickup.

"Experience is all very well if you can get it," Johnson said. "But given a choice I'll take a low center of gravity. I've been in plenty of races where we were weak on experience and still took all the marbles."

White Deer Cops Three Victories

White Deer's cage teams carded three victories Tuesday over Gruver.

White Deer's A team boys won, 67-29. Carroll Russell led the winners with 22 points. Carl McAdams had 20 and Jerry Bichsel 18 to aid in the attack.

White Deer's B team fell by the wayside, however, 31-17.

White Deer's A team girls won over the Gruver girls, 49 - 47. Juanna Joe Moore led the winners with 29 points.

The Does B team also won, 22-14.

Why Continue U.N.

"I believe that I am the only representative at this table who was present at the birth of this organization. Tonight, we are witnessing the first act in a drama which could end with its death. The League of Nations died. I remind you, when its members no longer resisted the use of aggressive force. . . . The failure of the Security Council to call for a cease-fire tonight in these simple circumstances (the invasion of Goa by India) is a failure of the United Nations. The veto of the Soviet Union is consistent with its long role of obstruction. But I find the attitude of some other members of the Council profoundly disturbing and ominous because we have witnessed tonight an effort to rewrite the charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purposes. This approach can only lead to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

Thus spoke Adlai Stevenson to the Security Council of the U.N. on December 19 while the invasion of Goa was in progress.

The day before, Lord Home, foreign minister of Great Britain, had uttered some equally ominous words:

"I have persistently warned the country and the U.N. of the dangers which would result in the U.N. because the balance of responsibility as it had been laid down in the Charter has been upset. . . . If the emphasis taken off the first duty of the U.N., which is peacekeeping and security, and laid on the acceleration of independence and the eradication of colonialism, which is a subsidiary issue, then the U.N. places itself in danger of becoming political and partisan and adopting double standards."

"If it were to do that, then it would sow the seeds of its own destruction." The foreign minister was voicing his disapproval over the recent U.N. aggression in Katanga.

Whether or not the balance of the representatives at this international mischief-making body chose to receive these counsels in serious vein has yet to be determined.

Since 1945, when the U.N. was formed, it has more than doubled its membership. But it has failed signally in preventing war. On the contrary, it has fanned bad feelings among persons who are traditionally allied, stood by when actual war occurred, and meanwhile served as a sounding board for ambitious politicians out to remodel the world into something they can more readily control.

The entire U.N. concept was an error from its outset. This nation had no business in it. It is certainly time we pulled out and began solving some of our own problems, rather than perpetually intervening in the problems of others.

Self Control

Probably the reason many people fear freedom is because they've had so little of it, they don't know how to handle it. Many a man's problems begin when he finally gets himself into a position to do as he pleases and he has never learned the disciplines which always accompany human liberty.

Power In Political Structures

Power in government always flows from the top down.

When Plato outlined what he conceived to be the ideal state, he envisioned a pyramid type of society with the philosopher king on top, the ordinary brassy citizens on the bottom, and a military force in between to perpetuate the division.

Plato's description, far from being ideal, is the brutal fact. Government invariably takes this form. In essence, it is a kind of eternal triangle, having nothing to do with the "other woman."

Why does power always flow from the political peak, down to the lowest subject? It flows this way because every political structure ever devised must have a head. The head has authority. Authority is always on top.

Actually, there is a kind of political energy flow within all governmental structures which can be seen and recognized by the alert observer.

There is a type of ferment within the structure, forever pressing upward, like yeast in warm water. This germ which creates inner pressure comes from those we could term the "king-makers" or the "yes-men" within any political satrapy.

It is their function to praise their leader, to obey his every wish, to voice his ambitions be-mined. But it is now certain that the erratic and controversial nature of the U.N. is coming up for some sharp revision of thinking the world around.

The U.N. is in trouble. Financially, it is broke. It has collected payments from the U.S. far in advance of due date. Now it is seeking to sell bonds to member governments. The bonds, of course, would have to be redeemed in a further payment of taxes by the unlucky taxpayers the world over.

Principally, these payments would be made up by U.S. taxpayers, who have paid 80 per cent of all U.N. charges and who have been carrying most of the cost of the military operations in the Congo.

There's a growing feeling, expressed almost everywhere in the world, that the U.N. cannot or will not do the job for which it was supposedly constructed.

In consequence, there is a growing feeling among diplomats that they had better get busy and tend to the affairs of their own nations rather than placing them in secondary position to fabled U.N. values.

And more than one voice is being raised abroad as well as at home which counsels that the way to peace may NOT be inside an agency which not only is impotent to deal with such things as Hungary and Goa but actually aids and abets aggressive war in support of a U.N. puppet regime in the Congo.

Since 1945, when the U.N. was formed, it has more than doubled its membership. But it has failed signally in preventing war. On the contrary, it has fanned bad feelings among persons who are traditionally allied, stood by when actual war occurred, and meanwhile served as a sounding board for ambitious politicians out to remodel the world into something they can more readily control.

The entire U.N. concept was an error from its outset. This nation had no business in it. It is certainly time we pulled out and began solving some of our own problems, rather than perpetually intervening in the problems of others.

quiescence build a pressure. But power flows from the top down even as water flows from a higher elevation to a lower one.

If people ever do exert power upward, it is power being employed AGAINST their leader and not in his favor. This is the energy of a revolution or an election. But, definitively, this is not political power. It is anti-political power. It is a rejection of the existing leadership, for whatever reason appears to be valid in a given instance.

The thing that confuses many Americans is that they confuse political power with anti-political power. They are not the same. The reason for the confusion in this country primarily, relates to the wide use of the ballot. Since earliest days in our government schools, where worship of the government was dinned into our young minds, we have been taught to believe that because we can vote, this means that we ARE the government.

If the American people ARE the government, and if the government is the ruler of the American people, then who is ruler and who is ruled?

For there to be a head to a state, there must be a body. The two cannot be the same. The people are the body, and they are ruled. The government is the head and it does the ruling.

A change in heads does not constitute a change in processes. Americans may manage to select their jailor. But they are never granted the freedom to open up their own cells by refusing to pay taxes.

BLOOD PRESSURE READINGS: A GAUGE TO STATE OF HEALTH

In a previous column, I explained how blood pressure is recorded and the meaning of the figures you are given. In short, to take a simple example, if you are told your reading is 150 over 100, that means your systolic level (force of the heart pump) is 150 millimeters of mercury (written mm.Hg.) and that 100 mm.Hg. is your diastolic level (written 150-100).

What do these figures mean in terms of health and disease? Well, the diastolic level is the more important and the easier to define. It's easier to define because it is not subject to all sorts of variations. In other words, it's fixed, like the price of a postage stamp.

It's more important than the systolic level because it represents the resistance against which the cardiac pump must work. So there's general agreement that the normal range of the diastolic tension is between 60 and 90 mm.Hg.

The answer to "how high is up?" so far as the diastolic level is concerned is anything over 90 or, at most 100 mm.Hg. Indeed, an elevation over 100 mm.Hg. is a matter of grave consequence.

When we come to systolic levels, which are emphasized most (often to the exclusion of the more important diastolic), we're going to have a difficult time defining the height of "up." The systolic pressure is subject to as many fluctuations as April weather.

Within the course of a few minutes it can vary as many as 50 mm.Hg. These variations can be caused by any number of factors most of which have nothing to do with the state of the heart of its blood vessels.

For examples, systolic levels are influenced by age (higher as we grow older), sex (higher in women), weight (higher in the obese), body build (higher in Mr. Five-by-Five than in Mr. High Pockets), heredity (higher in certain families, consistently lower in others), the position of the subject during the test (higher when lying flat), the place of the test (higher in a doctor's office than at home), the identity of the observer (higher when taken by a doctor than when taken by a nurse or by the subject himself), the emotional state of the observer (higher if tense, irritable and excitable), the emotional state of the subject (very much higher if under strain), the purpose of the examination (very much higher if an insurance or induction physical than one done by own doctor for routine check-up) etc.

Now then, you ask "How high is up?" Well, like the old vaudeville of whom the question was originally asked, I have to do a bit of head scratching. For, as you can see from the list of variables I just mentioned, even a vacuum might have a tough time coming up with an exact answer.

But, so as not to beg the question entirely, let's say that any systolic reading in excess of 200 mm.Hg. constitutes hypertension. And in the last of these columns, we'll go into the meaning of an elevated systolic tension.

Pegler Says:

This Girl Gave Up Her World To Serve Others

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Imogene Stanley died January 6 in the Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio. She was one of the most beautiful young women who ever lived when, in the fall of 1923, she switched the Prince of Wales in the public dining room of the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec and danced with him until the orchestra put away its gear and the party was over.

A Quebec society girl, Miss Phyllis Burstal, had had the first dance. Then General Gerald F. Trotter, a veteran of the war in France, who had lost a forearm in battle, smacked his heels, presented himself, and asked Gene for the next dance. She was sitting with an American woman and her daughter whom she had known in New York. They had met in the elevator and, by this miraculous luck, Gene was able to join their table at the rim of the floor. She was chaperoned. When this dance ended, Trotter asked permission to present her to Baron Renfrew, the Prince's incognito in those days.

Imogene had been assigned by the new, rapacious New York News, that terrible tabloid, to buy a new dress on the expense account, go to Quebec and, on her own initiative, break into the prince's confidence and write the story. She never did write it. And when, late that night, Phil Payne, the city editor, threatened to have it written in the shop and to run her name over it, Gene said, "If you do, I will deny it to The New York Times and sue you for libel."

The dress was green. It had cost $35. Gene's home in New York was a furnished room on lower Fifth Avenue. That address may have impressed Trotter.

In recent years, Gene had worked for a radio station in San Antonio. She was ill. The world had passed her by. In the interim after the night of dancing with the prince, she had buried herself in a crossroads huddle of 'dobe' houses, huts and hovels near Chihuahua City, Mexico. Her sister had married an American who was making the desperate venture of running a small bunch of cattle down there. When the sister had a baby, Gene pulled her stakes in Hollywood and gave herself to them. The baby was a boy who was born unlucky and died wretchedly. The sister's husband died.

After that disaster, Gene tried to carry on as head of the family. She delivered Indian babies. She helped cows with their calves. She spoke Spanish like a native. After ten years of this, she guided the little family back to San Antonio and went to work in the limited field of journalism as a local reporter and stringer and writing radio scripts. Just after the Second War she tipped back to New York where she had been a triumph and tried a small job with Sam Pryor of Pan-American. But her heart was dry inside her. Gene was still beautiful. Her profile, her straight, graceful bearing were still the characteristics of the blonde who had vamped the Prince of Wales. She quietly vanished again.

I told her that Julie and I had dined at 21 with the Duke of Windsor and Wallis and that when Julie had mentioned her, the Duke had exclaimed happily, "Gene! How is she? Do you see her?" and Wallis had asked, not grimly, but with interest nevertheless, "Gene? Who might she be?"

Hankering

By HENRY McLEMORE

I turned down my 245th invitation to go skiing today.

It is not easy to refuse invitations to ski, for skiers are alight with the same fires that burn inside missionaries, and they will do almost anything to make a convert.

Why don't I ski? Why isn't this column a meeting place for skiers where they can learn of snow and slopes, slaloms and fractures?

There are many reasons. To start with, there is no such thing as a close ski slope. They are all far removed from where a man works and lives. Unlike bowling alleys, pool halls, and midjet race tracks, ski slopes are never just around the corner. They are invariably way off in the mountains, and mountains are always off in a corner of a state or nation.

To reach a ski slope, a man must read timetables, ask for days off and, worse still, carry ski equipment. I doubt if a brace of live eagles is more difficult to carry than a pair of skis. And ski boots are roughly the size and weight of a peck of potatoes.

Another drawback to skiing is that it is a sport in which all male skiers are handsome. This does not make it pleasant for the thousands of us males who are not. I am a pure fright in ski clothes. When I put on a pair of stretch pants and a turtle-neck sweater, I could easily be mistaken for a fireplug at a costume party.

In skiing it is true that pride goeth before a fall. The last time I went skiing I was taken to the Nursery Slope. This is where infants, toddlers, tiny lispers and youngsters proud of knowing all the alphabet are taken to learn to ski. There I was, middle-aged, lined of face, droopy of jaw, out in the sandbox of the snows, so to speak. Would I go to a swimming pool and spend all my time in the wading pool, splashing and riding a rubber duck?

How can a man expect to keep his self-respect after a morning on the Nursery Slope with children who were born forty years after he took to bifocal glasses?

Yet men do it. I have done it. I will remember spending most of lunch time at Zermatt telling my wife how I had fallen down three fewer times than Bobby Joe (aged 4), had managed one glide of 15 feet, which was better than Margaret Ann (aged 6) had been able to do, and had been able to get on my feet after a fall quicker than Timmy (aged practically nothing).

Many men lose their wives at ski resorts. That's another danger. One is always reading of how Mrs. Bessie Elliott has taken to the hills with Tony Davos, ski instructor, and how Mr. Luther Combone plans action against Hans Hoopmer, jump champion of Rigamarole-Alpenstock.

Better that the average husband take up oceanography, where he can wear a diving bell, or fencing, with its mask and pads.

One must not forget the danger that goes with skiing. In a way, it is a sort of Russian roulette at low temperatures. Plaster cast salesmen make fortunes each winter here and in Europe, and one of the largest yachts I ever saw in the harbor at Nice was owned by a splint manufacturer from St. Moritz.

There is too much wealth at most ski resorts for most of us. Princes, dukes, tycoons, and Aga Khans flash by, accompanied by wives and sweethearts wearing underpaw of chinchilla and earlobe of ermine. This makes many a wife dissatisfied with her old bedroom slippers and her husband's faded bathrobe.

I well remember a day at Isbruck, during the height of the ski season. Ambulances clanged, men in white coats were to be seen hurrying up hillsides, and moans and groans came down from the slopes.

Why And Wherefore Of U.S. Policy On Laos

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What's left of the old China Lobby and its successor organizations like the John Birch Society and the Rump American Committee to Aid Katanga Freedom Fighters may have themselves another ball-or-bawl-over Kennedy policy on Laos, which is a continuation of Eisenhower policy.

The administration is now committed to establishment of a neutralist government in Laos. This means a coalition in which pro-Western elements under Premier Prince Boun Oum, pro-Communist Pathet Lao revolutionists under Prince Souphanouvong and the self-styled neutralist-conservative followers of Prince Souvanna Phouma will all be represented.

There has already been considerable Washington rumbling over the idea.

Republican leaders such as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois have been protesting ever since last June against negotiations with Russia, Red China and other powers at Geneva to establish a neutral Laos.

Criticism has centered on two main points: First, that any agreement with Russia or any other Communist state or faction will not be kept and is worthless. The argument is advanced that every coalition government including Communists has eventually ended in a take-over, as in Poland, Czechoslovakia or where you will.

Second, that Prince Souvanna Phouma is not a neutralist, but a Communist sympathizer and collaborator with closer ties to Moscow and Peking than to the West.

Rumpus Is Raised In Parliament On Redecorating Bill

LONDON (UPI)—Parliament's first 1962 session was thrown into an uproar yesterday when an attack was made on plans to spend $238,000 to redecorate Princess Margaret's royal home.

Members began yelling and demonstrating when one asked if the princess and her husband Lord Snowdon—formerly photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones—were paying any of the cost.

The bewigged speaker of Commons, Sir Harry Hutton-Foster, gravelled the chamber back into order. He ruled the question out of order.

Reginald T. Paget, a member of the Labor opposition, put the question to Lord John Hope, the minister of works, who is responsible for refurbishing Margaret and Tony's Kensington Palace apartment.
