US Tests Rocket-Borne Nuclear Device; Hawaii Bathed In Color

Third Time Is Charm In High-Altitude Shot

By CHARLES BERNARD
United Press International

HONOLULU (UPI) — The United States touched off a rocket-borne nuclear device over Johnston Island in the Pacific Sunday night, bathing the Hawaiian Islands 750 miles away in a fantasy of color.

The blast, which was equal to a million or more tons of TNT, occurred at 11 p.m. HST (4 a.m. Monday EST). Witnesses in Honolulu said the sky lighted up in a marine green color from horizon to horizon.

Nearly one hour later, an aurora-like effect which had been anticipated was observed on the island of Maui. The gigantic V-shaped spectacle changed from yellow to dull red, then icy blue and finally white over a 25-minute period.

The blast was observed throughout the island chain.

Success For Thor

The nuclear warhead was carried aloft by a Thor rocket, the same type missile that on two previous tests forced Joint Task Force 8 officials to destroy the rockets shortly after launch.

On both previous aborted tests, the nuclear devices plunged into the ocean without detonation.

The official announcement said: "A nuclear device carried aloft by a Thor missile was detonated at a height of hundreds of kilometers at 11 p.m. HST. The detonation was in the megaton range."

The blast set off air raid sirens in parts of the Hawaiian islands and blacked out short wave broadcast bands such as Radio Tokyo and Radio Australia.

Radio Tokyo was still out a half hour after the blast but radio Australia was back on the air.

Moscow radio denounced the explosion as a "crime" committed by "American atom-mongers."

"All mankind has angrily protested the blast," it said.

After the initial green flash the sky glowed red, gradually fading to a sunset pink, which remained for about seven minutes after the blast. The stars were obliterated by the flash and the moon was eerily centered amidst the changing color patterns in the sky.

Spectators Almost Speechless

Spectators on the beach in Hawaii were struck practically speechless by the sight. After a few seconds of silence, they reacted with exclamations of awe and disbelief.

"I was taking a picture," said Roger Coryell, an aide to Gov. William Quinn of Hawaii. "and through the camera I saw (the subject) turn blue like an electronic flash, then green for about two seconds, then the light subsided and it became a rosy pink in the west."

The sky remained the color of rose wine for several minutes after the blast.

Catholic, Jewish Pair Marries; Off On Honeymoon

TOMS RIVER, N.J. (UPI)—A 1962 version of "Abie's Irish Rose" today had its storybook ending with Ion Glicker, 18, who is Jewish and his Catholic sweetheart, Patricia Kremer, 17, off on a cross-country honeymoon.

The young couple was married at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church here Sunday after overcoming a series of charges and family arguments which had threatened to separate them.

Ion's father, Herman, a Flushing, N.Y. real estate man, had been opposed to the marriage because of the difference in religions. Although his opposition had lessened since May, he and his wife, Ion's stepmother, did not attend the wedding.

But several hundred persons jammed the church to witness the ceremony.

The Rev. Henry Murphy performed the double ring ceremony at the altar rail.

Father Murphy said the boy had signed an agreement that any children the couple may have would be reared as Catholics.

Patricia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kremer of Toms River, attended the ceremony and Kremer gave his daughter away.

Cold Front Brings Additional Rains To Top O' Texas

Pampa measured another .20 inch of moisture over the week end as general rains in the area cooled temperatures behind the leading edge of a cold front.

Electrical displays accompanied the rain in most areas, with Panhandle reporting telephone lines still out late this morning.

Panhandle, which has been hard-hit by rains this spring and summer, has received nearly an additional inch of moisture in the last week. The community measured .59 inch early Sunday, .32 inch last night and .05 inch earlier last week for a total of .96 inch during the week.

Lefors got "about a half-inch" Sunday.

The leading edge of a midsummer cold front brought cooler weather and thundershowers Sunday to the Texas Panhandle and the Weather Bureau predicted more showers today for the Panhandle, Southwest Texas and the coastal plain.

Rains associated with the front fell at Dalhart, Amarillo and Lubbock and temperatures in those cities dropped into the 60s during the night.

A few showers fell today in the eastern Panhandle and in the mountains of Southwest Texas with clear to partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures reported elsewhere across the state. Most of the continuing rain activity will be confined to the afternoon and evenings, forecasters said.

Low overnight temperatures ranged from 60 at Abilene to 64 at Corpus Christi. Sunday's high was 107 at Presidio. Dalhart had 2 and .02 inch of rain; Amarillo 6 and .31 inch; Lubbock 68 and .6 inch; and El Paso 67 and .93 inch.

Turbo-Prop Visits Amarillo Wheat Field

Passengers And Crew Safely Leave Crash-Landed Airplane

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Hostess Linda Howard said a prayer then bravely set out to calm passengers Sunday just before her Continental Airlines Viscount II turbo-prop airplane crash-landed in a wheat field.

Miss Howard, 22, remembered almost all her safety procedure. She did not, however, fasten her own seat belt.

One passenger of the 13 persons and three crew members aboard required hospital treatment, for a cut right ear. The $1 million plane crashed exploding twice just after the last person got off. Fire quickly engulfed the plane, which was a total loss.

"I just asked God to help them get down as safely as possible," Miss Howard, of El Paso, said.

Pilot Larry Lauratis executed a low-altitude turn after takeoff, then brought the big plane down on its belly in the stubble of a recently harvested wheat field. Lauratis said he knew the craft was in trouble from the minute of takeoff.

Passengers streamed out escape hatches in the front and rear of the passenger compartment and the co-pilot went through a window in the crew compartment.

There was no panic among the passengers.

One passenger, Mrs. Gail Herron, 20, of West Hollywood, Fla., the plane started wagging back and forth.

"The hostess was wonderful. She kept walking up and down the aisle, saying nothing was wrong, but I knew there was. There was no panic, no hysteria. Nobody ever said we were going to crash but everybody was ready for it," Mrs. Herron said.

"Next time I'm taking a bus," she said.

The plane came to rest a mile from the airport.

"It turned out to be a good choice for a place to put her down," Lauratis, 43, said.

"In the back of my mind I was hoping that Linda was having no trouble with the passengers," Lauratis said.

Lauratis, Miss Howard and co-pilot Ed Gorman of El Paso all credited their training for emergencies with the safe landing.

Mrs. Connie Carothers, 70, of Fullerton, Calif., was the only person hospitalized. She was treated for a cut below an ear and was released. Ten other passengers were treated and released.

"He told me that within a few seconds after they all got out, the plane was completely enveloped in flames and all of the passengers' luggage and other belongings were destroyed."

"He said that after landing the pilot and co-pilot climbed out through the cockpit windows and opened the forward door for passengers to get out."

"I dropped him off at the airport yesterday and told him goodbye but didn't wait for the plane to take off. I didn't know about the crash until I was on my way back to Pampa and heard bulletins of it on the radio."

"When passengers were taken to Northwest Hospital, Bill was interviewed by Channel 10 news directors and made a tape of his reactions. He called me an hour after the crash, but I knew he was all right before he called."

"Bill caught a later flight from Amarillo and arrived in Honolulu last night. He will be there for six weeks to take advance management training at the University of Hawaii. Harvard University sponsors the program and Bill's employers, the Cree Oil Company, sent him over there. I plan to fly over and join him at the end of the session," Mrs. Chambliss said.

Capt. L. A. Lauratis of El Paso, pilot of the four-engine turbo-jet, landed the plane safely in a wheat stubble field near U.S. Highway 66 a mile and a quarter east of Amarillo about 7:05 a.m. yesterday, three minutes after take-off. Cause of the fire and crash had not been determined late today.

Top O' Texas Ranch Tour Details Made Public For August 18th Trip

Details of the Top O' Texas Ranch Tour, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 18, were announced today by E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager.

The tour will start at 7:45 a.m. Aug. 18 with a breakfast at the J. P. Callahan Ranch, six miles south of Pampa.

At 8:30 a.m. the group will leave for the Clyde Magee Ranch at McLean, leaving there in time for a 10 a.m. drive-by at the R-O Ranch near McLean.

Stops are scheduled at 10:15 a.m. and 11 a.m. at the Sitter Ranch and the Hess Ranch, both south of McLean.

At 12:30 noon the Tour group will arrive at McLean City Park where a barbecue dinner will be served by the Pampa Shrine Club. A crowd of 300 persons is expected for the barbecue.

The Doctor Hereford Ranch, one mile south of McLean, will be visited at 1:30 p.m. and a drive-by is scheduled for the Billie Davis Ranch at 2:30 p.m.

Next stop will be at 3 p.m. at the Emmett LeFors Ranch, south of Pampa, followed by a 3:30 p.m. stop at the Carruth Ranch, south-east of Pampa.

The final stop of the Ranch Tour is set for 4:30 p.m. at the Maddox Ranch, five miles south of Pampa, where a watermelon feast is scheduled.

Association officials said purpose of the tour is to give persons interested in cattle and cattle-raising a chance to inspect some of the top ranches in the area.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the tour include Paul Dauer, A. B. Carruth, J. P. Callahan and Wayne Maddox.

Armed Clash Threatened

Nationalist Troops Back Vice Premier In Algeria

ALGIERS (UPI) — Heavily armed Algerian Nationalist guerrillas advanced from Morocco today in a move to link up with 1,000 troops in Oran who support dissident Vice Premier Mohammed Ben Bella.

The threat of an armed clash between feuding nationalist factions was so serious that two ministers of Premier Youssef Ben Khedda's cabinet were in the Moroccan capital of Rabat seeking to negotiate with Ben Bella.

The emissaries, Information Minister Mohammed Yazid and Minister of State Rabah Bitat, arrived in Rabat Sunday night. Bitat immediately conferred with Mohammed Khider, who quit Ben Khedda's cabinet to side with Ben Bella.

To Join Discussions

Ben Bella himself was reported en route to Rabat from Cairo via Geneva to join the discussions.

Ben Bella is believed to have support of the majority of the estimated 60,000 National Liberation Army (ALN) troops stationed in Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia.

About 1,000 arrived in the western port city of Oran from Morocco over the weekend and another 1,200 were reported to have arrived in Tlemcen, just west of Oran, Sunday.

Reports from Tlemcen said they carried sidearms made in Communist East Europe and towed heavy artillery and anti-aircraft guns made in Eastern Europe and Communist China.

"Vive Ben Bella"

Villagers shouted "Vive Ben Bella" as the guerrillas traveled through the countryside.

The core of Ben Khedda's strength is in the Algiers region and in Wilaya 2 — the eastern Algerian military region of the ALN.

Ben Khedda supporters took over Constantine over the weekend, disarming the locally-recruited police force which had kept order since the Franco-Moslem cease-fire in March. Apparently one purpose was to acquire arms in case of trouble with Ben Bella supporters.

The United States hopes to put the satellite into an orbit which will carry it once around earth every two hours and 20 minutes, at altitudes ranging from 600 to 3,500 miles.

In space, Telstar will serve as a sort of "switchboard in the sky" — a complex instrument to catch microwave signals, amplify them and relay them back to earth.

It is expected to permit the first transatlantic television broadcast via space satellite within one or two weeks—a gala event of news from the United States and scenic views from several European countries.

'Wrong Number' Is Fatal To Baby

BRENTWOOD, N. Y. (UPI)—A wrong number dialed on a telephone resulted Sunday in the death of a baby girl.

Beverly Schuring, 1, was cavorting in a play pool filled with one foot of water in the backyard of the Schuring home in Brentwood. Her father, John, looked on.

The ringing of the telephone took the father inside the house. It was a wrong number. He returned to find the baby drowned, her head caught between a float and the edge of the pool.

The Medical Aid Controversy Continues To Rage

Saskatchewan Proposal Studied We Talk! Austrian M.D.'s Strike

By CRAIG ASPINALL
REGINA, Sask. (UPI)—The Saskatchewan government may disclose at a news conference today whether a proposal by a private medical insurance organization aimed at ending the 9-day-old doctors strike is acceptable.

At least one cabinet member was expected to be present at a news conference, although it was not known whether provincial Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd would be on hand. No hint was given about what would be discussed.

The news conference is scheduled for 12:15 p.m. EDT.

Lloyd, whose weekend statements indicated no softening of the socialist government's stand against the striking physicians, spent two-and-a-half hours Sunday night with treasurer A. E. Blakeney and treasury officials.

Have No Comment

Afterward both Lloyd and Blake-ney had only a "no comment" for reporters' questions. However, it was considered likely they discussed a compromise proposal offered by Medical Services, Inc. (MSI) aimed at removing doctors' objections to practicing under a socialized medical plan and getting them back to work.

The strike by 900 physicians against North America's first socialized medical care plan started July 1. The ranks of doctors providing emergency medical service were spread even thinner over the weekend as physicians were reassigned to meet shortages at the province.

MSI, a voluntary, non-profit, pre-paid health plan, proposed that it carry out a health insurance program for the government either alone or in conjunction with other private health insuring organizations.

Underwrite Health Insurance

Under the proposal, the government would underwrite basic health insurance, determine the level of benefits, set and collect premiums and designate beneficiaries. MSI and other health groups would offer additional levels of coverage over and above that provided by the basic government insurance, such as for drugs, special nursing, specialist care and private hospital accommodations.

MSI said it would operate the (See PROPOSAL, Page 2)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate opened another day of debate today on the controversial medical care for the aged and more of the same is expected all week long.

More than a dozen amendments were pending, including several rival Republican proposals calling for federal payments to supplement private health insurance plans for the aged.

Backers of the administration-endorsed bipartisan compromise bill on medicare are optimistic about its chances of Senate passage, but its ultimate fate is in doubt.

The bill is considered to have only a small chance in the House, where it is bottled up in the ways

VIENNA (UPI) — Nearly 14,000 Austrian doctors began a 24-hour strike today to force demands for higher pay and to protest what they called government efforts to "socialize" doctors.

All medical services were curtailed with the exception of hospital emergency wards.

Police were alerted to control demonstrations against the striking doctors by labor union members. Over the weekend 800 workers staged a protest rally in front of the Chamber of Physicians headquarters.

Starts In Vienna

The feud started in Vienna where doctors were receiving a payment of $1.70 per patient for a three-month period no matter how often the patient was treated. They asked the State Health Insurance Co. for an increase to $2.32.

The government insurance officials turned them down. The doctors canceled their contract and started asking patients for cash payments.

Vienna promptly became one of the most healthy cities in Europe. Viennese, faced with the prospect of paying from $1.16 to $2.32 per visit, stayed away from doctors in droves.

Absenteeism Drops

Factory managers reported that absenteeism dropped from the normal 8 to 7 per cent to 1 per cent.

When the doctors complained the State Insurance Co. responded by offering any doctor a post as a "state employed doctor" with a fixed monthly salary of $440.

Postal Worker Representation Election Today

DALLAS (Sp) — Dallas will be the site today of the biggest count ever made in an employe organization representation election, with more than 20,000 votes of postal employes to be counted from the states of Texas and Louisiana.

The local record tallying operation is part of a nationwide count in 15 regional offices of the Post Office Department, in which 360,000 employes of the approximate 495,000 who were given ballots have voted, according to Postal Regional Director W. M. McMillan.

The ballots list ten employe organizations seeking to represent one or more of the seven postal crafts — clerks, letter carriers, mail handlers, special delivery messengers, motor vehicle maintenance and drivers, maintenance and custodial employes, and rural carriers. There are also places on the ballot in which employes could write in the name of any other employe organization, or to vote for no organization.

ter the detonation, finally trailing off into pink and eventually disappearing.

One witness said he seemed to "feel something on my teeth, and a smell of ozone in the air" at the moment of the detonation.

Three minutes after the blast the moon was centered in a sky fluctuating between a light pink and a darker, almost red, hue. The clouds were silhouetted against the bright sky.

Previous Attempts Fail
Sunday night's explosion followed two previous attempts which were aborted by blowing up the Thor rockets in flight when malfunctions developed, and four 24-hour postponements of the third attempt because of weather.

The test was designed to measure effects of such explosions on radio and radar communications. Scientists expected a temporary blackout of some communications.

On June 3 the rocket and its warhead were destroyed shortly after launching because of a malfunction in the tracking equipment. That attempt included a relatively smaller device scheduled for detonation at an altitude of 30 miles.

The second effort failed on June 19 because of a malfunction in the rocket, which was blasted to bits just seconds after launching. That shot, like Sunday night's effort, a megaton device scheduled for detonation at an altitude of several hundred miles.

Scientists throughout the world have been alerted to study the effects of the blast on the earth's magnetic field and the Van Allen radiation zones which envelop the planet.

Kite flying is the favorite sport on the Maldives Islands, a British-protected sultanate of the Indian Ocean.

G. E. James Services Held Today

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church, Borger, for Glen E. James, of Borger, who died in his home at 2:15 p.m. Saturday of a heart attack.

A member of the First Baptist Church of Borger, Mr. James was born in Belpre, Kans., in 1905, and moved to Amarillo in 1926. In 1935 he moved to Borger and started work as a general building contractor.

Mr. James was a member of the I.S.O.M. Masonic Lodge, 1242 A.F. and A.M., Khiva Temple, Borger Elks 1581 and the Loyal Order of the Moose.

The Ed Brown Funeral Home of Borger was to direct funeral arrangements. Burial was to follow in the Memorial Cemetery, Borger.

Mr. James is survived by his wife, Mrs. Doris James of Borger; one son, R. C. James of Dallas; two sisters, Mrs. Paul Crouch, 1700 Charles, Pampa, and Mrs. L. C. Byerley of Liberal, Kans.; and two brothers, J. S. James of Ft. Worth and C. E. James of Port Arthur.

Annually, about 200,000 U.S. Army personnel come back from overseas and are replaced by 200,000 others.

Senate (Continued From Page 1) & means committee.

Under the terms of the compromise bill, medical care would be financed through Social Security payroll taxes. An estimated 18 million persons aged 65 would be covered, if it wins approval. Other congressional news:

Tax Cut: Sen. William Proxmire said today that the Senate-House Economic Committee should hold hearings to find out why the government is "slamming on the credit brakes." The Wisconsin Democrat said the Federal Reserve Board's "restrictive money policies" are cutting business opportunities and increasing unemployment.

Nomination: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee holds hearings today on the nomination of Matthew McCloskey to be ambassador to Ireland. McCloskey, a former treasurer of the Democratic party, told the committee earlier that he knew of no conflict of interests in government contracts awarded to his construction firm while he was the chief fund raiser for the Democratic party.

Entertainment: The House Appropriations subcommittee today termed a government sponsored tour of Southeast Asia by comedian Joey Adams an onstage success but an offstage flop. Testimony before the committee told of backstage feuding between Adams and his fellow show members. Chairman John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., said that at one point Adams and band leader Buddy Rich engaged in a "near fist fight."

Burglars Enter Pie Shop And Drive-In Here

Two bananas, two handfuls of dry coconut, $40 in sales tax money and a small amount of change from a cigarette vending machine comprised the loot in five Pampa burglaries during the week end.

The biggest haul was at the Highland Drive Inn, 1700 N. Hobart, where the burglars got the tax money and the change from the vending machine.

The burglars then broke a window and entered the Q-T Pie Shop, next door at 1704 Hobart, where all that was reported missing was the coconut and the bananas.

E. E. Shultz, 1000 E. Fisher, said a man trying to enter his home through a kitchen window was frightened away when members of the family returned shortly after 7 p.m. Sunday. Shultz said the man ran through a side gate and fled in a car that had been parked nearby.

An attempt to burglarize the Turf Club, 117 1/2 W. Foster, failed when the would-be thieves were unable to pry open a rear window.

Sam Begert, principal of Sam Houston elementary school, reported to police that a window of a door had been removed at the school, but nothing was reported missing.

Rock Is Thrown Through Window

W. B. Colwell, owner and manager of the Colwell Tax Service, 1000 W. Harvester, reported to police that someone threw a rock through the office window sometime Saturday night.

A window on the side of the building was broken out, Colwell told police.

Approximately 42 per cent of the U.S. Army personnel is overseas, in some 90 different countries or areas.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International
TORONTO — The Toronto Globe and Mail, criticizing the doctors' strike in Saskatchewan: "The passive resistance they (the doctors) have instituted is the worst form of violence that could be perpetuated against the people of Saskatchewan."

PARIS — Ex-Foreign Legion Lieutenant Roger Degueudre, just before his execution for the role he played in the Secret Army terror campaign aimed at keeping Algeria French:

plan for the cost of claims and an administrative fee to be negotiated later.

An appealing feature to the doctors would be that it would remove them from dealing directly with the government to collect their fees.

Haley Horne, assistant secretary of the provincial College of Physicians and Surgeons, said Sunday, "The college is extremely interested in the fact that a private pre-paid plan would be allowed to continue under the medical care act if the MSI proposal were accepted. The MSI plan has been looked at (by the college)."

Premier Lloyd, who returned to the province Saturday after a three day absence, bitterly denounced the doctors instead of extending an expected olive branch.

He said that as far as he was concerned, the issue was no longer "simply a matter of medical care," but the medical profession's "challenge to the government."

"If this challenge continues," Lloyd said, "the situation will be comparable to anarchy."

Mountains Of The Moon In Africa Are Scientist's 'Home'

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—The foothills of the mysterious Mountains of the Moon in Uganda, Africa, will be the home of a Washington State University scientist and his family for the next 15 months.

Dr. Helmut K. Buechner will be doing research under a $60,000 grant from the National Science Foundation on the behavior of an animal probably few persons know exist — the Uganda kob.

It will be a return visit for the Buechners. From 1956-58, the associate professor of zoology began his study on territorial behavior of the African antelope on a Fulbright appointment, and in the summer of 1959, continued the research under a National Science Foundation grant.

"The whole family is very eager to go back," Buechner said, "despite the dreary-sounding prospect of building our own mud and wattle house." The house will be at the foot of the Blue Ruwenzori mountains, or mountains of the moon.

Buechner, his wife, Jimmie, and daughter, Hannelc, 6, flew to Uganda in June. Another daughter, Nancy, 17, is attending college in Switzerland.

Objective of trip: to study the year-round territorial behavior of the kob and to determine its significance in relation to the natural regulation of animal numbers.

"Social behavior, rather than predators (lions and leopards in this case) may limit population numbers," Buechner said.

He described some of the observations of the animals' behavior in previous research.

American Version Of Marienbad Look

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A new look is making definite inroads in hair styling as a result of the artistically acclaimed French film, "Last Year at Marienbad."

Reminiscent of the 1920s, the Marienbad look as seen in the film, is spare, dramatic and boyish, and too severe for most women to wear.

But a modified version, proposed by New York hair stylist Jack Tarayan, emerges softer in interpretation, yet maintains the caplike molded lines. This softer coiffure should be more universally becoming.

One great advantage of this new hair style, aside from its distinctive look, is that it eliminates the need for harmful teasing and daily use of sprays which dry out the hair. And it's a refreshing change from the bouffant hairdos which were becoming higher and wider than the women who carried them around.

The new look is easy to set and equally easy to keep. A solid sweep of hair diagonally across the forehead is the fashion signature, with side hair brushed cleanly behind the ears and brought forward to form guiche curls below the lobe.

Large rollers should be used for the setting to give the hair body. For the side and crown of the head, they are placed from right to left in one direction. Then the side hair over the ears is swept up and away from the face in loose pin curls.

The back can be set on four large rollers, with the curls turned under. The neck hair is very loosely curled behind the ears and turned toward the face.

When you take out your rollers and clips, it's important to give your hair a thorough brushing to make it soft and supple. Then continue the brushing with definite strokes, pulling the hair in a straight flat line across the forehead. Next, use your brush to sweep the side hair up and back over the ears and down around the lobes.

This soft interpretation of the sleek Marienbad hairdo should be a popular favorite within the next few months. And many of us will be delighted to set our heads on our pillows at night without fear of flattening out the bird's nest—we've built under our smooth bouffant!

Birthdays Noted At Senior Center

Celebrating "how many years young they are" at Senior Center in Lovett Memorial Library on Thursday afternoon were Mrs. C. L. Long, Mrs. Jay Evans, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock and Mrs. E. O. Etheredge. Each of the honorees were presented with planters filled with philodendron.

Birthdays noted at the Senior Center were Mrs. M. J. Long, Mrs. Jay Evans, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock and Mrs. E. O. Etheredge. Each of the honorees were presented with planters filled with philodendron. ## Dear Abby....

Real Friends Avoid Touchy Subject

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who brings up a subject which hurts and embarrasses us. You see, my husband's brother served time. It's all in the past now. Joe is going straight, and we are trying to forget it.

This friend is always using expressions like, "jail bird," "did time in the pen" and "up the river." Of course it bothers us. He knows about Joe because he's lived in this town all his life and it was no secret. What can you do with a person like that, and how can we shut him up?

children are scared to death to go to a dentist.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Any dentist who tells a patient that it isn't going to hurt, when it will, should go back to school and study (A) Ethics, (B) Psychology, (D) Dentistry. P.S. Don't overlook, however, that a child often will protest more out of fear than from pain.

DEAR ABBY: Could you tell me how long a person has to baby-sit before she is entitled to a PAID vacation?

CURIOS

DEAR CURIOS: Oh — say about 40 years.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of this paper.

Mrs. Tinsley Has Worthwhile Meet

Gray County 4H Club will have a dress revue at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Courthouse Annex, it was reported at the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club meeting held Friday morning at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Roy Tinsley, east of the city.

Plans for the Achievement Day to be held in October were discussed and clubs were requested by the exhibit committee to give a demonstration using one of the programs of the year.

It was announced that Miss Lou Ella Patterson will give a pie-making training course on July 19 in the Courthouse Annex.

Mrs. Tinsley presented a program on "Food For Fitness." Refreshments were served during the social hour.

It was announced that Mrs. John McKerny will be hostess for the July 20 meeting at 9:30 a.m. in her home, 2113 N. Russell. Members attending, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. L. M. Bryant, Noah Cude, M. S. Jenkins, W. G. Kinzer, J. C. Payne, N. L. Welton, O. J. Smith.

FROM MISSOURI
DEAR FROM: Are you really "From Missouri" or do you just want to be shown? Your sister-in-law could be telling the truth on both counts.

DEAR ABBY: Will you kindly say a word to some dentists who will get a child in their chair and say, "This won't hurt a bit"—and then they go to work and the kid almost goes into orbit! No wonder

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizens' Center

After the meeting on Thursday, I called on F. M. Heaston and other friends in Worley Hospital. Mr. Heaston is enjoying a visit from his sister, Mrs. S. N. Hallison of Augusta, Kan. I had the pleasure of meeting her as she was at the hospital at the time.

Mrs. Minnie Reeves was reported quite ill in Highland General Hospital. We pray for a speedy recovery.

Was nice to see Mrs. Mattie Fountain out this week after an absence. Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Norris were at the Center, too. Mrs. Norris is able to get around with a new cane. Also, Mrs. Daisy Wooten was out for the first time this week. She lives at 833 E. Gordon. We hope she enjoyed the games and will be a "regular."

Mrs. Stanley Brandt brought her granddaughter with her this week. Little Miss Gina Ross of Bakersville, Calif., who flew out here all by herself to visit her grandmother and family. She was enjoying a game of Chinese Checkers. Mrs. Brandt is one of the Gray Ladies, who transports Seniors regularly to the Center.

Mrs. Elizabeth Buris of Portersville, Calif., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Overall here, was a welcome visitor this week.

The Rev. and Mrs. P. H. Gates are visiting a daughter in Vernon this week.

Bessie Sowell is in the hospital following a fall, we were sorry to learn.

Mrs. Mattie Fountain visited her son, Robert Fountain and family in Marietta, Okla. last week.

Mrs. Pearl Moseley reports that her son, D. E. Moseley and family of Gage, Okla. was here over the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ordra Adkins of Grants, N.M. spent the weekend with Mrs. Adkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adams.

Mrs. Lena Webster spent three days last week with her brother, J. P. Webster in Lefors.

Mrs. Elma Bailey's granddaughters, Judy and Kathy Bailey of Rule, are visiting her this week.

Mrs. Cleo Seitz attended the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Vanderventer in Enoch last week. Mr. Vanderventer is a brother of Mrs. Seitz. About 75 guests attended and the gifts were lovely, she reports.

The Thursday afternoon meeting at the Center was the monthly birthday party with the Altrusa Club as hostesses. As usual they did themselves proud. Mrs. Roy Kay fashioned the beautiful centerpiece of summer garden flowers and Mrs. Clay Coston provided the beautiful cake decorated in red, white and blue on a white background with an American flag and a firecracker centering it. "Happy Birthday, Senior Center" was done in blue.

My daughter, Mrs. Henry Martin of Ventura, Calif., flew in Thursday night and between typing and visiting, it is hard to keep my mind on the typing. She can stay only one week, so we are making the most of it! Her daughter and my namesake, Stella Martin, flew to Denver to see her former friends, so I won't get to see her before Christmas, when I plan to visit them in California.

Let us pray for peace in the new countries that are just emerging for independence as well as for the old, who are striving to keep theirs. Love, Mrs. Wagner. . . in haste!

Afternoon Tea Fetes Bride-Elect And Fiance In The Otis Nace Home

Miss Helene Huff and her fiance, Colonel Wilfred McCormick of Albuquerque, N. M. were guests of honor at a tea given yesterday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Nace, 1501 S. Faulkner.

Miss Huff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Huff, 1116 Christine and Colonel McCormick have set August 1 at ten o'clock as their wedding date in the First Presbyterian Church with members of the immediate families as attendants and guests.

In the receiving line were the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Nace and groups of which Miss Huff is a member. Approximately 75 guests called between the hours of three and five o'clock attending from Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Lefors, Wichita and Elkhart, Kan. and Albuquerque.

The bride-elect and her fiance were also honored with a progressive dinner "shower" on Saturday evening by Mrs. Maryl Jones, Mrs. Fred Sloan and Mrs. Margaret Dial.

A buffet dinner was served in the patio garden of Mrs. Jones' home, 1716 Chestnut. Following dinner, guests went around the corner to the home of Mrs. Sloan for the opening of gifts in the patio garden of Mrs. Sloan's home.

Guests were members of an art group and their gifts were hand-crafted articles, which they had made themselves and included a mosaic panel, crushed glass panel, hanging ceramic owl, carved wooden tray, ceramic sculpture, terra cotta ash tray, copper enameled ash tray, still-life painting, crossed-stitch apron, melted glass tray and canned pickled pears.

Attending were Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Huff, Kathryn and Bob McCormick, Miss Ruth Huff; Messrs. and Mmes. John Lewis of Borger; Loyal Davies; Harvey Nenstiel; Otis Nace; Don George; Dewey Palmitier; Misses Florence and Fay Jackson, Patricia Dial; Mmes. Ann Heskek and Jannie E. Abbott.

Colonel McCormick conducts classes in creative, short-story, television-script writing at the University of New Mexico. He is the author of a successful series of sports books written under the titles of "Rocky McCune" and "Bronc Burnett." He is, also, a popular lecturer and after-dinner speaker.

Guests were members of the Panhandle Pen Women and art groups of which Miss Huff is a member. Approximately 75 guests called between the hours of three and five o'clock attending from Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Lefors, Wichita and Elkhart, Kan. and Albuquerque.

Activities At Girls' State Related By American Legion Auxiliary Guest

Miss Johnlyn Mitchell, who was the American Legion Auxiliary's delegate to Girls' State in Austin in June, was guest speaker at the auxiliary's meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Lyles K. Stout.

Miss Mitchell made the trip to Austin with a group of other Panhandle delegates by chartered bus. She listed the speakers, who talked to the girls at Girls' State; among them Truman O. Quinn, Austin attorney, who discussed city government; Harmon Jones, district judge, who spoke on county government; Jack Cox and John Connally, incumbents for the office of governor of Texas, spoke to the girls on "Responsibility and the Pursuit of Happiness." Mrs. Otis Ayers, American Legion Auxiliary state president, discussed why there is a Girls' State program; Don Peter, past state commander of the American Legion, spoke on "My Country 'Tis Of Thee'."

Miss Mitchell commended the auxiliary for sending representatives from Pampa High School to Girls' State each year and stated she hoped that the program could be continued for many years in the future. "One of the mottoes of Girls' State," Miss Mitchell related, is "It is not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game that counts." Mrs. Stout, auxiliary president, announced that the 42nd Department Convention will be held in Austin July 27-29 in the Stephen F. Austin Hotel.

The auxiliary approved plans to send $10 to the Veterans' Hospital in Amarillo for cushion seats for the hospital. A letter was read from Mrs. John Coleman of Wellington, district president, expressing appreciation for the local auxiliary's support during the last year. Following a report by Mrs. Lee Harrah, nominating committee chairman, the following officers were elected by acclamation: Mmes. Pat Prosser, president; Luther Pierson, vice president; F. W. Shotwell, secretary; J. M. Turner, treasurer; and Cordie McBride, chaplain.

Mrs. Joe Shelton and Mrs. Stout were named as the City Council representatives from the auxiliary. The group was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Katie Vincent, chaplain.

NL Given Edge In 'Star' Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers were expected to be named the starting pitchers today for Tuesday's 32nd All-Star game between the National and American leagues.

Fred Hutchinson, manager of the National League, leaned toward the hard-throwing Dodger right-hander even though he pitched against the San Francisco Giants Sunday. Drysdale worked only two-thirds of an inning, however.

Bunning, who held the National League's record in his two All-Star appearances against them last summer, last pitched on Friday and American League manager Ralph Houk already has indicated he plans to start him Tuesday.

Golfers To Qualify In Tourney

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — Twenty-one Americans, led by favorite Arnold Palmer of La Trobe, Pa., began qualifying rounds today in the biggest field since the war of the British Open golf championship.

A total of 356 golfers in all were scheduled for qualifying play today and Tuesday over the Troon and nearby Loch Green courses with Palmer the 3-1 favorite to wind up the winner on Friday.

A maximum of 120 golfers will qualify for the first and second rounds of the tournament proper on Wednesday and Thursday and a maximum of 50 will go on for the final 36 holes on Friday.

Gary player of South Africa, the Open winner in 1959, and Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, the U.S. Open champion, are the second choices at 11-2. Peter Thomson of Australia, four-time winner of this tourney, is third at 6-1; Dai Rees of Wales is 7-1, and Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., the 1961 U.S. Open champ, is next at 8-1.

The forecast was for cloudy skies with slight winds and possible rain late today as Paul Bell of Naples, Fla., teed off at the 7,045-yard par 36-38-72 Troon course with Nicklaus. Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Paul Dunbar of La Jolla, Calif., Phil Rodgers of San Diego, Calif., and Palmer scheduled to follow him.

Littler, among the leading Yanks, plays his first qualifying round at the shorter—6,788 yard—but also par 72 Loch Green course. Loch Green will be used for qualifying play only—half the field playing at Troon today and then switching to Loch Green on Tuesday.

Palmer, who finished a stroke behind Kel Nagle of Australia in 1960 at St. Andrews and a stroke in front of Rees, the local favorite, a year ago, played his worst practice round yet Sunday when he shot an 80, but the feeling is that he now has gotten all of his bad shots out of the way and is ready to crush the field.

All-Stars Named In Northern Loop

All-Stars in the Northern league were named recently at the conclusion of their season's play. Named to the team were Jim Bill Benton, Mike Hughes, Jim Hollis, Tommy McDonald, Mike Osborne, Rodney Hall, Gary Parish, Mike Pursley, Johnny Marsh, Tommy Rose, Larry Turcotte, Phil Young, Jimmy Heasley, and Johnny Merrill.

Alternates on the team were Richard Craig and Everett Gray. Manager is Duane Turcotte and the coach is Bill McDonald.

some unexpected pitching help Sunday when southpaw Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves replaced teammate Hank Aaron on the All-Star squad. Spahn, however, pitched nine innings against the Cubs Sunday. Aaron was scratched because of an ankle injury.

A capacity crowd of 45,015 was anticipated for Tuesday's game at the spanking new 24-million-dollar Columbia Stadium. There was a possibility that President Kennedy might be on hand, too, the last word from him at his Hyannis Port, Mass., summer home being "maybe."

For those who aren't able to be at the park, the National Broadcasting Co. will carry the game on both television and radio.

The addition of Spahn gives Hutchinson two left-handed pitchers on his squad. Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, the other southpaw, hurled 8 1/3 innings against the Giants Sunday and may not see any action Tuesday.

Houk said earlier he planned to use Bunning, Camilo Pascual of Minnesota and Dick Donovan as his pitchers, the theory being that each man will work three innings.

Pascual last worked on Friday and Donovan on Saturday. The only left-hander on the American League squad is Hank Aguirre of Detroit, who virtually pitched himself out of consideration for Tuesday's contest by going nine innings Sunday to beat Baltimore, 3-2.

Slight favorites at 6-5 despite the fact its eight starters all are right-handed hitters, the National League, which has lost only once in the last six All-Star games, has a chance to even the competition this year. The AL holds a 16-14 edge, with one tie, in the games played so far, but the NL can knock the series by winning Tuesday's contest plus the season's second All-Star game at Wrigley Field, Chicago, July 30.

Hutchinson's original thinking was that he might divide the pitching among Drysdale, Koufax and Bob Purkey from his own Reds' staff. But the fact that Koufax worked Sunday may alter Hutch's plans.

Other pitchers who could see action are Juan Marichal of the Giants, Bob Shaw of the Braves and Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts.

Moyer Will Get Garden TV Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight contender Denny Meyer, who won an avenging verdict over Teddy Wright Saturday night, will be rewarded with another television fight at Madison Square Garden, Aug. 18, a Garden spokesman said today.

Young Meyer's opponent will be the winner of the Garden's July 21 match between Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, and Rocky Rivera of Argentina.

After Meyer's unanimous 10-round decision over Detroit's Wright, Saturday night, there was some talk of matching Denny with Farid Salim of Argentina at Garden, Aug. 4; but Meyer said he would prefer to wait until Aug. 18 for the Fullmer-Rivero winner.

Wright's defeat Saturday was his first by the Moyers of Portland, Ore. Teddy won a unanimous decision over 23-year-old Phil Moyer at the Garden, May 26, and two weeks later took a split verdict over 22-year-old brother Denny Moyer in the same ring.

Despite Denny's June 8th loss to Wright, Denny was favored at 2-1 Saturday because he had appeared much sharper in training. He proved the odds correct by winning a lopsided verdict over Teddy on a rounds basis: 8-2, 6-3-1, 7-3.

SET BASKETBALL DATES
NEW YORK (UPI) — The semi-final and final rounds of the 1963 university division basketball championships will be staged at Louisville, Ky., March 23-25. The NCAA basketball committee also announced Sunday that the 1964 championships will be held in Kansas City.

BONUS BLOOM — With a blow-up of the new Flushing Stadium as a backdrop, Larry Bearnarth whoops it up after signing with the New York Mets for $25,000. Pitching for St. John's, the 20-year-old, 6-3, 200-pound right-hander won 32 games while losing only two, the best collegiate record in the Greater New York area in recent seasons.

Collins Winner Of Buick Tournament

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Big Bill Collins was laughing at the "miseries" again today with the $9,000 first money from winning the Buick Open golf championship.

The 6 foot, 4 inch ex-Marine had reason to chuckle, a trick he learned from a doctor who told him he'd either have to quit worrying over his game or develop ulcers. For that $9,000 more than doubled what he had won in 19 previous tournament efforts this year.

And the credit went to a chiropractor.

Bothered by a bad back, Collins took four treatments from the chiropractor and then whipped out a final round even par 34-38-72 which gave him a one shot victory over fellow Floridian Dave Ragan.

There were fat fringe benefits, too. Big Bill picks up another $1,000 for participating in one day in a movie of the tournament and also gets a new car for five years as the champion.

Ragan made a run at it but fell just short with his final round of 77.

There were four of them at even par 288, four shots back, including Johnny Patt, little Jerry Barber—who had the consolation of winning a car with a hole in one—Bob Goaly and disappointed Tony Lema. For Lema was tied with Collins and Pete Cooper as they started the final round, but blew to a 76 that dropped him far back.

Cooper did even worse. The 47-year-old Florida veteran had a 77 and tumbled to 289 where he was tied with Rex Baxter, Bob Shave and Al Geiberger.

It was a bad week for a lot of the old heroes. Trailing in at 291 were George Bayer, Stan Leonard, Cary Middlecoff and Dow Finsterwald; Ken Venturi at 292; Jay Hebert at 296, and at 297 Julius Boros and Paul Harnay.

Harnay had an excuse for his final round 37-40-77. He was standing 30 feet away from a spectator who was killed by a bolt of lightning as a sudden storm struck the course and delayed play an hour.

Connell Wins Big Lake Garnett Race

GARNETT, Kan. (UPI) — Alan Connell of Fort Worth broke the track record Sunday and won the 25-lap Lake Garnett Grand Prix road races in his Cooper Monaco.

Connell piloted the machines at an average 1:47.4 for each 2.5 miles lap, bettering a previous record of 1:55 minutes per lap.

Race steward Hal Stipe said that was an average of 95 miles an hour.

Harry Huer of Chicago, last year's winner, was second driving a Chaparral. He rode neck and neck with third placer Jim Hall of Midland, Tex., also in a Chaparral, but neither contested Connell's speedy victory.

Connell, in Saturday time trials, had bettered the record.

Musial Continuing To Massacre Mound Staffs

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI-Sports Writer

Time out for the All-Star break — and what a break it is for those poor battered National League pitchers who don't have to face Stan, the Man Musial for the next three days.

Musial has an appointment on Tuesday in Washington, where he will appear as a member of the NL All-Star team for a record 19th time, and the pitchers would just as soon he not hurry back.

Naturally, they're a bit prejudiced.

Can you blame them, though, after the amazing 41-year-old St. Louis Cardinal slugger equalled still another major league record Sunday by belting three home runs in a 15-1 victory over the shell-shocked New York Mets.

Many All-Star performers, including Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, Warren Spahn of the Braves and Hank Aguirre of the Tigers, enjoyed good days Sunday, but Musial overshadowed them all.

His performance at the Polo Grounds was such that Met-manager Casey Stengel was moved to comment:

"I don't want to give that boy any ideas, but the way he's hitting he can hang around in this business two or three more years easily."

Musial, who increased his season home run total to 12, started off with a bases-empty wallop in the first inning. Loser Jay Hook, who had just been tagged for a previous homer by Bill White, was the victim.

Stan's second homer, also off Hook, came with one on in the fourth and climaxed a five-run rally. Musial then led off the seventh with his third homer of the day off reliever Bill Hunter.

The three blows, coupled with a homer in his last time up during the second game of Saturday's doubleheader with the Mets, enabled Musial to tie a major league mark for four consecutive homers in as many official times at bat.

Bob Gibson, another All-Star, held the Mets to three hits for his 10th victory. He also homered as did Fred Whitfield.

Insofar as the battle for first place was concerned, the Dodgers took it over in the National League with a 2-0 victory over San Francisco, while the New York Yankees moved into first place in the American League by defeating the Minnesota Twins, 9-5.

The Chicago Cubs took the opener from Milwaukee, 7-5, but the Braves won the nightcap, 5-3. Pittsburgh also split with Philadelphia, the Phillies winning the opener, 8-4, and the Pirates the nightcap, 6-3. Cincinnati took two from Houston, 12-8 and 12-11 in 13 innings.

In the AL, the Chicago White Sox swept a twin-bill from the Cleveland Indians, 6-3 and 8-4. Detroit beat Baltimore twice, 5-1 and 3-2, the Boston Red Sox edged the Los Angeles Angels, 5-4, and Kansas City nipped Washington, 6-5, in 15 innings.

Drysdale came on in the ninth inning to put down a Giant threat and save Koufax' 13th victory for the Dodgers. Koufax yielded only three hits and fanned nine to run his season total to 203. The Dodgers scored both their runs off Willie Davis' double, Tommy Davis' single and another double by Frank Howard.

The Yanks made it a three-game sweep over the Twins although Whitey Ford had to sweat before winding up with his seventh win. Luis Arroyo relieved Ford in the ninth and was nicked for a three-run homer by Don Mincher but then struck out Harmon Killebrew with two on to end the game. Hector Lopez' two-run homer in the ninth proved the winning margin.

Spahn, named as a replacement for teammate Hank Aaron on the All-Star team, pitched himself into 10th place among the all-time major league winners with his 317th victory in the Braves-Cubs' nightcap. He singled home the tying run in the sixth and Mack Jones' homer in the eighth was the clincher. Bob Buhl beat the Braves for the third time this season in the opener as Lew Burdette's seven-game winning streak came to an end.

Clay Dalrymple drove in three runs and Jack Baldschun hurled six scoreless relief innings in the Phils' opening game win over the Pirates, but Roberto Clemente earned the Bucs a split by accounting for three runs with a homer and a double in the finale, credited to Tom Sturdivant.

Leo Cardenas' 13th inning single with the bases full led the Reds to their second game victory over the Colts after Cincy also won the opener with the aid of Frank Robinson's grand slam. A record number of 21 pitchers were used by both clubs in the doubleheader and 13 homers were hit. Robinson, Gordy Coleman and Norm Larker hit one in each game and Bob Cerv whacked two in the nightcap.

Home runs by Charley Maxwell and Luis Aparicio helped snap a six-game Cleveland winning streak in the opener and the White Sox made it a sweep when Maxwell drove in three runs in the nightcap. Juan Pizarro and Ray Herbert were the winning pitchers.

Jake Wood socked two homers for the Tigers in their opening game triumph over the Orioles as Paul Foytack brought his record to 7-1 with a seven-hitter. Aguirre, the only southpaw on the AL All-Stars, also won his seventh with a four-hitter in the second game.

Bill Monbouquette evened his record at 8-8 for the Red Sox while dealing the Angels their third straight defeat. Carl Yastrzemski singled home two runs during a three-run seventh and Pete Runnels homered in the eighth.

A squeeze attempt that backfired still paid off in the winning run for Kansas City against Washington. With the bases full and one out in the 15th, Ed Charles tried to lay down a squeeze bunt but missed the ball. Trapped off third, Jerry Lumpe worked his way back to the bag and then scored when catcher Ken Retzer's throw got away from shortstop Ed Brinkman. It was Brinkman's third error of the game. John Wyatt was the winner and Tom Cheney the loser.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, not more, not less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to set it as their goal. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Relic From The Past Has Scant Following

A weekend meeting of the U. S. Socialist party in Washington seems today like one of the most futile political exercises imaginable.

There was a time in this century when such leading Socialist voices as Eugene Debs and Norman Thomas were loudly heard. Today the party's leaders are emphatic unknowns.

The Socialists never did cut a heavy figure at the polls. Their vote was for Debs in 1920, a tally of 919,000 at a time when the total vote approached 27 million.

In 1932, at the pit of the Great Depression, when drastic measures are believed to have made their strongest appeal to voters, Thomas corralled 885,000 votes for the presidency. Four years later, with Franklin D. Roosevelt running a second time, their total plunged to a mere 187,000.

In 1962, the party is viewed more as a curiosity than anything else.

What does this signify for socialism as a political doctrine?

The answer depends in part on one's definition of socialism. The classic definition specifies public ownership — nationalization — of a country's means of production.

There exist varying degrees of this here and in Britain, Scandinavia, France, Germany and other West European lands. One also finds considerable reliance on this system in India and some others among the newer independents.

For many decades, Socialist platforms here and abroad also have called consistently for a wide range of short-run "welfare objectives." European countries long since have adopted many of these.

In the United States the welfare programs of the New Deal, Fair Deal and New Frontier constitute socialism — or the road to it.

Socialists themselves have claimed for years that Roosevelt "stole their program."

Meantime, perhaps the most interesting development is the fact that in Western Europe, scene of long-established welfarism and some nationalization, popular taste for socialist doctrine appears sharply on the wane.

The socialist parties have stopped talking of new nationalization. Leading observers of Europe call the doctrine largely "irrelevant" in this time of spectacular economic upsurge.

Welfarism still runs strong here and abroad. But the doctrinaire socialists, even while asserting theft of their short-run plans, always have seen these as just a step along the way.

In 1962, few signs can be found that free people have any wish to take further big strides down that road.

Anywhere Ho!

It's a rare person these days who doesn't plan on taking at least one pleasant trip by automobile during the course of a year.

In actual figures, as compiled by the American Automobile Assn., 92 million persons drove a total of 70 billion miles in vacation or recreation travel last year.

Virginia was the most visited state in the Union, followed by North Carolina, New York, which does not report figures, is estimated to have been third. The latter state is also estimated to have led in motorist — visitor expenditures within its boundaries (about $2 billion), ahead of Florida and New Jersey.

But Florida leads in the number of motels (5,460). Michigan and California are close to each other as second and third. New York is fourth. Over 60 per cent of auto travelers stop at motels.

The nation's forests were the lure for the majority of vacationers (102 million), ahead of other kinds of parks (79 million). The most visited national park in 1961 was Great Smokies. Next were Shenandoah — Skyline Drive, Mount Rainier, and Acadia in Maine.

All in all, the "average" American will make from two to five trips of 100 miles or more this year.

The role played in the economy by automobile manufacturing and servicing is immense — from raw materials to salesmen's commission. A secondary role, the money spent by vacationers, is also huge and vital.

But in this aspect, it perhaps performs an even more important function — by enabling more people to visit America's great natural wonders and cultural centers more frequently and freely; by conveying an awareness of America as one great broad land, though filled with diversity.

It may not be inappropriate to call the automobile the modern-day version of the covered wagon. For it is the means whereby the 20th-century American still seeks the far horizon.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

When the U. S. government started advertising in British newspapers that Britons could tour in the U. S. as inexpensively as 35 pounds ($98) a week, The London Daily Express assigned its New York columnist to go touring up and down the land within that sum. Among other things, the British newsmen reported finding, after a bit of a search, a hotel room in New York at $4.50 a night which was "a sort of swollen broom closet."

Of the nearly half the American workers who carry their own lunch to work, one-third have a company cafeteria at their disposal, but shun it. And seven of 10 lunch-carrying schoolchildren also have cafeterias available, but 80 per cent avoid it entirely.

Weather bulletin in the Portland Oregon Journal: "Partly Cloudy." An important Democratic official is quoted by U. S. News & World Report as stating that "at the White House it's felt that 80 per cent of the more than 15 million stockholders of the nation are Republicans." No basis of the estimate is offered.

Today's favorite pastime: "JUDGE—The officer says he found you two fighting in the street." DEFENDANT — "That's wrong, Your Honor. When he arrived we were trying to separate each other."

It isn't always worry or tension that causes stomach ulcers. Such ulcers have been found in youngsters ranging from five days to 15 years old, the British medical journal Lancet reports.

Flashback: Back in the 1870s a man with an idea was James Walter Thompson, for whom a major advertising agency today is named J. Walter Thompson. He went around to magazine editors and, although many were skeptical, quite a few were convinced that they really wouldn't lose subscribers if they sold advertising space in their publications. And thus a new institution was born.

Thoughts while shaving: 1. Ghost writing is an historic practice. For example, the Monroe Doctrine is known as that in history because it was promulgated in 1823 by President James Monroe, although it was conceived and its content written by the Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams.

2. Baseball's first ghost writer came along nearly 60 years ago when John N. Wheeler, then a young New York sports scrivener, became the "ghost" of Christy Mathewson, the Giants' great pitcher, and produced a series of articles under the latter's name. That original "ghost" did all right for himself, too. John N. Wheeler now is the millionaire owner of Bell Syndicate and other enterprises.

3. Other former ghost writers have gone on to fortune and fame in literature and other fields. Ring Lardner, who became one of the nation's greatest humorists, once ghosted for Grover Cleveland Alexander, the National League pitching great. The late Fowler, eminent author, once turned out stuff bearing Nick Altrack's name. And Ford Frick, now commissioner of baseball, whipped out many an essay bearing the by-line of Babe Ruth when Mr. Frick was sports columnist for the New York Evening Journal.

4. Personally, we have taken a whirl at ghost writing, too. In former days we grounded out articles also signed by Nick Altrack, known as Baseball's Clown Prince; also for such Harvard gridiron greats as Charley Brickley and Ned Mahan. And for several years we turned out a daily column captioned "By Ken Murray," when that comedian was at the crest of his celebrity.

Country editor speaking: "Major Titov, the Russian cosmonaut who whirled around the earth 17 times, said 'bucking New York traffic was tougher than his orbital flight. But there's one big difference: in a traffic tie-up you can always get out and walk.'"

"There is no reason to believe that the communist conspiracy will abandon its goal of world domination; or alter the basic strategy contrived to attain that goal."

John W. Grant prepared a speech referring to Khrushchev in the following terms: "Nevertheless, in his written statements and in other talks he has indicated that the Soviet Union intends to bury us literally, rather than figuratively."

The State Department censors deleted the above passage with the comment, "This is against policy."

Maj. Gen. T. C. Darcy, in making some comment on Khrushchev, wrote: "That is why we have been eager to believe that Khrushchev's smiling face and outstretched hand were indications of a new attitude on the part of the Soviets."

The State Department censors deleted this passage, saying, "Let's stay away from Khrushchev for the time being."

In another address, Gen. Trudeau referred to the cold war against communism as the "vicious, worldwide struggle now upon us." The State Department censors struck out that passage.

A later passage in the General's address:

"We must sense new horizons — continuously — to meet the critical challenges of communism."

The State Department censors changed the sentence to read: "Here we must sense new horizons — continuously — to meet the critical challenges of the day."

The censors required Lt. Gen. B. A. Schriever to delete the following sentence from a speech he had prepared: "And according to Communist double talk, these people are working for the peace of the world — a peace on Communist terms."

Last year the State Department censors required Gen. Trudeau to delete the following sentence from one of his addresses: "With Soviet infiltration menacing this nation and extending to the far corners of the globe, freedom of spirit and self stands in great jeopardy. The threat of catastrophe war again haunts the lover of liberty and the protagonist of peace. The Reds deliberately, fanatically, unceasingly strive to destroy the shreds of stability remaining as we enter the new frontiers of the sixties."

A sentence reading as follows was stricken out of an address prepared by Vice-Admiral R. B. Peary: "We can protect the overcoat of freedom from a violent theft in the daytime only if we find the moths of subversion and slow revolution have devoured it in the night."

A sentence in a speech by Maj. Gen. E. M. Houseman read as follows: "This authentic revolution was not of the Castro variety." The censors deleted "not of the Castro variety" and substituted "unlike some of more recent memory."

"The poisonous fumes of world communism" is a simple statement that the censors deleted from a speech one officer prepared to make.

The following words were deleted from a sentence in an address prepared by Gen. Trudeau: "... encompassing Marxism, socialism, nihilism, and using its own special brand of Russian imperialism to enslave free men everywhere."

The General was also required to delete the following sentence: "Coexistence is not a choice; it is a fatal disease."

The following sentence was stricken from a speech prepared by Brig. Gen. M. W. Schwe: "Ultimately either totalitarian communism will prevail or the freedom familiar to the societies of the West will expand."

We could go on to the extent of the 30 pages of excerpts prepared by Sen. Thurmond but the above are sufficient to illustrate the policy being followed by the Administration with reference to deleting all criticism or adverse comment regarding communism and Communist countries. If that is the policy of Washington, then our military forces have no alternative but to comply unless they wish to resign their commissions. However, those of us who are not in the armed forces are privileged to speak out in sharp criticism of what we believe to be a very wrong policy which will further weaken our country and strengthen the enemy.

CONCERNING CENSORSHIP (Christian Economics)

No one who respects the Constitution and understands our form of government questions the right and duty of the Administration to formulate foreign policy. Once this is done, there is no doubt about the obligation resting upon the officers and men of our armed forces to carry out this policy. Our difference with Washington is not that it enforces this necessity and proper discipline, but rather with the policies it has laid down. As civilians we are privileged to criticize these policies. That is not true of officers in the armed forces when speaking in public. These men may properly reason with a mild protest to their superiors, but they may not publicly challenge or oppose the competent authorities of our government.

We believe the government is wrong in its soft, protective attitude of refusing to permit any criticism of Communist governments. Just how wrong the Administration is in this matter may be seen from the following passages that have been "blue penciled" by censors in addresses military men were planning to deliver. (These quotations have been taken from a report prepared by the Special Preparedness Subcommittee and printed in the Congressional Record, Feb. 19, 1962, by direction of Senator Strom Thurmond, and may be secured by writing to Senator Thurmond, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., asking for a reprint of the title, "Senator Thurmond Presents Anti-Communist Items Censored from Military Statements.")

The censors struck from an address to be delivered by Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau the following passage: "I, for one, do not believe that the Soviets have relented in the slightest in their determination to determine to dominate the world and to destroy our way of life."

"Such is the nature of communism, and against it we can mount only eternal vigilance for our security and positive measures to neutralize Soviet advances. We must not be lulled into a false sense of security, no matter what the tactics."

The censors deleted from a speech prepared by Maj. Gen. John W. Carpenter, III, the following passage: "There is no reason to believe that the communist conspiracy will abandon its goal of world domination; or alter the basic strategy contrived to attain that goal."

John W. Grant prepared a speech referring to Khrushchev in the following terms: "Nevertheless, in his written statements and in other talks he has indicated that the Soviet Union intends to bury us literally, rather than figuratively."

The State Department censors deleted the above passage with the comment, "This is against policy."

Maj. Gen. T. C. Darcy, in making some comment on Khrushchev, wrote: "That is why we have been eager to believe that Khrushchev's smiling face and outstretched hand were indications of a new attitude on the part of the Soviets."

The State Department censors deleted this passage, saying, "Let's stay away from Khrushchev for the time being."

In another address, Gen. Trudeau referred to the cold war against communism as the "vicious, worldwide struggle now upon us." The State Department censors struck out that passage.

A later passage in the General's address:

"We must sense new horizons — continuously — to meet the critical challenges of communism."

The State Department censors changed the sentence to read: "Here we must sense new horizons — continuously — to meet the critical challenges of the day."

The censors required Lt. Gen. B. A. Schriever to delete the following sentence from a speech he had prepared: "And according to Communist double talk, these people are working for the peace of the world — a peace on Communist terms."

Last year the State Department censors required Gen. Trudeau to delete the following sentence from one of his addresses: "With Soviet infiltration menacing this nation and extending to the far corners of the globe, freedom of spirit and self stands in great jeopardy. The threat of catastrophe war again haunts the lover of liberty and the protagonist of peace. The Reds deliberately, fanatically, unceasingly strive to destroy the shreds of stability remaining as we enter the new frontiers of the sixties."

We honor the patriotism of officers who protest vigorously against this policy even to the point of resigning their commissions at great personal loss to themselves. That is the honorable course which any officer who cannot conscientiously follow Administration policy, in this respect must follow. His patriotic duty requires no less of him. Unless and until he resigns, however, he is duty bound not to oppose his government.

USURPATION (Christian Economics)

Usurpation of power in a democracy cannot be blamed merely on the individual in government who exceeds his authority. Too often in human history usurpation has succeeded because of the passive acquiescence of the people.

A few years after World War II a distinguished professor from a German University — who had lived in Germany throughout the Hitler era — was sitting at the head of a writer's conference meeting at the Capitol in Washington. The professor was asked this question: "We in the United States have wondered how a man like Hitler could become Chancellor of Germany in 1933. As we understand it, he actually came into power by constitutional means. But how did it happen that in Germany, where intellectual attainment had been so high for many years, such a turn to dictatorship could be allowed to happen legally?"

"Many of us," replied the German professor, "were taken by surprise, and actually we didn't sense what was coming. We were so busily occupied with our own pursuits in the field of the arts, letters, music and the sciences, that we didn't realize what had occurred. We in the universities were foolishly indifferent..."

What we are witnessing today is a breakdown in constitutional government. It began in the late 1930's when newly appointed Justices on the Supreme Court of the United States embraced the doctrine that "the end justifies the means." A school of thought arose which has held that the "method of amending the Constitution stipulated in the document itself need not be employed if the judges interpret the law in the light of "changed times."

"Possession of a majority in both houses, President Kennedy not only has asked that more and more power be delegated to him, but he also frequently has substituted government by executive fiat for government by law. He recently threatened reprisals against an industry that sought to raise its prices.

Why has all this happened? Because the people are indifferent. They accept honeyed words on television and, along with them, the argument that if what's being done is for a desirable purpose or if it's "popular," it doesn't matter who exercises the power or whether the Constitution is followed or ignored."

This is a dangerous trend. It is a time to take to heart the words of George Washington in his farewell address as President of the United States, when he said: "The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism."

"If in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

A thought for the day: The American philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, said: "Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."
