President Calls In Chief Advisers For Defense Talk

Aim Is To Set Up Pattern For Allied Strength

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—President Kennedy called in his chief defense advisers today for two days of talks on how to maintain what he considers a marginal Allied military lead over the Soviet bloc.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson headed a list of officials scheduled to arrive here this afternoon for talks with the vacationing Chief Executive on U.S. military needs for 1962.

Others expected for an evening kick-off of conferences were Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatrick, and the President's chief military adviser, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Wednesday they are to be joined by the uniformed leaders of the armed forces—the Joint Chiefs of Staff. These are Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman; Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff; Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, and Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., chief of naval operations.

According to administration sources the defense meetings are aimed mainly at filling out a pattern of military needs within the framework of a budget estimated at more than $50 billion, a record high total in peacetime. This will be the lion's share of a total balanced budget of $92 to $93 billion.

Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission is scheduled to come in Wednesday with the Joint Chiefs, presumably for a discussion of nuclear weapons problems.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen Monday there were no plans for a discussion of whether to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

'Free Water' Charge Is Denied At Council Meet

Paul Carmichael, co-owner of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, appeared before the Pampa City Commission this morning to categorically deny that his firm in any way utilized city water at the firm's storage warehouse located at Fairview Cemetery.

Carmichael stated that the whole thing was so fantastic that it was "laughable" but that he was tired of it being brought before the commission as an accusation of wrong-doing.

New York City Faces Ordeal In Tie-Up Of Buses

NEW YORK (UPI)—A strike by two private bus lines tangled the commuting habits of 1.5 million New Yorkers and suburbanites returning to work today after the long holiday weekend.

Adding to the woes of riders of Fifth Avenue Coach Lines and two subsidiaries was a forecast of light snow, which could foul increased automobile traffic movement on the city's busy streets.

And today appeared to be only the beginning of the ordeal. Neither the bus companies nor the Transport Workers Union (TWU), which walked out at 12:01 a.m. EST, New Year's Day when contracts expired, scheduled any negotiations.

Buses and subways operated by the New York City Transit Authority and five other private bus lines—which carry nearly 7 million daily riders—were running normally. The transit authority and the other companies settled a contract with the TWU last week.

Hardest hit was The Bronx, which now has no bus service, and Manhattan, where Fifth Avenue Coach and subsidiary Surface Transit, Inc., provide much of the service. The two lines carry 1.3 million riders daily. About 200,000 patrons of another subsidiary, Westchester Street Transportation Co., in suburban Westchester County, also had to find alternate ways of reaching their jobs.

The transit authority scheduled maximum service on Manhattan-Bronx subway lines, but still expected a worse than normal jam of riders. It also put on more buses.

The public school system ordered classes to start an hour later today and end an hour early to keep commuting children from making the situation worse.

Prisoners Go On Five-Hour Jail Rampage

MONTREAL (UPI)—Officials at Bordeaux today were surveying the damage caused by about 400 prisoners who rioted for five hours Monday night.

The rioters, most of them awaiting trial at the provincially operated jail on the north end of Montreal Island, were brought under control after police firing automatic rifles and firemen using water hoses stormed the star-shaped grey-stoned building.

At least three prisoners and one fireman were injured. The riot was described as the worst at the prison since 1952. In that year prisoners caused property damage in excess of $1 million.

Acting Gov. Lt. Col. Leon Lambert told United Press International late Monday night it would be at least a day or two before any estimate of damage could be arrived at.

The riot, the seventh at the jail in the past 18 months, started as a New Year's Day roast beef dinner was being served about 4:30 p.m. EST.

A prison official, describing what happened, said: "Suddenly the prisoners began throwing their plates into the corridors, setting fire to their beds and smashing everything in sight."

The riot was finally brought under control about 8:30 p.m. when firemen turned high-powered water hoses on the prisoners. The rioters gradually retreated into their wrecked cells when police fired more than 100 rounds of ammunition over the heads of the approaching firemen.

Justice Graham Seeks Re-election

KILLEEN (UPI)—Several hundred students marched out of Killeen High School into the cold today while firemen and police searched the building for a bomb.

A telephone call, placed to police headquarters from a pay telephone at a service club at Fort Hood, had warned that "there is a bomb at the high school."

Police and firemen, after searching the school building about an hour, found nothing and said the call was a hoax.

'Bomb' In School Proves A Hoax

The commission passed a motion to enter into a ninety day contract with Roberts and Gray counties for fire fighting services. These continued on the present basis the agreements calling for specific charges per call and mileage.

The commission adjourned for lunch, postponing until one o'clock the discussion of a contract for services between the city and Merriman and Barber, engineers.

Bank Deposits Show Increase

Deposits in Pampa's two banks and one savings and loan association showed gains of over $5 million dollars, as compared to the third week in December as compared to 1960, according to officials of the three financial institutions today.

Deposits at the close of 1961 showed a total of $59,890,004 as compared to a total of $54,408,496 for the 1960 year-end.

Security Federal Savings and Loan Association showed the biggest gain, with total deposits of $31,267,004 as compared to $26,605,496 on deposit at the same time in 1960 or an increase of over $4,600,000.

The First National Bank showed deposits totaling $18,323,000 near the end of 1961 as compared to $18,103,000 at the close of 1960.

Citizens Bank and Trust Company showed deposits on hand of $10,300,000 in December 1961 as compared to $9,700,000 in 1960.

Officials at all three institutions said figures through Dec. 31, 1961 had not yet been completed.

Find Gasoline In Communion Juice

HOUSTON (UPI)—Fifteen persons participating in the Grove Street Christian Church's communion New Year's Eve suffered no ill effects from gasoline which was found in the communion grape juice, the church pastor said today.

The Rev. Richard H. Page, 62, held the midnight service for those who had missed the regular 11 a.m. communion on Sunday. The added gasoline was discovered immediately after church members began communion.

Police were investigating the incident.

Vacationers Hit By Snowstorm As It Smacks South

By United Press International
A Yankee-style eight-inch snowfall closed Dixie schools and highways today and a new cold weather threat brought an exodus of tourists from Florida's winter vacationlands.

Western North Carolina got the heaviest snowfall—eight inches in Swain and Jackson counties and as much as seven inches along the Blue Ridge Parkway. Bryson City had seven inches, and an inch of snow was reported at Winston-Salem, Raleigh and Durham late Monday night.

South Carolina had seven inches of snow Monday but much of it was melted by ensuing rain. However, schools were closed today in Greenville, Spartanburg and Cherokee counties.

At least five North Carolina counties closed schools.

Northern Georgia got up to three inches of snow and some roads were closed. All major roads were reported open in North and South Carolina, but driving was hazardous as far east as Piedmont, N.C., early today.

Eastern Tennessee got as much as six inches of snow, followed by cold which froze slush into a glaze of ice on highways.

Alabama had light snow mixed with rain. Western sections of Virginia had four or more inches of snow and the storm was moving east. Danville, Lynchburg and Blackstone, Va., each had four inches of snow in six hours.

Early today the snow belt spread into Delaware and New Jersey and was closing in on New England, where the U.S. Weather Bureau warned residents to expect six or more inches.

Light snow was falling in New York City early today and authorities feared it would add to the woe of 1.5 million commuters whose travel to work was already complicated by a bus strike. The sanitation department declared a snow alert.

A new cold wave was scheduled to move into Florida this afternoon and officials of the state chamber of commerce called an emergency meeting Jan. 10 to consider ways of bolstering the state's fading tourist business, which has come to a "grinding halt" as a result of the weather.

Early last week Florida was bursting at the seams with visitors. By Thursday there was a flood of them out of the state, a Florida Chamber of Commerce official said.

Texas Jaycees Select Five Outstanding Men

GRAND PRAIRIE (UPI)—The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced its selection of the five outstanding young Texans for 1961.

The five, who distinguished themselves in various fields, will be honored Jan. 13 at a banquet at Odessa with Paul Harvey, radio commentator, as principal speaker.

The five to be honored are:

E. R. (Bob) Gregg Jr., 35, president and director of the Texas Bank and Trust Co. at Jacksonville. He was cited for building a major clientele among young businessmen, and for being a member of the Cherokee County Parole Board, president of the Community Chest, and an active member of the Lions Club and many other civic organizations.

Jarrell Franklin McCracken, 34, Waco, an ordained minister who organized Word Records, Inc., world's largest producer of religious recordings.

Thomas Raymond Thornton, 33, Belton, elected district attorney of the 27th Judicial district in 1951, when he was 23, becoming the youngest district attorney in Texas. In 1960 he became county judge of Bell County, directing many improvements for the county including 33 miles of new farm roads.

Craig Woodson, 28, Brownwood, publisher of the Brownwood Bulletin. He became publisher in 1959 and at that time the city had not passed a major bond issue in 29 years. Woodson carried out an editorial campaign for better schools. A bond issue was passed two-to-one, and he also led a bond victory for a new auditorium, directed a trash removal drive, and helped the city retain its only hotel.

'Khrush' Spouts Off For Peace

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened the new year today by stressing the peaceful nature of the Kremlin's "coexistence" policy.

But Khrushchev, in replying to questions submitted by Austrian Prof. Hans Tiring and printed in the government newspaper Izvestia, said he was "fully certain of the complete and final triumph of communism."

Khrushchev said the Soviet foreign policy is based on "peaceful coexistence" and said no Communist state "intends to interfere with the affairs of others or to export revolution."

"However," he said, "no one (Western nation) is permitted to export counter-revolution to other countries, too."

Khrushchev said that communism will defeat capitalism "not because we want this but because the Communist system insures higher development of the productive forces than any other system, the maximum satisfaction of the material and spiritual needs of every man, true democracy and full freedom of society."

Workers' Wages Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Labor Department reported Monday night that about 5.7 million workers covered by major union contracts received wage increases average 7.5 cents an hour in 1961.

HARD RIGHT TO THE FACE

Actress Anna Kashfi, former wife of actor Marlon Brando, top left, aims a hard slap at Brando's face as they leave a courtroom in Santa Monica, Calif. His hair, styled for his role in "Mutiny on the Bounty," Brando rolls away from the slap, bottom. Brando won a long court battle to increase his visitation rights to his three-year-old son by Miss Kashfi.

1961 Was Bit Rough For Movie Producers

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The year 1961 was a low water mark both financially and artistically for the movies.

Two pictures, both incomplete, all but crushed Hollywood's proudest studios, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and 20th Century-Fox. MGM's "Mutiny on the Bounty" became a laughing stock costing in the neighborhood of $20 million and requiring more than a year to shoot.

Fox's "Cleopatra" was off to a false start with Elizabeth Taylor's sickness. Everything had to be junked and restarted from scratch at a cost of uncounted millions.

In keeping with recent Movie-town pronouncements, "fewer but better pictures," there were considerably fewer films produced. But better?

Only 250 movies were released this year to qualify for Academy Award consideration, and 49 of those were foreign pictures — not to be confused with American films made abroad.

In 1950 Hollywood churned out 522 pictures. Last year the total was 387.

It doesn't take an electronic brain to figure that the so-called movie capital is on the skids. And along with financial catastrophe goes panic.

To recoup the lost audience movies have moved into questionable moral waters. Producers are using sex to lure patrons away from TV sets, but even such marginal films as "Parrish" and "Susan Slade" have failed to stem the decline.

Runaway production continued to plague guides and unions.

Big budget films — "One, Two, Three," "El Cid," "Francis of Assisi" and "Lawrence of Arabia," not to mention "Cleopatra" — were made entirely abroad.

Continued growth of independent producers, the Mirish Co., stars forming their own units and "co-production" have reduced the once powerful studios to flabby releasing agencies.

For instance, Paramount Studios released 16 pictures this year, almost all of which were co-productions. MGM released only 20 films, 12 of which were made abroad, most of them co-productions with independent operators.

Television, the one-eyed living room monster, still gets credit for putting the whammy on movies.

But the slow moving studios finally decided to join the new medium instead of fighting a losing battle. MGM this year produced two new popular series, "Dr. Kildare" and "Father of the Bride," to go along with last year's hit, "National Velvet."

20th-Fox joined in with "Bus Stop," "Margie" and "Follow the Sun." Paramount has thrown open its gates to welcome inde-

Army Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee will take up a proposed pay increase for members of the armed forces this year, according to Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.

New York Mayor Begins New Term

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York had a new mayor today—the old one.

Robert F. Wagner was sworn in Sunday night for his third term as mayor.

HIPPO GIVES BIRTH

NEW YORK (UPI)—The honor of the first hippopotamus born in New York in the new year went Monday to Phoebe Hippo. The delivery was at home in the Bronx Zoo.

Phoebe's new baby—her third—is guessed to weigh 50 to 60 pounds. Neither is the baby's sex known. Seems Phoebe is quite protective and won't let anyone near, including the father, Peter the Second, who was banished to another cage for his own good.

Warner Brothers would be in unhappy circumstances were it not for its successful succession of TV shows.

Look for still fewer pictures, more foreign imports and broader sex themes on the American screen. It is possible that a classification system will be adopted for pictures, with categories for adults only, mature young people and adults and family pictures.

TV Networks Busy Spots On First Day

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Network rivalry was crowned with brotherhood from sea to shining sea as the new year arrived Monday.

Both NBC-TV and CBS-TV rolled, lifted and squeezed cameras into Pasadena, Calif., to cover the 73rd annual Tournament of Roses parade from 11:30 a.m. to 1:45 p.m., EST.

Trying to watch the same show on two channels simultaneously wasn't easy for anyone seeking to overcome a wee-hour attack of double-vision on New Year's morning, but it did help to start 1962 off by getting the twist back from the legs to where it belongs, —the wrists.

As I twisted from Betty White and Roy Neal on NBC to Bess Myerson and Ronald Reagan on CBS, it became apparent that both networks—bitter rivals during the year—were being gracious sports Monday. Betty and Roy didn't mind identifying for their NBC viewers the stars of the CBS Western "Rawhide," who were among the non-floral equestrian displays in the parade.

Bess and Ron got into the spirit of the occasion by plugging such NBC items as "Wagon Train" and "Bullwinkle." Even ABC, which had sent its cameras to Miami for the Orange Bowl regatta at that hour, received its share of plugs during the Pasadena Parade. It was an unusual start for the new year.

It also became apparent during my spell of dial-twisting that NBC's Betty and Roy were much sharper than Bess and Ronny in monitoring the pageant. Their prepared material was more detailed and their ad libs, when available, were diverting.

However, Bess and Ron stayed a few minutes ahead of Betty and Roy because the CBS cameras were picking up the floats and marches before they turned into NBC's range. I didn't think this meant much until late in the parade. CBS scored a great scoop. As the cameras showed a small ice skating rink on a float, two of the skaters aboard broke into "the twist." On ice, "the twist" must not be missed!

The skaters weren't performing when they reached the NBC block —maybe the ice had melted—but Betty and Roy evened the score by showing a grass-skirted Polynesian girl in swivel-hipped action on her slow float to China.

Okay, fellas. Now let's get back to the barricades.

Batch and Brubeck were the subjects of interesting Sunday programs. "Directions 52" on ABC-TV offered "S.D.G.," a portrait of Johann Sebastian Bach that included a scene in which members of Bach's family were shown battling over his meager estate soon after his death. The scene, written by John Bloch, deserves to be expanded into a full-length play.

"Twentieth Century" on CBS-TV paid a visit to jazz pianist Dave Brubeck. Dave and his fellow musicians had a chance to talk about their work and serve up some samples. Now that "Twentieth Century" has shown how some jazzmen react to the good life, I'd like to see them turn to another case history—that of some far-out, less-commercial cat who is still scuffling for recognition and a buck.

REPAY U.S. AID
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff announced Monday that Cuban refugees have turned back $250,000 of the cash assistance distributed to 40,000 Cubans who fled to Florida. He said the refugees who repaid the American aid were persons who found jobs in Florida and other sections of the country or who managed to recover personal funds from Cuba.

Nursery Monologues Prove Adults 'Zany'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—What I would like to do sometime is "bug" the nursery in my house and make a recording of people talking to the baby.

I don't see how it could miss becoming the best-selling comic record of the season. Shelley Berman couldn't touch it.

For some reason which I have never been able to fathom, adults who otherwise are sensible individuals seem to be constitutionally unable to peer into a crib without speaking to its occupant.

They must know that little Ignatz can't understand a word they're saying, and yet they babble on as if he were drinking it all in along with his formula.

Thus far, nobody who has stopped by to see my newborn has gone so far as to chortle "kitchey-kitchey-koo" at him. But

Banks And Loan Agencies Vying For Depositors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Competition between banks and savings and loan associations for depositors entered a new round today. It promised to be a tough fight.

Whichever way the tide of battle for savings deposits goes, one thing appeared certain: Savers will be able to earn more interest and some borrowers will have to pay more.

On this first business day of 1962, government and industry officials began a close watch to see how the public would react to higher interest rates being offered by an important handful of the nation's 13,400 commercial banks.

The government a month ago boosted from 3 per cent to 4 per cent the maximum rate on savings accounts in commercial banks, effective Jan. 1, 1962.

Banks offering these rates will be more competitive with the nation's 6,200 savings and loan institutions, which usually have paid more than banks.

How much of a shift in deposits will there be?

That question worries both savings and loan managers and bankers trying to hold the line on rates as well as government officials.

Some government officials fear that a shift of money to banks would diminish the supply of home loan money from savings associations. That, plus higher savings and loan dividend rates, could push up mortgage costs and crimp home building and related industries.

Only a relatively few banks have announced they would pay a higher interest rate on savings accounts. The American Banker Daily has estimated the number at 3 per cent of the total, or about 400. But this includes big banks in New York City and some key institutions elsewhere. Moreover, they are advertising their new rates in newspapers and on the air.

Under the new rule, the banks may pay 3½ per cent on all savings deposits and 4 per cent on funds left undisturbed for a year or more.

Savings and loan associations have been paying, roughly, from 3½ and 4 per cent, in the East, to 4½ per cent in the West. There is no limit on the dividend rate of federally chartered savings associations.

I have heard some monologues that were just about as inane. There are, of course, only a limited number of things that you can say about an infant. The all-purpose adjective used in such cases is "cute."

But when I usher guests in to view my youngest, they don't tell me that he's cute. They tell him he's cute.

"You're a cute little fellow," they will burble in a voice pitched about two octaves above the normal range.

Most of the time he is sound asleep and would miss the compliment even if he could comprehend it.

My wife and her mother carry this quirk of talking to baby a step further. When they are in the room with him at the same time, they cease speaking to each other directly and use him as the instrument of conversation.

"Ask Granny what she did with those cotton swabs," the child's mother will say.

"Tell Mummy they are over there on the shelf where she left them," Granny will respond.

When you hear something like this while passing by the door, it sounds kind of eerie. They are putting words in his mouth but he is maintaining a ghostly silence.

It seems to me that an adult who feels compelled to address a remark to an infant should at least try to say something intelligent.

I have found that our baby responds best to talk about the European Common Market situation. He also seems to enjoy hearing my views on structural unemployment.

Just because a month-old kid moisturizes his swaddlings doesn't mean you have to treat him like he's still wet behind the ears.

Daughter Of Bob Burns Ends Life On Tragic Note

By DICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The body of narcotics-haunted Barbara Burns, "black sheep" daughter of the late comedian Bob (Bazooka) Burns, lay in county morgue today, her life ended at 22 by an overdose of sleeping pills.

The tall, beautiful girl, whose health, acting career and family ties were wrecked by her drug addiction, died Monday in General Hospital—two days after she was found unconscious on a street in West Hollywood. A spokesman said no members of her family were present and that she never regained consciousness.

Just five days ago, Miss Burns, who also tried suicide in August and September, made a New Year's resolution to quit narcotics. She told a newspaper friend: "Tell the kids never to try dope. It's just not worth it."

Miss Burns, who claimed her family treated her as an outcast because she tried for an acting-singing career rather than a society life, left a suicide note in her pedal-pushers telling her love for her stepmother and 21-year-old brother, Stephen. It said: "Steve and Mother, I love you and I'm sorry. All I wanted was your love and you hate me."

Miss Burns often said her family made fun of her because she was fat as a teen-ager, and that they would have nothing to do with her since the death of her homespun philosopher father—"The Arkansas Traveler"—more than five years ago.

But it was learned that although Mrs. Burns refused to comment publicly on Barbara's statements, she paid many of the hospital bills quietly for the girl since her addiction began four years ago.

At her death, the slender, auburn-haired girl was broke and unable to find work because of her narcotics record. She told United Press International the day before she gulped the pills that she was depressed over the arrest of her stepbrother, William, last week for robbery.

She maintained he was not an addict, that her family had rejected him since he befriended her—and that he was only trying to get money for Christmas gifts for his wife and child.

Miss Burns, who spent her $20,000 inheritance on narcotics, said she first began the habit to help lose her baby fat—"and before long, I was hanging around with addicts along Sunset Boulevard."

She said last year: "I wish I had been born in some poor, obscure family that nobody knew. Then maybe I would never have tried to become somebody, and there could have been love between all of us."

Noted Attorney For Movie Stars Taken By Death

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Attorney Jerry Giesler, defender of Hollywood's glamor girls and leading men for 30 years, died at his home of a heart attack Monday. He was 75.

No longer will movie stars be able to shout, "Get me Giesler," when troubled by the law.

For it was the famed attorney who came to the rescue of such celebrities as Marilyn Monroe, Robert Mitchum, Charlie Chaplin, Lana Turner and Errol Flynn.

In a career that spanned almost 50 years Giesler became a legendary figure in California courts, winning almost all his cases.

The heart attack was the sixth suffered by the attorney in a year. He had returned from Mt. Sinai Hospital last Nov. 19 where he was recuperating from a heart seizure.

At his side when the end came was a nurse, and his wife of 30 years, Ruth.

He also is survived by a son, Michael, and two daughters, Jerry Lee Wright and Mildred Lee Donnelly.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday at 11 a.m., PST, in the Church of the Resurrection at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale, Calif.

Walker To Give Amarillo Talk

Edwin A. Walker, former army general who is now retired, will deliver a major address at the Amarillo city auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Walker, who resigned his army post in October of last year after 30 years service, will be introduced by Amarillo Mayor Jack Seale. The former army officer was relieved as commander of an army division in Germany because of a so-called "pro-Blue" political indoctrination he sponsored among his troops. Shortly afterwards, Walker resigned his post to take up the cause to further patriotism in this country.

The speech is open to the public and there is no charge for admission. Doors will be open at 6:30 p.m.

Nearly 200 Texans Died Violently Over Holidays

By United Press International — Two hundred persons — nearly the equivalent of a full-strength infantry company—died violently in Texas during the long Christmas-New Year holiday period.

During the period from 6 p. m. Dec. 22 to midnight Jan. 1, United Press International counted 92 persons dead in traffic accidents, 30 more in fires and 78 as the result of drownings, falls, homicides, suicides and other miscellaneous tragedies.

The UPI count included the long week end—periods before both Christmas and New Year.

A train-car crash near Victoria Monday added five traffic deaths to the toll. An automobile driven by Oneismo Vargas Jr., 29, was struck by a passenger train. Kill-

Elections Riots Trigger Trouble Anew In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI)—Twelve Bashi tribesmen were killed and "many" were wounded in a weekend outbreak of local election violence in Kivu Province, it was announced today.

A U. N. spokesman said the trouble began New Year's Eve when men of the Bashi tribe clashed over the election of a local chief at the town of Kabare. The fighting continued until a U. N. patrol of Malayan and Congolese troops restored order on New Year's Day.

It was reported here that a Russian plane carrying doctors and medical supplies to the Congo was held up in Cairo pending clearance to fly over the Sudan.

This would be the first Russian aid to the Congo since Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu expelled Soviet diplomats from Leopoldville in September 1960.

The Soviet aid, at the insistence of Premier Cyrille Adoula, was to be distributed through U. N. channels. The Russians wanted at first to handle the aid distribution themselves.

The United States last week handed over a check for $10,000 as the first installment of its money aid to the Congo.

It was announced in Elisabethville that Katanga President Moise Tshombe had rebuffed Congo President Joseph Kasavubu's effort to call a meeting of the Katanga provincial assembly at Kamina airbase.

Tshombe surprised newsmen at a conference by saying he told Kasavubu he had no right to convene the provincial parliamentary meeting under the "fundamental law."

East German Policeman In Daring Escape

BERLIN (UPI)—An East Berlin transport policeman made a daring escape to West Berlin today through a subway tunnel to continue into the new year the flight of refugees that numbered more than 200,000 in 1961.

West Berlin police said the 21-year-old refugee fled through the tunnel from the Stadtmittie subway station in East Berlin to the next station, Kochstrasse, which is in West Berlin.

Because the Kochstrasse station entrance can be seen from the Communist side of the Berlin wall, West Berlin police gave the man a policeman's coat and helmet in which to leave the station.

It was announced in Bonn, meanwhile, that more East Germans and East Berliners escaped in the past year than in 1960, despite the sealing of Soviet zone borders on Aug. 13.

A total of 207,026 refugees were registered this year, compared with 199,000 in 1960 the Bonn government said; in December, 2,420 escaped.

Portugal Gives Army Official Hero's Funeral

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Portugal gave a hero's funeral today to the army undersecretary killed in crushing a vest pocket New Year's Day revolt against the government.

With the country still in a state of military alert in the wake of the uprising, President Americo Thomaz and Premier Antonio Salazar led the mourners at a requiem Mass at Estrela Church for Lt. Col. Jaime da Fonseca.

The officer was killed by a burst of machine gun fire when he rushed to the scene of the abortive insurrection and led the battle for recapture of a military barracks seized by the rebels at Beja in southern Portugal.

After the Mass, the coffin was placed in a heavily-flowered hearse and moved slowly through city streets lined with armed soldiers and thousands of citizens. The Army Ministry had urged a "massive attendance" at the funeral.

A total of 20 rebels was reported captured after loyal troops broke the back of the revolt. Two rebels also were killed and five wounded. The semi-official Diario da Manhã said those captured included former youth leader Manuel Serra, who fled to Brazil after discovery of an anti-government plot two years ago.

'Ag' Department Soon To Be 100 Years Old

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department soon will be 100 years old. The agency already has started some justifiable boasting of its century of progress.

The department was created May 15, 1862, when President Lincoln signed the act which said the purpose of the agency was "to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with agriculture."

By proclamation of President Kennedy, the department's centennial observance will begin May 15, 1962, and continue throughout the remainder of the year.

In preparation for the centennial year, the department said:

"In the 100 years intervening, agriculture has met every need of Americans for food and fiber at home and abroad, in war and in peace. Its achievement is a goal sought by the rest of the world, both free and Communist. Its efficiency and productivity, its ability to produce in abundance, sustain millions of the world's underfed people in their struggle for freedom and economic growth."

When Lincoln signed the act creating the department, one American farm worker was producing enough food and fiber for five people.

When Kennedy proclaimed the centennial year, one farm worker was growing enough food and fiber for 28 people.

The Agriculture Department has to do with the lives of more people than any other agency of government. Not every one writes or receives letters, not every one pays taxes, not every one serves in the armed forces. But every one eats, wears clothes and lives in a dwelling in which wood is used. Agriculture is involved directly or indirectly with food on the table, the cotton or wool in clothes and the wood in houses and their furnishings.

Agriculture is national. It is the nation's biggest industry. Its assets exceed $206 billion. Its annual cash sales total about $34 billion. It employs about 7.1 million persons on its 3.7 million farms and ranches. Four of every 10 jobs in private employment are in agriculture, or related to it. Farmers and their families have a buying power of $40 to $41 billion a year. Farmers use nearly half as much steel as the automobile and truck industry, more petroleum products than any other industry and are major purchasers of rubber, chemicals, electricity and countless other products.

From an international standpoint, one acre of every six harvested in the United States produces for export to the people of other nations.

Texas Hunters, Fishermen Had Excellent Year

United Press International
The year 1961 gave Texas hunters their bag limits in many species and filled fishermen's creeds, despite some disappointments, says Game and Fish Commission executive secretary Howard Dodgen.

"From the standpoint of the fellow who goes hunting or fishing, I would say we have had in the main an exceptionally good year," Dodgen said. "That does not mean that everything was good, of course, but generally it was very good."

Dodgen admitted, "there have been some problems—mainly growing pains, none of which I would say were unexpected."

"As far as the department's work is concerned," Dodgen added, "there has been one big thing—the new organizational structure through which we hope to get our services closer to the people and spread out to where the problems are."

Dodgen said more people were in the field and on the riverbank this year. "On an individual basis, the results have been about like any other year—but the total crop for all the people has been a lot greater."

The commission tried some new wrinkles in management this year, some of which portend good things to come, Dodgen said. "The bonus deer system, a first attempt, showed good success so far," he said. "We were very happy about it and think it will expand more in the future, with normal weather and good growing conditions."

The state also offered sandhill crane hunting for the first time. "I think that, too, will continue," Dodgen said. "I do not anticipate we will ever be without a sandhill crane season, because although it is restricted to a small area, it furnishes a lot of sport."

Looking ahead to 1962, he said, "it is a little hard to predict the game crop—it is a lot like raising a grain crop because it depends a lot on the weather. If there are no extremes of weather, we will continue to grow an excellent crop of game. I think it will continue to expand in 1962."

BRACE—Mrs. Mary Godfrey admires a couple of ring-necked pheasant bagged at Nilo Farms, near Brighton, Ill.

One way to a supple figure is demonstrated here (left) by TV personality Debbie Drake. She is up on her toes, stretching. Each time you stretch during the day, you feel better. Try it. For a firm throatlife, she shows (upper and lower right) how to exercise your neck. Start with your head back, as she does, then turn to the left, to the right, drop your head back and repeat. Always be seated when you do this exercise as it may cause dizziness if you stand.

RUTH MILLET

"Officials who are trying to figure ways to reduce aid to nations that side against the U.S. on many issues, say this: 'When you try to cut aid, realities raise their heads. The basic reality: If two guys are after one girl, the guy who first quits trying is the guy who loses the girl.' In his case the girl is a 'neutral' country."

Even when a free spender finally wins a gold digger and believes he has made an "until death do us part" contract, he isn't safe. The first time she gets a chance, she'll rade him in for a husband with a bigger bank account.

But let's talk about the good, reliable girls a man CAN count on.

What about them? Well, they don't judge a suitor by what he is able to spend on them. They judge him by what he is and by what he stands for.

Is he strong? Is he courageous? Is he a man of his word? Is he dependable? If so — the girl who is looking for a lifetime partner knows she has found someone she can count on, respect, and put her faith in.

There is still another kind of girl government officials seem to have forgotten about, too — the girl who is just naturally contrary, who scorns the man who woos her ardently and who would make her a fine husband — to run after a good-for-nothing whose only real attraction is that he treats her like dirt. There are quite a few girls like that around, too.

So let's just hope that the government officials who are being so generous with foreign aid in the belief that "neutral" nations must be wooed like desirable damsels know a whole lot more about neutral nations than they know about girls.

Light Exercise Daily Better Than Doing None

By ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. When you get out that little notebook to check on your New Year resolutions, here's one you should add to the list — "This year I will DO something about improving my figure instead of just talking about it."

Getting started on daily exercise is the only difficult phase of the whole program. Once you do that, you'll find you're having fun while you trim down the bumps and bulges. Debbie Drake, one of television's sparkling personalities, explains in her book, "Easy Way to a Perfect Figure," that common sense at the dinner table and 15 minutes a day of exercise can give you the figure you've always wanted.

It's much more effective, she says, to spend even FIVE minutes each day at some exercise, than to devote a longer time in a hit or miss manner, skipping days in between. Here are a few, easy-to-do exercises that will show an improvement in measurements. And, as Miss Drake advises, they can easily fit into the routine of either housewife or working girl.

Stand straight and tall, pull in your stomach muscles, raise your arms above your head, and stretch. That's all. You can take an inch off your waistline by merely pulling yourself up to your full height, and strengthen your stomach muscles at the same time. This can be done several times a day. It sounds simple, but it's the most important waist-reducer of all.

A crepy throat or a double chin may seem like opposite ends of a pole. But they can both be handled with the same exercise. If you have neither, remember that it's always simpler to prevent a problem than to cure one. So this one is for you, too.

Sit in a straight chair, for you may feel a slight dizziness at first. Hands on hips, circle the head from top to side, back to side, bringing it as far in each direction as you can. Start with 10 times a day, gradually increasing to 40 to 50.

An excellent exercise for the entire lower half of the body may also seem too simple to do much good, but try it.

Sit in a straight-backed chair, with hands at sides rise to a standing position without using your hands for support. Sit down again the same way. Do it very slowly, and it will reduce the hips, flatten the abdomen, tighten the thighs and slim the calves. Could you ask for more?

This year, adhere to a figure-firming routine daily. Watch your diet. Don't starve yourself, but eat sensibly. And long before next New Year's Eve, you'll be happy that this was one resolution you didn't break.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 228A at all drug counters.

Dear Abby... Man Should Have His Head Examined

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who tells you he wants to go to jail? He says he is thinking up a way to get in. He isn't a violent man, but he is planning to throw a brick through a window, or talk back to an officer, or do something that he can get arrested for. He tells me he can't stand the noise around here. We do have six little ones. I can't tape their mouths shut but, if I can stand it, so can he.

He says he is fed up with me, married life and the children, and the only place for him is jail where nobody can bother him.

DEAR WORRIED: I've heard of men trying to break OUT of jail, but never INTO one. If your husband is joking, laugh. If he is serious, call a doctor. He should have his head examined.

DEAR ABBY: Every year my husband's favorite aunt comes to visit us for about two weeks. She is very jolly and pleasant but she has one fault that bothers me. She keeps her suitcase locked and sews the key to her girdle. I don't know what she has that is so valuable, but certainly no one in this house would take anything. I think this is an insult to a hostess. How would you feel about a guest who locks everything up while visiting in your home?

HURT DEAR HURT: We all have our little peculiarities. Security is hers. Overlook it.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and I have a difference of opinion on something, and want your advice. My boy friend is going to give me an engagement ring very soon. My mother thinks he should give it to me in front of everybody at the engagement party she is going to give. I think he should give it to me in private. What is your opinion?

IN THE CLOUDS DEAR IN: Have him give it to you in private, and announce it at the party.

DEAR ABBY: I burst-into tears as my lover of ten years (a lawyer) told me he had decided to go back to his wife. He said, "I have no contract with you." Please warn other stupid women about this phrase. Respectfully, "TEN YEARS SHOT"

Lotions To Keep Your Chap From Chapping

By HELEN HENNESSY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Every male, at heart, is an outdoorsman. It pleases him to believe that women have a corner on sensitive skins.

But men suffer, too, from winter winds that cause chapping — sometimes even more so than women, for men must shave each day before they leave the house. You won't get very far suggesting that your husband cream his face each night. At best, you'll reap a startled look for your pains.

You can get around the problem by stopping at a drug or department store and picking up a weather-guard lotion for him to use after shaving.

One such outdoor lotion may be used on the face and hands as a protective barrier before or after exposure to the elements to smooth chapped, irritated skin. It's invisible on the skin, absorbs rapidly and won't stain clothing, the maker claims. Since it was designed specifically for men, he'll use it without any quibbling about "sissy" stuff.

When the temperature goes down, the thermostat goes up, and overheated rooms also cause skin and hair to dry out. But it won't do a bit of good to tell him he needs a hot oil treatment for his scalp. He'll think you're going to suggest a permanent wave next.

So when you do your marketing for the week, another small item you can purchase for him is an oil-based hair tonic for occasional or regular use during winter. Again, since these hair tonics are made for men, you'll have no difficulty persuading him to give it a try.

It would be wise, too, for even the rugged male to put a few drops of both oil in his daily tub during the cold months.

You can help at home by keeping containers of water in several of the rooms, in order to help humidify the air.

Women In Church

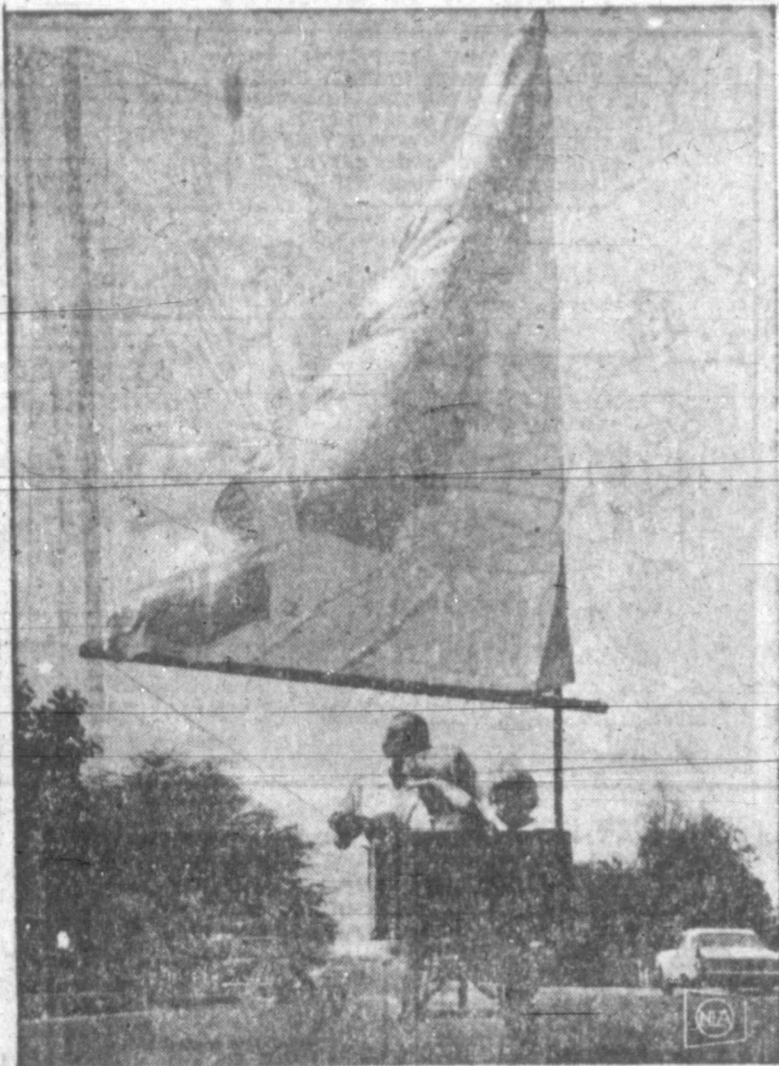

By MARY FOWLER

The National Council of Jewish Women and the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association of the U. S. A. marked the fiftieth anniversary of their social action programs at a recent joint meeting. Six women who have made outstanding contributions to national social progress were honored at this event in presentations by Mrs. Archie D. Marvel, of Hastings, Neb., president of the National Board of the NCJW. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt spoke on women's role in creative social change. The two women's organizations began their public affairs programs at their conventions of 1911, and have worked closely together during the succeeding half century.

United Church Women, representing most of the church women in the larger Protestant denominations in the United States, has passed on to local church groups this resolution (in part) on disarmament. "Believing that we live in an age of balanced terror which demands of all Christians dedicated study to understand the alternatives faced in the field of disarmament, and the need for constructive proposals for continued negotiation, we urge as next steps: (1) A firm declaration by the United States Congress that general and complete disarmament under United Nations supervision and control be a basic goal of U.S. foreign policy. (2) International agreement within the framework of the United Nations to end nuclear weapon tests, with adequate inspection and safeguards. (3) Full support of the new peace agency of the United States Government, 'The Arms Control and Disarmament Agency for World Peace and Security,' in its efforts to formulate policies and constructive proposals for disarmament and the peaceful use of outer space, in order to offer vigorous leadership in seeking agreements to end the present arms race. (4) A large-scale co-ordinated program of U.S. government agencies to work on solutions for the domestic economic problems which would result from an extensive program of world disarmament and establishment of a peacetime economy."

Frey Forsees Yankees Losing In World Series

MIAMI (U) — Fearless Frey's forecast for 1962—or what you can expect in the world of sports during the circuit just ahead.

Baseball
Roger Mar will get off to a slow start in the home run department and the Doubting Toms will label him a one-year wonder. But it will be a slower year all around in fobaggers with some of the rabbit-ear sliced from the ball.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, taking the National League flag, will beat the New York Yankees in a seven-game series. The New York Mets will get more publicity than any other team because of Casey Stengel's soliloquies and the Yanks will wonder why they let him go as he wishes fourth. Some "old pal" you haven't heard from since grammar school days will call up and ask for World Series tickets.

Boxing
Floyd Patterson will defend the heavyweight title against Zsa Zsa Gabor, or equally threatening opponent, the case it to Sonny Liston. Conspicuous notes will flood Blinky Palermo's cell thereby washing of Liston's announced intention of becoming an evangelist.

Archie Moore will defend the light heavyweight title twice and, retiring to the salt mines, San Diego variety, will disclose he's really 69 instead of 59. There will be another investigation of boxing, noting having been accomplished in the last one, with the same results. Fifty former champions will testify that, yes, Virginia, they should be a federal commissioner to run out the hoods.

Golf
Sn Snad on his 26th attempt will win the U.S. Open, if a psychiatrist succeeds in convincing him it's just another golf tournament. Arnold Palmer will take his first PGA and Jack Nicklaus will discover the difference when you are putting for dough. The PGA will fine a half dozen pros for play in non-sponsored tournaments.

Conerly Might Have Payed For Last Time

NY YORK (UPI)—Coach Al Sherin said today he hoped all his New York Giants old-timers would be back in 1962 for another season of pro football, but it is believed that 40-year-old Charlie Conerly is ready to call it quits.

"I've been playing a long time, commented grey-haired Conerly who completed his 14th pro season last Sunday when the Giants were routed, 37-6, by the Green Bay Packers in the National Football League's championship game.

"I'd like to be back again, but there's a lot of things that can happen between now and July," he said. "I'll wait a while before I take up my mind."

It is known that Conerly has been credited more than one college coaching job.

Sherin denied that the Giants' playoff battle could be blamed on too many older players in the lineup.

Lakers Dump Warriors, 114-111 As Wes Baylor Shine For Winners

By United Press International
When Los Angeles plays Philadelphia, a usually pretty much of a coin between the Lakers' Elgin Baylor and Jerry West and the Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain as far as scoring goes.

It was a same story Monday night when West dumped in 36 and Baylor 35 lead the Lakers to a 114-111 over the Warriors in Los Angeles Sports Arena, Chamberlain had 32, and no one else came close.

ments and the USGA will go on record against Calcutta pools. Everybody will cuss the Masters for price gouging and snobbish treatment but it will continue as a big tournament as long as Bobby Jones gives the joint class. Mickey Wright will look embarrassed for winning the Women's Open so easily.

Basketball
Jerry Lucas of Ohio State will be the most sought after collegian and turn his back on the business world to play pro ball after a bonus which will include the Golden Gate Bridge. Wilt Chamberlain asked seven thousand times if he's really seven feet tall, will be the top pro. Three college All-Americans will go into business because at six feet, five inches they're too small for pro ball. Red Auerbach will have a fight with a referee.

Tennis
Rod Laver will sweep the Wimbledon-U.S. titles and, after long discussions as to whether he can make more money as a pro, will turn to join such capitalists as Lew Had and Ken Rosewall. Pancho Gonzalez, in or out of retirement, will win the pro crown again.

Football
The Cleveland Browns will win the pro grid title with Michigan bouncing back as mythical college champion. Embraceable U. screaming it can lick any major team, will win its way to a bowl game and get wallpopped, 65-0. The rules committee will put lives ahead of money and demand better protective equipment and permit more liberal substitutions so the hack-up hired hands can get a bit more rest.

Boxing
Five baseball stars will open new alleys. The guys on TV will make it look so easy you'll dust off the old apple—and still won't be able to bowl your weight. A guy in Moose Call, Colo., will divorce his wife because he's a bowling widower, and besides, she beats him all the time in mixed league playing.

"I've said all along that this team isn't as odd as some people make it out to be," Sherman said.

"I haven't talked to any of them about their future plans," he continued, "but I expect Kyle Rote and Andy Robustelli to be back and hope Conerly is, too."

Conerly played a much better game against the Packers than did Y. A. Tittle, who is five years younger than Charlie and had beaten him out of the quarterback job in most of the games this season.

Despite Sherman's comments, the Giants are an old team, as pro football clubs go, and some changes appear necessary for next season if they are to repeat as Eastern Division champions.

The 10 oldest Giant players average 32.6 years in age and 10.4 years each in pro experience.

Frank Selvy broke a 99-98 tie with less than five minutes to go with two free throws.

Syracuse nearly blew its lead over Cincinnati in the last few seconds at Cincinnati, but the Nationals won it, 110-106. The Royals had trailed since late in the second quarter when they rallied to outscore Syracuse, 12-3, and change a nine-point deficit to a 106-106 tie.

Then Larry Costello hit the winning basket on a jump shot with nine seconds left and Cincinnati was left out in the cold.

Bob Pettit, dumping in 49 points for his best scoring effort of the season, paced the St. Louis Hawks to a 145-139 win over the Detroit Pistons. The Hawks also had their highest point total of the season.

Buckeyes Still Tops In Cage Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — College basketball's holiday tournament champions received their merited recognition today when Ohio State and Cincinnati retained the 1-2 spots in the United Press International ratings and Villanova and Oregon State moved up among the top 10 teams.

Ohio State, which ran its record to 10-0 by winning the Los Angeles Classic, and Cincinnati, winner of the Holiday Festival in New York, thus clung to the two top rankings for the fifth straight week. In points, Cincinnati narrowed the Buckeyes' lead from 65 to 41.

Art Market May Produce Big Year

By United Press International
The 1962 campaign may be a banner year for Art Market if his New Year's Day performance in the $25,000 added San Gabriel Handicap at Santa Anita is any indication of what's to come.

Art Market, a 4-year-old chestnut colt owned by Jim Fendrick, was disqualified in his last start in 1961, causing Willie Shoemaker to be set down for five days.

As a 3-year-old, the son of To Market-Drakensburg—finished in the money 25 of 33 starts, including eight victories—but no stakes wins.

But on Monday, jockey Ismael (Milo) Valenzuela urged him from out of the pack in the stretch for a nose triumph over Grey Eagle before 42,599 fans. Axe II ran third and the favored Oink was fourth in the mile and one-eighth turf test—although only a notch to No. 5.

Villanova, Duke, Duquesne, Wichita and Oregon State rounded out this week's top 10 group.

West Virginia and Utah, which settled for consolation places in the Los Angeles Classic, dropped out of the select first 10.

Lombardi Facing Great Decisions

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The youthful Green Bay Packers, who refused to stand pat after losing the National Football League championship game last year and this year won the NFL title, will probably have the "help wanted (part-time)" sign up when 1962 drills open next July.

The Packers, who trounced the New York Giants Sunday, 37-0, to win their first world crown since 1944, had eight newcomers on their title game roster this year. But unless the league acts next week to increase the player limit to 38, there probably won't be that many next year.

Two current Packers are considered possibilities for retirement. Booting Ben Agajanian, the 42-year-old place kicker who came to the rescue when Paul Hornung was called to active Army duty in mid-year, is an almost certainty.

The other, Em Tunnell, a veteran of 14 years of NFL play and a couple of years in the old All-America Conference, is expected to call it quits.

"I'm going to wait a while before I make up my mind about that," Tunnell said. "It's nice playing with a champion."

Retirement isn't the big problem for 1961 as far as coach Vince Lombardi is concerned, however. Uncle Sam, who threatened to take the championship away from his team by calling up three starters in the middle of the campaign, still has first call on halfback Hornung, flanker Boyd Dowler and linebacker Ray Nitschke until midway through the 1962 campaign.

Barring an early release from service, or a ruling by the league whereby such players would not count in the player limit, Lombardi will have to make up his mind in early September as to whether the three would be carried on the roster.

Only one player other than Tunnell and Agajanian is over 30, and herring Tunnell and Agajanian, the Packers' average age is 25. Dave (Hawg) Hanner, the 10-year vet from Arkansas, is the oldest of the regulars at 31.

Harvesters Will Open District Play Tonight

Pampa, fresh from their victory in the Top O' Texas Tournament, clashes with Palo Duro tonight at 8 p.m. in the first conference cage tilt of 1962 in Amarillo.

The Harvesters, who polished off Dumas Saturday night to cap the annual cage tourney, go into the Palo Duro affair with a 12-3 mark on the year and an eye out to start the year off on the right foot with a conference win.

Palo Duro, with a 6-4 record on the year, is out to gain revenge over the local crew for their victory over the Amarillo team in their last meeting last year.

Leading the Harvesters cage unit will be Wayne Kreis, who has been coming on strong in recent games and leading the Pampa offensive attack with his brilliant play from the free throw line and also his tremendous defensive work.

Aiding the local crew will be Randy Matson, 6-6 post man who has been consistently hitting in the double figures all season long and grudes to be one of the big differences in the Pampa cage changes this year in conference play.

In the Harvesters tournament, the locals polished off Elk City, 59-52 to avenge an earlier "uncompleted" contest against the Oklahoma five in which Pampa walked off the floor in protest to a referee's decision in the waning moments of the contest.

And then on Saturday night, against an old cage nemesis, Dumas, the fired up Harvesters put on their scoring shoes and raced past the Demons, 47-40 to sew up the annual Top O' Texas tourney.

Kreis was the man of the hour in both the Friday night and the Saturday night skirmishes in their host tournament, rattling the boards with 28 points on Friday night and then pouring in 21 more in Saturday night's skirmish to annex the two day tourney. Kreis was also selected to the all-tournament team along with Matson for his sterling performance in the two-day event.

Rounding out the starting lineup for coach Terry Cutley's cagers will be Bill Neslage and Lloyd Balch at the two forward positions and Gordon Balch at the other guard slot along with Kreis. The "B" team game gets underway at 6:15.

Army Expresses Interest In Signing Dietzel As Coach

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Army is "very much interested" in signing Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State as its head football coach, an Academy spokesman admitted today.

Joseph Cahill, director of sports information at West Point, said about seven men "are in the running" for the post "but Dietzel is definitely the top candidate."

"Dietzel has expressed an interest in the job," Cahill added, "but there are still some details to work out. Because of the holiday, we haven't made any definite decisions yet and, of course, Dietzel has been tied up at the Orange Bowl."

"I don't believe we'll have any announcement to make until later this week."

Dietzel revealed he had been approached to succeed Dale Hall as Army coach after he led LSU to a 25-7 victory over Colorado in the Orange Bowl game Monday.

Royal Is Awarded Top Coach Plaque

DALLAS (UPI)—Darrell Royal, youthful coach of Cotton Bowl champion Texas, was presented the Football Writers Coach-of-the-Year award Monday before his team defeated Mississippi, 12-7.

Blackie Sherrod, sports director of the Dallas Times Herald and second vice president of the Football Writers of America, presented the award to Royal.

Rebel Loss Is Biggest Upset

By United Press International
Fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong, but maybe most of the pro scouts are when they say Minnesota's Randy Stephens won't do.

Those scouts are in for a long argument from 88,214 Rose Bowl fans who saw the talented 20-year-old quarterback do everything but lead the band in a convincing 21-3 victory over UCLA at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

Stephens was the unanimous choice for "Player of the Game" and his performance, seen by millions of others over national television, was such that he also wound up player of the day.

The second distinction takes in quite a bit of territory inasmuch as three other quarterbacks also gave fine accounts of themselves in different bowl games.

Pat Trammell led Alabama's national champions to a 10-3 victory over Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Mike Cotten sparked Texas to a 12-7 upset over Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, and Jimmy Field was the standout in Louisiana State's 25-7 win over Colorado in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Stephens, however, overshadowed them all.

The rap against him, among the majority of professional scouts, anyway, is that his arm isn't strong enough to make him the kind of dependable passer a front-line quarterback in the pro ranks should be.

Maybe so, but that certainly wasn't apparent in the Rose Bowl.

The slick 215-pound All-American from Uniontown, Pa., batted 1,000 with his passes in the first half, hitting 5-for-5. He wound up completing 7 of 11 for 75 yards.

Stephens lugged the ball over himself for the Gophers' first touchdown from the one-yard line in the first period and then connected on passes of 12, 9 and 9 yards to pace a 75-yard second-quarter touchdown drive.

He gained 45 yards rushing, scored Minnesota's final TD in the fourth period from the two-yard line and, just to keep his foot in, averaged 40.6 yards on three punts. Stephens' one-man show was too much for the outclassed Uclans, who scored their only points on a 28-yard field goal.

Kreis was the man of the hour in both the Friday night and the Saturday night skirmishes in their host tournament, rattling the boards with 28 points on Friday night and then pouring in 21 more in Saturday night's skirmish to annex the two day tourney. Kreis was also selected to the all-tournament team along with Matson for his sterling performance in the two-day event.

Rounding out the starting lineup for coach Terry Cutley's cagers will be Bill Neslage and Lloyd Balch at the two forward positions and Gordon Balch at the other guard slot along with Kreis. The "B" team game gets underway at 6:15.

Childress, a tackle, signed with Washington of the National League in the Arkansas dressing room after the game. He and Alabama tackle Billy Neighbors—who charged at each other throughout the Sugar Bowl game—might end up on the same professional team.

Neighbors was drafted by Washington and also by Boston of the AFL. He said after the game that he was still undecided.

Groundbreaking To Start Construction Of Houston Park

HOUSTON (UPI)—Groundbreaking ceremonies Wednesday will signal the start of construction on Houston's $22 million domed, air conditioned baseball and football stadium.

Officials of the Houston Sports Association, owners of the new Houston National League baseball franchise, and city and county officials will take part in the ceremony.

The Houston Colt 45s bring big league baseball to Houston this spring, and will play at an auxiliary stadium about 300 yards from the new structure, expected to be ready for the 1963 season.

by halfback Bobby Smith in the opening period.

The victory enabled Minnesota to atone for its 17-7 loss to Washington in the 1961 Rose Bowl game.

And if Stephens is looking to prove those scouts wrong, he'll have a chance to do so with either the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League or the New York Titans of the American Football League. Both clubs have drafted him—despite what the scouts say.

A record crowd of 82,510 at the Sugar Bowl saw Alabama clinch the game by scoring all its points in the first half.

Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant wasn't at all disappointed by his team's narrow margin of victory.

"I'm as proud as if the score had been 100-0," Bryant said. The Crimson Tide scored the first time it got its hands on the ball in the first period, Trammell racing over from 12 yards out, and soon-ore Tim Davy added a 23-yard field goal in the second period. Billy Neighbors, Alabama's 230-pound All-American tackle, was the game's defensive star.

Five pass interceptions killed any chance Mississippi might have had against Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Cotten supplied the winning touchdown with a 23-yard pass to halfback Jim Collins in the second period after Jim Saxton went over from the one for the Longhorns' first score in the opening period.

Mississippi, a three-point favorite, went into the game with a record of five straight bowl victories, including a 38-7 Sugar Bowl triumph over Texas.

The Rebels proved something of a disappointment to the Cotton Bowl crowd of 75,504, mistaking their only sustained drive in the third period when Lynn Griffith's 20-yard pass to Reed Davis capped an 85-yard march for a touchdown.

Mississippi coach Johnny Vaught summed up: "Those five interceptions killed us."

Field's passing and running for Louisiana State was more than Colorado could cope with in the Orange Bowl, where 62,391 fans sat through a steady drizzle.

The Tigers from Baton Rouge, La., didn't waste any time. They returned the opening kickoff from their own 33 to Colorado's 14, and after the losers held, Wendell Harris booted a field goal. LSU added a safety in the first period, a touchdown in the second and Field scored one of two more touchdowns in the third period on a nine-yard rollout.

Colorado gained only 24 yards on the ground, scoring its only TD in the second period on Loren Schweninger's 59-yard gallop with an intercepted pass.

Hints from Paris and Tunis suggest that President Charles de Gaulle may yet win out in his determination to restore peace to Algeria by the end of the year.

It would be an uneasy peace based only upon a cease-fire and far short of final accord.

It also would be a peace not taking into account the Secret Army Organization (OAS) of dis-hard European settlers and dis-sident French army officers determined to keep Algeria French.

But it would provide a base from which other orderly steps might be taken, with the end result a free Algeria.

The hope of a cease-fire comes not from official sources but rather the result of knowledge that for weeks secret contacts have been maintained between French representatives and the Moslem rebels and the marked absence of violence in the public statements by both sides.

The rebels have dropped their opposition to a plebiscite giving both the Moslems and the European settlers a chance to vote on their own future.

De Gaulle has conceded that a free Algeria would have an interest in the Sahara and its wealth.

The rebels have indicated they are willing to discuss guarantees for the European population which will be a minority among nine million Moslems, and are believed to have gone so far as to agree to French-retention of some military bases.

The OAS remains the question mark, as does the extent of its influence in the army both in Algeria and metropolitan France.

Since the "generals' uprising" last spring, De Gaulle has made sweeping changes in command positions, and as of now it is believed the army remains loyal to him.

Even among OAS supporters there have been increasing indications of disgust with its campaign of violence, intimidation and blackmail.

There are rumors that even

U. S. Population Up By 2,978,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is starting 1962 with a neestimated population of 185,235,000, including about 750,000 servicemen overseas. This is an increase of 2,978,000 since last New Year's Day.

OAS supporters might agree to an Algerian referendum in order later to lead a secessionist state embracing Algeria's most heavily European-populated areas.

But right now, the important thing is that there is a ray of hope for ending the seven-year-old conflict with its heavy drain upon both men and money.
