"FATHER, FORGIVE THEM; FOR THEY KNOW NOT WHAT THEY DO"—Today is Good Friday and Christians the world over pause to observe the anniversary of the day Christ was crucified. Thousands of Easter pilgrims commemorated the day in the Holy Land by following the footsteps of Jesus on the journey to His Crucifixion on Mount Calvary. In Pampa, many observances are planned by church groups. The photo above is an artist's conception of the scene that day on Calvary. If you will read the accounts of the Crucifixion in the New Testament, you will be able to identify some of those in the drawing, and understand what some are doing.

Carubbi Is Fired By City Commission In 3-0 Vote Wagoner Is Named To City Judge Post

Congressman Named In Estes Inquiry At Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson introduced at a court of inquiry today a letter to indicted fertilizer king Billie Sol Estes, describing Rep. Carl Andersen, R-Minn., as "the man we need for a good contact in Congress."

The unsigned letter asked whether Estes would buy coal mine stock in Washington state from Andersen and said: "He is really in a bind. He is really good about standing by his friends."

Asst. Atty. Gen. Gilbert Hargrave, the first witness in the court, said the letter was unsigned but came from a file in Estes' records marked "Bill Morris."

William Morris, a former Agriculture Department employe in Washington, was fired earlier this week for failing to appear for an appointment to tell his superiors about his relations with Estes, 37, one-time boy wonder of Texas agriculture.

Estes is now under a federal fraud indictment. He admits debts totaling $20 million and a receiver is running his affairs.

Wilson said the court of inquiry held today will be the last needed to get evidence to take the Estes' case before a state grand jury. He expects to ask a grand jury to review the case in about a week.

The letter, of which Wilson introduced a photographic copy in the court today, mentioned that Andersen is the ranking Republican on the House Agricultural Appropriations Committee.

The salutation on the letter was "Billie." The writer told Estes that Andersen and his brother had a coal mine near Seattle, Wash. It said they needed money to get more government contracts and expand their operations.

The writer asked whether Estes would be interested in investing $1,500-$2,000 in stock in the mine.

"If you would, he has offered to buy it back at 110 per cent by May, 1962, or 120 per cent by May 1963," the letter said.

Wilson probably will present the Estes case to the Potter (Amarillo) county grand jury.

A. J. Carubbi, recorder and judge of Pampa's Corporation court since April 15, 1960, was removed from office today by a 3 to 0 vote of the City Commission.

William A. Wagoner, deputy in the city tax office, was named to serve temporarily as city recorder until Carubbi's successor is appointed. The commission passed a motion instructing City Manager R. B. Cooke to appoint Wagoner to take over the court post at once.

Motion for Carubbi's removal was made by Commissioner Lloyd Simpson and seconded by Commissioner L. P. Fort after Carubbi, who had been summoned to the meeting, had declined an invitation to resign.

Commissioner Leon Holmes joined Simpson and Fort in the unanimous vote. Mayor E. C. Sidwell was absent. The mayor is confined to Highland General hospital where today he still was fighting off an attack of pneumonia that sent him to the hospital last Monday.

Before Carubbi was asked to resign, Commissioner Fort stated that recent actions of Carubbi had created a bad situation between the Corporation Court judge and the commission and other city employes.

"The commission has reached the conclusion," Fort said, "that because of this situation there can no longer be a good working relationship between the commission and the city judge."

Fort explained that the action was not being taken because of Carubbi's political beliefs but because of the lack of any further possibility of there being cooperation between employer and employee.

The commissioner read from the "Personnel Rules," a booklet which he said was given to him by former City Manager John Koontz, designed to be a guide for the conduct of city employes.

Under the rule governing political activity, Fort quoted the following from Page 19, Sec. 3.3:

"While working for the City all employes shall refrain from seeking or accepting nomination or election to any public office, and from using their influence publicly in any way for, or against, any candidate for elective offices in the City government. They shall not take part in the polls; circulate petitions or campaign literature for elective City officials or be in any way concerned with soliciting or receiving any subscription, contribution or political service from any person for any political purpose pertaining to the government of the City. Employees who wish to engage in such activity shall resign from the city's employment."

"Nothing in this section, however, shall be construed to prevent employes from becoming or continuing to be members of any lawful political organization, from attending political meetings, from expressing their views on political matters or from voting with complete freedom in any election."

After the reading of the rule, Carubbi stated that the manual had never been used as a basis for handling personnel, that it was not made official by city.

Special Election On Commissioner Stated May 29th

A special election will be held in Ward 2 Tuesday, May 29, to select a successor for Newt Seest, who resigned last Tuesday as city commissioner.

An order signed by Mayor E. C. Sidwell, calling the election, was ratified and adopted by the City Commission at its meeting this morning in City Hall.

The order for the special election also carried the names of the election officials who will handle the voting at the North Side Fire Station.

Mrs. Ida Ruth Taylor has been named presiding judge; Joe D. Cree, judge, and Mrs. Alta Carlock and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, clerks.

The commission also canvassed the results of Tuesday's recall election on the mayor and found no changes in the figures. The final vote was 2,700 votes against the recall of Mayor Sidwell and 1,292 votes for the recall of the mayor.

Local Easter Services Are Scheduled

Churches throughout the city will conclude their special Holy Week and Easter services Sunday with day-long services, many beginning at sunrise.

Many churches are planning Good Friday services tonight.

According to pastors of the Pampa Ministerial Alliance, no Easter morning community-wide service will be held this year.

An Easter sunrise service will be held at 5:30 a.m. Sunday at the Top O' Texas Drive. It is sponsored by the Zion Lutheran Church. This will be a pantomime program.

Many college students began arriving home today to spend the Easter holiday and attend church services with their families.

Pampa schools were dismissed yesterday for the four-day annual spring vacation and will resume classes Tuesday at regular school hours, according to school officials.

For information concerning services in various churches, see the Church Page in today's News.

Reds Threaten To Walk Out On Geneva Meeting

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia threatened today to walk out of the 17-nation disarmament conference because the United States refused to postpone its nuclear testing for the duration of these talks.

The American statement and Soviet threat came in an unusual Good Friday meeting of the conference forced by the Soviet Union, which kept filibustering in a last-ditch effort to block renewed American nuclear testing in the atmosphere, scheduled to start next week.

At the end of more than three hours of wrangling, the conference adjourned until Tuesday morning, with East and West apparently agreed to accept a neutral proposal for breaking the nuclear test stalemate as one, but not as the exclusive, basis for further negotiations.

But Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin still refused to accept the Western point of view that compulsory on-site inspection of a suspected violator by an international organization must be part of a nuclear test ban treaty.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said even if Russia accepted that principle again, as it once did for three years, the United States will continue to test weapons until an effective treaty is signed.

Replying to a Soviet question whether the United States would undertake not to conduct nuclear explosions during negotiations here, Dean declared:

"The answer is no—the United States will not undertake such an obligation."

"The United States has learned its lesson with regard to a voluntary, unpoliced moratorium which can be broken at will by the ALGIERS (UPI)—French forces in Algiers today captured ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, chief of the outlawed Secret Army Organization and immediately flew him to France for trial that could result in a sentence of death.

Salan—once France's most decorated army officer but more recently its Public Enemy No. 1—was seized by French security forces as they launched a giant drive to wipe out the terrorist OAS and seize its leaders.

An official announcement said Salan, 63, was picked up in a building near the Algiers University this morning.

Reliable reports said Salan was found when a strong security force cordoned off a building in the Rue des Fontaines in central Algiers to search for a clandestine OAS radio transmitter.

Arrested with Salan was his former aide de camp, a captain named Ferrandi.

Here, Mary Ensey, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Ensey, 628 N. Somerville, gets an early start on the observance as she wears one herself and carries her pet puppy, "Stinker," in another. She is one among many Pampans who will observe this annual event Saturday. ## Good Friday Is Commemorated In Holy Land JERUSALEM (UPI)—Thousands of Easter pilgrims commemorated Good Friday in the Holy Land today by following the footsteps of Jesus Christ on the final journey to His crucifixion on Mount Calvary.

Msgr. Albert Gori, Latin patriarch in the Holy City, will be robed in black for the solemn occasion and will celebrate the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Calvary.

This will be followed by the way of the cross procession, which will begin at Antonia, where the trial of Jesus was held. The procession of mourners will wind their way through the 11 stations of the cross. At each station, there will be a pause while the significance of the spot is explained to the pilgrims.

The final station ceremony will take place at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

In the evening, the burial of Christ ceremony will take place with sermons preached in Greek, Italian, German, English, French, Spanish and Arabic.

Traditional pilgrimages were held Thursday night by all Christian denominations from the heart of the old city down the Valley of Kidron to the Gardens of Gethsemane, where Jesus was betrayed by Judas Iscariot for 30 pieces of silver.

It is the Easter season for both Western and Eastern Christians. But it also is holy week for the Jews and the few remaining Samaritans.

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, Jews celebrated their second day of Passover week.

Veep Says US Moon Shot 'Not To Satisfy Curiosity'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Thursday the United States is "not shooting for the moon merely to satisfy idle curiosity."

But whatever the reason for the project, Capt. Virgil Grissom said he wanted to be the first astronaut to make the trip.

Johnson and Grissom were featured speakers at the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) convention here Thursday. The convention closes today

Army Suspends Aide Of Ex-General Walker

By DARRELL GARWOOD
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army has suspended a one-time aide of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker for a speech accusing the mayor of Los Angeles of having a Communist background.

Maj. Arch E. Roberts made the statement in an off-the-cuff speech Thursday night to the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), who responded with a rousing ovation.

Within a few hours after the speech: —Mayor Sam Yorty, in Los Angeles, denied the accusation and said "such a loose charge" actually aided subversives.

—The Army announced that Roberts had been "suspended from performance of military duty pending further investigation" of the speech.

—Roberts, who learned of his suspension from a radio broadcast while driving back to his home at Ft. Lee, Va. said he was "not backing down" on his charges.

The DAR convention today adopted an emergency resolution protesting Roberts' suspension and requesting Congress to investigate this arbitrary exercise of power.

The resolution was sponsored by (See WALKER, Page 3)

Easter Egg Hunt Sunday Is Scheduled

Hundreds of Pampa children are expected to take part in the scramble that ensues when the Pampa American Legion Post 334 stages its annual Easter Egg Hunt Sunday afternoon.

The hunt will be held in a field, one-half mile west of Highland General Hospital, on the south side of Kentucky St.

Commander Joel Plunk, of the local legion post, said today the field will be divided into three sections, one for children five years old and under, another for children from six to eight years old.

Government 'Censorship' Charged In LBJ Ranch Airfield Actions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand, R-Calif., said Thursday the Federal Aviation Agency is under a "curious and alarming censorship" concerning government funds spent at an airfield on Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch.

He said last week that $29,265 was spent for equipment at the LBJ Ranch landing strip.

"Federal Aviation Agency Administrator (Najeeb) Halaby, whose agency installed the equipment, several days ago called me and frankly assured me the FAA felt there was a need for the equipment," Hiestand said in a statement Thursday.

"He also indicated there was nothing to hide, so it was naturally surprising to learn that answers to my routine requests for information required this special, irregular clearance," Hiestand said.

He said some of the facts "have been sidetracked while going through this curious clearance system."

The LBJ airport was leased to Johnson City, as a public airport. He said no one in Washington or at the Fort Worth regional FAA office could tell him the amount of air traffic at the Johnson City airport.

"My inquiry had been just how much public air traffic could be at Johnson City, populated by only 611 people," Hiestand said.

An FAA official had earlier explained that the new equipment was needed for the safety and security of public officials and high ranking foreign guests that Johnson sometimes asks to visit him at his ranch.

President Kennedy has used the landing strip on a visit to the LBJ ranch.

The FAA official said that the equipment would be removed when it is no longer needed, when Johnson is no longer Vice President, for instance.

Does Bible Reading In Schools Violate Constitution?

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Supreme Court has made clear that public schools must not engage in sectarian religious instruction. But it never has made clear whether this includes Bible reading and prayers — an issue on which state courts and laws are sharply divided. Louis Cassels, UPI religious writer, explores the situation in the following dispatch.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court is being pressed for a clear-cut ruling on a Constitutional question which it has left unsettled for 170 years.

The question is: Does the religious freedom clause of the First Amendment forbid prayer and Bible reading in public schools?

If the high court grasps this nettle — which it has refused in the past to do — its ruling could touch off the greatest controversy since the desegregation decision of 1954.

Millions of Americans harbor strong feelings on the subject of religion and its place in the public school program. Some contend that any religious exercise in a tax-supported school violates the Constitutional principle of separation of church and state. Others assert that it would be a tragic repudiation of America's heritage to ban the name of God from the classrooms in which most of the nation's children are educated.

The Supreme Court has made clear in the past — most forcibly in the McCollum case of 1945 — that public schools may not en-

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's getting so television's doctors and lawyers don't necessarily save lives or win cases any more, but just exude honesty all over the place.

The latest entry in this area occurred Thursday night when ABC-TV returned its series, "The Law and Mr. Jones," to the air, thanks to half a million viewers who wrote letters or signed petitions asking the network to bring it back.

The lawyer-hero of this show, Abraham Lincoln Jones — played by James Whitmore — insults as many people and makes as many mistakes in half an hour as "Ben Casey" does in twice the time. But he's honest.

Few would fault this slight trend toward the imperfect hero or the admiration for the non-organization man. In fact, I'm writing a script about a secretary who ignores her boss's dictation and sends her own uncompromising letters; the business is ruined, but everyone feels honest.

Thursday night's "Jones," in which he defended a policeman accused of implication in a jewel theft, was full of dedication and meaning and stuff like that there — but it was not very convincing drama, although it made a good point about the two-faced attitude of many celebrities toward publicity.

Whitmore is a whale of an actor, famous for his performances in the movies "Battleground" and "The Asphalt Jungle." He looks and acts like a young Spencer Tracy, and displays the same swift flights from anger to humor. In fact, there's a story that the late L. B. Mayer hired him at MGM to put a little fear into Tracy, who was kicking up his heels.

"Jones" may have its ratings headaches — it's up against NBC-TV's "Hazel." But it displaced "Marge," and that's a victory, however small. A really big victory would have been if half a million viewers wrote in demanding the return of "Omnibus" or "Playhouse 90."

The Channel Swim? Cara Williams, whose "Pete and Gladys" show was dropped by CBS-TV, is negotiating with the network for a new series. NBC-TV renewed "The Dick Powell Show" and dropped "I, 2, 3—Go," which terminates May 20.

CBS-TV's Jack Benny is being sought to appear with Marilyn Monroe in her new movie, "Something's Got to Give." The Advertising Research Foundation reports that 90 per cent of all American homes have at least one television set.

William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, guests on ABC-TV's "Adlai Stevenson Reports" April 29. "Sing Along With Mitch" presents the first of two full-hour salutes to Irving Berlin on NBC-TV May 3. Akim Tamiroff and Nehemiah Persoff co-star May 9 on ABC-TV's "Naked City."

gage in sectarian religious instruction, nor even permit such instruction to be given on their premises.

But it has never made a definite ruling on whether Bible reading and prayers fall within the forbidden area.

State laws and state court decisions are sharply divided on the question. Daily Bible reading is required by law in the public schools of 12 states, and is authorized, at the option of the local school administration, in 24 others. Eleven states prohibit Bible reading in public schools as unconstitutional. The remaining three have no specific law or judicial policy on the matter.

In 1931 and again in 1952, the U.S. Supreme Court refused, for procedural reasons, to take jurisdiction of cases challenging the Constitutionality of religious exercises in public schools.

In 1959, a three-judge federal court in Philadelphia held unconstitutional a Pennsylvania law requiring that 10 Bible verses be read without comment at the opening of each day's activities in every public school classroom.

This decision was appealed to the Supreme Court. But before it acted, the Pennsylvania Legislature amended the law to provide that any pupil might be excused from participation in the religious exercise at the request of his parents.

The Supreme Court in 1960 sent the case back to the Philadelphia court for a rehearing in the light of the changed law. Early this year, the lower court held that the amendment making participation voluntary did not alter the Constitutional situation. The purpose of the Bible reading was clearly "the promotion of religiousness," it said, and public schools had no business doing that.

This case is now returning to the Supreme Court on appeal.

Meanwhile, the high court has heard arguments on another case which raises the question of whether public schools may even acknowledge the existence of God.

This case grew out of a challenge to the so-called "Regents Prayer" used in New York state schools. The 22-word prayer was carefully composed to be as non-sectarian as possible. It says:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Participation in the prayer is voluntary and any child may be excused on request.

In the arguments which the court heard earlier this month, representatives of leading Jewish organizations contended that the First Amendment draws no distinction between "sectarian" and "nonsectarian" religion, but bars "all religious practices in public schools."

The Jewish groups also said that religious exercises in public schools discriminate unfairly against children of minority faiths, including unbelievers, who do not wish to be singled out as "different" by refusing to participate. And they questioned whether any real spiritual good can be accomplished by "rote recitation" of a non-sectarian prayer "in an atmosphere devoid of religious spirit."

The attorneys general of 19 states urged the court to uphold the New York practice.

"If the voluntary recitation of this nondenominational prayer in public schools is unconstitutional, they said, then it should logically follow that the public acknowlmighty God must be banished from all governmental functions." Asserting that the authors of the Constitution would be "profoundly shocked" to have such an interpretation placed on the First Amendment, they pointed out that the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag describes America as a nation "under God"; the nation's coins bear the motto, "In God We Trust"; Congress and state legislatures open their sessions with prayer; and even the Supreme Court convenes to the intonation of a marshal: "God save the United States of America."

It has been widely expected that the court would hand down its ruling before the present term ends in June. But the recent appointment of a new justice, Byron White, who did not participate in the hearing, could give the court a reason to defer action by ordering re-argument of the case next term.

A Formula For Raising A Son

On Raising Children
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) One working mother's formula for raising a son alone:

—Teach him to like and not hate; to work and not be lazy; to look up to adults; to keep good company; to pray regularly—and have faith in God.

Mrs. Ethel Lutz, the mother who said so in an interview, received an orchid from her co-workers in a Newark, N.J., factory the other day to help her celebrate what was happening to her son Stephen, 15, in the nation's Capital.

Stephen that day was installed by President Kennedy as the nation's finest example of juvenile decency. The boy of the year, he rated the honor after being chosen from more than 600,000 members of the Boys' Clubs of America nationwide.

To Mrs. Lutz it was a kind of "ecological miracle" that faith in God and the charity of others helped to shape.

One reason: Up to a certain point, Stephen had against him the same two strikes that occur with frequency in the histories of juvenile delinquents.

He was the product of a broken home. His mother worked.

But by following the simple precepts cited above, Mrs. Lutz managed to turn out a six-footer who was cited in recognition of "superlative service to his home, school, synagogue, community and boys' club."

The first home Mrs. Lutz made for her son was in an apartment converted from a pool room. Just a few years ago the mother and son moved into better quarters. There are two bedrooms.

"He was not yet two," Mrs. Lutz said, "when I had to go to work on the assembly line. I put him in a nursery school—and worked and prayed. But he adjusted wonderfully."

Then when Stephen went to grade school, a family owning a candy store helped to look after him when school let out.

After a while, he worked in the store, earning 25 cents an hour, worked up to 50 cents an hour.

When he was nine, he studied violin and the boys called him a prodigy. It was his mother who reminded him that most of the famous violinists were male.

Carubbi
Commissioner adoption, and that it is no statutory standing.
Carubbi told the commission that in his activities connected with the circulation of petitions of the recall of the mayor and city commissioners he was only expressing his opinion as an individual and not as corporation lawyer. Even if the rules, set up in 1944, had any standing, Carubbi said, he would not be guilty on any one of the counts named.
As corporation lawyer, Carubbi said, he had not acted against the commission in any way.
"As an individual citizen I feel I have a right to my own opinions," Carubbi stated.

Fort replied:
"Well, as Citizen Fort I have nothing against you, either — but as Commissioner Fort I am opposed to what you have done."
Carubbi asked the commission if his work had been satisfactory and said he would like to know the reasons for his removal.
City Atty. Bob Gordon explained that the commission's action had been taken under a section of the city charter which provides for the dismissal of any city employee at any time.
When contacted at Highland Hospital late this forenoon and advised of what had taken place at the commission meeting, Mayor Sidwell said:
"I think Mr. Carubbi knows why he was removed. He should know better than anyone else. There has been anything but cooperation with the commission from Mr. Carubbi. I can't understand why he should even ask why he was being released."
Then Mayor Sidwell added:
"I think the commission was right in the action it took today. It was long overdue."

Lewis Hackley, chairman of the Citizens for Better City Government, deplored the action of the commission.
When the commission was considering a motion for appointment of Carubbi's successor, Hackley arose in the audience and said:
"I think the commission should think seriously about what is being done here this morning. It appears to me there hasn't been a shadow of a doubt about Mr. Carubbi's handling of his job as corporation lawyer. This seems to be the case of a man being dismissed because of his political convictions. That is not the way we operate here in this country. Lots of things are said in the heat of controversy by both sides that in time are forgotten. I hate to think of the reaction that will come from this. I would like for you to think about this and let sound judgment be the ruling factor in the decision to remove a man from his job."

Commissioner Fort replied to Hackley by saying:
"I wish the Jaycees had thought about and weighed their actions before they tried to put us out of our jobs."
Hackley continued:
"He was hired to perform a service and has performed it. I ask you — what he has done that was wrong in the performing of that service and in the conduct of his court. I would like to have it on the record."
Acting Mayor Holmes told Hackley that the motion to disperse with Carubbi's services already had been taken and that the motion being considered related to the naming of his successor.

Indications were that Judge Wagoner probably would see first action in the corporation court this afternoon, where several cases were waiting to be disposed of. The likelihood also existed that Wagoner would serve only until next Tuesday when a permanent selection for the job is expected to be announced.

C. C. Ruff Rites Monday

Services for Charlie Clifton Ruff will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Duengel - Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel, with Olen Wright, evangelist for the Church of God, officiating.
Mr. Ruff, a retired blacksmith and minister, died at 11:45 p.m. Thursday in the Pletcher Rest Home, 403 Miami.
He was born Sept. 23, 1876, in Mississippi and moved to Pampa 18 years ago from Shamrock. He became an ordained minister in 1939 and had served as pastor in Mobeetie, Wheeler and Shamrock parsonages. He was a member of the Church of God.
Survivors are six daughters, Mrs. A. A. West of Pampa, Mrs. C. W. Vittov of Plainview, Mrs. W. F. Kerr of Las Cruces, N.M., Mrs. B. J. Lightfoot of Amarillo, Mrs. Herk Atkins of Mobeetie, Mrs. B. A. Ratchford of Ranger; two sons, Cleo Clifton and Aubrey Ruff, both of Pampa; one brother, George Edwin of Lubbock; and 30 grandchildren.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery, beside his wife, Mary Ada, who died April 17, 1953.

$1,500 Bond Set In JP Court Case

Bond was set at $1,500 yesterday in J. W. Graham's Justice of the Peace Court for James Darrell Morse, 20, on a charge of breaking and entering of a vehicle.
Police officers said Morse signed a statement stating he was the one who took a tire, battery and spotlight from a pick-up truck April 13, belonging to Dewey B. Johnson, 827 Brunon.

Grass Fire Reported

A grass fire destroyed three acres of land on the Schafer lease of the Skelly Oil company Thursday afternoon about 4 p.m. The fire, which occurred seven miles northwest of Pampa, was caused by a burning trash dump. There was no other loss to property.

Soviet Union, on any pretext it wishes to dream up."
"Renewed nuclear testing," Zorin replied, "will create an extremely tense international atmosphere fraught with dangers for a test ban, for disarmament and for relations between governments."
"We would not like to have these negotiations come to a failure, but they may come to that."
In a second intervention, Zorin added, "Fruitful negotiations cannot take place with the thunder of nuclear explosions in the background. We hope that reason will prevail. But the United States and the United Kingdom will bear the full responsibility for whatever ensues."

The resumption of nuclear testing in the atmosphere by the United States, has been viewed as one of the crisis points the disarmament conference will have to face. The other is the June 1 deadline for a conference interim report to the United Nations Disarmament Commission.
The Soviets already have warned they would stage new nuclear weapons tests for every test carried out by the West.
The issue between the East and the West remains what it has been since last September, when Russia threw over all the agreements of three years of tedious negotiation and announced it no longer accepted any form of international control of a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Russians insist that national networks of monitoring stations are sufficient to police a test ban, and refuses to permit an international control body to enter its territory to conduct an on-site inspection to identify the cause of a suspicious event.
The United States and Britain say this is the key to a test ban, and they will not gamble their security on anything else. Russia says the eight non-aligned states accepted its principles in the neutralists' proposal for getting test ban negotiations off dead center.

Roberts said he did not know the Army had a man in the crowd taking notes of his speech. "That's pretty sneaky, isn't it?" he remarked.

The Army said it had not assigned anyone to be present during Roberts' DAR appearance. A spokesman said Army authorities learned of his statements from news reports.
The Army had rejected the original speech Roberts wanted to deliver to the DAR. It was based on Walker's "pro blue" troop information program.
Roberts was information officer under Walker when the controversial general was removed from command of the 24th Division in Germany for trying to influence his troops' votes in a federal election.

The major has consistently supported Walker since the general resigned from the Army to fight communism his own way and run for governor of Texas.
Roberts indicated he expected the Army to react to his speech even before he made it. The former paratrooper told the women that he had made a few jumps before but "this is the first one without a parachute."
He told the DAR that military personnel "don't care who is the mayor of Muskegon," but he said "it is the responsibility of all Americans, in or out of uniform, when the mayor of Los Angeles, Sam Yorty, has a Communist background."

He also said that Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs G. Mennen Williams has "such leftist leanings" that when he was governor of Michigan he "brought the state to the edge of bankruptcy."

Roberts traced his charges against Yorty back to 1938 hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.
A spokesman for the House group said a witness once mentioned Yorty, but the committee "repudiated the testimony and discredited the witness."
Yorty said the witness was Arthur James Kent, a "convicted burglar" who signed a statement saying that Yorty, then a California state assemblyman, and a number of other California officials were Communists.

Yorty said Kent later retracted the statement.
Observers said the Army could take a number of different actions against Roberts. Court martial was a possibility, but an unlikely one, they said.
Other actions could range from admonishment; a reprimand, which is stronger than admonishment; relief from active duty, or outright expulsion from the service.
A Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday that Roberts would speak "at his own risk" before the DAR.

Thefts Here Are Reported

Police received a report early today from Murray Body, 2257 Beech, that sometime between 1:15 and 1:45 a.m., some one took about $250 worth of clothing from his unlocked automobile while it was parked in the 800 block of W. Francis St.
Body told police he left the car at about 1:15 a.m. and when he returned soon after, the clothes were missing. Police said some suits, shirts, several personal items and a leather jacket were taken.
Mrs. Harold Craddock, 2000 Wiliston, reported to police yesterday afternoon that her son had lost a wrist watch on a school bus sometime between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. yesterday.
She told police her son said he had taken the watch off and left it on the seat of the bus and when he got off the bus he forgot to pick the watch up. When he returned to get the watch it was gone.

Police are still investigating.
Richard Palmer, 318 N. Faulkner, reported to police yesterday afternoon that someone stole two automobile four-barrel carburetors and an intake manifold from his home yesterday morning. The accessories are valued at $145.

Dear Abby....

Get An Escort To Balance Party

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have a dear friend, a woman around 50, whose husband passed away five years ago. She has made a good adjustment as far as her loss was concerned, but she still wants to be part of the gang of couples she and her husband were friendly with when he was alive. We included her with the gang the first two or three years so she wouldn't be "alone," but how long is this supposed to go on? Our husbands think it is time she realized she is a single woman and stopped being a fifth wheel. We like her and don't want to hurt her feelings, but how do we handle this awkward situation?

THE LUCKY ONES

DEAR LUCKY: Your friend realizes only too well that she is a single woman, a fifth wheel, etc. But she accepts your invitations because she thinks you really want her company. No widow wants to be "included" out of pity. In fact, most of them politely decline, not wanting to intrude, but are begged to go along. A woman alone cannot easily hunt herself up an escort without being forward. If you are REAL friends, get her an escort to balance the party.

DEAR ABBY: My eleven-year-old daughter has been asking me questions about the facts of life. I have been avoiding answering her. Recently I overheard her asking a neighbor lady some of these same questions. I would like my daughter to know these things, but I don't know how much (or even how) to tell her. Can you help me, or should I wait until she is older?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: DON'T WAIT. If you don't know how (or how much) to tell her, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I will recommend some excellent books (available at your public library) on this subject.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper to have a bridal shower and a big wedding with a reception where people dance and whoop it up for days just after there has been a death in the family, even though the deceased was only an infant? My daughter lost her child. That same week her in-laws went right on with their plans and had the above-mentioned celebrations. Perhaps I am an old-fashioned, 40-year-old grandmother, but I think the celebrations should have been postponed at least a month. Am I wrong?

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: I agree with you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: Your parents have an advantage: They have been YOUR age, but you have not as yet been THEIRS. You would do well to listen to them.

New and welcome for spring is a soft, matte or dull finish for the nails. Shine is out.

With New Matte Nail Satin This Spring Gleaming Shine Is Out For Your Nails

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There's a new look this year, for women of all ages—the matte look. And it's important in face make-up, dress fabrics and even in nail polish.

With the introduction of the new matte nail satin this spring, shine is out for your nails. The high polish will be replaced by an inner glow of subtle color.

When you've completed your manicure except for the nail enamel, apply a special matte base coat and then three applications of the matte textured polish. Allow each coat to dry to a flat matte finish before applying the next one.

Here are a few manicuring tricks to help the new matte polish create the illusion of true nail beauty:

If your nails are wide, leave narrow margins on each side. To make them appear longer, be sure to cover the complete nail with polish. But if you have long, oval-shaped nails, they can be made to look even prettier if you leave a moon and a hairline tip.

You will find many wonderful shades of the new matte nail satin so that your polish can be matched or coordinated with your costume and other make-up.

And the over-all effect of the new matte look will make you feel more feminine and attractive than ever before.

Mrs. Hankhouse Has OES Meet

OES Gavel Club met Thursday evening for a covered-dish supper in the home of Mrs. R. A. Hankhouse, 1300 Mary Ellen.

During a business meeting conducted by Mrs. W. L. Parker, it was announced that Mrs. Roy Sewell will show slides of her recent trip to Hawaii at the next meeting.

Secret Pal gifts were distributed; tables games and visiting comprised the remainder of the meeting.

Mrs. Hankhouse was assisted in hostess' duties by Mrs. J. L. Burba and Mrs. G. K. Reading.

Mrs. W. M. Voyles and Mrs. Katie Vincent will be hostesses for the May 10th meeting; place to be announced later.

Members attending not previously mentioned were Mrs. M. S. Pearl Mitchell, W. B. Murphy, Ethel Stilwell, Howard Warner, W. M. Voyles, W. S. Kiser, W. A. Alexander, Darrell Bolander, Guy Andis, J. M. Byars, J. L. Fuqua, W. A. Morrison, D. A. Davis, Floyd Pennington, G. C. Crocker, Earl Casey, Oscar Shearer, O. A. Wagner, Rosalea Wedge and W. A. Rankins.

Take It From Kathy

Dear Gail: I read your column regularly in the paper. I wonder if you can help me. I have four very good dresses. Two are cut with low backs and two are sleeveless. But I've reached an age where nether style looks well on me. Can you suggest something I can wear with these dresses so I won't look so bare? I had a little white silk jacket made but it doesn't look nice with any of the dresses. These are all summer dresses.—Mrs. H. S.

Dear Mrs. H. S.: For help on this problem, I went to the famed Roman designer, Eleanora Garnett. She has some very practical suggestions for pretty ways to provide needed cover-up. She says: "I think the best solution lies in a little wrap, a shrug, to be made with a back and cap sleeves but no front. It should be shaped and fitted carefully, of course. It would be suitable either to crepe or chiffon, could be done in a solid color or matched to the color of the dress. This shrug should be cut butterfly style, to drape gracefully at the back. And,

to his advice, let me add this: generally, we feel better when we dress the part. If the day is stormy, of course you would wear your all-weather coat. But if it is not, make church an occasion on which you look your very best. For there's no escaping the fact that though our purpose is going to worship, we do gather with friends and relatives when the service is ended.

Please send your fashion problems to Gail Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Every Bride Needs A Beauty Plan

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The few weeks preceding a wedding are exciting but busy, for any bride-to-be, whether she's a dewy-eyed 20 or a mature woman.

Shopping, fittings and parties must be crammed into this period. And without planning and organization, she'll be a frazzled, rather than a dazzling, bride on her wedding day.

List-making is invaluable in coping with the hustle and bustle of prewedding weeks. Write down everything you must do, and plan a special time for each task. Adhere to the schedule to avoid the frantic feelings that are sure to come if things pile up.

Manage several full nights' sleep each week. Parties will be plentiful. So, on those days, try to squeeze in a cat-nap before dinner.

Arrange your time so that you don't have to neglect your grooming chores. Your daily bath, weekly shampoo and manicure can't be skipped. You'll want to look your best for those inevitable "surprise" parties.

Make a ritual of your nightly bath. Don't jump in and out of the tub. Take time to relax in the warm, fragrant suds to relieve the tensions you've built up. The mature bride, who may tire more quickly, will find this especially restful.

You won't be able to avoid rich party fare. Eat wisely at your other meals, or woe to your complexion and waistline.

When you choose the cosmetics for your wedding day, remember that regardless of your age, subtlety is the keynote of the day. Select your makeup a shade or two lighter than what you normally use, and forget the flamboyant, dramatic touch when you apply it. Your lipstick should be rosy in tone. Use the indelible type in order to survive greetings after the ceremony.

Keep your eye make-up at a minimum to avoid the hard look so unbecoming with orange blossoms and lace.

Don't try out a new hairdo for your wedding day. You'll be uncomfortable and, more important, you won't look like yourself.

If there's a diamond on your finger and a wedding date stamped on your calendar, just make room in your frantic schedule for good health and grooming habits. You'll be both beautiful and rested on the big day.

Heaven Bless The Silent Club Member

"Even the shyest clubwoman can overcome her fear of talking in public, by talking at home."

So says a woman who has written a book on public speaking. What the typical woman's club needs isn't fewer shy members who are afraid to speak up, but fewer members who are ready to get on their feet at the drop of any motion, capable of talking on and on and on without saying anything.

Get together a bunch of women in a club and there's a lot more talk than action. Why, a group of women can't even vote to send a two-dollar bunch of flowers to a sick member without a 30-minute discussion.

It wouldn't be so bad if women knew how to get to the point, say what they have to say in a few words, and then sit down and stay "sat."

But women so love the sound of their own voices that it usually takes a woman's organization at least an hour and a half to dispense with 10 minutes of business. Hardly ever does a motion go through without some woman hopping to her feet to give a long, but - on - the - other - hand, dissenting opinion.

It really isn't that the dissenter is worried over the two-dollar expenditure that is up for a vote. But how else is she going to be noticed, if she doesn't put in her nickel's worth?

If there are any women who belong to women's clubs who are too timid to speak out in public, let's leave 'em in that happy state. Blessed are they who can sit quietly and either vote "Yes" or "No."

With all the long-winded talkers there are in most women's groups, what is most needed are more silent members, not more women anxious to make themselves heard.

Dear Gail: I have an all-weather coat and while I like it very much, I'm in doubt as to when and where to wear it. It is a red wool jersey. Could it suitably be worn to church?—Mrs. P. W. V.

Dear Mrs. P. W. V.: The solution to your particular fashion problem comes from Henry Friedricks, long an expert in the matter of designing handsome coats. He has this to say:

"There is no reason why the coat you describe could not be worn to church. Any daytime clothing which is neat and presentable is suitable. It is my feeling, however, that a pretty, dressy coat in black might be one in which you would feel more comfortable. You could accessorize it with a bright spring hat, kid gloves and bag and shoes in black. Possibly black patent leather would be a good choice for shoes and bag."

To his advice, let me add this: generally, we feel better when we dress the part. If the day is stormy, of course you would wear your all-weather coat. But if it is not, make church an occasion on which you look your very best. For there's no escaping the fact that though our purpose is going to worship, we do gather with friends and relatives when the service is ended.

Please send your fashion problems to Gail Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Plans Completed For Violet Show

African Violet Society met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. V. N. Osborne, 315 N. Starkweather, to complete plans for the African Violet Society's show "Easter Parade of African Violets" to be held Saturday in the First National Bank Annex.

The show is open to the public for entries and viewing. Entries will be received from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m.; judging will be between 11 and 12:30 after which the exhibits are opened to the public.

During the meeting, Mrs. Osborn showed slides of Violet arrangements in unusual containers. A workshop was conducted by Mrs. Osborn.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with an African Violet arrangement. Mrs. Osborn was assisted by Miss Mary McKamy in hostess' duties.

It was announced the next meeting will be with Mrs. Joe Shelton, 2121 Williston on May 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Members attending, not previously mentioned, were Mrs. J. E. Carlson, Dan Glaxner, Charles Glison, Norman Walberg, Willie Rheudasil, Lee Moore, Lee Harrah, Cecil Holmes, W. E. Hinton, C. C. Mathney, C. A. Jones and Bob Montgomery.

Woman's Life For Price Of Beauty Parlor Visit

(Second of Three Articles)
By HAROLD SHEEHAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — For about the same price as a shampoo, set and manicure the American woman today can protect herself from cancer of the uterus.

This disease will appear in about 32,000 women this year. If caught early enough the chance of recovery is high. About 180,000 women who have had uterine cancer (cancer of either the uterus or cervix) are cured of the disease and alive.

The sad fact, however, is that uterine cancer continues to be a major threat to wives and mothers, killing about 14,000 women each year in the U.S. alone.

As with cancer of the lower intestines, uterine cancer can be best attacked by examination before trouble sets in. Most frequently this means submitting to a regular "Pap" smear test.

Despite efforts to popularize the test by the American Cancer Society, doctors and the federal government, a recent survey showed that some 41 per cent of American women had never heard of a Pap test.

The examination takes its name from the scientist who developed it, Dr. George N. Papanicolaou, who died earlier this year. The test, simple, quick and painless, is based on a study of body cells normally shed from living tissue within the woman's body.

The cells are harvested by the physician from the area of the cervix (the opening to the womb) and analyzed under a laboratory microscope.

Cancer cells have a unique structure which the lab doctor can quickly spot even before the patient shows other symptoms of the disease. If there is a suspicion of cancer, tissue is then cut out for further examination to confirm the Pap test findings.

Uterine cancer can reveal itself in two different stages: 1. Confined to the immediate area of origin; 2. Spread to surrounding tissues. When cancer is found at stage 1 it can be attacked swiftly and usually successfully. Chances for cure when first discovered at stage 2 are less certain.

As Pap tests are conducted among increasing millions of women, hidden cases of cancer continue to appear. When the test is first applied to a large cross-section of women, according to the A.C.S., about six cases will show up for every 1,000 women tested.

Once detected, surgery is called for. If caught early a simple removal of a cone of tissue from the cervix may be enough to arrest the spread of the disease. This operation will not interfere with child-bearing.

If the disease is more advanced, removal of the cervix or the entire uterus (the operation is called a hysterectomy) is required. Childbearing is impossible after such an operation. This disease is most common among women approaching middle age.

Early found cervix cancer can be cured for about $300. A failed-to-cure case costs about $12,000 to the individual and the community before death occurs.

The drive against uterine cancer for jobs now have to be handled through the state employment office.

About all the production employees at the Freeland plant are permanent residents of the area. "When we went into training," Cohn said, "it was in a big labor-recession market. Some of the papants had worked at a Bethlehem installation 60 miles away, and had been laid off. Others were anthracite miners who hadn't worked, some of them, for up to three years.

"But the home town appeal remained strong. In some cases, wives were working in families where husbands were unable to find jobs. Since we opened, a few of the people have been offered a return to their previous jobs. They have stuck with us. We have some good solid people working for us."

A Program Of Retraining Works, Employer Says

By JESSE BOGUE
UP Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Retraining programs work, Jerry Cohn said today and cited the operation he conducts in an anthracite coal mining area of Pennsylvania as an example of what can be done in industrialization with a retrained force.

Ninety five percent of the factory force which he employs in the Freeland, Pa., plant of Major Industries, Inc., are former miners. At present the factory force is 110 persons; Cohn expects it to rise by the end of the year. The plant makes range hoods and plans to get into other household production shortly.

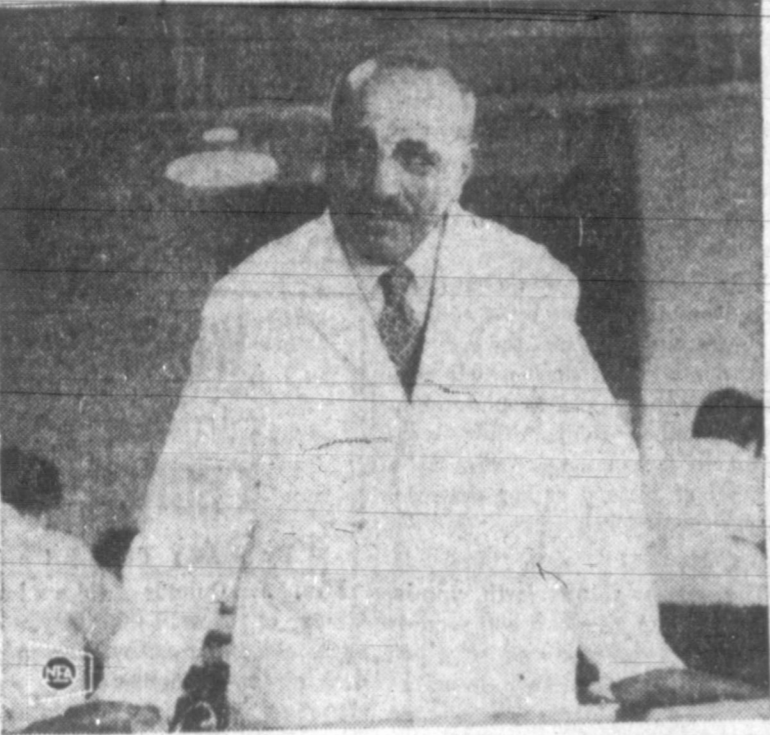

"The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Association was behind the project from the start," explained Cohn on a visit here. "They really have done a wonderful job."

"As soon as word got around, applications came in by the thousands. We've finally had to put up a sign saying that all applications cer is a two-pronged one, aimed at educating both doctors and women. At present, about 18 per cent of the nation's physicians include a Pap smear test as part of a regular physical examination. The A.C.S. has been pushing a grass roots campaign to alert women to the disease and to acquaint them with the Pap examination.

DR. GEORGE PAPANICOLAOU, shown during his medical school teaching days, developed the diagnostic test for uterine cancer.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, working with the A.C.S., has launched its "Conquer Uterine Cancer" campaign to induce members to have a Pap test.

The U.S. Public Health Service for a decade has sponsored Pap tests. The test is available to women whether or not they can pay the doctor's fee, which, as stated, is about equal to a trip to the beauty parlor — or the price of a restaurant dinner.

Cities such as Toledo, Ohio; Louisville, Ky.; Charlotte, N.C.; Providence, R.I., and Memphis, Tenn., have been objects of intensive programs sponsored by medical societies, A.C.S. civic groups, the federal government, the press, radio and television.

Results have been encouraging. In Providence, for example, in the first 10,000 women tested in a federal sponsored program, 70 confirmed cases of uterine cancer were discovered. All except one were in the early stages.

Daily, lives and families are being saved due to the simple medical discovery of Dr. George Papanicolaou.

JFK's Mass Transit Plan Is Described

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first of two dispatches on President Kennedy's mass transit plan, describing the $500 million program and its aims.)

By JOSEPH D. HUTNYAN
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration opens its fight next week for an ambitious half-billion dollar plan intended to strengthen commuter public transportation and reshape some of our society's traveling habits.

The legislation, requested by President Kennedy, in his transportation message, would broaden a $75 million loan-and-grant program enacted last year, and supervised by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The Senate Banking and Currency Committee, is scheduled to begin hearings Tuesday on this second phase of the program which embodies $500 million in matching grants over a three-year period.

Sponsors of the legislation, led by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., generally were optimistic. But they emphasized the need for a tough campaign of congressional salesmanship to pass it.

The feeling was that the Senate would approve the bill, but there was concern about its reception by the rural element in the House.

The parent legislation passed last year was attached to a catch-all housing bill—a tactical maneuver that hampered its opponents. This year it will have to stand or fall on its own.

The Senate in the coming weeks also was expected to amend the bill to permit long-term grant commitments without sole reliance on annual congressional appropriations.

Backers of the legislation say this is necessary to give the plan financial stability. But the change will raise the issue of "back door spending" and add to its political sensitivity.

The proposal is aimed at stimulating the purchase of railroad cars, buses, terminals, tracks and other equipment to revitalize urban mass transit systems.

The idea is to get more commuters to leave their cars at home and use public facilities.

Lefors Youth Is 1st Place Winner

LEFORS (Sp.)—Mickey Archer, Lefors High School senior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Archer, placed first in Persuasive Speaking in the Regional Meet held in Lubbock recently.

Mickey will now go to the State meet in Austin April 27-28. Archer was the only first place winner and the only one from the Lefors group to enter the State finals, but others in the Regional meet were recognized for other places. LeAnn Pafford placed fourth in Shorthand; Karen Priest placed 3rd in Poetry interpretation.

Journalism students, Larry Ables and Mary Barron, placed in certain phases of their entry, but were unable to make the finals.

Supporters claim the alternative is frightening

Car ownership within the next 15 years is expected to increase from 70 million to 115 million. If more commuters are not enticed from their autos to buses and trains, the urban scenery will be a kind of bumper-to-bumper chaos.

Planners conjure up an awesome scene of expensive multi-lane highways funneling this automotive army daily into traffic-choked cities reeling under its impact.

They claim that neither the cities nor the nation can afford it.

The Cross...A Symbol Of God's Love For Man

EASTER SERVICES

1st Methodist's Easter Services

"As It Began To Dawn" is the sermon topic. Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of First Methodist Church, will preach on at the two morning services this Sunday morning. Special music for the 8:45 a.m. service will be a special solo by Mrs. Kay Schoening who will sing "The Holy City" by Adams and also a special number by the Junior Choir. The Sanctuary Singers will sing for offertory the "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen" by Fierne for the 11 a.m. service. The anthem will be "As It Began To Dawn" by Harker featuring Mrs. Glenn Cox as soloist.

Sunday Evening Fellowship will begin at 6 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 8:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of planned activities according to interest and needs. The Adult Bible Study will be held in the Friendship Classroom and will continue the study of the book "New Life In The Church."

The Sunday Night service at 7:30 p.m. will be conducted by the pastor, who will speak on the subject "At The Crossroads."

Reports Heard By Missionettes

A report on the recent pancake supper highlighted the meeting of the Junior Missionettes of the First Assembly of God church in this week's meeting.

The meeting was called to order by president Mackie Hudgins.

Following the devotional given by Karen White, it was announced that approximately $200 was raised for the clubs various projects.

The group completed plans for sending folders to an overseas program.

Presbyterian Services Set

Dr. Lynn B. Rankin, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo, will fill the pulpit at 7:30 p.m. today for a service of Holy Communion in the Presbyterian church.

Reginald C. Hillier, Lay-Preacher of Amarillo, will fill the pulpit for the 11 a.m. Worship Service Sunday. His sermon subject will be "The Difference The Resurrection Makes." The text will be taken from John 20:1-18.

Christian Science Services

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard in Christian Science church services Sunday.

This statement of the Master's will be included in the Bible readings (John 10): "I and my Father are one. . . If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe me not, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe that the Father is in me, and I in him."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will be read: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was a both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals, - to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility" (p. 18).

Gene Garrison Evangelist For Revival Here

Gene Garrison, pastor of First Baptist Church, Hobart, Okla., will be the evangelist in a revival meeting beginning in the Central Baptist Church, East Francis at Starkweather, at the evening worship hour Sunday.

Garrison is a former resident of Pampa and a graduate of Pampa High School. After finishing the public schools here he attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock where he at the same time served as a reporter for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. He later graduated from West Texas State College at Canyon. Following graduation from college he began a teaching career in the high school at Phillips.

The revival beginning Sunday night will continue through Sunday, April 29. Morning week-day services are set for 10 a.m. Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. T. O. Upshaw, pastor, will be preaching in two morning worship services Sunday. At 8:45 a.m. he will be speaking on the subject "Proofs of the Resurrection." At the 11 a.m. service he will be speaking on "Hearts Affirm." Sunday school is set for 9:45 a.m. and training union will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Eight Pampans Will Attend San Angelo Episcopal Meet

Emmanuel Church, San Angelo, will host the fourth annual Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas on May 4, 5, and 6.

Delegates to the Council from St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Pampa will be: Messrs. James Dailey, Albert Knox, Horace Watkins, W. A. Watson, William Arrington, James Chenoweth and Royce Foster (Perryton).

In addition, the following local Churchmen who are diocesan officers will be in attendance: Dr. Felix Vendrell, Senior Warden; and Jack Reeve, Junior-Warden.

The Council will open at 8 p.m., Friday, May 4, with a service of Evening Prayer. At this time, the Bishop of Northwest Texas, The Rt. Reverend George H. Quarterman, will deliver his annual address to the Council. The opening service will be broadcast on a diocesan wide radio network, and in the Pampa area can be heard on Radio Station KPND.

The business session of the Council will convene on Saturday morning. The Executive Council of the Diocese, which met in Lubbock in February, has recommended a program budget of $164,525 for 1962, and $178,044 for 1963. The Diocesan Council will be asked to approve both programs, with the major portion of the funds to be devoted to the missions program, the figures being $100,740 this year, and $114,260 in 1963.

Several important elections will be a part of Saturday's business session. A clergyman and a layman will be elected to the Standing Committee, the advisory body to the Bishop, for three year terms. Two clergymen and two laymen will be named for one year terms on the Executive Council, which acts for the Diocesan Council between annual meetings.

In 1963, the Anglican Congress, made up of all bodies of the Anglican Communion will meet in Toronto, Canada, and the Northwest Texas representatives, one clergyman and one layman, will be elected at the Saturday business session.

On Saturday evening, F. S. Cellier, Sears, Roebuck & Company executive from Chicago, and distinguished Episcopal layman, will address the Council banquet. Cellier has spent more than thirty years in the educational and business world, working in the fields of communication, international relations and the humanities and social science.

The Very Reverend Gray M. Blandy, Dean of the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest, will be the preacher at the closing and the reading of the "Seven Last Words From The Cross." A brief worship service at 7 a.m. Saturday will close the 24 hour prayer service.

Religion in America By Louis Cassels United Press International

A visitor from another planet would soon discern that the most widely beloved symbol on earth is a T-shaped cross.

He would see it thrust skyward from the spires of churches, carried reverently in solemn processions, worn proudly in coat lapels. He would find it carved in stone, to mark graves, displayed in neon lights to guide derelicts to a slum mission.

He would conclude that mankind's highest hopes are somehow tied up with this symbol. And he would be right.

But he would never guess that the cross was an instrument of execution — an early and particularly horrible ancestor of the gallows, the guillotine and the electric chair.

It is surely one of the strangest paradoxes of history that a gibbet has been cherished for 2,000 years as the supreme proof, of God's love for man.

This paradox is worth pondering for a few moments at Easter time. It is a fresh reminder that something very extraordinary must have happened in and near the city of Jerusalem in the spring of the year A.D. 30.

Men may argue about the precise nature of this Event. But it is a matter of objective historical fact that it produced a new community of men and women known as the Christian Church, which quickly spread all over the Roman Empire.

This community was characterized from the outset by a radically different outlook toward life and death than that which prevailed in the world around them. Among other things, they were about to look upon a cross as a symbol of victory rather than defeat.

Why?

The answer stands forth, unmistakably from the earliest records of the Christian community which have been handed down to us as the New Testament. These men and women had become followers of Jesus of Nazareth because they believed "he was sent by God. Then they had seen him arrested, tried and put to death on a Roman cross. They had fled from the scene of the crucifixion in panic and despair, their hopes crushed, their own lives in peril. If the story had ended there, the cross would certainly have been the last thing on earth they wished to be reminded of.

But the story didn't end there. Within three days, Jesus had returned to them. They were startled to see him alive as you would be if you met on the street today a friend whose funeral you attended a few days ago. No person hearing the story of the Resurrection today can possibly be any more skeptical of it than were the Apostles when they first heard about it. The record shows that Jesus had to go to great lengths to overcome their incredulity. Once he ate an impossibly meal of cold fish and honeycomb — the only food at hand — to demonstrate to one die-hard doubter that he wasn't a ghost.

Once the disciples got over their surprise, they were totally convinced. There is in all history no example of a group of human beings who were more absolutely, unflinchingly certain of a fact than the early church was of the reality of the Resurrection. Any suggestion that their conviction was feigned founders quickly on the crosses of the Christian martyrs which soon sprang up from Jerusalem to Rome. Men do not die joyously to perpetuate a hoax.

It is also clear from the community's earliest records that the Resurrection did not impress the disciples merely as an awesome miracle. These devout Jews had never doubted that God could resuscitate a dead man if he chose to do so. The good news was that God did choose to do so, in the case of Jesus. Thus the Resurrection was above all else a Divine sign and seal on the work of Jesus. It was the ultimate confirmation that He had indeed been sent by God, and that He had told men the truth.

Christian theology did not begin with belief that Jesus was the son of God, and work forward to the Resurrection as a logical sequel. It began with the startling, unexpected fact of the Resurrection, and worked back to figure out what manner of person this was that had walked among men.

It was in the light of the Resurrection that the disciples learned to understand the cross as an act of parable of God's love—a love that extends to paying the full price of reconciliation with men who do not even know that they need to be forgiven.

Lenten Message

By THE
REV. J. CARTER ROBERTS
Pastor,
Church Of The Nazarene
Frankfort, Ky.
Written for UPI

"Seeing that you have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man." (Colossians 3:9,10)

Our kind of world needs changing. Perhaps the place to begin is our own human attitudes, because attitude has much to do with Christian behavior. However, there is a real need for Divine guidance, and we must not become too charmed with "positive thinking" as to forget the significance of Godly negatives.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the council of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful." (Psalms 1:1)

What makes the change? If not through human intelligence, nor does it come from the halls of learning, but the change wrought through the spirit of Our Blessed Lord. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature. . ." (Corinthians II 5:17)

The new man does good and lives right, not out of fear, but because he loves. God comes to man, and the result is perfect love. In the words of St. Augustine, "Thou hast made us for thyself, O God, and the heart of man is never satisfied until he has found Thee."

As we draw nearer to Our Blessed Lord this season of Lent let us remember our fasting and sacrifices accomplish nothing unless these are from the heart from devotion and love.

WOMEN In The CHURCH

By MARY FOWLER

Mrs. J. Quinten, (Maxine) Miller, of New York City, has been elected first woman president of the Northeastern Area Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). The area includes churches in New York, New Jersey, New England. Mrs. Miller served as vice-president during the past year.

Mrs. Lily Lee Patrick, a long-time worker in the Arcola (Mississippi) Methodist Church, has been church organist for sixty-seven years. She received her diploma and master's degree from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music in 1908. Her church honored her with words of appreciation, and showered her with gifts. The pastor is the Reverend J. S. Maxey.

United Church Women of Atlanta, Georgia, carries on a weekly project at the city prison farm, giving women prisoners programs of spiritual uplift along with refreshments. Individual churches of Atlanta rotate as hostesses. Mrs. Van P. Enloe, chairman, reports that in some instances the women who have been helped have expressed appreciation for what has been done for them, one reporting that she was out "for keeps." Co-chairman of the project is Mrs. Ida A. Prather.

The 5,200 Methodist women expected to flood into Atlantic City, N. J., for two meetings May 15-20 will constitute the largest gathering of Methodists anywhere during the 1960-64 quadrennium. Converging from all 50 states and several foreign countries, the women will attend the quadrennial assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service May 15-18 and the Wesleyan Service Guild weekend (for employed women) May 18-20. About 8,000 are expected to attend the assembly, and about 1,200, the Guild weekend.

A new organization known as the Taipei Christian Medical Association is in operation among the poor of the Wan Hwa District in Taiwan's capital. The Association has enrolled some fifty Christian doctors and eighty nurses who visit needy areas twice weekly with a mobile clinic to provide free medical service. The city government has made an ambulance available. The organization is sponsored by Taiwan Christian Service, a cooperative organization of Protestant relief work on the island.

Two Services At The First Christian

There will be two identical Easter Morning Worship Services at the First Christian Church. The first service begins at 8:30 a.m. and the second at 10:30 a.m. Rev. Glyn B. Adsit will deliver both sermons, using as his title, "I Believe In Eternal Life."

Music, accompanying the service will be: "Easter Call to Worship," for Minister and Choir, by R. L. Grosvenor; "In Joseph's Lovely Garden," traditional Spanish, arranged by Clarence Dickinson will be played during offertory; Mrs. Ronnie Martin; soloist: "Angels, Roll the Rock Away" by John Prindle Scott, will be the Anthem, with Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mr. Charles Beard as soloists; "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" by David Wms. Thornton, will be sung as a benediction.

The evening service, beginning at 7 p.m. will be centered around a baptismal service.

LAME DUCK LIMP (MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Many reapportionment-minded senators currently adopted a decided limp when approaching a newsmen on Capitol Hill.

The limping fad emphasizes that the senator is a "lame duck" legislator and ineligible for reelection under Alabama's system of rotating state Senate seats.

Easter Services Set By Baptists

The First Baptist Church, will have two worship services Easter Sunday morning. James T. Karan, a layman from Little Rock, Ark., will be the guest speaker for both morning services. Karan is a graduate of Auburn University of Auburn, Alabama. He has been a football coach and is also an outstanding speaker and has spoken in more than 300 Baptist Churches, 9 state conventions, and for the Southern Baptist Pastor's Conference in Miami Beach, Florida.

At the 8:30 o'clock morning worship the Chapel Choir will occupy the choir loft and will sing "In the Cross of Christ I Glory" for the Choral Meditation. At the 11 a.m. service the Church Choir will sing "Rejoice, The Lord Is King" for the special music. Mr. Joe Whitten, Minister of music, will direct the music in both services. Miss Eloise Lane, organist will play "Easter Dawn of Peace" by Rasley for the 8:30 a.m. organ offertory and "Preludes on Three Easter Carols" by Willson at the 11 hour.

The Pastor, Dr. Douglas Carver, will be in the pulpit for the 7:30 evening worship and will speak from the subject, "Second Mile Religion." Mr. Whitten will present three choirs singing Easter music. The Cherub Choir, under the direction of Mrs. John Branham, will sing "Christ The Lord Is Risen" and "Easter Day."

Mr. Whitten will direct the Carol of choir in singing "Hosanna" which will be sung antiphonally by that choir, and the Church Choir will sing, "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today" by Wesley. "Lament," a negro spiritual will be the evening offertory number.

The Ordinance of Baptism will be observed at the beginning of the evening worship. All awaiting candidates are asked to meet the Pastor in his study at 7:15 p.m.

Sunday, April 29, a revival will begin and last through May 6, with Dr. C. Gordon Bayless, Pastor of the Central Baptist Church of North Little Rock, Arkansas, as evangelist. Dr. Bayless is a former Pastor of this Church and has been an outstanding Southern Baptist Evangelist. Mr. Sam Allen, of Tulsa, Oklahoma will be the singer. Mr. Allen has led the music for numerous organizations of the Southern Baptist Convention and while he is leading the music for the revival he will present a concert one night during the week.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

ST. MATTHEW'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH
727 WEST BROWNING
PAMPA, TEXAS

Read — St. John 20:1-10.

The FACT of the Resurrection of the Lord did not break suddenly on the disciples. They were allowed to realize it gradually; it was not till the evening of the day that He came to them. By that time they had heard of the empty tomb, the vision of angels, and had had time to remember the words of Christ. The words gained new meaning so they met Him not with frenzied excitement, but with calm recognition and gladness.

The Gospel tell us of the first stage in this process of gradual realization in three ways:

(1) It shows how little even those who were nearest to Him had expected any such event at the Resurrection. The only thing that the empty tomb suggested to Mary was that the body had been removed. The two apostles who ran to the tomb came only to look for the body. If Jesus had appeared to them on the way they probably would have failed to recognize Him, as did the two on the road, or as Mary did in the garden.

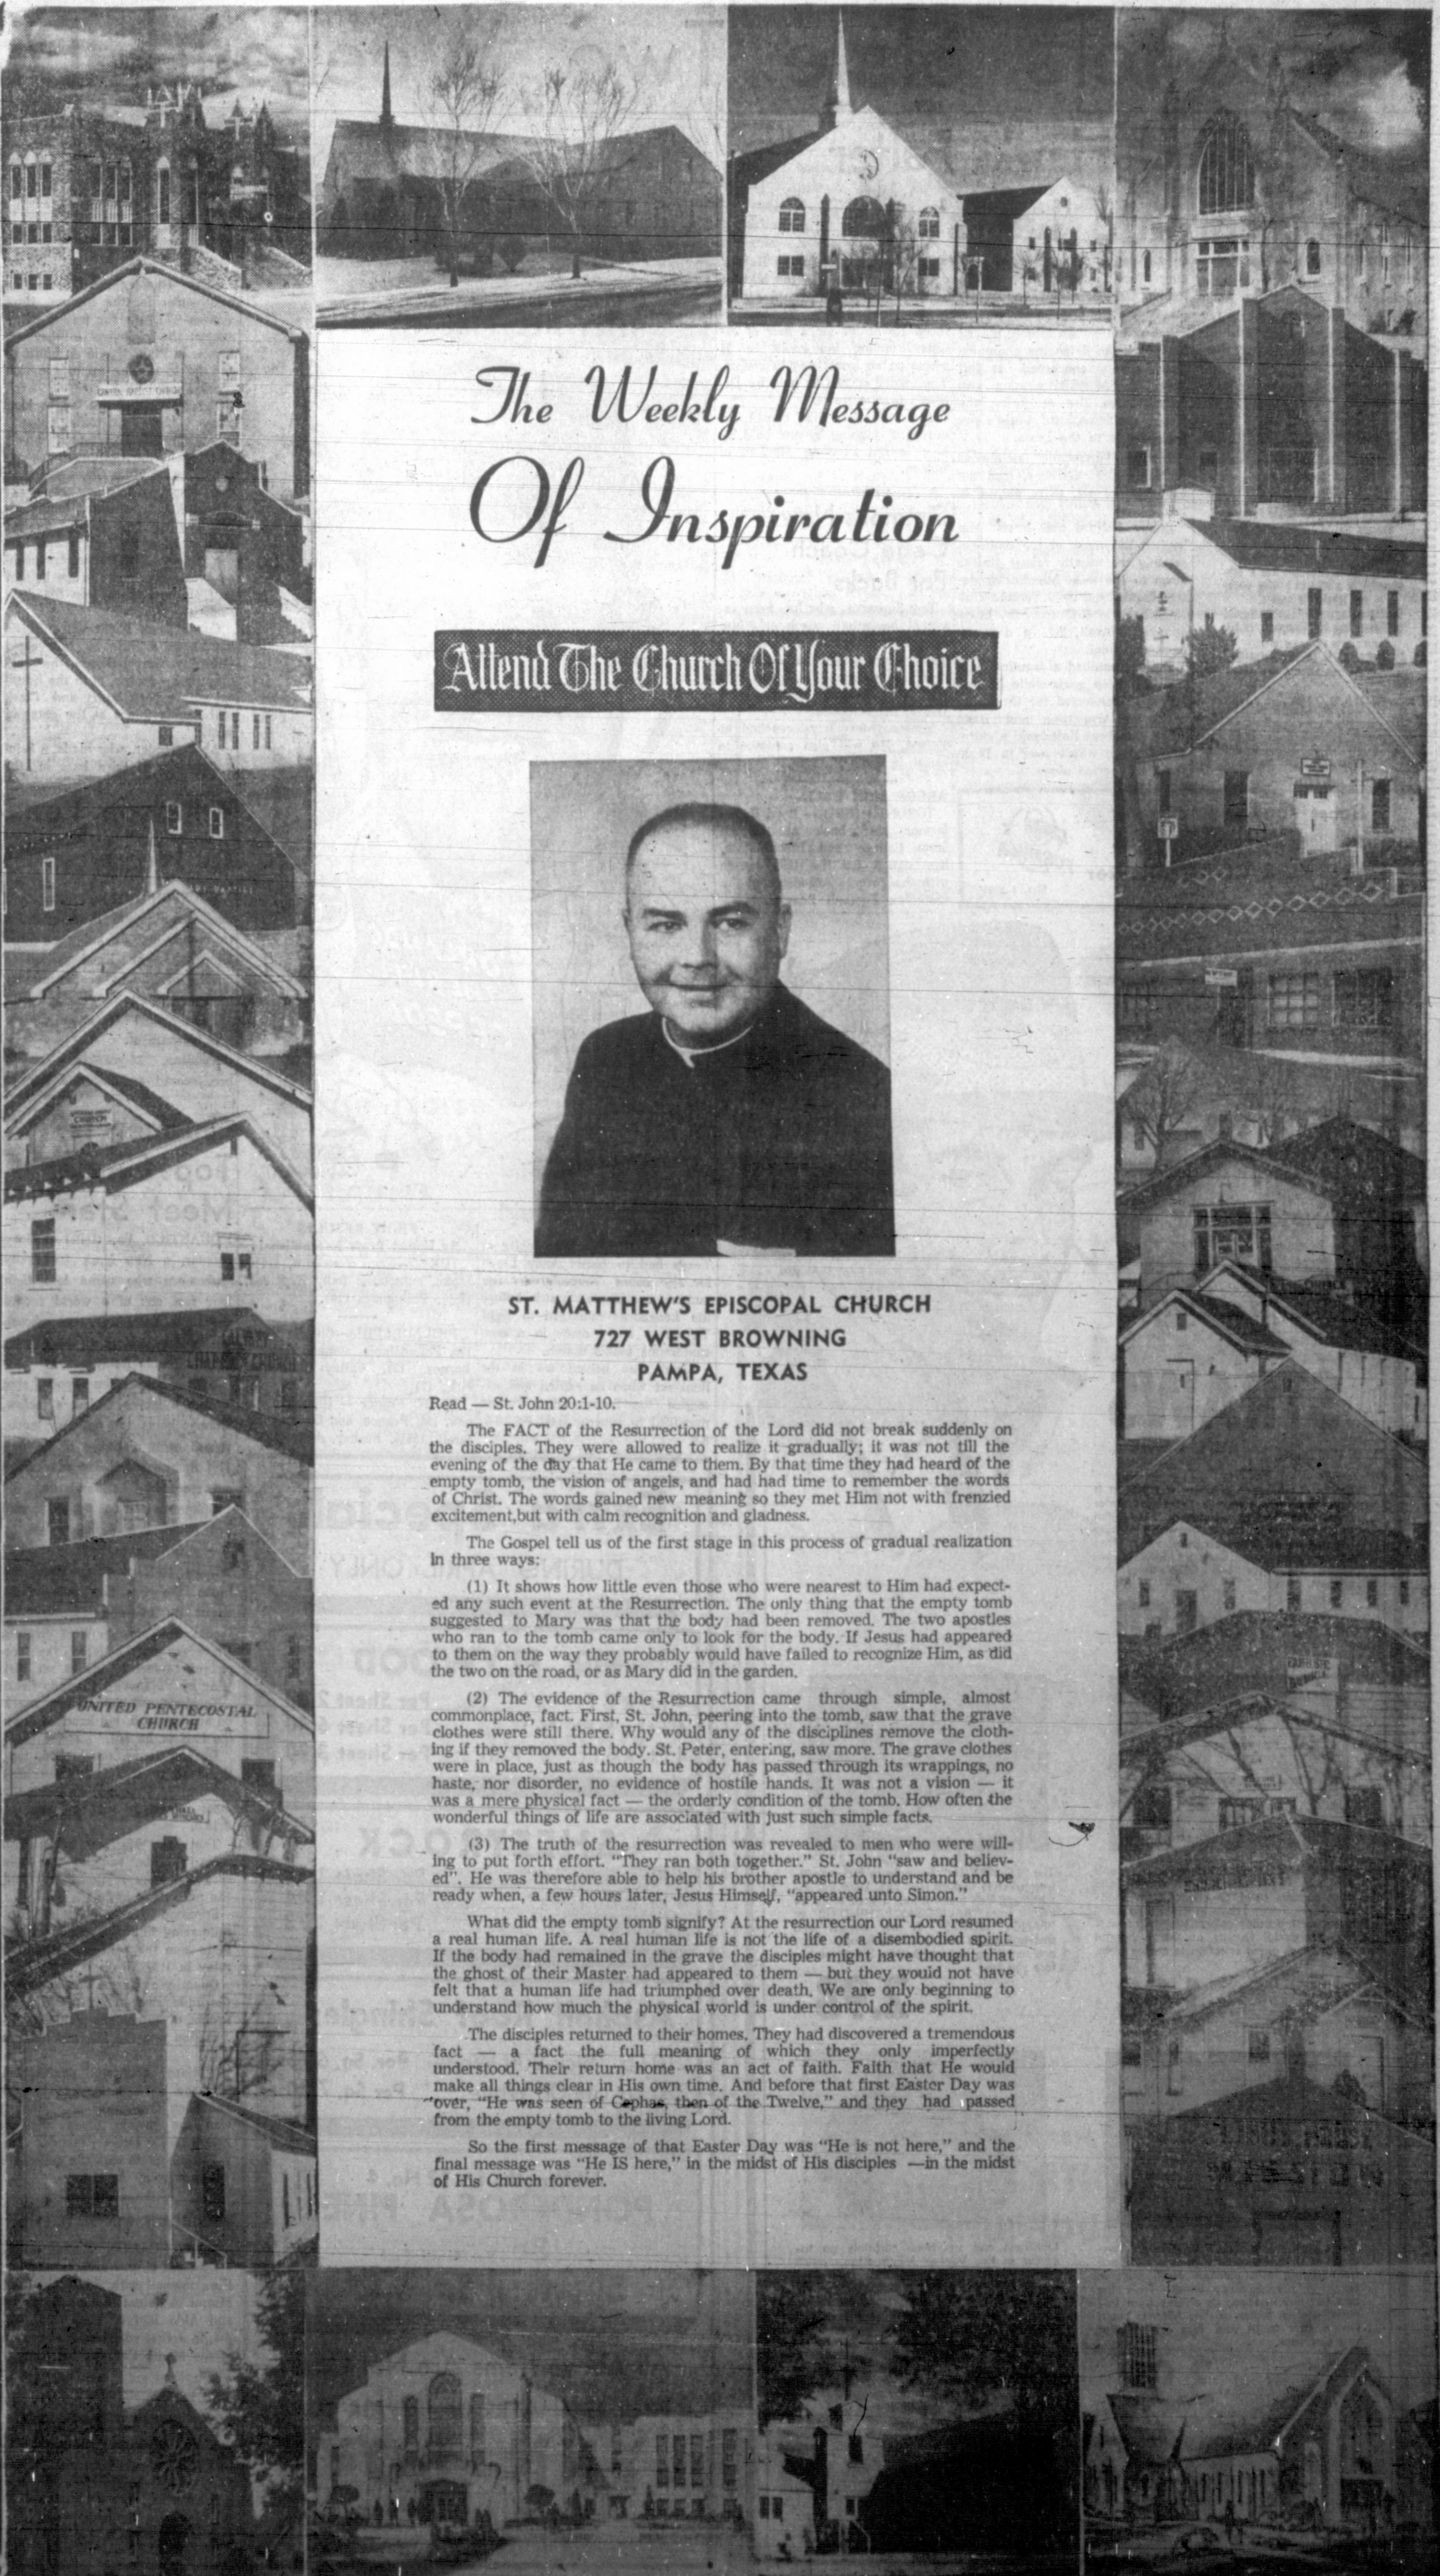

(2) The evidence of the Resurrection came through simple, almost commonplace, fact. First, St. John, peering into the tomb, saw that the grave clothes were still there. Why would any of the disciples remove the clothing if they removed the body. St. Peter, entering, saw more. The grave clothes were in place, just as though the body has passed through its wrappings, no haste, nor disorder, no evidence of hostile hands. It was not a vision — it was a mere physical fact — the orderly condition of the tomb. How often the wonderful things of life are associated with just such simple facts.

(3) The truth of the resurrection was revealed to men who were willing to put forth effort. "They ran both together." St. John "saw and believed". He was therefore able to help his brother apostle to understand and be ready when, a few hours later, Jesus Himself, "appeared unto Simon."

What did the empty tomb signify? At the resurrection our Lord resumed a real human life. A real human life is not the life of a disembodied spirit. If the body had remained in the grave the disciples might have thought that the ghost of their Master had appeared to them — but they would not have felt that a human life had triumphed over death. We are only beginning to understand how much the physical world is under control of the spirit.

The disciples returned to their homes. They had discovered a tremendous fact — a fact the full meaning of which they only imperfectly understood. Their return home was an act of faith. Faith that He would make all things clear in His own time. And before that first Easter Day was over, "He was seen of Cephas, then of the Twelve," and they had passed from the empty tomb to the living Lord.

So the first message of that Easter Day was "He is not here," and the final message was "He IS here," in the midst of His disciples — in the midst of His Church forever.

Chicago Black Hawks Falter Before Toronto 'Leafs', 8-4

TORONTO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks left their brass knuckles and muscles at home Thursday night and wound up trying to skate and check with the Toronto Maple Leafs. It cost them an 8-4 defeat in what even winning Toronto manager-coach Punch Imlach called "a loosely played Stanley Cup game." It was more than loosely played as far as the defending champion Hawks were concerned. It left them faced with winning two games in a row or losing the trophy emblematic of world's pro hockey title to the Leafs.

Toronto, "invincible" as always in Maple Leaf Gardens, lead the best-of-seven set, three games to two. Bobby Pulford and Frank Mahovich did most of the damage, sending the usually robust Hawks down to the most humiliating defeat handed out by a Toronto club since back in 1942 when the Leafs spanked Detroit, 9-3, in a come-back cup final.

Pulford bombed a frantic Glenn Hall for three goals while Mahovich also connected for three.

George Armstrong and Dave Keon also beat Hall amid a storm of 44 shots which rose to 19 in the final period alone.

Only bright light in the Hawks' disastrous defeat was the all-time Stanley Cup points record set by center Stan Mikita. The poker-faced Hawk hit for a pair of assists, running his count to 21 points on six goals and 15 assists. The record of 20 was held by Detroit's Gordie Howe.

The 15 assists also constituted a record, topping by one held by now retired Fleming Mackell of Boston.

Simmons New Cage Coach For Bucks

Roy Simmons, who has been assistant basketball coach at White Deer high school for the past two years, has been named head coach to replace Roy Tipton, who took a similar position with Gruver high school. Simmons formerly coached at Friona. He will also continue to assist in football.

FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1962 55TH YEAR

THEY ALL 'PIC' THE BULL

Local Nine Will Battle Of Plainview And Tascosa

Jerry Glover, the fireballing righthander for the Pampa Harvesters will take the mound today against the Plainview Bulldogs at 1 p.m. in Plainview in an effort to get the local nine up to the .500 mark for the year.

The Harvesters are 3-4 in loop play.

Saturday the Harvesters host Tascosa at the Optimist park at 2 p.m. with Mike Clark going to the firing line.

Pampa won an extra inning affair in their last game against Berger, 2-1 with Clark picking up the victory. The Harvesters pushed over a single run in the bottom half of the 12th to gain the decision.

Coach Deck Woldt will shuffle his lineup a little bit today and Saturday. Gerrel Owens, the regular first sacker, is in the hospital with a back injury and Clark will handle things at the gateway post.

Ab Cullender, who made a brief appearance at third base in the game with the Bulldogs might share the hot corner duties with regular third sacker Ricky Stewart. Cullender had been sidelined with a thigh injury and held down the second base slot before his injury.

Glover helped the Harvesters cause in their last game with a single and a double in six trips to the plate to share hitting honors with Howard Reed and Kenny Hebert, who also picked up a pair of hits. Reed drove in the deciding run in the 12th with two out with a single to centerfield.

In the infield will be Clark at first, Larry Gregory at second, Butch Crossland at shortstop and either Cullender or Ricky Stewart at third base.

In the outfield will be John Arthur in left, Hebert in centerfield and Reed in rightfield. Arthur is the team's leading hitter going into the game with a .360 average. Mike Stewart will handle the catching chores with Glover the hill.

Saturday Clark will be gunning for his third win of the year loop-play. The stylish righthander struck out 13 men in the game against Berger while issuing one walk.

Glover is 1-1 thus far. The Harvesters eased a Plainview in their first meeting 1-0 but lost to the Rebels in the first round of play, 3-2 in six innings.

Women Pros Tee Off In Sunshine Play

MIAMI (UPI)—Twenty-sev of the nation's top professional women golfers tee off today in the $7,500 Sunshine Open—final tune for the Titleholders tournament. Defending champion Mick Wright ranked as favorite to win off with the $1,200 first prize Sunday in the 54-hole event. Mick Wright fired 71-73-76—220 to win last year's tournament.

Eight of the top money winners on last year's circuit are entered in the tournament. Among the shooting for the top money are Marlene Bauer Hagge, Barbara Romack, Kathy Cornelius, Jane Anne Prentice, Betsy Rawls, Peggy Berg, Jackie Pung and Be Stone. Winner of the Sunshine probably get top billing in the annual Ladies Professional Golf Association plum, the Titleholders set in Augusta, Ga., April 26-29.

Four Pampa Cinder Stars In Meet

Four Harvester cindermen will compete in the Andrews invitational track and field meet today and then journey over to Clovis, N.M. on Saturday for another meet. Making the trip this weekend are Randy Matson, Bill Martin, Ralph Palmer and Travis Tucker. Matson will compete in the shot put and discus, Martin in the high jump, Palmer in the 440 and Tucker in the pole vault.

Knudson Leading Players In Houston Golf Tourney

HOUSTON (UPI)—Touting golf professionals paid little attention to bumpy greens today as little known George Knudson led a parade of 27 who scored par or better to go into the second round of the $50,000 Houston Classic golf tournament.

Knudson, 24-year-old Toronto pro, scored a four-under par 66

Thursday to lead the first day's round which saw a total of 66 players shoot a 72 or better over the rugged Memorial Park course.

Jay Hebert, who won the 1961 Houston Classic in a sudden-death playoff with Ken Venturi, and last year's rookie of the year, Jackie Cupit, were close behind Knudson with 67.

Following with 68 were Lionel Hebert, Jay's brother; Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn.; Jack Nicklaus, Tucson, Ariz.; and Bobby Nichols, Midland, Tex.

Hebert, who comes from neighboring Lafayette, La., and knows Memorial Park about as well as any of the touring pros, said the course was playing fairly easy, following heavy showers over the area on Wednesday.

"The weather now is excellent and the fairways are in very good shape," he said. "In fact, I believe the fairways make up for any deficit that might come from the out-of-shape greens."

A total of eight players were bunched at 69, and 12 more followed at par 70.

Gubner Is Top Cinder Meet Star

QUANTICO, Va. (UPI)—Gary Gubner, a New York University sophomore who came less than four feet shy of a world record shot put Saturday, was chosen outstanding athlete of the Marine Corps Schools Relays.

Gubner heaved the 16-pound shot 62 feet 6 inches, 3 feet 4 inches. Gubner holds the national indoor record with a heave of 64 feet 11 1/2 inches, but indoor marks are not recognized as standards.

Gubner wiped out the meet record of 57 feet 4 inches set by Parry O'Brien in 1957.

Dave Tork of Camp Pendleton broke the Quantico pole vault mark by clearing 15 feet 7 3/4 inches. Tork, former West Virginia University star, bettered the record of 14 feet 10 inches set last year by Villanova's Rolando Cruz.

Tork cleared the 16-foot mark on another leap, but knocked down the bar as he fell.

Deacon Jones, unattached, won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 9 minutes 15.8 seconds to break the meet record he set last year of 9:18.3.

The host Marines broke two meet records, winning the mile spring medley relay in 3:24 and the mile relay in 3:13.5.

Fordham took the collegiate two-mile relay in 7:40.8 and Maryland State won the collegiate half-mile relay in 1:27.2.

Quantico's Gary Weisiger won the mile run in 4:6.3 and Paul Butler of Burroughs Athletic Association won the 100-yard dash in 9.9.

William Johnson, unattached, won the 120-high hurdles in 14.3 and Nick Ovalakides of Quantico won the javelin throw with a heave of 230 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Morgan State took the collegiate 440-yard relay in 42.2.

AMERICANS WIN MATCH

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., teamed with Ed Rubinoff of Miami to defeat Stefano Gaudenzi and Aldo Mei of Italy, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4, in a first round doubles match of the Monte Carlo tennis tournament.

Pirates Displaying Form Of Old With Eight Wins

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates have had a 24-year old club record and are within two games of an all-time major league record—all of which may prove that sometimes it does pay off to stand pat in baseball.

Most front offices would have torn apart a team that won a world championship in 1960 and then collapsed into a sixth-place finish in 1961.

General Manager Joe Brown, however, decided it wasn't time to panic and placed his 1962 hopes in the hands of the men who brought the Pirates a world championship in 1960.

He isn't sorry—not yet, at least. The Pirates ran their winning streak to eight games with a 6-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday night and that means (1) they have equaled the club mark for a season's fastest start set by the 1938 Pirates and (2) are within two games of the major league record of 10 straight wins to open a season set by the 1935 Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bill Mazeroski, Bill Virdon, Dick Groat and Dick Stuart had two hits each in the Pirates' latest victory. Al McBean went five innings to gain credit for the win with Jack Lamabe finishing. Art Mahaffey suffered his first loss for the Phillies.

The unbeaten St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Mets, 4-1, for their sixth straight win. The Los Angeles Dodgers edged out the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3, as the San Francisco Giants scored a 7-6 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves and the Houston Colt .45s defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-0, in other National League action.

In the American League, the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles, 3-1, the Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers, 9-5, the Chicago White Sox bombed the Minnesota Twins, 10-3, and the Los Angeles Angels whipped the Kansas City A's, 6-4, in 12 innings.

Stan Musial drove in three runs with two singles and Ken Boyer and Curt Flood homered for the Cardinals who dealt the winless Mets their seventh loss in a row. Musial's two hits boosted him into a second-place tie with Babe Ruth for total bases with 5,792—trailing only Ty Cobb's 5,863. Rookie Ray Washburn was the winning pitcher.

Homers by Duke Snider and While Davis and Ron Perranoski's clutch relief of Sandy Koufax gave the Dodgers their victory over the Reds, whose three-game winning streak went by the boards. Koufax won his second game and Moe Drabowsky lost his second.

Juan Marichal yielded two homers to Eddie Mathews that cost him a total of five runs but won his second game on the wings of a five-run fifth-inning San Francisco rally. Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Jose Pagan led the 10-hit Giant attack with two hits each.

Ex-American Leaguer, Dean Stone pitched a five-hitter for his second consecutive shutout over the Cubs. Jim Pendleton and Merritt Raney had three hits each for the Colts.

Mickey Mantle hit a homer and a triple and Ralph Terry pitched a six-hitter as the Yankees handed Chuck Estrada his first loss. Johnny Blanchard also had a key hit to help Terry win his third straight decision.

Lu Clinton's fifth-inning grand slam homer was the big blow of Boston's 12-hit attack that gave Gene Conley his first win and handed Phil Regan his second loss. Al Kaline had three hits for the Tigers.

Jim Landis drove in five runs with two homers and a single and Nelson Fox had two hits as the White Sox' Johnny Buzhardt picked up his first win, Jim Kaat, kayoed during a nine-run Chicago first inning, suffered the defeat.

Billy Moran's 12th-inning, two run homer broke up the Los Angeles-Kansas City marathon in which 41 players took part. There were 14 pitchers used in the game, 22 men were left on base and there were five errors

Brown Rated 8-5 Favorite To Retain Lightweight Crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Lightweight boxing champion Joe Brown was rated an 8-5 favorite today to whip Carlos Ortiz in their 15-round title fight Saturday night, but the champ's manager, Lou Viscusi, is wary of overconfidence.

Brown, at 35, is making the 12th defense of the title he won from Wallace (Bud) Smith at New Orleans, La., Aug. 24, 1958.

Ortiz, a 25-year old from Puerto Rico by way of New York, claims the champion has been evading him for three years. Ortiz has a 35-4 ring record. Brown has had 113 fights, winning 83—38 by knockouts—and losing 30.

Viscusi and Brown say Ortiz has just earned a title shot but they are not taking him lightly.

"This is the most dangerous fight of Joe's career," said Viscusi. "Ortiz is nearly 11 years younger and he's a dangerous in-fighter."

Dr. Donald Romeo, on behalf of the Nevada Athletic Commission, examined Brown and said he shows no trace of a tonsil infection which caused a postponement of the title fight from its original date Feb. 24.

The Saturday night bout will be televised nationally (ABC-TV, 10 p.m. EST).

Sunrise Horse Heads List Of Entries

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sunrise County, denied the winner's purse the only time he finished first this year, today headed a list of 12 probable starters for Saturday's running of the $75,000 added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct — the final major prep in the East for Kentucky Derby candidates.

Donut King, Admiral's Voyage, Prego, Sidluck, Endymion, Mister Pitt, Our Twig, Stinson Beach, Crackpot, Grid Iron Hero and Lucky Uncle also may start in the 1 1/4 mile event.

All are eligible for the first of the triple crown classics and a good performance in the Wood Memorial would send them on their way to Churchill Downs for the May 5 running of the Kentucky Derby.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Lesson Still To Be Learned

When the history of this nation is being written a hundred years from now, the pundits of that generation will doubtless agree on at least one point. For every error being made now, this nation has had the advantage of seeing other nations make the same error first. Whether or not we profit from these examples, still remains to be seen.

One of the first and most overwhelming conclusions to be seen will be the fact that political cures are no cures at all, unless or until the populations themselves are educated to the advisability of the political avenue to be taken. And, of course it follows that if the people are correctly informed, reliance upon political panaceas is totally unnecessary.

In short, we can't vote our way out of the problems we are in. Let's take some recent examples.

France finally ousted its series of post-World War II "liberals" and put into power a "rightist," General Charles deGaulle. Wide were the claims that deGaulle would usher in a new and brighter day for Frenchmen.

He did not. Instead, France has re-armed, taxes have risen, a major war with Algeria has developed, and there is no end to the problems which are now larger than when the tall hero of the Free French took power.

In Argentina, Peron was ousted and driven into exile. A moderate conservative, Arturo Frondizi, became president. He was committed to move in gradual ways toward a free market economy. Fearful of going too far, too fast, he tried a modest reform. For every step he took in the right direction, Peronists and various elements of the socialist clique opposed him.

Recently, his party was defeated in ten out of nineteen districts. When Frondizi made a half-hearted play to retain power, he was ousted and imprisoned.

Western Germany has been the single bright spot in the western world where true free market policies were invoked by economic minister Ludwig Erhard. But as recently as a week ago, Erhard, grim-lipped, warned the various unions and pro-socialist agitators in his divided country that they are beginning to slip, inflation is commencing and the thriving economy erected on the ruins of Berlin is beginning to split open at the seams.

Said Erhard, "1.3 million construction workers want a 5.2 percent wage increase and an extra 100 marks vacation money. "1.2 million public employees and 488,000 railroad workers want a 9 percent wage hike. "220,000 steelworkers want a 10 percent wage increase and an extra six days vacation. "185,000 chemical workers have threatened a strike unless they get a 17 percent wage increase."

But the facts of the case are these. Last year, according to the financial wizard, production per worker increased by only 4 percent while wages soared 10.1 percent. Prices rose 2.5 percent. Unemployment, still very small, is now double what it was last September.

These various illustrations all tell a single story. The great majority of the people in France, Argentina and Germany still do not understand their economics. Like so many in this country, they imagine they can have better times if only they have a "good" man in office. Certainly, from the standpoint of good intentions, one could deliver kudos to the leaders of these three nations: But good intentions are not enough. Neither are stringent laws and "good" programs implemented by law and force.

If this nation were to take heed, it would stop supposing that a surcease of our problems could be delivered by the White House or by any man or political party. Until the people are re-educated to the point where they recognize that there is no substitute for hard work and for honest wages earned by honest effort, sans violence, the same old story will repeat again and again.

In short the human race is sadly in need of learning a basic lesson: prosperity and good times arise from market place endeavors and not from political champions. America can still learn from others if she will. If not, she will be destined to duplicate the mistakes being made by many fine people in many lands around the world.

Let us consider what might happen to the American money system if gold were (1) officially re-valued upward, or if (1) the metal were permitted to enter the market for private bidding without government control.

In spite of the fact that this nation has minted no gold coins since early in the 30's, and in spite of the fact that all our gold reserves are held in trust for foreign claimants, the value of our monetary reserves is still geared to gold in the final analysis.

And it is geared to gold at the official price of $35 per ounce. If the government were officially to change the exchange rate to say, $70 per ounce, which is probably a realistic figure, this would result in the immediate loss in purchasing power of every dollar in your possession. Its ability to buy anything would be reduced by fifty percent.

The Doctor Says:

Immunization Vital Today When Disease Rides Jets By DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN If you've been careless about keeping up with your immunizations, here's a lesson that may give you cause for second thoughts.

A young student from Pakistan was exposed to smallpox before leaving for college in England. He was perfectly well when he prepared for the trip but he hadn't had a recent vaccination. As time was short, he obtained a certificate from an obliging physician. The certificate was accepted at the London airport where he arrived by jet within the matter of a few hours.

About a week later — the incubation period of smallpox is a week to 10 days or even more — he felt ill and was taken to the college infirmary. It was thought he might have malaria since that disease occurs also frequently in his homeland. When he died, a few days later, a postmortem examination was done by the hospital pathologist. Although this pathologist was an eminent physician, he just hadn't bothered to keep his immunizations up-to-date. At the conclusion of the examination, the doctor-pathologist decided that the young man had died of smallpox that was unrecognized because none of the staff physicians had ever observed the disease and all took it for granted that their patient, because of his certificate, must have been immune.

Within a few days after the examination, the doctor-pathologist became ill. And within the course of another few days, he died despite heroic efforts to treat him with powerful drugs.

Here are some of the lessons that each of us, far and near, must consider in this jet age when flying time from remote countries is days less than the incubation time for serious infections such as smallpox, typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria and other diseases that we once thought we were rid of.

Keeping up with an immunization schedule is a small price to pay for almost certain protection from serious diseases that may be life-threatening.

These include smallpox against which we may be vaccinated every three to five years; typhoid, diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis and whooping cough against which, after the original immunization, we may take "boosters" every three to five years.

To argue that such immunizations are a waste, because we live far away from ports of entry and hence may never be in contact with jet travelers, is a mistake that may prove fatal, as in the case of the doctor-pathologist. In this day and age, you never know who is standing in line with you as you check out in a supermarket or who it is that jostles you in a crowded bus, movie or shopping center.

Although our U.S. Public Health Service is undoubtedly the finest medical organization of its kind in the entire world, its officers at ports of entry cannot diagnose infections during their phases of incubation. Nor can they, except when warned of an epidemic, quarantine arriving nationals and visitors until the period of incubation has come to an end. They can, and will, because of the English experience, look for vaccination scars rather than accept certificates of those who've been in countries where smallpox is prevalent.

But it's up to you to protect yourself and members of your family from exposure to jet-propelled passengers who might well be walking down your Main Street.

Pegler Says:

Nothing Gallant Or Noble In The Prizefight Racket

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Walker Law which created the New York State Prizefight Commission was one of two noble monuments to the late James J. Walker, who later became mayor of New York and went to his grave a disheartened, discredited sorrowful man, undone by his appetites, his vanity and his friends. His other monument is the law that made Sunday baseball legal.

These great feats of statesmanship caught the public in a state of elation and confusion and were acclaimed by voices so loud that the dissent was only a whining wail. We were elated over a cheap triumph over an exhausted enemy in France and confused by the wild onset of Prohibition.

Actually, Sunday baseball had a right to be and the verboten was a relic of a strange time in which theatrical plays and professional sport were solemnly forbidden on Sundays as profanation of the Sabbath. Vaudeville sneaked along in the guise of sacred concerts. But nobody had had the gall to try to qualify baseball at the Polo Grounds by starting the proceedings with "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" by the assembled roughnecks of the Giants and, say, the Dodgers.

The late James K. McGuinness, then a sport writer on the Morning Telegraph after combat service in General O'Ryan's division overseas, was very close and always hostile to Walker. He insisted that Walker got a lot of money for putting through these great liberal reforms and they were thus at odds until they were laid to rest a few yards apart in Gate of Heaven Cemetery in Westchester. Pax vobiscum, McGuinness had gone to Hollywood meanwhile and risen to success but was undone by the Communists after he went to Washington to testify as a "friendly" expert in the hearings which exposed the notorious Hollywood Ten. That broke his heart. Many other clean patriots have had the same experience.

I have a bitter letter from Mrs. Norma Conlin, of 1930 East Genesee Street, Syracuse, who thinks I am "a guy who loves cruelty and blood" because I wrote flippantly of beatings on the head which are routine in pugilism. She says, "boxing is a coward's game, the more so when the coward watches for amusement. Nasty little boys need spanking. Some grownups in long pants are still nasty little boys. My own husband ended up 30 years ago walking in a dippy stupor and finally died in a state institution. Your memory will be preserved among the few who fell into disrepute."

Was all this as bad then as Mrs. Conlin in her bitter sorrow now tells me it was? It was the brutal joy of the "best people," the bootleggers and the scum. And religious and charity institutions gladly accepted a percentage of the big gates and lent their names to the ordeal of the likes of Mrs. Conlin without a twinge of conscience.

But it's up to you to protect yourself and members of your family from exposure to jet-propelled passengers who might well be walking down your Main Street.

The Nation's Press

INSIDE THE TARIFF PACKAGE (The Wall Street Journal)

We trust no reader of these columns will mistake our position on foreign trade. We have said here repeatedly that this country must open wider the doors of free trade, and we have specifically encouraged the Administration's efforts to lower U.S. tariff barriers.

This may require that Congress give considerable latitude to the Executive branch to carry out a defined policy, for Congress cannot negotiate every trade agreement or fix the tariff on every item of commerce.

But to recognize this is not to say that Congress should abdicate its own responsibility to define the nation's trade policies. The plea for lower tariffs ought not to be used to open another door to all kinds of other trade barriers that make tariffs look like the inventions of amateurs. Nor is this plea an excuse for launching another vague, amorphous and almost unlimited Federal "relief" program.

Yet that is what is being proposed to Congress in the tariff bill introduced by Chairman Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee at the administration's behest. There are indeed some startling things hidden under that bill's attractive label.

It is not simply that this bill would carry almost, to its ultimate the process of allowing the President to cut, or even abolish tariffs, without let or hindrance, although this it would do. The President could enter trade agreements at will and then "proclaim" the reduction by half of any existing tariff; if the agreement is with a Common Market nation, he could completely eliminate tariffs by the stroke of a pen.

The President is also authorized, whenever he thinks some industry needs protecting from foreign imports, "to proclaim such increase in, or imposition of, any duty or other import restriction" as he wishes. If this loose language means anything, it means that some President could raise tariffs as well as lower them, or impose brand-new ones, or — and here apparently without any limit — impose quotas or any other kind of restriction on imports.

In short, this wide grant of power to the President is for protectionism as much as for free trade. With this bill Congress would not be declaring a freer trade policy but simply authorizing the trade policy to be whatever the President of the moment declared it to be. Foreign trade could escape the annoyances of tariffs only to meet the more impenetrable barriers of direct controls.

Yet there is still more wrapped up in this bill. Under the guise of protecting people from the impact of any tariff cuts, the bill authorizes a whole new program of Government "assistance to individuals, business firms, industries and states.

For example, if the "President determines" that they need it, individuals may be paid an adjustment allowance by the Government, as well as retraining costs and moving expenses. No limit is set for the length of time this "adjustment allowance" can be paid, nor is there any clear definition of who is eligible for it.

Business firms too, "as the President may determine," would be eligible not only for technical assistance but financial assistance in the form of Government guarantees, loans and special tax treatment. Nor are the states forgotten; in return for accepting some restrictions on their own unemployment programs, they can set up their own agencies to administer the "relief," and be paid by the Federal Government.

The bill states that actions of the President "in determining eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, in certifying adjustment proposals, or in making determinations with respect to extraordinary relief, shall be final and conclusive and shall not be subject to review by any court."

In short, a blank check for the President to distribute this largess as he will.

The administration is right, we think, in saying that the economic future of this country lies in the direction of freer trade with the world, and we hope Congress will meet its responsibility to see that we move in that direction. But what this bill grants is the power to any President to move in whatever direction he alone chooses. And buried in it also is a veritable Pandora's box of political woes about who gets what from the nation's treasury.

The fact that all this comes in the wrapping of free trade doesn't mean that the country ought to buy the merchandise inside the package.

Transportation Overhaul Policy To Be Slow Going

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Kennedy administration hopes that the present Congress can enact this year any appreciable parts of the omnibus transportation message and legislation which the President has just sent to the Capitol now seem all too optimistic.

Thirty-two major programs are recommended. Each is a highly complex subject on which rail, air, highway and water carriers will have different views. Congressional Commerce Committees will want to hold extensive hearings. Lobbying by carrier and transportation users will be intense and affected labor unions also will have their say.

On top of this the President is setting up six new cabinet-level or interagency committees to make studies on various phases of a new unified American transportation policy. It will take some months for them to make their reports. The President will then have to make new recommendations to Congress.

One request is for a new census of transportation. That can't be made overnight, but it is a necessary basis on which the new policies must be made. In another case, Civil Aeronautics Board is given until June 30, 1963, to prepare a schedule for elimination of subsidies to domestic airlines.

The more realistic appraisal being made in Washington is that while some of the simpler parts of the new Kennedy transportation policy may be approved before Congress goes home to campaign for the November elections, the bulk of the longer-range programs will have to be held over till next year. This is the way the 1961 tax program is being handled — in 1962.

The disadvantage of this delay is that it will be a new Congress convening next January and every reform program not enacted this year will have to be presented as new business in 1963. So, if a substantial part of the Kennedy program is made effective before 1965, it will be fast work.

After all, the "chaotic patchwork of inconsistent and often obsolete legislation and regulation" which the President wants to change has been 50 years in the making and can't be unmade overnight or even in a few months.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
The City Commission of the City of Pampa, Texas, will hold a public hearing in the City Commission Room,
City Hall, at 10:00 A.M. Tuesday, Tuesday, May 1, 1962.
At such hearing there will be heard suggestions for and objections to the following proposed change of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Pampa, Texas, whether or not the following Zoning District should be created: Dwelling "A" District

A. Uses
In an "A" District no building or land shall be used, and no building shall be hereafter erected or structurally altered, which is arranged or designed to be used for other than one or more of the following uses:
(1) One-family dwelling.
(2) Public park or play grounds.
(3) Gardening-Non commercial.
(4) Auto parking lot when operated without charge to provide off-street parking for use permitted in district.
(5) Accessory buildings, including
Private Garage or Servants
Quarters when located not less than 40 feet back of the front building line for the main building, not less than six feet from the main building; two feet from the side lot lines, and not less than five feet from the rear lot line; provided, however, that no accessory building shall be less than the required side yard width for the main building from any street line.

If such accessory building is located in a compartment which is an integral part of the main building, it shall observe the Yard Requirements for the main building.
The servants' quarters permitted under this section shall not be occupied by anyone other than members of the family occupying the main dwelling or the family of a house-servant employed more than 50 per cent of his or her time on the premises.
(6) Uses customarily incident to the above uses, when located in the main building and not involving the conduct of a business.
Such uses shall include customary home occupations engaged in by the occupants of the premises and may include the office of a professional person when situated in his or her dwelling, provided that no member of the household shall be employed in such office.
(7) Churches.

(8) Electric Sub Station, Gas Regulator Stations and whether or not the following should be placed therein:
West one-half Blocks 3 and 4 and the East one-half Blocks
4 and 5, Cook-Adams Addition to City of Pampa, Texas
