Walter Rogers Reports

Federal Subsidies

A review of history would reveal that the government has been engaged in the subsidy-granting business for a long, long time. In the early days of this country, between 1827 and 1866, the government granted 6,340,339 acres of public land to private interests for the purpose of encouraging canal building and river improvement; and, in addition thereto, granted free certain rights-of-way.

The rights-of-way, of course, were most valuable. The government at that time also made contributions by direct appropriations, stock subscriptions, and loans to private canal companies. Between 1850 and 1871 some 183 million acres of Federal and State lands were granted to railroads. Millions upon millions of dollars have been assigned by the Federal government to ocean and air mail subsidies to foster the development of transportation in the same manner as railroads and waterways had been supported in earlier years.

The first mail subsidy was paid more than 100 years ago, in 1845. Millions of dollars have been used to subsidize the building of ships on American ways. In fact, only a few years ago $40 million was paid in the nature of a subsidy to help construct the private luxury liner, the USS United States that plies between this country and Europe. The total cost of that ship was $76,800,000.

Hence, the government subsidy was more than the money invested by the private corporation. In the early days the subsidy mechanism was intended to be employed for the purpose of expanding transportation, encouraging foreign trade, fostering domestic industrial development, and so forth.

However, since the turn of the century, subsidies and subsidy-like programs have multiplied to such an extent that their impact is felt by virtually all elements in the nation's economic structure. Probably the most publicized and widely advertised of government programs seems to be the agriculture program. However, it would be very well for those who are interested in the subsidy programs to take a look at the entire picture. The last compilation on the subject indicates government subsidies to business running well over $1 billion per year; subsidies to labor running well over $300 million per year; and subsidies to homeowners and tenants running some $40 million per year.

These subsidies consist of everything from shipbuilding differential subsidies to accelerated tax amortization, to highway construction, to negotiating government contracts, to free services furnished by many of the boards and bureaus, to credit guaranties and direct loan programs, to airport grants, school lunch programs, and on and on. It seems that there is some kind of subsidy for every segment of our economy. These subsidies have been expanded primarily due to the demands of the people who are receiving them that they be increased, plus the demands of those who are not receiving subsidies that they be included in the handout. The primary reason that they have not been reduced is that everyone is most anxious to have the other fellow's subsidy cut and his own increased.

WHO GOT THE SUFAR?

As I have pointed out in previous newsletters, the sugar fight has been a long, tough and arduous one — tough and arduous because it involved money in the amount of $500 million paid out by Americans each year for imported sugar.

My father once told me that if you want to see the real color of a man's eyes, start fooling with his pocketbook. The truth of this statement was certainly proven in the sugar battle.

For more than ten years we have been fighting this battle in an effort to get more sugar produced by our own farmers. The going was slow and frustrating, because it is not easy to fight that kind of money. Nevertheless, our efforts were never relaxed and each year we made a little headway. Actually, we have won a victory this year in that we have finally broken the rigid limitation that had been placed on domestic producers. Although we did not obtain the amount of sugar to which the American farmers are entitled, we did gain enough to open the door and make it possible for private enterprise to move in and build some more sugar mills in this country.

If these people meant what they said to me and others during this fight over the years, they will move forward quickly toward building a mill in the Panhandle. My vote was cast against the sugar bill in its final form because, although we did gain ground as pointed out, we did not get all that we were entitled to and I shall continue my fight until that time comes.

It would seem that the boys who really got the "sugar" were the lobbyists for the foreign countries. It seems that some $300,000 has been paid out in lobbying fees by foreign countries for participating in the American domestic sugar market.

The whole situation reminded me of a story being told at the time Jack Dempsey was defending his title against the South American Louis Firpo, "the Bull of the Pampas." Tex Richter, one of the great promoters of history, was handling the bout. There was much conjecture as to who might win. Mae West, who was then in her prime as a movie actress,

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Notes from Foreign News Cables:
Agreement on Laos:

UPI Correspondent Karol Thaler in Geneva says the signs are that Russia wants to reach an agreement with the West on Laos, despite Communist bickering at the 14-nation Geneva conference. The Russians are giving the appearance in private negotiations that they mean business. The Laos issue is not too important from the Soviet viewpoint, but apparently they want to use it as proof of their co-existence policy. Thaler says it looks increasingly as if Russia wants to use the Geneva stage as an occasion for ministerial contacts on Berlin soon.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International
WASHINGTON — Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., defending an amendment to prohibit U.S. aid to Communist countries:

"To aid those subscribing to a system pledged to our ultimate defeat is nothing short of suicide."

ALGIERS —Algerian Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda, attempting to reassure fearful Europeans and persuade them not to leave the new Moslem nation:

"Discipline, the respect of property and persons ought to be rigorous. No anarchy will be permitted."

TOKYO —The Japanese newspaper Sankei, commenting editorially on the U.S. high altitude H-bomb explosion over Johnston Island:

"The United States would not have been able to go ahead with the tests unless the Soviets had not resumed nuclear testing last year."

Algeria:

The French government can be expected to throw its full support behind Algerian provisional Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda in his efforts to assert his government's authority over rebellious Vice Premier Mohammed Ben Bella. The French believe Ben Khedda is willing to carry out the Evian peace settlement. They regard Ben Bella as a north African Fidel Castro. The French are worried that new violence in Algeria may touch off a new flight of frightened Europeans to France. About 350,000 have fled already and 150,000 of them still are in Marseilles where they have long outstayed their welcome and become a major housing and employment headache.

European Unity:

Talks aimed at achieving European political unity have been at a standstill for nearly three months. Efforts to get them going again may be expected now as a sequel to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Paris. The effort would be made by France, West Germany and Italy.

PONTIFF IN CHALK—Statue of Pope John XXIII nears completion in studios of sculptor Enrico Manfrini in Milan, Italy. It will be placed in a sanctuary, "Madonna del Eosco," at nearby Merate.

When you pack for your vacation trip, be sure not to omit any of your grooming aids. This girl plays it safe by listing these supplies before she packs. She carries all her beauty aids in a convenient tote bag (left), so that they will be in one place when she gets to her destination. Because good grooming plays an important role in holiday fun, she uses her hair brush to suds-scrub any accumulation of sun-tan lotion and travel grime from her hairline (center). An experienced traveler, she uses the same tote bag, after unpacking, as a handy carry-all for shopping and sightseeing (right).

Don't Take Beauty Time Off

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Vacation is the time to relax — but only from working. No woman worth her salt takes time off from the beauty routine that preserves her good looks. No matter how casual a holiday you plan, don't make the mistake of confusing casual with sloppy.

Just two steps can keep you looking pretty all the time you are away. They'll prevent you from deteriorating into that unattractive state of stringy hair, muddy complexion, chipped nail polish and fuzzy legs.

First, plan your grooming as carefully as you plan your wardrobe, resolving to allot a small portion of each day to your appearance.

Second, take along all the beauty tools you will need. Make a list so that you won't forget anything. Then pack your gear in a large carry-all, preferably plastic lined. Remember to include washcloths, soap, shower cap, deodorant, brush and comb, toothbrush and dentifrice, cosmetics for day and evening, hand lotion, razor and blades, tweezers, tissues, cologne and a portable line or drying hangers.

Unless you're camping out, you'll have no trouble finding a beauty salon. But if you prefer to be your own beautician, add a manicure kit, shampoo, rollers and clips to your list. Take into consideration the climate of the place you will visit and the sports you like best so that you will include such musts as hair spray for a damp area and sunglasses and sun tan lotion for the beach. Once you unpack your carry-all in your hotel room, it will serve as a tote bag for shopping sprees and camera supplies.

If you spend your afternoons swimming, shampoo your hair as soon as possible on your return. You can towel it dry, put it up on rollers and let it set while you soak in a warm sudsy bath. You can repair any damage done to and at the same time, you can repair any damage done to your nails during your afternoon outdoors.

Such care takes only a minimum of time, but you'll get maximum enjoyment from your holiday when you know that you look attractive at all times.

Dear Abby... Man Usually Treats Wife Like Mother

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend has been overseas for two years. I got a letter from him telling me he'll arrive home July 28th. We plan to marry as soon as he gets a job. He told me not to tell his mother when he's arriving as he wants me to meet him alone, and he'll see his mother the next day and tell her he just got home. His mother has been counting the days until his return, too, and I feel bad that she won't have the pleasure of knowing he's coming home. Should I tell her?

DEAR ABBY: Let me be the first to join Irene's campaign against telephone solicitation. I work nights and need to get my rest during the daytime. I was awakened this afternoon by a man who told me he had heard that I was interested in buying "siding" for my home. Abby, I live in a basement dwelling. Now where would I put siding?

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is, how do you say no to a guy you've been saying yes to for two years?

CINDY
DEAR CINDY: The same way you say no to anybody else. Only louder!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is not easy to answer, but I certainly wish you would help me. How does a respectable woman meet a decent man? (Object—matrimony.) I refuse to cheapen myself by going to bars alone and I don't want to get mixed up with any Lonely Hearts Clubs. I am getting tired of people asking me how come a nice woman like me isn't married.

National League Defeats American League, 3-1

Musial, Wills Propel Win For Senior Loop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stan Musial, the second oldest man in the majors, and Maury Wills, the swiftest, were credited today with the National League's 3-1 triumph over the American League in the first of 1962's two All-Star games. "Stan got us started and Maury finished it up," was the way winning Manager Freddie Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds summed it up.

"Wills' base running was the difference. He scored two runs for us and did a helluva job."

There were other heroes, too, for the National League, which scored its sixth All-Star victory in the last seven games — the other was a tie — as it narrowed its deficit in the classic to a single game 15 victories against 16 defeats.

And with Musial and Wills on its side it could even the series at the second All-Star game at Chicago's Wrigley Field July 30.

For Wills it was a triumphant homecoming. The fleet Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop was born in Washington. It was quite an occasion for the 41-year-old Musial, too, for he got to meet the President of the United States under a little different circumstance.

The Cardinal star, probably playing his last season, had met President Kennedy at Milwaukee during the 1960 presidential campaign. He met him again Tuesday in the presidential box.

"I reminded him of what he told me in Milwaukee," Musial said. "At that time, he said, Stan, they tell me I'm too young to be president and you're too old to play ball. Maybe we'll both fool 'em."

It looked like Musial, playing in his 22nd All-Star game—a record — was going to be fooled when he went into pinch hit for Juan Marichal, the San Francisco Giant pitcher, in the sixth inning of a game which was scoreless up to then.

He took Camilo Pascual's first two pitches for called strikes but then rifled a sharp single to right field. That was all for Stan—who got the biggest ovation of all the players in the introduction ceremonies before the game — and Wills, who already has stolen 46 bases this season, went in to run for him.

The President and the crowd of 45,480 which jammed Washington's new District of Columbia Stadium cheered Musial to the rafters as he left the field after his 20th All-Star hit.

Then it was Wills who drew the cheers.

He stole second as batter Dick Groat of the Pirates missed the ball on a hit-and-run play. Maury had such a jump that catcher Earl Battey didn't even bother to throw. Wills then raced in to score as Groat rifled a single through the mound into center field.

The Nationals went on to score a second run in the inning, Groat getting home on a ground out.

But Wills' base running heroics were just beginning. In the eighth inning, with Dick Donovan Pitcher and the National League leading by only one run, Wills led off with a single. When Jim Davenport of the Giants singled to left, Wills turned second enough to decoy Rocky Colavito into throwing to second base. Then Wills scooted into third, "snake-sliding" as Casey Stengel described it—around Bobby Richardson's throw to Brooks Robinson. Robinson thought Wills was out, but third base umpire Tony-Venon thought differently, and won out as usual.

Then when Felipe Alou of the Giants lifted a short foul fly to Leon Wagner in right field, Wills raced for home and just slid under catcher John Romano's lunging attempt to tag him.

That run really did the American Leaguers in, for when they made a last ditch rally in the ninth, they needed two runs to tie instead of one and wound up getting none.

The American League had scored in the bottom of the sixth when Rich Rollins of the Twins led off with a single against Bob Purkey, the third National League pitcher, and went to third on Billy Moran's single.

Roger Maris, the home run king then drove one to deepest right center field. Willie Mays made a spectacular leaping gloved hand catch of the ball against the fence just when it seemed it was going over the wire for a home run.

"That was the turning point of the game," moaned Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager who led the American Leaguers. He said he thought Wills was out on that play at third, but added, "It's one of those things when you can only go along with the umpire's call."

Marichal, who didn't allow a hit in the two innings he pitched, got credit for the victory while Pascual was charged with the defeat.

The game started out as a hurling duel between Don Drysdale, the 15-game winner of the Dodgers, and Jim Bunning, the fireballing right hander of the Tigers. Both yielded only one hit during their three inning stint. That's when Marichal and Pascual took over.

Bob Shaw of the Braves was pitching for the National League when the American League made its threatening gesture in the last of the ninth.

Colavito led off with a walk and Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers' southpaw who specializes in strikeouts, began warming up for the National League with left handed hitters Jim Gentile and Wagner coming up. But Shaw got Gentile to hit into a force play and then retired Wagner on a fly ball. But Romano singled and Gentile went to second.

Palmer Favored In British Open

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — Defending champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., nursing a sore hip and a balky putter, hoped to do "a little better" today when he led 118 other qualifiers into the first round of the British Open golf tournament.

The muscular Pennsylvanian complained of a pain near his right hip after he and seven other Americans survived the qualifying cutoff limit of 154 strokes for 36 holes Tuesday. Nine Yanks, including Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., the 1962 British Amateur champion, failed to qualify.

Palmer, who underwent heat treatment for his hip ailment Tuesday night, admitted that "it still hurts every time I swing."

"I hope it's only a cold or a slight sprain," he said, "and nothing more serious than that."

Despite his troubles, Palmer remained the favorite to duplicate his 1961 victory in this tournament. But if he should falter, at least four other Yanks stood ready to keep the championship a U.S. possession.

Sam Snead, who won this tournament back in 1946, matched Palmer's 143 score for the two qualifying rounds and seems "at home" on Troon's 7,045-yard, par-72 course. The 50-year-old West Virginian was the first Yank to tee off today.

He tees off at 5:40 a.m. EDT.

The other feared American challengers were Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. National Open champion from Columbus, Ohio; Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., who led the Yank qualifiers with a 142 aggregate.

Rounding out the U.S. survivors' list were 53-year-old Paul Runyan of Ojai, Calif., the world seniors champion; Don Essig III of Indianapolis, and Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va.

Palmer Putts Poorly

Palmer putted poorly in Tuesday's second qualifying round but still carved out a sparkling 67.

"Can't I ever learn to putt again," the defending champ moaned after taking 18 putts on the front nine. However, he was much steadier in shooting a 32 on the way home, which featured birdies on the 14th, 15th and 17th holes.

Rodgers also shot a 67 while Snead had to settle for a 74. Littler carded a 78 for a 147 and Nicklaus had a 73 for a 149. Essig surprised some folks by matching par in his second qualifying round for a 147 total. Runyan posted a 73-151 and Isaacs was right at the limit with a 74-154.

Davies, who attracted a large following when he won the British Amateur in June, just missed qualifying by shooting a second round 81 for a 155 total.

The other Yanks chased to the sidelines were Bill Johnston of Phoenix, Ariz., William Castleman Jr. of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., Paul Hardin III of Durham, N.C., Herbert Hartwig of St. Louis, Mo., John Hardy of Bakersfield, Calif., Thomas Fraser of Washington, D.C., and the Hunter brothers, Willie Jr. and MacGregor, of Los Angeles.

Pipers Now Belong To NBA Loop

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association had a 10th team today in the Cleveland Pipers, last season's American Basketball League champions, but will All-America Jerry Lucas go along with the Jitters?

"I'll have to think about it," said Lucas Tuesday night after learning that the Pipers had jumped to the rival NBA. The former Ohio State star previously spurned a lucrative offer from Cincinnati of the NBA and signed with the Pipers because of the ABL's shorter schedule, in addition to a reported $60,000 two-year contract.

Unsuccessful in landing Lucas, the NBA club owners decided Tuesday to do the next best thing — grant a franchise to Cleveland. The jumping of the Pipers most likely meant the end of the one-year-old ABL or at least its suspension.

George Steinbrenner, president of the Cleveland club, George McKeon of the San Francisco Saints, and Ken Krueger of the Kansas City Steers were named as principal stockholders in the Cleveland corporation and the other ABL owners will be given a chance to buy into the franchise, indicating the probable folding of the new league.

McKeon told the San Francisco News Call Bulletin that "the American Basketball League has folded, of course." Steinbrenner, however, said, "I don't know if they're going out of business."

Despite Lucas' dilemma, Maurice Podoloff, president of the NBA, said Steinbrenner has assured him that the former Ohio State star will play in the NBA.

"Jerry's not afraid of the competition in any sense," Steinbrenner added. "He's agreeable to playing in the NBA."

Lucas reiterated his contention that his contract did not oblige him to play in the NBA and he will not make up his mind until he talks with Steinbrenner.

Reports circulated that the Pipers had to pay $300,000 for the franchise and post a $10,000 performance bond. The financial terms were not announced.

Cleveland will play in the NBA's Eastern Division along with Boston, New York, Cincinnati and Syracuse. It will play home games at the Cleveland Arena with a seating capacity of 11,000.

In a pair of junior league games, Borger won over Pampa twice, 10-7 and 3-2.

Colts To Battle Borger Tonight

FOR MEN ONLY

By Mark Heath

We've got the drop on the natural shoulder suit. The "drop" of the suit is the difference between the chest and waist measurements. If you have had trouble getting just the right fit this is most likely where the trouble is, but it needn't be anymore, because we have the properly proportioned suits that will fit you, and with that natural shoulder look too. No more of those over-padded shoulders that made the men of a few years back look so overburdened. The trend now is to the natural shoulder, small lapel suits, which gives the effect of neatness, and are very comfortable.

When you compare these neat looking, natural shoulder suits to the old over-padded shoulder suits of a few years ago, you'll realize what a big change has been made in mens suits. The suits of today are more stylish and comfortable than ever before.

We invite you to come in to Heath's and see our fine selection of natural shoulder suits, and let us show you how neatly these suits will "drop" on you.

Once Lowly Soybean Bringing New Prosperity To Planters Of The South

MEMPHIS (UPI) — The once lowly soybean has brought new prosperity to Southern planters weary of government controls, but agricultural leaders vow it will never replace King Cotton as Dixie's major crop.

In fact many cottonmen agree the phenomenal rise of the soybean has been a boost to the restrictions-choked cotton industry.

William Duepre, head of the Memphis Cotton Exchange, said soybeans have given farmers a "good supplementary program" to help offset federal limitations placed on cotton, and provide a "good hedge" during an unfavorable planting season for cotton.

Like many in this "cotton capital of the world," Duepre felt the underlying reasons for the soybean's rise are acreage allotments and other government controls on cotton and other crops. The soybean is one of the few crops produced below the Mason-

Dixon line without government restrictions.

The U. S. Department of Commerce said almost one-fourth of the nation's soybean production comes from 13 Southern states, selling for about $253.5 million in 1960. A spokesman said soybean income during the past decade had "doubled, tripled and quadrupled."

Arkansas and Mississippi were the major production areas of the South last year. Arkansas reported a record $138 million harvest in 1961 from about 2.5 million acres, and called the soybean its top field crop in acreage.

South Carolina reported the biggest production increase from 1950 to 1960, a jump of 1,724 per cent. Other big increases for the same period were 137 per cent in North Carolina, 158 per cent in Alabama, 211 per cent in Mississippi, 178 per cent in Virginia, 570 per cent in Oklahoma, 486 per cent in Louisiana and 390 per cent in Arkansas.

A few years ago the soybean was used primarily as a flavoring for Chinese chow mein. Today, soybeans are used as a legume to strengthen the soil and as a bean and oil for such products as seasonings, flour, meal, soap, paint and linoleum.

Controversy Over Jacqueline's Girlhood Home Stirs Washington

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A suburban zoning controversy involving Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's girlhood home on the Potomac has touched off one of the angriest well-bred rows in Washington's New Frontier history.

The dispute involves a move to convert the McLean, Va., estate of Merrywood into a luxury apartment development. It has split some of the nation's powerful political and socially prominent figures into opposing camps.

The decision of Mrs. Kennedy's stepfather, Hugh D. Auchincloss, to sell the 46-acre river estate to an apartment builder has rattled the teacups and sharpened the conversations in the nation's capital.

It has brought a storm of protest from some McLean property owners that has had reverberations in the Fairfax County Board and on Capitol Hill.

Intends To Sell

Despite the ire of neighbors and friends, Auchincloss, a millionaire broker, is standing firm in his intention to sell Merrywood to builder Sheldon Magazine, who will share his interest with a syndicate. Magazine will have 50 per cent interest in the purchase. The three other members of the syndicate will share the other 50 per cent. They are Fairfax County Sheriff John Taylor, attorney Lynton H. Gibson, and William Page, a car dealer.

The syndicate signed an option to buy Merrywood within nine months for about $850,000. Plans call for three 17-story apartment buildings and 50 luxury townhouses on the fenced-in grounds that have long been a landmark of Washington society.

The syndicate members expect to build the project on the banks of the Potomac at a cost of about $16 million.

One nearby McLean resident is Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who has stayed out of the fight thus far.

Would Block Project

But a bill which would block the Merrywood apartment construction has been introduced by Rep. Henry I. Reuss, D-Wis., a staunch conservationist. It has been referred to Robert Kennedy's Justice Department and other agencies for an opinion.

In addition to the Reuss bill, Rep. Joel Broyhill, R-Va., has submitted legislation which would impose federal control over all constructions along the Potomac River from Great Falls to Mount Vernon—a distance of 20 miles.

Two prominent outdoorsmen — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas—added their voices in support of McLean's testing residents.

Udall, a McLean resident, pressed concern that approval of tower apartments on the Potomac would destroy the beauty of the area. Douglas called the proposed apartments "destructive of river's shoreline beauty."

At the country level, 16 McLean residents have filed a suit to reverse the rezoning, and the action may impede arrangements for financing. But the builders confident the case will be resolved in their favor before January.
