Vietnam Plane Crash Kills 23

By NEIL SHEEHAN
SAIGON (UPI) — A Vietnamese air force C47 transport with 27 persons aboard crashed shortly after takeoff today from Kontum airfield about 240 miles north of Saigon. A U. S. military spokesman said 23 persons were killed, including an American Air Force officer.

The U. S. spokesman said the officer was the only American aboard the plane. The others presumably were Vietnamese military personnel, he said.

The crash was the latest in a series of aircraft accidents in this embattled Southeast Asian nation. Search parties earlier today found three Americans dead and a fourth missing in the crash of a helicopter shot down by Viet Cong Communists. Four other Americans were missing and presumed down in a C123 transport plane.

Fire in Engine
A spokesman said the crash of the twin-engine C47 occurred at noon shortly after the plane left the Kontum runway on a flight back to Saigon. Fire broke out in its port engine.

The U. S. officer killed had been serving as an adviser to the Vietnamese air force, the spokesman said.

A radio message from Pleiku said a ground search party that hacked its way through the jungle of South Viet Nam's central highlands found the bodies of two American officers and one enlisted man in the helicopter wreckage.

One of the helicopter's five American occupants—an officer—was rescued alive Sunday a few miles from the crash site, the message said. Another U.S. enlisted man and two Vietnamese soldiers were missing.

Combat Support Mission
The downed H21 helicopter was on a combat support mission over the Communist-infested highlands when it was shot down Sunday near the village of Dak Rode, about 15 miles from the Laotian border and 275 miles north of Saigon. A companion helicopter returned to Saigon and reported the crash.

The search party pushed through the jungle at night to reach the wreckage before the Communist guerrillas could kill or capture any survivors.

The search party was forced to travel on foot because bad weather prevented helicopters from reaching the mountainside site.

On Supply Flight
The C123 transport with four American crewmen was reported missing over the central highlands on a supply flight from Saigon to Ban Mo Thuot, 156 miles north of here.

A U.S. military spokesman said the transport was carrying maintenance equipment to another C123 operating from the air field at Ban Me Thuot. The area contains one of South Viet Nam's heaviest concentrations of Communist guerrillas who have been fighting a running battle with government forces.

When the transport did not show up on schedule, the spokesman said, a check was made with other airfields in South Viet Nam. The check failed to turn up the missing plane, and an air-sea search was launched immediately on the presumption the transport was down.

Osteopath Feted At Picnic, Then Goes To Prison

GROVE, Okla. (UPI) — A Grove osteopath, feted to a town picnic Sunday by several hundred residents of Grove and surrounding towns, leaves here today to serve a 4-year prison term.

Dr. J. Bryan Henrie, 66, left for the state prison at McAlester today to serve a sentence for manslaughter and abortion.

Henrie pleaded guilty to the two charges last April when a Tulsa woman whom he had treated died. Sunday, free on bond to wind up his business in Grove, the doctor was treated at the City Park. Between 300 and 500 of the 1,200 babies he has delivered during his career attended.

The osteopath was cheerful and held steady to his conviction that there is no need for anti-abortion laws.

"What I have done has had a great impact on the public and affected the thinking of many over the nation towards abortion laws," he said.

The doctor expressed no regrets about the sentence he faces. He said someone had to sacrifice to get the law changed and no one could do it better than he.

Henrie pleaded guilty "because I didn't have the money to fight it and I was told that if I didn't plead guilty all my employees would be thrown in jail." He employed eight assistants at the time.

Peru Is Under Threat Of Military Coup

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Political negotiations to end Peru's worst governmental crisis in years collapsed Sunday night, creating the threat of a military coup d'etat. The American Popular Revolutionary Alliance (APRA) and the National Odrista Union announced they had broken off talks without finding a solution to the crisis brought on by the inconclusive results of the June 10 presidential election.

The talks collapsed just short of a deadline set by the military for an agreement among the political parties. Armed forces leaders demanded an agreement by today, informed sources said.

The sources said that in the absence of a political accord, the military may cancel the election results and set up a military government.

Two Monkeys, Four Hamsters Dead After Radiation Test

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Two Rhesus monkeys and four hamsters were found dead today in the capsules in which they were parachuted from a high-altitude balloon as part of a radiation experiment.

A spokesman for the Ames Research Center at Sunnyvale said Dr. Webb Haymaker reported from the site of the landing in rugged northern Saskatchewan that he had reached the scene in a helicopter and saw "no signs of life."

The helicopter was unable to land in the area just east of Prince Albert National Park, but Dr. Haymaker reported that he was able to get close enough to determine that the monkeys and hamsters did not survive.

Brad Evans, information officer for the Ames center, said that Haymaker would return to the site later today and bring the capsules out. He said it was not immediately known what caused the death of the animals.

The animals and several flower beetles were parachuted into the heavily forested area after a 39-hour, 25-mile-high ride across Canada to test how radiation might affect space travelers. They were contained in two of three capsules attached to a balloon 300 feet in diameter and 384 feet high.

The capsules were released electronically by a tracking plane at 6:30 p.m. EDT Sunday. Haymaker was guided to the site of the landing, 43 miles north of Prince Albert, by a radio beacon which allowed scientists to track the balloon on its 1,920-mile trip. The balloon was launched early Saturday in Goose Bay, Labrador.

Board To Probe Explosion Which Killed 1, Hurt 4

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (UPI)—An investigative board was to be named today to probe into the Saturday explosion of a small rocket projectile that killed one child and injured four others.

The old Army firing range where the explosive was found was roped off and a round-the-clock guard was posted until a demolition squad from Albuquerque could go over the grounds.

The projectile, estimated by an Atomic Energy Commission official to be about 15 years old, exploded while the five children were playing with it.

Dead was Jimmy Ray Williams, 6, of Los Alamos. He was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Johnny Reilly of Los Alamos found the projectile while looking for Indian relics on the abandoned range. He gave it to his nephew, Frank Tascetta, 10, of Albuquerque.

The Tascetta boy was injured along with Gary Dalby, 6, Victoria Luna, 7, and Toni Roberta Pesciada, 6, all of Los Alamos.

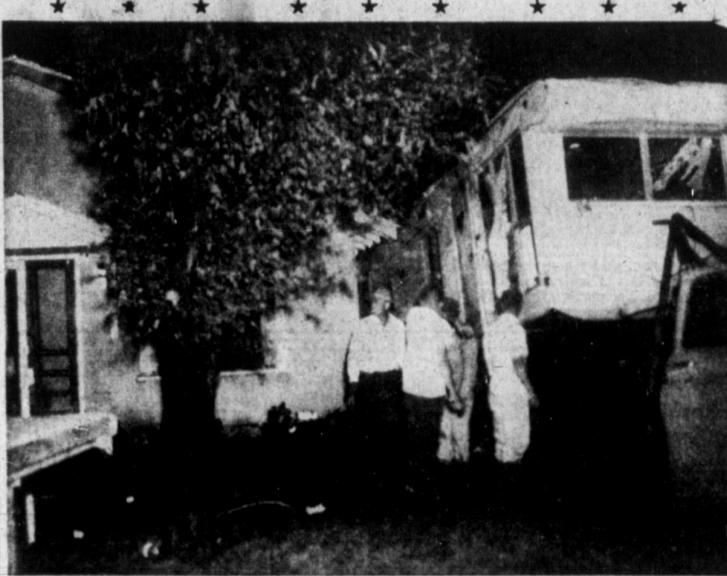

Surgeons removed both legs of both the Tascetta and Dalby boys. One leg was amputated from Victoria Lujan, and a toe was removed from the Pesciada girl, who also suffered a foot injury and severe lacerations. She was the least injured of the five.

The dead youth was the son of Frank Williams of Los Alamos.

The four injured children, though reported in critical condition, were reported "holding their own" late Sunday night.

AEC officials said other objects were found on the firing range that might be explosive. They said they would be turned over to the demolition team today.

Reilly told police he thought the projectile that exploded was harmless because one of the ends was smashed in.

STORM SCENE — This was the scene last night as neighboring farmers attempted to move the demolished house trailer of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Jones, 13 miles south and one mile west of the city, last night, resulted in serious injury to the elderly couple.

Communists Again Dash Hopes For Compromise Nuclear Test Ban Treaty

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union today dashed hopes for a compromise agreement on a nuclear test ban treaty by rejecting a suggestion that the Russians modify their position on national controls.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told a news conference the Soviets will not budge from their previously stated position that only national control systems can police such a test ban.

He said the Soviet is willing to conclude a treaty on the basis of the compromise proposals put forward by the eight neutral members of the 17-nation disarmament conference. Western sources promptly said the Russians, in accepting these proposals in April, interpreted them to suit their own ends.

Asked whether the Soviets were willing to compromise on the Western demand for compulsory on-site inspection of Russian nuclear test sites in exchange for Western agreement not to insist on control posts on Soviet territory, Zorin said:

"We do not consider this a compromise. Let the Americans accept the eight-nation memorandum and then we shall see what can be done. We are ready to conclude a treaty on the basis of that memorandum and on no other basis."

Earlier, at the disarmament conference resumed after a long recess, the United States called on Russia to approach the problem with "a reasonable degree of realism."

This morning Zorin had offered to "meet the Americans halfway" by compromising on American proposals for reducing conventional armaments in the first stage of the disarmament process and on measures for reducing the risk of war.

But he refused to budge from the stand that all nuclear delivery vehicles and foreign bases must be abolished in the first stage—a position the United States has already rejected.

Outlook is Bad
His firm words on the nuclear question appeared to indicate that even if the West offers compromise proposals of its own the Soviets will turn them down. U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean told the 57th plenary session of the four-month-old conference the Soviets "have not significantly altered their general disarmament proposals during the past two years."

He said he hoped the four-week recess, which ended today, "will have afforded the Soviet Union time for the necessary reflection and further study that will now permit it to submit substantially revised proposals in the general disarmament field."

Woman Is Jailed On Theft Charge

DONALDSONVILLE, La. (UPI) — Authorities today investigated to determine what an elderly housekeeper did with thousands of dollars she allegedly stole from church collections.

Mrs. Melusine Francis, 60, was jailed on charges of stealing at least $10,000 from Ascension Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Francis was arrested after authorities said they found in her possession more than $200 in marked bills which had been placed in the church collection baskets. Officers said she admitted stealing $10,000.

Sheriff H. M. Waguespack said he believed the total probably was closer to $25,000.

He said the woman had been counting church collections for years. She handled the job alone for the past 18 months.

Waguespack said Mrs. Francis apparently spent much of the money on gifts to the church.

The former New Orleans woman, employed by the church as a $95 per month housekeeper, had a reputation as one of the most generous contributors.

"She even donated a diamond ring to be raffled at a fair for the benefit of the church," Waguespack said. He added she

Senate In Last Day Of Medicare Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today will put in its last day of debate before it casts a crucial vote on a compromise medical care bill.

Administration forces planned to spend the day lining up every possible vote in behalf of the bipartisan proposal. A hairline close contest was forecast on a motion to table — or in effect, kill — the measure. The outcome possibly will be decided by only one or two votes.

The bill, although sponsored by some Republican as well as Democratic senators, is under strong attack by conservatives from both sides of the aisle.

The compromise plan retains the Social Security approach deemed essential by President Kennedy. This would provide for financing of the aged care program through the Social Security system.

In order to attract Republican votes, the administration agreed to broaden the plan so that initially it would be open to all of the nation's elderly, whether or not they were covered by Social Security.

Argentine Model Is Winner Of The 'Miss Universe' Title

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Dark-eyed Norma Nolan, the "world's most beautiful girl," is not one to kiss and tell.

The 24-year-old model from Argentina made that clear in her first interview after winning the 1962 Miss Universe beauty pageant Saturday night.

At a reception Sunday, she said she was "very happy, but oh, so tired." She expressed surprise that she was chosen from among 52 contestants from throughout the world. She said she would like to return to Buenos Aires as soon as possible.

Elderly Couple In 'Critical' Condition

An unconfirmed twister which struck the trailer house of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Jones, 13 miles south and one mile west of the city, last night, resulted in serious injury to the elderly couple.

Officials of Highland General Hospital said today Clyde Jones, 73, and his wife, Cora, 67, were in critical condition suffering from shock and bruises.

Jones' trailer house, which was located about 50 feet from the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Babcock, was picked up by the severe winds and rolled into the side of the house, knocking a large hole in the Babcock home.

Mr. and Mrs. Babcock and their family were home when the storm struck at about 8:50 p.m., carrying with it heavy rain and golf ball size hail. No one in the house was injured.

Mrs. Babcock told newsmen she heard several crashes as the trailer house slammed against the house.

She said she ran outside into the yard and saw her mother lying on the ground and found her father in the demolished house trailer.

"I called the ambulance to take my folks to the hospital and then called some of our relatives who live in Amarillo," she said.

Investigating officers from the county sheriff's department and Highway Patrol said the severe winds seemed to strike only in that area. There were no other homes in the area reported damaged.

Relatives living in Amarillo include the Jones' sons, J. L. and Clyde Jones Jr.

Neighboring farmers gathered at the scene last night to help pull the trailer away from the house.

A nearby resident at the scene said according to a rain gauge at his home over three inches of rain was recorded during the two-hour storm.

Adding to the complications of the evening, the city police radio and telephone communications went out during the height of the storm in Pampa. A telephone spokesman said the failure was caused from a short in the communications line. Also, the Civil Defense storm alert siren sounded for a long period, giving a false alarm.

Pampa received an unofficial .27 inch of rainfall accompanied with small hail and gusty winds. No damage was reported in the city.

Bill Leonard, county Civil Defense director, said today the siren atop the Hughes Bldg. was set off accidentally. It was caused, Leonard said, by a short circuit in a cable line where workmen had been making roof repairs at the Hillson Hotel, Frost and Foster Sts.

The trouble was caused when water from last night's rain stepped into the cable.

Leonard said workmen from Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. (See TWISTER, Page 3)

City Commission Switches Meet To Courthouse

Because of an expected increase in attendance, the Pampa City Commission will hold its regular weekly meeting at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the County Courtroom on the second floor of the Gray County Courthouse.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said arrangements had been made to change the meeting place because of the inadequacy of the present commission room in City Hall.

The Palm Room at City Hall currently is being remodeled in order to have more space for citizen participation in council meetings, Schmitzer said.

A larger crowd than usual is expected at tomorrow's meeting because the commission has scheduled a hearing on city water rates.

Officials of Fairview cemetery have been conducting a postcard campaign to have water rates at the cemetery left unchanged.

City Commissioner L. P. Fort, at a recent meeting, urged that the city's water ordinance be revised and that new rates be set up.

The city manager said approximately 500 postcards had been received asking that the cemetery water rates be left as they are at present. The cemetery pays a monthly bill of $2.60 for all water used under the present water rate ordinance.

The water rates discussion is only one of the items scheduled at tomorrow's meeting, it was stated.

Negro, White Youths Start Hunger Strike After Arrests

CAIRO, Ill. (UPI) — Negro and white youths arrested during demonstrations against alleged segregation at a swimming pool carried their hunger strike into the second day today at the Alexander County Jail.

Sheriff's deputies said the demonstrators spurned food Sunday night in their jail cells.

A sheriff's department spokesman denied the claim of a representative of the National Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee that the jailed demonstrators had been denied blankets, mattresses and bathing facilities.

Seventeen persons were arrested Saturday for "standing in" at the entrance to the swimming pool where they claimed they were denied admittance because of racial segregation policies.

Pool operators said the facility is operated on a membership card basis and the demonstrators were refused tickets because they lacked cards.

Police Chief Enloe Jones said the group was arrested "because they broke the law" by blocking the pool entrance and refusing to obey repeated requests to disperse.

Jones said the group was "not going to get out until they make bond."

James Peake, 23, a leader in the demonstration, said the hunger strike began "spontaneously" and would continue until the group was freed or brought to court.

Peake said he would appeal to Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner to intervene against alleged mistreatment of those jailed.

First Glimpse Of Toddler Fashions For Fall

By GAILE DUGAS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Some little girls are instinctively feminine just as others are tom-boys right up to their early teens.

The instinctively feminine little girl takes naturally to party clothes, wee white gloves, shiny patent leather shoes, lace and ruffles. She may be no angel but she is born with a certain flair for fashion.

Catering to this intuitive feeling about clothes are wee fashions which include such unlikely bits as black velvet "at-home" slacks with lace trim to be worn with a white embroidered "angel top." Not much pant and not much top, to be sure, for a 2-year-old but the idea's there.

The washable velveteens in jewel colors are likely to appeal both to a little girl and to her mother. Because they display an intense streak of practicality.

There are lots of jumpers and jumper variations in small fashions this fall. And many plaids and lots of pleats. In any case, the severity of the jumper is invariably relieved by a pretty white top, often trimmed in lace or ruffles, or both.

Many small dresses show a high yoke coupled with a very full skirt. After all, if a girl has no waistline at all, she can look very well in a high yoke. Or in a wide-skirted dress with matching pinafore.

Fall fashions for toddlers are feminine, pretty and practical! This little girl wears (left) dress with bright plaid skirt of no-iron cotton and ruffled white blouse. Cummerbund is cotton, too. For parties, there's this emerald green velvet jumper worn with separate no-iron cotton blouse (center). Red plaid jumper dress (right) is no-iron cotton, has high bodice, big box pleats. These are Nannette fashions. All are in sizes 1-2-3.

Take It From Kathy

... by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I'm 15 years old and I need help with a problem. My father is a very strict person and what you might call an old fogey. He won't let me go out with boys or even talk to them. My 17-year-old sister is treated the same. We can't go to a ball game, movie or anything.

My mother doesn't like us to date, but my father gets furious at the idea. We have never done anything wrong and sure don't expect to. You can imagine how we feel when we can't even go to a sports event in the afternoon. What should we do? Please answer soon, D.

Dear D: Don't make the mistake of sneaking secret dates.

That can be a temptation when you feel you are denied a privilege. The kind of boy willing to share such a date is usually very desirable, and when your parents discovered the deception they'd have a good basis for distrust for a long time.

You feel abused, but your parents mean well and intend to protect rather than make you miserable. Keeping this in mind stop fighting restrictions. Try to build their confidence.

If your parents know you're friends well, they will feel more inclined to let you join the group for fun.

Talk about school, the little things that amuse you and what your buddies are doing. Discuss details of your life so much that your parents will feel so familiar with your friends that they won't worry so much about you being with them. It might help a little to show this letter to your mother and dad.

You said, "Please answer soon." At 15 or 16, weeks pass like years when you want something badly. I understand this, but you can't expect overnight changes. Being patient is the only real answer.

If it will encourage you, I can say that even the most conservative parent should permit your sister dates within the next year. This will pave the way. Younger members of a family are often allowed privileges in less time than older ones.

Dear Abby...

Mom Should Join Daughter In Backyard!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who won't let her daughter lie out in the backyard to sun herself? I don't mean in a brief bathing suit or anything like that. I mean in a sun suit. She says, "People might think it's me!" Do you think that would be so terrible?

WANTS TO KNOW
DEAR WANTS: If a daughter can be mistaken for her own mother in a sun suit, I think the mother should join her.

DEAR ABBY: We are middle-class people who own a nice little bungalow in a neighborhood where there are many children. We fixed up our backyard with swings, slides, etc., for our grandchildren to enjoy while visiting us on week-ends. During the week the neighborhood youngsters would ring our bell and ask if they could play in our backyard. How could we refuse?

Last week a neighbor boy fell off our swing and broke two teeth (not baby teeth). We received a letter from his father's attorney advising us that we were being sued for the dental bill. Our own attorney said it was our yard and we were liable. Please print this as a warning to other big-hearted uninformed people who can ill-afford such generosity.

STUCK
DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother is coming to visit us for a month. She never cared for me and the feeling is mutual. I am considering taking a job while she is here. That way she can have the run of the house, boss the children and just take over. (She will anyway.) I will let her be the "Lady of the House" and I won't have to be around her all day. Do you see anything wrong with that? When I suggested it to my husband he said I should forget it. I'd like your opinion.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW
DEAR D-I-L: I agree with your husband. His mother should be a "guest" — not the "Lady of the House." If you can't remain in the same house with her and behave in an adult, civil manner, you have a lot of growing up to do.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LIBBY:
When a man tells you he isn't good enough for you, believe him! He knows more about himself than you do.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizen, Center

LAST WEEK was such a busy week; especially on Thursday. After getting my daughter, Mrs. Henry Martin, off on a return trip home to Ventura, Calif. I made it down to the Center by mid-afternoon to pick up some news for this column. Then in the evening went to the monthly dinner meeting of the OES Past Masters' Gavel Club. How is that for a day?

Mrs. Cleo Seitz visited with her sister, Mrs. Laura Stewart in Chickasha, Okla. recently.

C. L. Adams reported a happy reunion with an old friend and neighbor, Charley Barnett of LeFors. They had not seen each other for over 30 years. Neither knew of the other being so near by until a friend happened to bring them together. Women have the reputation of talking, but I'll bet one could not hold a candlestick, as the old saying goes, to these two men. Makes one so happy to meet old friends. Means many happy get-togethers.

Ray Sanger visited his grandmother, Mrs. Mollie Heathcock and sons last week, while in town on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keever of Washington, D. C. visited his aunt, Mrs. Lona Webster last Monday.

Houseguests of Mrs. Mary Rogers this week were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dunham and daughter of Big Spring. Mrs. Dunham is Mrs. Rogers' daughter. She reports the granddaughter is in nurses' training in a Lubbock Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cargill visited Mrs. Cargill's mother, Mrs. Ed Bugh recently. We were glad to see Mrs. Bugh at the Center Thursday. She used to come often but has been absent for some time.

Last week J. C. McCain was seen slipping around taking pictures. This week he was proudly exhibiting some very nice colored pictures of people, who, no doubt, was too busy with their games to notice when he took their picture.

Mrs. E. C. Curtis had as houseguests recently, her niece, Mrs. Robert Henry and Mr. Henry of Las Vegas, Nev.

W. E. Towe told us about the nice trip he missed. His nephew, Wade McCallum of Yukon, Okla. came by to take him on a nice trip in his air-conditioned Buick. Never did learn why he turned them down. Perhaps, he did not want to miss a meeting at the Center. He is just about always present and having a good time.

Mrs. Nettie Cornelison was reported in Highland General Hospital for minor surgery and is doing fine.

Mrs. Francis Reeves is home from the hospital we were glad to hear! Mrs. H. M. Norris and Mrs. Bob Dilly were not feeling up to par Thursday so we missed their sweet smiles.

We were happy to have Mrs. Ed Garland with us this week; hope she becomes a "regular."

Also, been missing Mrs. M. L. Bullock, who was back with us after an eight week visit with friends in California, New Mexico and Arizona.

Last Friday, Jerry Torvie and his wife, Mabel, left for Spokane, Washington to visit with Jerry's brother, Art and his wife. Another brother from Williston, N. D. will meet them and am sure it will be a happy reunion.

Mrs. J. C. Mosley spent last weekend in Gage, Okla. with her son, Don and family.

Mrs. Lida Ramsay is visiting a niece in New Mexico this week. The lovely floral centerpiece, which centered the serving table at the meeting Thursday was presented by Uncle Billy Frost and Mrs. O. F. Kreimeyer, one of the Gray Ladies, to Jay Flanagan, who is the new Senior Center chairman for the Altruista Club, which sponsors the weekly meetings at the Center. Altruists were hostesses again this week and served delicious finger sandwiches, cookies and coffee. Altruists assisting with the hostesses' duties were Meses Frank A. Hukill, Lorene Locke, Mary Martin, Jack P. Foster, and Grant Anderson.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
Happiness is like jam, you can't spread it without getting a little on yourself. ANOTHER ONE:
Habit is like a soft bed, easy to get into but hard to get out of. Be seeing you, Love, Mrs. Wagner.

The guardsmen arrived in Amarillo at 2:20 p.m. Sunday by train and then arrived in Pampa about 4 p.m. by bus. The unit left Ft. Polk about 12 noon Saturday.

The company, training outside the state for the first time in 11 years, went through mostly field training at the Louisiana camp. They arrived at Ft. Polk July 1 to begin training.

British MDs In Canada

REGINA, Sask. (UPI) — The Medical Care Insurance Commission announced Sunday night that 50 British doctors already have arrived here for emergency service during the doctors' strike now in its third week.

Secretary Jack Kinzel disclosed that 50 of 84 British physicians who have signed up to work for the government under its controversial medicare plan had arrived in the province, most of them during the past few days.

Saskatchewan's one million residents hopefully awaited the arrival of British peer and medicare expert Lord Taylor, in hopes he would somehow break the impasse between the government and the doctors that has left the province with only token medical service since July 1.

Talbott died March 2, 1957, in Palm Beach, Fla., of a cerebral hemorrhage.

finally shut off the siren after about 45 minutes.

A plan was being worked out today to have the siren on a special line and separate switch to avoid a recurrence of the false alarm.

Confusion caused by the untimely alert caused city officials to move today for a new setup on civil defense and storm emergency alerts.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer conferred briefly this morning with Leonard and Police Chief Jim Conner and urged an early meeting of city and county officials for coordination of efforts and action to have better city participation in civil defense and severe weather warnings.

"We need to get our plans coordinated so there will be no confusion such as we had last night," Schmitzer said.

Telephone lines into The Pampa News, radio stations and the city police station were jammed with phone calls for the entire 45-minute period while the siren was blowing last night.

Civil Defense Director Leonard said today he wanted to urge persons not to call the city police station or the sheriff's office during an alert unless they have definite information to give.

"Calls just to find out what is happening clog the phone system and hamper officials in getting out essential broadcast messages," Leonard said.

After the Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — The railroads finally are stealing a march on truckers. In 1958 approximately 87 per cent of all new motor vehicles were shipped by road and only 9.9 per cent by rail. Now railroad officials look for their share of this market to increase by at least 25 per cent over the next year or two as a result of more efficient auto-carrying flatcars.

Goldberg Enters Air Line Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg re-entered the 24-day old Eastern Air Lines strike today in an effort to end a walkout of flight engineers over the jet crew issue.

Goldberg began a series of meetings with representatives of the engineers, pilots and the airline.

Declaring there is "no excuse or justification" for the walkout, Goldberg planned to push for adoption of an agreement similar to the one already approved by flight engineers negotiators on Trans World Airlines.

Meantime, bargaining between American Airlines and its engineers over the jet crew issue was resumed in a separate room at the Labor Department. Spokesmen for the pilots also participated in these discussions.

The controversy centers on the duties and qualifications of jet crew members when the airlines reduce cockpit personnel in jets from four to three.

Goldberg has contended that the TWA settlement protects the job rights of the engineers and at the same time allows the companies to reduce crews and eventually use pilots for the "third man."

In meetings last week, he convinced flight engineers on American Airlines they should endorse the principles of the TWA agreement.

But Jack Robertson, president of the engineers' chapter on Eastern, said this package formula was still not acceptable to the union representing Eastern engineers.

Official Denies Estes Was Favored In Grain Storage Warehouse Bond

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department official denied today that Billie Sol Estes received special favors in connection with the size of the bond set by the government on his grain storage warehouses.

But he said the procedures under which the bond was set have been overhauled "to eliminate any possibility of criticism."

The new denial that Estes received special treatment was made by Dabney Townsend, acting chief of the U.S. warehouse act branch. He testified before a House subcommittee investigating the Texas financier's manipulations.

The Senate investigating subcommittee plans to resume parallel hearings Wednesday.

Townsend flatly told the House groups: "I do not believe there was any favoritism shown Mr. Estes in setting the bond."

He conceded other warehouse systems were forced to post higher bonds. But he said they fell under a different category.

Branca Retired Thomson As Suspense Mounted

NEW YORK (UPI) — There were a lot of changes and, while you can say it didn't matter one way or another, it meant a lot in the life of a nice guy named Ralph Branca.

It was just like 11 years ago. There at the plate stood Bobby Thomson and Branca had to walk out to the same mound and look down the lane at the same fellow who touched him for a disastrous home run 'way back there in 1951.

Should Thomson do it again, curve the ball high into the stands, it could start the old nightmare all over again.

This time there was no pennant at stake. It was simply an old timers' day game, part of a lucrative sop to sentimentality. But to Branca it was terribly important, maybe even more important than before.

Because of his children — and other children who can be so cruel.

When the New York Mets announced the game, and the word came out that Branca once again would pitch to Thomson, his young daughter came to him in tears. She didn't want him to recreate a time of torment.

Branca knew the risks they faced. One more like the last one could only put him under the microscope of disdain again. And it would subject her to the ribaldry of the young who, ignorant of the damage which results from thoughtlessness, are quick with merciless jibe and cutting jest.

But he soothed her, and told her that this was something a man had to do.

Then he went to work, preparing as well as he could with the odds against him, for the moment which would occur. Because the pitching arm fades fast and the hitter is the last to lose the stroke which remains strong in memory.

They kidded Thomson in the dugout that Branca just might whistle one at his head, knowing full well that Branca wasn't that type. And Thomson, no pressure on him, went along with the gag by saying:

"Get me the hard hat. I just might get one under the chin."

Branca was a man alone, his hawk face grim as the situation came closer.

"My wife and family are here," he said, thinking of his daughter's tears. "I don't want anything to embarrass them."

Now the moment of re-creation had arrived and the new tee had to be met.

Leo Durocher stood in the third base coaching box. Ever brash and dynamic, his piercing whistle echoed through the park and he jabbed a directional finger at the spot in the stands where it all was settled a decade and more ago.

The first pitch was in the dirt. Another pitch was close and they asked him later if it was an intentional brush back.

"No," he said with innate honesty. "I knew he wanted to get a hit and I was just as determined to get him out. But that was unintentional. A slip."

The count went to two balls and two strikes and then Thomson's bat cracked against the ball. It soared in the old direction, but was far short of the stands as it fell safely into Duke Spidner's glove. Disappointment showed on the face of Durocher, who once coined a phrase that "nice guys finish last."

Branca disproved this slogan once again. Sometimes they finish second, as he did 11 years ago, but in the end they come out on top. This time, you may say,

Wright Is Winner Of Golf Meet

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Blue-eyed Mickey Wright could laugh today about questioning her judgment because she held the $1,350 first place plum in the $10,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament, but in her final bogie-plagued holes of play she admitted her game was ready to collapse.

Miss Wright, an attractive 27-year-old blonde from San Diego, Calif., who again is making a run-away of the LPGA money race, turned in a shaky last round 77 Sunday over the long tree-lined Tuckaway Country Club Course that gave her a four-day total of 289.

Miss Wright, who built her earnings for the year to $10,357, still managed to finish seven strokes ahead of veteran Patty Berg, Minneapolis, and Jo Ann Prentice, Birmingham, Ala., who were tied for second with totals of 296. They each earned $970.

"I began to doubt my judgment and wondered whether I was hitting the ball too hard," is the way Miss Wright explained why she bogied four of the last five holes for her worst tournament round. She had fired 70s the first two days and a 72 the third round.

Miss Wright, who now has won more than 50 tournaments in eight years, traced the problem to the very unlucky for her par four 13th hole, on which she took a double bogie six. "My second shot went so far behind the green I was completely surprised," she said.

"Then my next approach landed in a sand trap. I just couldn't judge right after that."

Miss Wright could only turn in a pair on the par four 16th. "It was terrible," said Miss Wright, who still managed to overwhelm the field. She carried a four stroke lead into the final round.

The 44-year-old Miss Berg, who was penalized two strokes in the second round which wound up costing her $50 apiece, finished with a 73 — the day's best round. Miss Prentice, a pert brunette who is still seeking her first victory in six years on the tour, had a 76.

Carry Back Looking For More Greener Pastures

By United Press International

Carry Back, fresh off his victory in the $109,150 Monmouth Handicap, is being pointed toward next Saturday's Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct — third leg of the handicap triple crown.

"Carry Back ran a perfect race," said owner Jack Price whose colt was clocked in 2:00 2-5 Saturday to set a Monmouth Park record for the 1 1/4 mile Monmouth 'Cap. Kelso finished second, trailing Carry Back by three lengths as the two - time horse of the year again failed to score in a stakes race this year.

Carl Hanford, trainer of Kelso, said his gelding probably would bypass the Brooklyn.

Carry Back won under Johnny Rotz and paid $9.00 for $2. Carry Back's earnings now amount to $1,085,360.

In other top races Saturday, Prove It won the $162,100 Gold Cup at Hollywood Park; Ridan romped to a seven - length success in the $102,250 Arlington Clas-

Yanks Increase Loop Lead With Twinbill Sweep

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Ralph Houk is happily puffing those smoke rings again and that's a sign the once-tight American League race could be a thing of the past, just like the old five-cent cigar.

Houk watched his New York Yankees break open the race Sunday and move 2½ games in front by sweeping a doubleheader from the Kansas City A's, 8-6, in 10 innings and 11-3.

Over in the National League the pace-setting Los Angeles Dodgers also emerged with a 2½ game spread, even though they split a twin bill with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Dodgers won the opener, 9-1, but lost the nightcap, 2-1.

Six home runs paved the way for the Yankees' two victories over the A's before a record crowd of 34,865 at Kansas City, who saw Roger Maris belt his 22nd and 23rd homers in the opener and Elston Howard his ninth and 10th in the finale.

Maris drove in four runs in the first game but it was Yogi Berra's two-run homer off Jerry Walker in the 10th that dissolved a 6-6 tie. Howard accounted for four runs in the second game, which also was marked by Bill Skowron's 13th homer.

Art Mahaffey of the Phils checked the Dodgers on five hits in the nightcap to post his 12th win of the season and beat them for the first time in his career. Roy Sievers helped with his 12th homer off loser Phil Ortega.

The Dodgers romped to their fifth straight victory in the opener on the six-hit pitching of Johnny Podres. Tommy Davis drove in four runs while Frank Howard, Ron Fairly and Daryl Spencer hit homers.

The four other NL doubleheaders all wound up in even splits also. The Mets beat the Giants, 5-3, then lost, 9-8. St. Louis won the opener from Pittsburgh, 3-2, in 10 innings, but the Pirates took the nightcap, 8-7. Milwaukee blanked Cincinnati, 5-0, then lost the second game, 3-2; the Colts edged the Cubs, 5-4, but Chicago won the nightcap, 4-1.

In the AL, Baltimore took two from Cleveland, 6-4 and 6-5; Minnesota defeated Boston, 5-3, with the second game being washed out by rain; the White Sox downed the Tigers, 5-3, and the Angels split with the Senators, Los Angeles winning the opener, 5-1, and Washington the nightcap, 10-4.

The Mets won their opener from the Giants with a five-run fourth inning rally and Jay Hook's nine-hit pitching. Frank Thomas and Elio Chacon each drove in two runs during the Mets' outburst. Two-run homers by Harvey Kuenn and Orlando Cepeda led the Giants to victory in the nightcap, although the Mets came up with six runs in the eighth.

Pinch hitter Fred Whitfield's 10th inning broke a 2-2 tie between the Cards and Pirates in the first game, but Pittsburgh won the nightcap when Roberto Clemente singled home Bill Virdon in the ninth. The victory went to Roy Face, who was charged with the loss in the opener.

Lew Burdette blanked the Reds on five hits in the opener and got a helping hand from Eddie Mathews, who hit his 18th homer off loser Jim Maloney in the first inning. Vada Pinson tied the nightcap with his 18th homer in the ninth and the Reds won it in the same frame when Hank Foiles singled home Wally Post.

Al Spangler helped the Colts snap a seven-game losing streak with a two-run homer in the seventh inning of the opener. Don Ellsworth gained a split for the Cubs, however, with a five-hitter in the second game.

Two homers by Jim Gentile led the Orioles to their sweep over the Indians, who dropped to third place behind the Angels. Gentile's homer off loser Jim Grant in the ninth inning of the nightcap broke a 5-5 deadlock. The homers were Gentile's 23rd and 24th. Chuck Estrada and Skinny Brown were the winning pitchers.

Harmon Killebrew's double with the bases full in the sixth inning gave the Twins their victory over the Red Sox. Killebrew's blow came off Don Schwall, who suffered his 11th loss compared with three victories. Lee Stange was the winning pitcher.

The White Sox ran their winning streak to six games by beating the Tigers with a two-run rally in the eighth. Luis Aparicio doubled home the tie-breaking run after homers by Chico Fernandez and Rocky Colavito knotted the score at 3-3. Dean Stone was the winner in relief and Ron Nischwitz was the loser.

Homers by Joe Koppe and Billy Morgan, coupled with Eli Grba's six-hit pitching, won the opener for the Angels, but the Senators charged back with 17 hits in the nightcap to get even on the day. Jim King and Bob Schmidt each collected three hits. Steve Hamilton held the Angels to six hits in seven innings to gain the victory.

El Paso In Win Over Tulsa, 11-7

By United Press International

El Paso exploded for six runs in the top of the eighth inning Sunday to beat Tulsa 11-7 and stretch its Texas League lead to two and a half games over the second - place Oilers.

Charles Teuscher's solo homer highlighted the rally by the Sun Kings, who play again tonight at Tulsa.

In two other closer games, Amarillo edged San Antonio 6-5 and Austin nipped Albuquerque 3-2 Sunday.

In rematches tonight, San Antonio is again at Amarillo and Albuquerque at Austin.

Amarillo's Bill Drummond came out to pitch the last two innings and get credit for the Gold Sox victory as his team staged a four-run outburst in the ninth in a dramatic comeback.

Wade Blasingame, the Austin starter, lasted six innings to earn the other mound victory. Two solo homers in the ninth by Billy Bryan and Ron Shoop provided both runs for the Dukes.

Campton Captures Motor City Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI) — Bruce Campton wishes it were so, but he doesn't think anything can persuade Arnold Palmer to stay out of the country.

The 26-year-old "iron man" from Sydney, Australia, turned sights to the PGA championship at Newton Square, Pa., next stop on the pro golf circuit, after staging a Palmer-type finish to win the $35,000 Motor City Open here Sunday by three strokes.

Crampton, his spirits buoyed by his first victory since the 1961 Milwaukee Open, will find the competition at Aronimink Golf Club — site of the PGA — a bit stiffer than he found on Knottwood Country Club's shallow rough and flat greens here.

Palmer, fresh from his British Open victory, is seeking a "three-quarter" grand slam—the Masters, British Open and PGA.

"I wish it were so that he isn't back," Crampton joked. "But there isn't enough money to keep that man out of the country."

Crampton's victory enabled him to qualify for the PGA and the $5,300 first prize Sunday was the 14th time in his last 15 starts that he has pocketed a paycheck.

Crampton entered the final 18 holes of the Motor City Open Sunday tied for the lead with two other young pros—26-year-old Dave Ragan, Sun City, Fla., and Don Massengale, 25, a relative unknown from Jacksboro, Texas.

Crampton, needing another hot round in the easy course for victory, fired a five-under par 66. He left his closest competitors three strokes back. His 66-65-70-66 was 7 strokes under par and a record of the tournament.

Mike Souchak held the old mark of 268, set in 1959 at Meadowbrook.

Massengale, former TCU star, went two-under par for a 69, tying for second.

Dave Hill, 25, Jackson, Mich., blistered the course for an 18-hole record 64 to also total 270. Hill, using a borrowed putter, birdied seven holes and had only one bogey.

Ragan bogeyed the last two holes and came in fourth at 271.

Texans Are Floored By Hot Weather

DALLAS (UPI) — Two members of the American Football League Dallas Texans were injured and several others forced by heat to leave the field Sunday as the club scrimaged for 30 minutes in 99-degree heat.

Curt Merz of Iowa and Tiny Goss of Southern Methodist University, defensive ends, both suffered arm injuries. Both are expected to return for today's workouts.

None of those sent to the sidelines by the burning heat was considered seriously injured.

Charles Kirkpatrick, a 260-pound fullback from Grambling, La., College joined the squad yesterday.

Quarterback Len Dawson of Purdue and Eddie Wilson of Arizona looked good along with defenders Johnny Robinson of LSU and Linebacker Walt Corey of Miami.

Sikes Winner Of Tournament

TOWN OF TONAWANDA, N.Y. (UPI) — Cagney Dick Sikes, who borrowed a set of irons and used them to capture his second straight U.S. Amateur Public Links golf title, went home to Arkansas today to prepare for the National Amateur.

"I plan to compete in the National Amateur at Pinehurst, N.C., in mid-September," Sikes said after his hard-fought 2 and 1 victory over Hung Soo Ahn of Honolulu, Hawaii, Saturday.

The triumph, at the Sheridan Park Golf Course gave the 22-year-old University of Arkansas senior the Standish Trophy two years running — only the second man to accomplish the feat. Sikes won the Public Links crown in Detroit last year in his first try.

Sikes said he started using the borrowed clubs during Wednesday's second round of match play because he was unhappy with his play.

Sikes adjusted quickly to the new clubs and rolled over four opponents to reach the payoff 36-hole match against Ahn.

"I know I hit better in the title match," he said. "My long game started to come around Friday."

But it was his putting that turned the tide when Ahn threatened to unseat him. Sikes, neck-and-neck with Ahn through 18 holes Saturday, counted two birdies and an eagle in carding a 2-under par 69 for the morning round.

Sikes fired five birdies, including an eye-opening 35-foot chip shot on the 32nd hole, to destroy Ahn's bid for his first public links conquest in seven attempts.

"That shot was the turning point," Sikes admitted after the match. "But Ahn still had a chance on the 34th."

House Appropriations Rebuffs Supreme Court On Document Custody, In Rebuke on Prayer Decision

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee is preparing a stinging rebuff to the Supreme Court in retaliation for its decision banning "official" prayers in public schools.

These historical documents now are on daily display at the National Archives. In 1952, Congress ordered the Constitution moved there from the Library of Congress. The Declaration of Independence has been at the Archives since 1938 when the State Department gave up its custody of the document.

The Supreme Court now wants to change this manner of displaying the original Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Under a proposal by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the Justices are seeking congressional approval and funds to move these priceless documents, as well as some lesser-known historical papers, to the Supreme Court for public display there.

The stage for the coming rebuff of the High Court was quietly set this week by a House Appropriations subcommittee, headed by Representative John Rooney, D-N.Y., when it acted on the judiciary's $2 million budget. The Rooney subcommittee, which hasn't been reversed by the full Appropriations Committee or the House in the past 10 years, voted down Justice Warren's proposal, including his request for $17,200 to purchase eight fancy bronze display cases designed to hold the documents.

THE ARGUMENTS — This unanimous subcommittee decision came after Representative Rooney blasted Justice Warren's request, saying: "As long as I have anything to say about the custody of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, these documents are going to stay at the Archives and under the control of Congress. The judicial branch has no right to these documents; but even if there was a good reason for giving the Supreme Court custody, I don't think the House would stand for it after the way the Justices interpreted the Constitution in the New York prayer case."

"If the Supreme Court's request is put in this bill," warned Representative Fred Marshall, D-Minn., "it will touch off a major revolution when this measure is brought to the House floor. As things now stand, we are going to face plenty of fireworks on account of that decision. Members are mad and they are going to use this appropriation bill to let off steam. By turning down this request, we can sternly rebuke the Court without wrecking its budget."

Leaving, they all said, courteously, "Ah hopes you make it." A pretty girl, a Mexican, knew more English and Spanish than I did. We spent a pleasant hour translating for the Puerto Ricans. "Then came Miss California, tall, handsome with flowing tan hair and tan eyes and a cold look of intelligence. She asked 'How you two happen to be clogged together?' I explained. She said: 'Oh, Federal case. So am I. Forgive.' She was indignant about the commitment by a judge to a booby hatch. She said 'I knew a girl was put in there. It's hell. Then she wished me luck, went to her cell and flopped down.'

"Then they came and took me down stairs. I waved goodbye to Miss California. "I demanded to know who had signed the order to lock me up in such a horrible place when I was out on bail. They said I was no longer on bail so make them give you your money back." Mrs. Miller spent three weeks in St. Elizabeth's and drove the staff crazy before she was released. And her husband served a year in Danbury prison for threatening the deputies with a deer rifle while they were drenching his home with gas with the family besieged inside. He didn't shoot, although many a good man would have blown their gizzards out.

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There is a fellow here named Leo Guild, who has written a book called "Hollywood Screwballs..."

Perhaps this was inevitable. Unlike the Saturday telecast from Miami Beach, there was no insipid nonsense about the young ladies being messengers of goodwill, brotherly love or altruistic ideals...

Can you imagine what a showman like Ziegfeld could have done with a stageful of such lovely girls? But that, of course, was before the do-gooders got their hooks into this area too...

The Tourist Pitch As I remember it, just plain fun and good-natured ogling used to have something to do with beauty contests. But now we have the endless parades of girls to the microphones, with their tourist pitches, their babbling "I love the United States of America..."

There was hardly any mention Saturday of subjects that lent themselves to fun and a better show: the salary for the winner, the hopes of meeting millionaires, the chances to be introduced to Hollywood producers...

The fact is, of course, that without these lures to tempt most of the girls—and without the promise of profit for the promoters—international goodwill would simply have to await other missionaries.

This viewer paid for his sins by being assigned to the Miss Universe promotion for two years when it was held in Long Beach, Calif. and the big search each time was for any under-age contestants, which gives you an idea in what regard the competition is considered by some.

Sickening Hair Commercials At any rate, under such a straight-faced approach, the program suffered appropriately. Rayburn, the on-stage emcee, was reduced to being little more than an announcer.

Billy The Kid To Appear In Okla. Rodeo

Television's upgraded Billy the Kid is "coming home" to Oklahoma and will be viewed in person by thousands who attend the three performances of the 24th annual Rodeo of Champions in Elk City, September 3, 4 and 5.

Clu Gullager (The Kid), who co-stars with Barry Sullivan (Marshall Pat Garrett) on NBC-TV's series, "The Law Man," has been signed by directors of the Elk City rodeo as the star added attraction for this year's three night performance.

While the swashbuckling, gun-notching real-life Billy the Kid was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and attained desperado fame in New Mexico and Arizona, the TV version of "The Kid" is a native Oklahoman of Indian-Danish origin, having been born in Holdenville and later living in Muskogee.

Cullager launched his film career and became the not-so-bad-after-all Billy The Kid after years of study as a drama student which started at Northeastern State College in Tahlequah. He later attended Baylor University in Texas, studying under a well-known drama teacher, Paul Baker.

In addition to Gullager's appearance in the arena at each of the Elk City rodeo performances, a troupe of Hollywood entertainers will be among the added attractions, rodeo directors said.
