Subpoenas Ordered For 12 Big Steel Companies

Senate Subcommittee Presses Probe Despite Price Backdown

By SAM FOGG
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Subpoenas were ordered Saturday against 12 big steel companies by a Senate subcommittee which pressed its antitrust investigation despite the industry's pelt melt retreat from a $6-a-ton price increase.

U. S. marshals were set to serve the subpoenas which demand that the firms produce cost records for the Senate anti-monopoly group headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn.

The action was clear evidence that the threat of both congressional and Justice Department action still hung over "big steel" even though the industry surrendered to President Kennedy in the struggle over the price hike.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Friday after the steel companies rescinded the price rise that a federal grand jury inquiry in New York into possible antitrust violations would proceed.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., announced Saturday that he would introduce legislation Monday aimed at breaking up the bigger steel companies and giving the government a check-rein on future price increase moves.

He proposed that steel price hikes be made subject to the 80-day "cooling off" procedure which the President can invoke under the Taft-Hartley labor-management law. Gore also advocated creation of a national consumers advisory board.

The Tennessee said capitulation of the steel industry underscored the need for new legislation and called in concert, Gore said. "This is all the more reason there should be an orderly systematic way to provide for an informed public opinion."

The Kefauver subcommittee would not make public the names of the firms being served subpoenas but said they were considered the 12 largest producers.

This would include Inland Steel Co., Chicago, and Kaiser Steel Corp., San Francisco, the two firms that opened the way for President Kennedy's triumph by refusing to go along with the $6 increase initiated by U. S. Steel Corp.

The subpoenas call on the companies to furnish cost data by May 14. They have the option of filling out a subcommittee questionnaire if they wish. The information will be kept secret.

A parallel House investigation was announced by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y., of the Judiciary Committee, but this probably will be soft-pedaled for the time being.

The repercussions of the steel price controversy—immediate and future—were still being evaluated here but one thing stood out: Kennedy had scored his biggest victory on the economic front since entering the White House.

The weapons he used to force the powerful steel industry to surrender ranged from a public show of setting personal anger to concrete government counter blows that consisted of the grand jury investigation and announcement that the Defense Department would shift its buying to firms that held the price line.

Mayor's Recall Election Is Still 'On' For Tuesday

Judge Orders Voting On Commissioners

The recall election on Mayor E. C. Sidwell will be held Tuesday as scheduled.

This was conceded in District Court here late Friday by attorneys for the Citizens for Better City Government who had sought to hold up the election on the mayor pending determination of their attempt to have an election ordered also on Pampa's four ward commissioners.

After a hearing in 31st District Judicial Court which began at 4:40 p.m. Friday and lasted nearly five hours, District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich ordered a recall election held on Commissioners Lloyd Simpson, Newt Secrest, Leon Holmes and L. P. Fort.

Atty. Clayton Heare of Amarillo, representing the City Commission, immediately served notice of appeal. Under Texas law, Heare has 20 days in which to file the appeal with the Seventh District Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo.

Attorney Heare said it probably would be several days before all necessary data for the appeal could be put together for filing.

An election on the recall for the city commissioners cannot be held until the appeal case is finally decided.

In ordering the recall election, Judge Goodrich said he did not hold with the contention of the defendant commissioners' attorney that petitions circulated for their recall did not contain sufficient signatures.

Attorney Heare contended in his motion for dismissal that 743 signatures were needed for each of the petitions on the commissioners, the same as was required for the petition on the mayor.

Representing the Citizens for Better City Government, attorney Walter T. Norman, argued that it was mathematically impossible for Heare's contention on the signatures to be carried out to a hypothetical conclusion. Norman used a blackboard to illustrate his point.

The upshot of Friday's district court hearing is that the Citizens for Better City Government lost their temporary injunction attempt to halt Tuesday's election on Mayor E. C. Sidwell and won their mandamus fight to get the district judge to order a recall election on the four ward commissioners.

However, since the vote will be taken on the mayor Tuesday the CBCG group also lost its effort to have a slate of candidates placed on the ballot at the same time the recall election is held.

There will be no candidate for mayor on Tuesday's election ballot handed to the voters. The only question to be decided Tuesday will be whether Mayor Sidwell should be removed from office or be retained in that post.

In event a recall election should eventually be called on the four ward commissioners, there would be no other candidates on that ballot, either.

The City Charter provides that only when all five members of the city governing body are up for recall can there be a list of candidates' names on the recall ballot.

Should Mayor Sidwell be recalled in Tuesday's election, it then would be up to the four remaining city commissioners to call a special election for mayor.

Petitions seeking the recall of the mayor and commissioners actually have never been checked for validity of the signatures. When the City Commission ordered the recall election held on the mayor, it was stated by Mayor Sidwell at that time that he did 67 Absentee Ballots Cast; Voting Places Set Up; Polls Open At 8 A.M.

The question stated on the ballot is: "Shall E. C. Sidwell be removed from the office of mayor of Pampa by recall?"

Officials said there had been some question about the meaning of the word "recall." They explained a vote FOR recall of the mayor would be a vote to remove him from office.

A vote AGAINST recall would be a vote to keep the mayor in office.

Voters will scratch one of these lines on the ballot: "FOR the recall of E. C. Sidwell."

"AGAINST the recall of E. C. Sidwell."

Election officials also stated each of the four voting places will be open for the casting of ballots from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Called Meeting Of City Commission Set For Monday; 'Business' On Tap

Mayor E. C. Sidwell announced Saturday night the City Commission will meet in called session at 9 a.m. Monday in City Hall "to take up several matters that need immediate attention."

The mayor indicated that because of the extra time consumed by the need of commissioners to look after court actions filed against them there were several items of city business that had been by-passed in the last few weeks.

"We want to get these things taken care of," the mayor said. Among matters to be discussed will be the city's paving policy, applications for the city manager's job, and a final report from Merriman and Barber, consulting engineers, on drainage and sewer surveys for proposed highway improvements through the city.

Mayor Sidwell also stated there is a possibility of discussion on a proposal to change the City Commission meeting place from its present crowded quarters on the main floor of City Hall to the Palm Room on the third floor.

"Pampa citizens seem to be taking more interest in their city government operations," the mayor said, "and they ought to have a place to sit down if they wish to attend meetings where their business is being transacted."

On several occasions in the past month or so, the commission has opened its meetings in the regular meeting room and then has been forced to move to the Palm Room in order to accommodate those who wished to attend the meeting as spectators.

"When the City Commission meets," Mayor Sidwell said, "we are not meeting to transact our own business but to take care of the business of the people of Pampa. So, I think we should have an adequate meeting place where they can come and sit down in comfort and counsel with us if they wish to do so."

The mayor indicated that if the plan to move the commission's meeting place is approved, it may entail some changes in other City Hall offices.

2 Deadlines Are Facing Pampans

Midnight today is the official deadline for Texas motorists to secure their 1962 automobile safety stickers, according to state highway patrol officers.

Officers said persons who are caught driving without the safety sticker following the midnight deadline are subject to penalty.

Meanwhile Internal Revenue officials cautioned taxpayers that deadline for filing their federal income tax returns is midnight Monday.

Every resident of the country, regardless of nationality, who is under 65 years of age and who had gross income of $600 or more during 1961, is required by law to file a federal income tax return by the Monday deadline.

Next Season's Knife, Fork Club Speakers Named

A schedule of speakers for the 1962-63 season of the Top O' Texas Knife & Fork Club has been announced by Homer Johnson, club president.

The season, which begins in October, includes: Dr. Nicolas Gonzalez de Mendoza, a native-born Cuban, who will speak October 19 on the topic, "Cuba, Uncle Sam's Headache." He was forced to leave Cuba in November, 1960, and is presently living with his wife and three children in St. Louis, Mo.

Guest speaker for the November 13 meeting will be Hon. Gale McGee, who will speak on the topic, "Around the World With Rip Van Winkle." McGee is a U.S. Senator from Wyoming, and is considered by government officials the best versed man in Washington on present problems existing in Asia, Africa, Europe and South America.

Robert Christopher, young adventurer who traveled around the world ten years ago on $80, just to prove it could be done, will be the guest at the January meeting. He will present a talk on odd experiences, customs, people and places.

For the Feb. 12 meeting, Bob Ringer, a popular humorist, will present a talk entitled, "I'm Only Kinder." Ringer was awarded the salesman of the year award in 1961 from the National Sales Improvement Association.

Dan T. Moore, counter-spy, adventurer, soldier, traveler and journalist, will be the March 26 guest speaker. He will present a talk on "Spies and Spy Warfare." Moore is presently an industrial consultant on Middle East and overseas problems for American manufacturers.

The April 30 meeting will be highlighted by an ace news commentator, considered by many

Testimony Continues In Billie Sol Estes Inquiry

PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — Indicted Texas fertilizer King Billie Sol Estes' personal pilot testified Saturday that he flew a Republican Congressman from Minnesota and two Agriculture Department officials around in Estes' three airplanes.

The pilot is Joe Henderson. He testified at a court of inquiry called by Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson at Pecos that he is not flying now because all three of Estes' planes—two, twin-engined executive type planes and one single-engine plane—have been seized by finance companies.

Henderson testified that he piloted Rep. H. Carl Anderson, R-Minn., and Bill Morris of the Department of Agriculture from Dallas to Pecos last March 24.

The owner of the Pecos Men's Shop testified that Estes bought Morris a $100 Western hat March 2, 1961.

Henderson said he flew Emery E. Jacobs, resigned deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, from Pecos to El Paso last Sept. 9 and flew him back to Pecos the next day.

Estes, 37, one time boy wonder of Texas farm finance, built up a fertilizer and grain storage empire estimated to be worth a gross of $150 million. He is now under a federal fraud indictment, at least $20 million in debt and his affairs are in the hands of a receiver.

The hearing ended at mid-afternoon after testimony from six Pecos area farmers that they signed mortgage notes to finance companies for Estes on fertilizer tanks in amounts ranging from $180,000 to $600,000. Three of them said the tanks were never delivered to them.

The farmers said they signed the notes and then entered agreements with Estes to lease the tanks in him. Several said Estes filed highly inflated statements of their personal financial worth with the finance companies.

One of the witnesses W. J. Worsham, said he sold out a fertilizer business in 1957 because of the competition. "There was no real cutting (of prices) until Estes got into it," he said. Wilson has accused Estes of violating state anti-trust laws by selling fertilizer below cost to eliminate competition.

4 Candidates Set Pampa Visits In Next Four Days

Two candidates for governor of Texas, one for attorney general and one for congressman-at-large will visit Pampa this week in their bid for votes in the May 3 Democrat and Republican primary elections.

Marshall Formby, Democratic candidate for governor, and Des Barry, Republican candidate for congressman-at-large, will be in town Monday. No time was announced for Formby's arrival.

Barry, a trucking company executive, is due to make his first appearance at a public reception at 3 p.m. in the Coronado Inn, according to an announcement by Mrs. Warren Fatheree, G.O.P. district committeewoman. Shortly after the Coronado Inn reception, Barry will appear at coffees to be given in the homes of Mrs. Joe Cree, Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree.

Mickey Ledrick, former Pampa, is Barry's campaign manager, and recalled the article in Readers' Digest titled, "The Man the Teamsters Found Too Hot to Handle," which tells the story of how Barry single-handedly fought and beat Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters Union. Barry will speak at all four of his appearances in Pampa tomorrow. He will be guest at a dinner in Panhandle tomorrow night.

three days later by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's militia.

Those returned today were the most seriously injured members of the invasion force.

All appeared to be well fed. They were taken to Mercy Hospital where 25 doctors and 50 nurses and nurses' aides gave them physical examinations. Those not requiring hospitalization were to be released to rejoin their families, waiting half laughing, half sobbing on the sidelines.

The four members of the Cuban Families Committee which negotiated the release of the 60 captives disclosed they had been unable to reduce Castro's demands for their release.

The bearded Cuban premier wants 62 million U. S. dollars—not tractors, farm equipment or food—to liberate all 1,179 of the captives from a military court sentence of 30 years in prison at hard labor.

Castro put a price tag on each prisoner's head ranging from $25,000 to $300,000.

Enrique Llaca, treasurer of the committee and one of the four negotiators, said the 60 released today cost "about $2,550,000."

The families committee issued a statement bitterly denouncing the delay in obtaining enough funds to negotiate while Castro raised his price on the captives from $28 million to $62 million.

However, Llaca said the committee had "large sums in several places." He said he did not know the total but it was not nearly equal to the $62 million required.

Llaca said the committee would start as soon as possible to buy the freedom of the other captives, ransoming the lowest priced, $25,000 prisoners first.

"That way we can buy the release of four prisoners at a time with $100,000," he said.

The oldest, the married men with families and then the married men without children will be given priority in that order, the negotiators said.

Llaca quoted Castro as telling the negotiators "I am sure that within four months all of the prisoners will be back in the United States." He described Castro as "eager to negotiate"—on his own terms—and the committee issued an urgent appeal to the free world to contribute.

Absentee Voting In Primaries To Start On Monday

Absentee balloting in the Democrat and Republican May 3 primary elections will start tomorrow.

Voters who plan to be out of the city or county on May 3 will have until May 1 to cast an absentee ballot, according to County Clerk Charlie Thut.

Absentee ballots may be cast in person by both Democrats and Republicans at the County Clerk's office in the Gray County Courthouse.

Absentee ballots also will be mailed upon request to qualified electors who already are out of the city and wish to send their ballots in by mail.

Persons who are too sick or physically unable to make it to the polls on election day may vote at home in the presence of a Notary Public if they will provide the county clerk with an affidavit from a doctor concerning their condition.

The county clerk explained that absentee ballots for both parties may be cast now at the clerk's office, but that on May 3 Democrats and Republicans will vote in separate voting places.

Locations of these places will be announced later by officials of the two parties.

'Potato Crisis' Is Facing Europe

LONDON (UPI)—The lowly potato is worth its weight in caviar. It has become a continental crisis, a target of hijackers. Communist police in East Germany were carrying out house-to-house searches for them.

Europe faced a potato famine brought on by a frigid spring. It hurt a continent where the spud is every meal's side dish, especially England where a sodden potato usually lurks somewhere between the roast beef and the boiled cabbage.

In little Luxembourg, radio stations broadcast a new version of an old song—"Yes, We Have No Potatoes." In Britain questions were being asked in parliament and a cafe association spokesman said there soon may be no chips in the fish 'n' chips shops.

The potato famine of 1967 appeared worst in Germany where potatoes long ago replaced uauerkraut as king of the dinner table. They were living in potatoes from Morocco as hausfraus' potato bins emptied.

One British warehouse employed two fierce Abbatian dogs to guard 400 tons of potatoes. In Norfolk, a thief broke into several stores and stole nothing but potato sacks.

In Manchester thieves stole 18,000 potatoes from a warehouse. Police, who said the potatoes were probably en route to a black market, issued a circular describing the loot: "Average size. Color, brown. No distinguishing marks on skins."

Cancer Victim Must Stay 'On Guard'

EDITOR'S NOTE—Nobody knows how to avoid cancer, and once the dreaded killer strikes the only thing the victim can do is have faith in his doctor. Here is the third of four dispatches by Jack Proctor, editor of the Cleburne Times-Review, telling of his fight with cancer.

By JACK PROCTOR
Written for UPI

Since so little is known about the factors that cause cancer, we can do little to avoid getting it. We learned this while we were in the hospital with 10 radium needles implanted in our chin to constantly send powerful rays blasting into the cancer cells which had been active in the primary lesion on the floor of our mouth. We were told these cancer cells would almost certainly be vulnerable to these rays, which would be in direct contact with the rampant cells. The purpose, of course, was for the rays to ultimately destroy these errant cells. We learned while we waited that we were powerless over our situation. We prayed and we knew for certain that our faith in the ability of our physician was unshakable. He kept us reassured and began to outline to us some possibilities with reference to various reactions, after the needles had been removed.

When this time came our physician induced hypnosis. We were perfectly conscious. We watched him place his lead container for the needles, felt him snip the ends from each teflon tube and were aware when he lifted out each needle. But there was no pain involved with the removal of the first nine needles. The final needle, one of the longer ones, came out and as it did, we felt a slight sting, but that was all. We figured this needle was one which extended through the lesion.

We were told we were ready to go home and our physician said he would see us in his office a week from that day. He gave us no special instructions, although we were supplied with a spray bottle of anesthetic mouth wash, which we were told we could use freely. This absolutely was the only post-operative medication, if it can be called medication, that was prescribed. This mouth wash was decidedly effective and we guess we have used perhaps a gallon or two of it to date and are still using it.

The ordeal, which we will call it for the want of a better word, was over. We were a bit shaky, but not particularly weak, although we were definitely aware that we had undergone a rather substantial shock to our central nervous system. But there was no period of convalescence as is usually the case after major surgery. We went to Galveston and spent a week resting. The date was June 13, 1961.

During our stay, there was only tenderness in the area where the cancer lesion had been and where the 10 needles had been implanted. There was a smooth, circular area on our chin and outer throat, as all of the whiskers had gone by now. The smooth area remained for about a month. Then the beard began to grow and soon covered the completely healed puncture wounds of the needles. There was no disfigurement, no redness, just tiny white spots where the needles were implanted and even they are gradually disappearing.

We returned home and called on our doctor the next day. It had been a week since the needles had been removed. Our gums were smooth and devoid of soreness. It appeared to us that everything had healed completely. The doctor confirmed this. He said the healing had come along like it should, adding that we certainly appeared to be getting a wonderful result from the implant. We were told to come back in two weeks, just for a check-up examination. We did and everything was perfect on this visit. Our next visit to the doctor was set up a month from then.

STATEMENT OF MAYOR E. C. SIDWELL TO THE PEOPLE OF PAMPA

I repeat that I am opposed to special privileges to anyone, whether by tax discrimination, water rate discrimination, job discrimination or discrimination by special grants of taxpayers money. I am for all of the people of Pampa and not a favored few.

When this Commission came into office we found a number of existing situations that required the making of repairs so that there would be no discrimination amongst the people and so there would be an improvement in our City government.

Our health situation has been deplorably inefficient and neglected. Certainly this situation should be corrected as soon as possible.

Our accounting system is outmoded according to the opinion of our own employees and outside consultants. Immediate steps should be taken to improve it.

Certain water and sewer services have been set up to the disadvantage of the majority of our taxpayers. To repeat, I state that all the people who receive service from the city, whether within or without our boundaries should in some way participate in the tax burden. No situation should exist which grants benefits to a favored few.

A tax program whereby a favored few receive special privileges is unhealthy and unfair. Immediate steps should be taken to clear up and remove any existing situations set up for this purpose.

Our fire and police protection should be second to none. We have already notified persons responsible for elimination of fire hazards that we have a number of abandoned houses and buildings, all of which should be removed. During the last ten years our fire insurance rates have had a considerable increase. This particular problem certainly can and should be improved.

Our Charter needs "repair work." It is outmoded as has been so recently proven by the confusion existing with regard to the recall section. Our City Attorney advises that he has repeatedly called this to the attention of the governing bodies of the City but to no avail. The Charter should be revised or ordinances enacted immediately for better operation of our City government. In no event should the Charter be set up for the benefit of a favored few as was proposed in the Charter vote of January, 1961.

Our streets and highways have bottlenecks presently existing in intercity through highways; namely, 60, 273, and 152. Immediate steps must be taken to improve them, not to reroute them; otherwise, downtown sections of our city will become blighted.

An open-door policy should and can be maintained within our city government. Secret meetings, set up for a few people, behind closed doors, are dangerous. As nearly as possible, all taxpayers should be advised and should participate in the solving of City problems. I am confident that an informed citizenry will make right decisions. A sound, conservative, common sense program for our City can and must be adopted. This will come about only through hard work and mutual cooperation of all the people. It cannot be established by a program of manipulation and the setting up of bad policies for the benefit of a favored few.

I believe in the program and the principles outlined above. I will appreciate your vote of approval and confidence in me on April 17.

Tornado Season Approaching Top O' Texas Area

By BOB HALE
News Staff Writer

A tornado, sometimes called a "twister," is a violent rotating storm, one of nature's most violent manifestations.

Yes, it's that time of year again when weathermen and citizens keep a sharp look-out for a black cloud shaped like a funnel.

According to the climatological service of the United States Weather Bureau, tornadoes are most frequent in the Central United States and least frequent west of the Continental Divide. Tornadoes usually occur in the afternoon or early evening hours.

The "storm season" in the Top O' Texas area is from April to July. This means wind velocities and air pressures are at the right temperatures to form such a storm.

A tornado can develop from topsy-turvy, greenish-black thunderstorm clouds on hot, sticky days with southerly winds blowing.

Bill Leonard, Gray County civil defense director, said the alert system for Pampa is a steady blast of three to five minutes. This means take cover immediately in the best available shelter.

Leonard issued the following safety rules on what to do when a warning is received or a tornado is observed and has been officially verified.

No. 1 — If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

No. 2 — If in a city or town, seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

No. 3 — If in your home, the southwest corner of the lowest floor or in the basement offers greatest safety. Persons living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Standing against the inside wall on the lower floor of a building would offer some protection or lying flat on the floor, away from windows, will also serve as protection.

No. 4 — If in schools, and the building is steel reinforced, stay inside, away from windows and remain near an inside wall or lower floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.

No. 5 — If you are in a factory or industrial plant, a look-out should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach, and workers should be moved to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Leonard said, keeping calm is very important in a storm alert. He said people have been killed by running out into streets and turning back into the path of a tornado. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected.

Tornado paths have varied in length from a few feet to nearly 200 miles. The width of the paths has ranged from 9 feet to over a mile.

The surface wind in connection with the development of a tornado is usually from the southwest. Nearly two-thirds of all tornadoes move from that direction. However, tornadoes have been known to come from almost any direction, even stopping their forward movement, turning, and looping their paths.

Destructive effects of a tornado are terrifying. Strong buildings are torn apart and scattered about like kindling wood; large trees are uprooted and the bark stripped off; people and farm animals have been known to be whirled through the air and then dashed to earth. The terrific force of the whirling winds within the storm is demonstrated by the shearing off of large tree limbs and sailing pieces of tin roof and straws and stivers of wood that have been driven deep into boards and posts.

Tornadoes usually appear as a funnel-shaped cloud, spinning rapidly and extending toward the earth from the base of a thundercloud. When near by, a tornado sounds like the roar from hundreds of airplanes.

When reporting a tornado telephone your nearest weather bureau office, police station or civil defense director. Do not delay. But make sure your information is accurate before relaying your message. Tell who you are and where you are, then tell where the tornado is, exactly when observed and the direction toward which it is traveling.

Do not call the law enforcement officials unless you are sure of the storm.

When a storm alert has been sounded, Leonard said not to call the police or sheriff departments for information about the storm. Remember not to call the civil defense or weather bureau, but get information from newspapers or radio. Your individual requests may tie-up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to stations for dissemination in the critical area.

Even though a funnel-shaped cloud may hang down from a larger cloud, as occasionally happens when the sky is threatening, it is not a tornado unless it has the rapidly-rotating motion,

The danger of tornadoes usually has ended as soon as the clouds have cleared and the wind shifts to the west, with the air feeling cooler and drier.

According to Leonard, the last known tornado to hit near Pampa was in the early spring of 1951 when a "twister" whirled a path of destruction through the community of White Deer, 14 miles west of here.

Another tornado hit the communities of Glazier and Higgins in the spring of 1947 which nearly demolished these Panhandle communities.

It is a matter of great importance that the public establish close liaison with schools, administrators of local government, and civil defense officials to develop community action against tornadoes.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism said Sunday the United States still is in the "dark ages" in its efforts to set up a program against alcoholism.

Dr. Winton H. Beaven, director of institutes for the committee, said there are at least six million alcoholics in this country and nine million "problem drinkers."

For First Time In History, Both Demo, G.O.P. Primaries In County May 5th

(Editor's Note: On May 5th, for the first time in history, Gray County voters must choose between voting in the Democratic Primary or the Republican Primary. Both parties are selecting candidates to square off against each other in the general election in November, and voters can participate in only one of the elections.

Previously, all voters who wished to vote in the Primary Election voted only in the Democratic Primary as "admitted" Republicans in the county, or state for that matter, were few and far between.

However, in the last year or two, Republican strength in the state and area has increased to the point that the G.O.P. is holding Primary Elections all across Texas.

Before the Presidential Election in November of 1960, Texans had voted for a Republican for President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President John F. Kennedy carried the state in 1960, however, by a narrow margin. Texans also have elected now, for the first time in history, a Republican U.S. Senator and have broken the Democratic barrier in state representation by electing two Republican members to the Texas House of Representatives.

All of this serves to create an election this year of interest not only to Texans but to the nation as observers will watch intently to see if the state has, in actuality, become a two-party state or if the support for the G.O.P. was temporary.

Here are stories concerning both Primaries.

Democratic Primary

Gray County Democrats will have plenty of names to choose between in their Primary Election May 5.

A total of six men seek to have the Democratic Party behind them in the November General Election in their campaigns for Governor.

Seven seek the Democratic nomination for Precinct Two County Commissioner; three seek Demo support for County Judge and three want to be the party's candidate for Precinct Two Justice of the Peace.

Also, three want to be Demo nominees for 87th District State Representative, two ask party support in the State Senator race and seven are running for the Democratic Party's nomination for Congressman-at-large.

Six seek the Demo Party's support for the Attorney General's office.

and five want to be the party's standard-bearer in the Lieutenant Governor campaign.

Democratic Primary voters will also participate in two state-wide referendums May 6th. One asks if voters want to abolish the poll tax and the other asks voters' opinions on allowing parimutuel wagering on horse races.

A breakdown on contested races follows, with the candidates' names appearing in the order in which they will appear on the ballot.

For Governor:
Don Yarborough of Harris County; Price Daniel of Liberty County; John Connally of Tarrant County; Marshall Formby of Hale County; Edwin A. Walker of Kerr County; and Will Wilson of Dallas County.

For Lieutenant Governor:
Jarrard Sechrist of Bell County; Crawford Martin of Hill County; Robert Baker of Harris County; Preston Smith of Lubbock County; James A. (Jimmy) Turman of Fannin County.

For Attorney General:
Tom James of Dallas County; Lea Procter of Travis County; Waggoner Carr of Lubbock County; Tom McVey of Travis County; W. T. McDonald of Brazos County; and Bob Looney of Travis County.

Russell T. Van Keuren of Harris County; Charles H. Stevenson Jr. of Nueces County; Phil Willis of Kaufman County; Woodrow Wilson Bean of El Paso County; Warren G. Moore of Smith County; Joe Pool of Dallas County; and Manley Head of Travis County.

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court, Place No. 1:
Meade F. Griffin of Hale County; and Jesse Owens of Potter County.

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court, Place No. 3:
Willard G. (Bill) Street of Lamb County; and Zollie Steakley of Travis County.

For Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals:
W. A. Morrison of Milam County; and Otis T. Dunagan of Smith County.

For Railroad Commissioner (Unexpired Term):
Keith Wheatley of Jones County; and Ben Ramsey of San Augustine County.

For Commissioner of Agriculture:
John C. White of Wichita County; and Evetts Haley Jr. of Randall County.

For State Senator, 31st District:
Grady Hazlewood of Potter County; and Charles L. Bellman of Hutchinson County.

For State Representative, 87th District:
Lester A. Jones of Gray County; Grainger McIlhane of Wheeler County; and George W. Terry of Gray County.

For County Judge:

Bruce L. Parker; Clyde L. Caruth; and William J. (Bill) Craig. For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2:

E. C. (Ed) Mackie; John B. Kelly; Dean Monday; G. L. (Nat) Lunsford; Clyde Organ; W. M. Lane; and Marvin C. Webster.

For Justice of Peace, Precinct No. 2:
John E. Brockmeier; E. L. (Ed) Anderson; and J. W. (Bill) Graham.

Republican Primary

Clayton Husted, Gray County Republican chairman, Saturday urged Republican and Independent voters in Gray County to vote in the Republican Primary on May 5.

"It is incumbent upon all Republicans and all Independents who believe in a two-party system to vote in the Republican Primary and demonstrate to the State and to the Nation that Texas is a two-party state," Husted said.

The G.O.P. county chairman went on to say "strong support for Republican conservative candidates will be sought in the May 5 Republican Primary. This, he stated, would materially enhance the likelihood of Republican victory in the general election in November.

In his statement, Husted added:

"The election of Republicans in Texas will be news of national significance, shaking the ultra-liberals to their very foundations and providing encouragement to the conservative cause nationally and in Texas beyond measurement. It will capture the imagination of conservatives all over America."

Husted said Republican primaries will be held in all of the county's 12 precincts except No. 8 at Bowers City and will be held there if some qualified voter volunteers to hold the election.

Republicans voting in the May 5 Republican primary will decide three contested races on a statewide level and two contests on the local Gray County level.

Jack Cox of Breckenridge and Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo seek the Republican nomination for Governor. Bill Hayes of Temple and Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio are running for Lt. Governor.

A three-way contest for Congressman-at-large will be decided between Desmond Barry of Houston, Joe Phillips of Lubbock and Giles Miller of Dallas. In Gray County there are three Republican candidates for County Commissioner in Precinct 2: Bill Tidwell, L. P. Fort and W. C. Epperson. Warren Fatheree and Johnny Willis seek nomination for State Representative from the 87th district.

In addition, voters in the Republican primary will vote on referendum measures regarding (1) whether or not the poll tax should be abolished as a prerequisite for voting, (2) whether or not Padre Island should be made a National Seashore Area, a state park, or no public park at all, and (3) whether Texas should permit parimutuel betting on horse races on a local option basis.

Husted said absentee balloting in the Republican primary will start April 16 and end May 1. Ballots may be obtained either by mail or in person at the County Clerk's Office in the Gray County Courthouse.

Candidates

(Continued From Page 1) candidate for attorney general, both Democrats, will be here Thursday. The time of Connally's arrival in Pampa has not yet been set. Connally, former secretary of the Navy, is conceded by most polls to be one of the front runners in the gubernatorial race.

Carr, whose home is in Lubbock, will arrive in Pampa at 11 a.m. Thursday for a short stop-over and visit with friends. He will be the honored guest at a reception to be held in the county courtroom of the Gray County Courthouse, according to an announcement Saturday by Dist. Atty. Bill Waters.

Carr, now in private practice, was county attorney of Lubbock County for ten years and served two consecutive terms as Speaker of the House while a member of the State Legislature, 1954 through 1957.

Mrs. Diehl's Rites Slated For Monday

Rites for Mrs. Cecelia Pauline Diehl of Lefors will be held at 1 a.m. Monday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Humboldt, Kan.

Two rosaries are planned; the first will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Johnson Funeral Home in Humboldt and the second will be recited on Monday evening in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, where she was a member.

Mrs. Diehl died Friday morning in Dalhart. She was born November 21, 1876 in Sigourney, Iowa, to Jacob and Caroline Steiver. In 1881, she moved with her family to Westphalia, Kan.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Joseph Diehl, who died Oct. 27, 1946.

Survivors are six sons, Ben J. of Lefors, Lawrence J. of Shidler, Okla., Mark J. of Fairfax, Okla., Paul W. of Pawhuska, Okla., Leo C. of Barnsdall, Okla., James E. of Blackwell, Okla.; four daughters, Mrs. Mildred Christian of Houston, Mrs. Lenora Stuckey of Phillips, Mrs. Edna Schwartz of Avant, Okla., and Miss Anna E. Diehl of Wichita, Kan.

She had been making her home for the past 10 years with her son, Ben J. Diehl in Lefors. Interment will be in the Humboldt, Kan. Cemetery.

not wish to make an issue on that point and that he was willing to go before the electors on a vote of confidence basis.

Attorney Heare, however, indicated that in his appeal to the court of civil appeals he probably will attack validity of signatures on the recall petitions.

In an exchange between Attorneys Heare and Norman at Friday night's court hearing, Heare charged that only preliminary examination had shown some of the petitions to have the same names several times, signatures of a husband and wife in the same handwriting and in one instance, he said, one of the signers did not reside in the city.

"We do not know what all will be found until the signatures are thoroughly checked," Heare said. Plaintiffs in Friday's court action were Herman Whatley, W. C. Fry, Claude Wilson, A. W. Lunsford and A. C. Troop. Whatley, Wilson, and Troop also would have been candidates for election

No One Safe From Yeggs

Even policemen are not immune when thieves pick their victims.

Patrolman Charles Matson, 801 Lefors, reported that his garage was broken into, the rear trunk of his car pried open and $100 worth of tools in a toolbox stolen.

There were three other thefts reported to police during the week end.

Tommy Bass, 719 Zimmer, reported the theft of a tire and wheel and a toolbox filled with hand tools from a pickup truck parked in front of his home.

Joann Johnson, student, 1233 Darby, reported to police that two rings left on a washstand in a restroom at Pampa High School were missing when she returned to look for them. She described the rings as one yellow-gold band set with two pearls and a white-gold ring set with a half-carat diamond.

Dock Morrison, proprietor of the Hillson Hotel, 302 W. Foster, said while he was absent from the hotel desk for a few minutes Friday night someone stole a toy bank containing about $5 in change from the desk counter.

Bond Set Here On DWI Charge

Bond was set at $1,000 Saturday for Herman S. Branscum, of Pampa when he pleaded not guilty before County Judge Bill Craig on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Branscum was arrested at 1:25 a.m. Saturday by city police after he was involved in a two-car accident in the 800 block of W. Francis.

The driver of the other vehicle was Walker A. Bird, 1027 S. Hobart. No one was injured in the accident and approximately $195 damage to each auto, was reported by police.

Bachelor Girls... Head For Texas!

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
 United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Bachelor girls aiming to land an eligible male ought to head for Texas. It's a brag—as they call it a fact in Texas—that single men outnumber single females by more than 100,000 in the Lone Star State.

Females who want money as well as a husband ought to remember that you can't tell a thing about a Texan's bank account by the way he dresses.

You must see it to believe it, but the really rich males tend to wear beat-up hats, blue jeans and worn-out boots.

Be prepared also for tall stories and an occasional giant. To suit the latter, most notion counters stock Texas combs along with the regular ones. The Texas combs are a foot or more long.

The cowhand with a toiletry case big enough to hold a Texas comb also gets a full measure when he orders a toothbrush. The typical Texas toothbrush stocked by notion stores is 12 inches long.

Some of the tall stories about Texas lean just a bit from the truth. Not all the streets are slippery from oil. And block-long cars aren't a common sight.

But fancy fixin's in cars are rather easy to find. On my third day in Texas, through no fault of my own, I rode in a car with something more advanced than a built-in bar.

You just press a button and a soda fountain-like contraption turns out the drink of your selection.

Females prospecting for a husband in Texas ought to remember that even bankruptcy in Texas doesn't mean the poor house.

John Randolph reports in "Texas Brags" that exemption from attachment for debt in Texas includes cemetery lots, 20 hogs, 20 sheep, 5 cows and the family library.

Randolph reports also that the Texas compass has six directions—north, south, east, west, up to the moon, and down-to-oil.

The truest tale in Texas: It's hospitality.

When a Texan calls you amigo—friend, he means it.

Show Biz, Says Marjorie Lord, Is A Man's World

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—No place remains so much a man's world as motion pictures and television, says actress Marjorie Lord.
 Marjorie, who plays Danny Thomas' wife in the comedian's weekly series, is half serious, half amused by the inequality of the sexes in show biz.
 "Women are accepted in every other field in the United States," she said during a lunch break on the Thomas show. "Females have made their marks in medicine, science, sports, law, politics, business, industry and, well, you name it."
 "But who ever heard of a female movie mogul?"
 "Even female directors and producers are rare in this darned town. Ida Lupino is the only director who comes to mind. And Gail Patrick Jackson, who produces the 'Perry Mason' series, and Joan Harrison of the 'Alfred Hitchcock Presents' show are the only producers I can think of."

With a touch of humor, the red-haired comedienne said the feminine influence on an executive level would do much to beautify the drabness of movie studios.
 "A fresh coat of paint would do wonders for the sound stages," she suggested. "And chintz curtains would cheer up the offices."
 "Think how much charm would be added to movie and TV work if some of the electricians and grips were women. It would increase efficiency up and down the line."
 Marjorie has a point there. Other than hair stylists and makeup and wardrobe experts the weaker sex is restricted to acting and script girl chores in both television and movies.
 "I realize it is terribly difficult for a woman to direct men for the cameras, especially westerns," Marjorie said. "If more girls became directors maybe we would induce all those dirty men in the horse operas to take baths and wear cologne."
 "Actresses wouldn't mind taking direction from a woman if she had enough stature to be able to give orders to the men in the cast."

 Marjorie, who starred in the theater before coming to Hollywood, is the mother of two and married to Randolph Hale, a San Francisco businessman. It was suggested that she is too pretty to boss the opposite sex around on the job.
 "I'd love to direct," she said, "but there is a certain prejudice against actresses in this town. They believe our marriages won't last and that we're too unstable to do anything on the executive level."
 "Television helps prepare an actress for other work. We aren't spoiled and pampered like movie stars. I feel much more like a business woman in TV because of sponsors and ratings."
 "I'm very conscious of the business side of television and whether our product is selling. My job depends on it."
 Marjorie is a homebody who spends as much free time with her family as possible. She says other staffers share her devotion to home and hearth.
 "Women executives would be the answer to runaway production," Marjorie concluded. "With females in charge all movies and TV shows would be made right here in Hollywood."

Was The Titanic Scapegoat Innocent?

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — "God Himself could not sink this ship, laddy," a steward of the Titanic reassured a nervous passenger. Yet less than three hours after hitting an iceberg in mid-Atlantic, the Titanic, on her maiden voyage to New York, sank with a loss of some 1,500 lives. The date: April 15, 1912.

The intervening 50 years have done nothing to dim the images which the public retains of this terrible disaster. The ship's band playing "Nearer My God to Thee" as the Titanic went down, for example, Millionaire Benjamin Guggenheim and his valet dressing themselves in evening clothes "so that we can meet our maker dressed as gentlemen." But the Titanic left as many unsolved riddles as she did legends in her wake, and the greatest of these mysteries concerns the S.S. Californian, a small vessel anchored only 10 miles away from the stricken Titanic, and thus in a position to save most if not all of the 1,500 lives lost.

Why didn't the Californian go to the rescue of the Titanic? Why did the vessel's skipper, Captain Stanley Lord, fail to heed the rockets which the Titanic fired as distress signals? Was it a combination of stupidity, almost incredible blunders? Or was Captain Lord guilty of negligence? Was he hopelessly drunk in his cabin during the death throes of the Titanic as was darkly hinted?

For the past half century Captain Lord has been the official scapegoat, blamed by both American and British courts of inquiry for the scope of the sea tragedy.

But on the 50th anniversary of the Titanic sinking, an attempt is being made to clear the captain's name. His champion: Leslie Harrison, general secretary of the Mercantile Marine Service Association.

Captain Lord "may well be considered the victim of the grossest miscarriage of justice in the history of British marine inquiries," according to Harrison.

In a report published by the Merchant Navy Journal here, Harrison tears to shreds the findings of the British Court of Inquiry, which blamed Captain Lord.

ITEM: The court castigated Captain Lord for not going to the rescue when he was "only eight to ten" miles away.

FACT: Harrison says the captain was "at least 19 and probably between 25 and 30 miles away."

ITEM: Captain Lord was accused by implication of being in his cabin drunk at the time of the disaster.

FACT: The captain was a teetotaler.

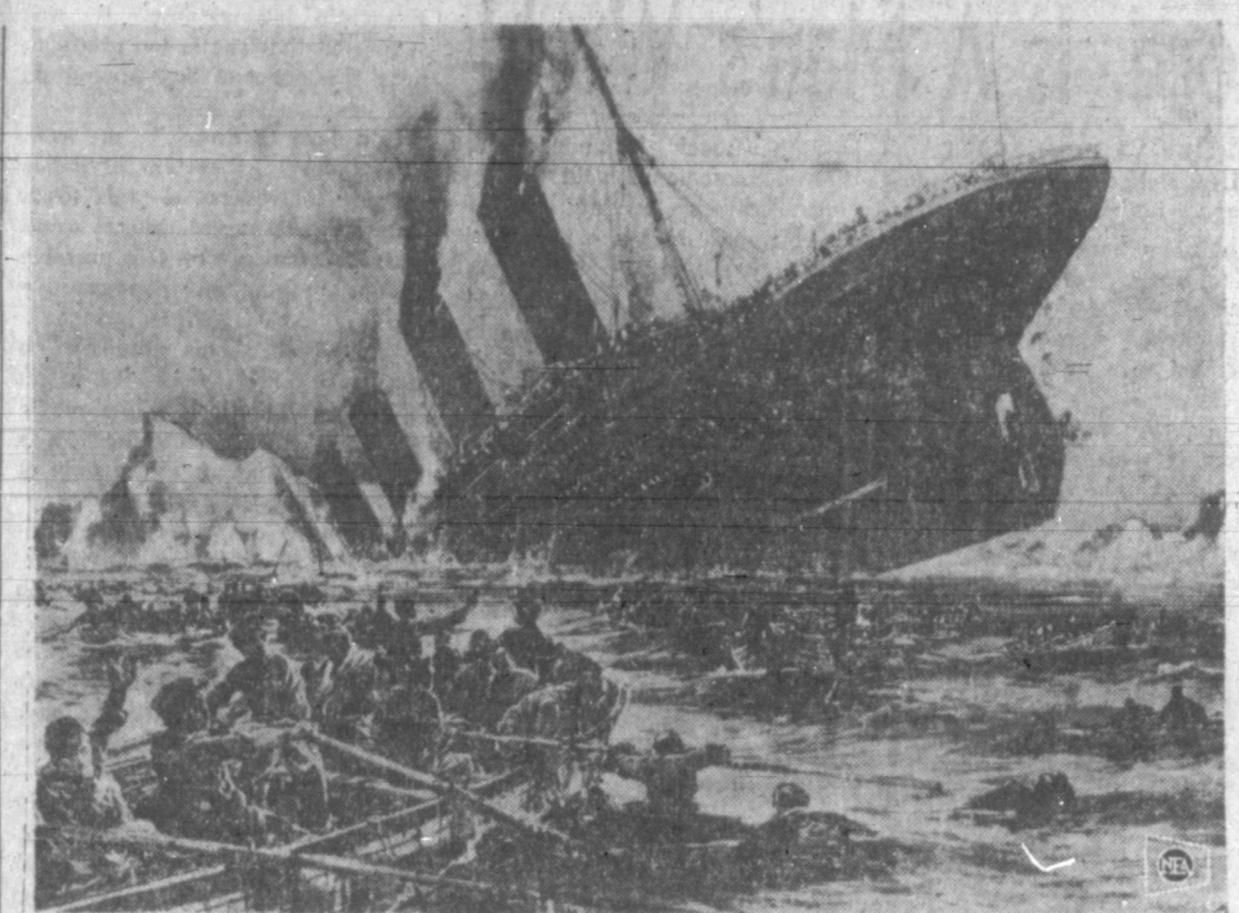

ITEM: Captain Lord was called as an ordinary witness at the inquiry, never warned that his own conduct would be under fire.

FACT: He never had a chance to answer the accusations.

ITEM: Captain Lord failed to head the eight rocket signals fired by the Titanic, even though the signals were reported to him by the officer on watch.

FACT: Even if the captain had appreciated the significance of the signals, it would have been too late for the Californian to steam to the rescue of the Titanic. She could not have reached the sinking ship before the Carpathia did so. The Carpathia picked up many survivors.

Ironically enough, the Californian had twice warned the SURVIVORS struggle to get away from the Titanic in this artist's conception.

Titanic by wireless of icebergs ahead in the hours immediately preceding the disaster, but the big liner continued to steam ahead at 21 knots.

As for Captain Lord he stopped his ship at 10:30 p.m. when he saw that it was surrounded by drifting ice.

Unhappily, the Californian also shut down her wireless set at 11:30 p.m., or 10 minutes before the Titanic hit the iceberg.

Had the Californian's radio been operating, it would have picked up the frantic S.O.S. signals which the Titanic flashed to the world. The final irony is that the attempt to vindicate Captain Lord has come two months too late. Captain Lord died, aged 84, at his home in Wallasey, Cheshire, in January, 1962.

Two Tragic Figures On The Titanic

Robert J. Serling's UPI News-features 50th anniversary story on the sinking of the Titanic.

By United Press International. The most tragic figure on the Titanic was her handsome, dignified, bearded captain, Edward J. Smith.

He was 59 the night the Titanic went down. The ill-fated maiden voyage was the last trip he was scheduled to make before retirement. Smith actually would have retired sooner but traditionally he commanded White Star liners on their maiden voyages.

He went down with his last command. There were rumors Smith shot himself just before the end, but they never were substantiated and suicide did not fit in with his character and admitted courage.

The last crew member known to have seen him alive said later that just before the Titanic sank, Smith was alone on the bridge still holding his megaphone. Another sailor claimed he saw the captain holding a child's head above the water. And there were some accounts telling how Smith nearly reached a lifeboat, before succumbing to the cold.

There was another man on the Titanic touched by particular tragedy. He was J. Bruce Ismay, the somewhat officious managing director of the White Star line.

It was Ismay who ordered the Titanic's speed ranges during various stages of the trip. It was Ismay who knew about the iceberg warnings but made no suggestion to Capt. Smith for slowing the ship down, even though he had issued plenty of other orders during the voyage. And it was Ismay who climbed into a lifeboat when women and children still were aboard the Titanic.

After his rescue, Ismay was bitterly criticized by press and public although the official inquiries made no specific charges against him. Embittered, ashamed and emotionally ruined, he became a recluse and died in 1937.

That's what the obituaries said. He really died April 14, 1912.

Only Five Larger Than The Titanic

By United Press International. The Titanic, built more than 50 years ago, was exceeded in size by only five of today's modern ocean liners.

She was 882.5 feet long and grossed 46,328 tons. The ships surpassing her in both tonnage and size:

- Queen Elizabeth (British): 83,673 tons, 1,031 feet.
- Queen Mary (British): 81,237 tons, 1,019 feet.
- France (French): 66,000 tons, 1,035 feet.
- United States (American): 51,988 tons, 990 feet.
- Liberte (French): 51,838 tons, 936 feet.

The Titanic was bigger than such well-known modern liners as the America, Mauretania, Constitution, Independence and Caronia.

Ships Associated With Titanic Also Hit By Tragedy

By United Press International

Tragedy also touched other ships associated with the Titanic's sinking 50 years ago.

There was, for example, the heroic Carpathia — a much smaller Cunard liner — which rescued the Titanic's survivors.

The Carpathia met an equally violent fate six years after her rescue feat. On July 17, 1918, she was sunk by three German submarine torpedoes off the English coast.

It seldom is remembered that the Titanic had a twin — the Olympic was rammed by the British destroyer Hawk on her first Atlantic crossing, shortly after the Titanic disaster. Fortunately, she did not sink, but 22 years later she was involved in another collision — this time with the lightship Nantucket off the New England coast in 1933.

The lightship sank and, the Olympic itself was scrapped the following year.

Titanic Survivor Says

'I Expected To Die'

EDITOR'S NOTE: A young couple stood on the deck of the liner Titanic 50 years ago this weekend and saw a mass of ice gouge a fatal wound in the "unsinkable" ship's hull. Jacques Futrelle, a New York newspaper man, died in the sea disaster, but his widow was rescued. Her recollections of the Titanic's death, told to UPI reporter John Miller, conflict in part with some of the popular conceptions of the now-legendary sinking.

By JOHN MILLER
United Press International

SCITUATE, Mass. (UPI) — "I expected to die. All I wanted to do was sit and wait for it."

These words were spoken by Mrs. May Futrelle, gray-haired widow of 83, as she recalled the Titanic disaster of 50 years ago in which she was one of 711 survivors. A total of 1,503 other persons, including her husband, Jacques, perished when the White Star liner sank after hitting an iceberg in the North Atlantic.

Mrs. Futrelle, who now lives in this small seaside community, remembers watching in disbelief from a lifeboat as the "unsinkable" Titanic went down.

"One of the misconceptions about the sinking of the Titanic is that she rammed a towering iceberg," said Mrs. Futrelle. "I was standing on a starboard deck with my husband when we hit at 11:40 p.m. April 14. The impact was directly below us. I looked down and saw that we had run onto a 'growler,' a long shelf of ice lying just beneath the surface of the water."

Mrs. Futrelle, author of two novels, also discredits several other tales about the disaster. She said:

—There were no men dressed in women's clothes trying to get into lifeboats.

Paper manufacture in the U.S. consumes enough wood to build a bridge of logs to the moon each year.

LITTLE LIZ

About the only things that can bring some people to their feet are the Star-Sponsored Banner and TV commercials.

—No one stood with a pistol to shoot men who tried to sneak aboard lifeboats.

—An orchestra did not stand on the deck of the sinking ship and play.

"The entire process of evacuation seemed disorganized, but no one screamed or even seemed nervous," she said. "The only person I saw cry was a Spanish bride who had to be separated from her husband."

"As for the orchestra, they had been playing in the lounge. They couldn't have played on the deck since it was tipped at such a precarious angle. Besides, it was so bitterly cold that night that the strings on the violins would have snapped had a bow been drawn across them outside."

Mr. and Mrs. Futrelle had been in England on business. They were traveling first class on "A" deck. Her husband had been a newspaperman with the New York Herald.

"There is another story about that night which isn't true," said Mrs. Futrelle. "There was no poker game in the lounge. It was Sunday and poker was not allowed in the lounge that day. If there was a card game, it was in a private room."

She said few of the survivors were plucked from the icy water. Most of those who fell or jumped overboard froze to death rather than drowned.

"As we fled the sinking ship in the lifeboat," she recalled, "I kept praying she would not go down. By this time the Titanic was over on her side only a couple of hundreds yards from us. I kept saying over and over, 'Let there be a miracle... a miracle... a miracle.'"

"And then the lights on the Titanic went out and she disappeared into the Atlantic."

The old city of Boston once was located on three hills: Beacon, Fort and Copp's.

Public health nursing began in the United States in 1877, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

David Janssen Has Become A Real Movie Star

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — David Janssen departed his "Richard Diamond, Private Detective" television series two years ago to become a full fledged movie star.

After six pictures Dave is something less than fledged, full or otherwise. Five of the six films were cut-throat broodies.

Janssen, a man of no little talent, admits none of them approaches "Ben-Hur" or "Gone With The Wind," but he is giving movies his best shot in hopes of better things to come.

"My first picture, 'Hell to Eternity' was a hit with the critics and it made money," he said, squeezing a slice of lemon into a glass of noonday tomato juice.

"After that came the disasters. 'Remember Dondi?' he asked. 'No? Well neither does any one else. That picture brought back radio and home slides. It was one of the great bombs of our time.'

"Then there was 'King of the Roaring 20's.' I played a gangster. The picture wasn't a catastrophe, but it wasn't a threat to 'West Side Story' either."

His fourth epic was "Twenty Plus Two," which Janssen describes as a turkey. Not just the ordinary run of the mine variety, this bird was turkey a la king.

"After that I settled for an adventure drama, 'Ring of Fire.' It was a qualified disappointment. "The sixth was 'Mantrap,' and it just sort of laid there. You might say it got less than critical acclaim. But it was Edmond O'Brien's first job as director of a major picture."

"Perhaps even will prove Dave's lucky number. He currently is costarring with Debbie Reynolds in 'My Six Loves.' It marks the first time the handsome actor has worked with a star of Debbie's magnitude and his initial appearance in a movie costing more than a million dollars.

To what does Dave attribute his appalling celluloid record? "I wish I knew," he said wistfully. "I don't think I fit into the category of television personalities who have failed to make the grade in pictures. Most of them have had no prior experience as actors before becoming overnight sensations."

DON STANDLEY ... treasurer

JACK LITTLE ... area chairman

Two Men Are Named To Symphonic Drama Campaign

Don Standley, vice president of the First National Bank in Canyon, has been named Area Chairman of the Symphonic Drama Campaign.

Wales Madden, general chairman of the Campaign, made the announcement at a recent meeting of The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

Symphonic drama is the first step in the development of the area arts by the Amarillo Area Foundation with which the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation is affiliated.

The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation was established to tell the story of the history of the Texas Panhandle.

The Panhandle wide campaign seeks funds to build the amphitheater and to establish symphonic drama in Palo Duro Canyon.

Standley is a member of the Canyon Rotary Club and treasurer of the Panhandle Bankers Association. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and is a graduate of West Texas State College.

Standley, his wife, Alice Ruth, and children, Joan, Rob, Donna and Karen, live at 2504 11th Avenue in Canyon.

Jack Little, assistant trust officer of the First National Bank of Amarillo, has been named treasurer of the symphonic drama campaign.

Little is a graduate of Amarillo High School, Texas Tech, and the University of Texas School of Law. He is a member of the Amarillo Bar Association, the Amarillo Jr. Bar, and has been active in the United Fund Campaign and the Golden Spread Forensic Tournament.

Little and his wife, Margaret, and three children, Janet, Karen and Mark, live at 3318 Janet in Amarillo.

'The Taxed American' Second Part To Be Seen On CBS-TV Thursday

Television In Review By RICK DU BROW United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television's "CBS Reports" Thursday presented one of the most daring taxpayers of the year.

A flight engineer who tried to deduct a $1 bar bill for beer as a foreign travel expense because he couldn't drink the water in the country where he bought it.

This heroic suit was one of a number of assorted citizens and officials who appeared on an informative and humorous program, "The Taxed American," which CBS appropriately offered on the eve of Friday the 13th.

The second part of this program — about tax loopholes — will be shown next Thursday. As a public service, CBS might have presented that stuff about loopholes this week instead, before April 15, when it could do some good.

This week's show, hosted by reporter Harry Reasoner, was a brief primer on the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, including a preview of a giant data processing system centered in Martinsburg, W. Va., which some day will record on electronic tape every detail about taxpayers and their filed returns.

The program noted that American wage earners are the biggest source of income in history. And there was an interview with internal revenue Commissioner Mortimer Caplin, in which it was revealed he was a former college boxing champion, a useful background for a tax collector.

Mortimer said happily that most persons just don't have the chance to cheat on taxes. You're right, Mort. It costs too much.

There were good shots of tax agents auditing returns for citizens who apparently did not know they were being photographed, and of a federal man telling a phone caller: "Your wife is always an exemption, never a dependent." I guess it all depends on how you look at it.

Others interviewed included Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, who felt ordinary citizens would be hurt by pending legislation that would extend the withholding tax to dividends and interest; and Vincent Sardi, owner of the famous New York restaurant, Sarat the knee, forward, as if you were going to take a step. Then, in a snappy motion, make the other leg straight, and the one that was straight, bent forward. Do all this without moving the feet more than a couple of inches.

You got it? If you're not out of joint by the time you've learned the basic, go onto the "meat" of the dance—the improvisations. In this, the dancers improvise with the hands, head, and body, sort of charades to dance music.

From Austin, our man Carlton Wilson said students at the University of Texas had been doing the U-T since last fall — probably learning it from Tennessee students during the summer. At least, he said, that was the case with DeWitt Weaver, 22, of Mobile, Ala., who is captain of the Southern Methodist golf team.

He played in a tournament in Tennessee, learned the U-T, and was one of those who took it to Texas. Weaver taught his 19-year old sister, Kitty, a University of Texas student, who in turn taught it to her sorority sisters. Kitty said variations include the William Tell, where partners go through a bow and arrow routine, the lasso, baseball and basketball, the latter, in which dancers pretend to be playing the various games.

Said Miss Weaver, "the U-T takes a lot of coordination...to bend in the knees and then pop 'em out."

'Twist' Getting To Be Old-Fashioned?

By GAY PAULEY. NEW YORK (UPI) — All of you who gyrate to the twist may be a step behind the times.

Another dance has moved into the reaches of teen-agers' haunts, and at the rate it is catching on in some parts of the country, it may turn into a national fad.

It does, oil up the knee joints. You'll need cooperative ones for the dance.

It's something called the "U-T" originated in the South, and first demonstrated to this reporter by an 18-year-old brunette from Hartlingen, Tex. She was Karen Frances McMillan, the Texas Junior Miss entry in the recent America's Junior Miss pageant at Mobile, Ala.

I was one of five judges helping select a '62 Miss (she turned out to be Miss Rhode Island), and one of us asked Miss Texas how the twist rated these days with teen-agers, notable for being first to pick up a fad.

"Oh it," she said, "we're not doing the twist anymore. 'We're poppin' our knees.' 'You're what?' shouted one of the judges, dropping his pencil. 'Poppin' our knees,' she said. 'We also call it the U-T.' It's generally conceded, she said, that the dance got a head start at the University of Tennessee.

"Want to see how the U-T's done?" she said. She explained it is danced in about one square foot for each foot. Stand with one leg straight and the other bent at the knee, forward, as if you were going to take a step. Then, in a snappy motion, make the other leg straight, and the one that was straight, bent forward. Do all this without moving the feet more than a couple of inches.

You got it? If you're not out of joint by the time you've learned the basic, go onto the "meat" of the dance—the improvisations. In this, the dancers improvise with the hands, head, and body, sort of charades to dance music.

From Austin, our man Carlton Wilson said students at the University of Texas had been doing the U-T since last fall — probably learning it from Tennessee students during the summer. At least, he said, that was the case with DeWitt Weaver, 22, of Mobile, Ala., who is captain of the Southern Methodist golf team.

He played in a tournament in Tennessee, learned the U-T, and was one of those who took it to Texas. Weaver taught his 19-year old sister, Kitty, a University of Texas student, who in turn taught it to her sorority sisters. Kitty said variations include the William Tell, where partners go through a bow and arrow routine, the lasso, baseball and basketball, the latter, in which dancers pretend to be playing the various games.

Said Miss Weaver, "the U-T takes a lot of coordination...to bend in the knees and then pop 'em out."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

FILING A DECLARATION OF ESTIMATED TAX

The Declaration of Estimated Income Tax, form 1040-ES, is overlooked by many taxpayers who regularly file income tax returns. The purpose of this return is to put you on a pay-as-you-go basis as income is earned, where either the income you earn is not subject to withholding taxes or the withholding taxes are less than the net tax which you will have to pay upon filing your return.

The failure to file this return might result in a 6 per cent charge on the underpayment of installments which you should have paid. It is also to your advantage to file the return and pay your taxes on an installment basis so that you will not have a large amount of tax due at the time that you file your return.

Generally, an estimate must be filed if you expect to earn more than $200 in income not covered by withholding taxes. In addition, you must file this return if you are single and expect to earn more than $5,000 in 1962 or are married and expect to receive more than $10,000 in 1962. However, no estimate need be filed if your estimated tax liability is expected to be less than $40.

If you are within the class of taxpayers required to file this return, your estimate is due not later than April 15, 1962, on form 1040-ES. With the return you must pay 25 per cent of the difference between your estimated tax and the amount you estimate will be withheld in 1962 by your employer. Similar quarterly payments are due on June 15, 1962, September 15, 1962, and January 15, 1963.

By filing this return and estimating your income tax to be the same or greater than the tax which you paid for the previous year, you will avoid all potential liability for interest penalties under the provisions of this section. However, if you attempt to estimate your exact amount of tax for the coming year, and estimate incorrectly, you should file an estimate or amend your estimate on the date the next quarterly tax payment is due and pay your amended estimated taxes over the remaining installment periods.

Farmers who earn at least 2-3 of their gross income from farming have until January 15, 1963, to file their declaration of estimated 1962 income tax. At this time, the entire estimated income tax is due. However, if he prefers, a farmer may file his final 1962 income tax return by February 15, 1963, and pay his entire income tax due at that time instead of filing an estimate on or before January 15, 1963.

Pampa Nine Drops Two Weekend Diamond Tilts

Pampa's Harvesters, after administering a convincing 14-0 victory over Palo Duro, suffered a pair of losses in weekend games to Lubbock schools at the Optimist park.

The Harvesters lost Friday afternoon to Lubbock high, 5-4 and then were set down 8-1 Saturday afternoon at the hands of Monterey high. The two losses left the Harvesters with a 2-4 record in loop play.

Friday, Mike Clark was the victim of the Westerners attack, giving up six hits in suffering his second loss of the year in loop play. He has won one.

The Harvesters jumped off to a 2-0 lead Friday in the third inning. Mike Clark opened the inning with a single. After Gerrel Owens flied out, Butch Crossland singled. Kenny Hebert then struck out, but John Arthur and Howard Reed followed with back to back singles to give the local nine an early lead.

The Westerners tied it up in the fourth when Henderson singled to open the inning. Dement later followed with a single and Johnson smashed out a double to account for the pair of runs.

The Harvesters then went ahead again with two runs in their half of the fourth. Larry Gregory opened with a single but was caught off first. Rickey Stewart then struck out, but Clark walked. Owens tripled and Crossland singled to put the Harvesters ahead by two.

The visitors then added three more runs in the sixth to ice it away. Dement was safe on an error, Johnson doubled, and later came in to score on a throwing error by shortstop Crossland.

Against the Plainsmen, the visitors unleashed a ten-hit attack which wrecked the Harvesters and sent them down to their fourth loop loss.

Jerry Glover suffered the loss, also his second of the year. He has won one.

The Harvesters picked up their lone run in the fifth inning. Ricky Stewart was safe on an error and reached down to second base on the play. Later, with two out, Owens came through with a run scoring single to account for the Harvesters lone run of the game.

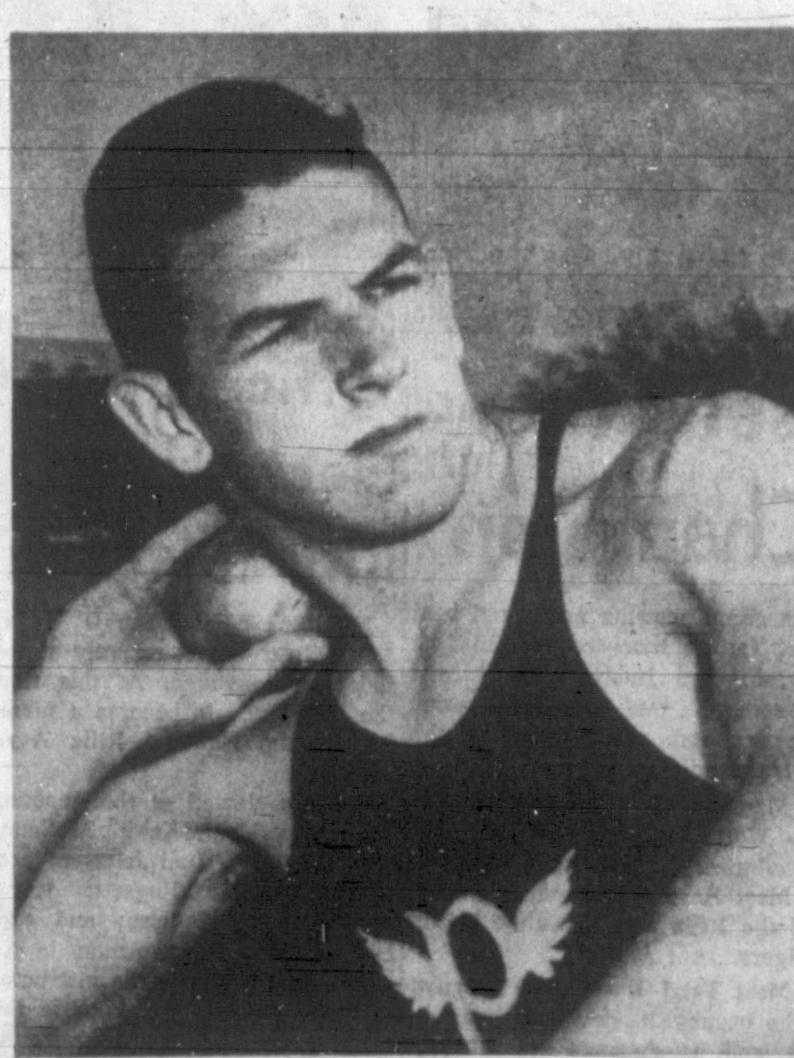

Monterey picked up two runs in the first, three in the second, two in the fourth and one in the final inning to sew up the game.

The Harvesters host Berger Tuesday at 4 p.m. in their next diamond outing.

55TH YEAR SUNDAY, APRIL 15, 1962

AUSTIN BOUND is Randy Matson, 6-5 cinder star for the Pampa Harvesters following his two record-shattering performances in the Regional 1 track and field meet in Odessa Saturday. Matson broke the shot put mark with a toss of 62 feet 8 1/2 inches and also the discus record with a heave of 186 feet 6 1/2 inches to earn two state berths. His shot put mark also tied the state high school record. (Daily News Staff Photo)

Harvester Cinder Star Wins Two State Berths

Randy Matson earned a berth in the state track and field meet in Austin Saturday afternoon when he tied the Texas state high school record in the shot put and won the discus event in the Regional 1 meet in Odessa.

Matson won the right to enter the big state extravaganza May 4-5 in the two events when he threw the 12-pound iron ball a record-tying 62 feet 8 1/2 inches to tie the mark set by Inman of Belton in 1960 and then eclipsed the regional mark in the discus with a throw of 186 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Matson bettered the regional shot put mark of 58 feet 3 inches set by Kenneth Henson of San Angelo in 1960 by 4 feet 5 1/2 inches while the 6-5 inch junior topped the regional mark in the discus by 16 feet five inches to complete a clean sweep in both events. The former mark was set by Richard Stafford of Matador in 1958 with a throw of 170 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Bill Martin, the other Harvester, entered in the far-flung regional meet, placed fifth in the high jump with a jump of six feet.

Matson thus extended his record-breaking streak in the shot put to eight meets with the victory in the regionals Saturday. Previously the broad-shouldered athlete had set shot put standards in the Fort Stockton Invitational, the Snyder relays, the Graham Invitational meet, the Odessa relays, the Lubbock Invitational meet, the Amarillo relays and the District 3-AAAA meet.

Matson orbited the iron ball 60 feet 10 inches in the district meet for his second best toss this year. He has maintained a better than 50-foot average in each meet he has participated in this year in gaining the big showdown in Austin in three weeks.

Randy is the second cinder star heave of 49 feet 11 inches.

Matson will have one more meet to prime for the state showdown. Next Saturday the Harvester cindermen take part in the Red Raider relays. Matson, of course, will be a hands down heavy favorite to make it a ninth straight record when he picks up the 12-pound sphere in the one-day meet.

One thing is for sure. The eyes of Texas will be upon Pampa and a great athlete by the name of Randy Matson.

Angels Are Hoping For Good Year

EDITORS NOTE: The following is another in a series of dispatches sizing up the prospects of the major league baseball teams.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — "We're aiming for the first division," Fred Haney, the baseball-wise general manager of the Los Angeles Angels, declares, and then shuffles away a few steps to be with his own thoughts.

Later, manager Bill Rigney clatters into the clubhouse on his nervous spikes and barks, "yeah, we can improve over last year if we stop dropping fly balls and throwing to the wrong base. Mistakes like that cost us 10 or 12 games."

Heading into their second season as a big league team, the Angels are faced with the chore of bettering an eighth place windup which left them 38 1/2 games behind the New York Yankees.

This time they have several factors going for them. Rigney knows his team better and has workmen instead of last year's "convention" that featured 17 different infielders.

Rigney also has a fairly formidable outfield in left-fielder Leon Wagner, center-fielder Ken Hunt and right-fielder Albie Pearson. The pitching staff seems to have that case-hardened quality with such men as Ken McBride (12-15), Eli Grba (11-13), Ted Bowfield (11-8), Ryne Duren (6-13) and Art Fiwler (5-8) back on deck.

The club has not swung any deals and seems to be depending on experience, and a more daring type of game, to help it up the ladder.

It's byebye to Wrigley Field, where the close-in fences had many members of the squad swinging from the handle. The Angels are becoming tenants of the Los Angeles Dodgers at Chavez Ravine where the measurements are 330 feet down each line and 410 feet to center field.

"Since we'll be in a bigger park, we plan to play a more exciting brand of game with the stress on the hit and run and the steal," Rigney says. "Yes, and we're going to try like hell to move up in the standings."

The main questions are whether Ed Yost, now 35, can get in a full season at third base and whether first baseman-outfielder Lee Thomas will be much handicapped by a broken bone in one foot.

Yost sustained a fractured hand last April when Bill Stafford of the Yankees hit him with a pitched ball. Thomas, incurred his fracture while exercising this winter. He is playing with a special pad in his shoe.

Both players have said that they feel all right. But if Yost started to fade there would be Felix Torres, a 280 hitter last year at Buffalo, to back him up. Or Tom Satriano, who also has been working out at second.

Backing Thomas is Steve Bilko, who claims that he still is loaded with home run power whether the fences are close or far.

At shortstop it looks like either Joe Koppe, who had a big rookie year with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1959, or yearling Jim Fregosi. Billy Moran, a good line drive hitter at times, rates as the second baseman.

Bob Rodgers, a switch-hitting rookie, views with Fregosi for rookie of the spring honors. Rodgers is a catcher and may be in the opening day lineup, beating out such vets as Ed Sedowski and Earl Averill.

Lopez Is Hoping For Yankee Downfall

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — The hope rides high in all of them in the springtime but it surges stronger in Al Lopez today than it does in most.

The Yankees have blown the pennant only twice in the last 13 years. Lopez is the man who stopped them both times, first with the Cleveland Indians in 1954 and then when the Chicago White Sox gained their first pennant in 40 years in 1959.

Now he thinks the time is ripe again.

His reasons are sound, too.

"We're stronger all around," he says enthusiastically. "And they can't all have the kind of superb years they had last season. Not all at once again."

The good senior grimaces when he thinks of the one just past. He has been managing 11 years in the major leagues and 1961 was his worst finish as the White Sox limped home fourth. Before that he had been third once and, besides those two flags, finished second a total of seven times.

"They're the club to beat, no question about that," he said, speaking of the Yankees as does everybody else in the league when they talk of winning. "But, as I said, they had four or five players who had superb years all together, and yet they didn't put it away until their last series against Detroit."

"Whitney Ford had a great year winning 25," he added like a man counting somebody else's money. "Luis Arroyo was great, setting a record by finishing 54 games for them. Elston Howard was great. You gotta be to hit .348. And Roger Maris had his greatest year by far."

"It just doesn't make sense," Lopez asserted, "to figure that they'll all be able to play back to those kind of seasons again."

Meanwhile, the amiable Lopez analyzes, his White Sox are improved enough in every department to give it the big go.

Two Tied In Greensboro Open Meet

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Billy Casper shot a three-under-par 68 Saturday to share the lead with defending champion Mike Souchak with a 207 total after 54 holes of the $35,000 Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Souchak, who followed his first round 68 with a 69 Friday, moved up another notch Saturday with a 70.

Two strokes back of the leaders at 209 were slamm'n' Sammy Snead, seven time winner of the Greensboro Open, and Jerry Steel-smith, of Glendale, Calif. Snead pulled up on the leaders with a hot four-under-par 67 while Steel-smith fashioned a 70.

Casper, from Apple Valley, Calif., had two birdies and an eagle and a chance to claim the lead all alone until he hit the 15th hole where he took a bogey. His birdies came on the 501-yard No. 6 and No. 8, his eagle on the par-5 14th hole.

Souchak, from nearby Durham, N.C., conceded he played better golf the last two days. He had one or two "great putts" Saturday but missed an easy one on the 11th hole which he parred.

Souchak had been tied with Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas, Nev., for a share of the lead going into Saturday's round. Casper picked up his two strokes on Souchak on the first nine, where Casper had a 34 to Souchak's 36.

Maxwell skied to a 73 Saturday after a smart 67 Friday. His total for three rounds was 210 after he, double-bogied the 13th and 15th holes and bogied the 2nd and 8th. Four birdies saved him from fanning much worse.

The field was cut for the final round Sunday to the low 60 pros and ties and four amateurs who made the 224 cutoff, 11-over-par at the Sedgfield Country Club course.

Snead shot his best golf in three days, carding a 33-34-67 total with birdies on the 2nd, 3rd, 6th, and 14th holes.

Steel-smith, who went into the third round tied with Casper and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., at 139, was one under par with a 35-35-70. He bogied the first and 13th, but picked up birdies on nos. 6, 7 and 11.

Rudolph took a 38-34-72 for a 211 total, four strokes back of the leaders.

Bunched at 212 were Julius Boros, with a 69, Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, 72; and Jim Ferrier, Burbank Calif., 72.

Four players were at even par 213—Frank Boynton, Corpus Christi, Tex., who shot a 70; George Bayer, Miami, 71; Don Fairfield, Champaign, Ill., 70; and Bill Dunk of Gosford, Australia, 71.

Giants Romp To 13-6 Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The undefeated San Francisco Giants, capitalizing on six errors by the Cincinnati Reds and getting two homers apiece from Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou, roared to a 13-6 victory Saturday over the jittery National League champs.

Seven of the Giant runs were unearned as they posted their fifth straight triumph and handed Cincinnati its fifth defeat in six contests.

The Northern hemisphere supplies nearly 95 per cent of the world's fish catch.

Pony League Squad Members Chosen For Coming Diamond Year On Seven Teams

Members of the seven Pony League baseball teams were chosen this past week with workouts slated for all seven teams every Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

Rodgers' Hits Lead Angels Past Minnesota Twins, 12-5

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Bob Rodgers and Lee Thomas powered the Los Angeles Angels to a 12-5 win over the Minnesota Twins Saturday in a frigid Twin Cities opener.

Rodgers drove in five runs with a single and a bases-loaded triple. His triple in the sixth provided the Angels with the winning margin.

Thomas connected for a three-run homer in the ninth off Twins' reliever Ray Moore, the fifth Minnesota pitcher. The round-tripper was Thomas' first hit of the season.

Minnesota scored four of its runs on homers. Zoilo Versalles hit a two-run blast in the second while Lenny Green and rookie Rich Rollins added solo homers in the third and fourth respectively.

Ryne Duren, who came on in the fifth for Los Angeles, gained credit for his first victory of the season.

Duren held the Twins hitless the three innings he worked. He retired in the eighth with a sore elbow and Tom Morgan finished.

George Maranda, the second of five Twins' hurlers, was charged with his first loss. A crowd of 8,363

Giants Romp To 13-6 Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The undefeated San Francisco Giants, capitalizing on six errors by the Cincinnati Reds and getting two homers apiece from Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou, roared to a 13-6 victory Saturday over the jittery National League champs.

Seven of the Giant runs were unearned as they posted their fifth straight triumph and handed Cincinnati its fifth defeat in six contests.

The Northern hemisphere supplies nearly 95 per cent of the world's fish catch.

BEARS MEET LONGHORNS

AUSTIN (UPI) — Baylor, with its best shot at a Southwest Conference baseball title in 29 years, meets the University of Texas Longhorns in Austin for a critical two-game series Monday and Tuesday. Baylor has a 5-1 conference record and a sweep of the series would put the Bears in command of the championship race. The Bears missed winning the championship by a half-game margin last season.

Golfers Seek Pension Fund

NEW YORK (UPI)—The sad finale for Porky Oliver and the astute financial workings of the major league baseball players has the nation's golf pros shooting at their own pension fund today.

The all-too-brief years in which athletes are able to earn big money, and an income tax structure which prevents them from keeping it, has become a matter of paramount concern to those involved.

And, while many a golf pro has wound up on a hungry hearth if not as a wandering caddy, Oliver's was a shocking case.

The ever-smiling, always-jovial Porky died flat broke. He had hit the big money jackpot here and there on the tour and had been a club pro as well. But illness quickly ate up his meager funds and friends had to rush to his aid.

Certainly you can't blame the ball players for fattening the kitty this easily as long as the public will supply the patronage.

Pro football's still toothless players' organization has begun to make stronger and stronger demands of the owners, too, along the lines of a pension fund. With the burgeoning of the game, it's only a matter of time until they get the same concessions as the ball players.

But the golf pros didn't have that kind of a till to dip in to, for theirs is a special type of setup.

There are less than 200 touring or tournament pros and, while they belong to the Professional Golfers Association, they are individual businessmen shooting for an individual payoff. They pay their own expenses and keep what they earn in tournaments. They are in no position to demand a "cut" of the sponsors' television income. If they don't show up to slice up the money melon at stake, somebody else will.

The top winners among the pros make big money, anywhere from $50,000 to $125,000 a year—before taxes. But those types always will be in demand.

"It's the 'home pros,' the real backbone of the game, who need and, from all appearances, finally are going to get some help. These are fellows like the pro at the country club in your town, and they've done it with a very simple gimmick.

Professionals in the southern section are testing it now, a golf course accident insurance policy which sells for $4 a year, not as much as you pay to take care of your clubs. For any accident, or death, on the golf course, it pays up to $500 for medical expenses and $5,000 for permanent injury or death.

Some pros shied off, at first, because they feared it might antagonize insurance men who were members at their club. But the insurance men don't handle this type of risk.

Scribe Foresees New Home Run Champion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball's best bets for 1962:

The pennants—The New York Yankees, the club with the fewest question marks, on their blazing power and bench strength; the Los Angeles Dodgers by a nose in a five-team National League scuffle.

Batting Champions—Vada Pinson of Cincinnati, a speedster not afflicted with home run fever, goes to the top in the National, edging Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves; Elston Howard of the Yankees is convinced he can do it in the American League.

Home Runs—Mickey Mantle edges Yankee teammate Roger Maris on the theory Mickey will encounter less pressure in the early weeks; Orlando Cepeda of the Giants, the NL's top candidate to make a run at Babe Ruth's 154-game record.

Pitchers—You have to go with Warren Spahn of the Braves until he begins to act his over-40 years; durable Frank Lary of the Detroit Tigers in the American.

Best Relievers—Stu Miller, the Giant junkballer, figures to retain his honors; ditto Luis Arroyo of the Yankees, though Luis may not match his 15-5 record of last year.

Comeback of the Year—A couple of pitchers could figure here: Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox, hit by a sore arm in mid-1961, and Ernie Broglio of the St. Louis Cardinals, who skidded from 21 victories in '60 to only nine last year.

ing camp showing and could beat out Yankee shortstop hopeful Tom Tresh; Ken Hubbs, Cubs second basemen, was another spring dazzler and gets a vote as the NL's candidate.

Manager On The Hottest Spot—Walt Alston of the Dodgers, who must be used to it by now.

Most Base Hits—Vada Pinson of the Reds and Al Kaline of the Tigers.

Most Total Bases—Two guys who usually hit for high average as well as distance—Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Hank Aaron of the Braves.

Best Pinch Hitter—Jerry Lynch of the Reds, regarded as baseball's peerless pinch, and John Blanchard of the Yankees, a long ball belter.

Stolen Bases—Maury Wills of the Dodgers and Luis Aparicio of the White Sox, a couple of throwbacks to the days when stealing was a major art.

Cellar Dwellers—Washington is nominated again and, in the newly expanded National League, Houston generally is considered the 10th slot.

Toughest Jobs Ahead—Cincinnati retaining its NL pennant, Roger Maris making a good home run showing, Norm Cash of the Tigers defending his batting title, Casey Stengel trying to retain his sanity while managing the makeshift Mets, all hands when the wind is blowing at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Most Valuable Players—Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and a fiercer on Orlando Cepeda of the Giants.

Best Bet O' All—Don't bet the grocery money unless you own the store.

Officers Are Elected At Rifle Meeting

Members of the Top O' Texas 4-H Rifle club met recently at the indoor rifle range. At this time the club voted to become a member of the National Rifle Association.

Officers elected at this meeting were: president, Keith McCann; vice president, Judi Johnson; secretary, Cynthia Hogsett; treasurer, Sammy Coulson; and executive, James Baggerman.

Robert McCann is the instructor for this group. Tom Veal is the adult leader with the following as his advisor committee: Cecil Regier, H. B. Taylor, James Reeves, Dale Coulson, Mrs. Myron Dorman, and Mrs. Delores Johnson. The members of the club receive instruction in rifle shooting and safety each week.

Indians Win 6-4 Over Washington

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians scored six runs in the first inning Saturday and rolled to a 6-4 victory over the previously unbeaten Washington Senators.

The Tribe's opening outburst provided Gary Bell enough margin to survive a three-run homer by Dale Long in the seventh inning and a solo blast by Danny O'Connell in the ninth.

Bell, making his first start of the season, gave up 12 hits, but pitched his way out of several jams: He started two double plays and Willie Kirkland cut down one run at the plate with a rifle throw from right field.

Nervous Oriole Rookie Responded With Homer

NEW YORK (UPI)—To most of them, opening day was just the start of another shift at the factory—but to the kid with the red-blond hair and the big man's body it was Christmas, New Year's and the Fourth of July all wrapped up in one sun-kissed package.

"I'm as nervous as can be," said John (Boog) Powell, 20-year-old rookie outfielder of the Baltimore Orioles as he scraped his cleats in the batting cage dirt at Yankee Stadium. "I'm as nervous as everything."

He didn't look it, or show it, as he stepped in and seemingly without effort poled a drive into the right field seats and yet Powell knew that his big chance had arrived at last.

"If he comes through for us, as well as Earl Robinson in that other outfield spot," Manager Billy Hitchcock said, "we could make a real run at it. I certainly don't think that the Yankees are unbeatable."

By now, nobody has to tell Powell how much it will mean to the Orioles if he can hit it big. And this was the start of the acid test he will undergo within the next few weeks, being noted as a slow starter in the spring.

"Actually, I'm not too worried, just nervous," Boog said in a low voice which seemed alien coming from a 1 foot, 4 inch frame on which he packs 240 pounds. "I feel I learned a lot this spring; I feel much more at home in the outfield than I have before."

They don't ever expect him to be a gazelle in the outfield, for he is a big one along the lines of a young Johnny Mize or Ted Kluszewski. The neck and shoulders are power-packed, set much like those of Mickey Mantle, and from the waist down he's a pro grid tackle.

"But he runs pretty good for a big man," Hitchcock said. "No Jesse Owens, of course. But he can get around the bases. He's developed well for us, I believe. Powell learns well and he must have caught 10,000 fly balls this spring."

"It isn't a lack of ability with him," Hitchcock added in his quiet, analytical manner. "It's only a lack of experience. How to break with the ball and things like that. He didn't look too good in Florida but that was because of the high winds. Up here it should be different for him."

Powell comes from Key West,

Fla., which he referred to smilingly as "northern Cuba." He turned down seven football scholarship offers when he graduated from high school in 1959 to accept a $35,000 bonus from the Orioles. That year, with Bluefield in the class D Appalachian League, he batted .351. The next season, with Fox Cities of the class B Three-Eye League, he hit .312. Then, last season at Rochester, the youngest player in the International League, he batted .320 and led the league with 32 home runs.

When he was a toddler, according to his father, he was "a little bugger" always into mischief. That was shortened to "Boog," and hence the nickname. But Coach Harry (The Cat) Brecheen thinks that he'll be a "big bugger" to American League pitchers before long.

"He's the best looking prospect I've seen in a long, long while," asserted Brecheen. "He can be a real great one."

But the boy with the man's body is on the spot and knows it. Which, along with the added excitement of opening day, accounted for "Boog's" admitted nervousness the day his big season started.

West Texas Fishermen Can Now Catch Plenty Of Coastal Fish

United Press International—The coastal fish put in salty inland Texas waters as an experiment are not only surviving, they are doing better than their fellows left behind in the sea, the State Game and Fish Commission says.

For fishermen, this means fishing for flounder, croakers, sea trout and redfish may be a steady thing now in the inland saline waters of West Texas.

In cooperation with the coastal fisheries division the four species of marine fish were introduced into the Pecos River, Imperial Reservoir and Red Bluff Reservoir in Reeves County a year ago. A recent check on the fish showed a significant number survived the change of homes and even got fatter and bigger than normal growth for the species.

"The commission reports the fish have enjoyed an exceptionally high degree of well-being."

FUTURE COUGARS
HOUSTON (UPI)—Tackle Ray Dudley and halfback Bobby Robbins of Jacksonville, Tex., High School have announced intentions to enroll at the University of Houston next fall.

Both players are 18-years-old. Dudley, a 228-pounder, was All-State last season and has been nominated to play in the annual All-America high school game. Robbins was all-state in 1960.

generally in poor condition when put in the lakes, was not available.

The redfish promised good fishing, at weights up to nearly seven pounds. Flounder—which make excellent eating—fattened to around four and a half pounds, and croakers weighed from half a pound to three-quarters of a pound.

As a result of the study, biologists recommend putting more of the fish in saline waters to keep up a breeding population and insure that fishermen in West Texas can take a coastal fishing visit by proxy by wetting their lines in West Texas reservoirs spotted seatrout, which were

McGaha To Have Quite A Bit Of Control Over Cleveland Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (NEA)—Mel McGaha speaks with the confident brashness of a freshman manager, but I have an idea that the handsome Arkansas alumnus will have more control of the Indians than anyone since Al Lopez left Cleveland Stadium for Comiskey Park.

Listening to the Cleveland players you would gather that the departure of Jimmy Piersall and his little bag of tricks straightens everything out: Piersall might have amused the fans, but obviously he didn't contribute to the peace of mind of his more serious teammates. Tito Francona is guilty of the understatement of the spring when he says that Piersall's antics were "distracting."

McGaha, who further prepared himself for the big job by serving as a coach last season, must have agreed with the hired hands, for he assures you that he worked very closely with General Manager Gabe Paul on deals.

"We would not have traded Piersall to Washington, had I not believed that Ty Cline was ready to take over in center field," McGaha told me as the Tribe took batting practice prior to an exhibition game with the new Houston Colts at Hi Corbett Field on the outskirts of Tucson.

Tyrone Alexander Cline is a leg nitter who was paid $30,000 for signing fresh out of Clemson and has been in organized baseball only two years. Piersall wasn't much more than a leg hitter, come to think of it.

And 22-year-old Ty—what a name for an outfielder—doesn't have to tell you that he can snag a fly ball just as well and throw better than Piersall. He shows you he can do this. He is the fastest man in camp, goes from first base to third with the speed of the desert wind.

It's the same old story. Cline's immediate future rests with his hitting. Experts on such matters place the stamp of approval on his swing, and he managed to bat .290, drive in 69 runs and score 75 in 144 Pacific Coast League games, half of them in the thin air of Salt Lake. The previous campaign he hit .311 in 95 outings with Mobile. He finished both campaigns with the parent club. Seven years of managing in the minors, where he hopes he left all of his mistakes, has taught McGaha not to depend solely on one recruit, however, so he explains that he can turn in at least three other directions in the event Cline flops.

Palmer Right On 'Slam' Schedule

NEW YORK (UPI) — The psychological spark for which he is always looking, put Arnold Palmer on grand slam "schedule" today by producing a devastating finish which won his third Masters title.

"If I get a birdie at the proper moment, just when I need a psychological lift, then I figure I can birdie them all from there on," he explained as he headed into the Masters. "If it doesn't come, you just keep plowing."

It came for him on the 10th hole of the Masters, a birdie against a bogey for front-running Gary Player to cut Palmer's deficit to one shot, and he was on his way.

The "way" will be a long one. "What I want is the big slam," he said in laying out his plans for the year. "I want the Masters, U.S. Open, PGA and British Open all in one year. But you have to win the Masters first to have the chance."

Now he has it again. The brawny Pennsylvanian with the crunching power had it in 1960 when he copped the Masters and then took the U.S. Open. But he finished one shot back in the British Open at St. Andrews. The incentive gone, Arnie finished well back in the PGA.

"After losing the British, I guess I just ran out of steam," he said. "The letdown was too much. If I'd won the British I'd have rolled into the PGA on sheer momentum."

It still was a magnificent year for him in '60. He won two of the big ones and led the money winners with a record $75,261. And, while he lost the Masters to this same Player last year, he had another fabulous season by finishing second among the money winners and winning the British Open on his second try.

But the chase for the "big slam" wasn't there after that loss to Player in the Masters.

Then, Monday, it looked as if Palmer might have to wait another year for his "slam" attempt. Because as they went into the final nine holes, little Gary was three strokes ahead of him in a triple playoff with Dow Finsterwald.

But that's where Palmer got the "lift" which he regards with almost superstitious fascination as a good luck omen.

He has his reasons. In the U.S. Open at Cherry Hills in 1960 he was seven shots back of Mike Souchak when they started the final round. Nobody even knew he was still on the premises.

But Arnie started with a birdie and got that "lift." He proceeded to birdie six of the first seven holes and shot the hottest final round in Open history, a six under par 30-35-65 that took the jack-pot.

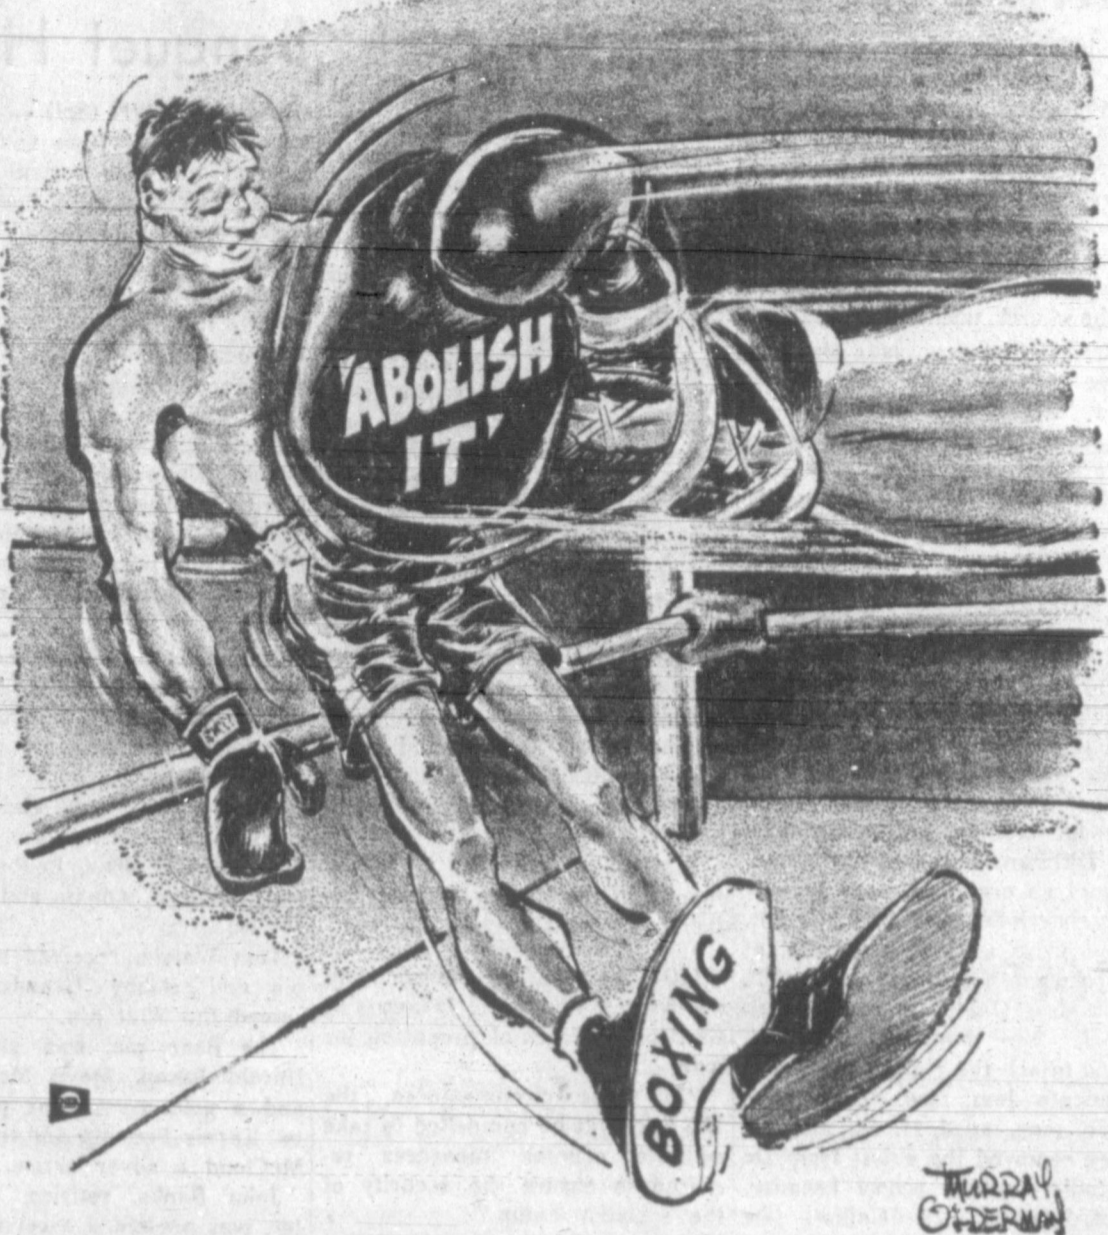

So that birdie on the 10th hole Monday was more of the same, the shot in the arm which transformed him from grim plowman to lighthearted links magician.

Because the husky, brown-haired 32-year-old from Latrobe, Pa., birdied four of the next six holes—a total of five birdies and four pars on the final nine holes—to shoot a 27-11-68 which left Player three strokes in his wake when it was all over.

The stroke by stroke is interesting, but well recorded elsewhere. Yet on the golfing scales, when one goes up another usually goes down. On three of those birdie holes, Palmer was taking bogeys. Palmer was charging and when he does he's enough to strike terror into the heart of any fairway foe.

So it was that the birdie 10th—and the lift—did it for him and set the scene for another shot at the big slam.

He's Always Bounced Off the Ropes Before

Scribe Not Too Good A Caddy In Old Days

DEL RAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The pro looked scornfully at the new caddy.

They were a study in contrasts. The pro slick and handsome in his plus fours and cashmere sweater, the kid rag-tag and a little on the hungry side.

But the caddy had cut school to pick up a big, fat 50 cents and had been the only one available when the pro started his round.

"You," snorted the pro, "are undoubtedly the worst caddy in the world."

The boy was unabashed. "And you," he said, although his was the first time he had ever seen a golf course, "are undoubtedly the worst golfer in the world."

That was in the then little town of Woodbury, N.J., back in the depression year of 1932.

The pro was a stubby, ever-smiling little man with blond hair and blue eyes who today is the pro at the spanking new Pine Tree Golf Club, labeled by no less than Ben Hogan as "the best I ever played . . ."

The caddy, as things go, grew into a fairly representative kind of man who happened to drop in to Pine Tree to play a round of golf.

A fellow by the name of Oscar Fraley. "You were, absolutely, the worst caddy I ever say," Raynor grinned in their first meeting in 30 years. "Would you like to caddy for me today?"

Today, Old Fearless couldn't hardly walk 18 holes, let alone carry that monstrous leather sack loaded with metal weapons in which the golf brigade specializes. But I do know a little bit more about golf, thanks to the lessons Raynor took me out and gave me later that first day.

And I now that Pine Tree is one of the slickest golf courses you'll ever see this side of the next great one that somebody figures out.

That takes in a lot of territory, both from Old Fearless and a slightly more authoritative gent named Ben Hogan.

Pine Tree was designed by Dick Wilson, who has built some 100 or more courses in the United States—at such stations as Cincinnati, Dayton, Jackson, Miss., Sea Island, Ga., Deepdale and Meadowbrook in New York, Wil-

Musial Leads Cards Past Chicubs, 7-4

CHICAGO (UPI)—Stan Musial drove in two runs with his first home run of the season Saturday and topped his own National League scoring record while the St. Louis Cardinals handed the Chicago Cubs their fifth straight defeat, 7-4.

Curt Simmons, making his first start of the year, went the distance for the victory. Cub Starter Don Cardwell failed to last three innings in suffering his second setback.

It was Musial's 1,861st run scored in his 21-year league career, topping the record he set Friday. The 41-year-old Cardinal veteran scored again in the third inning when he walked, stole second and legged it to third on Cuno Barragan's throwing error. Key Boyer tripled him home.

The Cardinals rapped rookie relief pitcher Cal Koonce for three runs in the sixth on a walk, a single, Don Landrum's squeeze bunt, Santo's throwing error and a single by Julian Javier.

Orioles Top Bosox, 3-0

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Brooks Robinson and Gus Triandos hit back-to-back second-inning home runs to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-0 win over the Boston Red Sox Saturday in the Orioles' home opener.

The combined two-hit pitching of Oriole righthanders Chuck Estrada and Dick Hall put the smile back on Manager Billy Hitchcock's face after a loss to the Yankees in New York on Tuesday. Estrada could go only seven innings after developing a blister on the index finger of his right, pitching, hand. He gave both hits to the Red Sox in the second inning when Boston mounted its only scoring threat.

Yanks Smash Out 11-5 Victory; Phils Stop Colts Second Time

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Art Mahaffey pitched and won his second complete game of the season Saturday when he fired a seven-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies won their second in a row over the Houston Colt 45's by a 3-0 score.

The Phils, profiting from two wind-blown pop flies in the sixth and a pair of bunts and an error in the seventh, tagged Ken Johnson with the loss in the big right-hander's first start of the season. Johnson allowed only a scratch infield single to Roy Sievers in the first five innings before a 23-mile-an-hour wind which made a 49-degree temperature nipper, helped break the scoreless deadlock.

DETROIT (UPI)—Utility slugger John Blanchard led a 15-hit Yankee assault with four RBIs to help power New York to an 11-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Blanchard, subbing in left field for Yogi Berra who was out with a pulled leg muscle, drove the Yankees' first four runs in with a single in the first inning and a three-run homer in the third inning.

Norm Cash poled his first two homers of the season for the Tigers in the second and sixth innings, both with the bases empty. For the second straight day temperatures dropped in the thirties and the game was played in intermittent snow flurries.

The Yankees built a 7-1 lead off Detroit starter Phil Regan, who lasted only 3 2-3 innings, gave up six hits, five walks and seven runs.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Spectacular stars from the Southwest and an eight-man squad from Occidental College headed a new list of entries Saturday for next weekend's 37th Kansas Relays.

Included were hurdler Bobby Bernard of Texas Christian; Fred Hansen, Rice's Texas Relays pole vault champion, and a five-man delegation from Abilene Christian.

The Tigers of Occidental will challenge host Kansas and Southern Illinois, 1-2 finishers at Texas last Saturday, in the two-mile and distance medley relays.

They will hit the individual events hard too with Dixon Farmer, NCAA 400 intermediate hurdles champion; Steve Haas, standout sprinter, and sophomore 880 star Ron Whitney.

Completing the list was a 22-man entry from Kansas State University, which will present Jerry Hooker, sixth in the NCAA high hurdles field last year, and Ron Stout, 55-foot shot-putter.

Filing in the College Division were Friends, Warrensburg State, Pittsburg State and Fort Hays State.

In the Junior College division were Friends, Warrensburg State, City, Kan.; Grandview of Des Moines; Odessa, Tex.; Arkansas City, Kan.; Howard County of Big Spring, Tex., and Chicago Wright.

Catholic Church In New Orleans Controversy

The second of two dispatches concerning the controversy in New Orleans over an order to integrate Catholic schools this fall. The author is UPI's national reporter.

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— There are 86,544 students in the parochial schools of the archdiocese of New Orleans. Of that number, 12,772 are Negroes and have been attending separate schools.

Under an order issued by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel the parochial schools will be fully integrated in September. Some Catholics here have rebelled against the archbishops order and one of them, Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, has received a letter threatening her with excommunication if she continues on her course.

Mrs. Gaillot is president of an organization called "Save Our Nation, Inc." She declines to reveal the extent of its membership. In addition to its stand against racial integration in the schools, Save Our Nation opposes the United Nations, federal aid to the states and American aid to foreign nations.

Mrs. Gaillot waited a few days after receiving a letter from the archbishop warning her that she stood in danger of excommunication. The letter was marked "personal and confidential," but she decided to make it public. Then she held a press conference and said that her study of the Bible had convinced her that God has revealed in holy writ that racial integration was a sin. This is where she collided head-on with the Roman Catholic Church which holds that it is a man's soul, not his color, that is vital.

Rummel's letter said he anticipated a reply from Mrs. Gaillot either in person or by writing. Mrs. Gaillot said she was willing to call on the archbishop, but insisted on taking two witnesses with her. This proposal was not accepted.

She then asked for an interview with a priest in the hope she could convince the church that its views on integration were erroneous. Mrs. Gaillot had a conversation with Father Joseph Costello, instructor in moral theology and church law at Notre Dame Seminary, and cited to him Bible passages which she interprets as being in favor of segregation. The interview left her position and that of the church unchanged.

Mrs. Gaillot now says she will never swerve from her course even if it means excommunication, and she already is thinking in terms of martyrdom.

"Look what they did to Joan of Arc," she says.

The archbishop is not receiving reporters and is issuing no statements. Two documents have come from the chancery of the archdiocese: The order of March 28 announcing the integration of parochial schools in the fall and the letter warning Mrs. Gaillot of the danger of excommunication. Six Catholic laymen, headed by Harold Dittman, discussed the formation of an organization to support the church against Mrs. Gaillot. They were advised against it at the chancery and they disbanded.

If Mrs. Gaillot is excommunicated, her husband, Bernard, plans to ask the church to excommunicate him, too. They have three sons, aged 21, 16, and 14. They removed the eldest from De la Salle Catholic school because, according to Mrs. Gaillot, "he was being taught that Jesus and the Virgin Mary were black." She cited the first chapter of Solomon's canticle of canticles in the Catholic Bible: "I am black but beautiful, O ye daughters of Jerusalem, as the tents of cedar, as the curtains of Solomon."

An explanatory note states that the reference is to the church: "That is, the church of Christ, founded in humility appearing outwardly afflicted and, as it were, black and contemptible; but inwardly, that is, in its doctrine and morality, fair and beautiful."

The forthcoming integration of Catholic schools has attracted more attention than a recent court decision on public schools, Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright has just granted a petition by 102 Negro parents that all public schools in the city shall be integrated through the sixth grade in September. At present six public schools have been integrated with a total of 12 Negro pupils in the first and second grades.

There are 47 white grade schools in New Orleans and 21,110 white pupils. There are 40 Negro grade schools with an enrollment of 40,348.

September will be a fateful month in the history of New Orleans and Louisiana.

MOSCOW — The Soviet army newspaper Red Star, is accusing the United States of preparing for war.

"In these circumstances, the U.S.S.R. will be compelled to take suitable counter measures required to ensure the security of the socialist camp."

Skellytown Blue, Gold Banquet Held

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — The annual Cub Scout Blue and Gold banquet was held recently in the school cafeteria with the theme of "Presidents of the United States." The table decorations and program carried out the theme.

Invocation was given by "Curly" Mercer. Cubmaster Emmitte Saxon introduced the visitors who were Ray Hart, Bill Hoke and Harold Thompson of Borger; council representatives. Also introduced were E. A. McCreary, Lions Club president; and L. Barrett, institutional representative.

The charter presentation was made by Thompson, at which time committee members were introduced and awards were presented by Hoke.

Registration cards and service stars were given to Steve McClendon, Brad Lemons, Bobby Grandstaff, William Adams and Charles Moore.

Tom Watson received a Bobcat pin and Bobby Grandstaff received the Wolf pin.

The Bear pin was given to Harold Saxon, Steve McClendon, and a gold arrow was presented to Earnie Fanning and to Martin McCloud a silver arrow.

John Banks, retiring Cubmaster, was presented a certificate of appreciation from Pack 9.

Douglas Berry was awarded a gift for winning the Kite Flying Contest. The program closed with a reading by Miss Paulette Hinton of "The Creation."

Last Call For Taxpayers' Assistance

Final Taxpayer's Assistance Day at the Internal Revenue Service Office, 120 W. Kingsmill Street, will be Monday, April 16, 1962.

"A full IRS staff will be available on that day to help taxpayers who have struck snags in completing their own tax returns for 1961," Wiley E. Davis, administrative officer said.

"Taxpayers needing aid will please bring along a complete list of their income items, business expenses and such nonbusiness deductions as contributions, taxes, interest, medical, and professional expenses.

"If possible, include depreciation figures involving rental property, a copy of last year's tax return and W-2 forms from every employer during 1961."

Deadline for filing federal income tax returns for 1961, without penalty, is Monday, April 16, 1962.

BENEVOLENT IS our mood today... it has rained this week... rain that you could hear, smell and feel... and we are at peace with the United States government... every fine fella is our friend... we've just dropped our Income Tax Return into the Post Office slot and sent it on its merry way to Uncle Sam... one way to look at it, we kept telling ourselves as we rationalized the situation, taxes could be termed "conscience money" for living in such a wonderful country... though there are times during the family's computing that we were wondering about the battle strategy that made the Boston Tea Party such a success.

There is a little influence where there is no great sympathy. — Samuel I. Prime.

STREET SCENES... saw Uncle Billy Frost out one afternoon this week moving the lawn sprinkler to a different position on his lawn in front of his home on Charles... and getting just a little damp in the process... farther down the street, Jerry Torvie was out inspecting the approach of Spring to Charles Street... and we do hope Alleith Curry gets home from her trip to Arizona and California in time to enjoy the beautiful yellow clusters of jaunty jonquils in front of her gray-hued home... farther down Charles Street, Gladys Harvey was out looking over the pretty yellow and white jonquils gloriously blooming in front of her white and yellow-shuttered house... spied Blanche Deal, in an attractive red knit, coming out of a downtown store carrying a small potted plant with a red blossom... which she was holding as if it were a jewel... the R. D. Wilkersons out on Christine have the prettiest triangular garden beside their driveway filled with yellow jonquils, purple hyacinths and red tulips... notice that Charles and Helen Hoover have given the Pampas Grass on the lawn of their home on Duncan a "burr haircut"... have you noticed how the black tile on the New Citizens Bank and Trust Company sparkles like black diamonds when it catches the sunbeams by day and car lights by night... it is progressing towards the show-place that it is intended to be... and if you don't think that the wind has been blowing this Spring... just go by and look at the steel, chain-link address marker on the parkway of the R. D. Phillipps' home at 619 N. West... and have you noticed how sad-looking is the wax-leaved Lagusta and pyracantha?... all around the town it seems to be the same sad shape... too cold and too dry we imagine would be the landscaper-corer's autopsy.

Example is more forcible than precept. People look at me six days a week to see what I mean on the seventh. — Richard Cecil.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CULTURE provided a most refreshing afternoon for its guests and members at a Tea held Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. Easter was on parade all around the room... delicate hues of pastel pink, yellow, blues and purples gave a dream-like quality as guests entered the room... Kathryn Steele looked like a ray of sunshine (and she is!) dressed in yellow and presiding at the silver spiced tea service. Nell Zachry had created the cleverest, gayest Springtime centerpiece... a tree branch sprayed white and tipped with pink sweetpeas and green leaves... lighted with tiny Twinkle lights... and hung with brightly-hued Easter eggs... in the boughs of the branches tiny hens sat in nests of Easter grass... getting ready in ceramic pantomime for the big Easter Bunny Business... and the tall screen, which separates the kitchen compartment didn't escape Nell's artistic touch... sprays of lilacs accented the backdrop with the platform covered in Easter grass with candy eggs hidden all around... a saucy Easter Bunny with a flower between its ear and carrying a red tulip stood guard over a huge, white wicker-basket filled with purple hyacinths and white tulips... the pastel theme was further carried out in refreshments with round sandwiches filled with pastel-tinted cream cheese and cookies iced with pink, yellow and green frosting... the most delightful touch to the pleasant afternoon were members of the Pampa High School A Cappella Choir... Judy Pemberton, Betty McWilliams... Bill Mangham and Kelly Robinson, who entertained with vocal selections accompanied by Linda Andis and Joyce Prock... among the guests were Mrs. James O'Connor and Mrs. Ted Alexander, guests of Betty Henderson... Doris Gates had invited a group of her friends from Canadian, Mary Bennett... Sarah Ramp... Peggy Walker... and Amelia Ramp... adding a charming note was Dorothy Buzzard, who greeted guests at the door and invited them to register... a lovely afternoon from tea time until adieu-time.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT OF BEAUTY... Rosemary Lawlor, director of the First Christian Church and voice teacher, with her church choir... and guest soloist and members of other church choirs... have been rehearsing for a beautiful presentation of Easter Music for the past several weeks... the results of their combined talents will be presented in a special Easter program "My Heart Is Glad" on this Palm Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the First Christian Church... everyone is invited and it should be an outstanding musical event.

MEMO TO JW: We thoroughly enjoyed your poem and wished that space permitted printing it in its entirety as you requested. Just maybe we can have a "Poets' Corner" someday... it would be nice!

NOW WE KNOW that it was Ruby Capps that Beta Sigma Phi had in mind for its selection of Woman of the Year for 1962... all along... a richly deserved honor for a wonderful person!... again this outstanding cultural sorority is to be commended upon its judgment every year it seems they name someone just as deserving as the woman in the previous year... all of which must prove that Pampa is filled with outstanding women!... thought Ruby and her mother, Mrs. S. C. Holden of Oklahoma City and her daughter, Karen, looked so pretty... all in blue in the receiving line... Ruby and her mother in blue lace and Karen in a blue-embossed satin sheath with a three-tiered, circular organly collar that formed cap sleeves over the arms... and Tom Charles represented the handsome part of the family in his white jacket, with a white carnation in the lapel... a perfect example of the poise and inward strength of this Woman of the Year was shown when, facing that ballroom filled with her friends, her eyes and throat overflowed with emotion, but she fully recovered and went on to humbly accept the honor accorded her... with charm and grace.

HEAR THAT there are a lot of reservations being made for the AIME Dance which is on the social calendar for this Friday evening in the Amarillo Country Club... when "oil" of these oil guys take their "goils" out for evening of gaiety... fun gushes forth in a greater capacity that the first oil well did in Titusville, Pa. back in 1859... they tell us!

Love, Peg.

African Violet Society To Have Easter Parade

Pampa African Violet Society will stage a show of "Easter Parade of African Violets" on April 21 from 12:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the First National Bank Annex, 107 N. Ballard, according to Mrs. Holly Gray, Society president and Mrs. V. N. Osborn, general chairman in charge of arrangements for the show.

Show committee chairmen are Miss Mary McKamy and Mrs. C. C. Matheny, schedule; Mrs. Norman Walburg, Mrs. Lee Moore, staging and properties; Mrs. R. F. Dirksen, Mrs. Joe Shelton, entries; Mrs. J. E. Carlson, Mrs. E. B. Ellis, classification; Mrs. W. E. Hinton, Mrs. C. A. Jones, publicity; Mrs. Charles Glison, Mrs. Cecil Holmes, Mrs. Norman Walburg, hospitality; Mrs. Lee Harnish, Mrs. Willie Rheudasil, sales table; Mrs. Dan Glaxner, educational exhibit; Mrs. Robert Montgomery, judges; Mrs. C. C. Matheny, Mrs. W. E. Hinton, clerks; Mrs. Clay Coston, cleanup.

The Society wants to stress that entries in the ribbon contest are open to the public, as well as to garden club members and society members.

Entries will be received in the Bank Annex from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m.

The show is being sponsored by the Pampa African Violet Society and will include horticultural, artistic and educational exhibits. An exhibitor may make only one entry in each variety in each horticulture class. In the artistic division an exhibitor may have only one entry in each class.

The show is open to all amateur growers of African Violets and houseplants in Pampa and surrounding area, but all plants must be insect and disease-free and will be inspected before entering. Only clean, healthy plants will be accepted.

All plants in the Horticulture Division must have been in exhibitor's possession for at least three months. This does not apply to the artistic division.

For uniformity, all pots must be covered with aluminum foil, dull side out. Exhibitors are to print their names on adhesive tape and attach to bottom of foil-covered pot; also print plant name on tape.

The Society will afford all possible protection to exhibits, but will not be responsible for any loss. Plants are entered at owner's risk.

Entries in Artistic Division must be the work of the exhibitor. In the arrangement classes for plants in fancy or unusual containers, the plants can either be planted in the container or can be left in ordinary pot and then set down in the unusual container or the arrangement.

There will be a division for both foliage and blooming houseplants other than African Violets. Additional classes in horticulture may be created at the discretion of the entry or classification committee.

There will be a Sales Table for anyone wishing to purchase leaves, plants, etc. Society members are asked to bring suitable items for this table.

In addition to the exhibits, the Society will also have on display an educational exhibit.

The show is open to all amateur growers of African Vio-

TCCC Entertains Guests With Music In Easter Setting

Twentieth Century Culture Club entertained with a Guest Day Tea on Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library.

A welcome to guests was extended by Mrs. Phillip Gates, president, following which Mrs. Ronald Merrill introduced the afternoon's program.

Following the theme, "the charm of music dwells not in the tone, but in the echo of our hearts," members of the Pampa High School A Cappella choir, presented a selection of vocal numbers accompanied by Misses Linda Andis and Joyce Prock, pianists.

Bill Mangham sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd"; Miss Betty McWilliams sang "Silent Noon"; Kelly Robinson sang "In the Night"; and Miss Judy Pemberton sang "Still As The Night."

Mrs. Ross Buzzard presided at the guest register's table, which was appointed with a wicker garden basket filled with white hyacinths and purple pansies. She directed guests to the refreshment table, where Mrs. N. Dudley Steele served spiced tea from a silver service. The table was appointed with an Easter motif.

Hostesses were Mmes. L. J. Zachry, R. E. Dobbin and C. L. Craddock.

Members and guests attending were Mmes. Ruth Singleton, Alice Troop, Mary Bennett, Sarah Ramp, Peggy Walker, Amelia Ramp, Philip Gates, Jim Triplehorn, Margaret Tolbert, Ralph McKinney, Jeff Bearden, Lee Moore, Paul Baker, Fred Glass, V. Important Meeting Planned At Lee

A meeting of importance to parents of ninth grade Robert E. Lee Junior High School students, who will be entering high school next year, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the junior high auditorium, according to Mrs. J. T. Cornutt, PTA unit president.

A program designed to inform freshmen students and parents as to what will be expected of them and what they may expect from the high school and its instructors will be presented in talks by Cameron Marsh, Pampa High School principal and by Miss Evelyn Milam, high school counselor.

As an additional feature of the program, Miss Geraldine Rampey's Home Economic students will present a Style Show modelling apparel, which they have made during classes this year.

The executive board will meet at 1 p.m. in the school conference room. It has been announced by Mrs. Cornutt.

TO BE JUNE BRIDE

Miss Lynda Wilhelm, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie F. Wilhelm, 1033 Huff Road, announce the betrothal of their daughter, Lynda, to William Bert Queen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Queen of Liberal, Kan. Wedding vows will be solemnized in a ceremony planned for June 7.

'Long Live France' Delightfully Given For ABWA Members At Dinner Meeting

The American Business Women's Association held its monthly dinner meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Pampa Hotel with Mrs. James Quary, president, presiding.

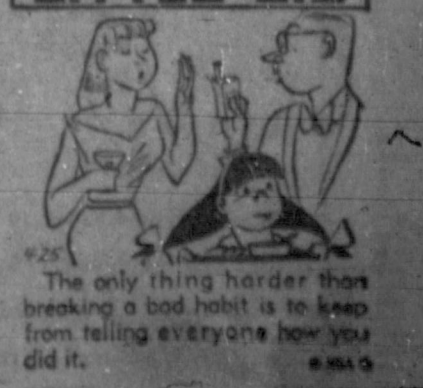

Invocation was given by Mrs. Kenneth Butler.

Mrs. Billy Wright introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Dudley Steele, who gave a Book Review, a psychological comedy entitled "Long Live France," an entertaining narration in which the speaker placed herself in the role of a fifteen-year-old boy, and used his language to express his preference of a Hot Rod and a mechanically-minded girl to the glamor in France. The story was based on a theme requested by his English teacher, Mrs. Steele demonstrated this very cleverly throughout her review.

Mrs. Kenneth Butler read a letter to the group from the Amarillo Charter Chapter, written by Mrs. Jackie Dell, president. She mentioned there would be a motor caravan going to the District Convention in Albuquerque, N.M. on April 27-28, and any member desiring to join them would be welcome.

Mrs. Quary announced that the chapter would elect a nominating committee at the June meeting to prepare a slate of prospective officers for the executive board; there would be an Anniversary somewhere would be an Anniver Observance in May, and all members with perfect attendance records will receive an award. Mrs. Quary thanked the group that the three months Attendance Con-

nee Joyce Parr

LEFORS (Sp) — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Joyce Parr and Gene Mack Shirley in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Walter Fox in the First Baptist Church in Brenham on March 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Double-ring rites were repeated in a setting of spiral, branched candelabra entwined with greenery and holding white tapers flanking the white satin prie dieu. Flanking the candelabra were floor-baskets holding white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parr. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Shirley, south of Pampa.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Orvie Lee Luedemann, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of delicate floral patterned nylon lace and taffeta. A scalloped scoop neckline enriched with miniature pearls and iridescent sequins complemented a bodice, which dipped in the center front and back and flowed into a sweeping skirt of unpressed pleats, accented with a self bow at the back. The sleeves were edged with scallops.

Her fingertip veil of pure silk bridal illusion imported from France, was attached to a tiara and gifts in the bride's book.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, where guests greeted the couple and attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a white overlaid net cloth centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. At one end was placed the three-tiered wedding cake and at the other end the crystal punch bowl.

After the bride and bridegroom cut the first slice of wedding cake, the remainder was served by Miss Darlene Luedemann and Miss Glenda Shirley. Mrs. Arnold Lee Theason of Galveston served punch.

For a short wedding trip, Mrs. Shirley chose a white suit with a lilac overblouse, black patent accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Following their trip, the couple will make their home in Lubbock for the present where both are students at Texas Tech. The bride was graduated from Brenham High School and the bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School in 1959.

For church and the Easter parade itself, coat or jacket will be wanted. Later in the day, for luncheon or dinner with friends or relatives, jacket or coat will come off, revealing a fashion that is complete in itself.

Mrs. Peggy Drews was in charge of registering the guests

Rathjen-Luker Announce Vows

WHEELER (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rathjen announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beth, to Charles M. Luker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Luker of Brownfield. Wedding vows will be exchanged in the Kelton Baptist Church on April 20 at six o'clock in the evening.

Miss Rathjen is a sophomore and Mr. Luker is a senior at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. The couple will make their home in Brownfield.

Behind Calm Exterior Lies Frenzy Of Labor

A woman never works as hard as when she is pretending she isn't working hard at all — as when:

She works like crazy for two days before a party in order to impress her guests with how effortlessly she entertains.

She is doing her best to lead a wily bachelor to the altar and can't afford to be obvious in her pursuit.

She is making a determined effort to get in with the "right" crowd and doesn't want anyone to notice that her social climbing is showing.

In order to seem younger she is busily fighting the battle of the bulge, graying hair, fine lines in the face — and so on. She has her eye on the presidency of an organization but has to do a lot of lesser jobs first in order to work up into position. She has assumed the job of press agent for her husband and children and is constantly building their public image. She is trying to put across the "I couldn't care less" attitude about something that is actually of utmost importance to her. She is busily engaged in trying to keep up with the Joneses on a lot less money than the Joneses have. She is trying to give the impression of being a charming scatter-brain when actually she has a mind that calculates as fast as an electronic computer. She is trying to sell her husband an idea so subtly that he will never realize it wasn't his idea in the first place.

Spring Hats Decorated With Hazards Illustrates TC Club's Safety Program

Twentieth Century Club met in the home of Mrs. Jack P. Foster, 1228 Williston on Tuesday afternoon.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. R. W. Stowers, members voted to give two memberships to the Youth Center to deserving youths.

Members were encouraged to attend the Top of Texas District Convention which was held in Shamrock on April 12-13. It was announced that Mrs. Tom Rose would offer the response to the welcome extended by the Shamrock Club and Mrs. Raymond Harrah, past district president, would preside at the banquet.

Mrs. R. E. McKernan introduced the safety program. She commented "Our teaching in safety so often is by word and not by deed. Each of us has a definite part in allowing unnecessary accidents to continue without raising safety hazard as depicted on the hat.

Mrs. Roots concluded the program by stating four simple safety rules to be followed in order to have an accident-free spring to enjoy a new spring bonnet. The rules are: 1) Be alert for safety hazards; 2) Take steps to remove these hazards; 3) Teach responsibility for each member of the family is responsible for home safety and 4) Make safety a habit because habits save time and trouble. Make safety habitual.

Members present were Mmes. Bob Andis, G. F. Branson, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, Jack P. Foster, J. W. Gordon, Paul Harbaugh, Raymond Harrah, L. M. Hicks, V. J. Jamieson, Albert Knox, R. E. "White Glove Look" Gives Extra Thought To Basis For All Good Looks... Grooming

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The "white glove look" is just another way of saying absolute head-to-toe cleanliness. And with the Easter parade close at hand, we'd do well to give extra thought to the basis of all good looks — good grooming.

Most of us know at least one gal who fairly sparkles with that little extra something that sets her apart from the crowd. And we wonder what it is that makes heads swivel when she passes by. Nine times out of ten, her secret is simply making the most of what she has by cultivating over-all daintiness.

It sounds almost too easy, doesn't it? Yet it's within the grasp of anyone who's willing to adhere to a regular beauty routine. Hit - or - miss grooming won't do the trick.

Daily bathing, frequent face washing, faithful use of hand lotion and scrupulous attention to your manicure are musts. Each night take the time to lubricate your face with cream or lotion after you've washed with suds.

Don't wait until your hair is dirty to wash it. Shampoo as soon as it starts to look dull.

Make sure your clothing is neatly pressed and free of lint.

Make sure your clothing is neatly pressed and free of lint, and that your accessories gleam with loving care.

The regularity with which you practice these grooming habits is the key to the "white glove look."

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: At a party last week, I volunteered to help serve and tripped with a full tray. Most of the glasses and dishes broke. To make it worse, both a chair and the rug were ruined by the things that spilled. I felt terrible and apologized over and over again, but was so embarrassed that I was mentally paralyzed.

The hostess was kind about it but I'm sure she felt awful. They know how sorry I am so it seems silly to call and say so again, but I'm still so unhappy about it that I'd like to do something. What should I have done? Is there any way I can make amends? Millie-

Dear Milliecent: Something like this happens to everyone at least once in a lifetime. People are immediately sympathetic rather than critical when they hear a crash at parties. You are less likely to be mentally paralyzed if you remember this in similar situations.

Apologies are necessary, but repeating them over and over just keeps attention focused on the accident. This prolongs the embarrassment for you and the hostess.

It isn't too late to volunteer to replace the broken things if you are financially able. Make the offer privately. (Perhaps you have

Historical And Political Events Of South Africa Described By Speaker

Jonathan Roberts of Durbin, South Africa, was guest speaker at the Altrusa Club of Pampa luncheon meeting held Monday noon in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Mr. Roberts, who was graduated from the Royal Academy of Agriculture in London, England, has been employed for the past five months on the Combs-Worley Ranch, southeast of the city. Mr. Roberts came to Pampa at the invitation of Frank Carter, whom he met in 1959, while Mr. Carter was in London, England, purchasing cattle. He has been here for the past five months, but plans to leave the latter part of this month or early May.

During his informative talk, Mr. Roberts outlined the geographic location of his country, the Union of South Africa, and discussed in detail the historical and political events involving South Africa.

The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. Inez Carter. A special guest was Mr. Charles Gison, wife of the Combs-Worley Ranch foreman.

Other guests were Mrs. James Goodan, daughter of Mrs. E. M. Keller and Miss Sandra Flynn, who has been named Altrusa Girl of the Month for April.

Miss Flynn, a Pampa High School senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Flynn. She is co-editor of the Little Harvester.

International News Flash was given by Mrs. Dell Ford. Mrs. Keller was winner of the door prize.

Announcement was made of the "Self Improvement Clinic" for teenage girls which will be held weekly in the Lovett Memorial Library on Friday at 4 p.m. The clinic is being sponsored by the Vocational Information Committee under the direction of Miss Lou Ella Patterson, chairman with Mrs. Thelma Bray as chairman in charge of the project.

Full Enrollment In Sewing Instruction

LEFORS (Spl) — A sewing class for members of the Lefors Home Demonstration Club and instructed by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County Home Demonstration agent, held its first session on April 4 in the home of Mrs. John Lantz.

The class, formerly available to all interested persons, is now closed except to those presently enrolled. It has been announced that if others in the community, not necessarily home demonstration club members, are interested in sewing instruction, another class will be started by Miss Patterson. Additional information may be secured from any home demonstration club members.

Enrolled for the classes are Mmes. A. J. Rollins, Cedar Torres, O. O. Bishop, G. W. James, B. J. Diehl, Fred Browning and Kenneth Fugate.

Bride Should Try Out New Coiffure Before She Walks Down Bridal Aisle

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's safe to say that there never was a beautiful bride who didn't have a cloud of shining hair. When you walk down the aisle on your wedding day, your hair should be picture pretty.

To accomplish this, hair style and headress must be made for each other. For instance, a lace Juliet cap can look marvelous on short hair. But it's not likely to be the thing for longer hair. Your hair style will determine what your headress and veil should be.

When you've decided on your hair style, go to a hairdresser who knows your hair and who will respect your wishes in the matter of styling rather than his own. If you need a new permanent, have it about three weeks before the wedding so that it will look soft and natural when the big day arrives.

Frequent shampoos are a great help in softening a permanent. So is a good hairbrush.

Bear in mind that careful shampooing has a lot to do with your skin beauty since it removes dirt and dandruff that can sift down over your face to cause skin blemishes.

Long before your wedding day, practice wearing both your headress and veil in order to get used to them. One means of anchoring your veil is to use those white or silver hairpins (not bobby pins) that are meant for silver-haired women. These can be inserted invisibly in the layers of your veiling. About a dozen should be the right number. Using this system, you can even be caught in a high wind without losing your veiling!

already done this.)

You can send a brief note, not to apologize again, but taking a positive approach. Write your thanks to the hostess for her kindness and understanding. If you feel it's appropriate, a few nicely arranged flowers could be delivered at the same time.

Texas Home Demonstration Association Meeting Well-Attended By Delegates

LEFORS (Spl) — District One, Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting, held Thursday in the Pampa High School was deemed a success with 326 persons attending; 15 Extension Agents; one assistant agent; 55 delegates; five board members and 250 visitors.

A patriotic motif with bunting-draped speakers' tables and a basket of red carnations and white gladioli decorated the stage, where reports and talks by special guests comprised the meeting.

Jay Channell, minister of the Harvester - Mary Ellen Church of Christ, offered invocation and recited a poem "America For Me" in keeping with the patriotic theme.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell and County Judge Bill Craig extended an official welcome from the city to the visiting delegates and guests.

Mrs. T. J. Parsons, District One vice president, presided over the convention proceedings. Mrs. T. D. Anderwald, Gray County THDA chairman, was in charge of the convention arrangements.

In discussing "THDA And You," Mrs. C. H. Berkley, state secretary, gave the history of THDA starting in 1924. She related how the group now gives three $500 scholarships each year to deserving 4H Club girls; and how the organization has changed from rural to urban and of the closeness of the Extension Service and THDA work.

Mrs. R. A. Hodges, nominated as district vice president, was elected to that office following a clever skit presented by her Randall County club which concerned her work in home demonstration.

"Women In The Space Age" was the topic discussed by Miss Bonnie Cox of College Station, Extension Specialist, in which she showed how women had been freed to enter professions outside of the home. "Although free from drudgery, they are not doing the important things they should." She pointed out how they can become more successful in the space age.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

By FRANK D. SMITH

Does Sleeping Posture Affect Walking Habits?

I have heard only one lecture that touched upon the subject. It was the opinion of this authority that there has been an increase of cases of pigeon toes and splay-foot (like a duck) since it has become popular to train babies to sleep on their stomachs. The speaker pointed out that other animals that are anatomically similar to humans sleep on their sides.

My experience in the shoe store has been that almost all pigeon-toed children sleep on their stomachs with their toes turned in. Three mothers who retrained their children to sleep on their sides have commented on improvement in walking.

It is interesting to note that the left foot of a right handed child is more likely to toe-in than the right foot is.

International News Flash was given by Mrs. Dell Ford. Mrs. Keller was winner of the door prize.

Announcement was made of the "Self Improvement Clinic" for teenage girls which will be held weekly in the Lovett Memorial Library on Friday at 4 p.m. The clinic is being sponsored by the Vocational Information Committee under the direction of Miss Lou Ella Patterson, chairman with Mrs. Thelma Bray as chairman in charge of the project.

The class, formerly available to all interested persons, is now closed except to those presently enrolled. It has been announced that if others in the community, not necessarily home demonstration club members, are interested in sewing instruction, another class will be started by Miss Patterson. Additional information may be secured from any home demonstration club members.

Enrolled for the classes are Mmes. A. J. Rollins, Cedar Torres, O. O. Bishop, G. W. James, B. J. Diehl, Fred Browning and Kenneth Fugate.

Dear Abby.... Man's Past Is Very Important

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice-looking young man while waiting for a bus. It wasn't like he picked me up or anything because we had seen each other waiting for the same bus for several months. We started talking and got acquainted. He says he doesn't have any friends or family and would rather not talk about his past. I am 22 and have been working since I was 18. I went out with him a few times, but haven't had him pick me up at home because if my mother asked where I met him I couldn't tell her the truth. I like this man but I can't find out much about him. How important is a man's past?

NEEDS HELP
DEAR NEEDS: You need a lawyer, lady. Tell him your story and let him untangle the legal tape. Under the circumstances, in the State of California (and several other States) a clergyman can perform a marriage ceremony quietly, without publicity, if you are free to marry.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Brownies Make Easter Favors
LEFORS (Spl)—Brownie Troop 86 has been busy making Easter Basket favors during their troop meetings to be given to Senior Citizens at the Golden Age Fellowship meetings.

At a recent meeting, new officers elected for the troop were Rose Ann Cunningham, president; Pat Moxon, vice president; Marsha Brewer, secretary; Margie Chastain, parliamentarian; Sandra Cain, scrapbook; Martha Carlton, reporter; Joanie Fugate, refreshment chairman; and Gaylene Swenn, clean-up chairman.

Others attending the meeting were Paula Beck, Debbie Boyd, Susan Cain, Elaine Foshee, Evelyn Cullon; Mrs. Ray Chastain and Mrs. Ernest Foshee, leaders.

PUT OFF
DEAR PUT: You are losing your boy friend by "degrees." If you suspect he is not eager to marry you, you are probably right.

DEAR ABBY: How can a couple get married without having the whole town know it? You see, Abby, we put off getting married because my husband was still married to somebody else. We had two children in the meantime. Now we are on the spot. Our son will need his birth certificate soon as he is going into the service, and the names and dates on his birth certificate don't add up. I am not even sure whether my husband's divorce ever came through. I would have straightened this out before, but was afraid it would get in the newspapers. We are very well known here and

The West Point Story Described By Speaker At Twentieth Century Forum

Twentieth Century Forum Study Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Calvin Jones. In the business meeting presided over by Mrs. William Ellis, reports were given by Mrs. Jack McCrery, treasurer and Mrs. Macfield McDaniel, scholarship committee chairman. Mrs. Ellis reported on the Senior Citizens party on March 29 for which the study club was hostess. Mrs. Arthur Teed presented a program on the United States Military Academy, which is located on the Hudson River at West Point, N. Y. She told of the rigid requirements for entrance to the academy, both physical and educational. "The applicant must be a citizen of the United States between the ages of 17 and 22. They receive their appointment to the school after being nominated by a United States Senator or Congressman; also, they must be appointed by the President, Vice President or Secretary of the Army."

"The physical and educational requirements for entrance are very high and all applicants must pass entrance examinations," she said.

Mrs. Teed spoke of the many traditions at West Point, which have been observed each year since the school was established. "All cadets live in barracks and eat in a central mess hall. After roll call, all cadets must put their rooms in order. Classes continue until three in the afternoon; after which, the cadets engage in sports or in tactical instruction until retreat and the lowering of the flag. Shortly after the evening meal, the call to quarters is sounded and the cadets go to their rooms to study until ten, when taps is sounded."

"June Week climaxes the year's events," Mrs. Teed went on to say. "Graduation exercises are held in the academy fieldhouse. During June Week, there are many weddings in the famous chapel at West Point. Often the President of the United States presents the cadets with their commissions as second lieutenants."
