OFFICERS DID DUTY ASSERTS BIBB GRAVES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 27. Governor Bibb Graves, after reading the report of Captain Potter Smith today on the shooting of Ozle Powell, Scottsboro defendant, said the officers did their full duty and are to be commended.

The results of an investigation into the shooting of one of the nine Scottsboro defendants and the slaying of a deputy sheriff were submitted today to Gov. Bibb Graves as the negro's condition approached a crisis.

Capt. Potter Smith of the Alabama state highway patrol, ordered to inquire into the fight, kept his report secret until the governor had time to study it.

Ozle Powell, the wounded negro, was described by defense attorneys as "glassy eyed." Hospital attendants said he was holding his own. Deputy Sheriff Enoch was reported recovering from a throat cut inflicted by Powell with a knife.

Sheriff J. Street Sandlin, who shot Powell in an automobile Friday as the negroes were being returned to Birmingham from Decatur, continued his investigation in the latter city.

Ernest Meriwether, negro candy seller, was held at Decatur on Powell's statement that he sold two knives to the Scottsboro negroes in the Decatur jail. Meriwether denied the transaction.

Another inquiry into the latest chapter in the prolonged case is expected Feb. 17 when the Morgan county grand jury convenes. Solicitor Melvin Hutson is gathering material for this hearing.

GREAT TASK WELL DONE BY KING GEORGE V

The reign of King George V stands as one of history's most striking testimonials to the fact that the simple force of human character can be one of the greatest powers in the world.

Here was a man who occupied the throne of England during one of the most critical periods any ruler anywhere ever had to face. It was his job to keep his throne safe and his country reasonably contented, and to do it he had hardly so much as the shadow of real power.

And yet he succeeded, as far as success was possible in those trying years, while his fellow monarchs who had the power which he lacked failed miserably.

Wilhelm of Germany, who was war lord and all-highest in fact as well as in name, bungled things hopelessly and fled over the borders to Holland. Nicholas of Russia, a genuine autocrat, died miserably in a squalid cellar in a provincial town. Francis Joseph of Austria died in the full consciousness that his polygot empire would inevitably fall apart in the hands of his successor.

But King George V of England, who reigned, but did not rule, kept his throne and handed his heritage, unweakened, on to his son.

How did he do it? His kingdom went through a war that bled it white. It survived a semi-revolutionary general strike. It passed through the civil war out of which the Irish Free State was born. It saw Socialists in power in Downing street. It went through the world depression that killed the founding of democracy in Germany.

Altogether, the times were difficult enough to jar any king from his throne—particularly a king who held the shadow of power and not the substance, a king who was a mere figurehead, a symbol of the idea of royalty.

And yet the outpouring of public affection that flooded George V in the final years of his life was without parallel in English history. His people honestly loved him, as far as human beings can love a ruler.

At the close of his reign his throne rested on the firmest base a throne can occupy—the sincere affection of the ordinary man in the street.

The answer to all this is that there was something about this man's character that was irresistible. His job was to be, rather than to do; to be the prototype of the loyal and honest English gentleman, the exemplar of those virtues which make Englishmen proud of their empire. And that job he performed superlatively well.

What a man is, in the long run, speaks louder than what he says. It was so with King George of England.

By sheer force of character, he kept England in her traditional groove. In its own way, it is an accomplishment as great as that any of his predecessors could achieve.

OUT OUR WAY — By WILLIAMS

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—On the contention that the memory of Woodrow Wilson has been besmirched may rest the fate of strong neutrality legislation at the present session of Congress.

A serious split in the Senate Munitions Committee over criticism of the acts of Wilson and other American statesmen threatens to cause collapse of the inquiry conducted for two years into the world arms traffic and World War financing.

The success which seemed so near may be snatched from Senator P. Nye, who has labored incessantly since 1934 for a stringent neutrality law. The lion's share of the credit for the inquiry goes to the North Dakota Republican, the only senator who could be persuaded to fight for investigation of the powerful munitions industry.

Not only has the committee headed by Nye uncovered convincing evidence of the need of laws to keep the country at peace, but Nye has made more than a hundred speeches over the country, pushing home the neutrality doctrine and outlining the sequence of developments that sent us into the conflict in 1917.

It seems certain that neither the administration nor Congress would have acted without the spur of a strong public sentiment. Nye did more than anyone else to provide that spur.

Although recent hearings have disclosed machinations by American statesmen without which, many authorities say, we might have avoided war, and revealed the Morgan firm as an instrument of a financial-industrial process which made war apparently inevitable, Nye declares, "I have never before tried so hard to be without prejudice."

He and Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri assert that they have had no desire to "smear" anyone.

Their idea has been to show, they state, that the Morgans were operating during the World War just as the would operate again in a similar case were there no neutrality law, and that Wilson, as he came to favor the Allies over the Central Powers, was virtually helpless under the pressure of trade, traffic, and finance.

The Morgan partners, who made vast profits from the war, are as fiercely patriotic and pro-Ally as ever. Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri spent an afternoon ruining, by historical citation a hitherto secret document, their contention that German submarine warfare alone plunged us into conflict.

If Wilson and Lansing had been as stern with England as with Germany, he showed, unrestricted sub warfare probably could have been avoided.

It was then that handsomely groomed Mrs. George Whitney, wife of one of the chief Morgan partners, turned to a companion and whispered:

"Is Senator Clark a German?"

At the best, wedding ring donations can be of but nominal aid to Il Duce, Italy having no Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

Death mask of John Dillinger disappeared from a Kansas City police station, which makes twice his face was lifted.

Dora grasps the idea of the housing fund, but that stabilization fund has her puzzled. She didn't know there were that many homeless horses.

If this Ethiopian mud is what they say it is, the Dutch who took Holland may have a rival in the Italians who took Eritrea.

Games And Lovely Birthday Cake Are Features At Party

Earnell Johnson entertained 11 little guests Saturday in honor of her fourth birthday. A white birthday cake decorated in pink and green was served at the refreshment hour.

Such games as Drop the Handkerchief and Little White House were played before the cake and ice cream was served.

Guests were Jane Burrows, Cleo Maye Vance, Peggy Martin, Nell Johnson, Bobby Alfred, Vialo Bass, Soltan and Kameel Alloway, Bobby Roy Dyson, Mona Caldwell, Earnell and Blaine Johnson.

Three of the most famous of the early Spanish explorers in the new world reached Texas soil, the state now celebrating its Centennial. They were Coronado, De Vaca and Pather Margil.

KING'S BIER IS CLOSED TO IRKED CROWDS

BUT HALL IS OPENED AND MOURNERS ENTER

LONDON, Jan. 27. (AP)—Great Britain's national pilgrimage past the bier of King George V rose to a rate of 10,000 persons an hour at the last day of the lying-in-state in Westminster hall today after early mourning scenes in which mourners protested an early closing of the chamber doors.

One delegation of mourners marched to No. 10 Downing street to object because the entrance was closed more than two hours earlier than had been announced before being reopened to admit the ever-swelling crowds from all quarters.

The protesting marchers, led by a woman, were not allowed to raise Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, but Scotland Yard explained later that the hall was closed to allow "cleaners to perform their duties."

"The office of works, in consultation with police, decided to close the hall at 3:42 a. m., Sunday, when it was seen that the last of yesterday's queue had passed through," the explanation said.

"At this time, it was not expected that another queue would form in the early hours, and an opportunity could be taken for cleaners to perform their duties."

Within a half hour, however, another queue started forming, with 5,000 persons waiting in line at 6 a. m. The doors opened again at 7:10 a. m.

The crowds came from all directions and from all walks of life to join the queue later in the day, despite rain. A line of 100 abreast, stretching more than a mile along the Thames by mid-morning.

The new King Edward VIII, meanwhile, returned to Buckingham palace after spending the week-end at his Fort Belvedere country estate.

Sickness Reduces Church, Sunday School Rolls

Four generations were present at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning when Robert Bernard and Marcia Gall, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hoare, were baptized. Witnessing the ceremony were the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Behrens, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Dugger.

There were 113 persons in Sunday school. Eleven persons were added to the church roll at the morning worship period.

At the First Christian church, there were 396 persons in Sunday school, and there were five additions during the day to the church, bringing the total for January to 55. Three meetings at the church on Friday and Saturday will bring visitors from a wide area. Young folk of the world fellowship movement will assemble, and there will be institutes for the intermediate workers and for workers with children.

There were 610 persons in the Sunday school at the First Baptist church yesterday, and 125 persons in B. T. U. last night. The monthly business session of the B. T. U. will be held Tuesday evening. Adult leaders will meet at 7 p. m. and others at 7:30 p. m.

There were 433 present at the First Methodist Sunday school. Reduced enrollments were reported by several Sunday schools, because of illness in congregations.

Decorations in the church centered in an altar arch formed of roses and palm leaves. Miss Gantz wore a blue shirred crepe dress and blue slippers. Her arm bouquet was of pink gladiolas and red poppies.

The Rev. Ernest Allred acted as best man, and Mrs. Allred as matron of honor. Little Patricia Ann Bolin and Polly Allred, both dressed in white, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride as Mrs. Roy Calvert played the processional.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Justice are well known here. She has been pastor of the Holiness church the past two years, and he conducted a three-week revival here recently. The couple will serve the church as pastors this year.

STRIKE ENDS PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27. (AP)—A compromise agreement calling for a 5 per cent wage increase and a 50 cents an hour minimum brought an end today to the strike of 5,000 workers in independent flat glass plants. The walkout began Jan. 1 at the expiration of a former agreement. The union asked a seven and one-half per cent pay boost.

'Flying' Tank Inventor Wants To Sell Wonder

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (AP)—A 69-year-old inventor, at the threshold of developing a "flying" tank he says would revolutionize military strategy, looked to the war department today for an answer to his ultimatum on payment for royalties he would receive over him.

J. Walter Christie, developer of the lightweight, high speed Christie tank, his personal fortune sunk in the experiments, said a negative answer would force him to accept offers of other countries for the manufacturing rights to the plane-carried tank.

"I'm an American and I want the United States to have this equipment," Christie said.

"But I've put more than $400,000 into the experiments. My fortune has shrunk. My wife and I have sold properties to finance the experiments. I am an old man."

"Russia wants to pay me $10,000 a month for my new four-ton tank which would be carried by planes for landing behind enemy lines. Other countries want it, too. Against my will, I may be forced to accept these offers."

The new tank, which Christie says will be ready for its final trials when a military plane is built to carry it, rests behind locked doors of a Staten Island plant.

EX-KAISER IS 77 YEARS OLD—HEALTH GOOD

SAGE OF DOORN STILL CHOPS WOOD EVERY DAY

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 27. (AP)—White-bearded Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, former Kaiser of Germany, became 77 years old today, still proudly erect and enjoying firm health.

Formal observance of his birthday anniversary was postponed until Friday in respect to the memory of his cousin, King George of England who will be buried tomorrow at Windsor.

Even the exercises arranged for Friday were restricted to the family circle and immediate household.

To residents of this village, home of an imperial exile for 17 years, the event of a birthday anniversary in spacious Doorn house, nevertheless, was of unusual interest.

The increasing seclusion of the former Kaiser and the gradual limitation of his contacts with the villagers have made him a shadowy figure, seen only occasionally as a fast automobile glides through the streets.

There has been speculation over the thoughts of the sturdy former ruler of imperial Germany as he looks from the windows of Doorn house toward a re-arming third Reich.

Nothing has interested the former Kaiser more during the last year, informed sources said, than the decision of the nation he ruled before the world war to arm once more.

On the whole, these sources said, the man who fled across the border into the Netherlands views with the serenity of old age the events of Europe, both in Germany and elsewhere.

His daily routine goes on uninterrupted. He rises early, proceeds to his daily exercises, usually chopping wood, walks in a nearby park and

Mob Threatens To Lynch Slayer

FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 27. (AP)—A mob threat aroused officers to extreme precautions today as they hurried an accused child slayer from Folsom prison toward Fresno for arraignment on a first degree murder charge.

"Mob action is not only likely—it is a distinct possibility."

Thus warned Police Chief Frank Traux as officers drove Elton M. Stone over a secret route to Fresno.

Stone must answer today to a charge he killed 14-year-old Mary Louise Stammer, daughter of a prominent attorney.

'Miss Rumania' Slaying Puzzles

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 27. (AP)—Bucharest said today "Miss Rumania," adjudged in a nationwide contest to have been the prettiest girl in the country, and found dead under mysterious circumstances, may have been slain with a toothbrush.

The young woman, Tita Cristescu, a subtle beauty, was the winner of a contest, was first believed by authorities to have taken her own life, but after weeks of inquiry, they could find no wounds and no traces of common poisons.

A chemist finally found traces of a subtle poison in the girl's blood and police, resuming their investigation found the actress' toothbrush and other toilet articles had been dipped in the poison.

Authorities said, however, that there was still no apparent solution of the case.

NEW SESSION WILL NOT BE CALLED SOON

ALLRED DECIDES NOT TO CONVENE THE LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 (AP)—Governor Allred announced today there would be no special session of the legislature immediately.

"There will be no immediate special session of the legislature," the governor said. "If it becomes necessary to call one later I shall do so."

"It is not good business to call the legislature to consider raising additional money for old-age pensions until pension organization had been completed."

The governor explained that each application for a pension must be investigated, and although applicants who had been on relief rolls would be investigated first, data accumulated by relief officials did not give all information required by law.

"The old-age pension law passed by the legislature did not receive sufficient votes to go into immediate effect," he said. "It will become effective Feb. 14."

"Notwithstanding it has had no legal status, the old age assistance commission had been working hard without compensation. This is a stupendous task, but application blanks will be ready for distribution Feb. 14 the date the law becomes effective."

NEVER MIND THE LADY

Chapter 37 TRAVELING LIGHT

The constive steamer from the capital followed a long, tropical shoreline, nosed into the harbor proper, proceeding slowly under the direction of a native pilot, gingerly feeling the way through waters that recently had been infested with mines.

The long stolid phalanx of sun-baked roofs spread out before her, coming right down to the long ship pling front with its warehouses and cranes and coffee chutes.

When she landed at her berth, a slim girl dressed in tropical white with a gay touch of color in the form of a silken, purple scarf about her throat stepped ashore into atmosphere of humming chutes, starting sweating coffee porters, jabbering hybrid tongues, and nosy steamship cranes.

"It was queer to see a girl landing alone, queerer still to see that nobody met her. White women of her type didn't come to Propionaire unattached."

This girl wore dark glasses against the glare of the sun, and if she felt stung and alone in that stunted smelly part of the world, she didn't show it. Her hair was elastic and she moved quickly and surely across the dock toward the customs house, a steward carrying two suitcases following her.

Allaire West was traveling light this trip. Usually she had several trunks, also a maid.

"Oh, please say something, Terry," the girl begged. "I know you're surprised—but consider you act as if you liked it."

He didn't say anything for a moment. He couldn't. Willett's fingers, which were suddenly like those of a small child's. He stared incredulously, the tan ebbing from his cheeks and the sound of many waterfalls in his ears.

There was another crash as a glass fell from Willett's fingers, which were suddenly like those of a small child's. He stared incredulously, the tan ebbing from his cheeks and the sound of many waterfalls in his ears.

Phillips 66 Of Borger To Become An Amarillo Team

Metro Park Leased By Prominent Club

AMARILLO, Jan. 27.—The Athletic Association of the Phillips Petroleum company will bring the famous Phillips '66' baseball team to Amarillo and make it strictly an Amarillo institution.

The team has been playing out of Borger for several years. In announcing that a deal had been consummated whereby they acquired the lease on Metro park, Phillips officials said they intended to repair and remodel the baseball plant and bring to Amarillo a semi-pro nine second to none in the Southwest.

Inasmuch as the Phillips company maintains general offices here the idea to sponsor a baseball team in Amarillo has been in mind for several seasons. Some of the players now working in Borger will be retained. Others will be brought in. As many players as can be accommodated by available positions here will live and work in Amarillo.

Plan Great Ball Club
A. A. "Dutch" Kaufold, local Phillips employe and a leader in the movement to bring a first-rate team to Amarillo said last night that the Phillips '66' team will park in first-class condition.

Work on repairing the fence, grandstand and diamond will start within a few days. A lighting system for night play will be installed soon. The lighting plant will include spotlights that will shine on the park lots.

S. C. Huth and A. O. Bueez, Phillips employes in Borger, signed the contract to lease Metro park as did Kaufold.

The Phillips men said they wanted the public to know that they realize their first task is to get a baseball team that will measure up to the wishes of Amarillo fans.

"While we will go to a great expense to fix up Metro park and we will have a large investment, we know that we must have a great ball club," said Kaufold. "We are going into this entirely on our own. Amarillo fans will not be asked to contribute one cent toward the building up of the team. Phillips '66' is going to bid for baseball patronage with a cracker-jack team and a plant superior to any in West Texas."

R. F. and C. B. Rittenberry, owners of Metro park, were elated over the leasing of the plant to Phillips.

"We ought to have what Amarillo baseball fans have long dreamed of," said C. B. Rittenberry. "For Phillips '66' is the sort to do things in a big way."

One of the Phillips officials declared there is nothing inconsistent in associating the company with baseball in Amarillo. "Why, the first gallon of gas that the company sold retail was sold right here in Amarillo. It was the home of Phillips in many respects and we intend to give her the kind of baseball we know she wants," was a part of the announcement to the press.

Exciting Campaign Expected
Alamo Stadium in Borger, the previous home of the Phillips '66' nine, has been leased to the Huber Carbon Black company.

The announcement that Amarillo would be home of the Phillips '66' nine presages an exciting campaign for Panhandle baseball fans this summer. Huber, Pampa-Danciger-Road Runners, and Colfax at LeFors have been adding strength to their teams. Competition in this semi-pro field will be double-tough and Amarillo fans may look forward to a season of delightful thrills, for the Phillips nine will give this city a team that can cope with anybody.

Announcements as to the personnel of the team will be made later. Officials are going to proceed cautiously in developing the Amarillo team, in developing the best players available.

"All positions on the team, including that of manager are wide open," the Phillips representative declared.

REWARD FOR 'SPIRIT'
FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Perspective may reward Metro Karaffa of Toronto, O., with the Colorado State football letter he didn't earn in actual combat.

Karaffa, a senior, turned out regularly for practice for three seasons although playing but rarely. The athletic council decided his spirit should win him a recommendation for a football sweater, which he will get if he meets scholastic requirements satisfactorily.

George Perry and Gene McCann of the Yankee front office have the best gag. "When they want a day off, they go into Business Manager Ed Barrow's office and pull a sneeze or two. Colonel Barrow, who wants no part of anybody's cold, promptly orders them home. . . . Just in case you're interested, Postmaster General, Perry and James Toy Johnston who fell out over Jimmy Walker, have kissed and made up."

Just a day or so before he was sold to the Red Sox, Cleveland offered $125,000 cash for Jimmie Fox. Which probably means Fox sees the Sox around 150 G's. . . . May not be news, but Luis Angel Firpo is busted again. . . . Last year's head coaches at Tennessee, Tulane and William and Mary will function as new lieutenants next season.

What about the exclusive Longwood Cricket club, with a membership 90 per cent Harvard, electing a Princeton man president? . . . The era of democracy, what? . . . Rival factions in the Brooklyn

FIRST DOWN -AND THEN SOME BY HARRY GRAYSON

Connie Mack collected between $400,000 and $500,000 and several broken bats from the rich Red Sox for Jimmy Fox, Roger Cramer, Eric McNair, and Johnny Marcum.

Fox and Cramer, key men in the transaction, cost the A's little or nothing, and no records for purchasing prices were established when McNair and Marcum came up from Memphis and Louisville, respectively.

J. Franklin Baker found Fox on a Maryland farm and practically presented the big boy with the bulging muscles to his old mentor. Cy Perkins, then with the A's, discovered Cramer when he dropped in at Beach Haven, N. J., to umpire a game in July, 1928.

Perkins, or rather Mack, was rewarded with Cramer, the fastest big man in baseball, in return for the obliging catcher doing a friend a favor.

"We had an off Sunday and Mickey Cochrane and I decided to spend the afternoon at Atlantic City," relates Perkins, current coach of the Detroit Tigers. "I had made a half promise to umpire a game at Beach Haven, but thought it would be more fun swimming and laying around in the sand."

"When we got to Atlantic City, I telephoned a friend of mine, who was promoting the game, and told him that I would like to duck the umpiring job. He replied that he had advertised that I would umpire and that it was too late to back out."

The game was between Beach Haven and Manahawken, another Jersey town. I'd fully decided to shove off after a couple of innings but there was a young fellow playing shortstop for Beach Haven, who caused me to hesitate. After he hit a home run the first time up and made two or three swell stops, I made up my mind to stick out the nine innings and see more of him.

He was a left-handed hitter. He was plenty green but big, fast, and strong—a natural ball player. If there ever was one before the game was half over, he was pitching. They said that he could play any position. Anybody could see that he got a big kick out of the game. I wondered what colored boy his big league club had a string on him.

"Finally the game was finished and I talked to the kid. I knew by then that his name was Cramer and that they called him Doc. He got the name of his home town because he liked to trot around with a friend who was a physician."

"I asked him what he did for a living. He said he was a carpenter. I'm not sure but I think he told me that he was getting $20 a week. "I told him that a boy who could play ball like he could was wasting his time as a carpenter and that he should go to Philadelphia and let Connie Mack look at him."

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (AP)—Here is something for the Joe Louis scoffers to think about. Artie McGovern has seen 'em come and go. He is Jack Dempsey's best friend.

But did you read what he said—that Dempsey, in his prime, wouldn't last two rounds with Louis? That colored boy is the stuff, folks. . . . Don't let anyone kid you about that.

George Perry and Gene McCann of the Yankee front office have the best gag. "When they want a day off, they go into Business Manager Ed Barrow's office and pull a sneeze or two. Colonel Barrow, who wants no part of anybody's cold, promptly orders them home. . . . Just in case you're interested, Postmaster General, Perry and James Toy Johnston who fell out over Jimmy Walker, have kissed and made up."

Just a day or so before he was sold to the Red Sox, Cleveland offered $125,000 cash for Jimmie Fox. Which probably means Fox sees the Sox around 150 G's. . . . May not be news, but Luis Angel Firpo is busted again. . . . Last year's head coaches at Tennessee, Tulane and William and Mary will function as new lieutenants next season.

PRETTY POSIES FOR POP

POLISTS TIE PLAINVIEW IN 6 TO 6 MATCH

TWO MEN INJURED IN HARD RIDING OF AFTERNOON

By showing almost unbelievable improvement, the Pampa polo team yesterday afternoon held the crack Plainview El Rojo team to a 6 to 6 tie after dropping a 9 to 2 decision on Saturday afternoon. Because of the intense cold, the teams decided not to play off the tie. A large crowd saw the game.

Their team play working more smoothly and their riding far above that of the opening game, the local players soundly outplayed the veteran Plainview aggregation. The score should have been 6 to 5 in favor of Pampa but one of the local players, in the heat of battle, shoved the ball between his own goal posts.

On Saturday afternoon the Pampa players, under fire for the first time, were nervous and failed to take advantage of their superior mounts. They broke slowly and failed to stop in time to return to position and guard their men. Yesterday the story was different. Time after time the Pampa got the jump on their more experienced opponents.

Their pivoted their horses "on a dime" and gave a much smoother exhibition of team work. Two accidents marred the day. Leon Mounts received a broken bone in his nose when struck by a flying mallet, and Dr. M. C. Overton suffered a badly bruised leg in a collision. One of Dr. Overton's horses, High Cloud, sprang a leg.

Another accident will be out for a few days. He is one of the fastest and best polo horses in the local string. The local lineup was slightly switched yesterday. Arthur Dwyer going to the No. 1 position and Dr. Overton switching to the No. 2 position. Pampa took the ball on the top-in and took it down the field. Huff missing a shot by inches, Plainview, combining nicely, carried the ball up the field with Cramer scoring. Repeating a few minutes later, Stephenson added for Plainview after a Pampa foul.

Unaffected by the Plainview lead, the Pampans came back strong in the second chukker with Wiley Reynolds sending the ball between the posts. Huff evened the count a minute later. A Pampa player sent Plainview into the lead near the whistle. Norris added another to Pampa's tally.

Dwyer scored for Pampa in the third chukker when Overton and Cooper teamed to take the ball up the field into scoring position. Huff then took a hand in the proceedings and Dwyer came from behind to score.

"I told him that a boy who could play ball like he could was wasting his time as a carpenter and that he should go to Philadelphia and let Connie Mack look at him."

"Connie liked him as a prospect at once. He sent him to Martinsburg, W. Va., where Earl Mack was managing the club in the Blue Ridge League. Thief Hunted In N. Y. Skyscraper
NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (AP)—A hundred policemen swarmed through the 63-story Woolworth tower today, peering around corners and into nooks seeking a petty thief who shot and wounded a watchman.

The search, both spectacular and fantastic, brought 200 officers at its peak and kept light winking from the roof to the basement, throughout the night.

It began at 1 p. m. yesterday when Tony Ferrone, 41, the watchman, grappled with the intruder and was shot in the shoulder.

Officers guarded every exit and began a systematic hunt, believing the thief still was inside armed and dangerous.

After eight hours a sixth floor window 10 feet above an adjoining roof was found open. Footprints in the snow indicated a man had dropped and made his way to a fire escape.

Customary Hawaiian hospitality was accorded Glenn Warner and his college all-stars in Honolulu, where they appeared in post-season football games. Temple University's famous coach smiles as he is bedecked with pretty flowers by prettier Hawaiian Misses.

GRABBLING FOR FIFTY-POUND CATFISH IS 'WINTER SPORT'

DALLAS, Jan. 25. (AP)—Grabbling, a winter diversion that combines some of the finer points of water polo, alligator wrestling, deep sea fishing and pig-sticking, is finding new devotees among the more foolhardy East Texas sportsmen.

Your equipment for grabbling is simple. It consists of a hat, a well-sharpened hook, a fishing net, a pair of pants, a pair of shoes, and a pair of gloves.

To grabble, you peel off your clothes, wade into almost any sluggish stream, and feel with your toes along rocks and submerged logs on the bottom for giant catfish. The ideal prospecting, however, is not the sport. That comes when you have found your fish, given for him, and engaged him with the hay hook.

The issue becomes a matter of whether the fish pulls you in or whether you pull him out. A first-class grabbler will not fritter his time and talent away on anything but the National Collegiate A. A. mile title, suffered a fractured leg when run over by a truck and barely escaped an amputation.

Would-be track stars have three models to study this week when Glenn Cunningham, who says he suffers in a schoolhouse fire, leads a big collection of famous runners, jumpers and weight tossers into Madison Square Garden for the 200-yard dash.

The Kansas developed his running ability because he had to exercise his legs to make them strong after that injury.

Bill Bonthron, Princeton's great miler, also was burned as a child and now it develops that Archie San Romani, the Emporia Teachers college ace, who is slated to run against the Kansas in the Wanamaker mile, went through similar development.

GRID STAR UBL IS GOING TO MARRY 'REASON' HE IS ALIVE
DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 27. (AP)—My Ubl, whose football career at the University of Minnesota was blighted by a near-fatal injury, disclosed today he's going to marry the "reason" he's alive.

The "reason" is Carolyn Olson, a blonde, blue-eyed United Airlines stewardess on the Chicago-Cheyenne hop, who, in the fall of 1932, was a senior nursing student in Minneapolis.

Ubl, graduated Saturday by Drake university, explained that "Carolyn has a first mortgage on my life at 100 per cent interest. I'm going to deed it to her soon with a marriage license."

Early in the 1932 football season Ubl suffered a crushed chest in scrimmage pneumonia set in.

under a fifty pound mud cat and very often the fish wins. One man who made the tactical mistake of tying the hay hook to his wrist tackled a cat too big to be handled had to be pulled out by his companions along with the fish which dragged him into a deep hole in the Navasota river.

The big cats, fishermen explain, become somewhat sluggish in the winter and during that season especially like to nestle on the bottom of a muddy river. Often they will scarcely move when the grabbler's toes give them a tentative push, but this gives the fisherman time to dive and set the hook preferably in the gills. One good feel of the hay hook makes the fish forget his laziness and come out fighting.

Among the hazards of grabbling are pneumonia, catfish mouth, moccasins, alligators, and ordinary drowning.

GREAT MILERS SUFFERED LEG INJURIES DURING CHILDHOOD
NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (AP)—Serious leg injuries during childhood apparently are what make champion milers.

OHIO STATE'S GRID PLAYERS ARE ABSOLVED

CHARGES OF GOVERNOR ARE DECLARED UNTRUE

CHICAGO, Jan. 27. (AP)—In a double barreled ruling today that Ohio State football players whose names appeared on the state payroll at Columbus were absolved from all charges and insinuations.

Two individual reports were made, clearing the athletes in the Western conference, and the other by the Big Ten committee on the infraction of rules, acting as a high court of inquiry. Members of the infraction committee were Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus, of the University of Indiana and Prof. A. C. Callen of the University of Illinois.

The investigation resulted from a statement attributed to Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio last October when he was quoted as saying: "We have done everything we can to help the Ohio State team and have most of the football squad on the state payroll."

Later Gov. Davey explained in substance that he was only joking, but the investigation was demanded of Major Griffith by the Ohio State athletic board.

"After careful investigation and close study of the evidence," Griffith's report read, "it seems clear, first, that the 15 football men who were employed by the state of Ohio from Nov. 1, 1934, to Nov. 1, 1935, obtained their appointments on their own initiative and through the help of personal friends; second, that they were paid at the same rate as others who were not engaged in athletics; third, that there was no disproportion in the number of jobs held by athletes, and fourth, that their work was so arranged that it would not interfere with their university studies."

In collecting the evidence, Griffith obtained signed statements from each of the 15 players, obtained statements from the heads of the state departments giving the number of students employed, the work performed and their pay. Further, Governor Davey wrote a letter outlining the requirements for their work and the work done by the players.

SOUTHERN ACCENT
FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 27. (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, accustomed to answering every variety of query in interviews with school children, was stumped today.

"Admiral Byrd, did you acquire your southern accent at the south pole?" asked a young woman seriously.

Byrd's eyebrows lifted. Then he smilingly explained he is from Virginia.

Arkansas And Texas Leading In Conference

(By The Associated Press.)
Teams from the Texas and Arkansas universities continue to lead the Southwest conference basketball race, although neither played last week.

The one game this week, Texas Christian vs. Baylor at Waco on Saturday night, cannot disclose any of the top four, Texas, Arkansas, Rice and Southern Methodist. Final examinations are responsible for the short schedules last week and this week.

If the Baylor Bears lose, they will sink back into the cellar position from which they climbed last week by defeating the Texas Aggies, 27 to 13.

They will have the Aggies as champions, however, as the Aggies will remain on the bottom no matter what happens this week. If the Bears win, they will climb from sixth to fifth place, pushing Texas Christian down to sixth.

A Texas Christian victory would give the Horned Frogs a tie for fourth place with the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Five days before the Aggies bowed to Baylor they defeated T. C. U., 20 to 19, and prompted Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyers to promise new players would be seen in the Frog uniforms on Saturday night.

Rice achieved third place in the only other game last week by winning, 42 to 25, over the Mustangs.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27. (AP)—Al Gordon, who joked at death, is dead.

The veteran automobile race pilot from Long Beach, Calif., blew a tire on the 199th lap of a 200-lap grind at Ascot speedway yesterday, and the machine crashed over the retaining wall.

Gordon died a short time later. His skull fractured, chest crushed. His mechanic, "Spider" Matlock, known as "the man of a thousand crack-ups," is in a critical condition.

reced through to the finish with Rex Mays, Riverside, Calif., the winner. Mrs. Helen Gordon and one of their two sons sat in the grandstand. They were out of sight, however, of the accident scene.

Talmadge, Kirby To Denounce But Offer No Plans

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 27 (AP)—John H. Kirby, co-sponsor with Governor Eugene Talmadge of the Macon convention of anti-Roosevelt democrats, said today the purpose of the Jan. 29 meeting is "to consider the plight of democracy" rather than to offer a presidential candidate.

The wealthy Texas lumberman was in Atlanta to confer with the governor on final plans for the convention which is expected by its leaders to draw delegates from 17 southern and border states.

Kirby heads an organization calling itself the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution. Regarding its policies, he said: "We have no candidate. We are going to Macon to consider the plight of democracy over the whole country."

Much of the pre-convention discussion has centered on the possibility that Talmadge might emerge as a nominee for the presidency.

There have been rumors also, denied by both the governor and representatives of Kirby, that the meeting would resolve itself into a test of strength between Talmadge and the Texan.

Vance Muse of Houston, who was in Macon Saturday arranging for the convention, said Kirby and Governor Talmadge "are united wholeheartedly in their determination to do everything possible to move Mr. Roosevelt out of the White House."

He contended no party ever had or ever could conform strictly to its platform. Barring interruptions, Woodrum told the house "License" not liberty is the object of the American Liberty league—license to pillage and plunder and control the functions of government."

In its membership, he said, "are republicans who are always ready to join any honorable activity which will bring confusion to the democratic party; the second class is a small group of disgruntled, disillusioned 'has-beens' and the third are political non-descripts who join their forces with either party which they think can be controlled to their benefit."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Silent for the most part, new deal leaders today charted their campaign strategy in view of Alfred E. Smith's threat to "take a walk" if the democratic convention in June endorses what Smith assails as socialism.

Whether the administration will speak softly in an effort to prevent a wide-open schism in the party, or whether it will go at Smith hammer and tongs is expected to be known shortly.

Closed in his office, Senator Robinson (D. Ark.), majority leader of the senate and Smith's running mate in 1928, was at work on a reply he will deliver to a nationwide radio audience at 9:45 p. m. CST, tomorrow night.

serve their oaths to uphold the constitution, Byrns said: "I don't think he has any business telling us what our duty to the constitution is. Every member of congress appreciates his responsibility and obligation to the constitution."

"He can point to the Supreme Court. But three judges in the AAA decision didn't agree with the other six. The fact that legislation has been declared unconstitutional doesn't mean that congress and the president deliberately tried to pass unconstitutional legislation."

"The president tried to conform to the platform and the constitution," Byrns said in a press conference.

"Don't forget that platform was written in June, 1932, and President Roosevelt was confronted with a condition in March, 1933. He had to do something or we would have gone to smash."

Banging his desk, he demanded whether Smith would have "done nothing."

League Wants License "In 1895 some good democrats said they would 'walk out.' They got 186,000 votes in the whole country."

To that Bankhead added: "I remember when in 1928 it would have been convenient for many of us to have 'taken a walk.'"

"I'm from a prohibition district in Alabama, probably the driest state in the union."

"But he was not asking us to take a walk then, he said stick to the party."

He contended no party ever had or ever could conform strictly to its platform.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The stock market apparently experienced a few more inflationary twinges today and prices pushed up fractions to a point or more. There was considerable profit taking near the finish.

A fast buying flurry followed the senate's repassage of the soldiers' bonus bill over the president's veto. The pace slowed later. The close was firm.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Inflation possibilities did a good deal today to make wheat prices average slightly higher.

Houses with eastern connections and were followed to some extent by millers. Disappointing overseas demand was noted, owing partly to closing of Liverpool and Winnipeg exchanges tomorrow for King George's funeral.

Wheat closed firm at the same as Saturday's finish to 1/4 higher, May 1.01 1/2, corn 1/4 off, May 80c, oats and 1/4 down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

GRAIN TABLE

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27 (AP)—The market held narrowly around opening levels during the morning as the volume of business dried up and offerings appeared to be checked.

How far would Smith go on that "walk"—a word which was generally interpreted to mean a bolt from the convention? Would he strive actively to unseat President Roosevelt, even to the extent of backing another ticket, or would he merely refer to an inactive status, perhaps taking a trip to Europe during the campaign?

These were some of the many questions being asked as political experts sought to foretell the effect on Mr. Roosevelt's fortunes at the polls.

"I have heard it raised by reactionary elements and republicans in my state for a quarter of a century."

Barley Replies. Speaking in the same forum, Senator Barkley (D. Ky.) referred ironically to "those who had become apostles of Thomas Jefferson in the last few months."

BONUS

Robinson Opposes Plan. Among chief administration leaders voting to override Mr. Roosevelt were Robinson, the democratic leader, Chairman Harrison of the finance committee, and Senator Lewis of Illinois, the party whip.

Compared with the previous 74 to 16 vote in the senate, today's ballot showed not a single switch from the affirmative side. Adding to the "ayes" today were Senators Metcalf (R-Id) and Wheeler (D-Mont) who were paired for the bill before.

The "nays" or those voting to sustain the veto, picked up three votes from Connally (D-Tex) and Fletcher (D-Ala), paired against previously, and from Tydings (D-Md) the only senator not recorded last time.

Democrats Chided. Senator Hastings (R-Del) said he had disagreed with the president on many things but in this instance he believed him right.

"I should think the president would be in a republican presidential year," he said indignantly, "when he finds that 85 per cent of those on the other side are voting against him."

Laughter greeted his remark that he felt "sorry" for the executive.

Further chiding the democrats Hastings said, "If a republican president had sent up this veto they would have blamed it on industrial autocrats; they would have blamed Mellon, or Mills and the Liberty league with all its 'crooks.'"

Hastings recited part of Secretary Morgenthau's radio address before the senate finance committee and repeated verbally his statement that:

"The minute I can't raise the money to finance the government, that minute you have complete chaos."

When the president does attempt to stop such expenditures as the bonus, Hastings said, "it seems to me it should receive some reasonable responses."

The three northern Italian forces are meeting not only stubborn resistance, but winter rains as well. Ethiopian officials say the attackers probably will be bogged down for the next few weeks.

Still no definite word has emerged from the battle fronts to substantiate what was noted, owing partly to week's three-day battle near Makale, in which thousands of casualties have been established but in which both the Italians and the Ethiopians claimed the upper hand.

An indication that the Italians have at least, held the ground they gained in the south was seen in a dispatch from Addis Ababa, saying that Emperor Haile Selassie now has ordered his commander in the south, Ras Desta Demtu, to make a stand against the Italian advance.

Farm Committee Still Skeptical

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Members of the senate agriculture committee were reported still skeptical of the administration's new farm bill today after Secretary Wallace had discussed its constitutionality and practicability at a short session.

After the meeting Chairman Smith (D. S. C.) said "Secretary Wallace and Chester A. Davis, farm administrator, explained why they believed the bill as now written is constitutional and practicable at a short session."

"There is no evidence as far as I can see of any matured opinion on those points as to this bill," Smith said.

He added that the committee had invited Solicitor General Stanley Reed to appear tomorrow "as he made the oral argument before the supreme court from which came the adverse decision on the three A's."

Senators Schweikert (D. Wash.), Moore (D. N. J.), and Shipstead (R. Minn.), joined in saying generally that little progress was made at the session.

The house agriculture committee did not meet. Chairman Jones (D. Tex.) said: "We are working on the legislation, and will consider it further tomorrow."

Cubbing Will Be Urged his Week

The Cubbing movement will be explained to parents of boys 9, 10, and 11 years of age in a three-session program at Sam Houston school.

With A. L. Patrick in charge, meetings will be in the school auditorium at 7:15 o'clock tonight, tomorrow night, and Thursday night.

Parents attending all three meetings will be awarded a certificate by the national Boy Scout organization. Mr. Patrick is anxious to have a large group attend the meetings.

Cubbing is for boys not old enough to be Boy Scouts. The youngsters are given excellent training under competent leaders. The move was started here by Mr. Patrick who has a large group of boys enrolled.

Any parent in the city is invited to attend the sessions but a special invitation is extended to parents of boys of Cubbing age or who will be eligible to join within the next year or two.

Matlock, mechanic and stunt artist, succumbed to internal injuries while his wife and 10-year-old boy kept iglu outside his room. Gordon, his skull fractured and chest crushed, died in a hospital, a short time after the accident.

SECURITY

8. Homeless and neglected children. 9. Persons requiring public health assistance.

Workers will draw benefits in old age and unemployment as their right; either because they have reached the retirement age, or because they are out of work.

The needy will draw benefits simply because they are needy. Workers' funds will be built up through taxes on both employers and workers, and will not come from state or federal treasuries.

The needy will get their help from funds set up by the treasuries of states and the federal government. In 1942, when all portions of the act have begun to pay benefits, it is estimated, roughly, there will be an annual national purse of $4,458,170,000 ready to care for the misfortunes of some 8,094,614 people.

Financial Back-Log. It is not expected that the full purse will be spent each year, since the benefits will be limited by the number of people who qualify for them. However, the reserve will be there as a back-log against a recurrence of the suffering that grew from the depression.

The act is considered, particularly in the workers' provision, as a huge national insurance plan, and not a dole. Experts who formulated the act say it will, in effect, force individual citizens to save against a rainy day. Workers and employers will save together, through taxes, against the day when old age or depression push working men and women out of the ranks of the self-supporting.

Insofar as the act does that, it is expected to relieve state and federal treasuries of the need for a wholesale relief program such as FERA.

The two workers' provisions — old age insurance and unemployment compensation — are considered by far the most important parts of the act.

States Have Responsibility. Taxes for the unemployment provision began on New Year's day. All employers of eight or more people, with some exceptions, are now liable for a tax of one per cent on their payrolls. This need not be paid until the end of the year. The unemployment tax will amount to two per cent in 1937 and to three per cent thereafter.

No unemployed person will receive benefits under the law unless he lives in a state which has an unemployment compensation law approved by the security board. But, even if the state has no such law, the employers will be taxed.

Taxes for the old age insurance plan will begin next January. They will fall alike on employer and worker, rising from one per cent in 1937 to three per cent in 1949. The employer will pay taxes on his payroll, and the worker will pay on his wages. Payments under this plan will start in January, 1942, to all qualified workers 65 or older.

For all other provisions of the act, federal funds are ready as soon as the states have plans which meet the requirements of the security act, and as soon as they have voted appropriations to match the federal grants.

TOMORROW: The rights and duties of workers under the old age and unemployment compensation provisions of the security act.

Prosecutor III In Hamlin Trial

FARWELL, Jan. 27 (AP)—Attorneys for George S. Hamlin, on trial for the hammer slaying of his wife at Amarillo last January, read depositions today in support of the defense theory of insanity.

The depositions were by physicians and other persons who knew the defendant at Oakland, Calif., where he formerly served as a fireman. Each expressed the belief that Hamlin was of unsound mind.

The trial continued despite an illness which confined E. A. Simpson, special prosecutor, to his hotel room at Clovis, N. M. He was under the care of a nurse.

Owner Explains Burning of Car

H. E. Lett, employee of the Magnolia Petroleum company, production department, was the owner of the car which burned north of the city Saturday night. He caught a ride to town to call the fire department but it had already received a call when he arrived at the station.

Mr. Lett told garagemen that his gas line had given him trouble and that on two or three occasions he had to "blow it out." His battery ran down and he had to crank it. He had some redwood in the back of the car and gas had apparently sprayed on it. When the car backfired the wood caught fire and burned fiercely.

Professor Would Tax Bachelors And Old Maids

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Professor Frank G. Dickinson, sociologist, recommended today that taxes to meet old age pension costs be levied on bachelors, spinsters, and childless married couples.

Originator of a mathematical system of rating college teams, Prof. Dickinson, of the University of Illinois, advanced his theory in a talk prepared for delivery before a luncheon meeting of the Union League club.

Sociology, he said, recognizes that no generation repays the cost of its rearing to the parents who labored, worried, and economized, but that this debt is discharged as each generation rears another group of children.

"Those adults who furnish no offspring, dodge, avoid and refuse payment for their own conception, birth and rearing," he said. "If they refuse voluntarily to pay their debt to society the state should tax them to pay the cost of old age assistance."

"Adults without progeny should bear this burden! That is social security with social justice."

Prof. Dickinson said he had no definite plan of taxation to propose, but suggested that the federal security act be changed to provide for revenue through a tax on incomes of the unwed and childless.
