Reds Announce Plans To Start Tests In Atmosphere

Soviets Say Blame Rests 'On US Alone'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday night announced it is resuming nuclear tests in the atmosphere. It said the blame rested on the United States "and it alone."

The Tass news agency announcement did not set a date for the tests to begin.

The last Soviet series of tests was last fall. The Russians exploded 40 nuclear blasts, most of them in the atmosphere, breaking a three-year world moratorium on testing.

The United States resumed its testing this spring following the Soviet series.

But Tass, quoting a Soviet government statement, said the decision to resume testing once more was the fault of the United States.

"The explosions of the American nuclear bombs above Christmas and Johnston islands have produced their echo—they have made Soviet nuclear tests in replay inevitable," Tass said.

"In holding these tests all measures will be taken to reduce radioactive fallout to the minimum," it added. "The Soviet Union has achieved considerable results in this respect."

The Soviet announcement came amidst disarmament and nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva. It hinted of a possible agreement to end testing following this new series of explosions.

"Since the United States was the first to begin nuclear weapons tests and has held many more of them with its Allies than did the Soviet Union, the other side, the Soviet Union, which has invariably held its nuclear tests only in reply, has the right to be the last to hold nuclear tests in the world," it said.

The statement said the U.S. government knew that "if American nuclear bombs would begin to explode, the Soviet Union would be faced with the need to hold tests of its nuclear weapons."

"Consequently, the government of the U. S. was fully aware of what it was doing," it added. "On it and it alone depended whether the tests to which the Soviet Union had to resort in the fall of 1961 would be the last, or whether a new wave of nuclear tests would sweep our planet."

It said the United States is holding its current series of tests to achieve military supremacy over the Russians.

2 Sentenced To 30 Days

Two Ohio men were sentenced to 30 days in county jail Friday afternoon when they pleaded guilty in County Court on a charge of unlawful possession of firearms.

The two, Larry L. Mursich, 24; and David A. Ziwans, 26, both of Girard, Ohio, were apprehended Thursday afternoon, 10 blocks west of the Santa Fe Railroad station here when a tip was received from railroad officials that two men were riding in the dead-end engine of an east-bound freight train.

Officers said the men were carrying a duffel bag which contained a loaded .22 caliber Derringer and a .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Another man, identified as Charles E. Cole, 24, of Fort Worth, was also arrested, when officers found him in the engine.

Cole told officers he was just hitching a ride when he met the two men. He was released from jail Saturday morning.

Officers who investigated the incident said a report was received Thursday afternoon from (See OHIOIANS, Page 2)

Three From Local Area Get Cabot Scholarships

Two Pampa youths and one from Skellytown were among six winners of scholarships awarded by Cabot Corporation, Western Division, company representatives said Friday.

They are Raymond V. Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond V. Johnson, 413 Lowry; Suzanne Paden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd B. Paden, 309 N. Stark; and Drucilla Ann Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Duncan of Skellytown.

Raymond V. Johnson Jr. plans to study Liberal Arts at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, after a school term's stay in Switzerland as an American foreign exchange student.

Miss Paden plans to be an interpreter and will study at the University of Texas in Austin.

Miss Duncan is planning on entering school at West Texas State College, Canyon, in September to begin preparing for the role of a high school English teacher.

Other winners of the 1962 Cabot Western Region scholarships are Jill Marie Figurant of Ville Platte, La.; Charles W. Allmon of Franklin, La.; and Terry B. Bawcom of Wickett, Tex. Two Vacancy Scholarships were awarded this year and the recipients of these awards are James A. Twentier and Judith Ann Purdie, both of Wickett.

Purpose of the Cabot Scholarship Plan is to encourage and assist sons and daughters of Cabot Western Region employees in securing a college education by providing financial assistance.

"Each year the six scholarships of $500 each are awarded on a competitive basis to applicants chosen by the Scholarship Committee, which includes a representative from the University of Texas, University of Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Louisiana State University.

Normally, 24 scholarships are in effect each year as a scholarship applicant may receive a scholarship each year up to and including a total of not more than four academic years, provided he has maintained a scholastic record satisfactory to the Scholarship Committee and provided the parent has remained an employee of the company, except for reasons of retirement or death.

The scholarship money may be used for any purpose incidental to receiving a college education, and winners may attend the college or university of their choice, so long as they enter four-year degree programs in regionally accredited colleges or universities. They may also select the course of training they wish to follow.

Any son or daughter of a regular Cabot Western Region employee is eligible to compete for a scholarship provided the parent will have completed at least five years of service with the company at the time the scholarship becomes effective and provided the student is a graduate of high school or preparatory school. Children of deceased or retired employees are eligible if the parent had completed five years of service at the time of retirement or death.

Formation of a committee to promote the candidacy of Jack Seale for Congress from the 18th Congressional District was announced Saturday by a trio of prominent Amarillo citizens who described themselves as "abandoned Democrats."

Seale, the Republican mayor of Amarillo, will oppose Pampa's Rep. Walter Rogers, Democrat, who presently is serving the 18th District in Congress.

C. J. Humphrey, Amarillo attorney, announced at a Saturday news conference that he has accepted chairmanship of the committee. Humphrey, a former chairman for Rep. Rogers, said he had decided to support Seale because:

"We are convinced that Jack Seale would never support a farm program that would make virtual slaves of our farmers. We are convinced that he would never cast a vote... which would increase the tremendous national debt or restrict the liberty and freedom of our people."

Humphrey's reference was to Rep. Rogers' vote on June 22 for President Kennedy's so-called get-tough farm bill. The Kennedy farm bill would have imposed tight production controls on practically all grain growers beginning in 1963. However, it was defeated 215 to 205.

Rep. Rogers is scheduled to be in Pampa tomorrow as speaker at the monthly membership lunch.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—U. S. scientists repaired a balky space rocket Saturday and scheduled a new attempt to shoot a 446-pound probe toward the planet Venus for Sunday morning.

If the fantastically complex shot is successful, the Mariner-1 probe and its six experiments will hurtle more than 225 million miles across space and pass within 10,000 miles of the so-called "mystery planet" before the end of the year.

The launching, which may determine whether life could exist on Venus, is expected to go ahead regardless of whether a threatened strike in the U. S. missile and space industry is called.

Mariner-1, first of two U. S. shots at Venus scheduled for the current 50-day "ideal" firing period, originally was set for early Saturday. But the attempt was launched. He said the U. A. R. launched rockets from Egyptian soil 14 months ago, or two months before Israel's first announced test last July.

Saturday's was the first public launching of a rocket by an Arab nation. Israel's "weather rocket" was launched 50 miles into the sky on July 5, 1961, and drew strong verbal attacks from the Arab bloc.

Nasser said the rockets were now "in large scale production—otherwise, we couldn't have spared the four for testing." He said the rockets launched Saturday could be combined into a larger, multi-stage rocket and when asked if they carried atomic warheads said firmly: "No. We are against that."

The successful launchings came on the eve of the 10th anniversary of Nasser's revolution in which he deposed King Farouk. Nationwide celebrations were planned for Sunday.

Direct Distance Dialing Is Coming To Pampa At 7 O'Clock Monday Morning

Direct Distance Dialing, a new system which telephone engineers say is the most significant communications development since dial telephones, comes to Pampa and two other cities in the Texas Panhandle at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The new service will also be inaugurated for customers in Borger and in the Diamond, Drake and Evergreen exchanges in Amarillo when the changeover is made here.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell has been given the honor of making the first official call in a special ceremony.

Direct Distance Dialing, or DDD, is a system which permits telephone users to dial out of town calls direct to millions of telephones throughout the United States and Canada.

George Newberry, Southwestern Bell manager here, said scores of telephone personnel have worked for months to engineer and install the new system in the three Panhandle cities. In addition, hundreds of test calls have been made to points on the Direct Distance Dialing network to insure that the system is in perfect working order.

Newberry said years of planning have gone into this new system. One of the first steps was to change all Pampa, Borger, and Amarillo telephone numbers to the metropolitan system of two letters and five numerals, which was done several years ago. Newberry explained that this system is a necessity to make DDD work.

He said the United States and Canada are split into dialing areas. Each of these areas is assigned a three-digit code, and no area can be duplicated. The code assigned to Pampa, Borger, and Amarillo, for example, is 806. If any customer in one of these three cities places 806 in front of his telephone number, he has his own personal Long Distance telephone number — and there is no other like it in the world.

At 7 a.m. tomorrow technicians will pull some tiny plugs which have been wedged into electro-mechanical switches to keep them inoperable. Then the largest electro-mechanical brain in the world, the nation-wide Direct Distance Dialing network, will stand ready to take orders from all one and 2-party telephone customers in Pampa. ## Pampans' Son Gets Hospital Personnel Post In Amarillo

Assistant Administrator Is Hired Here

Ron Still, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Monday, 1913 N. Banks, has been named director of personnel for the Amarillo Hospital District, according to an announcement Saturday by F. S. Walters Jr., district administrator.

Still will replace B. W. Robertson on July 30. Robertson will become assistant administrator of Highland General Hospital here in Pampa. He has been personnel director of the Amarillo Hospital District for three years.

Still has been in the personnel department of Southwestern Investment Co. at Amarillo since May of 1959. He is a 1932 graduate of Pampa High School. Prior to joining SIC he served in personnel work with the Naval Reserve.

Chet C. Lander, administrator at Highland General, said Saturday Robertson will assume his duties Monday or Tuesday as assistant to Lander at the local hospital. No other personnel changes are contemplated at Highland, Lander stated.

Robertson is the son of Mrs. Bessie Robertson of Wheeler. He was graduated from Wheeler High School in 1949. He attended West Texas State College in Canyon where he was graduated in 1955.

He is married to the former Von Eva Hooker of Wheeler and the couple has two children.

Still will maintain his office at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

The monthly session also will feature a report of the chamber's Industrial Committee on plans for industrial promotion advertising for Pampa in The Wall Street Journal.

Johnny Watson, committee chairman, said the Industrial Committee has been working on the project for the past two weeks and will make a report on it to the membership.

Arabs Rocket Four Small Ones

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The United Arab Republic Saturday entered the space age by successfully launching in public four single-stage rockets that President Gamal Abdel Nasser said could reach "a little south of Beirut"—meaning Israel.

Nasser said the rockets were now "in large scale production—otherwise, we couldn't have spared the four for testing." He said the rockets launched Saturday could be combined into a larger, multi-stage rocket and when asked if they carried atomic warheads said firmly: "No. We are against that."

Youths Admit Thefts And Break-Ins Here

Three Pampa youths arrested in Sherman Wednesday and one apprehended here Thursday admitted to Police officers yesterday that they were responsible for five thefts, one breaking and entering and four automobile thefts since May 28.

Two of the juveniles were involved in a breaking and entering of the S&J Grocery, E. Frederick and Barnes, July 2, and in thefts from Strickland's Grocery, 838 E. Frederick, and B. F. Goodrich Co., 108 S. Cuyler.

Three of the boys netted $40 in sales tax money and cigarette vending machine change from the Highland Drive-In, 1700 N. Hobart, July 9; three pairs of cowboy boots valued at $85.50 and three leather billfolds, worth $17.50 from Stapleton's Boot and Leather Shop, 612 E. Hobart.

Three of the boys attempted a break-in of the Truf Club, 117 1/2 Foster, July 7, but failed to pry open a rear window.

One youth admitted taking two "fifths" of whiskey from the Service Liquor Store No. 2, 329 E. Brown, May 28 and told officers he had taken small items from the IGA Food Liner, 600 S. Cuyler.

Three of the youths were apprehended Tuesday in Sherman after they had abandoned a 1955 Chevrolet taken from L. N. Nail's home, 117 N. Nelson, July 16. They left the Chevrolet in Sayre, Okla., took another automobile from Sayre and drove to Sherman.

Two other automobiles, a 1951 Chevrolet, taken from J. C. Daniels Auto Salvage, 219 Tyng, July 14, and a 1947 Chevrolet Panel from Culberson Chevrolet Inc., 212 N. Ballard, July 13, have also been recovered.

spokesmen said the rockets had a range of 235 and 372 miles. Cairo is 250 airline miles from Tel Aviv.

Saturday's launchings involved two kinds of single-stage rockets, the 40-foot Al-Qahir (Conqueror) and the smaller Az-Zafir (Victor). The large one reached an altitude of 372 miles and the smaller one 235 miles. Two of each were fired.

Nasser watched the firings from a concrete bunker about 100 yards from the launching pad area. Sixty newsmen, most of them foreign correspondents, watched from a desert oasis six miles from the base. Nasser drove to the oasis 30 minutes after the last firing for an unscheduled news conference.

Asked the rockets' military significance, Nasser said, "the only military significance is in the range they reach." Asked their exact range Nasser drew laughter from some newsmen by replying "a little south of Beirut"—an obvious reference to Lebanon's southern neighbor, Israel.

Train Window Broken

Pampa Police Department received a report of $15 damage to a caboose window of the Santa Fe Railroad Company at 200 E. Atchison, at 4:25 p.m. Friday.

Purpose of that meeting, he stated, will be to organize the committee and plan its activities for the campaign.

Humphrey's statement, read to newsmen Saturday in Amarillo, said in part:

"I rejoice to be one of the many thousands of Panhandle citizens who are concerned and alarmed about the socialistic patterns, policies and politics contaminating our government, our leaders and our representatives.

"Sorrowfully and almost hopelessly, I have watched the sound and sacred policies of constitutional government and its safeguards be destroyed by the purposeful planning of men who have no faith in either the American system of government or in our people.

"What can I do? How can I be heard? This is the cry of multitudes of our Panhandle citizens — our farmers — our physicians — our laborers — our ranchers — and our merchants.

"It is for this reason that we abandoned Democrats and Independent voters — citizens all — have banded ourselves together in unity of spirit and purpose to promote the candidacy of Jack Seale for U.S. Representative from the 18th Congressional District of Texas."

38 Accidents In City So Far In July

The Pampa Police Department has released the monthly report of accidents in Pampa's city limits. Only one fatal accident has occurred in Pampa this year, to date.

July of 1961 had 41 accidents, compared with three less so far this month making 38 the total. Injuries occurred in nine mishaps with 11 persons injured. In the year's total of 231 injuries, eight less persons were injured, compared to last year's total of 239 injuries. Total amount of damage for July is $9,775.63.

"All burglaries put together wouldn't come to one-tenth of the automobile damage," James O. Dumas, assistant chief of police, said.

Of the ages involved, the ones with most accidents in July were 18-19, eight; 25-34, 10; 35-44, 11 and 45-54, eight.

Men, with 43 accidents, had 23 more than women.

Highest contributing cause was failure to yield right of way, eight. Others were improper turn, six; following too closely, five; and speeding, three.

Daytime accidents totaled 26 and night, eight.

DDD System

change-over operation will be as simple as turning on the lights in a telephone office.

DDD is simple to use, telephone officials say. Experience with the system in other cities has shown that it is almost as easy to dial across the nation as to call a next door neighbor. For instance, if a customer wanted to call Fort Worth, ED 6-6520, all he would have to dial "1" for long distance, 817, the area code, and the telephone number, ED 6-6520.

Hundreds of electronic switches will go into action. Equipment will determine where the call is going, select a route, test the lines and switches to be sure everything is in proper working order, forward the information to CAMA, the automatic billing machine, then send the call on its way.

At this time customers may notice a slight pause when nothing seems to be happening. Actually, the call is moving through electronic equipment so delicate that it does not always create audible sounds.

"But," said Newberry, "the distant phone will ring in less a time than you can talk about it."

DA's Assistant Says Jail Is Not For Use As Hotel

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (UPI)— The San Miguel County jail is not a hotel but a place of correction, said Asst. Dist. Atty. E. R. Cooper last week after finding evidence to the contrary.

A search of the jail Monday turned up 36 empty wine bottles, a quantity of unidentified pills and a rope made of blankets with a wire in it, Cooper said.

The search was touched off when one prisoner "was so doped up I couldn't talk to him," he said.

"The jail is a place of correction, not a hotel. Prisoners are to eat prison food and are not to have other food brought to them," Cooper, said that unless the sheriff's office took some action to keep liquor and drugs out of the jail, his office will take action.

"Cokes and other delicacies including wine are not to be brought to the jail, but apparently our instruction to the sheriff's office relative to jail conditions have not been observed," the assistant DA said.

He indicated the night jailer was sleeping on the job, and only gets up to answer the elevator when a prisoner is brought up.

"If he was awake at night as he should be and taking care of things, riots such as we had recently wouldn't have happened."

Cooper also pointed out that trustees should be locked in their cells at night and should not be allowed to roam through the kitchen and other quarters of the jail where access to outside windows is available.

Youth Hurt In Scooter Mishap

A 15-year-old Pampa boy received minor cuts and bruises Saturday afternoon when the motor scooter he was riding overturned after it struck and killed a dog.

Investigating officers said Velton Lee Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cummings Sr., 332 Baer, was riding his scooter north in the 500 block of N. Dwight when a dog dashed out in front of him.

Young Cummings told officers he was unable to stop in time and when the scooter hit the dog it overturned, throwing Cummings to the pavement.

He was taken to Highland General Hospital by his mother, and was treated and released.

After the two men were questioned thoroughly about any connection with the mental institution, officers said they are not believed to be from New Mexico. The men told officers they "hopped" the train in Gallup, N.M.

Officers said the pair is under investigation of armed robbery in Las Vegas, Nevada, on July 12 and 16 of this month.

A check with Nevada authorities showed that on the July 12 robbery, two shots were fired. The slugs and pictures of the men have been sent to authorities in Ohio and Nevada.

According to Mursich and Zirax, they left Ohio on June 5, and headed for Nevada. Law enforcement officials in Ohio said a man left Ohio with two women who are now living in Nevada. Investigation of possible offenses in Nevada and Ohio are still continuing, officers said.

SPEAKER FOR MASONS — James Weatherby of Kerrville, shown here, will be the principal speaker at the second annual Mason's Big IX Roundup on the Bob Andis Ranch, three miles west of Skellytown, Saturday, July 28. Attending are expected to be thousands of Master Masons in the nine Masonic districts of the Texas Panhandle. Weatherby is deputy grand master of Texas Masons. Tickets for the Roundup are now on sale in all local lodges throughout the Panhandle and may be obtained by writing or contacting lodge secretaries, according to O. D. Handley, secretary of Pampa Masonic Lodge 966.

POPULATION REPORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. population was an estimated 186,367,000 on June 1. According to the Census Bureau. The estimate, which includes U. S. servicemen stationed abroad, represents an increase of 2,870,000 from June 1, 1961.

Following is a country-by-country survey prepared by Radio Free Europe:

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

Since Soviet Premier Khrushchev started the ball rolling last May, the Communist countries have maintained a steady attack against the European Common Market.

Khrushchev himself has applied various epithets to the six nations — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — which have bound themselves together economically and which in four years have become an economic force rivaling either the United States or Russia.

Among these epithets have been "unnatural marriage," "collective colonialism" and "state monopoly."

Khrushchev's anger possibly springs from three sources:

The success of the common market was not anticipated in the Communist timetable of conquest predicated on a divided Europe.

A real fear that tariff walls erected by the six within the common market may choke off the sale of Communist goods to Western Europe.

A fear of the effect on underdeveloped countries of the increasing flow of foreign aid from Western Europe.

Fear Technique

This latter point would account for Khrushchev's attempt to frighten the new and underdeveloped nations by describing the common market as a form of "collective colonialism" designed to keep them in bondage.

On their side, the Communists are in great need of Western industrial equipment which they can purchase only with hard Western currencies. Only in this way can they fulfill their own ambitious plans for industrial expansion.

try survey prepared by Radio Free Europe:

Albania: Since its isolation from the Soviet bloc, it is seeking new markets in the West. Up to now 95 per cent of its foreign trade has been with Communist countries.

Bulgaria: Seeks to boost its foreign trade with non-Communist nations by 15.8 per cent this year. Fears the common market effect on its shipments of fruit and vegetables.

Czechoslovakia: Western Europe is its most important export market. The regime describes the common market as a "power to be used against the socialist countries, a neo-colonialist force."

East Germany: Terms the common market a "conspiracy of the billionaires."

Hungary: Fears that its agricultural products will be shut out of the common market and has taken steps to raise counter-tariffs.

Poland: Regards the integration of Western Europe as an accomplished fact and is seeking new markets elsewhere.

Romania: Fears for its oil, agricultural and timber exports and threatens "defensive measures."

HANDLES HONEYWELL LINE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Minneapolis - Honeywell Regulator Co. has signed an agreement for Nippon Electric Co. to manufacture and market Honeywell's full line of commercial electronic computer equipment in Japan, it was announced Friday.

BAN "FARCICAL" NAMES

NORFOLK, England (UPI) — Names such as almond crescent, cherry crescent and lilac grove have been banned from a new housing project by the urban council because they are "farcical" and "cheap."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. thinks the best opportunities in the market for price enhancement at the moment are those stocks which have formed a base and are moving forward and those which are still in the process of base formation. Ward would avoid stocks that have already recovered substantially and are beginning to appear overbought.

He says it is most important that investors concentrate primarily on issues whose present strong base pattern and underlying fundamental position of increasing earnings indicate the prospect of higher levels.

Goodbody — Co. concludes that the recent vigorous recovery reflects an improved psychological atmosphere, suggesting that the market should at least hold its own in the weeks ahead.

Stock Trend Service says the market is entitled to consolidate its recent wide gains within the 570-600 area of the industrial average and then should make a new rise to 625-50.

Jerome Peck of Equity Research Associates says since most stocks have not yet reached areas of resistance, and with evidence growing that the administration will push for a quick tax cut, the market should continue upward on balance over the coming week.

Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks says he had been expecting a moderate corrective phase of market movement, but he believes that the 570-75 zone of the industrial average will offer near-term support.

It's Time To Check Your Child's Learning Progress

You, Your Child and School
By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

This is a good time to take a comprehensive look at your child and to evaluate his progress. How does he stand in school grades and socially? What are realistic expectations for his ability and maturity?

Can you judge his ability accurately? An I.Q. (intelligence quotient—obtained through various tests) score is a clue but certainly is not an absolute measure. Compare your child's I.Q. with his performance. If there is a discrepancy, you should investigate further in order to find out which is true.

Some schools will give I.Q. scores to parents while others feel this is unwise. If the score is available, learn to interpret it properly. Tests vary but generally an I.Q. of 90-110 is considered average. As the scores range up or down, they tend to show variations in intellectual ability.

You should recognize that a child with an I.Q. of 115 to 125 probably has above average ability and should be able to perform school work with a minimum of difficulty. — child with an I.Q. of 135-plus is obviously above average. He should find the normal school tasks quite simple and should be able to master more difficult concepts (advanced critical thinking).

A student on the lower end of the scale (90 I.Q. and below) will have increasing difficulty interpreting and solving problems. If he works hard, he can perform adequately. Recognizing his ability will limit pressure and permit him to perform without frustration.

Be realistic about the individual's ability and try to have reasonable goals. There are important places in our society for people with a wide range of abilities and skills. The ability to perform academic work is only one area of skills. Ability in mechanical and motor skills varies with individuals and not necessarily in relation to I.Q.

Help your child to choose a field of work in which his ability will be used properly. A vocation in which an individual is interested and capable is one in which he can be most successful. Any individual in a well chosen location can become a valuable and respected member of our society.

Question:
I have learned that my son has a 95 I.Q. He has worked hard and received average grades. He does not want to go to college. I know the importance of a college degree and wonder if I should put pressure on him to go to college?

Answer:
Perhaps you should get guidance in re-evaluating the importance of a college degree in his case. There are many fields which do not require a college degree for success or advancement. Your son may be right. Based upon your description of his ability and interest, he would have difficulty in most colleges. If his interests indicate, you might investigate a technical school. However, it is most advisable to help him choose a vocation in which he is interested. Proper direction in the business world could lead him to a valuable life work.

Father-Son Day Held By Kiwanians

Pampa Kiwanians observed Father and Son Day at their weekly luncheon meeting in First Methodist Church Friday.

Jack Caro of the Amarillo Gold Sox was the speaker and discussed plans for inter-city baseball games and tournaments for the youth of the Top O' Texas. Caro was accompanied to Pampa by Pete Carmona, one of the Gold Sox players.

The American Legion, Caro said, is one of the principal sponsors of the teams to be made up of youngsters 15 to 17 years of age.

It is the plan of those behind the project to have baseball become a major factor in reducing juvenile delinquency among youth of the area, Caro stated.

Twenty-one sons of Downtown Kiwanis members were special guests at the Friday luncheon including Wayne Denson, past president of the Pampa Key Club, and Robert DeWeese, a new member of the Key Club, Pampa High School boys' organization sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Williamson, Amarillo Public Schools, director of secondary education and a member of the state committee, made the appointment. Teachers appointed to the committee will participate in evaluating textbooks for adoption in 1963-64. The adviser's work is the first major step in the complicated textbook selection process. Advisers will examine texts for philosophy, organization, content, style and accompanying aids. Mrs. Periman, a Spanish teacher, will recommend Spanish texts, for which the state committee may recommend a maximum of five books for adoption in any one subject area. Advisers from 12 Texas cities will examine more than 200 texts, 13 of them in the field of mathematics. They will make recommendations to the State Board of Education on Oct. 4. Textbooks scheduled for adoption in 1963 include music, Texas history, algebra, plane geometry, physics, Spanish, homemaking, economics, electrical trades and shop. Two texts will be adopted for algebra and Spanish and three in homemaking.

Pat Boone Turns In His 'Mr. Clean' Badge?

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "I've had to change my mind," Pat Boone let us know, "about never making a movie I couldn't take my children to see."

But landing in one of those bold and brutally frank adult films doesn't mean, Pat insisted, that he's turned in his off-screen Mr. Clean badge. "I still go to church and Shirley and I are still married," he grinned, "but you can't go on trying to please everybody."

The movie Pat was talking about was "The Main Attraction," which he just completed in England. "State Fair" has been turning some of his true blue fans purple but Pat was ready to admit: "I guess you would call me a square in that one compared to Eddie Phillips (his role in 'The Main Attraction' opposite sexy Nancy Kwan)."

As he outlined the story, the idea of Pat Boone in same was like suddenly discovering Lassie leading a gang of soup-bon thieves. We could see the headline: "CENSORS BAN PAT BOONE MOVIE."

As if seeing the headline, too, like in Abilene, Tex., Pat defended his right to work in more sophisticated fare than the likes of "April Love."

"I suppose," he said, "people will say I've quit trying to be the Pat Boone they've known so I can make more money. I imagine some critics will be quite final about it. The truth is I accepted the role because it is a highly dramatic story with a moral — true love can turn a bum into a responsible citizen."

"I didn't do the film just to be young drifter who joins a sleazy European circus and falls in love with a bareback rider (Nancy) while dating another entertainer in the show (Mai Zetterling.) As the celluloid unfolds, so does Pat. He laps up the booze, accidentally kills a fellow in a knife fight over the girls, and even sings a couple of songs, just in case some members of the audience are saying, 'It can't be Pat Boone.'"

In the final moments, he saves Nancy from an avalanche in the Swiss Alps. Whether he can survive an avalanche of mail from old pen pals of his white buck shoe days is another question. The film is the wiping out of the Pat Boone image, and he's all for it. He says about nine years of being Mr. Clean: "I couldn't go on in those white bucks forever. After all, my early-teen-age fans are 24 now."

How he won the role — "I was the last guy anyone would pick for the part," he laughs — first centered on whether he could look the part of Eddie Phillips. After sending him into the make-up department for a series of off-beat portraits, producer Ray Stark liked them, then sent him to drama coach Jeff Corey to see if he could play the part. Corey flashed the green light and — well, Pat Boone's kiddies will have to wait until the next Walt Disney movie comes around.

Irresponsibility and inconsideration seem to have become the prerogatives of stardom these days, and the triumphant return to Hollywood of "The Great One" — Jackie Gleason — suggested a tune-up for the panic button system at Paramount.

Well, Jackie surprised 'em. Trepidation about his television fame and his jest, "I'm tired of people judging my drinking by their capacity," has changed to a warm glow of satisfaction in knowing that when the bell rings show business still has its real pros.

Jackie's arrival in a special Pullman car on the Super Chief with an entourage met by four Cadillacs at Pasadena, was observed like a hurricane warning. Eyebrows jumped when he invaded Elvis Presley's set to "direct" him in a scene on his first day at the lot.

Put in Bay, in Lake Erie, is rated as the third best fresh-water fishing area in the United States.

Don Drysdale Wins 17th; Dodgers Increase Lead

CHICAGO (UPI) — Don Drysdale, the major league's winningest pitcher, won his seventh consecutive game Saturday while pitching the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs with late inning relief help.

The victory enabled the Dodgers to increase their league lead over the second-place San Francisco Giants to two games. Drysdale upped his record to 17-4, equaling his two best season marks of 1957 and 1959 when he finished with 17-9 and 17-13 respectively.

Clark Wins Grand Prix Auto Race

AINTREE, England (UPI) — Scottish farmer Jim Clark, driving a British Lotus V-8, ground the opposition into the Tarmac Saturday to win the British Grand Prix auto race and move into second place in the world drivers' championship standings.

Miss Wright turned in a second round card of 79. This coupled with her first-round score of 71 would have given her the lead at the end of 36 holes with a 150. However, she actually had fired an 81 for a 152 total.

Accompanying them on the three-day trip were Junior Golf winner Leonard Hudson and Junior Tennis winners Jerry Thomas and Don Collins. In the 36-hole golf tournament, Hudson fired a 75 in the first round to stay close to the leaders but faded over the second round when he shot an 85.

Wilson pitched his no-hitter against the Los Angeles Angels and also hit a home run.

Spahn's victory was his 318th and moved him into ninth place among the all-time greats, ahead of Mike Welch of the Troy and New York National League teams, credited by the Baseball Encyclopedia with 317 wins during the long ago days of 1880 to 1892.

Kiner Is Happy Over Home Runs

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lively ball major league hitters are crashing out of the park with ever greater frequency causes no wishful thinking today in modest Ralph Kiner.

As trim and fit as when he was setting home run records which still stand, Kiner regards his feats with a detached satisfaction. Nor have the years given him a feeling that he might have done better with a more threatening lineup built around him.

"I don't put too much stress on having had a weak lineup," he says. "Our players weren't that bad."

But you have to wonder what Kiner might have done in a power-packed lineup such as that of the New York Yankees. Because during the eight years in which he was a Pittsburgh Pirate institution, the team finished eighth three times, seventh on three occasions, again was sixth and once climbed all the way up to fourth.

Three times big Ralph led the league in bases on balls and, despite the fact that he was the number one pitching target in the Pirate lineup, his home run production was fantastic.

Starting with his rookie year of 1946, Kiner for seven straight seasons won or tied for the National League home run title. He bashed 54 in 1949 for his production mark and set a league record of hitting 40 or more home runs in five seasons.

On a personal level, it's somewhat amusing that Kiner, who now broadcasts games for the New York Mets, would rather discuss tennis.

That's because his wife, the former Nancy Chaffee, was the nation's fourth ranking woman star when they were married in 1951. And, while she won three U.S.

indoor championships in a row, being a home run clouter, Kiner figured that he could easily outdo his pretty wife at her own game.

"I told her it couldn't be too tough," he grinned. "So I started to practice real hard. At first she was beating me 6-0. Then I got a little better and she was only winning 6-2. Finally I got it down to 6-4 and even carried her 7-5."

Eventually he beat her—three times. "Each time just one month before we had each of our three children," he grinned. "That tennis can be a tough game, let me tell you."

Kiner, who retired from the baseball playing field at the end of 1955 because of a bad back, in looking over his career wouldn't change a thing.

"Talk all you want to about how nice it would have been to have played in a power lineup like that of the Yankees," he analyzed. "But I'd never have done as well as I did if I had to play in Yankee Stadium. That's a long poke to the left field seats for a righthanded hitter."

As one of those who chased Babe Ruth's old record of 60 home runs in a season, Kiner has admiration for the 61-clouted last season by Roger Maris even though it required an extended season. But he doesn't believe that Maris will be able to come closer to his new record this time around.

"I figure him for 40 plus this season," said Kiner, who at 39 appears trim enough to swing a bat himself. "Chasing Ruth can really wear you out and, after passing him, the man has to slack off and take a bit of a rest."

CLEAN SPORT — It is playtime under a sunny California sky for members of the Russian track and field team, at Stanford University for the dual meet with the United States. Vladimir Evdokimov has ball in water polo game as Maria Itkina, right, and Lyudmila Lysenko move in.

Hahn Giving Up On Favorite Trick Shot

NEWTOWN SQUARE, PA. (UPI)—His best trick shot, Paul Hahn admitted today, thrilled the spectators but he had to give it up because "it scared the hell out of me."

He pulled it off more than 2,000 times without a miss in exhibitions around the world. A volunteer would lie flat with the ball sitting up on a tee held between the teeth.

Then Hahn would swing with deadly concentration — sending a half pound of clubhead against the ball at a speed of 110 miles per hour.

The handsome, black-haired Hahn's beautiful wife was his steadiest assistant. But he did the trick on many courageous volunteers, who know of his fantastic prowess in the trick shot department. One such, on television, was Gary Moore. Hahn's insurance company caught the show that night and cancelled his protective policy. Moore's wife saw it, too.

"You don't," Mrs. Moore said in a quick and frantic call to the studio, "have to do that to make a living. We can sell apples."

Then it got to the point where people, as Hahn says, were "bugging" him about the disastrous possibilities should he miss. Even Ben Hogan told him it was too dangerous.

Hahn believed it, too, when in an exhibition at Augusta somebody spoke as he was starting the downs wing and momentarily broke his concentration.

"I knew I was out of the groove," he said grimly. "And when I helped my wife up, she said 'My lip is numb.'"

It cost him his confidence and he started to "top" the ball which, at least, was much better than taking a dental divot. But finally he gave it up.

Hahn's show is exceptional without it, as he proved in one of the features preceding the PGA golf championship at Aronimink Golf Club. Good enough to put him, it is estimated in the $150,000 a year income bracket. He also flies his own plane and has made four trips around the world with his one-man show.

Which isn't bad for a man who, before putting together his profitable specialty, tried the pro tour for two years, "and didn't make enough money to mark my ball."

The difference between Hahn and the touring pros is that the personable Paul keeps up a running dialogue with his shots while the average pro freezes if a bee belches. People ask him how he can hit the ball while talking and his answer is that he can't hit it if he doesn't.

They also ask continually why he gave up his most famous trick of hitting the ball off a volunteer's face.

"I've got a four-word answer," he admits with a grin which lacks conviction. "I lost my guts."

And, this being the 13th year in which he has been on the trick shot circuit, he isn't likely to try it again now.

Bowl Winners To Dot Grid Slates

DALLAS (UPI) — Five bowl game winners will highlight the 52-game football schedule of the Southwest Conference this fall.

Two of the bowl champions are conference teams—Texas, victor over Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl, and Baylor, winner of the Gothan Bowl. Others carded are Louisiana State, Orange Bowl; Penn State, Gator Bowl, and Kansas, Bluebonnet Bowl.

In addition, the schedule has three bowl game losers — Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl, Colorado in the Orange Bowl and Rice in the Bluebonnet.

The schedule includes 28 conference games, with each of the eight teams playing three non-conference games.

LSU will play three Southwest Conference foes, all at Baton Rouge. They are Rice, Texas A&M and Texas Christian. Oregon will play Texas and Rice. Houston will meet Texas A&M and Baylor, and the Air Force Academy will encounter Baylor and Southern Methodist.

Rice will play three of the major bowl winners—Texas, LSU and Penn State. TCU meets four bowl champions—Kansas, LSU, Texas and Baylor.

The schedule will open Sept. 22 for all conference teams except Rice, which starts its season Sept. 29. The Texas-Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day game will be televised nationally and two will be televised regionally—Texas vs. Oklahoma and Rice vs. SMU.

Mexican Netters Prep For Tourney

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican Davis Cup team went into official training Saturday for the North American Zone matches scheduled here August 4-6 against the United States team.

Three members of the Mexican team started practice—Mario Llamas, Antonio Palafox and Panchito Contreras. The fourth, Carlos Osuna, is expected here early next week.

Junior League Player Killed In Ballgame

MIDLAND (UPI) — Ronald Bittick, 15, died today of head injuries he suffered Friday night when he was hit in the head by a baseball in a Junior League game.

Ronald, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bittick, was advancing from first to second base in a championship game between the Supply Tigers—the team he played on—and the Tri-Service Drillers when he was hit.

He played an inning on second base after he was hit. Leaving the game with a headache, he went to a doctor's office and then home. His parents later took him to Midland Memorial Hospital. He lost consciousness and died.

His team won the game, 12-5, and will represent Midland in a state tournament in Fort Worth next week.

LOCK JOINS SENATORS

CHICAGO (UPI) —Outfielder Don Lock, purchased from the New York Yankee organization, joins the Washington Senators today and may be available for action in the doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox. The Senators bought Lock, who hit 13 homers this season, from the Richmond Virginians of the International League for the $20,000 waiver price.

Record Numbers Swarm To Parks

By JAY VESSELS

Written for UPI — If you plan to visit a state park, the best advice is to be early. Even then you might miss out.

Because reports from the field indicate the summer attendance will exceed last year's record patronage of 6,614,332.

This naturally poses some problems beyond protecting the folks from sunstroke. For example, some simple facilities such as water lines are being stretched beyond the limit.

R. W. Barlow, assistant executive director in charge of operations for the state parks, reports some parks have had a major crisis or two already with the peak registration due to continue for another six weeks.

Most parks, he points out, try to provide "civilized" showers and sanitary equipment. But the units have been used so long they are wearing out faster than the restricted budget allows for replacement.

With all the handicaps, visitors seem to be patiently enduring the problems and are having fun. In fact, Barlow is convinced the average Texan is tolerant of the situation because of the current widespread emphasis on parks shortcomings and of the need for a vast modernization program.

"Our mail bears some pretty pithy passages now and then," said Barlow. "But in the main parks patrons understand that the blame is not to be connected with the park's staff and that they simply have not been provided with the things necessary to do the job right."

One thing that helps soften the reaction to the rundown parks, said Barlow, is the fact that Texas state parks generally are superior in location and natural advantages. "We have the scenic beauty, the trees, the water and all that goes with these, Barlow said.

"And when we are able financially to put these locations in proper condition, no further apologies will be required."

Move Would End 'Ejidos'

Mexico Is Considering Private Land Ownership For Its Farmers

By T. M. FAGRELL
MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The government may end Mexico's system of communal farm lands, known as "Ejidos," and give farmers permanent title to lands, the newspaper "Excelsior" said in an exclusive story.

If true, the move would be a revolutionary step toward private ownership, running counter to nationalization steps resumed in recent years. In line with an old policy of state ownership of utilities and some so-called primary industries including oil, the present administration nationalized electricity in 1960 and later took over the nation's movie houses.

Labor groups want more of the same. Instructions already have been given to the water and land office of the federal Agrarian Affairs Department to study the most practical means of giving title of Ejido lands to peasants, the paper's sources said.

Officials Mum
Official of the Agrarian Affairs Department, the Agriculture Ministry and the government "Ejido" Bank were unavailable for comment on the story Thursday night. The newspaper credited its story to "totally reliable unofficial sources."

The present Adolfo Lopez Mateos administration has distributed more land to "Ejidos" than any since Lazaro Cardenas (1934-40), and some observers doubt the regime now plans to alter the system. Although private ownership of farm land is widespread preference has been given recently to "Ejidos" because of increasing demands for land.

Mexico's 1910 Revolution set up a system for communal farm lands, known as Ejidos. Under this system, the government gives peasants the right to work land either individually or collectively, and this limited right is held continuously and can be willed to heirs, unless the land is abandoned for a two-year period.

GM Reports Record Sales

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Motors Corp. has announced record sales of $4,026,000,000 in the second quarter of 1962 and record six-month sales of 7,691,000,000.

The giant auto firm said net earnings amounted to $402 million in the second quarter and $776 million for the first six months this year.

In 1961, second quarter sales amounted to $3,088,000,000 and sales for the first six months were $5,812,000,000.

Board Chairman Frederic C. Donner and President John F. Gordon said earnings on common stock were equivalent to $1.41 a share in the second quarter this year and were equal to $2.72 a share for the first six months of 1962.

A year ago, second quarter earnings amounted to 88 cents a share and earnings were $1.53 a share for the first six months.

GM factory sales of cars and trucks throughout the world totaled 1,465,000 units during the second quarter of 1962 and 2,821,000 for the first six months. Factory sales were the highest for any comparable periods in the firm's history.

Small land holders now face "the constant threat of new invasions by squatters, led by dishonest leaders" seeking to create new ejidos, the paper said.

The paper added that as owners of their land, peasants could "work in a cooperative manner with their neighbors, and sell produce at a remunerative price."

"It is known that probably the foremost preoccupation of president Adolfo Lopez Mateos' regime is to bring tranquility to the rural sector and to provide social justice," the paper continued. "This cannot exist while there is no confidence because of a lack of guarantees."

"If what is now being studied comes to pass each ejidatario will have freedom of action, can elect representatives without fear and above all will have the assurance that the land he works is his and will belong to his family forever."

Peasants who are given title to the ejido lands they now work "will defend their small portion of land like their own lives."

HIKE, HIKE, HIKE—Hems are going even higher in London. Dresses of all types, worn by the younger set, are now two inches above the knee. The English have taken to calling them "Ya, Ya" skirts.

Old Joke About 'Running Into Door' Not Funny Anymore, Says Council

CHICAGO (UPI) — The old joke about "running into a door" isn't funny anymore.

As many as 40,000 Americans may be injured that way each year, the National Safety Council reported today.

The problem of people of all ages walking through glass doors they thought were open has become so common that the Architectural Aluminum Manufacturers Association asked the safety council to find a solution.

The safety council enlisted the U.S. Public Health Service, the Florida Health Department and the Dade County Health Department for a survey of glass door accidents in the Miami area.

Phil Dykstra, manager of home safety for the council, said the survey showed that in a one-year period Dade County had 130 such accidents. Twenty-one persons were injured, ranging from scratches to deep cuts.

A previous survey by the Seattle (Wash.) Times showed 18 such injuries in that area, one of them fatal.

The safety council said one projection of the figures indicated that nationally the annual injury toll from glass door accidents may be 40,000.

However, Dykstra said he feels more data is needed to obtain a true national estimate.

As a result, the safety council has decided to extend its survey to other areas of the nation.

From the results of the surveys, the safety council hopes to draft a model building code so that communities may avoid the hazard.

"Preliminary findings indicate that some form of safety glazing appears to be the answer," Dykstra said.

It might involve use of tempered glass, laminated glass or plastic panels in place of the plate glass now used, he said.

NAME OSCAR PRODUCER

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Arthur Freed was named Friday for the fourth consecutive year to produce the annual academy awards presentations.

Freed, who won "Oscars" himself for production of "An American in Paris" and "Gigi," will supervise production of the 35th academy awards show, April 8, 1963.

Statistics Cited

The newspaper said Ejido farmers historically have wanted to own the land they work, and added that statistics of the Agriculture and Livestock Ministry and the Central Banco De Mexico show that "at least 65 per cent of agricultural production comes from small farmers, not from Ejidos."

It said the ejido system "has not given the results expected," and stated "collectivization has brought abandoning of land, lower farmland prices, braceros (laborers on U.S. farms), migration to urban centers, and protest caravans." The paper cited the Yucatan and "La Laguna" in northeast Coahuila State as "lamentable failures" of the system.

The paper said the biggest problem on collective ejidos is "Caciquismo" (bossism). It said collective ejido "leaders or commisars — a word copied from communist texts — have replaced some of the old hacienda owners in the implacability of their coercion. They feel that they are owners of the land, and of lives."

Squatters Problem
Small land holders now face "the constant threat of new invasions by squatters, led by dishonest leaders" seeking to create new ejidos, the paper said.

The paper added that as owners of their land, peasants could "work in a cooperative manner with their neighbors, and sell produce at a remunerative price."

Working Off Black Marks

DURING THE PAST three weeks, the pledging season of the Kit Kat Klub, Las Cresas Club and Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club has been in full force. Any infraction of pledging rules, such as neglecting to speak to a member or calling her "Miss"; being out after nine o'clock unless with parents; smiling or laughing at the wrong time, will result in the pledge being fined a series of Black Marks, which she must "work out" in menial chores. Pictured on this page are illustrations of the "labors" that are performed by pledges for members. There's a ray of sunshine on the pledges' horizons for this is the final week for pledging.

Miss Jean Chisholm Becomes Bride Of Benjamin B. Martin

Jean Frances Chisholm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Arthur Chisholm, became the bride of Benjamin Bernard Martin Jr., last Tuesday in the Saint Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Mr. Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Martin, Sr. of New Orleans, La.

Reverend Ronald Ramson, C. M. celebrated the 9:30 a.m. Nuptial Mass with Mark and John Falkenstein as altar boys. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums decorated the altars and topiary trees of white chrysanthemums were used to outline the aisle.

Mrs. Jack D. Edwards played Carlo Rossini's professional and recessional and accompanied Mrs. Mary D. Wilson in Lambillotte's "Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and in Franck's "Panis Angelicus."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a street length white silk organza fashioned with a lace scalloped neckline and an inverted pleated skirt. A miniature pillbox with a bouffant shoulder - length veil, wrist-length gloves, and white silk slippers completed her ensemble. She carried a lace covered prayerbook adorned with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Sheila Chisholm, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a soft yellow silk organza sheath with a bouffant overskirt. Her headdress was a matching double bow, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Malcolm Disimone, of Dallas was best man with William A. Jourdan of Hobbs, New Mexico; William G. Bush of Grand Junction, Colorado; Roy L. Bulls of Amarillo; and Kevin Chisholm, brother of the bride, as ushers.

Mrs. Chisholm, mother of the bride, wore a mint green silk organza and lace dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Martin, chose a soft blue silk dress with white accessories. White orchids completed both ensembles.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party and out-of-town guests were honored at a breakfast at the Pampa Country Club. The rehearsal dinner on Monday evening was held at 1010 Christine and hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. R. E. McKernan, Mrs. A. D. McNamara, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Wade. Mrs. Martin was graduated from Pampa High School and finished at the Katharine Gibbs School, New York. She has been employed by the Cabot Corporation. Mr. Martin was graduated from Holy Cross High School, New Orleans, and received a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Science degrees from Tulane University. He is District Landman for Standard Oil of Texas in Amarillo.

After August first the couple will be at home at the Tyler Terrace Apartments, Amarillo.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

Pinch pleats constitute one of many ways to finish curtains at the top. Some other ways are easier to do.

Try slipping a big brass rod through a straight casing made with a heading above it. The rod should be a snug fit. With big brass knobs at the ends of the rod, the effect is very smart. Several rows of gathers, one closely beneath the other to create a shirred effect, will add interest to plain, thin or medium-weight window hangings. The expert needlewoman might use a wide band of smocking to finish the upper part of bedroom or bathroom curtains.

A wood curtain pole covered with fabric that matches bands on the curtains will also supply a custom-made look. The pole will then slip through tabs made of the curtain material. Even cafe curtains have a different look if made straight across the top instead of with the usual scallops. They, too, can have fabric tabs to slip over the rod, or can be caught up with brass clips. Those seeking an authentic Early American look would do well to use these tabs to slip over small wooden poles. That's what many 18th-century homemakers did.

If you have different ideas for finishing curtains, do pass them on.

Dear Polly: The living and dining areas in our new home are all one room. I am thinking of painting it a soft, dull gold. Have a beige living room suite with gold threads in it. Dining room set is mahogany. Someone told me mahogany will not go well with gold walls. I always thought all woods were good with all colors. Please discuss?—C. W.

Dark mahogany should be very pretty in such surroundings.

Dear Reader: A heavy volume of mail doesn't permit Mrs. Cramer to answer her letters and post cards individually. But she will comment in her column on decorating problems of general interest. She cannot undertake to return floor plans or fabric swatches which are enclosed with letters.

MIDSUMMER MUSINGS ... when it's too hot to care whether a column is written or not, we remember the glare when copy is late... so we must get busy with items that are not-so-hot... just to make our day brighter, our favorite fashion magazine arrived this week with a glaring headline story that "Silhouettes For '62 Will Cover Knees and Arms" and here we've just cut off our skirts... for after hemming them up an inch in 1961, this Spring the only thing we could do to make them even shorter was to remove the excess material... so the hem wouldn't be so deep... "knees and arms are going under cover this winter", according to Parisian designers for the winter of '62... wish we had listened to some of our smarter friends, who year in and year out wear hemlines that are complimentary to their height... some of these fashion designers, we think, are frustrated elevator operators... the way they keep hemlines going up and down!

MODERN TOM SAWYER SR.... we are intrigued with the plans that we've heard Kent Hicks has for the latter part of August... know what he is going to do?... he and a school buddy are going to build a shallow raft in Dallas... take along some camping supplies... and start from there and navigate down the Trinity River to Galveston Bay and into the Gulf of Mexico... as far as it can be determined this has never been done before... they plan to sail by day and camp beside the river by night... Kent, who is a senior pre-medical student at Southern Methodist University, is home this week telling his parents, the Drs. H. H. Hicks, all about it... doesn't it sound interesting?... and points up the fact more and more that it is A Man's World, after all... especially in the world of adventure... John Glenn certainly gave an interviewer a look of comic disbelief the other evening on a television program when he was asked if the astronauts would welcome a woman into their space-orbiting ranks... he said, "yes", but he was laughing all the while.

WE THINK Terry Joe Harolson deserves an award for city beautification... he has just brought home a lovely bride from Phoenix, Arizona... she's the former Trudy Jo Hendrickson and a graduate of the Sturgeon School in Nebraska for John Robert Powers' models... she and Terry met at University of Arizona... she's a petite brunette.

SOME OLD FRIENDS... many Pampons were welcomed back this week for a brief visit... Mark and Floy Heath had as their houseguests Ralph and Betty Juillard... their daughter Judy and her cousin from California, Donna... the Juillards were enroute to their home in Harlingen after a month's vacation trip to California... up the coast-line to Seattle, Washington for a look-see at the World's Fair... and a trip into Canada... Betty and Floy were on a merry-go-round of social activities Thursday, when they started out the day by attending Jean Chisholm and Ben Martin's wedding in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church... at noon they dashed out to the Pampa Country Club where Floy was hostess for a birthday luncheon honoring Chris Atkinson and Nita Luna with Laura Imel and Lois Teel helping them to celebrate the occasion... in the evening Mark and Floy invited Dorothy and Fred Neslage, Bill and Jean Powers... and Dr. R. M. Bellamy over to their home for a silver wedding anniversary party honoring Ralph and Betty... they all wound up the evening with a dinner party in the Pampa Country Club... what a day for Floy and Betty... would it be too trite to say that "they didn't need to be rocked to sleep that night"... it would be too trite, but we've already said it!

SPEAKING OF BIRTHDAYS, we think the present that Eddie Wiley gave his big brother, Bob, on his birthday one day this week was one of the nicest we've ever heard of... it was Bob's day to empty the trash in the alley barrel... but as a birthday gift, Eddie did it for him!

HEARD THERE WAS a bridal luncheon for Helene Huff on Friday... Joan Sorenson and Thelma Coberly entertained in Joan's home, 2425 Christine... place cards were the most unique we've ever seen... miniature black wrought-iron chairs upholstered in pastel velvets and accented at the top of the chair with tiny, tiny nosegays... guests brought "funny little gifts", like, for instance, unusual salt and pepper shakers... in different sizes and shapes... Olive Hills has given her one of the most beautiful gifts... because it was creatively original... it is a framed verse entitled "God Bless This Kitchen" and the art work is that of Olive's own talents... Mildred Scott, Violet Dunham, Nell Wray, Lois Teel, Mrs. Jess Wright and Mrs. C. E. Glison welcomed Terry Joe Harolson's bride, Trudy, to Pampa with a bridal shower on Tuesday evening in Mildred's home on Mary Ellen... several pre-nuptials have been given by Cynthia Duncan, whose wedding date is looming closer and closer on the calendar... we'll try to find out more about these.

JUST BEFORE WRITING... did you know that the street-cleaning department has had some summertime help this week?... Kit Kat pledges have been rising early in the aym and going down on Cuyler and manually sweeping the streets with their brooms and brushes... and gathering up the dust and litter in dust-pans and putting it in boxes... it's all part of the menial chores they must perform as lowly pledges... we didn't actually see them for the little gals get up around five o'clock in the morning... but a very early-bird told us... heard that Jean and Ben Martin were planning a wedding trip to the Bahamas after their lovely wedding on Tuesday morning... Jimmy and Hazel McCune's home on North Frost is a lively place these days with two grandchildren Cindy, 5 and Keith, 2, visiting them... their daughter Carol and her husband, Bill, have just returned from Puerto Rico, where they have been living for the past four years... Bill plans to begin teaching in a Dallas school this fall... things are coming along swimmingly at Pampa Little Theater rehearsals especially since the water effects were installed this week... an ingenious invention of Elbert Walker that defies oral description... but when the rain has to come through the roof in the first act of the play... it will come... love the border along the walkway, which the Grundy Morrisons have leading up to the door of their home on Christine... pretty white pools of Sweet Alyssum alternate with pink Baby-Doll roses... and there is a matchless fragrance that greets you anytime you call at George and Betty King's home on Beech... they have a brick planter filled with honeysuckle just outside their front door... speaking of botanical things, we simply must stop and go... outside and spray the Japanese Beetles out of our Chinese Elm trees... this is really an inside joke, folks, the varmits infesting our trees are really tent caterpillars.
Lotsa Love, Peg.

RUTH MILLETT

According to an anthropologist, gossiping about your friends and neighbors will go a long way toward warding off stomach ulcers, high blood pressure and neuroses.
It seems that when you get catty about Mrs. A's housekeeping, or Mrs. B's new hair tint, or Mrs. C's extravagance you are unconsciously promoting your own emotional stability by releasing content.
After you've had your little gossip session and reduced Mrs. A, B, or C—or, perhaps, all three—to a level where you can look down your nose at them—apparently you feel better satisfied with yourself, your home, your husband and your children.
And so you don't have to worry and fret about your own faults and shortcomings and those of your immediate family until you drive yourself to the place where you have to go on an ulcer diet, watch your blood pressure or turn into a neurotic.
If you believe what the anthropologist says, go right ahead and gossip without any feelings of guilt, keeping your gossip on as harmless a level as possible.
But don't, in turn, get upset if you find out that your neighbors and relatives are also gossiping about you.
After all, they probably don't want ulcers or high blood pressure either.
One further tip seems in order. If you ever want a friend to confide in, perhaps you had better look for one with ulcers, high blood pressure or one who is definitely neurotic.
Remember, she is supposed to have gotten in that condition because she isn't the kind of person who promotes her own emotional stability by gossiping about her friends.

Will Snug
Shoes
Stretch?

Shoes that are a trifle narrow may give enough to become comfortable. Shoe repairmen now have a chemical solution that helps stretch leather.

The need however is usually for added length since feet grow longer rather than wider. The chief obstacle to successfully stretching shoes lengthwise is a steel shank which is put in a shoe to strengthen the arch of the shoe (not the foot). A stretcher that would stretch the steel would pull the shoe apart.

Dear Abby....
Not 'Mama Problem'
But 'Sonny Problem'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been keeping company with this 42-year-old bachelor for about a year. During this time his mother has nagged, cried, developed "dizzy spells," heart pains and hysterics whenever he told her he was serious about me. This didn't keep him from seeing me, however. (Her only objection to me is the fact that I am a widow.) Now she has a new weapon. If he marries me, he will be cut out of her estate.

I have never met this woman and am self-supporting. This man and I get on very well together. He is the only one of five children at home with his mother. I love the guy, Abby. Is there any hope for a "Mamma problem"?

GETTING OLDER

DEAR GETTING: It's not a "Mamma problem"—it's a "Sonny problem." Any man who is old enough to tie the marriage knot is old enough to untie the apron string.

DEAR ABBY: My husband goes for weeks without sleeping with me. He takes his pillow and goes out on the porch. He has even gone out in the car. He says I snore so loud I keep him awake, but I can't believe I snore that bad. I have stopped putting up a lunch for him. He got mad, I told him that if he is going to stop acting like a husband I am going to stop acting like a wife. What should I do?

MARRIED BUT SINGLE

DEAR MARRIED: Break the sound barriers. Buy your husband a pair of beeswax ear plugs, and he'll sleep like a honey!

DEAR ABBY: Am I crazy or what? Whenever I meet someone, the first thing I notice is his teeth. I ask you, is this normal?

TEETH WATCHER
DEAR TEETH WATCHER: There is nothing abnormal about it. Almost everyone "notices" something in particular about people on first meeting. I notice noses.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Janie June that all healthy, normal cats WILL land on their feet when tossed up in the air. If hers landed on his head it must have been a fat cat or an old cat.

RUTH MILLETT

Is your husband one of those men who refuses to admit that he has reached the age when he should be taking life a bit easier?

This is a problem many wives face. Middle-aged men, generally, adopt a false pride in their virility. They suck in that abdominal "spare tire," expand their chests and sail into jobs which put great stress on aging hearts.

The questions is: How can wives help their mates realize that it is slowing-down time?

The best thing a wife can do, perhaps, is to try to gradually change a husband's pattern of after-work living, without showing her hand.

She can usually manage to have a few more quiet evenings at home, to shorten evenings out so that a man gets enough sleep, to get him interested in the kind of hobbies and outdoor activities that aren't too strenuous.

Often she can get him away for weekends, which means getting him completely away from his job by dreaming up short trips and selling him on the idea.

When women get to the age where they ought to slow down, life usually arranges things so that they can. Their children grow up and their work loads are lightened and they don't feel any need to prove they are still young by indulging in more violent physical exercise than they should.

But a man's work load isn't automatically lightened when he hits middle age. In fact, it is often heavier.

If his younger companions want to hunt from sunup to sundown or play 36 holes of golf in the broiling sun or whatever, the middle-aged man doesn't want to lag behind.

So he really needs to have his wife gently and tactfully lead him into gradually slowing down the pace that kills so many men in their middle years.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to do the same. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Poor Orville Of The Ag Department

Poor Orville (Freeman) just can't seem to get his farm show on the road.

Now the turkey growers, despite the administration's assurances that it was all for their own good, have turned down a federal marketing order, which would have brought them under strict government controls.

"It's reached the point with us," said a chicken - and - egg man, "that we don't dare feed a chick without first looking up the government regulation." This kind of talk impressed turkey growers more than the bland promises of the agriculture department.

After 30 years of all-out trying, it ought to be obvious to anybody that government controls on agriculture haven't worked, especially when most of the segments of the farming industry that have not been included in the regulations are so much healthier than those regulated by subsidies and acreage allotments.

Not only have the controls on agriculture failed to bring about the intended results, they have been extremely costly to taxpayers, and, worse than that, have made some once - very - independent farmers so dependent on government subsidies that the thought of suddenly being cut off from such succor brings on panic.

One of Poor Orville's antagonists is the American Farm Bureau, largest farm organization in the United States. With the people that help the most claiming they don't want any part of it, and, in effect, want to see a gradual de-planing program initiated, you might expect that the secretary of agriculture would have some doubts about the farmer regimentation plan that he's been plugging. But it isn't so.

The Kennedy farm bill was handed a stunning defeat in the House of Representatives. But it hasn't stopped Orville. He's going to make a few changes, then submit the program again.

Why should he be so persistent, when even the farmers themselves are pointing out that subsidies, which now amount to an average of $1,700 per farm, are too expensive, and acreage controls bring only more problems? It's all a matter of bad advice and politics.

The Great Minds of the Great Liberal Establishment that control the thought processes going on in the White House still see it working on paper - the "agriculture program," that is - and they're theorists, not pragmatists. So they tell the President to keep it up, it's working in spite of what things seem to be, the only trouble is you just can't get people to realize it when the ag program each year continues to cost billions of dollars and surpluses continue to pile up.

Then there's the other reason. The farm population gave Kennedy a cold shoulder in the 1960 election. So he doesn't owe farmers a political payoff. But the President has been known to be vindictive. So perhaps throbbing the farm program on the farmer is his little vendetta, and a way of reminding farm families that they know who to vote for in 1964, or else.

As one of Mr. Kennedy's closest friends said about him, admiringly, just recently, "He is a completely political animal."

The Shifting Coalition

It is becoming harder all the time to argue that a coalition exists today in Congress between Republicans and southern Democrats. Recent votes suggest the winds of change are at work.

The informal association of congressional conservatives is generally considered to have sprung up after the 1958 elections, when Republicans snapped back from their low point in the Roosevelt era. Their gain of 80 House seats made them strong enough so that, in combination with southern Democrats, they could and did block further advances of the Roosevelt New Deal.

In shifting proportions this coalition has continued ever since. It did not apply in all things, but did seem to hold generally on measures which produced a natural liberal-conservative cleavage. These included many welfare proposals, tax bills, to some extent foreign aid.

Analysis of congressional votes on measures of this kind during certain of the Eisenhower years shows that Southern Democrats sometimes mustered 65 or more of their House votes for the conservative coalition.

Colonel (triumphantly, to a bystander.) - You see my boys may steal, but they won't lie.

Oboe - An ill wood-wind that nobody blows good.

The diner had been waiting a long time for his order. Finally his waiter approached and said, "Walter - Your fish will be coming in a minute or two now, sir. Man (looking interested.) - Tell me, what bait are you using?"

Doctor (to patient) - Let me know if this prescription works. I'm having the same trouble myself.

Edson In Capitol By Peter Edson NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Missouri Sen. Stuart Symington's Armed Services subcommittee investigation of government strategic stockpiles that cost nearly $10 billion can't compete with the drama of Arkansas Sen. John L. McClellan's Government Operations Committee probe of Billie Sol Estes. But the stockpile story is a far bigger scandal than the Estes case.

Secretary Orville L. Freeman still insists that his Department of Agriculture hasn't lost a cent from the Estes grain storage, cotton allotment and fertilizer deals.

Government paper losses of over $1 billion have already been turned up in the stockpile investigation, however. And the surface of the stockpiles have barely been scratched.

Total value of all surplus farm products in government hands is now put at $7 billion - a drop of $2 billion from its all-time high through surplus disposal.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd's Government Expenditures Committee recently filed a report showing the cost of strategic and critical materials stockpiles to be $8.7 million, civil defense stockpiles $192 million and machine tools $92 million.

Symington first got interested in stockpile accumulations in 1955. He went to Eisenhower administration officials for their inventories and was turned down cold. He was told that this was a national defense operation classified "top secret," and that no figures could be published.

That was the story for six years. Then in 1961 Symington took the matter to President Kennedy and got the secrecy lid removed.

First investigations showed that the stockpiles were nearly double estimated reserve requirements for a three-year war.

The Symington and Byrd committees have taken it from there - Byrd with reports on monthly stockpile operations, Symington with open hearings. They were begun in March with Richmond C. Coburn, a St. Louis Republican lawyer as chief counsel, to make it bipartisan.

So far, the Symington committee has dipped into: -The $839 million rubber stockpile which even the rubber industry admitted was too big and tried to get reduced.

-The $797 million copper stockpile which yielded at least one company an admitted $5 million windfall profit.

-The $390 million lead stockpile and the $443 million zinc stockpile. Government witnesses have testified they were built up to subsidize domestic mines by unneeded price support.

-The $9 million cryolite, $73 million quartz, $42 million feather-and-down, and other minor stockpiles.

A look is also being taken at how the government's barrier program of surplus farm products for foreign - produced strategic materials has worked.

Studies are being made on how the government's disposal programs have been conducted on a few of the stockpile items in oversupply.

That is probably the biggest problem which the government now faces in this mess. It is to get a disposal law passed that will enable the government to sell off some of its unneeded stockpiles without depressing commercial markets.

Another problem is how to break some of the long-term contracts still in force. The government still has obligations to buy $340 million worth of largely unneeded materials. There's a $38 million item for it in the 1963 budget.

Senator Symington and counsel Coburn have been conducting unspectacular hearings. They want to conclude their hearings and make a report by September.

Whether they can do a complete job to clean up the mess by then is doubtful. One thing they are waiting on is General Accounting Office audits of nickel, tungsten, aluminum and tin contracts.

One possible outcome is that enough evidence of bad deals will be disclosed to turn the whole business over to Department of Justice for investigation and prosecution.

Derivation

Bandana is a word derived from Hindustani. The word "bandhnu" was applied to a method of dyeing in which parts of a cloth were bunched together in order not to receive the dye, producing a calico effect, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

EDITOR'S NOTE - The following is an open letter written by Bradley M. Vosper, Pampa architect, who lives at 1028 Neel Rd., concerning the proposed bill of Rep. V. L. Anusko which would require registration of all hand firearms with the FBI. A copy of the letter also has been sent to Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

July 19, 1962
The Hon. Victor L. Anusko
House Office Building
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Anusko,
I have been hearing a lot, lately, of your proposed bill (HR 613) which would require all handguns to be registered with the F.B.I.

I want to say that I disagree wholeheartedly with your proposal. I do not know your reasons for this type of action, but I may assume that it must be for one of two reasons, which I list below with what I believe to be the fallacies connected to each.

I. Registration of firearms reduces the crime rate.
This argument, of course, has been used many times in reference to various "gun laws." I believe your own State of New York is a prime example of the results of disarming decent citizens. As you know, it is unsafe for a person to walk in Central Park (NYC) after dark, which is but one instance of the almost complete breakdown of law and order, not only in New York City, but on the Jersey side of the river as well. Gangs of hoodlums and thugs prey at will upon decent people who have no way of protecting themselves. I am sure that the hoodlums are not concerned with the registration of firearms and/or the "Sullivan Law". I do not mean to cast discredit upon the fine police forces in that area; but they cannot protect everyone - there are just not enough policemen.

I believe the feeling is prevalent among a good many persons of your area that it is not safe to walk the streets; in some localities even in daylight. I have read of one young man who was punished for shooting an intruder who had broken into his home, and attacked the young man's father. The son was punished for possessing a firearm. The utter ridiculousness of the situation is obvious.

As you will notice, I have enclosed a copy of a letter from a person in England describing the ruckus raised because a Bank Guard shot a would-be robber with a .22 pistol as the guard was defending his trust. Many such cases have been reported.

Despite increasing anti-gun legislation, the crime rate is also increasing. Surprisingly, only a very small percent of violent crimes are committed with the use of firearms. Apparently, knives, hatchets, clubs, and the like are preferred by persons with violent or criminal dispositions.

The following second proposition is of even a more serious nature.
II. Paving the way for the Communist Takeover in the U.S. I am sure you realize that if Decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States may be the law of the land, but its justices aren't paid so well as those of the New York State Court of Appeals and the Appellate Division of its Supreme Court. Chief Justice Earl Warren received $35,500 salary; the other justices, $35,000. The chief justices of New York State's two highest courts receive $39,000 each; the associate justices of the appellate division, $37,000 each; the associate justices of the Court of Appeals, $36,500.

Horticulturalists are experimenting with plastic greenhouses to ascertain if they are as effective and productive as conventional greenhouses of glass.

Wedding note in the Las Vegas (Nev.) Review - Journal: "The bride wore a floor length gown of Physical Education. He was a beau de soie fashioned with scalloped neckline and bodice trimmed with Alencon lace and sequins and pearls." (And he sure must have looked mighty sweet.)

The term "best seller" in the book field is sometimes misleading. For example, a book that sells 10,000 copies within a few weeks of publication and then swiftly peters out, will at the start be rated as a best seller. But a volume which starts slowly, but in the course of four or five years of publication hits 100,000 copies, may never have hit the "best seller" list.

Today's favorite gag: BOY FRIEND - "We're gonna have a swell time tonight, Hon. I've got three tickets for the movies." HIS SWEETIE - "Three tickets? What do we want of three tickets?" BOY FRIEND - "One for your Pop, one for Mom, and one for your kid brother."

The pet peeves of one eminent nutritionist are many persons' belief that thinner slices of bread mean fewer calories, and that whipped margarine means fewer calories per pat. Price-cutting has reached such a state in one midwestern city that a chain of discount houses is selling the city's daily newspapers at 20 per cent off the printed price.

Thoughts while shaving: 1. It's the head of a frozen food company who points out that the housewife purchases different foods for different reasons. Thus, she classifies some a convenient, some as healthful, some as "emergency rations," and a few simply taste better to her. And her reasons for NOT buying are equally diverse. 2. And it's another food merchandiser who has this unusual slant: "I don't like to deal in averages, because I think of the fellow who drowned in water that averaged six inches deep." 3. Speaking of food, when the people of Poland start hoarding - as they frequently do, despite orders from their Soviet masters - the principal items they sequester are such simple ones as flour, sugar and salt.

4. When traveling on railroad trains with our elders in our very early years, we always tried to shrivel up so we'd look to be under five years of age - and ride free. Then, for the following decade, we'd try to look as small

Allen - Scott Report

WASHINGTON - Foreclosures of government-insured homes have reached startling record levels, and the rate of such defaults is steadily increasing.

More than 47,000 defaulted homes are now in the hands of the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration. Of this total, some 30,000 have been taken over by the FHA, and 17,000 by the VA.

These grim totals, a record high, are more than triple the 15,000 homes the two agencies had foreclosed by this time last year.

This is the latest doleful report on sagging business conditions President Kennedy has received from his Council of Economic Advisers. This study has been discussed in his inner councils, but nothing has been said about it publicly.

Two other disquieting factors are stressed in this backstage report: (1) Foreclosures on privately-financed housing also have risen steeply this year; (2) the FHA and VA are encountering great difficulty in finding buyers for the thousands of defaulted homes, even at reduced prices.

The President's economic advisers have told him this sluggish situation will continue until the general economy improves, particularly in employment. The economists noted that most of the foreclosures are in states and areas where unemployment has been heaviest and most persistent.

According to this study, most of the foreclosed homes are in good condition, and average six months to five years in age.

Another significant point is that up to last year, the FHA and VA had relatively little trouble in reselling defaulted homes. A combination of inflation and demand produced abundant buyers. But no longer.

For upwards of a year foreclosed homes have been piling up by the thousands, until they are now at record levels.

While the two agencies are taking losses on the few homes they are able to sell, so far the government has been protected by a $1 billion fund built up by mortgage insurance.

Under FHA and VA guaranteed housing loans, buyers pay one-half of one per cent mortgage insurance. This goes into a reserve fund that the two agencies draw on to pay banks and other lending concerns in the event individual borrowers default. As a consequence, despite the record number of foreclosures, the government has suffered no direct losses as yet.

The FHA has guaranteed mortgages on 3,353,000 homes; the VA on more than 1 million.

PLAYING IT SAFE - Fear of further adding to the country's economic difficulties is the reason President Kennedy has deand innocent as possible, and appear to be under 12 - and ride for half fare. That was quite a stunt - faking our tender age. And either we were skilled at it or the railway conductors of the day were easygoing. Because most of the time it worked.

Country editor speaking: "To keep a convict in Alcatraz costs $13 a day, or less than half what an honest man has to pay to be sick in a hospital."

ODESSA (UPI) — The Permian Basin Oil Show Oct. 18-21 will be the biggest in the event's 22-year history if advance reservations for exhibition space means anything.

O. D. Allbright of the Sun Oil Co., president of the show, has invited high school bands from throughout West Texas for the parade that will open the show.

The event has 452 booths and exhibits are shown both outdoors and indoors.

Once a month, the board of directors and committee chairmen meet and talk over problems that must be solved. The latest decision was to close at 9 p.m., earlier than previous years.

Company Acquires Aden Protectorate Petroleum Rights

NEW YORK — American International Oil Company has acquired petroleum rights to the entire territory of the Mahra Sultanate of Qishn and Socotra, an independent state in the Aden Protectorate.

This new acreage increases American International's petroleum rights in the Southern Arabian Peninsula to over 76,000 square miles, an area larger than Nebraska. In addition, the contracted area also includes the 2,000-mile island of Socotra in the Arabian Sea.

L. Chase Ritts, Jr., president of American International, which is a subsidiary of Standard Oil Company (Indiana), said the new contract grants a 10-year exploration period for the Peninsular Area and a 6-year exploration period for Socotra.

A 30-year development period is provided for oil fields discovered in either the Peninsular acreage or on Socotra.

Pan American Mahra Oil Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of American International, will be the operating company.

The Sultanate will receive 55 per cent of the company's net profits, and may participate in up to 20 per cent of the company's rights and obligations. However, if this option is exercised, the profit split will be 50-50.

Texaco Earnings Hit New Record

NEW YORK — Augustus C. Long, chairman of the Board of Directors of Texaco Inc., has announced that net earnings for the first six months of 1962 amounted to $220,268,000, or $1.73 a share, compared with $200,131,000, or 1.57 a share in the same period of 1961 — an increase of 10.1 per cent.

Earnings from operations increased 14 per cent over last year, while dividends from foreign and domestic affiliated companies were up 3.4 per cent, Long said.

Net income in the second quarter was $103,828,000, or 82 cents a share, against $90,846,000 or 71 cents a share, for the same period last year — an increase of 14.3 per cent.

Long reported that earnings for the first half of 1962 were the best in the Company's history. He also disclosed that Texaco and its affiliated companies experienced record crude oil production, refinery runs, and product sales.

Phillips Reports Discovery In Lake Maracaibo

A major oil discovery on the 25,000 acre Lot 17 tract in Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, has been announced by Phillips Petroleum Company operator.

On production tests the exploratory well, LPG 11-18, flowed 31.6 degrees gravity oil through a one-inch choke at the rate of 3,606 barrels daily from a thick eocene pay zone between 12,608-12,914 feet. This new discovery is one and one-half miles northwest of the prolific Campo Lamar field which also produces from the same eocene sand series.

Phillips is the operator, of Lot 17 for a group of companies composed of itself, Sunray D-X Oil Company, Ashland Oil and Refining Company, Murphy Corporation, El Paso Natural Gas Products Company, Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., and Pacific Petroleum, Ltd.

Kordite Sale

NEW YORK (UPI) — Socony Mobil Oil Co., said Friday that the assets of the Tyler plant of the Kordite Corporation were not included in the sale of a major portion of Kordite's assets to Mobil.

Paul V. Keyser Jr., president of Mobil Chemical Company and John E. Bierwirth, chairman of National Distillers and Chemical announced the sale yesterday.

Bierwirth said National Distillers will continue to produce film and polyethylene through the Tyler Kordite plant. Kordite formerly was a division of National Distillers.

Helicopters are credited with nearly 10,000 evacuations and rescues of Allied troops during the Korean conflict.

UP-UP-UP — Newschart shows how public and private health, education and welfare expenditures have risen, 1950-1962 (projected). It's a 122 per cent increase, figured on a per-person basis. About 65 per cent of total funds have been raised from federal, state and local governments. Data: Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, as presented by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Cub Scouts Taking Part In Physical Fitness Program

"Fit for Tomorrow" becomes the byword of the Cub Scouts of the Adobe Walls Chapter this month as their activities become the preview of the special fitness program being launched this fall across the nation by the Boy Scouts of America.

The aim of the "Fit for Tomorrow" program is "building a stronger America through building stronger men." The four-point plan of action includes a medical check-up of boys, physical testing, exercise and activities, and periodic retesting.

Cub Scouts build fitness in the home, den and pack, through their active, creative advancement requirements and a progressive program of fun and games. New emphasis is being placed on additional games, stunts, dual contests, and group events which will supplement advancement requirements such as "Feats of Skill," "Young Athlete," "Muscle Builders" and "Sports" in helping Cub Scouts become more fit as they have fun.

Although the eight and nine year old Cub Scouts do not have a set of standards for this testing, they will enjoy seeing how they rate against the standards of their ten-year old buddies. By keeping their progress charts they can begin preparation for the tests when they reach ten years of age.

During July, Cub Scouts plan their weekly den activities around the theme of "Strength and Skill." Den leaders have been encouraged to fix up the den's own outdoor meeting place by making it as safe as a play area — in a back yard, vacant lot, a driveway, or even on a roof.

The back-yard games include one called "Goofy Ball." In this, players form two lines to establish their batting order. As one team takes the field the "pitcher" tosses a beanbag to the "batter" who catches it and tosses it anywhere on the diamond that he chooses. The runner is "out" if his fly ball is caught, or if he is tagged in any-way by the beanbag. He may steal bases. This game teaches running, tagging, catching and throwing and allows for equal participation by skilled and unskilled.

"Paper-Cup Badminton" is another fast moving game Cub Scouts enjoy. A string or ribbon is stretched about shoulder high. Two paper cups, one inside the other, serve as "birds." One person serves the "bird" over the barrier and his opponent must bat it back on the fly. Table tennis paddles, heavy cardboard, tough paper plates or even old phonograph records do nicely as rackets.

Another den activity this month is the sports roundup where Cub Scouts move from one site to another trying their hands at various sports, with dads and neighbors coaching them as they try golf, tennis, table tennis, volleyball, badminton, horse-shoe pitching, casting archery, or boating. Cub Scouting strives to help every member become a proficient swimmer. Special swimming classes are often arranged. A series of swim party contests include water polo with team members pushing an inflated 6 to 8 inch rubber ball, while walking on the pool-floor in shallow water. In the towel relay rescue race, the den is divided into two teams standing in shoulder deep water, except for a member from each team who stands on the shore. At a signal the two Cub Scouts on shore pick up towels, run into the water, heave an end of the towel to his first team-mate and pulls him to shore. The Cub Scout just "rescued" jumps back into the water and rescues No. 2. The same procedure is used until all from one team are "rescued."

In the "pirate's gold hunt" iron washers painted with gold are scattered in water between knee and waist deep. Cub Scouts recover as many "gold pieces" as they can in the time allowed.

Pack field day events include a crab race with Cub Scouts walking on hands and feet backward to a goal line. In a hopping race, Cub Scouts hop on the left-foot to an object and return to starting line, hopping on the right foot. The sack race is always good for some mirth. Each Cub Scout pulls a sack over his feet and then holding it taut, he jumps from the starting line to a designated object and back.

'Junk' And 'Scrap' Are 2 Different Words For Autos

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—If an automobile is used or misused to the point beyond which there is no trade-in, it is junk or scrap; but it can be one and not the other.
The proper word for its ultimate appearance depends upon what happens to the battered old car when it goes through the gates of its last, or perhaps next to last, resting place.

An auto wrecker, a junk dealer, and scrap processor, explained the Scrap Iron and Steel Institute in its reports on business during 1961, are not to be lumped together, although the sources from which scrap comes are "sometimes confused with the scrap industry."
About $2-billion in scrap was traded last year, the SISI reported, passing through the hands of the scrap processor as it came into the marketplace.
A good share of it came to the processor from places often mistaken for scrap yards: those of the auto wrecker or the junk dealer.
The auto wrecker, the SISI explains, is primarily interested in what he can sell from a junked automobile. The junk collector or dealer handles all kinds of waste materials. The two together furnish raw material from which comes scrap.

But wherever the old car comes from, there are changes to be made in it before it answers the description of scrap.
After it is stripped of glass, wood, upholstery, even dirt, it goes into a press, perhaps one which will gobble up the whole car at once, perhaps a smaller one which will take only part of it. Eventually, it will be shaped into a cube of metal, ready for shipment.
Last year, scrap used in the United States dropped to 22.6 million tons from the 23.6 million used the year before. But scrap processors had their best year since 1937 for overseas shipping, sending 8.6 million gross tons to approved foreign nations.

Adv PMs July 19)
SAYS OUTPUT INCREASED
MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet industry in the first half of 1962 boosted its output by 10 per cent and its labor productivity by 6 per cent over the first six months of 1961, Tass said Friday.
The Soviet news agency said both industrial and farm outputs for the first half of this year were 3 per cent over the planned quota.

Road Builders Used Air Lanes
WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Bureau of Public Roads officials did their bit to fight highway congestion last year by using the airlines for 3,695 trips, most of them at first-class rates, the General Accounting Office (GAO) reported.
Although refraining from any suggestion that the highway experts might travel more on the roads they are building, the GAO called upon the agency to use cheaper airline seats, especially on relatively short flights.
The GAO audit of air travel from the bureau's Washington office in 1961 showed that 3,055 reservations were for first-class seats and 640 for cheaper accommodations. It said the Washington office was spending $400,000 a year for all types of travel.
