Rocketry Has Come Of Age

Spectacular Week For US, Red Space Efforts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This week has one of the most spectacular in man's attempt to conquer space. The United States led missile after missile in tests, space probes, a partially successful shot at the moon and two joint international space ventures. Russia in its efforts to be the first to land a man on the moon, fired two satellites into orbit.

In the following in-depth dispatch UPI correspondent Alvin B. Webb Jr. reviews the week's activities in space. Webb has covered missile and space probes for the past three years and is responsible for UPI coverage of all U.S. space shots from Cape Canaveral.

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The race for space and the moon no longer is "just talk." This week, like no other week in history, what once was a dream of man turned toward the realm of spectacular reality.

For five days, man pounded the heavens with unprecedented gusto by blasting five satellites and a probe into space around earth, a complex electronic "brain" to the moon, a giant nose booster rocket on a short test flight and a variety of other rockets on military missions.

Rocketry has come of age, and the new technology explored space like the fingers of a doctor probing a patient's body — from almost every conceivable direction, searching for information vital to the future.

In the fiery onslaught, the contest between America and Russia for conquest of space reached a fevered new pitch. The grim seriousness of the business was brought home forcefully as perhaps never before.

Neither nation seemed to gain on the other. But the thunderous week probably was indicative of the months and years to come—a stepped-up drive of preliminary shots toward the day when a team of Americans, or Russians, must be the first on the moon.

This was a fantastic week which saw, among other things, the oddity of a scientific flop whitewashed to a glowing success because of what scientists admitted was "a lucky accident." Thus, Ranger-4 will be known for the one thing it did right rather than the many it did wrong.

Ranger-4 was a 730-pound "brain" the United States fired toward the moon aboard a 10-story rocket Monday. Exactly 63 hours 59 minutes and 45 seconds plus 238,857 miles later, it curved in sharply toward the moon and crashed to the lunar surface.

The shot that landed America's first probe on the moon was rightfully billed as a "tremendous guidance success." But for all the value it was, the gold and chrome-plated Ranger-4 could just as well have been 730 pounds of lead.

The probe's "brain" was added shortly after it was launched because of a timing mechanism failure. It was supposed to take close-up pictures of the moon and "crash land" a capsule of instruments on the lunar surface, but these and all other scientific experiments failed.

But even as the dead Ranger soared to the moon, America was taking a big step toward the day when men will join machines on the long trip with a stunning second flight success of its Saturn super-rocket.

Saturn is to other U.S. space rockets what the 707 jet airplane is to earlier prop-driven aircraft—a huge jump in the ability to lift more weight. The biggest American rocket available today can lift about 2½ tons into orbit. Saturn rockets will carry 10-ton satellites.

The thunderous power of this giant — equivalent to the combined horsepower of 150,000 automobiles — was unleashed again Wednesday, powering the 460-ton Saturn with its two dummy upper stages on a comparatively short hop across the Atlantic Ocean. It was a perfect flight.

The model flown this week will be used to put teams of three U.S. astronauts into earth orbits aboard the Apollo spaceship in late 1964. But it will take a still larger rocket, five times more powerful, to send a similar crew to the moon.

Russia stepped into the moon preparation act, but kept its work closer to home than Ranger-4. On Tuesday, Soviet scientists fired a heavy-weight satellite named "Cosmos-3" into orbit around earth, and followed it with a similar satellite.

Steel To Answer Charges Of Anti-Trust Violations

By GEORGE C. HARLAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal court will set a date today for the steel industry's biggest producers to answer government charges of Sherman anti-trust law violations.

Charges of price-fixing and bid-rigging dating back to 1948 were returned Thursday by a federal grand jury which indicted U.S. Steel and two smaller companies. Five individual executives and a trade association also were named in the indictment.

All were accused of illegally fixing prices in the sale of forged steel to the Army, Navy, electrical firms and other companies.

The action sent an unsteady stock market to its lowest level in a year. It came just two weeks after U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and other major producers were forced to rescind an announced $6-a-ton price increase because of intense pressure from the Kennedy administration and the refusal of some steel companies to increase their prices.

Such indictments are usually announced in Washington. It was thought Thursday's was issued here to remove doubt that the administration wanted revenge on the steel industry for its unsuccessful bid to raise prices.

The government said the indictment resulted from an investigation launched last December. Another grand jury, formed April 12 on orders from U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, also is investigating the major steel producers.

In addition to the nation's two biggest steel companies, the indictment named Midvale-Heppenstall Co., and Erie Forge. Conviction on the charges could carry a $50,000 fine.

The executives cited were Erb Gurney and Robert S. Barnes, manager and assistant manager of Bethlehem's special products division, respectively; Emil Lang, board chairman of Erie; Homer Lackey, Erie president; and R. B. Heppenstall Sr., president of Midvale. All could receive one year in jail and $50,000 fines.

The trade association named in the indictment is the Open Die Forging Institute, Inc., of New York.

U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington issued a statement in Pittsburgh in which he said the company would "contest in the courts the charges contained" in the indictment.

"And we ask the public," the statement said, "to withhold judgment until the case has been decided in court."

A Bethlehem spokesman said: "Bethlehem has long had a policy of strict compliance with all laws applicable to its operations, and we would be greatly concerned if any Bethlehem employees had been violating the law."

U.S. Steel began dropping on the stock market about one minute after the announcement. It fell from 60½ to 58, then closed at 58½, lowest level in four years. Bethlehem also lost 1¼. The selloff left an already groggy market at its lowest closing level since May 1, 1961. U.S. Steel was the day's most active stock on a trade of 127,800 shares.

Only Some Mild Partisan Reaction From Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress today absorbed the news of the steel price-fixing indictments and the stock market slump with cautious and only mildly partisan reaction.

Democrats and Republicans alike pointed out that the New York grand jury charges against four steel companies, including the nation's two largest — U.S. Steel and Bethlehem — were not related to the recent industry-government dispute over big steel's abortive price increase.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., declined to comment directly on the steel indictments. But he said he was not surprised that the stock market "is expressing its caution about the future" in the wake of the steel price controversy.

"If a large industry thought it had a sound basis for upping prices because of wage and other cost increases and thought the government might take immediate retaliatory action, it would be cautious about expansion plans until a new relationship and fabric of confidence develops," he said.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today exploded its second nuclear shot in the Pacific test series.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the nuclear device was dropped from an airplane near Christmas Island and was in "the intermediate yield range."

The AEC said this meant it had explosive power of less than one million tons of TNT but more than 20,000 tons. It was the same as the device fired Wednesday that opened the Pacific tests.

The body of a second crew member of a crashed F4H Navy Phantom jet fighter plane was found today about a mile from where the body of the other pilot was found Thursday night near Wheeler.

Macmillan Says West Should Keep Seeking Agreements With Russians

NEW YORK (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan believes the West must not abandon efforts to reach agreements with the Soviets to replace the mutual fear which now maintains the peace.

Macmillan, speaking to newspaper executives here Thursday night, held out the hope that the desires of the Russian people for a better standard of living will eventually work to the advantage of the West in dealing with the Communists.

Although agreeing that the United States' resumption of atmospheric nuclear tests was a tragedy, the head of the British government laid responsibility for forcing the testing at the feet of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

THEATRE PRODUCTION TONIGHT — This is a scene from the Pampa Little Theatre production, "The Night Is My Enemy," which will be on stage tonight and tomorrow in the Pampa High School auditorium with curtain time at 8 p.m. Shown here are, left to right, Roberta Hickman, who portrays Augusta Garvey, a friend of the family; and Jim Douthit and Dorothy Walker, who portray Mr. and Mrs. Ora Fontaine, in whose home the play is staged. Tickets may be purchased at the door each night prior to curtain time. (Daily News Photo)

BILL DON EADS ... Valedictorian
SUSAN QUIBLE ... Salutatorian

Top Students Named At Local High School

Bill Don Eads and Susan Quible, valedictorian and salutatorian respectively of the 1962 graduating class at Pampa High School, will deliver commencement addresses at graduation exercises May 28.

School Principal Cameron Marsh said Eads' three-year high school grade average was 95.36 and Miss Quible's grade average was 95.266. Marsh said Linda Belmont was named third honor student with a grade average of 95.262, only .004 of a point below Miss Quible.

The top seven ranking scholars in the graduating class ranked within 3 points, Marsh said.

Vesper services for the class will be held at 5 p.m. May 27 in the Field House. Two local ministers will be in charge of the services.

Graduation ceremonies are scheduled to be held Monday, May 28, beginning at 8 p.m., also in the Field House.

Scientists Are Believed Ready For Second Blast In US Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists in the Pacific were believed today for the second blast in the U.S. series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

Because of such factors as the uncertainty of weather conditions and the cost of maintaining the planes, ships and 12,000 men of Task Force 8 in the Pacific, the tests are being conducted as fast as possible.

Officials said tests were expected every two or three days during the series, named "Operation Dominic." The first of the planned two to three dozen shots came Wednesday in the air near Christmas Island.

The first explosion, a device dropped from an airplane, was believed to have the force of at least 100 kilotons — 100,000 tons of TNT. Other tests in the series were expected to range as high as 10 megatons — 10 million tons of TNT.

While the scientists were studying data from the first shot and getting ready for the second, Secretary of State Dean Rusk scoffed at Communist criticism of the testing.

Denouncing the "strident language" of the Communist bloc, he said at his news conference Thursday that it emphasized Russia's "weak" position in blocking agreement on a nuclear test ban treaty.

Rusk, the first high administrator before the last flame flickered out.

The warehouse, owned by the official Land Reform Institute (INRA), was the second major government installation to burn down in 48 hours. The half-built National Bank Building in Havana was destroyed by fire early Wednesday.

A third fire of undetermined origin broke out Thursday in a drainage channel at the $25-million Shell oil refinery in Havana, seized by the government from its British owners some time ago. Damage was minor.

Violent Weather Slams Texas But 1.18 Inch Rainfall Was Welcome In Pampa

Heavy rains, measuring as much as 4.3 inches in some areas, fell throughout the Panhandle yesterday afternoon and night.

Pampa recorded an unofficial 1.18 inches in yesterday's down-pour.

Several homes in the city were without electricity for about 45 minutes when lightning struck a power transformer shortly after 5 p.m.

Shamrock reported the heaviest rain when over 4 inches fell in a two-hour period between 6 and 7 p.m. The rain was accompanied by heavy winds that blew tree limbs across U.S. Highway 66, blocking traffic for a short time.

Lefors reported to The News today that rains measured 1.10 and 1.20 in sections of that community.

Groom reported heavy hail and .90 inch of rainfall. No extensive damage was reported from the hail.

About 1 inch was recorded in McLean; Clarendon had 1.63 inches and Canadian reported about .35 inch of rain.

A tornado and 89-mile-an-hour winds whipped East Texas today as the aftermath of a night of the worst weather violence of the season that included tornadoes, thunderstorms, hail and torrential rain.

The turbulence left at least one person and possibly two dead and 11 others injured.

A twister about a half-mile wide ripped across the northwest edge of Lufkin today. No injuries were reported but the tornado unroofed a service station, damaged roofs of 7 homes, collapsed a garage and uprooted several trees. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

Dr. Graham Files For Ward Two Commission Post

Dr. Will F. Graham filed today as a city commissioner candidate in Ward 2 to fill the vacancy left by the recent resignation of Newt Secrest.

An election to fill the post has been set for Tuesday, April 29.

Dr. Graham said shortly after he filed his petition: "I decided to seek the post because I believe now is a time when people need to be taking a serious interest in their city government."

Dr. Graham, an orthodontist, lives at 1928 Grape with his wife, Evelyn, and their two children, John, 16, and Barbara, 13.

He is an active worker in the First Presbyterian Church and the Pampa Kiwanis club.

City Secretary Ed Vicars said at noon today the legal deadline for candidates to file is midnight tomorrow. Since the City Hall is closed on Saturdays, the deadline actually would fall at the 5 p.m. closing time today.

Don Yarborough Due Here Today

Democrat Don Yarborough was to bring his gubernatorial campaign to Gray County today in an all-day swing through the Panhandle.

He was to fly into Pampa at 3:30 p.m. and make a hand-shaking tour of the county courthouse. Accompanying Yarborough on his Panhandle trip was to be Asa Willis of Dalhart, Dallas County Democratic chairman.

Macmillan Says West Should Keep Seeking Agreements With Russians

NEW YORK (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan believes the West must not abandon efforts to reach agreements with the Soviets to replace the mutual fear which now maintains the peace.

Macmillan, speaking to newspaper executives here Thursday night, held out the hope that the desires of the Russian people for a better standard of living will eventually work to the advantage of the West in dealing with the Communists.

Although agreeing that the United States' resumption of atmospheric nuclear tests was a tragedy, the head of the British government laid responsibility for forcing the testing at the feet of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Macmillan goes to Washington today for talks Saturday with President Kennedy on a united Anglo-American diplomatic front on the renewed tests.

The prime minister, in his major policy address before the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, left no doubt of Britain's backing of Kennedy in the decision to resume testing.

"America and Britain have done everything possible to avoid resumption of testing," Macmillan said. "We maintained a voluntary moratorium of three years which was rudely broken by the Russians last autumn. Ever since we have been trying to find a basis for some firm agreement."

He said he agreed with the London Daily Mirror's assessment that the test resumption "is a tragedy," but one attributable to Khrushchev and not Kennedy.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Allen Dulles, who has been called America's "master spy," defended U2 pilot Francis Powers and the reason for supporting the Cuban invasion in a remarkable hour-long television interview Thursday night.
In a matter-of-fact, forthright manner, the former chief of the Central Intelligence Agency also showed a flair for humor on "CBS Reports" as he revealed some little-known cloak-and-dagger details.
He recalled being introduced to Nikita Khrushchev at a dinner. "Oh, yes, I know you," Khrushchev said. "I read your reports," Dulles replied. "I hope you get them legally." He said Khrushchev countered that all governments pay the same agents.
Under the adroit questioning of reporter Eric Sevareid — the only other person present during the hour — Dulles said he never shared some of the public and press criticism of Powers.
He said he did not think it had been brought out sufficiently that Powers had such a difficult assignment and navigation basis, it was too much to expect him to also be a topflight undercover man.
"I think, on the whole, he handled himself properly," Dulles said.
Concerning criticism that there was a failure to recognize Fidel

Castro's danger earlier, Dulles said, "Maybe we were slow about it," but asked what one could do about a government that was in power with the approval of most of its citizens.

Asked about criticism that the invasion was immoral and illegal, he said the question was whether a group of men who wanted only to free their country should be told America did not sympathize with them.

Dulles admitted the United States did not inform the Cuban underground about the invasion; he said to do so would have been to tell Castro. He added that very few persons knew about the invasion of France in World War II, to ensure surprise.

As Dulles lit, re-lit and toyed with his pipe in his Georgetown home, Sevareid deftly drew from him tales of some of his exploits.

There was the period in Switzerland in the second war when Dulles visited psychiatrist Carl Jung for help in trying to figure out Hitler's mental reactions—what he might do next, and so forth. The ex-intelligence chief said similar techniques have been used in relation to Khrushchev.

In Switzerland, Dulles kept Washington informed about the plots on Hitler's life, including the 1944 attempt of the German generals in a briefing barracks. If Hitler had not moved 10 feet, a concealed bomb — which went off — would have killed him. Dulles expressed his disappointment about the affair in a businesslike way Thursday night.

The "master spy" also told how messages smuggled to him from the German Foreign Office enabled America to know of Japan's desperate position before the end of the war and made it possible to help prepare negotiations for an early surrender.

Asked by Sevareid if he thus thought it was necessary to use the A-bomb against Japan, Dulles said he respected the men who made the decisions but felt there was a failure to interpret available intelligence as to the ability of the enemy to carry on.

"CBS Reports" turned in a proud job, although it would not have hurt to have explored Dulles' background and earlier years. The Channel Swim: NBC-TV, surprised by sponsor cancellation of the Bob Newhart show because of ratings, is hoping other firms may come to the rescue. Just last week, Newhart won a Peabody Award for comedy, and will host the Emmy Awards from Hollywood May 22.

Rod Serling is not likely to be upset by the news that CBS-TV axed his "Twilight Zone" series after three years; he said earlier this season he'd had enough. There is a slight possibility the show could be renewed.

wer Company Vice-President To Made Fellow Of Electrical Group

ARILLO (Sp) — The high honor that can be earned from American Institute of Electrical Engineers will be conferred on O. Hodson, vice-president, engineering and power, of Southern Public Service Company, when he will receive the title of Fellow.

Hodson is the first in this area named a Fellow of the Institute. Wendell Fowler, of San Antonio Electric Company, Fort Worth, and also a 1958 Fellow of the Institute, will make the presentation at the annual Ladies' Luncheon banquet of the Panhandle Section in Amarillo.

The Hudson, Lubbock division manager for Southwestern Public Service Company, will be master of ceremonies. New officers for the coming year will be announced by John Evans, current president.

Hodson was cited for his contributions to the "engineering, construction and operation of a rapidly growing utility system."

Hodson, a 1930 graduate of South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, began his engineering career as a radio engineer for Westinghouse Electric Company soon after graduation. In 1933, he joined the meter department of the Black Hills Power and Light Company, becoming manager for that company in 1935 at Rapid City, South Dakota. In 1938 he was named division superintendent for Southwestern Public Service Company, Roswell, N.M., transferring in the same capacity to Amarillo in 1941. In 1944 he was named chief engineer and elected to a vice presidency in 1951.

He was named Outstanding Engineer in 1953 by the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. As an engineer, he holds registered status in the states of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Hodson is active in Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, and the First Christian Church. He and his wife Marjorie have one daughter, Marjorie Diane. The family resides at 1619 Travis in Amarillo.

None Are Hurt In Johnson Plane Mishap At Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — A hydraulic failure was blamed today for causing a jet plane carrying Vice President Lyndon Johnson and his wife to skid from a runway and settle with one wheel in the mud alongside the strip.

Neither the vice president nor his wife, Lady Bird, was hurt. They left the plane, an Air Force T39 Sabreliner, and a few minutes later boarded a commercial airliner for Washington.

Hose, Sprinkler Stolen

Apparently someone decided Pampa hasn't been getting enough rainfall and decided to do something about it — especially the watering of his lawn.

C. H. Olney, 1328 Duncan, reported to police that a plastic hose and yard sprinkler was stolen from his front lawn. Total value was placed at $12.

Wilson Says He Will Talk Estes Dealings Tonight

AUSTIN (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said today he will throw new light on political corruption during a statewide telecast tonight dealing with the crumbling agricultural empire of indicted farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes.

"The program will deal primarily with corruption and the political implications... of the Pecos (Tex) financier," Wilson said.

He accused federal authorities of clamping "an iron curtain of secrecy" around Estes' dealings with U. S. Department of Agriculture officials and revealed he and his staff have been doing "extensive work" with an investigator from Sen. John McClellan's Government Operations Committee.

At Pecos, an attorney for Estes posted a $22,500 bond Thursday on charges that Estes stole $828,377 from six West Texas farmers by selling them phantom fertilizer tanks. Estes is already under $100,000 bond on federal charges of transporting mortgages on the tanks across state lines.

Wilson plans to present evidence he collected during a series of courts of inquiry next week to a grand jury at Amarillo and ask that Estes be indicted for violating state antitrust laws.

Catholic Youth Convention Set

The fifth annual convention of the Pampa deanery, Amarillo Diocesan Council of Catholic Youth, will be held Sunday beginning at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 10:30 p.m. in the St. John's School in Borger.

A program of spiritual, educational and social activities is planned for the one-day convention.

The CYO of Borger will host the meeting, with Janet Skales, Borger, president.

Texaco Will Not Sponsor Huntley Next Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Co. confirmed Thursday that Texaco will not sponsor the Chet Huntley-David Brinkley television news program next season.

The petroleum company cited rising costs of the program as the reason for its decision to discontinue sponsorship. NBC said there was a "long line" of prospective sponsors for the show.

Lunar moonlet dubbed "Cosmos-4" Thursday.

Various interpretations of Soviet intentions included speculation that the pair of satellites might be "spy-in-the-sky." But it seemed more likely the moonlets were basically scientific experiments designed to collect information about space radiation that will be necessary before any men, U.S. or Soviet, can safely go to the moon.

The matter of "spy-in-the-sky" satellites remains strictly a U.S. space item, and a sensitive one at that. An Atlas-Agena rocket is believed to have carried another one, either a Midas or a Samos, on a launching Thursday from Point Arguello, Calif.

The Defense Department does not do much talking about Midas or Samos, and never mentions either name publicly these days. A second attempted orbital shot from Point Arguello Thursday was made with an Air Force four-stage Blue Scout rocket. The military also kept mum about this one, but it was believed to have carried a satellite to conduct radiation measurement experiments in connection with the current series of U.S. nuclear tests underway in the Pacific.

The United States is trying to develop a system for detecting nuclear explosions in space through a program of mapping radiation levels at various altitudes and then comparing these "maps" with other radiation measurements obtained in future shots.

U.S. and British scientists combined their talents to put together a 132-pound satellite called "UK-1." It was fired into orbit from the East Coast "spaceport" aboard an American three-stage delta rocket.

UK-1 was collecting information about the ionosphere, a sort of "mirror" of ionized gas which reflects some radio signals and makes possible long-range wireless communications on earth.

Talkathon Continues In Senate Over 'Rights'

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N. C., said today any Southern election official who denies qualified Negroes the right to vote "ought to be taken to task, but taken to task in a constitutional manner."

No new laws are needed, Ervin said, because "existing federal laws are sufficient to secure to every qualified voter of any race anywhere in the United States the right to vote."

Ervin, a former state Supreme Court justice, made the statement in remarks prepared for the

Carpenter To Be The Next US Astronaut

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Navy Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter has been selected as the astronaut who will pilot a United States spacecraft on an orbital flight next month.

Walter C. Williams, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, disclosed Thursday that Carpenter's flight in mid-May would be "virtually the same" as the first orbital trip by Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., Feb. 20.

Williams also said by the end of 1962 or early 1963 an 18-orbit manned shot will be attempted with a modified Mercury capsule. The 18-orbit trip, taking about 24 hours, will set the stage for two-man rides into space and eventually a manned moon shot which has a 1967 target date, he said.

Carpenter, who will be 38 on May 1, is from Boulder, Colo., and was selected to make the next flight into space after Maj. Donald (Duke) Slayton had been washed out because of a minor heart condition. The father of four children, Carpenter has accumulated more than 2,900 hours in the air.

Williams said there would be "no major modifications" of the space capsule. Carpenter will use the NASA official told newsmen success will make the United States first in space flights. Failure will make it last.

"A country which has technical competence and uses it will grow," he said. "A country which has technical competence and does not use it will shrink. We know what our milestones are but we don't know what Russia's milestones are."

Southern senators' talkathon against the administration's voting rights bill.

The measure would abolish state literacy tests as a voting requirement and make a sixth grade education proof of literacy for voting in federal elections.

Ervin, chairman of the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee which has held hearings on the legislation, said the bill is "not only unconstitutional but is wholly unnecessary."

He said the right to set voter requirements had "resided in the states since the birth of the republic."

The well-organized Southerners were armed for their third straight day of talk against the bill. A "platoon" headed by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., was prepared to hold the floor all day.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who offered the literacy test proposal, was letting the debate run its course. But he indicated that longer hours for the Senate might be in prospect next week.

After several more days Mansfield and GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen are expected to offer a cloture petition to curb the debate and speed up a vote. They face the uphill task of getting two-thirds of all senators present to enforce the gag.

Official to reply in public to the wave of vituperation from the Communist bloc, said the United States did not regret its decision to proceed with the tests, but did regret "the necessity for the decision."

It would have preferred an effective test ban pact, he said, but this country will never agree to a treaty based on "blind trust" of nations operating "behind a veil."

Outside of the angry words from Communist officials, there was only mild disapproval from most neutral nations and staunch backing from Western Allies.

The initial anti-American demonstrations in Tokyo were small and non-violent and press comment in Japan was more restrained than in the past. The biggest demonstration was staged by more than 2,000 persons at the U.S. Embassy in London.

There were other, smaller demonstrations at U.S. embassies in other countries.

In Glasgow, Scotland, 15 persons were arrested for staging a sitdown demonstration in the corridor of the U.S. Consulate.

off for hours, and the storm caused other extensive damage. "If it wasn't a tornado, there was a big fist hidden inside of a thunderstorm," said Maj. Raymond Seidel, Sheppard public information officer. There were eyewitnesses, however, who watched the tornado form and hop across the base and into the north edge of Wichita Falls itself.

The storm also was blamed for the crash of a Navy plane in the Texas Panhandle in which the pilot was killed and another person was reported missing.

Lightning started a prairie fire at Canadian, Tex., but it rained so hard a few minutes later the flames quickly sputtered and died.

"I would say that this storm is the worst turbulence of the season," Tom Wilson, a meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau, said.

Rain soaked all of North Texas as well as south central and southeast sections of the state. Torrents of up to five inches were reported in West Texas.

The turbulence was triggered by a massive cold front stretching from Nebraska to Mexico. But the worst thunderstorm activity zeroed in on North Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

The storm moved into Texas Thursday afternoon and increased in intensity during the evening. High winds and a three inch rain at Quail, Tex., caused the roof of a school to collapse just minutes after the principal had cleared the building of 50 students. Deputy Sheriff Arden Beasley said two twisters were sighted east of Anson in Jones County. One touched ground, blew over an outbuilding and toppled utility poles. He said a 30 minute hail knocked out dozens of windows and damaged many roofs.

Heavy rain and light hail fell at Stamford. By the time the storm reached the Dallas-Fort Worth area it had lost most of its punch, but gave the area a general soaking with rain falling at a rate of almost three-quarters of an inch an hour. Rain extended south to San Antonio and Austin.

Another funnel cloud was reported near Midland and one was sighted near the town of Elbow, south of Big Spring. Neither touched ground.

The weather bureau called for more thunderstorms for today and tonight in North Central, Northeast and Southwest Texas and showers and thundershowers for the rest of the state under generally cloudy skies.

The five-day forecast said North Central and Northeast Texas would get one-third of an inch of rain to near an inch by the middle of next week. Lighter showers were expected in Southwest, Northwest and South Texas.

Kooky Political Show Scores Hit In Washington

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Theodore J. Flicker is the director of a group of strolling players who put on a kooky sort of show called "The Premise."

The production, which is about 50 per cent political satire and about 50 per cent chaos, opened in a New York coffeehouse some 18 months ago and was an immediate success. Flicker thereupon organized a second company and installed it at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington. The Shoreham is not exactly a coffeehouse, but the show made a big hit here, too. I had a talk with Flicker this week when he came down from New York to check on the local cast. For someone in show business, he seemed to be behaving rather strangely. Every few minutes he would give me a jovial slap on the back or reach over and shake my hand. I also noticed that he kept referring to the actors in the show as "my constituents."

It was all so uncharacteristic that I finally asked if something were wrong. Flicker replied that he was having a recurrence of a mental disturbance that came upon him when he was getting the show going here last January. "I find myself fighting an incredible desire to become a senator," he said.

Feeling sympathetic, and wanting to comfort him, I asked if he felt like talking about it. Flicker gave his little brown beard a nervous tug, looked up at me with tear-filled eyes, and blurted out a horrifying story. "It began on opening night," he said in a choked voice. "I looked over the audience and there were some of the people who actually create the havoc that we satirize on the stage."

"All of a sudden a funny feeling came over me and I found myself thinking of myself as being one of them. "Later on, I met a few senators personally. The next thing I knew I was engaging them in quiet conversations about affairs of state."

"It was like being a junkie. Once I was hooked, I had to have more. I began doing weird things, like getting up at 8 a. m. to visit

Swedish Auto Magnate Points International Trade Problems

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gunnar Engellau, Sweden's leading automobile manufacturer, had some things to say here on the general problems of international trade which should be of interest to American industrialists who today are moving increasingly into foreign competition.

Engellau came here during the International Automobile Show as part of a tour which would take him to the Pacific coast before he returns to Sweden. He is president of A-B Volvo, Gothenburg, the largest manufacturer of cars, trucks and buses in Sweden.

About 45 per cent of Volvo's production is for export. Last year, the Volvo, Engellau said, ranked No. 10 among the imported cars in the United States market, and this year it is No. 3.

Sweden, Engellau said, has a high standard of living, and a wage scale high by European standards. In this respect, his cost problems somewhat resemble those of comparable industries in the U.S.

"We could never compete price-wise in a world market," he told a group of newsmen here, "but we can compete from a quality point of view. This is one reason we have been successful."

"We have been able," he continued, "to absorb a high wage scale through more efficient operations.

"We are traditionally a free trade country in Sweden. I believe that this has made us work harder."

Engellau emphasized that he spoke as a private businessman when he reviewed some of the problems presented to Sweden by the European economic community, the common market. Sweden is not a member, and has not worked out completely her approach to the trade picture which it will present.

He said that the "Outer Seven" group, of which Sweden is a member, probably is moving toward union with the EEC, but there are obstacles. These, he thought, might vanish within the next 25 years to the point where there are States of Europe.

Lefors Band To Give Program At School Tonight

LEFORS (Spl) — The Lefors Band will present its annual Spring Festival at 8 p. m. tonight in the Lefors High School Auditorium.

The program will open with the fourth grade and will be followed by the 5th and 6th grades. The High School Pirate Band will conclude the program.

Admission will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for students. The proceeds will go toward financing the Pirate Band's trip to Enid, Okla., May 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Gov. Price Daniel

The following is another in a series of biographical portraits on the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor of Texas.

AUSTIN (UPI)—As a cub reporter in Fort Worth he became intensely interested in politics. He decided to return to Baylor University and study law, and upon graduation opened a law office in Liberty County on the same spot where Sam Houston had his law office.

He embarked on a political career unprecedented in the state's history. Now, after 23 years in public office, Gov. Price Daniel has set out to become the first Texan in history to serve four terms as the state's chief executive.

Daniel jokes that the word "re-election" sounds much better than the "unprecedented fourth term" tag his opponents have used in the campaign.

He calls the two-year term for governor "an outmoded relic of the past" because 34 states have four-year terms and 19 permit re-election totaling the same eight years in office that Daniel desires.

Daniel's public career began in 1939 with election as a state representative. Re-elected twice Daniel was chosen speaker in 1943, then entered the U. S. Army.

While he was overseas as a legal officer, Daniel's friends back home began booming him for attorney general. He won the office in 1946 after a whirlwind, 60-day campaign.

As attorney general, Daniel gained national attention during his defense of the Texas tidelands which bill ever introduced in Congress.

Heading what he described as "a call of the people" Daniel returned to Texas in 1956 to run for governor. After a close race against current U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough for his first term, against federal claims. He was re-elected without opposition.

Daniel's next political step was to the U. S. Senate in 1952. He again won national attention with a nationwide investigation of narcotics traffic. The probe resulted in the most stringent anti-narcotics law in the nation.

The governor decided to seek a fourth term in February after a special session of the legislature failed to pass a small loan regulatory act and his program to appropriate money for tourist advertising.

During his current campaign, the governor promised a continued fight against state domination by special interests, lobbyists and pressure groups.

He believes "an active and efficient state government which meets the proper governmental needs of its people is the best safeguard against further federal encroachment."

Pampa Little Theater's April Play Set Tonight

By Doris E. Wilson

Why write a review of a play after it is over, we have asked ourselves? Especially, when the opportunity will be passed for the reader to go see whether or not they agree with the reviewer. Sensible, no? It's almost like closing the door after the horse is gone. We'd much rather get the before the horse with a sneak preview.

The play we have in mind is Pampa Little Theater's "The Night Is My Enemy", a three-act mystery drama written by Fred Carmichael, produced by special arrangement with Mel French, Inc. and directed by Homer T. West. The play will be presented tonight and tomorrow night with an 8 o'clock curtain in the Pampa High School auditorium. Reserved seats and tickets may be purchased at the door.

"they" say in the theatrical world, we "caught" two dress rehearsals this week on Wednesday and Thursday nights and we must admit we had just a little difficulty in going to sleep on those nights. We love mystery and "The Night Is My Enemy" is one to the hilt. We are not quite sure, which provided most sleep-disturbing act. Whether it was the blood-red handkerchief, the dagger planted in the back of one of the actors; the blind heroine's rams; or the beautifully-erotic scene, which was written especially for the play by Anita Kreuger, second grade teacher at when F. Austin and wife of her Krueger, Pampa Junior High Band instructor.

The story in a capsule, with the obvious omitted, concerns a mentally unbalanced killing who is intent upon ridding the world of imperfect people. The play is set in the 1900s on the Turkish Coast in the country home of a prominent London physician. It's all we can say.

The people, who inhabit this scene and their guests, are the characters, which we can't see about.

In previous publicity, much has been written about the role of the shrewdly played by Joyce Causland, wife of John McCausland, local insurance executive. And it is a particularly difficult role, which necessitates her being on stage for all of the play depicting emotions ranging from happiness at being in love to the first time to stark terror when she is being strangled by the killer. Laughter and crying and mastering a most believable role of a blind person are the other feats accomplished by this stress in her first appearance in "PLT" production.

She plays the adopted niece of a and Hester Fontaine, portrayed by Jim Douthit, who will be remembered as the "mad plastic surgeon" in "Arsenic and Old Lace" and Dorothy Walker, who will be given at the door.

As in every play there must be minor, but important-to-the-story roles, these are taken this time by Patsy Rawlings, as the Fontaine's housekeeper and mother of Tommy Biller; by Dr. Frank Hatcher, a podiatrist, or, to us Texans, a chiropodist, who had one of the leading roles as Mortimer in "Arsenic and Old Lace"; but in this one is Hubert Biller, the handyman; an by Don Hickman as Inspector Church, an employe of Celanese, who investigates the weird happenings around the Fontaine summer home.

At the Thursday night rehearsal, the behind-the-scenes crew were up checking things out from their point of view. Jack and Glenna Lea Miller, who was the last play's director, gave tips on make-up to the cast. Cleo Worley, who was also a member of "A and OL" cast has served as props committee chairman, assisted by Shirley Allen. Cleo has dressed the stage in a most attractive setting. Odeverne McConnell was up to check out the fit of the costumes; some of which are borrowed from Amarillo Little Theater and some of which were used in "Arsenic and Old Lace" which had to be altered. Homer and Anita Kreuger were testing the audio portion of the background music. Glenn McConnell, as stage manager, who this time will be behind the curtains, instead of out in front as he was as "Teddy Roosevelt" in "A and OL", was taking certain and lighting cues from the director, Homer West.

True, Pampa Little Theater is an amateur group, but in this group of amateurs there are enough professionals to lend a finishing touch to the overall production. . . and what the out-and-out amateurs lack in actual technique is made up for in enthusiasm and interest.

We have purposely left one person to the last to toss a bouquet and she is Marie Jones, also, a Cabot secretary who is serving as production manager. For it has been Marie who has picked up the loose ends, when they were dragging; who has offered encouragement and help to anyone who requested it. The cast, crew, and the director should be the first to admit she has been a "jewel."

It must be a great source of accomplishment to the cast and the crew to see this play grow from words between an orange-jacket script to the finished product, which will be offered to audiences tonight and tomorrow night.

Fret not, if you do not have your tickets, just come up to the high school tonight, where Martha McComas and I will fix you up with one just the right size; either a $1 one size, if you are out of school or a 75 cent size, if you are still a student.

Dear Abby.... Tactfulness Is Not Being Two-Faced!!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law says I'm two-faced because I am nice to my mother in law's face but actually I can't stand some of her ways. She is a very gossipy woman. I love my husband and don't want to get on the outs with his mother by telling her to her face what I think of her. Am I being two-faced?

THE QUIET TYPE

DEAR QUIET: Let's say you are being civilized, diplomatic and very, very tactful. It's wise not to tell your mother-in-law what you think of her. Just be sure you don't tell anyone else.

DEAR ABBY: You helped me out by telling me about this Home for Unwed Mothers. I am here now and can't thank you enough for sending me here. My problem now is, should I keep my baby or should I give it up for adoption? I am terribly confused. At first, I made up my mind to keep my baby. Then I wrote to a priest whom I have known a long time and he strongly urged me to give my baby up for the baby's sake. I am undecided again. I am 17. The baby's father is married.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: The question should be YOURS and YOURS alone. Ask yourself two questions: (1) What will be best for my baby? (2) What will be best for me? God bless you, I know you will make the right decision.

Stitch 'n Chatter With Mrs. Wilson

WHEELER (Sp) — Mrs. Marshall Wilson was hostess to the Stitch and Chatter Club recently in her home for an evening of piecing a quilt top.

Mrs. W. E. Burke, president, presided during a brief business meeting, which opened with roll call and secretary's report, by Mrs. Claude Crouch.

Mrs. Maude Reagan was welcomed as a guest.

Members attending, in addition to those previously mentioned, were Mmes. Agnes Trayer, W. E. Bowen, Henry Hink, Clara Bradstreet, Clara Childress, Nettie Luttrell, George Warren, and M. P. Rogers.

It was announced that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Crouch.

Manners

Sure way to cause hurt feelings: leave out one or two families when you have a neighborhood get-together.

Help Husband Unwind After Day's Pressures

A wife may not be able to change the machine age or slow down the pace of big business but there's a lot she can do to keep her husband healthy and relaxed when he's off the job. Her efforts in this area can make her life happier, too especially right now as the pace of holiday shopping and preparations speeds up. So says Jean Kinkead, women's consultant to The Travelers Insurance Companies. She has some tips — both mental and physical — on how to help a husband release the tensions of his daily job and encourage him to stay healthy and fit.

Plan a domestic "decompression chamber". At the end of the day a man needs a breathing spell, a time to unwind before playing with children and listening to household problems. Try to give him a quiet half-hour of your attention after he steps in the door.

Encourage relaxation around the house whenever possible, both in clothes and time schedules. A sports shirt and a comfortable pair of old slacks invite such a mood, and dressing up for one occasion during the week-end is enough.

Plan an occasional overnight trip just for two of you to vary the routine of your lives. A change of scene, even one as simple as spending the night at a motel, can be very refreshing.

Don't go overboard on ambitious do-it-yourself projects. It's very easy to allow these to pile up, so that your husband is spending the majority of his leisure time as Mr. Fix-it.

Take over the household bills, if agreeable to your husband. Many wives handle most of the details of family budgeting, much to their spouses' relief.

Lefors HD Club With Mrs. Torres

LEFORS (Sp) — Lefors Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Cedar Torres for a program on "Accessories" presented by Mrs. W. E. Melton, clothing leader.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Francis Cox, vice president, the club approved plans to purchase petunias for planting in the Leforian Park.

Mrs. O. O. Bishop conducted a game during the recreation period with Mrs. Torres and Mrs. G. W. James tying for honors with Mrs. R. W. Beck as judge.

Encourage him to find an absorbing hobby. Whether it's tinkering with a hi-fi set, teaching Sunday school, collecting stamps or birdwatching, hobbies provide a relaxing outlet for a man.

Consult the experts when trouble arises. Instead of stewing over problems, get them straightened out promptly. Doctors, lawyers, accountants and teachers are there to help you both, and are well worth the time and money to see them.

Watch your husband's diet and drink. If your husband is overweight, help him to lose by planning calorie-conscious meals. There are dozens of good cookbooks on this subject. And dwelling on physical care — use all your powers of persuasion to see that he visits the family doctor for regular checkups.

Help your husband to get regular exercise. This isn't easy for a busy man but it's very necessary. If he can't find time for tennis, golf or bowling, try to get him walking. It's probably the best exercise there is, and there are always fun places a husband and wife can walk together.

Encourage him to participate in strictly masculine activities, such as fishing or poker. An evening out "with the boys" every once in a while is good relaxation for your husband. A strictly stag night is as much fun for him as the coffee klatch is for you.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

REV. R. M. MARSTELLAR
PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS CHURCH

A Power-Pack Experience With God

A few years ago General Motors came out with a new engine in the Chevrolet. This engine was to have extra power for quick starts, passing, and smooth performance. Many people were very interested in getting a car with this type engine, for they wanted a car with more power. This engine was called a "power-pack." Why? Because they wanted the extra power.

Jesus disciples needed extra power to make them the power house for God. So Jesus before his ascension said in Acts 1:8 "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnessed unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." In other words you are going to receive a Power-Pack experience with God. An experience that will make you great witnesses.

Many wonder today why many ministers and many church members are powerless. It is because that this great truth of the Bible has been overlooked. The Bible says in II Timothy 3:1 "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy," and verse 8 says "Having a form of Godliness but denying the power thereof: from such turn away." God knows that if there has ever been a day when the church needs power, it is today. What has happened to the shouts of God's people that used to be heard? What has happened to the holiness that used to be lived in the lives of the saints of God? Many say, "we have learned better." My people, if learning better means losing the power of God from our midst, we'd better not learn.

Man says today that this Power-Pack experience of the Holy Ghost is not for us, but let us hear some testimonies from the Word of God.

1. Isaiah testifies in chapter 28:9-12 "When shall he teach knowledge? And when shall he make to understand doctrine? Them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts. For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line; here a little and there a little; for with stammering lips and another tongue will he speak to his people. To whom he said this is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest; and this is the refreshing." Paul refers to this scripture in Cor. 14:21.

2. Joel testifies in chapter 2:28-29 "And it shall come to pass afterwards, that I will pour out of spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall see visions; and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in these days will I pour out of my Spirit." Peter refers to this same scripture on the day of Pentecost in the 2nd. chapter of Acts. Peter had so much of this Power-Pack experience with God until three thousand souls were added to them.

3. John the Baptist testifies in Matt. 3:11 "I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but he that cometh after me is mightier than I whose shoes I am not worthy to bear; he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and fire." This same testimony is recorded in all of the four gospels and in Acts 1:5 And Peter refers to this same testimony of John in the 11 chapter of Acts the 16th verse regarding Cornelius and his household when he said, "And as I began to speak, the Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning. Then remembered I the word of the Lord, how that he said, John indeed baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost."

4. Jesus testifies in John 7:37-39 "In the last day, the great day of the feast Jesus stood and cried, saying, if any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink. He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water. (But this spake He of the Spirit, which that they believed on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given: because Jesus was not yet glorified)." Further testimonies of Jesus concerning this Power-Pack Experience with God are found in John 14:15-17, John 15:26, John 16:7-8 Jesus last testimony was Luke 24:49 "and behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you; but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high."

WHO IS THIS EXPERIENCE FOR?

Peter testifies in Acts 2:38-39 "Then Peter said unto them, Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is unto YOU, and TO YOUR CHILDREN, and TO ALL THAT ARE AFAR OFF, even AS MANY AS THE LORD OUR GOD SHALL CALL."

There are people all over the world that are hungry and thirsting for this great POWER-PACK EXPERIENCE WITH GOD, and praise be to His wonderful Name. He says in Matt. 5:6 "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness FOR THEY SHALL BE FILLED."

The story is of a man who is a stranger to everyone. He is a stranger to everyone.

Needling respect to impress his friends. But he couldn't do it, because he is a necessary character.

So he joined church. This tale may be true, but it is not America's church members with few questions.

Come Join The Church To Gain Social Contacts

Religion In America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The story is told of a confidence man who moved into an American city where he was a stranger to everyone, including the police.

Needing respectable connections to impress his intended victims, he tried to join various clubs. But he couldn't get into any of them, because he lacked the necessary character references.

So he joined the city's leading church.

This tale may be apocryphal, but it is not farfetched. Most of America's churches welcome new members with open arms and few questions. They assume, in practice if not in theory, that anyone who applies for church membership is a committed Christian.

The assumption is to put it mildly, unrealistic. It is probably rare for a practicing criminal to use church membership as a camouflage. But it is by no means unusual for people to join churches for slightly more reputable secular reasons, such as a desire to establish social and business contacts.

Clergymen are well aware of this. The question is what, if anything, churches should do about it.

One viewpoint is that they shouldn't do anything about it. Exponents of this view acknowledge that there are millions of men and women on church membership rolls today who do not know the rudiments of Christian doctrine, and who do not live any differently from their "unchurched" neighbors.

But they say that all of these nominal Christians are potential converts, and the best way to bring them into a genuine relationship with Christ is to include them in the life of the community where he is known and served.

Another view, which appears to be gaining adherents, is that churches should welcome all comers to their worship services and other activities, but reserve full membership to those who have genuinely accepted Christ as their Lord and Master.

Those who favor stricter standards for church membership argue as follows:

The world will not take Christianity seriously until it sees evidence that this faith really does have a transforming effect on the lives of those who are seized by it. The presence of many nominal members in the church gravely weakens its mission of providing a living witness to the power of Christ to change human lives.

According to this school of thought, churches are less likely to convert seekers by rushing them into full membership than by asking them to wait until they have reached a sincere decision to take on the yoke of Christian discipleship.

Revival Will Conclude On Sunday Here

An eight-day revival meeting which has been in progress at the Central Baptist Church since last Sunday will be concluded with the services Sunday.

Gene Garrison, pastor of First Baptist Church, Hobart, Okla., is the evangelist. Garrison is a former resident of Pampa, having completed his high school education here, according to pastor T. O. Upshaw.

There are to be two worship services at the church Sunday morning with Garrison preaching. They are scheduled for 8:45 and 11 a.m. Sunday school for all age groups will begin at 9:45 a.m.

Evening services will begin at 6:30 with training union for all age groups. The worship service will follow at 7:30 p.m. with the evangelist preaching.

Wednesday evening at 7, the YWAs, GAs, RAs, Sunbeams, and the Sunday School officers and teachers will meet. The mid-week prayer service will be at 8 p.m. at which time the Woman's Missionary Union will conduct a GA Coronation Service.

Thursday morning, members of the church who will be assisting in the Vacation Bible School in June will travel to Borger to attend the associational Vacation Bible School Clinic.

WOMEN In The CHURCH

The Methodist Church is offering opportunities for youth, college students, and young adults (male and female) to take part in voluntary service projects this coming summer. There will be work camps, study seminars, and individual service opportunities.

Several of the projects are ecumenical or interdenominational, with the Methodist Church as one of the participating denominations. Some will be in this country and others abroad. One of the ecumenical projects scheduled is a U.S.-Russia exchange program.

It is planned that U.S. participants will spend 40 days in Russia and visit east European countries as well. The "interboard Committee on Volunteer Services" serves as a clearing group for all voluntary service projects within the Methodist Church. The Rev. Theodore B. McEachern (1001 Nineteenth Ave., South, Nashville) is chairman.

The first director of the newly created division of program planning of the American Baptist Convention is Miss Pearl Rosser, formerly president of the Baptist Missionary Training School, Chicago, Ill. The purpose of the new division is to "take the leadership in the initiation of program proposals and long-range planning."

Advanced training for church organists and choir directors of any faith will be offered at the new college of music to be opened next September at Washington (D.C.) Cathedral. Recommended by the Episcopal Joint Commission on Church Music, the college will begin as a three-year pilot program, which is expected to become permanent. A fund appeal for $90,000 is being conducted by the National Cathedral Association. Dr. Leo Sowerby, eminent organist and choirmaster of St. James Cathedral, Chicago, is expected to direct the college program.

A new clinic building at the Christian Leprosy Colony at Jorhat, Burma, has been dedicated, as a memorial to Mary Kirby Berry, who long served the lepers of that land. "In all Assam," writes a missionary, "there is nothing like this for leprosy patients. There are twelve beds for hospitalization, a physiotherapy room, a good laboratory, examining rooms, and a small operating room."

First Baptist Church Will Begin Series Of Revival Services Sunday

The First Baptist Church is beginning a series of revival services Sunday, April 29, with Dr. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor of the Central Baptist Church of North Little Rock, Ark., and former pastor of the First Baptist Church here, doing the preaching.

Sam Allen, outstanding athlete and gifted singer, will give direction to the congregational singing and provide special music for each service. "Both of these men have been with the First Baptist Church on many former occasions and the people of the church look forward expectantly to their coming for the eight days of special revival effort," local church representatives said.

Dr. Bayless is one of the outstanding pulpiteres of the Southern Baptist Convention and one of the really successful evangelists, having served in that field for some sixteen years, they added.

Special nights are planned for next week. Monday night will be music night with the six robed choirs of the music department of the church participating, under the direction of Joe Whitten, minister of music.

Wednesday night the Brotherhood of the Church has challenged the women in promoting the attendance. The women and girls will fill the downstairs part of the auditorium and the men and boys will occupy the balcony part of the auditorium.

Thursday evening has been designated "Youth Night." At 6 p.m., there will be, "a hamburger fry for these young people and we are expecting hundreds of boys and girls to be in attendance for this special event." Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor, said.

"Members of the First Baptist Church extend a cordial invitation to the entire citizenry of Pampa to be our guests and worship with us at any or all services of this revival. The morning services, Tuesday through Friday, will be at 10 o'clock and the evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. You will hear great gospel preaching and glorious singing," he concluded.

For the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School hour at the Highland Baptist Church, the teachers will teach the subject, "A Disciplined Faith."

For his Sunday morning sermon at 11 a.m., Pastor Joe Allison has chosen the subject, "Baptist on the Christian Sabbath." The scripture will be read as found in Isaiah 58:1-14.

At the Training Union hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. the topic for discussion is that of "Brazilian Baptist Laymen." This will be followed at the 7:30 preaching hour by the topic, "The Bread of Life" as discussed by Bro. Allison, who will read the scripture as found in John 6:47-62.

Both the Junior and Adult Choirs will be robed and in their places under the direction of John Locke, assisted by Mrs. Don Stafford and Mrs. Ann Winegeart at the piano.

At the 7:15 p.m. Wednesday evening service, May 2, Rev. Allison has chosen as his subject, "Pastor and Church Relationship" as presented in 1 Corinthians 9:1-27.

Services At The Highland Baptist Set

For the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School hour at the Highland Baptist Church, the teachers will teach the subject, "A Disciplined Faith."

For his Sunday morning sermon at 11 a.m., Pastor Joe Allison has chosen the subject, "Baptist on the Christian Sabbath." The scripture will be read as found in Isaiah 58:1-14.

Christian Science Services

How divine guidance aids man in his efforts to make spiritual progress will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The Lesson - Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" will include these words of the Psalmist: "As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him. It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect" (Psalm 18).

This citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read (p. 324):

"The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter - certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

Dr. Bratcher To Preach At Two Morning Services

Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be conducting the two morning services Sunday.

The special music for the 8:45 a.m. service will be furnished by the Junior Choir. The Sanctuary Singers will sing for the 11 o'clock service.

Sunday evening fellowship will begin at 6 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of planned activities according to interest and needs. The Adult Bible Study will be held in the Friendship Class room and will continue the study of the Book "New Life In The Church."

The Sunday night service at 7:30 p.m. will be conducted by the pastor.

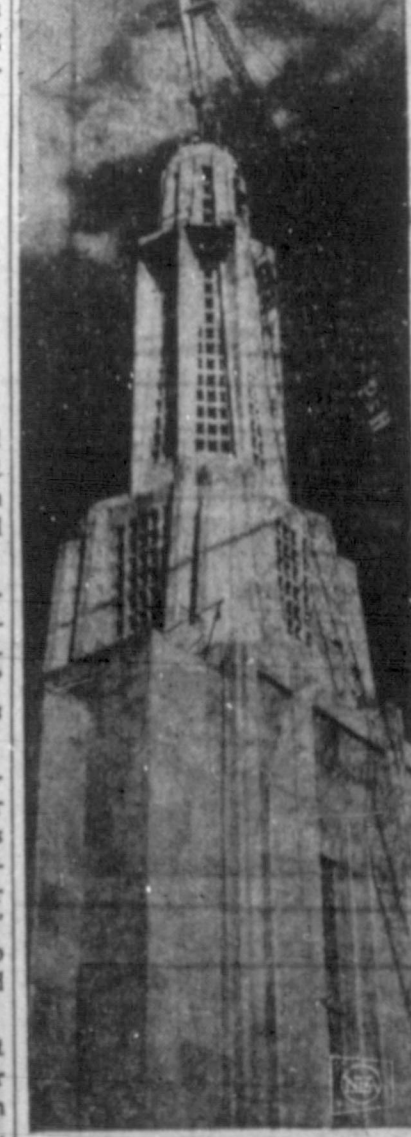

First Christian Services Slated

Wednesday, May 2, the official board and commissions will have a special dinner for all husbands and wives at 7:00 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. Guest speaker for the evening will be Carl Miller of Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo.

"Four Attitudes About Jesus," will be the sermon topic for the morning worship service at 10:50 a.m. at the First Christian Church. Rev. Glyn B. Adsit, minister, will deliver this sermon.

The evening service, beginning at 7, will present the sermon, "Eye Level." The Youth groups convene at 5:30 p.m. for intermediates and at 6 p.m. for High School.

BEATS DEADLINE - Truck crane lifts a 7,000-pound gold-and-iron cross 293 feet to the top of the new St. Joseph's Cathedral in Hartford, Conn., in time for Easter. Crane was outfitted with a special boom.

REVIVAL LEADERS - Jack Jeter, right, Southern Baptist evangelist, Happy, will be guest evangelist at the Hobart Street Baptist Church revival meeting beginning Sunday and continuing through May 6. Gayle Bowen, left, minister of music of the Highland Baptist Church, Lubbock, will direct the music for the services which will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. each day. The public is invited to attend the daily services.

Dr. C. GORDON BAYLESS
... EVANGELIST

Dr. Bayless was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pampa from 1937 to 1942. He resigned to re-enter the field of evangelism and became one of the South's most outstanding and successful evangelists. The Central Baptist Church in Little Rock persuaded him to become their pastor eleven years ago and he has led the church from one pinnacle of success to another not only in an evangelistic way but also in a building program that gives them one of the finest auditoriums in Little Rock and a very modern and functional educational building.

Born and reared in Missouri, Dr. Bayless was educated in our Baptist Schools and has had eminent success in writing, having authored two books, "AND YE BE SAVED" in 1952 and "GOD AT YOUR DOOR" in 1955.

Red Hot Cards Keep Winning

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The laughs have turned to tears for Bob Gibson — a fellow who started in professional sports as a "clown" but is turning out to be quite a pitcher.

The 26-year-old native of Omaha, Neb., broke into organized sport as a member of the Harmon Globetrotters in 1957-58. The Globetrotters like to win but make people laugh at their antics their bread and butter.

The Cardinals, on the other hand, are interested in the very serious business of ending 15 years of competitive failure and winning their first National League pennant since 1946. And with Gibson firing bullets to help pound out a staff of strong arms it is possible that the Redbirds will accomplish just that.

The Cardinals swept to their eighth victory in 11 games Thursday night when they beat the Houston Colts, 3-2, behind the over-powering, near-no-hit pitching of the 6-1, 185-pound right hander. Gibson pitched no-hit ball until Roman Mejias opened the eighth with a homer, walked only two batters and struck out five. When he completed the seventh inning, Gibson, who had a 13-12 record in 1961, had pitched 10 consecutive hitless innings, including the last three against the Cubs on Sunday.

Gibson's wildness led to a Houston run in the second inning but the Cardinals tied the score on Julian Javier's fourth-inning homer and went ahead on a run-scoring single by Julio Gotay in the seventh. Stan Musial singled in Curt Flood with the winning run in the eighth.

Camilo Pascual, another hard-throwing right-hander, pitched the Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in the other Thursday night game. Pascual, who also singled in a run, spaced out nine hits and struck out seven en route to his third win of the season.

The Milwaukee Braves beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs, 12-5, in other NL games. In the American League, the Detroit Tigers topped the Kansas City A's, 11-7, the Cleveland Indians won over the Los Angeles Angels, 6-4, and the Boston Red Sox scored an 8-7 win over the Washington Senators.

Rookie Tommy Aaron, younger brother of the famous Hank, drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a double to lead the Braves' 11-hit attack producing their third straight win. Catcher Del Crandall had a two-run double and lefty Bob Hendley pitched three-hit ball for seven innings for the victory.

Willie Davis hit two homers and Tommy Davis and Wally Moon had three hits each for the Dodgers, who were also helped by the sil cub errors. Ernie's homer for the Cubs moved him past Rogers Hornsby to No. 18 on the all-time NL home run list. Banks has 203 homers.

A two-run homer by Al Kaline and a two-run pinch triple by Bubba Morton were the big blows of Detroit's seven-run seventh-inning rally. Lefty Hank Aguirre shut out the A's with one hit for the last four innings to win his first game of the season while Bob Grim was the loser.

Sam McDowell, 19-year old bonus boy, won his first major league game with four innings of hitless relief for the Indians. John Romano had three hits and Woodie Held had two to lead Cleveland's eight-hit attack.

Pinch-hitter Lu Clinton's eighth-inning single drove in the decisive run for the Red Sox in a 3:00 workout with the Senators during which 10 pitchers allowed 26 hits and 17 walks. Dick Radatz, who struck out the only batter he faced, received credit for his first major league victory.

Matson Ready Again For Records Assault

Randy Matson takes his discus and shot southward today in preparation for the annual Red Raider Relays to be unreeled in Lubbock Saturday.

The 6-6 220 pound cinder star is a heavy favorite to once again get first place in both events as he has in almost every meet he has participated in during the course of the track season. The Relays are open to boys going to the big state showdown May 4 and 5 in Austin.

Matson has bettered the Relays mark in both the shot and the discus. The broad-shouldered record-setter threw the discus 186 feet 6 1/2 inches in the Regionals to better the Red Raiders mark of 186 feet 8 1/2 inches set by Bob Duvall of Tascosa in 1960. Matson also tied the state record in the shot put with a toss of 62 feet 8 1/2 inches, which bettered the Relays mark of 57 feet 3 1/2 inches set by Robert Hodges of Tascosa in 1961.

Matson has been bothered with a sore arm of late, but hopes the orbiting limb will be ready for another assault on the shattered record book Saturday.

Relays officials hope for the largest field in the history of the meet. Some 70 teams and around 250 cinder stars from Class B to Class AAAA are primed for the big one day event, with Abilene picked to win the team championship for the fifth straight time.

Athletes have bettered seven records and from all indications the record book could take another beating as it has all during the year.

Hurdlers Might Hurdle To New Heights In State Meet

AUSTIN (UPI) — Schoolboy hurdlers may lead a mass assault on the two state records in the University Interscholastic League Track and Field Championships May 4-5.

Four boys have already turned in times that equal or better the existing state record of 14.0 set in 1947 by Lee Miller of San Antonio Burbank in the high hurdles. Five entries have done 19.9 or better in the lows.

The top youth is Dallas Highland Park's John Roderick, a senior who missed the 1961 season after winning the 160-yard low hurdles title as a sophomore.

Roderick has a best time of 18.3 in the lows, well under the 18.6 state mark set by Roy Thompson of Houston Lamar in 1953. Roderick's time also bettered the national mark of 18.4 set last year by Bill Mackey of Bakersfield, Calif. Roderick is only the fifth high schooler in history to run under 18.4.

The tall Highland Park ace skipped over the highs in 13.6 last week at Corpus Christi to equal the best time ever turned in by a high school runner, although he was helped by a five MPH wind. Miller's 14.0 is the state record.

Roderick's chief challengers appear to be Fred Brocker of Austin, S. F. Austin, Henry Allen of Dallas Sunset and Herb Stevens of San Antonio Highlands in the highs. Brocker has a 13.8 while Allen and Stevens have run 14-flats.

In the lows, Stevens (18.7), Mike Ardis of Odessa (18.4) and Gary Woods of Amarillo Tascosa (19.0) are the leading challengers.

Records Expected To Fall Today In Star-Studded Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—A predicted record assault on the Drake Relays record book gets underway today as John Uelses, the world's champion pole vaulter, and a host of other stars move into action.

The weatherman promised warm weather, although with a chance of scattered thundershowers, for the opening day of the two days in the 53rd running of the event.

Uelses, the German-born ex-Marine who is the only man to clear 16 feet in the pole vault, provides the top excitement this afternoon as he goes after the relays record in a special AAU event. Uelses is considered a cinch to break the present relays record of 14 feet, 7 1/2 inches set by Cornelius Warmerdam in 1944.

Another expected star of the tournament also makes his group appearance today — the sparkling Texas Southern College relays team. The Texas squad, which chalked up five victories in the Texas Relays and six in the Kansas Relays, makes four appearances — two in preliminaries activity and two in final run-offs.

Paced by the anchor leg of Lester Milburn, the Southern squad could, if pushed, beat the existing Drake mark of 1:24.4 in the preliminaries of the 880-yard college relay. Southern set the mark here in 1941 and has already beat it in both the preliminaries and finals at the Texas Relays.

Harvesters Face Crucial Weekend Of Baseball

Mike Clark and Jerry Glover go to the firing line this weekend for the Pampa Harvesters in an effort to stay in the thick of the District 3-AAAA baseball race.

The Harvesters, 6-4 thus far, face the two loop leaders in Monterey and Lubbock, both tied with 8-2 marks in a pair of crucial tilts which could decide the titlist down in Lubbock.

The Harvesters tangle with Lubbock today at 4 p.m. with Clark going to the firing line. Mike has a 3-2 mark in loop play and will be seeking revenge for the Harvesters' first round loss to the enemy to the south. In their first meeting, the Westerners eased past the Harvesters 5-4 at the Optimist park.

Saturday, the local crew tangles with Monterey. The Plainsmen downed the Harvesters 8-1 in their first meeting on the local diamond, but Glover hopes to reverse that situation this weekend with a victory over the Lubbock nine.

Glover is also 3-2 in district competition.

The Harvesters are currently one of the hottest teams in the loop with a four game winning streak. In their last outing, the Harvesters shutout the Amarillo Sandies, 4-0 behind the five-hit pitching of the broad-shouldered righthander Glover. Included in the Harvesters six hit attack against the Sandies were two home run blasts, one by Jerry Glover over the rightfield wall and another by Mike Stewart, a line smash over the leftfield wall.

In the infield for the Harvesters will be Jerry Glover at first, Larry Gregory at second, Butch Crossland at shortstop and Ricky Stewart at third base. Clark will handle duties at the gateway post Saturday when Glover takes to the mound against the Plainsmen.

In the outfield will be John Arthur in left, Kenny Hebert in center, and Howard Reed in rightfield.

Handling the catching will be Mike Stewart with Clark and Glover handling the mound chores on Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Friday's game is at 4 p.m. while Saturday's contest is slated for 2 p.m.

NCAA Set To Blast AAU Group

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) flexed its muscles against the AAU and the University of Mississippi Thursday and was expected to hit several other colleges today.

The NCAA policy-directing committee was scheduled to complete action on its rules infraction committee report. Executive Director Walter Byers said the group probably will announce today if disciplinary action would be taken against any schools.

There were indications the University of Colorado would be punished because of charges that alumni operated a "slush fund" for football players. Football Coach Everett (Sonny) Grandelius was fired in the wake of an investigation by the Colorado Board of Regents. This was shortly after Colorado appeared in the Orange Bowl.

YMCA Slates Softball Meet Today

PERRYTON (SpI)—The Perryton and vicinity Young Men's Christian Association has scheduled a meeting of prospective softball managers of the Men's Industrial League. The meeting will be today at 7:30 p.m. in the 'Y' office located at 8 SW 4th Street.

The purpose of this meeting is to revise the rules and regulations and organize the league for this summer. This league is open to men ages 15 and over. To date Rosel, Jaycees, McGibbon and Y's guys from Perryton have entered the league along with a team from Spearman.

This year games in the Meh's Industrial League will be played at the older boys' ball diamond as lights are presently being installed.

All persons interested in attending this meeting are invited to attend and any ball player anxious to play may call the 'Y' office at 435-3691.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom, and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

He's On Our Side

If you are among those people who think it is tragically foolish to allow the Russians to gain the lead in nuclear weapons, then you will be pleased to hear about a man named Johnny Foster.

Dr. John Foster Jr., 38, is in charge of the Atomic Energy Commission's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif. He is, according to an article in the April issue of Fortune Magazine, the man most responsible for "keeping the U.S. as nearly as possible in a state of readiness to resume nuclear testing."

During the long moratorium on testing, broken last fall by the Russians, Foster managed, through intense work and zeal, to hold together a U.S. team which has been doing everything short of testing itself to keep U.S. weapons second to none.

It is difficult to get top-notch scientists to work on theories which they may never have a chance to test. That appears to have been Foster's biggest problem. But his patriotism, his belief that it would be necessary for the U.S. to resume testing and his intensity of feeling on the subject inspired others in necessary numbers to continue work in the lab so that work in the field—the actual testing—could be resumed with minimum delay.

As a result of Foster's devotion to the task, the U.S. will be ready this spring to try out its nuclear theories in less than half the normal time it takes to prepare for such tests.

His job has been far from easy, as can be imagined. Even the State Department has interfered. Once the department refused to sanction purchase of equipment to be used in testing, Dr. Foster bought it anyway, although the department did prevent his installing it at the Nevada test site.

It is heartening to learn of another man in a vital position who loves his country and zealously guards its welfare.

Stage Hands

If, as Shakespeare suggested, all the world's a stage, then a politician seeking to become a world leader is apt to think of the rest of us as mere props or stage hands.

Look To The Suburbs

In a very important sense, the suburbs of American cities will be this country's physical frontier in the decades ahead.

Everybody knows the suburbs have been growing at the expense of the cities for a long time. Not so well appreciated is the fact that in some instances suburban areas already have surpassed or are drawing even with their central cities in population.

William Wheaton, director of the University of Pennsylvania's Institute for Urban Studies, paints this striking picture: "Since central cities' populations, in general, are almost stable, it is reasonable to expect that all of our future national population growth will occur in the suburban fringes of our metropolitan areas."

These fringes must accommodate roughly 90 million people during the next 20 years.

The implications for this country in this revolution in the urban environs are enormous to contemplate.

President Kennedy, noting the defeat of his plan for a U.S. Department of Urban Affairs to co-ordinate the attack on city problems, said it was sure to come later if not now.

Even if the plans were basically wise, it would already be somewhat out of date. The bulk of the problems that go with new growth will be in the suburbs, not the central cities—though the latter will continue to suffer some of their old dilemmas and a fair share of new ones.

Currently, many people are being stirred by the possible political upheaval which may follow upon the Supreme Court's decision in the Tennessee reapportionment case. Politicians and observers seem to believe rural-dominated state legislatures in many states will be altered to give the cities their long denied but just due representation.

It could be, however, that the "golden moment" for many cities has already passed. If legislatures are in fact jarred into approving fairer representation, the explosion in the suburbs may quickly give them the dominant role.

For years Republicans regarded the suburbs as their own. But in the 1960 election, President Kennedy won a majority of suburban votes in six of 13 principal metropolitan centers. This is ground, plainly, in open contention.

Allen - Scott Report - Chiang Kai-shek Demanding Freedom to Launch 'Para-military' Guerrilla Revolt in Red China

WASHINGTON - Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is putting President Kennedy and his top State Department and Pentagon lieutenants on a very uneasy spot.

At the same time, he forcefully upheld his "right" to engage in para-military operations against the Communist mainland.

"We are constantly looking for opportunities and methods to exploit the growing unrest among the Chinese masses," Chiang told Harriman. "One method is the use of para-military forces."

"Time is of the essence, and now is the time to strike if we are ever going to do so. You know as well as I do that it is virtually impossible to expect the anti-Communist nations to agree on a common strategy before doing anything. They don't seem to be able to function that way."

"We are convinced that when we do take the offensive, it could be the most important step ever taken against the Communist bloc. After a series of local uprisings and upheavals, a sizable portion of the Red-Chinese armed forces will defect and that will be the beginning of the end. We not only believe that, but we have every reason to feel that belief is grounded on reality and fact."

Chiang stressed the widespread horror and disillusionment now prevalent in Red China which he asserted has also extensively affected the armed forces. He emphatically held this is the year to strike.

Harriman firmly informed Chiang that President Kennedy requires consultation with the U.S. on all types of military operations, including para-military.

Also to emphasize to him that the U.S. has "great obligations" to Formosa, and that these require the closest collaboration between the two countries "if we are to deal effectively with our common enemy."

The State Department study warns the President that a "reckless move" to exploit unrest inside Red China could embroil the U.S. in serious difficulties.

TRYING TO STOP HIM - Secretary Rusk and Dr. Rostow are so perturbed by Chiang's aggressive plan that they have taken two drastic counter-measures.

The first was to prepare a detailed study for the President presenting a number of reasons for disapproving Chiang's claimed loophole in the Mutual Defense Treaty, and why his proposal might involve the U.S. in nuclear war.

The other move was to send Assistant Secretary of State Averell Harriman, in charge of Far Eastern Affairs, to confer with the Nationalist ruler. There was no announcement of this significant meeting, which took place while Harriman was enroute to the U.S. from a trip to Communist-impelled Laos and South Vietnam.

In their discussion, Chiang stressed he has no intention of attempting an invasion of Red China. That is banned by the 1954 pact, and he flatly asserted

Common Market Moves Toward Goal

Many Forces Lead To Combined Aim For Efficiency, Low Costs

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following dispatch, the last of three, a special reporting team of UPI staff correspondents in the six nations which form the European Common Market reports on the forces that led to the combine, how efficiency was increased and costs lowered.

UPI Foreign News Analyst
The European Common Market is one of three inter-related communities within six nations—Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, France and Italy.

The first was the European Coal and Steel Community which came into being in 1952. The third is "Euratom," set up to pool resources and knowledge for the development of atomic power for peaceful purposes.

Euratom and the Common Market were established in 1958.

The forces which led to the European Community have been both political and economic.

A first motive was to end the historic enmity between France and Germany.

Economically, there was a growing realization that in a world of super-powers headed by the United States and the Soviet Union, only through unity could Europe retain a competitive position and a powerful voice in world affairs.

In both France and Germany, stagnation had set in due to lack of competition and enterprise.

On May 9, 1950, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman made an audacious proposal.

He suggested that French and German coal and steel production be placed under a "common high authority." His proposal first produced amazement and then enthusiastic endorsement.

The Coal and Steel Community established the pattern for others to follow.

As its head was a "high authority" independent of individual governments.

A council of ministers representing the governments provided a watch-dog body. A European parliamentary assembly chosen from parliaments of the six nations reviewed high authority by majority two-thirds vote.

A court of justice of seven judges made decisions which were binding on individuals, firms or nations.

In this way, each of the member nations surrendered some sovereignty at the outset.

Eventually, it is expected that the Coal and Steel, the Common Market and the Euratom communities will be merged. The court of justice and the European parliamentary assembly already are common to all three.

The successes of the Coal and Steel Community led to the establishment of the other two, and also encouraged the planners for a united Europe to overcome some obstacles and disappointments.

One immediate result was both an increase in efficiency and a lowering of costs.

"Look at these changes in cost," said a Dutch shipper, holding up charts that show freight charges on coke, scrap, steel from the Ruhr down 10 to 20 percent.

Since the high authority has its own income from taxes on the industry, it has been able both to encourage new industry and to improve living standards of workers.

It has set aside more than $40 million for re-training and re-settlement of workers thrown out of employment by the closing of un-economic mines or industries or temporarily made idle as plants are modernized.

Included in this are 100,000 Belgian miners who are being re-trained as pavers, lathe-workers, carpenters and masons in order to fit in with Belgium's construction boom.

Included also were some 13,000 workers in four steel companies in the St. Etienne district of France. Alone, the companies could not face the new competition of the Common Market.

Aided by a grant from the authority, they combined. Other funds from the high authority aided over the workers during the period of modernization.

The authority has granted loans totaling $90 million for construction of 52,000 workers' dwellings.

For capital investment it has loaned nearly $450 million dollars.

Discriminatory freight rates are declining, and ultimately freight cars will roll freely from nation to nation as trade-directs, rather than returning each time to their home nation.

As its predecessor, the Coal and Steel Community, is able to allocate development and aid funds, so is the Common Market.

These funds are intended for agriculture, small and medium-sized firms and transport as well as heavy and basic industry.

Within the six nations, more than $120 million in "pump priming" loans have led to a total investment of nearly $900 million, spread among Italy, France, Luxembourg and Germany.

The Common Market also is closely tied in with the economies of former French and Belgian colonies in Africa which now have achieved independence.

Four African countries—Ghana, Guinea, Mali and Morocco—already have commissions working on details for an African Common Market patterned on the European system.

Aid granted to the developing African nations so far by the European Common Market is $148 million out of $581 million set aside for the years 1958-62.

Customs duties on products not directly competing with community projects either are being eliminated or reduced. Included among such products are bananas, tea, coffee, cocoa and tropical woods.

As the Common Market moves toward its goal of abolition of customs duties within the six nations and setting up common external tariff against goods coming in from the outside, fears have been aroused among other nations that their export goods could be priced out of the market.

Hence, Britain's move to enter the Common Market despite conflicts with its own responsibilities to nations of the British Commonwealth.

Hence, too, United States' concern.

A list drawn up in February of this year by the United States De-

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
When Prime Minister Harold Macmillan sits down with President Kennedy to discuss world affairs this week, it is possible these two astute politicians also will touch on a problem Macmillan is having at home.

This will be the fact that Macmillan's Conservative party, which has ruled Britain for the last 10 1/2 years, has been losing favor steadily with British voters.

In the last seven by-elections, the Conservatives have lost votes. And lost them, surprisingly enough, to the suddenly resurgent Liberals.

Public opinion polls show that Macmillan's own popularity has slipped to the point where less than half the voters approve of him as prime minister.

No very logical explanation has been advanced for this change in political fortunes except that the British voters are perhaps tired of the old faces and are equally unenthusiastic about the Labor party—whose ranks are shot through with pacifists and Communist sympathizers and which has been unable to come up with a solid political program.

Therefore the swing has been to the Liberals who have not been in power since 1915 and who today hold only six of 630 seats in the House of Commons.

Macmillan is a seasoned campaigner unlikely to panic at the first sign of danger, but it is obvious that he needs some successful and dramatic stroke to restore his position.

Macmillan, with strong support of the United States, is in the midst of intensive and delicate negotiations to obtain British entry into the European Common Market.

London dispatches say that Macmillan confidently expects to be able to announce success by the end of the year, and that this is the stroke which he expects also will mend his political fortunes.

But the pitfalls along the way are many.

British entry into the common market, if or when it comes, will mean the end of Britain's dear-held isolation from the continent.

Opponents already are raising the cry that the Macmillan government is yielding to U. S. pressure and that British negotiations with the common market bear a "made in U. S. A." label.

Macmillan may ask Kennedy to soft-pedal U. S. interest.
Big British business generally strongly favors common market membership but labor has been non-committal and the Labor party certainly will seize any advantage given it.
