CENTAUR BEFORE SOARING—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's newest space vehicle, the Centaur, stands ready on its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The two-stage rocket measures 10 feet in diameter and 105 feet in height and weighs 150 tons at lift-off. The first stage is a modified Atlas D booster with a thrust of about 367,000 pounds. Two 15,000-pound-thrust engines power the second stage. Centaur will eventually be used as a launcher for earth satellites and moon and planet probes. NASA will try again this week to launch the rocket. Bad weather twice delayed firing of the Centaur last week.

Differences Of Opinion Wrack Meeting Of City Commission

U. S., Britain Will Proceed With Plans For Atmospheric Testing

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Great Britain and the United States informed Russia today that they must go ahead with nuclear atmospheric tests this month unless the Soviet Union agrees quickly to a test ban agreement with adequate inspection provisions.

“There is still time to reach agreement,” said a joint statement issued simultaneously at the White House and read in the House of Commons by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. “We continue to hope that the Soviet government may reconsider its position, and express their readiness to accept the principle of international verification.”

That position is that the massive Soviet atmospheric test series last fall makes Western test resumption a military and defense necessity unless Russia is willing to come to immediate terms for banning tests.

This latest effort to win a test ban treaty was delivered to the Kremlin Monday night. Similar expressions of urgency were to be expected from London and Washington before the new test series actually begins.

Mayor Involved In Exchange With Newt Secret And Paul Crossman

Developments at City Hall stemming from Pampa's recall election controversy sprouted in rapid-fire fashion at today's meeting of the City Commission with differences of opinion and charges and counter-charges holding the spotlight.

City Commissioner Newt Secret charged that he thought Mayor E. C. Sidwell was conducting certain areas of this morning's business of the commission in a dictatorial manner. Secret served notice on the mayor that he would no longer support him in the recall election controversy.

“I have been for you up until now in this recall election business,” Secret said, “but now I am going to turn against you.”

This grew out of a difference of opinion about who should be the presiding election judge in Ward 2 at the recall election set for April 17.

Secret asked the mayor if he had any objection to Mrs. Wright. Mayor Sidwell said that he had no objections to Mrs. Wright but that he wanted to make a suggestion for the post. He said he accepted the suggestion made by Secret last week but that since she couldn't serve he felt he had the right to make a suggestion today.

Secret said he thought the mayor was making a mistake. “I think this will hurt you, Gene,” Secret said. “You are stepping on my toes in my ward and it will hurt you more than it will me.”

The commission voted first on the motion to name Mrs. Wright. The motion failed 3 to 2. Commissioners Holmes and Fort both expressed the opinion that they thought since the election had been called on the mayor that he should have the right to pick his own presiding judge.

At this point Commissioner Secret said: “I bitterly protest this action and I think you are running this thing in a dictatorial manner.” Mayor Sidwell, in a statement addressed to Commissioner Secret said: “I apologize if it seems that way to you.”

City Atty. Bob Gordon stated that there was nothing wrong with the procedure, that the commission had the authority to employ the election officials.

A motion then was passed to appoint Mrs. W. D. Price Jr. as the presiding judge in Ward 2. The vote was 4 to 1. Commissioner Secret dissented.

A tape recorder was used to record the conversation during the discussion of the appointment of the presiding election judge. It also was started running later during a controversial exchange of words between Mayor Sidwell and Paul Crossman.

Crossman came before the commission when Mayor Sidwell asked if there were any members of the commission who were members of the commission. (See COMMISSION, Page 3)

Four Exiled Cubans Bargain For Captives

HAVANA (UPI) — Four Cuban exiles representing the families of 1,179 captured Cuban invaders arrived today to bargain with Fidel Castro on his $62-million ransom demand for the prisoners' freedom.

The delegation, which flew here from Miami, has been authorized to offer $28 million in “goods and products” to meet Castro's stiff ransom demand.

The Cuban premier is seeking cash for the release of the men sentenced last Saturday to 30 years at hard labor in an unprecedented four-day mass trial at Havana's Principe Prison.

(In Washington, U. S. officials estimated Cuba is holding an estimated 25,000 to 50,000 political prisoners in overcrowded jails. (They made the point that the 1,179 invasion prisoners represent only a small fraction of the total political inmates of Cuba jails.)

(However, the Kennedy administration, while keeping out of the invaders - for - ransom affair, is placing no obstacles in the way of the private negotiation effort by Cuban exiles, officials said.)

The three men and a woman making the trip expressed confidence their mission would be successful and expected to meet personally with the Cuban dictator, Castro, who has asked individual ransoms of $25,000 to $50,000 for members of the Pigs Bay invasion force, authorized the group to fly to the Cuban capital.

The group represents the “Cuban Families Committee for the Liberation of Prisoners of War.” The four negotiators are Alvaro Sanchez Jr., committee chairman; Enrique Llaco, vice treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Betencourt; and Ernest Freyre.

Sanchez, spokesman for the refugee group, said “We will negotiate only for the whole brigade.” Mrs. Betencourt's husband is one of the prisoners being held by Castro.

Negro-Voter Legislation Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today legislation aimed at halting discrimination against Negro voters by means of literacy tests is overdue.

Kennedy said there are too many abuses in the administration of state literacy laws that deny Negroes the right to vote even though they are educated and fully qualified to understand election issues.

The attorney general said there is an “urgent national need” for Congress to approve legislation that would equate completion of the sixth grade with literacy.

He said in a statement prepared for delivery to the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee that the administration-backed proposal should be passed without delay.

“It would ban the unfair use of literacy tests to prevent literate persons from voting,” he said. “Its enactment would give new fulfillment to our basic belief in justice under the law.”

Kennedy said adoption of the 15th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution outlawed racial discrimination in the voting process. But he said it is still necessary today to file lawsuit after lawsuit to make this a reality.

He said states with large Negro populations often show a wide gap between principle and practice. Many counties that have Negro majorities have no Negroes on the voting list and many others have only an insignificant number, Kennedy said.

“I must report to the subcommittee that beyond question they are mainly the result of discrimination by registration officials,” he said.

He said a Negro teacher was rejected because she pronounced “equity” as “sequity” in reading

Investigation Of Discrimination In South Said Promised By Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration has promised to investigate discrimination against prospective Negro voters and to speed federal employment of Negroes in the South, a prominent integration leader said Monday night.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he received assurances of strenuous activity in these civil rights fields during discussions with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

King quoted Johnson as saying he “personally planned to see” that the executive order barring contracts to firms discriminating against Negroes “is vigorously enforced.”

He said the vice president agreed with him that “something must be done in the South to show the government's good faith” in its promise to employ more Negroes.

After the Johnson meeting, the Atlanta Negro minister led a rally at the Metropolitan Baptist Church here as part of a voter registration drive.

Earlier King, president of the integrationist Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said Robert Kennedy promised investigations would be made of alleged discrimination in Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia.

He said Kennedy made a broad commitment to “move in any situation where Negroes are being denied the right to vote.”

King said the investigations will be made in New Orleans and Shreveport, La., Montgomery, Jefferson and Wilcox Counties, Ala., and in Terrell and Wilkes Counties, Ga.

King said the attorney general believed an administration-backed bill exempting voters with a sixth-grade education from taking literacy tests would “bring an end to many of the problems and tactics” now employed to bar Negroes from voter rolls.

Plea For Russia To End All Tests To Be Presented

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States and Britain will present to the 17-nation disarmament conference Wednesday a plea for Russia to end all nuclear tests, it was announced today.

American delegate Arthur H. Dean told the 17th plenary meeting of the conference that Anglo-American statements on the nuclear testing issue will be made at Wednesday's session.

This morning, the delegates discussed a proposed preamble to a disarmament treaty. They also directed the Soviet and American co-chairmen to try again to resolve differences on such matters as the priority to be given to the establishment of a United Nations peace force.

The Soviet bloc has insisted on discussion of measures that could knock out NATO's nuclear punch in Europe. The Communists insisted that nuclear-free zones should be the next order of business at today's session.

The main body of the conference still was dealing with the objectives and principles that should govern disarmament, with Russia demanding approval of its scheme for general and complete disarmament within four years.

glamour girl, won the award for her sexless role of a tattered mother in war-torn Europe in “Two Women.”

Earlier Monday the actress, in Rome for a new film, said, “I guess I didn't go to Hollywood because I am scared.” On hearing of her victory she said, “I'm so happy I just can't believe my ears. It's just wonderful, wonderful.”

Schell won his award playing a German defense attorney in “Judgment at Nuremberg.” In his acceptance speech he thanked his costars saying, “especially that great old man Spencer Tracy who was nominated for the eighth time this year.”

Men Charged In Follett Bank Burglary

Oscar S. Staley, 57, and S. E. Powell, 29, both of Elk City, Okla., were charged yesterday afternoon with burglary of the Follett National Bank on March 22, when $3,000 was taken.

The men, under $5,000 bond each, were arrested Sunday night four miles north of Wheeler by a Wheeler sheriff deputy who said he recognized the automobile the men were driving. Both men had been considered suspects in the Follett burglary.

The two men were jailed in Wheeler on charges of vagrancy against Staley and carrying a concealed weapon against Powell.

The burglary charges were filed after questioning by Lipscomb county officers, Texas Ranger Bill Henslee, Pampa, and FBI agents. Staley pleaded guilty to the vagrancy charge and is being held in the Wheeler County jail.

Powell is under an additional $1,000 bond on the concealed weapon charge. He is being held in Ochiltree County jail in Perryton. Investigation on the case will continue through today, according to Wheeler county officers.

Girl Indicted For Kidnaping

ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — Red-headed Carol Lavonne Cain Beck, 19, was indicted for kidnaping Monday by a federal grand jury.

The Beck girl, accused of kidnaping three-year-old Sharon Elaine Henderson from Conway, Tex., March 13, is being held under $5,000 bond pending completion of psychiatric tests requested by her court appointed lawyers.

The Henderson girl, unharmed, and her captor were halted at a Grants roadblock two days after they disappeared from the West Texas home of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson. They had befriended Carol, found hitchhiking, only a day before.

Court records from the girl's home in Grand Rapids, Mich., showed she was on a long waiting list to enter a Michigan mental institution.

The grand jury handed down a total of 31 indictments Monday.

“West Side Story,” “Sophia, Max Get Top ‘Oscars’

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sophia Loren, whose fear of losing kept her from appearing at the scene of her greatest triumph, today was acclaimed by Hollywood as the best actress of 1961.

Sharing her victory was German born Maximilian Schell who won the best actor Oscar at Monday night's 34th annual Academy Award presentations at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, making it a double win for foreign stars.

“West Side Story” voted the best picture of the year, almost swept the boards, winning 10 of its 11 Oscar nominations.

Among the nominees in the audience were Natalie Wood, accompanied by boyfriend Warren Beatty, Paul Newman, with his wife Joanne Woodward, Audrey Hepburn, Geraldine Page and Stuart Whitman.

Comedian Hope was startled by the unscheduled appearance of professional gate crasher Stan Berman, a New York cab driver, who appeared on stage to present him with a miniature award for “your 1958 Oscar.” Berman attracted attention by crashing President Kennedy's inauguration and astronaut John Glenn's New York reception.

The best song award went to “Moon River,” the theme for “Breakfast at Tiffany's.”

A crowd estimated at 4,000 cheered the arriving celebrities, saving its warmest welcome, oddly, for two television stars, Richard Chamberlain of “Dr. Kildare” and Vinco Edwards of the “Ben Casey” series.

Following the awards, winner Schell said, “I thought Paul Newman or Spencer Tracy were my competition. I was really expecting Newman to win.”

Miss Moreno had flown all the way from the Philippine Islands, where she is making another picture, to attend the Oscar shindig. She said, “I was wondering what it would feel like to come all this way to lose.”

Best direction, “West Side Story” also recorded Oscars for best art direction of a color picture, best cinematography of a color picture, best costume design of a color picture, best film editing, best music, best sound achievement.

Judy Garland, a nominee for best supporting actress was forced to cancel her appearance when her son Joey, 7, became ill.

Santa Monica police arrested 12 pickets representing the Hollywood Race Relations Committee two hours before the award program began. Charged with trespassing, the pickets carrying placards saying movies were unfair in portraying Negroes on the screen, were booked at Santa Monica jail.

He estimated printing costs for the speeches would come to $12,110 for the Congressional Record, and paying employees overtime would add another $1,108. In addition there would be extra utilities — for which he had no estimate.

Other congressional news: Angola: Congressional testimony released today showed that the United States vigorously protested use of American arms by Portugal to quell the revolt in Angola last year. State and Defense Department officials told the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the testimony, taken last month, that Portugal has assured the United States that U.S. military aid items from NATO are not, and will not be, used in Angola.

Suit Asks Election Injunction

A suit asking a restraining order and temporary injunction was filed in 31st District Court this morning in connection with the current City Hall controversy.

Attorney Walter T. Norman of Borger, representing the Citizens for Better City Government, a Pampa organization, filed the suit at 11:15 a.m. today.

District Judge Lewis Goodrich was expected to set a hearing on the suit for 2:30 p.m. Friday, a time convenient for the attorneys for both sides.

Norman said the restraining order and injunction is being asked in order to clear up the current controversy over whether Pampa's four City Commissioners should also be voted on in a recall election already called for Mayor E. C. Sidwell April 17.

The suit seeks to have the recall election on the Mayor held up until the controversy is cleared up.

The City Commission called the recall election on the Mayor in response to petitions submitted by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. Similar petitions asking recall elections on the four ward commissioners were held (See SUIT, Page 3)

GOP Plans For Criticism Hit By Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said today Republicans would be guilty of wasteful spending if they carry out plans for an all-night criticism of President Kennedy.

Reuss' criticism was aimed at the plans of about 15 Republicans to deliver a non-stop series of one-hour speeches starting Wednesday afternoon.

The Republicans were set to keep talking until dawn Thursday in what the GOP called its “spring thaw” to “cut away the snow job the administration has been piling on the American people through its blizzards of propaganda.”

Lenten Message

By THE REV. FRANK M. ROSS
Rector, All Saints'
Episcopal Church, Atlanta
Written for UPI

Now that three Americans and two Russians in their space travels have not bumped into God, we can return to our search for Him in our hearts and in our relations with other human beings, which is where He dwells anyway.

This is precisely our business in Lent. We are given an opportunity during this season to examine our loyalties and test our commitment to the Christ. Some can do this by abstinence from some especially enjoyable pleasure and others by abstinence from some especially enjoyable vice, while others would be better served to take on additional services and reading during these days.

Some would have it that we ought not to test and question and enter into temptation, but Jacob wrestled all night with an angel and Jesus devoted 40 days to experiencing his peculiar temptations. We have nothing to fear

U.S. Firms Show Interest In Fair

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — If more figures were needed to show extent of United States interest in the opportunities of the European Common Market, Dr. Ugo Morabito said today, they could be found in what has happened in one year to enrollment in the 40th Milan Fair.

A year ago, 513 US firms had exhibits at this, the most all-embracing of the world's permanent trade fairs. Two years ago, there were 496. This year, when the Milan Fair gets under way April 12, at least 550 American companies will have exhibits, and the number may be even larger by the time the first visitors enter.

Morabito is commercial counselor of the Italian Embassy at Washington. In that post he has helped to coordinate the activities of Italian trade commissioners in New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco, who, together with representation from Washington, have stirred the present American industrial interest in the fair.

"The Milan Fair is not like a world's fair, or like the county fairs in the United States," Morabito explained. "One can go where the buyer and seller of goods in international trade can meet and examine opportunities — and sit down and make a deal."

"Buyers from all over Europe — and most of the nations of the world — come to Milan for the fair," continued Morabito, who was in New York on a business trip connected with the enterprise. "Everything has been set up to make it easy to do business. While the public is admitted most of the time, some days are set aside for attendance by buyers and sellers only."
Morabito said 79 countries will have private or governmental exhibitors at the fair. "We used to name a Day for each of the principal exhibiting countries," he said. "But there are so many now we have an International Day as a salute to all."

FORMULA FOR DISASTER

Do you know the formula for disaster? It's simple. Just add a careless spark to dry woods in the open air. Nature provides the fuel and the air, but, in 9 out of 10 cases, man provides the spark.

So, when the woods are hot and dry, be extra careful, won't you? That little spark from your campfire, your cigarette, or your trash fire can loose a raging demon, that charges through the forest destroying as it goes. Don't you let disaster strike!

Remember—Only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If the Oscar show gets any less glamorous than the one televised Monday night, it can be held in a high school gymnasium.

Even the best actress, Sophia Loren, didn't show up for the ABC-TV program, although she advertised for her award in the local trade newspapers. It was an act of ingratitude to her audience.

Greer Garson accepted for her and hammed it up, as usual.

It's only a half-hour drive from Hollywood to Santa Monica, where the awards were held, but the whole program was light years away from anything resembling show business.

Producer Arthur Freed and director Richard Dunlap consider the program a news event, not a show. The idea is that viewers are supposed to be interested in looking at stars instead of entertainment.

Okay. Besides Miss Loren, where was Marlon Brando? Marilyn Monroe, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Cary Grant. And so forth. If any of them were in the audience, why weren't they utilized? But we also got people like Richard Chamberlain and Vince Edwards — television's two famous doctors — although their movie contributions rate a zero.

The songs were the same case. Nominated tunes were sung by people like Gene Pitney, Johnny Mathis, Gogi Grant and Andy Williams. Who is Gene Pitney? What movies have these people made? Where was Bing Crosby? Sinatra Martin, Judy Garland, Why didn't Shirley Jones sing?

The idea that the show is not supposed to emphasize entertainment is an explanation, not an excuse. Even a news show needs pace. The Oscars have to get rid of all those honorary awards, which are just plain dull.

Hollywood trying to be conservative is like Elsa Maxwell trying to slip into a size 12. Being conservative is not what made Hollywood the most famous entertainment center in the world. Fun, Glamour and showmanship did it. All three were lacking Monday night.

The Oscar show needs a re-vamping. Bob Hope's gags are limitless, but his annual appearance as master of ceremonies has almost made it his private house party. How about someone who is less of a gagster—like Jack Lemmon, who was hilarious as a presenter Monday night?

Spencer Tracy, an absent nominee, spoke for many stars when he told this reviewer two years ago: "For the Academy Awards to be paraded in front of a TV camera, and then to pay for it—well, isn't that something? I've never attended any of those awards done on TV."

Can you blame him, what with the toothpaste commercials, and a drugstore type named Gene Pitney wailing a song with such lines as, "Ours is not an easy age... the young have problems?"

Well, at least Tracy didn't advertise for his nomination.
The Channel Swim: Benny Goodman plays and Rhonda Fleming sings on NBC-TV's "Telephone Hour" April 27. Stonefaced Ed Sullivan makes his debut as a clown when the Barnum and Bailey Circus visits his CBS-TV show April 22.

ABC-TV's first network Sunday night movie — "Run Silent, Run Deep," with Clark Gable and Burt Lancaster — walloped competition that included "Bonanza," Ed Sullivan and Jack Benny. NBC-TV's Saturday night movie has been doing the same to its opposition.

Van Johnson and Susan Strasberg are the guest celebrities on CBS-TV's "Password" tonight. Pat Boone and Spike Jones handle it the week of May 28, Jones the week of June 4.

Now Here Is A Really Significant Development In Baby Doctor Game

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A friend of mine in the baby doctoring game has called my attention to a couple of items which he regards as significant developments in the healing arts.

One is a report on a plan jointly sponsored by the American Medical Foundation and the Sears Roebuck Foundation to help place doctors in small towns.

"I didn't realize that my knowledge of mail order department stores was so far behind the times," my friend commented. "Isn't it wonderful that you now can order a doctor from Sears Roebuck?"

"The catalog should be most interesting. No more waiting in doctors' offices. Buy now, pay later. Complete assortment of 1962 models available."

My friend added that he also would be interested in seeing some of the letters that customers write to the complaint department. He speculated that they might read something like this:

"Dear Sirs,
"Last month I ordered one obstetrician, complete with instruments, but through some mixup in the catalog number we got an ear, nose and throat specialist instead.

"We are returning him, herewith, and since my wife is about to deliver any day, would you please rush the obstetrician?"

"P.S.: How much is the down payment on a pediatrician?"

The other item that intrigued my doctor friend told of the development of an "electronic lullaby," a battery-powered transistorized speaker for use in getting babies to sleep.

The device is placed in the crib

Swimming Class For Handicapped Slated Thursday

L. Douglas Halley, director of the Youth and Community Center, announced today that the handicapped swimming classes, sponsored by the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross, will begin at 6 p.m. Thursday in the youth center swimming pool.

Mrs. James McClure and Mrs. Harold Beckham, Red Cross water safety instructors, will be in charge of the hour-long swim classes.

All persons interested in helping with the program are asked to contact Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter, by telephoning MO 4-7121 for assignment.

Specialist Says Soft Living Cause Of Heart Disease

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI)—Heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston Monday blamed the United States' high incidence of heart disease on soft living.

White, who served as former President Eisenhower's heart consultant, addressed the 50th anniversary meeting of the John A. Andrews Clinical Society at Tuskegee Institute.

He said the high mortality rate from heart disease in the United States could be blamed on "soft living and prosperous times where almost everybody owns a car and watches too much television."

Suit

It has boiled down to a matter of interpretation of the Pampa City Charter. The Charter says that 30 per cent of the voters must sign petitions asking a recall election to make them valid.

Attorney Clayton Heare of Amarillo, representing the Pampa City Commission, told the commissioners that, in his opinion, the Charter meant that persons representing 30 per cent of the voters in the last City Election must sign the petitions asking recall elections on each commissioner, as well as the Mayor. On this basis, the Commission refused to call a recall election on the four commissioners since the Jaycees had obtained signatures from only 30 per cent of the voters in each ward on the commissioners' petitions.

The Citizens for Better City Government, taking up the battle where the Jaycees left off after obtaining the petitions, appealed the matter to the County Judge, who ruled Monday that he did not have statutory authority to act in the matter.

Today's suit in District Court was the next step in the CBCG project.

where it makes "a comforting B-flat hum" that allegedly will "tranquelize 90 per cent of fretful infants in 30 seconds to five minutes."

"Somewhere my pediatric training has been grossly neglected," my friend observed. "I have never before been aware that a B-flat hum would tranquilize fretful infants."

"Why B-flat? Is this the key of most monotone mothers use as they sing lullabies?"

"I suppose that psychologists who are interested in pre-natal influences would say that B-flat is the tone the baby heard from his mother's intestinal activity before it was born."

"If that is the case, then my sense of pitch must be off. It seems to me that the last time I listened to an abdomen with a stethoscope, the tone was a perfect C-sharp."

Not being either a medical man or a musician myself, I'm afraid I can't clarify this matter. But if I ever order a doctor from Sears-Roebuck, I want him to have a tuning fork in his kit.

the audience who wished to address the commission on any subject.

"There is something that needs to be cleared up," Crossman said. "A man was crucified and assassinated. The reason for it should be explained."

Crossman said he was referring to a charge made several weeks ago by Commissioner L. P. Fort about a party held in City Hall.

Crossman then made a charge which the mayor denied. It had to do with who had obtained the key for the city hall room where the party was held.

After several exchanges back and forth between Crossman and the mayor, Crossman left the commission room.

Just before leaving Crossman had referred to the Commission as a "Kangaroo Court."

Mayor Sidwell termed Crossman's charge unfounded and said he did not appreciate the remarks that had been made.

Later the mayor asked the city commissioners to consider what had been said and to determine if they wished to have Mr. Crossman subpoenaed for a full airing of his charges.

In other business today, Commissioner Secrest and the mayor engaged in a verbal tilt over the cost of the photostatic copies of the Junior Chamber of Commerce recall petitions which the commission ordered made in the office of the county clerk.

A bill for $548 was submitted by the county clerk and presented to the commission for payment today. Secrest asked how many of the petitions were used. City Secretary Ed Vickers said about one-third of them were not used.

Mayor Sidwell told Secrest: "If you had no desire to use your copies of the petitions it is no concern of mine."

The motion to pay the bill was approved by a 4 to 1 vote. Secrest dissenting.

The commission also approved city bills for March totaling $25,903.03 and library bills for $680.18. A bill also was approved for paying $841.04 to Merriman and Barber, consulting engineers, for right-of-way and drainage surveys on Hwy. 60 and Hwy. 272.

The city manager was asked to discuss with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. the possibility of reducing the size of an easement being sought along the highway in front of the city airport.

Extension of a fire protection contract with Gray and Roberts Counties was extended to Aug. 1. The commission also approved salary changes dating from Jan. 1, 1962, as provided by city ordinance.

Mayor Sidwell informed the commission that so far 15 applications for the city manager's job had been received and that as many as 50 applications are expected from advertisements placed in various city journals throughout the United States.

Today's meeting was adjourned, subject to call of the mayor at any time.

Mayor Sidwell suggested this be done so that the commission could meet at any time, pending developments on the court action now being taken with reference to the recall election.

OVERSEAS AID WEEK
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Monday proclaimed this week Voluntary Overseas Aid Week and said he doubted that "our assistance programs abroad, especially in the distribution of food, could be effective without the help of the voluntary agencies."

Car Jumps Curb, Hits Window; No One Injured

Bryan Lynn Coday, Skellytown, told investigating officers he was attempting to park at a meter on S. Cuyler.

Officers said estimated damage to the car, parking meter and plate glass window was $175. No one was injured in the accident.

Dear Abby.... Too Old For "Rassling" Games

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My older sister, who is almost 18, rastle together in our living room sometimes. It embarrasses me. I wonder if you think it is all right. They have fun and he never really hurts her. I think they should not rastle like this. Am I being silly?

to a marriage bureau and see the couples applying for marriage licenses. Sometimes it makes me sad to see the youngsters who are marrying. The boy hangs back, shyly, and make the girl do all the talking. They look so childish. I want to say, "Don't do it. Wait! You are only babies." Of course I don't dare. There are older couples in their middle twenties and early 30's. They know where they are going and what they are getting into. And when the older couples come in, we are delighted. They are so cute together, and we think, "Bravo for them. No more loneliness."

KID SISTER

DEAR SISTER: No, you are being sensible. They are almost old enough for wedlock — time to quit the hammer lock.

CONFIDENTIAL TO RUTH AND REBECCA: If I knew how to "catch" a man in order to "Have A Lovely Wedding," I wouldn't sell the information for 50c.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Eggs Go Western This Year At Easter Time

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
When a long stretch of unfriendly weather keeps the youngsters housebound, tempers grow short; quarrels ensue. This is a familiar truism to all homemakers. A creative diversion sometimes helps to restore harmony.
When I was in this predicament the other day, my six-year-old (at my elbow complaining) stopped bickering long enough to take a delighted look at the pictures which accompany this article. Cowboy and Indian eggs! Could she make them too?
As she pointed out, when Easter comes that means "pity soon warm weather and sun and green grass." The thought cheered us so that Easter egg decorating started early in our home.
Perhaps the diversion of making Western Easter eggs will cheer up your house-bound children, too. You will need hard-boiled or blown eggs. If possible try to get duck eggs because of their large size. You will also need little jars of tempera paint, cotton swabs from the medicine chest to use as little brushes, shirt cardboard and colored construction paper. Scouring the eggs with soap powder removes the natural oils and makes the eggs easier to paint.
To make the Indian chief and squaw paint two eggs a coppery brown. Use cotton swabs as brushes; to avoid mixing colors. Paint eyes and mouths with a light color. The Indian blanket is a piece of construction paper cut large enough to wrap around the egg, and trimmed with a colorful painted design along the edges.
The squaw's dress also is construction paper wrapped around the eggs and fastened with cellophane tape. Feathered head dresses are narrow paper circles with two-inch paper feathers glued in place. Cardboard moc-

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizens Center

I had such a nice surprise Thursday. Just before coming down to the Center, I received a phone call from Amarillo, from my late husband's cousin, who lives in East Lansing, Michigan, saying he ard his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Banzet, were on their way home from spending the winter in California and Arizona and would come by for a short visit. I hurried down to the Center and collected a few notes for my column and back home to greet them on arrival.

Dr. Banzet completed fifty years in the teaching professions last year and is now retired. The past thirty years were spent as a professor in the University of Michigan. We do not get to see each other very often, so we had a delightful time visiting and talking over old times. We went through grade school together back in Southeastern Kansas. Death claimed his first wife several years ago and a couple of years ago he had remarried. I had never had the pleasure of meeting the present Mrs. Banzet. She is a delightful person and I like her very much. Their stay was much too short.

Mrs. Elmer Bailey spent the week end visiting her children and grandchildren in Amarillo and Rule, Texas.
Visiting Mrs. W. J. Cornelison are her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Bradshaw of Teec nos Pas, Arizona, and her grandson and family of Mancas, Colorado.
Guests of Mrs. Mollie Hethcock last week were Mr. and Mrs. Emery Bell of Legan, Oklahoma, a niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beck of Follette, Texas and Mrs. Carl Cummings of Shawnee, Oklahoma.
Visiting Mrs. Irene Brown last week were two nieces, Mrs. J. B. Blankenship of Hooker, Oklahoma and Mrs. Virgie B. Moss of Phoenix, Arizona.
Mrs. Bessie Sewell is leaving by plane Saturday for Fort Worth to visit a sister, Mrs. O. E. Sewell. The sisters had married brothers.

Was so nice to see Mrs. Jessie Van Huss back, after her recovery from an illness and convalescence in Houston with her two daughters.
We missed Mrs. Ollie Station. She fell and hurt her knee quite badly. We hope for her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Addie Love was reported under the weather, so to speak, and was unable to be out. We hope she will be able to be out next week.
Mrs. W. R. Hamilton is leaving next week for Springfield, Missouri for a visit with relatives.
Mrs. Lona Webster reported a visit from her sister, Mrs. Carrie McBride of Amarillo last week.

This being the monthly birthday party, the Altrusa Club was hostess, and as usual Mrs. Roy Kay fashioned a beautiful centerpiece for the table of spring flowers and Mrs. Coston the beautifully decorated cake with an open umbrella and spring posies. Now I ask you, how did she know it was going to rain? Sorry I could not stay and enjoy the birthday party and see all who were celebrating birthdays this month. But I did enjoy so much the visit with my favorite cousin and his wife.
The lovely bouquet was given as a door prize and won by Mrs. Lillian Brunelle and an Easter box of candy was won by Mr. E. O. Etheridge.
Was sorry to hear that Mrs. N. M. Norris had a bad fall and hurt her knee and sprained an ankle. Hope she will be able to be up and about soon.
Did you see this one in the paper? Women are better speech makers than men because of their familiarity with cooking; they never leave out as important an ingredient as shortening. — Ad Jersey Journal, Camden, New Jersey.
See you next week. Love.

Three Astronauts Arrive in Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Three Amer-ica's seven astronauts were in Dallas Monday on an undisclosed mission.

Cmdr. Alan Shepard, Maj. Donald (Deke) Slayton, and Capt. Virgil Grissom, arrived by plane in Dallas Sunday night. They made no comment on why they were in Texas.

The men were met at the plane by Alfred Sidila, manager of Ling Temco - Vaughn's space sciences-office. There was one report that the three will take part in exercises at LTV's Astronautics Division, working on rendezvous techniques under the Project Gemini program.

Last March LTV received a $250,000 contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for a three month experimental program. Slayton visited LTV about a week ago.

...And The Politicians Came To Pampa

JOE B. PHILLIPS CAMPAIGNS HERE—A luncheon honoring Joe B. Phillips, Lubbock, a candidate for Congressman-at-large on the Republican ticket, was held yesterday in the Pampa Hotel. ## Reavley Asks... 'Who Is The Best Lawyer?'

Former Texas Secretary of State Tom Reavley campaigned for the office of Attorney General in Pampa Monday.

Reavley says the number one issue in the race for the state's top law office is... 'who is the best lawyer?'

The former Nacogdoches County Attorney and Assistant District Attorney of Dallas County thinks Texans should elect an Attorney General, "who will do a professional job for the state rather than using the office as a sort of 'stepping-stone' in higher political ambition."

"It is very easy for the Attorney General to think about his political future in the way he answers requests for opinions, and what he says publicly."

Reavley said, "I'm running to be Attorney General and nothing else. I'm not going to try to be a Governor, Legislator, or district attorney. I know what the Attorney General's job is and that's the job I'm going to try to fill. It's big enough for any man."

"One issue that might develop would be interest in anti-trust enforcement. I believe free enterprise must be competitive and that this is one area in which the government must be active to prevent conspiracy, price-fixing and monopolies. We face a time when we are either going to have to work for the government or some giant monopoly, neither of which alternatives are attractive to me.

"In the area of law enforcement, this is a local responsibility under the laws of Texas. Only the district and county attorneys can prosecute violations of criminal law. This is not the function of the Attorney General, contrary to what some candidates sometimes say. I do believe that the Attorney General should take a lead in working for reform of the criminal law and the Attorney General, as well as the Governor, should assist local citizens in those rare cases where local law enforcement completely breaks down. However, the best that anyone on the state level could do is to help re-

Hazlewood Says GOP Primary To Hurt Him

State Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, seeking re-election from the 31st district at the Democratic May 5 primary, was guest at an informal luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Senator Hazlewood, introduced by E. L. Green Jr., spoke briefly and took the occasion to stress the importance of the double primary which will confront the voters this year for the first time in many places.

Both Republican and Democratic primaries are scheduled at the same time.

The senator said he feared many voters did not understand the seriousness of the situation that existed in the decision of many conservative Democrats who plan to vote in the Republican primary election.

"In my case," Senator Hazlewood said, "it means if Democrats switch over to the Republican primary they will not be able to vote for me on May 5."

He explained that at primary time separate elections are held by the Republicans and Democrats. Those who vote Republican in the primary election can vote for only Republican candidates. The same is true of the Democrats. They can vote for only Democrats at the May 5 primary.

"However," Senator Hazlewood said, "at the general elections in November electors can vote for either Democrat or Republican candidates."

The state senator explained that there can be no splitting of tickets in the May 5 primary. Each party will hold its own primary election. Democrats and Republicans will have their separate voting places.

A brief question and answer period followed the senator's short talk.

Procter Seeks Office Of Attorney General

Les Procter of Austin brought his campaign for Attorney General to Pampa Monday, visiting friends and supporters and handing out campaign material in the Courthouse and business district.

Procter, who resigned as District Attorney of Travis County in order to run, is making what he calls "a personal and grass roots campaign for the important office as a candidate not committed to anyone but the people. It is no secret that I do not have the backing of any powerful financial interest in this state. There are no strings attached to me. I have not permitted anyone to attempt to buy the office for me."

Providing an attorney for the state who can serve the state without commitments and who can do it well, is the primary issue in the Attorney General race, Procter said.

"That issue has been developed by the manner in which some of the candidates have run in this campaign. Money that some of my opponents are spending is beginning to show itself in considerable quantity. It will be up to them to say whether the people furnishing that money might have some matter pending at a future date in the Attorney General's office."

When asked if he considered himself a conservative, liberal, middle-of-the-roader, etc., Procter replied, "Questions facing the Attorney General are those of law and fact and not political views. No Attorney General, no district attorney or county attorney worth his salt, could or should, give a political view any weight on the scale of justice whatsoever."

Procter, a candidate in the May 5 Democratic Primary, left Pampa at mid-afternoon yesterday for Lubbock.

Procter first gained state-wide attention as a newly-elected District Attorney when he obtained the 26-day jury trial conviction of Land Commissioner Bascom Giles for offenses in connection with the multi-million-dollar Veterans' Land Program of Texas.

He gained further prominence for his role in investigating and prosecuting the insurance scandal cases that rocked Texas a few years ago. He also obtained the conviction of a state legislator for offering to accept a bribe, the only conviction of its type in the history of the state.

The son of school teacher parents, Procter attended the University of Texas where he graduated from law school and played on three Longhorn football teams. His brother, Ben Procter, now a TCU history professor, was an All-American end on the Texas eleven.

Making the journey to Prairie View will be Joe Niblett, Tommy Murray, Jessie Washington, Irving Bunton, James Mathis, Mike Morgan and Charley Walker. Coach Joe Snell will also make the trip with the boys.

The Wildcats amassed 133 points for a second place finish in the district meet Saturday behind Memphis, which wracked up 179 points.

Copping first place honors for the Wildcats were Niblett, discus, 115 feet 10 inches; shot put, 46 feet two inches; high jump, five feet nine inches and pole vault, 10 feet six inches; Murray, 100-yard dash, 9.9; Washington, Mile run, 5:19; Bunton, 880-yard run, 2:19; and Mathis, Morgan, Walker and Murray, 440-yard relay, 47.6.

This is the second time in Snell's five years at the school to go to the state meet.

Maris To Receive MVP Plaque Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Maris will receive his 1961 Most Valuable Player plaque when the New York Yankees open their 40th season in "The House That Ruth Built" today against the Baltimore Orioles.

In tribute to the memory of the Babe, his widow, Mrs. Clare Ruth, will throw out the first ball. Ruth hit a three-run homer to beat the Boston Red Sox, 4-1, when Yankee Stadium was dedicated back in 1923.

Senators, Phils Cop Openers; Remaining Teams On Tap Today

United Press International

Three journeymen righthanders named John F. Kennedy, Art Mahaffey and Bennie Daniels were the stars of Monday's major league openers and some lefthanded old pros like Warren Spahn, Whitey Ford and Johnny Podres would be happy to do as well today.

This is a big day in baseball's relentless push to new frontiers. It's the day when the major leagues invade Texas; the Los Angeles Dodgers play for the first time in their long-awaited $18 million super-stadium; and Casey Stengel starts learning the truth about his New York Mets.

President Kennedy cut loose with his best high hard pitch to usher in the 1962 season Monday and then settled back like Mr. Everyday Fan to watch Daniels pitch the Washington Senators to a five-hit, 4-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

In Monday's other opener, at Cincinnati, Mahaffey scattered nine hits in pitching the Philadelphia Phils to a 12-4 victory over the Reds, last year's National League champions.

At the present moment, the Senators and Phils are alone atop the standings in each league. But it's probably the last time that will happen this season.

Mr. Kennedy's presidential pitch at Washington was recovered by Marty Kutyna, Senators pitcher who outscrambled his teammates as the ball rolled along the first base foul line.

The President then was chased to cover by a rainstorm which delayed the game for 22 minutes and later was nearly beamed by Willie Tasby's foul ball in the fourth inning. But he ducked, came up smiling and stayed to the final out of the game.

Bob Johnson, young Washington shortstop, hit a two-run homer in the fourth off lefty Don Mossi and received some hearty applause from the President and the rest of the crowd of 44,383. This was the largest turnout ever for a baseball game in the nation's capital.

After an error by second baseman Chuck Cotier of the Senators helped the Tigers score a run off Daniels in the sixth, Washington clinched matters with two more runs in the seventh. Hits by Cotier and Bob Schmidt, two Detroit errors and a single by Daniels produced the Senators' two runs off Ron Kline.

At Cincinnati, a crowd of 28,500 watched Clay Dalrymple and Don Demeter hit home runs in Philadelphia's 15-hit attack. The Phils routed Joe Jay with six runs in the third. Dalrymple's bases-empty homer, off Jay in the second inning, was the first in the majors this season.

Today's schedule in the National League pitted the Reds at Los Angeles; the Milwaukee Braves at the San Francisco Giants; the New York Mets at the St. Louis Cardinals; the Chicago Cubs at the Houston Colts; and the Phils at the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In the American League, it was the Baltimore Orioles at the New York Yankees; the Cleveland Indians at the Boston Red Sox; the Los Angeles Angels at the Chicago White Sox, and the Minnesota Twins at the Kansas City Athletics. Washington and Detroit were idle.

A capacity crowd of 56,000, including Commissioner Ford Frick, was expected to jam Los Angeles' model Chavez Ravine Stadium for the Dodgers' opener. Podres was opposed by Jim O'Toole of the Reds.

Houston will make its major league debut in a rainbow-colored temporary 35,000-seat stadium. Bob Shantz, one of the grab-bag players selected by Houston in stocking the new club last fall, will start for the Colts, with Don Cardwell pitching for Chicago.

The Mets, not due to open at home until Friday, will shoot Roger Craig against the Cards' Larry Jackson in the only night game on the program at St. Louis.

Spahn, a 21-game winner last season, will start for Milwaukee

Colt 45s To Fire Away At Chicago

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs, who have won more opening day games than any other National League club, hoped to turn their 38th such triumph into a spoilsport greeting for the Houston Colt .45s debut into major league baseball today.

The Cubs and Colts, the old and the new of the 87-season senior circuit, squared away at 2:30 p.m. EST in the first game involving either of the two newcomer teams which mark the National League's first expansion move since 1900.

The New York Mets, who joined the Colts in swelling the National to a 10-member league, won't get into official action until tonight at St. Louis.

While the Cubs will field a blended version of veterans with three "green pea" rookies—21-year-old Lou Brock in centerfield, 20-year-old Ken Hubbs at second base and 25-year-old Elder White at shortstop—the new Colts will be made up mostly of old faces.

They'll be full-timers with the new Colts, however, and if they can come along half as well as they did in compiling a very respectable 17-11 spring training record, the 45s will have little trouble in making a prophet of manager Harry Craft.

It was Craft who Monday told a luncheon gathering of fans that he wasn't being misled foolishly by the spring record, but that he did feel the league castoffs would "not embarrass" their fans in the first season.

If Craft and that noted builder of baseball talent, Paul Richards, can accomplish their task as well as their monied club owners came through, then there'll be no head-hangings in shame at Colt Stadium.

For the 32,000-capacity temporary stadium was a gleaming testimonial today to the theory that nothing is impossible.

The gleaming, pastel-colored structure, complete with a classy playing field, has literally mushroomed out of what was barren prairie only last December—at a cost of $12 million.

It will serve as the 45s home for two seasons until the $2 million air conditioned domed stadium is completed by the start of the 1964 season.

The Colts, without even a 380 hitter on the roster, are counting on the large expanse of their playing field to cut down on the power potential of the opposition while also providing them an equal opportunity to punch out enough base hits to make a respectable showing.

They will stress defense with such "good field, no hit" performers as Norm Larker, Don Buddin, Bob Asperomonte and Joe Amalfitano on the infield and Al Spangler, Ramon Mejias and Jim Pendleton in the outfield. Larker's .270 average in 97 games with the Dodgers last season was the fattest plate mark on the Colts' starting lineup.

Major League baseball, even the weak-hitting kind, will be new to Houston, to Texas and to the entire South, however. That fact alone, the owners feel, will be enough to entice a million and a half fans this season.

Palmer Sets Sights On Grand Slam After Winning Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Masters champion Arnold Palmer, having already accomplished two personal golfing missions, set his sights on a third today—a grand slam.

"It shall always be my goal, it never will be out of mind until I get too old to play," the 32-year-old Pennsylvania pro said when asked if he was going to try to add the British Open, the U.S. Open and the PGA championship to his Masters title. No golfer ever has won all four.

Happy, but weary, after he came from behind in an 18-hole playoff Monday to beat defending champion Gary Player by three strokes and hard-luck Dow Finsterwald by nine, Palmer said he "was extremely proud" to join Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret as the only three-time winners of the Masters.

"And I'm glad too that I've erased the memory of that double bogey six on the 18th hole last year," he added. "I knew that if I won here this year that hole never again will come back to haunt me."

His victory Monday, when he staged another of his fantastic finishes, shooting five birdies to overcome a three stroke lead which Player had gained on the front nine, enriched Palmer $20,000 and made him the leading money winner in the game since the PGA started keeping records back in 1947—with a total of $298,738.09.

Going into the tournament, Palmer trailed Doug Ford and Cary Middlecoff, but he now is some $8,000 ahead of Ford and $10,000 ahead of Middlecoff. It also raised his 1962 winnings to $35,408.33, putting him at the top of the class.

Palmer will compete in the Greensboro Open this weekend.

"I don't know just what I will do after that, but I definitely will defend my British Open championship in July and, of course, I'll be in there trying for the U.S. Open and the PGA," he said.

He and Player—Finsterwald was never in the running at any time—agreed the turning point in the playoff round came on the par four 470-yard 10th hole.

Player, with a two under par 34 going out against Palmer's 37 and Finsterwald's 40, had a three stroke lead going to the 10th tee.

Palmer put his five iron second 20 feet from the pin while Player's approach went over the green. Player chipped to within five and a half feet, but his putt hung on the lip of the cup and he had to settle for a bogey.

Palmer sank his putt for the first of five birdies on the second nine, to pick up two strokes and that was the beginning of the end for Player. He dropped behind when Palmer birdied the 12th and never was able to get back into contention.

"I really thought I still had a chance when I put my tee shot on the 18th (a par three, 190-yard hole), eight feet from the cup. Arnold was 10 feet away. He sank his putt, I missed mine and then I knew it was all over."

Player insisted that the shot his best golf of the tournament today "but my putts just didn't drop."

Palmer wound up with a four under par 37-31-68 over the 5,980-yard par 36-72 Masters course while Player carded a one under par 34-37-71 and Finsterwald had a 40-37-77, five over par. Player's second place was worth $12,000 while Finsterwald received $8,000 for finishing third.

Celtics, Lakers To Clash Once Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers and the Boston Celtics clash tonight at the Sports Arena in the third game of their National Basketball Association (NBA) championship playoff and the home team hopes to get an advantage from the familiar court.

They split the first two games at Boston on the weekend. The Celtics won the Saturday game rather easily, 122-108, and the Lakers turned back a late-game rally by the Celtics to grab a 129-122 win in the Sunday game.

A fourth game will be played at the Sports Arena Wednesday night. Game No. 5 is scheduled for Boston in the best of seven series. If a sixth game is necessary, it will be played at Los Angeles April 16. A seventh game would be played at Boston April 18.

The Celtics are shooting for their fourth consecutive NBA title.

Pipers Win ABL Pro Cage Title

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The come-back kids from Cleveland, a never-say-die team all season, wore the first American Basketball League championship crown today.

The fiery Pipers whipped Kansas City, 106-102, Monday night to win the best-of-five series three games to two, it was a long road back for the Pipers.

They dropped the first two games against the Steers last week. Cleveland then got Kansas City away from home for two games, which the hustling Pipers won.

However, most experts figured Cleveland would fold when Kansas City got it back on the Steer home floor. This was not the case.

The Pipers, outscored from the field, won the ABL title at the free-throw line. Dick Barnett popped in 26 points for the Pipers. He hit six of seven free throws and his team made 30 of 38.

Major Stars On Trip To Minors

By United Press International
Joe Nuxhall, Danny McDevitt and Chuck Tanner, three well-traveled baseball players, got a new "life" today, but it was back to the minors for such as Von McDaniel, Johnny James and Joe Christopher in last-minute changes made before major league openings.

Nuxhall, who broke into the majors with the Cincinnati Reds in 1944 at the age of 15, was purchased from Rochester of the International League by the Los Angeles Angels. McDevitt was plucked from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League by the Kansas City Athletics, and Tanner was picked up by the Angels from Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association.

Nuxhall, a left-handed pitcher, was with Kansas City last year and had a 5-8 won-lost record. He has an overall record of 89-89 in the majors, mostly with the Reds. McDevitt, also a left-hander, broke in with the Dodgers. He eventually pitched with the Yankees and this spring trained with the Minnesota Twins, who cut him a week ago. Tanner, an outfielder, saw previous major league service with the Chicago Cubs, Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Along with Tanner the Angels brought up first baseman-outfielder Tom Burgess from their Dallas-Fort Worth farm club, and sent right-handed pitcher Johnny James to the same club on option.

McDaniel, one-time St. Louis Cardinals whiz-kid pitcher who was trying to make it back to the majors as an infielder, was cut by the Houston Colt 45s, who sent him to Oklahoma City of the American Association. McDaniel was drafted by the Colts from the Cardinals' farm club at Tulsa, where he hit 15 homers a year ago.

Christopher, one of the top batters in the New York Mets' training camp this spring, was sent to Syracuse of the IL on 24-hour recall with the promise from Manager Casey Stengel that he would be brought back as soon as possible. Taking his place on the roster was young infielder Ron Kanehl, who hit .304 for Nashville a year ago.

All the changes were necessitated by baseball rules which state that opening-day rosters shall be frozen at 28 players. One month after the start of the season each club will have to cut down to 25 players.

The Milwaukee Braves promoted pitcher Hank Fischer and outfielder Mike Krsnich, both of whom had been training with them this spring, from Louisville of the American Association. Fischer was 11-9 at Louisville in 1961 while Krsnich batted .276 for the same club.

The Minnesota Twins sent right-hander Bill Pleis on option to Vancouver and brought up 21-year-old infielder Orlando Martinez from Charlotte, N.C., as insurance for ailing shortstop Zorro Versalles.

The Pittsburgh Pirates re-assigned the contracts of 13 minor league players and purchased catcher Orlando McFarlane from Columbus of the International League, while the Los Angeles Dodgers got down to the limit by sending 11 minor league hands to farm clubs.

The Mets also announced that Red Ruffing and Red Kress are being retained as permanent coaches. Both worked with the club during spring training and now give the new NL club a coaching staff of five.

Glover Gets Mound Nod Against Dons Today At 4

Jerry Glover, the strong-armed righthander for the Pampa Harvesters will take the mound today at 4 p.m. in Amarillo when the local nine clashes with the Palo Duro Dons.

Glover, 0-1 in loop play, will be trying to even up the Harvesters district record with a victory against the Amarillo school. The Harvesters are 1-2 on the year and are still looking for a victory over a team in the big city, having dropped decisions to Amarillo high and Tascosa in earlier games. Glover lost to the Rebels in his only outing in loop play last Saturday in a heart-breaking extra inning affair in Amarillo, 3-2. Glover, incidentally, has the best swat average of any Harvester with a healthy .333. Jerry walloped a home run in three trips to the plate in his only game this year in district competition.

The Harvester bats, outside of their two booming home run swats last weekend in the Tascosa game, have been almost silent with Glover the only .300 hitter on the club.

Wright, 2-4, .250; Rickey Stewart, 0-8, .000; Larry Gregory, 0-5, .000 and pitcher Mike Clark, 1-5, .200.

Rounding the horn in the infield will be Owens at first, Gregory at second, Crossland at shortstop and Rickey Stewart at third. In the outfield will be Arthur in left, Reed in center and Wright in right field.

Doing the catching will be Mike Stewart and out on the hill will be Glover.

Laver, Emerson In Annual Net Meet

HOUSTON (UPI)—Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson brought their world-circling duel for tennis supremacy to the River Oaks Invitational Tournament today to overshadow a third-round field of 32 players.

Laver, last year's Wimbledon champion, is defending his title in this 28th annual tourney on River Oaks' crushed limestone courts. Emerson, loser here to Laver in last year's final, got hot on the winter tournament trail and has won five of the last six meets.

Seeded third behind Emerson was Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., the top U. S. amateur. Chuck McKinley of Trinity University was fourth-seeded.

In today's matches, Emerson played Alfonso Ochoa of Mexico City. Laver was across court from Jimmy Parker of Rice University. McKinley played John Maloney of South Africa and Reed took on Gabino Palafox of Mexico.

The four top-seeded players headed a list of 16 entrants who were exempt from first and second round play Monday. A field of 64 played two rounds of elimination matches to determine the 16 players who would meet the exempt 16.

Others who drew first round byes were Frank Froehling of Trinity University; Michael Sangster of Great Britain; Wolfgang Stuck of West Germany; Antonio Palafox of Mexico; Chris Crawford of the University of Corpus Christi; Gardner Mulloy of Miami; Ronald Holberg of West Point, N. This USAC-certified mileage record was scored by regular stock cars in the 1962 Mobil Economy Run—world's greatest official test of gasoline mileage economy. All of these cars used exclusively either Mobil Premium or Mobil Regular gasoline with the highest Megatane Ratings of any leading gasolines.

Now—Mobil<sup>2</sup> gasolines have been tested in almost every make of American car. This year 46 cars were entered in the Mobil Economy Run; they traveled 2,497 miles at normal speed from Los Angeles to Detroit—across deserts, over mountains, through crowded city streets... delivered convincing records of the mileage-economy potential of Megatane-Rated Mobil!

DON'T MAKE THE OCTANE MISTAKE!

Octane Rating measures only 2 of your motor's needs

Megatane Rating measures 21 of your motor's needs

The Higher the Megatane Rating the Better Your Motor Will Run!

Octane rating measures only 2 of the qualities your car needs in a gasoline... 2 very important qualities—both dealing with anti-knock. The result: many people make the Octane Mistake! They consider only Octane ratings when buying gasoline and overlook many other important qualities made possible by brilliant scientific advances. Qualities that can truly give you a cleaner motor, more mileage and power, longer life and fewer repair bills. That's why Mobil's engineers measure and express gasoline quality in a rating system called the Megatane System which enables you to judge not just Octane qualities, but the total performance of your gasoline. Megatane includes Octane, of course, but goes far beyond Octane to measure not just 2, but 21, of your motor's needs.

Fantastic Figures

In its just released annual statement for 1961, the giant General Motors Corp. reports today dollar sales of $11,395,917,000. This is the third highest on record for G.M., whose income is surpassed only by AT&T.

Receipts were just below $358.5 million. After all expenditures (taxes were $1.2 billion), net income was $892,821,000—still higher than many government budgets.

To continue with fantastic figures, G.M. recently built its 75 millionth automobile. It took 32 years — 1908 to 1940 — to make the first 25 million. The third 25 million were produced in just the past seven years.

Pertinent Question

If government can solve unemployment by furnishing jobs, how come we still have unemployment? If labor unions can raise wages, as they claim, how come they don't begin raising the wages of the unemployed?

Profit Margin Disappearing

The high taxes being paid by all businesses, large and small, without a doubt are having a major effect upon the economy.

According to Dun & Bradstreet report, business failures are on the increase, up 13 per cent since December of last year. The profit margin is now so low that a margin for error in business judgment is almost non-existent.

The miracle is that there are no more failures than there are. More businesses failed in January of this year than in any January since the 1930s. January, 1962, saw 1,447 firms close their doors. In 1939, there were 1,367 business closures.

Dun's figures show that in 1950 about 34 businesses out of every 10,000 went bankrupt. In 1961, 64 businesses out of every 10,000 hung out the padlock on their shops.

What is principally at fault is the narrow margin of profit. The amount of profits after taxes is fractionally smaller in 1960 than in 1950, and this smaller sum is cut up among companies which number 17 per cent more than ten years previously.

But it is important that we do not imagine that this decline in business successes is related to "gobbling up" of small businesses by large firms. This is frequently claimed but without foundation.

There were 4,717,900 companies operating in 1961. Of these, about 4.5 million were small businesses. Small businesses make up about 96 per cent of the total. These small businesses employ more than 30 million people and represent about 40 per cent of the nation's business activity.

Curiously, and contrary to much popular opinion, many small businesses come into existence because of the existence of large businesses. Large firms need smaller firms to manufacture, distribute and service their products.

It should be born in mind, of course, that virtually all businesses begin in a small way. If they succeed, they may ultimately grow large, merge with a larger concern, or branch out in one or another various ways. But their margin for success has been reduced today because of our pred-

THE PRICE OF MONEY (The Wall Street Journal)

The subject of money is complex, but it has some aspects that should be clear to us all. And one of these is that demand for money, when it's growing faster than supply, tends to push up the price in the market place.

This is the process that now seems to be getting under way. Banks and savings and loan associations are offering savers more for their money. Home buyers are paying more for mortgage loans. If business recovery continues, higher interest rates also are likely to show up in other areas.

As natural as this process is, some Congressmen and Government officials would have us believe it is almost immoral. They worry that rising interest rates will impede or even reverse business recovery by discouraging borrowing by consumers and expansion-minded businessmen.

Now, the truth is something quite different. In a number of ways, a gradual rise in interest rates will promote sound business recovery. What's more, it may help bring about the swifter economic growth the administration seeks and, quite possibly, lessen our troublesome balance of payments deficit.

Consider first the impact of interest rates in the field of bank credit. As bank credit becomes a bit less readily available, interest rates may begin to edge upward.

This isn't likely to lead to a sharp drop in legitimate borrowing by consumers and businessmen. When a rise of, say, one-half of a percentage point in an interest rate makes the difference between starting and dropping a business expansion project, the project must have been on a pretty shaky footing to begin with.

And if a consumer wants to buy a new car or refrigerator but is deterred by an additional dollar or two a month in interest costs, he probably wouldn't have been able to keep up the payments anyway.

A moderate rise in interest rates thus tends to screen out only the "marginal" operators. And a business expansion based on borrowing by such as these is indeed fragile.

Bank credit, of course, plays an important role in any business recovery. For it is bank credit that introduces flexibility into the capital equipment of businessmen. It can expand rapidly, and it can be shifted with relative ease from one industry whose needs may be growing. But bank credit by its nature is temporary financing.

An expanding economy or an expanding economy cannot afford to go on indefinitely relying only on increasing bank credit. For to permit such an expansion to continue indefinitely is to invite wild inflation.

What is needed to underpin sound economic recovery — and sound long-term growth — is an increase in real saving by the people: this will supply the funds businessmen need to build factories and buy new equipment. And it is rising interest rates that persuade people to save their money rather than spend it on consumer goods.

Just as rising interest rates are needed in the domestic economy to promote recovery and long-term growth, so are they needed in international finance to help end our balance of payments problem. In recent years, both foreigners and Americans have been able to earn more on short-term funds by investing them overseas than they have by investing in America. And an outflow of short-term capital has been a major factor in our balance of payments deficit.

All of this suggests that any effort to block or reverse a rise in interest rates in the current business recovery would be a mistake. For to do so could speed the flight of short-term capital overseas, slow the accumulation of savings and spur an inflationary expansion of bank credit. And, complex as the subject of money is, anyone can see that orderly growth is better than economic chaos.

Incidentally, neglect of business comes in for a very minor share of responsibility, a mere 3 per cent. And those who feel that businessmen are crooks should be somewhat astounded to learn that only 1.6 failures originate as a result of fraud. Disaster and un-known variables provide the balance of failures.

In a nation where pride is taken respecting free enterprise—the growth of business failures is a most serious condition. A much larger margin for profit, we submit, would remedy this defect to a large degree.

One That Won't Get Away

ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — All the signs point to Massachusetts Attorney General Edward McCormack's winning the state Democratic convention's endorsement for senator.

The convention takes place in Springfield, June 7-9, but already McCormack has a considerable lead over Edward Kennedy, 30-year-old brother of the President. The 1,763 delegates are now being elected at ward meetings.

Significantly, McCormack is capturing delegates in localities reputedly strong for young Kennedy. Another telltale straw in the wind is the unannounced decision of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen to back McCormack. He was informed of that by a group of BRT officials.

"We are heartily behind President Kennedy in Washington," said his spokesman, "but that doesn't mean we have to support the whole family. In this race, we're for you."

The state convention's endorsement will not necessarily ensure 39-year-old McCormack's gaining the senatorial nomination. It is not uncommon for aspirants to be approved by the convention, only to lose out in the ensuing primary — September 18.

But in this instance, the convention's backing will carry special weight and definitely be a boon to McCormack in the primary.

A hot primary clash is apparently in the cards as young Kennedy has avowed his intention to "go all the way" for the coveted prize regardless of what the convention does.

Both sides are busily girding for that. The race is certain to attract nationwide attention.

The fighting already is stormy. BIG BROTHER IS WATCHING — A vivid illustration of that was the Pittsfield meeting in which Attorney General McCormack scored heavily in the election of convention delegates.

Although the President is meticulously staying out of the explosive fray, his young brother's partisans brought him squarely into this ward gathering in an effort to win votes.

F. Richard Drennan, running as a Kennedy delegate, warned that his rejection might prove painful to Massachusetts.

"It is very advisable to keep in mind," declared Drennan, "that President Kennedy has another two years in office, and we do not want to burn our bridges to the White House. It would be most embarrassing not to be in a position to seek favors from the Administration in Washington because of our turndown of the President's brother."

This line of campaigning was caustically berated by Peter Aros, a McCormack partisan. "I am astounded to hear such talk," he retorted. "It is the 'soup kitchen' approach to politics, in which hacks line up for a hand-out. Surely we are above that sort of thing in deciding a senatorial nomination. The goal of the Democratic party is community betterment on the world, national, state and local levels, and that can be accomplished only by service to the people and not by patronage."

"I cannot believe that President Kennedy, beset with problems and issues of far-flung scope and tremendous complexities, would seek to vent petty vengeance on those who desire only to exercise their constitutional right to vote for the candidate of their choice. That would be wholly alien to him, and I refuse to be bluffed by empty talk."

Suddenly he jumped to his feet with a shout "Liza," he cried, "doggoned if Ah ain't learned to write." Liza looked at the scrawled pencil lines. "What do it say?" she asked. "Can't tell," said Uncle Zeke. "Ah ain't learned to read yet."

Purely psychological: For some months the National Tea Council had promoted its product with this slogan: "Tired? Nervous? Try tea." When that was considered as having only a limited acceptance, the slogan was changed to: "Drink it hefty, hot and hearty. Try tea and see!" Sales were up by 11 per cent within a year.

Edson in Washington Congress And UN Issue: West German Politicians

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The coming showdown fight between supporters and opponents of the United Nations presents complex issues.

On one side is the Kennedy administration, committed to all-out co-operation with the United Nations as a basic principle of U.S. foreign policy. The President believes that from 80 to 85 per cent of the people support the U.N. He cites public opinion surveys, one of which shows 90 per cent of the people polled against U.S. withdrawal from the U.N.

On the other side are highly vocal opponents of the U.N. and all its works, citing a wide variety of reasons.

Some are outright isolationists who do not believe in any kind of international co-operation. Some believe that the U.N. is a failure because it has not already achieved world peace.

Some believe the U.N. has not been effective in blocking Communist expansion. Some believe the U.N. itself is run by Communists. U.N. military operations against Katanga are cited as evidence.

Some are opponents to foreign aid who lump U.S. contributions to the U.N. in that category. Some believe the U.S. is paying more than its share of U.N. costs, which is 32 per cent, and over 50 per cent of special assessments.

There is some personal fighting from people who would like to get Adlai Stevenson removed from office as U.S. ambassador to the U.N. There are those people who resent the presence in the U.N. of 20-odd poverty-stricken new African members, each with one vote equal to that of the U.S.

All this bitterness is welling to the surface in the current congressional battle over President Kennedy's proposal that the United States buy $100 million or half of the U.N. 25-year, 2-per cent bond issue. The proceeds are intended to keep the U.N. from going bankrupt by financing its peace-keeping activities in places like Gaza strip and the Congo.

Four alternate plans have been suggested by Senators Aiken, R-Vt., Dirksen, R-Ill., Russell, D-Ga., and Clark, D-Pa., with nine other senators as cosponsors of Clark's proposal.

To beat off Republican proposals to make the bonds repayable in three years — which might be impossible — the Senate Foreign Relations Committee came up with a compromise. It would provide for outright U.S. purchase of $25 million in bonds, with $75 million being bought on a matching basis as other countries make purchases. Since nearly $50 million has already been subscribed, the President accepted this amendment.

Even more acceptable to the administration would be Senator Clark's proposal. It calls for financing the U.S. $100 million purchase by the sale of a like amount of 25-year, 2-per cent U.S. Peace Bonds to the general public. This idea is really the brain child of Rep. Frank Kowalski, D-Conn.

State and Treasury departments and the Budget Bureau were at first reluctant to embark on anything that might interfere with the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. But Treasury Secretary Dillon and Under Secretary of State Ball now have given the Peace Bonds their blessing, with obvious White House approval because the Peace Bonds would not compete with the shorter term, higher interest rate Savings Bonds.

In the course of congressional debate on the bond issue, the whole program of the United Nations will be reviewed. A number of senators backing the Clark bill are planning to take the floor for major addresses on foreign policy. One of their purposes will be to answer the criticisms of U.N. opponents and the doubts expressed by those who, like Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., think more American reliance should be placed on regional organizations like NATO than on the U.N.

Here are some excerpts from a recent publication:

U.S. Agency Takes Poke At Health Food Quacks

Before you fall for nutritional quackery, perhaps you'd like to know what the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has to say about the basic American diet. Here are some excerpts from a recent publication:

"The American food supply is unsurpassed throughout the world in both quantity and nutritional value.

"Important staple foods such as flour, bread, milk, margarine, corn meal and rice contain added vitamins and minerals under standards set by the FDA.

"The so-called protective foods (fruits, leafy vegetables and dairy products) have become so widely used in the national diet (that) once prevalent diet deficiency diseases such as rickets and pellagra have virtually disappeared in America.

"It is not true that the American food supply is deficient in vitamins, minerals and other essential nutrients.

"Many food supplements are promoted on the myth that our soils have become so depleted that the foods they produce no longer provide normal nourishment. Research has demonstrated that the nutritional values of our crops are not significantly affected by either the soils or the kind of fertilizer used."

The report also includes the following warnings to those consumers who are apt to be impressed by the "theme songs of persistent propaganda campaigns" to undermine public confidence in the nutritional adequacy of staple foods:

"Persons in good health who eat a variety of foods have no need to worry about nutritional deficiencies. Food, not pills, are the best sources of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

"Food supplements that contain scores of different ingredients are designed only to impress the gullible.

"It is a waste of money and in some instances dangerous to use high potency vitamin preparations without medical supervision."

In general, "natural" and "organic" foods are no more wholesome than other foods. Frequently they are an expensive source of nutritional factors which are readily available in ordinary foods costing much less.

"Do not rely on foods offered as 'cures' for anything except recognized nutritional deficiencies. 'Reducing products are a vast area of deception... What you pay for is the little circular containing the diet plan which tells you to eat less.

"Exaggerated claims are very prevalent in mail order literature on health products. 'Beware of any house-to-house vitamin dealers who attempt to discuss your health and dietary problems and to give advice concerning them. They are salesmen, not doctors.

"The modern version of the old-time patent medicine pitchman is the so-called 'health food lecturer.' Many popular books on nutrition contain good information but should not be relied on for self diagnosis of nutritional problems. Frequently they contain advice which is medically unsound and would be especially harmful to some individuals following it."

Thus speaketh your government.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That was not quite the kiss of death that former Gen. Edwin A. Walker conferred on the organization known as Americans for Constitutional Action. Not quite!

Walker testified before a Senate subcommittee investigating freedom of speech within the armed services. ACA was identified as the standard by which the resigned general judged the patriotism of U. S. politicians. This could blur the image of ACA and do the organization considerable harm.

To help set the record straight: It should be remarked that Walker did not get from ACA any of the information on which he based his major complaint against the Kennedy administration. He alleged that there was in Washington an unwritten policy of collusion and collaboration with the international Communist conspiracy.

Americans for Constitutional Action got shoved into the Walker show because he advised troops under his command in Germany to check the ACA record of candidates for political office before voting. His complaints about collusion and what he called the decision-making apparatus in Washington were vague and unsupported. There is nothing vague about ACA ratings of members of Congress.

Whether the ratings are supported by adequate evidence is a judgment each person must make for himself. Conservative-minded Americans generally will accept the ACA ratings as soundly based and valuable for illuminating the voting record of senators and representatives.

Maryland; and Loyd Wright, former president of the American Bar Association. Moreel stated the organization's political philosophy in a statement on publication of the first ACA index rating members of Congress on their voting records.

"If anyone has wondered," Moreel said, "why the socialist virus has been penetrating our oversized, centralized government, resulting in higher and higher taxes, bigger and bigger public debt and more people pushed around by government than ever before in U. S. history, he can find the answer in the ACA index."

The index reported that 14 U. S. senators and 108 representatives of both political parties could be counted on consistently to support sound money, local self-government, individual liberty and private competitive enterprise.

There is an ACA consistency index relating to 77 U. S. Senate record votes. A senator who voted right by ACA standards would grade 100 per cent on consistency. How this works out can be shown by comparing the ACA consistency grades of four notable Democratic senators:

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Va., 92 per cent; Sen. Frank J. Lausche, Ohio, 81; Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Mann., 1; Sen. Wayne Morse, Ore., 5.

The ACA standard was that the votes were either for or against individual dignity, sound economic growth, stronger constitutional government, collective morality and socialized economy.
