U.S. Women Aroused By War Threat

By United Press International
The nation's women, angered and frightened by the growing threat of nuclear warfare, staged a gigantic protest demonstration throughout the U.S. Wednesday.

The protest occurred in the country and every major city. The "strikers for peace" included college students, young housewives and elderly matrons. They paraded in wind and rain, sunshine and wearying heat and in near freezing temperatures. Some pushed baby carriages or carried infants in their arms. Almost all carried signs denouncing continuation of nuclear tests and the feverish East-West arms race.

The demonstrations were carried out before the White House and the Soviet embassy in Washington, the United Nations headquarters and Russian U. N. mission in New York City and centers of government across the nation. They urged Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev, wives of the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations, to help bring a halt to the bomb test in the interest of survival of the human race.

One of the largest demonstrations was in Chicago where an estimated 1,000 women gathered to appeal for a halt to nuclear testing. More than 600 women jammed into two meetings in suburban Winnetka to hear Rabbi Edgar Siskin warn that mankind faces the greatest peril it has ever known from radiation fallout and nuclear bombs.

At Denver, about a hundred women jammed the offices of Gov. Steve McNichols and Sens. John A. Carroll and Gordon Allott and rebuked Allott when he said this country would have to continue nuclear testing because "we cannot lag behind the Russians." They shouted "no, no, no."

More than 500 women, many with children, invaded the federal building courtroom at Philadelphia and urged Sens. Joseph S. Clark and Hugh Scott to work for universal disarmament and a stronger U. N.

When Scott suggested "It's a question of living on our knees or dying on our feet," a woman jumped up and shouted "We want to live on our feet."

ALGERIA, Algeria (UPI)—Conciliatory statements by Algerian rebel leaders raised hopes today for a negotiated end to seven years of bloodshed and death in this North African territory. French officials placed the casualty toll from Wednesday's violence at nearly 250—80 of them killed.

Most of the casualties were Moslems called out in mass demonstrations by the Algerian rebel leadership based in Tunis to mark the 7th anniversary of the start of the Algerian war for independence from France.

The French army put its own casualties at 3 dead and 16 wounded. Wednesday night the extreme rightwing Secret Army Organization (OAS) set off 20 plastic bombs in Algiers and Oran as a signal they would continue to fight any move by President Charles de Gaulle to cut Algeria's ties with France.

In the past seven years the war has cost more than 200,000 French and Moslem lives and has drained France of manpower and money.

AGES-OLD CEREMONY — Queen Elizabeth II leaves Buckingham Palace in London en route to Parliament to make her annual speech at the opening session of the Parliament. The Queen announced in an ages-old ceremony defense plans that could double the size of the British Army.

Yanks Have 'Fine Trip' Into Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—Fresh replacements for part of the U.S. Army's 6,500-man West Berlin garrison arrived from West Germany today, traveling the Autobahn across Communist East Germany without incident.

The first platoon of an engineers company, recently arrived from the United States, drove unmolested for three and a half hours through Communist territory and past two Soviet checkpoints.

Capt. William Walker, 38, of Pittsburgh, Pa., company commander, told newsmen on his arrival here "it was a fine trip. We went right on through the checkpoints."

The troop movement underlined the United States' right of free access to isolated West Berlin without German controls.

About 40 soldiers of Company A, 20th Engineer Battalion, arrived in a convoy of one jeep and four 2½-ton trucks. The rest of the company will follow in the next two days.

The convoy passed through Soviet checkpoints at each end of the 110-mile superhighway from the West German town of Helmstedt to West Berlin.

The new troops will replace Company D of the 12th Engineers, which began moving out of West Berlin last Sunday.

Refugees from East Berlin continued to flee to the West. Fourteen-year-old youths entered West Berlin Wednesday saying they left the Eastern sector because they had been ordered to report for military service and they did not want to serve with the Communists.

An 18-year-old East Berlin girl was found exhausted in Tiergarten Park by West Berlin police. She told them she had spent almost an hour swimming across the Spree River. They took her to a hospital.

Many Dead In Honduras Town Hit By Hurricane

BELIZE, British Honduras (UPI)—Planes and ships of three nations rushed supplies today to help British Honduras recover from its worst disaster in history—Hurricane Hattie.

First count of the dead totaled 62 along a 30-mile stretch of the swampy coast where the storm hit Tuesday with the full force of 175 mile an hour winds and 15-foot tidal waves.

The counting was rising steadily as weary police and stunned survivors poked through the rubble of this Central American capital which looked like a huge pile of matchsticks.

Martial law was ordered and troops were dispatched from Jamaica, another British territory, in an effort to head off widespread looting.

(Travelers from Belize arriving in Guatemala City in neighboring Guatemala reported that more than 100 persons were killed and 300 injured by the hurricane. One traveler said there has been an outbreak of looting.)

Hattie, meanwhile, simmered down to a storm renamed "Simone" and headed on a course parallel to the Mexican coast toward Acapulco.

British Honduras Gov. Collin Thornley said 10,000 to 15,000 of Belize's 32,000 inhabitants, most of them Negroes, were homeless. Half the population had fled to the hills.

Official estimates said 75 to 85 per cent of Belize's buildings—mostly wood frame structures—were destroyed or damaged beyond repair. Thornley said the damage was "enormous."

The city was in the middle of an impromptu sea water lake. Everywhere a thick blanket of gray, odorless mud, laced with seaweed and decaying vegetation, coated the landscape. Live and dead snakes were all over.

Small black flags fluttered over bodies marked for crews to pick up.

At Stann Creek, a town of 11,000 on the coast 30 miles south of here, only three houses were left standing. Stann Creek was cut off from the outside world except by boat.

Belize was without fresh water, electric power, telephone or cable service. There was very little food. Hundreds of persons lined up outside the police station, then filed past a stack of coffins to receive a handful of cooked rice and part of a tin cup of drinking water.

Gerard de Freitas, the colony's director of information, said the destruction of Hattie exceeded that of a 1931 hurricane which destroyed Belize.

"This has undoubtedly been the worst natural disaster in the history of British Honduras," he said.

The government broadcast appeals for supplies over a makeshift transmitter at the city's radio station.

Help was on the way. Two U.S. destroyers already were on the scene. The U.S. aircraft carrier Antietam, two other U.S. destroyers and a British naval vessel were en route.

A second air shipment of 8,000 pounds of supplies was scheduled to leave Miami. The British island of Jamaica sent plane loads of supplies and dispatched 100 soldiers requested by Gov. Thornley.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today called his top advisers to a White House meeting expected to deal with the question of whether the United States should resume nuclear tests in the air.

The President scheduled a conference with the National Security Council. He also planned to confer in New York this afternoon with Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. negotiator on a nuclear test ban.

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was invited to attend the National Security Council session. Kennedy was expected to sound him out on U.N. reaction to any U.S. test resumption.

There has been mounting pressure in Congress for the United States to resume atmospheric weapons tests. A UPI survey showed today that members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, almost to a man, are willing to go along with new tests in the air.

The Pentagon also is known to favor resuming tests.

Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission has said the decision is up to Kennedy and he probably would base it largely on an analysis of what the recent Soviet tests accomplished.

Presidential aide Arthur J. Schlesinger Jr. was quoted as telling an anti-test group Wednesday that new atmospheric blasts would be set off only if they were clearly justified on "substantial military grounds."

Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., have urged resumption of atmospheric tests so that this country could perfect a neutron bomb capable of killing without destroying property.

Dodd said a neutron bomb "would not only be a far more effective battlefield weapon than any now available to us, it would provide us with the most effective anti-missile warhead nuclear technology is today capable of producing."

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., suggested that the United States make one more try for a test ban if it is still ahead of Russia in nuclear arms. He called for "one more desperate effort to stop this mad, suicidal race."

CHICAGO (UPI)—A walkout by 3,500 teamsters today threatened the nation's second-largest city with a paralyzing shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

The work stoppage by the gas and oil truck drivers caught many home owners dangerously short of heating fuel as a snow-laden November cold wave poised for an invasion of the area.

Freezing Weather Heads Toward Panhandle Area Front Expected To Strike State About Midnight

By United Press International

An arctic cold front bolted toward the Texas Panhandle today, threatening the first hard freeze and snow of the season. The cold air was expected to join a more mild Pacific air mass which already had set off rain across a wide belt of Texas.

The Pacific front dropped temperatures to a minimum of 34 this morning at Dalhart and 42 at Amarillo. But the mercury eased only to 78 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the arctic cold front probably won't move into the Panhandle much before midnight. It is the same front for which the Weather Bureau issued cold-wave and snow warnings for much of the Midwest.

Except for the Big Bend country and small portions of West Texas, Texas was cloudy today and showers dampened wide sections all the way from Del Rio to east of Dallas. The rain was expected to continue Friday.

Unseasonably warm weather gripped Texas Wednesday and the cooler temperatures will be a welcome respite to some. Alice had 91, highest in the nation Wednesday.

The cold wave struck savagely in the North today, dropping temperatures as much as 40 degrees and turning roads into ribbons of ice.

Weathermen posted cold wave warnings for a seven-state area, as the wintry blast swept down from Canada and hit Montana with its worst snowstorm of the fall.

Wind-driven snow and frigid temperatures were in store for Nebraska, northwest Iowa, north-central Kansas, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana east of the continental divide.

A tornado spawned in a line of thunderstorms roared into the small southeastern Kansas town of Cherokee early today and ripped several buildings in the business district.

Only one person was injured. Caroline Cerne, 11, suffered minor cuts and a bruised eye when she was struck by flying glass. The girl was treated at the Cherokee hospital and released.

Another storm struck near Pittsburg, northeast of Cherokee, causing considerable damage. Several trees were uprooted, one falling on a power line. Electric service in some Pittsburg areas was halted briefly. Police said there were no injuries.

The storm-strangled transportation in parts of Montana. Slush on the highways turned to ice, with conditions worse in the Rocky Mountain areas. Huge trucks jackknifed or were stranded along U. S. 2 and 91 as visibility suddenly dropped to near zero.

Travel within 35 miles of Helena was discouraged. Cut Bank, Mont., had a reading of 8 degrees above zero.

Snow fell over the mountain states during the night as far south as New Mexico and Arizona. Efforts to find two hunters in northern New Mexico and another near Kaycee, Wyo., failed and were to resume today, although more snow was predicted.

Paradoxically, the cold wave caused unseasonably mild and moist air to drift from the upper Mississippi Valley, across the central plains to the Gulf of Mexico. Light rains fell from Texas to Minnesota, with nighttime temperatures in the 60s recorded as far north as Iowa and Illinois.

The mild rainy weather ahead of the storm was expected to move eastward today. Fair to partly cloudy weather was in store for most of the East and West coasts, and showers were predicted over much of drought-stricken Dixie.

Pampa Hereford Show Scheduled For March 5 To 7

March 5, 6 and 7 have been set as the dates for the annual Junior Livestock Show and Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Show and Sale in Pampa, it was announced today.

Paul Dauer of Panhandle, president of the Hereford Breeders group, appealed to breeders today to make plans for consigning cattle to the Pampa show. The sale will be held on the last day, March 7, Dauer stated.

In order that promoters of the show may get an idea of how many cattle they can expect, Dauer today sent out forms to breeders asking them to fill in the number they expect to have in their consignment.

Dauer said in order to attract buyers the sale at the end of the show will need a minimum of 60 head.

GLEN ROSE, Tex. (UPI)—Ernest Tolbert (Bull) Adams, a lawyer, athlete and one of Texas' most famous archaeologists, died Wednesday of a heart attack at his home. He was 73.

Adams, a football and track star at Baylor University, held a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Oxford University. He was Baylor's first Rhodes scholar.

Texas Man, Famed As Archaeologist, Claimed By Death

GOAL RAISED NEEDED $68,476 $30,100 $38,376

That's the story of Pampa's United Fund Drive today.

George Newberry, general campaign chairman, said today new report figures will not be available until workers make their weekly report late Monday afternoon.

The Pampa - Lefors campaign is nearing the end of its second week of solicitation by some 400 fund workers.

Total collections so far, $30,100, add up to a little more than 42 per cent of the goal.

Newberry said today he is hoping that another $10,000 or $12,000 can be added to the total by Monday.

Workers have been asked to turn in their money and reports between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Southwestern Public Service Co. offices, 315 N. Ballard.

Chairman Named For Water Board AUSTIN (UPI)—Joe D. Carter of Sherman is the new chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers.

The appointment was made Wednesday by Gov. Price Daniel. Carter succeeds R. M. Dixon of Dallas on the board and replaces Durwood Marford of Smiley as chairman. Marford Wednesday was named by Daniel as a member of the State Board of Insurance. H. A. Beckwith of Eagle Pass was selected to fill Marford's unexpired term on the water board.

CONFER ON BORDER PACT — Finland's President Kekkonen, center, confers with Finnish Ambassador to the U.S., Richard Seppala, and press secretary Max Jakobsen on Russia's proposal to sign a new border pact. Kekkonen interrupted his tour of Maui, Hawaii, to huddle with the officials at Hamoa Beach Park.

W. Fondren, Oil Firm Head, Chokes To Death

HOUSTON (UPI)—Walter W. Fondren Jr., millionaire president of the Fondren Oil Co. and son of a founder of Humble Oil and Refining Co., died Wednesday night when he strangled on food at a hotel.

Fondren, 53, choked while dining with friends. He was taken to a hospital where efforts to revive him failed.

Fondren's father, Walter W. Fondren Sr., was one of nine men who founded the Humble firm in 1917 and became an original director.

Humble prospered and the senior Fondren and his wife became leading philanthropists. After Fondren's death in 1946, Mrs. Fondren established libraries at Rice and Southern Methodist universities in his memory.

Fondren served as chairman of the Fondren Foundation and directed its activities with his mother.

Besides the Fondren library, SMU at Dallas received a $2 million science building, health center and numerous scholarships and lectureships through the Fondren foundation.

The foundation has donated more than $2 million to the Methodist Hospital in the Texas Medical Center in Houston. Other institutions in the medical center to receive gifts were the Institute of Religion and Baylor University School of Medicine.

The foundation also contributed to the Methodist Home for Children at Waco, Tex., Southwestern University at Georgetown, Tex., and Scott College in Nashville, Tenn.

Fondren attended Rice and graduated from the University of Oklahoma. During World War II, he served in the Coast Guard. He was married and had four children.

His son, Walter Fondren III was a football star at the University of Texas in 1956. He received honorable mention in all-American voting as halfback.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Rangers Hunting Slayer Of Girl HONDO, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Rangers and Medina County authorities today hunted for clues in the slaying of a young girl whose skeleton was found Monday in rugged ranch country. She had been missing since last Valentine's Day.

Medina County Sheriff Charles Hitzfelder said the girl has been identified as Carolyn Claudette Covey, 14, an eighth grade Hondo High School student. He said shreds of a pair of red shorts were found with the remains of the body. The girl had been shot twice in the head.

Hitzfelder said positive identification was made from bits of clothing and the girl's teeth. He questioned a 21-year-old oil field worker and gave him a lie detector test. Texas Ranger-John Wood said the oil field worker was released but said the man may be called back in for more questioning.

Lee-Pampa Game Set For Tonight The junior high football game between Robert E. Lee 8th grade and the Pampa Reapers will be played as scheduled tonight at 7:00 despite rumors that the contest would be called off.

Pampa Junior High Principal Phil Paine stated that the game would continue unless there was an abrupt change in the weather.

Rep. Joe Kilgore To Ask 5th Term MCALLEN, Tex. (UPI)—Rep. Joe Kilgore, D-Tex., Wednesday announced his candidacy for reelection from the 15th Congressional District. Kilgore will be seeking his fifth term.

Jefferson County Sheriff Indicted BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—Jefferson County Sheriff C. H. (Charley) Myer was indicted by a grand jury Wednesday on a charge that he declared $2,160 campaign expenses for 1959, when the figure should have been $23,870.

The indictment, returned in the 136th District Court of Judge Harold Clayton, alleged that Myer made the false statement under oath on April 28, 1960.

The $2,160 was the amount of the filing fee for Myer's office. Myer issued a statement after the indictment was returned, calling it "harragsmen."

He said the grand jury, which was recently empaneled by Clayton, acted "for the purpose of defeating the rights and prerogatives of the criminal district court grand jury which has been recognized as our legal and duly constituted grand jury for decades."

"This continued harassment by a group chosen for that purpose defeats all democratic precepts as we know them," Myer charged. "Technicalities are now being perpetrated and serious crimes ignored by a grand jury chosen under doubtful legal conditions."

The action was the latest in a series of legal moves taken against Jefferson County law enforcement officials.

Alcoholic Hides His Own Vice, Expert Asserts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here you have two men, one seeking help, the other eager to give help. But the help-seeker is dead set against revealing what help he really needs, and the would-be helper doesn't really want to find out.

The sad thing is neither is consciously aware of what he is doing. They're both using the psychological and unconscious mechanism of "denial." And that, said Dr. Melvin L. Selzer, a psychiatrist, is a big reason why the "disease" of alcoholism is often undetected and so untreated.

This kind of alcoholic hides his vice from himself as well as from the world. He claims he can "take it or leave it alone." Anyhow, he may say, he drinks only beer. Unconsciously, he sees life as unbearably empty and threatening if it is life without strong drink.

To him there can be no life without alcohol. Unconsciously it is a desperate matter. He has to keep himself convinced that he doesn't really need alcohol. In that way he can believe there is no reason why he should give it up. And so he goes to a physician and itemizes his ailments but omits the real one. The eager professional help-giver may then fuss around with secondary symptoms without ever rooting out their real cause, namely, alcoholism. The doctor, too, is using the "denial" mechanism, Selzer said.

Doctors have long since learned alcoholic patients are frustrating and there's no really good treatment for the "disease," alcoholism. You can understand why "the physician may be loath to discover that one of his patients is alcoholic," Selzer continued.

Selzer is a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan,

Ann Arbor. He was lecturing physicians on the psychiatric quirks of alcoholism—and lamenting that so many people never realize a person is an alcoholic unless he (or she) habitually appears in public, dead drunk.

He granted what is well-known. Occasional heavy drinkers are not necessarily alcoholics and there is full medical treatment for alcoholism. The alcoholic is a tough problem for a doctor but doctors should never permit an alcoholic's "denial mechanism" to prevent them from making the diagnosis.

Physicians should not be thrown off the trail when the alcoholic improved, it said, with a better organization of the system used for channeling national savings, and better distribution of presently available credit.

No Way Found To End Mexico's Credits Problem

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—There is no effective measure to solve Mexico's continuing problem of scarce credits, says the Confederation of National Chambers of Commerce.

The confederation said the problem is an inherent and structural problem of the country's fastly developing economy.

However, the situation could be asserts he is not one because "all I drink is beer." Beer has a low alcoholic content, true, he said, but "individuals may become and remain alcoholic on beer alone."

Improved, it said, with a better organization of the system used for channeling national savings, and better distribution of presently available credit.

Walter Rogers Reports Communist Strategy Will Not Be Changed

The question is asked many times as to whether or not the Communists have changed their strategy or will change their strategy. Strategy is defined as the employment of artifice, intrigue, etc. In the light of this definition, the answer is a resounding NO! However, it is well to note that the Communists have changed their types of strategy or tactics, and can be expected to change these from time to time as circumstances require. Their end purpose, to wit, Communist domination of the world, will not change. However, all of the tricks that can be conceived in the mind of man will be employed or re-employed when they are needed to serve the Communist cause. If this requires a change of position, geographically, politically, or otherwise, such change will be made, but the making of the change must not be misconstrued by those under attack as an indication of repentance or weakness on the part of the Communists. Those people who are presently emerging into the light of independence would do well to walk very carefully and to weigh with great care each and every step they take. Many of these peoples who are former colonies look upon this country as the finest example that could ever be created of an ex-colony. They have looked upon us for leadership and will expect that leadership. However, many of the people in these areas are not familiar with the responsibilities, the burdens, the sacrifices and the problems associated with independence and self-government. Hence, they are sitting ducks in many respects for the entreaties and false promises of the Communists. The Communists realize this and are exploiting it for all it is worth. In fact, this is one of the circumstances that caused the USSR to make a major change in its tactics. Prior to the emergence of these new countries, the Communists had operated primarily on the premise that they must work outward from their home bastion. In other words, move into those countries adjacent to the Communist countries of the USSR and Red China. Korea was an excellent example of this tactic. Laos and Viet Nam have been other examples as has the satellites in Eastern Europe. However, a marked change has been noted by students of the Communist strategy. They have begun to step up at great length their activities in the infiltration of countries and areas separate and apart from their homeland area, separated in most instances by areas of the Western free world or allies of the Western free world. Cuba is an excellent example of this type of diplomacy as is the great changes that have been made in Indonesia in recent months by the Communists. Other examples are many of the countries in Africa, as well as the stepped up efforts in South America. This does not mean that their efforts will be relaxed in the areas immediately surrounding the main Communist stronghold. The same brush fires will be continually maintained, such as Berlin, and the difficulties in the near East countries — Laos, Viet Nam, Quemoy, Matsui, and Formosa.

The prime objective in the European area is to destroy the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, commonly called NATO, of which this country is a member. If the Soviets can mislead Western Germany into withdrawing from NATO, it will have accomplished a great proportion of its purpose. They obviously hope to do this by neutralizing Germany with any and all agreements or promises necessary to accomplish this result. Once neutrality has been accomplished, both East and West Germany will be taken into the Red orbit by force or otherwise. It also hopes to so infiltrate Italy as to force withdrawal of that country from NATO and further weaken the organization and undermine world confidence in the power and leadership of the United States. England also will come in for internal attacks in the nature of disarmament demands on the part of Communists and Communist fellow travelers who have infiltrated the British Isles.

Much more could be said on this subject, but the main objective is to point up the continuing danger and the great need for constant alertness by all Americans and all those who look forward to freedom and a better way of life.

Visitors from the Panhandle this week to the Nation's Capital were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fowler of Dumas, Texas, and Miss Karen Hubbard of Pampa.

TV Show Stars Ordered Not To Do Parachuting

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ken

Curtis is one actor who won't take a director's word for the effect of a scene and jumped out of an airplane to prove it.

Curtis and Larry Pennell co-star in the "Ripcord" TV series about two guys who go around parachuting out of airplanes for a price.

Most of the time they use parachuting stunt men as doubles, but Curtis decided to get the feel of falling through space by personally trying a jump. Larry agreed and they took instructions on how to jump out of a plane without breaking any bones.

"If we're going to do a show like this, we ought to know what it's about," Ken said. "I wanted to jump first, but Larry did. I was more nervous watching him come down than I was about my own jump."

Curtis and Pennell went up in an airplane and bailed out after reaching 3,000 feet. That's when the studio roof caved in and the series brass headed for their phones.

"We only jumped once," Curtis said. "Then the studio jumped on us and made us stop."

Curtis does all his own fighting and other rugged stunts in the show, except the now forbidden jumping.

"I've done mostly westerns and was raised on a ranch where we rode bucking horses and bulls," he said.

Compared to those activities, parachuting was "a new sensation to me," he added.

The fact that Ken jumped at all is unusual. In a business where actors often have a "double ride their horse," it's rare that somebody jumps out of an airplane.

That's partially the reason Curtis wanted to take his big leap.

"This gave us the satisfaction of doing something the people wouldn't think an actor would do," he said.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

In a sun-filled, paneled conference room in Bonn in mid-September, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer held one of his comparatively rare news conferences.

It was the end of a bitterly fought national election campaign in which the 85-year-old chancellor had demanded that German voters return him and his Christian Democratic party to office with a clear majority as proof of West German solidarity against the threats of Russia.

He said he wanted no coalition government because such a government always must compromise, always play the role of beggar in carrying out any legislative program.

This week a new German government with Adenauer at its head is expected to take office under exactly the conditions Adenauer described.

It will be a coalition of the Christian Democrats and the Free Democrats of handsome, war-hero Erich Mende.

With their 66 seats in the new West German Bundestag, the Free Democrats emerged from the elections holding the balance of power, able to form a majority government by union either with the Socialists or the CDU.

As his price for permitting Adenauer to remain in office, Mende drove a hard bargain.

Five of the 18 ministries in the new cabinet, a "coalition committee" to clear in advance all major domestic or foreign policy decisions, and a promise in writing from Adenauer that he will resign before the end of his normal four-year term.

Such were the conditions that the coalition was in trouble even before it began to function as a government.

The campaign demonstrated that between Adenauer and Mende's Free Democrats deep differences existed and were not likely to be patched over easily now.

Chief among them was the charge of the Free Democrats that Adenauer's unyielding hard line against the Soviets had only deepened the split between the two Germanies and made the Russians more stubborn.

Settlement of the German problem, they maintained, depended upon a more moderate approach free of threats.

To this end, they would establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union's East European satellites, labor to keep communications lines open to East Germany and seek a settlement with Poland over the disputed territories beyond the Oder-Niesse.

But, Adenauer cannot afford altogether to ignore the wishes of his coalition partners who might not wait until 1963 to topple him.

Waiting in the wings is Ludwig Erhard, the man already selected and agreed upon as his successor, a man Adenauer regards as not tough enough or enough of a politician for these perilous times.

Industry Needs Profits Upturn, Oilmen Are Told

HOUSTON (UPI) — Richard Wagner, president of the United States Petroleum Association, says that corporate profits must take a turn upward if the nation is to achieve a sound economic expansion.

In a speech at the closing session of the 32nd annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, Wagner said taxes are holding down corporate earnings while inflation increases at the same time.

Monday Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said the government will cut oil imports when new quotas are announced in about two weeks.

Udall, in a letter to IPAA President Alvin C. Hope said the oil import administration which he heads has recommended a change for the presidential proclamation regulating imports.

The new proclamation is scheduled for issuance about Nov. 15. Wagner said "corporate earnings after taxes in 1950 were $22.8 billion — exactly the same as they were last year — yet in the same decade we experienced inflation of 27 per cent."

The producers Monday heard Sen. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico say that the initial report of his committee's long-anticipated national fuels policy study would be made to the Congress around Feb. 1.

He said the study was necessary so this country could "scrutinize every factor that enters into our ability to maintain and improve our strength."

Humble Company To Close Pampa Office In 1962

The Pampa district office of Humble Oil & Refining Company will be closed about the middle of next year, it was announced today by John J. Mullane, area manager for Humble in Oklahoma City.

Closing of the company's office in Pampa is part of a plan of consolidation of the company's district office organization in Humble's Oklahoma City area, Mullane said. The plan involves closing other Humble district offices at Seminole, Purcell, Shawnee and Elk City, Okla., Liberal, Wichita and Great Bend, Kans.

All exploration and production operations formerly handled by the above district organizations will be consolidated at enlarged district offices located at Ardmore and Enid, Okla., and Amarillo, Humble now maintains district offices at Ardmore and Amarillo. However, the Enid district organization will be a new one. Humble's district office at Fort Smith, Ark., will remain intact under the company's reorganization plans.

Mullane said that the actual reorganization plan, including reassignment of district office personnel, will not be accomplished until the middle part of 1962.

"The high degree of competition in the oil industry demands maximum effort towards improved efficiency and economy of operation," Mullane said. "In announcing these consolidation plans, it is our intent to continue to maintain a strong competitive position in the oil industry in the geographical territory coordinated by our Oklahoma City area organization."

In connection with the announcement of the consolidation plans, Mullane said: "It is with regret that we announce the closing of some of our district offices in the Oklahoma City area. Our company has been a corporate citizen of these communities for many years and our employees in the cities involved have been active participants in local civic and community life."

The 50 Humble employees in the Pampa district were advised of the company's consolidation plans yesterday afternoon by Russell M. Lilly, district superintendent.

Lilly said it was anticipated that only 17 or 18 families in Pampa would be affected by the move. The district manager also stated a field office would be maintained in Pampa.

Workers in the Pampa district office are residents of Pampa, Spearman, Perryton, Follett and Darroutzett, Lilly stated.

The transfer of the district office operation from Pampa to Amarillo will not entail any layoffs, Lilly stated.

Lilly and J. L. Rogers, Oklahoma City area production manager, also called a meeting of Chamber of Commerce officials and newsmen yesterday afternoon and notified them of the decision.

Chamber of Commerce officials acted immediately to urge Humble officials in Oklahoma City to reconsider the decision to move the district office, which has been located in Pampa for 35 years.

A telegram was sent to Area Manager Mullane who made the announcement today. It was signed by Gordon Lyons, chamber manager, and requested serious reconsideration of the decision to move.

District Manager Lilly added this statement: "We feel that our company and its local employees have developed many good friends in Pampa over the years and these local friendships and the warmth with which our company has always been treated here makes moves of this nature doubly difficult. "Many of our field operations employees will continue to live in Pampa and the surrounding area after the local district office has been closed sometime next year," Lilly continued. "He added, "Generally speaking, local office personnel will be the ones most directly affected by the consolidation plans."

BROKEN BOTTLES: "TRIPLE THREAT" ON OUR HIGHWAYS A triple threat on the football field is fine, but a triple threat on the highway spells trouble. Broken bottles are the "triple threat" of our highways. They are accident hazards to traffic; they injure people who step on them; they start costly and dangerous roadside grass fires. The dangers of the triple threat increase during the football season. The Texas Highway Department asks Texas travelers to dispose of bottles in proper containers. Help keep the "triple threat" on the gridiron—not on the highway.

Pampan Unhurt In Accident On Amarillo Road

AMARILLO (UPI)—W. I. Sowell, an elderly Negro night watchman for the Santa Fe Railroad, was killed Wednesday in the last of a series of traffic accidents which became related by circumstances.

Sowell's car was hit by an automobile containing Billy Confer, an Amarillo policeman, and an ambulance driver. Confer suffered chest injuries and was listed in good condition.

Two previous traffic mishaps, injuring five other persons, led up to the fatal accident.

The first occurred east of the city on U. S. 60-66, when a car driven by Charles H. James, 26, of Hereford, Tex., skidded off the highway and hit the rear of a car driven by Gene M. Shelhammer, 19, of Pampa, Tex. Shelhammer was not hurt.

Another car, traveling the opposite direction, hit the James' car head-on. Injured in the accident were James, his wife, Peggy, 22; Mrs. Nina McLain, 38, of Amarillo and Charles Bowles, whose age and address were not immediately learned.

Two ambulances took the injured to an Amarillo hospital and while they were there another accident occurred.

Clarence Logan, a Houston Negro, was injured when he stepped out from behind a truck.

Patrolman Confer and the ambulance driver left the hospital in a private car to go to the spot where additional ambulances were kept, so that an ambulance could be set to pick up Logan.

Their car collided with the taxi, killing Sowell.

Folkes, Charlie Wilkinson, Gene Swain, Gilbert Mize, C. W. Foote and Gene Atkinson.

PARKED PUP — Scottish terrier Timi McTavish may not be a watchdog but has a pretty good portable parking meter. When he feels that his master, Curt S. Taylor of Columbus, Ohio, has left him parked in the car long enough, 6-month-old Timi leans on the horn. He keeps blowing till Taylor returns.

Together Again

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — For the fourth time Doris Day and Gig Young are teaming up and co-starring in Universal-International's "Touch of Mink."

Their first film together was "Young at Heart," produced in 1954. Warner Brothers plans to make a re-release of this at an early date.

Glazed Pork Roast Claims High Honors

Specialties on the dinner table are well received this season. Dress a center cut pork loin roast in elegant style with a pineapple-applesauce glaze, and decorate the platter with sugar frosted grapes. It's an exquisite serving for a special occasion.

MENU

- Pork Loin Roast
- Pineapple-Applesauce Glaze
- Broiled Sweet Potato Slices
- Brussels Sprouts
- Green Vegetable Salad
- Corn Sticks
- Pumpkin Pie
- Coffee
- Tea
- Milk

Use a pork meat thermometer, if possible. This will assure you that the roast is cooked well. The thermometer is in the center done. Make sure the bulb of the thermometer is in the center of the thickest portion of the roast and is not resting in fat or on bone.

Never cover the roast and do not add water. A pork roast should be cooked in an internal temperature of 185 degrees F. You can estimate the cooking time by allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a center cut loin roast. The end roasts require 45 to 50 minutes per pound.

The fruit glaze is easy to prepare and spread on the roast.

PINEAPPLE-APPLESAUCE GLAZE
 1/4 cup applesauce
 1/4 cup pineapple preserves
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon lemon rind

Combine all ingredients. Spread mixture over roast 1/2 hour before it is done. Return roast to oven and continue cooking until meat is done and glaze is set.

The carving task will be much simpler if, when you purchase the roast, you ask the meat retailer to loosen the backbone from the rib side. After roasting it can be quickly removed before placing the meat on the platter. The carving can be easily done between the ribs.

For the pretty frosted grapes, use the seedless, light green variety and break them into small clusters. Beat 1 or 2 egg whites until foamy. Dip the grapes into the egg whites and coat with granulated sugar. Then chill. It is a delectable garnish that will dress up any meat platter.

glaze, with pineapple preserves and lemon. The elegant pork roast is a center cut loin roast. It's the easiest of the pork loin roasts to carve.

If you're penny wise, you'll also want to choose either of the end roasts... the sirloin roast end of the loin or the blade loin roast from the shoulder end.

A slimmer dress is seen on pork these days. The fat covering is being trimmed, and producers are marketing leaner hogs. This means you are getting a neater and more compact pork roast with more meat per pound.

To bring out the fine flavor of the pork, roast it in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Place the meat fat side up in an open roasting pan. Be sure the roast is resting on a rack, so it will not cook in the drippings.

The picture of the All-American girl as vivacious, sports-loving, good food-loving is fast fading from the national scene. In its place is cast a girl who listens to a combo, whose swimming is strictly pool-side, whose food ways are foolish... a girl who acts bored and narrows her interests. Scientific reports say she is not physically fit.

Food Page

Vivacious, All-American Girl Must Select Nutritious Food For Energy

A recent Journal of the American Medical Association carried such a report. It told how girls in Philadelphia failed to check out in fitness against girls in Stockholm. Other scientific journals carry similar stories: American girls suffer by comparison — at least in fitness — with the English, Welsh, and Scotch.

Liver Excels In Nutrition, Flavor

The preparation of this French-Style Liver recipe is very easy. You've no doubt, prepared fried liver and bacon... this is very similar. A coating of French dressing makes the difference.

The sliced liver is dipped in French dressing, then coated with flour which has been seasoned with salt, pepper and a hint of garlic salt.

Cooking time for this liver dish is very short. The flour-coated liver is panfried slowly in lard or drippings just until it is nicely browned on both sides.

FRENCH-STYLE LIVER
 1-pound sliced liver
 1-3 cup French dressing
 2-3 cup enriched flour
 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 3 tablespoons lard or drippings

Dip liver slices in French dressing. Combine flour, garlic salt, salt and pepper. Dredge liver in seasoned flour. Cook slowly in lard or drippings until well browned. Turn and brown on second side. 4 servings.

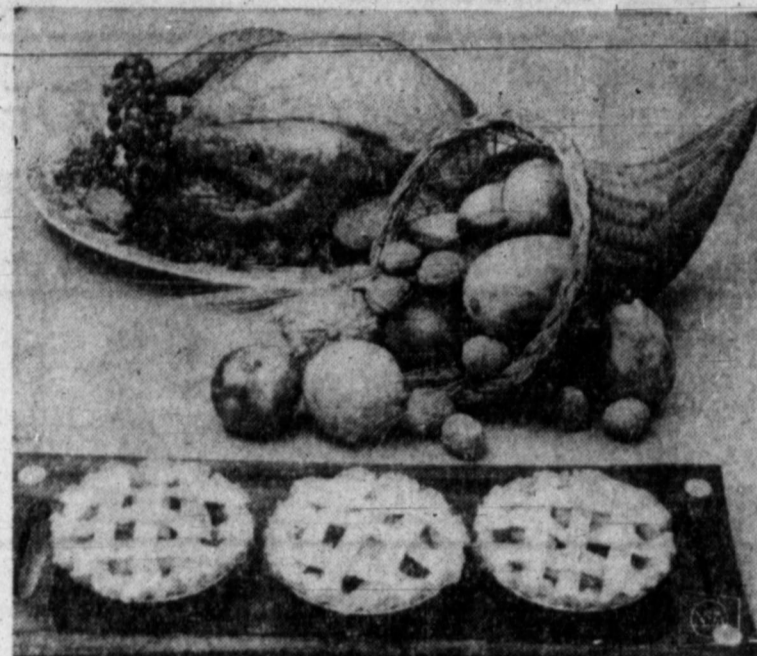

Fitness is as inseparable from total health as good food. Physical conditioning tones muscle, increases power efficiency, and endurance... makes ordinary daily activities a breeze. And conditioning continued day after day, streamlines the body, strikes at overweight. It protects against coronary heart disease, too.

Automated living is producing a nation of hungry girls. Hungry, because their sit-and-watch ways compel them to cut down on food to keep from gaining weight. Inactive, because they do not eat enough to give them energy. To get up and go, they must carefully select nutrient-rich foods: Enriched and whole grain bread and cereal, fruits and vegetables, milk or cheese, meat or an alternate. Studies show they do not.

To recapture a picture envied world-wide, to become the All-American girl she would like to be, the teen ager has to bring into focus three angles of good living. She has to practice good food habits, develop everyday habits of physical activity, gain a zest for living.

A paisley print and nylon jersey are combined to make a dress that's the ideal traveler for fall. Packs like a dream with never a wrinkle.

Cranberry-Apple Tarts Make Great Dessert

CRANBERRIES are a versatile item on the Thanksgiving menu. Here, they appear in lattice cranberry-apple tarts.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 Newspaper Enterprise Food & Markets Editor

From the time of the clipper ships right down to our jet planes days, cranberries have been a rich red part of the American tradition.

Of course the clipper ship sailors, who kept casks of raw cranberries on deck for ready eating while long at sea, knew nothing of their contents of vitamins A and C. But they did know that eating plenty of cranberries kept them healthy and scurvy-free. Over the years we have pampered and cultivated the berry to a shining plump perfection vastly superior in quality to the small, sharp and early wild kind munched on those lengthy voyages.

Cranberries can appear at any time during the gala Thanksgiving feast—as an appetizer (cranberry juice cocktail, spicy with clove and cinnamon and the tang of added citrus juice), or in the turkey stuffing (fresh cranberries, celery, parsley and seasoning and bread crumbs), or combined happily with apples (cranberry apple tarts, or cranberry apple shot-cake).

FRESH CRANBERRY-APPLE TARTS
 (Yield: 6 tarts)

Two cups (1/2-pound) fresh raw cranberries, 4 cups (4 medium) diced tart, peeled apples; 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup water, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 6 teaspoons butter or margarine, pastry, using 3 cups flour.

Wash cranberries and mix with apples, sugar, salt and water in a saucepan. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Stir in tapioca and cool. Add pure vanilla extract. Turn into six 5-inch tart pans lined with unbaked pastry. Dot each with 1 teaspoon butter or margarine. Roll 1/2 of the remaining pastry at a time 1/4-inch thick. Cut into strips 1/2-inch wide. Arrange over top of tarts, interlacing to form a lattice. Bake in a preheated hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Tea time pets will be these Pink Poodle Doughnuts. Atop and between halved doughnuts (cut crosswise) is a rosy cloud of meringue made from 1 stiffly beaten egg white combined with 1/2 cup jellied cranberry sauce and beaten to a stiff foam. Shredded coconut is sprinkled over the top and the pretty doughnuts are ushered to the oven for 5 minutes of heating at 400 degrees F., just long enough to brown the coconut.

To make your teeth sparkle, brush them occasionally with baking soda. Just moisten your toothbrush with water, then scoop up the soda on the brush and clean your teeth in the usual manner.

Cranberry Sauce With Pork Chops

Pork chops really need no gilding, but sauces toppings are always a welcome variation.

Such a topping is cranberry sauce.

Scrumptious Leftovers In Miroton Of Beef

Here's a scrumptious way to serve leftover beef roast. Secondary dishes should have a character of their own, rather than becoming merely a warmed-over version of the original roast.

Miroton of Beef calls for slices or julienne-style cooked beef. It's heated in a delicious sauce with mushrooms and onions, then served on rice. Miroton is a French word which means slices of meat reheated with onions in a sauce.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, reminds you to store cooked meat in the coldest part of your refrigerator, closely covered to prevent drying.

MIROTON OF BEEF
 6 slices 1/2 inch thick or 2 cups julienne-style cooked roast beef

- 1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 2 teaspoon flour
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- 1 bouillon cube
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tablespoon catchup
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Cooked rice, if desired
 Cook mushrooms in butter or margarine 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove mushrooms from frying pan and reserve. Brown onion lightly in drippings. Add vinegar. Combine flour and thyme and add to onion, stirring well. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water. Add gradually to onion mixture, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in catchup, salt, pepper, parsley and cooked mushrooms. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Place slices or strips of roast beef in sauce, spooning sauce over meat. Cover tightly and simmer 5 minutes or until meat is thoroughly heated. Serve on cooked rice, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

Sesame Seeds Add Crispness

Here is a new cookie recipe that's certain to be a favorite of young and old alike. They are little round chocolate morsels with a hint of almond flavoring. The outside is covered with tasty sesame seeds.

- SESAME SEED CRISPS
 2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup cocoa
 1/4 cup lard
 1 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 1/2 cup sesame seeds

Sift together flour, soda, salt and cocoa. Cream lard and sugar. Beat in eggs, vanilla and almond extract. Add sifted ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Shape into balls, using 1 rounded teaspoon of dough for each. Roll balls in sesame seeds. Place on cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

If you have a concrete floor in your basement, place a rubber mat in front of the fuse box to prevent shocks when replacing a burned-out fuse.

Only One Pan And One Interruption Needed In Home-Baked Beans Recipe

Home-baked beans, from start to finish in 2 hours, involve only one pan and one interruption: that of stirring in certain characteristic "finishing" seasonings near end of baking.

- QUICK BAKED BEANS
 Combine in 1 1/2 qt casserole:
 1 package UNCLE BEN'S Quick-Cooking Navy Beans
 3/4-1 lb. salt pork (gashed and scalded; or use other preferred pork seasoning)
 1 onion (cut or chopped)
 Black pepper
 4 cups cold water
 Stir and cover tightly. Bake in preheated 300-degree oven until beans are slightly underdone, about 1 1/2 hours. Then remove, re-setting oven for 450 degrees. To finish as New England Style Beans, stir in:
 1/4 cup molasses
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 Or for Barbecue Style Beans, stir in mixture of:
 1/2 cup catsup
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 2 tablespoons Worcestershire
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 Garlic, cayenne, smoke flavoring (optional)
 Next, pour over (either style) and stir well:
 Boiling water (to cover beans)
 Salt to taste
 Return and bake (uncovered) in 450 degree oven 30 minutes, or until beans are tender and browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cherry Blossom Time

Cherry blossom time is any time... when you serve this mouth-watering Cherry Walnut Pie. It's as delicious as it looks here, and there's hardly any work involved. Sour red cherries and chopped walnuts are combined in black cherry-flavored gelatin flavored with a speck of cinnamon. An added garnish of sweetened whipped cream suggests cherry blossoms, to complete a timely dessert with real Spring-time appeal.

- Cherry Walnut Pie
 1 package (3 ounces) black cherry-flavored gelatin
 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 cup sugar
 1 cup hot water
 Cherry juice and water to make 3/4 cup
 1 can (20 ounces) sour red pie cherries, drained
 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Mix gelatin and cinnamon. Add sugar and dissolve in hot water. Add cherry juice and water. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cherries and nuts. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the officials here this week, at least one insisted today that census figures were his assurance of growth.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House, the other afternoon at his state-size ranch outside Poteau, Okla., Sen. Robert S. Kerr told his house guest, President Kennedy, a story about conditions in the beef cattle industry a few years ago.

Not to denigrate Kerr's cattle-raising acumen, even the President conceded rather humbly that the senator's success could not be duplicated precisely in other comparative waste lands.

U.S. Income Tax Relief Based On State's Sales Levy Outlined

DALLAS (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service today told Texans how much they can deduct on their 1961 income tax reports because of the state's new-sales tax.

Soviet Flooding Oil Mart, Says IPAA Statement

HOUSTON (UPI)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America said this week Russian oil production has more than doubled in the past five years and much of this production is being used to flood the world market with cut-rate oil.

The IPAA said in a statement at its closing session that Russia is moving quickly into the world oil market and threatening "our position of energy supremacy."

The Soviet Union now exports on terms which effectively eliminates competition from commercial enterprises," the IPAA said.

As an example, it said Russia is selling oil to Italy at about 75 cents per barrel, which is equal to royalties and taxes on the cheapest Middle East crude.

On the other hand, IPAA said in areas where Russian oil has eliminated competition, such as Finland, their prices are at a level with world prices. And in satellite nations such as Poland and Czechoslovakia, the association said the Russians make bloc countries pay twice the world price.

IPAA said the growing intrusion of Russian oil into world markets "is a threat to the economies, the joint security and the very existence of free world nations."

It urged the government to exert its influence through trade policies and foreign aid "to halt and reverse this use of oil to advance the Soviet plan for world domination."

In another statement on imports, the association also urged a reduction in crude imports to strengthen the domestic petroleum which has "become static and unhealthy."

Sales tax deductions range from $3 for a person with an income of less than $1,000 to $28 for a person with an income of $20,000. The listed deductions will not be challenged.

An IRS analysis of spending by Texas consumers shows a person with an annual income of $5,000 will have made sales tax payments of $11 from the time the levy took effect on Sept. 1 through Dec. 31.

The table of deductions covers only the last four months of 1961. A new list estimating sales tax payments for an entire year will be issued for 1962.

If taxpayers deduct the amount listed on the sales tax table, they will not have to keep records of their tax payments. But persons who believe they have spent more will be required to maintain their own records and be able to prove it.

In addition to deductions for the sales tax, Texans also may continue to deduct the 5-cent-per-gallon state gasoline tax and the 8-cent-a-pack levy on cigarettes.

Persons who use the standard 10 per cent deduction on their federal income tax forms will not be entitled to deduct state sales tax payments.

It's the Law!

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—The state of Washington must believe it's more seemly to drink beer than to drink hard liquor.

Taverns which are limited to the sale of beer, must be open to the street so passerby can see in, but cocktail bars, which may serve mixed drinks, must be shielded from the street so nobody can view the proceedings.

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I am in my mid-30s and have just acquired my first pair of glasses. Now, I find that my hats look very strange. They're all wrong somehow. And when I wear earrings, too, I look overdecorated. Can you give me some advice on this? My frames are really very pretty; they are ice blue. My hair is brown and my skin is fair. — R. L.

Dear R. L.: If you think of your glasses as a piece of costume jewelry, you'll find that the problem immediately begins to solve itself. Glasses are shiny and they add color. Therefore, you must be very careful to eliminate fussy earrings or any glitter near your face. As for the hats, this what a top New York designer, Miss May, has to say:

"The hat silhouette that is right for you happens also to be in fashion this fall. It is simple and uncluttered. For casual wear, the tall cloche with a tiny, controlled brim is ideal. Not only does it frame the face, but it also draws attention away from the glasses and toward the top of the head. For more dressy wear, the new back-of-the-head cap fashions that stress slight height at the front also make glasses less conspicuous by focusing attention on taller crown. For blue frames, try the lagoon blues in millinery. They are a blending of blue - greens and should prove a perfect foil for blue frames."

Remember that your party isn't going to be any more fun than the guests, themselves. Plan your guest list carefully.

Dame Fashion Provides Pretty Shelter From Romantic Fallout. Say, Star Dust

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Now Dame Fashion can have a personal shelter to protect her from romantic fallout—say, star dust. Designer Cecil Chapman gets credit for the pleasant shelter—a chiffon-topping fashioned like a short jacket, a billow cape or modified toga. It's to be worn over strapless cocktail dresses. The shelter was one new twist in the Chapman collection for spring, 1961. The collection, seen today, was full of sultry and alluring things.

Inspiration From Nile
Miss Chapman drew on the Nile for major inspiration, calling her collection "Daughters of the Nile." She carried the Egyptian theme to such extremes that even the little black dress was renamed "the kohl black dress."
Kohl was the stuff Egyptian women used to blacken their eyes.

For females preferring more warmth and opaque qualities, designer Chapman topped some strapless chiffon cocktail dresses with suede shelters.

Most seen in the collection was the chiffon dress—draped, twisted and wrapped about the body at most mummy fashion. Colors ranged from citrus orange and yellow to Nile green.

Tight-Fitting Dresses
Cocktail and evening dresses feature the dress sans straps with figure-hugging underskirts topped by flowing chiffon panels.

The floor-length versions leaned to long and narrow skirts—some so narrow they had to be slit to allow models wearing them walking room.

Faded floral wallpaper also inspired Miss Chapman. She showed a number of white chiffon prints featuring pale roses—some 5 to 10 times bigger than the real flowers.

"What's Cooking?"

Unnerving Question

Should high school boys take courses in home economics right along with the girls?

A home economist who is beating the drums for togetherness in cooking and home management classes claims that because men are participating more and more in homemaking activities they ought to get the same kind of training available to girls.

Suppose we did make high school home economics courses coeducational (and there have been instances). Then what?

Then the wives of the future would lose the one area in life in which women have always been able to feel superior to men—the area of homemaking.

Where is the housewife's job satisfaction going to come from if her husband knows just as much about meal planning as she does, if his cakes are lighter than hers, or if he can get a meal on the table just as fast as she can?

When housewives complain that their husbands can't fry an egg without getting every dish in the kitchen dirty, or if left to fend for themselves would be living in complete chaos, or couldn't iron a shirt if their lives depended on it—the wives aren't really complaining. They are bragging—building up their own egos.

What they are really saying is, "This husband of mine may be a brilliant, successful man—but all the same he couldn't get along without me to keep the home running smoothly, to take care of the thousand and one things that require a woman's touch."

Dependent as she is on her husband's bringing home the bacon, a wife doesn't want to think that her husband can also cook it every bit as well as she can.

When her husband says, "Boy, that was a good meal!" she doesn't want him to add—even in his thoughts, "almost as good as I could have turned out myself."

What a wife wants is for homemaking to be enough of a mystery to her husband so that she can always tell herself, "I don't know what he would ever do without me."

Even the best of homemakers can pick up tips from "How To Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o (Pampa News), P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Importing British Secretaries Poses Threat To United States "Gals Friday"

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—When there's time to knit a brow, the "Gals Friday" in Manhattan worry a bit about the threat of being replaced by the British secretary.

Some bosses have shown a preference for our English cousins. The battle for a secretary of any kind being intense, the threat isn't one a Yankee doodle office girl brushes aside.

Now along comes Ellen R. Timmons, president of the New York City chapter of the National Secretaries Association (NSA), to describe the NSA's strategy in dealing with the threat.

Miss Timmons, a Canadian who labors in New York, said in an interview that no move will be made to prevent the British girls from landing.

Room For One More
"There's always room in New York for one more good secretary—be she from Podunk or London," Miss Timmons said.

It sounds like treason, but what the NSA plans to do is establish a beach-head in England.

You see, the NSA is international already. It has units in Canada, Mexico, Finland. And there's talk of a branch springing up in Australia.

Miss Timmons did some spade work there last summer.

"England definitely is on your list of nations to recruit to the cause of improving the secretarial profession," Miss Timmons said.

"We have feelers out also in Switzerland, Germany and other nations on the Continent. The more secretaries we can enlist, the better."

Qualifications Are High
Miss Timmons is personnel director and secretarial supervisor for Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas, an engineering firm.

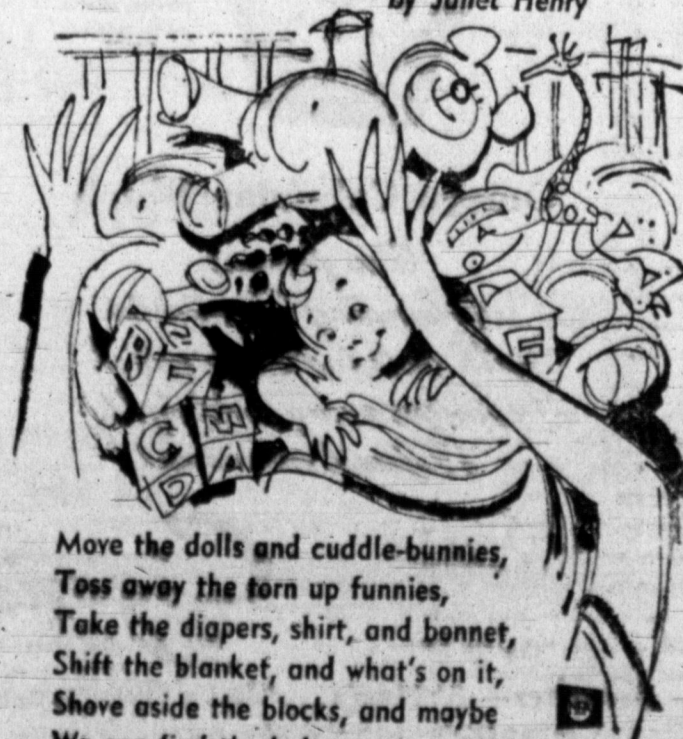

She's been a secretary for 33 years, working in Winnipeg, Manitoba; Washington, D.C.; Australia and New York.

She said the goal of the NSA is to elevate the standard of secretarial performance by uniting women who are engaged in the secretarial profession.

Qualifications for membership include unquestionable character and integrity, secretarial training and at least two years of experience.

Take It From Kathy

 Q — All the other sophomores attend dances and basketball games, but my parents have restricted me because of grades. I'm not stupid, I used to get all A's and B's. My marks would be better now, if I had more freedom. I waste as much time daydreaming and watching TV as I would at a game or a dance. Shy won't my dad and mother understand this — K D.

A — You're traveling in a circular rut that leads to more and grander daydreams, followed by poorer marks. Next, more restrictions and so — more unhappiness. You need a plan that will really work, so that life will be more fun and you won't need these imaginary jaunts. You're not in grammar school.
 If you expect to learn everything in class, you are lost. Skipping assignments means it is impossible to do homework in spite of good intentions, and NO teacher will give you top grades.
 Paris shows swirling, flared skirts that look like skating skirts but are meant for daytime wear.

The round of holiday festivities is not so far off. It's the time to look your prettiest and advance planning will take care of this. In combing out your set before a party, use a heavy comb (left) with coarse teeth in order not to break or split hair ends. Give your face a thorough cleansing (center) before you apply make-up for the evening. Tell your escort in advance your color preference in flowers. Both color and arrangement should be suited (right) to the dress you're wearing. So it's quite in order to drop some broad hints as to what you would like.

Miss Jones Feted With Bride's Party

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Sharon Jones, bride-elect of Melvin (Tobe) Britten, was complimented at a miscellaneous shower on Monday evening, in the home of Mrs. C. L. Culver.
 Hostesses were Meses. Joe Davis, Eldred James, Thelma Pool, Truett Fields, Max Wade, Carl Homer, Ruby Denton, Clarence Merrick, Ernest Lewil, Max Ray Faulkner, Cecil Culver and Misses Beulah Shockley, Mary Ann Britten, Marie Bohr and Susie Smith.
 Appointed with a white linen cloth, the serving table was centered with a lavender vase filled with lavender and purple chrysanthemums, which carried out the bride's chosen colors of lavender and purple.
 Mrs. Ernest Lewil registered guests, Miss Susie Smith and Miss Frances Denton presided at the coffee and punch service.
 Miss Jones; her mother, Mrs. L. C. Jones; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Josephine Britten, were presented with corsages of carnations.
 Approximately 80 guests called during the entertaining hours from 6:30 to 9:30.

Plan Now For Holiday Appearance At Parties

ALICIA HART
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 To look pretty is the goal of nearly every woman, particularly when the gay festivities of the holiday season approach. And since most of us realize that good looks are more often the result of planning than the gift of nature, there's still time to make the dream come true.
 First, take a look at your figure. Is it less than perfect? Then exercise now. Your exercise routine need not be a strenuous one. Use the bending and stretching combinations that will best trim down your own bumpy spots, and do them daily.
 Watch your food, too. You won't have to starve yourself. Count your caloric intake. Let your common sense and the vision of the dress you'd love to wear dictate a high protein diet.
 Get busy on hair care. Have your hair professionally cut, and styled to suit you best. Shampoo and brush it frequently to give it life and luster.

 Master the art of setting your hair with large rollers, so that an invitation to a holiday party won't throw you into a tizzy.
 When you comb out your hair after a setting, use a heavy comb with coarse teeth, so that you won't break or split hair ends.
 Skin care, too, is most important. Your face should be thoroughly cleansed two or three times every day, and certainly each time before you apply fresh make-up.
 To look your best when you dress for a holiday party, take advantage of the colorful new eye make-up. Your eyes can do more for your appearance than any other feature. So whether you key your eye liner and shadow to your costume or the shade of your eyes, do your dramatic best with them.
 Decide ahead just what you are going to wear, from underpinnings to jewelry, and try them all on together before the big event.
 Give yourself plenty of time for a relaxing bath, and don't start to dress so late that you have to rush the job. You'll leave for the party feeling half put together, and the uncertainty will rob you of poise.
 The wise girl will tell her escort the color of her costume so that when he sends her flowers for the evening, they will be right for her dress.
 All told, the secret of beauty is good grooming. And the secret of good grooming is planning. So now, while there are still weeks in which to get ready, why not "plan" yourself the sleek appearance you've just dreamed of in past holiday seasons?

Dear Abby....

Army Man Makes Excellent Husband
 By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I can't decide which man I want to marry. One is a car salesman, very good-looking, a year younger than I am, and likes to make me jealous. The other is an Army man, not very "pretty," but very strong and masculine, two years older than I am, tries to please me.
 B. J. FROM N. C.

DEAR B. J.: Marry the Army man. He can cook, sew, make beds, is in perfect health, and knows how to take orders.

DEAR ABBY: We own our home and have a lot of money invested in it, so moving is out of the question. Our problem is next door. For years there was an old boarded-up shack next door to us. Some people bought it and have started to fix it up themselves. Instead of working on it during the daytime, they work on it all night. At twelve o'clock midnight they start in with the electric saw. At two in the morning they are mixing concrete. My husband works days and has to get his sleep at night. Last week we took our bedding out to the garage and slept in our car. Don't suggest talking to them because we don't know what language they speak, but it isn't English. Is there a peaceful solution?

PEACE LOVING NEIGHBORS
 DEAR NEIGHBORS: Go next door and try to communicate with them. Surely they will comprehend enough English to understand what your complaint is. If they are unable (or unwilling) to receive your message, ask your local police to help you get it across to them.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from "Needs Advice," who wrote that her 4-year-old son had become terribly attached to a cuddly doll, and refused to go to sleep without it. Maybe she could adopt our solution to the problem.
 Last winter our nearly 5-year-old daughter showed no signs of ever parting with her tattered old doll blanket. After we finished our Christmas shopping, she saw a large toy stagecoach she wanted very much. I suggested that perhaps Santa would be willing to trade the stagecoach for her blanket, as he could use it to keep Rudolph warm. She thought it over for several days, wanting both. Before she went to bed Christmas eve, she put her little blanket under the tree. The next morning she was delighted with her stagecoach. She apparently has never missed her blanket because she never mentioned it again.

Inside The Huddle

By Joe Lee Smith

Went out to the football coaches office Tuesday and arrived in time to receive a full-fledged educational program on what these mentors do each day in preparation for a session on the gridirons.

All of the Pampa High coaches—Weldon Trice, Eural Ramsey, Deck Woldt, Norman Phillips and Dwain Lyon—were there. They were going over a schedule of events for the practice session and what type of plays to prepare for the game Friday and the defense to use against Lubbock's Westerners.

But their work starts early in the morning with a review of the opponent's game film and diagramming of offensive and defensive plays.

Then they go to the practice field where almost everyone not associated with the coaches believes that the day actually begins.

Thursday nights are spent in last minute preparation. Then comes Friday—the day when all the planning and preparation either goes astray or according to plan.

Saturday morning is the time for rehearsing the game and Sunday the men are back on the job preparing for next week's battle.

Donnie Anderson, the great Stinnett halfback of 1960, leads the Texas Tech freshmen grid-ders in four departments including rushing with a 5.5 average on 23 carries.

Tech's Fresh plays Rice Saturday at Houston. The Owlets have a former class A all-state back of their own who has been doing real well. He is Russell Wyatt of White Oak. Wyatt is one of the SWC leading freshman ground gainer with 190 yards in two games. But he twisted his ankle severely in the third period against Texas and is a doubtful starter against the Picadors.

Groom And Wheeler To Vie Friday

GROOM (Spl) — The Groom Tigers and the Wheeler Mustangs play here Friday night at 7:30 to decide the district 1-B grid championship.

Both clubs are undefeated in district competition but Groom leads with a perfect record while Wheeler has a tie to mar its log.

Coach Dwaine Currie's Tigers came through a rugged non-conference card with a 2-3 record and with the three straight wins in 1-B play. The Bengals stand 3-3 on the season.

The Tigers, defending district champions, have triumphs over Clarendon 12-6 and Panhandle 12-0 in non-conference battles and have scored wins over Fritch 34-8, Claude 37-9 and Follett 34-5 in district action.

Wheeler lost all five non-conference games; but the Mustangs opened district play with a starting 24-8 upset of previously undefeated Follett. Since then they have topped Fritch 28-6 and were tied by Textline last Friday 14-14.

Currie will have one starter missing from the line-up against Wheeler. He is end Jimmy Conrad, who has been out for several weeks, due to a knee injury.

The Tiger mentor will go with Dan Gregg and Bill Rutherford at the ends; Wayne Kotara and John Koetting at the tackles; guards Lynn Britton and Johnny London; center Butch Brown; quarterback Wesley Cornett; halfbacks Lynn Barker and Eldred James and fullback Leroy Littlefield.

Currie stated, "They have two fine backs and good size. Jim Jolley, a 9.8 speedster and D. C. Baker are real good."

Rebels, Texas, Colorado Favored In Grid Clashes

By Newspaper Enterprise

In view of what transpires week in and week out, football experts have to possess more derring-do than members of the Light Brigade to stay in business.

The results of last week - end left the pigskin prognosticators hanging red-faced on the ropes. De-glamorized Pittsburgh, indeed, Northwestern worn to a frazzle, wow! Iowa's dazzling backs and pin-point passing, etc., etc.

Upsets are what make football a tremendous game, however, and this handicapper charges on with the others. Let's start with Ohio State to overhaul Iowa, even if it isn't as muddy as the Hawkeyes found it at Purdue, when they were blanked for the first time in 79 games.

There are three other superior college engagements Nov. 4. While this old longshor stabber would like to pick against the three all-conquering outfits in-involved, the choices have to be Michigan State over Minnesota, Mississippi over Louisiana State and Colorado over Missouri.

Woody Hayes has been waiting for this meeting with Iowa for what to the Ohio State coach was a long, long year. Though the sides were rated even stephen last fall, the Hawks piled it on; 35-12. The Buckeyes don't take shellacking like that sitting down.

The Hawks will be rebounding after being ambushed in the Lafayette go and Matt Szykowny will test them through the air, but Hayes has had time to mend the fences. And Bob Ferguson and Company will be cheered on by the great bulk of 83,000 people at Ohio Stadium.

Surprising Minnesota has bagged four straight since being edged by Missouri in its opener, but Michigan State has much too much of everything against Golden Gophers too dependent on defense.

Mississippi has the offense, Louisiana State the defense and 70,000 howling Cajuns at Tiger Stadium. I have to go with the superior attack. Boom! It is the same story with Missouri invading Boulder, where Colorado is used to the altitude.

Elsewhere in the country, and starting in the East, I like Pittsburgh against a Syracuse club which is still banged up. Penn State is finally hitting and should take Maryland. Columbia is too well balanced for Cornell, West Virginia for George Washington, Harvard for Pennsylvania and Princeton for Brown. Dartmouth gets a shaky vote over a Yale array due to win. The same goes for Iowa State at Boston College, Colgate or Lehigh and Army against Detroit.

George Mira of Miami presents Georgia with a passing problem, but the Bulldogs have the equalizer in field goal kicker Tom Pennington. It's Auburn easily against Wake Forest, Clemson over Tulane, Georgia Tech over Florida and Kentucky over Florida State. Line toughness gives Alabama and Tennessee the call against Mississippi State and North Carolina, respectively.

In the Southwest, Texas takes Southern Methodist in stride. Baylor is still crippled, so it's Texas Christian. Arkansas' speed should prevail against Texas A. and M. Rice's depth gives it a bulge against Texas Tech.

In other skirmishes in the Midwest, Notre Dame just has to be the selection against Navy, Michigan against Duke, Northwestern against Indiana and Purdue at Illinois. In Big Eight territory, it's Kansas at Nebraska, Oklahoma at Kansas State and Oklahoma State at Wichita. Wyoming should be six-point favorite at Arizona. Utah State rates 10 points at Brigham Young.

Pampa To Play 29-Game Card

Five lettermen and two starters from last year's team head the list of 26 hopefuls reporting for basketball at Pampa High School.

Coach Terry Culley's cagers have been working out on the hardwoods for almost three weeks in preparation for the season opener with Vernon Nov. 24 at Vernon.

The Harvesters will play the Clarendon Junior College cagers this afternoon at the Pampa Gym in a scrimmage tilt at 4:00.

A pair of juniors — Randy Matson and Gordon Balch — are the returning starters from last year's club which had a 11-16 season mark and a 4-10 conference log. Matson, a 6-5 post man, was the Harvesters' leading scorer in 1960-61 and placed fifth in the 3-AAAA district race. Balch is a six foot junior guard.

Lloyd Balch, a 6-2 senior forward; Wayne Kreis, 5-10 junior guard and Ronnie Chase, 5-7 junior guard are the three remaining lettermen. L. Balch and Matson are the co-captains of the Harvesters.

Culley expressed belief that inexperience and reserve depth would be the Harvesters' biggest problems this campaign. Otherwise, the youthful Pampa mentor rated his squad as average with possibilities of improving if some of the upcoming boys from last year's Shockers can lend a hand. The remainder of the Harvesters include seniors Harold Burgess, 6-1 forward; Bobby Neslage 6-3 forward and Jim Storey, a 6-5 post man. The Juniors are Keith Swanson, 5-10 guard; C. E. Cantrell, 5-10 guard; Larry Clifton, 5-7 guard and Dwight Thompson, 6-0 forward.

Only two sophomores are expected to help the Harvesters and they are Gary Sikes, a 6-2 forward and Kenny Hebert, a 5-10 guard. Hebert, however, is still out for football and will not report to practice until the grid season is completed.

The Shockers' roster is made up of all sophomores except for Donnie Ayres, a transfer student who is ineligible.

The boys are forwards Mike Bridges, Charlie Price, Danny Heil and Bobby Price; guards Richard Rexroat, Eugene Madrid, Guy Cloud, and Rickey Stewart; and centers Gary Davis, John Fite and John Triplehorn.

Culley stated that defending champion Palo Duro, Borger and Plainview would probably be the top three teams in the district.

J. C. Rutgens Gives Hope To Redskins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the few small rays of hope for the Washington Redskins is a very large gentleman named Joseph C. Rutgens.

Mr. Rutgens is that rarity in professional football — a peagreen rookie lineman who became a first stringer in his freshman year. The former Illinois star was the Redskins' number one draft pick for 1961 and of his performance in their first seven games, they have no reason to regret it.

When he first showed up at Washington's training camp last July, both coaches and the team physician did a quick double-take. Rutgens arrived with a bay window the approximate size of a 21-inch television set.

"Reduce," the doctor ordered. "I've had it all my life," the aggrieved Rutgens argued. "It's natural."

Pot belly or no, Rutgens proved quickly it didn't make any difference whether he was shaped like a beer barrel or a svelte clothes model. Right from the start, he impressed the coaches with his speed, mobility and power.

The Redskins' sorry 0-7 record has obscured the achievements of its fine defensive line. Head Coach Bill McPeak says flatly he wouldn't trade his front four for any other four linemen in the National Football League — and he includes rookie Rutgens in that praise.

The Tribe's front four have given up less yardage rushing than many other team in the National Football League and less yards per average rush. Rutgens' weekly performance ratings showed him on at least a par with such veterans as Bob Tonoff, John Paluck and Andy Stynchula.

McPeak particularly marveled at Rutgens' work against the Cleveland Browns recently. "There aren't many guards better than Cleveland's Jim Ray Smith," McPeak said, "but this kid did quite a job on him."

Rutgens is a 6' 2", 260-pounder who's as shy as he is strong. The Redskins make scores of speaking engagement, for their players at church meetings, smokers etc., but Rutgens is the only man who refuses to go to any function alone. He insists on having at least one teammate along.

3 Great Fullbacks Pace A&M

By United Press International

Texas A&M coach Jim Myers is seeing triple but other Southwest Conference coaches wish they had his problem.

Every day the Aggies work out he sees three fullbacks with almost equal ability ripping through the line. They are Sam Byer of Marlin, Lee Roy Caffey of Thorndale and Jerry Rogers of Corpus Christi.

Although it's nice to have such a fine array of talent at a critical position he has a problem—it's almost impossible to decide who to start in a game.

"They are a great threesome," he said. "But they do everything on the football field about equally and it has been impossible for the coaches to decide on a clear-cut first stringer."

Rogers, a sophomore, was running as top gun at the fullback position Wednesday but Myers said that was no assurance Rogers would start against the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville Saturday. It just depends on who is the hottest at the time.

Guard Jim Harper, out with a leg injury since A&M's opener, returned to action.

Arkansas worked until dark trying to find ways to solve the Aggie offense. Coach Frank Broyles said he was pleased with the session. He said regular left end Tim Langston will not play against the Cadets because of an injury.

The University of Texas zipped through a routine practice which featured the running of Tommy Ford at fullback. Normally a tailback, Ford was switched to Ray Poage's spot because of an injury to the Longhorn line-blaster.

Southern Methodist worked on defense. The Mustangs meet the nation's No. 1 offensive team in Texas at the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Jim Crowl, ill with the flu most of the week, returned to his starting left tackle post Wednesday.

Baylor also decided to put in some licks on defense. Coach John Bridgers said his charges did not bushwhack Texas Christian plays very well. The Bears host TCU Saturday.

TCU coach Abe Martin worked his charges hard on offense and was fairly well pleased with the workout.

Sophomore Mike Fritsch of Lockhart was moved to the Rice second unit at guard Wednesday. Coach Jess Neely was seeking to bolster the Owls' injury-weakened interior line by the move.

He has all but ruled out any chance of using center Dan Malin or tackle John Cornett in Saturday's game at Texas Tech. Both are hampered by injuries.

The Red Raiders mixed a dose of both offensive and defense work into their drill. Most hands appeared to be in top shape for the game with Rice.

Lemm Makes Oilers Contender For Title

HOUSTON (UPI)—In less than a month, the Houston Oilers have changed from the coldest team in the American Football League to an aggressive unit on its way up through the Eastern Division.

A new coach is the only physical change in the personnel makeup of the AFL defending champions.

Since owner Bud Adams replaced head coach Lou Rymkus with Wally Lemm, the Oilers have won vengeance games from Dallas and Buffalo by impressive scores. Both teams had beaten Houston earlier this season when Rymkus was coach.

"It's just about all attitude," Lemm described the difference in the Oilers since he took over. "Each coach has a way of doing things and running his team," says Lemm. "A certain way won't work or every team."

"I'm not a driver. I mean by that I tell the men what has to be done and it's up to the individual player to get his job done. We'll prepare them strategically for a game but you can't make a man want to win."

When Lemm, former Chicago Cardinal defensive coach and an assistant to Rymkus last year, took over the Oilers the first thing he did was cut out heavy mid-week contact work and scrimmaging.

Lemm was with the Oilers last season when they drove to the AFL title. But he retired to his Lake Forest, Ill., sporting goods business after the race.

A likeable man of small stature, Lemm was urged by Adams to take over the faltering Oilers when relations between the Houston owner and Rymkus became strained to the breaking point.

He took the job under an informal agreement with Adams. Lemm said if he was successful, he would like to stay with the Oilers but if not, he would prefer to return to his business.

LA Retains Cage Lead With Win

By United Press International

The National Basketball League circuit is idle tonight while the teams prepared for a full weekend of activity.

Friday night's schedule called for Boston at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Syracuse, New York at Chicago and Cincinnati at Los Angeles.

On Saturday night, Syracuse will be at Boston, Detroit at Philadelphia, Los Angeles is at Chicago and New York at St. Louis.

The Los Angeles Lakers scored their sixth straight win Wednesday night to maintain their Western Division National Basketball Association lead by edging Cincinnati 120-115.

In the only other game Wednesday, the Detroit Pistons finally scored their first victory of the season by outshooting New York 111-85.

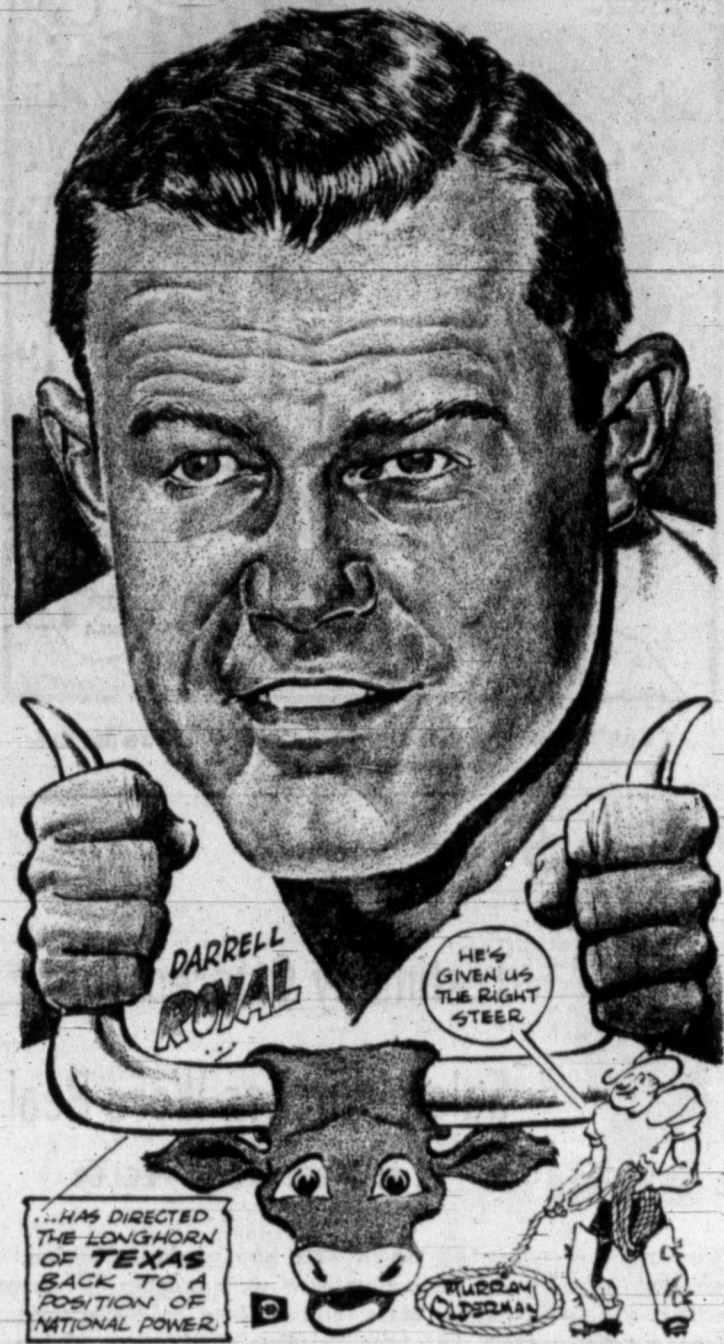

On the West Coast, the Lakers were paced by Elgin Baylor who racked up 41 points followed by Jerry West with 30. In the first six minutes of the third quarter, the Lakers blitzed the Nets for 26 points, ten of them by Baylor.

High scorers for the Royals were Jack Twyman with 35 and Wayne Embry with 27.

Before Wednesday night's game in the Motor City, Detroit had lost its first four games while the Knickerbockers had won four out of six.

Weather Forces Harvesters Inside

Pampa's gridders were forced inside to the gymnasium for Wednesday's workouts due to rainy weather. The bad weather has hampered the Harvesters in preparation for the Friday night game with the Lubbock Westerners.

Crossland, who has been injured most of the season, completed six of 10 aerials against Palo Duro last Friday for 92 yards. Kenny Hebert retained second place in punting with a 35.6 average for 15 punts. He did not have to punt against the Dons.

Palo Duro's Gordon Nelson took over the league's lead in total offense as he gained 76 yards against the Harvesters for a 436 yard total. He also is the rushing leader.

Davis Hill of Borger moved into second place in total offense with 429 yards. He gained 74 yards against Monterey. Ronnie Williams, Amarillo, last week's total offense leader fell all the way to sixth place as he carried only once against Tascosa for no gain.

Ricky Nix continues to hold a stranglehold on the passing department. The clever Palo Duro quarterback tossed 12 aerials their share of the injuries. They opened the season with three straight non-conference victories. The Westerners chalked up wins over Ardmore 13-6; Odessa 20-14 and Midland Lee 12-7 before losing their three district 3-AAAA games to Palo Duro 33-16; Tascosa 39-13 and Borger 10-0.

Last week the Westerners came back with a stern warning by trouncing Plainview 66-0. It is well known by now that Pampa has only one win to its ledger, but the Harvesters made it a big one. The locals snapped a 16-game losing streak, an 8-year old jinx and gained considerable prestige in upsetting arch-rival Amarillo 15-14. Last week, the Harvesters were drilled by Palo Duro 40-18. Pampa's other district 3-AAAA losses have been to Tascosa 41-6 and Monterey 14-0.

Comparison scores indicate a close battle. Both clubs were defeated by Palo Duro by two touchdowns and Pampa lost to Tascosa by four markers while the Westerners dropped a three touchdown decision.

Mike Stewart, Rickey Stewart, John Brown, Riley Walters and Jimmy Hoyle reported for practice with minor injuries but all will see action Friday.

Crossland Gets To Eighth Spot In Aerial Race

Butch Crossland, Pampa's senior quarterback, jumped into eighth place in the district 3-AAAA individual passing statistics although he has played just part of two games.

Crossland, who has been injured most of the season, completed six of 10 aerials against Palo Duro last Friday for 92 yards. Kenny Hebert retained second place in punting with a 35.6 average for 15 punts. He did not have to punt against the Dons.

Joe Brown Voted Top Fighter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown was named "Fighter of the Month" today by The Ring Magazine because of his record 11th defense of the 133-pound crown last Saturday on a decision over Filipino Bert Somodio at Manila.

It was the 81st victory in 112 fights for 35-year-old Brown of Houston, Tex., and one of his most impressive — over a capable, young, hard-hitting challenger. Although Somodio lost, his performance boosted him into the Ring's top 10 ratings for the first time, at number 10.

L. C. Morgan of Youngstown, Ohio, who had been at number nine, was dropped out of the top lightweight 10 because of his defeat by Bruno Visintin, unranked Italian welterweight.

Eddie Perkins of Chicago rose one peg, from fifth to fourth among lightweights, because of his surprise draw with Italy's Duilio Loi in their fight for Loi's NBA junior welterweight title. Two good wins over Virgil Kenny and Assia Hashas raised Keny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., from sixth to fifth.

In the heavyweight class challenger Tom McNeely of Arlington, Mass., rose automatically from 10th to ninth when Canadian George Chuvalo lost to Joe Erskine of Wales and fell from 8th to 10th. Cleveland Williams of Houston automatically rose from ninth to eighth.

Texas A&I, Lamar Tech To Tangle

Lamar Tech's Cardinals, stubbornly dogging the heels of Lone Star Conference leader Sam Houston State, travel to Kingsville Saturday to meet the crippled, but fiery Texas A&I Javelinas in the feature game among non-Southwest Conference football teams.

The Cardinals, unbeaten-but-tied so far this season, need a victory over Texas A&I to stay close to pace-setting Sam Houston, undefeated in loop play while compiling a 5-1 season record.

A&I is given a good chance to spring an upset even though the Javelinas are still operating without halfback Tommy Jancik and fullback Butch Pressley. The Hogs are 4-2 for the season.

Sam Houston should have an easy time with Sul Ross at Huntsville. In other Lone Star Conference games, Southwest Texas (3-3-1) meets East Texas (2-3) at Commerce and Howard Payne (2-4) hosts S. F. Austin (1-6) at Brownwood Saturday night.

Hardin-Simmons, winless in seven outings, and Texas Western (2-4), meet at Abilene in the only league game on tap in the Border Conference.

New Mexico State (4-2-1), sharing the conference lead with Arizona State (5-1), plays Trinity (1-4) in San Antonio. West Texas (4-2) hits the road to battle Bowling Green, Ohio.

Arizona State tackles San Jose State in a night game on the West Coast. In other games North Texas State plays Drake at Denton, Abilene Christian (2-4) travels to Arlington State (5-2) for a night game, McMurry (3-4) meets Tarleton State (2-3) at Stephenville, and Texas Lutheran (4-3) hosts Corpus Christi (1-6).

Cousy Forecasts Title For Celtics

BOSTON (UPI) — "If our cornermen have a good year, we'll be good. If they don't, we'll be mediocre. Either way, we still should win it."

If Ralph Houk announced in such firm terms that he expected his New York Yankees to win another pennant, he would be regarded as slightly overconfident. But the speaker in this case is Bob Cousy, triggerman of the national champion Boston Celtics, the team otherwise known as the Yankees of professional basketball.

The Cousy pronouncement comes at a time when the Celtics are seeking an unprecedented fourth straight National Basketball Association championship. Thus far, at least, Cousy's remark is an understatement. The Celtics, also shooting for their fifth crown in six seasons, have played both Detroit and New York, winning by a total of 65 points.

There had been a trace of doubt when the Celtics lost the services of baseball pitcher Gene Conley and backcourt ace Bill Sharman that Boston could repeat. The question marks grew bigger when Cousy was reported suffering from a bone spur on a valuable elbow before the season began.

Boxing Matches Slated Saturday

A three team boxing match will be unreeled Saturday night at 7:30 at the Pampa Pops Club between Lefors, Perryton and Pampa squads.

This will be the third match of the young boxing season for Pampa fighters. The locals took six bouts last Thursday from Hereford and Lefors in a 16-bout program.

Director Cliff Dunham stated today that he expects to have two top-notch open fights although it is unconfirmed as of yet. The fighters to be featured are Jim Chism, a 23-year old University of Pittsburgh graduate and Pampa's Dickie Wills.

Thirteen new boys have started working out this week with the club. They are Jim Irwin, 155 pounds; Gary Epperson, 183; Dan Ownsby, 60; W. D. Thomas, 110; Ray Dean Ownsby, 60; Jimmy Ownsby, 65; Jesse Whitsen, 75; Johnny Epperson, 70; John Ray, 99; Scott Epperson, 135; Gale Martin, 126; Keith Jones, 75 and Gary Leroy Johnson, 102.

Gryzowski Holds To Offense Lead

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quarterback Tom Gryzowski of Defiance College is clinging tenaciously to his lead in the small college total offense race while Bobby Lisa of St. Mary's (Kan.) and John Nachesheim of the University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch, maintain their margins in rushing and scoring, respectively.

Official figures released Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show that Gryzowski has gained 1,284 yards on 219 plays for a lead of 87 yards over Jan Lloyd of Occidental. Lloyd, however, has three games left to play compared to only two for Gryzowski.

Syrians Want Less Socialism

Personalities and Pan-Arab concepts seem to have played a minor role in the Syrian uprising that dissolved Nasser's United Arab Republic. The basis of the revolt was mostly concern over vanishing economic freedom.

Poor as the Syrians are in their bleak, unyielding land, they have a reputation as hard workers and eager traders. Nasser's government tried to herd them down the path to socialism.

Recent decrees had placed a ceiling on income, and income over 6,000 pounds a year was entirely confiscated. Land tenure was limited to 100 acres, regardless of productivity of the land or the efficiency of the smaller farms.

Nationalization of all major enterprises, of course, was a familiar course. No salary in the land was permitted to exceed 5,000 pounds save Nasser's, which was a modest 6,000. (The pound is worth $1.90)

All this was supposed to level the society, doing away with the rich and the poor, and producing one big happy cooperative middle-class family.

By HENRY
McLEMORE

I may change my mind by tomorrow, but as of right now these are among my beliefs:

That the best proof that the United States is not inferior to Soviet Russia is the ability to wage war is the fact that Soviet Russia has never seen fit to attack the United States. If the Comies thought they could lick us, they'd let us have it.

That world opinion is held in the same high regard by Russia as freedom of speech, movement, worship, and the dignity of man. The outraging of the world is one of the Kremlin's favorite indoor and outdoor sports, as witness Hungary, bomb tests resumption, East Germany, West Berlin, and on and on.

That those who favor appeasement of Russia would stand more chance of being understood if they would, just once, explain what the appeasement would gain, and when, where and how it would stop.

That those who say they prefer to be Red than Dead might well wind up both. What guarantee is there that Russia, should it conquer all, would assure a safe, happy existence for those put under the boot?

That the only country in the world that Russia really fears is West Germany and will go to any lengths to keep W. Germany as weak as possible.

That San Francisco's food is highly overrated and isn't in the same class with New York, Los Angeles, or New Orleans.

That the Peace Corps will be gone and forgotten within three years at the most.

That half the people with fall-out shelters would be too curious as to what was going on outside to stay in them.

That basketball, the most popular of games, is also the most boring.

That "incongruous" is the ugliest word in the English language, and that "enervating" shouldn't mean what it does.

That if Lawrence Durrell gets a Nobel Prize for literature over Graham Greene, someone has made a grievous mistake.

That a Harvard man with a beard is impossible.

That Mississippi would beat Michigan State by two touchdowns.

That rattlesnake meat has a better taste than chicken.

That the Ouija board is in for a big comeback.

That operating an elevator in a department store should be the highest paid job in the world.

That a chain of clean, comfortable motels with no frills, and low rates, would make a fortune.

Many travelers have no use, after a day of hard driving, for three TV sets, a kidney-shaped swimming pool, a basketball court, a pitch and putt golf course, and a brace of canaries in every room.

That Tito plays both ends against the middle better than any man in history.

That Castro would shrivel down to size were he given one-fiftieth of the publicity he gets.

That the delivery systems will be given to the West Germans.

All nuclear warheads for the missiles will still remain under U.S. control.

Also, the U.S. is offering to integrate the two countries' military logistic systems in West Germany and to "sell" other types of late models of U.S. military arms, including tanks and planes to increase the fire power of the Bundeswehr.

These West German armed forces, now five years old, passed the 310,000 point this month toward the goal of 350,000 men under arms by 1962. The West German navy received the first of twelve 350-ton conventional-type submarines being constructed in West Germany.

West Germany's Defense Minister Strauss wants the Polaris submarines to counter the Soviet missile threat in the Baltic.

He reports that the Soviets have armed their Baltic fleet with medium and short range rockets that could do tremendous damage to West Germany in case of a Soviet nuclear attack.

The Defense minister gives this rundown on the Russian Maritime missile buildup:

"At present there are eight cruisers berthed in the bay of Leningrad fitted with equipment to launch intermediate range ballistic missiles, missiles which can carry a nuclear warhead.

"In addition, part of Russia's flotilla in the Baltic is being equipped with ground-to-air rockets and short range missiles for use against coastal targets.

"According to our information, the Soviets have around 70 destroyers in the Baltic, among them 45 destroyers of postwar construction, 150 submarines; 330 submarine hunting craft, and 200 torpedo boats."

Note: The West Germans would also like the U.S. to equip their small, 350-ton submarines with a ballistic missile smaller than the Polaris, but which still could be fired while the craft are submerged.

Allen - Scott Report:

Exploring Plan to Arm West German Navy With Subs Carrying U.S. - Controlled Polaris Missiles

WASHINGTON — The U.S. is exploring the explosive possibility of equipping the West German navy with a small fleet of Polaris firing nuclear submarines.

Under the proposal being discussed at the highest levels in both governments, the Polaris submarines would be built in the U.S. and then sold to the West Germans for dollars.

In addition to the German crews specially trained U.S. naval personnel would be stationed aboard under a joint agreement guaranteeing U.S. control of atomic warheads used in the 1,200 mile range Polaris missiles.

Sale of four Polaris submarines at a cost ranging from $900 million to $1.2 billion is under consideration. These prices include the cost of the sixteen Polaris missiles which each submarine is capable of carrying.

These exploratory talks, launched earlier this year by Navy Secretary John Connally in a visit to Bonn, were extended to the recent discussions in West Germany by Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric and West Germany's Defense Minister, Franz Josef Strauss.

Members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, which must approve any final agreement, reveal that no sales accord is expected until after Chancellor Adenauer visits Washington next month and probably not until after Congress convenes in January.

If finally approved, sale of the submarines will be included within the framework of an "agreement in principle" reached by Gilpatric and Strauss in their Bonn negotiations.

Under terms of this accord, West Germany has promised to speed up its rearmament and at the same time help the U.S. cut its international payment deficit by purchasing annually more than $600 million in arms in this country.

BUILDING THE BUNDESWEHR — In exchange, the U.S. is giving West Germany new assurances to supply Bonn's armed forces with a powerful nuclear delivery capability, including the Army's 500-mile range Pershing missile that is now undergoing final tests.

Only the delivery systems will be given to the West Germans. All nuclear warheads for the missiles will still remain under U.S. control.

Also, the U.S. is offering to integrate the two countries' military logistic systems in West Germany and to "sell" other types of late models of U.S. military arms, including tanks and planes to increase the fire power of the Bundeswehr.

COMMUNISM AND THE DIGNITY OF MAN
(The Carlino Israelite)
Meeting in Israel, American Jewish leaders and officials of Jewish agencies are discussing the monetary requirements for the ensuing years. Immigration into Israel has accelerated recently and it is estimated that 200 million dollars will be needed in the next 5 years to consolidate on a firm economic footing the 475 farm villages into which 132,000 refugees will be located.

You need no involved dialectics to see that this is the work of free men.

Since 1945, the problem of setting the few survivors of the Nazi holocaust into the emerging state of Israel has required millions upon millions of dollars. Jews who lived in the freedom of the English-speaking civilizations have responded with generosity.

Not a single dollar of these many millions has come from Jews in Russia or Jews in the satellite countries of Russia. Yet these Jews are no different than any others. The Jews of Poland, Rumania and Hungary are the oldest Jewish communities in Eastern Europe. It was the Russian Jews who gave impetus to Zionism and were the first to settle in Palestine as far back as the 1880's. These Jews not only feel for their brethren but carry the same burden of history. But the difference is this: the governments under which they live do not permit their participation or charity. The Communists indulge no charity and while the Federal German Republic at Bonn has made vast restitution payments to individual survivors, to communities, and to Israel, not one dollar of restitution has been made by the Communist regime of East Germany.

Charity is one of the great evidences of human dignity. Charity is the right of an individual to help his more unfortunate brother elsewhere.

The American Poles in Buffalo, N.Y., in the days of the Czar, tithe yearly for a Free Poland; the Greeks in America have built hospitals and cathedrals in the homeland; once a year the Swedes of the American North-west toast the Swedish King; the Irish of New York and Boston were instrumental in making the establishment of the Irish Free State a success; and the Constitution of the Republic of Czechoslovakia was founded in the city of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

With the advent of Hitler, the Jews of America rose as one man to help. The Communist governments did not allow the expression of human dignity. For the Communists, the idea of human dignity is only defined politically, never emotionally, never with a touch of the miracle of kindness.

MORE POLARIS NEWS — A Polaris offer similar to the West German proposal will be made to France and Italy by the Kennedy Administration before the end of the year. The U.S. is having its problems with Great Britain over the Polaris submarine operations at Holy Loch naval base in Scotland. In case one of these submarines causes a nuclear accident, the British wants the U.S. to pay all damage costs and claims. They are pressing the State Department to put this guarantee into a joint U.S. - British agreement. The State Department is taking the position that negotiations on this touchy subject should be delayed until after Congress acts next year on legislation to make indemnity coverage on nuclear accidents available outside the U.S. The U.S. is offering West Germany a chance to participate in a joint research and arms development program that includes new weapons for use against submarines.

Within 30 days, the U.S. will have a total of six Polaris submarines in operation. Together, they carry a total of 96 IRBMs. All will be zeroed in on Soviet targets.

Pegler Says:

Testimony Offered That Salem Witches Were Real

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The crime of witchcraft which bedevilled a prim and generally obedient society in Salem, Mass., in the sixteen-hundreds has been ridiculed by many arbitrary individuals, most of them scoundrels, who may not have had the fortitude to disparage the Law of the Land at the time. Miss Inez Robb, whose personal friendship has been a spiritual treasure in my estate for more than 30 years, recently expressed this cynical attitude in an essay which went no further, however, than to insist that no Salem witch ever was burned at the stake. As to that, I accept her authority. But she seems to suggest also that burning at the stake would have been cruel and unusual punishment for an adjudicated witch if the law had so provided. That is going too far. Does she think Mickey Cohen's sentence of 15 years for tax evasion is too severe?

Miss Robb is a lady of obstreperous mind, but I entreat her to restrain this anarchy and yield a decent respect for the Law of the Land. Disobedience is the stuff that juvenile crime is made of, and immodesty of speech in the New York theatre.

I recall that in Palm Beach during Prohibition, when Miss Robb was a cub reporter doing Society for the New York News, we both, and others, chafed at Prohibition but faithfully obeyed the law. Whatever our secret desires, we were loyal subjects of the Constitution of the U.S.A. including the 18th Amendment. I would never suspect that Inez entertained the faintest, inmost longing for a portion of gin in orange juice. I hope she honors my own purity. Or, anyway, won't squeal.

Under the law of William and Mary in Salem, Mass., witchcraft was a capital crime. I am a little aback at the news from Inez that no Salem witch ever was burned at the stake. But I have precious old documentary proof out of the court records of Salem that witches were put to death by law, though by hanging, not by the faggot.

It is an unjustified assumption now to hold that there never were any witches. The law said there were witches. I earnestly entreat Inez to think upon the grievous implications of her airy comments on witchcraft.

I know there were witches in Salem. They made cats sun up chimneys through roaring hearth-fires, and kettles tilt and wet down the burning stick without the aid of human hands.

The courts were the most learned and fair in Christendom. Testimony was written down and I have some of it before me today. The witnesses gave their names and confronted the accused in court. They were persons of good report. They could be impeached for kissing out of wedlock. The Salem courts were the best authority that was humanly possible. Can Miss Robb conscientiously say that of our own Supreme Court?

I refer to the case of a woman who was possessed of The Devil, and accordingly was hanged on June 10, 1692.

Abigail Williams and An (cq) Putnam, a child, swore in court that the defendant, Rebekah Bishop, beat them for every morning. This must have been a supernatural affair, for the witch was old and feeble and she had whined in her defense that she had no injury herself "but my old age."

She also said, "I can say before my eternal father that I am innocent and God will clear my innocency."

The judge said, "If you be guilty, may God discover you." But witches, like some tax-evaders of the present day, are without conscience. This one offered the cunning idea that The Devil, having known powers of evil, had assumed her body and done this wrong to spite one of God's loyal fold.

This, of course, put the judge on a hell of a spot. Still, he did his best. One June 10, George Corwin, sheriff, wrote: "According to within written precept, I have taken the body of the within named Rebekah Bishop out of their Majesty's gaol in Salem and safely conveyed her to the place promised for her execution and caused ye sd Rebekah to be hanged by the neck until she was dead, all which was according to the (something) within required and I so make return by me."

The town crier was the press then. He had no editorial privilege so there was no irresponsible outcry to frustrate justice. That, too, would have been a crime in a better society than ours today. They had no Lindbergh extravaganzas in Salem!

There is no mention of the witch's husband, but Mr. Bishop may be pardoned a sad consolation in riddance of a demon who had imposed on his sacred trust in holy wedlock.

SALES LEVEL OFF
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Factory sales leveled off in September after seven consecutive months of rise, according to the Commerce Department.

The department said Monday declines in sales of new cars and building materials offset small improvements in sales of food, beverages and textiles.

Action And Reaction

Government intervention in the economy is always engineered to obtain a direct result which is favorable to some special person or group. In obtaining it, government invariably injures some other persons or group. Government cannot seem to grasp the point that every action in the market place has an equally powerful reaction.

Morality Is Self-Control

We have discussed the concept of morality so many times and with so many people that a bit more on the subject could appear to be redundant.

Yet, the longer we live, the more certainly do we find that an understanding of morality is the basic understanding of every thing.

Knowledge is largely a matter of the accumulation of factual data.

But wisdom comes with the proper usage of these data. And proper usage of anything depends upon moral understanding.

Many of the persons to whom we have talked on the subject appear to be convinced that there is no such thing as morality. Their conclusion appears to stem from the "relativity" discernible in so much of our thinking and teaching nowadays.

How can one be certain of moral law? How can one be certain of any absolute rules about anything?

Moral law rests upon a universally recognized principle which, once recognized, is only rarely put into words. This principle is the precept that man may not commit aggression against others of his kind.

If we define aggression as consisting of the first initiated act of violence wherein one person, without provocation, invades the person or the property of another, we are at the threshold of a grasp of the principle. Having defined it this way, we have been able to establish on each occasion that such an action would be invariably in conflict with rightness. Universally, men abhor the invader, the attacker, the person who without provocation commits aggression.

Would that this principle were taught universally in our schools. It is self-apparent, whatever anyone has to say about it. No one wishes to be victimized.

There are, of course, various ways of interpreting "without provocation." There are also various ways of interpreting invasion. But the principle holds. And so deeply rooted is it in the more of human kind that we suspect it to be at the base of the bulk of all the commandments in the Decalogue, as well as being at the base of all law and all moral custom.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, Nov. 2, the 306th day of the year with 59 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

American frontiersman and explorer Daniel Boone was born on this date in 1734.

On this day in history: In 1889, North and South Dakota were admitted into the Union as the 39th and 40th states.

In 1917, British Foreign Secretary Arthur James Balfour proposed establishing a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

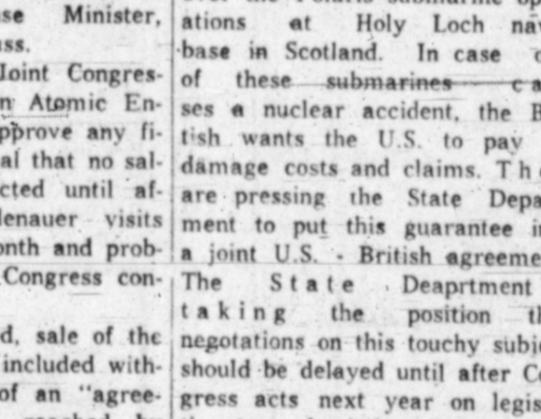

In 1920 station KDKA began the first regular schedule of radio broadcasting by reporting the returns of the presidential election.

In 1948, President Harry Truman and Sen. Alben Barkley, D-Ky., were elected president and vice president of the United States.

A thought for today: American editor and satirist Henry Mencken said: "It is the dull man who is always sure; and the sure man who is always dull."

Matter of Fact

Life upon the wicked stage may not be what some suppose—but its ill repute existed a long time. Japan's artistic kabuki theater was under a cloud for centuries. In the beginning, men took women's parts and women dressed as men. Banned for immorality, kabuki reopened with boys in women's parts. But it was banned again. On the next try, grown men took all the parts. Nobody was offended. The kabuki theater is still an all-adult male production.

Chemical Society To Meet Nov. 4

The American Chemical Society, Panhandle Plains Section, will feature Dr. George H. Cady, National Tour Speaker for November, at a dinner meeting on Saturday evening, Nov. 4. Members and guests are invited to gather at the Colonial Cafeteria, Wolflin Village in Amarillo at 6:45 to select their dinner and then proceed to the Southeast dining room.

Dr. George H. Cady of the University of Washington will speak at 8 p.m. Dr. Cady was born in 1906 in Lawrence, Kan., the son of Dr. H. P. Cady, a professor of chemistry at the University of Kansas. The senior Dr. Cady is remembered in this area primarily as the discoverer of helium in natural gas.

Dr. George H. Cady received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Kansas and his Ph.D. from the University of California in Berkeley. His thesis was in the field of fluorine chemistry supervised by Joel H. Hilbrand. Dr. Cady served as assistant professor of chemistry in Vermillion, South Dakota, and later became instructor of chemistry at M.I.T. He then became an industrial research chemist for four years, but returned to teaching at the University of Washington in Seattle. He has held the rank of professor since 1947.

Dr. Cady's principle researches have been in the fields of fluorine chemistry, preparation of hypochlorites and the analysis of rare gases.

The talk on "Compounds Containing the O-F Bond" will cover the preparation and properties of several covalent hypofluorites, many of which Dr. Cady and his students have discovered. This class of compounds is highly reactive. They are thermodynamically unstable and a few are explosive.

Pampa Students Are Named U.S. Post Applicants

Four Pampa High School students have been selected from a field of ten PHS applicants for possible participation in the American Field Service program next year.

The applications of Vince Johnson, John Arthur, Mike Palmer, high school seniors and Cheryl Weinheimer, junior, were selected by an "Americans Abroad" committee composed of local business men, teachers, AFS chapter representatives and students. The applications have been sent to national headquarters of the AFS in New York City, where they will be judged in national competition for participation in the "Americans Abroad" program.

The final selections will be made by the national board and will be announced early next year.

Fallout Shelter On A Community Basis Advocated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Billy Graham and a leading rabbi agreed today that fallout shelters, if needed, should be built on a community basis to avoid any question of barring neighbors from private family shelters.

The noted Baptist evangelist and Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, endorsed the stand taken by the Rt. Rev. Angus Dun, Episcopal bishop of Washington. Bishop Dun said in a recent interview that it was "immoral and unjust" to put shelter construction on an every-family-for-itself basis.

Graham said the necessity for restricting use of a private shelter creates an "ethical dilemma" which "might be avoided if the civil defense program would work on community shelters" open to everyone.

He added: "I don't believe I could stay in

Start Of Diesel Motors Recalled By Railway Men

NEW YORK (UPI)—The entry of a new diesel locomotive into the railroad equipment field reminded many railroad men today that, like many forms of motive power crowding the land and skies today, the diesel is a comparatively young product.

John F. Gordon, president of General Motors Corp., recalled that it was in 1935 — that GM "plowed up an Illinois corn field" to build its first Electro-motive plant in La Grange, a Chicago suburb where it has been located ever since. Its plant has expanded from an original 200,000 square feet to its present 3 million.

In discussing the prospects for Electro-Motive's new GP-30 locomotive, Gordon said that he believed the expanding economy and an increase in productivity of the nation would be so rapid "that they will strain the resources of the entire transportation industry."

He said that barring a major war, he could not see how anyone could look into the future development of the economy "without seeing America's railroads playing a major role. I fail to see how anybody can view our railroad industry with anything but long-term optimism."

What Gordon lacked the time to recall, but what many in his audience of veteran railroad men could remember, was the development in the early 30s of the diesel locomotive.

Ralph Budd of the Burlington generally is given credit for being the man whose interest in diesel-powered locomotive development gave the oil-burning vehicles their start in a transportation field dominated until then by the coal burning Iron Horse.

a shelter while my neighbor had no protection."

Rabbi Eisendrath said it was horrifying to find-Americans debating whether a man would have a moral right to shoot his neighbor "in order to protect the inviolability of his private shelter."

THE NEW CHEVY II GOING GREAT GUNS!

Chevy II Nova 400 Sport Coupe—and there are 3 more models, just as nice, where this one came from

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood... a frugal 4- or satiny 6-cylinder engine (there's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. Nine new-sized different models... sedans, wagons, hardtop and convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy... just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best—drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. Here's Body by Fisher comfort that makes many a full-size car wonder how it's done—room for six solid citizens, bag and baggage, in all sedans and two-seat wagons. And, thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, you get a remarkably smooth ride that rivals much higher priced cars.

A New World of Worth

Join in Chevrolet's 50th Anniversary celebration at your dealer's now—By picking up a special order form from your dealer, you can order a "Golden Anniversary Album" LP recording of favorite American songs from Chevrolet for just $1.
