IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Who would:

- Take the lead in building up goodwill among Pampa's neighboring communities, making some 25 trips a year to interest these communities in territorial welfare?
- See that many articles in publicity be sent over the country advertising the resources of this section?
- Send bands to conventions, celebrations, and reunions advertising Pampa and the northeast Panhandle?
- Expend the money to maintain musical and recreational projects for various occasions throughout the year and the summer months?
- Take the lead, at the suggestions of interested Pampans, in making recommendations, and developing recreational parks and celebrations making Pampa the entertainment and recreational center of the territory?
- Take an active lead in highly important, yet thankless tasks, such as bridge building, highway development, the building of railroads and transportation facilities for the northeastern Panhandle—in order that the territory at large may be served—in order that the great oil, farming, and livestock industries may have facilities—in order that new industries may be induced into our midst?
- Take the lead in assisting the county agent and the vocational department in agricultural projects, bringing about better relations between our rural section and our city?
- Take care of the thousand and one enumerable details that have to be handled by someone in a city of this size, such as road information, business and housing inquiries, territorial projects, goodwill trips, and rural relationships which are all important necessities toward the building of a city?

In short, who would be the center of Pampa's activity if it were not for a Chamber of Commerce, or similar organization in which it behooves EVERY CITIZEN TO LEND HIS MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT? An organization such as Pampa must definitely form—and organization that is essential to bring 1936's projects to a head. A few of the projects could be listed as a municipal airport, air mail connections, the continuation and development of goodwill trips, a definite plan for the road north, some definite action on starting the Borger-Pampa road, the marking of highways coming into Pampa, the organization and actual operation of our new Fair Park, a plan for pointing toward more railroad connections in the future.—B. C. D. Bulletin.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Reappointment of Claude D. Teer, chairman of the state board of control, by Governor Allred was not unexpected in capital circles and was widely endorsed.

In certain quarters the governor had been expected to replace Teer in accordance with a fairly well defined policy to consolidate his strength by appointing men actively identified with him personally and politically since he first campaigned for office.

Teer was appointed to the board of control from Williamson county by former Governor Dan Moody after he had gained considerable recognition for his knowledge of fiscal affairs in the house of representatives. Teer served one term as chairman of the house appropriations committee.

Teer's reappointment may be attributed chiefly to his record as chairman of the board, although his relations with the executive have been cordial.

The board of control, largely through Teer's efforts, is held in high regard in both houses of the legislature and by officials generally. As a demonstration of this confidence the legislature entrusted the board with supervision of relief after the assistance program was threatened because of differences between members of two boards.

Little was heard of the relief problem after it was assumed by the board of control. Although there were sporadic complaints they were not of sufficient gravity to warrant extensive legislative investigation, an omission regarded as a compliment in view of the general trend in the legislature to investigate freely.

Teer's term was rearranged by appointment of former Governor R. S. Sterling so that when his last term expired he had served eight years, seven as chairman.

The appointment by Governor Allred is for six years.

Another official from Williamson county, Associate Justice Richard Ortiz of the supreme court, administered the oath of office to Teer.

The relief situation, incidentally, is attracting attention a new as cities and counties struggle to care for families cut off state and federal rolls. Persons physically able to work were dropped January 1, while the state is continuing to care for unemployables.

OUT OUR WAY

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Although the national social security program calls for no tax collections until next year, racketeers are starting early. Both employers and employees already are being victimized through misrepresentations of their requirements.

One racket is the persuasion of employers that reports required from them are so complicated and difficult as to call for installation of special accounting systems—and even for special business machines.

Some agents are selling systems of accounting alleged to be "approved" by the Social Security Board, whereas there actually aren't any special authorized or approved systems.

At social security headquarters it is insisted that no more accounting is required for federal unemployment tax records than the ordinary employer goes through in compiling his payroll. The facts required are chiefly the number of employes, names, amount of money paid, and when employes worked.

Old age benefit reports will require little more information, chiefly as to ages of individuals.

Reports have been received of employers who are deducting from pay envelopes to meet expenses they themselves are expected to pay and of others who intend to pay no taxes for factory workers engaged on piecework.

From Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Illinois have come copies of questionnaires distributed to employes which appear to seek information helpful in thwarting union activities. They are believed to have been distributed by a manufacturers' organization or strike-breaking agency.

A typical questionnaire, issued by a tire company, demands answers to 32 questions, whereas the SSB regulations would require the employe to answer but one: Age. It says:

"The questionnaire is to be accurately filled in by every employe for government records. Any information given incorrectly might in many ways make such person ineligible to receive benefits to which he should be entitled. . . . The labor union membership. . . is supposed to be answered for government purposes only. . . ."

All of which is false. The questionnaire then proceeds to ask if the employe is a union member and, if so, of what union; address, telephone number, religion, ownership or rental of home, and many other personal details.

The SSB says it hasn't asked employers for any information concerning individual employes. It has set up an information service to answer all questions of employers and employes in case of doubt as to such requirements.

This will be news to you, but the U. S. Supreme Court suddenly seemed to be unanimous on an issue the other day.

The case was that of three Mississippi Negroes named Ed Brown, Henry Shields, and Yank Ellington, who contend they shouldn't be hanged on the basis of false murder confession obtained by torture.

The torture is admitted. But the Mississippi supreme court refused to interfere, because the defendants' lawyers hadn't objected in the proper time.

One by one, the nine justices leaped—often in indignation—upon the unhappy lawyers representing the state, in opposition to the appeal. Justice Roberts, author of vigorous anti-New Deal opinions, seemed especially angry.

During the discussion of the trial judges' instructions to the jury concerning the torture evidence, Justice Van Devanter suddenly and heatedly demanded: "Do you mean to infer here that that's a good instruction? Well, I'll tell you why it's not! . . ."

PILOT KILLED BUT FIVE MEN ESCAPE INJURY

SACRIFICES HIS LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS ON SHIP

DENTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Five passengers of an American Airlines plane today credited Pilot Ted Kincaid, who lost his life in his efforts, with saving their lives in a crash near here.

The 38-year-old veteran pilot died in an ambulance late yesterday shortly after his eight-passenger ship crashed into a clump of trees in a forced landing during a snow storm.

The passengers, shaken but all able to walk away from the wreckage, said Kincaid warned them to adjust their safety belts as the plane started to lose altitude.

None of the passengers was considered seriously hurt, although M. P. Youker of Dallas was taken from his hotel room to a hospital early today.

Airlines officials, in opening an investigation, expressed the belief that failure of the carburetor heater permitted ice to form on the carburetor, making a forced landing necessary.

William Littlewood of Chicago chief engineer of the lines, was a passenger. He said he believed the carburetor heater caused the trouble.

The plane, en route from Chicago to Fort Worth and Dallas, crashed on the edge of a field that would have afforded landing space.

Passengers said, however, the snow was so heavy that visibility was near zero.

In addition to Youker and Littlewood, passengers were George Mace of San Antonio, T. P. Malloy of Shreveport, La., and John Schultz of New York.

"It all happened so suddenly I don't think any of us realized exactly what occurred," Schultz said. "We were flying in a blinding snow storm. The motor suddenly stalled and we crashed into a clump of trees."

So badly was the cabin twisted that passengers had to escape thru windows.

Kincaid's body was taken to Dallas, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kincaid, live.

The pilot, a native Texan, lived in Fort Worth. He had nearly 8,100 hours in the air, and had been with American Airlines since 1932.

Since that time he had flown schedules out of Fort Worth to St. Louis, El Paso, Amarillo and Atlanta.

Business Urged To Stand Up and Fight by Knox

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30. (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and a possibility for the republican presidential nomination, last night urged business, as a public trust, to "stand up and fight," instead of complaining.

He said the new deal administration had "stolen the cloak of the democratic party under which to hide its own socialistic skeleton."

He advocated a widespread program for revealing hidden taxes, asserting "this is no sham battle these new dealers are putting up. The prize they covet is to run American affairs to suit themselves."

Addressing 1,200 republicans of northern Ohio at the 33rd annual McKinley day banquet of the Tippecanoe club, Col. Knox declared business, by reason of its wide stock ownership, "has a case that is unbeatable—if it chooses to stand up and fight."

"Let businessmen go to the people and tell them the amount of taxes that have to be paid in order that this same public may be served," he said. "Tell to employees the story of taxes. Show them that if it were not for the increasing tax burdens imposed by this present administration that better wages could be paid."

Notorious Bandit In Islands Jailed

SAMPALOC, P. I., Jan. 30. (AP)—Nicolas Encallado, notorious bandit leader who has halved ten days as a public hero, was back in jail today.

He was re-arrested in the nearby town of Cavinti after surrender of the last of his followers who terrorized Sierra Madre villagers for nine months.

He was arraigned on a charge of brigandage. His preliminary hearing was postponed and the outlaw locked in the Sampaloc jail.

The charge of brigandage indicated a tendency of authorities toward leniency since his announced reformation, for his band was blamed for 11 deaths in ambushes and outright murder.

THRILL CLIMBER DIES LONGMIRE, Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash., Jan. 30. (AP)—The body of Delmer Fadden, 23-year-old "thrill climber," lay 13,000 feet up Mt. Rainier today while a party of expert mountain men mapped plans to recover it, victim of an unknown tragedy on the icy slopes. Fadden had been missing since Jan. 13 when he set out to make a solo climb to the crater—a feat never accomplished in January. His body was sighted yesterday from an airplane by One Duber, in charge of the searching party.

HELEN MOODY IS PAINTING NOW IN OILS

WILL GIVE EXHIBITION OF PICTURES IN SPRING

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER, Associated Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Helen Willis Moody, artist, author, and world's woman tennis champion, is painting eggplant, tomatoes, and celery.

One of the tennis star's new oils, finished since her triumph at Wimbledon last summer, is a still-life of brilliant-colored vegetables with a pink background.

Another, splashed against blue-gray, is a study of brown pottery, silvery bulbs, and green narcissus shoots. She has painted several versions of San Francisco bay, which, she said, "is beautiful and different from every angle—I could spend my life there."

She also is painting landscapes and portraits in oil. "My most long-suffering sitter is my mother," Mrs. Moody said today. "She poses patiently for hours."

Her first "one-man" exhibition of oils will be held this spring in the Grand Central Art Galleries; and, according to Erwin Barrie, manager of the galleries, "she's going to be good."

"I think that some day she will be ranked among our best American artists," Barrie said.

Blessed in black, with a little black toque and pearls, Mrs. Moody conferred about the exhibition and also about a new book which she is writing on tennis.

Asked if she thinks her art as good as her tennis, she demurred, "the outlooker will have to decide. I like them both, and think they go well together."

"I'm more interested in oils than I ever was in etchings, drawings and water color."

In San Francisco, she has been painting regularly every afternoon in her studio, which is connected with the Moody's apartment.

In pre-war years more than 35,000 new books were published annually in Germany, while in 1934 production declined to 20,852 books.

Freighter Aground At Aransas Pass

CORPU SCHRESTI, Jan. 30. (AP)—Surf and wind lashed the freighter Texas Banker, aground nine miles south of Aransas Pass, and the Gulf was still too rough today for tugs to attempt refloating her.

The Coast Guard cutter Saranac, steaming from Pensacola, Fla., to aid the distressed freighter, was due about midnight.

Heavy fog was responsible for the Texas Banker, bound for New York with general cargo, driving high up on the beach yesterday. Because of the obscure weather, coast guard boats hunted eight hours before locating her, despite the fact they were in radio contact.

GRACE PERIOD GIVEN

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The liquor control board today gave a grace period until Saturday for wholesale and package store dealers to place liquor tax stamps on stocks on hand.

"The board has been patient in regard to this," it stated in a letter to dealers, "but this is final and no excuse will be accepted. In all probability the tax has been paid but this liquor positively must be stamped by Feb. 1 or it will be confiscated as contraband."

Grand Jury in Frisco Demands Hewitt Evidence

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (AP)—The San Francisco grand jury demanded today that evidence in the Ann Cooper Hewitt sterilization case be laid before it so the jury can decide whether criminal charges should be issued.

The question of issuing warrants against three defendants in Miss Hewitt's $500,000 "damage suit" is being considered by municipal Judge Sylvain Lazarus.

It was left up to him in an unusual procedure after Miss Hewitt refused to sign criminal charges and the district attorney's office declined to take the case before the grand jury without her signature.

Miss Hewitt's civil suit charges her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, Dr. Samuel G. Boyd and Dr. Tilton E. Tillman conspired to sterilize her so the mother could profit from a trust fund left by the girl's father. Mrs. Marie S. Scally, psychiatrist who said Miss Hewitt was mentally only 11 years old, also is a defendant.

KILLED IN RIOT SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE, Jan. 30. (AP)—Eight persons were killed and 31 wounded today in a riot at an iron mine in the state of Trengganu, in the northeast Malay peninsula. The casualties were suffered by coolies during several hours of fighting as a result of a quarrel over gambling.
