Army Ready To Accept Resignation Of General Who Opposes 'Muzzling'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army was ready today to accept the resignation of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who is ending a 30-year service career in protest against military "censorship."

Walker said that as a civilian he would be able to continue his anti-Communist fight which he had "found it no longer possible to do in uniform."

"I must be free from the power of little men who, in the name of my country, punish loyal service to it," he said.

The veteran officer, removed from command of the 24th Division in Germany over alleged political activities, which critics said were based on principles of the right wing John Birch Society, said he would refuse the $1,012.50 a month retirement pay he is due.

In a bitter statement Thursday announcing his intention to resign, he said it would be a "compromise with my principle" to accept the pay.

The Army said that Walker could, in effect, be ordered to remain on duty, but a spokesman added there was no thought of doing that.

Walker's statement, sent to the Senate Military Preparedness subcommittee, which resumes hearings on the "muzzling" hassle Nov. 17, was released by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., a Walker supporter.

Walker, who is staying in San Antonio, said he had no further comment on his resignation because his statement to the subcommittee speaks for itself. He declined to say if he would accept an invitation to appear before the subcommittee. But he added that he agreed with Gen. Douglas MacArthur that executive power has become so strong that military men are being treated ruthlessly for speaking their minds.

"The encroachment upon the responsibility of the legislative branch to regulate the military conduct is the very encroachment now turned on me. In defeat I am in good company."

Walker was relieved of his command last April and after investigation was admonished for "participating in controversial activities" and for making "derogatory remarks of a serious nature about certain prominent Americans."

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara later testified that Walker had attempted to influence the votes of his troops in the 1960 election. He said the general made "inflammatory and derogatory statements" against former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Walker, in his statement, said, "my career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country." "It will be my purpose now, as a civilian, to attempt to do what I have found it no longer possible to do in uniform."

There was speculation that Walker might enter politics in his home state of Texas.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Walker's case focuses attention on "attempts to gag the military, and the practice needs very much to be brought to light."

But Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, an Army reserve lieutenant colonel, said he had reviewed the record of the investigation and said Walker "was very fortunate that he was not court-martialed" for his troop-instruction activities in Europe.

"Our objective is not peace, but freedom," Walker said. "If we are vigilant and strong and willing and worthy to defend our liberty, peace will be at home with us. If the Soviet leaders are made to understand that we will fight, (See WALKER, Page 3)

Snow Falls As Wintry Front Hits

The first snow of the season blanketed parts of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains today as much as three inches deep and the mercury plunged below 20 degrees.

In Pampa the mercury dipped to 24 degrees. There was no precipitation, however, as the chilly blasts swept into the vicinity in the early evening on the wings of strong winds.

Pampa had a total of 1.65 inches of rain Sunday through Wednesday.

The snow and frigid temperatures arrived with an Arctic cold front. Another hard freeze was expected — throughout Northwest Texas tonight and freezing temperatures deep into Southwest Texas.

The mercury dipped to an overnight low of 18 degrees at Dalhart, at the top of the Panhandle. It was 67 at Brownsville in the southernmost part of Texas.

Three inches of snow fell at Muleshoe, 63 miles northwest of Lubbock and Dimmitt and 1.5 inches at Hereford. A lighter amount was reported at Sudan.

Panhandle and South Plains ranchers cheered the snow because of the moisture it brought for dry pastures. But cotton farmers were worried that the harvest might be delayed and the quality of the cotton damaged by the cold.

The U. S. Weather Bureau warned Panhandle stockmen that a hard freeze was in store for the Panhandle.

Skies cleared as the wave of cold air pushed through the state. An earlier front Thursday brought rains to wide sections of the state and a tornado to East Texas.

The twister hit the community of Grandview, five miles north of Henderson. There were no injuries, but the wind uprooted a church, uprooted trees and demolished outbuildings.

Atomic Experts Set For Tests If Order Comes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atomic experts said today the United States could resume above-ground nuclear tests in two or three months if President Kennedy finds them necessary.

The President said Thursday such tests would be ordered if a current study of Soviet testing showed more experiments were required to maintain a U.S. nuclear lead over Russia.

Shortly after his statement, Russia exploded two more nuclear devices, raising speculation that Soviet scientists might have stumbled on some new development and were proof-testing it. The blasts, 29th and 30th announced tests in the current series, were set off in the arctic. The Atomic Energy Commission said both were in the low-to-intermediate range, or less than a megaton.

The continuation of the Soviet testing, expected to end with last Monday's 50-megaton-plus explosion, led experts here to speculate the Russians might have come across some new lead in their experiments and wanted to follow it up.

Kennedy said in his statement that if tests are resumed, the United States would hold fallout to an "absolute minimum." He said this country had no intention of exploding anything like a 50-megaton bomb.

The Chief Executive denounced Russia's "campaign of fear" but again offered to sign a nuclear test ban treaty so long as it provides for adequate inspection and control.

GOP Chairman Coming To Rally

Pampa will be the scene Saturday night of one in a series of Texas political rallies in which the Republican Party is offering "disillusioned Democrats" an opportunity to break away from what the G.O.P. calls a "Democratic trend toward socialism."

Top Republican leaders in Texas, party members and delegations from a dozen Panhandle cities and towns will attend the rally to be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium.

Principal speaker at the rally will be Jack Cox, Breckenridge oilman, a former Democratic candidate for governor of Texas who has decided to enter the race now as a Republican gubernatorial candidate.

Ken Peeples and Dr. S. B. Sybert, organizers of the Pampa rally, said today the session will give Democrats who wish to do so a chance to change over to the Republican party.

Among Texas Republican leaders expected to attend are Tad Smith of El Paso, state Republican chairman; Mrs. G. K. McDaniels of Borger, vice chairman,

Cox Will Enter Governor's Race

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (UPI)—Breckenridge oilman Jack Cox, who polled 40 per cent of the total vote as a candidate for governor in last year's Democratic primary, has announced he will run again, this time as a Republican.

Cox said Thursday he was encouraged to make his announcement by an endorsement given him Wednesday by a group of 67 Texas conservative leaders in Austin.

The gathering included former Texas Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the former governor.

Cox said that he hopes "to lead the forces for constitutional government and individual liberties to a smashing victory over the forces of socialism in the general election next November (1962)."

The endorsement by the conservative leaders and other encouragement given over the state "have convinced me that a majority of Texans believe a forceful rejection and decisive repudiation of the type of state government we are presently experiencing is long overdue," Cox said.

Cox, 40, changed over to the GOP last month and since that time has been making speeches all over the state.

News Not Linked To Subscription Telephone Calls

The Pampa Daily News has received inquiries concerning telephone calls connecting it and some members of the staff with a magazine sales program, according to Lewis Caudill, News circulation manager.

Caudill stated that anyone endeavoring to connect the News or staff members with magazine subscription sales by telephone was indulging in misrepresentation. The News does have a sales campaign in the Spring on a door-to-door basis whereby subscribers can take the News and their favorite magazines on the basis of one weekly collection, but subscribers should be wary of any telephone attempt to make such a sale, Caudill stated.

More Yanks To Enter Berlin Via Red Zone

BERLIN (UPI) — The United States today ordered three more military convoys into West Berlin through the Soviet zone to demonstrate Western rights of access to the divided city.

An Army spokesman said the first convoy of 40 soldiers, one jeep and four trucks arrived here without incident after a 116-mile trip from Helmstedt. Two others the same size were due later today.

The American convoy passed through Soviet checkpoints at each end of the Helmstedt-Berlin highway without trouble. The Communist guards made no move to control it.

The spokesman said three more convoys carrying replacements for the 4,500-man garrison here will be sent Saturday.

He said helicopter flights would continue to supply and relieve the three-man military police garrison in the tiny U. S.-controlled enclave of Steinstuecken, isolated one mile inside Communist East Germany.

Politics Topic At Today's City Commission Meeting

Political philosophies, industrial needs, zoning and public relations kept city commissioners supplied with plenty of discussion material at today's meeting of the City Commission.

Dr. S. B. Sybert, one of the organizers of tomorrow night's political rally in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium, asked the commission to "take a definite stand to restore constitutional government."

While the mayor and three of the four city commissioners expressed sympathy for Dr. Sybert's conservative thinking, it was the individual opinion of the commissioners that the commission as a body should not make any kind of political endorsement.

It seemed to be the consensus throughout the discussion that both the Republican and Democratic parties had some philosophies with which the commissioners did not agree.

Dr. Sybert said he felt the same way, but he added: "I believe that the Republican party now is the only party left that gives us an opportunity to get away from the current socialistic trend in government. I am more interested in conservative government than in party politics."

The commissioners finally concluded without going on record that they would use their individual thinking about supporting the conservative moves.

City Commissioner L. P. Fort suggested to the commission that an industrial engineer be employed to bring new business and industry to Pampa.

"It seems to me," Fort said, "the plan now being used is not very effective."

Mayor E. C. Sidwell said he thought Pampa has had a good growth. He said he agreed, however, that right now more effort probably is needed.

"But," the mayor said, "I think our local people can do the job."

The mayor also brought up the matter of better public relations between the city commission and the taxpayers.

"I think we need to keep the people advised of every move we make," he said. "Let them know our problems, let them know what we are doing."

The mayor asked for suggestions. (See COMMISSION, Page 3)

Honduras Storm Damage Amazes Aid Ship Crew

BELIZE, British Honduras (UPI) — The giant U.S. Navy aircraft carrier Antietam, packed with more than 300 tons of emergency provisions, arrives today at this British crown colony where dazed survivors of Hurricane Hattie wander through the rubble in quest of food and medicine.

A rescue team of 138 medical personnel were aboard the Antietam, and a fleet of 23 helicopters was brought along to make deliveries.

Aid began to arrive in substantial quantities Thursday when three U.S. Navy ships and a British frigate pulled into the harbor. (See HONDURAS, Page 3)

Son Born Early Today To Princess Margaret

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret, Britain's 31-year-old "little sister," safely gave birth today to her first child — a healthy boy — at the Clarence House residence of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The baby will be known as Viscount Linley and automatically becomes fifth in line to the British throne.

An official Clarence House announcement tacked on the gate of the residence shortly before noon proclaimed to happy Britons:

"Her Royal Highness the Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon was safely delivered of a son at 4:45 a.m. C.S.T. today.

"Both mother and baby are well."

Margaret had driven to Clarence House from her own residence, Kensington Palace, just Thursday night with her husband, Lord Snowdon, whom she married as commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones 18 months ago almost to the day.

Both the queen mother and Margaret's husband were at Clarence House during the birth this morning.

"They were the first to know it was a boy and that all was well," said a spokesman for the family.

The birth was a cause for rejoicing by Britons. If the queen is the royal tie that binds the commonwealth, it is the petite Margaret, her little sister, who rules a special kingdom of devotion.

Britons suffered with her through one broken romance — with Group Capt. Peter Townsend — and cheered when she married commoner Armstrong-Jones.

"Both mother and baby are well."

Margaret had driven to Clarence House from her own residence, Kensington Palace, just Thursday night with her husband, Lord Snowdon, whom she married as commoner Antony Armstrong-Jones 18 months ago almost to the day.

Water Flooding Helps Oil Areas, API Group Told

Producing life of oil wells in the Panhandle field possibly can be increased from 10 to 15 years through the use of the water flooding method, Stanley Betzer of Borger, one of the oil industry's foremost authorities on the subject, told an audience of some 200 API members at their November meeting in Coronado Inn Thursday night.

The statement was based on Betzer's many years of experience with water flooding in northeastern Oklahoma and Kansas. Betzer, Phillips Petroleum Co. official was the key individual in development of the North Burbank Unit Waterflood in Osage County, Okla., where the field, discovered in 1929, reached its peak in 1932 and started down in 1932 — was reactivated and stimulated in the 1950s and started on the upgrade again because of secondary recovery through water flooding.

Water flooding, in the language of the layman, is the injection of water into the producing area to stimulate the flow of oil.

Wells so stimulated in the N. Burbank field in Oklahoma 10 or 12 years ago still are producing, Betzer said.

The speaker engaged in a lengthy question-and-answer period with members of the audience in which he explained techniques used in the Oklahoma field and also related many of the problems encountered in the pioneering days of water flooding.

Betzer pointed out that there is a favorable comparison between the makeup of the Panhandle field and N. Burbank field where the producing life of wells has been extended from 10 to 15 years by water flooding.

API officials obtained the services of Betzer as a speaker, they said, because of the growing importance of water flooding in the Texas Panhandle field and because of his expert knowledge of all phases of the secondary recovery method.

It was announced at Thursday

Bill Foster, owner and operator of Bill's Barber Shop, 103 N. Hobart, reported to city police yesterday a pair of clippers was stolen from the shop sometime between 12:45 p.m. and 1:15 p.m. yesterday.

Foster told police he and his assistant, Bob Hudson, had left to barber shop unlocked while they were out to lunch. When they returned at 1:15 p.m. the clippers were missing. The clippers were valued at $22.50, police said.

est temperature of 83 degrees. A five-day forecast called for temperatures 8-10 degrees below normal in Northeastern, North Central and Northwestern Texas. Readings 6-10 below normal were predicted for a five-day period in Southern Texas.

The killer storm claimed a number of lives, including five in the Colorado-Wyoming areas which got an unwelcome preview of the mighty arctic front Thursday.

The clash of the cold front with tropical air from the Gulf of Mexico touched off tornadoes in the Southwest and flooding in Kansas and Nebraska. Elsewhere, it produced strong southerly winds which brought record high temperatures to Chicago, Indianapolis, Nashville and other midwestern cities.

Winds of up to 60 miles an hour were reported as the near-blizzard storm howled eastward across the plains states Thursday night and early today. In their wake, they left mountain communities paralyzed by snowfalls of up to 16 inches.

Montana was the first state hit as the storm blasted in from Canada Thursday. The mercury plummeted 45 degrees in parts of the state, dropping to 10 below zero at Drummond, Mont.

Then it moved southward into Wyoming, New Mexico and Colorado and eastward through the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The first snow of the season some of the flakes the size of a half-dollar, fell in the Texas Panhandle.

The twisters struck at Pleasant Hill, La., Grandview, Tex., Parks, Ark., and Cherokee, Kan., but no fatalities were reported.

The weatherman said the fast-moving storm would spread eastward and southward today. The front fringes were expected to move into Louisiana, Kentucky and Ohio.

Commissioners today also discussed at length some of the city's zoning problems such as overlapping of business and commercial zones to the point where there are violations of city ordinances.

The commission decided to give serious consideration to the zoning situation and arrive at some procedure where certain city ordinances will either be enforced or repealed.

Walker

there will be no need to fight," Walker also revealed in his statement that he had sought to resign from the Army Aug. 4, 1959, before he was sent to command the 24th Division and while he was still commander of the Arkansas Military District.

Two years before that, he had commanded federal troops in the Little Rock school desegregation dispute. He told the committee today that the federal troops were used at Little Rock contrary to his personal wishes.

Walker said his 1959 resignation was turned down. In it he wrote "it is fair to say that in my opinion the Fifth Column conspiracy and influence in the United States minimize or nullify the effectiveness of my ideals and principles, military missions and objectives, and the necessary American public spirit to support sons and soldiers."

Attached to the end of his statement to the subcommittee was Walker's latest resignation. It said: "I tender my resignation because it is my choice and my desire. Connection or affiliation with the United States Army may continue the jeopardies to which I have recently been subjected." Walker's action revived speculation that he might enter the political arena in Texas, his home state, possibly as a candidate against Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., in 1964.

Walker has been in contact with Sen. Tower since the controversy over his indoctrination program arose. But Walker gave no indication of any political plans.

Tower told newsmen several days ago he would not urge Walker to run for governor of Texas next year because the Republicans already have a strong potential candidate. But Tower would not speculate on whether Walker might oppose Yarborough.

Tower Is Pleased Walker Will Keep Fighting Commies

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Thursday night the resignation of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker "will be a great loss to the military."

However, Tower said, "I am pleased to know he will devote his time to fighting the Communist conspiracy."

He said the resignation focuses attention on "attempts to gag the military, and this practice needs very much to be brought to light."

"This is not unexpected," Tower said on the announcement that Walker is quitting the Army. Walker said he would continue his anti-Communist fight as a civilian.

Heater Explodes At Plant But No One Is Injured

Two employees of the Skelly Schaefer Gasoline Plant, 11 miles west of Pampa, escaped injury this morning when an oil heater they were attempting to light exploded and caught fire.

L. Barrett, superintendent of the plant, said the fire, caused by a broken oil line, was quickly extinguished by plant employees in the area. There was no threat to the plant, Barrett said.

Pampa firemen and ambulance service rushed to the gasoline plant when a call was received at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Highway patrol officers said plant officials met the Pampa ambulance and fire truck at the plant gate and told them the fire was under control.

Barrett said the 50 foot oil heater was completely destroyed.

Hon Duras

Sailors appalled by the wasteland of muck and refuse stripped blankets from their bunks for the helpless refugees.

At least 108 persons were reported dead and word filtering in from outlying districts indicated the toll would climb higher. Most of the casualties were residents of Belize and nearby Stann Creek. More than 400 persons were known to have suffered injuries in the storm which struck Tuesday.

The hurricane, battering the city with 200-mile-an-hour wind gusts, ripped wooden houses from their foundations. Nearly everything was destroyed. Gov. Collin Thornley said the devastation was worse than the 1931 hurricane which also reduced the city to shambles.

Tower said he was pleased that the Senate military preparedness subcommittee will begin hearings late this month on censorship of military officers.

The unfortunate way in which the Walker case was handled by the administration has been the motivation for this investigation," Tower said.

Larry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Groom, Gray County 4-H boy from Groom, captured grand champion honors with his Angus heifer in the junior beef heifer show at the recent State Fair of Texas, Dallas.

Brown is a member of the 4-H Club and fed and cared for the calf under the direction of Gray County assistant county agent, Cecil Regier.

In addition to his winning the grand champion honors, Brown won $50 in prize money and a nice trophy and banner.

Other Gray County 4-H boys participating in the Dallas fair were Lonnie Brown, Groom; Joe Wheeley, Pampa, and Johnny Carpenter, McLean.

Lonnie Brown placed 9th in the lightweight Angus junior steer show and won $10 in prize money. Joe Wheeley placed 10th in the middle weight Angus Junior steer show. His winnings were $10 in prize money. Johnny Carpenter, 4-H member from McLean, placed 17th in the middleweight here-fords and won $10.

Cecil Regier, who accompanied the boys to the fair said, "We are real proud of these boys and the job they are doing in their 4-H club work. We are especially proud of Larry Brown. This marks the first time a Gray County youth has ever won a grand champion honor in this division."

Regier, in addition to other duties, is in charge of the Gray County 4-H boys work. There are eight boys 4-H clubs in Gray County representing 151 4-H club boys.

Approximately 35 Gray County 4-H boys are feeding 25 beef calf and 35 swine projects for the coming Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Both the Katangese and the central Congolese governments today claimed successes in fighting in mineral-rich Katanga Province.

Congo army commander Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu claimed Thursday that his forces had advanced up to 73 miles into the province and had planted flags at 72 different locations inside the territory of the secessionist regime.

But Katanga Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba insisted that Katangese gendarmes had repulsed the invaders and that Mobutu's claims of success were "pure invention."

James Thurber Will Be Buried At Former Home

NEW YORK (UPI)—In death, the howl who roamed the streets of Columbus, Ohio, as Jamie Thurber will return to that Midwestern wellspring of his humor, his talent now compared with that of Mark Twain.

James Thurber died late Thursday at 66. The author-humorist-cartoonist-playwright had entered Doctors Hospital a month ago for surgery for a blood clot on the brain. Pneumonia set in this week.

Burial was scheduled in the Thurber family plot in Columbus, Ohio, where he was born "on a night of wild portent and high wind in the year 1884" and grew up amid a family of glorious eccentricity which had a passion for Civil War and dogs — one of which the lieutenant-governor of Ohio had been immediately according to his mother, sorry.

In its obituary today, the New York Herald Tribune called Thurber "perhaps the greatest humorist this country has known since Mark Twain, but, like Twain, he was far more."

Danny Kaye, the comedian who starred in the movie made from Thurber's short story "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," said he loved Thurber was a humorist of Twain's stature and that "Walter Mitty" would be as universal and immortal as "Huckleberry Finn."

William Shawn, editor of the "Christ's Way" is the sermon topic chosen by E. H. McCarter for the Sunday morning worship service in the First Presbyterian Church. The text will be "Give Ye Them To Eat," from Mark 8:7.

McCarter is an Elder in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Amarillo.

AID RUSHED — Mankind has responded to the needs of their fellowman by rushing aid by sea and air to Belize, a British Honduras seaport almost destroyed by hurricane Hattie. Reports indicate all the large buildings in the city were destroyed, and wooden homes have been ripped from their foundations. The sleepy city of 31,000 persons was engulfed by water 10 feet deep.

He was graduate assistant to Dr. Euell Porter.

Sanders taught one year in Thomas Jefferson High School in Port Arthur before coming to Pampa. He is presently Choral Music Director of Pampa High School and is minister of music at Central Baptist Church. He is married and the father of one child.

Need Of Spiritual Discernment Topic Of Sunday Lesson

Today's need for spiritual discernment will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science church services. Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" will include the words of St. Paul (1 Cor. 2).

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned."

This citation will be among those read from "Science and Health" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 203): "Spiritual perception brings out the possibilities of being; destroys reliance on aught but God, and so makes man the image of his Maker in deed and in truth."

Nazarenes Among Top Church Givers

By CLAIRE COX NEW YORK (UPI) — Whenever church statistics are tabulated, the 320,000 members of the Church of the Nazarene rank among the most generous of American Protestants.

In 1948, when the denomination was formed, it had 228 churches with 10,414 members and 7,780 Sunday School pupils. Church property was valued at $560,000. Annual per capita giving was $13.44.

On Jan. 1, 1961, the Nazarenes had 4,741 churches with 218,588 members in the United States and 50,000 abroad. There were 701,215 Sunday School pupils and church property was worth $218,778,000.

The annual per capita giving had soared to $142.37. The Nazarenes unquestionably have one of the largest — growing denominations. They say their church was born marching and never has slackened the pace of its revivals at home and evangelism and missionary work abroad.

Tithing is encouraged, but it is not mandatory as it is in some denominations, most notably the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon). Many Nazarenes far exceed the traditional tithing, which is 10 per cent of all income.

The major Nazarene impulse to give apparently stems from the fact that when one is a member of the church, he is a member every day of the week. His entire life becomes involved in the church. Therefore, giving to it is most natural.

The dynamism of the Nazarene denomination is found also in its concentration on mission work and evangelism. More money goes into these efforts than into the erection of imposing church buildings.

Another factor cited by officials of the denomination is the heavy concentration on development of Sunday School activities. Throughout Protestantism it is generally recognized that the Sunday School is the "growing edge" of the church. Most future members will be drawn from graduates of Sunday classes, and the Nazarenes have worked diligently in this area.

People ask, "What is the Nazarene church?" It is one of the larger Holiness denominations of this century. Wesleyan in tradition, it is a distinctively American Protestant body, owing none of its tradition to the old country. The Nazarenes adhere to all the historic doctrines of the New Testament and emphasize the doctrine of entire sanctification as a second definite work of Grace.

While many modern church organizations are the result of splits from other groups, the Nazarenes represent a coming together of several independent Holiness bodies. More than 10 groups have joined the denomination since it was begun.

World headquarters and publishing offices of the Nazarenes are in Kansas City, Mo. The church maintains six liberal arts colleges in the United States, Bible colleges in Canada and Britain and a seminary. Its weekly radio broadcast, "Showers of Blessing," is carried on 400 stations.

The Nazarenes now rank 28th or 29th in membership among American denominations, 15th in Sunday School enrollment and 9th in sales volume from publishing. The church maintains 450 missionaries at 42 stations around the world and has 1,500 pastors in the United States.

Because the Church of the Nazarene is a Holiness body, some persons believe it to be one of the "Holy-Roller" or "speaking with tongues" groups. There are Pentecostal bodies that fall in this category, but the Nazarenes are regarded as the "right wing" of the Holiness movement. Their worship is neither extremely ritualistic nor absolutely free. The doctrines are similar to those of the old Methodist church but in evangelistic emphasis it is closer to the Wesleyan Methodist and the Free Methodist groups.

Nazarenes are involved in an intensive program, launched last year, to gain at least 70,000 new members and start 800 more churches by 1964.

"Our supreme desire for 1960-64 is to put God and His Kingdom first," said Dr. Samuel Young, a general superintendent, "and thereby give evangelism its rightful place in winning the lost to Christ."

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

REV. E. K. CORNELL
Kingsmill Community Church

FOUR TRAGEDIES OF OUR DAY

To introduce the message we would like to read the scripture: Ps. 48:1 "Great is the Lord, and great to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of His Holiness."

God is great, He is all Power, He loves you. He is one to be praised. If we know God as our Father it gives us a purpose in life. Isa. 12:2, 3 tells us God is our Salvation and our Strength, and that with joy shall ye draw waters out of the wells of Salvation. To have this joy imparted to us and to keep Salvation we must not commit these four tragedies.

THE UNBENDED KNEE. The first tragedy, is the lack of prayer. Prayer is necessary in a Christian life, to have the Joy of Salvation. Many Americans have forgotten our Nation was founded on Prayer. Gone is the Altar from many churches. Gone is the old-fashioned home altar where the family knelt for devotions. The prayer of Thanksgiving is unthought of, the Prayer of Repentance is far from them. We read in the Bible that Jesus prayed all night, we find Him in the garden with his disciples praying, how much more do we need to pray.

THE SECOND TRAGEDY: THE UNREAD BIBLE. THE UNREAD BIBLE is the second tragedy, in a believers life. Do you read and study your Bible? Second Tim. 2:15 we are told to study to show ourselves approved of the Lord. The Bible is the road map of life. It is our map from earth to heaven. We use road maps to travel this land of ours, the signs along the road tells us of bad roads, detours, dead end roads, by-passes. The Bible must be read carefully and prayer-fully and then applied. Let us take note that the way of life can be missed because of mis-reading or of NOT reading the Bible. The soap-salesman complained to the minister that the Gospel was not effective. The Minister pointed to a little dirty boy, who was real dirty. The salesman replied it isn't the soaps fault he was so-dirty, but that the soap had to be applied before it does any good. The minister replied, the same with the Gospel it has to be applied and used before there is results.

THE THIRD TRAGEDY. UNPAID TITHES. Unpaid Tithes the third tragedy of today. Every one has read enough Bible and heard enough preaching to know that one-tenth of their income belongs to God, you owe it to him, it is the Lords. Its is your rent for living on His earth. When you withhold your Tithes you hinder the work and cause of Christ. You cause an extra heavy burden to fall on others. It also hinders your faith and growth in the Lord. Pay that which you owe God, do it gladly and freely as unto the Lord. The Bible tells us in Mal. 3:10 "Bring ye all the Tithes into the store house, and try me and prove me saith the Lord and see if I will not open the windows of Heaven and pour out a blessing and there shall not be room enough to receive it. Paying Tithes is important. Don't fail to give God his part.

THE FOURTH TRAGEDY . . . THE EMPTY PEW. The four tragedy is forgetting to assemble ourselves in the house of God. Heb. 10:25 we read "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is, but exhorting one another, and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching." An empty pew is a poor example of our Christian service to the Lord. Have you encouraged others to attend God's house with you Don't send, but take your family to church on Sundays. Are you keeping things right between you and God? Or are you letting the Modern trend of Sunday pleasures fill your life and time.

All of these, THE UNBENDED KNEE, THE UNREAD BIBLE, THE UNPAID TITHES AND THE UNFILLED PEWS are weights that press us down and can easily lead you down the wrong road, the road of destruction. However we can make each of these a quality instead of a tragedy, if we pray and study God's word these are qualities that God will be pleased with in our lives, let us mend our ways before God, there is a way out, God's way. It is our hope and belief that Jesus is coming SOON. May we prove this by our actions and by being ready for His call.

Playoff Berths To Be Decided

By United Press International
At least a fourth of the Class AA and A schoolboy football championship playoff field is expected to be filled this weekend, the next to last on the schedule for the schools in those divisions.

With four berths already clinched—one in AA by Hamilton and three in A by Kress, Rotan and Crowell—another 16 are up for grabs in games tonight scattered from the top of the Panhandle to the tip of the lower Rio Grande Valley.

At the same time, the going gets rougher in the Class AAAA and AAA divisions where a good many of the state's Top 10 rated teams in both divisions face troublesome rivals capable of springing upsets.

One game in each division matches rated teams—Corpus Christi Ray vs. Corpus Christi Carroll in AAAA and Belton at Cleburne in AAA. Ray is ranked No. 3, Carroll No. 7, Cleburne No. 5 and Belton No. 7 in their respective classes.

Wichita Falls, the AAAA kingpin season-long will be strongly favored to rack up its eighth in a row, but Arlington, with a 6-2 record, might be fired up enough to turn in a shocker.

Brownwood, the defending AAA titlist who also is ranked No. 1, won't be as solid a choice, however, over perennially strong Breckenridge.

Other rated AAAA teams with potential upsets at hand include Fort Worth Paschal against Fort Worth Carter, San Antonio Jefferson against Alamo Heights, Galena Park against Baytown, and Amarillo Tascosa against Amarillo Palo Duro.

Dumas, which meets Hereford; Bay City, which plays El Campo, and Silsbee, which faces Conroe, are the AAA rated teams in for tough tests.

General Manager Of A's Resigns

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The unexpected resignation of Asst. General Manager Bill Bergesch today left the Kansas City Athletics devoid of experienced baseball men in the front office.

Bergesch, who has devoted 15 years to the game, quit his job here Thursday to become director of the New York Mets' farm system.

His departure to the new National League club dropped the operation of the entire Athletics organization into the hands of owner Charles O. Finley and General Manager Pat Friday, a pair of insurance executives with no background in baseball.

Bergesch, 38, was the last survivor of an experienced five-man front office staff Finley employed when he purchased the American League club last December. The owner said their job was to build the Athletics, who had finished last the previous year, into a pennant contender.

But before the halfway mark last season, Finley had fired three of the five—including General Manager Frank Lane and field manager Joe Gordon. The fourth, player personnel director George Selkirk, quit during the season.

Finley named Friday general manager to replace Lane, and Bergesch assumed the duties of Selkirk and ousted farm director Hank Peters. Neither Selkirk nor Peters was replaced.

Arkansas Expects Close Game With Texas Aggies

By United Press International
University of Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says he expects "another one of those cardiac ball games" from Texas A&M Saturday at Fayetteville.

"I expect a close game," he said. "It will be one of those days when we will have to do everything right."

Odds-makers see the Razorbacks as six-point favorites over the Aggies.

It rained Thursday and the Razorbacks had to go inside and watch films. "We were just going to have a light signal drill anyway," Broyles said.

The Cadets also were forced inside by the elements. Coach Jim Myers said his team was in good shape except for defensive halfback Kenneth Kipp who is suffering from strained muscles in his elbow.

Texas Tech got a break in the rainy weather and gave their offense a going over. The Red Raiders will be seven point underdogs to Rice in the game at Lubbock. Coach J. T. King said halfback Bake Turner may see only limited action against the Owls.

Rice's drill was cut short by rain. The Owls went indoors to study game films of Texas Tech.

Rain fell at Dallas and Austin and workouts were brief Thursday for Southern Methodist and the University of Texas. A crowd of 40,000 is expected for their clash Saturday in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns, third-ranked and the nation's No. 1 offensive team, have been installed 22-point favorites.

Pep Rally Halted By Officers

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—More than 700 Louisiana State students whipped themselves into a frenzy at a pep rally early today and snarled back at police dogs sent to bring them under control.

Several students reported one of their schoolmates was bitten by one of the two snapping police dogs, but the report could not be confirmed.

Police orders for dispersal, over a riot wagon loudspeaker, were ignored by the students, mostly men, who chanted, "Hey hey, what do you say, let's take the dogs away."

Two firewagons screamed onto the campus intersections and connected fire hoses, threatening to hose down the crowd unless the men went back to their dormitories. The men responded by piling onto one of the fire trucks.

The crowd had gathered spontaneously before midnight in a rally for Saturday's Mississippi-LSU football game. When police showed up, the yells turned on the police and dogs instead of Ole Miss.

Most of the students went to bed after Dean of Men Arden O. French spoke to the crowd. French advised the police to take the dogs away, told the firemen to leave, and warned the students that those remaining at the intersection faced expulsion. Eight minutes later, the corner was deserted.

Texas Freshmen Play SMU Today

AUSTIN (UPI)—The University of Texas Shortorns, unbeaten in their last 18 games, meet the Southern Methodist Colts today in a Southwest Conference freshman game at Austin.

The Shortorns last lost in the next-to-last game of the 1957 season. Texas Christian beat them 28-13 that year. Since then they have been tied by SMU and that is all.

Longhorns Favored To Beat Mustangs

By United Press International
Miami is a 13-point favorite to defeat Georgia in the Orange Bowl tonight in a game that marks the start of a weekend schedule in which three of the country's top five teams take on formidable opponents.

A crowd of about 45,000 is expected despite threatening weather at Miami, Fla., in the most important game of a light Friday night program. Each team reached the 500-mark last week—Miami with a 10-0 victory over North Carolina and Georgia with a 16-15 win over Kentucky.

The game pits two of the country's most talented sophomore quarterbacks against each other in Miami's George Mira and Georgia's Larry Rakestraw. Mira has thrown a touchdown pass in four of Miami's six games this season while Rakestraw blossomed into a dangerous passer in the last few games after playing defense in Georgia's early contests.

With the Friday night game out of the way, the decks will be cleared Saturday for three big games that could have important repercussions in the national rankings.

These send unbeaten Michigan State, the nation's top-ranked team, against once-beaten, 10th-ranked Minnesota; second-ranked Mississippi against seventh-ranked Louisiana State and fifth-ranked Ohio State against ninth-ranked Iowa.

Michigan State is favored by seven points over Minnesota (4-1), Mississippi is a six-point choice over LSU (5-1), and Ohio State (4-0) is a three-point pick over Iowa (4-1). Michigan State is putting its five-game winning streak on the line while Mississippi is placing its perfect 6-0 slate in jeopardy.

Texas, the country's third-ranked power, is a 22-point favorite over Southern Methodist.

Chicago Club Protests Loss

By United Press International
The Chicago Majors today went to their own boss to protest their 65-64 loss to the Washington Tapers in an American Basketball League game Thursday night.

The protest was lodged with Abe Saperstein, owner of the Majors who also is serving as commissioner of the new pro league.

Players of both teams slipped and fell all over the Washington Coliseum because vapors rising from the ice hockey surface beneath the floor made the basketball surface as slippery as glass. Coach Andy Phillip of the visitors finally lodged an official protest during the third period.

English Fighters Whip Americans

LONDON (UPI)—Lack of opportunity to train properly was the reason given today for America's worst amateur boxing disaster.

Britain's amateur leather-tossers defeated the Amateur Athletic Union team from the United States, 10-0, before 4,200 elated fans at the Empire Pool Arena Thursday night.

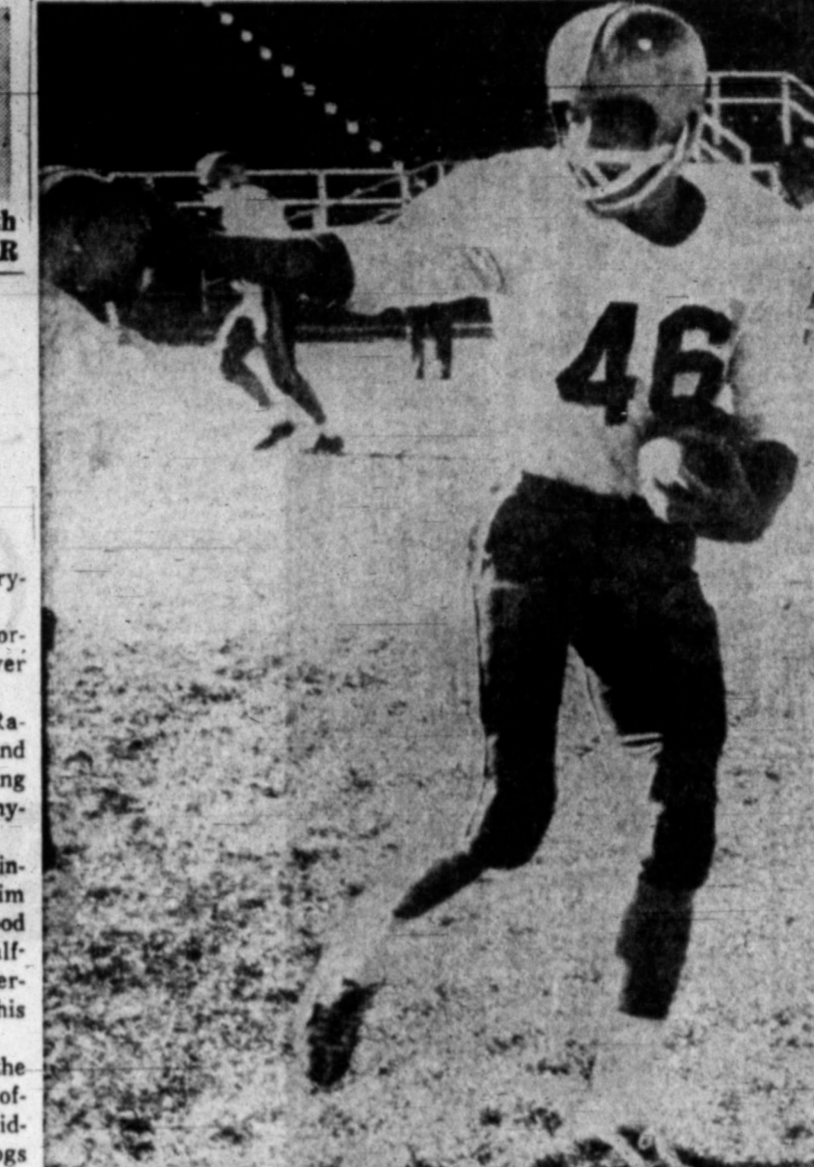

Only four Americans were able to last the scheduled three rounds. One was knocked unconscious for nearly five minutes and another suffered possible rib injuries.

"Naturally I thought we would make a better showing in this first tournament of our three in the British Isles," said team manager Bert (Red) Taylor of Salt Lake City, Utah. "But I can understand what happened."

He explained that the squad had assembled in New York only last weekend for their Monday flight to London. "And they've had no chance to do any serious training since their arrival here. Actually, some of them haven't been in competition since the AAU championships last April."

Coach Buddy Carr of Toledo said he hoped the boys would do better in Monday's competition against British boxers at Leeds, Eng., and against Irish boxers at Dublin on Nov. 10.

At Toledo, Ohio, Arthur G. Morse, chairman of the AAU boxing commission, said he was "almost shocked" because the U.S. squad included five national champions, three runners-up and two others "who were the very best available in their divisions." He stressed, "we thought we had a very representative team there."

Snakes And Gruver Vie For Crown

Lubbock's hot and cold Westerners invade Pampa tonight on the heels of a blue norther to battle the Harvesters at 7:30 at Harvester Park in a district 3-AAAA engagement.

Although the outcome of the contest will not have a bearing on the district championship, it is an important battle for the two teams to regain some lost prestige and a chance to advance in the conference standings.

Lubbock, once a mighty state power in the early 1950's, holds the lead in the long standing series that dates back to 1930. The Westerners have won 21 contests, Pampa has taken nine and one ended in a tie.

Pampa tripped the Westerners 12-0 in 1959 for their latest victory in the series while Lubbock won last year by a 35-6 count. Both clubs are tied with Amarillo for fifth place in the district standings and the winner tonight could take over undisputed possession of that spot providing the Sandies lose to Borger as expected.

Pampa is definitely an improved ball club. The Harvesters stumbled through 16 straight defeats before rising to great heights to topple Amarillo 15-14 three weeks hence. Last Friday the locals gave highly favored Palo Duro more than the Dons expected to handle before succumbing 40-18.

Butch Crossland will probably start at quarterback for Pampa. The senior guided the Harvesters to their best offensive display in three years against Palo Duro. It was the most points a Pampa team had scored since beating El Paso Bowie 22-8 in 1958.

Kenny Hebert, the Harvesters' sophomore star, may miss tonight's tilt with a touch of influenza. The rambling Pampa halfback missed Thursday's practice because of the illness.

Lubbock roared to three consecutive season opening victories before falling victim to numerous injuries. The Westerners, coached by Buddy Brothers, rolled past Andrews 13-6, Odessa 20-14 and Midland Lee 12-7 before losing three conference tilts to Palo Duro 33-16, Tascosa 39-13 and Borger 19-2.

The Westerners, however, bounced back last Friday to slaughter Plainview 66-0.

Pampa has been getting some good defensive play from tackle James Webb, guards Dee Wright and Danny Mathus, cornermen Travis Tucker and Nelson Rockwell and end Corkey Godfrey.

And if Hebert is ready to go at full steam, the Harvesters may turn on an offensive assault of their own for a change.

Football Blamed For 37 Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Fatal football injuries, directly or indirectly related to the game, total 37 this season—more than twice as many as last year at this time.

Coaches' 1961 mid-season survey today showed 19 direct fatalities and 18 indirect.

Last year at mid-season, 15 fatalities were reported—12 direct and 3 indirect.

The total of indirect fatalities among high school players rose from one to 12 and Dr. Eastwood said this was cause for serious concern.

"The committee's finding indicates that many of this number may be attributable to inadequate pre-practice physical examinations, especially of the heart," he said.

The 1961 mid-season breakdown was: colleges, 5 fatalities (all direct); high schools, 23 (11 direct, 12 indirect); semi-pro, 2, (both direct); sandlot, 5 (3 direct, 2 indirect); 2 officials (both indirect).

Majority of direct fatalities were due to head or brain injuries, with spinal injuries the second most frequent cause.

Pampa Nabs 1st Win In Series

Pampa Junior High reaped their biggest harvest in four years Thursday night as coach John Hale's troops stunned the Lee Rebels 12-8 in a spine-tingling season finale played in cold, bitter weather at Harvester Park.

The triumph was the first of the season for the Reapers. But it was one they have been shooting for since 1958 when the Rebels won the first of the three games they have taken in the cross town rivalry.

Fullback Sam Bryan, a hard-running 155-pounder, zipped 40 yards behind fine blocking by the right side of the Reaper line to score the winning touchdown with 7:33 left in the game.

Up to that point, a third period Lee safety—which put the Rebels in front 8-6—looked bigger and bigger.

Bryan had to share the spotlight with teammate Jim Arthur, a spectacular quarterback this blustery night. It was the block-busting thrusts of Bryan and the well-executed rollouts by Arthur that ripped the Rebel defense with gaping holes for large gains.

Pampa's winning drive came on the heels of a Lee march that was thwarted at the Reapers 19. The big play in the series was a seven yard scamper by Arthur on a 4th and three situation at his own 35.

Lee rolled right back, however, to threaten to take the victory away from their rivals. Quarterback Johnny Robison rolled to his left and galloped 58 yards to the Pampa five before he was knocked out of bounds.

Two plays at left tackle failed to gain for Lee and fullback Keith Griffith was stopped at the two on third down. Robison fumbled the snap on fourth down and the Reapers gained possession at the one with five minutes remaining.

The Reapers ran out the clock with a sustained 98-yard surge to the Lee one as the game ended. Halfback Ennis Penland scooted 49 yards for the big play.

Both clubs threatened in the first period. Pampa took the kickoff and got to the Lee 19 before the Rebels threw them back to the 40. Lee promptly went to the Reapers two where the winners recovered a Jim Jamieson fumble.

A bad snap on an attempted punt led to the first score by Lee. Sans Williams and Jamieson worked the ball from the Reapers' 30 to the nine where Jamieson circled right end for the score.

After an exchange of fumbles following the kickoff, the Reapers rolled 51 yards to tie the count. Arthur, Bryan and Penland carried to the one-foot line where the capable Pampa quarterback rode over his right guard for the tally with 1:45 to play in the half.

Lee's safety was set up by a drive to the Reaper five before Pampa's Darrell Luster recovered a fumble. Griffith sparked the surge with a 42-yard dash to the 20.

Moments later, Arthur flipped a

Inside The Huddle

By Joe Lee Smith

Coach Terry Culley's basketball boys went through a two hour scrimmage Thursday against the Clarendon Junior College cagers and came out of the contest with many kinks to iron out.

But the Harvesters looked pretty good for the first time out. The first string or should we say the first unit that played for Pampa looked sharp. They outscored their opponent 16-6 before the second unit took over to be outscored 22-2.

Actually—for the records—the score was not kept. And the ball didn't change hands like in a regular game. Clarendon was in possession most of the time with the locals on defense.

This kid—Randy Matson—really does a fine job under the backboards. Maybe he was the fifth highest scorer in the district last year, but he impressed almost everyone with his fine defensive performance Thursday.

He certainly made a believer out of the Clarendon 6-4 center when the 6-5 Harvester post man crammed several of his opponent's shots back where they originated.

Wayne Kries, a 5-10 letterman guard, and Ronnie Chase, a 5-7 letterman guard did very well. Chase broke his leg playing baseball this past summer and it definitely handicaps him. But he came in for a few minutes and promptly connected for three field goals—and a pair of important feeds to Matson for two more goals.

Culley said Wednesday that experience and reserve depth would be the Harvesters' weak points. The scrimmage Thursday proved him right in that respect, but it is early and the inexperienced boys have plenty of time to come around before the conference slate opens.

The junior high ball game Thursday night between the Lee Rebels and the Pampa Reapers was as thrilling a battle as we have witnessed this season.

Pampa's Reapers didn't look like the same club we saw lose to Gruver 30-0 and to Phillips 30-14.

Despite the bitter, cold weather a large crowd turned out to witness the struggle and they weren't disappointed for it was a stam-bang affair.

We hit on 20 of 25 games last week to raise our season prediction to 134 right, 37 wrong, 4 ties for a .777 average.

This week we feel like: Pampa over Lubbock—The Harvesters will thrill the home fans with a victory over the Westerners in a wide open offensive duel. Stinnett over Gruver—We flipped a coin and it landed for the Reapers.

Palo Duro over Tascosa—This is more of a hoping prediction. But the Dons have a fine club but could lose because of a poor defense.

Groom over Wheeler—The Tigers are rolling toward another district 1-B championship.

Texas over SMU—The Steers will slow down somewhere, but it would take a complete breakdown to lose to the Methodists.

Other winners in caps: BOR—

Philadelphia And Bears To Tangle In Top Game

By United Press International

Sooner or later, Sonny Jurgensen and his fine pass-catchers are bound to run into a ganged-up aerial defense, so don't be surprised if the Philadelphia Eagles spring their latent running game against the Chicago Bears Sunday.

The Eagles were favored by 3 points in this National Football League game-of-the-week at Philadelphia. This is the first clash between these two teams since 1955. Of the 15 games previously played between them, the Eagles have won only once.

Although the Eagles have three excellent running backs in Clarence Peaks, Billy Barnes and Ted Dean, they have preferred the aerial route of Jurgensen to Tommy McDonald, Bobby Walston and Pete Retzlaff for their touchdown drives.

Statistically, the Eagles have gone through the air for 88.7 of their yardage. In edging the Washington Redskins last weekend, they gained 436 yards by passing and had a rushing deficit of 12 yards.

The Bears, according to Coach George Halas, "are improving with every game." They have won their last four games after a discouraging season start and are only a game behind the first-place Green Bay Packers in the Western Division.

Quarterback Billy Wade, obtained in an off-season trade with the Los Angeles Rams, has key-noted the Bears' rapid rise. An in-and-outer until he won the job a few games ago, Wade now ranks as the league's fifth leading passer with a 53.3 completion percentage and 10 touchdowns.

The oddsmakers favor: San Francisco Forty-Niners 4 points over Detroit Lions at San Francisco; Green Bay Packers 6 over Colts at Baltimore; Cleveland Browns 10 over Pittsburgh Steelers at Cleveland; New York Giants 14 at home over Washington Redskins; St. Louis Cardinals 1 at home over the Dallas Cowboys, and the Los Angeles Rams 9 over the Minnesota Vikings on the West Coast.

In the American Football League, it was the Boston Patriots by 3 over the Dallas Texans in a Friday night game at Boston, while on Sunday, the unbeaten San Diego Chargers were 17 at home over the New York Titans; the Buffalo Bills were 11 at home over the Oakland Raiders, and the Houston Oilers 10 over the Broncos at Denver.

Growing Government

Know how many politicians we elect to the executive branch of the federal government? That's right, so isn't this interesting: Federal civilian payroll costs during the fiscal year ending June 30 totaled $13,684,000,000, PLUS $285,000,000 in U.S. pay for foreign nationals not on the regular rolls.

The information comes from Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures. Byrd notes that the cost of civilian employment in the executive branch reached its all-time high in fiscal 1961, although employment over the full 12 months averaged less than in fiscal 1960. The payroll cost increase was caused by the general pay rise which became effective July 1, 1960.

The executive branch, which includes bureaus whose function probably even President Kennedy doesn't know, continues to grow and grow. The "personnel service" cost exceeded $1 billion a month for the third consecutive year, according to Sen. Byrd. Monthly reports on personnel certified to Byrd's committee showed civilian employment by executive agencies during July totaled 2,435,804 — an increase of 16,700 over the previous month.

Reporting largest increases were the Post Office Department with 5,635; Treasury Department 1,778; Veterans Administration, 1,663; Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 1,509; Agriculture Department, 1,198, and Interior Department, 775. By the way there were 168,659 foreign nationals working for U.S. agencies overseas during July who were not counted in the usual personnel reports. Leading this list were 79,461 in Germany, 54,832 in Japan and 21,079 in France. It's the nature of government to expand and expand — in numbers and in power.

Futility

Individualism is positively the rule in nature. No two persons are alike, not even twins. Even two blades of grass are not identical. When this is so obviously true, why do we spend so much time and money trying to provide universal conformity thru legislation?

Parties Split In Congress

The Question of how great or small a role the federal government should play in American life continues to drive a deep wedge between the Democratic and Republican parties. The liberals, of course, want Washington to solve every problem.

In its 1961 study of voting by individual congressmen on questions of federal government responsibilities Congressional Quarterly found that Democrats supported a larger federal role five times as often as Republicans. Conversely, Republicans supported a smaller federal role slightly less than four times as often as Democrats.

To provide a useful yardstick to measure attitudes on the federal role, CQ examined all 320 roll-call votes in 1961 and selected ten each from the House and the Senate as key tests.

The test votes touched on most of the major controversies over democratic policy that have seen Democrats pitted against Republicans.

Among the tests were comparable roll calls in the Senate and House concerning federal aid to education and depressed areas, public vs. private power, housing and minimum wage coverage. Other votes involved the issue of federal-state relations in civil rights, temporary unemployment compensation, Mexican farm labor, election reform, water pollution, the interstate water resources compact and juvenile delinquency.

By adding up the scores of individual Senators and Representatives, CQ found the average Democrat in 1961 supported a larger federal role (or opposed a smaller one) 76 per cent of the time and the average Republican 15 per cent of the time.

The average Republican supported a smaller federal role (or opposed a larger one) 83 per cent of the time and the average Democrat 22 per cent of the time. More significant still are the scores of individual members, showing the relative balance of attitudes on the federal role within each party in each chamber. In the Senate, for example, 17 Northern Democrats supported a larger federal role or opposed a smaller one on all of the 10 test votes.

Conversely, only one Republican — Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) — supported a larger federal role on all of the test votes, and one — Clifford P. Case (N.J.) — supported a larger role on nine of the roll calls. Altogether, only seven of the 34 supported the larger federal role on seven or more of the votes. Eleven GOP Senators opposed a larger federal role on all 10 votes.

Among the senate notables, Majority Whip Hubert H. Humphrey (D Minn.) scored 100 per cent in favor of a larger federal role or opposed to a smaller one, while Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D Mont.) scored 70 per cent.

Minority Whip Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) was 70 per cent in favor of a larger federal role, while Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.) scored only 10 per cent. Conservative spokesman Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) had a clean 0 per cent in favor of a larger federal role. So did John Tower (R-Texas).

House scores found more Representatives at both extremes of the spectrum and greater party discipline on the ten test votes. Of the 261 House Democrats eligible for the study, 191 supported a larger federal role, or opposed a smaller one on all 10 votes. Of 174 Republicans, 87 took the opposite position just as consistently.

No Democrat scored 0 per cent; no Republican scored 100 per cent in favor of a larger federal role. The highest scoring Republicans, both registering 70 per cent in favor of a larger federal role or opposed to a smaller one, were Reps. Seymour Halpern (N.Y.) and Alvin O'Konski (Wis.).

Nine Southern Democrats in the House would have scored 0 per cent in favor of a larger federal role but for the question of whether the government's representative on the new Northeast Water Compact Commission should have a vote. Among the "0 per centers" were Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Smith (Va.) and his committee sidekick, Rep. William M. Colmer (Miss.).

Among House notables, Majority Leader John W. McCormack (D Mass.) scored 100 per cent and Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) scored 0 per cent in favor of a larger federal role.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D) supported a larger federal role on 70 per cent of the 10 test votes. In 1961 selected by Congressional Quarterly in a study of issues in

Hankering

By HENRY McLEMORE

Kirk Douglas flew from Rome with but one ambition — to break Rip Van Winkle's long-standing American record for a long sleep.

For one month Douglas has spent all night, every night, shooting scenes for his next picture, "Two Weeks In Another Town."

The night watchman hours became necessary when director Vincente Minnelli decided that Rome had been "shot to death" in the daytime, and that moviegoers might like to see what the Eternal City looked like in the dark.

"We shot from the time the sun went down until it came up," Douglas said sleepily as he sipped coffee in his hotel room. "I got to know half the owls in town, personally, and had a nodding acquaintance with the others. If insomnia is catching, I've got it."

The actor gave me permission to walk him around the room, slap him, and slobber him with cold water to keep him awake.

"Do anything you want to except ask me why I didn't catch up on my sleep in the daytime," he said. "But you have lived in Rome, so you know. It may not be the noisiest town in the world, but it's noisier than Fourth of July in a boiler factory, and that's enough."

Had he tried ear-plugs? "Dozens of them," he said. "But the scooters, backfires, auto horns and street car screeches popped them out as fast as I put them in."

What parts of Rome did Minnelli shoot at night?

"You name it and we got it," Douglas said. "Half the fountains, up and down the Tiber, Piazza Navona, Piazza di Spagna, the Spanish Staircase, Via Veneto, obelisks, and more arches than a centipede has. I may not look beautiful in the picture, but Rome will. It's prettier at night than at any other time."

Despite his ordeal by night, Douglas looks fit. He is only a few pounds heavier than when he won the Intercollegiate middleweight wrestling championship for St. Lawrence University.

"I owe much of my success as an actor to wrestling," Douglas admitted. "Not college wrestling, for that's a serious sport and dead on the level. I mean professional wrestling, where every bout is a three-star performance."

Douglas got his licks in as a pro wrestler after leaving college. He worked as a "shill" for a carnival and would accept the challenges of the Masked Marvels and the Hooded Horrors.

"I was the hero and the pro was the villain," Douglas said. "The crowd would boo and threaten to kill the villain when he butted, kicked, gouged and choked me — or pretended to. I had to learn to express pain, when there wasn't any, and to show outrage, fear, dismay, surprise, shock, and all the other emotions. Wrestling is a great training school and I recommend it to beginner actors."

Douglas, not unexpectedly, predicts a great success for his new picture.

"Some mighty fine actors are in it with me, even if none of them ever wrestled," he said. There's Edward G. Robinson, Cyd Charisse, George Hamilton, and, outstanding, the young and beautiful Dahlia Lavi, making her debut in an American film."

We parted with a yawn.

volving the scope of federal responsibility.

He supported a smaller federal role (or opposed a larger one) on 30 per cent of the 10 votes. In the 1959 and 1960 sessions of the 86th Congress, he scored 93 in support of a larger federal role and 7 in support of a smaller federal role.

Sen. John Tower (R) took positions supporting a larger federal role on 0 per cent of the votes, and supporting a smaller federal role on 100 per cent of the tests. Rep. Joe M. Kilgore (D) supported a larger federal role on 30 per cent of the 10 test votes in the House, and supported a smaller federal role on 70 per cent of the roll calls. His scores for the full 86th congress were 33 per cent and 67 per cent respectively.

Report:

All Cuban Children of 3-Years and Older Ordered Taken from Parents for 'Preparation'

WASHINGTON — Fidel Castro's latest Communist manifestation is the nationalization of all Cuban children starting at the age of three.

From three to ten, they will live in state institutions under the control of the Communist-dominated Organization of Children Circles (OCI). The children will be allowed to visit their homes two days a month.

From the age of ten, they can be sent abroad for "further instruction" — to Russia, Red China or anywhere else deemed "appropriate."

As previously disclosed by this column, some Cuban children already have been shipped to Russia for "schooling." It is also authoritatively known that they will soon be sent to satellite Czechoslovakia and Rumania.

Castro's secret plan also bars children from religious training either at home or elsewhere.

The decree nationalizing children becomes effective January 1, 1962.

It was approved in the presidential palace in Havana August 1, 1961, and bears the signature of Castro as Premier and Dr. Oswaldo Dorticos Torrado as President.

Publication in the Official Gazette has been deliberately withheld to avoid hostile reaction in other Latin American countries, particularly at this time with Peru leading a vigorous drive in the Organization of American States to crack down on Castro's Red-ruled regime.

However, an authentic copy of this secret decree is in the hands of OAS leaders and they plan to make it public.

It reveals that violation of its provisions is branded as counter-revolutionary and to be prosecuted in Castro's special "revolutionary" courts with penalties of two to 15-year prison sentences.

Also that older children can be put to work "when deemed necessary" in factories, sugar mills and cane and tobacco fields.

THE OFFICIAL DETAILS — Highlights of Castro's secret decree nationalizing Cuban children are as follows:

"ARTICLE III: From the date of the enactment of this law, the guardianship of all persons under 20 years of age shall be exercised by the State, through persons and organizations on which it may delegate this power.

"ARTICLE IV: Every minor will remain in the care of his parents until the age of three years, after which he shall be entrusted for his physical and mental as well as his civil preparation to the Organization of Children Circles (OCI), which this law empowers to take care of the person and exercise the guardianship of these minors.

"ARTICLE V: The Organization of Children Circles will issue the necessary regulations so that every minor, between the ages of three and ten, shall remain in the same province where his parents reside, staying in their residence not more than two days every month, so that he will not lose contact with his family. "After becoming ten years of age, every minor may be assigned for instruction, culture and civil preparation, to the most appropriate place, taking into account the highest interests of the nation. The National Institute of Sports, Physical Education and Recreation will be in charge of making all the necessary provisions for the better physical and athletic development of the minors under the guardianship of

SEEN BUT NOT HEARD

(Chicago Tribune) Mr. Kennedy's admitted censorship of anti-communist statements by the military and the extension of this doctrine to the expression of any form of "right wing radicalism" are justified, as usual, on the ground that this suppression of opinion is intended to serve national policy. And, as usual, the real purpose is to serve a partisan political interest.

The tipoff came when Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas uncorked a long memorandum to the White House and defense department. In essence, this suggested a clamp down not only on the discussion of communism but on a long list of other subjects, all of political effect, which might arise in programs of troop indoctrination or public education in which military personnel participated.

Fulbright complained that there were too many programs identified as "alerts," "seminars," "freedom forums," "strategy for survival conferences," "fourth dimensional warfare seminars," and the like.

He proposed that authorization of such meetings, originally sanctioned by a directive of the Eisenhower administration in 1958 to promote public understanding and support in the cold war, should be "reconsidered." He found that there had been numerous charges that internal communist infiltration in this country had led to "softness," "sellouts," "appeasements," and so on, and these remarks were painful to him as a member of the party of Alger Hiss.

Even worse, the senator moaned, was the tendency of "equalizing social legislation with socialism, and the latter with communism. Much of the administration's domestic legislative program," he continued, "would be characterized as steps toward communism." And such ideas, Fulbright said, were being promoted "by radical right wing speakers."

The administration was delighted with the senator's suggestion that these impediments to the progress of the New Frontier be removed. Hereafter the seminars were to fade out, and any military man who had a speaking engagement should clear his remarks with a board of censors in the defense department.

Mr. Kennedy's right as commander in chief to clamp an order he wants on subordinate officers can hardly be challenged, but it should be appreciated that he and Sen. Fulbright are driving at the gag on the threadbare pretext of "national security." nor are they arguing that military men in general are engaged in domestic politics. But they do find it inconvenient that seminars should expose the public to civilian speakers who might say something that was not in the political interests of the New Frontier.

This is not the first time an executive order has been used to forestall political embarrassment. President Truman, on March 21, 1947, issued an executive order to head off any effort by the Republican 80th Congress to get documents on communist penetration of the New Deal. Republicans charged that the order "laid an absolute embargo on information demanded by the Congress from the executive agencies."

On May 17, 1954 President Eisenhower had recourse to a similar maneuver. The late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, during public hearings of his charge that the Pentagon was protecting Communists or communist sympathizers, got wind of a meeting which had been held in the White House Jan. 21, 1954, with the evident purpose of hatching plans which would lead to the senator's political extinction.

Those in attendance were Atty. Gen. Brownell; Sherman Adams, "assistant President"; William P. Rogers, Brownell's deputy; Gerald Morgan, Presidential administrative assistant, and Henry Cabot Lodge, temporarily detached from his usual post at the United Nations and detailed as an adviser to Eisenhower.

But when Sen. McCarthy attempted to get the details of what went on, Eisenhower promptly issued a directive of his own, enjoining everyone to silence.

So it will be seen that when Washington decides on a decree to shut somebody up, it is almost invariably an expression of delicate concern by the White House lest its political fortunes be damaged by frankness.

Pegler Says:

Public Should Learn That Best-Seller Lists Are Loaded

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Chicago Tribune recently decided to delete from its weekly lists of "best sellers" those books which are, in the Tribune's judgment, "sewer-written by dirty-fingered authors for dirty-minded readers." With a bow to the author of melodious prose, I submit nevertheless that the entire best-seller business long ago lost any legitimate relation to literary interests. It is a commercial rating somewhat on the order of the radio-television standings, but many years older. It is equally sly and suspect.

As the Tribune naively admitted in one of its editorial bulls on the instant topic, its own list was "compiled each week from reports made to us by wholesalers and retailers." The invitation to book-pluggers to load the lists by making "buys" at the retail stores at little expense and so promote sales in ensuing weeks has been strongly influential in the creation of fraudulent reputations for many undeserving authors.

Thousands of tons of trash have been peddled by this means since the log-rolling racket began in New York soon after the first war. The Herald Tribune runs an unblinking ballyhoo called an authors' luncheon at which favored writers are presented to the guests just after the Neapolitan ice cream. It was a process of arbitrary judgment presuming to confer distinction on the lucky slob and to promote their prosperity and that of their agents and publishers.

When this system was adopted for radio during the war, furious angers were loosed in strident cries on the Sabbath evening air as monsters without grace nor the slightest claim to the quality of orators or philosophers snarled at one another and cited statistics in proof of their greatness.

These figures seemed to have been invented on the spur of the moment. At any rate, the sources cited had no more valid status as public authorities than the Gallup Poll. Presently most of them disappeared down the echoes as they lost their sponsors for a variety of subtle reasons.

The most astounding coup in the book trade was a work entitled "Under Cover" by a quavering volunteer gumshoe of Armenian background, calling himself John Roy Carlson. He sniped about the country pretending to hate the Jews and thus enticed unwary individuals to say they felt the same. Many of those who so confided found themselves under fierce attack as Hitlerian bigots and great was their injury when remarks apparently uttered with no such animus were blasted to the multitudes. Mr. Carlson seemed a little shy of the fortune which his self-assumed mission required, for he revealed in one chapter a dreadful half-hour of fear as he waited to interview Senator Bob Reynolds of North Carolina, a harmless gas-box who might have called for Capitol cops if Carlson had slapped his face. The ballyhoo in the Herald Tribune and on the air shot Carlson's sales into incredible figures, mainly in army camps where rude kids devoured this horror and wondered how the Nazis could have put this awful thing over on us. A Federal judge in Chicago later announced on the record in a libel suit his considered belief that Carlson was a liar who would write anything for money.

Meanwhile, however, the Herald Tribune had helped along this fraud and its book editor, Miss Irita Van Doren, a friend of Wendell Willkie, and an aunt of the sensitive hero of the later teeny quiz fraud, had the gall to write that the FBI had expressed approval of John Roy Carlson. Mr. Hoover later wrote in response to inquiry that Carlson had been only an "informant" and that his tattle had been of no value in any phase of the covert war effort.

Actually it should make not the slightest difference whether a book runs a high score or dies neglected under the counter by sly connivance between a publisher's agent and the horn-rimmed clerks who actually have had so much to do with these judgments on the literary fare of Americans. No other people ever bought as much dead-weight of printed matter between boards. The quality has always been diluted with the filth which the Chicago Tribune now belatedly rejects and with propaganda which has drugged the American mind in favor of F. D. Roosevelt's godship. That is equally bad in the long run.

It is no remedy to curtail the total output of books, because the same idiotic ardor will continue to maintain the proportions. But it would be well for all newspapers to learn through inquiring reporters that bestseller lists are loaded. The papers have been unwitting but culpable agents of a harmful effect on the American mind for many years.

Because Christopher Columbus followed the birds instead of a compass, he discovered San Salvador rather than the North American mainland. The great navigator veered to the southwest on Oct. 9, 1492, when he saw a tremendous flock of birds flying in that direction. Three days later he sighted land — and so, instead of finding a great continent on landing, he found an island.

Khrushchev Unfunny In Role Of 'Sicknik'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here of late I seem to be having occasional flashes of extra sensory preception, although it may just be mental indigestion.

At any rate, I keep bumping into coincidences which appear to have been brought about by mental telepathy. There is no way to explain it except to say that it is inexplicable.

One day this week, for example, I was idly leafing through a copy of a British magazine that someone had left in the office. All at once I heard a voice telling me to stop and read a certain article. This, however, was not telepathy. The voice belonged to the owner of the magazine, who had been looking over my shoulder.

"You will like this article," he said, "it's about the sickniks."

Heading his suggestion, I turned my attention to what proved to be a learned analysis of the current crop of American comedians who specialize in "sick" jokes. Only the British could be learned about sick jokes.

Satire and other serious humor, the author said, can have the valid object "of burning away the layers of humbug and chicanery with which the verities are enwrapped."

But the sickniks, he wrote, work on the policy "that a rattled and edgy populace can be stampeded" into laughing at unfunny subjects.

Now here is where the "ESP" comes in. At the very moment I was reading this article, give or take a few hours, Soviet Premier Khrushchev was uncorking one of the most monumental sick jokes of all times.

This naturally gave the comrades a big chuckle, although the gag didn't go over so big in other parts of the world. Possibly it lost something in translation.

The Communist party wound up its 22nd congress this week with a display of heavy-handed humor on the part of Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and a split in party ranks whose effect on the future only could be guessed.

Almost lost in the pyrotechnics of the world's mightiest bomb and Khrushchev's marathon attacks upon Albania, the "anti-party" members and the memory of Josef Stalin was the subject which had been billed as the most important on the agenda.

That was the new party program, the first since Lenin's time, charting the course of communism for the next 20 years.

In the Communist Utopia of 20 years hence, Khrushchev promised to multiply gross national product five times, industrial production six times and agricultural output three and a half times.

On Tuesday, after two weeks of oratory, the congress closed on a jovial note from Khrushchev.

Soviet scientists had made a mistake, he said. The 50-megaton bomb they planned turned out to be even more powerful than expected.

"But," he said, "we won't punish them (the scientists) for it."

While the free world universally condemned Khrushchev for his nuclear terror tactics, perhaps of more far reaching effect was the revelation of the deep split within the party.

After a long recitation of the sinfully murderous ways of Stalin and his own struggle against the group which would have continued the Stalin methods, he switched to small and of little value Albania.

Albanian leader Enver Hoxha, he said, remained Stalinist, and he added:

"We cannot make a concession on that fundamental point, either to the Albanian leaders, or to anyone else."

The "anyone else" soon became apparent.

In the applause which followed Khrushchev's attack, Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai sat on his hands. When his turn came, Chou arose to denounce Khrushchev's "public denunciation" of Albania and to say that such an approach "can only distress friends and delight our enemies."

When, if ever, Red China could challenge the Soviet Union in a power struggle, must be a matter of conjecture. But even now, it stands as a rallying point for Khrushchev's enemies at home and abroad.

Missouri's official state flower is the hawthorn.

Culberson Holds 'Open House' To Show Chevrolets

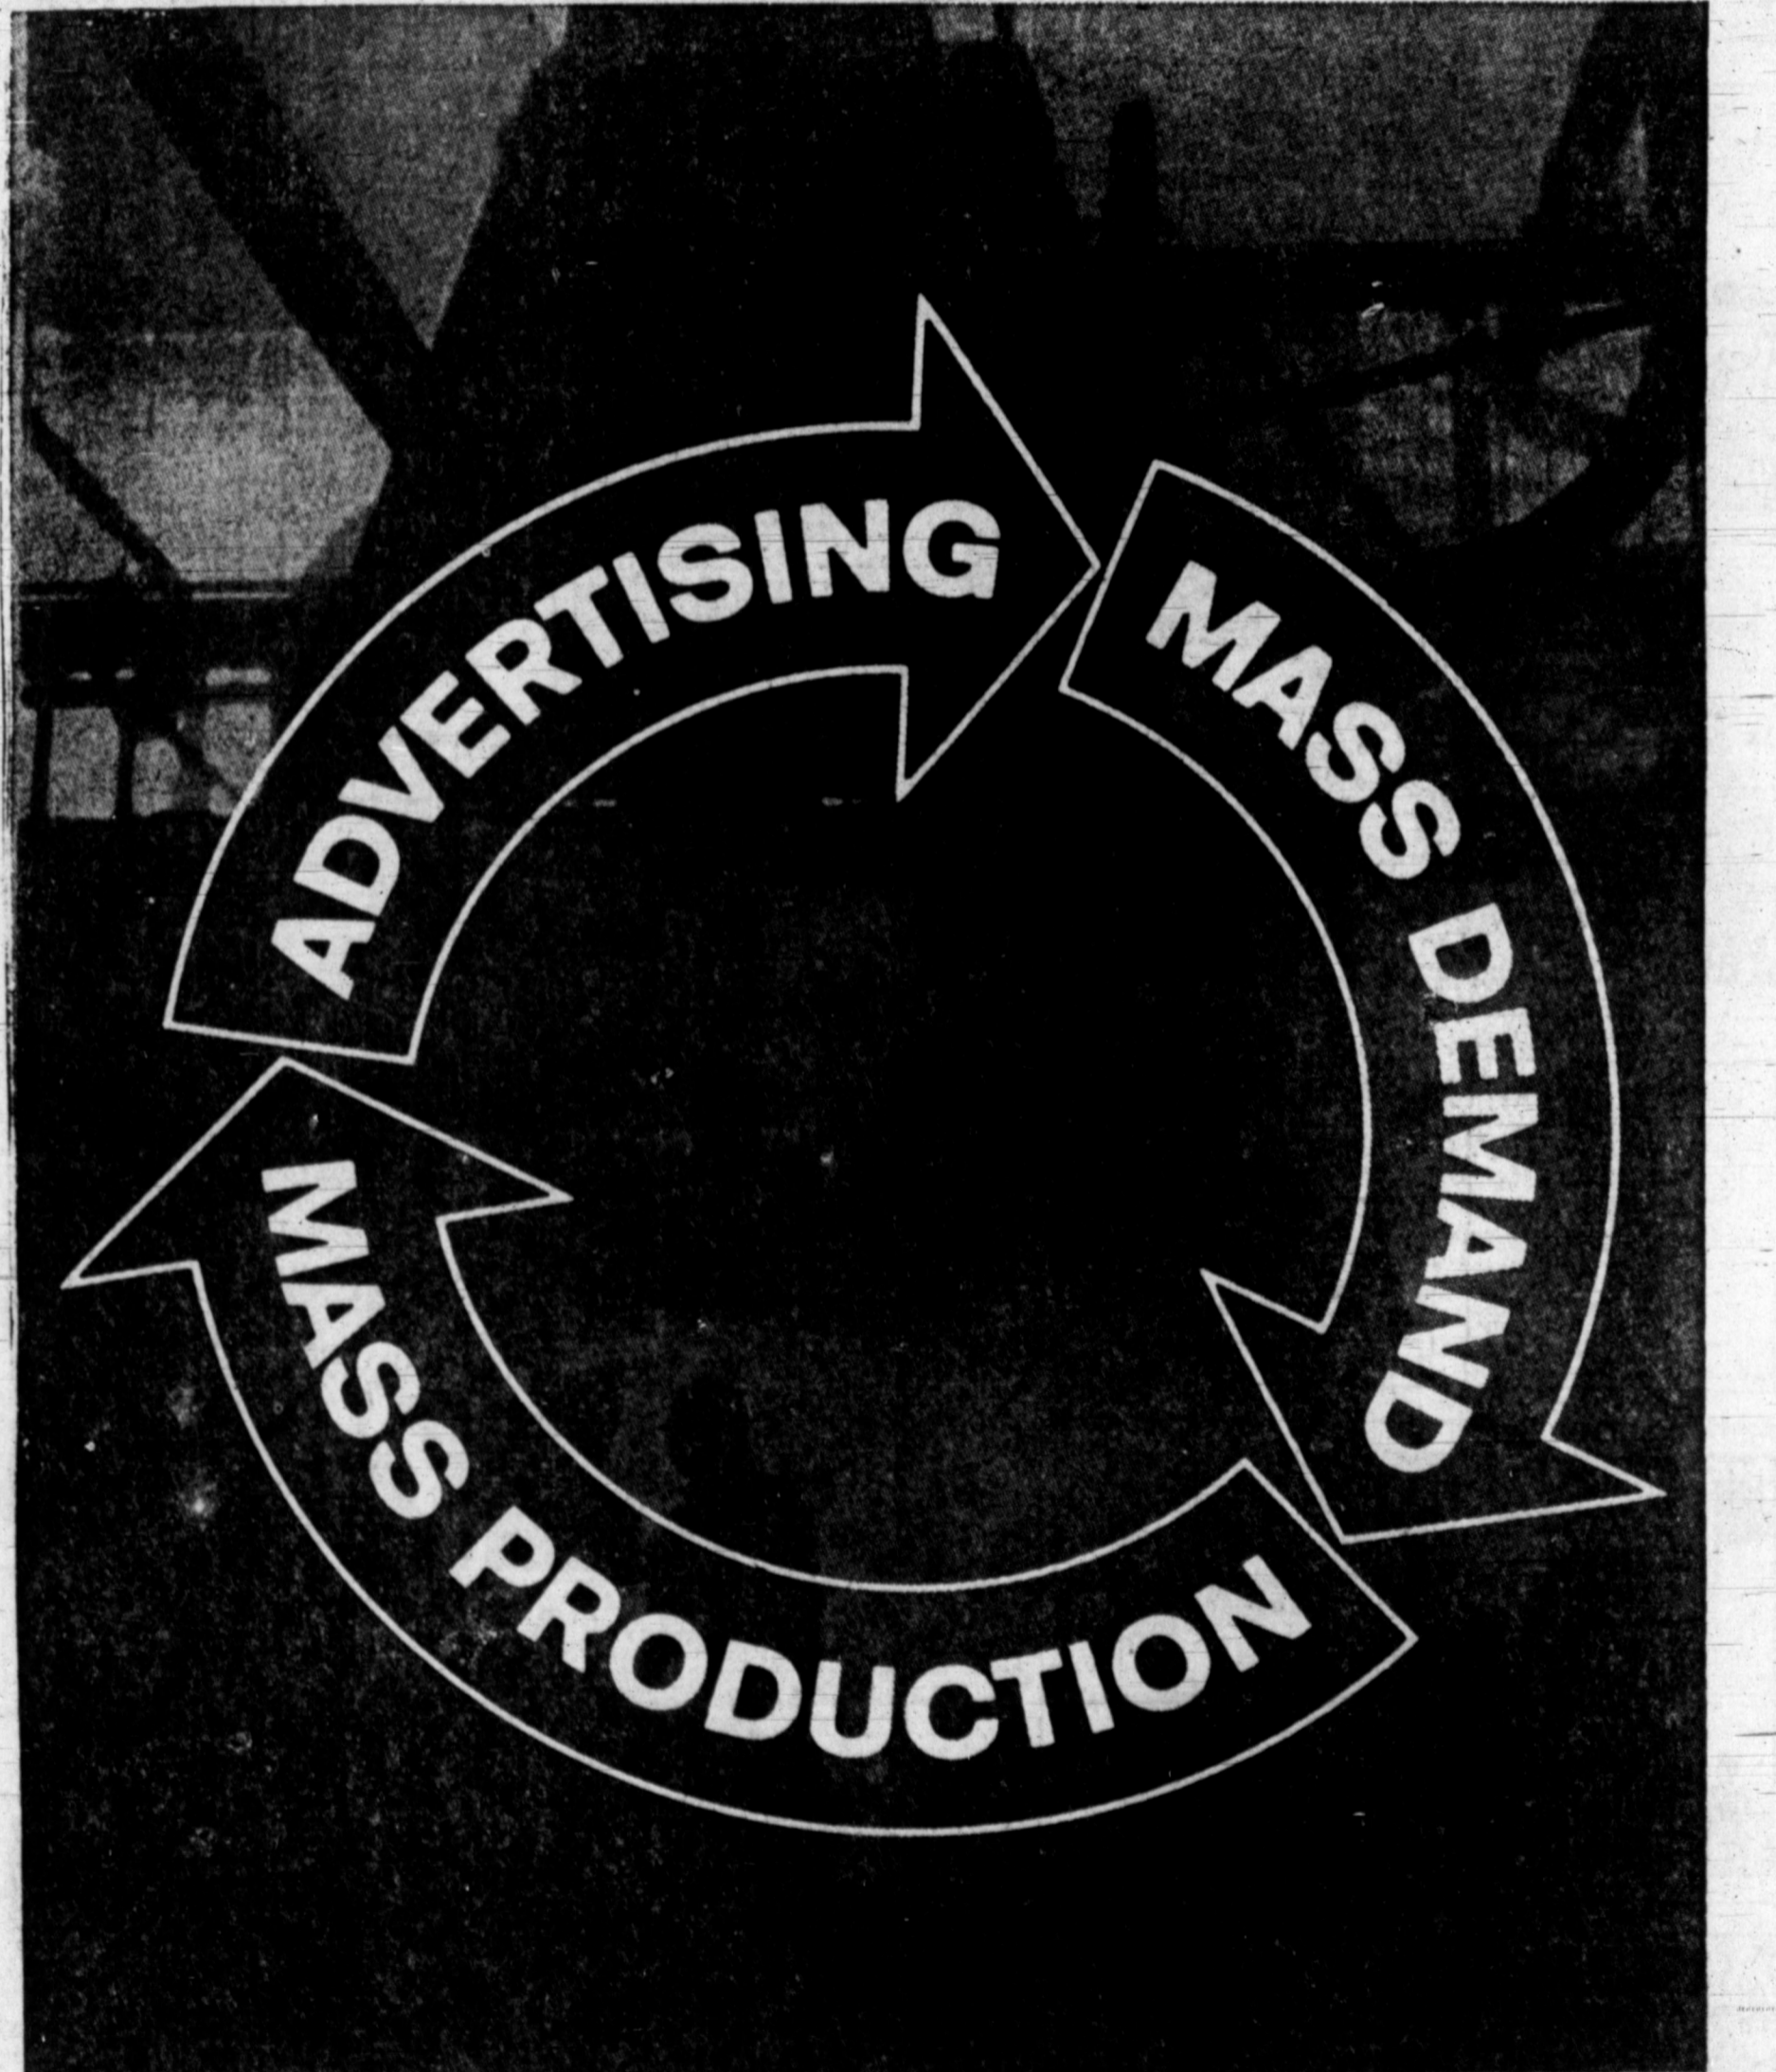

Starting today, November 3, Culberson Chevrolet Inc., 212 N. Ballard, welcomes everyone in the area to its Open House. The occasion for the celebration is to mark Chevrolet's Golden Anniversary. It was exactly fifty years ago on November 3, 1911, that the Chevrolet Motor Division was incorporated as a manufacturer of automobiles.

"It's really an outstanding success story," points out F. M. Culberson.

"That first full year of Chevrolet's production totaled under 3,000 cars—2,999 to be exact. Now there are over 18 million Chevrolet products on the road. That's why we at Culberson Chevrolet are throwing this week-long birthday party. We want to thank our friends and public for helping in our own dealership's success as well as Chevrolet's tremendous growth."

Highlight of the Open House is a special offer of a Golden Anniversary Record Album. This is really a collector's item, produced by RCA for distribution in this community by Culberson Chevrolet. The album's artists and their hit musical selections read like a Who's-Who of popular music. Included are Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman, and Charlie Barnet. Also featured are Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Artie Shaw and Rosemary Clooney. The commemorative album is offered for a limited time only at only $1.

"Without question, the most important part of our Golden Anniversary Open House for many of our visitors will be our big display of 1962 Chevrolets," states F. M. Culberson.

Let's Keep Rolling Ahead

We Americans invented mass production, then we had to build mass demand to keep the wheels turning. For this purpose we called upon advertising—the most effective and economical means of creating mass demand. Soon we had more jobs, higher incomes, and better living conditions. And there isn't any limit to how much farther we can go, if we just keep it rolling!

Analyst Expects November To Be Good Mart Era

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. says the current expectation is that November will be a better month for the market than October—possibly the best since the summer's upturn was terminated. This expectation, the analyst says, takes into account a furtherance of tax-selling pressures and some lower prices, but the year-end turn for the better may be recorded this month.

Goodbody & Co. says free silver reserves of the Treasury are now down to about 45 million ounces and it expects momentarily that the government will announce that the Treasury will stop selling the metal at 91½ cents. "A near term rise in the price of silver should thus be expected."

Fisher of Clark, Dodge & Co. says tobacco stocks, with one exception, appear high relative to other industries considering the three "risks" involved. —The American Heart Association indicates that cigarette smoking may be linked to heart disease.

—Revival of a cancer suit adds some nearby uncertainty. —Rumors continue that A&P and Grand Union are considering entering the field of private brand supermarket cigarette brands which would undersell standard packs by 4 cents or about 14 per cent.

There are a half-million acres of water, including lakes, rivers and streams, in Arkansas.

Banks Of Nation Told To Prepare For Emergencies

NEW YORK (UPI)—If by chance a cameraman appears behind the counter of the bank on the corner some of these days, chances are good that the banker has been saying to himself "just in case..." He may quite well have joined the list of banks and industries which put duplicate records on microfilm and store them in a safe spot against emergency.

The New York State Bankers Association this week put out a booklet, most of it in questionnaire form "to assist our members in planning for contingencies that may arise from present national or international conditions."

"An ounce of prevention could pay real dividends," said executive vice president Albert L. Muench in a foreword.

Among the questions asked under the heading of record and asset protection is whether the bank has a program for duplicating and remote storage of essential records.

Douglas Dillon, secretary of the treasury, recently wrote to federal banking authorities that unless "positive measures" were taken by all banks to assure adequate records protection, the program for "operational continuity of the nation's banking system in the event of attack would be in jeopardy." He disclosed that plans for keeping duplicate records were distributed to banks three years ago.

Dillon said these plans explained the simplest method was to use microfilm and store it away from home office vaults.

Pampa Youth At Boys Ranch Wins Plaudits

AMARILLO (Spl)—Richard Dismuke, a former Pampa boy, and one of the nine boys from Pampa making their home at Cal Farley's nationally famous Boys Ranch near Amarillo, was recently commended for the progress he has made since coming to the ranch.

Richard is the newest of the Pampa boys at the ranch, arriving in August. He is in the 7th grade of the fully-accredited Boys Ranch School and according to his teachers, makes special efforts to improve his grades in class. Richard is also participating in football, one of the sports that is provided in the ranch's year-round athletic program. He is 13 years old and one of the 275 boys from all over the nation from four to 17 who call Boys Ranch home.

Other Pampa boys at the ranch are Doyle Morris, Jerry Roberts, Otis and Robert Shaw, Wayne Turner, Terry Van Sickle and Jimmy and Rex Walden. Boys Ranch was founded by Cal Farley 22 years ago for homeless and delinquent boys and since then more than 1,200 boys have been cared for, trained and educated at the Ranch.

"We are proud of all of our Pampa boys and the accomplishments they have made as Boys Ranchers," said Farley, "Any boy, given a home, some fresh air and a chance to raise his standard of living by merely conforming to a few good rules of citizenship will never willingly go back to his old way of life and he'll make the finest, most appreciative citizen this country has."

"Devil" Ready HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Columbia Pictures' producer Fred Kohlar has returned to Hollywood from a New York meeting at the company's home office on sales and exploitation plans for "The Devil at 4-O'Clock."
