Berlin Parleys To Be Resumed In Washington

NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrej Gromyko met for 4½ hours in "useful" Berlin crisis talks here Saturday and then agreed to hold their fourth session next week in Washington, where Gromyko "probably" will meet with President Kennedy.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, who came to New York from Kennedy's vacation retreat at Newport, R.I., met with Rusk immediately after he and Gromyko adjourned their meeting. The lining up of a Washington visit for Gromyko kept alive hope that the Soviet-American talks eventually would break up the diplomatic deadlock and lead to formal East-West negotiations to ease the explosive Berlin and German situations.

A State Department aid told newsmen there was a definite understanding Rusk and Gromyko would meet in Washington next week and said the Soviet Minister "in all probability" also would see Kennedy while he is in the capital.

Big Money Bills Given Approval By President

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Kennedy Saturday signed into law a $4.2 billion foreign aid bill, largest in eight years but still a defeat for the Chief Executive at the hands of a Democratic-controlled Congress.

The President also signed $4.9 billion worth of other money measures before joining his wife and daughter Caroline, 3, on the White House yacht Honey Fitz for a cruise in Narragansett Bay.

The foreign aid measure allocates some $2.5 billion to the foreign aid program itself and $200 million to related help projects, including $30 million for the Peace Corps. The bill, the product of a bitter House-Senate struggle, carried over into the closing hours of Congress in final form it was $861 million short of even Kennedy's last-ditch hopes.

A coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans in the House also beat down Kennedy's original plan for a five-year, $3.5 billion long-range loan program that could be operated with funds drawn from the Treasury rather than through individual Congressional appropriations.

Instead, the President got a five-year authorization that merely yielded $1.1 billion in cash results.

The hope was echoed in a formal statement read by Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs Roger Tubby which said: "It was a cordial exchange. We consider it to have been a useful one...we expect there will be a continued exchange of views."

Top Cabot Chiefs To Meet Here

Top officials of Cabot Corp. and more than 100 managerial and department executives will convene in Pampa Tuesday for the 32nd Management Conference of Cabot's Western Region.

The conference is scheduled for three days and takes on international scope with the attendance of Cabot Corp. officials from abroad.

In addition to Louis W. Cabot, president, and John Cabot, staff assistant to the president, both from Boston, Mass., conference guests will include Cabot officials from England, France, Holland, Canada, and Italy.

Conference sessions will be held in the Cabot auditorium in the Hughes Bldg., beginning at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, when reports will be heard on Cabot's world-wide operations.

Following a luncheon in Coronado Inn Tuesday noon, the afternoon session will feature an address by guest speaker Dr. G. Herbert True, vice president of the True-Klemp Organization, South Bend, Ind.

True is a former college professor who left the realm of theory to apply to television and advertising, the principles he taught for six years at Notre Dame University. He is a consultant to the American Management Association, Society for the Advancement of Management, National Safety Council, Dartnell Institute and various other companies and teaching institutes.

CABOT SPEAKER — Dr. G. Herbert True, author, lecturer and management consultant, South Bend, Ind., will be guest speaker at Tuesday afternoon's session of the Cabot Corp. 32nd Management Conference here. The three-day conference will be taken up with discussions and reports on Cabot's world-wide operations.

State Business Index Reported At Record High

AUSTIN (UPI)—The seasonally adjusted index of Texas business soared to a new all-time high during August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The index was 256 per cent of the 1947 average, the bureau said. This was an advance of 11 per cent over July and 7 per cent over August last year.

It was 2 per cent above the previous peak of 252 reached in May of this year.

The bureau said the rise was the result of improvements in nearly all aspects of economic activity.

The business barometer showed:—Miscellaneous freight car loadings regained the 1 per cent of volume lost due to a July decline. At 78 per cent of average the adjusted value was 1 per cent above August last year.

More Names Are Put On Scandal List

DENVER (UPI)—Gov. Steve McNichols announced Saturday that a total of 35 Denver police officers or former officers were involved in a "sordid criminal incident that has eaten at the heart of the city for many years."

McNichols, at a news conference, announced the filing of criminal charges against 22 additional men, bringing to 36 the total number involved in the long-standing Denver police scandal which has lapped over Denver's boundaries into suburban counties, ensuring one sheriff. One individual charged Saturday was a civilian.

Immediately after McNichols' announcement 15 additional policemen were suspended from duty, bringing to 28 the number of active officers involved. In addition, three former policemen were charged with crimes, joining another who earlier was caught in the burglary ring investigation. The state's chief investigator, former FBI agent Anthony S. Reeder, said one sergeant was involved.

"Additional participants and offenses will unquestionably be disclosed as the multiplicity of leads are checked and verified," the governor said. McNichols took the state's authority into the investigation last month at the request of Mayor Richard Battistero and Safety Manager John Schooley.

Mideast Uneasy As Iraq Force Goes To Border

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Newly independent Syria Saturday ordered all Egyptians to leave the country. Premier Mamoun Al Kuzbari pointedly told President Gamal Abdel Nasser the new government "accepts no tyranny nor is it subject to any foreigner."

The Middle East was tense, Baghdad Radio said Iraq's Premier Abdel Kassem had ordered his armies to Iraq's border with Syria to guard against any possible "imperialist aggression." Israel was reported to be watching Mideast developments closely.

Kuzbari, in a message broadcast by Damascus Radio and Television, followed up his expulsion order to Egyptians by saying Syria's goal is the "great Arab unity" based on equality for all.

But Nasser's decision called off a military invasion appearing to have cooled for the moment any. (See EGYPTIANS, Page 2)

Kuzbari said the basis of Arab unity under nearly four years of United Arab Republic. Newspapers warned that if the old political and military struggles resume in Syria, only the Communists will benefit.

The feeling was that Nasser's influence in Syria was a formidable bulwark against the Soviets in the Middle East and that there must be growth of Arab statesmanship to combat the dangers.

Western Europe, especially Britain, was alert for any new danger arising from the breakup of the United Arab Republic. Newspapers warned that if the old political and military struggles resume in Syria, only the Communists will benefit.

Reds Seal Off American Area In Soviet Zone

BERLIN (UPI)—Communist police Saturday built a barbed wire circle around the village of Steinstecken, separating it from the grassy field where an American helicopter flew seven East German planes to safety in West Berlin last week.

Steinstecken is in the American sector of West Berlin but is actually an enclave a mile inside the Soviet zone. Gen. Lucius D. Clay flew to that same grassy field recently to affirm American determination in West Berlin.

American helicopters landed frequently on the field to fly supplies to a three-man U. S. army military police post set up there after Clay's visit. But there was no immediate indication the U. S. military mission would challenge the latest Communist barrier.

Townspeople of Steinstecken immediately began building a new fence around the field. They felled trees and leveled out garden plots behind their homes in West Berlin. Construction of the barbed wire fence caused considerable hardship to the villagers. Many were cut off from the street leading to the only local general store and were forced to walk there through back gardens of neighbors.

Crowds of West Berliners congregated on their Saturday afternoon off work to peer at the young (people's) police and try to help any refugees across the barbed wire and concrete walls.

West Berlin police said about 20 East Germans fled to the West during the past 24 hours including two Communist policemen who fled to the French sector in full uniform. Others included two youths who crawled through the barbed wire in the American sector and a 15-year-old boy and a 12-year-old girl, children of Communist Party members in Potsdam, who swam the 100-yard wide Havel river.

Freight Details, No One Injured

CHINA TEE, (UPI)—Thirty cars of a 13-car Southern Pacific freight train derailed near China Tuesday, plunging into boxcars and mangled cars less than 100 yards from U.S. Highway 90 crossing the Oregon-Idaho border. There were no injuries.

Crude Oil Output Up One Per Cent

AUSTIN (UPI)—Allowables granted to new wells helped Texas crude oil production climb 1 per cent during August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

After seasonal adjustment the index was set at 110.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. Texas has had only 84 days of production so far this year compared with 147 days only five years ago in 1957.

City Police Dispatcher Retires

Mrs. Marion Parks, 509 N. Russell, dispatcher and clerk in the city police office for the past 29 years retired from the force effective Saturday.

Mrs. Parks joined the police staff in February, 1941. She has been working on the 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. day shift.

Police Chief Jim Conner said Mrs. Parks had been in the department longer than any other city police employee.

Knife And Fork Club Opens Season Tuesday

Betty Roadman, Hollywood character actress who has had dozens of roles in hit movies and who has been a resident of the movie Capital for more than 25 years, will be the first speaker of the season before the Knife and Fork Club Tuesday evening, October 3.

Mrs. Roadman will speak on the subject "Democracy in Action."

The address will be preceded by a dinner session in the High School cafeteria. The dinner will start at 7:30 o'clock with Dr. S. B. Sybert, president, presiding.

BETTY ROADMAN — that the boys knuckled her "Mom," a term declared symbolic of her charm and inspirational visits with the soldiers stationed "out there."

Berlin Force Limited To Avoid Provocation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration source said Saturday one vital reason for limiting the size of the current U. S. military buildup is a belief that all-out mobilization might provoke an attack by Russia.

The source, who insisted he must remain anonymous, said a second compelling reason was that the larger forces now planned probably will have to be withdrawn under fire. Even if the Berlin crisis is settled.

According to this theory, Moscow definitely does not want large-scale war in the immediate future. But, the UPI informant said, all-out or "crash" mobilization by the United States might convince Kremlin leaders war was bound to come. They then might see an advantage in striking the first blow through an attack either on the United States or elsewhere.

President Kennedy's budget is calling for increasing military forces from 2,500,000 to a total of 2,742,225 men at an additional cost of $4 billion the first year.

A worsening situation in Southeast Asia makes it unlikely, the source said, that the large force can be decreased even if the Berlin impasse is hedged.

He said that for the last six months total casualties in guerrilla fighting in southern Vietnam have been an average 5,500 a month while in Laos they have been "several hundred" a month.

Two National Guard divisions reporting for active duty Oct. 15 will not be ready to move overseas until about Jan. 1, the source said. The divisions are from Texas and West Virginia. They may not get overseas duty.

Egyptians

serious Egyptian effort to win Syria back into union.

The new civilian government which appears to have taken over from the military junta that carried out the Syrian revolution at ready has won recognition by Turkey and Jordan. Iran announced Saturday it planned to recognize the new government.

Authoritative sources meanwhile advised that the Syrian government had released all political prisoners held while arresting Syrian army officers stationed in Syria. Some 120 Egyptian prisoners captured at Katania, were freed, however.

One report received in Beirut said former U.A.R. Vice President Abdel Hamid Al-Seraj had been arrested at his home in Damascus.

Kubark in an earlier broadcast by Damascus Radio, ordered Syrian flags run up on all government buildings, the national coat of arms restored and the national anthem re-established.

The government broadcast a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for all of Syria except at Aleppo, where residents were told to keep off the streets from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. or be "liable to danger." Some fighting was reported at Aleppo during the revolt.

Another broadcast warned listeners that the Rebel command would strike with an iron fist against anyone who may try to exploit or harm the movement of the Arab people.

It ordered all Egyptians, military or civilians, to surrender to local commanders Sunday for return to Egypt. Egyptian women were advised to stay indoors for their own safety.

The transitional government has pledged a free press and free elections after four years. Saturday Damascus Radio reported a rise in the value of the Syrian Lira since the uprising and cited it as proof the Syrian economic life is moving toward regaining its strength.

Tires And Auto Parts Are Stolen

Two sets of tires and automobile parts were reported stolen Saturday.

James Storms, owner of Texas Truck Salvage, 143 W. Wilks, reported someone stripped a 1955 Chevrolet of a manifold assembly and carburetor.

Thieves stole two wheels and tires from a trailer parked in the rear of the IGA Store, 800 S. Cuyler, according to a report to police by Elmer Fisher, store owner.

Total loss in the two thefts was approximately $150, police estimated.

Five Are Killed In Vehicle Crash

DRYDEN, Tex. (UPI) — A car hit a semi-trailer, freight truck with such impact Saturday that it tore off the truck's front wheels and sliced away the top of the automobile.

All five of the occupants of the car were killed and the truck driver was injured.

The dead, all from Brownsville, Tex., were Juan Salinas Jr., two weeks old, his mother, Mrs. Juan Salinas Sr., 17, Carlos Castillo, 27, owner and driver of the automobile, Pedro Castillo, 18, brother of the driver, and Gustavo Medana, 20.

Raymond H. Edwards of Braxwell Freight Lines, San Antonio, the truck driver, was slightly injured.

Nixon Willing To Swear He Did Not Offer Deal To Ex-Governor

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon said Saturday night he is willing to swear on the bible he never sent an emissary to try to talk former California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight out of running against him in 1962 for Governor of California.

Nixon arrived here late Saturday to address the closing session of a 13-state Western Republican conference.

Concerning Knight's charge that an unidentified individual representing Nixon had offered Knight "anything I want" to get out of the gubernatorial race, the former vice president had this to say to reporters:

"There was no emissary. I had not even decided to run for governor at the time Knight claimed he was visited by an emissary."

Nixon insisted again, just as he did last Wednesday in Los Angeles when he announced he will run for governor, that he will not be a candidate for President in 1964.

"I shall not be a candidate for President in 1964 and that covers all eventualities raised by your questions," he told reporters who asked him if he might be available for a draft.

Nixon said he thought that if President Kennedy and the Democratic Administration in Washington sent a task force into California next year in an effort to beat him "the tactics will boom."

Boys Ranch Film To Be Shown To Lions Thursday

"A Shirttail To Hang To," the film story of Cal Farley's nationally famous Boys Ranch will be shown to the members of the Pampa Lions Club at their regular noon meeting, Thursday, Oct. 5.

Ray Noblitt, former Clarendon businessman who recently retired to contribute his entire time to Boys Ranch, will be in Pampa to present the film to the Lions. Noblitt has been associated with Boys Ranch founder and president, Cal Farley, for about 35 years and worked with Farley before, during and after the founding of the Ranch.

The film is about the story of a boy living at the Ranch based on the lives of many of the more than 1,200 boys who have lived there since its beginning. "A Shirttail To Hang To," also the title of the novel by Beth Day about Cal Farley and Boys Ranch, was directed and produced by staff members of the Ranch and all of the actors, with but one exception are now living there.

At the present time, 275 boys from all over the nation are making their home at Boys Ranch and receiving their education and training there. Farley founded the Ranch 22 years ago for homeless and delinquent boys and the Ranch's only support has been through voluntary contributions from people all over the United States.

Video Company Gets Reprimand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has reprimanded the American Broadcasting Co. for not informing TV viewers that an episode of Al Capone in "The Untouchables" program was fictional.

The FCC told the network it was "clearly derelict" in failing to make clear that a prison transfer depicted on the program did not conform to the facts.

The commission agreed with Federal Prisons Director James V. Bennett that the depiction of Capone's transfer from Atlanta Federal Penitentiary to Alcatraz put the prison system and some of its employees "in an unfavorable light."

ACCEPTS POSITION—Ray Eller, son of Mrs. Bertha Eller, 1705 Dogwood, recently accepted the position of assistant animal husbandman at the Eastern Oregon Agriculture Experiment Station, Union, Oregon. Kiwanians Hear Pampa Student Anna Jo Watson, Pampa High School senior, told her experiences as an American Field Service Foreign Exchange student in Germany at Friday's Kiwanis Club luncheon in First Methodist Church.

Miss Watson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Watson, 1100 Terry Rd., spent two months this summer in the home of a family in northern Germany.

She summed up her experiences by saying the trip abroad gave her a broader view of world affairs and of how people live in other lands, as well as giving her a better understanding of how to do her part in the general struggle for world peace.

Plans were announced for the Kiwanis Club sponsorship of the Parade of Barbershop Quartets to be held in Pampa Saturday night, Nov. 11. Munn announced the appointment of various committee chairmen for the event and scheduled a breakfast meeting for their Monday morning in Woody's Cafe. Visitors at Friday's luncheon included a four-man inter-club delegation from the North Amarillo Kiwanis Club.

Scouts At Lefors Receive Awards

LEFORS (Sp) — A Court of Honor was recently conducted by Troop-19 of the Adobe Walls Council, Santa Fe District, in the scout house.

Walter Elliott, institutional representative, conducted the presentation of awards. Gene Gee, Life Scout working for Eagle Rank, was presented merit badges for painting, public health, public speaking, book binding and safety.

Ray Carter, Star Scout working toward Life, received merit badges for First Aid, Painting, and Scholarship.

James Rollins received his Star Rank with the Merit badges for cooking, book binding, first aid and safety.

Bobby Thacker, Jack Hatcher, Dickie Wells, and David Wells all received their Second Class Scout rank.

Members of the Lions Club, sponsoring organization, present to make the awards were J. P. Bussell, J. J. Archer, R. E. McDonald, J. E. Carter, Walter Elliott, and Jack Thacker.

Under the direction of Scout Master, Frank Kirk, and Johnny Taylor, the scouts presented a program. James Rollins welcomed the guests. Ray Carter explained the purpose of a court of honor, a place where scouts come for honors and awards. In giving the history of Boy Scouts, he said, "Scouting originated in England, and was brought to the U.S. by early ancestors."

Gene Gee, junior assistant scoutmaster, explained the rank of scouts, classifying Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star Rank, Life Rank, and Eagle Rank, stating "Twenty-one merit badges are required for the Eagle Rank," adding "it takes the help of parents, scoutmasters, counselors, and others to ever make the grade."

Refreshments were served by Mmes. Frank Kirk, Johnny Taylor, Jack Thacker, and R. O. Wells.

Motor Vehicle Checkup Urged

AUSTIN — Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, suggested today the start of fall "is an excellent time to have motor vehicles safety inspected" in preparation for hard winter driving.

The new 1962 Texas Vehicle Inspection Sticker is now available at the 5,000 official inspection stations in compliance with orders issued by the Texas Public Safety Commission. The order states that all vehicles coming under the provisions of the Vehicle Inspection Act must display the new sticker by April 16, 1962.

Garrison said that during the past three months mechanics at inspection stations over the state have undergone an intensive training program on the inspection of vehicles under the law.

"There have been no changes in the Inspection Law from last year," he explained, "but we have re-examined every mechanic in the program to be certain he knows the procedure."

The DPS director noted that since the beginning of the inspection program 10 years ago, vehicles having a defect that was a causative factor in motor vehicle accidents have steadily decreased.

before a cease-fire can be put into effect, U.N. sources said today.

The sources said Tshombe backed down in talks with U.N. representative Mahmoud Khari,

EX-PAMPAN ENTERS POLITICS — Ruhl Samples, former Pampan and son of R. M. Samples, local store manager, has decided to enter politics as a candidate for Congress in California's 22nd district. Samples is shown here on the right with G.O.P. Congressman John Rousselot of California. The picture was taken shortly after Samples had announced his candidacy as a champion of Constitutional government and the free enterprise system.

Former Pampan, In California, Enters Race For Seat In Congress

A former Pampan man has tossed his hat into the political ring in California. He is Ruhl Samples, Pampa High School graduate and son of R. H. Samples, manager of the J. C. Penny Co. store here. Young Samples has just announced his candidacy for Congress in California's 22nd Congressional District. It is his first attempt to seek a political office. For the past year the former Pampan has been director of a lecture series in Los Angeles devoted to presenting conservative speakers such as Cong. Bruce Alger (R-Tex.), William F. Buckley Jr., Dan Smoot, and the noted economist, Ludwig Von Mises. Political observers say that Ruhl, as a result of his uncompromising attitude in favor of the free enterprise system and constitutional government, was asked to run and accepted the bid to seek the congressional seat. In a recent press release in a Los Angeles newspaper, Ruhl said: "Our federal government has grown completely beyond the bounds of the founders of the nation intended. If we are to retain those freedoms granted us by the Constitution, we must pare government back to its rightful size and make it once more the servant of the people, not their master. "People are beginning to see the light. They are electing such men as Sen. John Tower from Texas and Cong. John R. Rousselot of California. "If America is to be saved from communism or socialism, which are the same thing under different names, it can only be done by the people, people who fully understand the dangerous direction in which we are headed: people who will go out and seek those men, regardless of party, who believe in the Constitution and untampered, free enterprise — and then elect them in '62 and '64 to represent them. If we don't, we may not have the chance in '68." Young Samples was graduated from Pampa High School in 1949 and left here for California the same year.

New Cuban Exile Regime Urged

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Dr. Carlos Prío y Socarras, the last democratically elected president of Cuba this week urged the formation of a Cuban government in exile. He said he had "assurances" that such a government "would be recognized by many South American governments, and perhaps, the United States would recognize us, too." Prío spoke to a group of exiles here, who are members of a group called the Cuban Revolutionary Party. Prío was president of Cuba from 1948 until March 10, 1952, when Fulgencio Batista, in a military coup, deposed him and took over as dictator of Cuba.

Jack Robinson, maintenance welder for the Kingsmill Plant of Skelly Oil Co., has announced the organization of a new Pampa Club of which he will be activation president. It will be a unit of the nationwide group of regional industrial clubs sponsored by the National Eutectic Maintenance Welders Club of Flushing, New York. The first meeting will be held Monday evening, October 9 at 7:30 p.m., at the Gate Valve Co., at the corner of Russell and Tuke streets. Willis C. Riddle, the new club's technical director, will acquaint the attenders with the group's objectives and proposed programs. Briefly, its program will be educational, treating with improved technique, procedures and materials in welding. Victor H. Lyon of Tulsa, Okla., will discuss maintenance welding problems. Other activation officers are: vice president, I. Parker of Parker Welding; treasurer, L. M. Scribner, welder for Celanese Chemical Corp.; and secretary, Barney

British To Sell Planes To China
LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Sketch said today Britain is negotiating the west's first sale of commercial airplanes to Red China. The newspaper said Communist China wanted to expand its domestic air service and was bidding on at least 20 planes worth an estimated $28 million. "It seems certain that the order will be confirmed in the next few weeks," the Sketch reported. Playing cards did not appear with ornate back designs until about 1850.

'Laughing Diplomacy' Suggested By Comic

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of New York's most successful and "hip" (that's the opposite of "square") comedians thinks a little humor could help boost U.S. prestige abroad.

He is Stan Freberg, who has spoofed his way through radio, television, records and advertising campaigns.

Freberg makes a handsome living in the advertising business by kidding the proverbial pants off it.

His other activities include a presentation on records of American history, a musical comedy and a book called "Freberg's First Reader for Adults."

But it is in a field in which satire has been virtually unused that Freberg would like to try his talents. The field is international relations and his interest is based on the belief that social criticism, disguised by humor, can be used to improve the American image in foreign lands.

"If someone in the White House or in the State Department asked me if I'd like to work on a program for radio — say the Voice of America — in which satire is employed to sell democracy, I'd drop everything else I'm doing," he said in an interview.

Freberg believes the best policy for a nation to adopt after making any diplomatic boobos is to "laugh and come clean and admit it."

"Look, I managed to up sales 25 per cent in four months — which is extraordinary — for a chicken chow mein company by advertising that 95 per cent of Americans never touched the stuff," he said. "We admitted this and the public listened. If you can do that kind of a selling job for chicken chow mein, imagine what you can do for the United States."

Freberg, 34, realized the power of deftly handled satire while a student at Alhambra High School in Los Angeles. He won the election for Student Council president by promising his colleagues he would "turn the principal's office into an automatic car wash and install an eighty-foot picture window in the girls' gym." After school, and service in the army, he disc jockeyed under the name of "Honest John." Lamooned soap opera with a record called "John and Marsha" and gave children's television its first show of sophistication with "Time for Beany." Freberg believed audiences had no truck with "being talked down to," an satire, deftly handled, was too effective a force to confine to entertainment.

In 1958, Freberg opened his own advertising consulting firm in Los Angeles. He called it "Freberg, Ltd." and advertised it with a business card which showed picture of a bored-looking seal. Above the animal's head was written "The Great Seal of Freberg, Ltd." Below was written in Latin the motto of the firm which, translated, was "Art for Money's Sake."

Freberg must have shaken up the chow mein people when he interrupted their radio claim that 95 per cent of Americans ate their product. "Correction," said Freberg to the announcer on the air. Then he persuaded him to say what he really meant was that "95 per cent of the people in the United States are not eating chicken chow mein, but should they try it they would like it for the rest of their lives." Chow mein sales boomed as a result.

When he became sure his unconventional ad business was rolling financially, Freberg made his first ventures into political satire, venturing into political satire.

Here's a bit from the first of an hour-record set called "Stan Freberg presents the United States of America."

The scene is in the 1820s when a Mayor in Massachusetts, running for reelection, is having a hard time corraling the "Indian vote." He turned down a suggestion to pick an Indian as a running mate and instead sings:

"Take an Indian to lunch this week,
Let him sit right down and munch this week,
Let's give in and all do the brotherhood bit,
Just make sure we don't make a habit of it..."

Session Of Congress 'Sort Of Trailed Off'

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of our poetic-minded congressmen are fond of saying that something or other reminds them of "Tennyson's brook" — meaning, I suppose, that it bubbles on and on.

In that context, the 1961 session of Congress was itself a bit like Tennyson's eternal stream. Frankly, however, it reminded me more of Bull Run.

For one reason or another, our lawmakers this year had more trouble than usual reaching the point where all 500-odd would stop talking simultaneously.

Get the House silenced long enough for someone to propose adjournment and oratory would break out in the Senate. Or the other way around. Then both would start talking at once again.

This resulted in one of the longest peacetime sessions on record, give or take, Rep. Noah M. Mason.

Mason, an Illinois Republican and non-conformist, ritually adheres to the 1946 Reorganization Act which set the adjournment of Congress for the end of July except when the President declared an emergency.

As he puts it, "I have been automatically adjourning myself for 15 years."

This year, however, even the lone adjourner backslid. He adjourned himself as usual on the first of August but reconvened himself in September and remained in session until the bitter end.

You could tell Mason was bitter because when his name was sounded in a quorum call last Saturday he answered: "Here — under protest."

We journalists customarily refer to closing days of Congress as the "adjournment rush." It would be more accurate, however, to say that this session just sort of trailed off.

A number of the more impatient members departed prematurely, but without the formality of ad-journaling themselves. They either had dates to go on junkets or else were in a hurry to start explaining things to the folks back home.

Although it may not mean much to people 10 miles away from the District of Columbia, in the capital itself the adjournment of Congress is a big thing. A lot of money rides on it.

Toward the end of summer, betting pools begin springing up all over town. The winners are the ones who come closest to guessing the date and hour of adjournment.

The longevity of this year's session confounded most of the actuaries who participate in these pools. As the end drew near, only the long shots were still in the running.

Representative Appointed By Lunkenheimer

MIDLAND — Appointment of John L. Rice as sales representative for the Lunkenheimer Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, manufacturer of valves, is announced by Melvin W. Pauly, vice president - sales.

Rice will cover West Texas, including El Paso, and Borger and Pampa in the Pahrhandle; and all of New Mexico. His appointment accents the stepped-up Lunkenheimer sales program, designed to supply the increasing demands for maintenance-free valves throughout industry.

Rice will be based in Midland, Texas.

Prior to joining Lunkenheimer, Rice was associated with the Walworth Co., serving in sales for 25 years. He was graduated from the University of Illinois with a Bachelor of Science Degree.

Rice and his wife reside at 1104 North Big Spring, Midland, Texas.

Walter Rogers Reports Speech Against Reds Pleases Congressmen

The President of Peru received more and louder applause from the House of Representatives than for any other visiting dignitary has a long time. The reason — he made a hard-hitting speech against Communism. Although it was well understood by most of the Members of the Congress that he wanted and expected economic aid and assistance from the United States, it was clear from his words and his delivery that they were not prompted solely by the hope of some economic reward. Another visitor to this country who addressed the House of Representatives a few short weeks ago was President Ayub of Pakistan. He, too, made a hard-hitting speech against Communism. He, too, openly and clearly stated that his country needed and wanted economic aid and assistance. It was also obvious in his speech that his opposition to Communism was not based upon hope of reward from an economic standpoint. The applause for both of these men was always loud and prolonged when they lambasted the Communist ideology. Perhaps that for President Prado of Peru was greater because his country is in our own hemisphere, although Pakistan is so located geographically that it could be easy and quick prey for the USSR.

President Prado probably received the greatest applause when he spoke the following two paragraphs:

"Now, with regard to non-intervention. This principle is being badly misrepresented by some who would invoke it to permit the destruction of the Inter-American system of free republics by an outside power — namely international Communism. The doctrine of non-intervention is designed to prevent interference by one nation in the foreign and domestic affairs of another, whether this interference be done through infiltration, through propaganda or through the abuse of diplomatic privileges.

"I can report to you that such interference occurred in my country on the part of one American nation which we regard as an agent of foreign ideologies. When such interference was proved we promptly broke off relations with that government — and they will remain broken off until that country is once again able to conduct itself as a free and self-governing American Republic. May that day come soon!"

He did not need to name the country to which he was referring. Nor did he need to name the man responsible for the incident. I am sure that we will soon hear loud howls from Castro because of this speech.

Another excerpt from the speech that brought forth tremendous applause was the following:

"My ideological position from the time I first occupied the Presidency is positive, clear, and definitely anti-Communist. I have opposed and I now oppose this conception of the world which degrades man, deprives him of his liberty, submits him to the slavery of the state, robs him of a just wage, condemns him to the common and the anonymous, controls his thoughts, directs his culture and separates him from God. Communism is the negation of America, of its traditions and of its mission for the future. It must be driven out of the Americas!"

You will probably also be deeply interested in the fact that Peru has no diplomatic relations with the governments behind the Iron Curtain. President Prado in 1942 refused to exchange ambassadors with the Soviet Union although both countries were fighting on the same side against the Nazi-Fascist group.

I think that the visit of President Prado to the United States and his hard-hitting speech before Congress will do much to help cement relations between all of the American States and to further block the insidious and devious schemes of Castro to jeopardize these relations.

Saline Water
This letter is being written just after I have returned from the White House. The President signed into law the bill that will enable this country to move with much greater speed and flexibility toward an early breakthrough in the problem of changing sea water into water that can be used for human consumption. Early success in this program could well be helpful in solving many of the world's problems and provide one of the greatest single steps toward peace. The President invited to participate in the ceremonies those of us who had worked with this measure in preparing and developing it, an holding hearings on it and in guiding it through the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Visitors in the Nation's Capital this week included Mr. C. L. Edwards from Panhandle and Mr. R. G. Peeler from Hereford.

Look At Plane Overhaul Plant Found Pleasing

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — If every air passenger could visit three giant buildings in this bustling midwestern city, he'd feel safer when he stepped into an airliner.

These three structures house Trans World Airlines' overhaul base. What goes on inside them underscores the thorough care the airlines devote to aircraft maintenance. TWA's base, larger and newer than some, nevertheless is typical.

Each TWA plane comes into Kansas City every nine to 12 months, for a complete overhaul. It emerges five days and 10,000 man-hours later as virtually a brand-new plane. It costs TWA $50,000 just to clean, inspect and overhaul the main cabin structure, wings and landing gear. It costs $23,000 to overhaul a jet engine and as much as $14,000 for a piston engine.

These are just some of the steps:

—Check logbooks for any particular trouble items.

—Wash the plane with 300 gallons of solvent; it takes four cleaners eight hours to bathe a jet.

—Remove all inspect plates and access openings for pre-inspection of complete plane.

—Remove paint for closer inspection of all outer rivets.

—Take out all seats and interior equipment for cleaning or replacement.

—Remove engines for overhaul, then test for four hours (which involves consumption of 1,800 gallons of fuel when testing a jet engine and 450 gallons in a piston engine).

—Check all controls, instruments, cables, wiring and replace in accordance with government operating time limits.

—X-ray key structural parts for any sign of fatigue.

—Put the plane back together, then flight-test for three hours. All this requires no less than 10,000 separate jobs. New parts are assembled several days in advance. The torn-down plane is distributed to several work areas.

Each separate item of work is plotted on a schedule chart and every item is recorded on a work card which must be signed by a mechanic when he finishes the particular task.

The five-day overhaul time for an airliner does not apply to engines. Each plane gets fresh power plants which have been overhauled previously because it takes as much as 15 days to tear down, overhaul and test a jet engine.

One has to see a maintenance base like this to grasp its immensity and complexity. The biggest of TWA's three overhaul structures is as long as three city blocks. It could house four football games simultaneously. The concrete required both inside and on outside aprons and roadways is sufficient to lay a sidewalk from Kansas City to Denver.

The cost of the installation itself is staggering. TWA spent $25 million to build it. It also spends $22,000 a month just on electricity, and $10,000 monthly on phone bills.

Overhaul periods are planned so carefully that when one plane enters for a periodic "face-lifting," another of the same type has just completed its overhaul and goes back into service as a replacement.

A-M College Enrolment At New High Mark

COLLEGE STATION — The fall semester enrollment at Texas A. and M. College this year is the highest since 1949. With a total of 7,694 students registered through noon Saturday, the 1961 figure represents an increase of nearly 7 per cent over the 1960 fall enrollment.

The increase came despite a recent loosening of admissions policy at the College. Only those students who are in the upper three-fourths of their high school graduating class are admitted, without entrance examinations. Those high school students in the lower fourth of their class are admitted only upon demonstration of their ability to do college work by a series of tests.

"This indicates that as we move toward programs of excellence at Texas A. and M. College we need not fear losses in enrollment," Pres. Earl Rudder said.

Preliminary reports reveal that over 66 per cent of last year's freshman class at A. and M. College has returned for the sophomore year this fall. This is up from a low of 46 per cent in September, 1957, and up from 60 per cent returnees in September, 1960.

"Credit for the increased enrollment and the higher rate of returnees," President Rudder said, "should go to all of the faculty of the college along with both the military and civilian student leaders. Special praise is due the faculty advisors to the cadet corps units for their work in this effort."

With the increase of almost 500 students over last year, the housing facilities of the college are strained. All available dormitory space is filled to capacity, Bennie A. Zinn, student affairs director, reports.

"At one time during early days of the fall semester, 300 College rooms had more than the usual two students per room," he said.

"This situation has been alleviated since permission was granted to the students who were living under these crowded conditions to seek housing off campus," Zinn stated.

Texas A. and M. College today is accepting fewer freshmen students who rank in the lower fourth of the high school graduating class. In 1959 the college's freshman class was composed of 11 per cent of lower-fourth students. This compares with only 5 per cent in 1960.

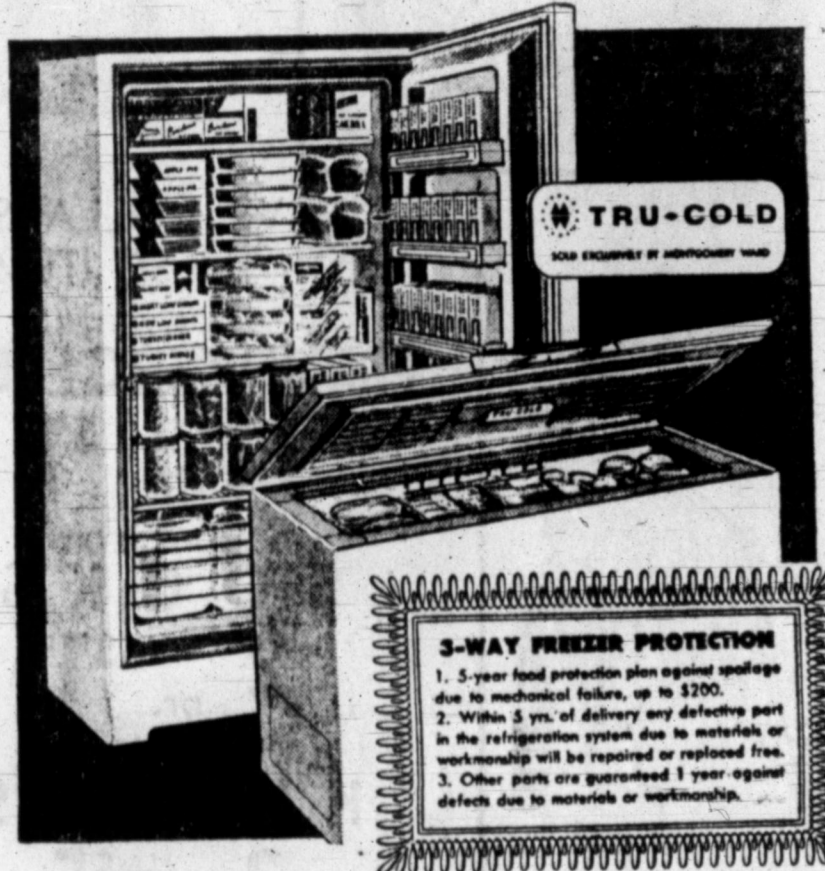

In 1959 only 67 per cent of entering freshmen at A. and M. College were in the upper half of their high school class, while a year later this figure had been upped to 73 per cent.

Love Life Of Oyster Due For More Study

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Had not Rep. Clare Hoffman been so demure about it, chances are the sex life of an oyster would never have become a topic of public discussion.

Even an oyster is entitled to some privacy. The way that it comports itself down there in the oyster bed is, if we want to be gentlemanly about it, no concern of yours or mine. But now that the matter has been dragged into the open, so to speak, the only thing to do is to present the facts with as much scientific detachment as possible. Perhaps that will put an end to all the gossip.

It was Hoffman, you may recall, who started people talking. He was unable to let well enough alone when the House passed a bill last month providing funds for research in the artificial propagation of shellfish.

Hoffman took the floor long enough to ascertain that the project involved ways to produce baby oysters "without the consent of the papa or mama oyster."

And then, before any details were forthcoming, he broke off the colloquy as being too racy for a family publication, such as the Congressional Record.

Hoffman, it might add, comes from Michigan, and inland state. It may be that he thought oysters came off an assembly line, like automobiles.

At any rate, he aroused curiosities and caused widespread speculation as to the love life of this innocent bivalve. In fairness to the oyster, I don't think the matter should be left hanging there.

Furthermore, I am pleased to see that the National Geographic Society, an organization noted for its dispassionate nature studies, apparently concurs in this view.

The Geographic has just sent out a press release which, in a manner that is both delicate and forthright, sets the record straight. It shows that there is nothing particularly scandalous about the behavior of oysters.

Oysters do not pitch wild parties, or tell suggestive jokes in mixed company, or anything like that. They spend every evening alone in their own shells.

What makes them interesting is their ability to change their gender. Some of them can switch back and forth from one sex to the other whenever the mood strikes them.

You can see from this why the artificial propagation of oysters presents a problem and why more research is needed. You also can see why Hoffman was a bit perplexed.

There undoubtedly is a biological reason for the oyster's unstable nature but I like the explanation quoted by the Geographic from a poem by Byron.

"Any oyster may be crossed in love, and why? Because he mope-eth idly in his shell."

Longview Mayor Named President Of Midco Group

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Clyde Tomlinson, mayor of Longview, independent oil and producer and East Texas leader in public affairs, was elected president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association this week.

Tomlinson succeeds Estill S. Heyser Jr., Dallas independent producer. He was elected at the closing session of the Association's 42nd annual meeting in Fort Worth.

Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association is composed of several thousand independent producers and company executives.

Tomlinson, 57, has been active in the association for years. He has served since 1956 as vice president of the East Texas district and as a director. He also is a director of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

He is chairman of the oil and gas committee of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and was the Chamber's "Man of the Month" last August. He has been mayor of Longview 10 years and served 19 years on the city commission.

Tomlinson is a native of Louisiana. He moved to Longview in 1930 and the following year helped organize Producers Petroleum Corp., a drilling and producing firm. Since the death of his associate, the late W. Ridley Wheeler of Fort Worth, he has operated as an independent producer.

As president of Texas Mid-Continent, Tomlinson will work with the association's 18-member permanent staff, 10 district vice presidents and the Oil Information committee, composed of 1,500 volunteer committeemen.

Fewer Women Seeking Roles As Engineers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most females bent on a career shy from slide rules.

Statistics show engineering is not considered a "woman's dish of tea."

At least — not by the women. Last year, 15 schools accredited by the Engineers Council of Professional Development enrolled more than 200,000 males — but only 1,210 females.

What's more, the number of undergraduate women engineers has declined steadily since 1957.

Now who says so and who's dismayed by the trend is a male in charge of passing out scholarships to needy but qualified high school graduates aiming for engineering.

The expert is Russell H. Clevenger, administrator of the Hertz Engineering Scholarship Foundation. He said that too few women understand what an engineering career involves to know whether they would be interested or not.

The foundation received 2,300 applications for scholarships this year. Of these only 80 came from female high school students.

"This shows that few women think of engineering except as a man's job," Clevenger said. "On the other hand, many women who apply for the scholarships think of it as an abstract science. The truth lies somewhere between."

Of the 80 female applicants, 10 became finalists in the 1961 screening. Four subsequently withdrew and three were found to have no financial need. Two others were eliminated, in part because they appeared better qualified for other careers.

The one successful woman applicant had been in first in her high school class of 243.

"She was strongly motivated, exacting as a worker, not easily discouraged." Clevenger said "She ranked among the top five per cent in her school in ambition, originality and responsibility; in the top 10 per cent in ability to make decisions."

"This experience with the 10 finalists strengthens our belief that most women who apply know too little about the field to be able to decide if engineering is really for them."

Clevenger said the obstacles for women who wish to become engineers are by no means formidable.

"The best route," he said, "is through research or teaching. Graduate women engineers can start here and then move into specific areas of their choice."

Kiwanis Group Going To Meet

The Pampa Kiwanis Club will be represented at the 1961 convention of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Kiwanis International at San Angelo, Texas, Oct. 8-10. Club President Bob Allford announced Saturday. Hosts for the convention will be members of the Kiwanis Clubs of San Angelo and West Angelo.

Local delegates from the Pampa club to the convention will be Dr. Weldon Adair, Edwin McEver, Melvin Munn and Warren Hasse.

C. L. Morris, treasurer of Kiwanis International and a Springfield, Ill., insurance executive, will be a featured speaker at the three-day meeting at the Cactus Hotel. Also on hand will be Edward C. Keefe, a trustee of Kiwanis International. Keefe resides in the Texas-Oklahoma District.

Delegates from 315 clubs representing nearly 16,000 business and professional leaders will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, consideration of successful community service work, and the election of officers will highlight the program, Allford said.

Presiding officer will be Jack M. Langdon of Fort Worth, Texas, Governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District.

Troubled Airliner Makes Safe Stop

FORT WORTH (UPI) — An American Airlines 707 jetliner with 110 persons aboard developed hydraulic trouble Saturday between Los Angeles and Dallas and made a precautionary landing at Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth.

American Airlines said the plane, flight 62, with stops in Dallas, Memphis and Nashville, landed at Carswell because of "heavy crosswinds" at Dallas Love Field, 30 miles away.

Kansas Engineer Speaks Thursday To Pampa Group

Ivan Rice, president of Rice Engineering and Operating, Inc., Great Bend Kansas, will speak on the subject of salt water disposal at the first fall meeting of the Panhandle Chapter API to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 5, at the Coronado Inn in the Starlight Room. Disposal of salt water produced with the oil from oil wells is currently of vital interest in the Panhandle Area as all oil companies in the area will eliminate unlined salt water disposal pits by July 1, 1962.

Rice has had extensive experience in salt water disposal operations. Currently, his company operates 55 disposal wells which dispose of 168,000 barrels water per day from about 2,500 producing wells located in Texas, Kansas, New Mexico, Michigan, and in Canada. His company also operates some producing properties and furnishes pumping service to about 700 producing oil wells.

A graduate of Tulsa University in 1940 with a B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering, Rice worked for Gulf Oil Corporation from 1940 to 1951, at which time he formed his salt water disposal engineering and operating company. He is a member of the National Association of Professional Engineers, the Kansas Professional Engineers, and the American Petroleum Institute.

Following Rice's talk, a panel of Panhandle Area engineers and supervisors will discuss local problems of salt water disposal. Paul M. Wiley, Pampa, Texaco Inc., will be moderator, and panel members will include the speaker, Ivan Rice, Ray Ard, Amarillo, Gulf Oil Corporation; J. W. Burdage, Dumas, Shamrock Oil & Refining Co.; Nathan Turnbo, Pampa, Kewanee Oil Company; John Moore, Pampa, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company; W. N. Sargent, Pampa, Cabot Company, and M. G. Texans Aid Cowboy Club Group In Berlin

DALLAS (UPI)— On the free world's frontier in Communist-threatened Berlin—out where the West really begins—there is a bit of Texas settled by German cowboys who have never roped a steer. But they sure would like to.

This is the reason for the private foreign aid program—with a western flavor—that is underway today to perpetuate a part of the Lone Star state deep in the heart of West Berlin.

A group of Texans met Wednesday to get the campaign rolling. They are collecting boots, jeans, western shirts, cowboy belt buckles, 10-gallon hats, lariats, branding irons, saddles and even a Texas flag.

Bill Rives, sports editor of the Dallas News, is the guiding light behind the drive.

When he was in Berlin this summer, he found a "Cowboy Club Old Texas" located in the Spandau district of West Berlin—just a hopped-to-hop from the Spandau Prison where Nazi war criminals were held.

The club members, there are 38 of them under President Wolfgang Siefert, have a half-acre land complete with a "Lone Star" ranchhouse, saloon, hitching post (but nothing to hitch to), tepee, totem pole and a small construction office to one side commonly referred to as an outhouse.

Although most of the club members are Germans, there is one in the ranks who actually once lived in Texas—Charles Heintz. He lived in San Antonio.

Over the bar in the saloon is a stuffed Buffalo head one of the club members found in a Berlin junkyard. There are pictures of cowboys and rodeo contestants on the walls.

Horst Kalkbrenner, the bartender, is an old hand at trick roping but he has no real twirling rope ing stunted by an insufficiency of tax funds.

Nebraska has cut the number of school districts from about 6,000 to slightly more than 3,000 in recent years. Some of the more optimistic educators say the total will be cut down gradually in the years ahead.

Occasionally the argument is heard that if the state embarked on a program of state aid and forced minimum requirements in determining eligibility for the aid, Nebraska's school consolidation problems would be solved and there would be an attendant upgrading of the quality of the educational programs.

So far, however, the view has prevailed that keeping education as close to home as possible is the best method. The argument is that if funds for education are raised locally, there will be a close watch on expenditures. Holders of this view also believe that local taxpayers will make enough money available to assure quality education for their children.

to work with. The Texans plan to get him one.

John Justin, mayor of Fort Worth and president of a western boot company, is a member of the committee that met Wednesday. He said he is going to Berlin this week end with a group of American mayors, and plans to take to the club a Lone Star flag that once flew over the Texas capitol in Austin.

It would be a symbol of support both for Red-threatened West Berlin and the club. Justin's company donated hats and cowboy belts.

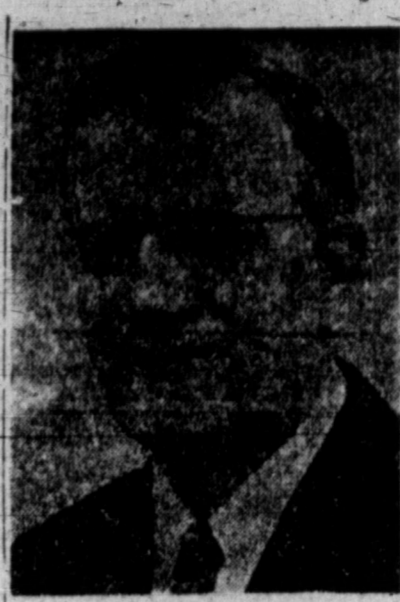

The Shoanil Ranch and Cattle Co. of Amarillo filled a box with branding irons, two old saddles, spurs, bridles and other cowboy gear. John VanCronkrite, producer-general manager of the National Finals Rodeo Commission, said one man wants to send a cow pony to the club so it will have one to ride.

Continental To Drill 24 Wells In Dawson Area

FORT WORTH — Continental Oil Company plans to complete 24 wells by the end of 1961 in the Ackerly Northwest — Dean Sands field in the extreme southeast corner of Dawson county in West Texas, at a cost of approximately $3,250,000, it was announced Saturday by John E. Kircher, Fort Worth, southwestern region general manager.

Ten wells already have been drilled by Conoco as producers in the field, which is approximately 30 miles northwest of Big Spring. The first well, the Paul Adams No. 1, was drilled late last year. On test, it flowed at the daily rate of 213 barrels. Nine wells drilled to date this year have averaged 183 barrels each daily on initial potential tests.

Five rigs are now operating for Conoco in the area, where the company has 25,000 acres under lease. The wells will be drilled to approximately 8,800 feet. Operations in the Ackerly Northwest — Dean Sands field are under the supervision of Conoco's Big Spring district office.

FRANK STAMPS

Gospel Singers Will Meet Soon

AMARILLO (Sp1) — Elmo Hudgins of Pampa, president of the Oklahoma and Texas Gospel Singers convention, announces that the 31st annual convention will be held in the Amarillo High School auditorium October 7 and 8. More than 4,000 people are expected to attend. There is no admission charge.

Gospel singers from all parts of the nation will be in attendance, Hudgins said. Featured guest will be Frank Stamps of the Stamps-Baxter Quartet and Dallas music publisher.

Other widely known groups will include the singing Bell Family, Temple; The Watchman's Quartet, Dallas; The Hoover Trio, Austin; The Singing Wills Family, Ft. Worth, the Arizona State Quartet, the Pecos Valley Quartet and groups from Louisiana and other states.

Vidét Polk, president of the National Gospel Singers Convention, will be a guest.

The first session will begin at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon concluding at 5 o'clock. The second session will be held Saturday night, beginning at 7 o'clock. The third session Sunday will be from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

TAXES COLLECTED

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas collected $8.54 million in September in cigarette, liquor and wine taxes, State Treasurer Jesse James said Saturday. The total compared to $9.09 million collected in August, which had two more accounting days.

Cancer Society Meet Slated Here Tuesday

More than seventy-five representatives of county units of the American Cancer Society are expected in Pampa next Tuesday for the annual meeting of District Three-North of the Texas Division. The one-day meeting will open at 9 a.m. at the Coronado Inn.

A special highlight will be Dr. William W. Sullivan's report on his advanced study in cancer being done under the Inez Carver Fellowship grant of the Texas Division of the Society. Dr. Sullivan is Orthopedic Surgeon at The University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

The delegates from the twenty-county area will also elect three directors as representatives on the state board. Present directors from this district are Mrs. J. Eddie Jones of Dalhart, Dr. J. E. Wheeler of Borger, and John DeShazo of Amarillo.

DeShazo will preside at the morning session, and E. O. Wedgworth of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will extend the welcome to the delegates. Progress reports from each county represented will be followed by the reports of state directors and a presentation on the "Personality of the American Cancer Society" by state staff members Elmo Osborne and Bill Shafer.

The opening invocation will be given by the Rev. Earl Cooper of the Pampa First Methodist Church, and the lunch invocation by Sam Begert, Principal of the Horace Mann School in Pampa.

A session for education programs in schools and colleges will be led by Charles Wright of West Texas State College.

The group discussion of a campaign will be conducted by Texas Division Director of Crusade and Public Relations, Elmo Osborne.

Tom Williams, field representative for this district, will lead the third group in a review of the basic needs of the service program of the society.

In addition to the research address, the luncheon will feature 1961 Crusade awards to counties in this District which exceeded the minimum share. These are Armstrong, Dalam - Hartley, Donley, Gray, Hansford, Oldham, Randall, Sherman, and Wheeler.

PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED

DALLAS (UPI) — Braniff International Airways announced Saturday the promotion of Nabeau to manager of insurance and Truett Albritton to manager of disbursements. David Hopkins was promoted to assistant manager of disbursements accounting.

Role In Terror Picture Pleasing To Ross Martin

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA)—"Mr. Blank"—Ross Martin—had just resigned from A.A. (acting anonymously), and he looked like a fellow handed a pardon at the gas chamber door. His smile was wider than the Golden Gate and reminiscent of his carefree days as "Andiamo" on "Mr. Lucky" before the hit series went down the TV drain.

"It was frustrating," Martin said about a month of disguising his voice and being introduced from behind a mask as "Mr. Blank."

When an actor lands a big movie role with no mention of his name anywhere, you might say it is the ultimate in frustration. It happened to Martin when producer-director Blake Edwards had this hush-hush idea for the role of a psychopathic killer in "Experiment in Terror." The film, costars Glenn Ford and Lee Remick.

For a while the hush-hush bit worked out better than a U-2 operation. Everyone was sworn to secrecy and the Columbia publicity department rushed the masked Mr. Martin through "Who is he?" newspaper interviews.

In San Francisco, however, things got out of hand when the film company moved into Candlestick Baseball Park for a sequence. We found no evidence of "Mr. Blank's" off-camera mask or on-camera disguise being blown across the bay by Candlestick's famed wind gusts, but it wasn't long before 1,500 extras got wind of his identity.

While the film's dejected public relations man went off to burn Mr. Blank's mask over a double order of flaming bronzy (on cherries jubilee) we talked to Martin. His role in "Experiment in Terror" should win all 1961 movie awards in the Mr. Menace league.

Martin's flir for light comedy with a Spanish dialect brought him TV fame in "Mr. Lucky." He couldn't be happier, however, about playing the killer who turns Lee Remick into a nervous basket case before he's tracked down and killed by FBI man Glenn Ford.

"After Mr. Lucky went off the air a year ago," he said, "all I could get were Spanish dialect roles and the part of an Indian in 'Geronimo.' I was worried about becoming a latter-day Leo Carrillo until Edwards gave me this role."

With face unseen and even name billing delayed until the film's climax, Martin's campaign of terror in the story is staged with disguises and a breathless, asthmatic voice. The labored breathing from the shadowy figure who haunts heroine Lee Remick is the only clue to his identity—and the script makes the most of this.

Before starting the film, Martin went to a Los Angeles clinic in hopes of researching various, asthmatic types. He was turned down—"professional ethics, you know," he was told. But with help from a doctor friend he has perfected what he hopes will be the most distinctively sinister voice ever in a movie.

"Experiment in Terror" is based on "Operation Terror," a mystery novel by former Hollywood press agent Gordon Gordon and wife. Title and background (Los Angeles in the novel) have been changed. Edwards decided San Francisco was a more colorful background. No one knows exactly why "Operation Terror" was discarded as a title, but one wit says: "I guess someone decided 'Operation Terror' sounded like a story about a surgeon with a case of palsy."

"I've been at MGM a mighty long time," said Debbie as she sat on the couch in her living room. She rattled off names of other stars who have long since departed the giant Culver City lot. It sounded like a Hollywood "who's who."

"There aren't any of the other girls left," Debbie said. "Lana Turner, June Allyson, Esther Williams, Judy Garland and Ava Gardner, they're all gone."

Debbie's career had started after most of those actresses had already reached stardom.

"I was among the last group of girls that anybody in town took a chance on in pictures, girls like Pier Angeli and Leslie Caron," Debbie said.

"We were the last group of girls signed by Louis B. Mayer," she added, referring to the late head of MGM.

Debbie admits to being just another beauty contest winner when she entered films as "Miss Burbank" from that city near Hollywood. Her first picture was at Warner Bros. Studio.

"When I signed my contract, Zelda Glutz was a bigger name," she joked.

Looking back to the days of her motion picture infancy, Debbie said: "I'll never forget the day I met Clark Gable at the studio. I couldn't talk. In those days Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Van Johnson, Astaire, Mario Lanza and Lionel Barrymore were under contract to MGM."

Actor Thinks Offbeat Name May Stir Jokes

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Meyer he must have gone through all his life with that name. I hope to come off kind of philosophical and witty with the character."

The nearest thing to Meyer Meyer is Poncie Poncie, one of the eyes on "Hawaiian Eye."

But Meyer, or Mr. Meyer, if you care to be formal, joins an illustrious list of characters. Etched on TV's rolls are such names as Kookie, Kitty, Doc, Cricket, Flip, Cha Cha, Moke and Pinky. For each of those monikers, TV has somebody who'll answer—for a price.

Meyer Meyer, played by Norman Fell, is a policeman on NBC's new "8th Precinct" series. If the character catches on, there's no doubt that TV's copycats will come up with a show next season called "38th Precinct" and have a star named Louie Louie.

"I like the idea that Meyer Meyer is a name you'll remember," says Norman. "Actually, it's a good character element for the guy."

"When I play him, I think about his background and what he's going to do."

Fell takes Meyer seriously and insists the character isn't there just for laughs.

"He's not comedy relief," Norman insisted. "What I really like about this character is that he's a complete human being and a good cop. I think the name was put in the series to give him a bit of background."

Despite Norman's serious analysis of friend Meyer Meyer, the actor has enough sense of humor to realize the name is fraught with jokes.

"Some day a guy is going to walk up to me and say 'hello Meyer Meyer,'" he joked. "I'll probably answer 'how are you, how are you.' And I might even answer the phone by saying 'hello, hello, Meyer Meyer.'"

Being a sensible fellow, Norman realizes an offbeat name could be difficult to shake off when he ever leaves "8th Precinct."

"I hope not because I've got to make Norman Fell mean something," he said. "Let Meyer Meyer worry about himself. But, really, the part is so varied that I don't think I can get hurt."

Other detectives on the show will probably get fan mail from girls, but Norman expects to hear from the older set.

"I'm going to get boxes of cookies from old ladies," he said, expecting that some viewers will probably feel kindly towards a fellow with such an unusual name.

Debbie Reynolds Plans To Leave Metro Goldwyn

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Debbie Reynolds is leaving Metro-Goldwyn Studios, where she started 11 years ago as a young starlet and became one of filmland's biggest stars.

Debbie has worked for other studios, but it was the MGM star system which put her on the road to movie prominence. For years, she was under exclusive contract to the studio. But like many of Hollywood's top performers, Debbie wants no more exclusive pacts with one moviemaker.

"I've been at MGM a mighty long time," said Debbie as she sat on the couch in her living room. She rattled off names of other stars who have long since departed the giant Culver City lot. It sounded like a Hollywood "who's who."

"There aren't any of the other girls left," Debbie said. "Lana Turner, June Allyson, Esther Williams, Judy Garland and Ava Gardner, they're all gone."

Debbie's career had started after most of those actresses had already reached stardom.

"I was among the last group of girls that anybody in town took a chance on in pictures, girls like Pier Angeli and Leslie Caron," Debbie said.

"We were the last group of girls signed by Louis B. Mayer," she added, referring to the late head of MGM.

Debbie admits to being just another beauty contest winner when she entered films as "Miss Burbank" from that city near Hollywood. Her first picture was at Warner Bros. Studio.

"When I signed my contract, Zelda Glutz was a bigger name," she joked.

Looking back to the days of her motion picture infancy, Debbie said: "I'll never forget the day I met Clark Gable at the studio. I couldn't talk. In those days Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Van Johnson, Astaire, Mario Lanza and Lionel Barrymore were under contract to MGM."

'Amos And Andy' Scheduled For New Video Show

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI)—This day I'm proud and happy to bring you an up-and-coming comedy team that once enabled me to make an almost immortal prediction. The year was 1928. The team had gained wide and favorable recognition with a daily radio comedy series.

Indeed, they even had had a candy bar named after them—"Sam 'n' Henry"—a signal honor in those days. They had begun as a singing team, Correll and Gosden, in 1924 on WEBB in Chicago ("We didn't dare sustain a note or somebody would have thrown a chair—we'd take a half note and cut it in half and then be afraid to hold it without throwing in a 'boop-boop a doop'").

After nearly a year at WEBB, without a cent of pay, they were enchanted when the Chicago Tribune station, WGN, offered them $100 a week. At WGN, they kept up the short-and-snappy singing, Correll accompanying on piano and Gosden on ukulele. They even made some records in 1925 for Victory.

One of these discs—to their amazement—got a big sale. They pondered their achievement: "What'd we do?" Finally they found out by flipping it over. On the other side was Gene Austin, a real singer.

One day in 1928 WGN called the singing team into the front office and asked them if they could dramatize "The Gumps," a Tribune comic strip.

"We told them we knew nothing about married life," recalls Gosden. "But that we'd like to put on a nightly skit with two black-face characters. They said, 'What'll we call 'em?' And we came up with 'Sam 'n' Henry.'"

They gave the Tribune the copy-right on the name and, after two years when the team wanted to leave WGN and go coast-to-coast, the station kept the name. So the team put a lot of thought into a new one. When they came up with one, I, personally, was registered. These guys, I told people, are done. Here they go and make themselves a big reputation; they get a candy bar named for them. Then they come out with the same act but change the name from a fine to a putrid one. They'll never last on radio with a name like Amos 'n' Andy.

—Vinyl wall coverings: For a smooth fabric without design, brush on prime coat of alkyl flat wall paint; finish with either latex or alkyl paint or enamel. For a smooth fabric with printed pattern, prime with latex primer-sealer to prevent old design from bleeding through and finish with any desired interior paint. For textured vinyl, prime with oil primer sealer. Finish with alkyl flat paint or enamel.

—Woodwork: Semi-gloss enamel or full gloss in kitchen or bath. Generally use same color as walls unless room is very large or woodwork very beautiful. If old enamel is too shiny, it should be sanded to remove glass and cracked surfaces should be primed with enamel undercoats.

—Wood floors: Previously varnished floors in good condition can be revarnished after removing old wax, polish and dirt. If varnish is in poor condition it should be removed by sanding. Floors stripped to bare wood and new floors can be finished with long-lasting penetrating sealer which leaves no surface coating and wears away unnoticeably. If wood floor is in very poor condition it can be hidden by colorful floor enamel.

For bathrooms and kitchens use semigloss or gloss enamel for greater washability and resistance to moisture vapor. New plaster should be allowed to age for two or three months and then be given coat of primer or primer sealer except for latex paints which are self-priming. Old porous paint also should be sealed.

—Wallboard: Seal with primer sealer for first joint and then finish with any wall paint.

Painting Hints Given 'Do-It-Yourselfers'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Painting is an acceptable do-it-yourself activity—in fact, about 70 per cent of interior painting is done by do-it-yourselfers—but it pays to be sure you have the right product for the job.

And, the experts stress, it pays to prepare all surfaces properly before you begin to paint. It is here that many amateurs slip up. The surface should be free of dust and loose paint—all grease, oil and wax must be removed; nail holes and cracks in plaster patched and then sanded smooth when dry.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association offers this guide to paint selection:

—Plaster walls and ceilings: Any quality interior flat paint, oil, alkyl resin or latex based. For bathrooms and kitchens use semigloss or gloss enamel for greater washability and resistance to moisture vapor. New plaster should be allowed to age for two or three months and then be given coat of primer or primer sealer except for latex paints which are self-priming. Old porous paint also should be sealed.

—Plywood: Must be sealed because of uneven absorption of lapsing and summer growths. For opaque colored top coat use pigmented penetrating clear resin sealer or enamel undercoat, following with desired topcoat. For natural finish which shows grain, use clear penetrating sealer and finish with one or two coats of varnish.

—Basement Walls: Paint with alkali-resistant paint. Use Portland cement paint on previously unpainted surfaces or latex masonry.

—Basement floors: Floor enamel designed for concrete. Do not paint floors that are always damp.

—Wooden furniture and cabinets: Use semi-gloss or gloss enamel. Undercoats should be used on new wood or when color is changed from dark to light. Use varnish (without undercoat) when it is desired to show grain pattern.

—Metal furniture and cabinets: Semi-gloss or gloss enamel. If old coating is scratched to bare metal, an anti-corrosive primer should be used.

Longhorns Take Texas Tech, 42-14

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Longhorns, inspired by James Saxton's breakaway antics and Jerry Cook's power drives, outclassed Texas Tech Saturday night 42-14.

Saxton, a jittery phantom halfback, churned 75 yards for one touchdown and added another on a two-yard drive as the Longhorns took their Southwest Conference opener before a crowd of 43,500.

Cook, a 201-pound junior power runner, smashed over from five yards out in the first period and added a second period touchdown with a 28-yard blast off tackle.

The Longhorn infantry ground out 391 yards. The Red Raiders looked good only against Texas' fourth team sophomores.

Texas, which usually sticks close to the ground on offense, displayed a balanced passing game tonight. Quarterback Mike Cotten passed 33 yards to fullback Ray Poage for the first Texas score. Texas gained 137 yards in the air.

Roger Gill, a third team halfback, rambled 9 yards for Tech's first touchdown to cap an 80-yard march in the second quarter. Halfback Bake Turner ended another 80-yard drive in the third period with a 2-yard touchdown blast. H. L. Daniels added both points from placement.

Texas final touchdown came with 1:28 left in the game when quarterback Johnny Genung slipped around right end to cap a 55-yard drive.

Cotten's passing was the major weapon in Texas' first touchdown drive—a 70-yard push capped by the 33-yard toss to Poage. Five minutes later, the Longhorns had their second score as they drove 63 yards in nine plays with Cook picking up his first score from five yards out.

Saxton got both of his touchdowns in the second period. His 75-yard scamper started as a slant over left tackle. Halfback Jack Collins tossed the block that set him free. There was 3:50 left in the period when he climaxed an 80-yard drive with the 3-yard dive over left tackle.

Maryland Wins Over Clemson

CLEMSON, S.C. (UPI)—End John Hannigan booted a 23-yard field goal with eight seconds remaining in the game Saturday to give Maryland an action-packed 24-21 Atlantic Coast Conference win over Clemson.

The winning three-pointer was set up when Maryland tackle Dave Crossman recovered a fumble by Clemson quarterback Jim Parker on the home team's 19 yard line with a minute and 54 seconds to play.

Maryland, which had rattled the Clemson pass defense for 219 yards on 19 completions in 26 attempts, took no chances with the clock running out. Halfback Dennis Condie and Murnis Banner worked the ball to the six on four successive plays, but there the Terp drive stalled.

With the clock showing eight seconds left, Hannigan rushed onto the field and split the uprights on the fourth down. Earlier, he hit on three conversions, but was short on a field goal attempt.

Colorado Slaps Oklahoma State

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado's Buffaloes struck quickly from long range for touchdowns the first three times they got the ball Saturday to stun Oklahoma State and coast to a 24-0 Big Eight Conference football victory before 40,000 fans.

Colorado exploded for the three touchdowns in the first period on a 40-yard pass and punt returns of 82 and 60 yards. For good measure, end Jerry Hillebrand booted a 54-yard field goal, the longest ever kicked by a Colorado player.

The 6-4, 235-pound Hillebrand, who scored 12 points, including the field goal and three extra points, took a 40-yard pass in the end zone from quarterback Gale Weidner to count Colorado's first touchdown of the season. The drive went 76 yards on six plays.

Borger Thumps Dons In District Opener

Defending champion Borger successfully opened defense of its district 3-AAAA title Friday night by downing the previously undefeated Palo Duro Dons 21-14 before a crowd of 9500 enthusiastic fans.

Coach Gene Mayfield's Bulldogs relied on a three touchdown spurt in the first half to chalk up their fourth consecutive victory of the 1961 grid season.

But the Bulldogs had to stave off a last half Don rally to nail down the win after leading 21-0 at halftime.

The Bulldogs marched 64 yards for a touchdown the first time they touched the pigskin. Forcing Palo Duro to punt out to the Borger 36, the winners scored 15 plays later on a three yard burst over right tackle by quarterback Jimmy Brooks.

Borger moved 88 yards for its second tally early in the next period. Halfback J. P. Tillman's 18 yard jaunt moved the ball to the 38 in Borger territory. L. T. Tillman then journeyed to the Palo Duro 35.

A personal foul penalty against the Dons placed the pigskin on the 23 and Brooks passed 19 yards to end Paul Hepler to the four where fullback Davis Hill plunged over for the score.

Palo Duro fumbled after a good gain and Borger recovered on the Dons 46. J. P. Tillman set up the marker with a 19 yard scamper to the 19. Hill blasted over center from the nine for the six points.

The hard running fullback also tacked on the two points.

The Dons drove 67 yards to score in the third period with Durwood Bennett chewing up the final 21 yards for the marker. Gordon Nelson ran for the two points.

Nelson dove one yard for the final score to cap a 48 yard drive.

The Dons had another threat to die on downs at the Borger 19.

Borger gets a chance to knock down another top contender next Friday when the Bulldogs host pre-season favorite Tascosa.

Lubbock High and Monterey also scored Friday night victories over Midland Lee 12-7 and Midland High 9-6 respectively.

Lubbock's Westerners had to battle from behind to nip the surprisingly strong Lee Rebels. The winning tally came on a break play. Westerner fullback Gary Dement attempted a field goal late in the fourth period, but he topped the ball and it rolled forward on the ground. At this point, Lubbock's right end scooped up the loose ball and went over for the tally.

Monterey scored all its points in the first quarter on a seven yard touchdown run by Jimmy Cochran, a placed conversion by Jerry Shipley and a safety.

Plainview lost its fourth straight game but the Bulldogs managed to score for the first time this season. Class AAAA Littlefield tromped the hapless Bulldogs 32-14.

Amarillo High's Sandies had the week off.

Panhandle Whips Canadian Eleven

CANADIAN (Sp) — Panhandle's Panthers pulled a mild 12-0 upset over the Canadian Wildcats here Friday night.

The loss was the fourth in a row for the district 2-A Wildcats, while the win was the second straight for the Panthers after dropping their first three games.

Panhandle scored all of its points in the second period and halfback Mike James was responsible for all 12 points.

James scored on the first play of the quarter on a two yard plunge and on the last play with a three yard burst.

The Panthers threatened three other times without scoring. Canadian could never generate a serious threat.

Coach Ed Lehnick's Panthers led in first downs 15-4 and in yards rushing — by a wide margin — 251-89.

Canadian meets Spearman next Friday in the final non-conference contest of the season.

TOP REDS — Joey Jay, left and Fred Hutchinson are two of the men responsible for the Cincinnati Reds surprising finish at the top of the National League pennant race. Jay, a cast off Milwaukee hurler, has won 21 games and Hutchinson is the manager. Hutch is a former Detroit Tiger pitching ace.

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—A scheduled single game between the Milwaukee Braves and the San Francisco Giants was postponed Saturday because of rain at County Stadium.

Dodgers Bow 2-1 To Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dick Ellsworth won a brief mound duel over Phil Ortega Saturday in a 2-1 Chicago Cubs win over the Los Angeles Dodgers which was halted by rain in the top of the sixth inning.

Army Posts 31-7 Win Over Boston

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—Al Rushatz plunged for two touchdowns Saturday as Army turned its Keystone Kids loose to grind out a 31-7 victory over heavier but outmaneuvered Boston University before 16,250 at Michie Stadium.

Colorado Cager Ruled Eligible

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The Big Eight Conference faculty committee has ruled Colorado basketball star Wilky Gilmore was ineligible for the 1960-61 season, but will be allowed to participate this year.

The 6-foot 5-inch senior from New Canaan, Conn., was ruled ineligible Thursday for participating in a summer league in 1959, a violation of conference rules.

Yankees Nip Boston 3 To 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Maris collected only one infield single Saturday and committed a two base error to boot, disappointing a crowd of 19,061, which saw Ralph Terry tune-up for his World Series assignment by leading the New York Yankees to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Maris, still looking for his first home run which would make him the only man in major league history to surpass Babe Ruth's all-time high for a single season, will get one more crack at that mark in the Yankees' final game of the campaign Sunday.

Trice Gridders Show Up Better Even In Defeat

By JOE LEE SMITH
Daily News Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa won a morale victory Saturday night. The Harvesters scored their initial touchdown of the season against a ponderous Tascosa Rebels eleven, but it didn't keep the Pampa gridders from dropping a 41 to 6 decision in the District 3-AAAA opener in Dick Bivins Stadium here.

New Mexico Rapped By Montana

MISSOULA, Mont. (UPI)—Montana's grizzlies snapped out of what appeared to be one of their most dismal seasons in history and humiliated New Mexico's powerful Lobos Saturday, 40-8 in a Skyline Conference game.

Playing under cloudy skies and in 30 degree weather, the Grizzlies ran up a 14-0 halftime score and tallied another 26 points in the final period.

It was Montana's first Skyline win against two losses. For New Mexico it was the first conference game.

Montana's quarterback Bob O'Rilovich, playing with a charley horse and sprained ankle on the same leg, threw two touchdown passes and intercepted two key New Mexico aerials.

Two other Montana touchdowns came on passes from halfback Terry Dillon to halfback Pat Dodson, one for 23 yards and the second for 68.

Quarterback Eddie Whiddon led the Rebel offensive charge, scoring two touchdowns and passing for two more.

Tascosa, pre-season favorite for the district title, struck for two quick touchdowns in the first period. The Rebels took the opening kickoff and promptly marched 50 yards with the aid of a big 15-yard penalty against Pampa's Speedster Mark Yarbrough skirting right end for the final 29 yards and a tally. Bill DeFee booted the extra point.

A Pampa gamble that backfired on the Harvesters 34-yard line led to the second Tascosa score. Fullback Tim Elkins boomed 35 yards through the center of the line to get the six points. DeFee then added the extra point.

The Harvesters score whittled the Rebels lead to 14 to 6. But DeFee returned the ensuing kickoff 20 yards to the Pampa 15. Yarbrough lugged the ball to the two, and Whiddon scored on a keeper on the next play. Automatic DeFee again converted.

Coach Weldon Trice's Harvesters whipped up a drive of their own, picking up two consecutive first downs to the Rebel 34. A couple of close calls on what could have been pass interference went against Pampa and the Harvesters were forced to punt.

Whiddon scooted 28 yards around right end for the fourth Tascosa touchdown to cap an 80-yard march.

Tascosa ran the score to 33 to 6 at half-time on a 20-yard pass from Whiddon to Elkins.

The fired-up Harvesters contained the Tascosa offense in the last half until the Rebels cranked up an 80-yard drive midway through the final period to take on their last touchdown. Whiddon tossed to end Jimmy Fields for the final 15 yards.

Pampa drove to the Tascosa 18 in the third quarter only to lose the ball on downs. A pass from Rickey Stewart to James Webb was complete in the end zone but the referee ruled Webb was out of the end zone.

CHAMPAIGN, (UPI)—Kermit Jorgensen played both Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside and scored two touchdowns for Washington Saturday in a 20-7 huskies victory over Illinois.

Jorgensen, a 195-pound senior quarterback, ripped off long runs around end and charged through the middle on his way to first downs and touchdowns. He went one yard on each score, once up the middle, the first time the Huskies had the ball, and the other time wide around end in the second quarter.

TCU Gains Upset Tie With Ohio State 7-7

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Underdog Texas Christian stunned Ohio State with a fourth period touchdown today to hold the vaunted Buckeyes to a 7-7 tie and ruin the Big Ten team's opener.

The Horned Frogs, from the Southwestern Conference, spotted the highly regarded Ohio State an early seven points and then held on before deadlocking the contest early in the fourth period.

A crowd of 82,878 fans sat stunned when 5-foot 7 quarter-

Sonny Gibbs rifled a 12 yard pass to end Dale Glasscock in the end zone with 11:02 remaining in the contest.

Jimmy McAtter kicked the all important extra point.

This was the second time Texas Christian had jolted the Buckeyes in their opener in recent years. The Horned Frogs upset Ohio, 18-14, in the opener of the 1957 season. Ohio State then went on to win nine in a row, including the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl game.

The aroused Buckeyes took the kickoff and marched 49 yards mostly on the ground, in an effort to clinch the game, but the drive fell short when the rangy Gibbs intercepted his second pass of the day at his own goal line to snuff out the Ohio State threat.

The game started out like an Ohio State rout, the Bucks taking the kickoff and marching 56 yards in 18 plays to score on a pass from quarterback Bill Mrukowski to end Chuck Bryant at 6:05 in the period. Dick Van Raaphorst kicked the extra point and Ohio was away to a 7-0 lead.

But the Horned Frogs, aiming for their second consecutive major upset of the young season, stopped bull-like fullback Bob

HERE'S A SWITCH

McAdams Scores Two Touchdowns

WHITE DEER (Spl)—Backs Jimmy Thurmond, Carl McAdams, Rickey Lowe and a host of blue-jerseyed defensive stalwarts paved the way as the undefeated White Deer Bucks rattled the Shamrock Irish 21-0 Friday night.

But the closeness of the score doesn't indicate how bad the Bucks whipped the AA Irish. Coach Collie Huffman's charges had two touchdowns nullified by penalties, one drive stopped on the Shamrock eight and another on the 23.

The victory was the Bucks' fourth in five outings with only a 6-6 tie with Lefors marring the record. Next Friday the mighty Bucks — fifth ranked class A eleven in Texas — take the week off to prepare for the district 1-A opener with powerful arch-rival Stinnett — sixth ranked class A club — Oct. 13 at White Deer.

White Deer struck early after recovering a Shamrock fumble on the first play from scrimmage following the opening kickoff. McAdams, a long striding 195 pound fullback, plunged over from the one foot line. The try for extra points failed.

Miami Warriors Trounce Stinnett Rattlers B 28-8

MIAMI (Spl) — Just like 'ole man river' the Miami Warriors keep rolling along adding the Stinnett Rattlers B team to the latest list of victims 28-8 Friday night.

Coach Bill Hines' aggregation spotted the Rattlers an 8-0 advantage before roaring back to post their 39th win in the last 43 games.

Rice Ripped By Tech 24-0

ATLANTA (UPI) — Stan Gann, a stump quarterback with a penchant for the big play at crucial moments, delighted his home folks here Saturday as he razzed-dazzled Georgia Tech to a surprisingly easy 24-0 victory over highly regarded Rice.

The Rice Owls had come into Saturday's game rated at least an even choice but were all but run off the field during the first half when a Gann-led barrage produced three Tech touchdowns.

The 43,502 fans roared their approval as Gann, an Atlanta high school product, scored the first touchdown on some nifty option running, set up the second with his passing and then passed and ran the Yellow Jackets into position for touchdowns number three.

Fullback Mike McNanes scored the second touchdown from two yards out and halfback Chick Grating got the third on a one-yard jaunt. But the man-of-the-afternoon was Gann, a 165-pound, 5-8 junior and the crowd was on its feet every time he got his hands on the ball.

Sophomore Billy Lothridge, who alternated with Gann at quarterback, didn't come close to Gann as an offensive agent, but furnished plenty of thrills with his kicking. Lothridge kicked a 25-yard field goal, his third in two weeks, in the fourth period for the final points of the game and earlier kicked three of three conversions.

In addition, he handled the Tech punting and one of his kicks dropped dead on the Rice one yard line to put the Owls in a hole that led to Tech's second touchdown.

Rice launched only two real threats throughout the entire game as the Tech defense was just as efficient as its offense.

The Owls drove 63 yards midway through the fourth period to the Tech seven yard line. But the next four downs produced only four yards as the Owls were unable to crack the tough Tech line.

Lee 7th Thumps Berger Gridders

HALFBACK Jack Thompson and fullback Smisson Goodlett tallied two six pointers each to lead the Robert E. Lee 7th grade Rebels to a 28-0 triumph over Berger Austin Friday afternoon.

The victory climaxed an uphill struggle for the Rebels after trailing 12-0 midway through the second period. But Thompson and Goodlett took charge and coach Joe Perryman's charges raced to a 28-12 advantage before Austin's Mustangs scored on the last play of the contest.

Goodlett got the ball rolling with a 44 yard run just before the end of the first half. Thompson scampered 29 and 25 yards for his markers and Goodlett scored what proved to be the winning tally on a 35 yard romp.

It was the seventh straight win for Perryman's teams, dating back to an undefeated 1960 campaign.

The youthful Rebel mentor singled out tackles Doc Cornett and Wendell Harper, middle guard Mike Noblitt and defensive back Ricky Roach for their sterling defensive play.

In the backfield, Perryman praised quarterback Myron Porter for calling "an outstanding game." He also complimented Thompson and Goodlett for their hard running.

Quanah Smothers Hollis Club 54-0

Quanah zipped past Hollis, Okla. 54-0 Friday night to record its fifth straight victory of the season.

Five Quanah touchdowns came on runs of more than 60 yards. Halfback Blackie Wade turned in a 98 yarder for the longest run. He also rambled 60 yards for another marker for the state's sixth ranked AA outfit.

Quarterback Danny Scarbrough got the Tribe on the warpath with an 85 yard scamper. After Wade's long venture, halfback Bobby Mansel tallied on a 17-yarder. Tackle Everett Kelley converted twice as the Indians assumed a commanding 20-0 first quarter lead.

The Tribe enlarged the score to 33-0 by halftime on runs of 63 and 60 yards by Ridley Gibson and Joe Salkald respectively.

Mansel plunged over from the one and Louis Templeton sprinted 33 yards for the vaunted Indians

Elks Topple Lefors 12-7

LEFORS (Spl) — The Stratford Elks outdefensed the Lefors Pirates Friday night to pound out a 12-7 decision to retain their undefeated status.

Stratford, in racking up win number four, used two long drives to topple the scrappy Pirates. The loss evened Lefors season record at 2-1.

Halfback Scotty Wharton scored both Stratford touchdowns on plunges of seven and one yards.

The Elks drove 78 yards for their first score in the opening period. The march took 11 plays and was capped by Wharton's seven yard run. Fullback Doug McBride tried for the extra points and was stopped short.

Lefors marched 52 yards with 3:12 left in the first half to take the lead 7-6. Fullback Scott Dunnam scored from the one and then booted the go ahead point. The big play in the drive was a 20 yard pass from quarterback Mickey Archer to end Tommy Smith.

But Stratford came back with a 70 yard thrust in the final period to apply the clincher. Wharton dived into payoff land from the one.

The rugged Elks defense limited Lefors to seven first downs and 96 yards on the ground. Pirate end Smith caught three passes for 83 yards to lead the Lefors offense.

Coach Dunny Goodie's Pirates hosts the mighty Stinnett Rattlers next Friday in their last non-conference game of the season.

A scouting report on the Monterey Plainsmen and the film of the T-scoza-Pampa game Saturday night will highlight the meeting.

The club membership has now reached 195 and anyone else still interested in joining may do so by contacting a present member or club president, Paul Brown.

Navy Rolls Past William And Mary

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Quarterback Ron Klemick, who logged only 15 minutes playing time last season, threw touchdown passes of 54 and 25 yards Saturday to lead favored Navy to an easy 44-6 season-opener win over William and Mary.

Navy's attack, unpolished but too strong for William and Mary, really began to roll early in the second quarter when Klemick clicked on a pass to halfback Jim Stewart for a 54-yard touchdown play.

Baylor Bears Clip Pitt

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Baylor University senior quarterback Ronnie Stanley, a goat earlier in the game, turned hero in the second half Saturday by throwing a pair of touchdown passes that beat Pittsburgh's 16-13, as the Panthers shunned a try for a tying field goal from the 12-yard line in the final seconds.

Stanley, who saw one of his passes intercepted and returned 40 yards for a second-period Pitt score, made amends just in time to perk up his Baylor teammates just as they appeared to be wilting in the 82-degree heat in Pitt Stadium.

The heady signal caller hit end Bob Lane with a three-yard scoring toss in the third quarter and gave Baylor its winning touchdown with a fourth-down, 12-yard pitch to sophomore end James Ingram of Odessa, Tex., with about eight minutes left in the game.

Until Stanley took things in hand, the favored Bears were down by a 13-3 margin, scoring only in the first half on end Carl Choate's 26-yard field goal.

The pointmakers for Pitt were sophomore end Al Grigaliunas of Sharon, Pa., on a 40-yard pass interception in the second period, and veteran halfback Fred Cox on a 16-yard end run in the same stanza. Cox kicked one conversion but had the second try blocked.

Following Baylor's final touchdown, Pitt launched a march on its own 33-yard line which reached the Bears' 12 with 1:40 left on the clock.

A field goal would have meant a tie — and Pitt had one of the best kickers in college ranks in Cox. But the Panthers went for broke and lost.

The winning touchdown for the Southwest Conference Bears was a thing of beauty on both ends.

Trailing by four points, Baylor started late in the third quarter from its own 8-yard line. With a 40-yard run by fullback Ronnie Bull igniting the fuse, the Bears reached the Pitt 12. On fourth down, Stanley appeared to be trapped by a host of Pitt defenders back on the 35.

But he danced away and threw a perfect strike to Ingram in the right corner of the end zone. Choate kicked the extra point and Baylor had put its second victory in the win column.

Kansas Held To 6-6 Tie By Wyoming

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — The Wyoming Cowboys pushed the heavily-favored Kansas Jayhawks all over the field Saturday but had to settle for a 6-6 tie in their inter-sectional football clash before 33,000 fans.

Substitute quarterback Andy Melosky, filling in for injured Wyoming tripe-threater Chuck Lamson, guided Wyoming 84 yards to a third quarter touchdown to tie the score at 6-6 and then kept Kansas backed up with his pinpoint passing in the final period.

Kansas had scored in the second quarter on a two-yard run by sophomore fullback Ken Coleman.

Kansas, the Big Eight Conference pre-season favorite, spottedtered repeatedly in the first half and booted away two scoring opportunities.

The scoring drive was on sheer power with fullback Billy Joe Moody and Jesse Branch bulging up the middle on six of the 10 plays. Moody made 19 yards in four tries and Branch picked up 11 in two carries.

After sending Moody through the center McKinley then-faked to his fullback and kept around left end to score.

The Razorbacks, defending Southwest Conference champions, were not impressive in winning their first game. They had a statistical edge of 15-5 in first downs and 236-83 in total yardage.

Arkansas Razorbacks Edge Hurricanes 6-0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI) — Arkansas' water soaked offense sputtered out a 53-yard touchdown march in the third quarter to edge Tulsa 6-0 in an inter-sectional game here Saturday.

George McKinney, Arkansas quarterback, playing every offensive down, scored the game's only touchdown from three yards out with 3:24 remaining in the third quarter. Jim Grizzle's conversion was short and to the right.

It was the only time the Razorbacks, who were 18 point favorites, dented the Tulsa 20 yard line.

Tulsa's deepest penetration was to the Arkansas 31 in the second quarter. The Hurricane, using their second game in three starts, did not cross midfield in the second half.

Rain which fell most of the morning and was still falling midway in the first half kept both teams from using their dangerous passing attack and made the turf slippery for the speedy backs, including Arkansas' Lance Alworth.

Alworth was contained from scrimmage, but returned punts for 42 and 30 yards for the most explosive action of the game. Each time the last Tulsa defender stopped him.

The scoring drive was on sheer power with fullback Billy Joe Moody and Jesse Branch bulging up the middle on six of the 10 plays. Moody made 19 yards in four tries and Branch picked up 11 in two carries.

After sending Moody through the center McKinley then-faked to his fullback and kept around left end to score.

The Mustangs, now winless in 14 straight games gave the crowd of 29,148 fans in the Coliseum several breath taking moments as they came back from a 21-7 deficit to lose by less than a touchdown.

USC Stuns SMU With 21-16 Win

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Speedy Willie Brown today appeared to be the answer to the University of Southern California's crying need for a breakout runner, as the Trojans looked back on Friday night's 21-16 victory over Southern Methodist.

The sophomore halfback was the leading groundgainer with 183 yards, most of which came on a 93-yard touchdown run from scrimmage in the first period.

It was the longest run from scrimmage by a USC player in history. The previous longest run was a 90-yard dash by Aramis Dandoy in 1953 against Washington State.

But the Mustangs, now winless in 14 straight games gave the crowd of 29,148 fans in the Coliseum several breath taking moments as they came back from a 21-7 deficit to lose by less than a touchdown.

Minnesota Loses, 6-0 To Missouri

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Missouri overcame Minnesota snow, rain and cold plus the Gophers' vaunted defense to slap the defending national champions, 6-0, in an inter-sectional clash.

Missouri, ranked No. 4 in the final 1960 UPI poll, notched its lone score early in the second period. It came on a one-yard blast by halfback Bill Tobin after the Tigers' lone pass completion of the game. The aerial from Mike Hunter to Carl Crawford covered 24 yards.

Both teams chose to play defense as 22 punts were recorded, 13 by the winners.

The game opened with the temperature at 44 and a driving rain falling in Memorial Stadium. The wind was blowing at 20 miles an hour from the northwest. Before the contest ended the temperature dropped to 38 and snow was mixed with a heavy rain, making the field almost impossible for running.

A crowd of 38,840 braved the weather to watch the Minnesota opener. The slushy, muddy turf kept action to a minimum through most of the game.

Missouri's Mack Gilchrist and starting fullbacks, recorded the game's longest runs on dashes Andy Russell, a pair of fast of 20 and 19 yards respectively in the waning minutes.

Their running moved Missouri to the Minnesota three when the final gun sounded. Tiger Coach Danny Devine, rather than taking a chance on a fumble, chose to let time run out although nearly a full minute was left for a Tiger touchdown try.

Greyhounds Nip Groom Gridders

GROOM (Spl) — An outweighed and undermanned Groom Tiger club battled heavy favored Gruber or even terms Friday night before succumbing to the undefeated class A eleven 14-8.

Gruber's Greyhounds, a member of district 1-A, racked up number four on the season but had its hands full before topping the scrappy class B Tigers of Dwaine Currie.

Halfback Doyle Sturman countered both touchdowns for the Greyhounds. The speedy halfback scored from the 10 in the first quarter following recovery of a Groom fumble on the Tigers own 30.

Another break led to the second Gruber touchdown. The big Greyhound line blocked a Groom punt and three plays later Sturman dived over from the six. He also added the extra points.

Currie, the youthful Groom mentor, stated, "Our defense played a real good game. We were really pleased with their play."

California Loses To Iowa 28 To 7

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa's race-horse backs overcame a rash of fumbles and the virtual absence of a passing attack Saturday to grind out a 28-7 victory over outclassed California in a chilly rain.

It was the vaulted Iowa running attack, paced by All-American quarterback candidate Wilburn Hollis, that tore the California line to shreds, ripping off a total of 358 yards on the ground against California's total gain of only 100 yards.

Michigan Taps UCLA 29 To 6

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan combined vicious line play and a pulverizing running attack to romp to a surprising 29-6 victory over the highly-rated Bruins of UCLA Saturday before 73,319 fans at Michigan Stadium.

Two of the Wolverine touchdowns were set up by UCLA fumbles and another came on a pass interception, but Michigan was in command throughout the first three periods and UCLA managed its lone score against third and fourth stringers in the final minutes of the game.

Michigan gained more than 250 yards, mostly on the ground, and piled up a 16-0 lead by halftime. UCLA picked up only 29 yards rushing and 12 yards passing in the first half.

Medical Robot Aids In Child Birth Defects

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest doctor's assistant wears metal gray instead of white.

The assistant's garb is cold and hard instead of soft and warm.

The assistant clicks and clacks when the doctor gives an order. It has no time for prim "yes, doctor" or "no, doctor" in response to commands.

The assistant is an electronic sorter. The medical robot has been found to be more efficient on certain jobs than the traditional assistant bristling about the office.

When he's old enough to talk, Johnny Doe, just nine months old, will be able to tell you how the electronic computer helped doctors to zero in on his trouble.

Johnny's head is extremely large for his small body. He has water on the brain. The medical description — hydrocephalus.

When his mother recently carried Johnny to the Birth Defects Study Center at the Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, the infant met with Dr. Robert E. Merrill — the medic with the electronic assistant.

Dr. Merrill is assistant director of the center at Nashville, a research unit financed by the National Foundation's March of Dimes.

Using a device somewhat resembling a typewriter keyboard, the doctor began punching a rectangular green card while he talked with Johnny's mother.

Each punch perforating a card represented the mother's answer to one of a long list of questions.

The $15,000 machine has a memory many thousand times more retentive than the proverbial elephant's. Dr. Merrill told Johnny's mother that the mechanical robot would play the main role during the interview.

"I'm sort of a glorified office boy to the machine," he said.

Answers the machine chewed into the card covered such data as Johnny's age and birth date, race, mother's age at delivery, illnesses of mother during pregnancy, and stillbirths.

And while the machine punched the appropriate answer, Dr. Merrill fed it additional questions. Samples: Any physical defects in husband or wife? Johnny's weight? His age when his head started to enlarge? Any other defects? Infections?

When the electronic assistant finished interviewing Johnny, the little green card with the holes in it had recorded for all time and in capsule form the infant's past and present life — and his family background.

"More significantly," Dr. Merrill said, "the electronic assistant also faithfully remembers case histories of other Johnnies whose brain fluid is blocked as it is with this boy."

Dr. Merrill has only to run these cards through the high-speed sorter to compare these life histories with Johnny's.

And most important, the sorter can help the doctor form a reasonably accurate idea of Johnny's immediate future.

It can also help him decide on the advisability of surgical intervention to help short-circuit a defect created by nature.

WEATHER DAMAGE — This was all that remained of the east end of the Thane Earle home near Whitewater, Wis., as a tornado, high winds and violent thunderstorms hit the Michigan-Wisconsin area.

When experiments such as those Dr. Merrill is conducting are completed, centers hope to pool their records electronically — sifting in minutes the case histories of hundreds of small victims of significant birth defects for the benefit of all.

There are about 250,000 such infants born yearly in the United States. Time will tell if the doctor's electronic assistant can help medical science better understand —

Owners Of Pond Claim Their Fish Killed By Autoist

PATERSON, N. J. (UPI) — A dead man's estate is being sued because the car in which he was killed plunged into a fish pond and allegedly resulted in the death of a stock of trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schaffer, the pond owners, filed the suit in Passaic County court against the estate of Nicholas Nicholson.

As a result of a two-car collision last March, Nicholson's ran off the road down a 30-foot embankment, through a retaining wall and plunged 12-feet into the Schaffers' eight-foot-deep pond.

Nicholson was trapped in the vehicle and drowned.

The Schaffers claimed their pond became polluted and as a result a stock of trout and other smaller fish were killed. They estimated damage at $5,000.

NOT IN CONTEMPT
LONDON (UPI) — Police reported that the woman who failed to rise when her name was called in court was not showing contempt — she was glued to her seat.

It took two policemen to detach her from a fresh coat of varnish.

B&PW Nat'l Business Women's Week

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. is observing National Business Women's Week Oct. 1 through the 7th. The national B&PW Club is the largest organization in the world created to serve business and professional women. It approaches the specific problems of women, recognizing their inevitable relationship to all social, political and economic progress. It creates public opinion for employed women and its sphere of influence is continually expanding. Working through business and government, the Federation attempts to achieve legislative action and concerns itself with international and national affairs.

The Federation is composed of over 175,000 business and professional women in approximately 3,300 clubs in all 50 states. Its members represent a cross section of business and professional life.

During World War I, the idea originated of organizing business and professional women of the United States into a federated group. Men in practically all business and professions could be reached by the government in an emergency, but no central organization existed through which the services of women employed in similar business and professions could be mobilized.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, sent out an urgent call to make woman power available for the war effort. The US government allocated $65,000 for the organization of a specific group of value in the emergency. The War Work Council, composed of members of the Young Women's Christian Association, realizing the situation, took the initiative in calling representative women for a conference in New York on May 11-12, 1918 to discuss the advisability of establishing a national-wide association of B&PW.

In February, 1919, the group voted unanimously to take steps to form a federation of B&PW Clubs in the United States. Five organizers were sent to various parts of the country to enlist the interest of existing groups and to establish additional clubs by state.

In July, 1919, in St. Louis, Mo., representatives of those clubs were called together. This meeting was attended by 212 business and professional women representing every state but three. With vision, courage, enthusiasm and intelligence, these women formed a permanent organization, The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, an independent organization, non-partisan, non-secretarian, self-supporting and self-governing to promote the interests of B&PW.

The program of the federation is developed to realize the objects for which the federation is organized, namely: 1) to elevate the standards for women in business and in the professions; 2) to promote the interests of business and professional women; 3) to bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women of the United States; 4) to extend opportunities to business and professional women of the United States through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club kicked off National Business Women's Week being observed locally and nationally Oct. 1-7, at a breakfast held this morning in the Coronado Inn. The breakfast is just one of a series of events that will be held throughout the week.

The local B&PW Club was organized in 1929, just 32 years ago. Mrs. Grace Pool served as the first president of the local club. Mrs. G. E. Tinnin is presently serving the club as president. There is still one active charter member, Mrs. Vera Lard, who is currently holding the office of treasurer for 1951-52.

That the club has reached the successful status that it has today is due to the fact that the "founding mothers" built well. And as the future unfolds, members look forward to meeting new challenges in "Woman Power, Dimension in Democracy."

The format of the club is built on clearly defined duties to implement its program and its purposes.

On the world front, the International Relations committee supplies understanding and knowledge about this country's foreign policy and the way it is interpreted by representatives in the United Nations. It unites business and professional women working in other lands to build the status of women and bring about conditions favorable to freedom and progress. It is an important educational channel for progressive women who are advancing to larger interests and responsibilities.

Channeling community activities is the Public Affairs committee, which draws the members into the current of local affairs as responsible citizens in understanding and guiding solutions for the social and economic problems of the city.

The Health and Safety committee, whose work focus is the importance of maximum health as an asset to the worker and as a factor in full production in the town's business. To this dual purpose of personal and public health and safety is added additional duties in disaster survival and community safety as a measure of national safety. It is the well-being of the employed woman that is the purpose and focus of Federation work in health and safety. . . a vigorous, well-adjusted worker and a healthful, safe community in which to work.

All of which leads to the important work of the Career Advancement committee closely related to the career success of every member and stemming directly from the first of the organizational purposes. . . to elevate the standards of women. The emphasis is on the individual member; opportunities for the job; training; the privilege to enter and compete in the field of their choice; job advancement toward executive status and policy making; job performance; employer-employee relations; good personnel practices; all gauged to achieve the Federation's long-time goals of promoting full equality for employed women, socially, economically and politically.

All four "operations" committees make possible, the activation of the total program. Measures all welded together into one concerted effort to live up to the federation's motto, "Better Business Women for a Better Business World."

Mrs. Danny Malone

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiley, 316 Tignor, announce the marriage of their daughter, Linda Ellen to Danny Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Malone, 410 N. Warren. The couple was married in the bride's home on Aug 26 at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Earl Moddus, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist Church, officiating. They are making their home at 510 N. Frost.

B&PW Go "Gypsy" For Fall Roundup

Business and Professional Women's Club members became "gypsies" for the evening at their annual Fall Roundup "Gypsy Party" given Tuesday evening in the City Club Room.

Members, who came attired as gypsies, sat around a campfire, and were served stew from an iron pot warming over the fire. Members served themselves from another huge iron pot, which held assorted fresh fruits.

Mrs. Joe Foster played background music throughout the evening, while "Madame Marieana" (Mrs. Mary Harris) foretold the future of all those, who were able to get into her Tent of fortune.

Among the special guests attending from the Borger B&PW Club were Meses, Velma Arendall, Eunice Bear, Lou Cooley, Nina Stephens and Dr. White.

The Public Relations committee of the club are Meses, Mildred Patton, H. E. Crocker, H. F. McDonald Jr., assisted by Meses, Marguerite Nash, M. E. Powers, membership chairmen, were in charge of the program.

Mrs. Harmon Named For B&PW Honor

Mrs. Mack Harmon, or "Hattie," as she is known to her friends and associates, was named Business Woman of the Week by the Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club at a breakfast held this morning in the Coronado Inn. The breakfast was the first in a series of activities, which the local club will hold in observation of National Business Women's Week Oct. 1-7.

Mrs. Mack Harmon Woman Of Week

Mrs. Harmon joined the Pampa B&PW Club in 1948 and has been an active member since that time. She has served as vice president, president, parliamentarian and presently is serving as finance chairman for the third term. She has served as chairman or a member of the following committees: Career Advance, Health and Safety; International Relations; Legislation; Membership; Public Affairs; Public Relations; National Security and Publications.

Mrs. Harmon came to Pampa in 1926, during the "boom" days. She worked for the Bolex Dry Goods Store in Pampa before going to work for the J. C. Penny Co. as head of the Ready-To-Wear department, where she worked until retirement in 1959. While employed at the Penny Co., she received a trophy for the "Best Saleslady" and a "Courtesy Award" for the most courteous saleslady.

Week was also active in PTA work: She served as president of the Baker PTA for four years; as president of Junior High PTA for two years and as City Council PTA president for one year. She is a life member of the Texas Congress, Parent and Teachers' Association. She also organized the first Girl Scout Troop at Baker School.

She has served as secretary for the Red Cross Board for two years and is presently secretary to the Panhandle Association Chapter of the American Red Cross. She is an active Gray Lady and a member of the Rebekah Lodge, where she served as chaplain for two year terms.

Mrs. Harmon is a member of the First Baptist Church and is president of the Grace Sunday School Class at the present time.

Mrs. Harmon has three daughters, Mrs. R. C. Grider, Mrs. Ralph Milliron, both of Pampa, Mrs. J. L. Simmons of Beaver, Okla.; one son, John Mack Harmon, who is attending Texas Christian University; and five grandchildren, who are "the apples of her eyes."

Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club expresses its pride in Mrs. Harmon's accomplishments by naming her Business Woman of the Week and salutes her.

OUT CAME the warm coats, corduroy slacks, sweaters and all this week with a vengeance, as Fall sent her cold blast across the Panhandle. It was really quite a shock after wearing shorts one day to wool slacks the next. A transition in a hurry, spied Margaret Sullivan shivering on a street corner one of our cold days while Alma Ash and Nell Tinnin warmed up with coffee and conversation during a "break". Pampa's teenagers can get warmed up these cool days with the square dance classes at the Pampa Youth and Community Center. There should be a lot of fun, and a fine thing for those in their early teens, especially the boys, who are too self-conscious to learn ballroom dancing, a lot of fun and good exercise, and the love of square dancing is not confined to the young, many young-in-heart adults really enjoy it.

A good listener is not only popular everywhere, but after a while he knows something. - Wilson Mizner.

A SIGN OF FALL each year is the announcement of preparations for our United Fund campaign, and the moving spirits behind it have really been busy recruiting workers. Some of the division heads are J. C. Roberts, George Scott, Dona Cornutt, and E. E. Shelhamer. Busy people always willing to lend a helping hand in a worthwhile effort before it is over, a lot of people will be involved in getting out to make contacts, to insure a successful campaign and many of those donate their time each year. They're the unsung heroes of the campaign.

HOW IS YOUR FALL-OUT Shelter coming along? Understand there were two models on display at the fair last week. There's a lot more interest in "getting prepared", but not too many are actually doing it. Maybe we'd get farther if we started promoting fallout shelters as a "status symbol". Then, who would be without one?

MEMBERS OF THE American Cancer Society, Gray County chapter, are busy with preparations for a big meeting to be held here Tuesday. Some of the old-timers who have promoted the ACS cause for many years are Margaret Dial, Adrienne Foster, Ethel May Clay, Viola Jordan, Roy Bourland, Paul Keim, Julia McKernan, Dr. M. McDaniel, Jack Skelly and Dr. Carl Lang. Laurels to this hard-working group dedicated to help save our lives, who do their work quietly without much fanfare.

All speech, written or spoken, is a dead language, until it finds a willing and prepared hearer. Robert Lewis Stevenson EVENTS past and future, the JayCee-Ette dinner-dance and installation was a lovely affair with charming, capable Joan Carubbi being installed as prexy of the Pampa group, which is all steamed up with enthusiasm. Some of the state officers were on hand for the event, and a lot of local guests, really very nice, and another big fall event is the "Autumn on the Prairie" flower show being staged jointly by the Top O' Texas and Pampa Garden Clubs. It will take place Saturday in the First National Bank annex. Hope all this cold weather doesn't ruin some of the entries. Should be a fascinating affair. Just love to see what talented people can create in the way of arrangements, and it's rewarding to see what tender and loving care can help nature produce in the way of lovely flowers. It's an event that shouldn't be missed.

ROUND AND ABOUT noticed where the Chamber of Commerce elected five new members to its advisory board, a tough selection from a field of quite a few outstanding candidates. Those elected were Clinton Evans, Cameron Marsh, Aubrey Steele, Floyd Watson and Jack Edmondson. All very capable men, they should have a good year. The fall and winter sport of bowling is now in full swing. Really are a lot of enthusiasts in Pampa, both men and women. Bonnie Wheat is one of Pampa's fine women bowlers. She won an award not long ago, and T. M. Whiteley is one of the many men who are in there competing with their team every year. Libby and Frank Shotwell were pleased over the recent visit of their daughter from Kansas City, Mo. Don and Betty Cain are proud of son David who earned his Eagle award recently. Spied busy Mildred Scholl this week bent on some errand. Mildred certainly is a busy person these days. Believe she's on the board of the dance club she and Jimmy belong to, as well as active in Girl Scout activities. Joe and Margaret Wells are happy to have daughter Marilyn home for a while. That whole family has been active in Girl Scouting for many years, and speaking of Girl Scouting, many of our Senior Scouts in Pampa and the area are on pins and needles to see if they will be one of those chosen to attend the National Girl Scout Round Up, a real honor. Believe those chosen will be announced sometime in October.

The only way to entertain some folks is to listen to them. - Kin Hubbard.

POTPOURRI, spied Uncle Billy Frost downtown this week. He is delighted over the visit of his son and daughter-in-law from Kansas. Half of Pampa, or more, attended the fair in Amarillo. Don't know all who attended, but heard Max and Bonnie Hukill and family made the trek, and Martha and John Holt and girls, and Eva and Al Swan made their annual visit to the ice show. With, I think, Mildred and John McKinley, one of Pampa's attractive young women is dark-haired Ann Hester, a lovely person, laurels to the Altrusa Club, again, for their courteous driver awards. Helps to make us all more conscious of careful driving, and being considerate. Now if we could stay that way the rest of the year!

TODAY marks the beginning of National Business Women's Week, being observed in a big way by Pampa's Business and Professional Women's organizations, with Mattie Crowson as general chairman. A lot of fascinating events are in the wind, luncheons, coffees and dinners, with the festivities kicked off at a breakfast at the Coronado Inn this morning, and rumor has it that Hattie Harmon was named Business Woman of the Week at the affair and will reign on the entire week. A wonderful honor for Hattie, who really deserves it. Bob and Carol Swanson are aglow over the birth of a new baby, making his arrival early Wednesday morning, and named Richard Mark. Believe he is welcomed by three brothers and one sister, talking about the School Daze dance given Friday in the Country Club by five young blades about town. Will try to give more details next week. As time has run out, forever yours, Peg

PLT Plans Future Theater Activities

Pampa Little Theater took additional steps toward becoming an active and thriving group at a meeting held Monday evening in Lovett Memorial Library.

Homer West, newly elected president, presided as by-laws were read, discussed and approved.

It was decided by the group to meet the first and third Mondays of each month at 7 p.m. The meetings are to be held in the former Holy Souls Catholic parish hall, 612 W. Browning, since a platform-stage will lend itself suitably to Little Theater activities.

Mrs. Jim Thompson was named membership chairman.

It was announced that active, honorary and student, (which includes elementary through college age) memberships will be available. Single memberships are $7 and double memberships are $12. Student memberships are one dollar per year.

Drama workshop sessions are being planned for the next few meetings, while play productions are being considered. Mrs. Hazel Barthel will have charge of the workshop to be held Monday night at 7 p.m.

The Monday night meeting will be the third for PLT and during the business meeting a board of governors will be elected from a list of eligible people nominated by the officers.

The group will meet at 7 p.m. in the parish hall, 612 W. Browning and extends a cordial invitation to all persons interested in any phase of theatricals to attend.

Pampa Jr. High Holds Open House

Pampa Junior High PTA members and faculty met at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the auditorium for a brief business meeting before adjourning to classrooms for visitation and orientation of the children's working during the coming year school year.

Mrs. Tom Braly, unit president, introduced the Rev. Russell West, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, who gave the devotional.

Paul Payne, school principal, introduced faculty members and invited parents to visit the class rooms.

J. L. Edmondson, school superintendent and McHenry Lane, curriculum director, were special guests.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria following the room visitation.

Transition Edition

On a September day in 1959, a group of ladies got together to work on a quilt and have luncheon together. Everyone attending enjoyed the day so much, it was decided to meet often and enjoy an all-day fellowship and quilting. The group met once a month from that time until school was out in May, 1960. On Sept. 8, 1960, when school began again, the original group, and interested friends met and organized the Metanet Quilting Club, which today is actively engaged in quilting for themselves, friends and they have provided a quilt for a needy family.

The Metanet Quilting Club is the first to comply with a request for material for the Transition Edition of the Pampa Daily News, which is now in preparation. An invitation is extended to all women's organizations of the city to submit a brief history of their club, its date of organizing, and the highlights of their club year for inclusion in the Special Edition. The club data should be prepared and given to the woman's editor as soon as possible.

Fall Breakfast

Chapter CS of PEO held its first meeting of the fall season at a breakfast on Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ann Heskew, 1120 N. Somerville.

Tables were decorated in different seasons of the year to carry out the general program theme of the year, which is "The Seasons."

The quotation "to everything there is a season and a time to it" He hath made everything beautiful in His time" from the third chapter of Ecclesiastes set the theme for the morning.

Hostesses for the breakfast were Mmes. P. W. Harvey, William E. West, J. G. Crinklaw, J. O. Miller.

During a business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. West, Mrs. T. J. Wright announced plans for a rummage sale to be held in the future.

Mrs. John Gill reported on the International Peace Scholarship given by PEO.

Guests were Mrs. Lew Belanger, member of Chapter AX of Cushing, Okla. and Mrs. M. Koch, member of Chapter O, in Golden Colo. and mother of Mrs. LeRoy Jacobs.

Miss Harden, Wayne Matney Say Nuptial Vows

Miss Jerry Marie Harden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Casey and Wayne Matney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edjel Matney, repeated marriage vows at eight o'clock on September 14 in the home of the bridegroom's parents, 1121 Sirroco.

The Rev. A. E. Burns, pastor of Barrett's Baptist Church, performed the service.

For her wedding, the bride wore a street-length dress of orchid chiffon fashioned with bouffant elbow-length sleeves and full skirt complemented with white slippers and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. K. R. Banks attended her sister as matron of honor.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School this past spring and the bride attended school in Tyler, Texas.

plained that her husband was one of the first men sent over to establish a mission in Turkey. They were, she said, to train the Turkish army in American tactics and in the use of war surplus weapons.

"It has long been Russia's ambition to take Turkey, thus gain access to the sea, but Turkey is one of America's staunchest allies."

The guest speaker told the group that they had to secure their food from Turkish food markets—and from the small packages of food that their families could send from America. She described her first trip to the food store as a frustrating experience because she did not recognize a single food. "There were barrels of strange-looking things." So the Beales lived mostly on fruits and vegetables at first.

Mrs. McKnight began by describing the city of Ankara and the house in which they lived. "It was constructed of stone and cement, but 90 per cent of the people live in mud huts. Just a few blocks from Attaturk Buvari, you see the old walled city of Ankara. Only a wall separates this city from the rest of Ankara but there is a great 'wall of time' between them."

Mrs. Rufe Jordan was general chairman with Mrs. H. H. Hahn, TC Culture; Joe M. Daniel, Jr., TC Forum; Jack O. Miller, TC Allegro; Thelma Bray, TC Cotillion and H. E. Stanfield, TC on the program committee.

Decorations were under the direction of Mrs. Jim Chase Jr., TC Culture; J. R. Holloway, Forum; John Lee Bell, Allegro; Lee Frazier, Cotillion; Frank Culbertson, TC.

Mmes. Warren Hesse, Culture; E. Ray Duncan, Allegro; Arthur Teed, Forum; Bob Williams, Cotillion and G. F. Branson, TC were members of the food committee.

Twentieth Century Clubs Honor Presidents

The five Twentieth Century Clubs of Pampa honored their presidents at a reception held Tuesday morning in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with Twentieth Century Culture Club as the hostess-club.

Presidents honored were Mmes. Richard W. Stowers, Twentieth Century Club; W. L. Ellis, Twentieth Century Forum; Philip Gates, Twentieth Century Culture; Raymond Reid, Twentieth Century Allegro and W. D. Price, Jr. Twentieth Century Cotillion.

Mrs. R. E. Dobbin and Mrs. E. L. Henderson, dressed in Turkish costumes, met guests at the lobby door and greeted them with a Turkish salutation "Merhaba," which means "hello."

Guests were directed to the registrar's table, which was appointed with Turkish accessories and were registered by Mrs. Ray Duncan, who was also in Turkish costume.

In the receiving line, guests greeted the five new Twentieth Century Clubs' presidents and the guest speakers, Mrs. W. J. Beale and Mrs. J. W. Knight, who wore costumes native to Turkey.

The Starlight Room was decorated with Turkish rugs, handmade scarfs, handmade copper and brass pieces from Turkey.

Guests were served from three tables appointed with Turkish scarfs, compotes of fruit and copper services. Mmes. E. E. Shelhamer, Jeff Bearden and Ross Buzzard, dressed in Turkish peasant costumes, presided at the copper coffee services at each of the three tables.

Following invocation by Mrs. Michael Wilson, Mrs. N. Dudley Steele introduced the five new presidents and each was presented with a gift from her club.

Mrs. Steele introduced Mrs. W. J. Beale and Mrs. J. W. McKnight, who spoke on "Turkey—Barrier to Three Continents—Impressions After Three Years' Residence."

The speakers' husbands have been in the military service together about 17 years. They have both traveled extensively and they have selected Pampa as the place to retire.

GILBERTS

Miss Janet Holland Is Bride Of Jimmy Listen

A bank of woodwardia palms, tiered candelabra holding bronze candles, and arrangements of bronze chrysanthemums in golden Grecian urns formed the background for the wedding ceremony on September 2, in the Groom Church of Christ which united in marriage Miss Janet Holland, Amarillo, and Jimmy Listen of Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill West Jr. of Groom are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Listen of Phillips.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Gordon L. Downing head of the Church of Christ Bible Chair at West Texas State College in Canyon. A chorus from the Central Church of Christ of Amarillo presented a nuptial prelude and traditional wedding marches.

BRIDE

Candelabra holding bronze candles and a single gladiolus marked the bridal aisle. The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of crystal peau de soie fashioned with Chantilly lace sleeves, a sweetheart neckline, and a bodice embroidered with imported seed pearls. The skirt extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a miniature crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Emma Kay Holland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Alvin Morrison of Ralls, Mrs. Lawrence Knopp of Amarillo, both sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Charles Harvey of Groom. The attendants wore dresses fashioned of fall gold crystal peau de soie, with matching overskirts and carried cascades of bronze mums accented with brown velvet leaves. Their hats were of matching circled headbands from which were attached scalloped veils. They wore brown accessories.

Best man was Bill Listen of Bartlesville, Okla., brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Jimmy Dean, Ralph Smith, and Keith Shaffer, serving as ushers were Lawrence Knopp and Alvin Morrison, brothers-in-law of the bride.

Billie Ruth West of Groom, sister of the bride, was flower girl

Mrs. Jimmy Listen

and ring bearer was Danny Holland, cousin of the bride. Candelabras were Janet and Mark Listen, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

For the wedding, the mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of pink lace with black accessories. Her costume was accented with crystal jewelry. She wore a corsage of bronze mums. The mother of the bride wore a costume of brown lace over beige satin. She chose beige accessories and wore a corsage of bronze mums.

RECEPTION

A reception was held, following the wedding ceremony, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Knopp and guests were registered by Miss Nancy Helton. A bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums centered the refreshment table and other appointments were in fall colors. Mrs. Joe Grant to present the cake and Miss Audrey Beth Burnett served punch.

The bride chose a beige and ivory tweed suit for her going away costume. She wore a carnation corsage and brown accessories. Following a trip to Colorado Springs, the couple will be at home at 2713 - B Duncan Drive in Amarillo.

Mrs. Listen was graduated from Groom High School. She attended West Texas State College, Canyon, and was a member of Chi Omega sorority. She is employed as secretary in the credit department for General Electric Co., in Amarillo. Mr. Listen was a graduate of Phillips High School and will receive his degree from West Texas State College at the close of the fall semester.

COURTESIES

Pre-nuptial courtesies honoring the bride were a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Witt in Groom, a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. Clarence Hulbert at Berger, a lingerie shower in Amarillo at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knopp by friends of the bride, and a party following the rehearsal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Knopp in Groom.

Women Of Moose Approve Donation To Carla Victims

At a meeting of the Women of the Moose, Lodge 1163, held Tuesday evening, members approved a donation to be sent to a Moose Lodge in the Hurricane Carla disaster area for victims of that disaster.

Plans were made for the "Christmas in October" project to be held at the next meeting of the group. Gifts are to be brought or sent to the lodge hall and will be mailed on to Mooseheart and Moosehaven. Those wishing to send gifts may call Mrs. D. C. Reed and the gifts will be picked up.

It was announced that the Moose Lodge will have an initiation with members of Berger and Amarillo lodges as guests. Women of the Moose will serve the dinner.

It was announced that initiation will be held at the meeting on Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Moose Lodge.

Members attending were Mmes. Lovie Fry, Ray Cales, D. C. Reed, W. C. Brown, Bill Morse, Sam Goodan, Ralph West, B. W. Lard, Truman Garrison, Charlie Webb, Bennye Corey, Tom Beard, and Jeff Lard.

Difference Between Loneliness And Loneness Often Personality: Speaker

Mrs. J. B. Townsend presented a talk on "Loneness But Not Loneliness" at the Civic Culture Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. E. Dauter.

In opening remarks, Mrs. Townsend said, "All of us have experienced loneliness at some time or other. We have seen the time when we have been most lonely, even while being surrounded by people. How we react to loneliness depends upon the individual. We can use the time to take stock of ourselves, look upon our problems objectively, rebuild and gird ourselves for the contacts we are going to make in life."

"There are three phases in a woman's life," Mrs. Townsend continued, "1) through youth and adolescence; 2) making a home and raising a family; 3) later maturity or old age. In the first period, we need to learn how to live harmoniously and adjust. When we see a lonely and unadjusted person in the latter period or a maladjusted one, we see one who has never learned to adjust in either of the other two periods."

"Whether we are 20 or 66, we need to plan, if we are going to live life to the fullest. One can live gaily, graciously, ostentatiously or dully, stolidly or stupidly. You can exist in sullenness, self pity and loneliness. Your choice has nothing whatever to do with your financial standing. Our living is successful only if we are determined to make it so."

Mrs. Townsend continued, "Take stock of ourselves occasionally and discard our old worn-out ideas and prejudices. Keep the good, but rid ourselves of the ideas that we are not wanted, we are not appreciated or no one wants to be bothered with us. Say instead, I am an individual, I have certain rights, I need the same things that other people need. Some of their need, I can supply and some of my needs, they can fulfill. We are all created by the same Father; therefore, I will give all I can and accept all offered me. We will both benefit and gain from each other.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. Attending were Mmes. Willis White, J. B. Townsend, Louise Sewell, W. C. Scott, C. F. Pennington, Emmett Osborne, W. J. Morris, A. D. Hills, Irvin Cole, Stanley Brandt, Carl E. Axelson, and George Neel.

Variety In New Costume Outline

GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Suits and costumes by American designers reflect, even now, the return to the fitted look indicated by the recent Paris collections.

To clear up any confusion about this word "fitted," it should be explained that this is not fit in the old sense of the word. It's a new fitted look, one which indicates the body lines rather than fitting in the way that a swimsuit does.

The result is a silhouette that flatters the figure in a manner both casual and subtle. You'll be seeing more of this as the winter progresses.

Both suits and costumes are done in unusual combinations of different weights and textures of wool. There are sometimes as many as three or four in a single garment.

Textures include fluffy blanket wools, diagonal weaves, giant plaids, heathery tweeds, basket weaves and, of course, wool jersey.

Fine American wool fabrics are seen in bright, clear colors, soft colors leaning to the pastels, vivid checks and bold stripes.

New Floor Shine That Lasts

A new Acrylic finish is now available for all floor surfaces. It's extra resistant to slipping and scuffing. Positively will not yellow. This new product called Seal Gloss gives a tough mirror-like shine that lasts and lasts. Easy to apply or remove yet keeps floors looking better for a longer time. Miss Anna Jo Watson Relates AFS Experiences To KKI Gamma Conclave

The Gamma Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota met Monday evening in the City Club Room for a program presented by Miss Anna Jo Watson, Pampa High School senior, who spent the summer with the Greve Family in Germany as an American Field Service Exchange student.

Mrs. J. E. Tatum introduced Mrs. Wendell Watson, who explained the purpose and origin of the American Field Service program. "The AFS has an exchange student program in which American students, who are juniors in high school or who are 16 years of age, may go to Europe."

Miss Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Watson, who spent the summer in Germany by the means of the program and a scholarship furnished by M. K. Brown, gave a vivid and informative program of her stay. She described tours through Holland, Denmark and the trip by Jet to the point of embarkation and the boat trip across the Atlantic ocean with 650 other students her age.

She stressed the importance of knowing the language of the country one wishes to visit. "Because by knowing the language, so much more can be learned."

Included in the program was a report by Mrs. L. B. Penick and Mrs. W. L. Parker on the National KKI convention held in Wichita, Kan.

They announced that the state KKI scrapbook, done by Mrs. Homer Bowers, took first place honors and the local scrapbook for Gamma Conclave also took first honors from 16 other states entered. The local artist, compiling the scrapbook was Mrs. Teresa Humphreys.

It was announced that next year's national convention will be in Denver, Colo.

Members present were Mmes. D. V. Biggers, Homer Bowers, M. L. Carter, Herbert Coker, Joe DiCosimo, B. G. Gordon, D. A. Johnson, D. L. Mackie, Charles Meech, O. H. Odom, W. L. Parker, L. B. Penick, Huston Price, T. Ross, Austin Ruddick, Floyd Smith, G. W. Stowell, L. S. Riley, Clyde Rodecapi, J. E. Tatum, G. M. Walls, J. W. Woods, Misses Elizabeth Enns, Mildred Hoghland, Alma Wilson, Lois Morrison and Teresa Humphreys.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with an autumn theme with Mmes. Biggers, Tatum and Miss Enns as hostesses.

Youth Center's Purpose Outlined By Speaker

Mrs. Loyse Caldwell, Doug Halley Youth Center Activities

Doug Halley, director of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, was guest speaker at the Monday evening dinner meeting of the Altrusa Club held in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

The program, planned by the Public Affairs chairman, Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, was introduced by Mrs. Loyse Caldwell, committee member.

Mrs. Caldwell informed the group that Mr. Halley was a native of Oklahoma City, Okla., a member of the First Methodist Church, where he serves on the Commission on Education and serves as a substitute teacher occasionally.

He was graduated from Oklahoma State University, where he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. Before coming to Pampa, he was a community center director in Dallas.

In opening remarks, Mr. Halley said, "The purpose of the Pampa Youth and Community Center is to provide a recreation program for the youth in particular and the community in general. Activities in swimming, physical fitness, socials and creative crafts are planned for the Center. The program will cooperate and encourage the work of other youth organizations in an effort to make all youth programs in Pampa as effective and far-reaching as possible."

"Along this line," Mr. Halley stated, "I would like to see a Youth Council organized in Pampa to coordinate the work of all agencies and organizations involved in youth work. It would avoid many overlapping programs and provide cooperation and coordination that is necessary to be most effective and reach the greatest number."

"The program at the center will be determined by the needs and desires of the community and its acceptance and use. We now have 2600 members in the Center. It is the express desire for all boys and girls in Pampa to use the Center. In an effort to make this possible, we have given away almost 300 memberships to needy boys and girls. Several clubs and individuals have sponsored others for membership."

"It has been, indeed, rewarding and inspiring for me to see this new facility open and progress with such enthusiasm on the part of the people of Pampa. Without their enthusiasm and support the success of the project would be questionable."

"Pampa can be very proud of the fact that this project was paid for by public and private subscriptions and donations. It is not a tax burden on the community. This is a tribute to the people of Pampa, who are obviously looking ahead to youth. Not many cities the size of Pampa can boast a youth center to compare with this one. Already it has become a showplace for visitors to Pampa. It is a real community asset."

"I, for one," the speaker continued, "do not subscribe to the belief that our young people are worse than ever... that their basic principles and morality are shallow and debased. If you really want to re-install or strengthen young people, I wish you could your faith and confidence in the observe them at work and at play as I have been able to do. Young people are blessed with unbounded energies, an insatiable curiosity and impatience. Therein lies the problems and challenges to them."

"We need to teach our young people to cultivate self-reliance, individuality, hard and consistent work. And we need to set the examples ourselves. Youth wants to be shown the way. We must see to it that the spirit of youth is directed into constructive rather than destructive channels for today's youth are tomorrow's future," Mr. Halley concluded.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. J. L. Harkins, it was announced that an International Tea would be held Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 until 3:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Jack P. Foster, 1228 Williston with Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore as co-hostess.

Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, relative to an International Affairs project, read the names of club members who were to exchange letters with Altrusa members in Dublin, Ireland. Each was chosen because of her particular classification: Mmes. Lorene Locke, major advertising; B. M. Behrman, specialty shops; Lou Ella Patterson, government; V. L. Hobbs, manufacturing; Thelma Bray, home-maker; Jean Chisholm, industrial; L. L. Harkins, business service; Rufe Jordan, member-at-large; and Mrs. Vanderberg volunteered to write to a member with a transportation classification, since the club has no one in this category.

As an attendance "gimmick," directed by Miss Ila Pool, attendance chairman, members brought paper replicas of wearing apparel to dress a doll. If the member was absent, that article of apparel was missing from the doll. Attendance leaders were Mmes. Ruth Sewell, Jay Flanagan, F. W. Shotwell, Dona Cornutt, V. L. Hobbs, Larlar Wilkinson, Thelma Bray, Rufe Jordan, Lorene Locke, and E. E. Etheridge.

As a result of the "gimmick," members voted to provide the real garment to be sent to Hurricane Carla disaster victims. Articles are to be brought to the office of Mrs. Spoonmore or the home of Mrs. Harkins.

If wallpaper is smudged, rub over the area lightly with an art-gum eraser. Hard rubbing can damage embossing.

Dear Abby...

Widow Advised To Think It Over Well!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 29 years old, and the mother of four children. I am the sole support of my children, and have been for four years.

My problem is a very handsome and wonderful young man who is only 19. He looks older, and has a very good job. He wants to marry me. I have known him a year, and I think the world of him but, Abby, I haven't a thing to offer him but my troubles. He knows this, but won't take no for an answer. He says he loves me and doesn't care what anyone thinks, and he is camping on my doorstep. My children adore him. I think it would be unfair to him to marry him. I love him in a way, but am—

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: If you love him — don't marry him yet. He is only a boy. Give him a chance to mature and if, in another year, you both feel the same — well, perhaps it will work.

DEAR ABBY: I am told that ladies do not shake hands. Is that correct? When I meet someone, my hand automatically goes out, whether it is a man or a woman I am greeting. I can't find the answer in an etiquette book, but I want to do the proper thing. Can you help me?

A LADY

DEAR LADY: Ladies DO shake hands. Both with other ladies and with gentlemen.

DEAR ABBY: After raising my son, and seeing him through college on the start of a promising career I have the sorrow of watching him choose a girl of different religion, background and education. So far I have only shown "mild disapproval." Should I do more? I am afraid of forcing the wrong results.

TORN MOTHER

DEAR TORN: If you have given your son your best guidance, there is nothing you can do. You are wise not to snipe at the girl. That usually boomerangs.

DEAR ABBY: Since I have seen all sorts of unusual problems in your column perhaps you'll use this, as it is indeed my biggest problem. I'm from Luxemburg and, invariably, when I am in the States, people will say, "Oh yes, GERMANY!" Now Luxemburg is a small country, and it is bad enough that people don't know where it is, but they mistake it for part of a nation which, twice in 20 years, has invaded it. Please print this, Abby, so that people will learn that Luxemburg is a very proud and independent country situated between France and Belgium, and that the official language is French, and that people should study a map once in a while.

Guides For Entering Flower Show Outlined

Top O' Texas Garden and Pampa Garden Clubs, in sponsoring a fall flower show, "Autumn On The Prairie" have prepared a schedule of the horticulture and arrangement divisions and asked that members and non-members use them as a guide for entries in these divisions.

The flower show is planned for Saturday from 2:30 p.m. until 7 p.m. in the First National Bank Annex. The public is cordially invited to attend with no admission charge.

The arrangements classes consist of the following themes and descriptions. Class 1. "Prairie Sunset" - An arrangement using any flowers. Accessories permitted. Class 2. "Mums and the Word" - An arrangement of any design using only chrysanthemums. Class 3. "Trail Boss" - A composition suitable for den or man's room. Accessories permitted. Class 4. "The Drifter" - A contemporary design incorporating weathered or drift wood and flowers. Accessories permitted. Chrysanthemums preferred. Class 5. "The Last Round-up" - A design with dried material. Class 6. "Harvest Moon" - An arrangement of flowers using hues or tints of yellow. Class 7. "Buttermilk Skies" - A design composed of white flowers using grey or silver foliage. Class 8. "East is East and West is West" - A composition in an oriental manner. Accessories permitted. Class 9. "Little Dogie" - A miniature arrangement of fresh material not to exceed 5 inches in height. With accessories. Class 10. "Wide Horizon" - A horizontal design of fresh material.

Class 11. "Boots and Saddle" - A crescent design of fresh materials with accessories. Class 12. "Indian Summer" - An arrangement using fresh and dried material with warm, bright colors. Class 13. "Sidewinder" - A composition using the Hogarth Curve of fresh materials. Class 14. "Palo Duro" - An arrangement with rock and chrysanthemums. Class 15. "Hunter's Dream" - An arrangement with any fresh materials with accessories. Class 16. "Autumn Leaves" - An arrangement of dried material. Class 17. "Wild Fire" - An arrangement for novice only. (A novice is one who enters competition for the first time or who has won no awards in previous shows.) a. using fresh materials, b. Using dried materials.

Separate divisions are available in the Arrangement Classes for both men and junior arrangers. Both these divisions will be judged separately and all men and junior arrangers are invited to enter. The Horticulture division will have color classes in the following sections: Chrysanthemums, roses and dahlias. The perennial section will include classes of gailardia, verbenia, aster, daisies, carnations, pinks, sweet william, snapdragon, phlox, day lily, herbs hibiscus, and any other perennial not listed. The annual section will have classes of petunias, asters, zinnias, marigolds, celosia (cock's comb), cosmos, calendula, and rose moss. Cannas, gaidiolus, tuberose, fall iris, tuberous begonias, and any other bulb or bulb like structure's bloomers are eligible for entry in their separate classes under bulbs. Trumpet vine, clematis, bittersweet, honeysuckle, morning glory, moon vine, perennial sweet pea, bougainvillea, passion vine are the classes for vining plants.

The section on house plants are defined as those plants grown in containers of less than 7 inches in diameter. Classes in house plants will be open for african violets, a collection of 3 different varieties of a kind of houseplant, potted foliage plant, potted flowering plant in bloom, succulents and miscellaneous house plants. A new section in the Horticulture Division is being offered for the first time. This is a section composed of patio plants. The definition of these plants are those plants that are grown in containers larger than 7 inches in diameter. The section is further divided as such, flowering plants that can be left in their container outdoors the year around. Examples of this class are potted chrysanthemums, flowering sedums, verbenia, etc. The other class for flowering patio plants deals with those plants that must be brought in before frost. Examples are geraniums, bouganvillea, etc.

Two classes of foliage plants also exist under the section of patio plants. These foliage plants are plants that have been grown primarily for show of foliage, or a flowering patio plant not in flower, but having attractive, ornamental foliage may be entered here. One class is for those foliage plants that can be left outside the year around such as large cacti, wax-leaved privet, and other potted shrubs, and the other class consists of foliage plants that must be brought indoors before frost. Examples of this class are large rubber trees, sansevieria, jade plants, and others.

A welcome invitation is extended to all gardeners and public wishing to enter. Any garden club will gladly give necessary information and details on entering any phase of the flower show.

Australian Tour Taken By Chapter

Mrs. James A. Poole, 1715 Beech, was the hostess for the regular meeting of Xi Beta Chi, Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on Monday evening. Mrs. Ralph Esson, president, presided at the business session. Plans for the rummage sale to be held Monday and Tuesday, October 2 and 3, at 321 South Cuyler, were completed and announced by Mrs. Murry Sealey, ways and means chairman.

Continuing the series of programs on a tour of the world, Mrs. Jeff Truly presented a paper on Australia. She discussed the discovery and development of Australia, its exploration and settlement, finance, trade, manners, customs, sports, and culture, and concluded with showing pictures of the strange plants and animals, the aborigines and bush country, as contrasted with the modern cities to be found there.

Present were Meses. Tom Beard, Howard Buckingham, Joe Fischer, Ralph Esson, Dot Francis, Buster Grayson, Lemond Hall, Melvin Keiffer, Ted Knox, Maurice McCoy, Barney McMullan, James Poole, Jimmy Scholl, Murry Sealey, F. L. Stone, Jeff Truly, Jack Vaughn, and Virginia Vaughn.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you want others to forget your age, there is one thing you have to do. Forget it, yourself.

That means you must not keep reminding others of your age by remarks that begin with such phrases as "At my age..." "When I was your age..." "If I were younger..." "I'm too old to..."

All such phrases force others to consider your age when, if the matter were never brought up, they probably wouldn't give it a thought.

That's one reason for not dragging your age into the conversation. Another is that you can't FEEL young when you are talking about how old you are. And as long as you let yourself feel young you will act, young, too.

Also, when you start talking about how old you are, you begin to make excuses for not doing things you could do on the grounds that you are too old. It becomes an easy alibi for limiting your life more than necessary. Haven't you heard people say they were too old to make new friends, or too old to learn something new, or too old to make a move to a new place, or too old to correct a fault, or too old to care about their appearance?

And yet with just as many years those who aren't so age-conscious go right on doing all those things the age-conscious have convinced themselves they are no longer capable of doing.

This doesn't mean you ought to pretend that you are younger than you are. That's silly and rarely fools anyone.

All it means is that if you don't want others to attach a lot of importance to your age you ought not to attach a lot of importance to it either.

Miss Linda Gail Fain

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fain, 1821 Hamilton, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Gail to Lynn Arthur Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. Authur Love, 1040 S. Banks. The wedding is planned for November 25 in the First Baptist Church.

Organization Of Ladies Auxiliary To Fire Department Lefors HDC Topic

LEFORS (Sp) — Mrs. John Lantz was hostess recently to the Lefors Home Demonstration Club in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cullon, as special guests, spoke on the organization of a Ladies Auxiliary to the fire department and the proposed Red Cross First Aid Course. "An auxiliary is to be formed, which will include any women in the city who desire to assist the Fire Dept.," according to Cullon, fire drillmaster. "The lady need not be the wife of a present fire department member."

"The only qualification for service will be her desire to serve her city, and improve better civic relations between the fire department and the citizens," the Cullons stated. Mrs. Fred Cullon or Mrs. Frank Kirk can be contacted for further information.

A meeting date was set for Sept. 22, in the home of Mrs. W. E. Melton, for a demonstration of fancy pie baking, and the electing of officers.

"Posture, Patience, and Perseverance," was the topic of Miss Lou Ella Patterson's program.

"Nothing is real work unless you had rather be doing something else," Miss Patterson said, in discussing the individuals attitude toward the work. "In having a good attitude, the homemaker should be proud of her position, she is the backbone of the nation, and should get rid of the outcast attitude of the average homemaker."

"To find where you stand, make a schedule of what you do every day, then see where you can improve," she stated, adding tips which follow: "clean one room thoroughly once a day, see rainbows rather than dirty dishes in the suds, have a job and do it, not procrastinating or regretting a job, and make both hands work for you."

She concluded the program with slides on correct posture.

Members attending other than those mentioned were Meses. L. D. Rider, B. J. Leininger, Francis Cox, M. L. Rippey, B. J. Diehl, Charles Roberts, B. D. Vaughn, and W. E. Melton.

CIVIC PRIDE -- As a community service project, members of Brownie Troop 2 recently presented a golden willow tree to the Pampa Garden Club. The tree has been planted east of the Memorial Rose Garden, which is located on the north side of Stephen F. Austin School. "Pleased as punch" with their civic endeavor are the members pictured above, left to right in a semi-circle around the tree, Debbie Weidler, Sue Shirley, Linda Brumley, Debbie Veale, Brenda Duncan, Kay White, Linda Chase and Beth Watson. Other Brownies, also participating in the tree-planting ceremony, but not present when picture was taken are Susan Maguire, Terry Curtis, Carolyn Brown, Berkeley Evans. Troop leaders are Mrs. J. B. Veale Jr. and Mrs. J. B. Maguire.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

If guests mean that you face the problem of too few chairs, you can solve it by having on hand a stack of big squares, boxed cushions. Place them one on top of the other near the fireplace. Sitting practically on the floor is a custom that breaks down stiffness and a feeling of formality at any party. Each pad can be in a different color to enhance the color plan of the room. Use felt, leather, corduroy, silk or duck as covering for these handy room additions.

Dear Polly: I am considering a colonial bedroom for our girls. But then again, I'd like bunk beds for our sons' room. Is it considered good taste to mix? What periods can be mixed?—Mrs. L. M.

Dear Mrs. L. M.: Indeed it is good taste to mix furniture styles. Some of the most interesting rooms do just that. It would require more space than I have to explain fully.

But briefly, provincial styles in French and American furniture go well together. The combined styles should have the same degree of formality or informality. If you want a colonial atmosphere in both children's rooms, bunk beds are easily found in pine or maple that has an early American look.

Dear Polly: I plan to buy a carpet and make new slipcovers soon. Living room is small so I had the walls painted white. Draperies are white. I made them short with a pleated valance. Decor is Early American. Living room adjoins kitchen with louvered doors. There is a wainscoting of fruitwood with wallpaper that has figures in brown, gold, gray and beige. Curtains there are brown with white fringe. Rooms are clearly visible to each other.—Mrs. R. A. H.

MATURE PARENT

Late one afternoon when she was 7 years old Mrs. P gave up trying to tell her mother why she didn't want to do things she had been told to do.

Called for supper, she'd rush anxiously into the kitchen to inform Mama that a wheel had come off her new doll carriage, it's spring still missing in the grass near the front porch steps. And Mama busy with pots and serving dishes, didn't even look up. In a toneless voice that refused all response to her daughter's anxiety, she said, "Do what you're told. Go upstairs and wash your face for supper."

And the girl went, not quite knowing as she climbed the stairs that she was thinking, "I will ALWAYS listen when people try to tell me things! I will never be so mean and disinterested as Mama or people will hate me as I hate her."

She still keeps that half-remembered promise she made to herself. Today she listened and listened to why her 10-year-old Jeff could not return some soda bottles to the store. She listened until the time came and went for the store to close. When Jeff reminded her, she shook her head in annoyance and signed, "Oh well, I suppose I can drive them down in the car tomorrow morning."

And Jeff, relieved at his evasion of the chore, went whistling off to the sun porch and his comic book, feeling not one smidge of appreciation for his mother's attention.

Since she did not show true attention this behavior was not remarkable. When our attention to children's wishes is founded on a resentment of our own parents' lack of attention to us, we are not really interested in our children. We are more concerned with our role of Interested Parent. Though we think we are listening to Jeff's reasons for not wanting to go to the store, we are really listening to see if we are as patient and understanding as we wanted Mama to be to us.

So, we do not register the calculation with which Jeff has exaggerated the speed he'll have to make to get to the store before it closes. We can't see that he is aware of our half-seen fear of being a mean, unlistening Mama—and is using it coldly and cynically.

But if we could wholly remember that half-seen promise we once made to ourselves, we could see its control of our dealings with Jeff. If we gave THAT some attention instead of pretending to give it to Jeff, we could see when he really needs some—and when he is stalling.

Dear Mrs. R. A. H.: A big oval braided wool rug with yellow, light green and brown predominating would carry out the Early American look in your living room. The sofa could have a golden yellow slip cover and the two chairs might be covered in a documentary print that has green, white and yellow on a brown ground. Your curtains might be improved by the addition of one-inch bands of green-and-yellow across the lower edges of both curtains and valances. A dash or two of lacquer red, in accessories, would add some zip.

Lawyers' Wives Club Planning Salad Luncheon

The Pampa Lawyers' Wives Club, a newly-organized group, are planning a salad luncheon to be held at one o'clock on October 9 in the home of Mrs. Homer D. Johnson, 2372 Aspen.

Plans were made at an executive board meeting of the club held Friday. The salad luncheon will be the second meeting for the group. The organizational meeting was held in the Coronado Inn on July 1 at which time the wives of Pampa attorneys were luncheon guests of the Gray County Bar Association.

Officers of the new club are Mrs. Homer D. Johnson, president; Don Cain, vice president; J. E. Thompson, secretary; William J. Craig, treasurer; Bob Gordon, telephone chairman and Thomas L. Wade, publicity chairman.

Soil Preservation Garden Club Topic

Top of Texas Garden Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Howard, 2101 N. Wells, for a program on "Preserving the Heart of the Soil" presented by Mrs. H. H. Boynton, member of the Pampa Garden Club.

"Keeping the soil in its natural state, as God intended it to be, is the secret to successful gardening," Mrs. Boynton said. "Too many of us resort to the easiest, laziest way of trying to put back into the soil what is taken out, which many times does more harm than good."

An interesting portion of the program, was the question and answer period, which the speaker conducted at the conclusion of her talk.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Jamie Deal, president, plans were outlined for the rummage sale to be held Friday, Oct. 13.

Refreshments were served during the social from a table appointed with a dried autumn arrangement.

Members attending in addition to those previously mentioned, were Mrs. H. H. Boynton, Helen Knox, Kenneth Osborn, Tom Patton, R. M. Samples and L. B. Robertson.

The Grand Sucker

Resumption of nuclear tests by the Russians and the refusal of the "nonaligned" nations to condemn them for it point up — maybe as nothing ever has before — what Suckers (spelled with a capital "S") are.

Chances are we would have walked out on those phony disarmament talks long ago, if it hadn't been for the liberals, the leftists, the soft-on-Communists gang that has had so much to do with shaping of foreign policy within the past 30 years. At times they have been in complete control of it.

If Russia wasn't testing when the talks were in progress, there's no doubt she was preparing to. The steady string of explosions, starting just after the Soviet announcement on test resumption, is a dead giveaway. Such complex experiments could not be improvised on such short notice.

We got taken at Geneva. At the meeting of the "nonaligned" officials at Belgrade, none of the official statements condemned the Soviets for resuming the tests. But Tito of Yugoslavia spoke in defense of them. Once again he has placed us in the shameful role of the sucker. And all along we should have known it. But the pacifists, the bleeding hearts, the pinkos, the liberals — all that ilk — again were in control of things.

In 1946, the Communist dictator of Yugoslavia, made the following statement: "Our collaboration with capitalism during the war (World War II) . . . by no means signifies that we shall prolong our alliance with it. On the contrary, the capitalistic forces constitute our natural enemy despite the fact that they helped us to defeat their most dangerous representative. It may happen that we shall again decide to make use of their aid (editor's note: The US has given Yugoslavia almost $2 billion since the war), but always with the sole aim of accelerating their final ruin."

We got taken by Tito.

Greed

The trouble with government generosity is that people grow accustomed to supposing they are getting something for nothing and they always want more. But more cannot be had. It is impossible to take more substance out of any receptacle than has been put into it.

Too Many Classrooms

More and more attention is being drawn to the fact that a substantial number of school classrooms across the country are far from filled.

One unofficial estimate puts the total of "under-utilized" U.S. classrooms at 40,000. Neither the United States Office of Education nor any other education agency has undertaken surveys on this point.

The problem, not yet rated as major proportions, breaks into at least two principal parts:

—One aspect is the steady movement of people from towns and rural areas to the bigger cities. Half of the nation's 3,000 counties lost population in the 1950-60 span. In 12 states, spotted all around the U.S. map, two thirds of the counties suffered losses.

These outward population shifts have stripped many schools of their enrollment potential. Some of these schools are being sustained by costly transportation arrangements that bring pupils considerable distances.

Every year the advancing consolidation programs in many states wipe out droves of the smaller schools. Yet thousands still carry on, with attendance at some down to six or eight pupils as against perhaps 30 or 40 a decade ago.

—Half empty schools are, however, also a city problem. The old residential cores of big and even moderate size cities show population losses. Nine of our 12 largest cities recorded net declines in the 1950-1960 period.

Meantime, in that same decade, the unintermitted flight to the suburbs boosted some outlying populations 50 per cent or more.

Many social and economic factors contribute to the speed and force of this flight. As a residential section gets older, people begin to leave, especially the young, newly developing families with lots of children. As they go, the age level of the city area rises. Half-empty schools have been common in some cities for many years.

—Other forces at work: re-zoning of sectors for commercial use, the slashing through of broad expressways, the raising of taxes, the incoming or departure of job-giving factories.

Obviously, many of these factors could not have been fully anticipated. But there are also solid reports of empty seats in relatively new schools, some in suburban zones.

The latter is due to faulty judgment. And that generally can be charged up to the fact that it was public and not private money being spent.

Edson In Capitol

By Peter Edson
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Whether Brazil can pull itself together and establish some semblance of stability is the No. 1 question in Latin America today.

Brazil has completely changed its government with a short, bloodless revolution on the heels of Janio Quadros' resignation as president. It retains all the forms of a constitutional democracy with president, congress, prime minister and cabinet.

But in the opinion of qualified American experts on Brazil, there is no assurance whatever that the coalition government will stay stuck together.

The new president, Joao Goulart, is a wealthy rancher who is also head of Brazil's Labor party, considerable of a leftist, politically unscrupulous in the best or worst Latin American traditions, anti-American and an opportunist.

He is considered anxious to get back the executive powers he surrendered on the insistence of Brazil's military leaders.

The government will be run by the prime minister, Dr. Tancredo Neves, who is considered a conservative. Brazil had a prime minister before it became a republic, so a return to this form of government is not as unnatural as it seemed at first. But a government so easily created by a congress can also be thrown out by a congress. That is the danger.

As a matter of fact, during Brazil's presidential elections of 1960, the military leaders threatened to impose a prime minister on Janio Quadros because they did not like the kind of campaign he was conducting. But Quadros' opponent for the presidency, Marshal Henrique Loti, denounced the plan and it was dropped.

Inside reports on just what caused Quadros to resign the presidency indicate this was in character. He walked out on his political backers once before, when he was running for the presidency.

He did not support his own party's candidate for the vice presidency, Milton Campos. Instead, Quadros supported General Loti's running mate, Joao Goulart, who was running for re-election as vice president.

When objections were raised by the conservatives to this and other Quadros campaign tactics, he resigned and went to a seaside resort. A delegation persuaded him to renounce his resignation and resume the campaign. He went on to win, and Goulart won with him.

There is mounting evidence that Janio Quadros expected to be called back after resigning the presidency.

As president, he had taken bold and necessary action to get Brazil's financial affairs on an even keel. But he was criticized by conservatives and military leaders for currying favor with the Communists and ultranationalists at home. In international affairs he had visited Cuba, cuddled up to Castro and tried to pursue a policy of neutralism in a belief he could reconcile Cuba and the United States.

But direct and indirect affronts to the United States were many. That was unpopular with congressmen and the military.

Quadros, it is now believed, decided that he could establish his supremacy over the military by arousing a popular manifestation of support. So he resigned, expecting to be called back. Instead, all he did was pull the rug out from under his own feet.

Several explanations are given. The military leaders thought they could get rid of Quadros and bar Goulart at the same time. Congress accepted the resignation so it could install a prime minister and cabinet responsive and responsible to their will. Also, they wanted a constitutional, not a military government.

The intelligent Brazilian people, taking more and more pride in the belief that their country is the embryo of a great power, reacted to oppose a quitter who was something of a demagogue with a megalomaniac, or even a messiah, complex.

One other physical factor is now given some credence. Quadros has one bad eye, the result of a boyhood accident. An operation in England was not completely successful. Fear of going blind may have put him in the frame of mind to throw up the whole business.

After creating his artificial crisis, however, there was no undoing the damage. He is reported to have sobbed openly as he boarded the boat to leave Brazil.

Blocking of Trade Bill to Stop Cuban Trade Laid to Goodwin Group; Kitchin May Probe

WASHINGTON — Cuba's Dictator Castro can thank some of his "friends" in the Kennedy Administration for keeping open the flow of badly needed U.S. dollars to support his pro-Communist espionage and propaganda activities in South America.

The group headed by Richard Goodwin, 29-year-old White House "expert" on Latin America, took full advantage of the last-minute adjournment confusion in the Senate to block a House-passed bill prohibiting all commerce between the U.S. and Cuba.

Sponsored by Representative State Brooks Hays, the letter dismissed the Rogers bill as "unnecessary" on the grounds that "existing legislation provides broad authority to accomplish the aim which would be achieved by passage of the legislation."

As hinted almost weekly by the White House, since last April's ill-fated Cuban invasion, the letter again raises the possibility that the President might use his present authority to slap an embargo on U.S.-Cuban trade.

"The Administration was under consideration measures which, if applied, would result in an embargo on U.S. trade with Cuba."

THE JOKER — However, the opposition role of Goodwin, who has been holding a series of private meetings with Cuba's top Communist leaders, raises serious doubt of whether an embargo will ever be put into effect.

For weeks, he has conducted a one-man campaign within the Administration to successfully delay an embargo.

Aided by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., special assistant to the President, Goodwin has stymied action by raising numerous technical questions about a State Department plan calling for President Kennedy to stop Cuban trade by invoking the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The invocation of the act has long been favored by Robert Woodward, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. However, Goodwin's objection has held up any final action.

According to a Defense Department memorandum, a total embargo would aggravate the food shortages in Cuba. These shortages have been worsening in recent months, leading to a system of rationing, and to a growing dissatisfaction with the Castro Regime.

Cuban exports to the U.S. consist of $30 million of tobacco, fruit and sugar molasses annually. U.S. sales to Cuba now consist of about $20 million in medical supplies, fats, and oils a year.

On July 6, 1960, the Cuban sugar quota was withdrawn by former President Eisenhower on action initiated by Congress. Shortly thereafter, in October 1960, a partial economic embargo was imposed. Under this restriction, no U.S. goods can be exported to Cuba except foodstuffs and medical supplies.

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

The practical importance of recognizing a tuberculin-type allergy and of identifying the causative allergen, rests of course in the preparation of a program for prevention and treatment.

If we clear the throat of streptococci, we prevent recurrences of rheumatic fever.

If we persuade our patients to stop smoking, we arrest the progress of thrombo-angitis obliterans, a cruel disease that may require amputation of both legs. And if we filter out harmful rays of the sun, we may save the lives of those who are afflicted with the "butterfly disease."

Unhappily, the list of known allergens in the tuberculin-type allergies is altogether too short. While skillful use of products that possess the properties of the adreno-cortical principle of the pituitary master gland (ACTH) succeeds in relieving some of the manifestations of some of the tuberculin-type diseases, we effect no true cures. The most we can offer is incomplete and temporary benefit in afflictions such as psoriasis, pemphigus, scleroderma, the scleroses of the nervous system and other diseases too numerous to mention.

What you can do to investigate and prevent allergic actions:

If your parents, your children or you have ever experienced any type of any of the allergic reactions previously mentioned, you are justified in suspecting a family hypersensitivity.

If there is evidence of a familial hypersensitivity, give this information to each member of the family and to every member of the medical profession before any type of treatment is prescribed or administered.

If you are hypersensitive, exert extreme precaution before exposing yourself to known allergens. Such allergens are poison ivy, goldenrod, timothy grass, insecticides, medicinals containing sulfa drugs or penicillin or any product that is new and strange.

If you feed your potentially hypersensitive baby a food for the first time, begin with an infinitesimal dose, such as a single drop of a mixture prepared by adding a single drop of the undiluted substance to a full glass of water.

If you are buying a new cosmetic, try it out of the skin of the inner surface of your thigh before applying it to your face.

If you drive your gold ball into the rough where there may be poison ivy, oak or sumac, drop a new ball and take a penalty stroke. You'll find it cheaper than the cost of an attack of dermatitis venenata.

If you actually develop some recognized allergic reaction put on your Sherlock Holmes cap and look for clues, like sunlight or cold, sun tan or sunburn lotions, or ointments. The new lipstick, eyeshade, hair dye, rinse, shampoo, nail polish, perfume, toilet water, hand soap, detergent, floor wax, rouge, deodorant, wave lotion, deplatory, antiperspirant, roach or ant powder or synthetic fabric are all places to start search.

Or maybe it's something in the pain-killer (analgesia), tranquilizer sedative (barbiturate), pep-up pills, nose drops, cold remedy, headache powder, sleeping medicine, acne lotion or germ-killer (sulfa, penicillin)? Or maybe it's milk or eggs, or fish, or shell food or something that went into the cake mix?

Or just "nerves"? No you don't have to wear a white coat, hang out a shingle, endow a laboratory or hire a private eye for this kind of investigation. Just make observations, write them down, then, if you get a hot clue, keep away from the suspected allergen for a few days and see what happens.

If you improve, expose yourself and see if your troubles get worse or return. Repeat the observations of elimination and exposure at least twice, then draw your own conclusions just as if you were the greatest allergy professor in the world.

Bid For A Smile

Father—Your new little brother has just arrived.
Mother—Child—Where did he come from?
—G—
Mountaineer—Treading a gangling youth into the presence of the village doctor—No, I want you should fix up my son-in-law. I shot him in the leg yesterday and I'd expect him to die.

Doctor—Shame on you, shooting your own son-in-law.
Mountaineer—Well, doc, he wasn't my son-in-law when I shot him.

Housewife—Complaining to her husband—Just look at me! My shoes are as drab and shabby as anyone came in the door, he'd think I was the cook.
Husband—Not if he stayed for dinner.

Those American Sounds Are Music To His Ears

By HENRY McEMORE

This is my first day in the United States of America for quite a spell and it's mighty nice to swap "Good Morning" for "Buon Giorno" and "Gut Morgen."

Its nice, too, to hear American sounds. There are no others like them anywhere, and they fall on my ears like music. The sound of a real car horn, not a beep-beep. A police whistle that sounds the way a police whistle should. Footsteps sound right again, and so do voices.

The wind around the buildings whistles like real American wind, and there is a loving sound even to the screech of bus brakes, taxi doors shutting, and the rise and fall of elevators.

The change rattles the right way in your pockets, the barks of dogs sound like home sweet home, and that goes for the clatter of drugstore counters, too.

I am sure that if I were landed in America blindfolded, after ten days on a ship or ten hours in a plane, I'd know where I was just by the sounds. Europe's noises are different. They're sharper, shriller, for one thing, and there are more of them. New York is a cathedral of silence, compared to Rome or Berlin or London, as hard as that is for a New Yorker to believe.

Rome has a cow-bell clatter, night and day; Berlin never sleeps, and London, even at the earliest hours, sends forth a deep, steady roar.

How good American voices sound, speaking "American." It's good to know what people are talking about. The subject matter may not concern you, and much of it may be trivial, but it's interesting. After months of not knowing what was being said all around me, I find myself enjoying remarks on the weather, food, football (real football, not soccer), the movies, the government, and kids I don't know and never will know or even see.

In a foreign country one walks about with the lost feeling that a child must have when walking, with adults. Nothing is familiar, nothing strikes a responsive chord. The few words he catches and understands make no impression.

At home — Blessed place — everything one hears is part of one's life. Streets, names and places all mean something. There is a most wonderful sense of belonging.

American air is different. Really. It has a different tang, a different weight or something. It looks different, if such a thing is possible. Then there's the water. I'm no expert at wines, but give me ten jugs of water from different countries and I'll bet I can pick out the American jug after one good swallow.

American trees have an American look and an air about them. They may have the same Latin names that the European ones do, but they handle their leaves differently, and their bark has a different look. That goes for flowers, too.

In short, America is America, and there isn't any place like it and never will be.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, Oct. 1, the 274th day of the year with 31 to follow in 1961.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1903, the first baseball World Series got under way at Boston between the Boston Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals.

In 1936, Gen. Francisco Franco was proclaimed head of Spain's nationalist government.

In 1960, Nigeria, the former British Colony, became independent.

A thought for today: Satirist Jonathan Swift said: "We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another."

Matter of Fact

This free-food program is a two-fold outrage. First, it creates a class of drones who are supported by working people, by the man who works hard pumping gasoline, laying brick or selling clothes or other merchandise. Second, the dole makes these drones look to federal officials as the source of their pampered leisure. Lazy, dependent people are people who will sell their liberties for a few baskets of groceries.

FOR NERVOUS COWS

OXON, England (UPI) — You have a nervous cow on your hands?

Farmer Anthony Bramley advises a plastic foam mattress. It soothes and increases the milk yield, he reported.

Ancient poison—modern medical drug. That's the story of the South American Indians' poisoned arrow. Making arrow poison was once a secret ritual. Certain roots, stems, and leaves simmered several days. A glue-like death-dealing sirup was the end product. Today the Indians' secret is put to better use. Instead of dispensing death, derivatives of South American arrow poison are the doctor's friend, helping relax muscles in modern anesthetics.
