Americans In Spain Seek Refuge On Ships

Voters To Give Their Answer Saturday To Candidates Pleas

Record Poll Indicated In This County

94 Names Appear On Long Ballot; All Offices Are Involved

Sovereign voters of Howard county will join hundreds of thousands of others over the state of Texas in a march on the polls Saturday to select democratic nominees from U. S. senator to constable.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. and in that space of eleven hours, it is predicted that approximately 5,000 votes will be cast in this county, shattering the record of 4,000 votes two years ago.

Voters will be faced with the task of choosing from 94 names on one of the longest ballots facing them in this county. While local races have thoroughly monopolized the attention of the electorate this year, they will have the responsibility of casting ballots in contested races for governor, state railroad commissioner, comptroller of public accounts, commissioner of the general land office, state treasurer, state superintendent, commissioner of agriculture, and representative in the U. S. congress for the 19th district.

Local candidates will make a final plea for support here tonight at 8 o'clock from the courthouse lawn in a county-wide political rally. Every candidate will speak. Grover Cunningham, chairman of the democratic executive committee, will preside over the meeting, keeping candidates within prescribed time limits.

Nine candidates for the office of commissioner of precinct No. 4 signed an agreement this week night to pass out cards on election day. Several others said they would seek to get a blanket agreement from all other candidates to that effect, but there appeared little possibility that such an arrangement would be made.

A large majority of those seeking office said they would not do any campaigning around the courthouse Saturday, sparing the gauntlet of cars thrusting.

Efforts are being made by The Herald and election judges to secure complete returns from the primary faster by hours than the record for the county.

Friday the final pre-election chapter in the J. S. Garlington, county judge, affray case was closed off. While the judge was winking at a state paper of its account of the wrangle, County Attorney Wilburn Barcus showed a letter from George Clarke, secretary to Governor Allred, saying: "Please be assured that immediately upon receipt of the attorney general's decision as to the governor's jurisdiction in this matter, I shall advise you."

368 Absentee Ballots Cast

Total Is Nine Short Of Record Set In 1934 Demo Primary

Absentee voting ended here Thursday nine votes short of the record of 368 set two years ago prior to the first democratic primary.

A total of 369 ballots were dispatched Friday to judges in 15 boxes of Howard county.

Only one of four town boxes had as many or more absentee votes cast as two years ago. No. 4 showed a gain of eight votes while the other three were losing 24 votes. Conahoma and Fordan showed substantial gains however, the former polling 10 absentee votes against five two years ago and the latter 25 against nine.

Every box was represented in the absentee voting this year, whereas two did not receive such votes in the last democratic primary.

Absentee voting by boxes follows: No. 1, Big Spring 18; No. 2, Big Spring 99; No. 3, Big Spring 122; No. 4, Big Spring 43; Vincent 3; Gay Hill 6; R-Bar 7; Highway 5; Conahoma 15; Fordan 26; Center Point 7; Moore 5; Knott 4; Morris 4; and Soash 2.

George McEntire, Jr., of Midland was in Big Spring Friday morning in his four-place Waco plane. He was here demonstrating the ship to a prospective customer.

Trammell Assessed The Death Penalty

Convicted In Slaying Of Guard; Gibson Gets 60 Years

ANGLETON, July 24. (AP)—Luke Trammell, Retrieve prison farm convict, was assessed the death penalty today for murdering Guard Felix Smith in a June 19th break from the farm.

Forrest Gibson, tried jointly with Trammell, was given 60 years in prison.

Trammell, considered one of Texas' worst criminals, was under 162 years' sentence for murder, robbery and burglary. Gibson is serving ten years for robbery.

Testimony in the trial lasted only a day. The state, asking the death penalty, presented testimony in an effort to prove Smith was slain as Trammell, Gibson and T. B. Atkinson, convicts at work in a corn field at the prison farm, made their break for freedom.

Trammell and Gibson were trailed through Central and West Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma, dodging officers for a week before they were taken in Central Texas as they slept in a parked car. Atkinson later was apprehended.

Exemptions Will Be Given Saturday

Exemption certificates will be granted anytime today or Saturday by Tax Collector Assessor John F. Wolcott to those over age and those who have become 21 years of age since Jan. 1.

Wolcott said that in the face of a district court ruling in Taylor county that unders who became of age after Feb. 1 were entitled to vote, he saw no reason for not issuing the certificates. To avoid discrimination, he said, he was moving the time back to Jan. 1.

A previous opinion from the attorney general's department had held that those who had not secured exemption certificates before Feb. 1 would not be entitled to one except in rural communities.

Will Restore Efficiency, Landon Says

Pledges in Acceptance Talk To 'Unshackle Spirit Of American Enterprise'

TOPEKA, Kan., July 24. (AP)—A pledge to restore "an efficient as well as constitutional government" which would "unshackle initiative and the spirit of American enterprise" was given by Gov. Alf M. Landon last night in his address accepting the republican presidential nomination.

Before a large throng he delivered the first statement of policies on which the new deal will be challenged at the polls by his party.

Cash farm benefits, relief for the needy; "frugality" in conducting the public business, freedom from "excessive expenditures, and crippling taxation," a constitution which is not above change, but must be changed by the people, were cornerstones of the program he laid before the electorate.

"The time has come to stop this fumbling with 'recovery,'" the Kansas governor said. "The time has

NEW YORK, July 24. (AP)—James A. Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee, said today that "almost everything" Gov. Alf M. Landon advocated in his acceptance speech is "already under way under the present administration."

He said: "I am unable to get any definite conclusions as to what Governor Landon will attempt to do in the impossible event of his election. He implies he can do the job better than Franklin Roosevelt, but how he would go about it his message fails to reveal."

The Landon address favored a farm plan embracing cash benefit payments.

He said "Those in need of relief will get it," declared for economy in government spending and a lighter tax burden, and turning to the constitution said:

"It is not my belief that the constitution is above change, x x x But change must come through the people and not through usurpation, x x x We propose to maintain the constitutional balance of power and maintain a free competitive system."

The republican candidate spoke to masses in thousands from the south steps of the Kansas capitol. Speedily, he expressed "complete adherence" with the republican platform and then turned to the new deal "record."

Boy Suffers Leg Fracture

Limb Crushed By Pipe On Texas & Pacific Freight Car

J. W. Brothers, high school student of Strawn, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brothers of Strawn, was in the Big Spring hospital Friday following a compound fracture to his right leg received when that member was caught underneath an eight-inch casing in a coal car on a Texas & Pacific westbound freight early Friday morning.

Brothers, in company with a friend, Harvey Pollard, also of Strawn, was riding in the freight car from Strawn to Monahans, where they hoped to get work. Pollard told a reporter. As the train was moving out of Big Spring in the west yards, a sudden jar caused the pipe to move forward. Both were asleep at the time, Pollard said, and before they could move the pipe had caught Brothers' right leg, causing the fracture. It required the aid of the train crew to release the pipe.

Brothers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brothers, were en route to Big Spring from Strawn late Friday afternoon to be with the youth.

U. S. BATTLESHIP ORDERED TO SPANISH SHORES

The United States battleship Oklahoma was ordered to sail from Cherbourg, France, to Spain, to evacuate American citizens in case of necessity. Program For Drouth Relief Is Outlined

Wallace Says Government Will Start Buying Cattle Monday

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 24. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today offered the drouth-ravaged prairie states a four-point program to combine with the administration's soil conservation plan as a relief measure. The secretary's recommendations were:

- 1. Judicious commodity loans. 2. The "ever-normal granary." 3. Crop insurance. 4. Government purchase of land which "never should have been planted."

After inspecting at first hand the heat-baked drouth states, Wallace told members of the International Baby Chick association here that the government would enter the markets Monday to purchase cattle, unless rain comes. The purchases will probably be 10 per cent of 1934 purchases, he said.

"Impossible Situation" Of his program, Wallace said "insofar as the first three powers can be put to work, it will modify somewhat the exercise of the fourth."

"Premature judgment might lead one to conclude that great areas should be retired which in fact are capable of returning a decent living if the shock of drouth can be cushioned."

"Nevertheless there are many families in these areas of dry-land wheat farming who have been bucking an impossible situation, who have been compelled to ask for governmental relief and who would like to be established elsewhere."

"It would seem to be the part of wisdom for the government to help them get reestablished rather than keep them indefinitely on relief." Wallace insisted food levels are "not on scarcity levels and there seems to be no reason to think they will be."

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hubby have as their guests, Mr. Hubby's father, J. L. Hubby, his brother, W. O. Hubby and son, Billy of San Antonio. They plan to spend several weeks here.

ELECTION EXTRA

As soon as an appreciable count is received on county races, The Herald will issue an ELECTION EXTRA Saturday night, giving returns not only on local races, but on district and all state contests. The EXTRA should be on the streets about 9:30.

Sunday morning's regular edition of The Herald will carry final counts on county races, and the latest returns from the Texas Election Bureau on state contests. A special wire from the Bureau will serve this newspaper; and special correspondents will assist in gathering district returns.

Under the regulations of the Bureau, of which The Herald is a member, this paper is not permitted to give out returns other than through its news columns. Since facilities of this office will be taxed to the limit Saturday night in the handling of election news, the public is respectfully requested not to call at the office—by phone or in person—for returns. The Herald is not permitted to give them out, and must mobilize its entire force and facilities to present full election returns Sunday morning.

The bulletin board at the court house will show results on county races.

Seek To Halt Utility Suits

Govt. Wants Holding Company Act Tested In Single Case

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The government asked the supreme court today to protect it against the flood of "complicated, expensive" suits until the constitutionality of the 1935 public utility holding company act could be decided in a single test case.

Stanley Reed, solicitor general, sought a review of a court of appeals ruling which refused to deny proceedings in seven injunction suits involving the same statute. He said the government preferred to test the constitutionality of the law in a case brought in the Southern New York district court.

C. W. Tarter, superintendent of schools at Dunn, was here on business Friday.

Coughlin Apologizes To President

DETROIT, July 24. (AP)—An apology from the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin to President Roosevelt for the use of the word "liar" he used in a recent Cleveland address appeared in the periodical "Social Justice" today.

Addressed as "Your Excellency," the statement reads in part: "In the heat of civic interests in the affairs of my country and in righteous anger at the developments that, it is my conviction, have contributed largely to want in the midst of plenty, I addressed to the president of the United States in a speech at Cleveland, Ohio, July 16, the word 'liar.' "For that action I now offer to the president of the United States my sincere apologies." Continuing, the statement said: "I was one of the first and not one of the last, to help you attain the presidency. My assistance was based upon Your Excellency's ability to perform. As my president, I still respect you, as a fellow citizen and man I still regard you highly, but as an executive, despite Your Excellency's fine intentions, I deem it best for the welfare of our country that you be supplanted in office."

US Consulate Employe And Briton Slain

Ambassador In Fortress Nations Cooperate To Protect Own People

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—Aghast at the killing of an American consulate employe and a British subject endeavoring to protect American lives, 100 American citizens sought refuge today aboard a rescue ship which reached Barcelona, Spain.

Simultaneously San Sebastian embassy officials reported to the state department that conditions there were "horrible." The American embassy at Paris was advised today that Claude G. Bowers, United States ambassador to Spain, had taken refuge at Fuenterrabia, a fortress nine miles north of San Sebastian.

Meanwhile the United States, France and Great Britain agreed to pool their facilities to evacuate their refugees.

Loyal Troops Are Making Headway Against Rebels

MADRID, July 24. (AP)—Spain's liberalist government forces, pressing for a mountain battle with fascist besiegers northwest of Madrid, reported today they were in control of one strategic pass, and were driving the insurgents out of another.

The United States embassy here, sheltering 150 Americans, reported all Americans in the Madrid area were safe.

An official radio report announced that loyal forces, massed on the Guadarrama mountain range to guard all approaches to the capital, dominated the most vital "Sierra Sierra" pass.

At Somosierra, Segorkmia, Avila and other points near Madrid, rebel casualties were said to be large. A radio report said the fleeing rebels were abandoning much war material.

An intense aerial bombardment continued at Zaragoza, rebel stronghold, with loyal columns converging on the city. They were reported within sight of their goal.

The government announced protection would be provided all foreigners. It ordered all soldiers of Madrid provincial garrisons to report to their barracks.

A fourth American vessel speeded to Spain as American officials in Bilbao and Madrid sent distress calls to Washington.

A score of American refugees left Barcelona on an Italian boat. The American coast guard cutter Cayuga headed for Bilbao from La Havre, France, in answer to a urgent request to evacuate women and children among 155 Americans there. The battleship Oklahoma also was due here. The cruiser Quincy is headed for Gibraltar and the American steamer Dexter, responded to a state department appeal, is expected today at Barcelona.

Farmer Cash Income Gains

AAA Payments, However, Are Lower For First Half Of Year

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—The agriculture department estimated today that for the first six months of 1936 farmers' cash income aggregated $3,290,000,000, an increase of $335,000,000 over the same period last year.

Officials said the six month total for this year included $171,000,000 in AAA payments compared with $294,000,000 of such payments in the same period of 1935.

JONES MEETS COFFEY IN FIRS ROUND AT ANGELO

DOUG ONE UP AT NINE HOLE TURN

SAN ANGELO, July 24. (Sp)—Douglas Jones, the only Big Spring player in the championship flight of the annual San Angelo country club invitation golf tournament, was 1 up at the end of nine holes at noon today in his first round match with Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth, a tournament veteran who qualified with a 72.

None of the first round championship flight matches had been finished at noon. At the nine-hole turn, Buddie Wheeler of Seymour, tournament medalist, was two down to H. F. Templeton of San Angelo. W. Beall of San Angelo was one down to J. T. Hammett of Eastland, and Joe Dick Slaughter of Lubbock was 3 down to the veteran J. C. Southworth of Sweetwater.

One hundred and eight golfers were registered for the tournament. Wheeler took medal honors with a 69.

Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins, two strong tournament golfers, slipped in their qualifying and failed to make the championship flight. Bristow qualified with a 45-38-31 and was to play E. B. Dozier in the first round of the flight.

Robbins scored a 41-38-30 and was pitted against E. H. Canady. A. L. Rogem, also of Big Spring, had an 87 for his qualifying score.

Texas League Teams Boast Of Bat Power

All-Star Game To Be Played In Steer Park Saturday Night

DALLAS, Tex., July 24. (UP)—Saturday night's Texas league Centennial game in Dallas is expected to exhibit a clash of batting power between two formidable arrays of talent.

Figures compiled through Wednesday games, outside of the pitching box, showed that only players who are not actually hitting 300 or better are the two northern catchers, George Rensa and George Susec; Bernard Cobb of the same club, batting, however, .299; and Lou Brewer at short, together with the south's extra catcher, Herman Franks, third baseman George Binder and utility infielder Art Scharein.

In the north, the infield hitters string along with Mallon (Dallas), .354 at second; English (Fort Worth), utility, .315; Stroner (Dallas), .293 at third; Cobb (Tulsa), .290 at first; and Brewer (Oklahoma City), .274 at shortstop. The southern infield has Watwood (Houston), .335 at first base; Croucher (Beaumont), .318, second base; Gryzka (San Antonio), .309, shortstop; Binder (Galveston), .284, third; Scharein (San Antonio), .250, utility.

The outfielders are all hard season hitters. In the north there are Mossell (Dallas), .331; Tauby (Dallas), .329; Howell (Tulsa), .319; Peel (Fort Worth), .314; Eastertling (Oklahoma City), .313. The south is not far behind with Rizzo (Houston), .324; Estlineout (San Antonio), .313; Martin (Houston), .305; Cullenbine (Beaumont), .301; and Garris (San Antonio), .300.

Among the catchers, hitting in lighter, George Tebbetts (Beaumont) of the south with .304 being the only player above .300. His teammate, Herman Franks (Houston) hits .250. In the north, George Rensa (Dallas) with .263 and Susec (Fort Worth) with .247 are outpaced by their southern rivals.

Saturday night's clash of batters will be preceded by two colorful ceremonies. At 8 o'clock the Texas Centennial central exposition will present a special ranger commission to President J. Alvin Gardner. Similar presentations will be made to Managers Bert Niehoff and Jake Atz. Immediately afterward players of the two teams will be given their league awards for participation.

Woodruff Is Hope In The 800 Meters

Olympic 'Baby Star' Borrowed Money To Compete In Tryouts

NEW YORK, July 24. (UP)—Jack Winsett, slugging Columbus Red Bird outfielder, is aiming at the American association home run mark of 68 established by Joe Hauser of Minneapolis. Winsett has been hitting at a .335 clip. At the midway mark he had 33 home runs to his credit.

Winsett's determined drive for home run and batting honors may not result in the record he aspires to create but one thing is very likely—he probably will get another tryout in the majors.

The lean, loose-jointed outfielder was up with the Boston Red Sox in 1931-32. He was returned to the minors when he failed to show anything at the plate. The Cardinals picked him up for a trial on the strength of his showing with Rochester but soon turned him over to Columbus. He pounded the ball well enough last year with the Red Birds, showing a season average of .348.

Even that fat average failed to win him another chance, because he had become known as a weak hitter against southpaw pitching. Batting from the first-base side of the plate he was woefully weak against southpaws. His average was almost entirely the result of hitting against right-handers.

When forced to stay in against all kinds of pitching this spring the southern lad suddenly began hitting all varieties of twirling. He hit in 26 consecutive games—a feat which pushed him to the top of the league's hitters.

DODGERS GET RECRUIT

The Brooklyn Dodgers gained possession of a promising young outfielder when they turned over the veteran George Earnshaw to the St. Louis Cardinals. Eddie Morgan is the lad and he is now playing the outfield for the Columbus Red Birds. He will report to the Dodgers next spring. Morgan had a trial with the Cards early this season, and in his first time at the plate against major league pitching punched out a home run. The Cardinals decided the youngster needed additional seasoning, so they sent him on to Columbus.

PILOT SACRIFICES LIFE TO PREVENT CRASH INTO CROWD

SANTA MARIA, Cal., July 24. (UP)—A navy pilot sacrificed the lives of himself and co-pilot yesterday to prevent his disabled plane from crashing into a crowded tent at the county fair.

Wings of the plane crumpled 500 feet above the Santa Maria fair grounds. Although he had time to jump, Lieut. W. Oliver stuck to the ship, piloted it beyond the tents, and crashed in an adjacent parking lot.

Lieutenant Oliver died with his ship. Third class Machinist's Mate Paul Greky stayed with Oliver until the ship was near the earth and then attempted to bail out, but he was too low. The parachute failed to open and he was killed in the fall.

Other pilots in the squadron of nine naval planes in which Oliver and Greky were making a training flight up the coast from San Diego said they heard the disabled ship's motor roar loudly suddenly as the pilot "gave it the gun" in a desperate attempt to clear the tent.

Fair officials said the loss of life would have been great had the ship landed inside the fair grounds.

DROPPED FROM SQUAD

ABOARD THE MANHATTAN, EN ROUTE TO BERLIN, July 24. (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, star backstroke swimmer and a member of the American Olympic team, was dropped from the squad yesterday for infraction of training rules. Chairman Avery Brundage announced.

Shortly after his 100th birthday, a farmer living near Agrici, Yugoslavia, married a 17-year-old girl.

Vince Di Maggio Holding High Hopes For Brother Joe

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 24. (UP)—Shumping down on the players' bench at the local ball park, Vince Di Maggio, hustling rightfielder of the San Diego Padres, began a discourse on a favorite subject—his brother, Joe, freshman star of the New York Yankees.

Vince, 23, and two years older than Joe, is a capable ball player himself, and hopes eventually to land in the big time. Right now, however, he is content to perform in the Pacific coast league, and praise brother Joe. Joe has great hopes for Joe.

"Joe's got everything it takes to make good," Vince said. "I'd be almost willing to bet that he will bat .325 or better this year. He has 10 years of major league baseball ahead of him, I think."

"You know, Joe's only been playing baseball for about three years. He only played a couple of games in 1932, and then joined the Seals in 1933. That was the year he established the coast league record for consecutive hitting. He hit for 61 games straight."

"Joe felt kind of bad when he was finally stopped. He wanted to set a new record for all leagues. Maybe he'll do it yet in the big time."

"He's a natural hitter. He just holds the bat on his shoulder, waits, and then takes a swing at the last second."

"Nothing bothers Joe at the plate, and that's why the pitchers can't do him out. He hits any kind of ball. Just put it in reach and he'll tag it."

Vince predicted New York—and Brother Joe—would be in the World Series.

"Joe is like me when it comes to writing letters," he explained. "And I haven't heard from him in a long time. But if the Yanks get into the World Series, I'm sure gonna write him a letter. Boy, he's got to fix me up with some ducks for that show."

Myatt Works For Cochrane

DETROIT, July 24. (UP)—When the Detroit Tigers decided they needed an experienced catcher to help out during the absence of Mickey Cochrane they dug up old Glenn Myatt. Myatt certainly has plenty of experience to recommend him.

Glenn must be nearly 40. He has been around a long, long time and should know all the answers. Way back in 1919 he had a trial with the Athletics but did not linger long for Connie Mack had as his first string catcher Cy Perkins, today a Detroit coach. After a stay with Milwaukee Myatt came back into the American league with the Cleveland Indians. He stayed with Cleveland until 1934 when Walter Johnson released him on the grounds that he had passed his peak. There was quite a furore at the time and a short while later Johnson was replaced as manager by Steve O'Neill.

Reber Returns to Minors

Myatt caught on with the New York Giants for a spell. Then he moved on to Montreal where he was playing when the Tigers picked him up.

When Myatt came along Frank Reiber was sent back to the minors. This move would seem to indicate that the Tigers have finally lost faith in Reiber. There was a time when Reiber was looked upon as a likely successor to Mickey Cochrane and was being schooled to take over the catching job.

Only rarely did Frank flash any signs of latent greatness. His main trouble was his inability to throw to bases. Not that Reiber lacked a strong throwing arm—his tracks lacked accuracy and at times he seemed puzzled as to just where to throw. This failing caused him no end of worry and resulted in loss of effectiveness at the plate as well as behind it.

The lad is still a youngster and may yet come around, but the Tigers are in no position to gamble on him further.

FIVE TEAMS IN LORRAINE MEET

LORRAINE, July 24. (Sp)—Only five teams have entered the Loraine invitational baseball tournament to date, officials announced Friday but Harvey Munn, manager of the meeting to begin Saturday, was hopeful that at least three more teams would enter before the deadline.

The Big Spring Oilers, Hamlin Pipers, Coahoma Bulldogs, Divide Independents, and the host team have posted entry and Munn hopes to receive entries from Tahoka, Ackery and Sweetwater.

SCIENCE ADVISES AGAINST MEALS LOW IN NEEDED "BULK"

Reports ALL-BRAN Supplies This Dietary Adjunct

Scientific tests have shown that meals which miss the proper "bulk" tend to cause common constipation. This condition causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches, loss of appetite, even serious disease.

Avoid these faulty meals by adding Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to your meals. It supplies generous "bulk" in convenient form. This absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN may be served as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over soups, salads or other cereals. Or work into appetizing muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It adds a delicious nut-sweet flavor to your recipes.

How much better than taking patent medicines—sometimes harmful! ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Meandering Mustache Problem For Dr. Dafeo

TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—Dr. A. R. Dafeo, physician to the Dionna quintuplets, is having trouble keeping his mustache in place, he revealed in an interview. It's a Hitler type of mustache, he said, and it keeps slipping. Day by day it gets farther and farther to the left, and day by day he has to move it back to center. "The trouble," he said, "is that I have to take my glasses off to shave and the light is better on the left side, so I trim that all right, but I cut it off too much on the right side. Some day I'm going to get an indelible pencil and mark boundary lines and keep it in position."

Oil Boosted Tax Values In East Texas

Increase Of 200 Million Is Shown Since Big Field Was Opened

By H. J. STRUTH Petroleum Economist Tax values assessed in four East Texas counties have increased $200,000,000 as a direct result of the discovery of prolific oil production, according to the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association of Texas. In 1935, at the close of each year the first producing oil well was drilled in the now famous East Texas oil field, assessed valuations of Gregg, Rusk, Upshur, and Smith counties aggregated $37,041,000. In 1935, the annual report of the comptroller of public accounts of Texas shows a combined assessed valuation for these counties of $240,546,000, an increase of $203,505,000. The East Texas oil field has in five and one-half years produced more than a billion barrels of oil of which 923,000,000 has been reported and on which gross production taxes paid to the state alone have already aggregated $17,000,000. This figure, however, represents but a minor part of the total taxes actually paid on oil thus far produced from the East Texas field. On the basis of the appreciable gain in county valuations cited above it is apparent that oil producers have directly contributed many additional millions of dollars in state and county ad valorem taxes, as well as assessments made for special school districts, city taxes, gross receipts taxes, regulatory taxes, drilling permit fees, pipe line taxes, etc. A recent survey shows that the average total production tax per barrel of Texas oil is seven and three-quarter cents. On this basis, this one field alone, on its producing operations only, has apparently contributed more than $71,000,000 in state and county taxes. And this huge tax bill does not include assessments made on refineries, natural gas, lime plants, marketing facilities, etc.

790 Million Market Value Oil at the well in East Texas is currently quoted at $1.15 per barrel. Yet, the cumulative average value of East Texas oil, since the close of 1930, has been only eighty-six cents per barrel. The reported production to date has shown a combined market value of about $790,000,000, which constitutes an annual average gross revenue to the East Texas area of $140,000,000. The extent to which this great oil field has benefited the citizens of East Texas is revealed by comparing the number of income tax re-

Melton Barker, movie director, is shown above with Spanky McFarland, a child actor he discovered and who is now starring in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies. Barker will be here early in August to make a kid movie, using only Big Spring children in the cast. Children between the ages of 3 and 13 who wish to appear in the cast are invited to register at the Ritz or Lyric theaters. About 100 local children will be used in the picture. When the casting director arrives in town he will contact those who have registered and have them come to the theater for an interview.

WINNERS NAMED IN FARM HOME BEAUTIFYING CONTEST

Clarksville Couple Take First Prize In State Centennial Year Event

COLLEGE STATION, July 24.—First prize in the Centennial farm and home demonstration contest which had as its objective the beautification of rural homes in Texas was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Joe P. Sibley, Clarksville, at a special ceremony at the Centennial year farmers short course at Texas A. & M. college Thursday. The prize was a cash award of $250. Presentation of this and the awards to 53 other winners in the contest was made by George B. Dealey, Dallas, on behalf of the sponsors of the contest. Total of prize awards to the 54 winners, nine being state and 45 district winners, amounted to $2,500. Two thousand farm and ranch families living in 167 different counties of the state participated in the contest which was sponsored by the publishing corporation of which Mr. Dealey is president, and a number of other business concerns located in Dallas, Fort Worth, Sherman, Lurkin, Waco, Houston, Diboll, Tyler and Austin. The contest was conducted and the winners selected by the Texas Extension service.

Extension Director H. H. Williamson presided at the award ceremony and in presenting Dealey expressed appreciation of the returns filed. In these four counties, Gregg, Rusk, Upshur and Smith, income returns in 1935 aggregated 1,230. In 1933, latest available report, the combined returns had increased to 3,052, a gain of 150 per cent. Oil production in East Texas has meant a good deal more than increased tax revenue to its counties and to the state, for its development has also distributed wealth in the form of lease rentals, lease bonuses, oil royalties, salaries and wages for thousands of workers and the expenditure of large sums in the purchase of equipment and supplies. The cost of drilling and equipping 20,500 wells has amounted to $350,000,000; oil royalty payments on East Texas oil have already exceeded $100,000,000; lease rentals and lease bonuses have enriched the East Texas landowners to the extent of at least $75,000,000; equipping existing wells for pumping will cost at least $100,000,000. Thus, the enormous wealth created by the discovery of oil in East Texas redounds to the immediate and future benefit of the people and the state, for it is evident that the bulk of the money received from the production of oil is widely redistributed within the borders of our state.

Cool Fruit Drinks Ward Off Heat On Sultry Summer Days

DENTON, July 24.—When the heat of summer becomes so torrid you feel you just can't eat anything, try an ice cold beverage. Juices left from canned and fresh fruits can be utilized when the intense heat creates such a loss of water from the body. They can be used as a foundation or added to a tea base to make appetizing drinks at meal times or a cooling draught on a hot afternoon. Usually a blended flavor is more pleasing, so two or perhaps even three varieties can be used to an advantage. A good general proportion is one-half fruit juice and one-half water or other liquids such as cold tea or ginger ale. Some lemon juice should be added in every case as it brings out the flavor of the other fruits. Jams, jellies and preserves may also be used by adding water and straining. Beverages of this sort should not be too sweet. Tasty fruit juice combinations are: Pineapple juice, apricot juice, lemon juice, and ginger ale; lemon juice, orange juice, apricot, and tea; orange juice, pineapple juice, lime juice, tea; peach juice, fresh grapes, lemon, ginger ale; sour cherry juice, grapefruit juice, lemon juice, tea; strawberry preserves, lemon water. Grapefruit Juice Punch: One cup grape juice, 1-2 cup lemon juice, 1-2 cup tea, 1-2 cup carbonated water, 1-4 cup sugar. Plain water or tea may be substituted for the carbonated water if preferred. Orange Delight: Juice of three oranges, juice of one lemon. Measure and dilute with equal volume of water. Add one-third cup of sugar, some mint leaves and a red cherry in each glass. Pineapple Lemonade: Juice of three lemons, 1-2 cup of pineapple juice, 1-2 cup or more of sugar. Equal volume of water.

PER CAPITA PAYMENT IS MADE TO SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, July 24. (UP)—The state department of education today mailed to school districts $2.25 for each person of school age living in the district. The total scholastic census for the state is 1,000,000. The payment totaled $2,250,000. The payment today completes delivery of $17.50 per capita to the schools. This was the appropriation first set by the state board of education. On May 16 the appropriation was advanced to $18.50. The additional dollar will be paid when the money accumulates.

FRANK HOUSE CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF OF HOWARD COUNTY

TO THE VOTERS OF HOWARD COUNTY: I regret that circumstances have prevented me from seeing each and every voter, and trust that you will understand some of the reasons which prevented me from making as active a campaign as I desire to make. For the benefit of those who do not know me, I desire to say that my ten years experience as a peace officer will be of great value to me in filling the position of sheriff should I be elected. I sincerely promise that if I am elected sheriff I will at all times be on the job. I will give the office all that is in me, and make the best sheriff of which I am capable of making. I will discharge the duties of said office honestly, fearlessly and without favor or partiality to anyone. FRANK HOUSE (Political Adv. Paid For By Frank House)

Mrs. S. E. Taylor Is Honoree On 80th Birthday For Picnic And Family Reunion At Park

Relatives and friends from many parts of the state were here Wednesday to aid in the celebration of the 80th birthday of Mrs. S. E. Taylor who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Vick. The birthday meeting also served as a family reunion as the party included the bringing together of Mrs. Taylor's only living sister, her children, numerous nieces, nephews, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The guests assembled at the Vick home in the morning where many gifts were presented the honoree. After visiting a short time the group proceeded to the City park where they enjoyed a sumptuous picnic lunch. After the meal the afternoon was spent in reminiscing by the grownups, the younger children at the wading pool, while the older children took advantage of the Municipal pool.

Cecilia Long Gives Party At City Park Celebrates Eighth Birthday With Little Friends Thursday

Cecilia Ramona Long was the hostess to a group of her friends Thursday afternoon for a party to celebrate her eighth birthday.

The guests met at the Long home where they played games until all had arrived. They were then taken to the City park for the remainder of the afternoon. A few games were played here in between trips to the monkey cage which was the center of attraction to the youngsters.

At the refreshment hour a beautiful birthday cake was cut and served with ice cream. Napkins designed with balloons and Scotty dogs were passed along with balls which were favors.

Farewell Shower Given For Lutons At Porter Home

A surprise farewell shower was given for Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Luton recently at the home of Mrs. John Porter. The Lutons will leave soon to make their home in East Texas. The gifts were presented to the honorees in a beautifully decorated basket. The afternoon was spent in visiting.

Monograms In Filet Crochet

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 328
We went through Great-aunt Nellie's treasures the other day. Great-aunt Nellie comes from a long line of fine needlewomen and her linen chest is full of the choicest gems. We found a nice old pin cushion with a filet cover, and the filet was worked with her initials. It was lovely, but we didn't think you'd be interested in pin cushions; so we mullied over it until we were on hands for your linen closet, on your towels, on pillow cases, for napkin rings, and other things.

Doors Closed Until August 1st While Museum Undergoes Repairs

The doors of the West Texas Memorial museum will close its doors to the public for one of the few times since its opening several years ago. Reason for this action is to prepare for the arrival of more material for which space must be arranged for. The museum will not be open to the public until after the first of August.

Four people have been working this week rearranging and condensing exhibits in order to make room for the gifts expected to arrive from the National Museum of History in New York City. Also more display room is needed to show pictures of noted characters of West Texas early days which are being sent from El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Swartz are in Dallas where they will attend the fall market opening.

Burt Trice, Mrs. J. R. Lloyd, Mrs. Bertha Lee Tonn, Mrs. Paul McCrary, Mrs. B. A. Young, Mrs. Hubert Anderson, Mrs. Henry Basam, Mrs. O. H. Harris, Mrs. D. J. Sheppard, Mrs. L. S. Cole, Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. Allen Tonn and Misses Pauline Anderson and Bobby Ruth Lloyd.

These ladies sent gifts but were unable to attend: Mrs. Aubrey Cranfill, Conhoma; Mrs. Jack Kidwell, Ruth Olson, Mrs. Ida McConnell and Mrs. J. Harrison, Weatherford; Mrs. Aubrey Owen.

Food For Informal Buffet Supper Easy To Prepare And Easy To Serve To Unexpected Guests

Buffet suppers are always fun whether they be for a special party, for a family reunion, or for the family Sunday night supper.

There are all kinds, too; some are very formal while others are less so. These latter may sometimes be more enjoyable, especially if the foods are served in such a way that the guests may serve themselves according to individual appetites.

A few easy rules should be observed. Keep the food fairly simple. Make the food easy to handle. All food should be attractive. Silverware and napkins may be arranged on the buffet or at small tables where the guests may sit to eat.

The following menus are suggested for mixed crowds.
Creamed chipped beef, scrambled eggs, toast, butter, marmalade cup cakes, coffee.

Boston baked beans, stuffed celery with cheese, brown bread, butter, combination fruit salad, nut and fruit drops, hot chocolate.

Cold meat platter, potato salad, buttered rolls, pickle relish, lemon tart, coffee, tea.

MARMALADE CUP CAKES:
2-3 cup sugar, 1-4 cup shortening, 1-4 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1 egg, 1-2 cups pastry flour, 1-2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons baking powder, marmalade or jam.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add unbeaten egg and flavoring. Beat thoroughly until light and fluffy. Sift flour with salt and baking powder. Add alternately with milk to creamed shortening and sugar. Bake in muffin tins in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until they pull from sides. When cold carefully remove a portion of the center and fill with a favorite marmalade or preserves. If desired top with whipped cream.

NUT AND FRUIT DROPS:
1-2 cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1-4 tablespoon vanilla, 1-4 tsp. almond flavoring, 2 cups pastry flour, 1 cup chopped nuts, raisins, dates, etc. Cream shortening and eggs. Add egg yolks and beat until light. Stir nuts and fruits in flour and add with flavoring to sugar mixture. Drop in 1-2 tablespoon on greased pans. Top each with a nut or candied cherry and bake in a moderate oven.

STUFFED EGGS: 1-2 dozen eggs, 1 tablespoon salt, pepper, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 1-2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar. Boil eggs until hard. Cut lengthwise and remove yolks. Combine with remaining ingredients and refill whites. Garnish with paprika or bits of pimento and green pepper.

Cunningham's Back From Grapeland House Party

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cunningham and daughter, Miss Doris, have returned from Grapeland where they have been members of a house party given by relatives of Mr. Cunningham. The party was held at the country club lake.

The party also spent some time in Dallas and attended the Centennial. They were away two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Bass and daughter, Miss Peggy, of Terrell, spent Thursday afternoon with friends here en route to their home after a vacation trip to Colorado points and Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

Writes Letter Urging Reelection Of Woods As State Superintendent

The Editor, Big Spring Herald, Inasmuch as neither of the candidates for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction has presented his claims personally to the voters of this area and in view of the fact that the office is of such importance to all of the people of Texas, I believe that the people of this section should have information concerning the qualifications of both candidates in order that they might give their support to the best man. Mr. Pat Bullock makes his appeal to the voters of this section mainly on the basis that he is a West Texan. Our first impulse would be to support him. But an examination of the record shows that Pat filed his candidacy as a South Texan to those people of Texas who do not know him as well as those of us who have been his neighbors all these years. If Pat wants our support as a West Texan, I believe that he should have filed as a resident of Scurry county, Texas, where he worked in the schools for many years. Ordinarily, a West Texan is proud of the fact that he is from this part of the great empire of Texas. Charley Lockhart, our State Treasurer, was not afraid for people to know that his home was in Scurry county, Texas, and all the other candidates that I know anything about give as their residence the county which is really their home. But even if Pat has decided to be a South Texan, we might vote for him if his educational qualifications could command respect. Let's look at them.

College Training According to records on file when he received his last teacher's certificate, he has had only six weeks of college training and his high school record was evaluated as being the equivalent of having finished the ninth grade. Pat himself claims only one year of college training. With this training Pat could not be employed as a teacher in any of the accredited schools of this state, yet he is asking us to make him the chief of our educational system where he would attempt to direct not only the public schools but supervise the classification of the higher institutions of learning as well. Do the voters of Texas believe that a man with this utter lack of training could command the respect and co-operation of the highly trained teachers and administrators whom he is supposed to lead?

As to his experience, suffice it to say that he has gotten all of his experience in the rural schools and his work in the State Department of Education dealt with rural school problems. At no time did he hold a position where he would have to solve the weighty problems that are the task of the state superintendent. There is no evidence to make us believe that a man with his training would be able to carry out promises that he is making during this campaign.

Woods' Record On the other hand we have Superintendent L. A. Woods who is making his appeal for votes to all the people of Texas as a resident of Travis county whether he is addressing the people of West Texas or South Texas. His academic record shows that he is the holder of a bachelor's and master's degrees from one of the outstanding universities of Texas. He has the advantage of having served as your state superintendent for the past three and one-half years. Instead of offering you promises, he has proven by his record and his leadership that he will fill the office with honor. His record reveals that he has been successful in unifying all the educational agencies of the state in the Curriculum Revision Program.

(2) In securing greater state support for the equalization of educational opportunity and the highest per capita apportionment in the history of the state on the face of a reduced state ad valorem tax. (3) In lengthening the average school term of the rural schools. (4) In securing a program of supervision of schools rather than inspection of schools at a lesser cost than was formerly paid for mere inspection. (5) In working out a plan for the rehabilitation of crippled children. (6) In breaking down the barriers between the rural and the urban schools. (7) In making available to 30,000 rural children the opportunities of an accredited high school education.

The sound judgment of the voters of this area will lead them to choose L. A. Woods. To do otherwise would be a calamity. Respectfully yours, GEORGE H. GENTRY.

Services Churches Topics

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY Services Sunday 11 A. M., Room 1 Settles Hotel "Truth" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, July 26.

The Golden Text is: "God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 87:3). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thus saith the Lord of Hosts: Behold, I will save my people from the east country, and from the west country; And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; and they shall be my people, and I will be their God, in truth and in righteousness" (Zechariah 8: 7, 8).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth brings the elements of liberty. . . . No power can withstand divine Love. . . . Whatever enslaves man is opposed to the divine government. Truth makes man free" (page 224).

ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL Morning prayer will be the order of service at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church. The rector will conduct the service and will preach the sermon. Church school will meet as usual at 9:45 a. m. in the Parish house. You are invited to worship at St. Mary's.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN 601 N. Greff T. H. Graulmann, Pastor 10—Sunday school. 11—Morning service. The topic of the sermon will be: "How May a Man Obtain True Blessings From the Work of His Hands?" All are cordially invited to attend our services.

FIRST BAPTIST Rev. R. E. Day, pastor will preach at both services at the First Baptist church. His topic for the 11 a. m. service will be "The Controlling Power," and at 8:30 he will speak on "The Corner Stone." Evening services are being held in the church basement, where it is cooler. Sunday school is at 9:45 a. m. and young people meet at 7:30 p. m.

FIRST CHRISTIAN 418 and Scurry Rev. G. C. Schurman, Pastor 9:45—Bible School. Geo. L. Wilke, Supt. 10:45—Morning Worship. Sermon by pastor. Topic: "Sincerity in Christianity." The morning anthem will be, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" (Clark) Sung by Virgil Smith, Baritone Solo and R. W. Ogden, Tenor Solo Obligate with Choir. 7:15—Christian Endeavor. 8:15—Evening Worship. Sermon by Rev. J. R. Holmes of Fort Worth. For this service the special music will be a duet by Mrs. Maurice Groves and C. M. Shaw. Mrs. Groves is the wife of our pastor at Cameron.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN D. P. McConnell, D. D., Pastor Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Service at 11 a. m. Subject, "Rest for the Restless." Subject for evening service, 8 o'clock, "Radiation." Young people's vesper services at 7:30. Come and worship with us. Your souls will be happier ones. "He that honoreth Me, him will I also honor."

HAWKINS PREDICTS WINNING MARGIN OF 500,000 VOTES

SAN ANGELO, July 24.—On the eve of the democratic primary, Major John W. Hawkins said here yesterday his friends believed he would be victorious in the race for land commissioner by a majority of 500,000. "Personal contacts with thousands of Texans in the past few weeks, letters and telegrams from friends and supporters over the state, convince me that all Texas voters are awake to the necessity of experience and integrity in their land commissioner," Hawkins said. "Our beloved land commissioner, J. H. Walker, with whom I have worked side by side for the past thirty-three years, excepting my time in the army, assures me that his friends over the state likewise have advised him they would support my candidacy. "I have personal messages and public endorsements from school teachers, organized labor, educators, and men high in the councils of the state government, that they are assured of my election because of the confidence of the people of Texas in a man who has been trained for his job."

FRANCE DIVIDES AIR FORCE INTO REGIONAL UNITS

PARIS, (UP)—France is following the example of Great Britain by making important changes in air force commands. These are to be divided into five regions, with regional centers at Paris, Dijon, Tours, Aix-en-Provence and Algiers.

A new air academy for army aviators also is to be created which will concentrate all training in southern France in the region of Marseilles. All French air force schools for training of pilots, including the advanced schools at Etampes and Le Bourget, will be concentrated at the new airport of Salon de Provence, in the Rhone valley, and the adjoining airfields and seaplane bases of Igres, Cazaux and Rochefort.

LIQUOR REVENUES OVER 3 MILLIONS

AUSTIN, July 24 (UP)—Gross revenue from Texas' liquor control act has amounted to $3,841,670 in slightly more than the eight months, it was announced today by Administrator Charles R. Miller. "If collections continue at the present rate," Miller said, "the state will collect $5,462,506 in the first year of operation." The new law went into effect last November 15.

Oil Field Communities

Arnold Bradham of Foran has been transferred to Odessa. He is an employe of the Sun Oil company.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams and family are on their vacation at this time. They will visit the Centennial and other points in Texas.

L. E. Distler of Foran has returned from Wink where he has been building a new home for D. D. Limbocker.

A revival meeting at the Foran Church of Christ was started Friday evening, July 24. Melvin J. Wise of Abilene is in charge of the meeting. A cordial welcome is extended every one to attend these services.

Mrs. Jewell Wilson of Big Spring arrived in Foran Tuesday evening to assume her duties as cook in Mrs. Loper's dining room.

Kenneth Ray, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Vera Harris of Foran, returned to his home in Odessa Thursday.

Patsy Irene Ramsey, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ramsey of Foran, severed the forefinger of her left hand while playing with a lawn mower Wednesday.

Mrs. P. F. Sheedy and two children returned to Foran Thursday from Comanche, Okla., where they have been visiting relatives the past two weeks.

Clovis Cheatham of the Gulf Oil company has been transferred from Foran to Odessa. Cheatham left Thursday to assume his new duties.

Police Out of Bounds SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UP)—Atorney General Webb has settled the question of when a policeman not a policeman. He has ruled against the neighborly habit of one municipality borrowing the police of another for parade and escort purposes or of even answering emergency calls. His ruling was that a policeman is only a policeman within the precincts of his own municipality.

"Hot Trail" Is Traced SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Federal Writers' Project workers believe they have found a new origin for the expression "hot trail." They have discovered that the early Padre explorers of California scattered mustard seed as they advanced into the unknown country, and when they wished to return a few weeks later had only to follow the yellow trail of mustard plants.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Big Spring Hospital Mrs. J. W. Bonner has returned to her home, after a major operation performed several weeks ago. Mrs. G. T. Palmer of Ackerly underwent a tonsillectomy Friday morning.

Pedro Dias, bitten late Thursday by a spider, was given treatment at the hospital and returned to his home.

Lila Marie Branner of Aspermont, who has been visiting Mrs. H. F. Neal at Garden City, was admitted to the hospital Friday for an emergency appendectomy.

Mrs. Pete Johnson was in the hospital Friday for treatment.

Mrs. F. M. Eilon of Odessa was treated at the hospital Friday.

Mrs. M. F. King of Stanton was admitted at the hospital Friday for treatment.

"Average Safe Drivers" Found To Be Past 40 WASHINGTON, (UP)—The American Automobile association has found that the "average safe driver" is 46 years old and has been driving for more than 20 years without a single accident or violation of motor laws.

The A. A. A. statement is based on a check on driving records shown in the applications to June 30, from all parts of the United States in the national contest to select the representative safe driver in 48 states and the District of Columbia.

Juices

Nothing can be better for your family these hot days than juices. Some kind of juice should be served at every meal, and between meals if wanted. We have what you want in juices, no matter what your taste runs to, and submit the following juice specials for this week end. Tomato juice (always good) at 3 for 25c; Dole's pineapple juice (a real prize) at 3 for 25c; prune juice (one of the best) at 10c; orange juice (the old reliable) at 10c; Kraut juice (good for what ails you), 10c; and for all occasions, grape juice, in pints 17c, and quarts 27c.

Specials

Do you have plenty of Lime Micky and Ginger Ale? If not, buy the 24 oz. bottles from us at only 25c each. If you haven't tried Sun Spun salad dressing, try a quart at 35c. It will bring you back for more. Was the last coconut you bought dried out? Buy it in cans then, at 10c. It is left in the coconut milk which leaves it fresh and moist. Very delicious. You will also want pimentoes in 4-oz. cans, at 2 for two bits, and 8 pounds of Snow-drift for $1.05, while they can be had at these prices. We saved the best for the last and now offer you for the last time in a long time No. 2 standard corn at 3 for 25c. It would be advisable for you to lay in a supply at this price.

Markets

In addition to having plenty of dressed fryers and hens at good prices this week end, we will have choice K. C. beef cuts. Always the best. . . .

ALLIED THE BEST BET
Taking the statements of the candidates for governor at face value, it would appear that a vote for renomination of Governor Allred is the best bet for Texans to make next Saturday.

Fischer advocates taxes on natural resources that will pay the cost of government and old age aid. The tax he proposes to put on oil would make it so costly that the eighty-five per cent he says is now being consumed outside Texas would inevitably be reduced, and a shortage in his estimated income would result.

Sanderford advocates a sales tax which would be paid by every person who spends a nickel. Some states have a sales tax. Reports from some of them say that the tax is unpopular and does not obtain the results promised for it.

Hunter favors and urges an income tax. Income taxes procure some money, as shown by the Federal income tax, but whether such a tax in Texas, in addition to the Federal tax, would produce the amount Hunter predicts, is doubtful. At any rate the machinery necessary to collect it, to investigate and prosecute evasions of it, would be so expensive as to swallow up a large part of the income.

Brooks need hardly be reckoned with. His vote will be so scattering that it will cut no figure. He promises business administration, but if the business administrations Texas has had in the past are a criterion, Texas needs no more of them.

Allred promises a continuance of his policies. Under his administration the state tax for schools has been reduced without weakening the schools, and Texas has fared about as well as could be expected. Swapping him off does not appear to be good business and the voters will do well to consider this before making a ticket.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—The gravity of the waiter situation in New York's restaurants and roof gardens at the moment recalls the lugubrious wall set forth by M. Abner Glib, that most vociferous rone of the sidewalk cafes, who wants to know just what we are going to do about it.

This sad lament, not to be taken too seriously, concerns the customers whose fate it is to sit unattended for long minutes because our American scheme of things has failed to devise adequate means of attracting the attention of those lackadaisical waiters who drift aimlessly about taking note of everything except the frantic signals of hungry patrons.

"In my opinion," suggested the good Abner (although nobody asked his opinion), "we should take a tip from the South Americans, who are really adept at commanding good service. There's the Argentine, for instance. In Buenos Aires nobody shouts, 'Hey, waiter!' Everybody else is shouting and talking too, and that would be useless competition. Down there they catch the waiter's ear with a sharply-emitted sibilant 'Pssssssst!' The beauty of this is that it slithers through conversation like a well-greased eel, catching the lackey unaware and bringing him to your table pronto. It's the accepted pampas custom and a good trick to learn.

"Now take Tahiti, Shanghai or Tokyo," continued Professor Glib, who will take anything, including your last monogrammed cigar. "In Asia they have another way. They bring the hands together with a sharp clap—like this—and that fetches the waiters running. Doesn't that seem more sensible than shouting your head off or squandering a half hour on mental telepathy?

"Of course the clap would be no good in New York. The other guests would think you were applauding the floor show and they would want to applaud, too. We've got to originate something new, something essentially American.

"Let me illustrate how desperate the situation really is. The other night it was 37 minutes before I succeeded in attracting any attention. Waiters passed me singly and in pairs. I finally solved the immediate problem by tripping one up and hissing an order in his ear before he had a chance to demand an explanation. That he challenged me to a duel later is beside the point. After sipping my aperitif, I sneaked out a side door and have been in trouble ever since. In sneaking out I forgot the matter of the check and the first thing I knew the gendarmes had me for trying to run out on the house."

As a matter of fact, Dr. Glib is right; the town ought to work out some sort of agreement with the cafe owners that will assure at least a minimum of service—or the bars should be operated on a cafeteria basis so that the customers would help themselves. One thing is certain—the clap is no good because of reasons mentioned—and the Pssssssst! isn't any good either because that will get you in serious difficulties. Recently a traveler, returning from an assignment in the Argentine, employed the "Pssssssst!" on a Fifth avenue bus because he was afraid the conductor would set in motion before he could get off. It worked. But the conductor didn't stop the bus so that the editor could get off. He stopped it because he was so infuriated he wanted to THROW him off. No, sir—those old Spanish customs just don't go in New York

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The much-publicized republican brain trust is beginning to fold up. It's all being done very quietly, but the exodus is on.

Neither Prof. Thomas Nixon Carver nor Prof. Charles J. Bullock, both of Harvard, have been at their desks for weeks, and inside word at national republican headquarters is that they will not return.

Carver is the Harvard emeritus professor who stirred up such a tempest with his startling ideas of social reform, which included sterilization a la Hitler and marriage restricted to those able to purchase automobiles. His brochure also voiced praise of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan.

The republicans immediately repudiated the pamphlet, which had been written by Carver prior to his association with the committee. But he was retained on the brain trust staff.

However, John Hamilton, replacing Henry Fletcher as national chairman, apparently has different ideas about his retention.

Carver and Bullock are not the only absentees from the suite of offices provided for the brain trust, within a stone's throw of the White House. Harold G. Metz, a Brookings Institution expert, has returned to that research organization to participate in its study of governmental reorganization for Sen. Harry F. Byrd's committee.

Another member of the staff was ousted by Prof. O. G. Saxon, chief of the brain trusters, upon discovery that his knowledge of governmental affairs was about zero. Instructed to dig up certain statistics, the brain truster revealed that he had never heard of the treasury publication "Statistics of Income," a basic work in this field.

Others of the original 20 select master minds are due for the axe. One, however, is sure of his job. He is Ralph P. Ward, who was canny enough to get a four-year contract.

Are-Conscious
If there is one thing Virginia's peppery Senator Glass is sensitive about, it is his age.

His official biography is quite silent about it. The paragraph merely states, "Carter Glass, democrat, of Lynchburg, was born in that city."

"Who's Who" gives Jan. 4, 1858, as the date of his birth, which makes him 78.

How Glass feels about this subject was graphically illustrated the other day at the Washington union station.

For years, in commuting between Washington and Lynchburg, Glass has bought railway accident insurance from the ticket clerk. But on this particular day a new clerk, who did not know Glass, was at the window.

"Age, please?" he asked. Glass exploded. "If they want to know all these things about a man," he snarled, "they can keep their damn policy as far as I am concerned."

The astonished clerk apologized, tried to explain that he was only obeying orders. But it was no use. Glass stalked off without the insurance.

There is a 70-year age limit on traveler's insurance, so that even if Glass had been given the policy it probably would have been void had anything happened.

Loquacious John
The hall-bouncing loquacious of National Republican Chairman John Hamilton already has stirred up an acrid controversy in his home state, Kansas.

In a recent speech Hamilton declared: "I ran for governor in 1928, and it was my opposition to the Klan that cost me the office."

The implication of this statement was that his opponent had Klan support. The man who defeated Hamilton was Clyde M. Reed, a staunch republican, but much more liberal than the Hamilton conservative faction.

Reed immediately snapped up Hamilton on his remark. Hotly, he telegraphed:

"Your statement leaves the clear inference that the man who beat you did so with Klan support. Nobody knows better than yourself that this is not true. . . . If you have been quoted correctly there should be an immediate correction."

"Furthermore, if you were correctly quoted Governor Landon and myself are entitled to an explanation, as he was my campaign manager in that election."

When he conferred with republican congressional leaders several days ago, Hamilton was cautioned about talking too much. "Remember, John," they said, "you're not the candidate."

Lonely Justice
Until recently Justice McReynolds has been the only supreme court member to brave the heat of Washington, and his close friends say it is because he has nowhere else to go.

They add that despite his violent arguments with other members of the court, despite the fact that he leaves them at lunch to eat by himself, McReynolds is a very lonely man.

He seems to feel the isolated position in which he has put himself, and yet he does nothing to change it.

Those who know him well say he can be most charming and gracious. He is a delightful raconteur. His smile—for those who ever see it—is positively disarming.

Western Railroad Travel Is Headed For New Record

CHICAGO, July 24—Reports received so far this summer by Chairman Harry C. Taylor of the Western Association of Railway Executives show that, as far as the travel industry in the western half of the United States is concerned, prosperity not only has turned the corner, but is now on the home stretch.

Last year the national parks and the mountain and seacoast resort areas had their biggest seasons. This year they are anticipating an other record-breaker. Already the railroad tickets are growing longer, the time-tables thicker, and the trains are beginning to groan under the load.

One of the reasons for the huge increase, Taylor pointed out, is the scenic panorama, which, in both variety and splendor, is unmatched anywhere else in the world. There are other reasons. All the playgrounds are reached this summer by the fast, air-conditioned trains of the western railroads.

In former years it was necessary to cross long stretches of hot and dusty land before arriving at the goal. The heat and the dust are still there—but they have no contact with the traveler by train. He is safely removed from them by means of air-tight, air-cooled Pullman and passenger coaches. He no longer has an excuse for not seeing, and enjoying to the full, his own country.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton has arrived nowhere in his investigation of the murder of old Arthur Burdett, Hope Enderton's miserly old squire. Sergeant White thinks it was a tramp who did the deed; Hylton does not feel so sure. And now, as Hylton is finishing lunch at the inn, Captain Reeves bursts in and somewhat rudely plunges himself into the affair. He was at Burdett's house on the afternoon of the murder, he declares.

Chapter 12

THE CAPTAIN'S TALE
"At what time were you there, Captain?"
"About five, might be ten minutes either way, but thereabouts."
Hylton carefully lit his beloved cigar and nodded. He was rapidly turning over in his mind the conversation he had had that very morning with Doctor Chambers. Chambers had stated that in his opinion death was due partly to the blow on the skull, partly to the shock consequent on the blow, and had taken place certainly two hours before he arrived just after tea, possibly four hours before.

On being closely questioned by the inspector on this point he had reaffirmed his strong opinion that death had taken place somewhere between six o'clock and eight on the fatal day. And here was somebody professing, indeed pugnaciously professing, to have seen Burdett alive at five, or even after.

"Was Burdett all right when you left him?" he asked.
"Hour as a crab apple, but that was his nature."
"You saw nobody else about the house?"
"Not a soul. I chose Monday to go up because I knew that ex-covert looking man of his would be away, and I wanted to see Burdett alone."

"You called on a friendly visit I suppose?"
"Fat Reeves laughed. "I did not," he said, "and might have ever did at that house. If ye want to know I called there for the express purpose of telling Arthur Burdett that he was a fifty-minded old rone and that his soul was as rotten as his beggarly body."

"You had a quarrel with him?"
"Ye can call it that if you like; I'll not dignify it with the name."
"What about, Captain Reeves?"
"I'll not tell you."
Kingsley Hylton looked steadily at his man and the tall wiry blue-eyed Irishman looked as steadily back. Hylton knew the type well—pleasant to work with, but beggars to drive.

"You may have to tell us, Captain Reeves," Hylton said quietly, to which Reeves replied grimly and sardonically.
"Make me."
The inspector let that pass. "You might have told us about this earlier," he said.

"And I might not have told you at all," Reeves pointed out.
"It would have been very foolish not to."
"Maybe. What's between me and old Burdett is my own affair."
"Your's wrong," Inspector Kingsley Hylton answered with a sudden new quality in his voice, "what was between you and the dead man is now the affair of the Law, and the Law will not be trifled with."

"You're a deal keener on the law here than we are in Ireland, Inspector," Reeves said. "Arthur Burdett was a dirty, damned old good-for-nothing, and the world's no worse off because he's out of it. Ferney House you can find me at, when you want me. Good-day."

Reeves left as abruptly as he had arrived and for a long minute Hylton sat staring at the banged door. Burdett was seen alive by Reeves at five and he was murdered between six and seven—it narrowed things down a lot.

He let his mind play with the speculation as to how much of Captain Reeves's aggressive honesty was real, how much make-believe. Evidently the Captain's story was true in every particular save one, that just before taking his leave from Enderton Court he had picked a heavy club from his nail on the wall and broken his host's skull with it. . . . I called on the man; we quarrelled; I left him."
"What did you quarrel about?"
"I shan't tell you, it is too private."

A cunning move because, as any jury would instantly argue, no guilty man would admit the fact of quarrelling, being under no compulsion to do so.

His speculations were interrupted by a tiny sound on the far side of the second door that led from his luncheon room. Hylton had not been through that door yet, indeed he had hardly noticed it, and a double curiosity now led him to examine what lay beyond. The inspector had acquired a sort of instinct in some matters, and there was something in the salubrity of the noise which had attracted his attention that made him want to investigate it.

Quietly he tiptoed across the room and pushed the door open. It led into a well-proportioned, old-fashioned billiard-room where a tall, good-looking young man in riding kit stood half way between door and table, ostentatiously chalking a cue.

He looked up when Hylton entered and nodded.
"Having a game?" the inspector asked.
"I've just been knocking the pills about."
"The number one?" Hylton thought; the click of ivory is curiously penetrating and unmistakable, and he was prepared to take an oath that no billiard balls had run on that table since he had started his lunch in the next room half an hour before.

On the other hand, a young man comes into the billiard room to see if there is a game going; he hears a voice raised in the next room; he decides to postpone his solitary game and lays an inquisitive ear against the panel of the door. Hylton wondered. . . .
"I'll give you a game if you like, Mr. Shipley," Dale answered. "I see you've got my name pat."
"Oh Sergeant White has pointed out everyone in the place to me by now."
"And I suppose we're all suspect?"
"More or less. Spot or plain?"
"I'll take spot. I can tell you a lot of people who didn't do it."

"I've no doubt. If you could only tell me all the people who didn't do it the process of elimination would be complete. Shall we string for break?"
"Right-O. You play much of this game?"
"Not enough to keep in good practice. I suppose you do?"
"I play a pretty decent stick as a rule," Dale admitted. He was a young man to whom such admissions came easily. Nature had made him fairly good at most sports, and imagination had turned him into a master; but there was no imagination about Inspector Hylton's proficiency at the game. It is a curious fact in life that ability at chess and at billiards often run together, and for all his talk about playing "a decent stick" Dale Shipley was struggling along in the fifties when Hylton ran out with an unfinished twenty-seven.

Young Shipley did not like being beaten at anything; he was not a good loser and he put his cue away with only a pretense at good grace.
"By the way," Hylton asked casually, "do you agree with Captain Reeves's estimate of Mr. Burdett?"
"What, about his being a dirty damned old g—?" Shipley broke off abruptly, he had walked into the trap before he had noticed it. "I heard him shouting out something in the next room," he concluded awkwardly.

"It seems," Hylton concurred pleasantly, "I was just wondering whether you thought the same."
The young man's awkwardness increased. "It's nothing to do with me," he said shortly, and rattling his cue into its place he stalked out of the room.

Dale left the Hoops in a bad temper—not an uncommon frame of mind with that rather too good-looking young gentleman. He was annoyed at having been so ignominiously beaten at billiards, still more annoyed at having walked into the Inspector's child-like booby trap. Easy enough, of course, to make pretenses that he had innocently and unintentionally overheard the conversation in the next room; but impossible, nevertheless, to get rid of the substratum of uncomfortable knowledge. The Inspector knew, and Dale knew that the Inspector knew, that what overheard there had been not accidental.

"What the hell does it matter, anyway," he tried to reassure himself crossly as he swung round the corner of Fielden Lane towards his cottage.
"Dale."
He turned sharply and looked into the big meadow on his right. The short winter afternoon was already beginning to end, and in the still grey light which presaged frost he could see a figure walking along the path attended by a red setter in transports of ridiculous excitement.

His first instinct was to curse under his breath.
The figure was that of Nancy Featherstone, and although Dale had no particular reason for wanting to avoid Nancy, he on the other hand had no particular reason for wanting to talk with anyone.

THEY FIGHT WESTERN BAD MEN

Buck Jones and Clifford Jones are shown here in a scene from "For the Service," the Lyric's chief attraction for Friday and Saturday.

WESTERNER

Buck Jones Plays As Western Scout In Film At Lyric
Thrilling drama of the early days of the West gives vitality to the new Buck Jones picture, "For the Service," booked at the Lyric theater for Friday and Saturday.

Popular for his daring exploits against the rugged background of the West, Buck entertains again in this story of the grim, courageous scouts who gave their lives that the United States might extend from coast to coast. Savage Indians and cruel white men are confronted in the scout's battle to save his captain's son and serve his government. Dramatic incidents in army tradition furnish the highlights of the story.

Many sequences are based on historical incidents in the winning of the West, with Buck and the other government scouts doing service much like that which the G-men do today.

The picture was produced and directed by Buck himself. In his

Johnny Mack Brown, the western player, is the star of the Queen's Friday-Saturday feature, "Rogue of the Range."

Nurse's Life Is Dramatized

Key Francis Appears In Story Of Florence Nightingale

Heralded as one of the outstanding productions of the current movie season, "The White Angel," picture portraying the life story of the immortal nurse, Florence Nightingale, will be presented at the Ritz theater Sunday and Monday, following a Saturday midnight matinee showing. Key Francis has the stellar role.

The picture paints dramatically the life of Florence Nightingale, a wealthy English girl, to remedy conditions in army hospitals and the neglect of dying soldiers. All the tragedy of the battlefield is pictured in the film, as well as the beauty of the life of sacrifices made by Florence Nightingale and her specially picked nurses.

The film is set in the middle of the last century during the Crimean war, and thrilling scenes take place at the base hospital in a small Turkish town where the immortal six hundred of the Light Brigade rode "into the jaws of death."

The story tells how Florence Nightingale labored to revolutionize the hospital system of the world and who laid the groundwork for the organization of the Red Cross. With Miss Francis in the cast are Nigel Bruce, Donald Crisp, Henry O'Neill, Billy Mauch, Phoebe Foster, George Curzon, Halliwell Hobbes and others.

IN COMEDY ROMANCE AT RITZ

Carole Lombard and Preston Foster in a scene from "Love Before Breakfast," Miss Lombard's newest starring vehicle, a comedy romance that plays at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

NURSE

Suspense is provided when the robbers almost learn his identity, but the young marshal wins out in the end, bringing the outlaws to justice and winning the girl whom he had befriended.

The experiences of the young marshal are based on true incidents in the life of Stanton Fellows, a federal agent who worked on the Mexican border in 1933, becoming intimate with the outlaws he subsequently arrested.

Supporting Brown in the story are Lois January, who furnishes the love interest, Alden Chase, Phyllis Hume, George Ball, Jack Rockwell, Horace Murphy, Frank Hall and Lloyd Ingraham.

checks are going to be mailed out August 1, and for each recipient it will be his or her second check. Some delay simply cannot be helped—and nobody regrets that more than I—but no one is going to lose any money because of the delay.

There has been more misrepresentation, more misinformation and more misunderstanding about old age assistance than any other question before the people in years, the governor said.

"The candidates opposing me, in an effort to stir up dissension and strife, have spread every kind of false report about it," he said. "For instance, when this law was passed every one of them cried out from the housetops that it was unconstitutional and not worth the paper it was written on."

"I examined the law and determined that it was constitutional. I submitted it to the attorney general and he held it constitutional. I am wondering why these gentlemen didn't file a suit testing its constitutionality."

"I know this: When I took the law to Washington and submitted it to the attorneys for the social security board they immediately approved it and I brought back with me $1,183,000 of federal money to help us during July and August alone."

"I submit that was doing pretty good under a law that wasn't worth the paper it was written on."

Mistakes may have been made and some injustices may have resulted, the governor said.

"This is but natural," he added, "when we consider the stupendousness of the task involved in investigating the thousands of applicants in 254 counties in Texas."

"Any applicant who feels he has not received a just reward has the right to ask for a review and re-examination of his case."

"I am in a better position as governor to remedy and rectify these mistakes than anybody else. The sooner we get politics out of the old age assistance question the better off everybody will be."

Horses and mules in Oklahoma decreased by 2,000 between 1930 and 1935, according to a recent farm census.

ages of depression and restore full capacity and full employment. x x x "Practical progressives," he said, "have suffered the disheartening experience of seeing many liberal objectives discredited during the past three years by careless thinking, unworkable laws and incompetent administration."

The nominee both began and ended his address with references to the constitution. At the start he said the nomination was accepted "with a full understanding of the meaning" of the president's constitutional oath "to preserve, protect and defend the constitution."

No man, Landon said, may rightfully enter the White House "unless he shall intend to keep and shall keep his oath inviolate."

"At the close he said that "If I am elected chief executive of this nation I propose to restore our government to an efficient as well as constitutional basis."

Hunter Man

ests had financed the Allred campaign.

The speaker also assailed Allred for making "blatant statements" about Hunter in the 1934 and current campaigns.

Smith centered his attack on the present old age assistance program, asserting that "Allred has botched the pension program." He said that up to July 1, $687,000 had been paid out as age assistance to 40,000 persons, while $609,000 had been paid to 695 persons connected with administration of the program.

Income Tax Plan

The Throckmorton man outlined Hunter's proposal to finance age pensions by means of a one per cent gross revenue tax on all gross incomes of more than $8,000. Such a levy would not affect the farmer or the small man, Smith asserted, but would hit the big corporations of the state. He said a group of big companies in Texas showed an aggregate gross income of $800,000,000 last year, and that a one per cent tax on such a figure would mean $16,000,000 to the state each biennium. This would finance the pension program which is estimated to cost $18,000,000, Smith said.

The speaker attacked Sanderford's sales tax proposal, and said Fischer's plan to put a large tax on crude oil would "kill every independent operator in Texas."

Smith was introduced by Leland L. Martin of Forsan. B. F. Robbins was in charge of arrangements for the program.
