Killer To Hear Repeat Of His Death Sentence

HOUSTON (UPI) — Convicted killer Howard Stickney, who has received 12 stabs of execution for the murder of Mrs. Shirley Barnes, will be rouged back to Houston next week to hear a new death sentence pronounced.

Dist. Judge Milton Love, who presided over the trial nearly three years ago when Stickney was first sentenced, said he would pronounce sentence again to clear up the complicated case.

He told Stickney's lawyers, Bob Looney and Kenyon Houchins, that he would probably announce a new electrocution date late next week.

On Wednesday, the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin will give Corpus Christi Dist. Judge Cullen Briggs an opportunity to show cause why the court should not prohibit him from ruling in Stickney's case again.

Briggs has granted Stickney two last-minute stays and succeeded in getting him a third stay through another Texas court.

Stickney probably will be brought before Judge Love next Friday, since courts will be closed on Thursday for Thanksgiving.

Colorful criminal lawyer Percy Foreman indirectly entered the Stickney case Wednesday when he was hired by Briggs to represent the judge before the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Foreman said he probably would ask the U. S. Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition against the Texas court, which ordered Briggs to stay out of the Stickney case.

But Foreman emphasized that "I definitely am not involved in the Stickney case. I have been retained to represent Judge Briggs."

U.S. Gets Ready For Court Fight With Red Party

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government girded today for another long court fight with the Communist party. The government vowed it would not obey an order to register as a tool of the Soviet Union. The Subversive Activities Control Board order, upheld last June by the Supreme Court after 10 years of legal wrangling, said the party must register with the Justice Department by Monday. If it does not, it will be subject to fines of $10,000 a day.

In registering, it must disclose its membership and sources of financial support. The Communist party's paper, the Worker, said Wednesday the party and its leaders will never register. It called the order a Lynch law.

If the party fails to register, its leaders must register for it within 10 days after the Monday deadline. If they don't, they will be subject to fines of $10,000 a day and five years in prison, or both, for every day they fail to register.

A Justice Department spokesman said the government probably would move to indict the party first if it fails to register, but the officers would be subject to prosecution after Nov. 30 if neither the party nor the officials register.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy designated the 56 members of the party's national committee as the party officers for the purpose of registering.

National GOP Leaders Open Southern Meet

ATLANTA (UPI)—National Republican officials began a two-day meeting with Southern party members today in a strategy session aimed at winning control of Congress in the 1962 elections.

National Chairman William Miller claims the GOP has developed a grass roots movement in the South, and other GOP bigwigs say the margin of congressional control could come with Republican victories over a number of Democratic Southern congressmen.

"The fastest grass roots movement in American politics today is the dramatic growth of the Republican party in the South," Miller said in a statement in advance of his arrival for the two-day conference.

Miller and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., were getting top billing at a 12-state convocation, and in this role prepared for loud saber-rattling meant for enemy ears in this Democratic stronghold.

The conference, spurred to hopefulness by recent surprising Republican election victories in the once-solid Democratic South, was planned as a workshop on how to win elections.

Miller and Lee Potter, Virginia state chairman and head of the GOP's "Operation Dixie," caucused with 12 state chairmen to name a new Southern chairman for the association of state chairmen.

The incumbent is G. Harold Alexander of Fort Myers, Fla. Potter was given a good chance of being named to the post.

While the public spotlight was on big-name visitors, strategists planned closed meetings with groups of local leaders, state by state, to map strategy for 1962.

Their biggest encouragement apparently came from the election of Sen. John Tower over Democratic opposition in Texas, but Tower was prevented from attending by the death of House Speaker Sam Rayburn. Goldwater will fill his spot on the program.

GODS ANSWER TO MAN'S QUESTION ABOUT SECURITY

We are living in a time when the world is more concerned about security than it has ever been before. So much is being said about "Fall-out Shelters." These are not the answer. In this brief space I'd like to share with you from God's Word the ONLY answer.

FIRST: The Bible says, "All men are sinners and need to be saved." Rom. 3:23. Eternal life is a gift. Rom. 6:23. Without the new birth, no one can see the kingdom of God. John 3:3.

I trust you will take the time to look these scriptures up and read them and meditate upon them and let the Holy Spirit of God guide your life. Attend church and worship this coming Lord's Day. God bless you.

Books often solve the problem of supplying charm otherwise lacking for a room.

Those of us who love to read and who are lost without books cannot visualize a living-room without them.

Those who seldom read might do well to acquire some books anyway.

Bright dust jackets add color to a room. And who knows what might happen, with temptation so close?

Many new pieces of furniture bed headboards, hanging shelves, backs of desks and tables are designed for the storage and display of books. Then there are always built-in shelves.

Decorators actually have been known to use false bindings (bought by the yard) to fill shelves in bookless houses! This is in poor taste, but they create an effect that might stimulate the desire to own the real thing.

Dear Polly: We are buying a yellow aluminum house with a gray roof. Owners of other houses like this in the subdivision are painting shutters, garage and front doors white. I don't think this is enough contrast. Had thought of black for shutters, but do like bright colors. — Mrs. X.

Dear Mrs. X: Gray shutters and door would be smart. I do, however, like your idea of black shutters and would like a shiny black entrance door, too. Add a gleaming brass knocker and black-painted tubs filled with evergreens, one at each side of the door. The garage doors would be less conspicuous.

DEAR POLLY: I would like to use contact paper to line my bureau and dresser drawers, but am told this would be harmful to the wood. Is this true? What do you prefer as a lining for drawers? — Mrs. H.W.U.

Dear Mrs. H.W.U.: Being rather Scottish by nature, I am always inclined to line drawers with wallpaper leftovers. Quilted cotton pads may also be used.

Others do prefer contact paper, as it is there to stay and easy to wipe clean with a damp cloth. We learn something every day. I have never heard that contact paper ruins wood.

Leather Making HD Club Topic

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. John Brewer, 738 Bradley Drive for a program on "History and Early Use of Leather" given by Mrs. Jack Osborn.

"People killed animals for food and then used the pelts for leather," Mrs. Brewer stated. "The secret of tanning was kept in each family or tribe and was highly guarded. The females of the tribe did most of the work and at times chewed the pelt to make it pliable. Besides clothing, leather was used for boots and armor. Leather was prized just as gold, silver, spices and fine woods. Today, pelt-making may take as long as eight months or less than 48 hours depending on how the leather is to be used."

During the business meeting, plans were made for a Thanksgiving luncheon. Members are to meet in the home of Mrs. A. P. Coombes, 1203 E. Frederic on Nov. 21 at 9:30 a.m. for a business meeting to be followed by luncheon in Caldwell's Buffetaria.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending were Meses. A. P. Coombes, Leland Diamond, John Osborn, Jack Osborn, C. B. Hicks, Marvin Rowan, W. E. Aubrey, Don Duggan, Ray Frazier, Don Nienstiel, Lee Jackson, Doty Warner, Meses. D. C. McCarty and Arnel Scott were welcomed as guests.

Christmas Plans Set By Gavel Club

The Past Matrons Gavel Club of the Order of the Eastern Star met recently in the home of Mrs. Darrel Bohlander with Mrs. Ruth Sewell and Mrs. Ina Reading as co-hostesses.

Following the covered-dish supper, a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Oscar Shearer, president, during which plans were made next for the meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Otis Nace, 1501 N. Faulkner on Dec. 14 at 8:30 p.m. with Mrs. I. E. Byars and Mrs. Aubrey Jones as co-hostesses. The affair will be a salad supper and Christmas Gift exchange; the gift total to exceed $2.50. It was announced that members, who do not have a Secret Pal, may also bring a gift of the same amount for exchange.

Members approved a donation of $10 to the United Fund Drive.

Games comprised the remainder of the evening.

Those present were Meses. W. C. Alexander, Bill Flewelling, Oscar Shearer, Wilson Hatcher, Floyd Penington, W. B. Murphy, Rosalie Wedge, J. H. Warner, W. R. Morrison, Guy Andis, R. A. Hankhouse, Emma Lee Gray, Otis Nace, Mrs. V. E. Wagner and Mrs. R. D. Brass were welcomed as guests.

Dear Abby.... If It Doesn't Work, Ask Your Mother

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife has taken you out and says he has been very much overweight for the past five years. In spite of my efforts she has refused to do anything about it. Several months ago my mother suggested I give her a hard time, call her "baby elephant" and pay a lot of attention to women with nice figures. I did this for about six months without results.

Finally, my wife packed up and left. Now she tells me she wants a divorce so she can marry a man who LIKES fat women. I love her very much and would take her back if she weighed 300. How do I get her back?

DEAR ABBY: How can I keep my husband's family from begging practically everything I own? For example, my mother-in-law will say, "I'll be glad when you get a new living room suite so I can have your old one." (I had not mentioned getting a new one.)

Also a sister-in-law announced, "When you get through with that purse, don't throw it away. I want it."

I made new drapes for my living room and stored the old ones in a box in my attic, thinking I might use them later for something else. My mother-in-law and two of her daughters jumped on me to get the old drapes. I felt guilty saying I was "keeping them," so I finally gave them up. All the relatives who beg things from me are better off financially than I am. How can I keep them off my back?

CALL ME SELFISH: It is your privilege to "store" things if you wish. You need the courage to speak your mind. When you are asked for something, reply, "I'll let you know when I am ready to discard it." And don't feel guilty.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LEFOR'S (SpI) — Mrs. Walter Elliott opened the Home Demonstration Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Charles Roberts on Thursday afternoon, with a game, called, "My Most Embarrassing Moment."

Mrs. A. M. Dickerson, president, presided during the meeting as Mrs. B. J. Diehl gave the council report. The club selected Dec. 12, at 1:30 p.m. as the best date and time for the Christmas party.

The club's Christmas party will be in the home of Mrs. A. M. Dickerson on Dec. 14. The members will exchange gifts.

The club voted to buy a new water container for the Fire Station.

Reports were given by the Education — Expansion chairman, Mrs. F. M. Cox, on the first aid training course.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, County HD Agent, presented the program on Window — Curtains; she used Better Homes and Garden's Editors ideas, in the form of a series of slide pictures.

LAST MINUTE touches are put on Christmas Tree aprons, which will be offered for sale by the members of the Winsome Class of the First Methodist Church at a Bazaar and White Elephant Sale to be held tomorrow and Monday in the First National Bank Annex. The festive aprons are just one item among many items of holiday suggestions that will be offered for sale; proceeds will be used for scholarship for a deserving high school student. Pictured above in the home of Mrs. John Gentry, 1500 W. 22, putting last minute stitches into sequin-studded tree aprons are, left to right, Mrs. Gentry and Mrs. J. L. ## Take It From Kathy

... by kathy peterson

Q—How do you say "no" to an invitation without hurting a boy's feelings? I have found good reasons for turning down three dates, but he still doesn't realize that I don't want to go out with him. He is sure to ask me again. How can I make him understand without telling him frankly that I don't like him?

A—Be honest. Don't lie. If it's an invitation to a soft drink after school, say pleasantly, "Thanks, but I'm going right home. There are lots of things I want to do this afternoon." Be firm and do not change your mind.

If it's a movie date, you might say, "Thanks for asking, but I plan to go with the girls." If you are consistent, he'll get the idea that the casual, everyday things are more important to you than a date with him. An enthusiastic "I'd love to, but" or "perhaps some other time" gives him false encouragement. You don't really feel that way so it's just the same as fibbing.

If you are hoping the phone will ring so that you can date someone else, don't tell him you plan to stay home and read. If you dated and he heard about it, he'd be right thinking you dishonest. Even if it means passing up something you consider special, stay home with a book.

If you plan to say yes to the other date, you will have to indicate it. "Thanks, but I have been holding that evening open because I've been expecting a special call."

Let's face it — there is no easy way to say "no."

Ounce Of Prevention Worth Pound Of Cure

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the busy, "growing children" household, emergencies are routine. It's a rare day without a minor accident. Fortunately, it's usually nothing more serious than a bruised knee or skinned shin, but the minor nature of most of the complaints may encourage a careless attitude toward home accidents and their treatments.

When our daughter acquired a pinto pony recently, the first thing the ingrate did was to nip the hand that feeds him. It wasn't a serious bite in our opinion — the skin was just barely broken.

We washed the wound and would have forgotten about it except for a chance meeting with the family doctor. He took instant interest and insisted we bring her right over for a tetanus shot.

Included in the office call was a short lecture on the potential dangers of all animal bites, as well as the cuts or puncture wounds sustained from nails or barbed wire around a barnyard.

This incident did alert our attention to home accidents, how we might prevent some, how we'll prepared we were to handle sensibly those that might occur. Older children "on their own" are no longer under the close and protective supervision of mother as they were as toddlers, and can profit from accident prevention reminders and knowing some of the rudiments of first aid.

They can be reminded to keep the play yard at home or school clean of sharp rocks, broken glass, gardening equipment. They can be reminded to handle a bicycle so savely that it becomes second nature to rid cautiously simple nose bleeds, reducing swelling of bumps.

In our manual are also listed names and telephone numbers for emergency use to call the doctor, police, fire ambulance, close friends or a hospital.

Some homemakers find a regular first aid kit packed by the manufacturer to be adequate but I have trouble keeping a compact kit neat and properly stocked with ready-made bandages, cotton, sterile gauze pads, antiseptic first aid cream.

Individual packages can be put in bathroom medicine cabinet but this isn't always a satisfactory nor easily accessible place either. An easy solution for me is a small basket, in which I keep the basic items plus the manual, where anyone can find it in the kitchen.

"Shorties" Should Select Fur Trim With Great Care

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If you are medium height or petite (and this takes in a majority of American women), shop for your winter coat with great care. Great globes of fox or other long fluffy furs are not for you. They're perfect for the long - stemmed beauties. But there's overpowering on smaller women.

Shop for a winter coat in which the fur has been handled with discretion. And since this will be a big winter for fur - trimmed coats, you should have no trouble in finding what you want.

If the collar is flat, wide, or the fur is set - in the coat will not appear to heavy. The ring or circle treatment of fur is perfect for you. Even sable, which can be counted with the fluffy furs, is not too much when it's handled in this fashion.

For the rest, look for nearly straight or slightly flared body lines. They'll aid in making you look taller. Rectangular pockets set horizontally also carry out this illusion.

A fabric that is not overly bulky is the right one for you. There are many lightweight fleeces with just enough texture to provide surface interest. Look for these and don't be tempted by those gorgeous, heavy fabrics that look as if they were made of a combination of coal lumps and twigs. They're not for you.

'Internal Evangelism' In Churches Fruitful

By LOUIS CASSELS, United Press International. There is statistical evidence that America's 15-year boom in church membership is leveling off. For the first time since the end of the World War II, the annual gain in membership reported by the Yearbook of American Churches is no greater than the nation's increase in population. Those who are bemused by numbers may interpret this to mean the postwar religious revival is beginning to wane. But some close observers are inclined to believe just the opposite. They see evidence of growing maturity, deeper faith and firmer commitment in U.S. churches. During the years when church rolls were expanding at a phenomenal rate, there was a great deal of superficiality in American religious life. Millions of people joined churches because they thought it would be good for the children, or a nice way to meet people, or for other reasons that had little to do with faith in God. When clergymen recovered from the initial shock of facing overflow congregations, most of them realized that the influx of new members was not the result of a great religious revival, but merely an opportunity to start one. In recent years, churches across the nation have been engaged in what might be called internal evangelism. They have been trying to convert their own members, and to show them the difference between sentimental religiosity and self-giving discipleship. This effort still has a very long way to go. But it has begun to bear visible fruit. Look, for example, at what is happening in the Methodist Church, the largest and most typical of America's Protestant bodies. A few years ago — no one seems to know exactly when or where it started — small groups of Methodist laymen began meeting in private homes, once a week, for prayer and Bible study. The movement spread spontaneously across the country. Today there are about 5,000 such groups and new ones are being formed daily. One of the groups called itself "The Twelve" — a reference to Jesus' twelve disciples — and this name has caught on, although a group may actually have anywhere from 8 to 16 members. Each member of a "Twelve" commits himself to set aside a regular time each day for private prayer and devotional reading, to worship every Sunday in church, and to talk to other people about the power of Jesus Christ to redeem and give meaning to the lives of those who turn to Him in faith. Similar small-group movements have developed in other denominations, under other names. This tendency of laymen to seek mutual reinforcement of their spiritual lives by forming little "cells" of committed Christians is seen as one of the surest indications of growing depth in U.S. religious life.

EVANGELISTS — Rev. Mrs. Zoe Brown and Dianne Hancock, left to right, of Ft. Worth, are the evangelists for the Church of God revival now in progress in the church each evening at 7:30 o'clock. The revival will continue through November 26. The Rev. L. C. Pennington, is pastor of the church.

Wives Of World Leaders Agree On Peace Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Nikita S. Khrushchev saw eye to eye today on the need for world peace. But, like their husbands, they differed on how to achieve it. The wives of the world's most powerful leaders each urged women to support her husband's views. Both Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Khrushchev spoke out on the question of war and peace in letters responding to an appeal from a group of Washington women. The group, called "Women Strike for Peace" sent the appeals to the White House and the Kremlin on Nov. 1. It was 32-year-old Jacqueline Kennedy's first plunge into international politics. She took her public stand after the White House was informed by the peace strikers that Nina Khrushchev had sent them a reply. "I agree that as women we should exert our great influence in the cause of world peace," said President Kennedy's wife in a three-paragraph letter.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration is puzzling over the question of what it should do for the extremist left-wing government of British Guiana. The Department of State is shaping the administrations British Guiana policy. It seems not to have occurred to the policy makers to consider doing nothing whatever for British Guiana. This is strange because American dollars contributed to the welfare of British Guiana are not likely to alter the course of the government of that newly-born state in South America. The course is set straight for Moscow. The prime minister of British Guiana is Dr. Cheddi B. Jagan an East Indian. Jagan recently was an honored guest of the United States, received by President Kennedy, warmly welcomed by U. S. officials. The visitors found opportunity while he was here to deny that he was a Communist. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn, challenged Jagan on that. Dodd ranks as the best-informed member of the Congress on Communists and communism. He deals in facts, not fiction. Dodd cited a report of the British Guiana Constitutional Commission on Jagan, his American-born wife and four other leading members of Jagan's political party. The report said these persons "accepted unreservedly the classical Communist doctrines of Marx and Lenin; were enthusiastic supporters of the policies and practices of modern Communist movements; and were contemptuous of European social democratic parties, including the British Labor party."

The report also quoted from one of Jagan's newspapers in British Guiana, as follows: "Human beings the world over are today threatened by a modern cannibal — American imperialism. This cannibal has been living and thriving on war munition manufacturing and the rehabilitation of war damage in ravaged countries." This same newspaper printed the Communist accusation that the United States used germ warfare in Korea. In general, it faithfully reflected the Communist point of view. The question is raised: Why should the United States contribute dollars or a dime to a government headed by Dr. Jagan? The State Department may hope to buy Jagan away from any allegiance to Moscow with dollars. If so, precedent is against it.

Harvesters To Close Grid Campaign Against Borger Saturday

By JOE LEE SMITH
SPORTS EDITOR

Borger! This single word is enough to describe the importance of Saturday afternoon's crucial grid battle between the Pampa Harvesters and the arch-rival Bulldogs at 2 p.m. at Harvester Park in the 1961 season finale.

The fact that the Borger Bulldogs need to win this battle to earn a second straight trip to the state playoffs at the district 3-AAAA representative is important enough in itself. But Pampa knows Borger only as its biggest rival — unless you would concede that spot to the Amarillo Sandies.

And 11 Pampa gridders will get their last crack at defeating a Borger team in high school play. Although the Harvesters hold a decisive 18-7-2 margin in the series, the Bulldog have taken six wins in a row including 28-0 and 40-7 victories over the current seniors.

A triumph over Borger would be a glorious ending for the 11 Pampa seniors who have suffered through three losing seasons. The Harvesters were 4-5-1 in 1959, 0-10 last year and 2-7 this fall. Only under the guidance of Weldon Trice, since the second game of the season, have the local gridders responded like a football team.

For the Harvesters snapped a 16-game losing skein by upsetting Amarillo 15-14 in mid-season, and last Friday the Pampals pounded Plainview 65-6.

Captain and halfback Mike Stewart; quarterback Butch Crossland; halfbacks Robby Robison and Riley Walters; fullback Gerald Been; tackles Bob Hamilton and James Webb; center Bill Hughes; end Corky Godfrey and guards Jimmy Hovler and Danny Mathus are the Pampa seniors.

Borger, however, will be a tough foe to leash. The Bulldogs own an 8-1 season mark, a well-oiled scoring machine and a crack defense — the best in the Panhandle. They are tied with Palo Duro for the 3-AAAA lead but would gain the bid district round — should they beat Pampa — by virtue of a 21-14 triumph over the Dons.

Coach Gene Mayfield's crew has rolled over Snyder 22-0; Dumas 21-0; Duncan 47-0; Palo Duro; Plainview 66-6; Lubbock 19-0; Monterey 27-7 and Amarillo 20-6. Their lone loss was 7-0 to Tascosa.

By comparative scores, the Bulldogs are an overwhelming favorite. But there is an ingreredient — called desire — which could lead to a great Pampa upset victory.

Coach Eural Ramsey said Thursday, "I believe our boys will give them a close battle." Webb, a brilliant, hard nosed footballer, did Ramsey one better. Stated Webb, "What do you mean close? I think we may beat them."

The Harvesters have the potential to do just that. A pair of fleet-footed backs — Kenny Hebert and Ralph Palmer — teamed with the passing of Crossland gives Pampa a versatile offensive attack, which has improved with each game.

Palmer is a real surprise. The diminutive junior halfback ran for three scores last week against Plainview. One of them was a streaking 66-yard scamper on a double reverse. He had talked on an 81-yard kickoff return against Lubbock a week earlier.

Hebert, a sophomore, has been the Harvester's top scoring threat all season. He leads the club with 42 points, including an 80-yard kickoff return to help whip Amarillo.

But Borger has the loop's top rushing defense and if the playing field is slippery, it will hurt Pampa more than the Bulldogs. For the Harvesters rely on breakaway running mixed with a passing attack.

Borger is exclusively a running ball club. The Bulldogs are first in 3-AAAA stats in rushing and last in passing. Fullback Dave Hill is the power man in the 'Dogs offense with cousins J. P. and L. T. Tillman providing the quick-score punch.

Pampa's line up will remain the same with Godfrey and Jerry Glover at ends; tackles Webb and John Brown; guards Mathus and Dee Wright; center Hughes; fullback Stewart; halfbacks Hebert and Palmer and quarterback Crossland.

Coyotes And Ray Gun For Playoffs

By United Press International

Wichita Falls and Corpus Christi Ray, the one-two ranking powers of Texas schoolboy football, still have to win the big one tonight if they are to advance into the championship playoffs.

Wichita Falls, which has been rated No. 1 since it lost in the finals a year ago to deposed Corpus Christi Miller, must beat Grand Prairie to win its district. Ray must whip McAllen to get out of its own bailiwick.

Ysleta High, ranked No. 7 in AAAA, also has to win tonight in its showdown with crosstown rival Ysleta Bel Air, to make the grade.

Half of Class AAA's Top 10 also will have to have things going their way to make the playoffs. Cleburne must lose or be tied by La Vega for Belton to have a chance, while Breckenridge must lose or be tied by Graham for Brownwood to keep from joining Miller on the sidelines.

Tenth-ranked Carthage also faced the necessity of defeating Palestine to make the grade. Anything less would shove Jacksonville into the playoffs.

Defending champion Denver City in Class AA and Albany in Class A were among the favorites in the opening round of play in those divisions.

Denver City is favored to reach at least the semifinals against Jacksboro in the northern half of the playoffs, while Sweeney and Brady were the outstanding choices in the southern bracket.

Albany has been a season-long favorite to repeat as state champ with Wink generally figured as the likely semifinalist.

Dickie Wills Cops Win Over Amarillo Fighter

SPORTS
The Pampa Daily News
10 FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1961 54th YEAR

Texas Faces Tough TCU Team Saturday

United Press International

Alabama, Minnesota, UCLA and Colorado, four of the most powerful college football teams in the country, place their conference leads on the line Saturday in crucial bids for bowl berths.

Second-ranked Alabama, which along with the No. 1 Texas Longhorns and Rutgers makes up the major unbeaten and untied triumvirate, faces Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference tussle that will have a bearing on several post-season invitations.

continue its march toward the Southwestern Conference championship and the host team berth in the Cotton Bowl. The Longhorns, however, still bear a scarred record of two losses to TCU over the last three seasons. Last year, Texas eked out a 3-2 decision to gain a Bluebonnet Bowl berth against Alabama.

Fifth-ranked Louisiana State, which hasn't tasted defeat in the SEC, is a three-touchdown bet over Miss. State.

Pampa Nabs 10 Bout Victories

Battling Dickie Wills captured a unanimous decision over defending regional welterweight golden glove champion Manny Perez Thursday night at the Boy's Building to highlight the night's activity which saw Pampa nab 10 out of 17 victories.

Even Perez's famous "cha-cha" stomp before "the kill" did not help him against the determined Wills. For Dickie lowered the boom in the second round to send the Amarillo boxer to the canvas for an eight count.

Pat McDonald, fighting in the 158-pound bracket, scored an exciting victory over Bob Bailey, also of Amarillo. Gene Shipman, the scrapper from Lefors, lost to George Arredondo after being knocked down in the first round. It was Shipman's first defeat of the season.

feating Herbert Sims, Lefors, Marvin Tinney over Jimmy Jimmerson, Amarillo; Johnny Epperson over Glen Cunningham, Lefors; Jimmy Watson beating Sammy Mata, Amarillo and H. D. LaRue deciding Amarillo's Junior Navarita.

Lefors' boxers who turned in wins were Vince Stracner, David White and Mike Rubbins.

Pampa boys who met defeat were Bruce Watson, Johnny Roth, and Gary Howell. There was one TKO and Amarillo's David Kendall got it over Lefors' Jim Gilbreath.

And from South Carolina, Johnny Ironmonger, a former Optimist boxer now in the service for six months, won his third straight bout by a knockout over a Fort Jackson marine.

Ironmonger was named "Boxer of the Month" at Fort Jackson for October. He has won all three of his fights by knockouts.

A 138-pounder, Ironmonger, has twice won the Wichita Falls Red River tourney and expects to fight for the Optimist Club when he returns from camping in December.

The Pampa Optimists will go to Perryton, Saturday night for a return engagement with their Boxing club.

Indians Swap Johnny Temple

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Johnny Temple, a five-time All-Star second sacker, today belongs to the Baltimore Orioles, but the Cleveland Indians do not appear to be worrying about a replacement.

Temple, who was acquired from Cincinnati two years ago, was traded late Thursday to the Birds for catcher Harry Chiti and two other players to be named by Dec. 15.

Immediately after announcing the swap, Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul tabbed youthful Mike De La Hoz as the logical successor.

"He's ripping the Puerto Rican League apart this winter," Paul said. "He got hold of a lighter bat and is leading the league in hitting."

De La Hoz saw plenty of action during the past season as a fill-in player at short, third or second. Tribe officials were always pleased with his ability to rap the ball.

Chiti, 29, who has played with Chicago in the National League and Kansas City and Detroit in the American League, spent last season with Denver in the American Association and Rochester of the International League. He wound up the year with a composite batting average of .307. Chiti banged out 17 homers and drove in 48 runs.

Chiti, a right handed hitter with a lifetime batting mark of .241 in the majors, was expected to bolster the Tribe's catching staff. Regular backstop Johnny Romano appeared in 142 games and slowed down during the late stages of last season.

Temple, 32, a native of Lexington, N.C., was the All-Star second sacker as a member of the Reds four times.

The Crimson Tide is a 6-point pick over Tech and is backed up by the best total defense unit in the nation. Alabama has the inside track on the Sugar Bowl while Georgia Tech can return to Orange Bowl favor with a win.

Minnesota, ranked fourth, is a 7-point favorite over seventh-rated Purdue as the Gophers attempt to break-out-of-their deadlock with Ohio State for the Big Ten Conference lead. Ohio State, ranked third, rules a 15-point choice over Oregon in an intersectional tilt.

On the West Coast, UCLA, tied with Michigan State for eighth place in the United Press International ratings, must avenge a loss to Washington last season in order to stay on top of the Big Five Conference. The Bruins are favored by 10.

Colorado, ousted from the perfect ranks last week, will attempt to rebound against Nebraska. The 10th ranked Buffaloes, the only team with a spotless record in Big Eight Conference play, are a touchdown choice to regain the road to the Orange Bowl.

Texas (8-0) is a 22-point favorite to clobber Texas Christian and

The Lefors Pirates were beaten by McLean for the district 2-A grid title, but the Bucs had a successful season as they weren't suppose to be much of a threat after losing most of their material from the 1960 champions.

An editorial in The Lefors Progress sums up the Pirates 1961 gridders. The writer (Keith Giesler) said: "It isn't the size of the team in the game; it's the size of the game in the team."

Geisler also added, "The Pirates won because they played as a team. When they lost, they lost as a team."

It's a fine tribute of coaches Dunny Goode and Dale Prescott and a determined bunch of Lefors High gridders.

Last week we hit on 19 of 25, games with so-called upsets dealing us a setback. However, we still have a .780 season percentage with 173 right, 47 wrong and five ties.

This week we see:

Borger over Pampa — Hope we are wrong. We expect the Harvesters to put up quite a battle and they could put the chain on the Bulldogs' title hopes.

Gruver of McLean — The Greyhounds have too much desire and a better balanced ball club.

Groom over Bovina — Just sticking with the Tigers of Dwaine Currie.

Texas over TCU — The Steers should wrap up the Cotton Bowl berth, but beware of Abs Martin's Froggies. It's dangerous to pick TCU to lose by 22-points.

Jayton over Miami — A pure guess.

Other winners in caps: TASCOSA vs Plainview, PALO DURO vs Amarillo.

Current Market Rally May Grow, Analyst Thinks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Implications of the breakthrough to new highs in the averages are very bullish for a broad extension of the current rally, says Joseph E. Granville.

According to the E. F. Hutton & Co. analyst, there is no abatement of technical bullishness at this juncture with all the key measurements supporting the rally thesis.

Note the excellent quality leadership, Granville says. “This also underscores the probability that the D-J industrial average may have little difficulty in coming up to 770 and perhaps beyond on this rally.”

Jerome Peck of Jerome Peck Associates Inc. says that although most of the activity over the past two weeks should be credited to professionals, there are some signs that the public is coming back into the market. Thus far, he says, the emphasis has been on growth-stocks and depressed “name” issues, but if the upward trend is maintained there is reason to believe that speculative enthusiasm will again bring some of the poorer stocks to the fore-

Tower Supports Groups Battling Reds In America

HOUSTON (UPI)—Sen. John Tower yesterday criticized “people high in the administration” for what he called the blighting of anti-communism efforts of some Americans.

Tower, the Republican senator from Wichita Falls, spoke before the annual convention of the Public Relations Society of America.

He said he had heard some talk “from people high in the administration about mock patriots.”

“These barbs are aimed at those who are interested in the preservation of our free institutions, those who feel the American people should be alert to the menace of the cold war, and those who are dedicated to the defeat of the Communist conspiracy,” he said.

The youthful senator said such charges were made by “people in a liberal-administration that seek to completely change our political, legal and economic institutions.”

'Effects' Of Cocktail Party Are Described

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a recognized scientific phenomenon known as—“I’m not kidding about this—the cocktail party effect.”

I saw it demonstrated Wednesday under exact laboratory conditions—that is, at a cocktail party. Let me see if I can explain it.

Suppose some gabby dame corners you at the hors d’oeuvres table. You can hear her talking even though you are surrounded by a lot of other noise, such as the tinkling of ice cubes, the splash of spilled drinks and the crunching of peanuts.

This ability to locate and orientate the direction of certain noises is, in essence, the cocktail party effect.

Do you follow me thus far? Very well. Now comes the hard part.

An outfit called United Research Inc., has been studying the functions of external ears and it has found that our head flaps do much more than keep our sunglasses from falling off.

If we lost these shell-like appendages, sounds would enter the inner ears from all directions and we would have trouble localizing them.

Under such conditions, as you can see, a cocktail party would become unbearable, rather than merely boring.

United Research claims its experiments have produced “a true breakthrough in the understanding of the hearing phenomena.” So it threw a cocktail party here to demonstrate and celebrate.

Each guest was provided with a pair of earphones through which he could listen to a tape recording of something called “binaural” sound. It was like no recording I ever heard before.

Normally, a recording is made by placing microphones about the studio. In this instance, however, United Research built a dummy human head and placed the microphones inside its ears.

What we heard over the earphones, then, was music as it might have sounded had we been in the recording studio. It had a directional as well as a tonal quality.

Thus, when the musicians moved about the studio, this could be detected in the recording. At times, the music sounded as if it came from behind us; at other times, from above or in front.

As the recording was being made, someone rattled castanets directly over the dummy’s head.

As I listened over the earphones, it sounded exactly as if they were being rattled over my head.

United Research officials claim that application of the cocktail party effect will make possible vast improvements in the reproduction of sound. Possibly so. I wish someone also would discover a way to improve cocktail parties.

Theft Of Costly Art Easy Task, Reporter Learns

By HARRY FERGUSON
LONDON (UPI)—This is an attempt to shed some light on the puzzling question of why burglars suddenly have become art lovers.

Interpol, the international police organization in Paris, has a map on its wall showing that more than $6 million worth of art treasures have been stolen this year.

Gone are the days when British peerage had to worry about jewels and family heirlooms.

This correspondent was pondering the problem the other evening while strolling along Baker Street, the section of London used by the immortal Sherlock Holmes as his base of operations in the days when he was confounding kings of the underworld. Suddenly, there came an intuitive flash worthy of Holmes at the peak of his powers.

People who own valuable paintings do not believe anybody wants to steal them so the door is always wide open for an art thief.

Confirmation of this theory now has arrived from the town bearing the name Leighton Buzzard. Before Leighton Buzzard’s magistrate appeared one Edward Cox, charged with entering Woburn Abbey in broad daylight and walking out with a portrait of the Fourth Duke of Bedford.

Did anyone attempt to hinder his entrance of departure? No, on the contrary, said William Hummerston, a laborer, who testified about what happened when Cox allegedly strolled out of Woburn Abbey carrying the portrait.

“I asked him where he had got it,” said Hummerston. “He said, ‘inside.’ He asked me for a cigarette, so I rolled him one and lit it. He was so open about it, I thought he was taking the painting away to have it renovated or something.”

The value of the portrait of the Fourth Duke of Bedford was estimated at only about $150. It is impossible for an art thief to dispose of a famous painting; worth say $300,000, through legitimate art channels. It would be recognized immediately and the thief would be turned in.

How about holding a painting for ransom? Not in Great Britain as Hugh Agnew, this nation’s leading art dealer explained.

“To pay such a ransom so far as this country is concerned is illegal,” Agnew said. “We certainly would never agree to it. Even when the Gainsborough portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire was stolen from us, we held out against that kind of blackmail and got the portrait back—25 years later.”

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and that no government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others...

By Whitney Bolton NEW YORK — A colleague who works the sturdy male side of the fashion street, as opposed to the slender who reports as he did yesterday on the distaff versions of the fashions, has reported with evident horror that mink will be considerable of an item this winter in male attire...

Toll Roads' Value

As the United States interstate highway system gets more and more finished mileage into operation, motorists may be struck increasingly by the fact some super roads are free and some charge tolls.

Already, some organizations serving motorists are declaring that toll roads should be free, that drivers should not be fed in to "toll traps" by the free system.

Some 2,270 miles of toll roads, bridges and tunnels have been drawn into the federal network. Together they represent a bit more than 5 per cent of the total 41,000 miles planned.

Leading Spenders

The American Medical Association, lobbying to head off President Kennedy's medical care program for the aged, topped the list of groups in spending reports filed for the first half of 1961.

The AMA listed expenditures of $148,894 — about $100,000 more than it had reported for the first six months of 1960 and nearly $80,000 more than the second-ranking group in the 1961 listings, the AFL-CIO.

In its spending reports, the AMA said it was submitting the information "under protest." The Association said it did not believe it was subject to the federal law regulating lobbies, but indicated it did not want to chance what it described as the "severe penalties" incident to violation of the Act, even in good faith.

So far, the AMA's pressure campaign appears to have paid off handsomely. In 1960, President Eisenhower concurred with the AMA's contention that the Social Security medical program would be a giant stride toward "socialized medicine." The efforts of the Administration and the AMA succeeded in beating down the plan in a dramatic Senate vote shortly before the 1960 elections.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — A colleague who works the sturdy male side of the fashion street, as opposed to the slender who reports as he did yesterday on the distaff versions of the fashions, has reported with evident horror that mink will be considerable of an item this winter in male attire.

I would be the first to go with him in being appalled by the notion of mink spats since spats in any form are no longer to be considered fresh in a man's wardrobe. They went out with hard collars and boiled shirts. Mink vests certainly are an affectation, but after viewing some of the brocade and embroidered vests to be seen these First Nights along Broadway, I'm not sure a mink vest would be too de trop.

It would be a foolish waste of money to parallel major toll roads with free routes. The 5 per cent of the interstate system which the turnpikes represent is 5 per cent that will not cost U.S. taxpayers.

The user — drivers pay tolls, but obviously they have generally been more than willing to cough up the money to gain time, safety and peace of mind on superior roadways.

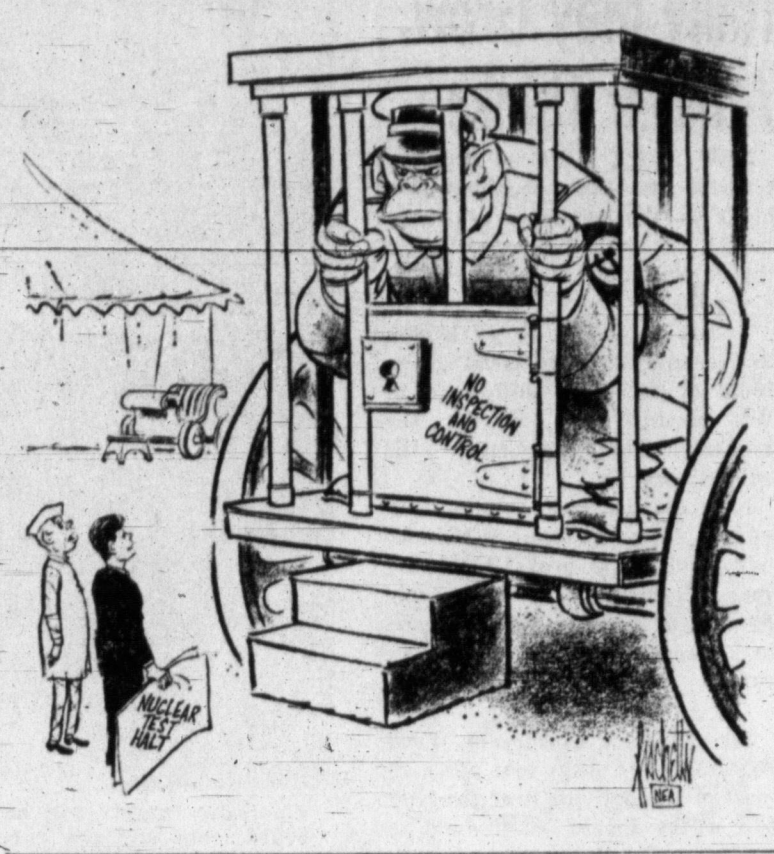

U.S. road officials estimate it would cost between $5 billion and $6 billion to pay off revenue bonds which financed nearly all toll road costs.

Fair amounts of state funds were used in a few instances, and these sums also would have to be reimbursed.

The motorist can be grateful the toll roads are here. Their sponsors first saw the need for a vast national network and moved to fill part of that need.

Richard III... Medieval nicknames gave birth to lots of modern last names. Before we had last names, nicknames were a way to tell one Tom, Dick, or Harry from another.

"I Mustn't Get Involved—YOU Go In And Reason With Him"

Allen - Scott Report

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's highly regarded "Alliance for Progress" program for Latin America is off to a whirlwind start.

U.S. government loans, the financial backbone of the program, are flowing to members of the Alliance at the unprecedented rate of $100 million a month.

Here is a country-by-country breakdown — down of loans granted by the U.S. during the first seven months of the Alliance program:

Guatemala and Honduras have received no loans. This situation is expected to change with Moscow taking over the program.

In addition to these loans, the U.S. has given $5 million to the newly created Central American Bank under the program.

LOOKING FORWARD — Major General Edwin Walker, who resigned his Army commission this month to speak out against Communism, is going to testify before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee.

The Nation's Press

TRANSFER OF SOVEREIGNTY (Monroe (Calif.) Ledger) For many years, the Ledger has been campaigning against the United Nations. Basically, our reason is this: An international organization cannot work until all members of it want it to work.

Warning of the "Dual Power Concept," we have noted that where a nation refuses to vote itself out of existence, the technique of those who would destroy her is this: They establish a second entity, and gradually shift the power from the original point to the second — from the government of the United States to the United Nations.

Last week saw the passage of the "Arms Control Act," which is really disarmament. We saw the Congress hand over to the President, control of armament.

We find now that the President, armed with this new mantle of power, has gone to the United Nations with offers beyond the wildest dreams of the widest internationalists.

The United Nations is a strictly fascist organization. It is people with "representatives" appointed by the rulers of the world — not elected. To the contrary, even the United States delegation is made up of people who, like Eleanor Roosevelt, have never been elected to anything, or like Henry Cabot Lodge and Adlai Stevenson, who have offered themselves for election and have been rejected.

Ready to accept and direct the destiny of Americans, the United Nations has never been tested in American public opinion — not once in the 15 years of UN existence have Americans been given a choice of candidates or platforms that would give them the opportunity to accept or reject the idea of one-world government.

Don't worry, the doctors told him when he came to. You'll be all right. The chances are that you will have better manners too now that you've got a couple of pints of good Jewish blood in you.

Communism Prospers On Phony Promises, Pampa Group Is Told

Most of the world's problems are related to some kind of a pattern and the pattern is shaped by the dreams of mankind everywhere. Dr. John Furbay, told members of the Pampa Knife and Fork Club Thursday night. Dr. Furbay, world traveler and lecturer, spoke before an unusually large club crowd, the program being a guest night event. It was preceded by a banquet in the high school cafeteria.

As to mankind's dream of peace, he said that peace was never spoken of before in the history of the world with such urgency. This he ascribed to the fact that the nature of war has changed the thinking of man with reference to both peace and war. There was a time, he explained, when victory was achieved through war — some nation won the war. Now, he added, no nation can win a victory through war.

"Since the very nature of war has changed, man's thinking about war has changed. Everybody is frightened to death, thus many peoples of the world follow those who give promises of peace," he declared, adding that Russia gave forth to the world such promises before the free world every got around to it. Most of the peoples of the world, he continued, don't care whether the label is that of "democracy or communism," for they know little of either and seek primarily that which seems to afford the greatest promise of peace. Communism is making those promises — all phony, the speaker declared.

One third of the world lives under communism today, he explained. One third lives under some form of democracy. The other third belongs to that group which today is described as the uncommitted nations. It is the latter one third that holds the balance of power as to the future of the world and which will swing the pendulum either toward democracy or communism, he declared.

The Communist today preaches two things that impress the world of the uncommitted, he said. One is that peace is inseparably identified with communism and war with capitalism. He said the Communist points to history and the wars of the past and links them with capitalism. Conversely the Communist links communism with peace, declaring in all their propaganda that there is peace in the communistic world. Little do the peoples of the world, for the most part, realize that there is peace in the world of communism, but it is the peace of the captive, the peace of the man that is incarcerated in a jail, he declared.

Dr. Furbay outlined his answer to the communistic peace propaganda, saying that what the world needs today is law and order. He said there was a time in history when family feuds led to family battles. That day passed, for family rule supplanted family violence. Then came the day of every country, he said, there "are community battling, when tribal segments battled with one another. That, too, was replaced with law and order. Then there was war between the states and that likewise passed with the institution of law and order governing the states. Then nations engaged in wars, indulging in the "shoot it out method" common for so long to mankind, but "nation shooting it out" no longer makes sense, he declared. Thus everywhere the answer to the communistic cries of peace is to herald forth the fact that "international violence must be replaced with law and order."

He declared that an "organized body" is essential to law and order, as illustrated by society everywhere, thus a world organization "such as the UN" is needed for its eventual establishment and the elimination of violence.

He turned then to mankind's dream of enough to eat. One billion people of the world go to bed each night with hunger-raging in their stomachs, he said. He said there are two kinds of fears rampant in the world — one the fear of hunger, the other of getting too fat. The hungry see the opulence of others and are saying "this is a cock-eyed kind of world," and they'll listen to "anybody who promises an end to hunger." The Communist is giving expression to these promises throughout the world, he said. Little do the Communists say, however, he explained, about the fact that those under the domination of communism are fed as were the enslaved of the world once believed past. The people enslaved by communism are as hungry as ever. There is no abundance of food anywhere in the Communist world, he pointed out, but there are 600,000,000 people, enslaved by communism and they are still hungry. One of the answers to the hunger problem is the U.S. foreign aid program, he said.

The third dream of mankind he outlined as that of a desire for freedom, and-or self-government. This has led in these modern times to the continuing abolition of colonialism that once made possible the empires of the world. But today colonial nations are seeking their own independence and the right of self government. Thus, Dr. Furbay said, it has come to be recognized that colonialism was good in its day but in this new age it has become obsolete — "it has seen its day."

Then, finally, he outlined the dream of mankind for human dignity. This he related to the problems of desegregation the world over. The problem of integration looms largest in India and Africa, he said, rather than in "Little Rock." In India there are castes, in Africa there are tribes. In every country, he said, there "are the nobodies," but in this new age the children of these "nobodies" have gone to school, they have become educated, thus "they are pushing their recognized legal rights" in every country of the world.

Communism is attempting to sway the world with its phony promises, he said. Democracy must herald forth its answer, which Dr. Furbay indicated is that of dreams realized rather than promised. The reception the preachments of communism and democracy gets in the world will determine whether it is communism or democracy that reigns in the future.

Satellite Capsule Recovered By AF

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States recovered its 10th space capsule Thursday over tiny Tern Island, northwest of Hawaii.

The 300-pound, gold-plated capsule was snagged in the air as it parachuted from space after 18 trips around the world. A C130 cargo plane, piloted by Capt. James McCullough of Wyncott, Pa., made the catch at 13,000 feet.

Air Force officers said the kettleshaped capsule contained a number of biological and radiation sampling experiments and solar cells to test their efficiency as a power source in space.
