For the campaign, the U.S. Public Health Service is contributing $200,000 worth of surveys, films, radio and TV spots. About $76,000 more is being raised by tocal subscription.

The campaign is headed by Dr. Samuel Gerber, Cuyahoga county coroner. Heading up the c.a mpaign's board of trustees is Charles McCahill, former newspaperexecutive. In back of these men are business, civic and religious leaders plus ordinary volunteers by the thousands.

Church, bells tolled to usher in the campaign. Between TV soap ads, Cleveland housewives were admonished to pick up the roller skate left by Junior on the stairway. Boy Scouts posted major highways leading from the city, each bearing a sign (a la Burma Shave); cautioning motorist to drive Donating his talents to this saturation program is actor Raymond Burr, former Clevelan Jer. known for his TV Perry Mason role. Burr appears in a series of "Blueprint" films to be shown in service clubs and factories.

'Blueprint for Life" will reach into 35,000 homes via Scouts and Camp Fire Givls armed with home . salety check lists. Easy to read, colorful pamphlets will spread the sa ety gospel to an additional 800. 000 factory and office workers and their families. Special squads of boating, railroad, school, fire and traffic accidents.

Jones made it clear that "Blueprint" is not directing all its energies at highway accidents.

"Twice as many Clevelanders were killed right in the 'safety' of their homes than on the road last year." Jones said. "But don't think we're not going to pound away at those traffic figures.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI) -A current joke in Leopoldville is hat the only new edifice constructd since the Congo got its indeendence is the satuting base om which the president reviewed his year's Independence Day paade It would be funny - if it veren't true.

Leopoldville, a city of skyscrapers and wide boulevards, is a city slowly dying on its feet. On the surface life seems to go on much as it did before the Belgians left and the Congo crisis began, but a closer look reveals signs of decay. The streets are still swept-but only once a week instead of once a day, as before independence. Cars still run - but if you need more than the most minor spare part then it's better to leave the car on a junk pile and try to get another. Most garages don't have anything bigger than a spark plug

The latest model cars here, including those of members of the government, are 1960 models. No ears have been imported since June last year. There's no indication when any will be, and even if they were, there are almost no garages to maintain them.

Aside from foodstulfs, there's not much else imported either. One in four stores in the European section is shuttered, with a "for rent" sign in the window. The signs are all pretty grubby - there hasn't been a new store opened in Leopoldville for a year and many of those which do remain open have little to sell. Tennis rackets are black market items and so are such things as a package of cigare tes or a bottle of scotch. The latter - if you can get it - costs

Leopoldville has 16 night clubs and another is opening shortly. It also has about 25 good European restaurants, most of which are packed nightly with well - to - do Belgian businessmen, United Nations officials and staffers from foreign embassies.

There's no color bar, but few Congolese go to the big restaurants. They're priced out of them by such items as a filet mignon at $7, a bottle of local beer at $1.30 or a bottle of imported wine at $6. These are big prices when the average salary of a Congolese whitecollar worker is 3,000 francs a month - $60 at the official rate, roughly half at the black market

Speculators on the sidewalks in downtown Leopoldville offer 100 francs for $1 against the official rate of 50. Across the river in Brazzaville, prosperous capital of the formedr French Congo howeve you can get only 60 Congolese francs for a dollar. It's not that Leopoldville money is worth more in Brazzaville - it's just that the speculators there don't like handling it. No bank or commercial enterprise anywhere in Africa will accept Congolese money for changing, or in payment for goods,

In the African section of Leopoldville, where 90 per cent of the population lives, the prevailing impression is people, people everywhere. The impression is much stronger now than it was before independence, because a good 40 per cent of the native labor force is out of work.

In colonial days, Africans had to be out of the European city by 9 p.m. each evening. Old habits die hard, and even now the streets are largely deserted by that time. Europeans, too, still obey the old rule that they had to be out of the African city by 9 p.m. But their reasons are different - too many Europeans have been beaten up in the African city after dark for a white man to feel safe.

The Congolese police were smart and hard-working in colonial days. These days, they're seldom in evidence and most of the traffic control and street patrolling is done by the 300 British-trained Nigerian police who belong to the United Nations force.

Extension Class Meetings Called

Extension classes in second semester Accounting, second semester .. Spanish, and second semester Art will meet in the Pampa Junior High School at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Anyone interested in taking any of the courses is asked to attend at that time. It will be the last time possible for organizing extension classes from West Texas State College, according to Huelyn Laycock, public relations director for the college. Only two or three additional students are needed to make the quota for a class in each of these three courses.

Additional information may be obtained by calling MO5-5281, Lay cock said.

Fashion-Right Fringes

For you . . . fringe benefits.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. We see self fringes used in so many attractive ways - to finish the bottom of skirts, capes, and as a finish for the ends of stoles, scarves and belts. Perhaps this is due in part to the beautiful fabrics, with their even weave, which are perfect for fringing.

For the skirt shown, one width of fabric, 48 to 54 inches or wider, is needed for the skirt. Buy your skirt length, plus at least 3 inches. For the average skirt length, 1/8 yards or 311/2 inches is sufficient

Even the bottom edge of the material by cutting on a pulled thread line. Decide the depth you want the fringe to be - usually 2 inches. Stitch on a crosswise thread, 2 inches above the newly cut edge of the fabric (see detail).

Cut the selvage away, cutting just enough to remove selvage for the depth the fringe is to be. Now pull the threads away. Pull up to the stitched line.

Measure your hip at the fullest part. Measure your fabric crosswise. Allow 6 to 8 inches more in width on the fabric than your hip measures. Cut any surplus away.

Baste the seam, beginning at the top. Measure your waist, and in the skirt lay four pleats - two in front, two in back. This, to fold in the excess fullness at the waist. Pin a tape or piece of ribbon around your waist. Put the skirt on, seam to left side. Lift the skirt the fabric, or use a piece of belt up to exactly the right length in ing inside as a finish. front for you. Pin skirt to tape. A sash belt made from the same

Add Finish To Costumes Use it the way it best suits you, and know that you are expressing one of fashion's latest whims.

Dear Mrs. Picken: Do you prefer bias or straight seam binding? Dear O.J.: Whether you use bias or straight binding, you must ease it on. I like to put a stitching at top of hem after it has been made even.

Use longest machine stitch, then draw up the bobbin thread to have edge fit perfectly. (This raw edge can have a bias or straight binding stitched to it). Or, if a firm fabric such as flannel is used, edge above the stitching line can be pinked. Slip stitch hem to position, along the stitching line. Just remember, never let binding be tight, and press as you work so all is smooth, Do you have a sewing problem? Send it to Mary Brooks Picken.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to Goo to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less. To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandmants, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilites in harmony with the above moral principles.

WHAT TO DO BEFORE THE MEASLES ARRIVE

Here are the choices open to the conscientious parent and the informed physician when the problem of measles arises, as suggested in the first of these

Let the disease run its course. In which case, the child faces an illness of two to three weeks with the possibilities of complicating bronchitis, pneumonia and brain involvement.

Request protective - immunizations with the measles virus vaccine, soon to be made available to all physicians. Following vaccine injection, the child may be expected to have a very mild attack, lasting one or two days. There will be no complications. And preliminary investigations suggest that the immunity will be life-long just as in the case of recovery from an attack that has been permitted to run its natural course. This is called an artificially induced active im-

Investigate the possibility of obtaining the benefits of injections of measles modifier (gamma globulin) as soon as a known exposure occurs. Given in sufficient dose within the course of the first week following exposure, gamma globulin may prevent the disease entirely.

This has the obvious advantage of sparing the child any discomfort whatsoever. But it has the disadvantage that the immunity it provides is of short this sort of passive immunization, the child is just as susceptible to attack as it was before the injections were given.

However, when gamma globulin is given after the first week of exposure, that is to say in the second week of the period of incubation, the child may be expected to develop a mild measles attack. This bout of "modified measles" lasts but a few days. It is not accompanied or followed by complications. And, since it combines active gives lifelong protection just like recovery from an infection that's limited supplies may be put to where the need is greatest. That er children whose resistance has been lowered by some other disability. Such as heart trouble, rheumatic fever, asthma or some congenital deformity.

Now if you find all this confusing at a first reading, will you please save these two columns and study them again when you have free time and can concentrate on the information they are trying to convey? For, what you learn may save you and your children from weeks of discomfort at the very least. And this saving can ! be obtained if you, the alert parent, take the initiative either before or just after exposure to the disease has occurred.

his first glass of milk

Today, somewhere overseas, an underled little boy drank his very first glass of milk. True, it was made from powdered milk, but it was good and it took him a step towards being a healthy child.

That little buy is not alone overseas. There are thousands of underfed children like him. They frequently lack clothing, a place to What's being done? A great deal . . . and there s a way for you to help. America's three faiths-Protestant, Catholic and Jewish all maintain Overseas Aid Programs. These programs help millions of people with food, clothing, shelter ... and even morejobs, training, education, tools, equipment ... and most of all, hope.

Next time your faith makes an appeal for help, give generously.
