Reds Demand U. S. Arrest Former Nazi General, Now Allied Aide

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today formally charged West German Gen. Adolf Heusinger with "war crimes and crimes against peace and humanity" and demanded he be extradited from Washington where he is stationed as chairman of NATO's Permanent Military Committee.

The charges were contained in a note which the Soviet Foreign Ministry handed to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson this morning. They were publicly announced later at a Soviet news conference.

The note demanded that the United States arrest Heusinger and extradite him to Russia for trial.

Heusinger, who was chief of Nazi Germany's general staff operations department during World War II, was in Paris today presiding over a meeting of the NATO Permanent Military Committee when the news broke. He refused to comment.

The charges were strikingly similar to those for which Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann was convicted Monday in Jerusalem. Mikhail Kharlamov, the Foreign Ministry's press chief, told foreign newsmen the charges against Heusinger were "established" by a Soviet commission investigating "crimes of the German fascist invaders."

The Soviet news agency Tass said the charges were "founded on captured documents from the archives of the Hitlerite army, as well as on facts which came to light in the course of the investigation which was carried out by competent Soviet organs."

Tass said the note asserted that the Soviets "expect" the United States to send Heusinger to Moscow for trial.

Heusinger has been accused repeatedly in the Soviet press of having ordered massacres of Soviet partisans and civilian peasants in Byelo-Russia.

WARM SMILE IN ARCTIC WEATHER—It got cold in Pampa Monday, the temperature hanging around 8 and 10 degrees all day. That didn't prevent Miss Katrina Spencer, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spencer, 523 S. Cuyler, from smiling warmly as she sat in the snow holding a cold thermometer while the Daily News photographer snapped this picture. It was even colder in Pampa this morning when the mercury dropped to one above zero shortly before 6 o'clock.

'Confessions' From Taxpayers Without Prosecution Pondered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service is considering inviting taxpayers to confess their past sins in exchange for a guarantee of no criminal prosecution.

Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin, it was learned today, has been studying this delicate matter for several months. Officials said he probably would issue a clarifying statement this week.

Sources close to Caplin pointed out that even now it is difficult to obtain criminal convictions for tax evasion against taxpayers who voluntarily admit tax cheating.

Government attorneys find jurors are sympathetic to the taxpayer who confesses his wrongdoing and usually are unwilling to believe that he willfully evaded taxes.

Moreover, the revenue service and the Justice Department rarely bring criminal proceedings in cases where the amount of unpaid taxes is small. The service prefers to assign its limited number of intelligence agents — those who investigate fraud cases — to cases where large sums are involved.

The service had a voluntary disclosure policy prior to 1951. Under this policy, it agreed not to bring criminal tax evasion charges against anyone who acknowledged on his own that he had failed to report income, overstated his deductions or otherwise cheated.

Eichmann Hears Court Say That He Gassed Jews

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—An Israeli court said today it found Adolf Eichmann directly responsible for gassing of Jews and so sent on his murderous task that he often blocked the rescue of individual victims.

The three-judge court ticked off detailed reasons for its conviction of the former Nazi Gestapo colonel Monday for crimes against humanity, crimes against the Jewish people and a war crime.

The 55-year-old Eichmann resumed his stiff-backed pose in side the courtroom's bullet proof glass cage, listening intently to the reading of his crimes.

Judge Benjamin Halevi concentrated first on the extermination of Jews in Poland and Russia.

He said Eichmann's testimony contradicted all facts which showed that he deported Jews to certain death, going even beyond the orders of Adolf Hitler in carrying out the "final solution" to the Jewish problem.

Halevi said Eichmann issued orders that nothing was to interfere with the extermination policy.

Eichmann stared unblinking as the judge ruled he was responsible for the gassing of Jews and as the judge cited cases of Italian Jewish women he had ordered sent to the Riga concentration camp.

The court said Eichmann was so conscientious in his task that often he intervened to prevent individual Jews from being rescued.

The judges ruled that Eichmann personally supervised the activities of the Einsatzgruppen extermination squads in occupied Russia.

Even now, a high official said, "our entire tendency is to look prospectively." He explained the service generally is satisfied if it can expect honest reporting by a taxpayer in the future.

The promise of no prosecution, if Caplin makes it, would be a carrot to entice taxpayers. The stick to prod them might be a reminder that with electronic processing of tax returns, the revenue service will be turning up more tax cheaters.

Electronic processing begins next month on business returns from seven southern states. By 1966 it will apply to all tax returns from the entire country.

Even with a promise of no criminal prosecution, the service still would charge taxpayers six per cent interest on back taxes.

Caplin was reported to be discussing the matter with the Treasury and Justice departments and congressional tax-writing committees.

policeman, said "it (the air) is kinda like breathing razorbilades. Two or three good breaths cuts your lungs all to pieces."

Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri and New Mexico also felt the sting of north winds out of the Rockies. Forty-mile-an-hour winds raked northeastern New Mexico. Thirty inches of snow piled up at Red River, N.M.

There were many power lines down around Clovis, N.M. Freezing rain and icing conditions broke lines in scattered portions of Texas.

Snow did not materialize in the Panhandle. Accumulations of five to six inches had been expected there.

Blowing dust whipped across the extreme West Texas area just east of El Paso Monday.

Snow fell all day long at Dalhart and Amarillo Monday. The temperature never got above 12 degrees at Dalhart and hovered between 10 and 15 degrees at Amarillo. The maximum was 85 at Brownsville.

Police at Dalhart and Amarillo said stockmen apparently were holding their own with the weather.

Vets Insurance Action Proposed
AUSTIN (UPI)—State Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro wants Gov. Price Daniel to let the state legislature work on a veterans' insurance plan during the special session in January.

He requested Monday that Daniel include the item in his call. The legislature can work only on matters contained in the governor's call.

Bandleader Sued For $11.5 Million
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Bandleader Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong today faced an $11.5 million damage suit charging that he failed to meet terms of a contract with a local resort hotel.

The New Frontier Hotel and show producer Harold Minsky filed civil action in district court Monday naming Armstrong; his manager, Joseph Glazer; and a New York booking corporation.

Connally

Mr. Connally proposes to abandon ship in the face of peril to come home and politic," Wilson said.

He also charged it was an attempt by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to bring "machine politics" to Texas.

Daniel refused to let himself be counted out as a possible candidate for a fourth term. He went to the brink of announcing, but refused to say yes or no.

He said his "high regard" for Connally would continue "even though we end up as candidates for the same office." It was the closest Daniel has come to saying yes.

Jack Cox, who ran against Daniel in the last election as a Democrat, is back in the race this time as a Republican candidate.

Connally refused to say whether he considers himself a liberal or conservative among Texas Democrats.

"I intend to approach the state's problems only from the standpoint of a Texan who loves his state," he said.

ion that the report of last week's meeting in an out-of-town morning newspaper contained some quotations and reported incidents that he had not heard during the session.

"I came to the conclusion that there was considerable misunderstanding about what happened at the meeting and that some information obtained outside the meeting was reported as happening at the meeting," the mayor said. Commissioner L. P. Fort also said "a great deal was reported that did not happen at the meeting."

The mayor was referring to a story which related to alleged complaints that some water consumers outside the city were getting special rates and a request that the situation be studied by heads of the water department and other city officials and that recommendations then be made for handling the situation.

It was reported at today's meeting that reports from the city's sanitation, street and health departments now are ready for study by the commission.

"We are merely studying the operation of various city departments," the mayor said. "We are trying to gain knowledge of how the city is operated. It is our hope to make intelligent decisions on any suggested changes or improvements only after we have made a thorough study of all city departments."

The commission today passed ordinance 571 on final reading. It is an ordinance to levy paving assessments for the property owner's portion of the cost on paving to be done on S. Dwight, E. Albert, W. Harvester and E. and W. Crawford streets.

The commission awarded a one-year contract for collection of wet garbage to Kenneth Beavers at a cost of $275 a month. Beavers was low bidder among three firms.

Library bills totaling $135.16 for November were approved for payment.

Cognac Drinking Gains In Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Texas, the land of bourbon and brandy water, consumed more cognac in 1961 than in any year since the repeal of Prohibition, a liquor distributor said today.

Consumption in the state was an estimated 8,000 cases, a 20 per cent increase over last year, the distributor said.

Improved Plane Service Sought By Fort Worth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A witness told a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearing examiner today that service between Fort Worth, Tex., and New York has "deteriorated beyond belief" since 1950.

Hal Crawford, a Washington aviation consultant representing Fort Worth, made the statement in the reopened "adequacy of service" case that pits Dallas' Love Field against Fort Worth's Amon Carter Airport.

Fort Worth has asked the CAB to order American and Braniff airlines each to provide one non-stop round-trip jet service between Fort Worth and New York and Fort Worth and Washington.

The request was made to Leslie Donahue, the board's examiner who is taking preliminary evidence in the case.

Fort Worth put in the hearing record charts purporting to show that Fort Worth deserves the services it requested. The city said that eastern business firms doing business with the Convair plant at Fort Worth totaled 3,416 and that there were 667 eastern firms doing business with Bell Helicopter Co.

Kansas is known as the "wheat state."

Campus Magazine In More Trouble

AUSTIN (UPI)—The campus humor magazine "Texas Ranger" ran into more trouble over the weekend, a University of Texas official disclosed today.

Lloyd L. Edmonds Jr., general manager of the Texas Student Publications, said obscenities in a center spread of the magazine caused him to gather up unsold copies on sale around the campus Friday and tear out the center pages.

The entire four-student editorial staff of the Ranger was fired recently for allowing a vulgar word to appear in a sketch in the November magazine.

Board of Health Names Chairman

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Board of Health re-elected Dr. J. B. Copeland of San Antonio its chairman today.

The board also renamed Dr. Hampton Robinson of Corpus Christi and Joe B. Winston of Mercedes vice chairman and secretary, respectively.

The board allocated the following totals to institutions under the Hill-Burton construction program: Saint Joseph Hospital in Houston $353,000, Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio $250,000, Spohn Hospital of Corpus Christi $100,000, University of Texas medical branch in Galveston $805,000, Abilene State School in Abilene $400,000, and Denton State School at Denton $1 million.

Report Reveals Reasons 'Dream' Firm Is Loser

NEW YORK (UPI)—Great-grandfather Ira Pence started the Hawkeye Farm-Equipment Co. 83 years ago, the report said. It has a Canadian plant, a chain of sales branches, produces a good tractor and has found favor with some investors.

But in 1960, its sales dropped from $145 million to $86 million. Its tractor line, while sound, has not changed much since 1953. Its position in the overall farm market has been declining. Except for a fairly strong Canadian operation, it is weak in foreign markets.

Hawkeye makes plans, through a committee that includes all department heads. But they seem to come to little. There's the rub "... the present financial performance of the company, if allowed to continue for a few years will eliminate the need for any planning at all," says the only report in existence on Hawkeye.

Do not, however, go rummaging through desk drawers seeking Hawkeye farm equipment shares for quick sale. Hawkeye may not be the investors' idea of a dream company, but that is what it is. It exists solely in the minds of a group of economists, instructors and research men at Stanford, Research Institute, and in their reports which told the story of Hawkeye in the fourth quarter issue of SRI's journal.

Walter Jeffrey of the economics division of the institute conceived the idea in November, 1950, and in the ensuing months before publication of "The Tribulations of Hawkeye—A Study in Planning," a dozen and a half men "set up" the company, its problems, and their suggested solutions or courses of action.

Hawkeye was presented as a company which, except for a fairly strong Canadian subsidiary, was weak in foreign markets. It has consistently financed through retained profits, making only seasonal short-term borrowings for working capital; it has a low cash position because it must carry large receivables and inventories; but the stock was favored by institutional investors because of a stable dividend record — none passed since 1933.

The points made by the members of the institute staff and of the graduate school of business at Stanford University included this observation:

"The situation at Hawkeye is not unique. The mistakes it has made are repeated again and again in United States companies in all industries."

It listed these as: —Establishment of a "planning function" that lacks the enthusiastic and continuous support of top management.

—Failure to realize that the corporate planning function "should be the central rallying point for management, and the point of unification."

—Failure to make needed studies on the future environment of the business.

Grecians Reject Film Glorifying Wayward Lassie

PARIS (EA)—"It hasn't changed my life. It hasn't changed me. Nothing changes me." With sincerity you can believe, Melina Mercouri says the words about her sudden international fame in the year's most talked-about movie, "Never on Sunday."

She shrugs off the film's huge profits to United Artists, to herself and to Jules Dassin, who wrote, produced, directed and co-starred.

"Money! About money I know nothing," she pleads. "What do Greeks know about money?"

For Melina Mercouri's native Greece it is a different story. The jet age, a number of hit motion pictures with Greek backgrounds, the progress of Greek tourism, and the building of a huge American-style hotel in Athens are contributing to an era of prosperity for Europe's least prosperous country.

Melina, about to appear in a stage play here following completion of her latest film "Phaedra," (also filmed in Greece) is aware of the change. "I hope," she says, "this doesn't spoil Greece now."

Hollywood's Al Hix. As a film publicist, first went to Hydra in 1950, with the "Boy on a Dolphin" company. Just returned from Hydra, where much of "Phaedra" was filmed, Hix told us:

"When the 'Dolphin' company was there we lived on a ship because of the lack of hotel accommodations. There now are three new hotels on the island, including the just completed New Xenia. The Xenia boasts 'constant' hot water, room service and a radio in almost every room."

There is a state-subsidized art school on Hydra and the island, says Hix, once attracted many serious artists from all over the world. It still does but it is also "fast becoming," says Hix, "a gathering point for not-so-serious artists of the beatnik type. Many played in night club and yacht party scenes in Phaedra."

A year ago, in the shadow of the Parthenon, Greek travel guide Mary Vrionides told us why?

"Why should a movie made in Greece glorify a prostitute?" Mary wondered. "The people of Greece, of Athens, are ashamed. 'There are so many other subjects in Greece. Centuries of glory. Our philosophers, our poets, our dramatists. The picture was not liked here.'"

The Island of Hydra, 50 miles by boat from Piraeus, the port of Athens, has seen much of the change coming to Greece. So has

Alleged Slayer Of Teacher Held On Murder Count

ANAHUAC (UPI)—George Laverne Trabing, 29-year-old convict who admitted setting off an intense manhunt by committing three violent crimes in the Houston area, has been charged with murder in Chambers County Sunday.

Trabing, also charged with robbery by assault and robbery by firearms in Houston.

The Mississippi native admitted slaying Houston school teacher Mrs. Winifred Jean Whittaker while in search for narcotics last week. She was killed near Wallisville in Chambers County.

Police connected the slaying and robberies with the attempted rape of a Richmond girl and began an all-out search for the killer in fear that he was a psychopath who might strike again. Trabing was arrested early Saturday at a downtown Houston hotel when a cab driver tricked him into going to the hotel where a detective lived. The driver said Trabing had forced him to drive around town for three hours at the point of a gun.

Put-in-Bay, in Lake Erie, is rated as the third best fresh-water fishing area in the United States.

Woman Finds Winning Money Not All Joyous

By HARRY FERGUSON
LONDON (UPI)—This is a sad little story about a Cinderella who did not live happily ever after.

Her name is Mrs. Vivian Nicholson. She is 25 years old and has three children. Until recently her husband, Keith, was a miner and they could barely scrape by on his earnings of $28 a week. They paid $4 per week for a dingy little house.

Then one day, Cinderella answered a knock at the door. It was not a fairy godmother who could turn a pumpkin into a coach and white mice into horses, but Cinderella did not complain about that. It was a man who handed her a check for $425,000. Her husband had hit the football pools.

Somewhere in Britain makes a killing like this every few months. Most of them deliver pious speeches about how they are going to donate money to such worthy causes as churches and hospitals. Not our girl.

"I am going to spend, spend and spend," she said. "None of the money is going to cats and dogs homes and things like that. And none of it to the chancellor of whatever he is. (She meant the British tax authorities who do not make any levies against football pool winnings). I'm going to spend the lot."

Cinderella started having a ball. She bought a house for $12,000. She bought three automobiles although neither she nor her husband has a driver's license and she had to hire her brother as a chauffeur. She bought $6,000 worth of rugs and furnishings. She bought suits, cocktail dresses and coats. Her husband bought seven suits and three hunting guns.

Then, with the big things out of the way, Cinderella went Christmas shopping. In one brief whirl through one store she spent $1,400, including $300 worth of liquor and wine.

The other evening Cinderella sat in her living room and looked at a white telephone on a cocktail bar.

"The only calls we get, are from the bank and maybe the butcher," she said. "I sit in the house by myself when Keith is out hunting and watch the television. We haven't really changed, but I haven't got a friend, that's the truth, except my mother and my aunt."

"The things people say about me! The letters I've had! They even say I'm offering 50 pounds ($140) a week for somebody to look after my children. If I go out in ordinary clothes, they say 'Look at her, all that money and wearing those things.' If I wear one of my new tight cocktail dresses to a dance, they say 'She must think she's somebody now.' That's why I tint my hair mauve and green sometimes and put on one of my new dresses and go dancing. I don't want to sit among all these new things by myself, but the more they talk the more I do to give them something to gossip about."

Somewhere in the far reaches of the big house you could almost hear a clock tolling midnight and warning Cinderella that the ball was over.

Chicago's Police Station Guarded

CHICAGO (UPI)—Police Supt. Orlando Wilson has ordered a 24-hour guard at police headquarters.

Detectives have been unable to solve thefts of tools and supplies from the building.

Senator Rebukes Gripping Soldiers

MADRID (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said yesterday U. S. military reservists who complain about being called back to duty are "just a lot of bitching freeloaders who wanted some extra income."

The conservative Republican senator, here as part of a tour of duty as a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve, spoke at a news conference.

"This senator," Goldwater said, "has received no complaints from reservists called up in his state of Arizona. Those who do complain are just a lot of bitching freeloaders who wanted some extra income."

Goldwater said he was referring to reservists who collected pay for 48 drill periods a year to keep in readiness for active duty, then "gripped" when called upon to serve.

He made his statement in answer to a question about morale among troops called up for temporary duty.

The graying one-time combat pilot is now a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964.

Laredoes Seeking Top Level Parley

LAREDO (UPI) — Leaders of the two Laredoes have urged President John F. Kennedy and Adolfo Lopez Mateos to hold their proposed conference in the Laredo-Nuevo Laredo area.

U. S. Consul Ben Zweig, a former Laredoan, has sent messages to U. S. Ambassador Thomas C. Mann in Mexico City, asking him to make the recommendation through diplomatic channels.

Zweig did this at the request of large delegations which called on him.

World's largest machine tool plant is located in Cincinnati, Ohio.

OLEANDER'S CHRISTMAS EVE

"Why have you tried to ruin Christmas for all the good little children who live here?" asked Santa.

"Because no one thought to hang up a stocking for me!" said Oleander.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

From Geneva and Paris lately Communist sources have been "leaking" the word that Nikita Khrushchev has given up the idea of an early four-power meeting on Germany and now prefers direct talks with the United States instead.

This may account for the comparatively mild Moscow reaction to President Kennedy's interview with the editor of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and for the fact that Soviet officials, while remaining highly critical of Western policy, have refrained from direct attacks on the President personally.

Soviet newspapers have been suggesting that a Kennedy visit to Russia might be worthwhile. The Soviet sources who have been suggesting that Khrushchev has abandoned the idea of a four-powered meeting, also have suggested that there are other areas aside from Berlin that might be discussed.

Specifically, they mention disarmament and Southeast Asia.

The switch in Soviet thinking, according to these sources, springs from the belief that French President Charles de Gaulle will continue to veto early East-West talks on Berlin and that for the sake of NATO unity the United States and Britain will go along with De Gaulle.

Under these circumstances, they say, Khrushchev will go ahead with his plan to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

On Kennedy's side, the President already has admitted that the goal of a reunified Germany is impossible without Russian agreement.

The question of a separate Russian treaty with East Germany then becomes almost academic.

Ostensibly, a Khrushchev-Kennedy meeting in Moscow might be arranged so as to avoid the Berlin question.

Practically, it would seem impossible since only last weekend Secretary of State Dean Rusk reiterated that the United States still regards Germany as the world's No. 1 problem.

Disarmament must be ruled out so long as the Soviets insist upon disarmament in advance of iron-clad controls.

Forecast Issued For Coming Year

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Business in 1962 generally will be good, but there are some real economic worries as the nation heads into the new year.

This is the consensus of some 15 leading Washington government, labor, private and business economists whose views were sought by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. for this year-end survey. Here are the highlights of their "average" predictions:

—The cost of living should not go up more than 1½ to 2 per cent. Unemployment should go down moderately to about 4½ per cent of the labor force.

—The gross national product should move up from an average of $520 billion this year to $560 billion or $565 billion next year.

—Credit should not be too hard to get for the home buyer, consumer or businessman.

—Interest rates may move up a little.

—Labor costs may rise by 3 to 3½ per cent.

There is remarkable uniformity in these guesses, whether they come from government, business, labor or private research institute economists.

New construction is expected to increase by 4 to 5 per cent. Retail trade may be up 5 to 6 per cent. Machine tool demand is likely to rise 10 per cent, partly due to foreign orders. Automobile sales may hit between 6.7 and 7 million cars, contrasted with 5.9 million in 1961. Steel output is likely to be up 8 to 10 per cent.

Business failures will continue high. Airlines and railroads are expected to face financial problems. But net over-all corporate profits should improve in 1962.

Productivity is shooting up at a lively rate. Output per man hour has gone up at the rate of 10 per cutting production costs. They would like to see price decreases. But the government economists say they are not at all certain the Administration can get labor to hold back as much as it wants on wage demands and industry to hold back as much as it wants on profits to allow the price cuts they believe essential.

The U. S. gold problem is expected to get worse before it gets better, regardless of government and private moves, say the economists. With the U. S. until recently in a recession and Europe in a boom, there has been a tendency for the U. S. to import less and for Europe to buy more from America.

Now, with the U. S. in the midst of a recovery, this country is buying more from abroad. With European recovery slackening a little, the Europeans are expected to buy less from the United States. More American imports and a tougher time for exports add up to a greater drain on U.S. gold.

This pressure will not be overcome easily. Meeting competition requires higher U. S. productivity.

tool industry is expected to run at only 50 per cent of capacity in 1962 and steel at 60 to 70 per cent of capacity.

Unemployment is the second chief worry of Administration economists. None of the economists interviewed, either in or out of government, now expects the Administration to even come near its goal of cutting unemployment to 4 per cent. In fact, few of them think that unemployment will go much below 5½ per cent at the top of the 1962 prosperity.

One reason is that the drive for automation in 1962 centers on industries that use large amounts of labor — iron and steel, metal fabrication and textiles.

Consumer buying is gradually shifting away from goods into services. Consumers spent 39 per cent of their 1959 spending dollar for services, 42 per cent of their 1961 dollar and they're expected to spend even more of their 1962 dollar for services.

This cuts back relatively on the demand for goods. It means that less industrial capacity than it would otherwise need. That means less of a need to expand capacity, which in turn means less of an increase in industrial capital investment. That puts a damper on increases in industrial employment.

It means that a greater share of capital investment goes into labor saving or automatic devices, cutting back on the number of workers needed in the automating industries, instead of increasing capacity and the number of industrial workers.

Growing competition among domestic and foreign producers, the economists figure, will bring less pressure by labor against automation but more pressure on companies to cushion the effects of automation on the worker. There's a feeling that management will make some slight gains in the right to manage.

Two major worries bother the Administration. First is the continuing drain on gold. The situation is bad for the third straight year.

Some key government and private economists worry that foreign nations may lose their faith in the dollar. This worry is back of the current Administration talk of a "balanced budget."

Other government and private economists say they think a balanced budget would be "dangerous" right now. They claim it may help to cut the gold outflow temporarily but they assert that it will throw the recovery out of kilter. They hold out for more spending.

Privately the economists interviewed agree that the real solution to the gold drain would be to increase exports. They agree that export increases depend on it. Though U. S. productivity is increasing at a record rate, business economists say that more than two-thirds of the machine tools in use in the U. S. are obsolete.

They say that if industry expects to improve its productivity sufficiently to compete more efficiently in world markets, many of these tools must be replaced rapidly. Yet plans for new 1962 capital investment are barely ahead of investment programs for the fall of 1961. The key machine like to see steel's wage gains kept below 2½ per cent a year. Any of these assumptions being wrong could set off a chain reaction that would put a crimp in the predictions for 1962.

The federal budget really will not be balanced, despite the current talk of budget balancing.

The Federal Reserve Board will not take strong action to pinch credit.

Increasing foreign competition on the world markets plus increasing pressure from competing products and consumer resistance will tend to hold prices down.

The size of the unemployment pool will help to keep wage rises "moderate."

The Administration will step in and tell labor that the steel industry has kept its side of the bargain by not raising prices and now it is labor's turn to keep its side of the bargain by not pushing for steel wage and fringe benefit increases greater than the rise in productivity. There are hints the Administration would ent a year during the last eight months. It's expected to rise almost another 5 per cent during 1962.

The assumptions these economists make are even more significant than their predictions. They're betting that:

Federal, state and local government spending will continue their marked upward rate during 1962, despite talks of holdbacks. Typical estimate: a 1962 increase of $10 billion in combined federal, state and local expenditures in the next year.

The federal budget really will not be balanced, despite the current talk of budget balancing.

The Federal Reserve Board will not take strong action to pinch credit.

Increasing foreign competition on the world markets plus increasing pressure from competing products and consumer resistance will tend to hold prices down.

Scientists Solve Dolphin's Secret

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The dolphin's secret was no longer a secret today.

Scientists have announced they knew how the sleek little mammals ride waves without wiggling a flipper but manage to maintain the speed of a ship.

The mystery has puzzled sailors for centuries.

Dr. Allan J. Acosta and Taras Kiceniuk of Caltech's hydrodynamics laboratory and Dr. Bryne Perry of Stanford University solved the problem with a torpedo model in a water tunnel.

The metal "dolphin," about one foot long and two inches in diameter, was used to show that drag force would be reduced in the model was located in the forward part of the wave.

In other words, the scientists said, the dolphin's performance is similar to the surf rider's who constantly is "falling" down the slope of an advancing wave.

This bunny is getting its blood pressure taken by a research scientist at Wallace Laboratories in New Jersey to help determine the effectiveness of a new drug which reduces high blood pressure. The bunny helped make the test successful.

TIME PIECE—A man of many "faces," this figure of an old Puritan clock-mender of the 1830s puts its best foot forward at the Kensington Antique Fair in London. At one time, all the clocks on the figure kept time.

VISIONARY—The sun glasses sported by this youth at Perugia, Italy, are peace-hued, trimmed with the three-pronged emblem of "Committee For Non-Violent Action." The slogan reads, "Let's bury atom bombs, not humanity."

IT'S GREEK TO THEM—The chorus of the Greek Tragedy Theatre of Athens was fascinated by the tiny radios that translated their Greek performances of Sophocles' "Electra" into English for the audience at New York's City Center. They speak very little English.

THE LONG DAY

D-DAY 1961—During the filming of "The Longest Day" Nancy Sinatra Sands (left) watches the invasion of Normandy when, in his role as an American ranger, hubby Tommy Sands received a real injury while scaling the cliff at Pointe du Hoc. He had to limp back to the first aid station (right) accompanied by his battle-rigged wife.

SCENTIMENTAL—Thien Hwong (her name means "Heavenly Perfume" in her native Viet Nam) is a movie star of the East who is following the film career trail to the West by degrees. She's shown here in Rome.

CHEESE CHOOSER—Against an old-time-movie backdrop, a pretty fraulein rolled out a giant wheel of Swiss cheese at the opening of the International Food Fair in Cologne, West Germany. More than 2,000 exhibitors from 45 countries were showing their food products at the show and that's quite a bit of good eating.

Dear Abby....

Moral Codes Are Set at Home

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently visited our daughter at the State University. We were amazed at the freedom these college girls are given. After their freshman year they have almost no supervision. No wonder so many of our young people get into trouble. Is this the new trend? What is wrong with our universities?

MOTHER OF A SOPHOMORE
DEAR MOTHER: Nothing is wrong with our universities. It's our homes. A child comes to the university with the moral code and set of values he has learned at home. One should not expect an academic institution to do the job that should have been done by parents years before.

DEAR ABBY: A man in our office is the world's biggest heel. He's the type who will make time with a girl in the evening and talk about it the next day.

He is now trying to con a sweet little 22-year-old farm girl into letting him drive her home for the Christmas holidays. It's a 500-mile trip, which I'm sure he doesn't intend to make in one day — if you know what I mean. This little kid started working here in June and might accept his offer in order to save the pane fare. Who should wise up the girl? Or should someone tell the boss? Don't suggest talking to

Like combs, brushes, or anything else used for grooming purposes, your make-up and other beauty requisites also should be cleaned regularly and kept in top condition.

Goodies For The Cooks Who Make The Goodies

New kitchen appliance for holiday bride or busy homemaker is this rectangular power unit housing motor and control dial for five separate attachments. Red and green-printed terry towel and apron carry Christmas greetings ments: beaters, juicer, blender, knife sharpener, a coffee grinder, all in light and lustrous white and beige plastic.

More electric can openers are in evidence with greater emphasis on those that handle any size or shape of can. Griddles with warming trays, sleek toasters, portable oven-broiler combinations are other candidates for Christmas-in-the-kitchen.

Electric skillets gain more usefulness at the buffet table, due to substitution of grip handles for stick-type handles. High-domed lids extend the cooking range of skillets to include roasting, braising and preparation of casseroles.

Smokeless tabletop kabob cookers use electrically heated rods for cooking instead of charcoal. Few cooks will be able to resist the gay seasonal prints in towels and aprons. Motifs lean toward jolly and amusing interpretations of Christmas trees, elves, animals, and the like. Printed on terry or on linen, they are practical helpmates in the kitchen.

Gifts from the kitchens of Class A cooks will never go out of style. In fact, the giving of fruit cakes, candies, and homemade jams or jellies quickly becomes a tradition within a family. The making of home-baked goodies readily becomes an annual event that the youngsters anticipate, too, and delight to lend a hand.

IN THE OFFICE

DEAR IN: A kiss-and-tell reputation gets around an office fast. Either the girl doesn't know better (in which case YOU should tell her) or she isn't the "sweet kid" you think she is.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law used to make a very delicious cake. There was NO flour in it, but she used a half cup of meal. It was the best cake I ever tasted. Everyone wanted the recipe, but she never gave it out. She carried it in her head. Well, she died, may the Lord rest her soul, and she took the recipe with her. I can't find a recipe like it anywhere. It stood as high as an angel cake and she folded the egg whites and yolks in separately. Can you or any of your readers help me?

DEAR MRS L: I think I have your recipe. Send me your name and a self-addressed stamped envelope and it's yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HOME-SICK: You are married to a VERY sick man. Tell him that he either goes for psychiatric help or you will not continue to live like a prisoner in your own home.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

Just Call Her

"The Errand Girl"

There's one time-consuming job I've never seen listed with the other duties of today's housewife and that's errand-running.

Yet any housewife who has an automobile of her own or even occasional use of the family car spends hours every week in running errands for the family.

When a suburban housewife is not actually chauffeuring children, chances are she is running errands, "toting" groceries, leaving clothes at the cleaners or picking them up, going to the bank, taking a broken piece of household equipment to be mended, delivering cookies to a bake sale, hurrying the theme junior left at home to his classroom, taking shoes to the cobbler, picking something up at the drugstore — and so on and on and on, day after day and week after week.

The fact is that the average housewife has so many errands to run that the only way she can keep track of them all is by keeping an errand list.

It is the kind of list that is never finished because it is constantly being extended. As soon as a housewife picks up a table lamp she left to be repaired, a table lamp goes haywire.

No wonder so many housewives drive station wagons. They may have been purchased as a status symbol — but they've become almost a necessity for the errand-running housewife who actually runs a pickup and delivery service.

Even when the housewife hops in her car for a purely social engagement chances are she has a couple errands to do on the way to her tea or luncheon or on the way home.

A housewife can easily spend a full day a week running errands — and have nothing much to show for her efforts, and no feeling of accomplishment.

And yet errand-running is never mentioned as one of the modern housewife's biggest headaches and most time-consuming duties.

Cincinnati Rally Nips Drake Bulldogs 60-59

United Press International
Ohio State's Jerry Lucas may be college basketball's No. 1 glamor boy but the Cincinnati Bearcats will take Paul Hogue when the chips are down.

The 6-foot, 3-inch, 240-pound Hogue once again proved his mettle under fire Monday night when he scored the Bearcats' final eight points in a 69-59 victory over tough, high-scoring Drake. The win extended the Bearcats' two-season winning streak to 26 games and kept them hard on the heels of Ohio State for the nation's No. 1 ranking.

Drake had a 53-44 lead with four minutes and nine seconds left and might well have scored the biggest upset of the new season except that it elected to try to beat Cincinnati at its own game.

Defense. The Bulldogs went into a modified stall to protect their lead but it didn't work.

Showing no signs of panic under the pressure, the Bearcats' Larry Shingleton and Tony Yates scored three baskets on "steals" to cut the margin to 53-50. The Bulldogs led, 56-55, with 54 seconds left but Hogue connected with two free throws 13 seconds later to give Cincinnati the lead and then added two more free throws with 12 seconds remaining to give the Bearcats a three-point lead.

Fifth-ranked Duke routed Clemson, 89-66, in an Atlantic Coast Conference opener, sixth-ranked Purdue bowed to Wichita, 71-68, and eighth-ranked Arizona State topped Kansas, 72-58, in other big games.

Art Heyman scored 26 points as Duke's Blue Devils won their fourth straight game of the season. Duke had a 19-point lead after 10 minutes and had a 24-point lead early in the second half.

A pair of mediumsized guards, overcame at 26-point performance by Purdue's Terry Dischinger to give Wichita its decision over the sixth-ranked Boiler-makers. Lanny Van Eman, 5-11, scored 21 points and Bernie Moore, 5-10, tallied 20.

Five-foot, nine-inch guard Larry Armstrong engineered Arizona State's fast break and also led the scoring with 20 points to help present coach Ned Wulk with his 75th victory since taking over in 1957-58.

Kentucky, ranked 14th, scored an important victory when it downed 17th-ranked St. Louis, 86-77, at Lexington, Ky. Cotton Nash scored 30 points as the Wildcats built a 14-point lead well into the second half and then beat off the Billikens' final spurt. George Latinovich led St. Louis with 19 points.

Five Pampa Cage Teams Undeclared

Lee's 7th grade Rebels crushed Borger Sam Houston 44-13 last Friday afternoon to retain one of five unbeaten marks carried by city cage teams.

James Matney, Jack Thompson and Doc Cornutt hit in double figures for the Rebels as they sacked up their second victory of the season.

Matney was the leading scorer with 15 points. Thompson and Cornutt chipped in 12 points each.

In a B game, the Lee team swamped Borger Houston by an amazing 24-0 count. Terry McIlvain was the top point getter with six.

Other action last week saw the Pampa Harvesters and Shockers continue unbeaten in seven games with a pair of weekend triumphs over Haltom City.

Wayne Kreis hit the season high for a Pampa loopman with 26 points in leading the Harvesters to a 74-51 win Saturday night.

Randy Matson canned 25 points for the second time this season in the Friday night game won by Pampa 67-50.

The Shockers rolled behind the shooting of sophomore Gary Sikses — who accounted for 29 points in the two games — to whip the Buff B team 56-43 and 58-31.

In other games, the Lee 9th grade held onto a first place tie by tripping Borger Sam Houston 33-27 and the Rebel 8th turned in a 35-23 victory. The Pampa Reapers lost to Phillips 35-25 for their third defeat in a row.

Heading the action slate this week will be three important games by the Harvesters. Hereford, a rugged AAA club and loser only 67-57 in the season opener to Pampa, invades Harvesters Tuesday night and the mighty, unbeaten Hobbs, N.M. Eagles venture into town for Friday and Saturday night battles.

Lee's 8th and 9th graders play White Deer Tuesday afternoon and Perryton Thursday afternoon at the Rebel Gym. The latter game is a conference clash for the Rebel teams.

The Reapers journey to Borger Thursday afternoon for a clash with Sam Houston and Friday afternoon the Pampa 7th hosts Borger Austin at the Pampa Junior High gym.

Buckeyes Top Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State's defending national champions held the top spot in the United Press International Board of Coaches major college basketball ratings for the second straight week today with a near-perfect 341 points.

The magnificent Buckeyes, who won the title last season with an unprecedented perfect score of 350 points after leading the ratings every single week, were the top pick this week of 26 of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI rating board. The nine other coaches, five from each of the seven geographical regions of the country, named them second.

Cincinnati, which upset Ohio State in the NCAA finals last season for the Buckeyes' only loss, was second again this week with 321 points, while Kansas State, tied for fourth a week ago, moved up to third with 215 points. Providence was fourth with 166. Points are distributed on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th.

Duke, Purdue, Southern California, Arizona State, West Virginia and Wake Forest completed the top 10 in that order. Wake Forest, which drew the only other first-place vote this week, slipped from third to 10th following a Saturday night loss to Ohio State with the others all moving up one notch each.

Ohio State rolled over three opponents — Pittsburgh and Wichita in addition to Wake Forest — last week but plays only once this week, taking on Loyola (Ill.) on Saturday. In four games thus far this season, the Buckeyes, led by All-American Jerry Lucas, have tallied 360 points and given up 260.

Cincinnati, in action this week against Drake and Marshall, has won all three of its 1951 starts. West Virginia is the only other team beside Ohio State in the top 10 that has won four games.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International major college basketball ratings, with first-place votes and worst records in parentheses:

5. Duke (3-0)	135
6. Purdue (2-0)	124
7. Southern Cal (3-1)	105
8. Arizona State (3-0)	98
9. West Virginia (4-0)	73
10. Wake Forest (1) (2-1)	65

Joe Romig Selected Top College Lineman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Guard Joe Romig of Colorado, a genius at figuring out and wrecking enemy plays and a certified "straight A" genius in the classroom, today was named college football's "Lineman of the Year" for 1951 in a nationwide poll by United Press International.

"He is the best I've ever seen, and I saw a lot when I was playing and coaching at Michigan State," said Colorado coach Sonny Grandelius.

The sports writers and broadcasters of the nation agreed that Romig was at least tops this season. But the 315 votes cast were widely scattered among no less than 47 players in a year which the professional scouts already have rated an excellent one for producing line talent in colleges.

Romig received 61 votes, only 20 per cent of those cast, but a solid margin over 265-pound tackle Merlin Olsen of Utah State, who was runner-up with 37 votes. Tackle Billy Neighbors of Alabama was third with 25, end Gary Collins of Maryland fourth with 24, and center Alex Kroll of Rutgers fifth with 22.

Romig, the smallest lineman on the UPI All-America team at 5-10 and 200 pounds, previously had drawn the greatest number of votes by a lineman in the All-America balloting. He earned his honors with brilliant linebacking, plus top blocking on offense.

But he might just as well have won the honor for his scholastic achievements, which are so impressive that he probably will bypass professional football for academic advancement.

Romig has a 3.87 scholastic average out of a possible 4.0. In the last four semesters at Colorado, he has taken 89 hours of credit in the classroom — and scored straight A in 77. He is majoring in physics.

Grandelius simply can't praise

Romig's work as middle linebacker on defense enough.

"He is the best linebacker I've ever seen," said Grandelius. "I've never seen anyone with an instinct for the ball such as he has. He is where the ball is, and it doesn't matter whether it's a run or a pass into his flat area. He for a linebacker who shoots the knocked down at least seven passes, which is really unusual gap most of the time."

Former Grid Champs Regain State Finals

Three former state grid champions — including defending class AAA Nederland — shoot for added glory to already enriched football traditions this weekend in the final week of football in Texas schoolboy with championship games being played in the top four classes.

Mighty Wichita Falls, gunning for its fifth state crown, and class AAA Nederland are the other state champions in the field. The latter, however, is the underdog in its game with Dumas' speedy Demons. Coach Joe Golding's Coyotes are primed to take the big title over Galena Park and Albany is a heavy favorite over Hull-Daisetta in class A.

In the other game, undefeated Quanah is a favorite to make it four grid championships for Northwest and West Texas. The Indians meet surprising Donna Saturday night for the AA crown.

Wichita Falls, which may be in its final heyday since a new AAA school opens next fall in this city, owns a perfect mark of 13 straight wins in gaining the finals for the fourth straight time. The Coyotes, who have lost just three games out of the last 55 played, won championships in 1941, 1949, 1950 and 1958.

All state fullback Larry Shields is the workhorse of the powerful Coyote machine. He is a third year all-stater and his little brother, Ronnie, made the second team all-stater eleven this year. Back in 1950, another brother, Bennie, now at Oklahoma, was also an all-stater.

Albany owns the longest winning skein in the top four classes with 28 in a row. The awesome Lions trounced a big, well-regarded Wink eleven last week 28-6 to gain a third trip to the finals.

Coach Carl Spooner's griders whipped Crosby 20-0 last season for the title and were beaten 26-6 by Deer Park in the 1954 title clash.

Halfback Johnny Agan, end Rocky Hill, quarterback Roy Hogan and tackle Bill Stapp lead a star-studded array of talent.

Hill is a three time all-state selection while Agan and Stapp, both juniors, are two time all-staters.

Nederland smashed Sweetwater 20-7 in the 1957 class AAA title game after losing 3-0 to Garland in 1956.

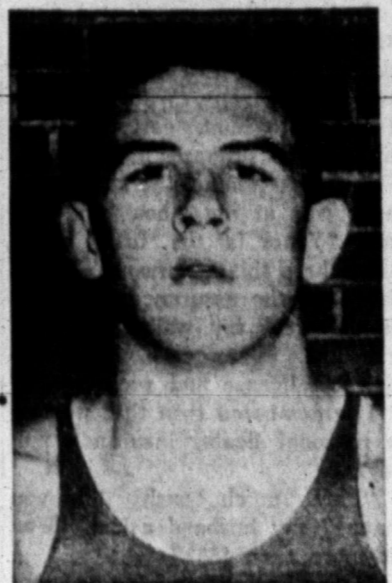

Dumas is in the playoffs for the first time since 1933 when the Demons, a class B outfit then, were whipped by Groom in bi-district.

All-state quarterback Mike Boxwell and all-state junior end Kelley Baker are the stars on this high-scoring eleven, which has been impressive in smashing Seminole 14-0, Breckinridge 34-8 and Gainesville 29-0 in the playoffs.

Quanah and Donna have never reached the finals before. This is the first time for Quanah to get past the bi-district round while the Donna Redskins got to the semi-finals in 1951 before losing to LaVega 38-7.

COME OUT FIGHTING — In a battle of towering basketball players in Honolulu, Gene Conley, left, of the Washington Tapers scuffles with Hawaii's Fred Sawyer, who also stands six feet eight inches. Conley, the oft-traded major league baseball pitcher, suffered a broken hand.

LEADING SCORER — Top point getter for the Pampa Harvesters is 6-5 junior Randy Matson with 145 points in seven games for a 20.5 average. Matson has twice hit 25 points. The Harvesters play Hereford here tonight.

Wilhelm To Fight Thursday

A pair of open division battles featuring Gary Wilhelm versus "Cowboy" Ray Willamore and Kenneth Woods against Ronnie Morgan will be the main attraction Thursday night when Dee's Boxing Club of Amarillo and the Pampa Optimists meet at 7:30 at the Boy's Club Building.

Wilhelm, son of Pampa boxing coach Ollie Wilhelm, is one — if not the best, — of the flashiest boxers in the Panhandle and over the state as well. Gary was runner-up in the 1950 AAU tournament while attending Wisconsin University and was voted the outstanding sophomore fighter on the Badger team.

Willamore has a record equal to that of Wilhelm says Pampa boxing director Cliff Dunham. Willamore hails from Idaho where he captured numerous state titles in several Western states.

Morgan, a nephew of Pampa's Morris Morgan, is undefeated this season and was a finalist in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth last year. He will weigh in at 140 pounds for the bout with Woods.

A veteran Golden Gloves fighter, with three appearances in the state bouts, Woods is making an impressive comeback after a three year layoff.

Harvesters Gun For Eighth Win Without Defeat

It is cold and there is snow on the ground, but the way the Pampa Harvesters have been playing basketball, it would seem to be mid-summer — for the local cagers have been red hot in stringing up a seven game victory streak this season.

But Coach Terry Culley's Harvesters may find the going a little rough tonight — not because of a hard time to get to the gym — when the always tough class AAA Hereford Whitefaces invade Pampa for an important non-conference clash at 8 p.m. at Harvester Fieldhouse.

A prelude to the main event will be a 6:15 battle between the Shockers, also-unbeaten, and the Hereford B team.

Hereford gave the Harvesters all they could handle in the opening game of the season before succumbing to the local powerhouse 67-57. Playing with only three days practice, the Whitefaces applied a full court press to stake a 35-27 halftime lead.

Pampa rallied with a stupendous 28 point third period outburst to blast the Whitefaces into submission.

Coach Cuba Kitchen's cagers have also lost to two other district 3 - AAAA clubs by close margins while chalking up four victories. The Whitefaces were nipped 52-50 by defending champion Palo Duro in an overtime battle and fell to Plainview 55-46.

Jim Haney, a 6-4 sophomore forward, was the big gun against Pampa in the opener as he pumped in 19 points — 16 in the first half.

But little Dennis Hodges, a 5-8 guard and the lone returning starter at Hereford has come on of late to lead the team in scoring with a 16 point average.

Pampa will have a slight height advantage with 6-6 Randy Matson, 6-3 Bobby Neslage and Lloyd Balch, 6-1.

The Harvesters have been improving bit by bit and reached a season high of few mistakes Saturday night in turning back Haltom City, 74-51.

And the Pampa scoring attack has developed into a well balanced unit. At the outset of the season, it was believed that Matson would have to carry most of the load.

Well, Matson has been everything — and then some — that people thought he would be. The Pampa junior star heads the club in scoring with 145 points and also in rebounds.

But Kreis and guard Keith Swanson have taken a lot of the load off of Matson. Kreis-pumped in 26 points Saturday night against Haltom City and had 19 in a game with Lamar.

Swanson hit 13 against Haltom City Friday and was the hero in leading the Harvesters past Hereford in the opener.

Culley will stick with his same line-up with Gordon Balch, Kreis, Matson, Neslage and L. Balch.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The New Year's Day Cotton Bowl meeting between Texas and Mississippi was officially declared a sellout Monday when Mississippi informed bowl headquarters that it was out of tickets. That means a certain crowd of 75,504.

ACC Grid Coach Resigns Position

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — L. Nicholson, head football coach at Abilene Christian College, said Monday he is quitting college coaching.

Abilene Christian president Don H. Morse said Nicholson made his intentions known to the administration last Oct. 17.

"I had been considering leaving college coaching for some time," Nicholson said. He gave no immediate reason for wanting to quit.

Morse said Nicholson had requested that the announcement be withheld until after football season. Nicholson, who came to ACC in 1955, guided his Wildcat teams to 28 wins, 30 losses and one tie.

'Free' Bus Rides

We hesitate in writing these words.

We are fearful that in setting forth this latest instance of governmental socialism certain local officials may see in the story a path to be pursued. We can only hope that they are inspired sufficiently with the principles of property rights so that no such errand thought will rise up to haunt them.

For until such time as we human beings have in mind a firmly established concept of property ownership as a PRINCIPLE, the kind of thing we have to report will occur on an ever-widening scale.

We have reference to a recent event in Ithaca, New York.

There, it seems, that city of some 30,000 in the Finger Lakes region of the Empire State, has a transportation problem. The problem is identical to the problem presently rearing its head in hundreds of other larger or smaller cities.

It seems that Ithaca has a "public" transit system that is losing money. Also, it seems that so many private persons drive their cars into the downtown area that parking spaces are at a premium and there is some congestion.

To confront this problem the Ithaca Common Council is seeking federal help in support of its antiquated bus operation, which is presently (of course) a city monopoly.

The proposition, supported by a unanimous vote of the entire council present at the meeting which considered the problem, is this:

1. A sum of $31,000 will be appropriated from tax funds to purchase four new buses.

2. A federal grant will be requested so that all Ithaca's residents may ride the buses any time they like "free" of charge.

Federal Urban Transportation Administrator John C. Kohl has stated in Washington that the proposal is welcome and that he sees no reason why the funds cannot be made available.

Arthur Stallman, head of the Ithaca transportation committee, says there is every indication that the grant will be made.

And there you have it. The city is hopeful that with "free" transportation available on all buses for all persons on all routes at all hours, people will be induced to leave their cars at home, that there will be no further operation deficit and all will be happy and lovely in Ithaca.

In fact, the proposal is to do away with bus tickets, tokens or other items of exchange. Instead, the buses will simply be equipped with some kind of tallying device which will tabulate the number of persons operating the system.

How lovely for Ithaca. How lousy for a nation consisting, we have supposed, of free and independent human beings.

Here are the Peters of Ithaca, to be transported at the expense of the Pauls of Pampa, et al.

And the temptation, of course, will be for this city to set up a clamor so that the Peters of Pampa can be transported (for precisely the same reasons) at the expense of the Pauls of Ithaca et al.

When looting is adopted as a public policy, as it was in the days of Rome, only two possible avenues are open to the denizens of the area. They may either object to looting on principle and insist on solving their own problems. Or they may object to the looting of some for the benefit of others and insist that they share in the general spoliation.

Without much in the way of objection, the brief history of the 20th century in America demonstrates that we are far more prone to seek to get in on the plunder than to object to looting on principle.

Alas, when such a story can be reported, and in good faith, it is clear that we have gone down the road to oblivion an enormous distance. Nor is the end in sight.

The Right Tool

When it is basic education about economics that is needed, it is as foolish to look for a political remedy as to seek to extinguish a fire with kerosene.

Paying For Service

Today is not newspaper boy day. Also, today is not part of a week in which we commemorate the newspaper boy. As a matter of fact this particular week isn't even a part of the month in which we usually remember the newspaper boy.

But we'd like to take a moment now, on just an ordinary day, in which we call attention to the newspaper boy and the job he does.

Recently, we have had several letters from readers who have praised their particular news carriers, and words of this sort are much appreciated. Most people rarely write to newspapers and when they do, they customarily do so because they are angry and upset over something. It is a rare thing to receive a letter of praise for a newspaper boy or for anything else, for that matter, and we would like to encourage this particular outlook to the extent of our ability.

We are particularly motivated to this view by an anonymous letter we received which, because of its anonymity, we may not publish.

But we will quote suitable passages from the letter for we think they are pertinent.

"I am writing to say I am sorry to see the conditions of being a paper boy haven't changed any since my brother was one four years ago.

"It is a shame how the readers of (a newspaper) mistreat and take advantage of their paper boys. Some boys get out to deliver their papers in all kinds of weather, no matter if it is hot or cold, raining or sunny. . .

"While talking to my paper boy this morning he mentioned that often-times people on his route 'forget' to pay him for months on end.

"How would these people feel if after working a week their employer said, 'I am sorry — but couldn't I pay you next week?'

"By the way, I don't have a son, but if I ever do I won't let him be a paper boy. He would have to take too much guff off the public and get no pay for it."

Our unknown communicant has made a good point and we think it should generally be expressed. The writer has instinctively (perhaps) recognized that the customers are the real employers and that all of us are always working for our customers. And, of course, when an employer (customer) does not pay his bills, those working for him invariably suffer.

As a matter of fact, the usual excuse, "Come back tomorrow," is devastating to the newsboy, who has many people to call on. His time is precious and he cannot always manage the return trip to suit the convenience of the thoughtless subscriber. Subscribers who do have their funds ready when the newsboys appear go down in a special list in the mind of the newsboy as "the most wonderful people on my route."

But our unidentified friend is in error if it is supposed that newsboys are the only ones to suffer from this kind of neglect. Indeed this is one of the very best reasons why young men benefit so hugely from a stint as a newspaper boy. For carrying a newspaper is being in business. And the young lad or lass who carries a route finds out very quickly just what business is all about. In a real sense he is an independent businessman. He buys his papers, wholesale and distributes them retail. If he is not paid by his customers, he, not the Pampa News is the loser.

Alas, it is too true that there are always a few persons who neglect to pay their bills. And one can presume that newsboys are more frequently neglected in this regard than others, for newsboys normally do not threaten their customers with retaliation if they are neglectful. Therefore, there will always be some (we suppose) who will try to take advantage of a newsboy and rob him of the few pennies he has so diligently earned.

Fortunately, the bulk of all customers are always thoughtful. Were this not the case, carrying newspapers would be impossible. Most people try to be considerate and great effort is made to cause the newsboy to be equally considerate.

But no system that could be devised would create a paradise wherein all newsboys would be perfect or all customers perfect. It is a melancholy fact of life that man is prone to err and sometimes that he is prone to err deliberately.

All each of us can do is to see that we are above reproach in the area of our own responsibility. And in this connection, certainly every customer should consider it a primary moral obligation to pay all bills promptly and when due, and certainly to induce their newsboys in such payments.

UNDER SCRUTINY — A close eye is being kept on Eduardo Arosamena, 40-year-old brother of Ecuador's 42-year-old new left wing President.

Eduardo, named by his brother, Dr. Carlos Julio Arosamena, ex Minister-Counselor of their country's Washington embassy, has been a frequent visitor to the Soviet embassy. He is known to be on warm terms with its top officials.

Carlos Arosamena became President of Ecuador last month after violent outbreaks forced the resignation of President Jose Velasco Ibarra, who left the country. Last June, Arosamena visited Russia and Red China. Immediately after taking office, he reversed Ibarra's announced intention to break diplomatic relations with Cuba's Communist dictator Fidel Castro.

Authoritative sources attribute this action by Arosamena to his brother Eduardo.

The Arosamena regime is seeking $100 million in grants and loans under President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. Galo Plaza Lasso, a former Ecuador president who is known here, was given the job of wangling these funds.

So far he is still negotiating — and Eduardo is being closely watched.

A revealing memorandum on the background of the Arosamenas is in the hands of members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The detailed document is sharply critical of both of them. Among its highlights are the following:

Carlos Arosamena was expelled from the U.S. when he was Counselor of the Ecuadorian embassy, "due to repeated scandals and public disorders while intoxicated, which ended in his being held for 24 hours by the Washington police, in spite of his diplomatic status. The Ecuadorian Charge d'Affaires, later Ambassador Neptali Ponce, had to intervene many times."

As Vice President, Arosamena and his supporters, upon becoming aware of President Ibarra's plan to break relations with Castro, "precipitated the coup d'etat which they had been planning with the country's leftist elements, especially pro-Castro students. This explains the student uprisings which brought about the split in the army and the overthrow of the Ibarra government."

Since taking office, Arosamena has modified the Ecuadorian constitution to enable him to put into effect "measures adopted by Castro in the initial phases of his regime. Under these modifications of the constitution, Arosamena is now in a position to employ terror to intimidate the opposition and the military forces, confiscate property of those classed as enemies of the government, and to impose political dictatorship."

ME, TOO — Since the announcement of President Kennedy's plans to make a series of visits to Latin American countries starting this week, Cuba's bulky dictator Castro has put out feelers for invitations for similar trips. Mexico, Ecuador, Brazil and Argentina have been sounded out on that. . . Guatemala's former leftist President Arbenz is delivering a series of lectures in Havana on "The Cuban Revolution. Vis-a-Vis Latin American Countries." The pro-Communist talks are under the auspices of the Castro regime.

Allen - Scott Report:

Record Budget for Next Fiscal Year Coming from President—$92 to $93 Billion

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's budget for the coming fiscal year will be between $92 and $93 billion.

This stupendous total will set a number of records. It will be the largest peace-time budget; the third highest in the country's history; some $3 billion more than Congress voted for the current fiscal year; and $10.5 billion greater than for 1960, President Eisenhower's last year in office.

This year's budget is $88.985 billion. Greatest U.S. budget was $98.416 billion in 1945, final year of World War II; second largest was $95 billion in 1944.

Most of next year's increases will be for defense and space. A $50 billion ceiling for military expenditures has been tentatively set by the President for the fiscal year starting July 1. That is approximately $3 billion more than this year's $46.85 billion.

In the Cabinet deliberations on the budget, the President has laid down the firm edict that it must not exceed federal revenues — estimated by Treasury Secretary Dillon at around $92 billion. This year's revenues are calculated at $82.1 billion — with a resulting projected deficit of $6.9 billion.

"We promised a balanced budget in 1963," the President said, "and barring an unforeseen emergency, we are going to make good on that."

His method to accomplish it is to hold down domestic expenditures. The President has personally ordered department and agency heads to clamp a tight lid on such spending.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman and Veterans Administrator John Gleason, Jr., particularly were directed to cut their budgets. Gleason was told to reduce his below the $5.444 billion for this year; and Freeman his below the $4.783 billion his department is spending this year.

The President also has asked to "reconsider" a requested $200 million increase over its current $2.684 billion budget.

AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg is seeking the additional money on the ground it is necessary for a number of urgent purposes — nuclear weapons development and tests, particularly in space, two highly classified missile projects, and the purchase of uranium concentrates.

This issue is still unresolved. It is being closely watched by the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, headed by Representative Chet Holifield, D. Calif., who favors Seaborg's proposals.

On a number of occasions, the committee has voted more money than recommended by the White House.

The difficult problem confronting the President in limiting domestic outlays is further graphically illustrated by the large, inescapable increase in interest payment on the huge national debt next year.

That interest will jump approximately $500 million — from $8.9 billion to $9.4 billion.

This added obligation is mandatory. It can't be touched.

UNDER SCRUTINY — A close eye is being kept on Eduardo Arosamena, 40-year-old brother of Ecuador's 42-year-old new left wing President.

Eduardo, named by his brother, Dr. Carlos Julio Arosamena, ex Minister-Counselor of their country's Washington embassy, has been a frequent visitor to the Soviet embassy. He is known to be on warm terms with its top officials.

Carlos Arosamena became President of Ecuador last month after violent outbreaks forced the resignation of President Jose Velasco Ibarra, who left the country. Last June, Arosamena visited Russia and Red China. Immediately after taking office, he reversed Ibarra's announced intention to break diplomatic relations with Cuba's Communist dictator Fidel Castro.

Authoritative sources attribute this action by Arosamena to his brother Eduardo.

The Arosamena regime is seeking $100 million in grants and loans under President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. Galo Plaza Lasso, a former Ecuador president who is known here, was given the job of wangling these funds.

So far he is still negotiating — and Eduardo is being closely watched.

A revealing memorandum on the background of the Arosamenas is in the hands of members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The detailed document is sharply critical of both of them. Among its highlights are the following:

Carlos Arosamena was expelled from the U.S. when he was Counselor of the Ecuadorian embassy, "due to repeated scandals and public disorders while intoxicated, which ended in his being held for 24 hours by the Washington police, in spite of his diplomatic status. The Ecuadorian Charge d'Affaires, later Ambassador Neptali Ponce, had to intervene many times."

As Vice President, Arosamena and his supporters, upon becoming aware of President Ibarra's plan to break relations with Castro, "precipitated the coup d'etat which they had been planning with the country's leftist elements, especially pro-Castro students. This explains the student uprisings which brought about the split in the army and the overthrow of the Ibarra government."

Since taking office, Arosamena has modified the Ecuadorian constitution to enable him to put into effect "measures adopted by Castro in the initial phases of his regime. Under these modifications of the constitution, Arosamena is now in a position to employ terror to intimidate the opposition and the military forces, confiscate property of those classed as enemies of the government, and to impose political dictatorship."

ME, TOO — Since the announcement of President Kennedy's plans to make a series of visits to Latin American countries starting this week, Cuba's bulky dictator Castro has put out feelers for invitations for similar trips. Mexico, Ecuador, Brazil and Argentina have been sounded out on that. . . Guatemala's former leftist President Arbenz is delivering a series of lectures in Havana on "The Cuban Revolution. Vis-a-Vis Latin American Countries." The pro-Communist talks are under the auspices of the Castro regime.

Bid For A Smile

A very pretty but extremely slender girl entered a street car and managed to seat herself in a narrow space between two men. Presently a pretty colored woman entered the car and the pretty girl, thinking to humiliate the new girl, said to her:

"Thank you, miss, but which gentleman is lap was you sitting on?"

Floyd Patterson says professional prize fighting is a sport, and I am not going to disagree with him.

After what he did to young Tom McNeely in Toronto a few nights ago I wouldn't question Floyd if he said the moon was made of chopped ripe olives, the earth was hollow, peacocks had bobbed tails, and Fidel Castro was a better golfer than Arnold Palmer. After all, I'd rather be wrong than dead.

But I have managed to screw up my courage to the point where I am brave enough to ask Floyd a question. Here it is:

"Okay, professional prize fighting is a sport but what sort of sport?"

Does it fall in the same category as tennis, rowing, archery, fencing, trap shooting, hurdling and pole vaulting?

Does prize fighting automatically fall into place alongside skiing, cross-country running, volleyball and ice skating?

Patterson's remarks on prize fighting were made in his dressing room just after he had slammed McNeely stiff in the fourth round of a scheduled 15-round bout. They were prompted by a reporter asking Floyd why several times he bent over the prostrate McNeely as if to help him to his feet.

"He was hurt wasn't he?" answered Floyd and then went on to say that prize fighting was a sport not a business and should be conducted as such.

This prompts me to ask without benefit of reporter and at a safe distance of several hundred miles — just what kind of a sport is a sport that calls for a man continually to bend over a prostrate opponent? Doesn't sound like a normal every-day let's-have-some-fun sport to me.

Floyd's gesture was a tender one, of course, but how much more sporting to have caught his groggy foe before he fell or to have withheld some of the steam behind his punches.

A bit braver now I would like Floyd to explain just what there is sporting about beating another man about the head until he falls senseless to the floor. Where does the assault and battery leave off and the sport begin?

Is it sporting to do one's level best to break an opponent's nose, bash his ear and addle his brains? If such things are sporting why not incorporate them into other games and let football players swing at him on each other and tennis players bash their opponents over the head with their racquets and rivals at trap shooting turn the muzzles of their guns on one another?

Would the Vassar Daisy Chain be more exciting and sporting if the girls were urged to pull hair, scratch and brand one another with the heels of their slippers as they marched along?

If boxing is a sport, then it is a brutal sport, and deserves to be classified along with the blood sports. It is close kin to bear baiting, cock fighting, and pit bull fighting. No one is ever made better by blows on the head. Punching does not improve the eyes, lungs or heart.

I have seen and reported hundreds of fights and have yet to leave one feeling a better citizen.

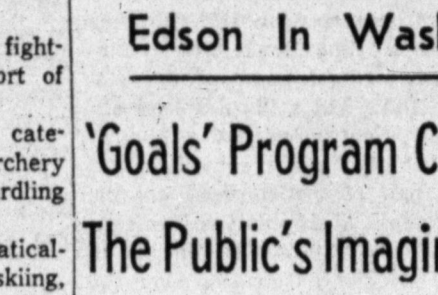

A sport indeed!

'Goals' Program Catches The Public's Imagination

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—"Goals for Americans" — a program of action for development of every phase of American life in the next 10 years — has caught the public imagination.

This is contrary to general impression. The 10-member, non-partisan and nongovernmental Commission on National Goals under Dr. Henry M. Wriston made its 11 domestic and four foreign policy recommendations to President Eisenhower just a year ago, in a flurry of interest.

Twenty-one reports to the commission, written by some of the country's best technical experts on economic growth, agriculture, labor, education, human needs, science, government, national defense, international relations and trade were printed in book form by Prentice-Hall.

The series was condensed for distribution through 500 leading daily papers through Newspaper Enterprise Assn. for a month's run. A few individual chapters were printed full length by national magazines.

The commission's final report, based on these papers, was released just after the 1960 presidential elections. This was to avoid any partisan political implications.

President Eisenhower, who had named the commission a year before, invited its 10 distinguished citizens to the White House and commended them for their work, but without any ringing endorsement or follow-up.

President-elect Kennedy gave their report back-of-the-hand treatment, being more interested at the time in his own program for the 1960s. "Goals for Americans" seemed to drop dead and out of sight in Washington.

But around the country at the grass roots where American political thought really develops, the idea of the United States having a recognized program of definite objectives began to grow in a slow ferment.

Schools and colleges began to offer courses on national goals. Highschool civics teachers discovered to their surprise that their students could read this deep-dish stuff. They lapped it up with more relish than dull textbooks. Political science professors offered goals courses for credit.

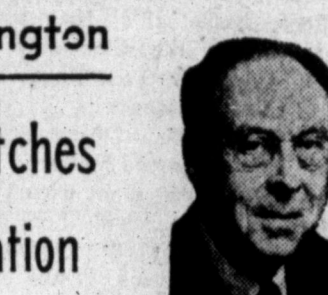

So far, 234 high schools and 74 institutions of higher learning are teaching it. Their common text-

Supreme Court Shunned Major Issue In 'Sit-In' Case Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court's reversal of 16 "sit-in" convictions in Baton Rouge, La., marks only the beginning of the court's problems in this controversial legal area.

There are seven more cases already on the docket to be accepted for review or rejected. And countless others are on their way up through lower courts.

Monday, in the first case of its kind, the high court found no evidence to support charges that 16 Negroes at Southern University had disturbed the peace by their lunch-counter demonstrations.

But it was not the kind of decision desired by either the state or the students.

The state said the real question was whether a property owner may serve or not serve whom he pleases for any reason whatever.

The Negroes, on the other hand, wanted the court to rule that the conviction amounted to an unconstitutional enforcement of racial segregation by state power.

Only Justice William O. Douglas wanted to grapple with this constitutional issue.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wrote the opinion, called attention to the court's time-honored policy of not formulating constitutional law broader than is required by the case at hand.

He examined the Louisiana disorderly conduct statute to determine what conduct it forbade and the elements of guilt required to support a criminal conviction under it.

He found no such evidence had been produced. Convictions without evidence, he said, violate the constitutional right of the accused to "due process of law."

All the justices agreed that the convictions should be reversed. But Douglas and Justice John M. Harlan had ideas quite different from Warren's. Justice Felix Frankfurter, in a separate opinion, supported him.

Douglas said he could understand "how the mere presence of a Negro at a white lunch counter might inflame some people as stiffness would in other places." Therefore, he found difficulty in reversing for lack of evidence.

But Douglas asserted that restaurants, though they may be private enterprises, "are public facilities in which the states may not enforce a policy of racial segregation."

Harlan found the convictions unconstitutional on the ground the Louisiana law is "vague and uncertain."

'Weight Of Law' Thwarts Burglar

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The full weight of the law stopped robbery suspect Gilbert Tichenor's attempted escape from Municipal Court Monday.

As Tichenor bolted down a stairway, Patrolman W. D. Sullivan, a 260-pounder, vaulted the railing and landed on top of him.

New York City uses 435 pounds of paper per capita annually.

Port Collections Show An Increase

LAREDO (UPI)—Collections at the eight ports of the 23rd U. S. Customs district totaled $928,200.99 during November, assistant collector Palmer F. King said today.

The total was more than $90,000 over the $835,193.36 collected in October.

Laredo again was the leading port of entry, with collections totaling $369,629.51, some $40,000 more than during October.

Brownsville was second with collections of $232,854.41, a drop from the $305,847.98 for October. November receipts at other ports in the district included $228,468.46 at Eagle Pass, an increase of nearly $70,000 over October; Hidalgo $54,302.53; San Antonio $20,912.56; Del Rio $15,156.94; Roma $16,860.09 and Rio Grande City $16.50.

Soviet Cosmonaut Visits Mongolia

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov was visiting Outer Mongolia today at the invitation of government officials, the Communist New China news agency reported. He arrived by plane Monday in the Mongolian capital of Ulan Bator.
