Police Of West Berlin Force Reds To Retreat In Border Gas Battles

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin and Communist police fought three small tear gas battles Friday night and the Communists fled all three times, West Berlin police reported.

Communist Police Vopos threw seven tear gas grenades into the West Friday night and West Berlin police threw back the same number. The Vopos retreated.

West Berlin police said the Vopos started it again Saturday by lobbing over three hand grenades in each of two separate incidents. The West Berliners threw some back and again the Vopos fled the scene.

U.S. Lacks Word Of Reported Red Offer On Berlin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. officials Saturday studied with mounting skepticism reports of a new Soviet proposal said to represent a Russian move toward a compromise settlement of the Berlin problem.

Confusion still surrounded the circumstances under which the plan evolved from a conversation Thursday between Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Hans Kroll, the West German ambassador in Moscow. It was quickly reported by Western newsmen.

The United States has received no direct word on the proposal from the Kremlin.

Moreover, reports received here on Kroll's talk with Khrushchev, which the ambassador discussed Friday with his U. S. and French counterparts in Moscow, were said to be less than encouraging.

They suggest, officials said, that the Russian position remains unyielding on certain issues which vitally concern the West.

Points which are said to have Khrushchev's support in the new plan did not seem to represent a (See BERLIN, Page 3)

M'Namara Warns On Interference

ATLANTA (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Saturday night that "forcible interference" with U.S. rights and obligations would necessarily lead to a conflict — which this country would win.

In a major speech, McNamara also rejected Russia's claim that it has developed an anti-missile missile. In the event of war, he said, U. S. missiles and bombers would be able to reach their targets.

"Against our intercontinental missiles themselves, no effective countermeasures have yet been developed," he said.

As for conventional bombers, he declared that the United States has "a wide variety of penetration devices to enable both strategic and tactical aircraft to neutralize opposing air defenses."

McNamara's remarks were made in a speech prepared for a testimonial dinner for Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees, respectively.

About 40 Negro college students picketed McNamara's arrival at Atlanta Municipal Airport, protesting the fact that the honorary dinner was segregated. "Mr. McNamara you attend this dinner at the expense of human dignity," one picket sign said. Another asked: "Is segregation a policy of the new frontier?" There were no incidents.

McNamara made no direct reference to the Berlin crisis, or the dispute over Western access to the city.

However, he said, "The United States prefers not to resolve disputes by violence. But forcible interference with our rights and obligations would necessarily lead to conflict. And in such conflict we would not be defeated."

U.S. Will Fight For Freedom, Kennedy Says In Vets Speech

Efforts To Win Peace Continue, President Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Standing bareheaded before the graves of unknown Americans who died in three great wars, President Kennedy pledged Saturday that the United States would fight again if necessary to maintain "the frontiers of freedom."

Kennedy was born in 1917, the year America went to battle in World War I.

Saturday, 43 years from the day the great war ground to a halt, he stood in Arlington National Cemetery and said:

"In a world tormented by tension and the possibilities of conflict, we meet in a quiet commemoration of an historic day of peace."

"In an age that threatens the survival of freedom, we join together to honor those who made our freedom possible."

In front of where the President spoke were the graves of the unknowns, from the First and Second World Wars and Korean War.

Kennedy said it is a tragic fact that the hopes surrounding the end of the first world war have not been fulfilled.

He added that "some might say therefore, that this day has lost its meaning, that the shadow of the new and deadly weapons have robbed this day of its great value; that whatever name we now give this day, whatever flags we fly or prayers we utter, it is too late to honor those who died before, and too soon to promise the living an end to organized death."

But, he declared Nov. 11, 1918, also signified the beginning of man's great effort in recent times to solve the problems of war by international cooperation.

"That experiment continues in our present day — still imperfect, still short of its responsibilities, but it does offer a hope that some day nations can live in harmony."

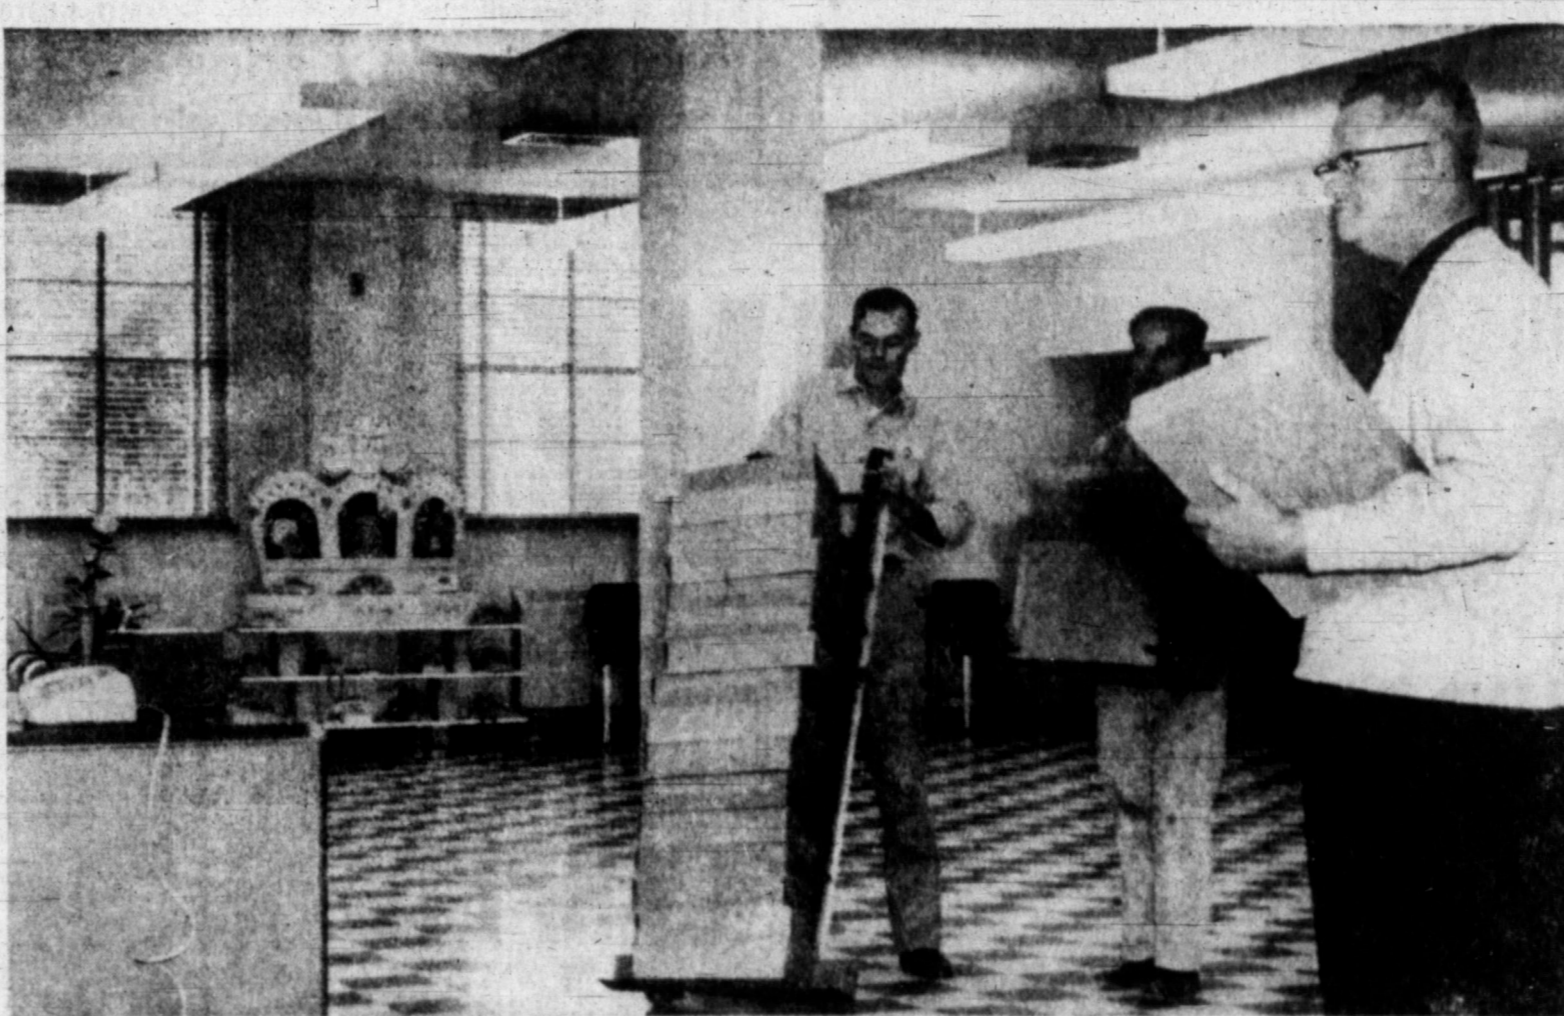

Then, in the heart of his speech, he said "there is no way to maintain the frontiers of freedom without cost and commitment and risk. There is no swift and easy path to peace in our generation. No man who witnessed the tragedies of the last war, no man who can imagine the unimaginable possibilities of the next war, can advocate war out of irritability or frustration or impatience."

But, he said, "let no nation confuse our perseverance and patience with fear of war or unwillingness to meet our responsibilities. We cannot save ourselves by abandoning those who are associated with us, or rejecting our responsibilities."

"In the end, the only way to maintain the peace is to be prepared in the final extreme fight for our country—and to mean it."

As a nation, he declared, "we have little capacity for deception. We can convince friend and foe alike that we are in earnest about the defense of freedom only if we are in earnest—and I can assure the world that we are."

MOVING DAY FOR SOUTHWESTERN BELL — One of the busiest men in Pampa Saturday was George Newberry, right, manager of Pampa's Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. branch, shown here as he supervised moving of records and equipment into the main lobby and business office of the company's new $370,000 addition at 311 N. Ballard St. Business will be transacted in the new quarters for the first time Monday morning. (Daily News Photo)

Board To Begin Search For New Football Coach

Applications for Pampa High School football coach will get their first consideration this week, Warren Fatheree, school board president, said Saturday.

Fatheree said it was the general opinion of the board and school officials that Weldon Trice, school athletic director, had done a wonderful job with the Pampa High team since taking over in mid-season following the resignation of Coach Babe Curfman.

Trice wants to return to his fulltime post as athletic director, Fatheree said, and this leaves the head coach's job open.

Fatheree said it was possible the board might go into executive session Monday to give preliminary consideration to a number of possible selections for the post.

"However," Fatheree said, "there will be no announcement on the coaching appointment until after the Pampa-Borger game next Saturday afternoon which closes out this year's football schedule for Pampa High."

The school board president said Monday's board meeting should be more or less routine with further discussion scheduled on the Americanism program in Pampa schools.

Phone Firm To Open New Building Monday

A new $370,000 addition to Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's building will be opened to the public at 311 N. Ballard Monday morning.

George Newberry, manager, said Saturday moving of the business offices and much of the equipment would be completed today. The move is being made from 301 N. Ballard in the old part of the company's building.

Work on the expansive one-story L-shaped addition was started in July of 1960. The north side of the addition is 50 by 134 feet and the west side, 62 by 61 feet. The total area of the new addition is 150 feet wide and 140 feet deep.

The addition is constructed of reinforced concrete frame, masonry walls, face brick exterior with a stone trim and tar and gravel roof.

A new entrance to the lobby is on the first floor of the new section. It also houses the commercial business office, manager's office, commercial work space, commercial training center, service observing room, wire chief's office and an enlarged switch room.

Located in the basement are a test center, emergency engine room, foreman's office, district facilities, conference room, and mechanical equipment room for air-conditioning and heating.

New lounges for men and women and coffee break rooms are on both floors.

Construction of the new addition took into consideration "necessary space for expansion of equipment facilities."

Leader Reports $27,006 Needed By United Fund

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund total stood at $41,762 Saturday night, $27,006 short of its $68,768 goal.

George Newberry, campaign chairman, said $401 was the contribution total turned in Saturday forenoon.

"The drive has been lagging a little during the past few days," Newberry said, "but we hope fund solicitors will renew their efforts tomorrow so that we can report a substantial increase in contributions at check-in time tomorrow night."

All fund workers are asked to make their reports between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Southwestern Public Service Co. offices on N. Ballard St.

Newberry said fund workers still are striving to get individual contributors to donate one day's pay.

Rayburn Reported 'Growing Weaker'

BONHAM, Tex. (UPI) — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, dying of cancer, lapsed into critical condition late Saturday night as his heart weakened.

Dr. Joe Risser, the 79-year-old speaker's physician, said Rayburn had only "hours to days" to live, and that his lucid moments were short and infrequent.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson went to the bedside of his old friend at the Risser Hospital Saturday, and sadly reported that Adv. Rayburn was "growing weaker."

X15 Flew 4,093 Miles Per Hour, Study Discloses

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — Maj. Robert White's top speed on his all-out X15 speed trial was revised upward Saturday to 4,093 miles an hour.

That is 23 m.p.h. faster than the preliminary speed announced for his six-times-the-speed-of-sound flight Thursday.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) officials said-peak speed was achieved at 95,800 feet. Top altitude on the flight — which shattered half of the rocket plane's windshield — was 101,800 feet.

Federal Spending Continuing Issue, Solon Tells Pampa Kiwanians

Rep. Walter Rogers was booked for a speech at the Pampa Kiwanis Club luncheon Friday noon in First Methodist Church and the half-hour talk so intrigued his listeners that they stayed on for a 35-minute question and answer period.

"It is good to see so much interest among the folks back home," the congressman said.

His topic was "National and International Affairs." He ran the gamut from local problems in the Panhandle all the way to Washington, Berlin, Cuba and the United Nations and back through the spending and federal aid to education issues here-at-home.

"Federal spending," Congressman Rogers said, "is always one of the biggest national issues and I hope it always will be kept controversial."

"Personally," he said, "I think our spending bill could be cut ten per cent right across the board with an increase in efficiency."

Rogers discussed the fight over changes in the House rules committee and said the issue will continue to be a bitter fight.

As for federal aid to education, he is opposed to it, but says it will be the major domestic issue in the next Congress.

People wonder why so many in-roads are being made on the path to centralized government, the congressman stated.

"In many, many instances these same people could get an answer to the question by looking at their own actions," he said.

"At one hearing on a federal aid project, a witness was vehement in his opposition to federal aid. 'We don't want any government help,' he said. 'All we want is for the government to lend us the money.'"

"People do a lot of talking about centralized government," Rogers added, "but they want to 'kick over the other fellow's project, not their own.'"

On the federal aid to education subject, Rogers said the people in favor of it may as well understand that if government puts its money into maintenance and businessmen. They had found out teachers' salaries, it soon will be dictating what books are to be used. If the government puts in the control of how that money is spent, he said.

The congressman said he thought Castro's hold on Cuba is falling apart.

"I get the idea from the change in the type of refugees," he said, "The first wave of refugees to the United States was a prestige when one questioner asked him if we weren't losing face those who had actually supported some of our allies."

The next wave was made up of the middle class — teachers, store owners, small businessmen. They had found out Castro was not keeping his word to them. Then the Kremlin used it. The government puts in the control of how that money is spent, he said.

"I don't think we should sell ourselves down," Rogers said. "This is the greatest country in the world and it always will be as long as we remain Americans and uphold our American ideals."

"We have the strength to whip any country in the world and Russia knows it.

"This country should not be undervalued. Mistakes have been made, sure, and no doubt there will be other mistakes — but the fact remains that we are the greatest country of all and can back it up."

U.S. Ready For All Foes, 'Veep' Tells Texas Folk

MCKINNEY (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told a Veterans Day gathering Saturday that "neither Khrushchev nor his supporters can find a place to hide" from American bombers and missiles if they start a war.

Appealing for peace, the vice president said he wanted to make it clear that he was not rattling rockets, but merely was serving notice that the United States stood well-prepared to defend itself if attacked.

Johnson flew into McKinney by helicopter after a brief side trip to Bonham, Tex., where he visited for 15 minutes with cancer-stricken House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

McKinney, about 35 miles north of Dallas, was swelled to three times its usual population of 16,000 by visitors who came to hear Johnson. He spoke at a football stadium after a parade through the gaily-decorated city.

"The United States has today hundreds of manned intercontinental bombers capable of reaching the remotest parts of the Soviet Union," Johnson said. "Neither Khrushchev nor his supporters can find a place to hide."

"I do not speak of these things willingly, for under existing conditions a word unfortunately spoken may bring disaster, and the (See JOHNSON, Page 3)

Johnson

"But I feel that if I keep silent, the forces of evil in this world will interpret this silence as a sign of weakness."

Johnson said the peoples of the nations of the world are entitled to peace and the Soviet Union as well as the United States must work for it.

"At a time when our enemy is threatening war," he said, "we must try to keep alive the spirit of peace. Should we follow in the footsteps of the Soviet Union and cry for war, it would be desertion of the cause of peace and a tragic blow to the hopes of humanity."

He added that every means of communications must be brought to bear to tell the Soviet people of the "terrible wrongs" that their masters have done.

Kennedy

The tribute to fallen soldiers took its traditional form across the nation in main street parades and cemetery observances.

A group of students worried over the danger of war added a contrast to the usual military displays. The students, banded in an organization called the Student Peace Union, staged "students speak for peace day" demonstrations on college campuses and in major cities.

At Chicago, university students joined in a "vigil" as troops passed in parade down Michigan Ave. They held signs protesting the arms race and passed out leaflets among the spectators.

A spokesman, Shorthills, N.J., native Donald McKelvey, said soap box speeches, literature tables and movies were part of the students' campaign. "We want to put forth our ideas that there should be alternatives to the arms race."

Similar demonstrations were staged in San Francisco, New York, Seattle, Portland, Ore., Des Moines, Minneapolis, Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio, and Philadelphia.

Autoist Arrested On Driving Count

John Earl Claunch, Abilene, was arrested early Saturday by Pampa police in the 800-block of W. Foster St., and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Claunch pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Judge William Craig's county court and was held for trial under $1,000 bond.

Berlin

These reports said he remained adamantly against continued close political and economic ties between West Germany and West Berlin and brushed aside the possibility that the Berlin wall might be dismantled.

Under those circumstances U. S. officials were inclined to take an increasingly skeptical attitude towards the suggestion that Russia is moving toward meaningful Berlin negotiations.

According to informed reports these were the points to which Khrushchev is said to have given support in his talks with Kroll:

There should be a four-power agreement on Berlin which would provide for its freedom and liability as well as guarantee free access to the city and the continued presence of the allies there. There should be an agreement between the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany in which East Germany would agree to respect the agreement between Russia and the Allies.

There should be an agreement between Berlin, East Germany, and the Western powers governing technical aspects of the operation of West Berlin. Such an agreement would, presumably, on its face be an Allied recognition of East Berlin as a sovereign state.

Britain's Newspapers Give Glimpse Of U.S.

By HARRY FERGUSON
LONDON (UPI) — If you would like to see yourself as others see you, here it is.

Most British newspapers are scrupulous about printing the significant news from the United States. But their fascination with America also leads them to carry columns about matters of secondary interest in the 50 states. Here are some verbatim samples for this week:

Alabama: Don't dance the twist. That's the advice of Dr. William Plimpton who told the Alabama Chiropractic Association: "Morally I am opposed to it because I'm a parent. Physically I'm against it because of the far-reaching effects of spinal distortions it can cause."

New York: Sign in a Manhattan bar: "Remember most accidents happen in the home. What better excuse for staying out late."

Boston: Being fat has become a national neurosis in America. Dr. Rosemary Murphy of the Lahey Clinic told a medical convention. "Despite the $100 million a year spent on diets there are just as many fat people as ever."

Washington: What's in a name. Quite a lot, in the view of Vice-President Lyndon Johnson. He has changed the name of the new Washington home he recently bought from Perle (hostess with the mostest) Mesta from "Les Ormes" to "The Elms." He said: "Every time it was called a French chateau in print I lost 50,000 votes."

North Carolina: Togetherness for twins Richard and Robert Strupe is something sacred. They look alike, think alike and dated alike. They courted sisters, married them and each had a son. Today they both asked a judge for a divorce and custody of the children. The judge is thinking about it.

Washington: Twenty-nine million Americans — about one in six — now live in officially designated depressed areas. Only three states, Delaware, Vermont and New Hampshire, are completely free of depressed areas.

New York: First things first: Britons planning a visit to the United States want to see New York, Washington, Niagara Falls, San Francisco, cowboys and relatives, in that order, a travel survey reveals.

Washington: The swing toward casual clothes which started on the college campus and swiftly reached the White House with President Kennedy's noted preference for wearing "sneakers" is gathering momentum. Last night I went to a Manhattan dinner and found I was the only guest in a lounge suit. (The others wore sports clothes). Bruce Gimbel, store chain president and some-

Females In TV Westerns Lessen Violence, 'Outlaw' Actress Says

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Mrs. Joe Tinney joined the cast of television's "Outlaws" series this season with a couple of secrets not generally known to the nation's viewers.

Her professional name is Judy Lewis, which still doesn't tell the whole story, but that can wait until later.

Mrs. Tinney is a strikingly beautiful girl who believes that women have been added to TV westerns to gain fans among the distaff population.

"They've added girls to the 'Ellis Fargo' series too," Mrs. Tinney said. "With females in the show there is much less violence."

"There has been such an uproar against violence that producers have dropped the fist fights and gun fights. This void has to be filled somehow, and romance and comedy is the answer."

"So far I haven't had much opportunity for romance on 'Outlaws,' but there is a love affair building between me and the hero, Don Collier."

Mrs. Tinney, whose husband is a real estate man when he isn't directing TV shows, is the mother of a two-year-old daughter and has been acting only five years.

"Both my mother and father like the show very much," Mrs. Tinney said. "I figure if I pass with my family I've really arrived.

"All my life I've been exposed to the glamour of the movies and television, but at the same time I never was a part of it. A couple of times on special occasions I visited a studio or a stage."

Mrs. Tinney went to New York to make good on her own. She studied drama there and appeared in small theatrical productions.

"I never went to my mother or father for professional advice," she said. "I wanted to prove I was capable of making a name for myself, without their help."

"And I'm very grateful," she said, "they didn't try to interfere. Mother was too wise to offer suggestions. She knew that a young actress has to learn thing for herself."

"By the time I went to mother for advice I already was a professional actress. And the advice I got didn't concern performing. She gave me hints about things like makeup and hairdo that are important for newcomers to know."

It's unusual for a young ac-triss to put so much faith in the opinions and advice of her mother.

But it is understandable in the case of Mrs. Tinney. Her mother is Loretta Young.

Others live on all continents except Australia and are divided into two groups, river otters and sea otters.

Fallout Shelters One Of Top Topics Of Day

The subject of fallout shelters seems to be one of the major topics of the day, generated by two sources. One is the fear of the damage that would be done to the human body by radioactive fallout from the explosion of a nuclear bomb. The other is the concerted advertising campaign which has been put on by enterprising operators who are making good use of scare tactics to sell their product to the public. The general fear gripping the human race everywhere with relation to the dangers involved creates a fertile field for scoundrels, tricksters, and mountebanks to ply their trade. Hence, it would be well for all those anticipating building a bomb shelter, whether for blast or fallout, to be sure that the proposed contractor has the skill and abilities which he advertises. Radio, television, and the press are being widely used in many areas of this country, especially the metropolitan areas, to sell these shelters at prices ranging from as little as $150 to as much as $15,000 for the luxury type.

requests for plans and specifications for a fallout shelter. Such a document was printed in June of 1959 by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, commonly known as the OCDM, and may be obtained through the U.S. Government Printing Office for the price of ten cents. The demand had to be reprinted in November of 1960.

It contains some very pertinent information with regard to the construction of a fallout shelter and also suggestions as to equipment, medical publications, and other matters of interest and importance. It sums up in five steps what every American should learn for protection. These are (1) attack warning signals and what they mean; (2) your community plan for emergency action; (3) protection from radioactive fallout; (4) first aid and home emergency preparedness; and (5) the use of CONELRAD — 640 or 1240 on AM radio — for official directions.

This question of fallout shelters and civil defense generally

Many Students Waste Talents, Educators Find

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About one-fourth of the brightest students in the nation's high schools and colleges are wasting their talents.

This was the conclusion reached in a new U. S. Office of Education (OEED) study on students with superior abilities who failed to make full use of them.

The 15 educators who made the study deplored abuse of talents found in the schools and colleges as a permanent loss to the students themselves and to the United States in its pursuit of excellence as a national goal.

They all agreed that the problems of students who failed to make the most of their abilities could be corrected with proper guidance at an early age. But they also said that "group standards reflecting an anti-intellectual outlook" in American society must be blamed for the situation.

Dr. Irene Impellizzeri of the New York City Board of Education, who headed the team of experts, said:

"A culture that adores financial status, physical beauty, second rate professional entertainment and the accumulation of material things, creates an alien world for brilliant students."

Boys who fail to make full use of their abilities outnumber girls two to one, according to the study. But male students frequently pull ahead of their female classmates in college.

Students described by the educators as "underachievers" are usually more negative in their attitudes towards themselves and towards others. They also show more hostility and suffer from stronger inferiority feelings than students whose achievements correspond more closely to their talents.

brought forth a report from the Committee on Government Operations of the Congress. In this publication several pages were devoted to comments on the Soviet civil defense program. These are rather interesting, in view of the remarks allegedly made by Mrs. Khrushchev to one of the "Marchers for Peace" who reportedly walked from San Francisco to Moscow. As reported in the newspapers, Mrs. Khrushchev indicated to one of the marchers that bomb shelters were not being built in Russia and no general stepped-up civil defense program was being pushed. These statements, however, are in contradiction to the evidence brought before the Committee on Government Operations. At those hearings evidence was produced that Khrushchev had boasted of 22 million fully trained persons serving in civil defense and that the organization was being expanded. This would mean that about ten per cent of the Soviet people were a part of the civil defense operation. It was estimated at those hearings that the budget of the Soviet civil defense activities would range between $500 million and $1.5 billion. It was also estimated that the Soviet Union had spent approximately $3 billion in the last decade on civil defense activities. It might be pointed out that the Russians in Moscow have a built-in shelter and have had before the same for some time. I refer to the subway, underground, or metropole as it is called in Russia. This subway is 43 to 45 miles long and approximately 100 feet deep. Plans are in the making to expand this operation by some 35 miles. Several years ago I was told by Russian officials that the subway was so arranged throughout the city that it was available to substantially all of the people of Moscow within a time period of approximately 15 to 20 minutes. In other words, they were pointing out to me that any Russian desiring to move from one part of the city to another could avail himself of this public transportation in a few short minutes. I would also point out that this subway is probably the cleanest thing in Russia. It is maintained in a spotless fashion and all of the stations are constructed of marble from one of the Soviet republics. It is entered in most instances by escalators in banks of approximately six to twelve. Whether or not the Soviet government had in mind the use of these stations as fallout shelters in the event of war, they may deny; but I can assure you that a better shelter could not have been built for this specific purpose. Hence, the words of Mrs. Khrushchev did not impress me. There are many other things pointed out in the report about the Soviet system. However, our major concern should be our own welfare. The problem should be approached on a sound and practical basis. It should not be a vehicle through which unscrupulous individuals or organizations could prey upon a fearful public. Neither should it be the basis of creating an overstaffed government department for political hacks.

Electronics Not Best Buy Right Now, Firm Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — In general, says Bache & Co., electronic equities are likely to be an arid investment area until the industry's problem of overcapacity has been solved.

The firm says the industry is confronted with a greater shake-out than that faced by the TV industry a decade ago although the basic problems are the same—too many firms, too easy access into the industry and too rapid productivity gains.

Investment in electronic securities during such a period "is fraught with danger and extreme selectivity is required," Bache concludes.

Thomson & McKinnon says the strong economic leverage provided by a heavy upsurge in forward buying of steel is not yet in evidence. "One can look at this in two ways; either the big boost is still ahead of us or it will never materialize to the expected extent. However the odds and, in fact, the general business outlook strongly favor the first alternative."

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says there now seems to be more confidence in American might, less fear of bombs, and a growing opinion that the Berlin crisis is cooling off. He believes these are the most important factors behind the stock market's renewed advance.

Juvenile 'UN' Causes Concern To Its Elders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Nations is in its 17th year. It is housed in the tallest palace on earth and it is the cause, like other teen-agers, of considerable anxiety among its elders.

There is support for the accusation that the United Nations is a juvenile delinquent although this would be strictly a minority accusation in the United States. The Russians make great propaganda use of the machinery of the United Nations but seem to consider U. N. delinquencies to be more adult than juvenile.

The most accurate and deadly complaint against the United Nations is that its vast personnel and machinery do not function. They fail to attain and, fail even to approach, the goals agreed upon by the U. N. founders.

There is evidence in the United States of a growing disenchantment with this situation. This disenchantment could extinguish the United Nations if it is sustained at its present rate or near it. The United Nations thus could be extinguished because the United States pays the largest individual share. The United Nations scarcely could survive without U. S. subsidy.

Seven member states now are in arrears to the U. N. cashier. The Soviet Union, for example, refuses to contribute its assessment against the cost of intervention in the Congo. The Soviets do not approve of U. N. policies there and balk at paying for policies they oppose.

The United States might find itself in a similar dilemma. United States influence in the United Nations is fading. The composition of the U. N. assembly has changed vastly from its original composition of 1945. The neutralists are taking over. The Afro-Asian bloc, recruited from the sunburst of recently-born African nations, is now the most powerful element.

The United Nations does not function, fails to achieve its own goals, because its machinery has been tampered with, probably, beyond repair.

On Jan. 1, 1944, F. D. R. said this:

"The concept of the United Nations came into being on another and infinitely bleaker New Year's Day two years ago . . . It was but three weeks after Pearl Harbor. Twenty-six nations subscribed immediately, eight more have adhered subsequently."

And F. D. R. precisely stated the chief U. N. goal. It was: "To make all of us secure against future aggression."

Those words coldly measure today the failure of the United Nations. Its towering palace is little more than a sounding board for the cold war.

Approximately 85 billion paper towels are used annually in the United States.

Detergent Suds Posing Big Problem For U.S.

By WARD CANNEL
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (NEA) — But first, a word from the sponsor.

Ladies, do you have tattletale washday blues? Oily foam in your drinking water? Black scum on hubby's fishing boots? Billows of dirty lather creeping out of the drains and up into your tub and sink?

Well, just wait. The grim pursuit of cleanliness, it turns out, has us nearly up to our neck in rich, often, impossibly long-lasting suds. By 1970, research at M.I.T. indicates, they may be over our heads.

The situation: Since World War II, synthetic detergents have taken over almost 90 per cent of the household shelf once occupied by soaps made from animal fats.

That's a lot of detergent — upwards of 3 billion pounds per year or 100 pounds per family. And almost impossible to dispose of by present sewage disposal systems because most synthetic detergent are derived from petroleum.

Dumped into the earth after use, they find their way presently to cesspools, cisterns, wells, rivers, streams, reservoirs — and finally, back into household water systems.

Reporting on the problem for Harpers Magazine, researcher Maya Pines has turned up case upon case of detergent-burned lawns, detergent - foamy lakes dirty used suds backing up seven stories through apartment house drains and into tubs and sinks.

Airborne detergent foam, she has discovered, floats out of many city water purifying systems to threaten eye and lung. In more and more wells used detergents come to rest — and bubble back into the home water system.

The Soap Association, speaking for both soap and detergent makers, says it's not all the fault of the new suds. Old-fashioned soap suds used to back surge through plumbing systems, too. And wells that give foaming water indicate that other pollutants may be creeping in.

Ironically, however, investigator Pines says that foam is not always essential to cleaning, and is sometimes even detrimental to it.

But advertising has taught housewives to think of suds as cleanliness. And with a synthetic material that will foam in one million parts of the hardest water, why use soap? Besides, petroleum for detergents is cheap and plentiful while animal tallow for soap varies with meat prices.

Now, none of this would matter if used detergents would break down in sewage disposal, the way animal - fat soaps do. But after 15 days in sewage, only half of the detergent has been destroyed. And the rest, once in the home-ground - home water cycle, can last almost-forever.

To churn the business further, a deepening water shortage threatens. The U.S. conservation experts predict that by the year 2000 — only 39 years away — present trends will force every drop of water to be used six times before it returns to the ground. It's the case right now along the Ohio River before it reaches the Gulf of Mexico.

Under these circumstances, ask sanitary engineering experts at M.I.T., how much of an increase in exotic chemicals like synthetic detergents can our watercourses take.

Their answer: not much. Our current wastewater treatment techniques are inadequate for the coming decade.

The way out? One possibility is a new detergent that will break down in standard sewage disposal process. Chemical companies are trying out several. In the meantime, new sewerage systems are being tried out — more expensive than the old, of course.

The third alternative, say a few naive dreamers, is soap.

It's The Law In Texas

ABSTRACTS
Wilhe driving around a lake, John and Mary saw a "For Sale" sign on a piece of lake property which they thought they could afford to buy.

They made inquiry of the owner and agreed on a price. They inquired about title and the owner assured them that the would give them an "Abstract." They took the abstract, which was a fat book of papers, and the deed, filed the deed at the courthouse and thought no more about it, assuming, as many people do, that an "abstract" is an assurance of good title.

Some years later they went to sell to a buyer who was better informed. He insisted that either the abstract be examined and an opinion given by an attorney that the title was good or that the sellers must provide title insurance. When they sought an opinion as to whether the abstract showed good title, they were dismayed to find that the title was not in good order, and that there would have to be a quiet-title lawsuit to dispose of some flaws in the title before the buyer would accept it. Neither would a title insurance company write a policy of insurance for them without legal action to clear up the title.

John and Mary were astounded to learn that they were wrong in assuming that an "abstract" was an assurance of good title. An abstract is merely a record of every document which has been filed of record at the courthouse affecting the title to a particular piece of property. It may show good title or bad title, or no title at all. It is only a bundle of papers, as John and Mary discovered; which summarizes the state of the title. Its possession does not in any way assure good title.

Thus while one may be able to get possession and peacefully occupy a property with an unsalable title, difficulties will arise when the property is to be sold or mortgaged. To do so is only to postpone and perhaps increase the trouble, and expense of clearing the title. It makes good sense to correct any title defects when you buy a property.

For The Desperate Strange Voice Will Answer Phone

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
PARIS (NEA) — The insistent ring of the telephone demanded a listener. On the other end of the line a young woman sobbed out her story.

"I have no one now... no relatives... my husband wrote that he was never coming back... there are the children... the money is gone... What can I do?"

This appeal for help and advice could have taken place, because hundreds of calls such as this are heard night and day at Paris telephone number VAL-7050, in the offices of an organization called "S.O.S.-Amite"—S.O.S. Friendship.

Sponsored by the Federation of Protestant Churches in France, S.O.S.-Friendship also operates in cities of several other European nations.

Unlike some similar services in the United States, the caller does not hear a recorded prayer. Instead an anonymous man or woman listens patiently and then makes suggestions. Religious assistance is not offered unless specifically requested. A Jewish rabbi and a Catholic priest also are available if their aid is sought.

S.O.S.-Friendship was started in Paris with a man known only as Mister John and his wife. Taking calls from their suburban apartment, they soon found that calls were averaging as much as one each hour. A second couple then was added to the staff. Specialists offer their services when needed; a psychiatrist, two doctors (one a woman), lawyers, a social worker, a Franciscan monk.

Anonymity is the keystone of S.O.S.-Friendship. The troubled caller does not have to reveal his name. The adviser also is unnamed.

Says Mr. John: "The caller must feel that there is no other person listening in on the conversation. We believe that the telephone is a positive aid to confidential, heart-to-heart talks because the caller need never reveal his or her identity."

S.O.S. Friendship emphasizes that it is not an employment bureau, a real estate office, matrimonial club or a dispenser of charity.

About 10 per cent of the callers simply are lonely; the bedridden, the elderly or single men and women.

Weekends are the busiest times, according to Mr. John. This is when loneliness and depression rests most heavily on many persons.

About 25 per cent of the cases involve family disputes, broken homes and unmarried mothers.

Red Cross Aid Course Slated For This Week

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa Red Cross chapter, announced the first lesson in a five week course of standard first aid will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the county court room in the court house.

This course will be held on the progressive plan with classes scheduled Monday through Friday for a five week period. Mrs. Shotwell said.

An instructor for each session will be on hand to demonstrate emergency treatment.

The course is open to high school students as well as adults.

Red Cross instructors for the five week of lessons are: Gordon Taylor, Monday; John Gikas and Frank Converse, Tuesday; Jim King and W. C. Puryear, Wednesday; Clifford Hill and Quincy Rogers, Thursday and Morris Cooper and Allan Young, Friday.

Some 35 per cent of the callers seek help for moral, financial or employment problems. A number of these are considering suicide when they call.

Of the 78 would-be suicides who called S.O.S.-Friendship, 63 decided on the spot to make another attempt to face life after a talk with Mr. John or another S.O.S.-Friendship volunteer. These cases, Mr. John says, are the most difficult and trying. To them, he often says: "Go ahead, tell me your story—I am perhaps the only person in the city who has all the time to listen and not think of anything else."

Mr. John often must talk with a caller for an hour or longer. One time he spent five hours on the phone helping one desperate anonymous man.

And help is something they do very well at VAL-7050.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

It would be ironic indeed if the "colons" and the rebellious French generals who insist that "Algeria is French" should be the very ones to hasten Algerian independence.

The irony would consist of the fact that extreme right-wing European settlers and others led by a war to the death if necessary dedicated both to the overthrow of President Charles de Gaulle and to a war to the death if necessary to preserve Algeria as a department of France.

These very factors could be the catalysts bringing De Gaulle and the Algerian Moslem rebels together in a solution of the war which for nearly seven years has defied solution.

When the seventh anniversary rolls around on Nov. 1, the war will have taken the lives of more than 16,000 Frenchmen and about ten times that many Moslems.

Meantime, as De Gaulle has pressed toward solution of the problem with recognition of the inevitability of eventual Algerian independence, Salan and his secret OAS army have stepped up their own war against both sides with terror tactics as brutal as any practised at any time during the conflict.

This week, rebel Moslem Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda came forth with a policy statement which both the Moslems and the Paris government have been awaiting.

It was suggested that its contents were not wholly unexpected by the French since for weeks there have been reports of clandestine contacts between the two sides in Switzerland.

At any rate, the French found them hopeful if not wholly acceptable.

Ben Khedda suggested first a simultaneous cease-fire agreement and then negotiations for a "new relationship" between France and Algeria and guarantees for Europeans living in Algeria.

At first glance the proposals seemed reasonable and not out of line with De Gaulle's own proposals looking toward peace in the making by year's end.

There seems the likelihood that the secret army would step up the frequency of its plastic bomb attacks.

When De Gaulle narrowly escaped death in a bomb attack in early September the OAS denied responsibility, saying it was premature.

There remained the possibility the OAS would decide the time is now.

Queen Elizabeth Ruler Of Nation But Not Herself

By HARRY FERGUSON
LONDON (UPI)—Her full title is "Elizabeth the second by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other realms and territories, Queen, head of the Commonwealth, defender of the faith."

She owns seven palaces and eight royal houses, has a string of race horses, an annual income of more than three million dollars and chooses her dinner services from two tons of gold plate.

Before you decide this is one of the best jobs in the world, stop and consider. Queen Elizabeth is not a free agent. Other people tell her what to do and when to do it and on state occasions they tell her what to say. She is a glittering prisoner inside the walls of protocol and her own stern sense of duty.

For a week this nation has been in an uproar about the trip the Queen is making. Her bags were long since packed. A specially fitted plane was kept standing by. But it was not until Wednesday that the Queen was notified she could go to Ghana.

This is a small African nation which is emerging into freedom and the birth-pangs are proving to be severe. A statute of President Kwame Nkrumah has been bombed and there have been other explosions along the route the Queen will travel in the capital city of Accra. The fear in London has been that an attempt will be made to assassinate Nkrumah and that Elizabeth, accompanying him through the streets, will be harmed.

Then why should she go? Because Ghana is a member of the British Commonwealth, that unique band of nations made up of men of many races, creeds and colors who frequently quarrel among themselves. The thing that holds them together is the British crown in the person of 35-year-old Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor. A cancellation of her trip might have caused Ghana to withdraw from the Commonwealth.

The British government has seldom been faced with such a cruel dilemma in peace time. Scotland Yard security officers were sent to Ghana to check on arrangements. The controversy raged with mounting intensity while Prime Minister Harold Macmillan groped for a solution.

There was nothing the Queen could do about all this except go on her usual routine of business and wait for the word. The word came Wednesday when Duncan Sandys, British minister for the Commonwealth, returned from an emergency trip to Ghana. He had ridden through the streets of Accra with Nkrumah and he advised the government to take a calculated risk and let the Queen go. The government, in turn, "advised" Elizabeth, and, as always, she took the advice.

The word from Buckingham Palace is that the Queen wanted to go no matter what the risk. An expert was asked whether it would have been possible for the Queen to over-ride Macmillan in event he had advised her to cancel the trip.

"Technically, yes," he said. "The British constitution is unwritten and in theory the Queen's will would be supreme. But we don't do things that way and the Queen would never defy her ministers."

So the British government's best paid employe is off today on the business of the commonwealth. As Queen she reigns but she does not rule.

The 55th wedding anniversary is celebrated as the "emerald anniversary."

Savings Stamps And U.S. Bonds Purchases Urged

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said today he had received a letter from William H. Neal, National Director of the U.S. Savings Bond Program, commending the local post office for the promotion and sale of Savings Stamps during the past year.

In this 20th anniversary year of the United States Savings Bond Program, the letter read, "Americans in all walks of life, in communities throughout the country, own more than $44 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds — an all-time record. You have had a real share in this success, and we in the Treasury are grateful for your efforts over the years to promote the sale of Savings Stamps and Bonds in behalf of your country."

"In these critical times, the sale of Savings Stamps and Bonds affords young and old alike an opportunity to help their country as they help themselves." Postmaster Gaylor reminds the public that Savings Stamps are on sale at the post office at all times.

Personal Effects Of Jeff Chandler Sold At Auction

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — One of the last chapters in the story of Jeff Chandler's tragic death was written this week when the late actor's clothes, jewelry and other personal effects were auctioned off.

Chandler, 42, died in Culver City Hospital June 17 from complications which followed surgery for a back ailment.

The actor's estate has filed a $1.5 million damage suit against the hospital and several doctors charging negligence.

Auctioned off at the Ames Art Gallery this week were 1500 items from the actor's Palm Springs and Beverly Hills homes.

Many of the objects had been imported or purchased by Chandler in places like Israel, England, Denmark and Italy.

The items were put on display at the gallery earlier this week and a crowd estimated at 2,000 people came to examine Chandler's belongings.

A. C. Ames, gallery owner, said the previous showing was one of the biggest in the establishment's history.

One of the biggest spenders at the sale was an Egyptian who identified himself as Capt. Fouad Aref.

The Egyptian, referred to as "Capt A" by the auctioneer during bidding, purchased more than $1500 worth of Chandler's belongings.

"Capt A" said he planned to use many of his purchases as gifts for friends. His purchases ranged all the way from glassware and leather goods to cardboard boxes filled with miscellaneous items.

A gallery spokesman said bidding occasionally went high in comparison to the actual worth of an object.

The fact that Chandler was a celebrity when he was alive, Gallery owner Ames said he hopes to raise $40,000 on the sale.

Jane Fonda Satisfied With Her Film Career

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jane Fonda, Henry's daughter, has a movie career that consists of just three pictures in as many years, but the young lady is quite satisfied with her progress.

"I'm happy with my career," the pretty Miss Fonda said. "Not that it's terribly successful, but that's the way I want it. I made one picture and then didn't do anything for two years out here.

"I've been in this business about three and a half years and didn't work for the first year. I'm glad it happened that way. I pounded the pavement and had an opportunity to study during that time.

Not many actresses can do that. "Look at some of those girls. They get wonderful parts and are not equipped to do them. They're not willing to study and face their own inadequacies. The thing they have found easy to play are repeated over and over again."

Miss Fonda, who bears a resemblance to her famous father, knows the direction her career should take.

"What I want to do in terms of my career is to get away from things I'm identified with," she explained. "It's easy for me to play the victimized, sweet young thing. I'm almost 24 now and I want to play my own age."

"The only way to think about working is in terms of progress and each movie should lead to another. I've certainly not come near to touching on the things I want to do."

Besides the three movies, Miss Fonda has three plays and one dramatic TV show to her credit. She's planning to leave for New York soon and will do another play if the script meets with her approval.

Besides Jane and her father, another Fonda has been causing comment in the theatrical world. He's young Peter, Henry's 21-year-old son, now doing the play to

TV Children's Shows Lacking, Producer Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — A recent dispatch from this quarter quoting one TV producer to the effect that TV programmers and sponsors paid too much attention to the kids in devising entertainment aroused dissent in E. Roger Muir, a producer-director long active in the children's field.

"Quite to the contrary," said Muir, who was responsible for putting a genuinely children's show, "Howdy Doody," on the air in New York.

Miss Fonda smiled when somebody mentioned that she had a "famous brother," her satisfaction stemming from the fact she does not like being constantly compared to her dad.

"I am all for FCC Commission-er Minow's recent effort to get the networks to improve and increase programming for children. In fact, I have already been consulted about ideas by those responsible for some of the network programming who would like to fall in with the commissioner's ideas.

"It seems to me that there is only one way to assure a fair representation of quality children's shows on commercial television as we know it today. That is for the big advertisers—and maybe they sell cigarettes or cosmetics or something else for which there is no market among children—to earmark some of their TV budgets for children's shows on a sort of good will or institutional basis.

"Some of them engage in purely institutional advertising at the adult level. Why not do it for children, along with their other programs aimed strictly at product-buying adults?"

"I am all for FCC Commission-er Minow's recent effort to get the networks to improve and increase programming for children. In fact, I have already been consulted about ideas by those responsible for some of the network programming who would like to fall in with the commissioner's ideas.

"It seems to me that there is only one way to assure a fair representation of quality children's shows on commercial television as we know it today. That is for the big advertisers—and maybe they sell cigarettes or cosmetics or something else for which there is no market among children—to earmark some of their TV budgets for children's shows on a sort of good will or institutional basis.

Widows Top News In Hollywood Circles

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Some of the most glamorous widows in the world are found in Movieland, a town dedicated to gaiety, not mourning.

But you have to spot them quickly, for widowhood is a transitory state in Tinseltown.

In the past half a dozen years such beauties as Elizabeth Taylor, Lauren Bacall, Jan Sterling and Pat Wyome were widowed, and all were left in reasonable financial circumstances.

Yet the girls continue their careers. In other sections of the country a widow generally is forced to seek a job and becomes an object of pity, the "extra" female at parties.

But in Hollywood she frequently is a social phenomenon who makes more news than a bevy of bachelor girls and married women.

The classic example is Liz Taylor who, 15 months after Mike Todd's death married his close friend Eddie Fisher.

Lauren Bacall found Hollywood a drag after Humphrey Bogart died. She traveled abroad and to New York looking for a new life.

It took the sultry-voiced widow Bogart while but she found excitement with Jason Robards Jr., an actor who bears a striking resemblance to her first husband and who also believes Hollywood is a drag.

Debbie Powers, third and last wife of Tyrone Power, remarried too. But things didn't turn out so well. Her merger with Arthur Lowe Jr. is on the rocks and they now are awaiting divorce.

After the death of movie mogul Harry Cohn, head of Columbia Pictures, his widow Joan found startlingly brief solace with Harry Karl, the shoe mogul.

Their marriage lasted exactly 22 days.

Now the bonde widow is the boon companion of actor Lawrence Harvey, and marriage rumors fill the smog-laden air.

Two honeymoon couples occupy adjoining terrace suites in a French hotel. The groom of one couple used to be married to the bride of the other. Their old love rekindles. The plot, therefore, is of less consequence than its telling which is full of sharp memorable phrases. One of the most often quoted is "Certain women should be struck regularly. Like gongs."

Rena Aikens as Sibly and Cal Foster as Victor will be seen as the commensurate spouses left behind when the lovers "elope."

The box office will open Nov. 12 from two to five, and weekdays from eleven to five, and telephone orders will be accepted.

Texas Steamrolls Bears

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Tailback James Saxton exploded 66 yards and sophomore Derrell Oliver zipped 60 yards with a stolen pass for touchdowns Saturday as top-ranked Texas mauled the Baylor Bears, 33-7.

Quarterback Mike Cotten connected on clutch touchdown throws of 19 and five yards and halfback Tommy Ford rammed seven yards for another touchdown to sew-up the Longhorns' eighth consecutive victory.

Don Trull rifled a 17 yard pass to end Tex Plumb for Baylor's touchdown. The Bears marched 65 yards in four plays late in the fourth period with Ronnie Bull's 33-yard dash setting up the score.

All America candidate Saxton had another fine day running as Texas rolled along untested in the Southwest Conference. The jitterbugging, 165-pounder carried 16 times for 171 yards.

Bone-crushing ground play and alert pass defense accounted for four of Texas' scores.

Oliver snatched a pass intended for Sonny Whorton when the fourth period was only a minute old and outran the Bears 60 yards for his first collegiate touchdown.

Saxton set-up the third Texas score in the second period when Ford jarred Tommy Minter loose from a pass on the Bear 20 and Saxton picked it off and ripped back to the 11. Cotten passed five yards to Jack Collins three plays later for the score.

Saxton's 66-yard touchdown sprint came in the third quarter after Texas seemed to lose some of its punch during halftime. It revived the Longhorns, who moments earlier marched to the Bear 14 and fizzled.

David Russell intercepted a Bear pass on the Baylor 35 to put Texas in position for its first score. Texas as went the distance in eight plays with Ford smashing over from seven yards out.

Texas scored a back-to-back touchdown a minute and 20 seconds later after Pat Culpepper knocked Ronnie Goodwin loose from the kickoff and David Nunis recovered on Baylor's 20. On a double handoff, Cotten passed 19 yards to end Bob Moses for the touchdown.

Eldon Moritz was three for five at the extra point kicking line for Texas. Carl Choate booted Baylor's one extra point.

Texas, the nation's total offense leader, was below average on the ground. A homecoming crowd of 62,000 watched the Longhorns gain 250 yards rushing and a meager 32 in the air. Missing were the long touchdown drives, but they weren't needed.

Sound Texas line play held Baylor to 86 yards on the ground. The Bears connected on 14 of 35 passes for 145 paces more.

at the line. Daryle Keeling missed the extra point try.

Later Rhome's fourth down punt was blocked by Pat Latham, Rhome recovered and was tackled on the 16. Brice passed 12 yards to Hargett to put A&M just four yards from the SMU goal, and Hargett hit right tackle for the touchdown. A Brice pass for the extra points was incomplete.

SMU came right back to drive 78 yards in 13 plays for a touchdown, as Brennan made a diving catch deep in the end zone.

The best string of SMU passes was on a third-quarter drive. Rhome hit Jimmy Reeves for 13 yards, then threw three times to Campbell for 13, and finally the one-yard touchdown, Lee Roy Caffey blocked Richey's extra point try.

All of the Texas A&M touchdowns came on short runs. Besides the 1-yard plunge of Brice, Sam Byer scored from the one, George Hargett scored from the four, and Bob Caskey from the two.

Rhome passed to Tommy Brennan for eight yards and one score, and later hit Don Campbell with a one-yard scoring toss.

The Aggies turned an SMU fumble and a blocked punt into two first half touchdowns. Guard Keith Huggins recovered a Rhome fumble on the A&M 23, and from there Erickson moved the Aggies 77 yards in nine plays.

Erickson passed 27 yards to Travis Reagan on the SMU 7, and from there fullback Sam Byer punched over on his fourth blast.

The crowd of 34,000, largest ever to see a Kansas-Kansas State game, watched Kansas move the ball with little difficulty against Kansas State's light, out-manned line.

Hadl sprinted eight yards for the first Kansas touchdown with 9:30 to play in the first quarter. His touchdown pass was a 44-yard heave to halfback Curtis McClinton for the final Kansas score in the fourth quarter.

The Kansas defense was double-tough all afternoon, limiting Kansas State to minus five yards rushing. The Wildcats never were able to threaten seriously.

Kansas drove 68 yards after receiving the opening kickoff with Hadl rolling out around left end for the final eight yards. Wallace Barnes kicked the extra point.

Another Kansas drive fizzled at the Kansas State four-yard line early in the second quarter, but the Jayhawks countered with 5:14 left in the half on a five-yard run by McClinton. The score was set up by a Kansas State fumble on the Wildcat 26-yard line.

Kansas made it 20-0 with 6:09 remaining in the third quarter. Fullback Ken Coleman crashed over from the two-yard line to climax a 59-yard march. Barnes' kick was no good.

Kansas drove 37 yards late in the third quarter for its fourth touchdown, with sophomore Tony Leiker sprinting around right end from eight yards out for the score. Hadl passed to Jay Roberts for the conversion.

Kansas closed out its scoring on Hadl's pass to McClinton with 3:05 left in the game. Barnes' kick for the extra point was blocked.

Razorbacks Spank Rice To Take Second Place

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jesse Branch's fourth period touchdown and a field goal by Mickey Cissell gave Arkansas a 10-0 victory over Rice University Saturday and kept the Razorbacks in the race for the Southwest Conference crown.

The victory left Arkansas with a 4-1 league mark and only one game behind the undefeated University of Texas Longhorns.

A heavy rain at the start of the game left the field slippery, and this appeared to hamper Rice more than it did the visiting Razorbacks. Rice lost the ball on three occasions by fumbles deep in their own territory.

The game was scoreless with two minutes left in the third period when Arkansas drove deep into Rice territory and Cissell kicked a 27-yard field goal, after missing on two previous tries.

The three points appeared to give the Razorbacks a new spark. On the next series of downs quarterback George McKinney engineered the Hogs downfield, highlighted by two pass completions to end Jim John.

After driving to the Rice eight, Arkansas fullback Jesse Branch wiggled his way through the middle to go over the goal line standing up.

Rice's offense was strictly a ground game. Quarterback Billy Cox, who made only brief appearances in the second and fourth periods, threw the first Owl pass attempt with less than four minutes left in the game. The pass was good for six yards, but it appeared that at that point it was too late for the Owls to get a drive going.

Harris accounted for 17 LSU points and Campbell, halfback on the Tigers "go" team, followed Harris' long scoring run by finding a big hole behind good blocking and wheeled 54 yards to the second touchdown.

They were aiming for higher ranking for their 7-1 season record and a probable Sugar Bowl bid. North Carolina was the victim.

LSU's defense contained North Carolina all afternoon and the Tar Heels never penetrated deeper than LSU's 38.

The Tigers' defensive maneuver paved the way for two fourth-period insurance touchdowns against the tiring Tar Heels.

Harris climaxed a 40-yard LSU drive in the fourth period by ripping right end for four yards and a score. Quarterback Lynn Amedee went seven yards to climax a 49-yard Tiger drive in the final minutes.

North Texas State bounced back behind the runs of fullback Arthur Perkins to the MSU 26, but the drive bogged down when MSU center Glenn Russell blocked tackle Bobby Price's field goal attempt. It was the Texans' deepest penetration all afternoon.

MSU scored next after Merle Boyd lost a Memphis State punt on the Texans' 18. Five plays later, Casinelli bulldozed over from the two.

The third MSU scored was a drive play by halfback Jerry Reese from the one, capping a 69 yard drive. The touchdown was set up by a 34-yard pass from quarterback Russ Vollmer to Casinelli to the Texans' four.

Vollmer got the fourth score with a 6-yard run up the middle to open the fourth quarter.

A recovered Texas fumble gave MSU the ball on the Texas 12. It took Casinelli one play to score from there.

Score Biggest By Harvesters In 10 Seasons

By JOE LEE SMITH Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW — Pampa threw everything but the bench and the kitchen sink at Plainview Friday night to walk off with a smashing 65-6 triumph over the down-trodden Bulldogs.

Coach Weldon Trice used everyone — but the cheerleaders — in an effort to curtail the scoring. Pampa used its reserves freely as early as the second quarter, but the Bulldogs just simply could not halt the rampaging Harvesters.

It was the largest score run up by a Pampa team since the Harvesters romped over El Paso Austin in 1951 by a 66-13 count.

And it was something the loyal local fans have been waiting on for years. For they cheered loud and blew their air horns after each Harvester touchdown — an event of rare occasion since the early 1950s.

Six Pampa players got into the scoring parade with sophomore speedster Kenny Hebert showing the way with 29 points on four touchdowns and five extra points. Junior Ralph Palmer, another fleet-footed youth, added three tallies and halfback Harry O'Neal tacked on two six-pointers.

Hebert scored on a 66-yard punt return, a 26-yard dash and hauled in touchdown passes of 33 and 84 yards from quarterback Butch Crossland.

Palmer and O'Neal also scored on long runs of 66 and 63 yards respectively.

But despite all the scoring, the most impressive play on the field was Crossland. And it wasn't his passing arm that caught the attention of the press box corp. The Pampa senior was in on numerous tackles—many unassisted—and threw several key blocks to help to pave the way for the long runs.

Also the seemingly invincible Harvester line deserves considerable praise. Ends Corky Godfrey and James Webb; tackles Carl Clark and John Brown; guards Danny Mathus and Dee Wright and backs Riley Walters and Billy Hughes teamed up to completely bottle up the Bulldogs offense except for two plays.

Pampa struck quickly for the first marker two minutes deep in the mismatch. After Jerry Glover returned the opening kickoff to the Harvesters' 42, Crossland hit the junior end with a 24 yard pass. Hebert and Mike Stewart carried the ball to the 26 from which point Kenny circled right end for the tally.

The Harvesters stretched their lead to 15-0 by the end of the quarter on Hebert's brilliant 66 yard punt return with the aid of a bone-crushing block by James Webb. He also added the extra points on an end run.

Quarterback Ricky Stewart capped an 11-play, 82 yard surge with a four yard plunge to make the fast changing scoreboard read 21-0.

Trice's crew struck again just before the end of the initial half, marching 52 yards in seven plays. Palmer romped over from the six to get the six points. M. Stewart banged over right tackle for the two points.

Plainview, however, rolled 71 yards in two quick plays for their lone score. Quarterback Tim Benefield rared back and lofted long heaves of 34 and 37 yards to end Ray Gonzales with the latter accounting for the score with 13 seconds left to play in the half.

M. Stewart recovered a Plainview fumble on the second half kickoff and two plays later Palmer scooted around left end, turned on his blazing speed and raced into the end zone for another marker. Crossland passed to Hebert for the extra points.

Late in the third period, a Plainview punt rolled dead on the Pampa 16. Crossland went back to pass behind fine protection and hit Hebert on the "Dogs 40 and the speedy halfback outran two defenders easily to cap the 84-yard play.

O'Neal rambled 63 yards on the first play in the fourth period to up the count to 49-6 after Hebert ran over the two points. R. Stewart set up the score by intercepting

getting the Aces

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — Jay Hebert scored holes-in-one on two successive rounds of the 1959 El Paso Open. He aceed the 291-yard 18th hole in the third round and the 170-yard third hole the following day in the fourth round.

Score Biggest By Harvesters In 10 Seasons

By JOE LEE SMITH Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW — Pampa threw everything but the bench and the kitchen sink at Plainview Friday night to walk off with a smashing 65-6 triumph over the down-trodden Bulldogs.

Coach Weldon Trice used everyone — but the cheerleaders — in an effort to curtail the scoring. Pampa used its reserves freely as early as the second quarter, but the Bulldogs just simply could not halt the rampaging Harvesters.

It was the largest score run up by a Pampa team since the Harvesters romped over El Paso Austin in 1951 by a 66-13 count.

And it was something the loyal local fans have been waiting on for years. For they cheered loud and blew their air horns after each Harvester touchdown — an event of rare occasion since the early 1950s.

Six Pampa players got into the scoring parade with sophomore speedster Kenny Hebert showing the way with 29 points on four touchdowns and five extra points. Junior Ralph Palmer, another fleet-footed youth, added three tallies and halfback Harry O'Neal tacked on two six-pointers.

Hebert scored on a 66-yard punt return, a 26-yard dash and hauled in touchdown passes of 33 and 84 yards from quarterback Butch Crossland.

Palmer and O'Neal also scored on long runs of 66 and 63 yards respectively.

But despite all the scoring, the most impressive play on the field was Crossland. And it wasn't his passing arm that caught the attention of the press box corp. The Pampa senior was in on numerous tackles—many unassisted—and threw several key blocks to help to pave the way for the long runs.

Also the seemingly invincible Harvester line deserves considerable praise. Ends Corky Godfrey and James Webb; tackles Carl Clark and John Brown; guards Danny Mathus and Dee Wright and backs Riley Walters and Billy Hughes teamed up to completely bottle up the Bulldogs offense except for two plays.

Pampa struck quickly for the first marker two minutes deep in the mismatch. After Jerry Glover returned the opening kickoff to the Harvesters' 42, Crossland hit the junior end with a 24 yard pass. Hebert and Mike Stewart carried the ball to the 26 from which point Kenny circled right end for the tally.

The Harvesters stretched their lead to 15-0 by the end of the quarter on Hebert's brilliant 66 yard punt return with the aid of a bone-crushing block by James Webb. He also added the extra points on an end run.

Quarterback Ricky Stewart capped an 11-play, 82 yard surge with a four yard plunge to make the fast changing scoreboard read 21-0.

Trice's crew struck again just before the end of the initial half, marching 52 yards in seven plays. Palmer romped over from the six to get the six points. M. Stewart banged over right tackle for the two points.

Plainview, however, rolled 71 yards in two quick plays for their lone score. Quarterback Tim Benefield rared back and lofted long heaves of 34 and 37 yards to end Ray Gonzales with the latter accounting for the score with 13 seconds left to play in the half.

M. Stewart recovered a Plainview fumble on the second half kickoff and two plays later Palmer scooted around left end, turned on his blazing speed and raced into the end zone for another marker. Crossland passed to Hebert for the extra points.

Late in the third period, a Plainview punt rolled dead on the Pampa 16. Crossland went back to pass behind fine protection and hit Hebert on the "Dogs 40 and the speedy halfback outran two defenders easily to cap the 84-yard play.

O'Neal rambled 63 yards on the first play in the fourth period to up the count to 49-6 after Hebert ran over the two points. R. Stewart set up the score by intercepting

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — Jay Hebert scored holes-in-one on two successive rounds of the 1959 El Paso Open. He aceed the 291-yard 18th hole in the third round and the 170-yard third hole the following day in the fourth round.

Red Raiders Sweep Past Boston 14-6

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Tech swept the ends and passed over a huge Boston College line for a methodical 14-6 victory over the Eagles in an intersectional clash Saturday.

Boston College, making its first trip to west Texas for the opener of a two-game series with the Red Raiders, came to life in the closing two minutes, moving 80 yards for a touchdown, and then recovering an onside kick on its 49.

But halfback Bill Worley made his second key interception of the game to halt the Eagle drive.

McLean Stops Lefors 14-0 For 2-A Grid Title

Sooners Rock Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Once mighty Oklahoma rose from the depths of its worst season Saturday to strike down 10th ranked Missouri, 7-0, before a record crowd of 44,000.

Oklahoma, in winning its second consecutive game after five losses in a row, scored one 14-yard pass from Jimmy Carpenter to Mike McClellan in the second period and then beat Missouri at its own game, defense.

Missouri, whose hopes for an Orange Bowl bid faded completely with the loss, twice drove inside the Oklahoma 10-yard line—once to the one-foot mark—and each time Oklahoma held.

Two pass interceptions and two fumbles at critical points blunted Missouri's attack. Oklahoma's Wayne Lee recovered a fumble by Bill Tobin on the Missouri 43 to open the door for the games only touchdown.

TCU Falls To UCLA Team 28-7

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—It isn't fancy but UCLA can now boast that it finally has acquired a passing attack as the Bruins look back on Friday night's 28-7 victory over Texas Christian University.

The Horned Frogs, with the top-ranking passer in the Southwest Conference in Sonny Gibbs, were outgained through the air by UCLA. And the Bruins ignited their offense with a 63-yard scoring pass play.

The Frogs, who earlier in the season held Ohio State to a 7-0 tie, completely outplayed UCLA in the first quarter. Gibbs and fullback Tom Crutcher highlighted a 60-yard touchdown drive with Crutcher going over from the one.

But when UCLA tailback Bobby Smith threw 40 yards through the air to wingback Kermit Alexander who raced 23 more yards to score, it was all the Bruins needed.

Alternating tailback Mike Haffner then guided UCLA to its second touchdown. Fullback Almore Thompson completed the 80-yard march by punching the final yard.

UCLA came back with drives of 66 and 77 yards in the third and fourth quarters to complete the victory. It was UCLA's fifth straight win and the Bruins strengthened their standing as the leading West Coast contender for the Rose Bowl.

back Bob Page pitched out to Carpenter who passed to McClellan as the fleet halfback crossed into the right corner of the end zone. George Jarman kicked the extra point with 7:24 remaining in the half.

Missouri, frustrated by drives that died on the Oklahoma one-foot line in the first period and on the eight-yard line in the third period, threatened in the waning minutes of the game. After Jarman's 17-yard field goal attempt failed, Missouri drove from its own 20 to the Oklahoma 31. But Monte Deere intercepted Ron Taylor's pass on the Oklahoma nine and returned it to the 21. Oklahoma then ran out the clock to preserve its victory.

Missouri attempted a field goal on the last play of the first half, but Bill Tobin's kick from the 17 was no good.

Missouri outgained Oklahoma both on the ground and through the air, with 177 yards rushing and 85 passing. But most of Missouri's success was between the 30-yard lines.

TEXLINE (SpI)—District 1-B champion Groom concluded its regular season schedule with a 28-8 triumph over the Texline Tornados here Friday night.

Thus coach Dwain Currie's Tigers enter the bi-district playoff against Bovina with a 7-3 season mark. They meet Saturday night at 7:30 at the Buffalo Bowl in Canyon. Bovina is the district 2-B titlist.

Groom wasted little time in sewing up the game with Texline. Halfback Eldred James rambled 30 yards in the first period and Jerry Snyder kicked the extra point to put the Tigers in front 7-0.

Later in the same period, quarterback Dan Craig passed 40 yards to James for the second touchdown. Snyder's conversion made the score 14-0.

Craig tossed to halfback Lynn Barker for 60 yards and the third marker early in the second period. Wesley Cornett ran over the extra points and the Bengals led 22-0 at halftime.

Barker led the victory when he returned the second half kickoff 90 yards behind vicious downfield blocking.

Texline counted in the final period on a Talmadge Abney to David Sheets pass for 10 yards.

The championship was the sixth straight for the Tigers, who have not lost a district game since the 1957 season.

Assistant coaches to Currie are Don Hunt and Charles Banks. This was Currie's first grid title as a head coach after being an assistant mentor at Canadian.

... 43 Wins In A Row

Pflugerville Owns Long Streak

PFLUGERVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—There isn't a boy on the Pflugerville high school football team who knows the meaning of defeat.

The Panthers won their 43rd consecutive game Friday night, defeating Dripping Springs, 21-0. The last time they lost a game was before the current crop of stars started to high school.

Their victory string is the longest in Texas. After 19 successful starts this season the Panthers have scored 417 points to only 27 for their opponents.

It is a 20 minute drive from the little open field where the Panthers play to the huge concrete stadium of the Texas Longhorns, the No. 1 college team.

The Pflugerville boys make the trip as often as they can to pick up pointers.

Coach Charles Kuempel, who also drives a school bus for the tiny Class B school, runs his team from a Wing-T formation similar to the one used by Texas.

Kuempel and School Supt. Ray S. Nelson believe speed and brains are the reasons for the Panthers' success.

"If a boy doesn't go out for track in the spring, he needn't come out for football in the fall," Kuempel said flatly.

Nelson likes to point out that nine of the first team players have "B" averages and the five boys who are members of the National Honor Society play football.

"You can't be a dodo out there and change fast as the quarterback barks those swiftoff signals," Nelson said. "Dumb players would ruin our team."

Thirty of the 44 boys in the country high school are on the team, now in its second year of 11-man football competition. The two previous years Pflugerville won 21 straight games playing 8-man football.

The fans in Pflugerville are so proud of the team they went out and built their own grandstand.

"We just went around and said we needed some new bleachers and the next thing we knew the PTA came up with the money and all sorts of volunteers came up with the muscle. Ten days later we had sitting-room for everyone," Kuempel said.

"Everyone" was right. There are 600 seats and about 600 residents in Pflugerville.

Kuempel says his two best players are 6-foot-4-inch quarterback Joe Weiss, who passes 50 yards with ease to wiry halfback James Bohles, who can run the length of the field in full uniform in 10.4 seconds.

Butch Imken, a senior halfback, is the leading team scorer with 13 touchdowns and 10 extra points for a total of 98 points. Weiss has scored 92 points.

Windom Sparks Bengal Victory

McLEAN (SpI)—Clyde Windom, a converted guard, bulled his 185-pound frame through the Lefors Pirates defense for 143 yards and a touchdown to lead coach Derral Davis' McLean Tigers to a 14-0 win over the Bucs in the district 2-A championship contest.

McLean will play the undefeated Gruver Greyhounds, district 1-A kings, next week. The officials of the two schools will meet today at Berger to decide the site and time of their bi-district clash.

Windom, playing only his second game at fullback, was — as Lefors coach Dunny Goode put it — "the guy that beat us." He carried 23 times and picked up 36 vital yards in the Tigers' 55-yard march for the first score in the third period.

Lefors was limited to just four first downs and a net 107 yards by the unyielding McLean defense, which was spearheaded by Windom from his middle guard post. The Pirates didn't get their second first down until midway in the third period.

McLean took the second half kickoff and promptly surged 55 yards with Windom sparking the drive. He plunged over from the two to get the score. Quarterback Kenny Willingham booted the first of two conversions.

Willingham intercepted a Lefors stray pass to set up the second tally from the Pirates. 37. Windom bulled his way to the 24 and halfback Jim Watson shook off practically all of the Pirates team on a thrilling touchdown run the next play.

Fullback Scott Dunham raced 36 yards in the first period to the McLean 20 as the Pirates made the initial thrust. But the Bengals defense rose up and threw the losers back with the aid of a penalty.

Dunham and Windom put on a brilliant display of punting. The Lefors star punted out on the Tigers one and two yard lines on boonnors of 47 and 48 yards respectively.

Lefors ended the season with a 5-4-1 mark and second place in the standings.

The statistics:

	Lef.	McL.

Yds. Rushing	93	262
Yds. Passing	14	0

Quannah, Perryton and Childress closed out the 1961 grid campaign on winning notes Friday night with wins over Shamrock, Spearman and Wellington respectively.

The Quannah Indians wrapped up their 10th straight win for an undefeated season and the district 5-AA crown. Thus the Tribe will play the Hamlin Pied Pipers in bi-district action.

Coach Bill Davis' crew walked over Shamrock 61-12 behind the running game passing of quarterback Danny Scarborough. He ran for three tallies of 55, 70 and 53 yards and went to the air for another.

Shamrock tallied both scores in the last period on a pair of touchdown passes from Larry Reeves to Bill Billingsley.

Perryton quarterback, Freddie Lewis, scored one touchdown, passed for another and touched up four extra points as the Rangers walloped Spearman 41-26.

The Rangers rolled to a 34-6 halftime lead and used the shock troops in the last half as Spearman bounced back to narrow the gap.

Norman Naron, Johnny Wilson and Charles Mitchell accounted for all of the scoring as Childress ripped Wellington 30-12.

The Bobcats held a 22-6 third quarter advantage.

Childress and Perryton tied for second place honors in the district with 3-1 records after battling to an 8-8 draw last Friday.

Lee rolled to six victories and Perryman extended his undefeated string to 11 straight over a two-year period.

The Rebels captured wins over the Pampa 7th Reapers 26-8 and 32-8; Phillips 34-0; Berger Houston 22-0; Berger Austin 28-20 and the Pampa 8th grade 20-0.

The remainder of the squad consists of Mike Carr, Tommy Capps, Gerald Caldwell, Ray Brady, Kelly Taylor, Gary Boyles, James Matney, Randy Harris, Charles Brauchle, mgr., Butch Miller, mgr., Randy Carmen, Bob Rush, Windie Harper, Larry Cox, Jack Williams, Doc Cornutt, Terry Troxel and Bobby Chase.

Mississippi State Upsets Auburn '11'
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Quarterback Billy Hill led Mississippi State Saturday to its first Southeastern Conference victory since 1938 with an upset win over favored Auburn 11-10.

The Bulldogs drove for 69 yards in seven plays with Hill, a 163-pound senior, passing twice to end Johnny Baker and running once himself to set up an end sweep by halfback Bill Cook, who scored from three yards out to make it 10-9 in favor of Auburn.

State, which last beat Auburn in 1932, elected to go for the win and Hill tossed a pass to Baker, who made a leaping catch to put the Bulldogs in front by a point.

Anyone interested in organizing a city basketball league can get the ball rolling by contacting Dwayne Orr at Box 1181 or by calling MO 4-3271.

This also includes anyone interested in sponsoring a team.

The class B bi-district contest between the Groom Tigers of 1-B and Bovina of 2-B will be played Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at Buffalo Bowl in Canyon.

Groom went to the regional playoffs last season before losing to Anton 34-6. Both clubs will carry a 7-3 season record into the playoff game.

Coach Terry Culley has announced a change in the Pampa Harvesters' basketball schedule.

The Harvesters will open the season Nov. 21 at Hereford. Pampa will play the Whitefaces here Dec. 12 in place of the Childress Bobcats, who have cancelled out.

Pampa goes to Vernon, Nov. 24 and Phillips, Nov. 28. The Harvesters' first home game will be Dec. 8 against Birdville.

Wouldn't it be something if the Pampa Harvesters could knock off the Borger Bulldogs? It's highly unlikely, but not improbable.

Of course, we do not think the Harvesters can stop Borger by comparing Plainview scores. For the Plainview club was one of the poorest teams we have ever seen play.

But Pampa has improved and it will be homecoming and the Harvesters sure have a lot of catching up to do with Borger, who has really poured it on in the last several years.

In fact, earlier in the season, when Pampa was suffering all sorts of defeat, the news came to us from Borger that the Bulldogs were planning to run up as high a score as they possibly could.

We sure hope the shoe will fit on Pampa's foot come Saturday afternoon at 2 at Harvester Park.

Notre Dame Tops Pittsburgh 26-20

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The passing combination of second-string quarterback Frank Budka to end Les Traver clicked for a 59-yard scoring play and set up a second touchdown Saturday to lead Notre Dame to a 26-20 victory over a battling Pitt team before 50,527 fans in Pitt Stadium.

To make it a great day for the Irish an Irishman by the name of Charlie O'Hara of Milmont, Pa., turned in the longest run of the game by jaunting 47 yards for Notre Dame's final touchdown. It pulled the game out of reach.

The Panthers refused to give up and with two minutes left drove to the Notre Dame 21-yard line before the Irish defense stiffened.

Budka, a sophomore from Pompano Beach, Fla., started the Irish on their way to victory in the first period by connecting with Traver on a 59-yard scoring pass. In the third quarter, the same combination teamed for a 40-yard pass play that put the ball on the Pitt two-yard line and enabled fullback Dick Naab to score from the one.

Seconds later, tackle Martin Olosky fell on a Pitt fumble on the Panther 12 and halfback George Sefcik skirted right end from eight yards out for another third-period Irish touchdown.

The Irish fans went wild when O'Hara, who was not listed on Notre Dame's first three teams, cut off right tackle from the Pitt 47 and went all the way. Joe Perkowski booted two extra points for Notre Dame.

West Texas Nips Trinity U. 29-28

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — National scoring leader Pete Pedro added three touchdowns Saturday to lead West Texas State to a 29-28 victory over Trinity University in a clash marked by five touchdowns within nine minutes in the third period.

Pedro, although used sparingly with nine carries for 61 yards, boosted his season total to 20 touchdowns, four more than national runner-up James (Preacher) Pilot of New Mexico State, who is idle this week.

West Texas scored three times in the wild third period, and Trinity tallied twice. It broke a 7-7 halftime tie set up on first period scoring efforts by both teams.

Trinity's Pete Mobbs scored on a six-yard pass from quarterback Jay McCarty in the fourth period and McCarty ran for a two-pointer to pull within one point.

Pedro scored on runs of 7, 33 and 2 yards, the latter two coming in West Texas, 22-point third quarter outburst.

Duke Blue Devils Trample Middies

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Quarterback Walt Rappold passed 77 yards for one touchdown and ran 45 for another in the first five minutes Saturday to get the Duke Blue Devils off to a fast start en route to a 30-9 upset of Navy.

Rappold, a strapping 203-pound junior from Beckley, W. Va., just about wrapped up the game against the favored Middies before the fans were even settled in their seats for what had been expected to be a closely fought 15th annual Oyster Bowl.

On the third play of the game, Rappold passed to halfback Jay Wilkinson, son of the Oklahoma coach and Wilkinson, taking the ball on Duke's 35 dodged four would-be Navy tacklers and raced down the sideline to score.

Houston Rolls Over Tulsa Eleven 14-2

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A 73-yard opening kickoff return by halfback Kenny Bolin and a 54-yard run by quarterback Billy Wil Van Osdel on the Houston 23. Bolin in the last minute of the same game gave the University of Houston a 14-2 victory over the University of Tulsa Saturday.

A stubborn Houston defense stopped several Tulsa scoring threats, before Roland put the game on ice with his last-minute touchdown run.

Houston opened fast in the first quarter following Bolin's opening kickoff return. A 33-yard run by halfback Larry Broussard, a 13-yard pass from Roland to end Milt Perkins and a 1-yard plunge by Lindsay set up the Cougar's first touchdown. Broussard scored from the one with only 2:16 gone in the first period.

Tulsa scored a safety mid-way through the third quarter when Houston center Danny Birdwell overshot punter Larry Lindsay and the ball went into the end zone.

Tulsa got to the Houston 17 midway in the second quarter after left tackle Gary Rawls recovered a fumble by Houston left-halfback Bil Van Osdel on the Houston 23. Tulsa fullback David White made it to the 17, but the drive stalled in two complete passes.

After an 83-yard touchdown run by Bolin was cancelled by a penalty in the second quarter, Houston launched a 42-yard drive but was stopped when quarterback Bill Shewey intercepted a pass by Don Sessions in the end zone.

A third quarter Houston drive of 39 yards was stopped on the Tulsa five when end Virgil-Nason fell on a fumble by fullback Bobby Brezina. The Cougars marched from the Tulsa 46 to the 16 in a fourth quarter drive.

Ole Miss Clubs Moccasins 54-0

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi, one of the nation's best passing teams, was forced to stick to the ground because of a hard, continuous rain Saturday but the eighth-ranked Rebels still racked up a 54-0 victory over outclassed Chattanooga.

Mississippi limited Chattanooga to 35 yards total offense in what must be regarded as one of college football's worst mis-matches. The Moccasins never made a first down.

Only 4,000 paid fans, plus 6,000 high school seniors who were admitted free, were on hand at the kickoff. By halftime, most had been chased away by the heavy rain.

As the crowd dwindled, the Rebels' margin of victory had mounted. The Ole Miss first team played about one-fourth of the game, scoring two touchdowns in the first half and two in the second half. Reserves did the rest of the damage.

Army Rolls Over William & Mary

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI) — Linebusting Al Ruzhitz plunged for three touchdowns Saturday to lead Army to a 48-13 victory over a stubborn William and Mary team which offered surprising resistance before suffering its eighth loss in nine games.

Army led by only one touchdown early in the fourth quarter but then romped to four touchdowns to win going away.

Ray Paske scored twice for Army in the ultimate rout with Chris Stanat and Paul Stanley adding the others while Dick Heydt kicked six extra points.

Ernie Phillips and Stan Penkunus scored for William and Mary before 18,150 chilled spectators. Dan Barton added their lone extra point.

Purdue Halts Spartans 7-6

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Under-rated Purdue upset the nation's sixth-ranked college football team, Michigan State, 7-6, Saturday on a 15-yard touchdown pass from sophomore quarterback Ron Digravio to sophomore Tom Boris in the third period.

The Boilermarkers, using their alternate team system, gave the Spartans two breaks in the first half, a fumble and a pass interception, and Michigan State cashed its touchdown after the faulty pass.

But Don Brumm made it possible for Purdue to win when he charged through the line to deflect Art Brandstatter's point-after-touchdown try and let the Spartans hold only a 6-0 lead at the half.

Vibration Tests Play Vital Role In U.S. Industry

NEW YORK (UPI) — When a New England shop, founded in 1938, got into aircraft work in World War II it found a set of problems and solutions which carried its operations over into the field of space flight and exploration today.

The pattern of progress—aircraft technology to missile know-how—is a familiar one, but the work done by the MB Electronics Co. of New Haven, Conn., is not what the layman might ordinarily associate with the usually romantic concept of a missile, large of small, probing the mysteries of the skies around us.

Its particular field is providing the means to shake the jitters out of any or all parts of the systems or hardware that go into a missile—or into an automobile part or a washing machine, for that matter. MB Electronics, a division of Textron Electronics Inc., is a specialist in the study of vibration.

As might be expected of an organization with a New England background, it makes markets, delivers and installs its own machines. The basic portion, directly applied to the object to be tested for vibration, is relatively simple, but the machine, called an Exciter, is driven by electronic power supplies, the whole thing being, according to president Charles D. Brown, similar in principle to a loud speaker in a Hi-Fi set.

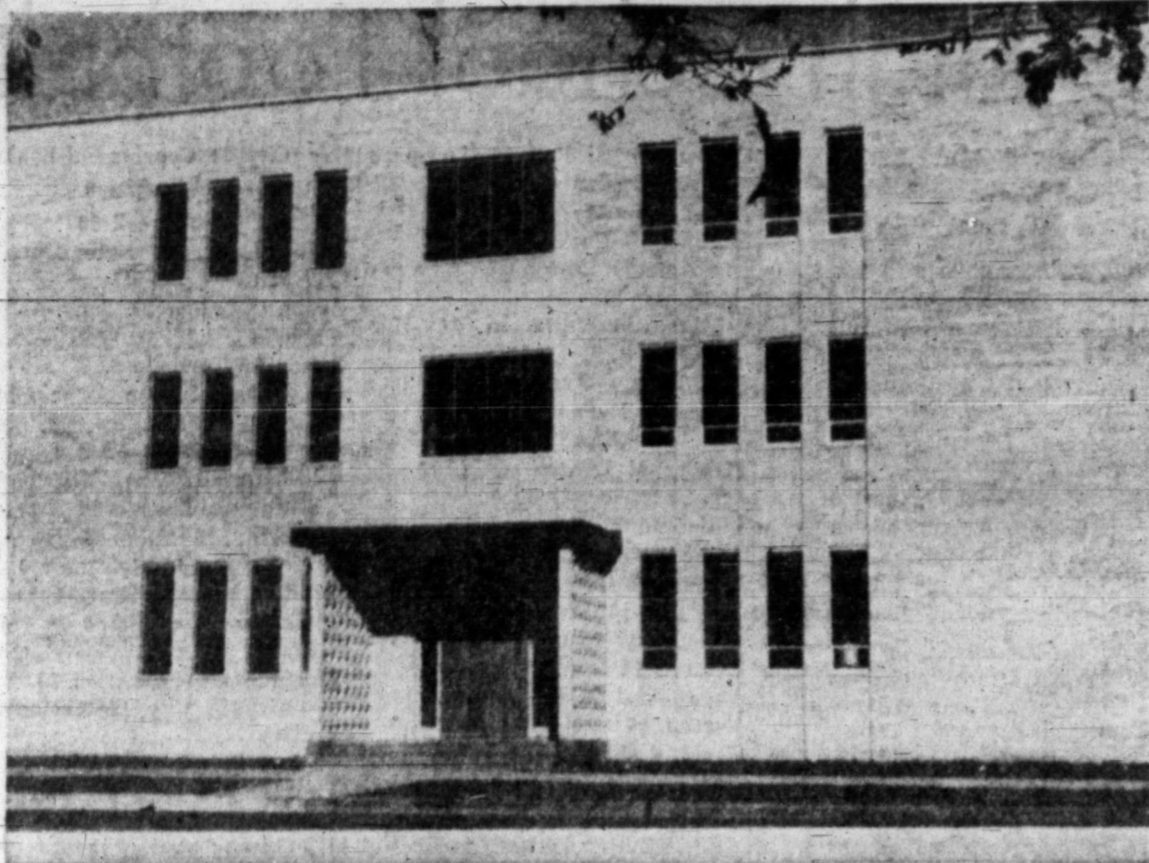

Vibration testing began to become important in the early days of World War II when many cases of aircraft parts failure were traced to vibration, bringing failures in the parts material. Brown said it was not until after the war, however, that there was time for the technique of vibration testing to take shape.

The intense stresses and vibrations of "rocket-speed" travel put more emphasis than ever on the ability of manufacturers to test individual parts.

Hence, MB developed mechanisms to test machine parts of all kinds, sizes and uses.

Three Children Burned To Death

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UPI)—Three children burned to death Thursday when a butane gas refrigerator exploded, shooting out flames which destroyed the small frame house. The tragedy happened while the children's mother had gone to a road about 100 yards away to meet her mother.

EDUCATIONAL BUILDING — Above is a front view of the new three-story First Baptist Educational Building which will be used for the first time today. The public is invited to an "Open House" this afternoon in the new structure.

First Baptist Church Opens Building Today

Pampa's First Baptist Church, 203 N. West, will open its new three-story $318,000 Educational Building today, marking another epic in the history of the church and reflecting the continued growth of the city.

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor, said that the new structure, adjoining the church sanctuary on the west via a glass-enclosed overhead gallery, would be used for Sunday School purposes this morning. This afternoon there will be an "Open House" observation from 2:30 until 4:30 o'clock.

The public is invited to visit the building this afternoon. In connection with the opening of the Educational Building, the church today expected one of the largest Sunday School attendances ever recorded—at least this was the hope of the pastor, Jack Parker, minister of education, and Joe Whitten, minister of music, and other members of the church staff, officers of the church and Sunday School.

The first floor of the new structure consists of a large dining hall with a seating capacity of 500 persons; a kitchen equipped with the newest and most modern appliances and other essential paraphernalia, and a lounge furnished in modern Danish furniture. The building, primarily for Sunday School purposes, of course, will accommodate 1,000 persons in the church school.

The second floor is designed for juniors and one primary department. On this floor there will be housed six large departments with 42 classrooms.

The third floor is designed for teen-agers with six departmental rooms and 38 classrooms.

Overall the building has a total of 30,000 square feet of space. It is centrally heated and air conditioned throughout. Other conveniences in the building include two in-laid shuffle board courts, four tables for tennis, plus a television lounge in connection with the youth recreation program sponsored by the church.

The structure was erected under the supervision of the architectural firm of Cantrell and Co.

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (UPI) — The Protestant Pavilion constructed for the 1958 Brussels World Fair has been moved to the Hague by barge and is being converted into a Protestant church for Americans living in the Dutch capital.

Several rooms have been added to the building, which is being refurbished at a cost of $200,000 contributed by Protestants throughout the world.

Latest Polaris Missile Firing Proves Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The Navy's latest experiment with its sturdy Polaris missile-boat in the Atlantic Ocean today, victim of a flight that went off course.

A range safety officer deliberately blew up an advanced model Polaris Thursday night when it drifted off course after its second stage had failed to ignite.

The 15-ton rocket was carrying a small guidance package which Navy scientists plan to use aboard a still more advanced Polaris, the 2,850-mile "A-3."

Missilemen were unable to explain the cause of Thursday night's mishap.

First Christian Topic Announced

T. Arnold Davis, pastor of the Lamar Christian Church, has selected, "A Vision of What This Church Can Become," for his sermon in the 10:40 a.m. Sunday worship service.

Church school will be held in the church beginning at 9:40 a.m. The 7 o'clock Sunday evening worship topic discussed by Rev. Davis will be "Meet Yourself in The Bible."

Christian Women's Fidelity Group will meet at the church, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Mary Martha Group will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 16, in the church.

High Court May Rule In Gas Price Case Or Toss It To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court instead of Congress may be first to resolve one of the toughest natural gas pricing problems facing the Federal Power Commission.

The issue is whether an interstate pipeline company can legally file for new rate increases before the commission has had time to dispose of its previous rate increase applications.

Willmut Gas and Oil Co., Hattiesburg, Miss., has asked the court to decide the question — commonly known as price-pyramiding—which also is pending before Senate Commerce Committee probers.

By refusing to review Willmut's appeal, the court would leave any solution up to Congress. But by consenting to review it could sweep aside a pricing jungle that long has plagued the pipelines, the FPC, home and commercial gas consumers, and state regulatory bodies.

The Senate committee looked into pyramiding last summer but got nowhere on corrective legislation. It will take it up again in January. The FPC itself is seeking a way out but is bound by terms of the 1938 Natural Gas Act until such time as the court or Congress chops out the path.

As of now the commission says it has no power to reject pyramids which, more than anything else, has slowed its price-regulation functions to a crawl.

Willmut does not agree. It asserts the commission has "abdicated its jurisdiction." That is the substance of its challenge in the Supreme Court.

Willmut buys its gas — both commercial and industrial—from United Gas Pipe Line Co. of Shreveport, La. United asked the FPC to approve several rate increases. While these were pending it filed for superseding increases.

Willmut asked the commission to turn down the superseding hikes or, in lieu of this, accept them for consideration, throw out all the previous increases, and order United to make applications. Willmut contested this in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals which last July 20 upheld the commission.

The court said in brief that a pipeline company could change its rates "at will" unless they were written into a contract. It said furthermore that the commission "was without discretion" to reject such rate schedules; that the only way it could change them was to hold hearings and find them unreasonable.

BAZAAR TIME again all around the town... the time of giving... giving of time, effort, talent... and giving help to a worthy cause... such endeavors have been the main concern of members of St. Paul Methodist, First Presbyterian and St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Churches... the combined efforts of Allison Snow, Betty Brown and Katy Keys produced attractive table decorations for the Bazaar functions given by each of the churches... you might call the decorations Christian Charity in action from horns-of-plenty for the St. Paul members had first use of them at a luncheon last week... then the Presbyterian used them on Thursday... and yesterday, the Catholic women decorated their dinner tables with them following a suggestion in "Letters To The Editor" written by Mrs. Pete Shulick of Amarillo, in which she suggested that local families invite foreign service men, stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base, into their homes as a way of showing what America is really like, the Forrest Hills family, north of the city, responded to this lady's appeal by contacting Sergeant Marques, Base liaison officer... today, the Hills should be entertaining Pakistan guests... "one fellow is the father of eight children, so I hope our family of nine kiddoes makes him feel at home MaJunta was overheard saying to a friend.

A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW Joy Williams is radiant in her flame red wool maternity fashion... the overblouse is a scooped neckline, sleeveless vest sort of thing contrasted with a crisp white shirt... All that glitters is not always gold, we found out this week... sometimes it is a 50th Anniversary car, which we have been eyeing all week in a local auto showroom... as a fiftieth anniversary memo, makers of this glittering, golden auto sent only one such design to each dealer... all golden on the outside with lemon-yellow upholstery... and guess who purchased Pampa's one and only... why, Ronald James, of course!

OUT OF HER MIND, Ella Phillips came up with this question directed to Hazel Poole "What DO school children DO on rainy days during their usual outside play period?" AND OUT OF TOWN TODAY are Bob and Alleith Curry, who journeyed to Austin to see their son, Don, who is a freshman at Texas University... and also to attend the Homecoming and "Dad's Day" festivities preceding and following the Texas University-Baylor football game Saturday... also out of town is Charlene Yeager, who, via airlines, went to Lafayette, La. to kiss the grandchildren... among others missing from the hometown scene are John Gentry, Celanese safety engineer, who is in Wyoming on safety business... the Lynn Boyds... plus a dozen or so bird hunters, among them, Otis Nace and Bob Jewell, who left behind such gals as Evelyn Nace and Klair Jewell... tearful farewells in the J. Frank Heare family this week as they generously parted with their canine family of six boy and two girl puppies... the Heare children sadly kissed wet noses goodby.

AND GOODBYES have been said also to twelve Celanese families this year... the latest being Loriane and Jimmy Corley... who are leaving for Bay City... Shirley Holland was hostess for a party this week for "girl good-byes" to Loriane... it's always nice to say "hello" to Robin Gantz... an inspiring, refreshing young lady with an artistic mind and artistic hands... her one-woman show of water-colors is being exhibited today at West Texas State college in Canyon... but more than her beautiful art work is her beauty within... the ordinary, common-place things we see all the time are so much more than that to Robin... which is true of all artists, we suppose... we love to listen to her fresh, delightful thoughts.

WHAT WE DIDN'T know until now is that Red Wedge, north, who has been overseeing Chamber of Commerce business for the past 15 years, is a former school superintendent... having "superintended" in Fluvanna plus a few more years at Snyder... note only this but he taught music and plays a trombone... quite a lot of "unsung" talent underneath that red hair... somehow we always feel a bit more inspired to drive correctly when we are driving behind a Drivers' Education car, while students are driving... they drive so carefully, so precisely and so legally... we often wonder what they think of the "sloppy" drivers who pass them or do flagrantly unlawful things right before their eyes... speaking of traffic safety, we are indebted to the Traffic Safety Commission, headed by Bob Hudson, for having North Hobart Street... near Horace Mann School... painted with yellow "school slow" signs on the street... we know that this area was a headache to them for such a long time before they came up with this solution... warning signs, heretofore, were placed off at the side of the street on the parkway... and often motorists would not see them and since the school is a half-block from the street, motorists did not often notice that it was a school zone... and after leaving the stop-light at Francis and Hobart... with the long, clean-sweep of street directly ahead... unhampered by stop signs or lights... it was always such a temptation to make up for lost time along those blocks... we know!

JUST A LITTLE REMINDER... if you want to know what to do in the way of unusual holiday decorations... Mrs. Robert Warren of Waco will tell you how tomorrow in the First National Bank Annex... she is being brought here under the auspices of the Pampa Garden Club... and will give two demonstrations, one at 10 a.m. and another at 7:30 p.m. before we get too many paragraphs away from Bazaars... the Winsome Class of the First Methodist Church is staging a Bazaar and White Elephant Sale next Saturday and the following Monday in the First National Bank Annex... all for the good cause of a scholarship for a deserving high school student... there is a lot of fascinating activity going on around the site of the future Citizens Bank and Trust Co. corner of Foster and Kingsmill... the skeleton frame-work is up... and there is something quite impressive-looking about it... almost any day now, there should be a group of Sidewalk Engineers to supervise the building process... and another interesting site is the new office annex being erected adjacent to the Hughes Building... there should never be a dull moment during the next few months for sidewalk engineers... who just might organize a Building Watcher's Club.

THAT SPARKLE on Lajeon Caldwell's third finger left hand is almost as bright as the sparkle in her blue eyes as she makes preparations for her wedding on January 20 to Charles Carter Williams of Goodland... both are students at West Texas State College in Canyon... Lajeon is president of her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha... continuing with the romance-in-the-air theme, Helen Myers, Thelma Hopkins, Freida LeMond, Clara Quary, Dorothy Borrit and Gwen Gray were hostesses Tuesday evening for a lovely bridal shower honoring Betty Wood... the bride-elect's table was appointed with a circular floor-length pink net cloth over pink caught up with pink ribbons to nosegays... Betty and Dwain Orr are to repeat wedding vows on Tuesday evening... saw Shirley Winborne the other afternoon carrying the most attractive, huge, red patent-leather handbag... heard later that she came to Thelma Gray's rescue by delving into its depths and coming up with a roll of scotch tape, which Thelma needed for a PTA poster-hanging... what women won't carry in their purses... judging from what we carry in our purse, we just hope that it never catches on fire... the conflagration would be a four-alarm jangle.

Love, Peg.

As a background for the presentation, Mrs. Miller told the members that "J.B." was first produced on Broadway on Dec. 11, 1958 and had been done in Germany, Italy, most of Scandinavia, Israel and Mexico. She said, "It is reasonable to predict that within the next decade, MacLeish's modernized version of the Book of Job will have been seen in principal theatres throughout the world, perhaps even behind the Iron Curtain."

"The author," Mrs. Miller continued, "was known principally for his radio script 'The Fall of the City,' which was produced by the Columbia Broadcasting System in 1937. In May of 1959, MacLeish was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for drama for 'J.B.'"

Mrs. Raymond Reid, president, conducted the business session.

Attending were Mmes. Curt B. Beck, John Gentry, Will F. Graham, Carl Hills, J. W. Hugg, Wyatt Lemons, Jack Miller, J. R. Reeve, R. E. Reid and Charles W. Walsh Jr.

Her favorite color is red. She likes to read and do textile painting"; Mrs. Gary Frasher, "If you have been around this pretty girl in the past 10 months, I am sure she has introduced you to her new son, Bryan. Her color is blue and she likes to sew"; Mrs. Jay Leath, "This attractive person will celebrate her first wedding anniversary Dec. 31. Soft background music was provided by recordings during the presentations.

Pledges were presented with a small gift from the chapter.

Mrs. Fletcher gave a brief background of BSP by stating "Upsilon Chapter was organized on Jan. 24, 1936 in Pampa by a national representative from Kansas City, Mo. Miss Francis Stark served as the first president. It had six charter- founder members when organized. In April of that year, they were assigned a quota of four to pledge to bring their total membership to 10. Today, this chapter has grown to a membership of 35."

"Since Upsilon was organized," Mrs. Fletcher continued, "Three chapters have been added to the roll of Beta Sigma Phi in Pampa; they are Rho Eta, Xi Beta Chi and Xi Theta Iota."

To carry out the theme of 25 years of BSP in Pampa, the serving table was appointed with a white cut-work cloth over pale yellow centered with a large milk glass bowl arranged with yellow rose-buds interspersed with leaves sprayed black and large silver numerals "25." Milk glass appointments containing punch, nuts, cookies and sandwiches with yellow tapers in milk glass holders completed the table setting.

Mrs. George P. Massie presided at the punch service.

Placed to one side of the entryway was a backdrop covered with black and inscribed with Beta Sigma Phi in silver. Streamers in silver extended to a large silver 25 signifying 25 years in Pampa.

Members and special guests attending were Mmes. J. P. Adams, Earl Barnett, Leo Casey, Tom Darby, Bill Ellis, Paul Howard, Bill Jenkins, George White, J. Herring, James White, Ted Knox, Buster Grayson, Juanita Flewelling, James School and Miss Adelaide Williams.

The men were former members of such Symphonies as the Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York, Dallas, and Indianapolis. This orchestra performed on tour to show the cultural possibilities of such a group to the people of Europe.

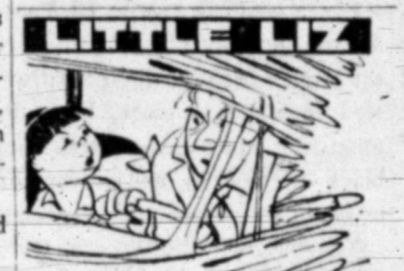

Mr. Roller has, for the past 10 summers, been a member of the faculty at National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. There he is

The Starfish . . . pretty but non-fragrant Beauty Of Starfish Blossom Belies Its Non-Fragrant Odor While Bloomnig

By R. L. STUDEBAKER Horticulturist

The starfish or carrion plant shown in the accompanying photograph is as interesting as its name. This plant's origin is in South Africa, and the name was given to the plant because the flowers resemble starfish.

This member of the milkweed family has no true leaves — only fleshy stems resembling those of cacti and succulents. The name, carrion plant, arises from the fact that the flowers produce a foul odor while blooming. Stapelia variegata is the botanical name for this plant, but it only one of the many species of Stapelia.

Flies are attracted to the flower's odor when it is blooming and are the pollinators of the flowers. Although the blooms have a somewhat disagreeable odor, the odor is not pungent nor penetrating. The plant normally blooms in the summer and therefore can be placed outside where it will not become offensive.

The yellowish coloration of the flowers is most unique, and the entire flower is marked with small black spots. Some species of Stapelia bear large flowers more than a foot in diameter. Other species have additional colors added to the basic yellow flower color, and in addition may have an abundance of hairs in the flower center.

This plant's culture is similar to cacti in that it requires a sunny, warm location. Good drainage is essential to the plant's health and can be accomplished by mixing sand with the potting soil. Stapelias do need more humus in the soil than other succulents, and peat moss or other sources of organic matter can be added to fulfill the humus requirement. It is best to carry the plants through the winter with little water; then as spring advances and the plant begins to produce flower buds, gradually increase the amount of watering.

Dear Abby...

Common Courtesy Work Wonders With Children

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What can a 12-year-old girl do about parents who expect her to be polite to them, but who say, "Do the dishes or you'll get your head knocked off?"

I try hard to please them and I don't mind helping with the housework, but can't they say, "Will you please?"

"MISS TREATED": Dear "MISS TREATED": It's a pity more parents don't realize the wonders to be worked through common courtesy with their youngsters. But don't YOU try to teach them, Honey. Just remember it when you have children of your own.

DEAR ABBY: I have a little problem with a mother-in-law who means well but is not as understanding as she could be. She is a "saver" and has saved all my husband's clothes since he was a small boy. That was 29 years ago. We now have a son who is almost five, and my mother-in-law insists on giving me all my husband's old clothes for my son to wear. They are as good as new, but the styles are old-fashioned, and I don't want to dress my boy that way. We are not rich, but we can afford to buy clothes for our son. My husband doesn't want to hurt his mother and neither do I, but how can we avoid it?

MY PROBLEM: DEAR PROBLEM: Accept them graciously, and then quietly pass them on to the Red Cross or the Salvation Army for folks who are more concerned with keeping their bodies covered than being stylishly dressed.

DEAR ABBY: I have been courting a widow for about ten years. She keeps saying she can't marry me until her daughter gets married. Her daughter is 29 years old and hasn't even got a boy friend. My friends tell me that this woman is just using her daughter as an excuse, and has no intention of marrying me. I am 64, own my own home and am in good health. I want to get married. Should I wait around for this widow who is playing hard to get, or should I give someone else a chance? I have a couple of women in mind who would say yes tomorrow.

TEN-YEAR STALL: DEAR TEN: After enduring a ten-year stall, I'd give the lady about ten minutes to make her mind up. Then give someone else a chance.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours. For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Guild Continues Study Of Suffering

A continuation of the study "The Meaning Of Suffering" by Dr. Ralph Sockman with Miss Ila Pool as leader was held Monday evening by the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in the First Methodist Church parlors.

Mrs. Grace Boston gave meditations and led in singing hymns. Non-Christian religious beliefs were given by Mmes. Irl Smith, Mildred Cook, Margaret Wilkerson, Misses Inez Clubb and Diama Wood.

In discussing the value of suffering, Mrs. Margaret Wells told how "God disciplines those he loves" ending with the statement "Trouble serves to humble us and makes us more teachable."

Mrs. Lillie Mae Fowler discussed "Growth Through Suffering"; Mrs. Ethel Stillwell discussed "Resourcefulness"; Mrs. Maggie Smith, "Assurance"; "Helpfulness" and "Understanding" were other values discussed ending with this thought "Suffering makes men think, thinking makes them wise and wisdom makes the world endurable."

Mrs. Rachael Jones presided during the business session Miss Clubb was hostess during the social hour.

Members attending, not previously mentioned were Lillian Mullinax, Frankie White, Gladys Turner, Ivo Denson and Mrs. H. H. Bratcher.

World Community Day Observed By Church Women

World Community Day was observed by the Pampa United Church Women on Friday in St. Matthews Episcopal Church with "Freedom To Know" as the program theme.

Mrs. H. C. Groninger of the First Christian Church was program chairman.

Miss Rosemary Lawlor, choir director of the First Christian Church, was soloist with Mr. John Gill, First Christian Church organist, as accompanist.

The Rev. William E. West, rector of St. Matthews Episcopal Church, in giving the devotional message and prayer, said, "Women are concerned about the conditions of the world today and asked 'what kind of missionaries are we?'"

In continuing, he said "Paul left a foundation when he said, 'we are more than conquerors that has been shown by such men as Augustine and Luther and others,' who have helped the Christian religion to penetrate to all parts of the world. Many have given their lives for the privilege of carrying the message."

Rev. West said that "Today Christian ministries face great problems and yet have great opportunities."

"This World Community Day is making our deeds and dollars serve like satellites around the world. Through our offerings and prayer, our Latin-American neighbors are to benefit by our efforts."

The United Church Women have prepared school-book satchels filled with school supplies to be sent to school children in Mexico, Chile, Peru and Brazil.

Other speakers on the program depicting the historical and present-day conditions and customs in these Latin American countries were Mrs. J. B. Townsend, Mexico; Mrs. Murray Castleberry, Chile; Mrs. W. C. Burns, Peru; Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, Brazil.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Dean Burger, president, the following officers were elected to serve as follows: Mmes. William E. West, St. Matthews Episcopal Church, president; Kermit Lawson, First Methodist Church, first vice president; Jack Riley, St. Paul Methodist, second vice president; Murray Castleberry, First Christian Church, secretary; Stanley Brandt, First Presbyterian Church treasurer.

PANEL ON LITERATURE—Speaking on good and bad literature at Sam Houston PTA meeting Thursday were, left to right, Mrs. H. H. Hahn, legislative chairman for PTA City Council; Miss Jo Ann Watson, Pampa High School senior; Miss Ila Pool, Lee Junior High librarian with Mrs. Thelma Bray, Youth Protection chairman at Houston PTA, who introduced the program. (Daily News Photo)

Good-Bad Literature Topic At Houston PTA

"The effects of good literature on our youth and community versus the effect of bad literature" were discussed by a panel at Sam Houston PTA on Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Panel members were Miss Ila Pool, Lee Junior High librarian, Miss Anna Jo Watson, Pampa High School senior, who participated in the American Field Service summer program in Germany; and Mrs. H. H. Hahn, City Council legislative chairman.

The program carried out the study topic "Effective Learning For Meeting Today's Concern" and was introduced by Mrs. Thelma Bray, Youth-Protection chairman.

Miss Pool, as first panel speaker, said "Parents today are interested in building strong bodies, emotional stability, high ideals, moral character and strong minds."

Mrs. H. H. Hahn, a social worker, said, "A house is not a home unless it contains food and fire for the mind as well as the body."

"A librarian," Miss Pool continued, "has a special responsibility in helping to provide and encourage reading of good literature, but it is hobbled without the cooperation of the parents. However, pulling together, we can make a very effective team."

Miss Watson discussed "good and bad" effects of literature on young people, "Good literature," she said, "encourages original ideas, presents patterns of worlds through history and presents trend, acquaints us with styles of writing and expressions."

"Most people I am acquainted with," Miss Watson said, "come from Christian homes, where they are taught to believe in the concepts of goodness which the Bible teaches. Nevertheless, I know of many of these, who are exposed to obscene literature of one type or another through various means 1) group life, 2) curiosity, 3) lack of control of parents and lack of interest."

"As a whole, people in Germany, due to the literature and movies they see believe that all American teenagers drink and smoke."

In opening remarks, Mrs. Hahn stated, "Bad literature, like a black plague is sweeping the country. Its principal victims are children; although, like its ancient predecessors, it destroys adults as well. Approximately, 1,000,000 children are solicited by mail each year, according to the United States Postal Department. This department also receives 70,000 separate complaints from parents."

"Ex-Post Master General Arthur Summerfield outlines three steps to take if vermin begins to infest your mail box," Mrs. Hahn stated "1) save all material received including envelopes and enclosures, 2) report the matter to the local post master and turn material over to him; 3) stand ready to sign a formal complaint and to testify if necessary."

"Due to tolerant federal judges loathing to impose heavy sentences, light-fines, and public apathy, this racket is allowed to grow and grow," Mrs. Hahn continued. "J. Edgar Hoover attributes the increase in crime to commercial pornography. We know that in overwhelmingly large number of cases, sex crime is associated with pornography. We know that sex criminals read it and are influenced by it. I believe it is a major cause of sex violence, Mr. Hoover has stated."

It was reported that Houston PTA now has a membership of 262.

Mrs. Cole announced that the next meeting will be on Dec. 14 at which time the school choir, directed by Miss Eloise Lane, will present the program. Mrs. Doty Warner stated that Sam Houston PTA now has three Boy Scout dens in the pack. Door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. Jack Benton unit president, resided at the meeting which opened with Mrs. Jack O. Miller leading the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Nolan Cole gave the devotional.

'FUELY' AUTOMATIC—Britain's first automatic coal-feeding machine wins the hearty approval of the housewives in London. The machine, a coin-operated electronic device, holds six tons of coal and dispenses it loosely.

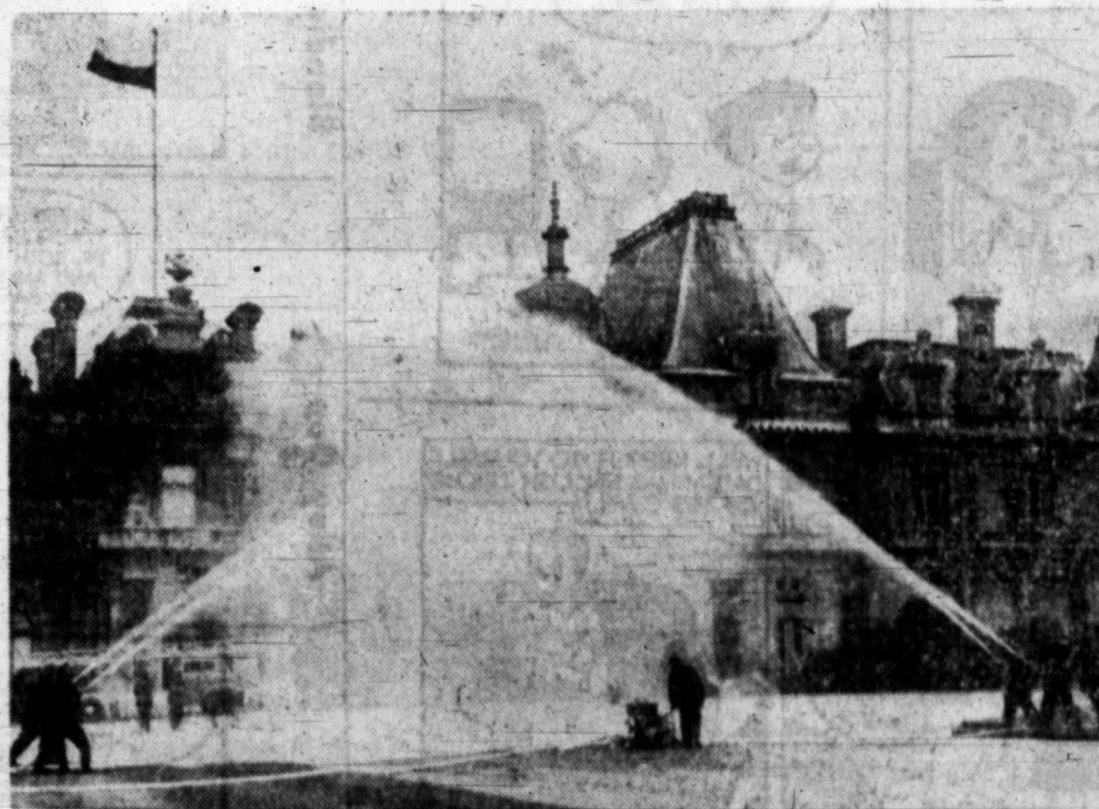

I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU—Timmy Lang, 8, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has his eyes trained on his crawling "cowlick." His pet lizard loves to be the center of attention.

TALLER THAN—This model shows a building which will be a reported 603 feet high, taller than any other in Britain. The signal transmitting and receiving tower will also contain a revolving restaurant that will give diners a panoramic view of London.

UNDER PRESSURE—A watery arch is formed before Waddeson Manor at Aylesbury, England, as firemen demonstrate a small gas turbine fire-fighting unit. Capable of delivering 500 gallons of water a minute, the unit can be operated in seconds by one man.

A MATTER OF VIEWPOINT—Busy photographers in the background concentrate on a White House table setting, missing a pretty subject that caught another cameraman's eye. The lovely lady is Pamela Turnure, press secretary to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, overseeing dinner preparations.

BULLDOG, BOW-WOW-WOW—Mr. and Mrs. R. Savage of Sydney, Australia, own a tough-looking champion bulldog named "Lady Democrat." Her son, with no regard for tradition, flashes a most un-bulldog-like smile as if to say, "After all, what's in a name?"

GOLDEN BUTTERFLY—Imported by retailer Max Hess, this ball-gown by Roberto Capucci departs glamorously from tradition. Yards and yards of golden damask lame cascade from a wide cummerbund of golden mesh into tightly fitting knee pants. The butterfly effect is achieved by the bouffant floor-length skirts which retreat to the back.

PINCERS MOVEMENT—Enjoying his salad days at the Miami Seaquarium, Fla., this fresh water shrimp flexes his king-sized pincers. He will grow much larger than his salt water relatives and packs a meaner bite.

No less ardent, the modern scientist enjoys greater physical comfort. This "Shangri-la" laboratory in Malibu, Calif., is Hughes Aircraft's idea of practical and productive comfort. Floor-to-ceiling glass walls and inlaid parquet floors are the order for today, while gathering information.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Support The United Fund

Pampa's United Fund campaign seems to be lagging. The weekend total showed less than $42,000 of the $68,476 goal had been raised.

The contributions already counted include the big gifts. The major donations already are in, according to fund officials.

"This means that if the goal is to be reached and the campaign is to be a success, the balance needed to turn the trick—approximately $26,000 must come from individual contributors.

Individuals have been asked to contribute the equivalent of one day's pay. United Fund officials say that is the general practice in UF campaigns everywhere.

The money given to the United Fund goes to seven worthy Pampa and Gray County organizations. They are the Milk Fund, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Welfare Index, Red Cross, and Heart Fund.

In view of the need for funds to keep these organizations going in Pampa—if you have not already contributed, send in your contribution at once.

The United Fund office is in City Hall. The telephone number is MO 9-9522. Call and they will send a solicitor to pick up your contribution.

Either Way Business Pays

If a business becomes excessively bureaucratic, the business will go broke. If government becomes excessively bureaucratic, many businesses will go broke.

Ideas On Govt. Schools

All over the country the idea seems to be prevailing that if we had more tax-built school buildings our children would have a better chance to get an education.

With this idea in mind, it might be well to quote the opinions of a few thinkers, of the ages and of the current time as to whether this will hinder or help real education.

Herbert Spencer said, "Education has for its object the formation of character." It seems a little hard to realize how character can be formed when the means of forming it is based on might being right, or power being right and not justice, self-reliance and virtue.

Henry Adams, great-grandson of John Adams, second president of the United States, was a noted historian and editor of the North American Review. He said, "The chief wonder at education is that it does not ruin everybody concerned with it, teacher and taught." Of course, he was talking about organized education that was based on force or the threats of injury.

The late honorable Paul W. Shafer from Michigan wrote: "America's teachers are to be handmaidens of the welfare state in their own country and of a global W.P.A. to embrace the world with themselves and other citizens picking up the check." Of course, Shafer was referring to tax-supported teachers.

Marcus Aurelius said, "Never esteem anything as of advantage to thee that shall make thee break thy word or lose thy self-respect."

It is a little difficult to see how a man can have his own self-respect (that's all the respect he can have) when he joins with others to do things which would cause him to lose his own self-respect if he did them as an individual. And government schools are based on the theory that the group has a right to do things that would cause any man of character and integrity to lose his self-respect if he did them as an individual.

The late Isabel Paterson, who was book reviewer for the New York Herald Tribune for 25 years, wrote in her book, "The God of the Machine" (which Ayn Rand said was the greatest book published in the last 400 years) the following, on page 122: "But in reason, if one man has no right to command all other men—the expedient of despotism—neither has he any right to command even one other man; nor yet have ten men, or a million, the right to command even one other man, for ten times nothing is nothing, and a million times nothing is nothing."

If forcing a parent to have his child indoctrinated the way the school bosses in Austin, or even in our local city, want the child trained is not commanding another, then it is hard to conceive what commanding another means.

On page 255 in "The God of the Machine"—Mrs. Paterson writes:

"The positive fact that the United States public schools are under the political power is not recognized. Because the schools were started with quite separate organizations, by districts having no connection with each other or with any other political agency, empowered to levy a separate tax which could not be expended for any other object than the local school, nobody realized that the primary field of freedom had been invaded to the utmost extent. There can be no greater stretch of arbitrary power than is required to seize children from their parents, teach them whatever the authorities decree they shall be taught, and expropriate from the parents the funds to pay for the procedure."

We hear the supporters of public schools saying that parents can send their children to private schools, but the private schools have to comply with the standards set by the bosses at the state capital.

On page 258 Mrs. Paterson writes further: "Every political-controlled educational system will inculcate the doctrine of state supremacy sooner or later, whether as the divine right of kings, or the 'will of the people' in 'democracy.' Once that doctrine has been accepted, it becomes an almost superhuman task to break the stranglehold of the political power over the life of the citizen. It has had his body, property, and mind in its clutches from infancy. An octopus would sooner release its prey."

"A tax-supported, compulsory educational system is the complete model of the totalitarian state."

Henry D. Thoreau said in his "Civil Disobedience," "The state cannot educate." And if we judge the condition we are in today and if the object of education is to teach self-reliance, integrity, virtue, courage, freedom and liberty, Henry D. Thoreau's statement that "the state cannot educate" is certainly being demonstrated.

Westbrook Pegler said: "Education has become a vast professional racket for parasites and conspirators with a devouring appetite for taxes pushing children out front as an advance guard."

Leonard Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, wrote: "The mess we are in today in public education is not to be blamed on bad school boards, poor teachers, communist textbooks. It is the inevitable consequence of the administration of the socialist premise."

He also wrote: "Education means 'to take from.' It can be obtained only as the individual persons seeks enlightenment. It is something that has to be sought for and found or it does not, nor can it, exist. The notion that edu-caion is possible for the non-seekers is unrealistic. Compulsory education is a contradiction of terms. Compulsion can restrain, destroy—it cannot create, ever."

So when citizens are asked to vote for more school buildings, one should consider whether he is doing the children harm by enlarging the powers of the monopolistic government school system in voting it more money. Money will not educate the youth of the land.

We have been told so often by people who are regarded as intellectuals and educators that government schools can educate the youth of the land, that most people actually believe it. As Hitler said, if you tell a big enough lie, often enough, people will believe it. And they are believing that the state can educate by using might-makes-right instead of by example, which is the best way of all to educate.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — There is a good deal of lather up and down the land these anxious days concerning the possible need for a nuclear bomb shelter for every family. Gov. Rockefeller of New York was early in the game, spending months advocating that it become a state law that every house-owning or renting family have such a hidey-hole for when and if the warheads come tumbling on us. President Kennedy is for it, too. And so are many others. I wonder if a single one of them has thought of two problems involved.

In the first place, a bomb shelter is no better than an entire family's ability to get into it in time. It could be that sudden, urgent need would come when Pa was in New York or any other city while at work, Ma was at the supermarket, and the kids in school. At the rate of detection and travel of modern intercontinental missiles, there just would not be time for all to meet conveniently and get in there and pull the cover over the door.

In the second place, and by far the most ghastly one, it is obvious that some persons are going to survive nuclear attack, and the shambles and chaos that will mushroom following the devastation will be almost unimaginable. For one thing, hordes of human rats, predatory, evil, grasping, greedy, amoral and remorseless, will roam the land. I personally know of at least a dozen heads of families who are not at all convinced that survival would be desirable and frankly say that they shudder at the human jungle that would follow nuclear blasts. Law, as such, decency as such, pride as such, will be mostly erased. Simple, decent families will be the prey of these monstrous beasts.

"I think I would rather we all died than have Mary or any of the children, boys or girls, victims of the horrifying brutality and mob immorality that cannot help but follow atomic war," one said. "No one will be safe from these roving, armed and dreadful bands of sub-human creatures. I mean it, I mean it terribly."

The will to survive is a noble thing and often is held up to view as the noblest spirit in man that has drawn mankind up from the primordial swamps. It is so often in the hot-act of even customary types of wars, the survivors are predators. They seem to have a survival quotient denied to the dead.

This is not being put together here today as a deterrent to anyone who wants to build a home shelter on his own grounds and exist in the hope that he and his whole family will be able to get into it and survive. But realistic appraisal of factual matters convinces me that it may not always be for the best. Nor am I convinced that in the normal way of life today all of the family would be home. Not even in the night. Younger members may be away at a party, dance, a school function, a movie, or just riding around.

Nor is it sensible to think that all who survive will be beasts. There is a third angle, which an Episcopal E-bop has had the wisdom to bring up, and that is that in the event of atomic attack, with say half an hour of warning clearly sounded, a neighbor, in panic, could very well go to personal war against neighbor. That is, the have-nots might, in desperation and hysteria, turn on the haves and commit murder to obtain shelter. No one knows yet what would happen to human ethics under the pressure of knowing that a nuclear rain is on its way and cannot be stopped. It is not possible to label or estimate in advance what terrors might turn otherwise and normally decent people into ravening animals.

I am less than amused by a note in a Hollywood film paper that Kim Novak, a cinema actress, has contracted for a shelter which will be totally wired for hi-fi and stereo and have lavender wall-to-wall carpets. I have no objection to her hunger for such sybaritic luxuries underground, while sitting out a nuclear attack, but it seems to me the most tasteless and inflaming kind of publicity for her. Just the kind that would kindle such unprovoked rages and bestial reactions as to make her wish, in the end, that she had not had such a shelter and had perished along with the other thousands.

Whatever may come—don't be so smug if you have a shelter. It could end up as the major cause of your life.

caion is possible for the non-seekers is unrealistic. Compulsory education is a contradiction of terms. Compulsion can restrain, destroy—it cannot create, ever."

So when citizens are asked to vote for more school buildings, one should consider whether he is doing the children harm by enlarging the powers of the monopolistic government school system in voting it more money. Money will not educate the youth of the land.

We have been told so often by people who are regarded as intellectuals and educators that government schools can educate the youth of the land, that most people actually believe it. As Hitler said, if you tell a big enough lie, often enough, people will believe it. And they are believing that the state can educate by using might-makes-right instead of by example, which is the best way of all to educate.

He finally agreed with this view, and the Syrian matter has fully confirmed its wisdom. Had McGovern been under the State Department, he could not have gone directly to the President with Senator Humphrey's blockade-busting cable.

Since returning to Washington, Humphrey has told the President it is becoming increasingly imperative for a change in the country's policy of curbing farm production.

The Minnesota contends that within two years world demand for food will literally "clean out" all U.S. crop surplus—except wheat.

This view is fully supported by John Galbraith, Ambassador to India. In his consultations with the President, in connection with the visit of Prime Minister Nehru, Galbraith stated India will require more than $1 billion in

Report:

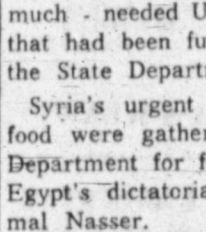

Syria Getting Needed U.S. Surplus Grain After President Cracks Down on State Dept.

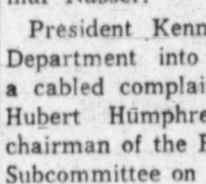

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has sharply put an end to one exasperating instance of State Department stalling.

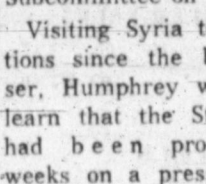

As a direct result of his personally cracking down, newly independent Syria is now getting much-needed U.S. surplus grain that had been futilely sought of the State Department for weeks.

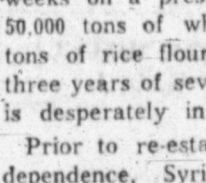

Syria's urgent appeals for this food were gathering dust in the Department for fear of offending Egypt's dictatorial President Gamal Nasser.

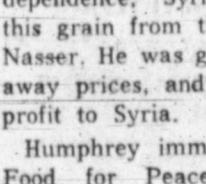

President Kennedy cuffed the Department into action following a cabled complaint from Senator Hubert Humphrey, D. Minn., chairman of the Foreign Relations Subcommittee on the Middle East.

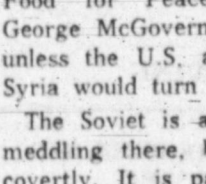

Visiting Syria to observe conditions since the break with Nasser, Humphrey was shocked to learn that the State Department had been procrastinating for weeks on a pressing request for 50,000 tons of wheat and 12,000 tons of rice flour. Syria has had three years of severe drought, and is desperately in need of grain.

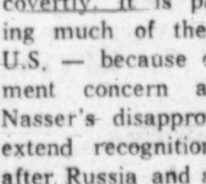

Prior to re-establishing its independence, Syria was getting this grain from the U.S. through Nasser. He was getting it at giveaway prices, and selling it at a profit to Syria.

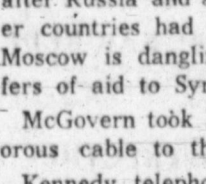

Humphrey immediately cabled Food for Peace Administrator George McGovern, warning that unless the U.S. acted promptly, Syria would turn to Russia.

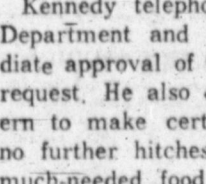

The Soviet is already actively meddling there, both openly and covertly. It is particularly making much of the fact that the U.S.—because of State Department concern about incurring Nasser's disapproval—did not extend recognition to Syria until after Russia and a number of other countries had done so. Also, Moscow is dangling tempting offers of aid to Syria.

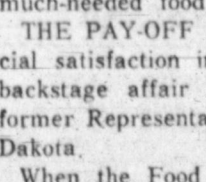

McGovern took Humphrey's vigorous cable to the President.

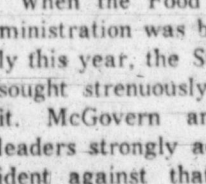

Kennedy telephoned the State Department and ordered immediate approval of the Syrian grain request. He also directed McGovern to make certain there were no further hitches in getting this much-needed food shipped.

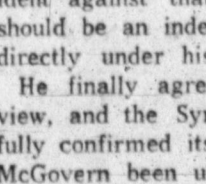

THE PAY-OFF — There is special satisfaction in this revealing backstage affair for McGovern, former Representative from South Dakota.

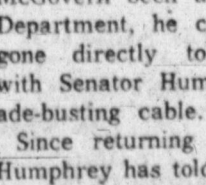

When the Food for Peace Administration was being set up early this year, the State Department sought strenuously to get hold of it. McGovern and congressional leaders strongly advised the President against that, contending it should be an independent agency directly under his control.

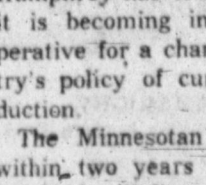

He finally agreed with this view, and the Syrian matter has fully confirmed its wisdom. Had McGovern been under the State Department, he could not have gone directly to the President with Senator Humphrey's blockade-busting cable.

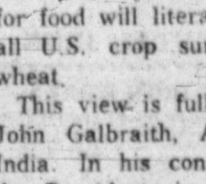

Since returning to Washington, Humphrey has told the President it is becoming increasingly imperative for a change in the country's policy of curbing farm production.

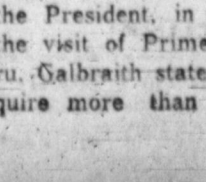

The Minnesota contends that within two years world demand for food will literally "clean out" all U.S. crop surplus—except wheat.

This view is fully supported by John Galbraith, Ambassador to India. In his consultations with the President, in connection with the visit of Prime Minister Nehru, Galbraith stated India will require more than $1 billion in

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN (First Of Two Related Columns.)

When you're told you have a heart murmur, you're almost sure to register some alarm. Yet most heart murmurs are of little importance. And, if you'll have the patience to read this and the next column, I'll try to explain the differences between unimportant "accidental murmurs" and those of real significance (organic murmurs).

In the course of its development the heart changes from a straight length of vascular tubing to a four-chambered pump. Twisting like a pretzel, it somehow manages this change without breaking its connections at either end.

While the necessary twistings and turnings are taking place, changes are also going on within the developing pump. A thin partition is erected to divide the pump into right and left compartments. Then each compartment is divided into an upper and a lower chamber.

Now what you have are right and left upper chambers and right and left lower chambers. Kind-of like a two-family house with upper and lower floors.

The upper chambers are called auricles because each has a side pocket that looks like a puppy's ear (auricle). The lower chambers are called ventricles because each has a thick muscular wall that surrounds a small cavity that looks like a lady's purse (ventricle).

Each upper chamber is separated from each lower chamber by a set of valves (auriculo-ventricular valves). The left auriculo-ventricular valve is called the mitral because it has two leaves like a bishop's miter or cap. The right is called the tricuspid because it has three leaves (cusps). And the purpose of mitral and tricuspid valves is to prevent backflow during the pumping action of the ventricles.

Then, in addition to the auriculo-ventricular valves, there is another set of valves whose purpose is to prevent backflow into the ventricles after they've pumped the blood out of their purse-like chambers.

These valves are named for the great arteries into which the blood is pumped. The pulmonary valve prevents backflow into the right ventricle whose job it is to drive blood into the lungs. And the aortic valve prevents backflow into the left ventricle whose assignment is to drive blood into all the other organs of the body except, of course, the lungs.

In the course of the pumping actions of the ventricles and the opening and closing of these four valves, sounds are produced. And I'll tell you about these heart sounds in another column.

The Nation's Press

GET THE U.S. OUT (Newport Harbor Ensign)

Ten years ago, I heard a fellow Legionnaire talk about the Korean War, reporting on the comments of returning combat troops. He told of the anger and frustration of the American fighting men, who knew they were in a war they were not allowed to win. The report riled the Legionnaires a plenty, but the real infamy was not revealed until several years later.

The battle plans, troop and weapon deployment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander-in-chief of the United Nations forces in Korea, had to be made known to the U.N. military staff committee. Chairman of that committee was a Soviet general. The communists knew our combat plans; they knew that Gen. MacArthur had his hands tied in this costly "police action."

It has been correctly said that the American boys who gave their lives in this hopeless conflict were led to their deaths by the U.N. This alone should be reason enough for all patriotic Americans to insist that the United States get out of the U.N.—and that the U.N. get out of the U.S.

In 1920, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis was appointed the first "czar" of big league baseball.

In 1927, Joseph Stalin became the undisputed dictator of the Communist party in the Soviet Union as Leon Trotsky, one of the founders of Communist Russia, was expelled from the party.

In 1948, the war crimes tribunal in Japan sentenced former Premier Tojo and six colleagues to die by hanging.

In 1951, the International Monetary Fund gave Iran an $8-million loan to meet the financial crisis caused by the loss of oil revenues.

Pegler Says:

He Thinks It's About Time To Rectify A 'Big Mistake'

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

If Nikita-Khrushchev had decreed that Lenin and Stalin, both, should be divested of their godship he would have dissolved the very religion of Communism which pretends to have no gods but which soon learned that the Soviet Empire could not live without a deity. But in repudiating Stalin, Khrushchev nevertheless encouraged Americans to question the divinity which the Democratic machine and much of our press conferred on Franklin D. Roosevelt. I am warned that the time is not quite ripe to propose that Roosevelt's grave be stricken from the Department of the Interior's roll of holy places and that the family should mow the grass and keep vandals at bay who might otherwise daub irreverent cracks on the stone. But is it ever too early to revoke a mistake? Is Roosevelt really God?

We have more than enough immortal mortals most of whom were only politicians and few of whom partook of generous nobility and honor. I would repudiate them all, not in anger but only to rid ourselves of a submission. Does the sensible Frenchman feel a spiritual twinge at the tomb of Napoleon? I have passed General President Grant's tomb a thousand times without that lowering of the eyes which is deemed appropriate in proximity to shrines. Grant was a patriotic army officer who became President in a regime which stood as a horrible example until F. D. Roosevelt banished the Grant Administration from serious consideration in this respect. But Grant was, like Andrew Jackson, an honest man in money matters, grievous though his other faults were, whereas Roosevelt was a personal grafter. A salacious press and the Democratic Party were diligent to advertise Harding's carelessness, but he never took a dishonest dollar. Any rakeoff which a few of his henchmen took, not necessarily with his permission, was petty by comparison. Mrs. Harding, a modest but resolute lady, brought to the White House a conventional respect for the office. If it ever occurred to her to plant any relatives on any public payroll and to fatten her own account by lecturing at $2,000 plus two round trips from Washington, she put the idea out of her mind.

By referring back no further than the Hoover and Coolidge families, we may educate ourselves in the degraded standard which was instituted as soon as we got our first Presidential family—which unblushingly pretended to the status of aristocracy.

I emphasize these phases of political morality because they are peculiar to our standard. Europeans did not mind graft very much. It was inherent in their way. But we have always pretended, at least, to abhor the exploitation of public office for unauthorized financial profit. Then we found President Roosevelt blackmailing loans out of rich, vulnerable men for his son, and laughing at his wife's practical cupidity.

If we had had such a man as Stalin, who resorted to massacre as a method of political reform, we probably would have fought him with a revolution. But the unarmed Russian minorities, the Ukrainians, Uzbeks, Poles and Balts, were doubly disarmed. They had no weapons and they were seduced and dragooned into a servile condition with the plausible argument that they had nothing to lose but their chains. But they didn't lose their chains.

If Stalin was not good enough to keep his pedestal more than eight years in a country so remanded "free" Americans, always so proud of our upright manliness that we have deified for twice that time an American President.

We cannot undo the damage that Roosevelt wrought in our national soul, an effect now called "adolescent crime" and other euphemisms. But we can examine the stultifying proposition thrust upon our very soul, that this bad man's pagan grave, with a dog buried in the same plot and without any symbol of religion on the stone, is a national shrine.

We never voted to make a shrine of this grave. He fixed that himself, by stealth.

If Russia can repudiate Stalin can't we return Roosevelt to the custody of his own family?

Humble Quits Costly Dry Hole

OKLAHOMA CITY — Humble Oil & Refining Co. has announced the abandonment of a deep dry hole in Washita County, Oklahoma, that has cost the company and its partners more than $1 1/2 million.

In addition to the more than $1 1/2 million spent in actual drilling and testing operations, Humble had previously spent approximately $400,000 in leasing and land costs and $200,000 in geophysical work bringing the total cost of testing to considerably more than $2,000,000.

The wildcat deep test, Humble's Annie Schmidt No. 1, was located in Section 20, Township 8 North, Range 17 West. The well was drilled to a total depth of 17,820 feet prior to abandonment as a dry hole. Drilling of the well to a point of abandonment required 18 months.

Commenting on the expensive dry hole, John J. Mullane, Humble's Oklahoma City manager, said: "The public and its governmental representatives should realize the tremendous costs involved in the search for additional oil reserves. This unsuccessful deep test is an example of the financial risks that must be taken to keep our country's crude oil reserves abreast of the nation's needs."

Humble paid approximately 90 per cent of the cost of drilling the well on a unit of 5,270 acres. Three other large firms divided the remainder of the drilling costs.

Kerr-McGee Reports Dip In Earnings

OKLAHOMA CITY — Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc. reports consolidated net income of $2,514,727 for its first fiscal quarter ended September 30, 1961. This compares with restated income of $4,844,043 for the first quarter of the previous fiscal year. The restated net income reflects a series of pooling-of-interest transactions occurring during the company's last fiscal year.

Earnings per common share were 40 cents for this first quarter, as compared with 82 cents for the similar quarter of the prior fiscal year, after adjustment for the two-for-one stock split on May 5, 1961, and the acquisition of the minority interests in Kerr-McGee Nuclear Fuels Corp.

D. A. McGee, president of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, said that the loss of more than two months income from uranium operations due to a walkout of hourly employees at Kermac Nuclear Fuels Corp., plus severely depressed wholesale prices for gasoline and chaotic gasoline price wars at the retail level accounted for the decreased first quarter earnings. Since the first of October, uranium operations have been at normal levels.

Soviet Navy Engaging In Various Maneuvers

Dr. John Furbay Knife And Fork Club Speaker

Dr. John Furbay, director of Air World Education in 26 countries for Trans World Airlines, will be the speaker at the Knife and Fork Club banquet Thursday evening in the Pampa High School auditorium. The evening will be observed by the club as "Special Guest Night," entitling members to bring guests with them by purchasing their dinner tickets.

The banquet will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

One of America's best known platformists with an international following, Furbay travels almost a quarter of a million miles annually, making addresses and carrying on his assignments for TWA.

His various activities and contributions to Aviation earned him the award as "Man of the Year in Aviation for 1955." He received the "Oscar," symbolic of that recognition, from President Eisenhower at a mammoth dinner in Washington on the anniversary of the Wright Brothers' historic flight.

In constant demand by TV, Furbay appears with almost clock-

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Russian navy of late has been feeling its oats. Russian ships have deliberately cut across the bows of American warships, forcing U.S. ships to veer to escape collision.

Recently, however, these orders have gone out from U.S. Navy headquarters: don't challenge the Russians. But don't back down either.

So now when a Russian naval ship cuts across an American bow, the U.S. ship confines straight on her way. The Russians so far have backed down.

Navy analysts believe this Russian tactic is part of the new, challenging and wider role for which the Russian navy is preparing.

The current Arctic maneuvers of Soviet naval units, for example, are part of a series, most of them unpublicized. These maneuvers stress Red naval units operating far offshore.

The obvious purpose is to change the Russian navy from like regularly on a variety of network programs and is scheduled for further appearances. He was consultant for the Disney picture on Aviation and its effect on the modern world. Presently he is writing a book, "The Global Concept Takes the Stage."

Watch, say U.S. naval experts.

defensive into an offensive force in the event of a war, to make possible coordinated submarine attacks on the U.S. coasts, to cut off the U.S. by submarine attack from Europe, Africa and South America and to meet any prospective wartime attack by U.S. Polaris-firing subs well away from the Soviet coast.

Paralleling this Russian setup, the U.S. Navy has intensified its checking on Soviet craft. All Red submarines and ships which appear to carry special electronic equipment are now watched almost from the time they leave port to the time they return. A good deal of the new information on the Soviet navy is based on these readings.

Until recently, the Russian navy had concentrated on coastal defense. It maneuvered and trained in bays and inland seas. Though the Soviet Union has around 400 to 450 submarines, three-fourths are believed coastal or intermediate range subs. Only about 12 are equipped with missile launchers and these with 200-300-mile missiles which must be fired from the surface of the sea.

Soviet naval air forces have been land based, which has tied them to the Russian coast. The navy has had few cruisers.

But things are changing.

for a further broadening of Soviet navy maneuvers in the Atlantic, the Pacific and Arctic Oceans.

The Russian naval yards are running full speed to build more ocean-going submarines. The experts expect the total may go over 200.

The Soviets have under way a strong program to develop a Polaris-type missile and to perfect a technique for firing that missile underwater from Soviet submarines.

They are rushing the building of atomic subs.

There is a buildup of missile cruisers and missile destroyers.

In preparation for the broadened role of the Soviet fleet, Russian trawlers and submarines are stepping up their studies of the ocean bottoms around the world. There are guideposts along the ocean bottom essential for submarines trying to find their way without surfacing. Soviet submarine commanders also must be able to locate by sight, as well as by navigation, the precise spot where they must fire from to hit certain military objectives on shore.

There also are certain paths submarines can follow which "hide" their sound, making detection more difficult. If the Soviet researchers can learn these landmarks and these channels, their boats will be much more effective in time of war.
