Foes Of Red Pilots Open Major Drive

DALLAS (UPI)—A citizens group protesting the U.S. Air Force training Communist pilots in Texas kicked off a nationwide campaign for support Monday night but a leader said it would be "small scale" to prevent its being stopped by Washington.

Frank McGehee, originator of the newly organized "National Indignation Convention," said plans to telephone President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon Johnson and let them talk to the crowd over loudspeakers had been canceled.

He said it would be better to start by contacting Texas congressmen.

"We have decided that to get this thing rolling, we'll have to start on a smaller scale so that the movement won't be stopped in the higher levels of Washington," McGehee, a Dallas garage owner, said.

A wildly cheering crowd of more than 2,500 persons met and dumped $3,500 into buckets carried through the audience by pretty young girls.

McGehee said the money would be used to pay for renting the auditorium and for newspaper advertisements across the nation to enlist personal and financial support for a "grassroots" protest from the nation.

It was the third straight night the new organization had met. The furor was kicked off last week when Maj. Harry Knickerbocker, a National Guard pilot, disclosed he saw four Yugoslav pilots training at Perrin Air Force Base at Sherman, Tex.

The State Department in Washington said it was part of a deal made with the Yugoslav government which purchased 130 F86D Sabrejet fighter planes from the United States and sends pilots to be trained to fly them.

Knickerbocker was one of the speakers at the meeting, and was cheered as a hero.

Action Against Cuba Pondered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Organization of American States (OAS) is expected to vote next week to call an American foreign ministers' conference to consider collective action against Cuba.

The OAS council voted 20-1 Monday to consider Peru's request for the foreign ministers' meeting to deal with "Communist subversion" in the Western Hemisphere.

Cuba cast the lone dissenting vote.

Peruvian Ambassador Juan A. Lavalle charged that Cuba, under the Fidel Castro regime, has become a "beachhead of international communism" in Latin America.

The OAS council agreed to vote Oct. 25 on whether to convene 21 American foreign ministers. More than the required majority of 11 votes were said to be already committed to calling the conference.

Cuban Ambassador Carlos Leizaola, who arrived in the council room after Lavalle had completed his presentation, denied the Peruvian charges and accused Peru of acting on orders of the United States.

Naval Exercises Are Under Way

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two aircraft carriers and 22 other ships of the U.S. 2nd Fleet have begun a two-week exercise in the eastern Atlantic which will include simulated nuclear strikes against the United States.

The 60,000-ton super carrier Saratoga and the 45,000-ton Franklin D. Roosevelt, both with home ports in Mayport, Fla., are the primary participants in the maneuver.

C-C LEADERS INSTALLED — These three men will head the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in the 1961-62 year starting Oct. 27. They are, left to right, Gordon Lyons, president; Lucian Young, vice president; and Aubrey Steele, finance director. They were installed Monday night at a dinner for C. of C. officers, directors and their wives in Coronado Inn. Lyons, the new chamber president, will succeed E. Roy Smith. (Daily News Photo)

School Aid Loss Threatened Over Oldtime Readers

TWIN LAKES, Wis. (UPI)—The century-old McGuffey readers, whether "museum pieces" or "wholesome Americanism," will stay in school here, the Twin Lakes school board decided Monday night.

The board thus reiterated its decision in August to reintroduce the McGuffeys, which brought cries of outrage from some educators, a warning of cancellation of state school aid and threats of lawsuits.

The books have divided this peaceful resort community of 650 persons into rival groups, one threatening court action to expel McGuffey from school, the other defending its use.

One educator called the books a "return to the dark ages." Another described them as far better than today's "jargon" textbooks.

Johnson's Guest Presented Truck

LBJ RANCH, Tex. (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson plans to present Bashir Ahmad with a green pickup truck today and the camel driver said he would learn to operate it when he goes back home to Pakistan.

The truck is a gift from the Ford Motor Co. Ahmad, 48, was delighted when he learned of it. He chose the color he wanted.

Johnson will present it to him during a ceremony at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

Later in the day they will visit Six Flags over Texas, a Disneyland-type amusement park near Fort Worth that reflects the history of Texas under the rule of six nations.

Then Ahmad will fly to Kansas City for a visit to the American Royal Stock Show and Wednesday morning visit with former President Harry S. Truman before leaving for Washington.

He and Johnson toured the ranch Monday on horseback, had a Texas-style barbecue dinner, looked at the huge Pedernales rural electric cooperative that furnishes power to an arid region much like Ahmad's Pakistan, and made an unscheduled stop at a schoolhouse.

Crashing Plane Misses Soldiers

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (UPI)—A Marine jet fighter crashed into scrub pines Monday near a rifle range where around 250 infantry recruits were taking target practice. The pilot, 1st Lt. J. E. Strawn, 21, Radford, Va., suffered multiple fractures after parachuting from the plane but none of the recruits was hurt.

Pampa's C-C Officers And Directors Installed

Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, with their wives, attended the installation of new officers and directors in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn Monday night and heard Farris C. Oden of Amarillo charge the officers and directors with their responsibilities.

Oden pointed out the responsibilities of an active Chamber of Commerce in building towns and communities and pointed to several outstanding projects brought about through the direct efforts of the chamber.

Every member of the new Board of Directors was present for the installation, which include Gordon Lyons, president; Lucian Young, vice president; Aubrey Steele, finance director; and directors, Cameron Marsh, Floyd Watson, Loyal Davies, F. E. Imel, H. V. Wilks, Ralph McKinney, Joe R. Donaldson, Jack Edmondson, and Clinton Evans.

Holdover directors include B. M. Behrman, Johnny Watson, Gene Hollar, D. V. Burton, J. C. Roberts, Howard Buckingham, Clyde Carruth, and Jerry Sims. E. Roy Smith, immediate past president, will also be a member of the board in that capacity for Bessie Shackelford, president of the next fiscal year along with the Pampa Jaycees, ex-officio member of the board.

Paul C. Crouch was installed as West Texas Chamber of Commerce director representing Pampa, replacing Roy Bourland who has served in that capacity for several years.

Certificates of merit were presented to retiring directors of the board including Calvin Whately, Warren Hasse, John Gikas, Crawford Atkinson, Arthur Teed, and E. L. Henderson. Following installation of the officers and directors, newly installed President Lyons, manager of Southwestern Public Service Company, spoke briefly expressing his appreciation to the board for honoring him with the presidency of the chamber and called for the co-operation of directors, committeemen, and every member of the chamber in making this year a good one.

Lyons pointed out that Pampa, like all growing cities, has its problems to solve. He stressed the importance of community unity in attacking these problems. He said the past ten years have seen Pampa show a 46 per cent gain in population. Lyons indicated that every effort would be made during his administration to strengthen the industrial economy of the Pampa area and called on the board to lend their best efforts to this end.

He said that an industrial development plan must necessarily be long range and that even though we would like to show immediate fruits, it might take time to develop. He stated further that cities compete for industry just as retail concerns compete for customers. (See C-C OFFICERS, Page 4)

Tower Planning Tax Relief Bill

EL PASO (UPI)—Sen. John Tower said he is drafting legislation to help the businessman with his tax burden.

"I am making a study on the whole relationship of government in business," Tower said. "I hope to come up with comprehensive legislation on the subject."

Tower spoke to a joint convention of the New Mexico Mining Association and International Mining Days Monday in El Paso.

Langen W. Swent of Grants, N. M., first vice president of the mining association, also spoke. He said there is no longer any uranium boom.

"There is no incentive now to explore for uranium," Swent said. "Activity is restricted purely to meeting commitments without violating policies of the Atomic Energy Commission."

He said the AEC has agreed to buy uranium for the government until 1968, and there has been no exploration for new uranium fields since 1958.

Peace Corps Not Leaving Africa Now

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—The steaming African jungle was a strange setting for a young school teacher from Smith College in Massachusetts.

Margery Michelmore had a burning desire to bring enlightenment to the Dark Continent. She was well on the way to achieving her goal when she was accepted as a "Peace Corps" volunteer and sent to Nigeria.

But when she arrived in Nigeria, she suffered an "initial horrified shock" at what she termed the "squalor and absolutely primitive living conditions" of the Nigerians.

Without realizing what her action would lead to, the pretty, 23-year-old teacher wrote a postcard to a friend of hers in the United States, giving her impressions on life in Nigeria.

She said she was shocked to find that Nigerians live and cook in the streets. But after the first shock, she wrote, she found her assignment a very rewarding experience.

The postcard was intercepted in the mail by unidentified persons, reproduced and copies were distributed among the students at the University College in Ibadan where she had been training.

This touched off an uproar with the students demanding that the Peace Corps members be sent home.

(In Washington, the Peace Corps said Monday that demonstrations sparked by Miss Michelmore's postcard showed that "certain groups" are out to destroy the corps. But a spokesman vowed that the corps was in Africa to stay. He said the intensity of efforts to discredit the youth groups "is an indication of the value of the Peace Corps.")

A U.S. Embassy official here said Miss Michelmore would be kept in Nigeria at least temporarily to let the affair simmer down and to "avoid any precipitous action."

U.S. Studies New Move To Name UN Secretary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United States today was reported considering bypassing the Security Council for direct General Assembly action on choosing an acting United Nations secretary general unless Russia comes to terms.

Official Washington sources said the United States would give the Soviet Union about one more week.

Informed sources saw increasing indications that the final U.S. answer to Russia's demands would be to drop its insistence upon a Western European to be included among the deputies to aid Burma's U Thant, the man all sides are agreed upon for the top spot.

Russia has agreed to inclusion of a Latin American among Thant's advisers, but has insisted that a man from Communist East Europe be included if a Western European is added. The United States rejected this.

Sticking points in the Soviet-American negotiations on the secretary generalship are these: —Russia insists the appointee make a policy statement and name the areas from which he will select his principal assistants before the Security Council acts. The United States insists that such a statement before election would tie unacceptable political strings on the job.

—Russia has demanded that the acting secretary general and his aids make decisions "on the basis of agreement" although without direct exercise of the veto by the assistants. The United States insists that the interim chief, who would serve out the unexpired term of the late Dag Hammarskjold until April, 1963, be free

Khrushchev Calls For World Accord On German Issues

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today relaxed the year-end deadline on a German peace treaty and said the West seems ready to solve the German and West Berlin problems "on a mutually acceptable basis."

The Soviet premier also announced that this country's series of atomic tests will be concluded by the end of this month with the explosion of a giant 50-megaton bomb.

He declared that the Soviet Union already has a 100-megaton bomb but "may God grant that we never have to explode it because we might then blow in our windows."

Khrushchev charged the Western powers with deliberately creating a Berlin crisis—an in fact with responsibility for all the world's major international troubles.

He said the West must "show readiness to seek ways of settling disputed issues on a mutually acceptable basis" because the Soviet Union found it "hard to remove the war menace by unilateral action."

He said his "general and complete disarmament" proposals were an important means of settling international problems.

"We are ready now also to seek jointly with the Western powers a mutually acceptable and agreed settlement through talks," he said.

Khrushchev said he believed all Communist forces were mightier than the "aggressive imperialist forces."

"But even if we should agree with the United States President, who quite recently stated that our forces were equal, even then it is plainly unreasonable to use the threat of war," he said. "Since equality is admitted, the proper conclusions must be drawn from that. In our time it is dangerous to pursue a policy from positions of strength."

Khrushchev then mentioned the recent talks—Soviet-Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had in Washington with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk and later in London with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

More than 5,000 delegates, visiting Communist leaders, diplomats and a handful of Western newsmen listened intently to his words in the new Palace of Congresses within the great Kremlin walls.

Moscow Radio and television covered the opening ceremonies but ended their live transmissions when Khrushchev began delivering his address 45 minutes later. First accounts of the speech were delivered by the official Tass news agency.

Western calculations have been based on Soviet statements that Russia would sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany this year unless an all-German peace treaty could be worked out with Germany's other World War II foes.

Khrushchev did not change his proposals for a German settlement but he did relieve the time limit pressure.

"The Soviet government as before insists on the speediest solution of the German problem," he said. "It is against putting it off to infinity. If the Western powers display readiness to settle the German problem the question of the time limit for the signing of a German peace treaty will not be so material; we shall not insist then that the peace treaty be signed by all means before Dec. 31, 1961."

"The main thing is to solve the question of eliminating the remnants of World War II, to sign a German peace treaty," he said. "This is the basis, this is the crux of the matter."

He repeated that West Berlin must be established in the treaty as a "free demilitarized city." Khrushchev's speech ranged over a wide area of international relations. (See NIKITA, Page 4)

West Skeptical Of Russian Bid

LONDON (UPI)—Western European government sources gave an initial guarded welcome today to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's dropping of the year-end deadline for a Berlin settlement.

The reaction went something like this: "The West has won the first round in the diplomatic battle with Russia over Berlin, but we must expect mounting Soviet pressures for early East-West negotiations of a settlement on Soviet terms."

A preliminary diplomatic assessment of Khrushchev's let's-have-peace address to the Communist party congress in Moscow today interpreted Russia's climb down from its 1961 German settlement deadline to be a result of Western firmness and defensive maneuvers in the face of Moscow's threats and ultimatums.

But there were no signs of an easing of Russia's terms for a cold war settlement.

In London, Foreign Secretary Lord Home read an official reply in his scheduled address to the House of Lords when it convenes this afternoon after the summer recess.

In Bonn, West German government sources treated Khrushchev's peace offer with considerable reserve and cautioned the Soviet leader might reverse it again.

French sources cautiously welcomed the offer. (See WEST, Page 4)

Second Prison Sentence Meted To Bank Robber

LA GRANGE, Tex. (UPI)—A district court jury found Lawrence C. Pope, 43, guilty yesterday of robbing the Farmer's State Bank at Schulenburg last November and sentenced him to 50 years in prison.

The former weekly newspaper publisher already was serving a 25-year federal sentence for bank robbing.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated only 10 minutes after hearing Pope plead guilty. Only three witnesses were heard. Pope also was accused of making his victims pose in lewd positions and taking their pictures.

The defense made no effort to prove insanity as Pope's former attorney Pat Maloney, of San Antonio, had done in Pope's federal trial in Waco. In that trial, Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. declared Pope sane after hearing several hours of testimony. Then a jury heard three days of testimony before deciding Pope was guilty of robbing the federally insured First State Bank at Thornton, Nov. 5, 1950.

Judge Rice sentenced Pope to 25 years in prison. This sentence was appealed to the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals at New Orleans and is still awaiting review.

Pope robbed the Farmer's State Bank Nov. 12, 1960. He had been a newspaper publisher at

Solon Modifies Excessive Drug Price Assertion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen today challenged a statement by the chairman of the Senate anti-trust subcommittee that "prices and profits in the ethical drug industry are excessive and unreasonable."

The Illinois Republican offered the challenge as Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., opened another round of hearings into pricing and licensing practices in the drug industry.

Dirksen said he did not agree with the conclusion of Kefauver's statement and that he was "distressed" it gave the "unfortunate impression" of being a subcommittee finding.

Kefauver bowed to the criticism and amended his statement by indicating it was only his opinion that ethical drug prices were unreasonable.

Guardsmen Don Their Uniforms, Start Training

By United Press International
Some 10,000 citizen-soldiers of the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard donned Army khaki yesterday and became full-time soldiers in 80 Texas cities.

The men reported for duty at 7:30 a. m. and will be off duty at 5:30 p. m. each day until Oct. 23. After that, they will move out to Fort Polk, La.

They will drill, learn the manual of arms, undergo physical training and get security briefings and other training. Some units have already begun shipping tanks, trucks and other heavy vehicles to Fort Polk by rail.

Those men with families can go home if they wish. Others can eat and sleep at the armories if they desire.

Families of the 49th personnel began processing Sunday. It will help them obtain free medical care and post exchange and commissary privileges.

Maj. Gen. Harley B. West of Dallas is division commanding general.

About 4,000 ready reserve members from the five-state Fourth Army area will join the 49th at Fort Polk around Oct. 25. They will fill out vacancies in the division's authorized strength.

Funeral Services Held For Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Funeral services were held today for veteran West Coast newsman and author John A. Springer, 49.

Springer was a reporter for the Los Angeles Mirror at the time of his death Thursday and formerly worked for United Press International in several Western cities.

Motors For Gondolas Not Liked In Venice

VENICE (UPI) — The city fathers of Venice don't believe the "putt-putt" of an outboard motor would make a romantic accompaniment to the songs of the gondoliers.

As a result, Venice's famous water taxis, the gondolas, are in no danger of being motorized even though the city's canals swarm with river buses and other powered craft that are controlled by traffic lights just like the flow of cars in the streets of other cities.

But the gondolas will remain the slow, pleasant, drift-along craft that have delighted lovers and tourists from all over the world.

A gondolier recently tried his luck and took to the water with a powered gondola. After three days he was ordered to remove the engine or face legal action. He went back to rowing.

The Water Taxis Union apparently had no objection to its members taking an outboard onto their medieval vessels and even had approved plans for future construction of fully motorized gondolas.

But, said the city fathers in turning thumbs down on this mechanization, what would Venice look like with gondolas snorting and cracking their smoky way along the canals? Where, they asked, would be the gondoliers' spirit of romance?

Since the days when Venetians ruled the seas as the first merchantmen of the western world, this city has relied on gondolas for its transport.

Even when water buses were introduced, the average citizen and the foreign visitor could still preserve a feeling of the past by hiring a gondola.

The gondolier often sang and played a mandolin. Many a couple have become Mr. and Mrs. because of Venetian gondolas and their romantic setting.

Other Venetian water traffic has been gradually transformed from a slow-moving confusion into an orderly flow of river buses and cars.

'Ride Of The Future' Portrayed At Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Until you get used to it this ride of the future may be a bit eerie for Americans.

It looks like an ordinary city bus. It sounds like an ordinary bus.

But there's nobody to shout: "Move to the back please... plenty of room for everybody."

The accelerator moves up and down, and so do the brake pedals. The steering wheel turns to the right and left and you can hear the gears shifting.

The only thing missing is the driver. The bus does not need one.

So far it is a demonstration are obsolete, and then the government gives them to us in the Air National guard to fly." Knickerbocker said.

"The State Department says the program is all right because it's been going on for seven years. Murder has been going on longer than that."

Dan Smoot, a radio-television commentator, also spoke and said the recent mobilization of troops ordered by President Kennedy fits in with the Communist plan.

He said the Communist plan is for the U.S. to de-emphasize our nuclear deterrent capability and concentrate on limited-ground wars. About U.S. aid to Yugoslavia, he said:

"What are you getting excited about? We have been doing this sort of thing for 15 years."

He urged withdrawal from the United Nations and World Court, withdrawal of troops in Berlin and military intervention in Cuba.

"Does it make sense that we are planning to fight Communists in Viet Nam and then not fight them 90 miles away in Cuba," he asked.

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Ronald Whitaker, 18, a Dallas hospital worker, pleaded guilty today to a charge of murdering Thomas Howard Watson, 22, at Grapevine Lake so he could rob him.

Whitaker knocked Watson down while he was fishing and shot him in the back of the head with a 22-caliber rifle. Whitaker claimed his co-workers had bet him $50 he couldn't live off the land at Grapevine Lake and he was trying to win the bet.

He killed Watson June 29 and was arrested in Conneaut, Ohio.

Both the prosecution and defense agreed to accept a life term. Assistant Dist. Atty. J. L. Winters said he agreed to a life term because there were no witnesses. Whitaker was only 18 and had a history of emotional disturbance.

Teleprinter Rate Increase Assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. made a sweeping attack today on Federal Communications Commission proposals that would bring a 19 per cent increase in press costs for leased teleprinter and telephoto services.

The AT&T proposed instead that the FCC authorize new teleprinter rates that would not result in increases of more than 4 per cent for any class of customer. In addition to the higher press costs, the teleprinter - telephoto rates proposed by the FCC would increase costs of commercial users by 2.1 per cent while decreasing costs for government users by 7.8 per cent.

Police To Quiz Captured Man About Slaying

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — To some, Hugh Bion Morse, confessed killer of three women and one of the FBI's "10 most wanted men" until his capture, was a charmer, a hard worker, "handsome and gentle."

To others he was a child molester, a "sex deviate," and a "Jekyll and Hyde," who bragged about the victims he assaulted, then beat to death or strangled.

Police said Morse boastfully admitted killing St. Paul social worker Carol Roman and two other women in Spokane, Wash.

Birmingham, Ala., police officers were en route here today to question Morse about the death of a Birmingham woman last July.

St. Paul Police Chief Lester McAuliffe said Morse, while undergoing lengthy lie-detector tests Sunday, told of breaking into a Birmingham apartment.

The chief said Morse said he attacked the woman but did not know how seriously she was injured.

Birmingham officials told McAuliffe that Bobbie Ann Landina, 27, was killed July 11 in conditions described by Morse.

McAuliffe said that when a Birmingham official was told that Morse admitted stealing his victims ring and pawning it, he said, "That's our man. We've never told anyone before about the ring."

His landlady here, Mrs. Darl L. Beeler, said she screens her tenants carefully. She called Morse a "gentleman" while he lived in her rooming house, where he was arrested.

His employer, service station owner R. W. Klaenhammer, said Morse was one of the best workers he ever had.

A girl friend described Morse as "handsome and gentle," and said she often cooked meals for him in the Beeler rooming house, where she also lived.

Clean Air Week To Be Observed

AUSTIN — Communities across Texas will join the rest of the nation in observing October 22-28 as Cleaner Air Week, in a concerted effort to create a public awareness of atmospheric pollution as a potential health menace.

The occasion will be used as a springboard for pointing up the contributions which industries, city councils and the public generally can make toward reducing air contaminants.

The public will be asked to mark the occasion by participating in neighborhood campaigns against backyard incinerators and improperly adjusted automobile carburetors, known to be important factors in atmospheric pollution.

Industries can take part by candidly investigating new methods of reducing smoke and odor, soot and dust. City councils are urged to consider sanitary landfills for municipal refuse disposal, rather than open incineration.

A number of pollutants found in community air supplies are known to produce cancer in experimental animals, and chemical analyses have revealed many other potential cancer-producing agents.

In areas where temperature inversions occur to create smog conditions, chronic bronchitis and gastro-intestinal upsets are common complaints.

The annual observance of Cleaner Air Week is sponsored by the Air Pollution Control Association.

Many Persons Not Claiming Social Security Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of dollars in Social Security benefits are going unclaimed because many people do not know they are eligible, according to the Department (HEW).

A spokesman said amendments to the Social Security law are coming so rapidly that many people, newly eligible for relief under the 1960 amendments, have not claimed their payments.

The 1960 amendments included a reduction in the amount of work needed to qualify for payments and added as beneficiaries the survivors of workers who died after March 31, 1938, as well as dependent widowers of women workers who died before September, 1950.

He said the West continually threatens the Communist nations in order to keep its military alliances together.

Khrushchev said he was confident world communism would win out over capitalism in "peaceful competition." But he warned that if there is a war it will mean the "end of the capitalist system."

Jaycees To Pick Five Outstanding Texas Leaders

GRAND PRAIRIE — Across the vast expanse of Texas the search is on to find the five Outstanding Young Texans of 1961. Lewis R. Timberlake, president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today that Nomination Blanks have been mailed from Texas Jaycee Headquarters in Grand Prairie to all Jaycee clubs in the state, and to many civic, fraternal, religious, labor, educational, and professional groups throughout Texas. Nomination Blanks may be obtained by contacting the local Jaycees or requesting one from the Texas Jaycees, Box 1428, Grand Prairie, Texas.

Annually, for the past several years, the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce has honored the five top men of the year between the ages of 21 and 35 who have made outstanding contributions to their work and professions and to the general welfare of the people. These men have come from all walks of life and are exemplary of the purpose of this program — to present to the world concrete evidence that success in our free enterprise system is still available to those individuals who strive to achieve. Communists, or those known to have Communist leanings, are excluded from consideration.

Last year's winners included James N. Allison, Jr., Midland; James M. Hardy, Big Spring; Blair Justice, Fort Worth; Robert H. Stewart, III, Dallas; and Lawrence H. Warburton Jr., Alameda.

Bennie Shackelford, Pampa Jaycee president, said today that each year the public is invited to nominate young men from their own communities who are deemed worthy of such a high honor. Neither nominees nor their nominators are required to hold membership or be affiliated with a Junior Chamber of Commerce. A panel of business and professional men, serving only in the public interest, will make the selection. Deadline for receipt of nominations is Dec. 2, 1961. The 1961 winners will be honored at the Annual Awards Banquet to be held in Odessa next January 13.

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (UPI) — Hyenas have killed or maimed African children in the Pamphe plain area of Nyasaland in recent weeks, officials said today. Three professional hunters were sent to the area but returned without killing a single hyena. The hyenas, however, added three more victims during that time.

Many Millions Loaned Latin, Newsmen Told

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States has loaned more than $700 million in six months to 16 South American countries to start a 10-year hemispheric program under the newly formed alliance for progress, Adlai E. Stevenson said yesterday.

The U. S. ambassador to the United Nations told the 17th annual general assembly of the Inter-American Press Association that "for the next 10 years, we in the West will be at work meeting the challenge of destructive revolution with a peaceful and creative solution—an evolution more rapid and more comprehensive and touching the lives of more people than any that our history has ever known." "We must honestly confess," Stevenson said, "that not enough of us saw how great an effort was required until it was brought home to us by the tragedy of Cuba. "Here was people with many brave and talented leaders, shackled by a venal dictatorship and outraged by extremes of wealth and poverty. It has all the makings of violent revolution. And when the Cuban revolution happened, almost at once it betrayed its bright promises and gave itself to fanaticism, to revenge and to the worldwide scavenger of ruined revolutions, Communist directed from Moscow. "Now, of course, the new rulers of Cuba claim the right to lead the march of what they call 'progress' throughout the Americas — and they seem to want to begin by lighting the fires of violence wherever they can. "What a tragedy it would be if we who speak for freedom and tolerance were to be asleep at this moment, when the forces of totalitarianism are so hard at work!

Should We Strengthen The United Nations?

FORMER UNITED NATIONS OFFICIAL AND EDITOR
Howard E. Kershner says:

Every freedom-loving American should read and re-read this latest book by Dr. Watts.

EVERY freedom-loving American should read and re-read this latest series of articles by Dr. Watts. We know of no other work now in print, by an eminent scholar and educator, which exposes so effectively the costly mischief of UN propaganda and policy. Throughout, the author relies on facts and logic. He does not hedge or compromise. He writes with vigor and clarity, and he goes to the roots of his subject. The many references and the bibliographical appendix will give this attractive booklet lasting value as a guide for further study of United States foreign policy and constitutional change during the past 60 years. Because of the author's evident scholarship and fairness, this is one of those rare articles suitable for academic use as well as popular education, and it can be given to others with little of the too-common risk of alienating a friend or antagonizing a neighbor, teacher, student, minister or fellow worker victimized by the torrent of pro-UN propaganda flooding in upon us from every conceivable source. Dr. Watts has fashioned a fine educational series, one that has been greatly needed in a much neglected and vitally important field.

Peanut Allotment Kept At Minimum

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department today set the 1962 crop planting allotment for peanuts at 1,610,000 acres, virtually the same as the 1961 allotment.

The allotments apply only to peanuts grown for picking and threshing and do not affect peanuts harvested as livestock forage.

The 1962 allotment is the minimum permitted under federal farm law. The original 1961 allotment was at the same level but was later increased by 2,427 acres to expand production of Valencia-type peanuts.

The 1962 state allotments in acres include: Arizona 717; Arkansas 4,216; Louisiana 1,962; Missouri 247; New Mexico 5,098; Oklahoma 138,215; and Texas 356,158.

Video's Documentary Found Highly Pleasing

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—"Postscript to Empire," the first American contribution to the ambitious Intel series, is a superb example of "blue-ribbon" craftsmanship in the TV documentary field.

Produced by our National Educational Television Center and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., "Postscript to Empire" currently is being shown in this country, Canada, Great Britain and Australia. All four English-speaking nations are swapping documentaries that each has made about another's problems.

"Postscript to Empire," which I saw Sunday on a New York station (WABC-TV), was comprehensive and perceptive in its choice of material, warmly objective in its approach and beautifully photographed. It was, in short, an absorbing and sturdy entity.

Produced by Michael Sklar and Michael Alexander, the program avoided political kibitzers, angry young men, angry old men and the common market issue. It did, however, zero in on ordinary men, women and children to tell how they are trying to cope with what Sklar's script termed, "the sluggish backward of tradition" and the relentless inroads of socioeconomic changes.

Areas contrasted were the Isle of Dogs and the "satellite town" of Stevenage. The Isle of Dogs in London is an inbred community of 42,000 that displays the grime and lethargy deposited by the erosive process of fading hope and status quo-seekers. Stevenage, on the other hand, is a post-war community of 40,000 that was designed by town planners. It appears to have everything needed for gracious suburban living except perhaps emotional stability that comes from contact with older traditions.

The hour ticked off the problems with obvious dedication, clarity and understanding to make this slice of British life graphic and pertinent to American viewers. Incidentally, one scene showed a child tending to some little chicks that were housed inside an old, tubeless TV cabinet. The chicks seemed to be thriving. But with all the corn that must have preceded them in their new home why not?

Jack Benny began his 12th season on TV last night and things worked out just the way we've come to expect.

Jokes about Jack's thrift, some self-inflicted, some administered by the supporting cast. Jokes about his brand of comedy. Nevertheless, these are the jokes and they are laid down with loving care and appealing style. Phil Silvers was the chief guest star, although Garry Moore, Jack Paar and Alan King came in for silent walk-on roles to provide the big finish.

The only part of the proceedings that wasn't predictable was when Benny began throwing his weight around to impress his sponsor. This struck me as uncharacteristic. Now that he's pushing 40, though, I guess he's losing some of that humility.

Condemned Texan Denied A Review

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court declined yesterday to review the death sentence conviction of Joe Edward Smith, Houston, Tex., for the murder of William Merrill Bodenheimer.

The brief order left standing the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas affirming the trial court conviction. Justice William O. Douglas dissented.

Air Defense Test Declared Success

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—The 12-hour weekend exercise of detection and interception forces indicated the North American Air Defense Command is capable of spotting and destroying an enemy air attack.

Gen. Laurence Kuter, NORAD commander in chief, said at headquarters here the practice—Sky Shield II—"was of inestimable value in improving aerospace defense" of the continent.

For 12 hours, from noon EST Saturday to midnight, waves of attack forces—comprising more than 250 U. S. Strategic Air Command and British Royal Air Force bombers—flew missions plotted for maximum use of NORAD defenses.

Kuter said Sky Shield II's "very great advantage" was the experience of "working under electronic counter measures, communications jamming and navigational aid interference. These are conditions approaching those we might find in actual attack."

These conditions made necessary the grounding of all commercial airliners and other civilian aircraft as well as non-participating military planes during the 12 hours—the largest suspension of civil aviation in history.

U.S. High Court Slaps Louisiana School Measures

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court, yesterday barred enforcement of two school laws passed by Louisiana's legislature earlier this year.

The court acted in a brief order which affirmed a lower court ruling to the same effect.

The laws were on "bribery of parents of school children" and "intimidation and interference in the operation of schools."

The "bribery" law provided for punishment of anyone offering something of value to a parent as an inducement towards his child's attendance at a school "in violation of any law of this state."

The other statute punished the influencing of a parent to perform any act in violation of state law.

A special three-judge federal court in New Orleans interpreted this language to mean an interference with previous school desegregation orders.

At its session this morning, the court continued to clear up the summer backlog of appeals. It has not been meeting long enough to hand down any opinions, since this term's arguments started only last week.

In other action, the court:

Refused to review a $497,000 judgment against the United Mine Workers of America stemming from violence in Jellico, Tenn. A federal district judge held the UMW responsible for violence in the Jellico area coal fields during 1959 and three coal firms sued the UMW for $4,360,000. They charged that union-inspired violence during the 1959 contract negotiations had forced them out of business.

Dismissed an appeal by Roosevelt Raceway in New York against a 1959 state law which the track said deprived it of some $2 0million spent for plant improvements.

Rejected a complaint by civilians at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio who lost out to veterans during a 1957 reduction in force. The civilians were either downgraded or separated from federal service while veterans were retained in their customary jobs.

Hill-Billy Play To Be Presented At Lamar PTA Family Night Oct. 26

Mrs. Byron T. Buck
Lamar PTA

October 26 was set as Family Night by the Lamar PTA at a meeting held Thursday in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Jack Nichols reported that a hill-billy play entitled "It's Gold In Them Thar Hills," will be presented by parents with performances at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Mrs. Elvis Duck, hospitality chairman, reported on the dinner menu, which will be served on Family Night.

The afternoon's program was a skit "Operation PTA" presented by Lamar parents.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. B. T. Buck, president, Mrs. Arnold Hall, introduced Rev. John Dyer, pastor of Hobart Street Baptist Church who gave the devotional and prayer.

Girl Scout Troop 82 presented the flag for honor and led the group in pledge of allegiance.

Reports were given by Mrs. N. L. Nicholl, secretary and Mrs. Roy Franke, treasurer.

Mrs. B. T. Buck and Mrs. C. M. Brown were named as delegates to attend the PTA state convention to be held in Houston with Mrs. L. M. Davis and Mrs. Leon Rector as alternates.

Mrs. Bill Brock, membership chairman, reported that the Lamar PTA has 231 members.

Mrs. Floyd Scott, radio chairman, announced that the next Lamar radio program will be Dec. 22 with the school choir presenting the program.

A meeting of room mothers was held on Sept. 27, it was reported by Mrs. F. T. Pepper.

Report on the Civil Defense Study courses, sponsored by the PTA City Council, was made by Mrs. George Benson.

Joe Page, school principal, introduced the Lamar faculty and conducted the room count. Mrs. Wall's second grade was announced as winner of the ice cream social and will have the PTA banner for one month for having the most parents and grandparents present.

Door prize was won by Mrs. Floyd Scott.

Following adjournment, a Coke party was held in the school cafeteria.

Panelists Discuss Youth Protection At Baker PTA Meet

B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher Association met Thursday in the auditorium of B-M Baker School with Mrs. O. G. Ferguson presiding. A panel discussion on "Effective Learning for Youth Protection" was moderated by Mrs. A. N. Green. Panelists were Miss Evelyn Milan, student counselor of Pampa High School, Bill Leonard, Gray County juvenile officer, and Rev. A. E. Burns, pastor of the Barrett Baptist Chapel.

Each gave comments concerning how the adults of the community might best help protect the youth in their formative years. The summation of the discussion was that it is not so much the safeguards with which a child is surrounded that makes him a law-abiding citizen as it is the standards that are instilled within him.

The door prize, a cake baked by a member of the executive board, was won by Mrs. Aubrey Jones, third grade teacher.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan brought a devotional entitled, "And Isaac Dug a Well." She stressed that do for our families is to put down roots and build a home, that there might be a place to come and meditate and relax away from the problems of the world.

The meeting was adjourned with a reminder that Fun Night, in October, was just around the corner, and that every volunteer would be appreciated to help out with the activities at that time.

Ruth Millett Could Be The Low-Down Or A Case Of Pique

A woman learns a lot about women by working with them in clubs and organizations.

At least one of my readers says she learned this much in a year of club work. Says she:

"You can't get women to work unless you give them lots of credit for any little thing they do. That is why meetings are so filled with 'Special thanks to...' announcements, the reading of names of committee members, and so on.

"If you want to get a good turnout for a meeting you have to serve refreshments. Even if half the women are dieting, it gives them a nice, superior, feeling to say, 'No, thank you.'

"If a group is large the guest speaker isn't important. The women are going to whisper or mentally plan grocery lists anyway.

"The same few women do 90 per cent of the work in any woman's club, and the same few do 90 per cent of the talking, and the same few do 90 per cent of the grumbling.

"Women will donate anything but money to a cause. That's the reason for so many cake sales, bazaars, white elephant sales, and so on.

"No woman can sell a club's membership an idea, however sensible it might be unless she hides her brain behind an air of false modesty. Every other woman is set to take the woman down a peg who is sure of herself.

"One thing you can be sure that women will all remember from any meeting — and that is what the other women were wearing.

"When there is a choice between spending a lot of time or a little money on a project the vote will always be to do the job the hard way."

Is she right? Or did her club president just neglect to mention in meeting that she was responsible for making the chicken sandwiches?

Dear Abby... It's Up To Wife To Put Zing In Marriage

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years, and my husband hasn't kissed me since 1945. He never calls me "Darling" or "Honey" like most husbands call their wives. He doesn't care if he pleases me or not. He is a good, faithful man, and we get along fine — like father and daughter. He has no hobbies or interests outside his work. He never wants to go any place. I feel so alone for a married woman. I am 45 and he is 61. How do I get out of this fix?

SO ALONE

DEAR ALONE: If you have been sitting around for 16 years waiting for your husband to kiss you, you are as much to blame for his indifference as he. You are both still young enough to enjoy life. Take the initiative. Humor him, pamper him, entertain him, and try to put a little zing into your marriage.

was unloading, the lady across the street came over and invited me to her house for coffee. I thought she was extremely generous. She gave me all the dirt on all the neighbors so fast I couldn't get the stories straight with the people because I knew no one. She has been coming over here daily, offering to help me get settled, but I notice she has nothing to do with any of the other neighbors.

My problem is that none of my neighbors has made a move toward me. My husband said my friend across the street is probably the neighborhood troublemaker and, if I have anything to do with her, I am dead. How can I get rid of her and meet some nice neighbors?

JUST MOVED IN

DEAR JUST: Tell your "friendly" neighbor that you appreciate her offer of help, but there are certain things you must do yourself. Then discourage her visits and don't visit her. When the other neighbors see that you are no longer "chummy" with her, they'll come around.

The meeting closed with the singing of Kappa pledge led by Miss Florita Young.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who signed herself "Willing to Wait" (for a married man) brought back memories.

Thirty years ago my husband had an affair which lasted two years. They couldn't wait for for some thing to happen to the wife who didn't understand him. Well, Abby, I found out about the affair, and had every reason to divorce him, but "something happened" to my husband instead. Now, thirty years later, the wife who didn't understand him is the one who wheels him around in his wheelchair. I wonder if the girl friend would want him now?

McLean And Lefors Hold First Place

Pre-season favorite McLean and defending champ Lefors topped opening victories in the district 2-A race Friday night and the Memphis Cyclones posted an impressive non-conference win.

Coach Derral Davis' McLean Tigers picked-up their sixth win against a lone loss by thumping the Memphis Cyclones 35-6. Memphis prepared for its showdown battle with the Bengals this Friday by roaring past Hollis, Okla., 20-6 for their fifth win in six outings.

The Lefors Pirates had to scramble from behind to nip a hard fighting Clarendon Bronchos 22-20.

Apparently battle weary from a rugged non-conference schedule, the defending district champs had their hands full with the fired-up Bronchos.

Top action this week pits Memphis at McLean and lowly Canadian at Clarendon.

The Memphis-McLean winner will probably draw the nod for the district championship. But the victor will still have to get past Lefors before laying claim to the title.

The Canadian-Clarendon loser will drop from contention.

The standings follow:

Season Standings	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
McLean	6	1	0	234	64
Lefors	5	1	0	197	53
Clarendon	4	3	0	106	75

Pampa's Victory Shocks Sandies From Loop Lead

Pampa cast itself in the spoiler role in the district 3-AAAA race Friday night with a shocking 14 upset victory over well-regarded Amarillo-Sandies eleven.

The Harvesters did more than nap a 16-game losing skein.

They upset the apocryphal golden Sandies, who had been the strong favorites for the district title.

Now Pampa stands as a definite threat to the title hopes of top contenders — Palo Duro and Borger.

Pampa had all the ingredients to take to have a winning team Friday night. The Harvesters parlayed fine downfield blocking, a speedy back, an even better defense and tremendous desire and team spirit to nail the lid almost shut on Amarillo's title aspirations.

League leading Tascosa blasted Lubbock High 39-13 to take a step closer to its first championship while defending titlist Borger trampled Plainview 66-4 and Palo Duro kept its name in the hat with a 41-13 lacing of Lubbock, Monterey.

Monterey hosts Amarillo Friday night with the loser dropping out of contention for the title. Palo Duro is almost a cinch to chalk up another win against hapless and hopeless Plainview.

Borger tries to keep its hat in the ring when coach Gene Mayfield's Bulldogs take on the Tom S. Lubbock Westerners Saturday night. Pampa and Tascosa are idle this week.

The season and conference standings follow:

Season Standings	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
Tascosa	5	1	0	142	42
Borger	5	1	0	177	27
Palo Duro	5	1	0	159	89
Lubbock	3	2	0	74	89

Missouri Cage Mentor Resigns

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI)—Wilbur N. (Sparky) Stalcup, whose name had become synonymous with University of Missouri basketball during the past 15 years, announced his resignation as coach Monday to accept the position as the school's assistant director of athletics.

Stalcup, who made the announcement at a meeting of his squad said he will coach the coming season but give up his position on the bench in March to devote all his time to the new duties.

"The opportunity to move up to administrative work was offered me," Stalcup said, "and I could not turn it down, even though it was one of the most difficult decisions of my life."

As assistant athletic director, Stalcup will work under another former Missouri coach, Don Faurot, who gave up his job as Missouri football coach in 1956 but stayed on as director of athletics.

Yankees Acquire Robin Roberts From Phillies

By United Press International

The New York Yankees are hopeful that Robin Roberts will turn out to be another Johnny Sain.

In fact, it will be Sain, now the Yankees' pitching coach, who will be handed this major reclamation project next spring when Roberts reports to the world champions' training camp at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Sain, you may remember, was purchased by the Yankees from the old Boston Braves in 1951 after slipping to a .3-13 record that year. The old Arkansas side-armed won 35 and lost 25 as a Yankee pitcher for four years helping them to pennants in 1951, '52 and '53.

The Yankees acquired Roberts for slightly more than the $20,000 waiver price Monday from the Philadelphia Phillies. The sturdy, 35-year-old had been with the Phils since 1948 after signing what was then a fabulous $25,000 bonus contract.

During 14 seasons with the Phillies, Roberts won 234 games and lost 199. He won 29 or more games in six straight seasons (1950-1955), reaching his peak in 1952 when he posted a 28-7 record. He has pitched 35 shutouts and a pair of one-hitters, and was named to the National League All-Star squad seven times.

The 200-pound six-footer from Springfield, Ill., reached a career low-water mark with the futile Phils this year when he pitched only two complete games in 18 starts and finished with a 1-1 record after injuring his right knee in mid-season.

"We have nothing to lose and everything to gain by this purchase," said Yankee General Manager Roy Hamey. Roberts apparently agreed.

Pampan Catches Large Black Bass

Harvesters Take Monday Off Following Upset Win

Stinnett, Panhandle And Gruver Share 1-A Lead

Stinnett's persistent Rattlers, undefeated Gruver and fast-moving Panhandle shared the district 1-A grid lead today after coping vital wins Friday night.

Two unbeaten clubs were dropped from that dwindling list as the White Deer Bucks bowed to the kicking feat of Stinnett's Mainess Gibson 3-0 and Stratford was felled by the Greyhounds 24-6.

Panhandle blanked Sunray 14-0 for its third consecutive win after dropping three straight at the season outset.

Coach Don Light's defending district champion and a 1960 semi-finalist stymied White Deer's title hopes with a second period field goal by the sure-footed Gibson. The Buck's first loss of the campaign certainly dimmed their championship aspirations for the second straight year.

Stinnett pounded the Bucks 28-6 for White Deer's only defeat last season.

Gruver remained undefeated with its big win over Stratford. The loss dropped the Elks from the state's unbeaten ranks.

But the Greyhounds are in danger this Friday of losing their unbeaten status and district leadership when they host White Deer in a must game.

It's a must game for White Deer, since another loss would drop the Bucks completely out of contention.

Mississippi Stays First; Texas Third

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mississippi edged Michigan State for the No. 1 spot in the United Press International college football ratings today by a slim margin of five points.

The Rebels of Ole Miss, who have won their first four games and yielded only 13 points, were the first-place choice of 17 members of the 35-man UPI Board of Coaches. Michigan State, which drubbed Michigan, 28-0, for its third straight win, had 14 first-place votes.

Notre Dame (3-0) and Ohio State (2-0-1) made advances in this week's ratings, while Georgia Tech (3-1), Colorado (3-0) and Louisiana State (3-1) moved into the top 10 group.

Texas (4-0) and Alabama (4-0) clung to the third and fourth rankings; Notre Dame moved up two notches to fifth; Iowa (3-0) fell one place to sixth, and Ohio State jumped one place to seventh.

Georgia Tech advanced from 14th to 8th place; Colorado from 12th to 9th; and LSU from a tie for 19th to 10th.

Michigan, Baylor and Maryland dropped out of the top 10 class. Arkansas headed the second 10 group, followed in order by: Missouri, Syracuse, Michigan and Utah State. Purdue was 16th, and Minnesota, Tennessee, Rice and Wyoming completed the second 10 in that order.

The United Press International major college football ratings (with first-place votes and non-joint records in parentheses):

3. Texas (2) (4-0)	256
4. Alabama (1) (4-0)	225
5. Notre Dame (1) (3-0)	213
6. Iowa (3-0)	183
7. Ohio State (2-0-1)	165
8. Georgia Tech (3-1)	62
9. Colorado (3-0)	48
10. Louisiana State (3-1)	36

Second 10 teams — 11. Arkansas 28; 12. Missouri, 22-13; Syracuse 21; 14. Michigan, 16; 15. Utah State, 10; 16. Purdue, 10; 17. Minnesota, 5; 18. Tennessee, 4; 19. Rice 3; 20. Wyoming, 2.

Others — Baylor, Maryland, Utah and Arizona, 1 each.

Defending champion Denver City, which opened its District 3 race with a 60-0 bang last week against Post probably will be able to run up another big score this week against Stanton.

The state's two highest scoring outfits, Jacksboro and Hearne, with 41.3 and 40.3-point scoring averages, respectively, have things easy against oft-beaten Nona and A&M Consolidated.

TCU coach Abe Martin shook up his starting team, installing four sophomores on the first unit. He said he was junking his three-unit plan and sent the Frogs through a rugged contact drill.

Quarterback Gray Mills, twin halfbacks Garry and Larry Tomason and end Ronnie Crouch, all moved up to the first time as Martin juggled his lineup to "get our best 22 boys on the top two units."

Mills replaces Sonny Gibbs at the man-under slot. Gibbs has three broken ribs on his left side and is a doubtful participant in Saturday's game against the Aggies.

Pampa Gridders Have Open Date

The Pampa Harvesters took a well-deserved day off from the practice field Monday to have "picture day" for the press and school yearbook.

Coach Weldon Trice let the gridders rest from contact practice following on the heels of a mighty 15-14 upset of the Amarillo Golden Sandies to snap a 16-game losing skein.

Trice stated, "The win over Amarillo was the biggest thrill of my coaching career. It's always a big feat for Pampa to beat Amarillo."

Continuing he added, "We got a lot of breaks that enabled us to win."

It's about time the Harvesters got some of the breaks on their side.

Pampa has an open date this Friday but the Harvesters will start priming for the speedy and rugged Palo Duro Dons today. Monday, the locals ran wind sprints, a few dummy plays and watched the film of Friday's night contest with Amarillo.

The Harvesters came out of the Amarillo scrape without any serious injuries although gold team halfback Riley Walters suffered pulled tissues in his right foot and will be on crutches several days.

Coaches Duaine Lyon and Eural Ramsey must also be credited with the improved play of the Harvesters. Pampa's defense has improved so much, it's hard to believe that they allowed 37 points in one game. And the offense has started to keep possession of the ball instead of making little mistakes to give the pignskin to the opponents.

Trice credited the rugged defense led by Jimmy Hovler, James Webb, Keith Riemer, Butch Crossland, Corky Godfrey and

It is too early to tell, but four top-flight Arkansas gridders, including half the starting backfield, may miss Saturday's crucial Southwest Conference game with Texas at Fayetteville.

Dean Garrett, rugged right guard, was injured severely in the Baylor game. He suffered a possible torn cartilage in his right knee and is not expected to play against Texas. He will undergo further tests to determine the exact injury.

Quarterback George McKinney suffered a bruised foot and hand and halfback Paul Dudley received an ankle sprain. Tommy Brasher, Garrett's understudy, received a severe bruise on his right side.

Coach Frank Broyles said it was too early to tell whether or not the latter three will play against the Longhorns.

Most of the teams took it easy around the conference Monday.

Rice coach Jess Neely scrimmaged his second and third teams. The first team rested up. The Owls play Southern Methodist at Houston Saturday. Center Dan Malin of Temple suffered a wrenched knee against Florida and it remained swollen.

Texas A&M worked briefly on offense and defense for the game against Texas Christian Saturday in Fort Worth. Guard Jim Harper will miss the game due to a bad leg.

TCU coach Abe Martin shook up his starting team, installing four sophomores on the first unit. He said he was junking his three-unit plan and sent the Frogs through a rugged contact drill.

Quarterback Gray Mills, twin halfbacks Garry and Larry Tomason and end Ronnie Crouch, all moved up to the first time as Martin juggled his lineup to "get our best 22 boys on the top two units."

Comment On Washington

A man we know went to Washington not so long ago, and this is the way he described the scene on his return:

"I watched the elegantly clad young men marching two by two in groups of eight (isn't this strange?) in and out of Hoffa's fancy headquarters.

"I watched the paper laden clerks of the State Department marching in and out of offices.

"I watched the chaos of the Pentagon.

"I sat for two hours in the House of Representatives while congressmen read newspapers at their desks or gathered in knots to tell stories which brought audible gasps. Meanwhile a speech was being delivered in a monotone, three people on the floor listening. They tell me all the business is done in committee. The Speaker was chatting with a man and woman who had been escorted to his rostrum.

"I watched a junior senator presiding over the Senate and never did make out what the business before this august body amounted to, though I heard they were waiting for an important matter to be introduced.

"I walked the quiet evening streets of Georgetown, listening to the babble of cocktail parties behind secluded garden walls. And the same in Arlington, and Silver Springs.

"I went to the airport to come home. I watched a general, a splendid picture of arrogance followed by a bevy of humble lower officers who bowed and scraped until he was safely aboard a plane, then let out a whoop of relief and headed for the nearest restaurant. He looked so Prussian that I had to check his uniform to make sure he was an American officer.

"The horrible thought came over me: If an ordinary American citizen notices such signs of confusion, apathy and corruption (I saw other incidents but won't get personal), then no wonder there is dismay among liberty-loving, thoughtful Americans.

"I actually believe that nothing short of an armed march on Washington can clean up the bureaucracy, the rank disease that infests that city. No one man could ever do it. I don't think any one party can do it. It's just gone too far.

"No wonder the American people are really worried. We have to contend with Communists inside and out, and that is a terrible battle; but our Constitution is buried beneath a welter of paperwork, outrageous indifference and blackhearted graft.

"We need another Declaration of Independence and another American Revolution and it will cost us some Valley Forge more's the pity."

The YCC Camp

Because of their past monumental inaccuracies, public opinion polls are taken rather lightly by a lot of people, including us.

However, some of the results of these polls do bother us because there are always these two possibilities: 1) The "representative" opinions expressed might very well reflect the thinking of most Americans, and 2) the opinions, by being published, might influence others to join the "majority" of those polled.

We notice that one well-known group of opinion gatherers found that the public overwhelmingly favors the idea of "modern" CCC camps. The New Frontier would call them Youth Conservation Corps camps, but they would be patterned after Franklin Roosevelt's collectivized homes for boys.

Jack Kennedy calls for a "token" YCC program which would involve no more than 5,000 youths at any one time. However, according to the aforementioned poll, the American public would go much farther than Kennedy. In fact, 59 per cent of those questioned thought that young men who are not in school, who do not have jobs and are not learning a trade should be REQUIRED to attend such camps to "learn and earn."

(In our compulsory school system, we shudder at the number of school dropouts. But while all of us would encourage more and better education for all individuals, not all dropouts are total failures in life. Readers probably noticed recently that a corporation headed by Col. Henry Crown sold the Empire State Building in New York for $65 million — and that Crown left school at the age of 14 to work as a $4 a week shipping clerk.)

Eighty per cent of all persons polled said they believed the YCC program for young men 16-22 would be a "good idea." This "good idea," if brought about by force as the 59 per cent would have it, would prove beyond doubt that we have accepted as right the socialist concept of total government control. It is not enough for the planners that we have compulsory school attendance laws and compulsory military service laws. Now we apparently need to "bridge the gap" between the two.

The pollsters say that FDR's CCC camps were consistently popular. Three years after they were started in 1933, a poll found 82 per cent of persons interviewed in favor of continuing the camps. In 1938, another poll found that almost 8 of 10 persons wanted the CCC camps established on a permanent basis. It is interesting to note that by 1940, 85 per cent of those questioned supported the introduction of military training into the CCC camps.

Taxpayers have been conditioned to the belief that they owe to idle persons whatever the government decides is necessary, but it is discouraging to find that many of them apparently think they are obligated to pay for camps at which the youth of the country learn to hoe weeds, dig ditches and prune trees — it happened last time.

The establishment of compulsory youth camps would just about make the cycle complete in the area of governmental care and comfort for everybody. Just think of all the goodies for a "needy" person: He can begin with aid to dependent children; he can get food, clothing and can attend school for years at taxpayers' expense. When school bores him, he can drop out and enter a YCC camp. At 22, he can go into the Army for almost any term he chooses. After that, if he feels the hot pangs of ambition, he might do everybody a favor and work awhile — to make sure he is eligible for social security payments. Later in life, he can retire to a county home for the aged and live with his dreams.

—And if it hadn't been for that youth camp, he might have had to get a job early and make his own way in the world for years. What a ghastly thought.

The American Way

By WILLIS E. STONE
(EDITOR'S NOTE: Willis E. Stone is author of the "Proposed Liberty Amendment" and Chairman, National Committee for Economic Freedom, Los Angeles, Calif.)

The National Committee for Economic Freedom held its annual Leadership Conference in Chicago, September 14 and 15, to discuss techniques for developing public understanding of our constitutional liberties.

The business session with National Vice-Chairman Gordon Van B. King of New Jersey presiding, unified the work of the states into a highly co-ordinated program.

Effective new facilities were demonstrated. There were three interesting short films on "How We Live" dealing with basic economics and produced by the American Economic Foundation of New York City. A dramatic portrayal of the reasons for our spectacular growth in America was provided in a 15-minute filmstrip titled "American Free Enterprise" produced by the California Free Enterprise Association of Buena Park, California.

There was also a preview showing of a new television series, being prepared under the title, "Symposium on Freedom." In this film, an hour-long discussion of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT takes place, with critical questions presented by a house wife and a college student. The answers illustrate the effective power of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT to protect us from an all-powerful bureaucracy.

Congressman James B. Utt of California, who introduced the LIBERTY AMENDMENT into Congress as H. J. Res. 23, addressed a dinner meeting of delegates from every part of the nation. He vividly pointed out the dangers creeping upon us through bureaucratic expansion and international encroachments and then illustrated the ability of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT to control this danger. The Amendment will restore constitutional government and revitalize the States. By removing the federal individual income tax it will restore a full day's pay for a day's work and increase labor's productive capacity and incentive.

Congressman John Rousselot, in a luncheon address to a capacity audience, gave a comprehensive picture of the encroachments upon our free institutions and stressed the need for the LIBERTY AMENDMENT to restore the full vigor and glory of our constitutional way of life.

Extensive end intensive studies of techniques, telling the American story to the American people, were developed by state leaders. Under co-chairman Loyd Herbstrich of Wisconsin and George Peck of Florida, the use of various media was studied.

Mrs. Polly King Rutenberg of Colorado and Dr. Charles Pavey of Ohio co-chaired a panel studying ways and means of building close cooperation between all existing organizations in support of our American philosophy.

Dr. Ernest E. Anthony, Jr. of Texas and Dan Hanson of Wyoming were co-chairmen of a panel discussing ways and means of developing home study groups to spread the knowledge of our Constitution and how to use it.

Dr. Curtis W. Caine of Mississippi, together with Charles Reynolds of North Carolina, co-chaired a panel developing techniques for serving the members of the Legislature, enabling the lawmakers to more accurately know the thinking of the citizen.

A fifth panel under the co-chairmanship of David Watimull of Hawaii and Roger Williamson of Connecticut discussed the design of state organization, structure and mechanics for more widespread understanding of the Constitution and its intents and purposes.

When Convention Chairman Frank Flick of Illinois closed the two-day session, other meetings within the conservative movement followed.

The national organization known as WE, THE PEOPLE, held its two-day national Constitution Day convention with still more viewpoints on the peril which confronts us because of expanding bureaucracy. Again the LIBERTY AMENDMENT loomed big as the center of universal support in the conservative movement.

The amendment, already formally approved by the States of Wyoming, Texas, Nevada and Louisiana would restore the Constitution, restore state sovereignty and restore personal earnings to the producer which are now chipped away through the income tax route. It provides that:

"Sec. 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Sec. 4. Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates and/or gifts."

Growing 'Walls' of East German Troops Threaten Autobahn Access Routes to Berlin

WASHINGTON — The Communists are establishing a new string of "walls" in East Germany even more foreboding than the one built of concrete and brick between East and West Berlin.

The "walls," consisting of large concentrations of East German troops and arms, are rising along the access highways from West Germany to West Berlin.

At present, these security forces are being stationed at the intersections and along the autobahns to prevent Western travelers from leaving the main highways and visiting nearby areas of East Germany.

However, this is only one part of their sinister mission.

According to U.S. military intelligence, these East German troops are being readied in sufficient number to pinch off Western traffic at any time that Soviet Premier Khrushchev gives the signal.

For instance, along the autobahn from the Helmstedt checkpoint in North Germany to West Berlin, truck-borne squads of East German troops, with tanks and artillery, are taking up positions at every strategic intersection.

These shock forces already number several thousand. They could choke off all traffic and seal the route in a matter of minutes. The U.S. would have to bring up a considerable amount of armor from other sections of West Germany, if a decision was made to reopen the highway with force.

Also, additional watchtowers have been erected along the highway. They are being manned by East German troops with machine guns and powerful new searchlights.

These military developments have so alarmed President Kennedy that he is considering asking Britain and France to join in a strong protest to Moscow.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, who are advising the President on military counter moves, are warning that Premier Khrushchev is preparing to test the determination of the West by closing more than one of these routes.

When this Soviet showdown will come is not definitely known. However, the JCS is giving the period of the Soviet Communist Party Congress, which opens in Moscow on October 17, as the most likely time for Khrushchev to make such a military test.

The JCS is recommending that the President accept this Soviet challenge by using the "necessary" military force needed, including tanks, to reopen the access routes.

Only Russians in evidence along the routes, according to JCS, are at the control posts where they process Allied military traffic. However, there are between 26 and 29 divisions of Warsaw Pact troops, chiefly Russians, but also including East Germans, Poles, and Czechs, engaged in maneuvers in the southern part of East Germany.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON
NEW YORK — In case you ever are bewildered by events in a constantly more snarled and unpredictable world, your best investment would be to fly to New York, hail any taxicab in sight, sit back in a relaxed attitude and wait. You won't even have to feed the seed question to get things started.

Any New York taxicab driver, inside four blocks of time and driving, can settle the Berlin problems, the Laos problems, the nuclear testing question, disarmament and the automobile strikes in Detroit. Nothing daunts them, not even the just - about - to - explode power struggles that are inevitable in the Middle East. A taxi driver said it was.

We were riding through Central Park at 4 o'clock in the morning and he asked me if I knew King Hussein of Jordan. I said, no, not really. Although I had helped direct King Hussein to where he wanted to go at the UN just a year ago and we had walked along together in simple conversation for about 55 feet of corridor. Why?

"This little fighter is going to be the key to things in the Middle East," the driver said. "Nasser is a bum and on the ropes. That Syria, with spitballs, knocked him over in five hours. Israel, which was pinched between Syria and Egypt, thought the fall-down of Nasser would make things good there. Dreams, friend. Once the Arab states get their power struggle leveled off, they'll all fall on Israel like a house coming apart. You wait and see."

This didn't seem too far-fetched, so I asked him if he could give me a solution to the Berlin problem.

"What's all the discussion?" he said scornfully. "This guy talks to that guy and two other guys yak it up and that Bonn crowd gets nervous and Kennedy makes with the honor bit and it's all smoke in a saloon. The way to settle Berlin is one-two-three. One morning no fanfare, no sending of telegrams to tell them anything, we simply line up 50 tanks and drive them in, slowly, no shooting, no trouble. In Behind those some lads with Tommy guns slung under their arms. I read where 300 border guards in East Germany have got over the wall or jumped the wire into West Berlin. There are 17,000,000 Germans in East Germany. They'd line up with us and in an hour they'd be no problem. Every jack of them would be on our side. We haven't got the moxie to do it. If I was President, that would be next Monday morning at 6 o'clock. In. No problem left."

What about Moscow, I asked. Nothing? "You show that snagle - tooth fat bum that East German people are flocking to Uncle Sam and he'd do an el foldo. Don't kid me about that one. He's all noise and wind. One show of force - and foldo. Come on, pal, what's so complex?"

And about Detroit? "Like any union and wage problem. Guy with a wrench says he wants more loot for what he does putting. Fords together. You say, Look, chump, 25 years ago you got less but shoes were six bucks and meat was a dime a pound. So you're making more today? Sure, but look at shoes and meat and rent and clothes and the works. Every time you inch up a dime in take-home pay, they inch up 18 cents in what things cost you. Pretty soon these guys will be earning $5 an hour and spending $8 to live. Simple? Pal, people make problems out of nothing. You only got to sit down and figure things out. Okay?"

Umm.

Why Not Let Athletes Settle World Problems?

By HENRY McLEMORE

Chuck McKinley's decision to pass up playing Davis Cup tennis against Italy in favor of his studies at Trinity University of San Antonio, Texas, sent me scurrying to the record books to see when last an athlete had taken such a stand for education.

The record books weren't any good. I had to go to the history books, and in them I had to go back to George Washington to find an athlete who had chosen to place mind over matter.

After a long wrestle with his conscience, Washington abandoned the throwing of silver dollars across rivers (at which he was the acknowledged world champion) in order to concentrate on surveying. It wasn't an easy thing for him to do, for he was far and away the best dollar thrower on the American team, and was being counted on to lead us to victory over a French-Indian side.

Between Washington and McKinley, I wasn't able to discover a single athlete who had chosen midnight oil for his head instead of snake oil for his muscles.

I, along with millions of other red-blooded American sports nuts, deplore McKinley's decision. Not only because his absence weakened the American side of the net, but because smart people are the last thing we need on earth today.

Look at all the trouble spots in the world today — that is, if you have time — and you'll find that smart people, people who foolishly spent years and years in college, are right in the middle of the turmoil.

No tennis player ever thought up an atomic bomb. It wasn't a linebacker who split the atom. Talk to a hockey goalie about bacteriological warfare and you'll most likely get a blank stare.

Outer space would still be undisturbed if the world had waited on a baseball player to devise the first rocket. And it was no shot - putter (although the originator is built like one) who devised the Chinese commune system of living.

Smart men talk of troublesome things when they gather. Athletes don't. Their discussions center around topics no more dangerous than sore arms, slippery balls, wet courts, blind referees and umpires, paid attendance and convertible automobiles.

The world would be much safer, if, say, the disarmament talks were headed by Yogi Berra, the Russian high jumper-Bruel, two tackles from the New York Giants, Roger Maris, a French bicycle rider, and English soccer star, and a pygmy blow - gun champion from the head waters of the Amazon.

These men would come to an agreement in two hours or less. They'd decide that the bomb was a threat to their jobs and should be shelved at once.

So, I wish McKinley hadn't been so unwise as to choose books over his racket. His could be a most dangerous precedent.

How much better for him to have said that brains are getting the world deeper into trouble every day, and that he didn't want to give his chance to add to the confusion.

By THURMAN SENSING

BUYING FOR DESTRUCTION With much activity scheduled at the United Nations headquarters this fall, Americans should take a searching look at this organization — which some people mistakenly believe to be the best hope of mankind.

The recent events in Katanga, the mineral-rich territory formerly part of the Belgian Congo, provides the best starting point for a study of the U.N. organization. And the central point that always should be kept in mind is that the U.N. attack on Katanga was an attack on an anti-Communist government.

Like many other African territories, Katanga wanted to be free and independent. It has just as much right to be independent as has Ghana, Guinea or any of the noisy African pro-Communist lands. But Katanga was not accorded the glowing treatment reserved by the "liberal" press and the U.N. for so-called emerging nations. Katanga has been very much in ill-favor. Why? The answer is not hard to find. It is that, unlike most African countries, the native rulers want to work with free enterprise and support the West.

To the African and Asian nationalists who now dominate the U.N., that was an intolerable situation. They do not believe in freedom for anti-Communist nations more than do some of our homegrown left-wingers here in the United States.

Therefore, the U.N. political apparatus simply ordered troops to attack the anti-Communist Tshombe government in Katanga. Fortunately, Katanga was not the push-over that the U.N. neutrals thought it would be.

Now Americans should consider two points: (1) What position does the Kennedy administration take on this attack on an anti-Communist government? and (2) What is this pro-Communist anti-anti-Communist?

The record shows that the Kennedy State Department endorsed the attack, saying a unified Congo is necessary. The fact that a unified Congo most probably would be a Communist-dominated Katanga apparently makes no difference to that department — more than a Communist Cuba apparently troubles it.

So here is the American government supporting a pro-Communist attack, actually doing the Russians' work for them. Not on that, but the U.N. attack on Katanga, like virtually all U.N. operations in the Congo and elsewhere, was paid for by American taxpayers.

The Russians must be roaring with laughter. They have refused to pay one ruble toward the Congo operation. Yet the U.N. force carry out the very mission that Russians want, the American taxpayer picks up the tab.

This is the U.N. story from beginning to end. The bulk of U.N. funds come from the United States because some nations do pay at all, and the nations they pay, and other nations promise to pay but never produce money.

Having been flooded with synthetic nations, mere tribal aggregations, the U.N. is now the creature of Africa and Asia. B. Uncle Sam is still Uncle Sam to this organization.

Indeed, while the American people are fiercely bitter about communism in Cuba — which church leaders are jailed or deported — the U.S. government continues to give money to U.N. Special Fund, which turns around and gives it to Dicta Castro of Red Cuba.

The least the United States could do is demand that these nations which won't pay their bills at the U.N., be barred from voting.

The American people need wake up to what is taking place at the U.N. and learn how the national interests are daily endangered by the decisions of this organization. Indeed, U.S. State contributions to the U.N. amount to buying the bullets with which our anti-Communist friends are to be shot.

Two U.S. Suits Charge Curbing Of Negro Voting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department yesterday filed two civil rights suits charging discrimination against Negroes seeking to vote in Plaquemines Parish, La., and Panola County, Miss.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced filing of the twin complaints seeking federal orders to forbid discrimination against Negro voters in the two counties.

Plaquemines, located in the Mississippi Delta in the southeastern corner of Louisiana, is the home county of segregationist leader Leander Perez.

In a complaint filed in federal district court at New Orleans, the Justice Department said Negro efforts to register have been illegally thwarted since 1953. It said only 45 of 2,587 eligible Negroes may vote.

The government also charged in a suit filed at Oxford, Miss., that different and more stringent standards have been applied to Negro voter applicants than to whites in Panola County.

The department said that more than 5,000 of the 7,639 eligible whites in the Mississippi county are registered but that only 10 of the 7,250 Negroes have succeeded in doing so.

Panola is in northwestern Mississippi in the Delta country and is principally agricultural.

The complaint named the state of Mississippi and registrar Leonard C. Duke as defendants.

Both complaints asked the court to find a pattern and practice of racial discrimination in violation of the civil rights laws and issue orders enjoining discriminatory registration practices.

'Running Room' Being Provided U.S. Solons

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Over the years, man has managed to master just about all of the great challenges that have confronted him.

He has, to mention only a few of the triumphs learned to scale the Matterhorn, swim the English Channel, run the four-minute mile and digest a cheeseburger.

Now, in his constant climb up the ladder of progress, man is on the brink of conquering still another challenge that has presented itself in recent years.

Within the next few weeks, he will have at his disposal a means of getting from one side of the U.S. Capitol to the other side during the tourist season.

They used to say this couldn't get done. I have had old-timers tell me it was useless even to try to traverse the corridors of the Capitol in the spring and summer.

A lone pedestrian trying to make his way from, say, the House chamber to the Senate chamber was certain to encounter a sight-seeing group moving with glacial speed and progress in the opposite direction.

Further progress then became impossible, short of tunneling down to the basement, climbing over the roof or detouring outside across the terrace.

Many people thought the problem would never be solved, but they underestimated the ability of Congress to pass appropriation bills.

For a mere $11 million, Congress has pushed forward the east front of the Capitol to provide 32 more feet of space.

Thus, when our lawmakers return to duty next January they will have available new passageways that can be sealed off from the tourist stream to give them an unimpeded run of the length of the building.

This inspirational accomplishment is not the only advantage gained from extending the east wall and the new is being utilized in a number of ways that should help ease the rigors of the legislative life.

More than 20 senators of senior standing will be provided with additional private offices, which should come in handy for hiding from constituents.

One entire floor will be occupied by the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, which then can claim the distinction of having two separate hearing rooms.

The alternate room will be used for hearing secret testimony. This, of course, is much better than having just one room and having to close the door.

The October allowable was set at 2,683,214 barrels daily on an eight-day production schedule.
