It's Gonna Be Crazy, Man, Crazy!

Big Crazy Day Celebration Set By Local Stores, Shoppers Tomorrow

Crazy, Man!
Those are the passwords for entry into the magic circle tomorrow as Pampa merchants and shoppers go all out in observance of "Crazy Day," an annual event sponsored by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Merchants, clerks and shoppers have been invited to appear tomorrow in the craziest costumes they can create.

There will be prizes for the craziest-looking store display, the craziest appearing clerks and especially for the craziest, out-of-this-world shopper.

The day gets off to a crazy start at 8 a.m. when breakfast will be served in the middle of Cuyler St. between Foster and Kingsmill.

The outdoor breakfast will last from 8 to 9 a.m., when the stores open. In addition to all the crazy monkey-business scheduled in the stores and among the shoppers there will be a Crazy Day parade at 10 a.m.

At that hour, merchants will join with Pampa reserve units who will be observing Armed Forces Day. The reserve units will have marching units and equipment on parade. Pampa stores have been asked to place entries in the parade which will form at Craven and S. Cuyler streets and move north on Cuyler at 10 a.m.

Gen. Everett S. Simpson of Amarillo, commander of the Texas National Guard, will speak at a breakfast in Coronado Inn tomorrow morning as the opening event in Pampa's observance of Armed Forces Day.

The breakfast, scheduled for 7:30 a.m., will be attended by a cross-section of Pampa civic leaders and key personnel in Pampa's reserve units of the armed services.

Following the breakfast a flag-raising ceremony will be held in front of the hotel. It will be in charge of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

A parade of Pampa reserve units and their equipment is scheduled for 10 a.m. in downtown Pampa. The parade will be joined with Pampa merchants participating in the Chamber of Commerce annual Crazy Day program.

Parade units will form at Craven and S. Cuyler Sts. and then move northward in Cuyler St.

Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee, says if he can find a crazy Santa Fe engineer he'll switch a train right down Cuyler St. and tie some Pampa young woman to the tracks in true 1918 Perils of Pauline style. (See photo on this page.) Jacobson has been practicing the stunt all week.

One of the important features of tomorrow's Crazy Day observance will be found in the crazy bargains in the stores. It's going to afford shoppers with an opportunity to get in on some of the best merchandise "steals" ever offered by Pampa merchants.

Search Is On For Missing Depositors By Local Banks, Savings Association

Pampa's two banks and a savings and loan association are looking for several hundred missing depositors of savings accounts which have been inactive or abandoned for at least seven years.

The first list of names of missing depositors with local accounts will be found in today's Pampa News. They are from the Security Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n., where there are 240 such accounts, ranging from 10 cents up to more than $400. The accounts have been inactive for seven years or more.

Officials at Security Federal said most of the accounts are small ones, many of them originally deposited for or by children who have since grown up and apparently forgotten about them. Total money in the 240 abandoned and inactive accounts at Security Federal is $1,656.75.

The First National Bank reports nearly 500 abandoned accounts for a total of approximately $27,000. First National's list will be published within the next day or two.

Officials at First National said the smallest account they had on the list was $2 and the largest, $500. They stated many of the abandoned accounts originally belonged to airmen stationed at the Pampa Air Base and that quite a few have been located through former home addresses left at the bank.

Citizens Bank & Trust Co. also has a list of abandoned savings accounts. Bank clerks are compiling the list and officials said it would be completed early next week.

Hoffa Charged In Beating Of Teamster Associate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. marshals stood guard through the night at the home of a 59-year-old Teamsters official who charged his boss, James R. Hoffa, with beating him up "like a man berserk."

The Teamster boss appeared at a 10 a.m., EDT, hearing today before Municipal Judge Thomas C. Scalley on charges of simple assault. He faces a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and a year in jail if convicted.

But black-eyed Samuel Baron, field director of the Teamsters Warehouse division, said "it would be absolute suicide" for anyone to testify to his charges that Hoffa knocked him down twice and shoved him over a chair Thursday.

Baron said "if anything happens to me, at least it will be publicly known who my enemies are."

The slightly built man said all he could do when Hoffa turned on him was shove at the stocky Teamster boss. "I wish I had the muscles, but I don't."

Baron had a cut over his right eye, a small cut on the right side of his nose and a severely swollen left eye.

Hoffa, 49, who was freed on $500 bond, said "This is a court case and I will not say anything until I appear in court."

Baron, who was paid $17,000 a year by the union, said: "I am not going back to the Teamsters." He said he would "do everything I possibly can to convince mem-

2 Texas Lawmakers Named In Estes Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D., said today that Agriculture Department officials revoked cancellation of Billie Sol Estes' cotton allotments after meeting with Estes and two Texas congressmen.

The congressmen were identified later as Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex. An aide to Yarborough said the senator was acting in behalf of a constituent "the same as he would have for any other."

Rutherford was not immediately available for comment.

Mundt said: "This was more than favoritism. This was complete capitulation to a guy out on the make."

Mundt is a member of the Senate investigations subcommittee which ordered a full investigation of the case Thursday shortly before President Kennedy told his news conference that government investigators were "staying right on Mr. Estes' tail."

Kennedy said 76 FBI agents had been assigned to the case and promised that "if members of the executive branch are involved" they would be "immediately disciplined appropriately."

Two Agriculture Department officials have been fired, a third quit and a Labor Department official resigned because of the Estes affair.

Kennedy said he had not been able to find any favoritism toward the indicted Texas farm magnate "as of now" but said new facts might come out.

Estes has been indicted by a federal court in Texas on charges of fraud concerning his dealings with the government grain storage program and fined more than $500,000 for misusing cotton allotments.

He was once a member of the government's cotton advisory board.

Mundt said that a briefing given to subcommittee members Thursday showed the case was "substantially worse than any of us realized."

He told newsmen of a complex lease-sale arrangement under which Estes, in effect, allegedly took over allowed cotton acreage of farmers whose land had been taken away by seizures under the doctrine of eminent domain.

In July, 1961, he said, Agriculture Department officials got suspicious and interviewed 51 of 116 farmers who had bought cotton

Legislators Getting Gambling 'Education'

WACO (UPI) — Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger said today his legislative crime committee is getting an education about gambling in Texas despite several witnesses who pleaded the fifth amendment rather than talk.

The House General Investigating Committee is probing charges basketball games in the Southwest Conference were fixed, or that conference referees controlled the point spread by their officiating.

The committee, headed by Ballman as chairman, went back behind closed doors again today. Ballman said this was because the group wants to hear all 13 of the witnesses it has subpoenaed before it decided whether or not to hold public hearings.

Only three of the subpoenaed witnesses were among the 12 persons who went into executive session with the committee during a 12-hour session Thursday that did not close until shortly before 1 a. m. today.

Two Southwest Conference referees—Odell Preston and Bill D. Johnson, former teammates at Baylor—were among the 10 subpoenaed witnesses scheduled to testify today.

"Much of the evidence furnished by the Department of Public Safety has been substantiated by testimony thus far," Ballman said.

"We are very satisfied with the progress so far. The committee was well-educated on the subject of gambling in Central Texas as a result of the first day of hearings."

Ballman said the committee was "sort of a grand jury" and stressed that all persons who appear before it should not necessarily be classified as under investigation.

He specifically referred to some of the six witnesses who appeared before the committee during a five-hour afternoon session. He said some appeared voluntarily.

Ballman said also that some of the witnesses invoked the Fifth Amendment, refusing to testify on grounds that it might tend to incriminate them. Ballman declined to identify the witnesses, or elaborate.

The Borger lawmaker was asked about the possibility of an open hearing following the committee's executive session.

"I would hate to speculate on what the committee might do about that," Ballman said. "Possibly...if we get through with the witnesses early enough today, it is possible we might open the hearings."

The three subpoenaed witnesses who testified Thursday were identified as Pat Rogas of Marlin, Howard (Junior) Dodd of Fort Worth and Sam Abner of Waco.

Other witnesses included Joe George, a Waco tavern operator; Acey Cooper, Waco securities dealer; L. C. Goldberg, Waco real estate dealer; Jack Kestner, Waco furniture store operator; Morris (Chicken) Smith, Waco poultry dealer; Rowe Sams, Waco church furniture manufacturer; Johnny Hunt, Waco shoe shop operator and runoff candidate for county treasurer; and W. D. Clifton, a Waco pool hall operator.

Sheriff Henry C. Mayfield of Dawson (Lamesa) County spent 30 minutes with the committee, but he said he was just a "silent observer" listening to testimony on matters he had helped investigate.

"I gave no testimony and I haven't been asked any questions," Mayfield said. "I don't ask any either."

Preston, from Waco, and Johnson, of Lorena, played basketball at Baylor in the late 1940's. Preston was co-captain in 1948-49, the year after the Bears were runners-up to Kentucky for the NCAA championship. Johnson was an alternate on the 1948 United States Olympic basketball team.

Mysterious Food Poisoning Cases Are Slacking Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A mysterious outbreak of food poisoning which caused serious illnesses in 18 states has apparently "about run its course," a U.S. Public Health Service spokesman said today.

The food poisoning was caused by a rare type of bacteria known as salmonella hartford. Prior to this year, no more than 20 cases of food poisoning by this particular germ had been identified in the whole history of the United States.

Since early this year, however, there have been 95 laboratory-confirmed cases of salmonella hartford poisoning, and 42 suspected cases which were not definitely confirmed by laboratory tests.

The epidemic seems to have reached a peak in late March, the public health spokesman said. The last confirmed case was reported in April.

Cases were reported in 18 states — Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland and Delaware. The heaviest incidence was in the upper Middle West.

Canada also had an outbreak of salmonella hartford poisoning at the same time.

Intensive investigations by Public Health Service epidemic detectives have so far yielded no clue as to why the rare ailment suddenly broke forth over a wide area.

There were no fatalities, but many of the victims became quite seriously ill with fevers ranging up to 103 degrees and severe diarrhea. Some had to be hospitalized and fed intravenously for periods as long as three weeks.

The majority of the victims were children between the age of 2 and 10.

More Rain In Pampa During Past 24 Hours

Pampa got another .12 inch rain last night and this morning as the more violent weather skipped the immediate Top O' Texas area again.

The entire Panhandle had been under another severe weather alert yesterday afternoon and more isolated thundershowers are in stock for this evening.

More tornadoes, flash flooding, heavy hail, 70-mile-an-hour winds and slashing rain dealt West Texas a sledgehammer blow again Thursday. Pecos got the brunt of the violent springtime weather.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said conditions were ripe for more turbulence today. A 350-mile-long strip from Midland to the Panhandle was under a severe thunderstorm alert until 7 a. m. Thursday.

New Officers Of Evening Lions Club Are Installed

Bill Rutledge was installed as president and Boss Lion of the Pampa Evening Lions Club at the annual installation and Ladies Night banquet held in Poole's Steak House last night.

Installing officer for the evening was Ralph Randall, Panhandle, past district governor and International Lions Director.

Other officers of the club installed last night were Bill Steger, first vice - president; George Massie, second vice - president; Ronald Merrill, secretary - treasurer; L. S. Riley, lion tamer; and Odie Calcote and Walter Parker, two-year directors.

Gene Lewis, outgoing Boss Lion, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. Lewis announced to the group that the Evening Lions Club for the third year had 100 per cent participation in the Kerrville Crippled Children's program.

Following the dinner, B. G. Gordon, chairman of the program committee, introduced the Four Cards who sang several musical selections. Jean Holtman, high school vocalist, also entertained with several musical numbers.

Gordon received the key membership award for his outstanding service to the club during the past year. The presentation was made by Lewis.

John Lock, club member, presented outgoing president Lewis, with a gift certificate and the past president pin.

Wives of the club members were special guests for the evening and each one present was presented a gift from the club.

Officers installed will take over their duties July 1.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Standard & Poor's say stock prices are now down to levels "offering tempting values," but it seems advisable to proceed cautiously with new buying until the market shows signs of stabilizing.

In its weekly publication "Outlook" S&P says until such stability appears, investors should "review portfolios for possible advantageous switches."

Recent firming of the gasoline price structure in the U.S. suggests to the Value Line Investment Survey that 1962's poorest oil company results have been seen and that earnings will improve substantially in the months ahead.

Spear & Staff's latest study of 100 representative science companies shows that for the first quarter sales in the aggregate were up 11.2 per cent while earnings jumped 51.8 per cent above a year ago. Also, it says, profit margins in the group widened from 3.4 to 4.2 per cent.

NEW YORK — About 93 per cent of the nation's 206,755 service stations are either independently owned or operated by local businessmen, according to Oil Facts.

Vince Johnson Gets Band Award

Vince Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Johnson, 413 Lowrey, was awarded the John Phillip Sousa award for his outstanding performances in the Pampa High School band at the third annual Harvester Band banquet held last night in the high school cafeteria.

The event was sponsored by the Pampa Band Boosters Club, and is held to honor the band members and the director.

Bill Tregoe, director, presented Johnson the award. Johnson, a senior student, is president of the band.

Calvin Whatley, president of the Boosters Club, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and introduced Dan Gollehon, director of the Hereford High School band, who sang several musical selections for the group. Gollehon is a former band director of Pampa Junior High.

Whatley on behalf of the Boosters Club, also presented all of the band directors in the Pampa Independent School system with a gift certificate.

Johnson presented Tregoe with a gift from the band and Mrs. Tregoe was presented a bouquet of roses.

Following the banquet and program a dance was held in the cafeteria, climaxing the evening.

land from Estes, then leased it back to him with purchase rights. Mundt said only five of them regarded it as a "bona fide sale."

IS said they felt it was an improper transfer of cotton allotments and others showed varying understanding of the arrangement.

On Dec. 15, 1961, Mundt said, Agriculture Department General Counsel John C. Bagwell recommended that Estes' cotton allotments be cancelled "and they were cancelled."

But on Jan. 6, 1962, he said, Bagwell was called to the office of Under Secretary Charles S. Murphy. After a meeting there which Estes, his attorney, a senator and a congressman attended, Mundt said the cancellation order was "rescinded pending further study."

Mundt refused to name the lawmakers involved in the conference. He said the subcommittee has not yet learned who actually ordered suspension of the cancellation order.

Several times Thursday, Kennedy referred to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's remarks that the Democrats didn't seem to be pressing the inquiry as hard as they did similar investigations when he was in the White House.

Kennedy recalled that Estes obtained his first grain storage contract under the Eisenhower administration and said it was the Democratic administration which indicted him.

Kennedy said the government has more than two million employees, and outsiders seek to influence their decisions. He noted that large sums of money are involved in rulings by relatively low-paid officials.

"Some succumb—most do not," he said.

Rites Set For Pampan's Mother After Drowning

Rites for Mrs. Pearl Mae Roy, 69, of Clarendon, mother of Mrs. John Wood of Pampa, are planned for 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church in Clarendon with the Rev. Vernon Willard, pastor of the Harrah Methodist Church, Pampa, and the Rev. L. A. Sartin, Baptist pastor of Oklahoma City, Okla., officiating.

Mrs. Roy and her brother, John Murphy, drowned when a cloud-burst of rain set off a flash flood that swept their pickup truck into a torrent outside of Clarendon.

Mrs. Roy was born Nov. 26, 1892, in Dallas County and had been a resident in Donley County since 1908.

In addition to her daughter in Pampa, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Essie Perkins of Justice; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marjorie Roy of Amarillo; three sisters, Mrs. Connie Talley of Clarendon, Mrs. Ruth Tims of Claude, Miss Oma Pierce of Amarillo; one brother, D. H. Purdue of Amarillo; and nine grandchildren.

Her husband, Van Roy, preceded her in death on May 10, 1959. One son, Glen Roy, was killed in military service in 1944.

Interment will be in the Citizens Cemetery in Clarendon under the direction of the Murphy Funeral Home.

Services for Mrs. Roy's brother, John C. Purdue, who died with her in the flash flood, are planned for 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church in Clarendon with the Rev. John Stout, Baptist minister of Altus, Okla., and the Rev. J. L. Williams of Lela Lake Baptist Church, officiating.

Honor Students Banquet Tonight

Ninety-one Pampa High School students will receive special recognition at an academic honor students banquet to be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria.

According to school officials students from the sophomore, junior and senior classes will be honored.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. David Mathis, associate professor of government at West Texas State College, Canyon.

Instructors of the students in the various classes will introduce the top students to the group.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Thought Church Came First

You may have read about a Milwaukee woman, Mary Ellen Benson, who was fined $5 because she did not attend a meeting on Sunday morning.

It was not a church meeting she failed to attend, you can be sure. You can imagine the howls of protest that would ensue if anyone were forced by a court of law to pay a fine for not attending church.

As a matter of fact, Mrs. Benson said she couldn't attend the meeting because she went to church on Sunday mornings.

But the organization that brought the suit said its bylaws provided that any member missing three out of five meetings must be fined.

Mrs. Benson readily admitted that she had missed the meetings.

She said she thought attending church services was more important.

The judge said that was all very worthwhile, going to church, but it looked as though the law was on the other side. It looked as if she would have to pay $5 plus court costs for not attending Sunday morning meetings of the organization to which she belonged.

Probably you already have guessed who would have the nerve to bring a suit of this nature. If you think it would have to be some union, you're right.

Mrs. Benson belongs to the Local 356 (Milwaukee) of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union.

The judge said that past court decisions made it clear the union had the right to assess the fine.

To Be A Good Winner

A real man and a true gentleman is always saddened by his own victory if, in process of obtaining it, he injures anyone. A politician is always elated at his victory, smirks in happiness at the injury he has caused and rejoices in the proof of his power.

Playing Numbers Game Confusing The Parents

Aside from the recent controversy over the use of McGuffey's Eclectic Reader in Twin Lakes, Wis., few things have stirred the world of education so much in the past few years as the so-called "new mathematics."

Billed by its promoters as a revolutionary approach to this difficult and vital subject, and as one effective answer to the scientific challenges of the cold war and space race, the new mathematics has swept through the nation's schools faster than a PTA secretary can read the minutes of the last meeting.

Lately, however, a reaction to this revolution seems to have set in among a number of educators and mathematicians.

It is not "new" mathematics, they say, pointing to one misconception held by the lay public. What is new is the approach to mathematics and the attempt to introduce relatively advanced studies, such as algebra, in the early grades.

This, its proponents believe, will greatly accelerate a student's understanding of the really complex fields. There is no reason why trigonometry should be reserved for the last year of high school or why calculus must wait, in many cases, until college.

While this may be true, critics contend that the new methods present mathematics more or less as an end in itself, like formal logic, unrelated to other scientific areas.

One mathematician, Dr. Walter Leighton of Western Reserve University, strikes at the whole concept behind the pedagogy by saying that "the new material is just plain dull."

Judgments like this, however, are in the realm of personal opinion. It is doubtful whether any method of teaching mathematics could be devised that would make the subject interesting to everyone.

Dr. Leighton explains how the whole thing came about: "A relatively small group of mathematicians received rather large grants of money from a few foundations to study the possible reform of teaching mathematics in this country. All mathematicians agreed that some reform was desirable. These men decided, however, to rewrite the entire curriculum to their own taste and to sell it to school boards across the land. The panic caused by the successful launching of Sputnik gave them precisely the opportunity they required."

Many mathematicians, he says, doubt whether the "new look" will be of any help in the race for space. Indeed, some fear it will be a handicap. The controversy may be similar to that over the "whole word" method of learning to read, which is now in retreat before a resurgence of the phonetic method. One benefit of the "new mathematics," however, is that it has brought many teachers out of their research cloisters to take part in the discussion. Out of it all, it is to be hoped, will emerge the best of two worlds for the country's students — and their confused parents.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

What's expected to be a smack hit among 1962 Christmas toys is a doll called Little Miss Echo. It contains a hidden tape recorder, enabling a little girl to teach her doll to talk — by speaking into a microphone at its neck and playing back the recorded messages. There are 108 cities in the U.S. which are regarded as excellent for the market-testing of new products. Most merchandisers use three different test cities per product for the best results, but some companies invade as many as four to six cities for maximum results. And a test period may be from six or eight months to two years.

Cinematic item in the Boston Traveler: "Debbie Reynolds is planning her future. After she has her baby, she'll do 'Try, Try Again.' . . . Those whose automobiles are equipped with telephones may now have installed a "hands free" instrument, which employs a boom-type microphone and enables a driver to talk while having both hands on the steering wheel.

Today's favorite gag: A young fellow in a low - slung car was zooming along the highway at 85 miles an hour. A motor cop stopped him and growled, "Didn't you see the speed limit back there?" "Sure," replied the speeder. "I thought it said 85 miles an hour."

"Brother," exclaimed the officer, "I'm sure glad I caught you before you turn on to Highway 201."

Whiplash injuries from sudden jerking of the head backward or forward in a car can produce brain disturbances quite comparable to direct blows on the head, research at U. of Minnesota Medical School shows. . . Pioneer: The first novel to be serialized in a publication was Daniel Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe." More than 250 years ago it was printed in installments in a periodical called Heathcote's Intelligencer. . . Observes a cynic: "Success does not consist so much of burning the midnight oil as it does of being awake in the daytime."

Thoughts while shaving: 1. You may include all the nation's illiterates who spell "cat" KAT, and we'll still bet that the three-letter word most often misspelled by Americans — and some of them mighty literate, too — is "lead." So many, many insist on misspelling it, "lead." . . . 2. During President Truman's administration, his press conferences were switched from the White House to the Treaty Room of the Old Executive Building next door. It was explained at the time the move was necessitated by the increase of newsmen. Only now it's disclosed that the reporters were shifted because one of them had dropped a cigarette butt on the rug in the President's office. Mr. Truman was incensed, but managed to restrain his temper. But the boys, in effect, had really been kicked out. . . 3. Wonder do today's young men ever employ the term "my best girl," a designation popular half a century ago? In those days a fellow's "best girl" was one romantic notch below an "only-only" or "steady" girl. The boy was still playing the field, perhaps, but his "best girl" was his No. 1 choice. . . 4. Struggling young authors may be heartened to learn that wise old Goethe, the great German author, once observed, "The most original modern authors are not so because they advance what is new, but simply because they know how to put what they have to say as if it had never been said before."

Country editor speaking: "You are an old timer if you remember when the inventiveness and administrative ability of the American business man wasn't offset the following week by the fact that Russians re - invented it, and the Japanese would make it cheaper."

Christian Economics

WHAT IS AUSTRIAN ECONOMICS?

(Christians) ECONOMICS
Rev. I. E. HOWARD

Students of freedom are indebted to Mr. Frederick Mymeyer for having made available several publications of the Austrian school of economics, the last one being Shorter Classics of Eugene von Bohm-Bawerk. Austrian economics is particularly relevant today because it furnishes a penetrating analysis and devastating answer to Marxism. Austrian economics is also noteworthy for having corrected the errors of the English classical school and for having rescued their deductive method from the cheap skepticism of the German historical school of economics.

The Austrian school was pioneered by Karl Menger of Vienna (1840-1921), expanded by Friedrich von Wieser and brought to a climax by Eugene von Bohm-Bawerk (1851-1914) who had the distinction of not only being a professor of economics, but also Finance Minister of Austria. At present, the leading exponent of this school of economics is Ludwig von Mises at New York University.

The Austrian criticism of government intervention is much needed at this juncture of history, but the heart of the Austrian system is the theory of marginal utility. For the serious student, Shorter Classics of Eugene von Bohm-Bawerk will provide an excellent introduction to both of these aspects of the Austrian school of thought.

In Shorter Classics, Eugene von Bohm - Bawerk applies the theory of marginal utility to several practical problems, including wage determination. Wages in a condition of free and perfect competition, he explains, would be determined by the value of the product which the last, most easily disposable laborer of any given type produces for his employer. His wages cannot go higher, for if they do, the employer would gain no advantage by employing this "last" (marginal) laborer and the employer would prefer to reduce the number of workers by one. Neither could the wages be substantially lower for in that case the worker would produce a substantial surplus gain and there would be a strong incentive to add another worker, or workers, until the margin was reached in which the last worker barely justified his employment. Wages are determined by this margin.

For the modern reader, the effect of labor unions on this major question, Bohm-Bawerk deals with this in Chapter III of Shorter Classics, "Control of Economic Law." He does not dismiss the power of social control by dogmatically affirming economic law. Rather, he spends pages carefully analyzing all the various effects of the power of labor unions and other institutions might have upon economic phenomena and the consequences that could inevitably follow. Most readers will grow weary following this economist through a labyrinth of cause and effects, but the quest is worth the effort. After exploring all possible contingencies, Bohm-Bawerk comes to the carefully considered conclusion that coercion "can never effect anything in contradiction to the economic laws of value, price, and distribution; it must always be in conformity with these; it cannot invalidate them; it can merely confirm and fulfill them."

Labor unions can raise wages by force, but they never raise them permanently without one, or a combination, of three things happening: In the first place, other factors will enter to increase production, usually technological improvement, which will make it possible for fewer workers to produce more and thus keep the higher wage level won by union coercion, but it will make it possible for fewer workers to produce more and thus keep the higher wage level won by union coercion, but it will be at the price of unemployment for other workers. Not that workers will be laid off immediately. They will not be replaced so that eventually a state of equilibrium will be reached with fewer workers producing as much as more workers did formerly, but at the higher scale of wages. Thus, the law of marginal utility will triumph.

The second alternative is for the cost of living to go up so that the higher wage is an illusion. The worker will be working at the same level of earning power that he was formerly, but more money will be passing through his hands. Inflation is a great deceiver. This alternative is one with which we have become all too familiar during the cost - push inflation of post - war America. Again, economic law triumphs over the coercive power of social control.

The third alternative, when some form of social control forces wages above the level justified by economic law, is for the entrepreneur to go out of business. This would have happened to the New Haven railroad had not the government come to its rescue. Other industries have changed their location, which is tantamount to going out of business in the place where continued operation has become economically unsound. When government intervenes with its monopoly on coercion, a new complication is introduced, but economic law is not repealed — as even Russia has discovered. Government intervention can conceal the operation of economic law from the casual observer, but never negate it.

After his careful and extended investigation, Eugene von Bohm-Bawerk concludes that while labor unions can have many effects upon the social situation, such as hastening changes which would have come more slowly, it is impossible for them permanently to raise real wages.

If the truth in this closely reasoned, heavy little book could be communicated to a world that has been dazzled by the errors of Marx, it would prove more revolutionary than Das Kapital. The revolution it would inspire, however, would be in the spirit of 1776, a revolution of free men against increasing bondage to organized labor and to government, but a revolution of ideas not of violence.

SHRIVER'S MUSHROOM

(Chicago Tribune)

Two scarcely encouraging disclosures about the peace corps creep out the other day as the House by a 316-70 vote gave this pet Kennedy project its authority to spend $63,750,000 next fiscal year, against this year's $30,000,000, and to more than double its membership. On behalf of the taxpayers who must pick up the tab for such largess, the Senate should dig into those matters before acting on the peace corps bill.

One disclosure was that the corps, despite peacans to its allegedly "selfless overseas service" sung by administration henchmen, has only 698 volunteers abroad living the simple life and uplifting natives, although its present authorized strength is 2,400. The second is that administrative costs of the organization in Washington are high, and the average salary of corpsmen there is $8,650 a year.

We don't know how many administrators are cluttering up Washington these days, and it might be difficult to find out. Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, has been armed with a "top secret" stamp, courtesy of the White House. But revelations that supervisory expenses are high and that only a fourth of the corpsmen authorized are in the field show the organization has developed into a full fledged bureaucracy in remarkably short time.

This is borne out, too, by the corps' brief history. When Shriver first touted the plan early last year, he estimated its "probable" cost at 4- to 10-million dollars for a year. But by the time his brother-in-law made the pitch for actual funds last May, the amount demanded was $45,000,000, of which $30,000,000 was appropriated. Now it is to be $37.7 million.

To hear Shriver's glowing prose early last year was to gain a picture of a dedicated organization whose every member (except for Shriver) would be residing in happy and almost payless squalor in mud huts from Arabia to Zamboanga, teaching the American way and fighting communism. But soon Shriver was asking Congress to let him hire corps executives at $16,000 to $19,000 a year. And last March he began talking up the idea of sending corpsmen to communist countries, if he could find any which would ask for them.

For final comment on the corps, we find no more fitting words than those voiced a year ago by Rep. John C. Davis, a Georgian and a Democrat. At a House hearing, he told Shriver: "We've seen a great many agencies like yours start on a modest scale. Once they're established, they grow like a mushroom on a warm, foggy night."

REPORTS OWN THEFT

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — An unidentified telephone caller boasted to police Wednesday that he had stolen $25.98 from the city tax office.

Officers learned it was no joke when they found a desk drawer pried open in the tax office in the same building as the Police Department.

A thought for the day: German philosopher Hegel said: "No man is a hero to his valet" is a well-known proverb; I have added, "but not because the former is no hero, but because the latter is a valet."

Pegler Says:

Judge Roy Bean Really Was Law West Of Pecos

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It is doubtful that Judge Roy Bean, the half-literate, mischievous racketeer who was The Law West of the Pecos, ever set foot on the site of the present city of Pecos, Tex., where Billie Sol Estes is accused of flim-flaming the neighboring cotton farmers and poking holes in the legal fabric of the Department of Agriculture in multi - million rackets. There is a sign on a street corner in Pecos directing tourists to a "replica" of Judge Bean's courthouse, but, actually, that edifice stood about 150 miles to the southwest, right smack on the Mexican border. The Pecos River does not run through Pecos, Tex., but runs past the town about a mile to the eastward, hardly visible from the little bridge through the brush and weeds. It is about 20 feet wide and 6 inches deep. Its water seems to have the milky color of limestone as it hurries along.

Judge Bean's courthouse was a rickety, dirty frame house, hardly better than a shack, with a covered porch along the front. It was a saloon with a pool table, a bar and poker facilities, called The Jersey Lily, after Lillie Langtry, the English actress, a beauty of the buxom type who was an acquaintance of the Prince of Wales. Roy Bean named his site, on the Rio Grande, Langtry, Tex. C. L. Sonnichsen, a dogged historian of the Southwest, writes in "The Story of Roy Bean" that Roy never met the object of his distant infatuation, but that she did stop by a few months after his death in 1903.

Roy had been shoving westward at the head of the Southern Pacific as it struggled across the terrible desert, with pauses at Vinegaroon, a hell of tents and shacks, and Eagle's Nest. The country was absolutely inconvertible frontier. He held inquests on corpses at $5 each, he kept his fines and he may have done some shooting man to man, but mostly he won by bluff.

In August, 1882, the Commissioners' Court of Texas duly appointed him Justice of the Peace. Thereafter, by consent of the detachment of Texas Rangers he was acknowledged to be The Law West of the Pecos and so he was until March, 1903. They backed him up in whatever he did. He was better than no law at all.

In view of the current emotional unrest about prizefighting as a sordid activity, Judge Bean's coup in presenting the fight between Bob Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher, the Irish champion, in 1894, presents an ironic comment on the fluctuations of public morals. The Governor of Texas was aflame with indignation and ran the fight out of El Paso. The Governor of Chihuahua took preventive action. The Governor of New Mexico found himself "powerless" so Congressman Tom Catron, in response to a cry of panic from a body of clergy, put a bill through Congress forbidding any "pugilistic encounter between man and man" in any "territory." That drove the fight out of Las Cruces, whose gutters had been awash with gore for many years.

(This was the battleground of Albert Fall, then a Democrat who turned Republican and subsequently became the Monster of the Teapot Dome enormity of the Harding Administration.)

The Governor of Arizona mustered three companies of the State militia to prevent defilement of the sacred soil where it was still legal to shoot Apache women and children pro bono publico, and dead animals stank in the streets of Tucson until the buzzards performed their office. The Tucson Citizen called this military coup "continental tomfoolery" and asked "what difference does it make to anyone?" if the fighters did hurt one another.

But Judge Roy Bean solved it by luring the fight over to Langtry where the men met on a sand-spit in the Rio Grande between the United States and Mexico. Fitzsimmons clipped Maher with a left hook under the chin and knocked him out in the first round. About 1920, I found Maher drowning on a barrel on a dock on the Jersey side of the Hudson River. He was a night watchman. I tried to "interview" him, but he hardly remembered the fight and had no appreciation of his celebrity.

Mr. Sonnichsen writes that "all night and half the next day" the prizefight customers rolled eastward from El Paso. The fare for the round trip was only $12. The sports piled off at Langtry at 3 in the afternoon and Roy sold them hot beer at $1 a bottle and bourbon out of his cask. About 200 scrambled down a cliff to the floor of the Rio Grande Canyon in the Mexican state of Coahuila. There was a canvas wall, but those who remained up the cliff saw the fight free. They included the Texas Rangers who had lost jurisdiction. Anyway, the promoter was Roy Bean and whatever he did was The Law West of the Pecos.

George Siler, of the Chicago Tribune, was an elder statesman and referee of big fights in those days as well as a journalist of stature. He offered each of the fighters a certified check, Fitzsimmons' manager emitted a squawk, but we may never know whether the gladiators were paid off. However, Sonnichsen says Fitz left a burden of debt in El Paso and Maher dishonored some in Las Cruces.

This was reprehensible, to be sure, but what would you expect, considering the immoral nature of the occasion?

The morning stars are Jupiter, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Mercury.

On this day in history: In 1852, Massachusetts became the first state in the Union to pass a statute making school attendance compulsory for children between the ages of eight and 14 years. In 1860, Abraham Lincoln was nominated for President by Republicans meeting in Chicago. In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed into law the Tennessee Valley Authority Act. In 1953, American aviatrix Jacqueline Cochran became the first woman to fly faster than the speed of sound.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Mao Tse-tung, Red China's leader and chief strategist, once wrote:

"When the situation is serious, the guerrillas must move with the fluidity of water and the ease of blowing wind. Their tactics must deceive, tempt and confuse the enemy. They must lead the enemy to believe that they will attack him from the east and north, and they must then strike him from the west and south."

These tactics, outlined by Mao in 1937, may very well be the ones being followed by the Communists in Southeast Asia today.

This would suggest that the Red Chinese and Communist North Viet Nam axis regards Thailand, Laos and South Viet Nam as a single theater of action.

Political boundaries become meaningless from a military point of view in an area of jungle and mountain.

Thus, as the United States steps up its aid to South Viet Nam and the Communists are threatened with a military setback there, they are able to shift their emphasis rapidly to northern Laos, creating a consequent threat to Thailand.

Western observers around the perimeter of Red China say the lightning capture of Nam Tha by Communist Pathet Lao forces is a prestige victory for Peiping over Moscow.

The Red Chinese oppose Moscow's peaceful coexistence policy and have no liking for any understanding between Russia and the United States, especially if it concerns what they call a "national liberation movement."

Their basic contention has been that "the victory goes to those who fight the imperialists, not to those who negotiate with them."

They will use the capture of Nam Tha as proof of the validity of their position.

The Asian Communist parties have shown great attention to significant anniversaries.

For six months the Communists had been threatening Nam Tha and it therefore may be significant that they chose last week for their attack.

Scouts Will Converge On WT Campus

CANYON — More than 1,200 Explorer Scouts from West Texas, New Mexico, and parts of Arizona will converge on the West Texas State College campus June 1-3 for the 1952 Explorer-Olympics.

Participating in competitive events, primarily athletics, during the three days will be Explorers from the Councils of the west range of Region Nine.

These include Adobe Walls, Pampa; Buffalo Trails, Midland; Conquistador, Roswell, N. M.; Llano Estacado, Amarillo; Kit Carson, Albuquerque; South Plains, Lubbock; and Yucca, El Paso. A number of Explorers from the Navajo Reservation in Arizona will also participate.

Visiting Scouts will register June 1, with competition in 14 individual and team events started all day June 2. A variety show is scheduled at night June 2, and devotional services and presentation of awards slated June 3.

Events include archery, auto mechanics, "road-e-o", basketball, chess, 440 relay, extemporaneous speech, tennis, 120-yard low hurdles table tennis, rifle jump, and aquatics.

Pampa Student Is Guest At TMA's Annual Convention

Ray Wagner, sophomore at Pampa High School and winner of the Panhandle Regional Science Fair, attended the 1962 Annual Session of the Texas Medical Association in Austin this week.

Ray won the award in the biological sciences division and members of the Panhandle District Medical Society sponsored his trip to the giant medical program. Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, TMA's newly-installed Vice-President, escorted Ray to the meetings and through the 181 technical and scientific exhibits.

The meeting attracted a record attendance of over 3,500.

Prominent Theologian Offers No Novel Or Modern Interpretations Of Christianity

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Dr. Karl Barth of Basel, Switzerland, is a short, stooped man of 76. He peers at the world through thick eye glasses, and usually wears a small, quizzical smile. He has been a dominant figure in Protestant theology for the past 40 years, and scholars today refer to him matter-of-factly as the greatest theologian of this century and one of the greatest of all time.

Dr. Barth has been in the United States for the past month. It is his first visit to this country. He delivered a series of lectures at the University of Chicago, and a similar series at Princeton Theological Seminary. This week he was in Washington, D.C., for seminars at George Washington University and American University.

In these talks, Dr. Barth has sought to summarize and clarify the main themes of the "evangelical theology" which he has expounded in more than 200 books. Some laymen who have heard him speak have come away wondering, "What's so new about that?"

The question would delight Dr. Barth. His purpose has never been to offer novel, modern interpretations of Christianity. What he has sought to do — and in great measure, has succeeded in doing — is to rescue theology from the by-ways of 19th Century liberalism and bring it back to the broad high road of the Gospel.

Where liberalism tended to focus on human experience, and to reason upward from man, nature and history toward a concept of God, Dr. Barth took exactly the opposite approach. He began where the prophets of ancient Israel began, with the Supreme Fact of a creating and sustaining God who is "wholly other" than man, who entirely transcends man's finite cosmos of time and space, and who can never be apprehended or understood by His human creatures except as He chooses to reveal Himself to them.

It is both presumptuous and futile, Dr. Barth said, for men to speculate about what God "ought" to be like, or in what manner he "should" reveal himself. Man can only listen for God's own "Word" or self-expression. This "Word" requires no external validation; it authenticates itself because the God who speaks it is also present in human hearts, enabling men to respond in faith and love to truths which they could never reach with the short arms of logic.

Much confusion about Dr. Barth's theology might be avoided by noting that he uses the term, "Word of God," in the same sense that it is used in the prologue to the Fourth Gospel — namely, to connote the self-revealing activity of God in history.

Dr. Barth believes that this "Word of God" is faithfully recorded in the Bible, and his vigorous insistence on this point has given a mighty impetus to the modern revival of Biblical theology. But he is not a fundamentalist, and he has never subscribed to the fundamentalist view that the Bible itself is the literal and infallible word of God.

To Dr. Barth, as to Martin Luther, the Bible's supreme importance stems from its testimony to Jesus Christ, "the Word made flesh."

Dr. Barth's theology is totally Christ-centered. In a sense, all of his books are commentaries on the basic fact that the transcendent, unknowable God has condescended to men by "taking up humanity" in Christ, thus bridging the gulf between Creator and creature which could never have been crossed from the other side.

He sharply disagrees with theologians such as Germany's Rudolph Bultmann who hold that there are "mythological" elements in the New Testament. Barthian theology strongly affirms that the life, death and bodily resurrection of Christ were real events "in time and space."

At the same time, Dr. Barth rejects any attempt to "prove" the historicity of the Resurrection. The methods of historical science, he says, cannot go beyond the testimony of the "witnesses" which is recorded in the New Testament.

"It was granted to them," says Dr. Barth, "to hear the Word of God in its glory, as a pledge, promise, warning and consolation affecting all men." And they were sent into the world with a commission "to attest Jesus as this Word of God to all men."

Men are free to accept their testimony, or to reject it, says Dr. Barth. But it is sheer arrogance for any modern theologian to treat the Biblical witnesses "as though he were better informed about the Word of God than they were."

"Even the smallest, the strangest, the simplest, the obscurest among them has an incomparable advantage over even the most pious, scholarly and sagacious later theologian," he says, "for these witnesses experienced a 'direct confrontation' with God which is unique in human history. But modern man need not rely on blind trust in the Biblical witnesses to accept the good news they proclaimed. The same Holy Spirit which enabled the first Apostles to see and understand the risen Christ still dwells 'not only among men, but in them,' and by the enlightening power of his action, Christians of the 20th Century can be as certain as those of the First Century that "God was in Christ, reconciling the world to Himself."

Although Karl Barth has an encyclopedic knowledge of modern thought, and is recognized even among non-Christian philosophers as one of the towering intellects of this or any other age, he has shown an increasing disposition over the years to avoid technical jargon in expressing his profound insights.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martin Gilbert of an Alstyne, Noel & Co. says it seems to him that the rallying movement in the stock market will continue.

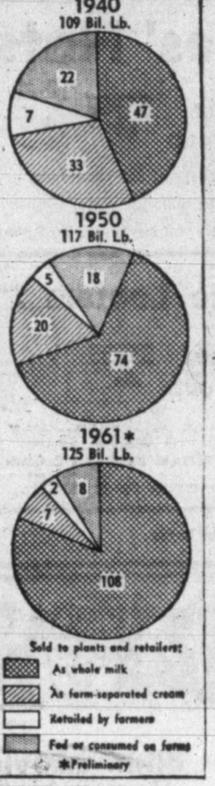

After the type of selling climax witnessed in the market on Monday "it is not unusual for the list to make up anywhere from 1-3 to 2-3 of its losses," he notes.

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says there is definitely more mutual fund interest in the market now on the buy side, plus some scattered institutional buying. Most of the buying though "has not been, and is still not aggressive" from these sources, he adds.

Walter Maynard and W. I. La Tourette of Shearson, Hammill & Co. conclude that although stocks may no longer be propelled by fears of inflation "we are inclined to avoid extremes of pessimism at this juncture and would, in fact, use such opportunities to purchase issues of growing companies which are selling at reasonable price-earnings ratios and issues which provide good yields."

In fundamentals, says investment survey, price-earnings ratios, which everyone realizes were high, have now been sharply reduced and the lure of value should soon come into play.

Disposition of Milk Produced on Farms

MILKSHAKE — Wholesale marketing of whole milk from farms rose 130 per cent from 1941 to 1961, U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. In the same period, total milk production increased from 109 to 125 billion pounds. Milk retained by farmers continued to decline; use of milk on farms was less than half that in '40 and '50.

The Lighter Side
On Editing Woman's Magazine

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the world's most hazardous professions is editing a woman's magazine.

The brave fellows who accept this dangerous assignment are thrown into a fierce circulation struggle in which their survival depends to a large extent on feminine whims.

Consequently, their job security rating falls somewhere between kamikaze pilots and politicians.

During the Magazine Publishers Association meeting here this week, I chanced to have a chat with a chap who occupies one of these perilous posts as the editor of Redbook.

His name is Robert Stein and he is somewhat unusual in that his magazine has been increasing its circulation recently. Being skilled at posing questions which might not occur to the average reporter, I asked him how he accounted for his success.

Stein replied that he works on the assumption that a lot of women are getting tired of trying to live up to the image of American womanhood as reflected in the other magazines.

"The composite magazine housewife is on a diet but keeps on cooking rich desserts," he said. "She handles her children as if she were a practicing psychologist."

"She dresses like a fashion plate even though she makes her own clothes. If she has unexpected dinner guests, she goes to the freezer and pulls out a casserole fit for a gourmet."

"She tries at least one different hairdo a week, usually changing colors. She advises the school principal about the latest educational theories, keeps her friends informed about President Kennedy's foreign policy and coaches her husband on how to get ahead in his job."

"She fixes the family auto with a hairpin and never needs an obstetrician, pediatrician or gynecologist except to confirm her own diagnosis."

"Then, when she gets the children off to school, she goes back to being a research physicist or discovers a cure for the common cold."

Stein said he felt there would be a market for a magazine which told women that "you don't have to do all of that."

"We never publish 10 easy rules for doing anything," he said.

His magazine also has adopted a sort of anti-togetherness theme. The latest issue has an article suggesting that marriages might work better if husbands and wives quit confiding in each other.

Intrigued by his dissertation, I asked Stein what originally caused him to steer away from the typical woman's magazine woman.

"It's simple," he said. "I figured that if there were such a woman, I surely would hate to be married to her."

Santa Fe Has 'Speed Title' Among Trains
By HENRY D. RENNWALD
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI)—Speed honors for the fastest passenger train run in the United States during 1961 go to the Santa Fe, according to the annual speed survey conducted by Trains magazine.

For the second year in a row, the Super Chief took the speed prize with a speed of 82.1 miles per hour covering 99.9 miles between Garden City, Kan., and Lamar, Colo., in 73 minutes. This is an excellent run, at speed, considering the super normally carries 15 or more cars and there is a constant grade, Lamar being 780 feet higher than Garden City.

The Santa Fe also took second place with a run of 81.3 miles per hour between Gallup, N. M., and Winslow, Ariz., made by Train 7, the fast mail-express.

In the survey, Santa Fe operates 226 runs daily for a total mileage of 14,757 at speeds of 65 miles an hour or more. In the 80 mile an hour field, the only competition the road gets is from the Illinois Central, which runs two trains a total of 89 miles daily in the upper bracket.

The IC took third place in the speed derby by running the Panama Limited and the all-coach City of New Orleans at a rate of 81.1 miles per hour on the 44.6 mile stretch between Champaign and Mattoon, Ill. The City of New Orleans just missed the 80 mile goal when it hit 79.8 on the 40 mile track between Effingham and Centralia, Ill.

Nearest competitor to the Santa Fe for over-all fast runs is the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. The Burlington has 215 individual runs covering 11,536 miles daily at 65 miles an hour or faster — but none in the charmed 80-mile circle.

The survey included a top U.S. freight speed for the New York Central's Super Van - 6, which clips off 120.5 miles from East St. Louis to Mattoon, Ill., at 60 miles per hour.

The Southern Pacific's Blue Streak merchandise freight runs 121.4 miles between Yuma, Ariz., and Indio, Calif., at 58.2 miles per hour. On the east-end of this same run, the Texas and New Orleans hauls the Blue Streak from Corsicana to Hearne, Tex., 89.5 miles at 59.7 miles per hour — faster than many passenger runs of not too long ago.

Next Year's First And Seventh Grade Students Topic For Houston Meeting

Sam Houston PTA met at 2 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium for the final meeting of the current school year.

J. M. Gilpatrick of the Central Church of Christ gave the devotion.

Mrs. Kenneth Royle was named winner of the door prize; a cake baked by Mrs. W. R. Tucker.

Mrs. DeFever's first grade room was winner of the room count for having the most parents present at the meeting.

Mrs. Essie Mae Walters, Robert E. Lee Junior High counselor, spoke to the mothers, who will have children entering junior high next year. She included in her remarks that "junior high years were the 'not quite' years; not quite children and yet not quite adults."

Miss Judy Neslage, first grade teacher, spoke to the mothers, who will have children entering the first grade at Sam Houston in September. Miss Neslage said "preparation for school begins

Dear Abby...

This Guy Has A Sob Story

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If you want to do your readers a big favor, please print my story: I quit a wonderful job and flew to Reno, Nevada, to divorce my wife. I set up a six weeks' residency thinking that was all I needed. My wife flew to Reno to contest the divorce. I had to pay for her first class jet fare and all her expenses. I have spent up in the thousands and still no divorce. Tell those who think it is easy to get a divorce in Reno to save their money and stay home unless they have an agreement before they go.

J. J. DEAR J. J.: Your story chokes me up. If more married people would spend as much money, time and energy on making their marriages work, as they do on trying to dissolve them, we could turn our divorce courts into bowling alleys.

DEAR ABBY: Your 'OLD MAID' is asleep on her rights. There IS a National Old Maid's Day. It was founded in 1948 by Miss Marion Richards of Norristown, Pa. The official date is June 4th. The purpose of establishing Old Maid's Day was not to get "loot," as your correspondent suggested, but to honor less fortunate and unappreciated old maids. For instance, last year I entertained a group of maiden ladies from the County Home for dinner.

Sincerely,
MISS M. W.

DEAR MISS M. W.: Lovely. Does anyone know if there's a Bachelor's Day? If so, perhaps these two groups could get together and entertain each other.

DEAR ABBY: Who said there ought to be a special day set aside to honor "old maids"? There are TWO such days. One is "Independence Day" and the other is "Thanksgiving." Sign me—
OLD MAID

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column from a little boy, who couldn't understand why God didn't answer his prayers when he prayed so hard, reminded me of this wonderful story:

Tommy, a church-going, 7-year-old, told his playmate that he had been praying all year for a bicycle for Christmas. Christmas came and went and little Tommy did not receive the bicycle. His playmate asked, "Where is that bicycle you prayed for all year, Tommy? You told me that God answers all our prayers." Tommy thought a moment and then replied, "He answered mine. He said NO!"

Vitamins' Theme For Travis PTA

New officers for the Travis PTA were installed in a "Vitamins" ceremony conducted by Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer on Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

New officers are: Mmes. Bill Martin, president; W. E. Combs, vice president; N. C. Erwin, secretary; Wayne Brown, treasurer; Lucian Young, historian; John Gentry, parliamentarian; Bob Allen and W. C. Wallace, City Council representatives.

Following the presentation of the president's pin and gavel by Mrs. Gentry to Mrs. Martin, chairmen were named for the ensuing unit year. Mrs. Martin announced a meeting for May 17 at 9 a.m. for outgoing and current officers.

The afternoon's meeting opened with a flag ceremony given by Brownie Troop 210 with Mrs. Jack Parker giving the invocation.

Wendell Altmiller, school principal, extended a welcome to members and guests.

The Travis School Band, under the direction of Joe DiCosimo, who is also director of the Robert E. Lee Junior High Band, presented a selection of band music.

Reports were given by Mrs. N. C. Erwin, secretary; by Mrs. Foster White, treasurer; Mrs. John Cundith, City Council representative.

Announcement was made of the Leadership Procedure Course, which was held Tuesday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in Travis.

Mrs. Young gave the Historian's report, which consisted of a summary of 1961-62 Travis unit activities.

Door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. John Truby, was won by Mrs. Wayne Burlison.

Room Count was won by Mrs. B. B. Nutt's first grade room.

Mrs. Cundith presented Mrs. Gentry a past president's pin and a gift of appreciation for her service to the unit as president.

Refreshments were served at a tea honoring new officers.

Mrs. Cooper's Pupils In Spring Program

Piano students of Mrs. W. M. Cooper will be presented in recital at three o'clock afternoon in the First Christian Church.

The program will feature classic and modern compositions. In addition to piano solos, there will be several two-piano numbers.

Students participating will be Linda Cooper, Mary Lou Copeland, Judy Fugate, Betsy Goodwyn, Carletta Johnson, Terri Laminack, Cecile Moore, Cynthia Moore, Cynthia Morgan, Sondra McNaughton, Nan Nichols, Jan Osborne, Scott Osborne, Nita Paden, Carrie Beth Rogers, Brenda Wilson and Lynda Wilson.

Cardinals Down Giants; Yanks Smash Red Sox

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Former Globetrotter Bob Gibson has become the "stopper" of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff because he's discovered a "new pitch."

It's called a strike.

The 6-, 190-pound right-hander struck out 166 batters last season but had only a 13-12 record largely because he led the National League with 119 walks. He's shed the "wild man" role this year, however, with his strikeouts outnumbering his walks, 46-17, and his won-lost record improving in corresponding fashion to 5-2.

But what's more important to the Cardinals, is the fact that Gibson has been the "stopper" of three-game losing streaks!

Gibson turned in the most important victory of his big league career Thursday when he beat Billy O'Dell and the San Francisco Giants, 1-0, with a six-hit, two-walk, 10-strikeout performance. The victory snapped both the Cardinals' three-game losing streak and the Giants' four-game winning streak.

The Cardinals scored the game's only run in the ninth inning on Red Schoendienst's single, pinch-runner Julian Javier's stolen base error and Charlie James' infield hit. It was only the Giants' third loss of the season in San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

The Los Angeles Dodgers crept to within three games of the first-place Giants with a 5-4 victory over the Houston Colts, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Cininnati Reds, 9-6, and the Milwaukee Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2, in other NL games.

In the American League's only games, the New York Yankees shaded the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, and the Baltimore Orioles scored a 6-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Wally Moon's bases-filled single in the bottom of the 10th gave the Dodgers their dramatic victory after they rallied for four ninth-inning runs to tie the score at 4-4. Houston's Jim Golden had held the Dodgers to two hits until the ninth when Moon's two-run double was the key blow of the game - tying rally. Ed Roebuck, who pitched the last two innings for the Dodgers, gained credit for his second win.

The Phillies ended their five-game losing streak and the Reds' six-game winning streak with a nine-hit attack featuring homers by Ted Savage, Sam White and Don Demeter. Cal McLish yielded 12 hits and two walks in eight innings but won his fourth in a row for the Phillies.

The Braves routed Bob Friend with seven runs in the first inning and went on to beat the Pirates behind the eight-hit pitching of Bob Shaw. Howie Bedel's triple and Roy McMillan's double were the key blows of the Braves' big first inning.

Mickey Mantle walked, stole second and continued to third on a throwing error to score on Elston Howard's sacrifice fly and give the Yankees' Marshall Bridges the triumph. Gene Conley blanked the Yankees for seven innings and yielded only five hits—three by rookie first baseman Joe Pepitone—but lost his third decision of the season.

The Orioles "bombed" rookie no-hit ace Bo Belinsky for six runs in 2-2-3 innings to hand the Los Angeles morning glory his first defeat after five victories. Homers by John Powell and Jackie Brandt paced the Orioles' attack.

Collins Leading Action In Hot Springs Open

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—Bill Collins, whose even-under-par 65 is leading going into today's second round of the $20,000 Hot Springs Open, said his game is starting to jell again.

And if confidence is what Collins needs, this is a good place for him to get it. He has won almost as much money here the last two years ($3,432) as he has won so far in 12 tournaments this year ($3,545).

He won here in 1960 on the way to his best year, and in 1961 finished with a last-day 14, the best round of the tournament, for ninth place.

Collins has averaged 71 in three tournaments here.

After Thursday's string of birdies, including six on the last seven holes, he said he began playing well at the Colonial last week and feels he has found himself again.

His play has been so bad that Collins has finished in the top ten only once this season.

His 34-31-65 put him a stroke ahead of 1960 British Open champion Kel Nagle of Sydney, Australia, who had a 31-35-66. Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., and Buster Cupit of Fort Smith, Ark., each had 67s.

Forty of the 89 entered broke par, with six firing 68s and eight players each shooting 69 and 70. Fourteen more have 71.

Futures, Exes Will Battle In Grid Contest At 7:30

Rain or shine, grid fans will get a chance to preview the 1962 edition of the Fighting Harvesters Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. when the Futures tangle with the Exes in the high school stadium.

It will also mark the first appearance of new head coach Otis Holladay, who is taking over the reins of the Pampa gridmen for the first time this year.

The Futures, with Kenny Hebert calling the shots at quarterback, have looked real good in practice and appear to have plenty of depth to give the Exes a run for their money.

Helping Hebert with the offensive chores will be Jerry Glover, supplying the power at the fullback slot with Hickey Stewart at wingback and Travis Tucker at tailback. Glover, Stewart and Tucker will see double duty with the grid crew Saturday as defensive stalwarts, also.

The seniors' offensively will counter with Butch Crossland at quarterback, Mike Stewart at fullback and Robbie Roberson and Riley Walters at the halfback slots.

Damp weather has failed to mar the enthusiasm of the boys in practice for the past couple of weeks.

For the Exes, coached by Weldon Trice, on the line will be Corky Godfrey at right end; John

In the backfield for the seniors will be Butch Crossland at quarterback; Mike Stewart, fullback; Robbie Roberson, left halfback and Riley Walters, right halfback. Gerald Been will substitute for the seniors.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Cinder Stars In Relays

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Milers Peter Snell of New Zealand and Daryl Burleson of the University of Oregon top an entry list that includes a half-dozen world and American record-holders tonight in the 22nd Coliseum Relays.

Snell set the world mark of 3:54.4 at Wanganui, N. Z., last Jan. 27 and Burleson has the American record of 3:57.6, causing sponsors to bill their event as a "miracle mile."

Another mile entrant is Jim Grelle of the Los Angeles Track Club who has a best time of 3:59.9.

The mile, however, is only one of five events where world marks may be approached or topped. The classy competition was expected to draw a crowd of about 5,000, according to the sponsors.

Softball Meet Slated Tonight

A softball organizational meeting will be held tonight at 6 p.m. in the office of the chamber of commerce.

All people interested in organizing softball teams for the coming year are invited to attend.

Jaycee Cinder Meet Will Start Saturday

Pee Wee and Junior division events in the first annual Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior Champ project will get underway Saturday morning starting at 8 a.m. at the high school cinder track with 307 entrants.

The Prep and Senior division events will be held the following Saturday, May 26 at the high school track. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. May 25.

The Junior champ program is a part of the Jaycees Youth and Sports program devoted to the physical, mental, spiritual, emotional and social development of American youth.

The program will be open to all boys from 8 - 17 years of age and will be broken down into four age divisions: Pee Wee division is 10 years and under; Junior division is 11-13 years old; Prep division is 14 - 15 and Senior division is 16 - 17 years old.

Age determined as of January 1, 1962.

Contestants will be limited to three events and ribbons will be awarded first, second, third and fourth place winners.

Events Saturday

Preakness Race Could Be Close

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The 86th running of the $188,300 Preakness Stakes Saturday shapes up as a three-horse race among Jaipur, Decidedly and Ridan.

However, the owners and trainers of the eight other entries today offered logical explanations for giving their colts a crack at the second of the Triple Crown classics.

The outsider in the field is a colt named Flying Johnnie, generously listed in the program line at 30-1 but who will probably go off at 100-1.

"A horse like that should not be in the race," said Horatio Luro who trains Decidedly, the Kentucky Derby winner, for the El Peco Ranch of George A. Pope.

"A classic should have dignity, and unless you think your horse can finish one-two-three you should not start him," the Argentinian claimed.

Grid Club Will Meet Saturday

But Paul Hampshire, owner of the Jopa Stable along with his father, John H., and brother, John D., believes Flying Johnnie has a chance to be in the money.

"Flying Johnnie is not too fast out of the gate but he has shown some speed at the end and we think he deserves a shot at the best," Hampshire said.

"Besides, Maryland and Baltimore should be represented in the race," added the man whose firm put in all the tile, glass and plaster in Pimlico's new $1.2 million clubhouse.

Also listed at 30-1 is Prego. At 30-1 is Green Hornet. Vimv Ridge and Greek Money are 15-1.

Sunrise County, Crimson Satan and Roman Line offer more solid credentials than the other outsiders.

City Golf Meet Slated June 16

Entries in the annual city golf tournament may now start signing up for the links meet to be held June 16 at the Pampa country club.

Hart Warren, local golf pro, said the tournament would be 54 hole medal play in all flights.

Entry fee is $5 each.

Rotary also took the measure of Hoover, winning 10-5 in a Thursday night game.

Allen Jenkins gained the win for Rotary while Braley was the losing pitcher. Davis finished the game up for Jenkins from the second inning on.

Rev. Upshaw Completes Fifth Year

Rev. T. O. Upshaw, pastor of Central Baptist Church, East Francis at Starkweather, will observe his fifth anniversary with the church next Sunday. He came to the pastorate of the church from First Baptist Church, Lefors, on the third Sunday of May, 1947.

During this five-year period, approximately 1,650 persons have presented themselves for membership in the church. Total membership has grown from 1,290 to approximately 1,550. A major addition to the facilities of the church was the erection of an educational building in 1948 housing 21 departments for children from birth through twelve years of age.

For his sermon topic in both the 8:45 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday, Rev. Upshaw has selected "Balm of Gilead." The church choir, under the direction of Hugh Sanders, will sing "Seek Ye The Lord" by Roberts. In the evening worship at 7:30 p.m. he will speak on the subject "Life's Greatest Decision."

Sunday school for all ages will begin at 9:45 and training union will begin at 6:30.

REV. DONALD C. HAUCK
... New Pampa Minister

New Pastor Is Named For Presbyterians

Rev. Donald C. Hauck, Bartlesville, Okla., recently assumed the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Hauck, a native of Valley City, Ohio, is a graduate of Whitenburg University, Springfield, Ohio, and was graduated in 1960 from Princeton Theological Seminary. He was assistant pastor of the Bartlesville, Okla., Presbyterian Church in that city before moving to Pampa.

Rev. Hauck and his wife and two children will be making their residence in Pampa soon.

The 11 a.m. Sunday worship service will be entitled "Living Stones." Rev. Hauck will fill the pulpit during the sermon.

A reception honoring the Hauck family will be held in the church fellowship hall from 4:40 to 6 p.m. Sunday. Members of the church and friends are invited to attend.

Dedication Day Is Scheduled At First Methodist

Sunday will be one of the high points of the church year at First Methodist Church when the members and friends of the Church observe dedication day.

This year this special day will be the climax of an Educational Stewardship Campaign under the leadership and direction of Aubrey Steele and carried on through the Sunday School classes.

The enthusiastic activity of the classes has created an atmosphere of expectancy as they look forward to this Sunday. The eleven Adult Classes and the Senior High School Department have been organized into six working committees as the plans have been carried out.

"The Thrill of Tradition" will be the topic of the sermon for the two morning services. At the 10:00 a.m. service, an old fashioned hymn sing will be featured and a consecration service will close the activities of the day.

Sunday evening fellowship will begin at 6 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of planned activities according to interest and needs. The Adult Bible Study will be held in the Friendship classroom.

Area Man Is Delegate To Church Meet

Dr. Floyd S. Ulrich of 210 S. Williston, White Deer, elder of White Deer Presbyterian Church, is serving as a commissioner (voting delegate) at the 174th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, meeting in Denver which opened Thursday in Denver, Colo., and runs through May 24.

At the assembly, the highest governing body of the church, Dr. Ulrich is one of 988 commissioners who will consider the policies, program and finance of the 3.2-million member denomination.

During the eight-day assembly, the commissioners will consider a report of a special committee appointed by the 173d General Assembly to study the relationship between Church and State from the Reformed viewpoint. The report will deal with such matters as religious observances in public schools, provision of public funds to private schools, censorship by public or private organizations, and the exemption of ministerial candidates from military service.

Among other matters to be considered will be recommendations relating to the use of alcoholic beverages by church members, responsible marriage and parenthood, and provision of a new translation of the Apostles' Creed.

NEW YORK — The world's tallest distillation tower — as tall as a 27-story building — has been erected at a California refinery, according to Oil Facts. It will produce orthoxylenes, used in plastics and high-quality paints.

Revival Will Start Sunday

W. C. Wade, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, Denver City, will be the evangelist in a revival meeting beginning in the Bethel Assembly of God Church, Hamilton at Worrell, Sunday evening.

Rev. Wade will also be showing color slides taken while on a recent tour of the Holy Land.

The revival beginning Sunday night will continue through Sunday, May 27. Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m.

Paul F. Bryant, pastor, will be preaching in the morning worship service Sunday. His sermon subject will be "A Vital Force In The Church."

Sunday school is set for 9:45 a.m. and the young people's service will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend these services.

Titov 'Didn't See God' In Space

Religion In America
By LOUIS CASSELS
The great English essayist, G. K. Chesterton, who became a Christian late in life, once remarked that he owed his conversion to atheists.

The more he studied the arguments by which atheists sought to disprove the existence of God, Chesterton said, the more he felt that they had a pretty flimsy case. As a result, he said, "there arose in my mind the first wild doubts of doubt."

Russian cosmonaut Gherman Titov recently gave Americans an excellent demonstration of what Chesterton was talking about.

While visiting the Seattle World's Fair, Titov got into a discussion of religion. "I don't believe in God," he said. That statement was not surprising, since Titov is a dedicated young Communist, and the non-existence of God is one of the prime articles of Communist faith.

Then Titov added, as if that clinched the case, that he had looked all around for God while he was orbiting the earth in his space capsule, and "I didn't find anyone there."

Anyone who thinks Titov was joking should note that Moscow Radio has been belaboring the same point, in great earnestness, for several months. The fact that Soviet cosmonauts didn't see God during their trips through space has become the chief theme of Communist anti-religious propaganda.

Intelligent Christians may be inclined to dismiss this whole argument as too ludicrous for discussion. But it ought to be taken seriously, because it sheds a good deal of light on the reason why disbelief is so prevalent in the world today, not only among Communists, but also among sincere and upright citizens of America and other free nations.

The reason is succinctly stated by J. B. Phillips in his superb book, "Your God Is Too Small," published by the Macmillan Co. and currently available in a Macmillan paperback ($1.10).

"The trouble with many people today is that they have not found a god big enough for modern needs," says Phillips. "While their experience of life has grown in a score of directions, and their mental horizons have been expanded to the point of bewilderment by world events and by scientific discoveries, their ideas of God have remained largely static. It is obviously impossible for an adult to worship the conception of God that exists in the mind of a child of Sunday-school age, unless he is prepared to deny his own experience of life."

In his remarks at Seattle, Titov made clear that his conception of God—and even an atheist must have some conception of what he is rejecting—is extremely primitive. He has apparently never been exposed to any idea of God more adult than the picture of a grey-bearded patriarch sitting on a cloud in a geographical heaven somewhere in the sky.

Phillips lists a number of somewhat more sophisticated—but in the long run, equally inadequate conceptions of God which "still linger unconsciously in many minds," including the minds of some professing Christians. They range from the terrifying notion that God is a sort of hanging judge who spends his time recording human sins, to the bleak conviction that he is a remote "managing director" of the universe who could not possibly be concerned with the trivial affairs of creatures on one insignificant planet.

One of the most urgent tasks of the church in our day, Phillips believes, is to hold up for skeptics and half-hearted believers an authentic Christian concept of God who is at once the Ground of all being, the Creator and Sustainer of the whole vast universe which man is beginning feebly to explore, the Author of the incredibly complex laws which science is seeking dimly to understand, the Source of all truth, beauty and purpose—and who is yet, at the same time, so close to each of his human children, so full of loving kindness toward them, even in their waywardness, that the One who knew Him best could think of no human term which described Him better than "father."

The convinced atheist may find this concept of God incredible, too. But it is surely better for men to reject—or accept—a mature idea of God than to argue pointlessly over childish caricatures.

Highland Baptist Activities For Sunday Reported

Sunday School at the Highland Baptist Church begins at 9:45 a.m. with the teachers teaching the subject, "The Coming Day of the Lord."

The Sunday School hour is followed by the Morning Worship Service, beginning at 11 a.m., at which time Rev. Allison will read Luke 15:17-24, and preach on the subject, "The Five R's of Real Repentance."

Training Union begins at 6:30 p.m. and the topic for discussion is that of "When Both Parents Work." This will be followed by the Evening Worship Service at 7:30 p.m. with the sermon, "Are You Going God's Way?" Rev. Allison will read the scripture as found in Psalms 37:1-13.

During both services both the Junior and Senior Chords will be in their regular places under the direction of Rev. Roy Harper, minister of music, assisted by Mrs. Donald Stafford and Mrs. Ann Wineheart at the piano.

At the Evening Prayer Service which convenes at 7:15 p.m. Wed. May 23, Rev. Allison will begin a three-part discussion, "The Church Looks at Three Essentials of Life" as found in 1 Corinthians 10:1-33 with the subject, "The Sameness of Salvation," 1 Corinthians 10:1-14.

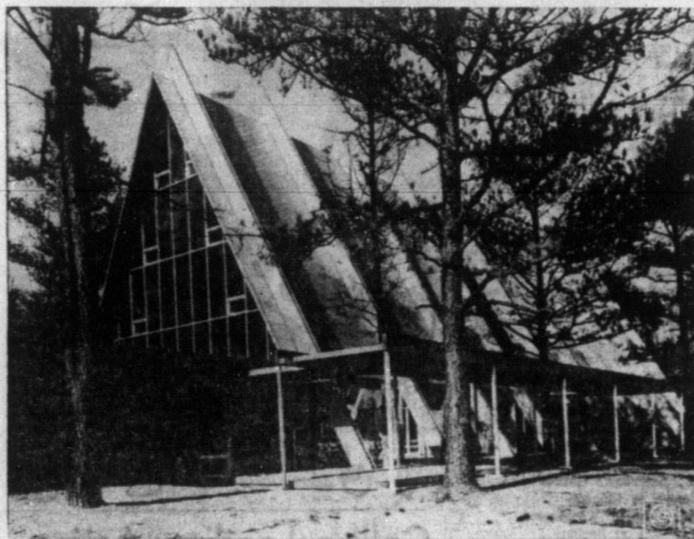

Sunday Services Are Outlined At First Baptist

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will speak from the subject, "A Monument To God," for the 11 o'clock morning worship service Sunday.

Joe Whitten will direct the Church Choir in singing an anthem, "Guide Us Through The Night" by Williams. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Sunday Morning" by Trusselle for the organ offertory.

For the Sunday evening service, a program has been planned by Jacq Parker, Joe Whitten, and John Zinn. Parker will bring the message in the beginning of the service of worship and the service will be concluded with Joe Whitten singing the "Holy City" and John Zinn presenting the picture of the "Holy City" in chalk under lights. Miss Lane will play, "Shore of Galilee" by Lorenz for the offertory.

A thought for the day: Spanish author Cervantes said: "The exploits of rash men are to be attributed rather to good fortune than to courage."

TRIUMPHANT TRIANGLES—A series of simple equilateral triangles forms the inspiring theme for this modern Pilgrim Congregational Church in Birmingham, Ala. The massive triangles, 54 feet high, support a corrugated sheet steel roof which is coated with bright blue plastic. Huge expanses of glass fill the ends of the 308-foot-long church.

Rev. Adsit Gives Sermon Topics

"Why Do People Go To Church?" will be the morning sermon to be presented by Rev. Glyn B. Adsit at the morning worship service at the First Christian Church, 10:50 a.m. Sunday.

The evening sermon will be "Heating For Paralysis" based on the miracles of Jesus. The new organ, provided by an anonymous donor, will be used for the first time in the morning worship service.

Youth meetings begin at 5:30 p.m. for Intermediates, and 6 p.m. for High School. The Church announces that its Daily Vacation Church School will be conducted June 5-8, and 12-15.

Christian Science Services Outlined

Mankind's motives are purified and faith strengthened through a better understanding of the spiritual nature of God and man. This will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals."

Selections to be read from the King James version of the Bible will include this verse from Romans (12:2): "And be not conformed to this world; but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (p. 263): "then mortal man blends his thoughts of existence with the spiritual and works only as God works, he will no longer grope in the dark and cling to earth because he has not tasted heaven."

REV. J. B. CALDWELL
HI-LAND PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS CHURCH
18th & BANKS ST.

The Day Of The Lord Cometh
It Is Nigh At Hand. Matt. 24-38

"The times" of Restoration are marked by the return of our Lord Jesus Christ. "He shall send Jesus Christ, whom the Heavens must (retain) until the time of the restoration. Everything we look at today speaks of the coming again of Jesus." We are told that "Unto them that look for Him shall He appear the Second time." Heb. 9-28. We are nowhere exhorted to look for "the Antichrist," or for the tribulation at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. "Take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting (or overindulgence) and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man. Luke 21: 34-36.

Many are awakening to the fact that they have been caught in the vortex of sacrilegious high pressure and religious activities which have caused God's spiritual heavens to be as brass. They like Zechariah, now hear a voice stirring them and awakening them as a man is awakened out of a sleep. (Zech: 4-1) They have heeded Joel's admonition (Joel: 2-12), have turned to God in repentance, have rent their hearts with fastings. Therefore also now, saith the Lord, turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, and rent your heart and not your garment, and turn unto Lord your God! For he is gracious and merciful slow to anger, and of great kindness and repenteth Him of the evil! (Joel 2: 12-13)

DIG THESE KRAZY PRICES

Coca-Cola 3c | Ham Sandwich 9c | Popcorn 9c

WE CALL IT LEVINE'S MAY MADNESS AND JUST HOW MAD CAN YOU GET, WHEN LEVINE'S HAS THE CRAZIEST PRICES IN TOWN!! READ THIS CAREFULLY . . . WE HAVE GONE COMPLETELY OFF OUR ROCKER FOR THIS ONE DAY ONLY . . . THE VALUES ARE EVEN CRAZIER THAN THE PRICES . . . QUANTITIES ARE LIMITED . . . SIZES BUSTED . . . ODDS AND ENDS . . . AND PLEASE, NO MAIL OR PHONE ORDERS. CHARGE • CASH • LAYAWAY OR 30 DAY CHARGE, NOBODY SELLS FOR LESS THAN LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . .

AND AWAY WE GO . . . first item we offer are these ladies' HANDBAGS at 19c - with 2 zippers you can separate your junk. We have some GUEST TOWELS fit only for a mother-in-law at 33c, and in-law THROW RUGS at 33c. WHITE PILLOW CASES at 17c are guaranteed to fall apart, and there is a large assortment of HOUSEHOLD PLASTIC WARE at 48c each. Our slightly leaky GARDEN HOSE is only 99c, and we have one group of TWO TRANSISTOR RADIOS, as is, at $2.00 each, for those with radar hearing. If you have a Narcissus complex (look that up in Freud), there are CERAMIC HAND MIRRORS for 75c, and a conglomeration of '45 RPM RECORDS at 6c each for your crazy, mixed up teen ager. For the bride-to-be or was, a 15 PIECE ALUMINUM SET is only $7.87, and why use paper cups when you can get 12 DECORATOR GLASSES for 93c. Decorate your outside with a 3 PIECE BATHMAT SET at 96c, and CHICKEN FEATHER PILLOWS at 87c are a sure come-on for insomnia. Frustrate those peeping toms - cover your windows with CAFE SETS INCLUDING TIERS AND VALANCE, for only 94c. JUMBO SIZE THROW RUGS, all nylon, atrocious black are only $1.74 and LINOLEUM RUG RUNNERS at 77c are perfect for the would-be trackman at your house. Bouncy FOAM RUBBER BED PILLOWS are $1.97, and THROW PILLOWS are only 77c. Our odds-and-ends buyer (we have one, believe it or not) went slightly crazy also, and so we are now offering assorted SILVERWARE at 7c each, PAINT BRUSHES for 57c, CERAMICS, only slightly chipped, at 24c, and DOUBLE BOILERS, SAUCE POTS, FRENCH FRYERS and VEGETABLE PANS (try cooking instead of thawing for a change) at only 77c each. Old FASHIONED GLASSES are 4 for 77c, and one bilious shade of PERCALE PILLOW CASES are now

2 for 44c . . . Start concentrating now on your little angels, and their exterior decorations, because where else but at LEVINE'S will you find GIRL'S SOX at 6c, GIRLS' BLOUSES at 44c, and scratchy CAN-CANS at 77c, with GIRLS' SHORTS designed to flatter their scrawny legs at only 34c a pair. Outfit your pride and joy in these GIRLS' DRESSES (ugh) at 47c, and for the squalling monster in your home we have ONE DOZEN DIAPERS at 97c. DIAPER SETS for 84c, and DIAPER PAILS for 77c . . . For the offspring of the opposite sex there are BOYS' 10 oz. JEANS at 76c SPORT SHIRTS at 68c, SWEAT SHIRTS at 77c, and DRESS WHITE SHIRTS (slightly soiled) at 74c. BOYS' BRIEFS, (and how) are only 18c, WHITE GYM SHORTS are 77c and WHITE CREW SOX are only 23c pair. For the would-be range rider we have BOYS' DENIM COWBOY BELTS at 5c, COTTON SOX only 4 for 44c, and COTTON PANTS at $1.23. PLAY SHORTS are only 49c, and slightly stronger DENIM BOXER JEANS are 57c. Just to keep you occupied, MORPUL SOX at 6c EACH - MATE YOUR OWN . . .

LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . .

If Easter Sunday had come about two months later, we wouldn't have had to carry over so many SRING DRESSES, now only $2.00. Drape your glamorous legs in NYLON HOSE for 19c a pair, and drape your glamorous you-know-what, in PEDAL PUSHERS at 77c. COTTON SLIPS are only 87c, and cotton and rayon SLIPS, GOWNS AND BABY DOLL PAJAMAS are likewise 87c. What nature has forgotten we stuff with cotton, and so PADDED BRAS are only 47c today. LADIES' LOVELY BLOUSES are yours for 87c, DUSTERS for 94c, and capricious CAPRIS are only 99c. We might, just possibly, have rain this year, so prepare with a RAINCOAT at 97c. For those who can, there are CAN-CANS at $1.53, FORMAL DRESSES at $10.00, and one group of LADIES' BLOUSES, slightly rumpled, at 50c. HEAD SCARVES to cover the grey matters are only 10c each, and to be slightly fancier we have LADIES' HATS at 97c, with NYLON STRETCH GLOVES at 66c . . . OUR SUBTERRANEAN BASEMENT is featuring 40" WIDTH MUSLIN LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . at 12c a yard, NOTIONS AND JUNK at 2 for 5c., LACES at 5c a yard, and sticking ZIP-PERS at 5c each. FABRICS good for only you know what are 13c a yard, and we have another group of these FABRICS at 26c. Snaggy SCISSORS are 59c today, perfect for use on our PATTERNS at 1c each. Skimpy Skirt LENGTHS are 87c revealing NYLON NET in rainbow colors is only 19c a yard, and SHREDED FOAM goes for 47c. SPORT FABRICS are 43c, and COTTON JERSEY KNITS, for that clinging look, are 74c a yard only . . .

LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . . LEVINE'S . . .

MEN, we haven't forgotten you! If you're brave enough to wear them, we have MEN'S SPORT COATS for $3.00 and MEN'S SUITS at the same ridiculous price of $3.00. For the man with an outside interest there are MEN'S HOBBY JEANS at $1.97, some tacky STRAW HATS for 10c each, DRESS PANTS at $3.94, and MEN'S KNIT SHIRTS at 39c. Men of Distinction, here's a buy in a group of SPORT SHIRTS at 89c, BRIEFS, T SHIRTS AND ATHLETIC SHIRTS at 27c each, SHORT SLEEVE WHITE DRESS SHIRTS at 2 for $3.00, and BANLON SOX at only 37c a pair. For that whistled-at look, there are MEN'S SPORT COATS at $15.00, MEN'S 2-PANT SUITS for only $26.00, and some snazzy BOW TIES for 10c each. To complete that Beau Brummel look, buy several of our WATCH BAND and CUFF LINK SETS at 59c each, and JEWELRY SETS at the same crazy price . . . Some of us don't have any rich uncles and have to work for a livin' g, and for these unfortunate individuals we are offering COTTON WORK SHIRTS at $1.55, KHAKI WORK PANTS at $1.93, WORK SOX at 14c, BLUE CHAMBREY SHIRTS at 88c and COTTON WORK GLOVES at 10c. The crowning touch (get the pun?) are STRAW CAPS at 12c each . . . Have to leave town in a hurry? Don't do it until you've seen our TRAIN CASES for $1.97, 3 PIECE LUGGAGE SETS at $9.97, and your choice of ONE GROUP ASSORTED LUGGAGE at $4.44 each . . . DON'T WORRY, we haven't forgotten the underpinnings of the nation! For the LADIES, there are INDIAN MOCASINS at 39c, TENNIS OXFORDS at 24c, and THONGS for women and children at 27c. We also have one group of LADIES' HEELS (not the live kind) at $2.00 a pair, LADIES' FLATS at 97c, and LADIES' MOC AND TENNIS SHOES and CHILDREN'S PLASTIC SANDALS at 97c, your choice. Thrown in with all this junk are GIRL'S TERRY SLIDES at 74c, LADIES PIXIES at 54c, GIRLS' SADDLE SHOES at $1.57, and CHILDREN'S TENNIS SHOES at 77c. MEN'S DECK OXFORDS are only $1.84. MEN'S DRESS SHOES are just $4.00 a pair.

YOU'VE WORKED UP AN APPETITE OVER THESE OUTLANDISH PRICES, DON'T DESPAIR! YOU WILL BE ABLE TO QUENCH YOUR THIRST ALL DAY WITH COKE AT 3c, HAM SANDWICHES AT 9c, AND POPCORN TO SATISFY THAT SWEET TOOTH AT ONLY 9c A BOX. TAKE A HO-LIDAY FROM THE KITCHEN AND DINE AT LEVINE'S ON CRAZY DAY ONLY!!

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back stairs at the White House: President Kennedy has developed a new form of speech composition which raises hob with the correspondents attempting to chronicle his words, but adds immeasurably to the freshness and verve of his talk.
Instead of preparing an advance text and adhering to it in actual delivery, he has long been known for virtually abandoning carefully written prose and veering off extemporaneously.
Now, he's beginning to abandon even prepared "excerpts." What he likes to do is this:
Prepare extensive, typed notes on a number of subjects that may appeal to him. Then, at the actual affair, usually a dinner, he listens to the speakers before him and scribbles industriously as ideas strike him while others are talking.
Thus, when Kennedy rises to speak, his content is minutes-fresh and his topical references are tailored adroitly to the audience before him.
He seems to be becoming increasingly facile at playing off on the remarks of others. Some of the best professional comedians in show business—Bob Hope, Joey Bishop, Danny Thomas and Elliott Reed, to name a few—have seen this trait put to effective use.

In each case, the comedian appeared in a show for the President at a banquet and Kennedy spoke at the end of the evening. And in each case, he ripped off a string of toppers that had the professionals envious and their writers nervous.
He uses topical materials, sometimes truly inside local matters, to effective advantage. Speaking in Milwaukee the other night, he fished from his pile of papers a penned note dating back to his 1960 campaign in Wisconsin.
In effect, it was a promissory note by Kennedy to visit the village of Mukwonago. It seems candidate Kennedy in 1960 was invited to the village. He sent the chief officer of the town, William Herring, a written promise. In the note, the President explained he could not accept the village invitation to speak because he had to address a steelworkers meeting in Pittsburgh, but would go to Mukwonago at a later date.
"I hate to think how many of these are distributed all over Wisconsin," the President said, "and I am going to have to go. You may have to give me several years, but I will go."
En route to Milwaukee last weekend to address a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, the President planned and had prepared an advance text of his speech. But then he decided to drop the documentary approach and speak entirely from notes.
"In this way," a friend told him, "you don't have to get your speech cleared by the Pentagon."
He smiled broadly at the banquet head table and returned to scribbling notes to himself, minutes before he spoke.
