City And County Law Officers Anticipating Quiet New Year's Eve.

City and County law enforcement officers are expecting one of the quietest New Year's Eves in history in Pampa and Gray County.

1962 Economic Outlook Bright In Pampa Area

Pampa businessmen are looking to the bright side of the economic picture for 1962 as they close their books on the year ending at midnight tonight.

A year-end survey brought to light these facts: Business was good in 1961. Pampa enjoys a much better economic position than many other Texas cities of similar size.

Although the oil industry has taken a slack-off with the rest of the nation, the Panhandle and Top O' Texas field operations are in as good a position as any in Texas.

This is due to a trend to water flooding, a method fast coming into use to revitalize old producing wells, and to the development of new areas east and north of Pampa.

Cattlemen and wheat farmers, too, are optimistic in their outlook for 1962.

C. E. Vincent, rancher near Lefors and one of the Panhandle's long-time cattlemen, expressed optimism.

The outlook for the cattle business in the coming year is exceptionally good," Vincent said. He stated that 1961 had been a good year.

Here in Pampa, E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, said there are a number of things expected to develop in 1962 for the good of Pampa and the area.

"The Chamber of Commerce is planning to make an intensive drive for industrial development," Wedgeworth said. "We already are laying the plans and the chamber's industrial committee is giving industrial growth top priority on the chamber's program for the year."

The Industrial Committee of the chamber will be headed this year by Floyd Watson.

Watson indicated Saturday that the committee will go to work immediately on what Wedgeworth labeled "the chamber's main objective for the coming year."

Building Permits Total $2,452,163

Building permits in Pampa during 1961 totaled $2,452,163, according to O. E. Payne, city building inspector.

This compares with a total of $3,773,134 in 1960.

Payne said the drop-off was due to a slowdown in home construction. Last year a total of $2,322,000 went into new home construction. New home construction, this year totaled $894,765.

Construction of new business places in 1961 showed an increase over 1960. The figure for this year was $765,605 against $545,539 last year.

Miscellaneous building permits were issued in the sum of $399,474.

New Year's Celebrants Start Early

(Compiled From United Press International Reports)

New Year's whoopee-makers got an early start Saturday night, throngs of them celebrating the end of the old year and the coming of the new a little early.

Blue laws which prohibit Sunday drinking prompted the Saturday night galling over the nation. It was the night for New Year's eve parties in much of New England, the District of Columbia, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Tennessee, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio and other states.

In some areas local officials extended the Sunday closing hours but by and large, they showed little sympathy for saloon owners yearning for New Year's eve profits or for holiday drinkers.

The situation was about the same in Texas. In Texas there was a wave of automobile and fire deaths which pushed the state's violent death toll to at least 151 persons dead. Most of the deaths came in traffic accidents which accounted for 65.

On a national scale the holiday traffic toll for the New Year period only was running at the slowest pace of any New Year's weekend in history, according to the National Safety Council.

The national holiday death breakdown:

- Traffic 47, Fires 13, Miscellaneous 2, Total 62

A single holiday tragedy dominated the death count and put Oklahoma at the top of the casualty list with 10 fatalities. A few hours after the holiday's start, two cars crashed in flames on a highway near Cordell, Okla., and eight persons, five of them children, died.

Elsewhere, there were seven traffic deaths in California, six in New York State and four in Virginia.

Fires ranked as a major holiday menace. Near Orinda, Calif., fire and an explosion killed a man, his wife, and their two small sons. Three children burned to death when fire broke out in an apartment house at Dallas.

New Year's had not been regarded as a major traffic killer. In a pre-holiday estimate, the council had said the death count could be expected to reach 330, compared to the 300 normal for a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

Fort In County Commission Race

L. P. Fort, now serving as city commissioner in Pampa Pct. 4, announced Saturday he will be a candidate for county commissioner in Pct. 2.

Fort, a staunch conservative, said he will file his candidacy later, subject to the May primary election.

G. L. Lunsford, present commissioner in Pct. 2, has not yet announced whether he will be a candidate for re-election.

In announcing his candidacy Saturday night, Fort issued the following statement: "It will be my aim to see that my county precinct is operated efficiently and economically, since taxes already are too high. As I have done as a city commissioner, I will continue to resist any federal encroachment into county affairs."

"Every county road will have due attention with all possible influence exerted to see that better roads are built in this vicinity. "I will not sit in a commission meeting that is not open to the public, including newspaper and radio representatives."

"I would continue to serve as a city commissioner until after election day."

Reds Warned West Ready To Defend Berlin Rights

Rusk Declares U.S. Policy On Issue Is Clear

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Setting the tone for new talks with the Soviets, Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned Russia Saturday it would be a "dangerous illusion" to think the West will not fight to preserve its vital interests in Berlin.

The secretary said in a major speech to the American Historical Association meeting here that a Soviet misunderstanding of this basic fact could lead to a nuclear war.

President Kennedy and other Western leaders, he declared, have decided that the "vital interests and commitments in West Berlin, crucial to our own security, must be defended at whatever cost."

That decision "remains the basis on which we intend to explore the possibilities of a peaceful resolution of the Berlin crisis," he said. "If peace depends on clarity, the other side must not be allowed any dangerous illusion."

He said "this clarity is the basis of an assurance to our own and other peoples that the possibilities of patient diplomacy will be exhausted to insure that vital interests are protected and that the other side will not be permitted to make a fatal mistake."

The next stage of this patient diplomacy will get underway shortly — possibly next week — when U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson starts a new sounding out of Russia's Berlin intentions.

Apparently taking note of Thompson's mission, Rusk put U.S. policy in this light: "We regard it as essential that our negotiators — wherever they may sit — work with measured confidence, knowing that behind them there exist well balanced, flexible, and highly mobile military strength and a government and people prepared to use that strength if vital interests are threatened."

There are several paths to nuclear war, Rusk said. It could happen if one side or

Pampa's Traffic Record Cited By National Council

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Safety Council cited the Panhandle town of Pampa Tex., Saturday as having the best traffic safety record in the nation.

"We're not saying Pampa is the safest town in the nation," Council spokesman John Naibitt said. "But we are saying it is the safest in this class in that it has the largest number of registered vehicles with no fatalities reported so far this year."

"There are many other cities in the 10 to 25,000 class without fatalities," Naibitt said, "and there are many larger cities without fatalities. But the drivers in Pampa are doing fine, we hope they keep it up."

Naibitt said that in the Pampa classification, Manhattan, Kan., and Renton, Wash. were the second and third safest towns. Both had reported no fatalities so far this year, he said, but both had a lesser number of registered vehicles.

State Solons Meet Wednesday

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas legislature will convene in special session Wednesday under pressure from a group of lawmakers to defy Gov. Price Daniel by adjourning opening day.

Daniel called the 30-day session for the controversial purpose of enacting a law to permit the state to claim dormant bank accounts.

Lawmakers will also consider small loan regulations, farm road financing and possibly other topics if Daniel decides to expand the scope of the session.

Chief agitators for immediate adjournment are Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas and Rep. Charles Bailman of Borger.

Parkhouse said the session is politics rather than necessity, adding, "I can't see spending between $250,000 and $500,000 in political funds for the governor."

The session means lawmakers will start 1962 just as they began 1961—working under tension on state problems. The regular session of the 57th Legislature convened last Jan. 10.

When lawmakers return to the capitol, they will find two big changes: —For the first time in a decade Bm Ramsey will not be presiding over the Senate as lieutenant governor. He vacated the seat to accept Daniel's appointment to a vacancy on the Railroad Commission.

—Two Republicans will take their seats as members of the House. The first GOP members to crash that chamber in 10 years are George Korkmas of Texas City and Kenneth Kohler of Amarillo. Senators will have to elect a "mole" between the first and last letters. Adv. There's another thing about

Business Looks Good, U.S. Economists Say

By EDWARD COWAN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Business is going up.

That's the unanimous forecast for 1962 by government economists.

They expect the economy to chalk up new records for production, profits, income and employment. There is, however, some disagreement over how high the new peaks are likely to be.

Continuation in 1962 of the broadly based business expansion which began in the spring of 1961 is expected finally to haul unemployment below 6 per cent of the labor force. It persisted at about 6 3/4 per cent through 1961 — to the dismay of the Kennedy Administration.

Yet, with the business upswing expected to lose speed in the second half of 1962, prospects are dim that the jobless rate will fall below 5 1/2 per cent — no less approach the Administration's 4 per cent target.

Prices, which were fairly stable in 1961, may begin to move up some months from now as production approaches capacity. Economists are hopeful that rising productivity and moderate wage settlements will temper price rises and prevent any widespread, large advance.

Interest rates also are expected to go higher, although not sharply. As business and use of credit expand, some rise in borrowing costs is inevitable, say Federal Reserve officials.

The big questions in the 1962 business outlook are: What happens to the economy as production approaches capacity? Can it continue to expand at a brisk clip, boosting incomes for a growing population and creating jobs for 1.2 million new members of the labor force? Or is a slowdown inevitable?

The experts agree that it is harder for any economy to expand when it is close to full use of resources than when it is coming out of a recession with lots of idle men and machines. This explains the projected slowdown in the rate of rise in the second half of 1962.

Almost everyone says the key to expansion after mid-year is business spending for expansion and modernization of factories, refineries, warehouses, shipping offices, packaging plants, etc.

Government officials are hopeful that as unused capacity shrinks and costs start edging up, businessmen will decide to expand and replace existing equipment with newer, more efficient models. Lines in which such investment is considered more likely are cement, paper and paperboard, machinery, food processing, glass containers and possibly steel.

As for the consumer, despite talk about his holding back, Commerce Department aides say he has been shelling out his money about as fast as ever. That is, consumer spending has been rising in step with personal income. However, consumers have been plunking down a bigger proportion of their dollars for services and correspondingly less for goods.

Autos, where consumer demand shifts most from year to year, look exceptionally good for 1962. Industry sources are talking about sales of 7 million cars. Production of new cars has been high since September. Government officials wonder whether it can be expected to increase and give further lift to the economy in 1962.

Autos are a major reason steel-makers anticipate a good year in 1962. The steel industry expects to do better in the first half of the year, as steel users lay in extra inventory to hedge against a possible steel strike at mid-year. Production is expected to hit 105 — 110 million ingot tons, compared with 97.5 million tons in 1961.

Sometime after it signs a new contract with the United Steel workers union, the industry is expected to raise steel prices. How much may depend on the contract and on how heavily the Administration leans on both sides.

Prospects also are bright for home building. Government officials predict up to 1.5 million housing starts, as against 1.3 million in 1961. While 1.5 million is somewhat optimistic, it is said that anything much over 1.4 million would mean good business for most builders.

Construction in general is headed for a new record of $60.25 billion, according to the Commerce Department. Gains are projected for nearly every category, from motels to churches to public utilities.

How high will all this push the economy? President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers guesses gross national product will climb to $570 billion for the year, up almost a full 10 per cent from 1961's estimated $520 billion.

That is the most optimistic forecast around. The Commerce Department sights the gross national product at about $560 billion. Some business economists see it closer to $555 billion. All emphasize that even the lower figures spell a good business year.

Rep. McIlhany Asks Reelection To Legislature

State Rep. Grainger McIlhany announced this week he would be a candidate for reelection subject to the action of the Democratic Primary. His district, the 87th, is made up of Gray, Collingsworth, and Wheeler Counties.

Rep. McIlhany is 43, married, a graduate of the University of Texas with degrees in law and business, and is a veteran of World War II. He is the owner of a small department store in Wheeler and is a stock farmer.

McIlhany has represented the 87th District in Austin for the past seven terms and is now second in seniority in the entire House membership. He is chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and is vice-chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments. He is a member of the COMPLETES TRAINING — Private William R. Morris, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Free, 203 E. Tuke, is visiting friends and relatives in Pampa after completing nine weeks of basic Army training at Ft. Carson, Colo. Morris will be stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga., for Military Police schooling upon returning to duty.

Government will contribute little to the upswing, according to Budget experts. They figure that by spring federal tax accruals will be running higher than federal buying of goods and services. That should have a restraining effect.

On the other hand, the economy is getting some snap from the increase in spending for military equipment and space flight. By next summer, however, much of the build-up in defense spending may have been accomplished, so that further lift would be small.

Federal tax experts figure the upsurge in economic activity should lift before a tax corporate profits to $56 or $57 billion, a new high far above the record of $46.3 billion set in 1959. Personal income may jump about $30 billion to a 1962 peak of $445 billion. These two should produce nearly $93 billion of federal tax revenues, enough for higher federal spending next year without a deficit. That, anyway, is the White House's plan.

A. BRUNS, Pastor

HE WHICH TESTIFIETH THESE THINGS SAITH, SURELY, I COME QUICKLY. AMEN. EVEN SO, COME, LORD JESUS.

The year of grace 1961 again is drawing to a close. In a few more hours we will bid farewell to the dying year with all its joys and sorrows, its hopes and disappointments, its fortunes and failures. We commend the past to the mercy of God as we seek help for the future. The end of the year reminds of the impending end of our own life, of the world itself and the day of Judgement. Sober thoughts must course through our minds in this time of the year. Only fools will spend these hours in heedless carousal. Christians will be found in God's House seeking His presence, and on their knees imploring His grace — Uppermost in our mind and heart as we bid farewell is one prayer: "COME LORD JESUS." During these past weeks we have witnessed and experined His coming into the world and into our hearts. — And so as time hastens on relentlessly to the end of the year and our life, and of the world, we face the prospect with joy and hope. We lift up our hearts to Him and pray: "COME LORD JESUS." Come and take away our sins! Come and bid our sorrows cease! Come and still our restless hearts! Come and silence all our fears! Come and take Thy people home! With this prayer on our lips we enter into the New Year courageously, knowing that whatever the New Year has in store for us, will be well. For "All things work for good to them that love God." Rom. 8:28.

WHO...

... is Pampa's "friendliest and most courteous" woman employee?

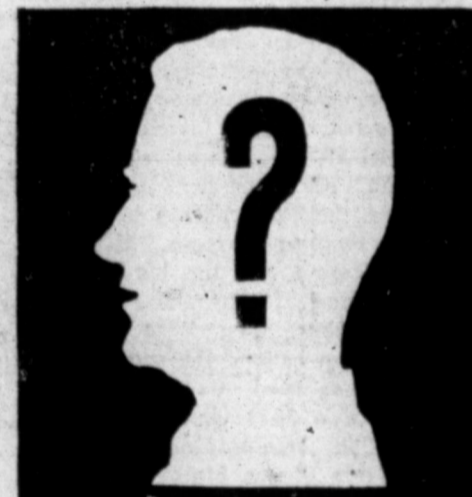

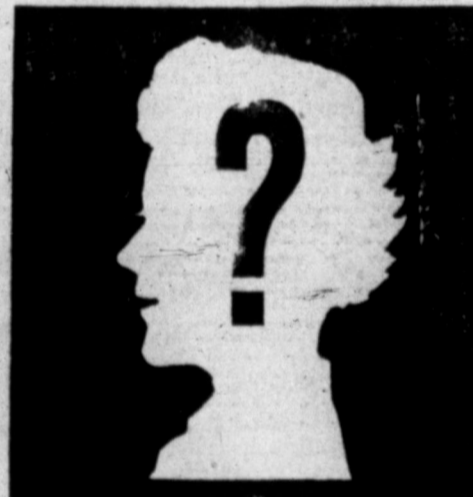

... is Pampa's "friendliest and most courteous" man employee?

"Friendliest -- Most Courteous" Employee Awards

It's "up to you": you are the ones to answer the above two questions . . . to decide the fifty-two honored employees at Pampa's places of business. It would be difficult to select two "harder-to-answer" questions in this city of really friendly and courteous employees — Pampa IS "The City of Hospitality". And, we can be justly proud of our employees!

WHO IS SHE?

WHO IS HE?

$50 CASH

$50 CASH

And Framed Award
To . . . HIM!!

YOU, THE CUSTOMERS, DECIDE

Yes, you are "the judge and the jury" in determining the winners of their honor awards of customer contact. You and your votes "will tell" the FIFTY-TWO honored employees of Pampa: first place — women's division, and twenty-five honorable mentions; first place — men's division, and twenty-five honorable mentions. You are repeatedly served "by her" and "by him". So, it's fitting for you and your votes to decide the winners of the "Friendliest, Most Courteous" Employee Awards.

Cast your first vote today. Vote repeatedly for your favorites among Pampa's friendly and courteous employees.

'Southern Dreams'

Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club presented its twelve pledges from the 1961 rush season at a formal presentation ball held Tuesday evening in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

The background for the ball was formed in a "Southern Dreams" setting with a Weeping Willow Tree shading southern belle dressed in a white and green ruffled dress and holding a bouquet of red roses. The tree and figure were enclosed with a white picket fence extending the length of the stage and entwined with red, pink, yellow and white roses.

Each pledge was admitted through a garden gate by Mitch Falkenstein and seated in a garden swing, entwined with roses, where she was introduced by the Kit Kat Klub president, Miss Sandra Whelchel, with a charming jingle describing the pledge. Escorts of the pledges walked down a white carpeted aisle and presented their dates with a white umbrella and a white Bible, which had been inscribed with the new member's name. The pledge gifts were handed to the escorts by Mary and Janie Price.

Above the "southern garden" setting, inscribed in red satin dimensional letters were the words "Southern Dreams."

As the pledges were introduced by Miss Whelchel, the orchestra, directed by Bill Tregoe, softly played "Stars Fell On Alabama" in the background.

Miss Linda Andis, KKK Best Pledge for 1960, presented this year's Best Pledge, Miss Sharon Haight, with a dozen red roses. Pledges, a description of the gowns they wore, their escorts and the jingle used to introduce them were:

Miss Sharon Haight, escorted by Duane Sanders, and wearing a white net strapless formal designed with a ruffled tiered skirt and bodice was introduced with the traditional Best Pledge poem: "Dear Sharon, your torture is over; You're free as the breeze; You don't have to bird-dog, nor walk on your knees; You have passed the test; Congratulations, Best Pledge, Now lean back and rest; You've had much competition from the others 'tis true; But we could only select one, so, my dear, it is you."

Miss Pat Collett, escorted by Gale Martin, wore an Ice Blue floor-length formal of chiffon over tulle and was introduced: "Pat is friendly and sweet; Tall, pleasing, willowy, charm complete; Who could be more sophisticated and chic?"

Miss Carol Enloe escorted by Lloyd Harvey, wore a floor-length gown of white net designed with a bouffant skirt and a tulle-draped bodice. She was introduced with "Gold and radiant is her hair; Her smile is sheer delight; With winning ways and charm to spare, she is a fair and lovely sight."

Miss Karen Warner, escorted by John Tripplehorn, wore a formal gown of white tulle over taffeta accented with rosettes on the bouffant skirt. She was introduced with "Twinkly eyes, pleasing smile; A gladsome personality, shimmering all the while; A face that beams with rays from above, looking with all with admiration and love."

Miss Kerrick Warner, escorted by Charles Reed, wore a pale formal with the bouffant skirt of tulle accented with rose nosegays. Her introduction was "Bright as a new minted penny; That's our sweet, lovable Kerrick; Friendly, agreeable, the favorite of all; She is as precious as a China Doll."

Miss Helen Reed, escorted by Vernon Mangle, wore a floor-length white lace gown designed with black lace bodice over taffeta and a black lace panels extending down the sides of the skirt. Her introduction was "Sincere, trustworthy, lovable and true; Splendid, shing and attractive, too; That's Helen Reed, a

Miss LaNita Fenton, escorted by Butch Frazier, wore a formal gown of lavender with multi-tiers of tiny ruffles encircling the skirt and bodice. A white rose centered in a bustle formed back interest. "A most pleasant personality; And so much fun to know; A smile that beams and a heart that sings; LaNita imparts a shimmering glow."

Miss Tinsley Becomes Bride Of Jerry R. King

Mrs. Jerry Ross King
...nee Mary Elaine Tinsley

Miss Mary Elaine Tinsley became the bride of Jerry Ross King with wedding vows solemnized on December 28 at eight o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Curtis Lee of White Deer officiating.

Miss Tinsley is the daughter of Rosemary Tinsley, 1035 Fisher. Mr. King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. King, 314 N. Cuyler. Double-ring vows were repeated beneath an arch of salal leaves centered with white and silver bells and accented with pink gladioli and white mums flanked by palms and candelabra.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has worked for the government for almost four years and I have never set foot in his office. I have never even met his boss or seen any of the people he works with.

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law (he is married to my sister) has a young brother that I like a lot. But he won't date me because he thinks we are "related."

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to refuse, without being rude, an invitation to be best man at a wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Your friend obviously feels "closer" to you than you feel to him, but if you would feel "out of pace," simply thank him for the honor and decline.

DEAR ABBY: Your husband is next to being the biggest fool in the world. But if you let him get away with it — you're the biggest.

DEAR ABBY: Are things rugged? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and don't forget a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

sheath complemented with Crystal and pearl accessories, white silk hat with pearl trim and white gloves. Her corsage was of Pink Aristocrat roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social room. The bride's table was appointed with an arrangement of pink gladioli, white chrysanthemums, white carnations in a silver epergne flanked with pink tapers and white and silver bells.

Miss Joyce Doggett and Miss Nancy Jones presided at the cake and punch service.

Miss Sue Barnett was guest registrar at a table appointed with an arrangement of pink snapdragons and pink carnations in a silver bowl nested in pink maline.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. King was honored with bridal courtesies given by college friends in Knapp Hall, Texas Tech, with Misses Kay Carpenter and Geanne Gandy as hostesses.

Miss Becky Walsh, escorted by Bryan Prigmore, wore a yellow nylon tulle over yellow taffeta formal with ruffled tiers on the skirt and bodice.

Miss Betty Brown, escorted by Darrell Doss, was gowned in turquoise tulle with a brocade bodice held by slender straps and was introduced "Vivacious, exciting, radiant alive; Joy and happiness from her we derive; Refreshing, beaming as a new morning sun; That's our Betty, a most captivating one."

Miss Jane Heaton, escorted by Dwane Schaub, wore a formal gown designed with deep lace and tulle ruffles and a lace-covered bodice.

Miss Mary Martin, escorted by Drew Havey, wore a formal gown of Powder Puff Blue brocade satin with a net overskirt accented with tiny bows.

Miss Kay Tooley Repeats Vows With Woody Stewart

Dr. Hubert H. Bratcher was officiant for the single-ring ceremony that united in marriage Miss Melinda Kay Tooley and Woody Stewart on December 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church.

Miss Tooley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. C. Tooley, 1318 N. Russell. Mr. Stewart is the son of Mrs. Mack Stewart, 1506 Williston.

Wedding vows were solemnized in a setting of orchid and white mums with a background of Cathedral tapers in candelabra. The communion rail was entwined with Jade leaves and banked with Jade Palms.

Shane Wilbanks provided pre-nuptial music as guests assembled.

Mrs. J. E. Gunn, organist, accompanied the wedding party with the traditional processional and recessional. Miss Mary Sturgeon, soloist, sang "Through The Years", "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu for the benediction.

Mrs. Tooley chose an iridescent pastel green brocade silk sheath topped with a matching jacket and black accessories.

Mrs. Stewart, mother of the bridegroom, wore a beige silk sheath topped with a matching jacket accessorized with beige and black.

RECEPTION
 Immediately following the reception; friends were received in the parlors of the First Methodist Church.

The bride's table was appointed with a deep orchid cloth with an overskirt of pale orchid centered with a floral arrangement of white and orchid carnations and mums. The three-tiered cake was decorated with orchid roses and was topped with a bridal pair standing under an arch.

Mrs. Officer Westbrook and Shane Wilbanks provided background music during the reception.

Miss Eloise Catille and Miss Sandra Dodd presided at the punch and cake service. Mrs. Bob Keller, bridegroom's sister, registered guests at the reception and Miss Joy Coronis was registrar at the church.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride traveled in a fur-trimmed beige suit and wore the orchid corsage from the center of her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return, they will make their home at 722 Purviance.

Mrs. Stewart was graduated from Pampa High School in 1960, attended night school at UCLA and Santa Monica College. For a time, she was employed by Security First National Bank in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Stewart was graduated from Pampa High School in 1955 and Texas Technological College in 1960. He is employed by SIC.

Those present were Mesers and Mrs. Douglas Sims from Mobeetie; Harry Rathjen; Carl Zybach from Canadian; Mary Kathryn Sims Fred Rathjen from Amarillo; Garnett Reeves and children, Leslie and Ron from Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rathjen, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rathjen and daughters Beth and Doris of Wheeler joined the group in the afternoon.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

Tassels and fringe are big news in the decorating world. Each is being used in varying ways to add color, a touch of elegance and a look of individuality not only to curtains but to slip covers, pillows and bedspreads. With such trimmings, go easy. Know where to stop. Too much creates a fussy, overdone look.

A recently decorated living room has short, color-matched tassels sewn at the base of each pinch pleat on curtains at a broad window. White linen slip covers in a decorator's own living room have straight flounces with kick pleats at the corners.

A fat wool tassel is sewn at each side of each pleat, one in deep blue and one emerald green. One is looped over the other and a brass button covers the cord attached to each tassel. What a style!

Dear Polly: I am thoroughly confused. We are building a new home and it's all we can afford. Serious decorating will have to wait several years. But we must have curtains and paint. The living room has a cathedral ceiling, clerestory windows and a paneled wall.

The furniture I must use is early basement. It is covered in plastic. Couch is beige, lounge chair and hassock are olive green. We have a small black chair, a white one with gold lines and a gray one. (I am thinking of eliminating the last two.)

Woods are mixed: worn blonde end tables and coffee table, mahogany hi-fi and TV and two black metal bookcases. Rug is a light brown tweed. Lamps are the best thing I have, in walnut with white shades.

Should I stick with sand beige curtains and paint or have something more colorful? Too much color and pattern make me nervous. But I fear dullness—Mrs. F. W. McK.

Dear Mrs. F. W. McK.: Liberties can be taken with old and odd possessions. Often, the end result is more interesting than when everything is shiny new.

For a more architectural effect, do replace the metal bookcases with some built-in ones or shelves on adjustable metal wall strips.

Evidently, there is not much wall space in your living room so paint what there is olive green. Recover the white and gray chairs with a bittersweet fabric.

Make draw curtains of alternating widths of olive, off-white and beige Indian head or other similar cotton fabric, to achieve the effect of broad stripes.

Application Of Cream As Important As Cream

By ALICIA HART
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The way you apply face cream at night is as important as the cream itself. Slapping it on with careless, hasty strokes can do as much harm as good.

Remember this: any upward stroke which is light and deft helps to counteract the downward drag on muscles that is inevitably worked by time. In applying cream, always put it on with light upward and outward strokes from chin to cheekbones and then to forehead.

Don't forget the area around the eyes. (Use just a fingertips here, very lightly). Then start at the base of the neck and apply cream with upward strokes up to and including the jawline. Don't neglect the back of your neck.

When you splash cold water on your cheeks in the morning, follow these same strokes. Work gently against the lines from nose to mouth and from mouth to chin. This can help a great deal to smooth them out and keep them smoothed out.

Some lines are a part of living and you should not want to avoid them. Others are unnecessary and detract from your appearance.

KEEP SKIN SOFT, SMOOTH
 If your skin looks dry and feels crackly in the winter, there are several things on which you should check.

The first is the temperature of the water in which you wash your face. If it's very hot, switch to tepid. Never wash your face and neck in extremely hot water; this is very drying.

Next, check the temperature of the rooms in which you live and sleep. The air should feel fairly cool all winter long, not hot and dry. If plants seem to wilt and die easily in the winter months, you can be sure that the atmosphere is hard on your skin, too.

Then, are you sure that your present night cream is efficient? If it is doing a job, your skin should feel moist and creamy in the morning. If it is not, your skin feels taut and may even flake in little patches about the mouth.

BE-KIND-TO-YOUR-TIME
 The way you begin your day has a good deal to do with the way you feel at the end of it. If you leap into the fray, hurried and irritable, you'll be limp and exhausted by 7 p.m.

Even if it means getting up 15 minutes earlier, allow yourself time to begin your day quietly. Whether you use this time for reading, for doing your face and hair or for exercises, it should belong exclusively to you.

Peg O' Pampa

WE ARE IN A reflective mood today as we sit in our living room on the divan... pillows plumped around our back... pencil and pad balanced on our knees... our feet encased in a Christmas gift... a pair of wildly purple shaggy house shoes... we would have them curled up put the shoes do not allow this accommodation... the lights from our Christmas tree casts colorful silhouettes on the walls and ceiling as it revolves around on its musical stand providing a soft background... a perfect setting to reflect by... we've been thinking back to all of the wonderful events of the past year... events that have been our pleasure to note and comment upon in this column... we have often been accused of being nose... an accusation that stings just a little... for we prefer to think of this column as a channel for recording happy and colorful events... trivialous, passing things that reflect the lighter side of our society... but we shall not waste time today lamenting yesterday for fear that we will waste time tomorrow lamenting today.

WE REMEMBER back to the hectic time of the Top of Texas District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs convention held in the Coronado Inn last March... and of the beautiful table decorations created by Alleith Curry... and of the wonderful hospitality dispensed by Icie Harrah... Harlene Rose... and Peggy Daniel as convention chairman... hospitality and efficiency that helped to make a pleasant impression upon the visiting delegates... and we remember the happiness and humility that Libby Shotwell felt the Sunday afternoon in April when she was named Woman of the Year by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority... we remember our growing admiration for the beautiful Pampas Grass... the flower shows staged by the Pampa Garden Club... the Top of Texas Garden Club... and the African Violet Society... we remember the reluctance we felt when we decided to shorten our skirts just a inch to take them out of "last year's" category... the all-day Open House given for Uncle Billy Frost to celebrate his 98th birthday... his 99th will be on January 10... the lovely reception that Dave and Nona Payne gave for their friends in the Coronado Inn... the exotic Turkish theme that honored the five presidents of the Twentieth Century Clubs in town... these were the highlights of the year... not all of them just a few that come to mind in reflection.

The Past, the present and the future are really one... they are today. - Stowe.

ENOUGH OF REFLECTION... as Abraham Lincoln once said "you can't escape the responsibility of tomorrow (when this column is due) by evading it today"... so on with the news... saw Carolyn Hudson, daughter of Wanda and Leonard Hudson... back home for the holidays from studies at Oklahoma State University... doing a bit of last-minute shopping on Christmas Eve eve... and Marilyn Steele... a North Texas University co-ed... is home with her parents, Kathryn and Dudley Steele... and telling them about the University's annual Christmas Style Revue... held just before the holidays in which she modeled a beautiful black fur trimmed cocktail suit... others we've spied as they breezed around town for Cokes Dates and gab sessions... catching up on news and comparing college notes were... Heidi Schneider, Wyoming University co-ed... Mary Ann Kelley, who attends classes at Colorado University... Don Curry home from Texas University spending a portion of his holiday skiing at Red River... Sandra Braly-home from Columbia Christian College... Marilyn Fite and Sue Foster from Southern Methodist University home visiting with folks and friends... the two Bills, Neslage and Beverly from West Texas State College... other University of Texas students, brightening the local scene, are JoAnn Thompson, George Darby and George Olds.

MORE NEWS FROM the college crowd... Benny Richardson son of the Ralph Richardsons, who live out on North Gray... brought home two of his fellow classmates from Baylor University... Joe Rasher Breed and Mike Blackman while here Joe visited with his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. E. Douglas Carver... on Tuesday evening, George Darby, who is active in Young Republican Affairs at the University of Texas, entertained with an informal "Come And Go Coffee" on Tuesday evening in the home of his parents, Lillian and Herman Darby... an honored guest was Tom Cole, national committeeman for the Texas Young Republican Federation, who is a law student in Houston and, who, after the first of the year and graduation from law school, will become legislative assistant to Senator John Tower... the informal gathering was most enjoyable and allowed locally interested persons to become familiar with the activities of the Young Republicans.

CURIOSITY KILLED the cat, the old saying goes... but curiosity also provides news notes for this column... so after becoming curious and then inquiring, we learned that that interesting bit of building business out on North Duncan just north of Fairview Cemetery... is the future site of a service station... and in time, a couple of other businesses, which should add convenience to residents in that part of the city... one of the largest sales made during the Christmas season was the sale of the Empire State Building in New York City... a saleslady friend of ours recovering from the Christmas rush remarked, "I'm glad I didn't have to gift wrap that!"

It will be a shock to men when they realize that thoughts that were fast enough for today are not fast enough for tomorrow. - Christopher Morley.

HOLIDAY HOUSEGUESTS in the home of Katie Vincent were Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Boone of Lubbock... Mrs. Joe Vincent and daughter, Nancy of Dumas... and we know that the Aubyn French household was a gay place this past week... packed with children and grandchildren... and a few friends, who stopped by to spend the day with them... one of the prettiest brides of the current season is Kay Tooley who said "I do's" with Woody Stewart on Friday evening in the First Methodist Church... what a wonderful way to start the New Year as "Mr. and Mrs."... another lovely bride is Mary Elaine Tinsley who met her fiance at the end of the bridal aisle on Thursday evening and before the altar in the First Presbyterian Church became Mrs. Jerry Ross King... there was a pretty Announcement Party given for Ann Elizabeth Kennedy on Thursday morning in the home of Gertrude Barber with Ann's aunts, Erma Barber and Mrs. Clifford Parker as hostesses... the occasion was the announcement of Ann's engagement and approaching marriage to Ted Everhart on February 17... favors were miniature ring-boxes edged with glitter with a lace lid and two small wedding and engagement rings... and so it goes and aren't we glad it does!

AS WE COME to the end of this column... as well as the old year... we can count our blessings in terms of good health... a wonderful family... a host of friends... a way of life that is most satisfying... and though we are seldom as philosophical as we have been today... the mood of the waning old year makes us more aware and understanding of William Allen White's quotation "I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today"... may many wonderful and worthwhile experiences be yours in the New Year... Love, Peg.

Reunion Held By The Farnsworths

CANADIAN (Spl) - Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farnsworth of Locust Grove were hosts to a family gathering on Christmas Day which included five children and their families and two sisters of Mr. Farnsworth and their husbands. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Browning and family of Vega; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Farnsworth and daughter of Roswell, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Farnsworth and family of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grady of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Farnsworth and children of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Numa Shoaf of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Stripe of Vici, Okla.

Foil Cranberry Stains The best way to handle cranberry spills on the tablecloth is to tackle them right at the table. Rub the stain with an ice cube from a water glass to prevent "setting," before you have a chance to launder the cloth.

In Human Relations

Fifteen words must be used daily to foster good relationships among workers, says Dr. Earl S. Thompson of Pennsylvania State University.

The words the professor recommends for everyday use are "I am proud of you," "What do you think?" "If you please," "Thank you," and "We."

What the professor didn't point out is that those same 15 words are just as important to happy family living as they are to pleasant working relationships.

Many parents who are forever reminding their children to say "please" and "thank you" rarely use those words themselves when speaking to their children - though children appreciate courtesy from adults every bit as much as adults appreciate courtesy from children.

Many wives use "I" and "my" much more often than they use "we" and "our." They talk about "my house," "my children" and "I have decided" and "I want" and "I think."

Many husbands go for years without ever saying to their wives or children, "I am proud of you." Such men are quick to point out what hasn't been done right or what hasn't been done at all but slow to give praise.

They end up by having wives and children who think, "What's the use of trying. You can't please him, no matter what."

So while the professor's recommended phrases may seem superficial - they aren't really. They are all important, for they all say: "I respect you as a person and I appreciate you for what you are and for what you are trying to do."

And they work every bit as well in homes as in offices.

More good words for home harmony are in Ruth Millett's booklet on "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o Pampa Daily News, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

If you want a baking sheet that's easily cleaned, try greasing only the spots to be used instead of the whole sheet. It's more economical, too.

A bargain can sometimes be a wonderful thing, as any woman knows. But it's truly a bargain only when it fits into your wardrobe and serves a purpose there. Purple suede gloves are no bargain if you never wear purple. And this is true no matter if they're selling at less than cost.

"Money" for the Kids To keep the kids happy on a rainy day, save and wash the cardboard covers from milk bottles. They can be used for "money" with the value marked in crayon, and the youngsters will love "playing store."

Bandit Captured By Grocery Clerk

DALLAS (UPI)—C. R. Baxley, 44, a grocery clerk, jumped a bandit who tried to rob him and clubbed him over the head with his own pistol so hard it broke into two pieces.

Baxley did not know he had grabbed the gun from David Waters, 49, a painter, that the gun was a toy cap pistol.

Policeman Doyle Bice and Billy Farrell said Waters was being questioned about several other armed robberies in the vicinity.
