Japanese Diplomat Flies To U. S. In Effort To Reach Settlement

Delegate Was Signer Of Pact With Germany

Saburo Kurosu Has American And Allied Leanings, However

TOKYO, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Japanese government announced today that it was sending Saburo Kurosu, former ambassador to Germany, to Washington by trans-Pacific Clipper in an effort to reach an accord with the United States "in view of the very serious situation prevailing."

Arrangements for Kurosu's trans-Pacific flight were made in radio phone talks last night between United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and Secretary Hull, resulting in a two-day delay of a Clipper's departure from Hongkong to enable Kurosu to catch it, a government spokesman said.

The special envoy already is en route, having left Tokyo by plane yesterday.

The government spokesman said Kurosu's mission was to facilitate a United States-Japanese understanding through the talks which have been in progress in Washington since late August.

Domest, news agency with close official connections, said Kurosu would second the efforts of Ambassador Admiral Hiroshi Nomura to "explain the Japanese situation to United States leaders, including President Roosevelt."

Nevertheless the departure of the envoy, whose title is special adviser to Ambassador Nomura, coincided with publication in the Japan Times and Advertiser, foreign office organ, of a seven-point program which it said the United States must accept if an accord is to be reached.

In effect this called on America to withdraw her influence from the Orient, recognize Japan's military, economic and diplomatic conquests of the past ten years and approve her "new order" in greater East Asia.

The same paper returned to the attack with an editorial in its afternoon edition, urging the United States to sacrifice the Chungking government of China to ensure peace and to compose her differences with Japan before turning her full attention to her crisis with Germany.

Kurosu is famous as the diplomat who signed for Japan the three-power axis alliance at Berlin Sept. 27, 1940, when he was ambassador to Germany.

(However, Kurosu is not numbered among the most ardent proponents of the axis pact. He has served long in English-speaking and French-speaking countries, having been ambassador to Belgium before going to Berlin. He married an American woman.)

His mission represents a third stage in recent Japanese efforts to reach an accord with the United States and prevent the deepening Pacific crisis — intensified from Japan's viewpoint by the economic and military measures taken in the Pacific area by the United States and Britain — from producing a clash.

The first stage opened with Premier Prince Fumimaro Koyama's still unpublished letter to President Roosevelt late in August. The second was represented by the return to Washington last month of Kaname Wakasugi, Japanese minister, who is understood to have carried new instructions.

New Drug Has Marvelous Power In Healing Wounds

BOSTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Almost miraculous healing of human sores and wounds by a new drug discovered in the soil was reported to the American College of Surgeons here today.

The drug is gramicidin, and its potency is from 1,000 to 100,000 times greater than sulfanilamide. It was literally unearthed three years ago at the Rockefeller Institute, New York City, by Dr. René Dubos.

An idea of its potency is given by the fact that one-millionth of a teaspoonful, which is about as much as a drop of mist, is sufficient to protect a mouse from 10,000

President's Board Favors Railway Wage Increase

71-2 To 13 1-2 Percent Hikes Are Suggested

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—A presidential emergency board recommended today temporary wage increases for the nation's 1,150,000 railroad workers, including a 7 1-2 per cent raise for the 350,000 in the five operating brotherhoods, and a 9-cent-an-hour, or 13 1-2 per cent average increase, for the 800,000 non-operating employees in the 14 other brotherhoods.

The board, which reported in person to President Roosevelt, also recommended a week's vacation with pay, effective January 1, next, for the year 1942 and each year thereafter to employees of the non-operating brotherhoods.

Employees of the Railway Express Agency also were recommended for a wage increase of 7 1-2 cents per hour.

All wage increases recommended were proposed as "temporary additions to wages, effective as of September 1, 1941, and to terminate automatically on December 31, 1942, unless the parties extend the arrangement by agreement."

"This board," its lengthy report said, "recommends that on or about December 31, 1942, the wage structure in the railroad industry should be examined in light of the existing economic conditions of the railroad industry and of the country."

Craft Seen Within Sight Of Coast

Canadian Planes And Ships Wage War On Submarines

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Navy Minister Angus MacDonald said today that Nazi submarines are operating "off the coast of Newfoundland — within sight of the shore."

The navy minister's statement was made when reporters asked him to give further details of his report to the house of commons last night that Canadian ships have sunk more than one German U-boat.

"You can say there are submarines right off the coast of Newfoundland — that they are actually within sight of the shore," he said.

"Naturally we are attacking them wherever we can find them. So are the patrol planes of the air force coastal command. We usually find them by sound and attack by depth charges. They (the planes) sight them and attack by bomb. But we are working very closely together."

Rear Admiral Percy Nelles, naval chief of staff, was present and gave his approval of the statement.

"The Germans certainly know where they are," he said.

'Odds, Ends' Occupy City's Street Crews

In the absence of major construction projects the city is catching up on some "odds and ends," patching streets, installing drainage inlets, graveling street extensions and cutting ditches.

Currently crews are installing new inlets at Gollad and E. 11th to facilitate drainage into the Birdwell Tank area. These replace grates which clogged and failed to handle heavy volumes of water.

In various areas, gravel is being hauled in to make entrance into some driveways more passable. Around College Heights school, a ditch has been cut to drain water and keep it off the extension of Gollad and away from the school. At the same time, the street has been gravelled south from 18th past the school building.

In the downtown section, workmen were back at the task of painting, parking markers on streets. In other sections, streets were being patched and reconditioned as rapidly as possible.

Lions Hear Red Cross Program

A review of the Red Cross, its history and its activities, was given before the Lions club Wednesday, setting the stage for the unit's participation next week in the annual roll call.

Joe Pond made the address, tracing the movement from the inception, through its establishment as an international unit and finally the chartering of the American Red Cross in 1922.

Mentioning the program in general, he cited examples of how the Red Cross had gone into action in times of emergencies, administering relief, rehabilitating families, etc. and how the Howard Glasscock chapter had built up such an enviable record that the objective of 4,046 members this year comes as a distinct challenge.

J. H. Greene touched on the highlights of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention just ended in Midland and reminded members that the national delegates theme repeatedly stressed the fact that the nation is to all intents and purposes in the midst of a war and that each individual and organization should expect to do its part.

Reports from the Salvation Army drive, in which 15 Lions took part, were heard from C. L. Rowe.

Halifax Healed Again

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5 (AP)—A group of women carrying banners which read "Halifax, go home," and "Halifax is a war monger" paraded in front of city hall today as Lord and Lady Halifax called on Mayor and Mrs. Edward Blythin.

Germans Shatter Russian Armies Defending Crimea

By Associated Press Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were reported to have stormed across the rugged Yalta mountains and headed toward the Black Sea today, thus apparently splitting Russia's Crimean defense forces into three parts after a 100-mile advance in eight days.

The Berlin radio compared the Red armies' retreat with the British-French withdrawal from the bloody fields of Flanders to Dunquerque last year, declaring that roads were littered with smashed trucks and artillery while snow drifted over corpses heaped in the roadside ditches.

German troops were pictured as pursuing the Russians toward the Balaclava heights, south of Sevastopol, where the British Light Brigade made its storied charge "into the valley of death" in the Crimean war of 1853-55.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters said Nazi troops had planted their swastika battleflags on the peninsula's south coast between Sevastopol and Kerch. German dispatches yesterday said that Kerch, at the eastern tip of the Crimea, had been isolated by axis forces which knifed across the neck of the pear-shaped peninsula and captured the coastal town of Feodosiya.

The reported crossing of the Yalta mountains appeared as a serious blow to the Red armies' defense strategy. Soviet reports to London had said previously that Russian commanders made no attempt to stem the German sweep across the central Crimea after the break through the Perekop isthmus, gateway to the Black Sea republic. Instead, these reports said, the Russians merely executed rear-guard actions while moving their main forces to strong positions along the Yalta range to cover Sevastopol and Kerch.

With the Crimean struggle evidently nearing its final stages, the Russians found more cheerful news on the central front before Moscow, where Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov's Red armies were reported to have recaptured the city of Kallinin, 95 miles northwest of the U. S. S. R. capital.

Soviet front-line dispatches also declared that a German column which advanced five miles in the Moshalk sector, 57 miles west of Moscow, had been thrown back after a four-hour battle of mechanized units.

Soviet warplanes supporting the Red offensive at Kallinin, the scene of some of the bloodiest fighting of the campaign, were credited officially with destroying eight German infantry companies (about 2,000 men) and more than 1,800 trucks.

On the Leningrad front, Hitler's high command said heavy German fire had smashed another Russian attempt to cross the Neva river, a few miles south of the old capitalist capital.

Shipyard Welders Strike Near End

By The Associated Press A committee representing welders on strike from west coast shipyards agreed today to ask the strikers to return to work immediately.

A walkout of other welders whose strike was spreading through the California aircraft industry was not affected by the planned action.

Announcement on the decision of the shipyard welders committee—representing the United Welders, Cutters and Helpers of America (Independent)—was made by Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management.

The number involved in this strike, started three weeks ago, was variously estimated by the union at 20,000 and by the OPM labor division at 5,000. Ten thousand other workers had been made idle by the strike.

The navy announced, meanwhile, that a union jurisdictional dispute had forced a shutdown of work on gates at a $3,000,000 graving dock at its San Diego destroyer base.

In the shipyard welders dispute, Hillman said that after all-night negotiations Karl V. Morris, union president, had been designated to call off the strike by long distance telephone.

As soon as the men returned to work, the OPM labor chief added, his office would call a conference of the welders, OPM labor officials and representatives of other labor organizations interested in the dispute, with the view to a permanent settlement.

The independent is demanding a charter from the American Federation of Labor recognizing it as a separate union. Independent members contend that they have to pay dues to several AFL unions in order to work.

At Washington the defense mediation board was called into executive session to formulate its decision on the troublesome issue of a union shop for steel companies' captive soft coal mines. Chairman William H. Davis said the board's recommendations for settling the dispute would be prepared before the weekend.

Jimmie Goes, president of the Independent United Aircraft Welders, declared that 75 per cent of the overnight shift welders had walked out at the Vega and Lockheed plane factories in Burbank. The management, on the other hand, said that only 35 of the 118 welders on that shift were off the job.

The two affiliated companies hire 410 welders in all, and have contracts for more than $645,000, 900 worth of military planes for the United States and British governments.

Finnish Press Has Answer For U.S.

HELSINKI, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Finnish press, answering the United States warning to cease fighting Russia, said today that the action was fundamentally inspired by a desire to open the Murmansk-Moscow railroad to British-American supply shipments for the red army. The Finnish army has captured part of the line.

Newspapers said Finland had no alternative except to fight for her chance to live free and independently in the future.

They said that the country was not fighting for the next cause or under Nazi pressure but only for Finland's vital interests. She must secure herself now against the eternal Russian threat.

FD Opposes Strike Rider On Arms Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Administration legislative leaders reported after a White House conference today that President Roosevelt believes congress should enact the pending neutrality revision measure in its present form rather than delay it by tacking on amendments designed to curtail defense strikes.

The capitol hill leaders said they had approved the chief executive that the senate would act tomorrow or Friday on the legislation, which would eliminate the present neutrality law provisions preventing American merchant ships from carrying arms and entering belligerent ports or combat zones.

House leaders, it was said, advised the chief executive a substantial majority of their chamber would favor the measure provided it was limited to the issue of revising the neutrality law and did not contain extraneous amendments regarding labor.

The chief executive was said to believe that any labor legislation should be considered separately. One of those who attended the conference said he emphasized that the grave international situation made haste necessary in order that all the bills might know as soon as possible the foreign policy course which the United States will pursue.

Autumn Weather Maybe Frost, Due Here On Thursday

Snappy autumn weather, with the temperature dropping to 35 or 40 degrees and the air calm, is in prospect for Big Spring and vicinity Thursday morning.

Heavy dew is likely and frost may form in low places. C. H. Newton, weather observer, said.

The snap will follow a brief norther which moved through the country Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, lowering temperatures to 48 degrees. The brief norther of last night was a gusty one, but wind velocity actually never went over 26 miles per hour, the weather bureau reported.

Farmers voiced mixed sentiments over the effect of the breeze. Some said it blew considerable loose cotton out, but others thought it was of great value in preventing dew from forming on the cotton. Tuesday morning, they recalled, dew was so heavy cotton picking was delayed until noon on some farms.

Lost Child Hurt Less Than Leader Of Search

HARRISON, Ark., Nov. 28 (AP) — Two-year-old Susan Kay Colpin spent all of last night alone in a dense woodland near here, but apparently suffered less injury than the sheriff who led the hunt for her.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Colpin, living in the hill country, wandered away from home about 4 p. m., yesterday. By dusk 150 persons were hunting her and continued the search through a night of dropping temperatures and steady rain.

Susan Kay was found about 3 a. m., today, sitting dejectedly beside a fence, less than a mile from her home. Suffering from exposure, she was removed to a hospital. Physicians said her condition was not critical.

But Sheriff J. R. Richardson, heavy-set and past 60, was brought to the same hospital with prospects of several weeks of inactivity. In the course of the hunt, he slipped into a hillside hole and broke his leg.

The Prize Was Only A Wilted Boquet But Oh, The Competition

The prize was only a wilted bouquet but competition for the award was stiff Tuesday night when Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Holmberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Vineyard and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McDonald entertained with a tacky party at the Settles hotel for the Dance club.

Costumes included everything from boy scout suits and country jakes, to Bowery ensembles. Prize winners were finally declared to be J. O. Vineyard and Mrs. Jack V. Smith although a group of impartial judges had to be brought in for the decision.

Vineyard was dressed in famous "long handles" with a long black coat. His blacked out teeth gave a convenient vacant expression and a straw hat, tied on, and a big bow tie completed his costume.

Mrs. Smith was also impressive. She had "sweated country" and had red freckles sprinkled generously across her nose. A plaid skirt and jacket and beat up straw hat made up her costume.

Pictures of the group were taken by Doug Perry. Dancing, both old-fashioned dances, and modern dancing was entertainment. Refreshments were hot dogs that had to be "spared, slapped and served," according to the hosts.

Attendance Of 200 At Lay Meet Sought

Laymen of Big Spring churches put on their final drive Wednesday for a crowd of at least 200 men when the city-wide Men and Missions program will be staged in the basement of the First Baptist church Thursday evening.

The program is part of a national missionary movement among men and is being observed here prematurely to avoid conflict with the Northwest Texas Methodist conference which will be in session here at the original date on Nov. 18.

Purpose of the missionary program "is to arouse the laymen to a sense of their personal responsibility for the missionary enterprises of their respective communities."

Cliff Wiley, automobile dealer, will preside at the meeting and Dr. G. E. Wood will explain the purposes of the affair. Principal address will be made by W. C. Blankenship, school superintendent. Music for the all-kymen's program will be arranged by Irby Cox and invocation and benediction will be by C. E. Stewart and Buck Tyree.

Although the program, first of its kind attempted here, is being sponsored by the Big Spring Factors' Alliance, no minister is supposed to have a part in the program.

LaGuardia Elected For Third Term As New York's Mayor

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Fiorello H. La Guardia, whose ability to drive himself like a human dynamo has made him one of President Roosevelt's ace defense men, has been chosen to run the nation's largest city for four more years—the first man ever to hold the job three times in a row.

The sharp-tongued little man in the black sombrero, probably the nation's leading exponent of the theory that municipal government is a science, outdistanced by a margin of 153,841 votes the opposition of Brooklyn District Attorney William F. O'Dwyer, candidate of the city's once potent democratic organizations, in yesterday's mayoralty election.

The complete vote of more than 2,000,000 New Yorkers was La Guardia, 1,186,294; O'Dwyer, 1,052,553, and George W. Hartmann, socialist candidate, 21,602.

With the four-square support of the republicans, American Labor, fusion and united city parties, La Guardia administered his third sound licking to Tammany hall and allied political organizations in the face of a combination of state and national democratic leaders seldom equaled in the city's political history.

whose national director of civilian defense La Guardia is, in the democratic column stood steadfastly in support of the rotund and outspoken mayor.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, National Democratic Chairman Edward J. Flynn, State Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and the city democratic chieftains all fought vigorously for O'Dwyer, an Irish immigrant who once studied for the priesthood, but who earned his political spurs in smashing a ring of Brooklyn killers.

Texas Iron Plant Action Thought Near

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Backers of a $30,000,000 iron ore plant project in Texas today hoped for action this week by the Office of Production Management on their application.

John Carpenter of Dallas, president of the Texas Power and Light company and a supporter of the proposal, said he and others had conferred with the OPM about the plan.

Senator Connally assured those interested that there would be no difficulty in getting capital from the Reconstruction Finance corporation if the OPM gave its approval.

Connally added that Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, favored the proposal to develop the East Texas iron ore deposits.

Arming Merchant Ships Will Weaken Navy, Says Walsh

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee protested today that to arm American merchant ships now would "weaken our navy" at a time when he believed the nation was almost certain to be involved in war — if indeed it was not already in.

Walsh came out flat footed against the pending legislation for neutrality act revision. He opposed both the arming of cargo vessels as approved by the house and the senate foreign relations committee's amendment to permit those ships to enter the war zones.

"The truth is," Walsh asserted in a prepared address, "that we have neither sufficient guns nor requisite gun crews to give our merchant ships effective defense in event of attack except by transferring from our navy to our merchant ships, guns, ammunition and trained gunners that the navy can ill spare.

"We weaken our navy at this most critical time without any offsetting gain. Putting a gun and a crew on a merchant ship is at best a feeble protection. The only effective defense, as events have amply demonstrated, is the conveying of merchant ships by a strong naval support."

The Massachusetts senator, who often has criticized the administration's foreign policy moves, declared that repeal of the major prohibitions of the neutrality act would be tantamount to "concurring in a shooting war which the president on his own authority has proclaimed."

Germans Say Ships To England All Doomed

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—German spokesmen, commenting on the attack on the United States naval tanker Salinas near Iceland, declared today "now as always, we can only say whoever starts for England heads for certain death."

These sources added that they be given another day for "further reflection" before giving the German reaction to the United States' claim for indemnity in the torpedo sinking of the United States steamship Robin Moor, sunk in the South Atlantic last May.

British Tell Of Submarine Sinkings

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The admiralty announced today that a total of 1,876 officers and men had been rescued from an undisclosed number of sunken axis submarines.

A communique said: "Royal Navies, with the assistance of the coastal command of the RAF, continue to protect our shipping and to levy a heavy toll on enemy U-boats."

Washington Sources Believe Germans Intend To Make War Theatre of Sea Near Iceland

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Germany intends to make the waters west of Iceland a major theatre in the battle of the Atlantic, informed sources concluded today, and battle for a decision there with wolfpack U-boat tactics.

The record of the past two months, as far as American interests are concerned, all points to that direction, they said, and the intensification of the sea-war in recent weeks may well herald even greater naval efforts as turbulent wintry seas give submarines their safest hunting.

Until the Atlantic fleet began policing the sea lanes with shoot-on-sight orders, the gravest undersea threat to Britain's lifeline was conceded in the immediate approach to her ports, whose proximity to U-boat bases on the continent facilitated pack operations.

Reports on recent sinkings however, show that the packs are raiding farther westward, particularly in the few hundred square miles of ocean that lie south and west of Iceland, the eastmost of American defense bastions.

It has been in that limited area that U-boats have sunk four American-owned ships of Panamanian registry and the Destroyer Reuben James. In those waters the Destroyer Greer and the Navy Oiler Salinas were damaged by torpedo attacks, and a submarine tried three times without success to send the Destroyer Kearny to the bottom.

The navy department officially acknowledged the heavy loss of life in the Reuben James sinking, announcing that all hope had been abandoned for the destroyer's missing — seven officers and 88 men. Counting two previously known dead, this made the official toll 97.

The list, however, was subject to later revision, and the relatives of at least five seamen who had been reported lost declared that they were safe, thanks to last-minute transfers which took them off the destroyer's roster before she was sunk.

Officials said that discrepancies arise temporarily due to such changes in the crew, but would be corrected after all late personnel records had been checked. No reduction in the number of dead was expected, however, because the place of transferred men usually is filled by replacements.

TUC Hit Hard By 20 Percent Casualty List

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 — Five members of the T.C.U. starting eleven and four of the thin line of reserves—better than 20 per cent of the Horned Frog squad—are on the injury list as Coach Dutch Meyer tries to patch up his team to meet Centenary in Shreveport Saturday — and Texas, Rice and SMU on succeeding Saturdays.

John Bond, big right halfback, in the latest casualty. He broke his collar bone in three places in the Baylor fray and is lost for the season.

Jim Hampton, reserve tackle, twisted his knee in the same game and is out for a week or two.

Leonard Fugh, first-string guard, is in bed with an injury that the medics have not been able to analyze. It may have been a slight concussion.

Billy Blackstone and Kyle Gillette, regular center and quarter, respectively, out for several weeks are on the road to recovery. Blackstone might play some against Centenary; Gillette will not be ready before the Texas game, if then.

Eugene Willford and A. C. Odell, reserve centers, are two more crabs. The former has been having knee trouble all year, the latter is recovering from the flu.

Gus Bierman, left half, hurt his knee in the Indiana game and has been out ever since. Capt. Bill Crawford, with a shoulder injury from the Aggie tussle, is beginning to round into shape and should be ready to go against Texas.

Football Rowdiness Taboo
ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Bolstering juvenile after-game demonstrations in downtown areas threaten to result in discontinuance of night time high school football contests. Superintendent of Schools James M. Spinning warns that if the rowdiness continues, guilty individuals will be locked up with police as referees.

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

In Big Spring for a visit over the last few days, Owen Brummett, Steer halfback last year, declared that the brand of football played where he is now located can't compare with that sort delivered by a first class Texas high school eleven. Owen is playing under the colors of Mesa, Arizona high school this season, since rules concerning age limits and eligibility are not quite so strict as here.

Owen was hampered somewhat during the forepart of the season at Mesa because of injuries but is now rounded in to fit condition. The Arizona school has played seven games and Brummett has started four of them.

In Arizona competition Mesa is tied with Tucson, Owen said. His club has beaten Yuma, Globe, Glendale and Phoenix. Two Texas high schools have won decisions over Mesa, El Paso high and Fort Arthur.

Owen has got in a fair bit of travelling during his stay at Mesa. El Paso was a good jump but even that was greatly shaded when the Arizonans made a six-day trip to Port Arthur.

Brummett ran into several things that were new to him. First, he had to pay $3.50 to come out for football; second, he has to furnish his own shoes; third, he is on the same team with three negroes.

But, with all the strangeness Owen declares he's getting his money's worth. He's putting on weight, tips the scales at about 175 now, and is learning more about football all along. Next year he plans to go to a Texas college.

Midland's Bulldogs are cooking up something fancy in the way of football for Gus White of Lamesa. Lamesa's Tornados clash with the Midland eleven Armistice Day but so far as the Bulldogs are concerned it's strictly a battle between themselves and Mister White.

Gus has been called by some the best in the district and even the best in the state by his more ardent supporters. Be that as it may, the Midlanders are girding themselves for the job of taking some of the shine off the Lamesa lad.

Seems as though Midland figures a bang-up victory over Lamesa might relieve some of the sting from defeats already suffered.

Defense tactics worked out by Earle Clark's Bulldogs center around Gus. During the workout Monday the Midlanders got so enthused while pounding the daylights out of one unfortunate lad impersonating White that Red Roy wound up with a broken nose.

Clouds are beginning to gather on the Odessa football horizon. Armistice Day the Broncs become the white hope of the beaten one when they clash with Sweetwater. With that prospect ahead of them, the Odessans are going through a siege of colds and flu.

Otis McKelvey, Odessa's crack fullback, is having a tough tussle with flue while Raymond Evans, 200-pound halfback-tackle combination, is sniffing like a windbroken horse.

Just to add to Odessa troubles, Jimmy McCracken, passing and punting half, is having more grief with a trick knee.

Pepper Says He'll Never Chisel On Southworth

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5 (AP) — Above the din of his barnyard zoo, Squire John Leonard "Pepper" Martin said today he was happy in the comparative quiet of the Pacific Coast League—far from the big league's roar.

"You could practically hear yourself think as dogs, cats, hogs, turkeys, guinea hens, goats, cows, mules and mares serenaded the former St. Louis Cardinal star back from the baseball wars to his farm home near here.

Since his highly satisfying debut as a Card farm manager — he steered Sacramento to the final play-offs only to lose to Seattle—it was fair to inquire if he did not banker for a return to the big noise.

"Let's get this straight," said Pepper, who dashes through conversation like he used to run bases. "The only way I can go back to St. Louis is as a manager. "And put this down in big print—I'll never have any designs on the Cardinal job as long as Billy Southworth is there. He's the grandest guy in baseball. "He really straightened me out just when I needed it. The best there is, and I've played under some guys a little out of the ordinary too—Will McKechnie, Gabby Street, they're no run-of-the-mill managers."

Courtney's Coach Moffett To Assume Duties Monday

COURTNEY, Nov. 5. (Sp.) — Milton Moffett, who has been in the army service at Camp Bowie, has received his honorable discharge, and Monday he will assume the position of coach, to which he was recently appointed by the Courtney school board pending his release from the army.

Moffett is a former stellar player for the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Following his graduation he was assistant coach under Obie Bristol of the Big Spring Steers, and later coach at Greenville high school.

COMMERCIAL, Nov. 5 (AP)—Modest J. C. Meeks has completed 73 passes out of 130 attempts for 901 yards and if that isn't the national college record for the season East Texas State folks will want proof in affidavit form.

He's the boy who has swept East Texas to the top of the Lone Star conference and who has kept the Lions in the ranks of the undefeated teams.

But no hero—in his own opinion—is this red-headed, chunky runner and passer who is ranked as the greatest all-around back in East Texas history.

He's so conservative—thrifty is the word—that he washes and irons his own shirts in his dormitory room. You see, he works his way through school.

Meeks came to East Texas State as a gift. He was a star at Oklahoma Baptist university but football was abandoned there last year. So he just stepped across the Red river from Chandler and became a Lion.

And what a break for East Texas! He has run, passed and converted for 26 of his team's 122 points and counting 588 yards

Irish Wanting Clear Day In Navy Tilt Sat.

After Deadlock With Army Notre Dame May Depend On Passing

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 5 (AP) — The fighting Irish of Notre Dame never have asked for a break from any opponent—but they're asking the weatherman for one Saturday at Baltimore.

For after last Saturday's scoreless tie with Army in New York's rain and mud, Notre Dame wants a fast field for its battle with undefeated Navy. To put it more directly, Notre Dame believes its big chance for victory lies in its passing game—and the Army game indicated Sophomore Angelo Bertelli needs a dry drill to hit his receivers consistently.

"Maybe our running game isn't everything it should be," said Coach Frank Leahy. "But the material has been thin and we've held few scrimmages because of fear of injury. Accordingly, we've done a lot of pass work. It may pay off Saturday."

Bertelli, before last Saturday's deadlock, had completed 27 of 43 passes for 573 yards. Against Army he made good on three out of 10, getting only 10 yards net gain. He said afterward he was pushing the ball out instead of throwing it and that it was so heavy his receivers had little chance to hold it.

Abundant Luck Fluctuated
MARIETTA, O. — Apparently men still are stricken with strange flights of fancy in Ohio. C. E. Chandler of Lowell is reported to have picked 2,600 four leaf clovers during the summer—just for luck.

Carrying the Ball Has Rolled Up
1,489 yards in seven games. His highest completion record in one game this season was eleven out of fourteen for 118 yards.

Fulfilling the request of his father, Meeks stayed out of football until he was big enough to take care of himself. He weighed only 129 pounds upon entering high school at Chandler but by the time he was a junior he managed to scale 175 pounds by sleeping 12 hours a day while working around Stillwater during summer vacations.

As a high school senior he gained an all-Oklahoma quarterback berth.

He spends most of his time studying the strategy of opponents and a major course in biology. His grade average is A.

He will be 21 years old next month and will play another season at East Texas unless the army takes him.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 5. The Indiana university campus, used to publicity pranks of Coach Bo McMillin, will be treated tomorrow to another outlandish football phenomenon featuring Bo's daughter—a girly girly show of gridiron.

I. U. chapters of Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma sororities will play their first game of touch football.

Touch football is an affair of nine players to a side supposed not to be as rough as the real thing.

To make sure it's not so rough, promoters have decreed in a custom tailored, special-for-Thursday only rule book that no players may go into action before she has cut or taped her fingernails—manicure and polish notwithstanding.

Hair pulling will be penalized, primping will be allowed only between plays, and the referee will carry the only mirror.

Starting lineups will be characterized by brains and beauty and absolute lack of football experience.

For Kappa Alpha Theta, there'll be Elaine A. dancer and musician, and Betty Bohannon, campus actress; for Kappa Kappa Gamma, Prom Queen Dede Long, Yearbook Beauty Queen Sonya Schies and McMillin's daughter, Bo Peep.

Sideline sitters at front-yard scrimmage sessions of the pulchritudinous pigskinners reported today:

Yearlings Trek To Lamesa; Fisher Named Mentor

Playing under their new coach, Davis Fisher, for the first time, the Big Spring Yearlings trek Lamesa Thursday for an engagement with the Lamesa Junior footballers. The game's opening whistle is to be at 3:30 o'clock.

Fisher has filled the vacancy created when Good Graves resigned his high school position to become a flying cadet in the army. He has spent the time since taking over the Yearling efforts learning the plays that have carried the Big Springers to a 100 percent victory string this year.

Wednesday, Fisher said the youngsters seemed to be in fine fettle and apparently had maintained the standards they far carried, despite the loss of their original coach.

Both Matlock twins, Randle and Claudia, are on the injured list and are not likely to see much, if any competition at Lamesa. Except for those losses, the Yearlings are scheduled to start the same eleven that has put them on top of junior football in this area.

In a previous conflict, the Big Springers bowled over the Lamesans 27 to 0 in Steer stadium. The Lamesa club is light and will be forced to give away a fair degree of poundage to the locals.

Although Fisher has not had college gridiron experience, he has put in a high school apprenticeship in the sport. His athletic efforts mainly have been directed toward basketball.

Fisher is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers.

W. C. Hiankenship said Wednesday that Fisher would fill the assignment for the present and that there was a possibility that the setup may continue. Herschel Stockton, assistant Steer coach, is taking care of classes that were formerly under Graves' direction.

Playoffs Needed For Billiards Crown

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 (AP)—A playoff will be necessary to decide the 1941 world's pocket billiards championship, now in progress here at Town Hall, despite the fact that four more matches still remain in the $10,000 round-robin cue classic.

As a result of play yesterday, leadership was again thrown into a five-way tie between defending champion Willie Mosconi, Philadelphia; Andrew Ponzl, New York; Jimmy Caras, Wilmington, Del.; Erwin Rudolph, Cleveland, and Irving Crane, Livonia, N. Y., all former title holders.

Each of this quintet has won seven matches while losing three. They have only one encounter apiece left.

Okla. Receives Nat'l Semi-Pro Baseball Award

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5 (AP) — The 1941 national semi-pro baseball congress state award went to Oklahoma today, President Ray Dumont announced.

The award, presented annually was given to Oklahoma for "having produced the best sandlot baseball teams of any of the 48 states during the season," Dumont said.

It was based on the achievements of Oklahoma teams in the 1941 national semi-pro finals at Wichita, Kas., last August. The Emil, Okla., Champlin Refiners annexed the crown, enabling an Oklahoma team to win the U. S. title for the third consecutive season and the fifth time in seven years.

The Stillwater, Okla., Boomers, 1941 Oklahoma champions, the other Okla. state team in the national finals, finished in a tie for fourth place in the country's ratings.

"Oklahoma and Texas have been dominating the nation's sandlot baseball for the past two years," Dumont said, "with teams from these two states battling in the finals both years for the national championship."

He said he expected the picture would change in the future, however, because the national title annual in the New England section, is organizing more industrial clubs than any time in history.

With the exception of 1938 when Mismark, N. D., won the national crown, and in 1938 when the Buford, Ga., Bona Allens grabbed first place, teams from Oklahoma have won the national title annually. It was Duncan in 1936 and 1937, and Euld in 1937, 1940 and 1941.

Food For Defense — Chickens, Cows Truck Gardeners Work Overtime

EDITORS NOTE: The government is setting out on a vast three-fold food program. It is helping feed Britain; it is building stockpiles to feed starving Europeans after the war; and it is scheming to make you healthier. The AP Feature Service and the Herald will tell you what this tremendous program is all about.

By JOHN GROVER AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON—When a little red hen cackles nowadays, it's patriotic music no less important to U. S. defense than the clangor of a munitions factory.

Eggs and explosives are both key cogs in the defense machinery. Milk means as much as miswovepew, cheese as a cannon. The two are equal in importance. That's the word of Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture.

Wickard goes further. He says food from U. S. farms will win the democratic war, dictate the peace terms, and keep a permanent peace after the war. The department of agriculture has already mobilized U. S. farmpower to write history with a pitchfork.

It's the biggest job American farmers ever tackled. The food-for-defense program calls for the greatest farm production in U. S. history in 1942.

There are three reasons given for expanded food production. First, our own consumption is growing. Increased wages mean increased demand for better food, more milk for the kids, more green vegetables. It means better national health, stepped-up arms production.

Second, we have pledged ourselves to supply Britain with one-quarter of her needs in animal protein—meat, eggs, dairy products. To Britain, that's the difference between adequate rations and malnutrition, between good and bad morals.

Third—and in the long run most important—we're building huge reserves or stockpiles of vitally-picked foods against the day when peace comes. It's going to be our biggest argument at the peace conference table. Undernourished, half-starved Europe will listen to reason—Uncle Sam's reason—if we control food supplies. They don't shoot Santa Claus in Europe, either.

To fill the needs of America, Britain, and the stockpile, rural America has been organized into a vast food factory. Don't ever call the department of agriculture a "bunch of swivel chair farmers" after the job they did mobilizing the food for defense program.

Every county has a quota. Soon every farmer will know what's expected of him, down to the last dozen eggs.

That's different than the last war. In 1917, farmers were urged to produce to the limit, but weren't told what to produce. Result was uncontrolled, haphazard output. The bottom dropped out of prices. Overproduction then set the stage for depression and chaos in agriculture in the 1920's.

"We're trying to avoid the mistakes of the last war," Wickard says.

Quotas now are based on known requirements. Bureau of agricultural economics surveys show we have ample supplies of food and feed grains, cotton and tobacco. We're short of current and future needs in dairy products, eggs, pork, lard, vegetable oils and vegetables. It means a sweeping change in established farm practices. It's no easier for a farmer to switch from all-grain growing to meat, egg and vegetable production than it is for a manufacturer of sewing machine to switch to machine guns. The government protected the manufacturer by underwriting costs of his plant expansion and guaranteeing him a profitable market for his machine guns. They're doing the same thing for the farmers. There won't be a sudden drop in the prices of the critical foods to leave the farm-ers holding the bag after they've switched to new lines.

The government will support the prices of hogs, eggs, evaporated milk, dry skim milk and cheese at 85 per cent of parity at least until December 31, 1942. That means the farmer can plan his production step-up in safety and be certain of a profitable return.

Even with this government aid, though, reaching the hoped-for food goals in 1942 is going to keep American farmers busy. For instance, the egg quota is four billion dozen. Even said slowly, four billion dozen eggs is just too many for ready comprehension. Four billion dozen eggs, put in simpler figures, means a line of eggs 1,181,150 miles long. That would reach around the world almost 50 times.

The government expects U. S. cows to produce 125,000,000,000 pounds—roughly fifteen billion gallons—of milk in 1942. That much milk would make a lake four miles long, a mile wide and 18 feet deep.

Other production quotas of vital commodities are in proportion, largest in history. To reach the goals, U. S. farmers must hurdle such obstacles as a farm labor shortage, threatened shortages of farm equipment, fertilizers and insecticides.

Wickard says they can do it. Tomorrow's program will bring drastic changes in menus.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

That wasn't a banhee you heard howling during the past couple of days, only football coaches who figured the officials hadn't done right by their teams. . . . First, Florida's Tom Lieb complained about a timer who stopped the clock when he shouldn't. Then Northwestern's Lynn Waldorf claimed the Minnesota boys didn't stop themselves for the required second on that touchdown play. And Princeton's Ted Weiman said Franny Lee of Harvard had hit the ground two yards away from the touchdown that beat the Tigers and shouldn't have been called safe on his slide.

Long his wanted—Hearing the other day about the mysterious clippings regarding one Lou Long discovered in Lou Gehrig's scrapbook, Jim Finnerty of Bloomfield, N. J., recalled how Gehrig (Long for college reasons) played a game there once. Lou worked in the outfield and didn't get a hit. The Manager paid him three bucks for his work, then said the club couldn't use him again because they needed a slugging outfielder.

Fictitious Social Security Card 'Sold' By Petty Crooks

Workers, employers and the public in general were warned in a statement by Robert M. Mayne, manager of the Big Spring office of the social security board, to be on the lookout for individuals representing themselves as salesmen for social security cards.

Certain persons have been traveling through Texas and adjoining states, selling fictitious social security account number cards to unsuspecting persons. Last reports had them operating in and around San Antonio and Houston. Some were selling cards with an added token of a "key tag." These cards usually carry the word, "Specimen" and a serial number of 978-05-1120 and resemble social security cards except they have no seal. The public was warned by Mayne to be wary of them.

Miners Hold Air Records But Wins Are Strictly Nil

SEATTLE, Nov. 5 (UP)—Ordinarily, when a miner makes a pass, he wins.

But there's a bunch of miners that have been making passes all the way from El Paso to Los Angeles and they haven't won yet.

Meaning—the Texas College of Mines at El Paso, Tex., and speaking of football and not dice. The Miners already figure in a couple of statistical football records, and may establish a few more before they wind up their season this month.

The American Football Statistical Bureau, agape at some of the Miners' performances, made a hasty survey of its modern records dating back to 1887. Bureaucrats uncovered the following:

The four-time defeated and one tied Miners set a record for attempted forward passes in one game, trying 61 against Loyola at Los Angeles October 17. Former mark of 49 was set by Texas Christian against Baylor in 1937.

Against Arizona last Saturday the Miners shared a record in that both teams, together attempted 54 passes without a single interception. The Miners completed 15 of 32 and the Arizonans 11 of 22.

The modern single game pass-attempt record for two teams is held by Texas Christian and Baylor for a 72 total in a game in 1937. The same year Arkansas tried 61 and Tulsa 21 to tie that mark.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds— Maybe A Magic Cycle Is Coming Moveward Again

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Veronica Lake has been taking lessons in magic from Van Grippio, the amateur magician in "This Gun for Hire" and there'll be close-ups.

It's scarcely a magic "cycle," but the local magicians—including amateurs like Chester Morris, Neil Hamilton, Harold Lloyd and Fred Astaire—have grounds for hope. The artist Dana, with his magic revues at a down-town theater, put on quite a show, with box-office success, for the local trade. By coincidence, at RKO in "Sing Your Worries Away" another magician, Hubert Brill, is supplying the tricks and advising technically, just as Grippio did for Eddie Cantor in "Forty Little Mothers" a while back.

Brill is a smooth young fellow who used to be a lawyer but turned to card-tricks and mystery gadgets. He came to Hollywood where a friend asked him how he'd like to be a producer. When he protested that he knew nothing about movies he was assured, he says, that knowledge was unnecessary. He was a producer until the little company folded—more than magic being essential to hold some of these "independents" together.

Between tricks on the set—he appears briefly as a professional employed to convince Bert Lahr, through magic, that he's out of his mind—Brill enlightened me on how a magic artist makes a living around this town. They're omnipresent, at parties and banquets, but movie roles are scarce.

Editorial— Want To Keep Highway In Town?

Here's an excerpt from a story in last week's Nolan County News that may be of interest to some Big Spring people:

"Immediate and definite action on the part of property owners along East Broadway, west from the overpass to well inside the city, to convey land needed for widening of the street through Sweetwater is imperative if a move by the state highway department to reroute highway 80 south of the city is forestalled. . . . For some time the state highway department has been asking for needed right-of-way along East Broadway for the purpose of widening highway 80 through the city to make it a safer thoroughfare. . . ."

The last two words comprise the crux of the story. It explains why the state highway department is past the toy stage with the idea to route the important highway (the same Broadway of America which courses down Third street through Big Spring) south of Sweetwater.

These two words explain why we become concerned from time to time about traffic conditions along Third street in Big Spring. Now, don't misunderstand us. So far as we know, the state department has made no threats about the situation here. But once, a few years back, the traffic situation became so bad that the department did make some strong representations to Big Spring.

And it might happen again! In the past few months the police department has done much to clear up a bad situation in center and double parking in the downtown section—but along comes a booming autumn bus-

Washington Daybook— Protocol Forgotten As Windsors Go Travelling

By JACK STEINMETZ
WASHINGTON—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have cleared the way to become the United States' No. 1 commuters.

To say that Washington had been shocked and bit bumfuzzled by their trip to this country is putting it a little mildly. When royalty or foreign state officials visit this country (or any other, for that matter) there is a thing called protocol. Protocol is the Emily Post of international relationships. It's the State Department's list of do's and don'ts for entertainment and reception of representatives of a foreign government.

When the Duke and Duchess landed in this country on their first announced visit since their marriage, the informality of it all caused considerable gasping among the old Tories in diplomatic circles.

They came to Washington without any great fanfare. There was a formal dinner at the British Embassy; most informal teas at the National Press Club and Women's Press Club; a White House luncheon which was called off at the last minute; a reunion with the Duchess' Aunt Bessy, Mrs. Buchanan-Murryman; and the departure for the Duke's ranch near Calgary, Saskatchewan, Canada.

On the return, a stopover in New York caused no greater flurry than would the visitation of any other international celebrities. In Maryland, the royal couple visited friends and when the Duke went out for a round of golf, the gallery numbered only a few more than a hundred persons. Mrs. Roosevelt shook hands with the two in her unpretentious Civilian Defense office on the ninth floor of the Dupont Circle apartments. When, an hour or so later, they dined with the President and a small, informal group at the White House, Mrs. Roosevelt was busy preparing her weekly broadcast and making ready for her flight to Chicago, where the broadcast was to be made.

This recapitulation of the visit of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor is remarkable in only one fact—the complete absence of any "formal" recognition of their presence. The Duke spent a while chatting with Secretary of State Hull. He visited a nearby Civilian Conservation Corps camp and asked innumerable questions about the CCC. He checked into and out of the British Embassy several times and got the lowdown on affairs at home, first hand, from Lord Halifax. But if he were only the Governor of the Bahamas and not the Duke of Windsor, one-

Man About Manhattan— Press Agents Are Dumbest People Left In The World

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK — I was standing at the bar of a new nightclub just as the show went on. Six very pretty girls came out in a production number, and as they drifted into view a press agent came up and said:

"Pretty, aren't they? They're different. They aren't show girls. We didn't raid the musicals. We got them in the country. That blonde girl there is Miss Minnesota. The one next to her is Miss Idaho. They're beauty contest winners, all of them. One of them came East with her chaperon, and the chaperon was so pretty we put her in the show too."

Later the photographers were taking some pictures, and I stopped to talk with the girl with the coal black hair who had been identified as Miss Nebraska. What seemed odd was that she had a lunch pail with her. She was in the dressing room, seated before a large mirror. The table was a lunnet of macaroni and lipstick. She said, "I'm having my dinner. Have a piece of this cake."

"Did you bring your dinner all the way from Nebraska?" I asked. "Nebraska?" She was puzzled. "Aren't you from Nebraska?"

"G'wan," she told me. "I'm from Staten Island."

And she was. She brings her supper with her, and her father, a cop, calls for her every night.

Some press agents just can't understand why their stuff is heaved into the waste basket as fast as it arrives.

At the rodeo the other night the cowboys spied Harry Carey sitting in a ringside box. "Hi, Harry, who's the filly with you?" they cried, riding up to shake hands. Harry is an old hand at horse wrangling himself. He knows all the boys.

But the "filly"—and she enjoyed the introduction immensely—was Betty Field, the actress, back on Broadway after seven months in the west, during which she made "King's Row" for Warner Brothers.

This was something of an about-face for Miss Field. On the stage she has always been cast as "good girls." In pictures, she is always a girl "who falls by the wayside." If she can find a play, she will remain in New York and be a "good girl" all winter. If not she has to return to Hollywood and "fall by the wayside" again.

The first Christmas tree is up in New York. It went up Oct. 21. It's for the British War Relief.

John Wengraf, who plays the Nazi commandant in "Candle in the Wind," comes by his accent naturally. He was born in Vienna.

In my interview with Carl Van Doren I forgot to mention that not all Hessians brought over here during the Revolution by the British went home. Some remained to become American citizens. One, a trooper named Kuester, later became the father of General Custer, of the long flowing hair, who was massacred by the Indians on the Little Big Horn. James Whistler, the painter, was also the son of a Hessian father.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter 26
Johnny Returns
Ginny opened her eyes wide, then smiled. "Not entirely. Although it's no more to be condemned than marrying for a fine plantation home."

"So that's what people are saying?"

Ginny shrugged. "Why should you care? Toby says that your Johnny's a swell person and I've made up my mind that Toby's a better judge of character than I am. I don't see why he picked me—but then," Ginny decided abruptly, "Toby likes nice people and I do have family."

"You're leaving one important thing out of this arrangement, aren't you?" asked Sus Ellen quietly.

"You mean love?" Ginny leaned over and patted the hand which wore Johnny's diamond. "What about yourself? You told me over and over that you couldn't stand Johnny Harris, but you married him when he asked you. I know that he'd bought Belle Acres the day we went out there and the sign was down in front of the house, remember? I know he had started to tear down those tumble-down stables. I know long ago that he loved you. I'd rather marry a man who loved me too much than to have too much loving on my side. I'll make Toby happy—see if I don't. And you married a man who wasn't in love with you. Do you know, Sus, that's why I had the courage to marry Toby."

"You felt like a cheat. Suppose Ginny had made a mistake and she was responsible. Ginny was wrong; she did love the man she married. It might be days—possibly months—until Johnny would know he would guess, he must see. But Ginny—could she love plain, clumsy, honest Toby enough to be happy with him?"

Ginny ran on and on and then said curiously: "You haven't heard a word, honey, are you still upset about Riv and Deedora?"

"Why should I be?"

Ginny stared thoughtfully at the carpet. "It must be odd for you to be married to a Yankee."

"A Yankee is no different from any other man."

Ginny pondered this. "Well, a northern girl is certainly no different from one of us. Look at Deedora Waller. She went off the deep end about Riv Moore and now she's in a jam."

"You know?"

"Everyone in Tyler Springs knows. I wonder she came back here. Do you know what I think?" Ginny rushed on to answer her own question. "I think she's sentimental."

"Deedora?"

Ginny nodded. "All that brusque manner is so much camouflage and underneath she fell for Riv because she's much more romantic than you or me, who have married for a plantation and a grocery."

"Ginny?"

"It's the truth. Deedora came down here with one idea: to marry a handsome southern gentleman to manage the estate her father bought for her. She had a romantic picture of southern life. Stately old homes with white columns and magnolias. Riv fitted into the picture, and being engaged to another girl made him more fascinating and desirable. She saw Riv as another Rhett Butler. Everyone is familiar with the phrase "Keep 'em Flying," and Magnolia dealers have created a paraphrase "Keep It Running," as the theme for their 1941 winter-proof campaign in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico, said George Miller, vice president in charge of marketing for the Magnolia Petroleum company.

"The necessity for building more and more airplanes, and keeping them flying is obvious," continued Mr. Miller, "and the necessity for motorists to keep their present cars in the best possible condition so they can be kept running for the duration of the present emergency should be equally obvious."

"Priority orders have already reduced the number of new cars to be manufactured during the remainder of this year, as well as next year, and additional orders for further reductions are being discussed."

"Not only will new cars become increasingly difficult to get, but new parts for repairs will also be hard to get. Everyone should consider it a duty to see that parts do not fail to give the service for which they were designed, due to lack of proper lubrication."

"Keeping your car in as good condition as possible is not only sound, common sense, but it is a token of your willingness to cooperate in a time of emergency."

"Cars should be prepared for winter driving, now, because southwestern weather is so deceptive. Pleasant fall days often make us forget that winter is sure to come."

"Without warning, a blue norther sweeps down, and temperatures often drop thirty to forty degrees in a few hours. Lines of motorists form outside service stations for anti-freeze. In such a rush there is no time to give vital, moving parts the protection they need. That's when parts lubricated with summer oils take a beating, because in cold weather summer oils thicken, very much like molasses, and do not provide adequate lubrication."

Johnny Harris and start a new flood of gossip. Once and for all, Riv must understand that he should go about his own business and leave her alone. When she came downstairs, she found him pacing the hall, starting up the staircase and rushing to meet her before she reached the last step. He caught her arm and drew her quickly into the front parlor. He arose, strode back and forth a minute, his breath coming stormily, his black eyes flashing. "Do you married the man who could give you Balls Acres," he jeered. "I've just come from the bank and learned that you were to have the place for your own while this Yankee soldier goes back east to show off his uniform. What kind of marriage is that?" "Is that your business, Riv?" "Yes, it is. You run off to marry me and then turn up in Tyler Springs married to someone else and the whole town is guessing why and imagining all sorts of things." Tidwell Shows Prove Popular

Featuring its riding devices, shows and other forms of entertainment, the Tidwell Shows goes into its third night of a six-night stand here this evening on the Read lot on W. 3rd street.

The wide variety of rides—the twin ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, the merry-mix-up, the tilt-a-whirl, the loop-o-plane and others were proving popular at the show ground. In addition, the several show acts were adding a lively note to the entertainment during the week.

Climax of the events each night was the spectacular leap of Suicide Simon from a 150-foot ladder as a blazing human motor into a fiery five-ton tank. Other things include animal exhibits, acts, etc. Tuesday evening was a sort of Newsboys Night, many of the youngsters taking in the various parts of the show.

At the request of Carl Simmons, whose car was struck in a collision in the 200 block of W. 3rd street early Saturday morning, The Herald gladly acknowledges that the statement that a young woman hurt in the crash was an occupant of his car was in error. She was a passenger in the other car, the driver of which entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $50 and costs. The driver paid damages for harm done to the car driven by Simmons, who was absolved of any blame in the collision.

Burglars apparently tried to gain entrance to Ika Houston's Super-food Market on N. Gregg street Tuesday night but so far as a check could show Wednesday morning, nothing, with the possible exception of cigarettes, had been taken.

Yearbook Staff At High School Is Selected

The announcement came on the eve of an important deadline—that of all individual pictures. This operation has been underway at Kelsey Studio since Oct. 1 with members of the four classes posing.

Named to the staff were Shirley June Robbins and Verna Jo Stevens, co-editors; Paul Kasch, business manager; Jim Nummy, head photographer; and Miss Clara Secrest will be in charge of the art staff. This staff is to be selected within the next few days.

The cost of the 475 El Rodeo sold to students this year will be $1,800. Payments are made each Thursday by those using the budget. Whereas cash prices were set at $2.75, those using the budget plan pay 25 cents more. They pay 25 cents or more weekly until the book is paid for.

There will be seven more weeks before the payment deadline arrives. Total cash for the five weeks is $750, leaving $750 to be collected. The staff plans to have 14 pages of advertising in the book to absorb the extra cost of the book and eight pages of the space have been sold to date.

Soil Supervisors Get 88 Agreements

Eighty-eight agreements with district supervisors have been signed by landowners, the Soil Conservation Service reported Wednesday.

The figure grew to this amount by virtue of 17 agreements signed during October and covering 5,321 acres. The total amount of acreage now involved in the agreements on file at the SCS office and with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation district is 62,971. Most of it is northeast, north, northwest of Coahoma, north of Big Spring and on five places in Martin county.

Dudley Mann, in charge of the SCS office, said that two additional soil men were expected here around Dec. 1 to assist in mapping several areas, the information to be used in the formation of programs in prospect for next year.

Over 1,000 separate shows were given before soldier audiences totaling more than 8,000,000 during summer and fall months this year.
