Senate's Public Probe Of Billie Sol Gets Underway

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate investigations subcommittee was told today it was "inconceivable" that government inefficiency alone enabled Billie Sol Estes to amass thousands of acres of improper cotton allotments.

The assessment came from Paul E. Kamerick, assistant subcommittee counsel and coordinator for the Washington phase of the exhaustive study of Estes' multi-million dollar operations. He was the first witness as the subcommittee began open hearings into the involved farm manipulations of the Texas promoter. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman was scheduled to testify later today.

Kamerick said inefficiency probably did play a part in the case. He said the subcommittee might want to consider proposing "a major reorganization" of the Agriculture Department and farm program which he said had been developed "piecemeal" fashion over the century of its existence.

Oil Operators Filed On In 'Hot Oil' Investigation

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed a $13,196,000 suit in 53rd District Court Tuesday against six oil operators. He charged they intentionally slanted wells in the East Texas field more than the maximum deviation limit of three degrees.

The suit also alleged that the operators plugged the wells June 19, in violation of Texas Railroad Commission orders. The suit named Harry Harrington Jr. and Reed H. Allgood, both of Longview; J. W. Baton, Douglas Godfrey and F. C. Hale of Kilgore, and B. T. Kidd, of Tucson, Ariz.

Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy overrode an adverse personnel recommendation and directed the appointment of Estes to the newly official cotton advisory committee on Dec. 22, 1961. That was the same day Murphy participated in a later-recinded decision that Estes 1961 cotton allotments should be canceled.

It was the largest suit filed to date by Wilson in the series he has been pushing as a result of investigations.

Astronaut Schirra Sets Six Orbits In This Summer

Wilson alleged the operators acquired a 22.5-acre lease on the J. L. Finch estate in the East Texas field in Gregg County, and completed four wells. He said that the defendants slanted three wells out of their lease and have produced oil in violation of commission orders since the deviation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency announced today that astronaut Walter M. Schirra will fly around the earth as many as six times late this summer.

Two of 11 internal audit groups operating in the department began independent investigations of Estes' operations in 1961. Neither learned until early this year of the other inquiry. The two investigations were never coordinated.

He also contended the defendants completed one well Dec. 30, 1949, another Jan. 25, 1950, and another May 15, 1950, all of which he alleged were drilled at a slant.

Previous U. S. manned flights in orbit were limited to three orbits.

Kamerick testified before Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., opened the inquiry with a pledge to try to nail down whether the government showed favoritism toward Estes. He said the group also would look into the "efficiency and integrity" of agriculture employees who dealt with Estes.

Wilson sought damages at the rate of $1,000 per day for each day of violation. His suit identified Harry Harrington Jr., as the operator of the lease and identified Kidd as executor of the estate.

D. Brainerd Holmes, chief of manned space flight programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said "anything more than three orbits should be considered a bonus" from the standpoint of gaining information vital to future flights to the moon.

McClellan said the importance of making sure that the department is operating efficiently and honestly was underscored by the fact that "through it during the current fiscal year approximately $7.1 billion were expended."

In other court action, Dist. Judge Herman Jones granted temporary restraining orders against five other operators in the East Texas oil field.

Astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter landed in the Atlantic some hundreds of miles southeast of the United States.

The chairman noted that in 1961, some 8,717.8 acres of cotton allotments were transferred from one location to another throughout the United States.

Panel Here In Discussion Of 'Medicare'

Discussion of President Kennedy's efforts to get a medical bill passed for the aged brought out many points last night as the Young Republican Club of Pampa sponsored a three-man panel discussion of the proposal in the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Schirra, 39-year-old Navy commander, was backup pilot for the three-orbit flight made by Carpenter May 24. Schirra's backup will be L. Gordon Cooper, 36-year-old Air Force major and the youngest of the seven Mercury astronauts.

Of this number 60 per cent were transferred to two counties in Texas, Reeves and Pecos. Of the total transferred to these two counties, 60 per cent accrued to the benefit of Billie Sol Estes. The inequity is apparent. It is rather clear that something is wrong, that a breakdown of some type has occurred."

The three panel members, Bill Dixon, Joe Cree and Dr. Joseph Donaldson talked of the proposal from the view points of the senior citizen, insurance man, and doctor.

Schirra's spacecraft, which he will name himself later on, now bears the prosaic designation No. 16. NASA said it will not have to be changed much for the extended flight.

Kamerick said Estes did not own clear title to the land. He said Estes and his buyers must have had an understanding that the land would revert to Estes.

Dixon brought out that senior citizens had taken an unusual interest in the controversy since it started but added that he felt most were in favor of carrying their own insurance and not being cared for under the arm of the government.

A six-orbit flight would last nine hours, compared to a little less than five hours for the Glenn and Carpenter flights.

Freeman's appearance gave him a chance to answer the complaints of the subcommittee's two Republican members, Karl Mundt of South Dakota and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska.

Dr. Donaldson's discussion dealt with the medical side of the question and relationship between physician and patient.

At the same time, it was said, Kennedy was not ready to put the Nationalist-held offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu automatically under American protection in connection with the firm U.S. military commitment to defend Formosa.

Mundt and Curtis called a news conference last week to state that a Freeman aide had ordered a study of all their correspondence with the Agriculture Department since 1953.

Cree stated that insurance to provide doctor and medical care to senior citizens had increased almost three-fold since the controversy over the medicare bill started.

The State Department said Tuesday night that Cabot again delivered the U.S. warning against military action and appealed anew for "mutual renunciation of the use of force in the Taiwan-Formosa Strait area."

They said the idea was to release distorted excerpts to favored newsmen in an effort to thwart the subcommittee investigation.

Convicts Perch Atop Prison's Water Tower

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pennsylvania's top prison official was expected to arrive at Western Correctional Institution today where 13 convicts were perched on the catwalk of an 80-foot water tower to protest "inhuman treatment" by guards.

Directors from Panhandle cities, including Paul Crouch, Pampa WTCC board member, were in attendance at the morning session to hear reports and go over the work budget for the coming year.

Convict Robert Payne, 28, started the demonstration Monday after the noon meal when he broke away from guards, scaled a 10-foot high cyclone fence topped with barbed wire and scrambled up the tower ladder.

Following the forenoon session the officers and directors went to the Pampa Country Club for a public luncheon, attended by members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and visitors.

The tower, located at one end of the prison recreation yard, overlooks the Ohio River and homes in the Woods Run area, described by police as a "tough section."

Also taking a leading part in today's WTCC division meeting in Pampa was Fred Husbands of Abilene, executive vice-president of the organization.

Payne attracted the attention of nearby residents by waving a white night shirt and told them he wanted to talk to newsmen. He shouted down that he was protesting the "cruel and inhuman treatment" inmates suffered in "the hole," the name prisoners have given the prison's maximum detention area.

Some 75 to 100 persons were in attendance at the noonday luncheon.

Payne, formerly of Washington, D.C., spent a lonely night on the tower. Guards made no effort to get him down.

Officials said they expected Kennedy to continue the Eisenhower administration policy that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu only if an attack on them appeared to be part of an assault on Formosa.

San Antonio Could Be New Location

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
FECOS, Tex. (UPI) — Dist. Judge J. H. Starley today granted Billie Sol Estes a postponement of his trial on felony theft charges and indicated that he may move the trial to San Antonio.

Judge Starley said he would announce his decision on the change of venue this afternoon.

After granting a continuance of the trial the judge discharged a jury panel of 33 persons. He then recessed court, while he awaited a telephone call from a judge in Bexar County (San Antonio).

Estes' lawyers, who were so eager for trial Monday that they asked that the Estes' case be moved from 12th to first on the docket in Judge Starley's court, Tuesday night asked for a six-to-nine-month continuance.

Too Much Publicity
The attorneys said the publicity was so great it prejudiced the case against Estes. The charge he was to be tried on said he had bilked a farmer of $182,144 in a fertilizer tank-mortgage deal.

It was one of eight counts in an indictment charging a total of $827,377 in felony thefts.

Judge Starley ruled today on the request for a continuance.

"I have granted a continuance and taken under advisement the possibility of whether the court should change venue to some other county," he said.

John Cofer, a noted appellate lawyer heading Estes' defense, said that there is a Reeves County (Pecos) grand jury subject to recall. He asked the court to order that if the jury considers any more evidence against Estes, that he be advised immediately.

Change of View
Both prosecution and defense had said earlier that they would fight any attempts to move the trial from Pecos, Estes' home town.

Dist. Atty. R. B. McGowan, however, was not opposed to a continuance.

Estes only Monday had asked for an immediate trial. He also faces seven other indictments on charges of felony theft from farmers through fertilizer storage tank-mortgage deals.

Defense attorney John Cofer announced in court Tuesday night that he wanted to withdraw the defense's "announcement of readiness." He blamed excessive publicity about Estes, and said only one member of the jury panel had not read about the Estes case.

"All with the possible exception of one have read extensively in the papers of the offenses the defendant has been charged with," Cofer said. In two or three terms, this situation may not be in excess of 10 a.m. Saturday.

Revolutionary Head Sentenced

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Self-styled Mexican revolutionary leader Marcantonio Diaz-Infante Tuesday was convicted of violation of probation and sentenced to 180 days in county jail.

Superior Judge Howard Ziemann ruled Diaz-Infante violated probation on a 1947 grand theft conviction by heading a delegation to the United Nations in New York to appeal certain activities of the current Mexican government.

Diaz-Infante, 39, went to the UN as so-called leader of the Zapata Movement.

'Cesspools Of Vice And Debauchery' Blasted As McClellan Probe Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John L. McClellan has wound up his two-week investigation of alleged unionized sin with a furious denunciation of gangster-run "cesspools of vice and debauchery."

McClellan charged Tuesday that testimony before his Senate investigations subcommittee showed the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA) was partly responsible for indecency and depravity in nightspots.

The stern Arkansas Democrat said conditions under which card-carrying strip teasers worked in Chicago, Baltimore, Miami, Tampa, and Calumet City and Cicero, Ill., were shocking beyond belief.

Unionized dancers in vicious underworld establishments which "peddle booze and flesh" are rarely real entertainers and usually their skills are employed to bait men "by the exposure of their naked bodies," the senator said.

McClellan vented his scorn on the union after a 15-minute shouting argument with comedian Joey Adams, AGVA's unpaid president. Adams said AGVA was a great labor organization.

Entertainers who give freely of their talent at orphanages, hospitals and far-flung military bases make up the real AGVA, Adams said. The few undesirable who infiltrated the union cannot be allowed to smear its good name.

Algerians Vote On Independence Sunday

By ALAI NRAYMOND

ALGIERS (UPI) — French rule of Algeria is in its last days. Algerians will vote Sunday in a referendum that will make the North African territory an independent nation after 132 years under the banner of France.

If the highest hopes are realized, the voting will ring down the curtain on 7½ years of conflict which has bled France's economy of more than $15 billion and taken the lives of nearly 400,000 persons. But if the Secret Army Organization (OAS) refuses to cease its killing and bombing, the blood-letting may go on for days, weeks or even months.

With independence at hand, Algeria faces these questions:

Will the OAS join in the peaceful building of a new Algeria?

Or will the diehards fight on in a last-ditch struggle that could turn the country into another Congo?

Expected to Obtain

Most of Algeria's Europeans, who numbered about one million before the recent mass exodus, are expected to abstain from the referendum that revolves around this question: "Do you want independence and continued cooperation with France?"

But the great majority of the territory's nine million Moslems are considered certain to vote "yes."

Still unknown is exactly what kind of government will eventually come into being in the new Algeria.

The French hope it will continue to cooperate closely with France and look more to the West than to the Communist world. But experts believe it will be a "neutralist" regime like Morocco, Tunisia and the United Arab Republic with considerable ties to the Communist bloc as well as to the West.

Looms As Strongman

Mohammed Ben Bella, whose release from captivity was one of the Evian agreements which led to the referendum, is expected to become the prime minister and "strong man" of the new government.

The present premier of the government-in-exile, Ben Youssef Khedda, probably will be steered into the largely honorary job of president.

As soon as the result of Sunday's voting is announced — possibly by late Monday — French rule here will cease. Sovereignty and responsibility for law and order is to be handed over to the mixed Moslem-European provisional executive which has headquarters presently at Rocher-Noir, 30 miles east of Algiers.

Living Costs Hold Steady

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Labor Department has reported that living costs held steady at a record-high level and the average factory worker's take-home pay climbed to an all time peak in May.

Lower costs of food, solid fuel and gasoline offset higher prices of medical care, housing and used cars to halt a three-month rise in the consumer price index.

This left the index unchanged at its all-time high of 165.2 per cent of 1957-59 prices. In other words, it now costs $10.52 to buy the same goods and services that were available for $10 a few years ago.

Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said the May figures were a "welcome little respite" from substantial advances recorded in February, March and April.

The department reported that spendable earnings of the average factory production worker hit a new peak last month because the work week and hourly earnings both increased.

Average take-home pay of a factory worker with three dependents rose to $98.95 and the similar figure for a single man climbed to $78.37 a week. These earnings are about 50 cents higher than in April and $4 a week more than a year ago.

The buying power of these earnings, after deduction of federal taxes, also increased and neared last December's peak. It was almost 4 per cent higher than a year ago.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Great Britain these days Liberal party leader Jo Grimmond is talking happily about forming a government if his party wins 200 seats in the House of Commons in the next general elections.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell is challenging the government to hold general elections now instead of waiting until late in 1963.

"I have little doubt that we could win it," says Gaitskell.

And the Conservative party of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is preparing for another in a series of by-elections which have demonstrated a steady dwindling of party popularity.

In view of the fact that the once-great Liberal party of Gladstone and Lloyd George now holds but seven seats in the House and has not participated in a British government since 1945, no one yet is taking very seriously the idea that they can win 200 seats.

Conservative Decline

Yet the fact that Grimmond is not being laughed out of the House also illustrates what has been happening in British politics. In the House of Commons, the Conservatives retain a safe working margin of 165 to 250 for Labor, seven for the Liberals and eight independents.

But since 1955, the Conservatives are estimated to have lost

17 per cent of the vote, much of it to the resurgent Liberals.

The Liberals also have taken votes from Labor but by a lower percentage estimated at one to two.

The Liberal upsurge is not explainable by any very clearly outlined program presented to British voters. The program consists mainly of a contention that whatever the government is doing, they can do better, and that the Conservatives are old and tired, unable to provide dynamic leadership.

Primarily, British observers say, the Liberal appeal seems to consist of a desire for new faces.

Hope for Split

At any rate, the Liberal gains have encouraged Gaitskell and his fellow Laborites to hope for a split-vote and Labor's return to power.

At present Macmillan is hammering on two themes—Britain's prosperity and low unemployment, and the fruits to be gained by entry into the European Common Market.

This is an event still by no means certain and so far has not proved itself a sufficiently glamorous issue to fire British voters with any wild enthusiasm.

The attitude of the voters toward rising food costs under the common market and the future of Britain's relations with the commonwealth remains a Macmillan stumbling block.

Church States Opposition To Federal Aid To Schools

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, in the second week of its 45th triennial convention here, has reaffirmed its opposition to federal aid to the church's schools.

After extensive debate, the representatives of the 2.5-million member church group voted overwhelmingly to "refuse all federal aid for the direct support of its educational facilities, as well as the extension of its educational plants and facilities."

The vote came after Dr. Oswald C. P. Hoffman of New York, the synod's public relations director, warned:

"Acceptance of even one per cent of federal aid for the support of the church's educational system necessarily opens the door to the state to exercise possible control over the other 99 per cent of the church's dollar spent for the support and extension of the educational system of the church."

"Self-support is the high price the church must pay in dollars and cents if she is to remain free from domination by the state."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mitchell of Canada writes that the movement of heavy money into the gold group may have sent the price of gold stocks to higher levels than at any time since 1946. "However," he said, "it is a trickle compared to the wave of capital that will descend on the group if there is an actual revaluation of gold prices."

He says this possibility is what keeps the golds going higher, which means that as long as there are strong arguments in favor of higher gold prices the group will remain bullish. "The time to get out of golds is when higher gold prices are no longer required by global economic conditions—but there is little chance that this will happen in the short term."

He adds that "the turn is now coming in the silver market. After six months of steadily eroding prices, silver moved up a half cent an ounce this week in the prime London market."

Standard — Poor's outlook says long-term investment opportunities are opening up in well situated stocks that are now reasonably valued relative to earnings and dividends. Some portion of funds may be committed to purchases on this basis, it says, "even though the general list may move somewhat lower before stabilizing."

Spear & Staff says that the 45-525 area may be reached by the D-J industrial average before the market is completely sold out and a base established. Then it believes the Dow may settle into a trading range measured by 475-525 on the downside and 575-625 on the upside.

Aquatic Camp Is Scheduled For July 8 And 15

Pampa Boy Scouts who have passed first class swimming requirements can attend a week of the Boy Scout Aquatic Camp either July 8 or July 15 at Camp Kiowa, the Adobe Walls Council Camp, 15 miles northeast of Canadian.

"Our purpose is to train boys in swimming, life saving, canoeing and rowing," Brantly Hudson, Scout executive, said. "Any scout who has passed first class swimming requirements can attend. The cost is $15 for a week and includes food, tentage and waterfront equipment."

Jay Leath, district executive for the Adobe Walls Council and a qualified graduate of the National Aquatics School of the Boy Scouts of America, will direct the camp.

Four other water front staff members will assist him. These are Jim Cain, Borger, assistant aquatic director; Don Hawkins, Higgins; Larry Fauske, Pampa; and Ray Lively, Borger, instructors.

"The first week of aquatics is full," Leath said. "We urge scouts to make application promptly if they intend to go."

"Parents are invited to have the evening meal with the boys at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Meals are served in the camp dining hall."

"Evening programs will include written instructions and training in artificial respiration, water front safety, methods to conduct troop and group swimming and Boy Scout life guard information," Hudson said.

If they meet all requirements, boys from 11 to 18 years old can qualify for BSA life guard for one-mile swim certificates or for any one or all merit badges in swimming, canoeing, rowing and life saving. Instruction begins at 8:30 - 12 and 2 - 5:30 p.m. daily.

Scouts interested in attending the camp should talk to their unit leaders and send name, address, troop number and a $5 reservation fee to the Adobe Walls Council, P.O. Box 2474, Pampa.

Suit Filed In Local Court

Tony Bandiera of Borger filed suit against the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company in the 31st district clerk's office yesterday.

Bandiera is administrator of the will of his deceased father, Thomas Wheeler Hammonds. The plaintiff accuses the defendant of negligence in 11 counts, and, contributing to the death of the plaintiff's father.

Plaintiff is asking damages of $1,000 for pain, $1,238.50 for funeral expenses and $7,500 for contributions. The suit states that at 1:45 a.m., June 27, 1960, Thomas Wheeler Hammonds was riding as a passenger in an automobile driven by another person. They approached the defendant's railroad crossing near Jericho on Highway 70, but the crossing was allegedly not equipped with a light, bell, wigwag or automatic signal of any kind and did not maintain a proper railroad crossing sign. As a result of this negligence, it is alleged, plaintiff's father died in the resulting accident.

Warden James F. Maroney said he had no plans to try to get the convicts down from their perch. He ordered guards to ignore them.

Maroney denied Payne's claims that prisoners sent to the confinement section, which replaced the old solitary confinement cells, were subjected to inhuman treatment. He said the prisoners sent there for disciplinary action were kept separated from other prisoners and lost their privileges but received the regular prison fare.

"The hole," where the protesters were likely to be sent when they do come down, is a shabby, grey brick building with the barred windows painted over.

Newsman Refused Admission
When Payne, who was committed to the prison in 1960 for a parole violation after serving time for robbery, first climbed the tower newsmen were refused admission to the prison.

In an effort to get his story, they went to the upper floors of nearby homes and shouted questions up to him.

He told them that he had been "put in the hole for 19 days... for no reason at all."

"I'm not coming down until there is an investigation of conditions here," he shouted.

But Maroney described Payne as "incorrigible and a disciplinary problem." He said newsmen will be able to check the conditions Payne complained about, but only after he comes down from the tower.

The 12 other inmates managed to join Payne shortly after the dinner hour Tuesday night. Fifteen prisoners rushed the water tower, but guards turned back all but six. A short time later, six more managed to scale the fence at the bottom of the tower and made their way to the top.

Teenagers Will Be Restrained As JFK Visits

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Police said Tuesday night they will keep anti-American teenagers off the streets during President Kennedy's visit here this weekend.

Police officials said students who want to stage demonstrations hostile to the United States may do so on their school grounds, but they warned that police will "act with great energy" against any attempt to demonstrate in the streets.

Several police agencies were reported keeping an eye on known trouble spots with a view to nipping anti-American agitation in the bud.

Cuban Communist leader Blas Roca, describing himself as a "newspaper editor," arrived Tuesday, saying he was only passing through on the way to another unspecified country.

Rosa said he would stay in the Cuban embassy while he is here. The embassy, however, denied knowledge of his whereabouts.

Unidentified persons sabotaged a special telephone cable laid here to handle foreign news dispatches during the Kennedy visit. Telephone unionists questioned by police denied knowledge of the sabotage.

JFK's Man Is The Loser In Election

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI)—State Rep. Albert W. Watson, who spearheaded the South Carolina "Democrats for Nixon - Lodge" drive in 1960, Tuesday defeated a former Kennedy campaign official for Democratic nomination to Congress.

Watson now must meet Republican Floyd Spence in November for the congressional seat being vacated by the widow of Rep. John J. Riley, D-S.C. Mrs. Riley, who filled the unexpired term of her late husband, did not offer for reelection.

Watson, 40, defeated former Columbia Mayor Frank Owens on the basis of strong voting on his behalf in smaller counties of the eight-county 2nd District. Owens, 63, striving for a political comeback, trounced Watson in the two largest counties of Richland and Lexington. Watson represents Richland County in the legislature.

With 260 of 261 precincts reported, Watson had 17,601 votes to 18,379 for Owens, who handled the financial affairs for the 1960 Kennedy campaign in South Carolina. Both men campaigned as conservative Democrats.

Watson said "the election showed that South Carolinians don't want to join the Republican party, but won't sit still for the spendism of the national Democratic administration."

Bowling Alley Is Hit By Burglar

The Gray County Sheriff's department is investigating the theft of two transistor radios, about $35 in currency, $60 in coke machine change, an undetermined amount in cigarettes and in vending machine change taken from the Harvester bowl last night.

R. R. Watson, manager of the Harvester Bowl, reported to the sheriff's department at 8:15 a.m. today that someone had broken into eight vending machines and left one candy machine untouched.

He said that after the bowling alley closed at 12:30 p.m. someone climbed a pipe at the back of the building, kicked open a ventilator, and entered the building through the ventilator.

"About $35 in currency was taken from a filing cabinet, two transistor radios were stolen and eight coin machines were broken into," Sheriff R. H. Jordan said.

D. L. Day, the investigating officer, said the person removed a bar from the back door, unlocked it from the inside and left the back door open as he went out. He had used a small tool to pry open the machines.

Practice Of Safety Didn't Help Much

TAOS, N. M. (UPI)—Candido Muniz of the little forest community of Redarte is a lumberjack who heeded all the safety rules.

When he and five other U. S. Forest Service loggers cut down a big dead tree in Carson National Forest near Taos Tuesday, Muniz saw to it that all the safety rules were followed.

Guards stopped all traffic on a nearby road. When the tree trunk was cut nearly through, Muniz waved the other men back to safe positions. Alone at the trunk, wearing his steel safety helmet, he finished the job.

As the tree began to topple he turned and ran, at right angles to the line of fall. Twenty-five feet away he stopped and wheeled to watch the tree hit the ground—exactly as he was supposed to do. The tree fell just where Muniz had calculated it would. Suddenly he was 10 feet in the air.

The falling tree had hit one end of an old log almost buried in the forest floor. The other end, just behind Muniz, had flipped up and hit him in the seat of the pants.

As he flew through the air, Muniz' steel helmet came off. He came down head first into a rotten log.

The log was softer than sand. But Muniz' head struck a hard pine knot—the only bit of wood in the log that wouldn't crumble in your hand.

The knot fractured his skull, killing him instantly.

Bob Hope Is Ordered To Return Money

DALLAS (UPI)—U. S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes has ordered comedian Bob Hope to turn in all the money he got for a one-night show in Dallas.

Judge Hughes gave Hope and his business manager, Mark Anthony, until July 2 to file a sworn accounting of proceeds from the show and to turn the money over to her court.

Mrs. Iva D. Nichols of Dallas promoted the Hope show. Mrs. Nichols' proceeds from the show has been tied up in litigation involving the federal and state governments, the city of Dallas and private parties.

The Internal Revenue Service claims it has a $81,000 tax lien against Mrs. Nichols. The state claims the promoter is delinquent on state taxes. The city claims the money for rent on its auditorium.

Several music publishers want the money for payment on a copyright infringement suit judgment won from Mrs. Nichols.

Judge Hughes said she will set a date in the near future to hear claims on the money.

Witnesses Say Personnel Hurt In Rocket Blast

HONOLULU (UPI)—Eyewitnesses returning from Johnston Island said Tuesday "several" technicians suffered minor injuries June 19 when large fragments of a thermonuclear rocket rained down on the island during an ill-fated attempt to explode a nuclear device in the Van Allen Belt.

The rocket and its megaton warhead were destroyed minutes after the launching because of a "malfunction." The test was scheduled for an altitude of between 100 and 500 miles.

The witnesses said some of the debris weighed more than 100 pounds, and that there would have been "extensive casualties" had not most of the Johnston Island workers been evacuated earlier by boat and taken to a safe distance offshore.

One source said injuries to personnel were certainly more extensive than Joint Task Force 8 indicated in an official announcement, which said there were no injuries.

A task force spokesman, asked about the report of injuries, said today that he had no comment. He added that any comment would have to come from Washington.

One eye witness said the 55-ton missile was blown up in the air when it was "only a few thousand feet" off the launching pad. He said scientists are still investigating the failure of the Thor rocket to determine what caused it to malfunction.

The witness said EC officials posted warnings to all personnel not to touch any of the debris that was widely scattered over the island.

The indictment Estes is being tried on alleges eight counts of theft over $50. But separate instruments attached to the documents listed a total of $827,577. Estes is accused of stealing from six Reeves County farmers in fertilizer tank-mortgage deals.

Estes asked for immediate trial on charges of stealing $162,144 from farmer Thomas A. Bell in liquid fertilizer contracts. Estes also is under federal indictment in El Paso on 29 counts of fraud and conspiracy.

Water Safety Class Is Set

Bill Neslege, water safety instructor, will begin a junior and senior life saving class at 6 - 7 p.m. July 2 at the Municipal Pool. Anyone interested may register at the pool Monday.

A dollar will be charged for pool maintenance. Anyone 12 years old or older may enter the junior life saving class, but the Red Cross recommends that boys and girls complete the Swimmer Class or know all of their strokes, since the instructor will not have time to teach strokes.

When students complete the course, they may buy life saving patches from the Red Cross office. Junior Life Saving Patches are 25 cents and senior patches are 50 cents. These are worn on the bathing suits of those who earn the privilege and designate that the wearer has successfully passed a life saving course.

Only persons who have junior or senior life saving cards may be lifeguards in Municipal Pools.

Woman Held In Kidnapping

HOUSTON (UPI)—A young pregnant woman was in police custody today still thinking she is the mother of a baby she kidnapped four days ago.

Police Lt. A. E. Peake said the "emotionally disturbed" woman took 31-hour-old Sidney Palm from his hospital nursery basket last Friday "because she thought he was hers."

"She still thinks the baby is hers," Peake said. No charges were filed immediately against the woman. She was arrested when her husband notified a doctor that she had a baby that did not belong to her.

The doctor, Gorman L. Riley, called police. The FBI joined the case, and the Lockwood Hospital, where the child was born, offered a $1,000 reward when it became apparent the infant was kidnapped. Sidney is reported well and happy.

COTTAGE LIVING—Designed for vacation living, this house was shown at an exhibit in London, England. The letter "A" influences the shape of the "cottage," using slats of red cedar to form oblique sides. The spacious living room has the ceiling extended to the roof, and the upstairs balcony can be used as an extra bedroom.

TINY SPRINKLE—Little ladies are fairly sprinkled with femininity in this flower-vivid splash print dress. The cotton satin bodice accents the white swirl of a skirt and the miniature white parasol. The flaring top has a little pussy-cat bow.

CANINE COTTONS TO CANDY—Brian Barton, 6, tries in vain to keep his cotton candy away from his dog "Thor," at a local fair in Philadelphia. But Thor's sweet tooth and jumping prowess won out, and Brian had to share his treat with his canine friend. He ended up with a happy pooch but considerably less than half of his cotton candy.

NECKS OF KIN—Mother Mallard extends her flexible neck to caress an early bird, the first to hatch from an even dozen, while continuing to sit on the other 11 eggs on her nest. The new duck family nested atop Shedd Aquarium in Chicago, the same place Mother Mallard has laid 10 other sets of eggs in seven years. It's beginning to be home.

MOMENT'S REFLECTION—Reflecting carefully on her choice of the current Italian styles, Austrian actress Maria Perschy stars in triple-feature before the mirrors at a fashion house in Rome. The dress is more interesting in back.

BEWITCHING—This line of defense isn't frightening. The house designs on Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, are hex signs to ward off evil spirits. Each home is painted a brilliant color—purple, orange, pink—and neighboring houses on the island traditionally do not use the same color.

FISH ROW

BY THE CASPIAN SEA—Two Russian fishermen are dwarfed as they guide a Giant Sturgeon being hoisted above a dock (left). According to an official Soviet source, the 1,588-pound fish was shipped to a cannery and dissected to supply 46 cans of caviar (right). The monstrous fish are caught off the coastal ports of the Caspian Sea.

SERVICE STATION—In this artist's conception of a celestial refueling proposal of a spacecraft scientist, Dr. Donald T. Perkins, a stub-winged interplanetary manned vehicle receives fuel to continue its voyage to Mars or Venus from a fuel tank stationed in space.

CREATIVE EFFORT—Swedish movie director Ingmar Bergman appears to be lost in thought as he strolls in Stockholm, Sweden, with young actor Jorgen Lindstrom, 11.

SANDWITCHERY—It looks like magic; but it's just high jinks in the sand at Coney Island, N. Y., as Nick Comito's head gazes upon his cousin Susan's legs suspended in sand.

DARK VICTORY—Born blind, Frankie Mares, 8, proves he can make his way in the world as he pedals his bike around his neighborhood in Denver, Colo. When he rides his bike, he hears cars a block away, and pulls over to the curb.

Gay Table Motif Aids Youngsters Dine Neatly

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Feeding the young is a major occupation for all mothers but some of us complicate the job by insisting on such niceties as clean hands, table manners (good) and a nutritionally balanced diet.

To the healthy, hungry 10-year-old boy, for instance, the food he likes is something to be stuffed into his mouth, never-mind-how but as rapidly as possible. The food he doesn't like makes a sharp target for his juvenile wit which is based largely on derisive noises and ghoulish facial contortions certain to wow other children.

While I take a dim view of such shenanigans, I realize that patience and determination are needed to enjoy all the niceties at the same time. At some ages, the hands may be fairly clean and spanners pretty good but freakish or finicky appetites develop to challenge the nutrition chart. Milk may be shunned or the breakfast egg shoved aside.

In the precisely fed household of a nutritionist friend of mine, the 5-year-old maverick threw her parents into an uproar by refusing to touch the established breakfast of orange juice, e.g. cereal, toast and milk. She finally settled on green peppers, toasted cheese sandwich, whole-wheat crackers and an orange. Her mother, keeping a clear head, had substituted foods which would give her daughter approximately the same nutrition as those she disdained.

My guideline is: Know something about basic nutrition, keep an open mind, try a trick or two. Basically, an adequate breakfast needs a high-protein food, an energy food, milk, fruit or fruit juice. Fish, cheese and hamburgers are just as sound for breakfast, nutritionally as eggs and enriched cereals. Our children would carry on in scandalous fashion if asked to eat a three-minute egg but they relish hard-boiled or deviled eggs.

Although there are stacks of reports to prove that children and adults who eat a good breakfast work better and are more alert than those who don't, this means little to the individual who isn't hungry in the morning. Sometimes, the late nighttime dinner with a heavy dessert is behind the lack of morning appetite. If this is the case, try feeding the youngsters earlier and avoid the rich sweets.

An atmosphere of comparative calm is an aid to pleasurable eating and to better table manners. If the table is a jungle of milk cartons, cereal boxes and old "kitchen" dishes, there just isn't much of an incentive to eat properly.

Although I still get caught in the morning rush at times, I've provided to my satisfaction that our youngsters will eat a good meal if the table is set and food is served to them (instead of letting them "pick up" their own).

A gay place mat, a clean napkin and colorful tableware are inexpensive aids. Serve milk at the temperature the children prefer in a bright glass pitcher or jug. As a rule, little children usually like their milk at room temperature but older ones prefer it ice cold. Let them pour their own and they will often drink more, especially if the cup or glass is not too big. Cups seem less likely to spill than tall glasses at our table.

Some white glass mugs bought with bright diamond-patterned decorations are just the right size for a young child to handle and they stack nicely on the shelf. Tyler, our 6-year-old, is still young enough to enjoy having her own cup and bowl with blue diamonds on the sides.

Dear Abby... Heed This Before It Is Too Late!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We went to the cemetery on DECORATION Day and in the chapel they had an item from your column framed, and on display. I copied it and beg of you to print it again. It gave me something to think about.

"JUST IN TIME!"

DEAR JUST: The item you wish me to run again was the one for which I have had the most requests for reprints. And here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person on earth. I found time to go everywhere else but to see my old gray-haired parents. They sat at home alone loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think."

"TOO LATE!"

DEAR ABBY: My daughter received as a shower gift a copy of your DEAR ABBY ON MARRIAGE. I read it and want you to know that it's the only book I've ever started that I could not put down until I finished it. It should be required reading for every married couple as well as those anticipating marriage. Thank you for writing it.

MRS. F. W. D. Oak Park, Illinois
DEAR MRS. F. W. D.: You're welcome. The pleasure was mine!

DEAR ABBY: I think it is wrong for a bowling league to set a rule about pregnant bowlers. When I was pregnant with my fourth child, I bowled until 10:00 P.M. and my baby was born at midnight. The baby was fine and so was I. I kept an average of 145 so I figured I held my end up.

LADY BOWLER
DEAR LADY BOWLER: If it was all right with your doctor, it's all right with me. I'm sure it wasn't easy to hold up your end under those conditions, but I think you're wonderful.

DEAR ABBY: The more I think of this, the madder I get. My husband went to a class reunion and didn't take me. It was for wives too. I am no slob, Abby, so there's no excuse along that line. Here's the way he "invited" me: "You don't want to go, do you?"

MAD
DEAR MAD: No wonder you're mad. You gave him the wrong answer.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Miss Carol Burnett, the human string-bean with the Raggedy-Ann appeal, Tuesday night wound up one of the happiest associations on television: She played her finale as a regular on Garry Moore's weekly CBS show.

She is not likely to forget her farewell present — an uproarious skit in which, unknown to her, cues and lines were changed by everyone else, leaving her in a state of comic hysteria with the certainty that Moore and costar Durward Kirby had flipped.

Despite her panic at being left on a limb over a nationwide hookup, however, she faked and mugged her way out of it beautifully, earning a rousing cheer from the audience, which Moore had tipped off.

In the skit, Miss Burnett finds $10,000 in a handbag in a taxi and takes it home to her husband (Kirby). Kirby played it straight at first, and things were normal until she tried to unzip the bag, which had been made to stick tight. She looked a little wild-eyed and struggled with the zipper while the audience howled.

Phone Line Cut

She ran for the phone, picked it up and found herself holding a dangling wire. It had been cut.

Kirby then began reciting the lines she knew nothing about. Miss Burnett did a double-take, looking at him as if he were nuts. At this point, one of Kirby's lines was, "I must be out of my mind."

"I'd say so!" Miss Burnett screamed in desperation.

There was a knock at the door. She ran for it, opened it—and nobody was there. "Who was it?" Kirby asked with straight face. "Nobody," she said, completely lost. Then Moore walked in a side door—not the one he was supposed to enter through—and that did it.

"What's going on?" she yelled, jumping up and down in a state

NEW MANAGEMENT — Jack Villines, manager of the Pampa branch of the Trans Con Elevators, Inc., Heaton Switch, stands before the two elevators while waiting for the last of the wheat harvest trucks to come in. Formerly owned by Laketon Wheat Growers Association, the elevator is under new management and has taken in 25,000 bushels of wheat since it reopened June 1. of hilarious disarray. They told her.

Moore tastefully kept his closing "goodbye" speech to Miss Burnett to a few parting remarks, but he and his star were obviously sincerely affected as they embraced at the end. She's been on the show four years.

Miss Burnett was a honey in her final appearance. She left them laughing and, for good measure, did a polished song — and a dance version of "You Are My Sunshine" with Carol Haney.

Miss Burnett had said she is leaving Moore—though she may do occasional programs with him in the future—so she can widen her scope. She is at the peak of her career. In recent weeks, she has won an Emmy, been named favorite female video star on the TV Guide award show and done a special with Julie Andrews from Carnegie Hall.

She is being mentioned to star in a Broadway musical based on the life of the late Comedienne Fanny Brice. And this summer she will tour with her own show in Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Dallas, Detroit, Indianapolis and Las Vegas.

How many of you remember when Moore went his own way from his old partner—Jimmy Durante?

The Chanel Swim: Hugh Downs will be on the air 12 1/2 hours a week this fall as host of NBC-TV's

"Today" and "Concentration" shows. Television series are being planned based on the movies "Bells Are Ringing," "Three Coins in the Fountain" and "12 O'Clock High."

Ed Sullivan's CBS-TV show originates Sunday from the Moulin Rouge night club in Paris. American and British students argue about nothing less than whether Western civilization is declining on NBC-TV's "International Championship Debate" Tuesday.

Robert Morse and Carol Haney are the guest celebrities on CBS-TV's "Password." The week of July 2, MGM, which planned to make a movie of the book "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," may turn it into a television series.

Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

Senator John Tower (R-Texas) today deplored President Kennedy's generalized references to a tax cut without corresponding provisions to reduce federal spending. The text of his report:

Recently, we heard the President suggest that there should be a tax cut in the offing very soon. Of course, we all recognize the great value that a tax cut could be to the economy. We do need to cut corporate taxes, as well as income taxes, both in the upper and lower levels. By cutting taxes we could provide additional sources of capital which would stimulate the economy. A tax cut is desirable.

For the President, however, to suggest a tax cut, without suggesting a commensurate reduction in public expenditures, we think is somewhat irresponsible. As much as we want a tax cut, we shouldn't be convinced that taxes should be cut, unless spending is cut also. Now, when the government spends more than it takes in, it, of course, has to borrow money. If we should have a tax reduction without a cut in expenditure, it very well could undermine foreign confidence in the American dollar. We could, as a result, see a run on the American dollar which would be very injurious to the American economy; indeed, would be injurious to the economy of the entire free world.

Perhaps a lot of people are not aware that many foreign countries base their currency not only on gold and silver, but on American dollars, as well. This is particularly true in a number of Latin American countries. Therefore, anything that weakens the American currency, or devalues the American dollar, might also weaken the currencies of other countries, friendly to the United States — our allies in the cold war, who already have their economic problems. In view of this the general public should insist to the President, and to the Congress, that if we are going to reduce taxes, there should be a reduction in expenditure, as well.

As you know, we already have problems with "balance of payments." That is to say, we send more money out of the country than we are bringing into the country. The amazing thing is that the United States has a favorable "balance of trade." In other words, we sell more to other countries than we buy from other countries. We are short on "bal-lowest level since 1939. The fact of the matter is that we must maintain strong gold reserves if our country is to be in a favorable position, with sound and stable currency.

As you know, gold is the basis of value throughout the world, and international trade is always conducted in gold. Now, you couldn't turn your dollar in at the Federal treasury and receive a dollar's worth of gold, in return. However, someone from abroad who has sold something in the United States for an American dollar, can take that dollar and turn it in to the United States, and get gold in return.

Recently, Henry J. Taylor, a prominent commentator, said: "By the present compounding of deficits and debts, Mr. Kennedy is carrying us smack toward a devaluation of the dollar and chaos in the financial structure of the free world, for which our dollar is admittedly the anchor." This illustrates just how serious the problem is.

I hope that every citizen will urge the Congress and the President to be responsible with the Nation's money, with the Nation's tax structure, and with the Nation's debt structure.

Earl Wilson Hurls No-Hitter For Red Sox, 2-0

Boston Owner Is Ready For New Contract For Pitcher

By DICK DEW
UPI Sports Writer

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston pitcher Earl Wilson and millionaire club owner Tom Yawkey have a $1,000 paper-ripping date today.

The $1,000 will be the end result when Wilson and Yawkey get through ripping up Wilson's near-minimum contract with the Red Sox that called for a 1962 salary of about $8,000.

Yawkey called the new contract meeting minutes after Wilson authorized the second no-hitter of the major league season Tuesday night. The big 26-year-old Negro righthander stopped the Los Angeles Angels, 2-0, for his sixth victory of the season.

Ironically, Wilson's no-hit, no-run mound opponent was Angel southpaw starter Bo Belinsky, the party-going rookie who on May 5 hurled the first big league no-hit game of the year.

Yawkey, on one of his rare visits to the Red Sox dressing room was among the first to greet the six foot, three inch, 220 pound fastballer.

"Congratulations, you bugger," the portly Red Sox owner told his new pitching ace, "you pitched a hell of a game. I was thrilled as I've ever been."

Yawkey then whispered briefly to Wilson and later explained to newsmen that he had invited Wilson to his office today to rip up the old contract. Yawkey indicated that the new pact, necessary to avoid baseball's no-bonus rule, would call for a $1,000 pay hike.

For Wilson, who hit his second major league home run and second of the season in his own cause, the no-hitter was "the greatest thing that has ever happened to me."

"I knew all along that I had a no-hitter," he said. "I didn't know that I was throwing late in the game and on the last batter I just closed my eyes and threw. This is the thrill of my life."

Belinsky gave up only two runs and Wilson's healthy homer in the seven innings he pitched. He was lifted for a pinch hitter after walking three and striking out ten. Those two singles, by Pete Runnels and Carroll Hardy, came after the only error of the game in the fourth inning and gave Wilson a two-run cushion, though his own third inning homer would have been enough.

Wilson issued four walks in the game, accounting for all four Los Angeles base runners. He passed Lee Thomas to open the second; Earl Averill and Eddie Yost in succession with one out in the fifth, and Billy Moran with one out in the sixth. Otherwise, the Angels went down in order including the last 11 batters in succession.

DOESN'T COUNT — He's Determined lives up to his name crossing the finish line first at Hollywood Park in Inglewood, Calif., although it doesn't count because the gray horse lost his rider, Ruben Lopez, at the start. Vegas Bandit, Jackie Leonard up, is the winner. Honk runs second.

Mound Star Posts Sixth Victory In Loop Play

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The score was the same as on May 5 only this time it was Earl Wilson basking in no-hit glory and Bo Belinsky knowing the frustration of running up against an invincible opponent.

It was an ironic tableau—ironic because the author of the season's first no-hitter had himself been topped by a no-hitter — and also because three months ago neither principal in the drama figured to be still wearing a major league uniform on this date.

Perhaps never before in baseball history have two no-hitters been achieved so close together by two such unlikely candidates for no-hit fame.

Belinsky achieved his for the Los Angeles Angels with a 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, May 5, and Wilson, a wild fireballer who started out as a catcher, matched it Tuesday night with a 2-0 triumph for the Boston Red Sox over Belinsky.

The 220-pound native of Poncha-toula, La., who now lives in San Diego, Calif., had failed in two previous trials with the Red Sox and was regarded as too wild to be a first-class pitcher.

He was "pleasingly wild," to use coach Sal Maglie's phrase.

Tuesday night, walking four and striking out five en route to his classic. It was his third victory in succession and his sixth of the season but it was only his first complete game. Wilson made it a night to remember all his life with a homer into the left field screen that produced the Red Sox' first run.

The no-hitter was the first at Fenway Park, Boston, since Detroit's Jim Bunning pitched one on July 20, 1958, and the first by a Red Sox pitcher since Mel Parnell pitched one against the Chicago White Sox, July 14, 1956.

Meanwhile, back to the pennant races:

The Minnesota Twins whipped the New York Yankees, 5-0, and moved to within one game of the American League lead when the Cleveland Indians split with the Detroit Tigers, winning, 3-1, in 12 innings after a 6-0 defeat. The Kansas City Athletics shaded the Washington Senators, 2-1, and the Baltimore Orioles topped the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, in other games.

In the National League, the San Francisco Giants regained first place by beating the Cincinnati Red, 6-5 in 10 innings while the Milwaukee Braves were knocking off the Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1.

The Philadelphia Phillies swept the Houston Colts, 2-0 and 6-4, the Pittsburgh Pirates tripped the New York Mets, 5-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals bombed the Chicago Cubs, 15-3.

Richie Rollins had two homers and two singles to drive in four runs and Camilo Pascual struck out 12 batters for the Twins who dealt Roland Sheldon his fourth loss. Rollins raised his average to .336 and Pascual his season strikeout total to 101.

Rocky Colavito's grand slam homer and Jim Bunning's fourth, 10-strikeout pitching paced the Tigers to their first-game victory. The Indians squared the doubleheader, however, when Al Luplow's two-run 12th inning homer, his fourth hit, gave Gary Bell his fifth triumph.

Rookie Dan Pfister pitched a six-hitter to win his first game for the Athletics while Milt Pappas' four-hitter out-dueled Johnny Buzhardt's eight-hitter as the Orioles topped the White Sox.

The Giants tied at 4-4 and again at 5-5 on a grand slam by Ed Bailey and a solo homer by Jim Davenport, then won in the 10th when Orlando Cepeda singled home Felipe Alou, running for Willie McCovey. Relief ace Stu Miller picked up his fourth victory for the Giants and Dave Sisler suffered his third loss for the Reds. Johnny Edwards hit a two-run homer and a triple for the losers.

Lew Burdette pitched a five-hitter and Hank Aaron had a double and a single as the Braves handed Sandy Koufax his fourth loss despite 13 strikeouts by the NL whiff king. It was Burdette's sixth straight win after the veteran right-hander lost his first four decisions.

Jack Hamilton hurled a two-hitter and Art Mahaffey a seven-hitter to lead the Phillies to their sweep of the Colts. Clay Dalrymple hit a key double in the first game and a two-run triple in the nightcap for the Phillies.

Don Clendenon's triple and homer paced the Pirates as they handed the Mets their 50th defeat of the season while Gene Oliver and Charley James hit three-run homers and Bill White and Ken Boyer hit bases-empty round-trippers in the Cardinals' rout of the Cubs.

FOR MEN ONLY

By Mark Heath

A couple of decades or so ago, it would have been untrue to say a man could dress well on a moderate income. But, today, particularly here in the United States, most men with moderate incomes dress very well; with our efficient methods and machines in the clothing industry.

Most of our ready-to-wear clothing is designed by top designer's, well cut and tailored by skilled craftsmen in efficiently run factories. The fabrics are selected from our mills and from mills abroad. Some of our finest woolen fabrics are imported, because of more favorable climate conditions in other countries.

Wild Chase In Scramble For Third

By United Press International

Overlooked in the mad scramble for first place in the Texas League standings is the torrid, see-saw battle for third place.

San Antonio occupies third right now, thanks to a 9-4 victory over the league-leading El Paso Sun Kings Tuesday night. Austin, just one game behind the Missions, split a doubleheader with second place Tulsa, losing the opener, 7-4, but grabbing the nightcap, 9-4. In the other league games Tuesday night, Albuquerque and Amarillo split. The Amarillo Gold Sox won the first game, 14-5, but dropped the nightcap, 8-7.

Tonight, last-place Amarillo is at Albuquerque; Tulsa plays at Austin, and San Antonio stays in El Paso.

The Missions held the hard hitting Sun Kings, to just six hits Tuesday night, and no homers. San Antonio collected two four-baggers and 15 hits to coast to victory.

Colts Post Victory Over Woodward

Pampa's Colts downed Woodward, Okla. Monday night in a non-district game at the Optimist park diamond, 12-10.

Mike Clark gained the win for the Colts, allowing seven hits, striking out six and walking three. Rutherford, who pitched the final two innings for the Colts, gave up one hit, struck out four and didn't walk a man.

S. West was the losing pitcher for Woodward.

The Colts trailed 10-5 going into the bottom half of the seventh inning, but came up with six big runs to provide the margin of victory. The Colts picked up another run in the bottom of the eighth to sew it up.

Nutt led the locals with the timber with three for six while Stroud and Schreiner each picked up a pair of hits to share in the swat attack. Stroud had a double for the only extra base blow for the Colts.

For Woodward, Neighbors, Parker and Hardy each had a pair of hits to lead the losers at the plate.

The Colts picked up seven hits while Woodward had eight.

The Colts resume league play tonight at 8 p.m. when they host Spearman at the Optimist park diamond.

McKinley Leads American Stars

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, Mo., led a reduced field of seven American survivors into second round action today in the men's singles division of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Eight Yanks were knocked off in Monday's opening round. This shaped up as an easier day for the survivors, with six of the seven Americans favored to wrap up berths in the third round.

McKinley, second ranked amateur in the United States and fifth seed in this tournament, faced Mike Hann of England. Last year, the Texas collegian lost to Rod Laver of Australia in the final.

Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., unseeded here although he is ranked No. 1 in the U.S., also was expected to ease into the third round at the expense of Fred McMillan of South Africa.

Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., back in the good graces of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, drew the center court for his match against Russia's Sergei Likhachev; Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., met Dr. John Fraser of Australia; Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., took on Bill Bowery of Australia; and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., opposed India's Jaidir, Mukerjee.

The day's toughest task was drawn by Mal Fox of Baltimore, Md., who faced a tough struggle against Alan Mills of England.

Laver, considered by many experts to be a better player now than he was last year, drew Tony Pickard of England as his second-round opponent. Second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia met Wilhelm-Bungert of Germany and third-seeded Neale Fraser, of Australia, opposed compatriot Geoff Pares.

With four representatives, already assured of third round berths in the women's singles, the U.S. hoped to add another four today.

One American girl faced elimination when Justina Bricka of St. Louis met Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla. In other matches, Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., opposed Pat Hird of England, Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, took on Elizabeth Starkie, of England, and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., was matched against Mary Hawton of Australia.

The four U.S. girls who drew first-round byes and then won second-round matches Tuesday are Billie Jean Moffitt and Darlene Hard, both of Long Beach, Calif., Vicky Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., and Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif.

Miss Moffitt was the author of one of the greatest upsets in Wimbledon women's history by beating top-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5, Tuesday. The 19-year-old, stocky Californian, trailed 2-5 in the final set before rallying to eliminate Miss Smith, who had been regarded as the world's top women's player.

The upset left Miss Hard in an excellent position to take the Wimbledon crown. Miss Hard, top-ranked in the U.S. and second-seeded to Miss Smith here, easily won her opening match from Ruth Illingworth of England, 6-0, 6-2.

C And M In Win Over Milliron

C and M Television downed Milliron Monday night, 4-2, in a Northern league contest at the Optimist park.

Gary Howell was the winning pitcher, with Benton the loser.

Floyd Hatcher had a double and one RBI while Claude Combs, Mike Sheppard and Mike Pursley each had one run batted in piece.

C and M picked up seven hits during the course of the game.

Rangers In Split With Omaha Nine

United Press International—The Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers, deep in the American Association cellar, blanked the second-place Omaha Dodgers 10-0 in the nightcap of a doubleheader Tuesday but dropped the opener, 3-2.

In other action, league leading Indianapolis nipped hosting Denver, 8-7, in 13 innings; and visiting Louisville slammed Oklahoma City, 7-1.

At Omaha, the lopsided Ranger victory in the second tilt featured four home runs. Leo Burke smacked a solo in the third frame; Wayne Graham slugged another with one on the fifth; Sandy Valdespino got a two-run blast in the sixth; and Mickey Harrington hit a round-tripper with two aboard in the seventh.

Willard Schmidt allowed only three hits on the way to his shut-out. Dick Scarborough suffered the loss.

In the opener, Kurt Robe scored himself and a teammate in the first on a homer and crossed the plate in the second after doubling for all the Dodgers needed. Jack Smith took the win in relief, and Al Neiger, who gave up all six Omaha hits in three innings, was the loser.

Al Weis scored the winning run for the Indians after a walk and singles by Tom McGraw and Roman Condie. Taylor Phillips was credited with the victory and Fred Gladding the loss.

The Colonels scored three runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh to break up a mound duel between winner Connie Grob and loser Jerry Nelson. Frank Leja's homer with one aboard in the sixth was the big blow against the 8ers, whose Mike White was 4-for-4 at the plate.

The schedule tonight had Louisville at Oklahoma City for two games; Indianapolis at Denver and Dallas-Fort Worth at Omaha.

THE MISSING CRUTCH

Cerv Sold By Yankees To Houston Colts On Waiver

NEW YORK (UPI)—Outfielder Bob Cerv, who served three hitches with the New York Yankees during an 11-year American League career, will try to carve out a new career for himself with the Houston Colts of the National League.

The 36-year-old, 240-pound right handed hitter, was sold by the Yankees Tuesday night for the $20,000 waiver price. It was the third time the Yankees traded him despite the fact that he once was considered one of the hottest prospects in their farm system.

Cerv started this season with a .278 lifetime average, including a .305 campaign, spiced with 38 homers, with the Kansas City Athletics in 1958. Bob had made only two hits in 17 official at bats for the Yankees this year.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Hon. Timothy Tugbutoron stormed into the newsmen today in a fearsome rage, striking out with his cane and hollering, "Tain't right and I ain't gonna stand for it."

Whacking his stick on the newsdesk, the old man shattered the tip. The ferrule flipped into the works of a news wire Teletype, jamming the machine and delaying transmission of a red hot report that the U. S. Treasury still was in the red with no prospect of getting out.

Remember, if you are planning an all-day outing at the lake or just a backyard picnic, don't forget to stop by at H & M Cut Rate Liquor Store and select your favorite beverage. Looking for a wide variety of mix ingredients? You will find them here also.

"What about that?" he demanded. "Here is this Organization of American States laying out nearly $250,000 for an Italian firm to study agriculture in Ecuador, and who pays the bill?"

"I'll tell you who pays the bill. The U. S. taxpayer, that's who," Dilman examined the clipping. The study had, indeed, been ordered at a cost of $249,000 and it was to be conducted, the story said, under the Alliance for Progress program in which the United States is to invest billions of dollars in an effort to raise living standards in South and Central America. The study is to be carried out under the supervision of technicians representing the Organization of American States.

And don't forget the "pronto" delivery by just telephoning MO 4-8102.

"What's wrong with that, Tim?" Dilman inquired. "Seems like a good idea, a study like that."

"A course its a good idea," Tugbutoron replied, getting red again in the face. "But, why an Italian firm? The U. S. handed this Organization of American States $6 million to help along the Alliance for Progress. That's where that study money will come from, the study money that is being exported to Italy."

That young fella in the White House, wasn't he saying just the other day that our trouble in the U. S. wasn't inflation or big government deficits or the like o' that? He said our trouble was too many dollars escaping from the U. S. A., like the study dollars are escaping to Italy.

"What I want to know is who made the deal to give this $6 million to this Organization of American States with no strings attached about spending the money in the U. S. if what was wanted was available here. That's what I want to know."

"We spend so much money on our Agriculture Department that we can't raise it by taxes and the department has so many employees you can't count 'em. And who does this farm study in Ecuador? The Italians, that's who."

At Your Favorite Supermarket or Drug Store.

"That don't make no sense to me," Tugbutoron said angrily. "It ain't the only thing in Washington that don't make no sense, either."

Without a moment's delay, the old man produced a news clipping, slapped it on the desk in front of G. Dilman the office drudge.
