Katanga War Halted For Peace Conference By Top Congo Leaders

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—Katanga President Moise Tshombe flew off to Kitona with U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion today for a conference with Congo central government Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The meeting was brought about through a massive United Nations attack on Tshombe's forces in Elisabethville and President Kennedy's efforts to resolve the Congo's turmoil.

It could provide a dramatic breakthrough in the agonizing efforts of this giant African land to achieve peace and unity.

Fighting was stopped in Elisabethville — at least temporarily. UPI correspondent Neil Smith reported from the Katanga capital that the halt to the fighting came Monday after the city had taken its worst pounding yet from United Nations mortars and planes.

He said there was wild relief throughout the city. Little groups of people gathered outside the Hotel Leopold and children who had been kept indoors were allowed to venture out for the first time in two weeks.

Tshombe agreed to the talks with Adoula when it became obvious his embattled forces could not last much longer against the U.N. attack.

He left Elisabethville late Monday in the company of U.S. Consul Lewis Hoffacker, British Consul Denzil Dunnett and French Consul Joseph Lambroschini and drove to Kitwe where they spent the night.

This morning they drove to Ndola where Gullion, under Kennedy's directions, had arrived Monday from Leopoldville aboard a U.S. Air Force Globemaster.

The big plane took off this morning for Kitona, on the Congo's Atlantic coast. Kitona was selected as the meeting site to give Tshombe maximum assurance that he would be safe. There are believed to be no Congo troops at Kitona.

During a previous "unity" conference of Congolese political leaders at Coquilhatville, central government troops seized Tshombe and took him to Leopoldville. He was held for awhile but ultimately permitted to return to Elisabethville after agreeing to cooperate with the central government.

When he arrived back in his home capital Tshombe rejected the agreements he had made, saying he had been under pressure.

Since then Katanga steadily moved further away from the Leopoldville government and Tshombe became firmer in his determination to withdraw Katanga from the Congo.

Dog, Trapped 52 Days In Mine, Saved

GILBERT, W. Va. (UPI)—After being stuck in a hole for 52 days, Brownie, the mongrel dog, is out in the open again.

Brownie, who fell into a mine while chasing a rabbit, was a little apprehensive and a trifle skinnier when rescuers pulled him to safety. In fact, he looked all nose and eyes.

But his master, Richard Hatfield, 21, was happy.

A friend heard the dog's weak bark in the mine 18 days after the disappearance and Hatfield and others started feeding him scraps through a crevice. Seepage in the mine provided water.

Then the digging started.

The Rev. Marshall Harless, pastor of the Sprattsville Baptist Church, climbed into a bulldozer Monday for the last stab at the side of the mine. Charles Dillon, one of the rescue workers, crawled in and brought Brownie out.

Nehru Asserts Victory Proves Invasion Right

BELGAUM, India (UPI)—Indian troops overwhelmed 16,000 Portuguese troops entrenched in the Goan capital of Pangim in a fierce battle early today and the military commander of Goa surrendered, the Indian army announced.

The action meant that India was in complete control of Portugal's three enclaves in little more than 24 hours after launching its invasions.

Lt. Gen. J. N. Choudhuri, commanding the Indian invasion forces, announced he had accepted Portuguese Gov. General Vasco E. Silva's surrender this morning.

In New Delhi, Premier Jawaharlal Nehru proclaimed that "operations inside Goa are practically over."

He said the swiftness of the takeover, with only "light casualties," showed the "correctness of India's assessment of the situation."

He said those who criticized India's invasion "were obviously ignorant of the facts now as well as the last dozen years and more."

"As I told you Monday, taking any military action is contrary to my grain," Nehru told newsmen. "It hurts me to do it. I could only agree to this because the consequences of not taking it would have been very harmful, even from the point of violence."

The capture of Pangim had been expected at any time since last midnight, but the Indians said they delayed their offensive because they feared there would be heavy civilian casualties if they attacked immediately.

Indian officials said there was "very heavy fighting" after dawn but the Portuguese laid down their arms after a final, 50-minute mortar barrage.

U.S. Warns Goa Cease-Fire Veto May Destroy UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The Soviet Union cast its 99th veto early today to block the Security Council from calling for a cease-fire in Goa.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said the action could lead to "the death of the United Nations."

The United States, Britain, France and Turkey had submitted a resolution calling on India to stop its attack on Goa and two other Portuguese enclaves, withdrawal of its troops and negotiate a settlement with Portugal in accordance with the U.N. Charter.

China, Turkey and Chile lined up with the sponsors to support the call, giving it the required seven votes for passage. Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic voted with Russia against the call, but since Russia is a permanent member its vote served as a veto.

Indian and its supporters sought to justify the attack on the Portuguese enclaves as necessary to wipe out colonialism.

The United States and its supporters deplored the use of force for such a purpose.

"Can anyone believe that huge India is acting in self defense against this little territory?" Stevenson asked in the debate which started Monday afternoon and lasted until after midnight.

Stevenson spoke somberly after the Soviet veto erased possibility of council action.

"I am the only delegate. I think, at this table who was present at the birth of this organization," he said. "Tonight, we are witnessing the first act in a drama which could end with its death."

"The League of Nations died. I remind you, when its members no longer resisted the use of aggressive force..."

"The failure of the Security Council to call for a cease-fire in these simple circumstances is a failure of the United Nations. The veto of the Soviet Union is consistent with its long role of obstruction. But I find the attitude of some other members of the council profoundly disturbing and ominous because we have witnessed an effort to rewrite the Charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purpose. This approach can only lead to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin said Stevenson's "dramatic utterance is completely out of keeping with the decisions we have adopted."

"Today," Zorin said, "there was no beginning of an end of the United Nations, but a will to defend colonial-dominated peoples and countries... It is something to the credit of the council and not a manifestation of its weakness."

Carols Feature Yule Programs In Schools

Christmas carols have been ringing out in Pampa's school auditoriums in recent days as rehearsals were held for Christmas programs to be given prior to dismissal for the holidays.

School will be dismissed at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday for the holiday vacation and will resume again on Jan. 2, 1962.

PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL

The Pampa High School's annual Christmas program was highlighted by the A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Hugh Sanders. The choir, consisting of 73 voices, presented a cantata at 9:40 a.m. today in the auditorium.

ROBERT E. LEE JUNIOR HIGH

Robert E. Lee Junior High's seventh, eighth and ninth grade choirs will join in a musical wish for a joyous season on Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. in the school auditorium.

SEVENTH GRADE CHOIR

The seventh grade choir, in their first performance of the year, is directed by Miss Margaret Schurch. The eighth and ninth grade choirs are directed by Mrs. C. L. Cross. Choir numbers will be introduced by Kim Wilson.

SPECIAL SELECTIONS

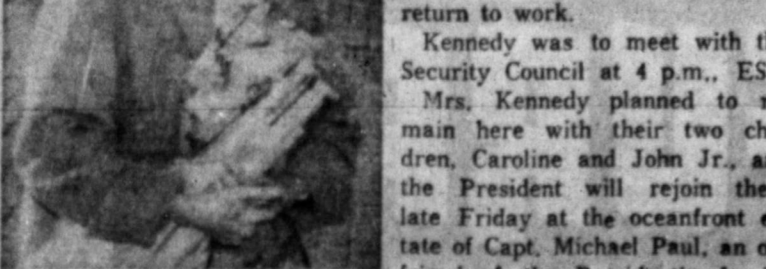

Special selections will be presented by the seventh grade girls' sextet, composed of Jean Shepard, Cynthia Osborne, Linda Steger, Linda Frazer, Marilyn Peterson and Kathy Hall singing "Away In A Manger"; a ninth grade girls' trio, Susan Lawrence, Janet Guthrie and Sandra Bowen will sing "Jingle Bell Rock."

MISS WILSON WILL READ

Miss Wilson will read "The Legend of the Christ Child" accompanied with background music by Miss Jane Hendrix.

CONCLUDING PORTION

The concluding portion will be the student body, as a supporting cast, for a group of Christmas Carols in a "Sing Along With"

FOUR SHOPPING days until Christmas.

Weather To Get Colder Tonight; Warning Issued

Bitter cold weather rolled southward across Texas today, plummeting temperatures in the Panhandle to 13 degrees and dropping the mercury below freezing all through the north and northwest.

The Weather Bureau said cold air would cover the entire state by dusk, with much colder temperatures tonight and early Wednesday.

PAMPA SEEMED DESTINED

Pampa seemed destined to escape the predicted bitter cold, the late forecast today said.

WINDS THAT STIRRED UP DUST

Winds that stirred up dust in the South Plains with gusts up to 72 miles per hour Monday subsided as the cold air moved in.

COLD WAVE WARNINGS

Cold wave warnings were issued for all of North Texas. Snow flurries which were predicted earlier for the northwest appeared unlikely as skies remained generally fair. Thick ground fog was reported in deep southern Texas.

OVERNIGHT LOWS

Overnight lows early today ranged from 13 at Dalhart to 56 at Corpus Christi. It was 20 degrees at Lubbock, 21 at Amarillo, 23 at Alpine, 30 at Midland, Abilene, San Angelo and Wichita Falls. It was 20 degrees in Pampa.

THE COLD AIR

The cold air was the southern edge of a massive system which forced the Weather Bureau to issue cold wave and heavy snow warnings all through the Plains and middle United States.

THE FRIGID AIR MASS

The frigid air mass, chased away a warming trend in the regions of the state it reached. Amarillo had the coldest temperature Monday—51. Laredo was high with 81 degrees.

GUSTY WINDS

Gusty winds up to 70 miles per hour kicked up a small dust storm yesterday in the South Plains area, around Lubbock and Littlefield.

KENNEDY STOPPED OFF

Kennedy stopped off here Monday on his way back from South America to treat a heavy head cold with sleep, rest and sunshine. Originally he was scheduled to fly on to Washington Monday morning after dropping off Mrs. Kennedy here to get ready for the family Christmas holidays.

Because of the cold, which caused him some ear discomfort during the flight from Colombia, Kennedy decided to take a day off. Examined and treated by two doctors, he improved measurably during the day. Monday night the White House said he had improved greatly and was ready to return to work.

Kennedy was to meet with the Security Council at 4 p.m., EST. Mrs. Kennedy planned to remain here with their two children, Caroline and John Jr., and the President will rejoin them late Friday at the oceanfront estate of Capt. Michael Paul, an old friend of the President's family who has made his place available to them for the holidays.

Pampa Folk Protest UN Katanga Action

A movement started at a Pampa meeting Sunday afternoon to protest action of U.N. troops in Katanga and demanding their withdrawal from the Congo, was reported snowballing today by Mrs. Forrest N. Hills, one of the Pampa backers of the Texas Committee for Aid to Katanga.

Mrs. Hills said an original group of 14 persons met in her home Sunday to pool information and study the situation in Katanga while U. N. troops were reported assaulting the presidential palace of President Moise Tshombe at Elisabethville.

FOLLOWING THE READING

Following the reading of news releases and a discussion of the Katangese situation, Mrs. Hills said, it was decided to send the following telegram to Washington officials, including President John F. Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Senators John Tower and Ralph Yarborough, U.S. Representative Walter Rogers, Senators William Full-bright and Barry Goldwater, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others:

"We strongly urge immediate action to support only anti-Communist governments in Africa, demand withdrawal of U.N. troops from the Congo, withhold U. N. financial support from such operations, and halt the murder of friends of freedom."

Mrs. Hills said the telegram was signed by 33 Pampans who were contacted following the meeting and voiced their approval of the group's protests.

"Since the telegrams were sent," Mrs. Hills said, "others have joined in the protest and the telegrams are continuing to go out."

Mrs. Hills said she hoped others would join in the protest movement.

Members of the group expressed the fear that unless the U.N. withdraws its support of the attack on Tshombe, the Katanga president will be forced into a coalition with pro-Communists and Katanga will go the way of other Red-dominated countries that have been gobbled up in similar situations.

It was stated yesterday that U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant, with support of the United States, repeatedly has made clear there will be no cease-fire until the U.N. objectives in Katanga are achieved.

Mrs. Hills said today that protest night letters are available at Western Union here and can be sent for $1.50.

"We hope many other Pampans will wire their sentiments to the officials concerned," she said.

Changes In Pampa's Water Setup Urged

With Mayor E. C. Sidwell and Commissioner L. P. Fort absent, the City Commission today held a brief session and put off most of its business until next week when a full commission will be on hand.

Today's meeting lasted only 43 minutes.

Mitchell Hill, South Side businessman, appeared before the commission and urged the city solons to take a close look at water department operations, a subject which has been discussed at previous meetings.

With the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority project coming up, Hill stated, the time also is drawing near for the city to get its water setup organized.

Pointing to a recent statement that the city was getting paid for only 60 gallons out of every 100 gallons of water pumped, Hill said:

"It is time for us to get our house in order and get the water department on a basis where we meter all gallons and get paid for all gallons pumped," he said.

Hill said a group of citizens had learned some facts that should be remedied. In a generalized statement Hill charged that some water consumers who should be paying were getting free water and some were paying lower rates than others in similar situations.

Hill also said that he thought Recreation Park, which he said is owned by the taxpayers, is not being handled right.

"I do not believe that we should lease Recreation Park the taxpayers' property — to just anyone for $1 a year," Hill said.

Commissioner Leon Holmes, serving as mayor pro tem in Mayor Sidwell's absence, told Hill that the mayor had ordered a study of the water rate situation and that he felt the alleged conditions mentioned would be reported on in the complete analysis.

Commissioners discussed briefly plans to name a city zoning board, put over until next meeting approval of a final bill from Koch, Fowler and Grafe, Inc., Dallas planning engineers; discussed a financial report on the Canadian Municipal Water Authority, and approved payment of a $569.93 bill to Continental Oil Co. for gasoline.

Indonesia Calls For Dutch Area

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—President Sukarno ordered the armed forces today to prepare to "liberate" West Irian (Dutch New Guinea). He spoke of ordering "total mobilization" in Indonesia to attain this goal.

Sukarno, speaking to an estimated 15 million Indonesians here, issued a "final command" to his people to raise the Indonesian flag over West Irian, taking control of the Dutch possession in the Pacific.

He expressed thanks to supporters of his campaign, "particularly socialist countries"—apparently meaning the Communist states of Europe and Asia.

"Some people accuse us of being too friendly with socialist countries, but they are assisting us and we are grateful," Sukarno said.

Unofficial sources in Jakarta said Sukarno's long-heralded speech was milder than they had expected. They pointed out that he set no date for "liberation" of the Dutch territory, nor did he say exactly how he expected the Indonesian flag to be raised there.

Some sources speculated that President Sukarno's recent letter to Sukarno may have moderated his stand. The United States was believed here to be trying to persuade Sukarno that America is on his side.

The Indonesian leader called on the natives of West Irian to side with Indonesia by defeating Dutch efforts to give them their own state.

Bald Texan Gets Spongy Yule Comb

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Sheriff's radio dispatcher Elmer Le Fever is about to become a polished gentleman because of a Christmas gift from his brother, E. G. Le Fever of Santa Fe, N.M.

The gift was a comb with a sponge where its teeth should be.

"He's just as bald as I am," Elmer grinned. "I'm going to send him some shampoo."

Another Autopsy Slated In Death Of State Oilman

HOUSTON (UPI)—A chemist's findings of substantial quantities of arsenic has caused the children of James E. (Ted) Redburn to order another autopsy of the San Antonio oilman who died 24 years ago.

Redburn's remains have been removed from a Forest Park mausoleum in Houston to the Pat Foley Funeral Home for a scientific investigation by an unnamed pathologist.

Dr. Joseph A. Jachimczyk, Harris County medical examiner, performed an autopsy after the body was exhumed last July 21 from the Mission Burial Park in San Antonio. He reported finding no arsenic.

Max Redburn, 38-year-old son of the millionaire oilman who lives in Houston, said a Houston laboratory (Shilstone Testing Laboratory) had examined the coffin and vault and "they found substantial quantities of arsenic in the bottom of both."

"There was too much arsenic to have been deposited by normal causes," he said, "We of course want to find out where the arsenic came from. That is why we will have another autopsy."

Records of Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio, obtained after the Redburns got a court order, show that Ted Redburn died of "streptococcal septicemia," a blood infection.

"We have been told by prominent medical authorities that septicemia alone could be a final causation of arsenic poisoning," Max Redburn said.

In 1955, after the death of their mother, Edith, the children filed lawsuits against the former business associates of Ted Redburn. The lawsuits alleged that the association induced Mrs. Redburn to sell interests in two oil firms for much less than their actual worth.

Named in the suit were Fred W. Shield, a prominent San Antonio oilman; O. E. Spear, a former accountant for Redburn, and H. A. de Campagne, a Denver oilman.

A judgment for $8,300 was finally given by the courts to the Redburns, and was paid by Shields.

The Redburns said up to $30 million worth of property was involved.

Union To Appeal Court Judgement For $1,186,558

PERRYTON, Tex. (UPI)—Dist. Judge Max Boyer said Monday that Local 351 of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-CIO) plan to appeal a $1,186,558 judgment against them.

Boyer, of the 84th District Court in nearby Borger, entered the judgment against the union last Friday in favor of 28 former union members.

"They (the union) intend to appeal," definitely," Boyer said. He said the appeal would go to the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo.

The men contended they were among 33 employees of the Phillips Petroleum Co. who were fired for insubordination and illegal strike activity which was carried out by union order during a May, 1959, strike.

Last July, a jury returned a verdict awarding between $24,217 and $86,700 to each of the 28 men who brought the suit.

The union has, under Texas law, 10 days from last Friday, to file for a new trial if they wish to appeal the case.

City Employees To Stage Yule Fete Thursday

Plans were nearing the completion stage today for the annual Christmas party for city employees and their families to be held Thursday evening in the new city warehouse on the east side of Hobart St. Park.

Jiggs Cook, director of public works, said some 500 persons are expected to attend the dinner and entertainment scheduled to get under way at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Aubrey Jones, city tax assessor-collector, will act as master of ceremonies. Coy Palmer will play organ music and Jan Holman, 16-year-old Pampa High School soprano, will entertain. Miss Holman has been chosen to sing with the All-State choir next February in Dallas.

Santa Claus will be at the party with a gift for every child. The dinner at the Christmas party which will consist of ham, turkey, dressing, and all the trimmings will be served by members of the Pampa Odd Fellows Lodge.

Panhandle Man Hurt In Mishap

A. W. Dills, superintendent of buses in the Panhandle School system, suffered lacerations of the hand and possible chest injuries Monday afternoon in a one car traffic accident eight miles Southwest of Pampa.

The Panhandle Highway Patrol office said Dills was driving a station wagon owned by the Panhandle school. The accident occurred about 6 o'clock.

India

Goa today told a harrowing tale of an air escape during an Indian artillery attack and a night flight to avoid interception.

Forty-eight refugees said they cleared rubble from the runway with their bare hands during the night after the Indians bombed the airport three times Monday morning.

India's drive to end 451 years of Portuguese rule over Goa, Damao and Diu opened Monday morning.

The outnumbered Portuguese garrisons in Damao and Diu capitulated without a struggle, but the Indian forces met resistance in Goa, where the Portuguese resisted bitterly and destroyed bridges, railways and stores.

The Indian army, navy and air force smashed the Pangim garrison's resistance after eight hours of heavy fighting. First reports said there were many casualties, but no details were available.

Fugitive Pampa Prisoner Killed

City police officials received word today from the Oklahoma City, Okla., police department, that a 50-year-old man, who escaped from Pampa city jail in 1947, was killed by Oklahoma police Monday night while attempting a burglary in that city.

The man was Hubert Fifer. He was being held in the Pampa jail on charges of burglarizing the Edmondson Dry Cleaners, S. Ballard St.

Police Captain Denny Roan, said Fifer escaped through a ventilator shaft in one of the cells. Since that time, Roan said, the shaft has been replaced.

Man Injured As Car Swerves To Miss Hitting Dog

The front porch of a Pampa residence was damaged, a Pampa woman was cited for changing direction in traffic unsafely and a man is in Highland General Hospital as a result of a one car traffic accident at 2:45 a.m. today.

Eva McPherson Eckroat, 37, of 700 Bradley Dr., told officers she was driving north on Starkweather Street when a dog ran into the path of the automobile. She said she turned out to miss the dog and lost control of the vehicle.

Officers said the car apparently left the street on the left side and ran into the front porch of a house at 117 Starkweather. No one in the home was injured.

A passenger in the car, Otho Henville, 43, of 1032 Francis, was taken by ambulance to Highland General Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises about the face. His condition was listed as good today.

Officers said the driver of the car was cited for changing direction in traffic unsafely.

Damage to the home was estimated at $100 and estimated damage to automobile was set at $500.

Several hours after the accident, officers said, the 37-year-old driver of the car was arrested on N. Hobart St. and charged with being intoxicated. She was not driving at the time she was arrested.

She was released on $100 bond today when she pleaded not guilty in Corporation Court to the charge of being intoxicated. She pleaded guilty to the charge of changing direction in traffic unsafely and fined $10 and costs.

New Jersey Town To Use Relievers To Shovel Snow

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (UPI)—This city plans to use able bodied men who are on relief to aid in snow removal this winter, it was announced Monday.

Mrs. Ruth Dudley, welfare director in this central New Jersey city of about 45,000 persons, said a check of relief rolls showed that 12 to 15 men would be available to help the city in the event of a heavy snowstorm. She described the program as an experiment.

Any income received by relievers for shoveling snow would be credited against their assistance funds, Mrs. Dudley said.

Five Persons Die In Auto Accident

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—A blowout sent a car skidding out of control off a highway and into a tree Monday night, killing five persons and injuring two. The dead were Calvin Boyer, 30, and Claude McCray, 27, both of Sparta, Ga.; and Mary Steadman Alvin, 23, Alex Dunbar, 35, and Mattie Pearl Perkins, 33, all of Savannah.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—A restaurant in the sky is planned as part of a development to be built here near the new NASA spacecraft laboratory.

Vote On Rayburn Successor Will Occur Saturday

BONHAM (UPI)—Voters in the second smallest congressional district in the nation go to the polls Saturday to pick one of six candidates to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

It will be the first time in almost a half-century that Rayburn's name will not be on the ballot in the 4th Congressional District.

He was first elected to the post on July 27, 1912 at the age of 29, and served continuously until his death of cancer last Nov. 16.

Conner Harrington, 36, a young Plano farmer who said his main aim in Congress would be to "help prevent the country from sliding toward socialism" is the only Republican in the field.

The Democrats are State Sen. Ray Roberts, 48, McKinney, R. C. Slagle Jr., 51, Roy Baker, 47, and David Brown, 41, all attorneys from Sherman, and Jack Finney, 45, a retired Greenville baker.

Most of the Democratic candidates also indicate they are conservatives. Roberts and Slagle, who has been endorsed by organized labor in the area, are considered the strongest candidates.

"I am a man who hates to see a dollar wasted," Roberts said. "I guess I am generally conservative about public spending. As far as the humanities are concerned, I am rather liberal."

Slagle brushed aside questions about whether he is conservative or liberal, and answers only: "I am a Sam Rayburn Democrat."

Roberts also is running as a "Rayburn Democrat" and has campaigned as the only candidate with legislative experience and "Washington know-how." He gained this, he says, when he served for three years on Rayburn's staff.

The district is made up of Grayson, Fannin, Collin, Hunt, Rains, Rockwall and Kaufman counties. The 1960 census listed the district's population at 216,371. There are about 60,000 registered voters.

But officials do not expect a large turnout.

Pete Holman, county clerk of Fannin County, Rayburn's home county, said only 25 absentee ballots have been received and the vote in the county probably will not go above 3,000.

If no candidate gets a majority of the vote, Gov. Price Daniel will have to set the date for a runoff election, probably before Feb. 1, if the runoff is necessary.

Wheat Dedicated To Overseas Use In Perryton Rites

Local Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) leaders and workers gathered recently in Perryton to dedicate 90,000 pounds of wheat for overseas relief through the Church-World Service.

Herman Wiebe, Ochiltree County CROP chairman, credited workers and contributors. "More could have been done through more participants," he said. Sixty thousand pounds were raised by the Ochiltree county team. The balance of the shipment was provided by contributions from Gray county.

Rev. Norman A. Sundwall, Austin, executive director for the state CROP program was present for the dedication and stated that the shipment has been designated for Algeria and Austria.

Local workers and contributors were encouraged by the accommodating service, without charge, of the Perryton Equity Exchange and the Santa Fe Railroad's contribution of hauling the cargo from Perryton to Houston.

New Stock Mart To Open In N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI)—A third stock exchange will begin operations here March 7, 1962.

Plans for the new exchange, the National Stock Exchange, were disclosed at a news conference Monday by chairman Lawrence H. Taylor.

Taylor said shares of eight to ten companies will be traded initially, but added "we hope to have about 25" listed by the end of the first year.

Star Of Video's 'Bonanza' Marries

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (UPI)—Lorne Greene, star of television's "Bonanza" series, and actress Nancy Deale, 46, and married Sunday, Dec. 28, known theatrically as Lisa Cummings, were wed here in a home which Greene bought last week.

"The Voices of Christmas" will be presented by the Lamar School choir in an assembly planned for 10 a.m. Wednesday in the school auditorium. Voices of all ages will sing of the "First Christmas;" other voices will sing of "Christmas Today."

The Lamar School Band, directed by Homer, Krenger in its first performance of the year, presented a program on Tuesday at 1:15 in the school auditorium.

SAM HOUSTON SCHOOL

Sam Houston's choir, directed by Miss Eloise Lane, will present a program of Christmas songs in the school auditorium at 1 p.m. Wednesday. To be included in the program is "The Twelve Days of Christmas" in two rounds sung with imitation chime accompaniment. The student body will join the choir in singing some of the numbers. Parents are invited to attend the program.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN SCHOOL

Stephen F. Austins fifth and sixth grade choirs will present a program of "Christmas Songs Of Other Lands" in an assembly to be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the school auditorium. The program is under the direction of Mrs. Roy Sullivan, music instructor, with Lynda Gunn and Sharon Camber as accompanists for the sixth grade choir; Linda Garrett and Monte Westbrook, accompanists for the fifth grade choir.

Narrators for the program will be Ellen McDaniel, Gary Parrish, Mariann Gregory, Michael Vendrell, Helen McDaniel, Gail Craddock, Jan Pitts, Mike Sublett, Lynda Tribble, Vicki Martin.

Throughout this week, as is traditional at Austin, the student body has gathered around the Christmas tree in the hall at 8:45 a.m. and sung Christmas carols before going to their classrooms.

ST. MATTHEWS' DAY SCHOOL

A Christmas Tableau was presented by students of St. Matthews' Day School in a program held at 11 a.m. today. The tableau was written and directed by Mrs. George Casey, who also accompanied the numbers at the piano.

Taking part in the tableau were Deborah Richardson as Mary; Dick Bailey as Joseph; Kathy Kennedy as Elizabeth; James Burton as Gabriel with John Smith and Karen Jordan as narrators.

Included in a selection of carols, sung by the students, was a French Christmas carol, "Il est Ne."

ST. VINCENT DEPAUL SCHOOL

A combined choir program will be presented by the third through the eighth grade choirs of St. Vincent dePaul Catholic School on Friday morning. Sister Joan Of Arc will direct the choirs in a selection of Christmas carols.

TRAVIS SCHOOL

The fifth and sixth grade choirs of Travis Elementary School, directed by Miss Florita Young, presented in a cappella "The Christmas Story" at an assembly of the student body held Dec. 14 in the school auditorium.

James Spidell read related scripture followed by pantomimes of "The Christmas Story" by Linda Adams as Gabriel; Debra Harris as Mary; Randolph Veazey as Joseph.

Dear Abby... Lady Should Stick By Her Guns

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A couple my husband and I have known for many years have recently separated. They are not divorced, but it is being considered. They have small children, so all their friends are hoping for a reconciliation.

As a friendly gesture I suggested we invite this man for dinner. (His wife is out of town.) My husband issued the invitation and the man asked if he could bring a "lady friend." I blew my stack and wanted to call the whole thing off. My husband says I am being narrow-minded and should go through with it because it is rude to withdraw an invitation. I don't know his "lady friend" and don't care to meet her. As far as I am concerned he is still a married man and I refuse to entertain a married man and his "lady friend" in my home. What is proper?

STRAIGHT-LACED DEAR STRAIGHT-LACED: You are right. Stick to your principles. If you are among those "hoping for a reconciliation," entertaining the man and his lady friend won't help matters.

DEAR ABBY: I want to know from your readers if they have ever had the same thing said to them that my daughter said to me. She is to be 13 and yesterday she shouted she wished she had never been born. Is this natural for girls this age?

MRS. D. DEAR MRS. D.: It's "natural." Almost all of us have said it. Or thought it. (Haven't you?) But don't take it seriously. It is said in excitement, and will be quickly forgotten.

DEAR ABBY: What can a minister's wife do about all these showers? People don't stop to realize the pastor's wife is the only one in the entire congregation who is invited to all the showers. I can't get a gift for one and not for another. To buy gifts for all would break a rich person. Thank you.

PASTOR'S WIFE DEAR WIFE: Take a token gift, or whatever your purse will allow. The folks who invite you must be aware of your financial limitations as well as the social burdens a pastor's wife must bear.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NEAL OF CALIF. I do not consider myself a fashion expert, but I predict that this spring there will be much change in ladies' dresses, and little change in men's pockets.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

Housewives And Business Gals Make Serious Mistakes With Hasty Meals

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The housewife who concocts a hasty lunch on leftovers and the business girl who has a quick sandwich at her desk so that she can shop are both making serious mistakes.

True, there are days when there just isn't enough time for everything.

But any schedule should permit at least an unhurried 15-minute lunch. There's a whole afternoon's work ahead of you. If it's to be done well, you need energy that comes from a well-balanced meal.

It's important to good looks, too. Scraps and sandwiches as a steady diet do not make for a blooming skin, shining hair and a trim figure.

Far better to have cottage cheese and raw vegetables. This is a luncheon easily and quickly prepared and good for you, too.

Have it in a quiet and pleasant place. Don't stand up at a kitchen counter or munch at your desk while answering the telephone. This brief respite from the day's activities can leave you feeling refreshed for the afternoon ahead.

FOR TALL ONES
A tall, slim girl is a joy to see if she doesn't slump to hide her height.

Slumping doesn't fool anyone, and it greatly detracts from a girl's looks. Most of New York's highly paid fashion models are tall, slim girls. All of them carry themselves beautifully and to their full height.

They do watch their weight, of course. A tall girl who allows herself to become plump turns into what's known as a big girl. And this isn't a particularly flattering term.

The tall girl is fortunate in that she can wear extreme fashions that the petite girl could never get away with. The fluffy furs, skinny pants, slinky evening gowns, dramatic hats and chunky jewelry are all rightfully hers.

Your carriage should be queenly, your clothes eye-catching and your walk graceful. Make the most of what is actually a great asset.

USE WITH TASTE
Neither the teen-ager nor the mature woman looks well wearing lots of eye make-up. Actually, exotic eye make-up does the most for the young woman in her 20s or early 30s.

Both teen-ager and the older woman should use eye make-up in moderation. Not for them the outline with black pencil, the streak of mauve eyeshadow, the daring green or royal blue mascara, the fancy silver and gold. A little can go a very long way and still look extremely well.

Friendship Class Has Yule Party

The Friendship Class of the First Methodist Church held its annual Christmas party in the church parlors on Thursday at 7 p.m. with Group Two as hostesses.

Mrs. Lee Harrah registered guests.

Party decorations carried out the Christmas motif with the refreshment table appointed with a red cloth applied with Christmas trees in green. The centerpiece was an arrangement of candles arranged as a tree and later was presented to Mrs. Hubert Bratcher, as a gift from the class.

Mrs. W. R. Ewing gave the prayer.

Miss Eloise Land accompanied Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, who sang "Jesu Bambino" and "O, Holy Night."

Mrs. Elbert Walker gave a series of miscellaneous readings.

Mrs. E. B. Jones Feted With Party

Mrs. E. B. Jones was honored with a party on her birthday on Dec 11 by the members of the Ida Isabel Sunday School Class, of St. Paul Methodist Church.

The party was held in the home of Mrs. I. C. Looman, who presented Mrs. Jones with a Christmas corsage on her arrival.

Guests sang "Happy Birthday" to the honoree.

Refreshments were served from a table, appointed with a white linen cut-work cloth, centered with an arrangement of yellow roses.

Mrs. Jones was assisted with opening gifts by her granddaughter, Miss Cindy Pulse.

Attending were the honoree's daughter, Mrs. Ernest Pulse and Cindy; Mmes. E. N. Franklin, N. C. Cotten, Harold Newman, Bill Kretz, Kit Autry, C. O. Fitzgerald, S. T. Holding, J. L. Walton, Looman and Jones.

Sending a gift was Mrs. Jones' daughter, Mrs. Cleo Tom Terry, of Skellytown.

Canadian PTA Has Review Of Book

CANADIAN (Sp) — At the regular meeting of the Canadian PTA on Monday afternoon Mrs. John Isaacs presented a book review, "The Listeners."

Preceding the program refreshments were served by the 7th and 8th grade room mothers. In the contest for parent attendance the 8th grade, Freshman and Sophomore classes in the high school tied and Mrs. Montgomery's 2nd grade and Mrs. Sutton's 5th grades tied in the grade school.

Be sure to answer a wedding-reception invitation. The bride's mother must know how many will attend.

Senior Citizens Center
What a lovely Christmas Party the Altrusa Club gave for the Senior Citizens last Thursday. Each year it is bigger and better. The program was in charge of Adrienne Foster, who led the group in Christmas carols. Seven small girls from the Lollypop Pre-School sang carols and helped to distribute the gifts. Mrs. Kathryn (Aubrey) Steele gave a reading of "The Vision of Herman Willoughby"; Miss Susie Fillman presented a tap dance and the Pampa Junior High School Choir sang a selection of Christmas carols. Miss Patricia Rutledge played numbers on her accordion.

The Senior Citizens exchanged gifts among themselves and were also presented gifts by the Altrusa Club. The library lecture room was beautifully decorated with an old-fashioned Christmas tree with Santa and Mrs. Santa sitting beside it warming themselves by an old-fashioned heater. Mrs. Lillian Snow had just received a beautiful floral centerpiece of fresh flowers from her daughter-in-law, which she shared with us. There were 103 Senior Citizens present.

We were sorry to hear that J. W. Johnson suffered a stroke and is confined to Highland General Hospital. Also heard that Grandma Weedman had fallen and fractured some ribs.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Barnes were celebrating their 56th wedding anniversary on Thursday at the Center.

Mrs. Verda Adair is expecting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hall and children of Fort Worth, to spend the holidays with her.

Mrs. F. L. Trimble was called to California, because of the illness of her daughter, who underwent surgery. Her daughter is reported to be doing nicely though.

Mrs. Mary Nicholson is planning to spend Christmas with her son in White Deer.

Mrs. A. W. Brown of St. Louis is here visiting with her daughter, Adrienne Foster and came to the Christmas party on Thursday afternoon. She always attends when she is in Pampa.

Mrs. Lillian Snow, our resourceful librarian, is planning to spend Christmas with her daughter in New York City and she says the main thing she plans to see, while there, is the famous Christmas tree at the Empire State Building.

Mrs. P. H. Gates and son, Dr. Joe Gates, went to Vernon recently to visit their daughter and sister, respectively. Mrs. Tom Randy and husband, who is pastor of one of the churches in Vernon, Norman Zahn was with us again on Thursday. He is visiting his brother, A. B. Zahn over the holidays.

B. C. Rogers was in for the party on Thursday. He lives on a ranch 12 miles northeast of Pampa and we had a nice visit with him. He told us he caught a couple of foxes in traps on the ranch recently. He called the game warden (he couldn't recall his name) to come and get them. One of the foxes died but the warden took the other one down near Austin to replenish the stock there. Mr. Rogers asked us to tell anyone here who finds a den of fox, to let him or the game warden know about it, as they want to supply the refuge with new stock down there.

Mrs. Frank Hogsett brought her father, Albert Jacobs, to the Center to enjoy the party. Mrs. Jacobs is visiting with his daughter and a son, Jerry Jacobs and families here, from Carthage, Mo. Ray Sanger from Wichita Falls is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Mollie Hethcock, this week.

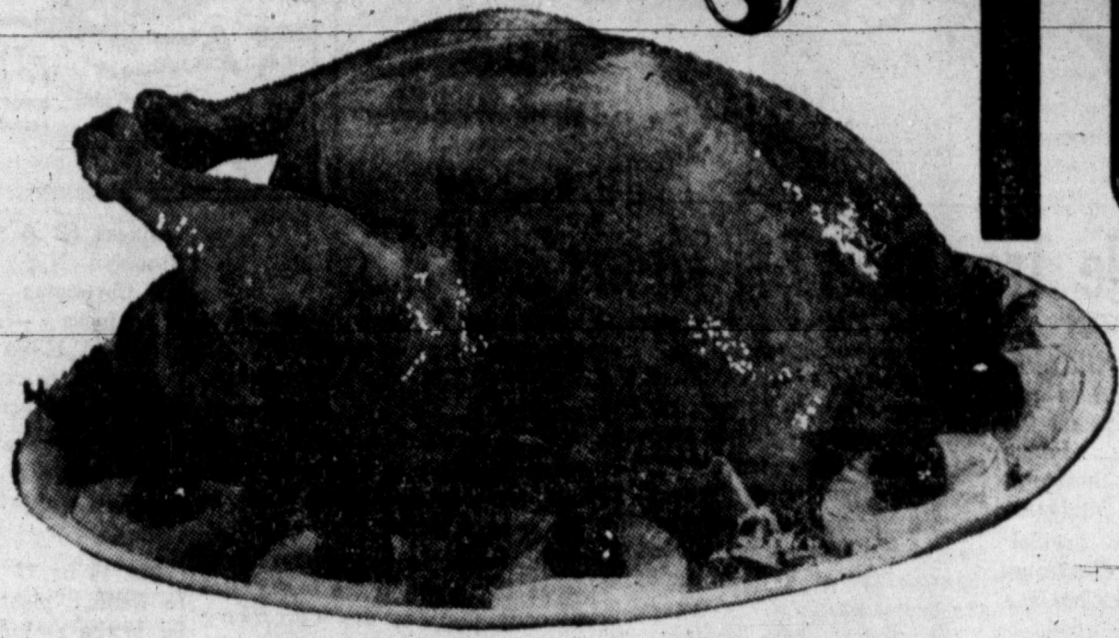

Mrs. Louise Sewell, Altrusa Club Senior Center chairman, announced that the next meeting will be on Jan. 4, 1962 and will be a party for all citizens having birthdays in January.

Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year to all. See you next year! Peace on Earth. Good Will to man. Love, Mrs. Wagner.

In The British View

JFK Moves Closer To Macmillan Policy

LONDON (NEA) — President Kennedy has finally discovered the sterling character of Prime Minister Macmillan.

Anglo-American relations are beginning to flourish again as they did during the Eisenhower Administration.

As a result, the American President will consult with the British premier more often in the future and the old "special relationship" between the two countries will be restored.

Such is the rosy picture being painted here on the eve of the Kennedy-Macmillan conference in Bermuda set for Thursday.

Ironically, the statesman credited here with bringing about this new Anglo-American understanding is neither Kennedy nor Macmillan but Gen. de Gaulle.

De Gaulle, by his intractable opposition to negotiations about the Berlin problem, has practically thrown the other two major Western statesmen into each other's arms, some observers report.

Others, however, are inclined to credit Macmillan primarily for the improvement in Anglo-American relations. In particular, they praise his patience and steadfast support of America during the Berlin crisis.

Six months ago, Macmillan was very much the odd man out, as far as President Kennedy was concerned. There is very little of the New Frontiersman about the British premier, Kennedy was inclined to look upon him as an Edwardian fuddy-duddy. So Kennedy concentrated on wooing De Gaulle.

But now all is changed, the British say. President Kennedy is furious with Gen. de Gaulle for refusing to budge on Berlin, so the President suddenly has discovered Macmillan's virtues.

Macmillan, for his part, never hid these virtues from the public to victory in the general elections. As he prepares to celebrate his fifth anniversary as British premier on Jan. 10, the British politician has good reason to be pleased with himself.

MACMILLAN AND KENNEDY: They last met in Washington in April.

In those five years Macmillan rebuilt the Tory party, which was badly demoralized at the time of the Suez invasion in 1956, and led for membership in the European Common Market.

Macmillan has been described variously as "the unflappable premier," and as an Edwardian father figure. Like most labels, these descriptions contain more than a germ of truth.

A much better description of Harold Macmillan would be the British Adenauer for, though Macmillan is 20 years younger than the German chancellor, he possesses the latter's toughness and resiliency. Beneath that Edwardian exterior lurks a very wily and hard-boiled politician.

Like Adenauer, Macmillan does not court easy popularity. His speech to the recent Conservative party annual conference is a model of austerity in the "blood, sweat, tears and toil" tradition.

The cold war he described as a "bleak ideological struggle which may last for another generation, perhaps even longer."

Speaking of the European Common Market, he warned that it was "a bracing cold shower, not a relaxing Turkish bath."

Macmillan also was full of economic warnings. Britain's invisible exports suddenly dwindled, and increases in production had not kept step with rises in wages and profits.

These are the sort of exhortations that President Kennedy made to the American nation when he first took office, and therefore it's language that the President understands.

Wholesale Thievery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pilferage is so common in New York's garment district that 3,000 dresses are stolen by dishonest employees every day from one building alone, Industrial Detectives Charles Rudnitsky and Leslie Wolf said in a booklet just published.

Artificial Yule Tree Sales Big Throughout U.S.

By JERRY SHEEHAN

MANITOWOC, Wis. (NEA) — U. S. Patent No. 2893149 is one of the simplest inventions on file in Washington, but it is making millions for a firm in this town on the shores of Lake Michigan.

The firm (Aluminum Specialty Co.) produces metal Christmas trees; the patented invention is a way of drilling holes in wood.

These glistening aluminum creations threaten to take over the holiday tree market. Last Christmas 2 1/2 million were sold—approaching 10 per cent of the total tree market.

The Manitowoc firm owes its success in large part to its special construction techniques. Their trees are sold in a knock-down condition. The buyer must assemble the tree at home.

The wooden center stalk of the tree comes with its own tripod and is merely erected in place in the home. Then the aluminum boughs—numbering from 19 to several hundred, depending on the size of the tree—are placed in holes drilled at various angles in the center stalk.

The secret here is that all branches conveniently are the same length. Thanks to the patented arrangement of the center holes, the branches when assembled form a perfectly shaped artificial tree. Without the patented construction technique the trees might be harder to assemble, and customers could be lost in more ways than one.

Price for a standard six-foot aluminum tree is about $15.

Said Ronald Minchin, of the company's sales department, "Our sales this year will be up about 28 per cent over last year. And the rise in '60 was about 28 per cent over '59."

"Older people like a fresh tree—one that's cut in the forest. But younger families are turning more and more to aluminum. They can keep them year after year. There's no fussing around with dead needles, and they are fireproof."

An increasingly larger share of the artificial tree market is being corralled by the plastics industry. Nicholas Bella, an executive of one young firm in the plastic tree business (B & S Novelty Co., of Brooklyn, N.Y.) explained that last Christmas—his first year of business—his company manufactured 10,000 trees. This year he sees sales reaching 25,000. His firm makes artificial trees from a plastic fiber called Rovana.

The prices of plastic trees compare with the aluminum varieties.

"In 10 or 12 years," according to Bella, "plastic tree sales will be in the majority."

"The advantage of plastic trees," explained Bella, is that they look more like real trees than any other artificial kind.

"Our tree comes in a cardboard box. You carry it home; open it up, and—whingo—it springs into shape without anybody touching it."

Chief Of Free Tanganyika Has Abundant Woes

By JERRY SHEEHAN
UNITED NATIONS (NEA)
Julius Nyerere, prime minister of Tanganyika, is a sorely troubled man these days considering that the nation he heads has just won its independence after 42 years of British trusteeship.

For Nyerere, newest leader to emerge from independent Africa, it is well aware that Tanganyika, with a population of 9,300,000 is nearly broke.

Nyerere has arrived in New York (Dec. 13) ostensibly to pilot Tanganyika's application for membership through the United Nations. In reality, his mission is partly a begging one. Nyerere is hoping to attract American capital for Tanganyikan development projects.

The former British East African colony achieved its independence on Dec. 9 in an atmosphere of gaiety and self-congratulation. In Dar es Salaam, the capital, Tanganyikans shouted "Uhuru" (freedom) until they were hoarse.

The Duke of Edinburgh was there for the celebration. So was Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., representing the United States. There were fireworks and pink champagne.

But Premier Nyerere remained unsmiling as he toted up the cost. Tanganyika's reserves today stand at a paltry $11 million. In contrast, when Ghana won her independence in 1957 she had reserves totalling $560 million.

The British government has already agreed to underwrite a 3-year development program in Tanganyika totalling $68 million, including $25 million in outright grants.

The U.S. and the West Germans each have offered long-term, low interest loans of $10,000,000. All this money and more probably will be needed before Tanganyika can go far towards solving its economic problems, which have been aggravated recently by famine.

NYERERE with the Duke of Edinburgh and Governor General Sir Richard Turnbull on Independence Day.

The man who bears these burdens is small, has twinkling eyes and a toothbrush moustache, and is fond of colorful beach shirts.

Julius Nyerere is something of a new phenomenon in African politics. His is the voice of caution. He is moderate and sophisticated in his political views.

Born the son of a minor chieftain, Nyerere did not start school until the age of 12. But he won a place at Makerere College in Uganda, went on to Edinburgh University, where he took a degree in economics and history.

He returned to Tanganyika as a teacher in a Catholic mission school, but gave up teaching for politics in 1955. Within three years

Two Possible 'Cures' For Farm Woes Seen

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Agriculture Department experts see two possible ways out of the farm over-production problem.

Despite the fact that the experts are not sure either will work, the Kennedy Administration is going ahead with a substantial farm program that covers, in part, both alternatives. It will be put before Congress in 1962.

The first plan would require a hefty shift in the types of U.S. produce. There would be a big lean-forward in dried beans, peas and soybeans, and a cutback in feed grains. U.S. farmers would produce considerably more rice, and more non-fat dried milk if anyone could figure out how to sell the extra butter.

These ideas result from a new Agriculture Department world food study to determine shortages of specific foods and where they exist.

This survey was made to prepare for a planned expansion of U.S. government gifts and subsidized shipments of farm foods abroad. Roughly half of U.S. farm exports now are so subsidized.

The Agriculture Department also plans increased aid in the form of technical know-how in agricultural production to the food-deficit nations, so countries will be less dependent on import of American farm foods.

The Agriculture Department's marketing experts are not quite certain how to mesh these two programs.

The second Agriculture Department use - up - more - farm-products to tempt the housewife to buy more of some kinds of foods.

The Agriculture Department notes the per capita decline consumption of grain and dairy products, fresh and canned citrus fruits, leafy green and yellow vegetables and sweet potatoes. The Department's research men

Department calls "one of the slowest cooking vegetables available in the household scene."

Freeze-drying — Cooked or uncooked food is dehydrated under vacuum while frozen. Freeze-dried foods apparently do not become toughened or shriveled. They regain original flavor and texture when rehydrated, the Agriculture Department men say. Properly sealed, these foods reportedly can be stored at room temperature for long periods. Freeze-drying probably won't be commercially practical for some years; present costs are too high.

Dehydrofreezing — Fruits and vegetables are dried to about half their original weight, then frozen and held frozen. Agriculture Department men say the quality of the thawed and cooked food is equal to that of normal frozen foods. There are savings in freezing, packaging, storage and shipping costs. Commercial production has begun.

Foam-mat drying — Fruit or vegetable juices or purees are beaten to a foam and dried in an air blast. Instantly dispersible dry whole milk also can be produced by this method but it won't be commercially practical until the bland flavor of fluid milk can be stabilized in the dried milk.

Bulgur — This parboiled wheat product can be used in salads, meat loaves, stews and as stuffing for roast chicken or turkey. Canned bulgur already is available in some Midwest stores.

Instantizing "instant" foods — The Agriculture Department's Eastern laboratory is working on ways to make "instant" foods take less time to prepare than non-instant foods.

Dried honey, vegetable chips, whole egg powder, bean powder — These are being developed. The egg powder is "nearing commercial reality." The bean powder reportedly will make an instant product of what the Agriculture

Department calls "one of the slowest cooking vegetables available in the household scene."

White Folk Shun Integrated Cafe Forcing Closing

MCCOMB, Miss. (UPI) — The restaurant in the recently integrated Greyhound bus terminal here has been closed because whites refuse to eat there anymore, its operators said Saturday.

Mrs. A. P. McGehee, who along with her husband had operated the restaurant for five years, said whenever a Negro entered the waiting room, the whites would leave.

"We tried to stay open but nobody would come in," she said. Several weeks ago a federal court ordered the terminal integrated.

Mrs. McGehee's husband said they had about $7,000 of equipment in the restaurant and five years of hard work. Now with the restaurant closed, I guess all of that is gone down the drain."

Russian Drivers Open Their First Auto Racing Era

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sports car racing arrived in Moscow this fall.

If you closed your eyes, the roar of the cars as they sped along the straightaway could make you think you were at Sebring, Le Mans or Monterey.

But a look at the races confirmed them as uniquely Russian. The golden domes of Novodevichy Monastery and the Stalinesque skyscraper of Moscow University rose in the background. The cars raced by a bronze statue of Lenin, arm outstretched, and there was the usual Communist red banner "Hail to the Racing Drivers."

This fall two races were staged on a winding track marked out around Lenin Stadium, a swimming pool and a smaller stadium in Luzhniki Sports Park. Russians are fond of machinery and especially automobiles, which are scarce for private citizens, and a large crowd showed up for both races. They stood atop the stadiums or by the side of the track. The drivers were not professionals, an official stressed, but "technicians, engineers, students, all types."

The 40 cars entered in the second meet one recent Sunday appeared to be modest and homemade looking, compared with western sports cars. They were built in various car repair garages and factories. The Zil factory, for example, entered three cars in the competition.

The engines were from stand ard Soviet cars and rebuilt. The bodies were strongly reminiscent of western racing cars such as Ferrari and Jaguar. Some had "rollbars" for protection in case they turned over. One driver wore what appeared to be a Red Army tank corps helmet.

Fenderless, Formula or Grand Prix type racing cars were freely mixed with sports cars with fenders and other regulation parts. But the races were divided into engine size: Zim, Zil and Volgas raced in one category. Pobeda in the second and little Moskvitches in the third.

In the first race, for Zims, Zils and Volgas, an official dropped a red flag and off spurted the cars past Lenin's statue. A couple of cars spun out on the turns, but nobody crashed.

The lead car took an average of 2 minutes, 15 seconds to tour the 3.28 kilometer (2.024 mile) track, averaging about 56 miles per hour on his better laps.

"I've seen better time on Sepulveda Boulevard in Los Angeles," said an American sports car expert in the crowd. "And many of the drivers don't know how to curve well. But they are learning."

Between races, drivers and mechanics in the "pits" tinkered with the engines and revved them to a deafening pitch. The temperature was 22 and snowflakes drifted over the track but nobody seemed to mind the Russian weather.

An official said about 150 racing and sports cars now compete in the Soviet Union. Straight "strip" track racing has existed for a long time. Oval track racing was started in 1943, with tracks in operation in five Soviet cities, including Leningrad, and Moscow. Sports car racing on a winding track only began with the two Moscow meets this fall.

You can buy a racing and automotive magazine, "Za Rul'om, "Behind the Wheel" in Moscow. Now and then on the Union, either.

Two Frustrating News Items Disturb Writer

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The current issue of Roll Call, Capitol Hill's weekly newspaper, contains a list of the top congressional news stories of 1961, as selected by a group of reporters.

Either through oversight or deliberate neglect, Roll Call didn't invite me to participate in the poll, although it must have known that I was itching to join the fun. After brooding about this for a couple of days, I decided to get up a list of my own, only with a slight change of pace.

Rather than list the biggest stories of the year, I have undertaken to cite some of the most frustrating news items. By this I mean items that arouse a reader's curiosity and then fail to satisfy it. For instance, I have before me an account of a speech given here by Prof. Amos E. Neyhart of Pennsylvania State University, a pioneer advocate of driver training programs in high schools.

It says that Neyhart "urged that all driver education students be taught the easiest way to put on tire chains" so that they would not get stuck in the snow.

It also quoted him as saying that teen-agers could be taught how to attach a pair of chains in six minutes.

This item intrigued me because I did not know before that there was an "easiest" way to put on tire chains. I had always been under the impression there was only a hardest way.

So I avidly read the entire dispatch, only to discover that there was no mention of what the easiest way was.

Another one of the most frustrating news stories I have read this year was an account of President Kennedy's recent visit to New York, during which he slipped away from police to attend a party.

This story was admirably thorough in detailing where the President went and how his police escort happened to lose him. But down near the end there was a paragraph that left me dangling in suspense.

It said that some members of the crowd which gathered outside the place where the party was held were waiting there in the belief that a singer named Frankie Avalon was inside.

But it failed to say anything about how the Frankie Avalon fans reacted when the President of the United States emerged instead.

I have been driving myself half-crazy wondering how those celebrity hounds felt when they discovered they had been bird-dogging the wrong quarry.

My guess is that they were thrilled to see the President, but didn't dig his haircut.

Regular Travel To Moon Is Aim Of Space Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The goal of the U.S. lunar program is considerably more ambitious than it is usually stated.

It is not just to land a crew on the moon some time before 1970. That is only a part of the goal.

What this country is really shooting for is establishment by the end of this decade of a reliable transportation system—as reliable as present air, sea, and land systems—between the earth and the moon.

James E. Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), has said repeatedly that the manned lunar landing will not wind up this country's space program. It will be just a beginning.

Space scientists and engineers believe the moon will have to serve as a base or staging point for future manned flights, after 1970, to Mars and Venus.

Scientists want to set up an astronomical observatory on the moon. Space flight experts want to use it as a platform for assembling and launching the rocket vehicles which will carry exploring parties ever deeper into solar space. Addison M. Rothrock, propulsion expert in NASA's long-range planning office, says man cannot reap the scientific and material benefits expected to flow from space exploration until he develops a dependable transportation system routinely carrying freight and people to and from the moon or other rendezvous places in space.

According to Rothrock, NASA's aim is development of such a system "by the end of the decade." This, he said recently, will permit man to travel in space "with the same relative reliability and maneuverability that exists in our current land, sea and air transportation."

Dr. Albert R. Hibbs, chief of the space sciences division of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, foresees the time when unmanned rockets will carry supplies, engines and fuel to the moon. Robots will assemble them into space vehicles.

Then, Hibbs said, "we will send up the men."

Cardinal Spellman Flying To Europe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman flies to Germany today for his traditional Christmas visit to American servicemen overseas. The cardinal, who is military vicar for the armed forces of the United States, will celebrate three Christmas masses for troops in West Berlin. It is his 11th Christmas trip.

Vanishing Timber
NEW YORK (UPI) — A U.S. forestry official believes that as much as 50 million acres of land now used for timber growth would be needed for urban use and rural transportation and more than 70 million acres for other agricultural uses by the year 2000.

The Office Christmas Tree

By The News Editor,
The Pampa Daily News

There's a Christmas tree in our office. Some of the office girls put it there. Soon the entire personnel of this Pampa company will gather about the tree with glad hearts and feelings of good cheer, there to jointly engage in a mutual and sacred observance of the birth of the Christ child. Little will be their concern whether this is the date the Christ was born. They, like the angels of yesteryear, will rejoice together that He WAS born.

There are lights on the tree. Some of the lights go on and off, twinkling like the stars that must have blinked in rapturous ecstasy when the Saviour of mankind was born. They are bright lights, varied in color, brilliant in hue, sparkling in their reflection of the twigs of the green spruce, illuminating the tinsel like glistening diamonds in the towering hinterland mountains of Brazil. Bright and cheery are these lights.

And in Holy Writ we read that the Saviour, whose birth we celebrate, is the "light of the world." These lights on our Christmas tree are but symbols of that greater light that came to the world when Jesus was born a babe in the manger. These lights, symbolizing the brightness that came to the world with the Christ child, glow in the midst of so great darkness. They enable us to see when all the other lights have gone out in the city.

So, today we rejoice together because the light of the world enables us to see when most of the lights of the world have been turned out. We celebrate this day in gratitude for light — for understanding that creates within us the profound desire to live and let live, to be free, to have the right of choice, to seek righteousness, peace and goodwill the world over knowing that all men are equal in the sight of God and that all alike are entitled to the precious privileges of unrestricted freedom. Further that all who would subjugate mankind, under whatever form of government, do so without authority and by a force they are unworthy to wield.

There are gifts under the tree. These cause us all joy. They were put there by kind friends who seek to show us admiration and esteem emblematic of their love for all mankind. Thus what ever their intrinsic value, whether great or small, we shall treasure the little gift that we receive. But there is more.

These gifts likewise signify the world's greatest gift. The gift of God's own son that there might be salvation for all mankind. Greater love, saith the Word, hath no man than this. Jesus gave himself that the world might be saved. The Christmas tree is symbolic. There is salvation for man, kind, a gesture of that which is so symbolic of the outstretched arms of the Christ child when he stood on the brow overlooking the city of Jerusalem and exclaimed "Oh Jerusalem, Jerusalem, how oft would I have gathered thee."

How those boughs today symbolize to us, in an unfriendly world, the extended arms of the Christ and of those that would be of benefit to all mankind. The tree typifies that which is good. Goodness reaches out to the world in a spirit of goodwill and hope of benefactions — indescribable. Goodness seeks no enslavement of any man, goodness dictates to no man, goodness enshrines no man on a throne of power. Goodness is the common denominator, the great leveling force, designed to let every man live the good life of the free and the brave. All else is evil, whatever its label, whatever its claims.

That which does not make men free, inures to their liberty and to their good, is evil. This tree has nothing to do with evil. That is why it is rejected by those that are not good; that is why they try to outlaw God and the Christ child.

There are countless twigs on the boughs of this tree, myriads of them. This, too, to us, is significant, for matters not the advance of evil, or the efforts to rob man of his choice, and put him in bondage, there are multitudes of people who gather about this tree once a year. It is a shrine of their faith in the Christ child.

Softly, tenderly, and ever so gently, this tree speaks to us, and in boundless hope, we know that eventually, peace will reign in the world. When we gather about this tree, forgotten are the disputes of the day, the ill-feelings engendered by the inescapable duress of the times, the job or problems never to be loosed from the innermost recesses of the soul.

This is our vision of the Christmas tree in our office. And it is good. It invigorates our soul, it quickens the pulsations of our heart, it enlivens our spirit, it encourages us to better things, more noble efforts. It lifts us up to heights which only man can experience. And we know there will be a Christmas tree next year, and the year after.

In fact, there will always be a Christmas tree. Some day there will be peace on earth, good will to all mankind. The Christmas tree cannot be uprooted by the tornadoes of communism. It cannot be toppled by the forces of evil. That of which the tree is a symbol will, in the end, conquer all the forces of evil. Man, all mankind, can bring blessings to himself and to all others by adhering to the symbols of the Christmas tree.

There is good cheer about this Christmas tree. We are happy in its presence and in the presence of one another despite the foreboding evils which beset us. This is most meaningful for when the spirit of that tree prevails, there will be no bondage, no Communism, no dictators, no kings but happiness and peace, for it was thus that the angels sang and we sing today — "Joy to the world."

JAM SESSION

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There was a new twist to a traffic jam at the intersection of Hollywood Boulevard and Vine Street. Police said the traffic jam was caused by spectators standing six to seven deep in the street watching three couples gyrating in a Tech Saturday night.

Market Activity During Tax Era Called Confusing

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is difficult to make much sense out of a stock market in which temporary tax considerations rather than investment decisions are the basis of so much activity, observers Winslow, Cohn & Stetson.

But the firm still looks for a continuation of market strength led by the better known blue chips and a pick-up in speculative activity in the very near future.

Martin Gilbert, of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. believes the outlook for stocks is enhanced by continued business expansion and the scheduled build-up in defense orders. An interruption here is not particularly significant and there is ample evidence that the major trend of stock prices remains upward, he adds.

Standard & Poor's says 1961 may go down as one of the most active for the railroad industry from the standpoint of merger developments. The marriage of various competing properties should result in relatively large economies through the elimination of duplicate services, facilities, etc., the research agency points out. But more important, it adds, is the establishment of systems capable of financing modernization projects, improving service and winning back traffic lost to private carriage during the last 20 years.

Harvesters, Shocks Suffer 1st Defeats

Three Pampa cage teams fell from the unbeaten ranks last week leaving only the Lee 7th and 8th grade squads holding perfect records in the city.

Hobbs clubs were responsible for marring two perfect marks. The Hobbs Eagles displayed brilliant shooting and an awesome fast break attack to break the Harvesters' 10 game winning string Saturday night, 72-65. Pampa won the first of the two game set Friday night 64-58.

The Harvesters thumped the Hereford Whitefaces 63-51 Tuesday.

Pampa's 7th grade saw a desperate last half rally fall short in losing to Borger Austin 26-25. It was the first loss of the campaign for the Pampa club.

Action is sparse this week with just one junior high game and four high school contests. The Pampa Reapers play the Miami Warriors' B club here at PJH gym today at 4 p.m.

Coach Terry Culley's Harvesters and the Shocks journey to Elk City, Okla. tonight for a pair of tilts with the rugged Sooners.

Friday and Saturday night the Harvesters will play in the Dumas Tournament at Dumas. The Demons, San Angelo's Bobcats and Phillips' Blackhawks are the other teams in the two day tourney.

Frogs Bump Centenary; Mustangs Rap Alabama In Southwest Play

By United Press International

Texas Christian picked a good time to take its first basketball victory of the season Monday night—whipping Centenary, 63-61, to dedicate a new $1.5 million field house.

Southern Methodist whipped Alabama, 71-66, and Baylor lost to Tulane, 66-55, in other games involving Southwest Conference teams against inter-sectional opponents.

Tonight Texas Tech meets Oklahoma at Lubbock and Rice hosts Vanderbilt at Houston. The SWC has a 26 won 19 lost record against outside competition.

The Horned Frogs had a hard time getting untracked in the first half and trailed the Gents 29-26. But paced by Alton Adams, who made 24 points and pulled down 22 rebounds, TCU roared from behind with six minutes left to play.

A crowd of 3,500 cheered the Horned Frogs to their first victory in five starts. Cecil Upshaw led Centenary scorers with 20.

SMU, ahead at the half 35-25, blew the lead to Alabama in the second half. However, with the game tied 60-60, the Mustangs' Tim Brockman pumped in four quick points to put them ahead for good.

Sophomore Mike Milholland scored 25 points to lead Tulane over a sluggish Baylor team. Ronnie Phelps was high point man for Baylor, managing 10. The taller Green Wave out-rebounded the Bears 31 to 36.

Tulane led at halftime 35 to 31.

Philadelphia placed six men on the East sound and Cleveland landed five, headed by fullback Jim Brown.

In addition to Shofner, other Giant All-Stars were baldish quarterback Y. A. Tittle, another return in the New York attack by way of San Francisco; offensive back Alex Webster; defensive end's Jim Katcavage and Andy Robustelli; linebacker Sam Huff; end secondary backs Eric Eames and safety Jim Patton.

The remainder of the roster for the Jan. 14 contest at the Coliseum included:

Defense: Ends — Katcavage, Robustelli; Ernie Stautner, Steelers; Tackles — Bob Gain, Browns; Bob Tonoff, Redskins; Linebackers — Huff, Moxie Baughan, Eagles; Myron Pottios, John Berger, Steelers; Halfback — Barnes, Jim Hill, Bill Stacy, Cardinals; Safeties — Jim Patton, Giants; Jerry Norton, Cardinals.

Stautner, at 36, will play in his ninth Pro Bowl.

Miami Lands Five On 3-B All Star '11'

Champion Miami placed five players on the district 3-B eight man loop all-district eleven selected Thursday by the coaches.

The Warriors, who romped through a perfect season before losing in bi-district to Jayton 26-12, landed co-captain and center Don McLaughlin, guard Joe Wayne Holland, end Tim Flowers, halfback Jim Flowers and quarterback Scotty Daugherty on the first team.

Two other Warriors gained second team berths. They were end Mark Arrington and halfback Mickey Kivlehen.

McLaughlin was selected by the coaches to represent the district in the Texas schoolboy all-star football game at the coach's school in Lubbock next August.

The Miami star lineman missed part of the season due to an injury but was the mainstay of the stingy Warrior defense which allowed just 80 points during the course of the season.

Rounding out the backfield with Flowers and Daugherty were Jim Shearer and Leslie Lee of Booker. Lee was the loop's leading scorer with 138 points and the speedy halfback was one of the most dangerous runners in the Panhandle.

Booker landed three men on the first team and Darrouzett placed one on the all star eight. Mobeetie and Lakeview did not put a player on the first squad.

The first team:
CENTER — Don McLaughlin, Miami.
GUARDS — Joe Wayne Holland, Miami; and Kenny John, Booker.
ENDS — Tim Flowers, Miami and Byron Deal, Darrouzett.
—BACKS — Jim Flowers and Scotty Daugherty, Miami; Leslie Lee and Jim Shearer, Booker.
Second Team:
GUARDS — Benton Rogers, Mobeetie and Russell Meir, Darrouzett.
ENDS — Mark Arrington, Miami and Jim Cates, Booker.
BACKS — Mickey Kivlehen, Miami; Marvin Trosper, Booker, Ray Corcoran, Mobeetie and Tony Sahagun, Lakeview.

year at Chicago in 1940, the Bears crushed Baugh and the Washington Redskins, 73-0, in the National Football League championship game.

During his 13 years with the Bears, Turner was an All-Pro selection eight times. That was the era when the "Monsters of the Midway" completely dominated pro football. Among Turner's teammates on those great Chicago teams were Sid Luckman, George McAfee, Joe Ossmanski and Joe Stydahar.

The Titans finished third in the Eastern Division of the AFL this season with a 7-7 record. It was the same win-loss mark they posted under Baugh last year.

Baugh publicly criticized Wismer for failing to improve the team's personnel and to sign his top college draft choices. Wismer, in turn, charged Sam with violating the "loyalty clause" in his contract and showing a complete lack of interest once the season ended.

"Turner will live here at least nine or ten months of the year," said Wismer. "I'm convinced you can't operate a major league football team if your coach is somewhere else."

Houston Oilers Sign 2 Draftees

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Oilers, defending American Football League champions, announced today the signing of Kansas tackle Stanley Kirschman and University of Houston quarterback Don Sessions to professional contracts.

Sessions, a Springhill, La., native, was signed as a free agent in 1960. Sessions completed 65 passes at the University of Houston for a school record. He stands 6 feet and weighs 196 pounds.

Buckeyes Still Top College Cage Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defending national champion Ohio State, picking up additional strength with each victory, today was picked the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team for the third straight week by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

The Buckeyes, who gained the national title a year ago with a perfect score of 350 points, were only two short of that mark this week as 33 of the 35 coaches who make up the UPI board named them No. 1. The other two coaches picked them for second and named Cincinnati No. 1.

The Bearcats, who beat Ohio State in the NCAA finals last season for the Buckeyes' only loss, were second again this week. However, they lost ground in their battle to overtake Ohio State, picking up 304 points compared with 321 a week ago when they trailed by only 20 points.

With points awarded on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th, Kansas State was picked third with 255 points, and Providence fourth with 166 points. Those were the same spots the Wildcats and Frars held last week, but Kansas State widened its margin over Providence to 89 points. Last week the spread was 49 points.

There was some juggling for the other five spots among the top 10. Southern California moved up from seventh to fifth, West Virginia advanced from ninth to sixth, and Arizona State from eighth to seventh, while Duke slipped from fifth, to eighth, Purdue from sixth to ninth and Wichita broke into the top 10 by moving up from 16th to 10th.

This week's ratings were based only on games played through last Saturday.

Folberg Expects Wide Open Play

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — Hank Folberg, Texas A&M's new athletic director and head football coach, says he doesn't like "that three yards and a cloud-of-dust business," and Aggie football fans can expect a wide open type of offense.

Folberg, 38, agreed to terms Monday and completed his staff by hiring holdover coaches Elmer Smith and Bobby Drake Keith.

He me: briefly with his future Aggie gridders, and asked them to give 100 per cent effort next season "and then give a second effort." Folberg told them they would use a wide open offense and "we want to play good defense, too."

The new coach, who replaced ousted Jim Myers, cannot formally report to the college until after he directs his Wichita University team against Villanova in the Sun-Bowl Dec. 30. He is bringing his four-man Wichita staff here with him, but wanted the holdover coaches to start beating the bushes for Texas high school talent.

Smith and Keith, immediately left the campus on a recruiting tour.

Folberg, who coached Wichita to two 8-2 seasons in his only times out as a head coach, said he planned to return Jan. 3 and tentatively set a get-acquainted press conference with sports writers Jan. 8.

Pampa Seeking Tenth Victory

"We're pointing toward Elk City." These were the words of head coach Terry Culley as his Pampa Harvesters prepare to journey northward tonight to meet an Elk City, Okla. team at 8 p.m.

"We've forgotten about last weekend with Hobbs and we're ready to concentrate on the game tonight instead," the Pampa coach explained.

Pampa saw their nine-game victory skein come to a screeching halt Saturday night at the hands of a depth-filled Hobbs cage unit, which spilled the local crew, 72-65. Pampa had beaten the New Mexico cagers the night before, 64-58 and were pointing for number 10 on the year before their setback.

Pampa will once again be relying on their big 6'8" post man, Randy Matson to lead the Harvesters past the Oklahoma five. Matson was held to just 15 points in the Friday night tussle and 10 Saturday night against Hobbs.

Wayne Kreis and Bobby Neslage, who both hit in the double figures against Hobbs Saturday night, will be aiding in the Pampa attack tonight as the Harvesters attempt to beef up their season record against non-conference foes.

Kreis was the key man in the Friday night skirmish, finding the mark with 29 points on the boards. The 5-11 junior guard then followed up his Friday night's performance with 24 more in Saturday night's contest.

Neslage, after being held to just two points in the Friday night game, exploded with 18 Saturday night to help pave the way against Hobbs.

The B game will get underway at 6:15.

EL PASO (UPI) — O. A. (Bum) Phillips, 38, head coach of Amarillo High School, has been named head football coach at Texas Western College, replacing Ben Collins.

Collins resigned his roles as athletic director and head coach at the end of the past season. The athletic council had announced Saturday night that George McCarty, former basketball coach, would become athletic director.

Phillips served one season as assistant at Texas A&M College under Paul (Bear) Bryant. He is a graduate of Beaumont French High School, Lamar Junior College, and S. F. Austin State College.

He also coached at Nederland, Tex. High School where his teams compiled a 56-14-3 record before he joined Bryant's staff at A&M. His Amarillo teams won or tied for the district title two of his three seasons there.

Chargers, Houston Hog AFL All Star Selections

NEW YORK (UPI)—The San Diego Chargers and Houston Oilers, who meet next Sunday for the American Football League championship, each placed five players today on the 1961 United Press International annual league All-Star team.

Charlie Hennigan of the Oilers, the fleet flanker who gained a pro record 1,746 yards by his pass-catches this season, was the outstanding choice on this year's team.

Hennigan received 20 votes from the 24-man panel which selected the All-Star team. The panel was made up of three regular AFL writers from each league city.

Fullback Bill Mathis of the New York Titans, who was runnerup for the league's individual rushing championship, was the second most popular choice for his position with 19 votes. Bill Atkins, Buffalo Bills safetyman who led the AFL in punting and pass interceptions, was third with 18 votes.

Besides Hennigan, the Houston players honored were quarterback George Blanda and halfback Billy Cannon, who formed the most devastating 1-2 offensive punch in the league, offensive tackle Al Jamison and defensive halfback Tony Banfield.

Four of the five San Diego players chosen were on the deensive platoon. They were end Earl Faison and tackle Ernie Ladd, the only two rookies to make the squad, halfback Dick Harris and safetyman Charlie McNeil. The only Chargers offensive player picked was tackle Ron Mix, one of the six repeaters from the 1960 team.

In addition to Mix, the other repeaters were halfback Abner Haynes of the Dallas Texans, last year's AFL Player-of-the-Year; offensive end Lionel Taylor, of the Denver Broncos, offensive guard Bob Mischak of the Titans, defensive end Laverne Torczon of Buffalo and defensive tackle Bud McFadin of the Denver Broncos.

The All-Star platoon thus lined up like this:
Offense—Ends, Hennigan and Taylor; tackles, Mix and Jamison; guards, Mischak and Tony Sarciso of the Boston Patriots; center, Jim Otto of the Oakland Raiders, and Blanda, Cannon, Haynes and Mathis in the backfield.

Defense—Ends, Faison and Torczon; tackles, Ladd and McFadin; middle linebacker, Sherrill Hendrick of Dallas; outside linebackers, Larry Grantham, New York, and Tom Addison, Boston; halfbacks, Banfield and Harris, and safety-men, Atkins and McNeil.

DePaul Knocks Off Providence Cagers

By United Press International
Second-ranked Cincinnati and fourth-ranked Providence, no longer among the unbeaten, offered mute but unmistakable evidence today that the quickest way to ruin a fine basketball reputation is to hit the road.

Both suffered their first defeats of the season Monday night away from home.

The 10th-ranked Wichita Shockers, every bit as good as their nickname, ended Cincinnati's 27-game winning streak with a pulse-thumping 52-51 victory at Wichita, Kan.; and De Paul's Blue Demons toppled Providence, 68-63, at Chicago.

Cincinnati had apparent victory all but wrapped up with a 49-46 lead one minute before the final buzzer. Wichita, however, came up with three field goals, Larry Van Eman producing the clincher for the Shockers in the final three seconds after Bearcat guard Larry Shingleton committed an offensive foul with six seconds left to give Wichita the ball.

Van Eman and Paul Hogue of Cincinnati shared high scoring honors with 19 points apiece.

Unranked De Paul had to survive a late surge by Providence to roll up its sixth straight triumph.

Four baskets by Ray Flynn and one by John Thompson put Providence ahead by one point five different times in the last four minutes of play. But each time De Paul managed to regain the lead. A pair of free throws by Elgin Dorsey with 1:18 remaining sewed it up for the Blue Demons. Flynn led all scorers with 29 points. Dick Cook paced the winners with 21.

There were two other upsets among the top 10 teams, with eighth-ranked Duke defeating sixth-ranked West Virginia, 69-65, at Morgantown, W.Va., and Indiana beating seventh-ranked Arizona State University, 94-88, in another "road disaster" at Bloomington, Ind.

Jeff Mullins scored 25 points and Art Heyman 20 to lead Duke's "Iron Five" in a victory that snapped previously unbeaten West

Extremists

President Kennedy's recent trip to the far west has, in the view of many, left the nation's top executive in a somewhat shaken mental condition. No one, particularly no politician, can endure hostility and a lack of popularity. And it was clear as a result of certain events in California, that Mr. Kennedy has a number of enemies who are becoming more vocal and less tractable with each passing day.

His attempt to brush off the harsh treatment afforded him in these instances, by labeling those who differ from him as "extremists," has made, very little impression upon the mind of most people. For, in a very real sense, President Kennedy is himself an extremist.

His economic policies, announced during his campaign, but pursued only haltingly since his election, were about as extreme in the direction of welfare-statism as any we have ever encountered.

Additionally, his advisors, selected with an obvious bias favoring a single university (Harvard), are known as men of extreme view.

Indeed, what the President has experienced and continues to experience is a conflict arising from two extremes: the view that government should be and must be the major arbiter in our economic and social lives and, conversely, that government is wholly subordinate to individual rights to manage economic and social affairs independently of government.

Both of these views are extreme. And we would observe that whereas in prior years it always appeared possible to compromise or to find some kind of a "middle of the road" position between them, that time now appears to have gone.

The pro-government view was well established early in the ideological fray and any compromises to appear tended, in a sense, to extend and expand the pro-government position. It is only in recent years that the pro-individualist position has been clearly enough defined to attract anything like a substantial following.

Probably, were a reliable set of figures available, it would be learned that the pro-individualist position is far less prevalent than believed. But individualists are normally vigorous and extraordinarily vocal. Hence, the left-leaning President has come smack up against a set of persons who are predominantly right-leaning. The probable collision is thus not only unavoidable but clearly predictable. Some would even say inevitable.

On this same subject of extremism, we would like to offer a bit more evidence concerning the President's position and that taken by his major advisors.

Most administrations for the past several years have been characterized by the emergence of a principal major domo of the White House who has been in the position of elder statesman or personal advisor to the president.

W. Woodrow Wilson had his Colonel House, Franklin D. Roosevelt had several: Henry Wallace, Harold Ickes, Bernard Baruch, Sidney Hillman, others.

Eisenhower had Sherman Adams. And it is generally believed that the man on the inside track with Mr. Kennedy is a former Harvard luminary named Arthur Schlesinger Jr.

Let us see if Mr. Schlesinger Jr. is an extremist. In one of Schlesinger's books, written about 1947, the following quotation appears: "If socialism (i.e., the ownership by the state of all significant means of production) is to preserve democracy, it must be brought about step by step in a way which will not disrupt the fabric of custom, law, and mutual confidence upon which personal rights depend. That is, the transition must be piecemeal; it must be parliamentary; it must respect civil liberties and due process of law."

This statement, including the parenthetical phrase, is nothing more than an out-and-out restatement of the Communist Manifesto by Karl Marx. There are certainly few among us, who would characterize Marx as anything but an extremist.

In short, extremism shouldn't worry Mr. Kennedy. He is quite accustomed to it and, in fact, lives with it. His problem is that ideologically he is no longer unopposed. The long dormant "loyal opposition" has found both its voice and its courage.

Help For Katanga?

A letter from a friend informs us that he is distressed no end that very little has been said and still less done in support of the "break-away" Katanga province in the Congo. The story of protesting Pampans is on today's front page.

This tiny and independent country is being besieged by U.N. troops in an effort to bring unified support of the U.N. sponsored Congo regime in Africa. This is undoubtedly the most aggressive move yet made by the mischief-making United Nations organization and one which freedom lovers the world over cannot view in any other light than one of extreme distress.

But on the heels of the letter from our friend comes word that there are forces stirring in this country which favor substantially the cause of independence in Katanga. Richard Cowan, a Yale senior and president of the Calopian Society, a conservative discussion group, has cabled Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga province, that he and a group of fellow conservatives will be happy to enlist as fighting men on the side of Katanga, if they are wanted.

It's cable said: "We are organizing American Student Volunteers for Katanga Independence and offer our services to assist the troops of free Katanga in any possible way against the aggression directed against your nation by communist-inspired Congolese leaders assisted by U.N. forces. We are calling on students from other universities in the United States to join with us. We await word from you as to how we may best help you and your people in your gallant struggle for independence against communism. Please cable reply to Richard Cowan, Jonathan Edwards College, Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut."

As of press time we haven't heard whether or not Moise Tshombe has replied or what the nature of his reply might be.

"But we do have word that Cowan has contacted student groups at 33 other universities letting them know of his proposal and urging them all to join.

At this moment, therefore, a bit of conjecture as to the outcome is in order.

We can only surmise that the United States government, particularly the State Department, is going to take a truly dim view of Mr. Cowan's activities. American taxpayers' money and American arms and equipment are being employed by the U.N. in its unholy effort to take over Katanga by military aggression, and a counter move within this nation isn't going to be smiled upon, it is safe to presume.

Assuming that President Tshombe cables a reply that he would appreciate the armed assistance of American volunteers in his cause, which would, of course, be the logical position for him to take, we rather imagine something in the nature of a major uproar might be in the making. Assuming again that Cowan and company endeavored to carry out their offer, what would hap-

'Tis the Season for Giving: Consider How to Do It

By FAYE HENLE

'Tis the season of giving and the pressures are great. Yet it was not until recently that I became aware of the importance of gifts by ordinary people like you and me.

Philanthropy U.S.A. is an over $8 billion business. Last year, Americans gave what amounted to $45 for every man, woman and child.

And, according to David M. Church, executive director of The American Association of Fund Raising Councils, Inc., the nation's great foundations contribute only 20 cents of the charity dollar. You give the other 80 cents.

Is there an art to giving? Church believes that there is. He is convinced that you should give only to causes that you truly believe in, and he stresses the importance of not just money gifts, but of the gift of your own time and enthusiasm.

Last year, some 47 million persons volunteered time and talent to one or more causes.

Surveying 1,000 of these volunteers recently, the association discovered that almost 95 per cent of them gave enough active time to add up to 44 days of the year.

Of this group, 89 per cent were married, 88 per cent had children. Of the women surveyed, 72 per cent were housewives, 65 per cent of the men were business or professional men.

The greatest number of volunteers worked for churches, followed by those who worked for health, education and welfare organizations.

The intangible in the statistics on giving is the dollars-and-cents savings this volunteer work represents.

How is your charitable dollar allocated? According to Church's figures, 51 cents out of every dollar goes for religious causes, 16 cents for educational use, 15 cents for welfare, 12 cents for health and 6 cents for foreign aid and other causes.

Church stresses the importance of knowing about the organization to which you are giving and warns against giving to unlicensed solicitors on streets and other public places.

For the tax-minded there are numerous ways of giving, but all important is the maintenance of records. Gifts of money should be made by check and all acknowledgments kept for several years, not simply to aid in filing the tax return, but as proof of having made the gift.

For those short of cash and long on old clothing, house furnishings and such, gifts of these to churches, hospitals and thrift shops will bring you appreciation of the value of your gift which are tax deductible exactly as is a gift of money.

Finally, the businessman can give away inventory and claim as a deduction not the wholesale cost of the merchandise, but what he would have received for it had he sold it at retail.

When they sought visas via State, to leave this country for belligerent actions against the United Nations, which is allied to the United States by means of treaty?

It is safely predictable that no such visas would be forthcoming. Hence, it would be logical to suppose that Cowan and his group would be up against the dubious necessity either of abandoning the project or of getting across the American borders secretly and furtively.

Should the latter be contemplated, Cowan, et al, have the prospect of becoming "enemies" of the American government and to all intents and purposes "men without a country."

Cowan's point of view is instructive. He said: "The U.N. was established to maintain and protect the independence and peace of small nations. U.N. and pro-communist Congolese forces have invaded Katanga in direct violation of the Charter of the U.N. United Nations jet planes are now strafing and bombing the innocent people of Katanga. As Americans, we deeply regret that United States planes are involved in this savage murder of Katanga's people who only wish independence and to live their lives under their own government."

"When Italy invaded Ethiopia, the world watched with horror as Italian planes strafed Ethiopia who had nothing but spears to defend herself. The world has grown callous. Nothing is said about similar strafing in Katanga."

Will Cowan go down in history as a patriot? Or will he be hailed before U.S. or U.N. tribunals as a felon guilty of high treason?

Macmillan to Discuss Further Lowering of Trade Barriers with Red China, at Bermuda

WASHINGTON — A further lowering of trade barriers to Red China is high on the list of issues Prime Minister Macmillan contemplates discussing with President Kennedy at their forthcoming meeting in Bermuda.

The President was apprized of this through the British embassy, before leaving Washington on his goodwill tour to Venezuela and Colombia.

Impelling reason for Macmillan's bringing up the prickly political problem of expanding trade with Communist China is the latter's indicated desire to obtain extremely valuable strategic supplies from Britain, foremost among them:

—Upwards of $100 million of machine tools and heavy equipment.

—Large amounts of the special fuel required for Viscount jets recently purchased from Britain.

These transports were sold over U.S. protests. Peiping is using the planes to modernize and expand its airlines. The Reds have informed the British they are prepared to purchase additional Viscounts if the necessary fuel can be secured.

In all instances, the Chinese Communists propose to finance the strategic purchases with long-term credits.

Macmillan is also understood to be planning to urge the President to sanction the sale of surplus U.S. grain and other food to Red China.

In the past several weeks, this column has revealed that a special House investigating committee, headed by Representative Paul Kitchin, D. N.C., has made the following significant disclosures regarding the proposal:

(1) Red China and Albania have put out feelers through the British to buy more than 6 million tons of U.S. wheat and barley; (2) The President's inner council is sharply split over that; (3) The National Security Council, top policy agency of the government, is making a study to determine whether such a sale can be made.

A major obstacle to it is a little-known provision voted by Congress in this year's Agricultural Act.

Under it, government-owned crop surpluses can be sold to foreign countries only if the President specifically declares them to be "friendly nations." Legal authorities of the Agriculture Department have held that bars such transactions with Communist countries unless labeled "friendly" by the President.

Congress Due For Needling In Drug Regulation Debate

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Senator Estes Kefauver's current two weeks of hearings before his Judiciary subcommittee on monopoly practices are final preparations for next year's congressional consideration of new legislation to regulate the drug industry.

For two years the Tennessee senator and House Judiciary Chairman Emanuel Celler of New York have been riding this hobby hard. Their crusade has been given popular appeal by emphasis on charges that drug prices are unnecessarily high because of monopoly practices by the manufacturers.

The problem is a lot more complicated than that, however. It involves long-established medical practices and changes in control now exercised by Food and Drug Administration.

It's a tremendously technical and complicated business. What's at stake can be clarified a little by a few examples understandable to anyone who has ever taken a pill.

—Some physicians contend that aspirin is the best and only medicine to use in treating arthritis. Other doctors believe some of the new steroids are more effective.

What controls should be exercised over their use? —A slightly more complicated example is offered by the fact that all chemicals now being used for the treatment of cancer are considered dangerous. Yet Food and Drug Administration allows them to be used because in some cases they do good.

Who should decide what is safe for use, and how? —It is the contention of the medical profession that physicians should have the right of free choice of drugs.

Spokesmen for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn. of 140 companies that produce 90 per cent of U.S. drugs now admit that they should produce substantial evidence as to the safety and efficacy of their products. This they now do in chemical and clinical statements that average 600 pages long.

Food and Drug Administration then judges the merits of these claims and grants or denies licenses for their use, except for nontoxic drugs to treat minor diseases.

American Medical Assn. says this latter control is unnecessary. It would let the doctors decide. Eugene Beesley of Indianapolis, president of Eli Lilly and chairman of PMA, as spokesman for his industry says Food and Drug Administration should be the judge in these cases. But he would deny to FDA the authority to test all new drugs to determine their safety and efficacy. He would limit control to licensing and inspecting manufacturers.

A question of "relative" efficacy comes in, with the adjectives hard to define. This example is cited: If one drug proves efficacious in four out of five cases, and another drug is efficacious in four out of five cases of the same disease, both should be licensed for use.

The argument given is that the drug proved useful in one out of five cases might provide beneficial treatment for the fifth case in which the other drug might not be of use.

TRUTH-FORUM

With Ed Delaney

A rash of so-called anti-Communist groups has broken out in this country. Some are sincere in their purpose. Some are fronts for professional promoters who are suddenly finding it profitable to put on the habiliments of the crusader and stage a spurious campaign for their own pecuniary profit.

Such pseudo-patriots toss into their printed and spoken material much acrobatic about the sinister character of the communist menace. They refer to Marx, Engels, Lenin, Trotsky, Stalin and other foreigners but carefully omit names of persons in this country who were the greatest aid to world-wide Communism.

One would imagine those crusaders in shining armor had never heard of the help given the Soviet and the communist cause by such as Franklin Roosevelt, who saved the Bolsheviks from bankruptcy in 1933. Perhaps they never read the records of aid to the enemy by such as Henry Mortenthau Jr., Harry Dexter White, George C. Marshall, Dean Acheson, Owen Lattimore, Lauchlin Currie, John Carter Vincent and others in the heyday of the New Deal dynasty and later in the Fair Deal of Harry Truman, all of which is documented history.

The reason for omission of historical records by the recently active crypto-crusaders is all too obvious. It would be indiscreet to center attention on some persons who may still be reverently regarded by a mistaken segment of our citizenry. It would reduce the proceeds for the promoters. Some people dislike having their idols shattered. For that reason it is only the alien communists who are denounced and no mention of their collusionists and helpers in this country.

If the anti-communist organization, group or individuals in your community cite the records and focus attention on the Americans who gave great aid and comfort to the enemy also, they merit your support. Otherwise not, and you should avoid them as you would a case of smallpox.

One can no more present a true picture of the world-wide communist menace and not include also the names of those Americans who played stellar roles in the tragedy, than one can present the drama of The Last Supper and omit reference to Judas.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

At the next meeting of your Parent-Teachers Assn., it might be helpful if you brought the following summary of a recent report to the attention of fellow members:

An outbreak of primary tuberculosis occurred in a rural public school. Alert school authorities made the significant observation that most of the infected children rode a single bus.

Examination of the bus driver revealed the fact that he was a victim of the disease and presumably the source of the infection. When tuberculin testing was done throughout the school, it was revealed that the youngsters who rode this single bus had a reaction rate that was 18 times the rate of those who rode the other buses.

The happy end to this potentially dangerous situation is the outcome of two years of treatment with antituberculous drugs, taken by mouth. For, with the exception of a few healed scars (shown only on X-ray) each of the 69 treated youngsters was completely well.

I do not know if this experience is unique, but certainly it's the first of its kind that has come to my attention. The lesson to be drawn is clear.

Through the action of your PTA you can urge that every bus driver have a thorough examination. Insist that the examination include a chest X-ray and whatever other tests appear indicated to the examining physician.

If you don't have facilities for these examinations at the school, try to get a physician who is a fellow member of the association to volunteer his services. And, failing that, refer the candidate to the nearest health facility to perform the needed survey.

For all you know, one resolution that is unanimously passed and promptly acted on may save a child from a prolonged illness. And that child may be your very own.

The fisher folk in the Shetland Island of Foula, who refused aid because of the expense, will pay a portion of the $196 thousand spent for the sumptuous quarters of Mr. Armstrong-Jones and his wife. How refreshing it would have been had they rejected the proposal of the Queen because it was too expensive and had announced that they were satisfied with their present accommodations.

Firm Expecting Mart Break-Out To Higher Level

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to J. W. Sparks & Co., the stock market performed in "credible fashion" last week when prices moved to the upper side of the wide trading range that has been in existence since early November.

"It appears to us that the list is poised for a breakout to a new record high above the 740 level. In addition it is our belief that the present upside potential for the market is in the 760-85 zone."

Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. says political developments in Africa have thrown a smoke screen around some of the values in South African golds and has allowed them to sell at high yields and at attractive discounts. Extensive Swiss holdings underscore a growing confidence that political uncertainties have created some attractive buying opportunities, the analyst says.

With business activity improving, profits likely to be up, and dividend payments probably somewhat higher, the outlook for the stock market in coming months seems most promising, says Selected Securities Research, Inc. Furthermore, the service adds, should a booming economy result in any renewed inflationary fears on the part of investors, the demand for equities may well be accentuated.

Oppenheimer, Neu & Co. noting that U.S. gold stock fell by $51 million last week and that the silver price climbed to $1.034, says it believes that silver shares have reacted sufficiently from their recent highs to be attractive again for a slow and steady recovery.

Letters To Santa

Dear Santa: I would like an electric train and a Tonka truck. Also some new clothes. We will leave you coffee and Cokes so you can have your choice. I am seven years old and am in Mrs. Walls' room at school.

Pat Michael Brown
1053 Neel Rd.

Dear Santa: My name is Letha Whinery. I am 13 years old. I would like to have a suitcase purse for Christmas very much. I live at 611 S. Ballard. I have a little sister. Her name is Mary. She is one year old. She would like to have a Babby Doll for Christmas. I have a sister who is 14 years old and she is sick and would like just something nice. I have a sister ten and she would like a nurse set. I have a brother who is eight and he would like a toy airplane.

I have a sister who is six years old and she would like a doll for Christmas. Thank you very much.
Letha Whinery
611 S. Ballard
Pampa, Texas.

Dear Santa: I have been as good as most little girls who are almost three years old. I help my mother and daddy and I think I have been good enough for you to come to see me this Christmas.

Please bring me a doll and buggy and a nice set of dishes and also some pots and pans. If you have an extra red wagon to spare I would like for you to bring it. I love you and Rudolph very much.

Love, Wendy Barber
1036 Huff Road

Dear Santa: I would like to have a dump truck, crane, grader and a bull - dozer. I would also like an electric train. I would like a real watch, too.

Donald Maples
P.S. I have been a good boy I am nine years old.

Dear Santa: I would like a Keners bridge and panel building set and a crane, a dumptruck, army set and some army men.

Ronald Maples

Dear Santa Claus: Will you please bring me a rifle? Will you please bring me a jaquar for my race track? Will you please bring me a shoe shine kit? We will have some candy and milk on the tab-Christmas.

Loce, Dennis Brewer

Dear Santa: I am a little boy, 2 1/2 years old, that's why Mommy is writing for me. I have tried to be a good boy this year. Please bring me a hobby horse, a toy radio and a cap like Daddy's. Please bring baby Brian something, too. He is only four month old. Be sure to remember the other boys and girls. We will leave you some milk and cookies I love you, Steven Roy Thrtnton

Dear Santa Claus: My name is Deborah Lawley. I am four years old. I have been a good girl. Please bring me a icebox, stove, doll, new dishes, doll house, a Captain Kid Cartoon shoe and a picture of you.

Love, Deborah Ruth Lawley

Dear Santa Claus: My name is Larry James Lawley. I am eight years old. I have been a good boy. I want a football suit, red sled and a red bicycle.

Love, Larry James Lawley

P.S. Please bring Smokey, my horse, a box of sugar cubes.

Dear Santa Claus: I wish you will get me some guns and cars and that's all. Merry Christmas.
Love, Ronald Alvin Conn
P.S. Please give the children a Merry Christmas. Merry Christmas.

P.S.S. Please get my baby brother some toys and my next brother a firetruck. My baby brother is 2 years and my next brother is 5 years old.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a bike and two guns and a rifle and I wish that you would give the children a Merry Christmas. And I wish that you would give my Dad a new rifle and I wish that you would give my Mom a new record player. And I am a cub scout and my brother is going into Boy Scouts. And I am going to be nine years old. And that is all. Merry Christmas.
Love, Rocky Conn

Dear Santa Claus: We are two and five. We want a bike and some cars and guns. We want you to be nice to the other little children that won't get much or haven't a mother or daddy. Thank you and we love you.
Roy and Roger Conn
Skellytown

Dear Santa Claus: We are six and seven. We want a doll and anything else you have that you won't need for the other children. But bring them something really nice (the ones that don't have much). Thank you.
Rhonda & Rita Conn
P.S. Please put your cig out this year. It was still burning when we woke up in the middle of the night. But you were already gone.

Dear Santa Claus: My name is Diana Bybee and I am 10 years old. For Christmas I would like to have a Tiny Tears, skates. Tony is eight years old and he would like a gun, building blocks and truck. We live at 309 Anne Street, Pampa, Texas.

Love, Diana, Tony and Mike Bybee

Dear Santa: Please bring me a big doll and a bake set. I am a good girl and help my mother. I am five years old. Bring my two year old brother a toy telephone. Thank you.
Love, Regena McQuigg

Dear Santa: Please bring me an electric train for Christmas and a truck of some kind. I am seven years old and am in the second grade. I try to be good.
Love, Dennis McQuigg

Dear Santa Claus: Christmas is coming. And I would like a sled, airplane set and a globe, too, and a dress for mother. Father wants a hat and a suit. Also I want a desk. I would like bunk beds. And my dog a big bone. If you have some presents left, I would like a couple more. Thank you. I wish you a Merry Christmas.
Jim McDowell

Dear Santa: I am a little girl six years old. My name is Shelley. I have been sweet and helped mother all year. I would like for you to bring me a Chatty Cathy doll, a horn you can play and some new house shoes. Dale is four years old and he wants guns and holsters, a Texaco truck and a truck you can haul cars on. Ronnie is three years old and he wants a car with Mr. Magot riding in it, guns and holsters and trucks. The boys have tried hard to be good. And little sister, Beverly, wants a baby that cries and a cradle, some dishes and lots of candy. We have been sweet.
Shelley, Dale, Ronnie
