Canadian River Dam Rites Set

Program details for ground breaking ceremonies at the site of the Canadian River Dam, west of Sanford in Hutchinson County, at 10 a.m. next Saturday, are complete, it was announced Saturday by A. A. Meredith, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. Thousands of Panhandle residents are expected to attend the ceremonies at which Stewart L. Udall of Washington, Secretary of the Interior, will be the principal speaker.

Completion will take nearly three years. The aqueduct pipeline to the participating cities will run into an estimated $65-million. Completion of the entire project is expected to take six years.

Among other notables scheduled to attend are U. S. Senators John G. Tower and Ralph Yarborough, U. S. Bureau of Reclamation Commissioners Floyd D. Denny and Grant Bloodgood, Leon Hill, regional director of the Reclamation Bureau; Chairman Joe D. Carter and Members O. F. Dent and H. F. Beckwith of the Texas State Water Commission, U. S. Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa; Max Starcke, president, and J. E. Sturrock, general manager of the Texas Water Conservation Association, and H. B. Zachry, general contractor for the dam.

The dam will be 40 feet wide and will have a spillway capacity of 71,600 cubic feet per second. When the lake area is opened to the public upon completion of the dam, the original plans call for some $700,000 in public-use facilities.

Three years, the engineers estimate. (See CANADIAN, Page 3)

President Burned In Effigy By Red Group In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy was burned in effigy Friday night during a Communist-organized demonstration on the University of Mexico campus.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy visit Mexico next weekend as the guest of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Authorities said Saturday further tightening of security measures was indicated. Precautions already scheduled for the state visit were said to be "unprecedented."

The campus rally was called Friday night by various left-wing student groups including the "Friedrich Engels cell" of the Mexican Communist Party.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. James G. Glenn of Borger's First Presbyterian Church. Music will be by the Amarillo Tascosa High School Band.

Recognition also will be given to the CRMWA directors, mayors and city officials from all of the 11 cities. Also to be introduced will be many other special guests who have been invited.

The Canadian River Dam and reservoir will be built at an estimated cost of some $31-million.

Plans Completed For Independence Day's Program

Plans are complete for the annual Independence Day Program and fireworks display to be held at Recreation Park beginning at 8:30 p.m. on the evening of July 4th, according to Pampa Chamber of Commerce officials.

This year's program will include a ten minute formal introduction and tribute to Independence Day, including presentation of the colors, pledge to the flag, invocation, and national anthem, followed by the reading of the Declaration of Independence.

Kay Fancher will serve as Master of Ceremonies, the invocation will be given by the Rev. Donald Hauck, and the Declaration of Independence will be read by Cameron Marsh, principal of Pampa High School.

Parking details will be handled by the police and sheriff's department assisted by the Texas State Highway Patrol. This will be the fourth annual July 4th Program, which has attracted huge crowds to Recreation Park in the past three years. Last year's crowd was estimated to be more than 15,000. The Pampa Jaycees will be in charge of concessions, including cold drinks, snow cones, etc.

The fireworks display, which will run continuously for thirty-five minutes, will be fired by the Burnett Fireworks Company of Epid, Okla. People from the entire Top of Texas area are invited to be present, along with their families, for the program. The fireworks display is financed annually by contributions from individuals and Pampa business and professional people. Anyone caring to contribute to the program may send their check to the Chamber of Commerce office, made payable to the July 4th Celebration Fund.

Several newspapers editorially praised Lopez Mateos for inviting the President. "Excelsior" said the Mexican people fully support the "gesture of friendship."

Federal Senator Manuel Moreno Sanchez said on a TV forum that Kennedy fully understands Mexico's aims and the situation in the country. He said the visit would "create a new climate of understanding between two countries which share the same ideals."

No arrests were made at the university demonstration despite a government crackdown on Red activities. The campus has immunity under the university's charter as an "autonomous" institution.

About 500 students attended the rally. The two-hour meeting took place around the large statue of ex-President Miguel Aleman, restored last year after it was dynamited.

RODEO TIME DRAWS NEAR — Officials of the Top of Texas Rodeo Association have announced that automobile bumper stickers promoting the big show have arrived and are available in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall. Mrs. Joe Miller, an employee in a local bank, poses here with one of the stickers, reminding all who see it that rodeo time in Pampa is August 22 through 29 at Recreation Park, on the Miami Highway, east of the city. Chamber of Commerce officials urge Pampans planning to make a trip out of town before rodeo time to be sure to come by and get a bumper sticker for their car. (Daily News Photo)

Coalition Government In Laos Gets Installation

Calls Made Day FBI Arrested Farm Magnate

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
PECOS, Tex. (UPI) — Billie Sol Estes paid for telephone calls to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's administrative aide and Sen. Ralph Yarborough the day before and the day of his arrest on fraud charges, telephone company records showed Saturday at a special court of inquiry.

Records which Texas Asst. Atty. Gen. William Poole introduced at the court in Estes' hometown, Pecos, showed a total of 38 calls to Yarborough, a Democrat. Two were made March 28, the day the FBI arrested Estes.

The records of the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Dallas showed one call from Estes at 9:22 p.m. EDT, March 28 to Cliff Carter, whom Atty. Gen. Will Wilson described as Johnson's administrative assistant. Estes made the call to Carter in Arlington, Va. and talked six minutes.

Carter said in Washington that Estes telephoned him last March 28 and told him he understood he was being investigated. Carter promised to call Estes back if he found out anything, but said he never did.

Estes telephoned two or three times earlier this year, Carter said, and paid him "one social call" in Johnson's office. Carter said the social call lasted about five minutes but no business was discussed.

Three calls from Estes' telephones in Pecos were made to Carter, according to the records. There was no way of telling how many of the calls Estes personally made. The telephones were either at his home or his various businesses, except the telephone at the Dallas hotel.

Poole, pointing to the records, said two person-to-person calls were made from Estes' telephones to the late Henry H. Marshall, 51, believed to have been the first farm official to have suspected that Estes illegally was getting cotton acreage allotments.

A Joe Bennett made one call. There was no indication who made the other. Marshall was found dead June 3, 1961, in Franklin, Tex., with five bullet wounds. (See ESTES, Page 3)

JC's Named One Of Top US Chapters

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (Sp)—Finest state Jaycee chapters are judged on a blend of project performance, state and national Jaycee activity, and qualified activity in the public interest. For these reasons, Pampa Jaycees snared their state's highest honors a few months ago.

Operating under the handicap of a tremendous and active interest in the award, Pampa garnered first place honors in the Jaycee competition, earning the right to call themselves one of the top Jaycee chapters in the nation.

The decision was reached in Las Vegas last week by 50-plus judges of outstanding Jaycee leaders. The award, a gleaming gold and birchwood plaque, was presented during a special ceremony of the 42nd annual Jaycee convention before an estimated 12,000 delegates, meeting in Las Vegas.

The honor was earned in a population division of small chapters. The competition, according to national Jaycee president, Bob Conger, was the heaviest within the division.

Newspaper Advertising Growth In US Predicted

BUFFALO, N.Y. (SpI)—Current developments in the marketing field, together with the traditional values offered by newspapers to advertisers, give the medium an unusually good opportunity for growth in the next few years, Charles T. Lipscomb Jr., president of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said here.

Speaking before the annual convention of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, Lipscomb pointed out that newspaper circulation has been increasing "at a much faster rate than the adult population," and that people are reading newspapers more thoroughly than ever before.

These facts, which he said have been borne out by recent studies, were attributed by the speaker to the fact that "our people are better educated, read more, want to keep up with what's happening."

Also favorable to newspaper advertising growth, he said, is the increasing practice of advertisers to plan their promotion and selling activity on a market by market basis. This development, and the increased use of electronic data processing in marketing planning, favor the newspaper medium, he added, because of its superior adaptability to the market by market approach.

Among the factors providing this adaptability, the newspaper's "basic strengths as a selling medium" he listed: their depth of penetration in each market, their closeness to the retail counter, their merchandisability, their intimate everyday relationship with consumers, their impact and believability, and the reader attention and reader loyalty that newspapers get.

"Classified advertising," said Lipscomb, "is one of the newspaper industry's assets, because it is not only an important source of revenue, but also one of the best examples of the selling power of newspaper, of the acceptance of newspapers by the people of the community, and of the closeness of the newspaper to all areas of community life."

He said that newspaper classified, currently totaling about $800,000,000 annually, is expected to exceed one billion dollars in a few years. "Classified is successful," he said, "because it delivers the goods, it gets results, and there's nothing better anybody can say about any advertising medium."

Lipscomb spoke at the convention's luncheon meeting Monday. In an earlier session, Mark Arnold, the bureau's vice-president for retail and classified, noted that in terms of net revenue, classified is the most profitable advertising for the newspaper.

"Many newspaper managers," said Arnold, "caught in the twin squeeze of rising costs and ever-keener competition are giving close attention to the development of classified as a source of much-needed revenue."

Among Bureau of Advertising services to newspapers designed to help them increase classified revenue, Arnold said, are: a new series of classified advertising success stories; presentation for showing to home improvement advertisers, real estate advertisers, and others; monthly classified trend reports; and other services.

Denver Shoppers Are Injured In Tank Explosion

DENVER (UPI) — Scores of downtown Denver shoppers were injured by flying glass and debris Saturday when an oxygen tank exploded in the middle of a burning building.

Two persons — a fireman and a woman shopper — were injured seriously. Many others were knocked down by the explosion or cut by glass, and were treated at local hospitals.

The fire broke out in a building being razed by a wrecking firm to make way for a parking lot. An employee of Barnett Wrecking Co., Cip Montoya, 56, of Denver, said sparks from a cutting torch he was using ignited insulation in the building.

"They told me I have first degree burns on my arm, but I didn't want to go to the hospital," Montoya said. After the fire was controlled, he helped other workers and firemen clear the shattered glass off the streets.

A column of flames rose from the building when the insulation caught fire, and the blaze threatened two nearby movie theaters. Then, a few minutes after the fire started, the oxygen tank used with welding equipment blew up.

The blast shattered windows for several blocks around, but the fire stopped right after the explosion.

Mrs. Eleanor Dulany, 46, of Denver, received a cut artery, and was reported in "serious" condition.

The explosion caught spectators off-guard. Thousands of them, downtown for Saturday afternoon shopping, had gathered to see the fire.

The Police Department is also investigating a report of four hubcaps taken from a 1962 Dodge, belonging to Ronny Mullins, 1517 Dogwood.

Mullins told officers he had parked in the driveway and the theft occurred after 11 p.m. Friday.

Willing To Talk

However, Don Byrne, a union spokesman, said even though the strike was on, the union was willing to meet with the mediation board.

"But our people are fed up with government interference," he said. "They feel government economic pressure disrupted the TWA negotiations, and they are not going to let it happen again."

Pan American Flight 293, a Boeing 707 jet flight from New York's Idlewild Airport to San Juan, pulled away from the passenger terminal minutes before the 1 p.m. EST. strike deadline.

A union engineer was on board with the 187 passengers. A company spokesman said it was a "coincidence" the plane finished loading and pulled out onto the strip before its scheduled departure.

An estimated 400 passengers were on two jet and two propeller airplanes operated by Eastern when the deadline arrived. The engineers walked off the planes, and the airlines told the passengers other travel arrangements would be made.

Pan American cancelled two flights to Nassau, and a flight from Los Angeles to London. The company declined to make an immediate commitment on another flight scheduled to depart from Honolulu to the mainland.

In San Francisco, Pan American planned to use supervisory personnel to man four Pacific charter flights.

Robert Ryan Is Making Debut In Broadway Show

Hollywood
By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Robert Ryan is making his Broadway musical debut, and the rugged actor admits he's a little nervous about singing outside the shower.
Bob's appearance in "Mr. President" this fall marks the first time he's vocalized without a bar of soap in his hand.
Ryan's portrayal of a singing chief executive couldn't be more unlikely if Mr. Kennedy were doing it.
"It makes me nervous," said Bob. "It's pretty appalling to think about getting up in front of a theater full of people and singing."
Bob bucks up his courage by saying "musicals are not singing, musicals are more, if they were, I wouldn't be in this."
Whatever vocal talent Bob lacks will be more than adequately supported by the genius of Irving Berlin, who wrote the music for "Mr. President."
"This is Berlin's first musical in 12 years, since "Call Me Madam,"" Bob said, recalling his audition for the starring role.
"I went back to New York and told them the best way to find out if I could sing would be to hear me," he said. "So they got a piano player and I asked everybody to leave the room. Suddenly Berlin busted into the room and said, "Fine."

To show he wasn't flying under false colors, Ryan told Berlin the only place he could sing was in a shower.
"He said, "Fine, we'll put a shower in the show," joked Bob. The actor says his role will be a "mythical president" and insists, "I'm not trying to be Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Eisenhower."
"There's no identification in the script," he said. "It's a backstage story. Life at the White House. What do you do with your son when he's arrested for speeding and you're the President?"
Explaining that the show is all fun and no politics, Bob was quick to add the presidential figure won't be slapstick.
"You can't have the president singing and dancing all over the place," said Ryan, who'll also do a little hoofing. "It would look sort of silly."
Bob said he was suggested for the role by Katherine Hepburn, with whom he has worked on the stage.
Ryan plans to move his wife and three children to New York where they'll live for the duration of his year's contract as "Mr. President."

TELEPHONE PROGRESS — J. F. Allen, left, and A. W. Holt, Pampa switchmen for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, operate the Pampa equipment for Bell's new direct distance dialing service. This machine, the automatic number identification frame, is used to locate and repair faulty connection and other trouble indications on the customer's line when he makes a DDD call.

Direct Distance Dialing Due In Pampa Starting 7 A.M., July 23

By WANDA HUFF
Pampa News Staff Writer

By 7 a.m., July 23, Pampa, Amarillo and Borger customers of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will be able to call, by direct distance dialing, 63 million of the 74 million telephones in the United States in ten seconds.

"Right now, using an operator to dial his number, a person can call 54 million of the 74 million telephones in 16 to 30 seconds, depending on the length of the number. To dial a long distance number with this new service, it takes about ten seconds from the time he finishes dialing," George Newberry, Pampa manager of the Southwestern Bell Company, said.

"To make a DDD call, dial '1,' then a three-figure area code number for the city you are calling, then the telephone number. Area code numbers will be listed by the front of your telephone directory.

"People who make calls collect, person to person, on pay telephones, or on toll credit cards, of people who have four and eight penny lines will still have to go through an operator. Just the people that know the telephone number and are making a station to station call will be able to use this service," Newberry said.

"That is because our I.B.M. 'Brain' that picks up the number you are calling from and to, times and disconnects the call, can't pick up anything that has to be said. Because four and eight penny services have more complications, they do not have access to direct distance dialing. Only two party or straight line telephones can use this service.

"When people use operators they use one group of lines to go out on. Normally, the operator knows the route she takes to place the call, but when the customer uses this type of service to make the call himself, we have no idea how the call will go."

When a person dials the "1," for long distance, the "Brain" automatically finds a circuit. It makes no difference whether the circuit is in San Francisco, Dallas, or New York, it will still reach the party in ten seconds.

"Our company's objective is to cut over all Texas towns using the Bell system to direct distance dialing by 1965. That doesn't mean all Texas towns will have direct distance dialing, because many towns have independent telephone companies and not all of these are even dial service. We don't know whether they will cut over to this service or not.

"All Panhandle towns except 12 have independent phone companies. These are Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Stannett, Lefors, Skellytown, Hereford, Canadian, Shamrock, Canyon, Tulia and Gruver."

In 1952, Harlingen was the only Texas town to get DDD. Since then Denison and Waxahachie were added. In 1957, Hereford was the only Panhandle town with the service. Ft. Worth, the largest Bell system city, was cut over in 1959. Midland, Dallas and Abilene will be cut over this year.

"This service is more economical for the company. If more people use it and more long distance calls are made, the service will cost the customer less.

"Long distance rates are going down. In 1920, a three-minute, daytime, station-to-station call from Pampa to New York City was $8.85. Today it is $1.29.

"We hope 25 per cent of all calls are on the DDD system. If possible, we hope in another two years 50 per cent of all calls will be on DDD.

"Western Electric Company started installing the equipment Dec. 15 and will be completed June 24. We will start testing the equipment then and be ready to cut over by 7 a.m. July 23," Newberry said.

"The automatic calling party release installed in April for local services prevents the phone from being tied up if a customer doesn't hang up the phone within 20 seconds after he finishes the call.

"The automatic line insulation test frame is another new feature being added for local telephone service. The teletypewriter is associated with it and is turned on at 5 a.m. each day. It picks up all trouble indications on the customer's line.

"The frame can test every line in Pampa in two hours. If a line has trouble, the teletype tells us in code what and where the trouble is. In most cases we have it cleared up before the customer gets up and starts using his phone," Ainsworth said.

"It is a useful tool to help us find and repair the trouble even before the customer has a chance to report it.

"To prevent customers from leaving a receiver off the hook and tying up the line, we are installing the permanent signal announcement release. If a phone is off the hook for 20 seconds after the call is made, a tone will sound and a woman's taped voice will announce:

"This is a telephone company announcement. We have an indication that a receiver is off the hook on your line. Please check and see that all your receivers are in place."

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recommended reading for putting the record straight is Adm. Lewis L. Strauss' just published memoirs, "Men and Decisions." The publisher is Doubleday & Co., Inc., Garden City, Long Island, N. Y.

Especially recommended for reading are:

Chapter 14, "Decision in the Case of Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer."

Chapter 18, "Decision in the Senate."

In the case of Dr. Oppenheimer, Adm. Strauss was one of the judges as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. The decision was whether Dr. Oppenheimer should continue to be cleared for access to secret information as an AEC consultant. Reexamination of the Oppenheimer record was undertaken on orders of President Eisenhower, Strauss relates that he read an FBI report on the scientist and ordered that a blank wall be erected between Oppenheimer and all secret and top-secret information until a hearing on his clearance had been completed.

Clearance Suspended

Strauss effected Ike's orders. In the end, the AEC commissioners voted 4 to 1 to support the recommendation of a special inquiry panel that the wartime clearance Oppenheimer had enjoyed should be suspended. Gordon Gray of North Carolina was panel chairman. He had been President Truman's secretary of Army, a post he left to become president of his state's university. The panel was composed of two Democrats and one Republican. It had voted against Oppenheimer, 2-to-1.

Dr. Oppenheimer was not found to be disloyal, but lost on grounds that he was a security risk. The Oppenheimer incident was explosively controversial. Adm. Strauss' documented record is persuasive proof that the procedure against Oppenheimer was fair.

In Chapter 18 Strauss is the accused. He was nominated by President Eisenhower to be secretary of commerce, succeeding Sinclair Weeks, resigned. After three months of committee hearings and Senate debate, Strauss was refused confirmation by a vote of 49-to-46, the 10th Cabinet nominee to be rejected in the history of the United States.

The record of the Senate hearings and the circumstances of the Senate vote are adequately documented. This documentation leads inevitably to the conclusion that if Strauss had been dealt with as fairly by the U. S. Senate as Oppenheimer was fairly heard by the AEC, the admiral would have been confirmed.

Both incidents, Oppenheimer's sad experience and Strauss' humiliation, aroused national controversy lighted mostly by the prejudices, ignorance and angry passions of the controversialists. Strauss was clubbed with rotten wood.

"Men and Decisions" is a fascinating book from beginning to end. Chapters 14 and 18, however, are especially recommended reading because they illuminate two important political episodes that have, too long been shadowed in bitter partisanship. These are Adm. Strauss' accounts, of course, and if his antagonists desire to challenge his facts, perhaps they will do so. Their's will be no easy task.

When the Senate rejected Strauss, old-timers recalled two recent secretaries who had passed the Senate test:

Henry A. Wallace whose disqualifications were such that the Congress reduced the authority of the secretary of commerce before giving him the job. They were two of FDR's cabinetiers.

Commercial Arson on Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arson to collect insurance is increasing and many professional firebugs are involved, according to Insurance Information Institute.

Before 1955, the Institute said, nearly all incendiary fires were started by juveniles, vandals or mentally disturbed persons. But in the past three years, the activities of the professional arsonist have increased steadily.

MOMENT OF FEAR—Polly Bergen, back on the big screen, registers fear as she is threatened by Robert Mitchum in the suspense thriller, "Cape Fear," now being shown.

Star Of 'Bonanza' Says Youngsters 'Twist' Talents

Hollywood By Joseph Finnigan UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lorne Greene, one of television's most successful pappas, says many young actors today are twisting away their talents. "My big beef is with the youngsters who dissipate their opportunities," said Greene, who costars on NBC-TV's "Bonanza" as the father of three sons, a sort of sagebrush "Daddy Warbucks."

Polly Bergen...Ah, For Such A Den!

By ERSKINE JOHNSON Hollywood Correspondent Newspaper Enterprise Assn. HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — On Subject A, Polly Bergen said, "I feel like a Cub Scout den mother." It was a bit odd because she was talking about singing in Las Vegas. On Subject B, she said: "I loved the part." Not so odd. After eight years, she's back on the big screens and such a role she never, never could have played on television, where she has been for eight years. It's in a movie "Cape Fear," too zippy even for closed circuit television.

to the movies. She has one big scene of hysterical terror, and: "That one scene is why I'm in the picture," she explained. "It's a scene that really means something and I don't think it will be as shocking as some of the nudity I hear we will be seeing in "Cleopatra." I'm opposed to that on the screen. "The acting challenge is why I accepted the role. There's nothing obscene about it. If it becomes an issue with the censors I'll tell them they are crazy." Polly wants a challenge. That's the story of her life, which brings us to her current Las Vegas singing date at the Dunes Hotel. She's teamed with a musical combo called "The Country Boys"—five 21-year-old college lads in their first big-time booking. "They're so young and so unspoiled, I made them promise, no gambling," she laughed. "That's why I feel like a den mother."

David Rose Song Atop Tune Lists

CHICAGO (UPI) — David Rose's recording of "The Stripper" moved into first place in United Press International's top 20 records this week. The new leader switched places with "I Can't Stop Loving You" by Ray Charles, which dropped to second place. "Palisades Park" by Freddy Cannon advanced to third, followed by Bobby Vinton's rendition of "Roses Are Red," which climbed four positions from last week's survey.

But she still doesn't feel like a singer. "I'm not really a singer," she insists. "I'm an acting-singer. I worry more about creating a mood than I do about creating a beat or a sound. It's as though I'm doing 10 scenes instead of 10 songs. "What I'm after from the audience is silence — all-consuming silence. If it is respectable silence I know I'm flopping. If it is rapt silence I know they like me." What Polly doesn't like about the date is her medley of Helen Morgan songs. She's opposed to the idea, "but people argued that I was wrong. After five years it's strange — I still meet people who mention the show I did on Playhouse 90. (The Helen Morgan Story," which won her a 1958 Emmy as best actress.) "The argument was that people expect me to sing Helen's songs. Well, it's become sort of a crusade with me. I could have done Helen Morgan's life as a movie or as a play after the television show, but I didn't want people saying, 'All she could do was a Helen Morgan impersonation — a cinch.' Maybe some day I'll play her again. But I'd like to do a lot of other things first."

Sid Caesar Is Now Back In Hollywood

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN UPI Hollywood Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Sid Caesar has returned to Hollywood richer, wiser and funnier than he was in 1945 when a producer paid him $6 a day to appear in "Tars and Spars."

'CAPE FEAR' — Gregory Peck finds Polly Bergen in shock, but otherwise unharmed, in this scene from the suspense-thriller, "Cape Fear," co-starring Robert Mitchum. Scheduled for six days, the film will open Thursday at the Capri. On the same bill is a special featurette titled "Race To Space," starring Lt. Colonel John Glenn.

About the only nice thing Caesar can say about his early film-land days is that he and his wife could live "pretty good on $6 a day." Besides "Tars and Spars," Caesar also appeared in another movie, "The Guilt of Janet Ames," released in 1947. That role paid for Sid's ticket out of Hollywood. "It was a psychological comedy," Caesar said with a look indicating he still isn't quite sure

Everybody forgave and forgot "The Guilt of Janet Ames" and Sid went on to become one of television's biggest stars. Now Caesar is back in movies, appearing in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," the multi-million dollar comedy costarring Spencer Tracy, Phil Silvers, Jimmy Durante, Milton Berle, Mickey Rooney and other comedians. "That's a lot of guys helping," said Caesar at the revue studios commissary during a lunch break from filming. Discussing his long absence from pictures, Caesar said: "I was so busy with television that I didn't think about movies. When you do television for 14 years, you don't have time for everything. There were a few movie offers but I didn't want them." Now Caesar has nine ABC-TV shows scheduled for next season and a Broadway show. Caesar's first reaction to an offer to appear in the "Mad World" movie was one of disbelief. "I didn't believe Stanley Kramer was going to make a comedy," he said, referring to that producer's history of making pictures with serious themes such as "Judgment at Nuremberg." Caesar's role is that of a dentist who goes broke because he can't stand to see people in pain. Sid said none of the many comedians in "Mad World" will do individual routines. They're all playing specific characters.

Accumulator Basically An Indecisive Person

Science Today
By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
By United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The person who merely accumulates possessions is a type unto himself, said Dr. Richard H. Phillips, whose scientific field is people. He is not a saver. Thrift has nothing to do with it. He is not a hoarder. Hoarders ward off fears with possessions. Nor is he a collector. Collections bolster the minds of collectors.

The accumulator, said Phillips, is basically an indecisive person. He won't commit himself to a clear, realistic understanding of himself — and this accounts for his special attitude toward possessions.

believe that "one day these things may come in handy."

Displeased With Accumulation
The accumulator is displeased with his accumulation because it is a nuisance, Phillips went on. His sense of shame comes from the suspicion that he is being foolish or that other people will think the accumulating of useless objects is "peculiar."

"There is in the possessions which any individual acquires and retains an element of self-definition," Phillips said in reporting his work to the American Medical Association. "In classifying an object as 'appropriate-to-me' or 'inappropriate-to-me' he commits himself. Each time a person throws something away or actively acquires something new he is operating in terms of his self-concept."

And that's the trouble with accumulators — they have a shaky self-concept at best, and so they can't make up their minds to throw away possessions which are no longer useful or refrain from taking on new possessions for which they have no use.

He recalled that when Mahatma Ghandi died his possessions amounted only to a watch, spectacles, sandals, two books, a pitcher, three figurines, a knife, two bowls and two spoons.

"And Ghandi was certainly one of the most simply, clearly and completely self-defined men in the history of mankind," said Phillips who is a member of the faculty of the State University of New York at Syracuse.

Joan Crawford Is Looking Forward To More Activity

Women to Woman
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lot's wife looked back—and turned to salt. Joan Crawford remembers the moral of that story.

"I believe in now," she says in her autobiography. "Looking backward is negative and I like to think of myself as affirmative, with God's help a flier, not a pedestrian."

The book, "A Portrait of Joan" (Doubleday), comes out July 6. Miss Crawford shares the by-line with Jane Kesner Ardmore.

"What has always bored me is the harping of the length of my career and my damned durability," Miss Crawford says.

"So I've had the longest career in Hollywood. Mine was an early start, personal unhappiness and good health. As early as 1954 they were calling me 'the last movie queen.'"

"I'm no queen. I started as a hooper in a chorus line and by hard work and good breaks became, I hope, an actress. More than that, I've become a woman, an learning and growing."

In her personal life, Miss Crawford had three marriages end in divorce. She found happiness with Alfred Steele the fourth time she said "I do." But a heart attack punctuated that, adding widow to her titles.

A master at knowing and overcoming heartbreak, Miss Crawford often is asked how she does it.

"The answer to that—a capacity for living develops through a determination to grow with each experience, happy or otherwise," she noted.

"Enemies have value, sometimes you can turn them into friends. Mistakes can be valuable too. The point is not to let mistakes destroy you; get rid of the guilt."

"Say 'I'm wrong. I'm sorry' then try never to make the same mistake again. There'll be plenty of new ones, heaven knows. Everyone wants to be right."

"Since that's impossible, let's just settle for being human. I've nothing to be ashamed of except my personal limitations."

Miss Crawford said she fills her life with work, with the children, and faith. She explains it this way:

"I took a long while to stop fighting frantically and let Him help, but I learned. No one goes the long road alone. God is an inexhaustible source. This I know, but sometimes I get in His way."

A man few in Hollywood ever heard about had much to do with Miss Crawford's determination to succeed. She said he died at the age of 88, four years ago—but that she corresponded with him since she was a student at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.

She called him "Daddy Woods."

He was Dr. James Woods, dean of the college. He intercepted her when she was running away from

Russians Are Setting The Stage For Worldwide Propaganda Try

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Moscow is setting the stage for a worldwide propaganda offensive, to be launched from the so-called peace congress, opening in the Soviet capital July 9.

Described as "The World Congress For General Disarmament and Peace" the mass meeting is to bring together thousands of sympathizers from all continents.

Moscow Radio broadcasts and the Soviet press have stepped up publicity for the gathering in the past few days.

The Congress is organized by the World Peace Council, generally considered a Communist front organization.

The advance build-up suggests the Kremlin intends to use the gathering as a platform for a mighty propaganda campaign in support of Soviet disarmament strategy that would put the blame for the recent failure of the Geneva arms-cut negotiations on the United States.

The controversial character of the Moscow congress has been spotlighted by a major rumpus in the British Labor party which has threatened to expel some of its prominent members for association with the Moscow rally.

Those affected include Bertrand Russell, of anti-nuclear fame.

Resolutions were understood already in preparation in Moscow denouncing the "forces who are economically and politically interested in the arms race" — implying western reluctance to disarm.

This line fits in with Premier Nikita Khrushchev's personal charges that American feet-dragging on disarmament is largely responsible for the food price increase in Russia.

Khrushchev has renewed his charges in a speech during his current visit of Romania. He is in fact now blaming the United States for Russia's general economic troubles.

The Moscow congress may however produce some unscheduled results. It may reveal incidentally the present status of the Sino-Soviet relationship.

It was at a similar "peace congress" in Stockholm last year that the Communist Chinese launched an unexpected attack on their Soviet allies. Bitter exchanges spotlighted the sharp antagonism over ideological differences between Moscow and Peking.

There is no firm indication that Should Churches Pay Taxes?

Religion In America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Should churches pay taxes? That question is under growing scrutiny in America, both by the churches and by the courts.

Church property is now immune from real estate taxes in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. The income derived from church-owned business enterprises also is exempt from both federal and state taxation.

Some Americans are opposed to any form of tax exemption for religious organizations. They argue that it is a form of government subsidy which violates the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

Others contend that the Constitution itself confers tax immunity on churches. They point out that the First Amendment prohibits any interference with the "free exercise" of religion, and they assert that if the government had the power to tax religious organizations, it would be in a position to control or even destroy them.

Turn Down Review
Last month, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review a state court's unanimous ruling that a property tax exemption for churches is constitutional. The high court held, 6-1, that "no substantial federal question" was presented by the case.

This ruling may settle — for a while at least — the legal debate over tax exemptions for land and buildings which are actually used as places of worship. But there are other areas of controversy which were not covered by this case.

For example, if a church happens to own a profit-making business enterprise — such as a printing plant, a department store, a winery or an apartment house — should the income be subject to the same 52 per cent tax which the federal government would levy on a private corporation engaged in the same business?

Church Businesses Growing
Under present law and policy, the Internal Revenue Service makes no attempt to assess income taxes against any business enterprise owned by a church, however remote its activities may be from religious worship. As a result, churches have been going into competitive, profit-making businesses on a growing scale. There are church-owned hotels, bakeries, warehouses, radio stations, office buildings, parking lots, printing firms, and similar businesses in many parts of the country. The Roman Catholic Church and the Mormon Church are most often mentioned in this connection, but a number of Protestant churches are also engaged in tax-free business operations.

Rains Helped Some, But Hindered Others

AUSTIN (UPI) — Heavy rain and hail played havoc with many farm operations over the state last week but much of the rain was helpful, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

Rain, ranging from light showers to heavy downpours, stopped cotton and sorghum planting in the important Northern High Plains and Low Plains counties. Thunderstorms and hail hindered Panhandle planting and wheat harvest progress.

Replanting of cotton and sorghum will have to be hurried to replace acreage that has been washed out and hail damaged.

Light showers in several South High Plains counties will speed up dryland planting, but additional moisture is needed in that area to reactivate dryland planting which is behind schedule.

Showers in the Blacklands, upper coastal and south-central counties continued to brighten crop prospects. Major areas of extreme South Texas received no moisture for the second straight week as cotton and corn moved rapidly toward maturity.

South Texas farmers are preparing to harvest cotton and have already begun sorghum harvest. Watermelons continued volume movement from the Falfurrias-Hebbronville area and in lesser amounts from the Rio Grande Valley and Laredo but supplies are diminishing rapidly.

Rio Grande Valley tomato shipments increased slightly, but are expected to decline rapidly with few or none available for the fresh market by the end of this week.

Water Industries Capital Corp., a small business investment company which is the only one set up solely to aid all types of businesses concerned with water, has as one of its financed projects a fully automatic irrigation system for farm fields.

The systems are produced by the Valley Manufacturing Co., of Valley, Neb., and installation and service are handled by the Wisconsin Irrigation Leasing Corp.

A sprinkler pipe, a quarter of a mile long, can spray up to 1,200 gallons of water a minute. It rotates about a pivot in a half-mile circle, and takes three days to make a complete revolution about its axis. The pipe is seven feet above the ground, to allow for its use over tall field growth; it rests on wheeled towers about 50 feet apart. Water pressure operates hydraulic motors which propel each tower.

Power is provided by a diesel engine for pumping, either from a well or from a stream or farm pond, to supply the water for the system.

Wheels on the towers are six inches wide; originators of the system say that they create less than one per cent crop damage. The system will operate day and night without attention, will shut off automatically in case of mechanical or electrical failure.

Bears To Express Gridiron Caution

DALLAS (UPI)—When a team hasn't won a championship in 38 years, any mention of optimism just naturally has the word "cautious" in front of it.

That's exactly the way it's worded in the 1962 Baylor University football brochure just issued by publicist George Wright, who lost his usual "first of the year" honor this summer to Texas A&M.

"Cautious optimism probably best expresses the feeling of the Baylor football staff concerning Bear prospects for the 1962 season," Wright wrote in the opening paragraph of the section devoted to the outlook.

Baylor, which has come painfully close numerous times but hasn't won a Southwest Conference grid crown since 1924 will have exactly half its 44 lettermen back from a 6-5 1961 record that included a 24-9 triumph over Utah State in the Gotham Bowl.

But, only three of those 22 lettermen were starters — end James Ingram, guard Ronnie Rogers and halfback Ronnie Goodwin.

"How well young players can come through at reserve positions at quarterback, tackle and end probably holds the key to whatever success the Bruins can expect in playing a tough schedule that includes Houston, Pittsburgh and Air Force Academy," the brochure points out.

Coach John Bridgers, the prospect says, believes the Bears' chances rest with the amount of improvement that can be expected in line blocking and line defense over 1961. And, he feels the prospect for those departments looks promising.

"It is felt the Bears could well qualify for a darkhorse role in Southwest Conference play, might wind up as a quality contender for a first division berth," the summation continued.

Wright's prose points out that Baylor should again have good passing and receiving, should have more depth of good running backs, should have more backfield power and again have better than average backfield speed.

The passing likely will rest on young Don Trull, the Oklahoma City junior who stepped in so capably in the clutch late last season, while Goodwin and reserve wingman Claude Pearson loom as the prime targets along with veteran Ingram.

Rogers and captain-elect Robert Burk, who missed much of last season because of an ankle fracture, provide Baylor with solid guard foundations. Robert Mankin, Billy Allen and Wayne Williamson loom as adequate reserves.

Tackle is a big question mark with tall James Moore the top hand among three lettermen. This apparent weakness partially explains Bridgers' switch from a 6-1 defense to a pressing 6-2-3 with the guards becoming defensive tackles.

Butch Maples, a senior, will have to oust juniors Weldon Price and John Matyssek from the center post despite his experience.

Trull's help at quarterback will have to come from a creditable sophomore crop headed by Robert Christian and Dean Nix.

As the brochure concludes: "If those young tackles, ends and quarterbacks come through, it could be a most interesting season for the Baylor Bears."

Scribe Still Thinks Palmer Is Champ Out On Tournament Trail

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — It was his biggest disappointment, but Arnold Palmer came up smiling. Arnold Palmer came up smiling.

Which is the mark of the true champion.

It took him a little while. Fifteen minutes in which he sat slumped in front of his locker with his head buried in his hands.

Those few hours just passed had ruined all his dreams, at least for the moment.

He dreamed, the golden-skinned guy, of adding the U.S. Open to the Masters crown he won in April and going on to make a sweep of the British Open and the PGA, a slam nobody ever accomplished before.

But out there on Oakmont's clutch acres he had just taken a lesson from young Jack Nicklaus, who beat him by three shots in a playoff for the Open.

The scores, Nicklaus par 71 and Palmer 74, weren't exact. Because with the game lost, Palmer backhanded a concession putt on the final hole and thus took another blow.

So in all reality he lost it by two shots, the fact remaining that one would have been enough.

"I blew it," said Palmer when he came up smiling, "on the 14th hole. And it was my own indecision which did it."

That was where he threw it away, no matter what he said about his unprecise putting.

Palmer has proved often in the past that he's a guy who never knows when he's licked. And this looked like another charge from nowhere when he fired three birdies in a four-hole span to close the beefy buckeye's lead to one scanty shot after 13 holes.

Palmer reached for a club, held it with motionless stoicism for a moment, and then flipped it back in the bag.

It was a move which cost him the title.

"I reached for a five iron," he recalled, "and then I went to the four iron. I meant to hit it soft. But I didn't."

He knocked it 40 feet past the flag — and three-putted for the bogey which put him two big shots back with only five holes to play.

Palmer still was giving it the old college try and on the 17th he thought he had another opening. It is, that 17th, a 292-yard uphill hole which is a brilliant bit of man-made treachery.

"Jack took a one iron and I thought he was taking a helluva chance," Palmer said. "I knew he had to hit it perfectly and he didn't."

For Palmer this hole, which he had eagled earlier, is a sure-fire birdie hole. But he unloaded on his driver and missed the green, too. They both settled for four.

That was the end of the rainbow.

"He's a helluva player," Palmer said of his 22-year-old conqueror. "He has everything it takes to be great. He has all the shots and he has a know-how that a lot of us don't have at 35."

Left unsaid was a guessed at private feeling that he'd like to play Nicklaus six times a week and twice on Sunday for all the gold in Ft. Knox.

And, in the final analysis, you'd have to conjecture that it was Arnold Palmer who beat Arnold Palmer in this one. That's not taking anything away from the rock-steady Nicklaus.

But with or without the Open title, this guy Palmer still is the champ.

More Families Enjoying Pleasures Of Camping

Camping is an inexpensive, nature-flavored excursion which is attracting a growing number of families, who are discovering that camping is fun.

Many sensible approaches to family camping are uncovered in the July issue of Good Housekeeping.

First of all, housing facilities will have to be determined. Cabins, individual or buddy tents, lean-tos are just a few possibilities. Comfort and family size are usually the determining factors.

Other recommended items include a gasoline lantern, a flashlight and spare batteries, rope, an axe with a flat end to be used as a hammer, two tarpaulins, a pail, a jug for drinking water, a first-aid kit, assorted nails, a small shovel and insect repellent and spray.

Much of the supplies may be either rented at about 10 or 20 per cent of the cost, or bought outright. To buy equipment needed for a family of four would cost between $300 and $400, and should last up to 10 years depending on use and care.

Clothing should include sweaters, tennis or play shoes, an extra pair of shoes and waterproof rainwear.

Pee Wee Baseball To Begin Friday In Canadian Play

CANADIAN (Sp) — A mound of Beaty's Pee Wee League baseballers will play their first game for the public Friday at Rotary Park... immediately following the Little League game between Red Sox and Cardinals.

Beaty has organized two teams from the boys who were too young to make Little League team rosters this year, and has been putting his charges through twice-weekly practice sessions.

The thirty-two boys have been divided equally into two teams of sixteen, and all of them will play, Beaty says. The PeeWee game is a little different from standard baseball, in that batters swing at a ball on a flexible standard instead of a pitch, though there is a pitcher on the mound and a catcher behind the plate. There is also an extra shortstop between first and second bases, and the remainder of the team is deployed in the outfield. The batter knocks the ball as far as he can, and runs the bases as far as he can get. There are no walks.

On the teams are:

BRAVES: Russell Kohart, David Fisher, Danny Sherman, J. C. Hill, James Miller, Kim Carr, Peter Gutierrez, Peter and George Jacobs, David Erezell, Tommy Massey, Johnny Davis, Brent Rowley, Jeff Cullender, Tommy Hill and Willie George.

GIANTS: Earl May, Robbie Parnell, Steve Whipple, Mark Fry, David Wilson, Barry Spurlock, Pat Walker, Lex Keim, Simon Gutierrez, Mark Thompson, Greg Rowley, Kelley Ward, Robbie Dillman, David Cloyd, Skippy Jones and Darrell Cockrell.

Double Winner

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Emil Levensen of the Cleveland Indians was the last man to pitch two complete games and win them both in the majors, accomplishing the feat on Aug. 28, 1926.

Way Our Front

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates won the National League pennant by 2 1/2 games in 1962 for the biggest pennant-clinching margin in major league history.

250,000 TEXANS PREFER STATE FARM

HERE'S WHY:

When Texans choose one brand of insurance over another, as they have with State Farm, they must have some pretty solid reasons. Take cost for instance. Texas policyholders have come to expect dividend savings from State Farm Mutual (eligible policyholders have been receiving them for the past 27 years). State Farm's present 25% dividend makes the actual net cost of State Farm car insurance lower than most other companies. What about service? State Farm has more agents in more places to provide more service than you'd find almost anywhere. Most important, you get top-notch protection and famous "boomtown" service wherever you travel. Car insurance due? Check with me before renewing your present policy.

Meals should be planned in advance, both the method of preparation and the menu a la camp.

Campsites usually provide hot running water, washing machines, social halls and picnic tables, and usually have or are near recreational facilities for boating, swimming, fishing, water skiing, hiking, nature study and star gazing.

All in all, both children and parents should expect a pleasurable camping excursion if these sensible suggestions are followed, and if the excursion is blessed by favorable weather.

ONE OF THE loveliest weddings of the season... and several seasons... was the nuptials of Gail Finkelstein and Stanley Brown of Denver, Colo. on June 16 at half-past eight in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn... the towering, white tapers on the white satin and net floor-length cloth, which appointed the bride's table, had burned low in the silver candelabras before the last wedding guest left the reception... it seemed whether you were relative or friend... whether you had known the Finkelstein family for a few years or a score, you were part of the happiness... the ballroom lights were dimmed during the wedding service but the glow from the crystal, amber votive cups centering the topiary trees, which lined the bridal path and the candelabras holding amber votive cups, which flanked the marriage canopy, cast a golden haze over the wedding party and guests assembled... you expect the bride to be radiantly beautiful and Gail was as she walked down the length of the ballroom on a white, cloth-covered bridal aisle on the arm of her father... and you are not surprised when the bridal attendants are strikingly attractive: Rhona and Glenda, Gail's sisters were... and so were Diatra Brown, Stanley's sister and Rowena Kaplan of Houston, cousin of the bride... but the parents, the Hyman Browns of Denver, Colo... Dove and Betty Finkelstein almost stole the spotlight from them... several beautiful traditions were observed during the reception which followed... guests danced a "Congratulations Dance" for the bride and bridegroom... to the music of Schnozz Dunn's Orchestra of Amarillo... then the bride waltzed with the bridegroom's father, while the bridegroom waltzed with the bride's mother... the bride's father and bridegroom's mother shared a waltz... and partners were changed until all had danced with each other... telegrams with wishes for happiness were received from all over the United States... sent by friends and relatives who were unable to attend... these were shared with guests during the orchestra's intermission and were read by the families' elected emcee, Dave's nephew, Milton Gordon of Tulsa, Okla... a genial man with a dry and very funny sense of humor... Betty's sister, Mrs. Earl Golden of Herkimer, N. Y. was down for the wedding... we remember hearing a couple of years ago that she had been singled out for the honor of "Woman Of The Year" in her community... other members of the immediate family were Henry Jacobson of Scranton, Pa., brother of Dave... his two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Gordon of Tulsa, Okla. and Mrs. A. Latman of Borger... other special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kaufman of Boulder, Colo. and their son, Joe, who has "pinned" Glenda... they're both attending summer school sessions at Colorado University, where Glenda is taking courses in speech therapy... late in the evening, Gail, dressed for travel in a rose silk suit, and Stanley finally got away in a shower of rice for a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada.

IN A BRIEF CYCLE of hours after the white wedding tapers had been blown out downstairs in the Starlight Room... upstairs in the Pampa Club on Sunday afternoon, white, silver-flecked tapers were lighted on the elegantly appointed table for the Silver Wedding Anniversary Reception honoring Fred and Dorothy Neslage given by their children, Terry, Fred Jr., John, Robert, Bill, Tom, Tim, Marion, Judy and Patsy... the other Neslage daughter, Jean, was hostess in absentia for she was away at Girl Scout Camp Mary White in New Mexico... Julia McKernan, a long-time friend of the family, registered guests, who were directed to the gayest receiving line we've ever been through... it was composed of the honorees, Fred and Dorothy... their children; the boys in white jackets with turquoise-hued carnation boutonieres and the girls in summer frocks with turquoise carnation corsages... Fred's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Schweiger and Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Joseph Bush, both of Kansas City, Mo... Dorothy's sisters, Mrs. Richard Lajoi of Dallas and Mrs. John Ormsby of Kansas City, Mo... Mrs. Fred Neslage Jr. and W. D. Warner of Oklahoma City, who is a college fraternity brother of Fred's and had served as his best man at the wedding in St. Peter's Church in Kansas City twenty-five years ago... Dorothy's sister, Mrs. Lajoi had attended as maid of honor... an uncle of Fred's, Herman Moore, who is a florist in Kansas City and made the floral arrangements for the wedding in 1937, sent Dorothy a gorgeous orchid corsage for her to wear at the Nuptial Mass held Tuesday morning in St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Church... the spacious Pampa Club rooms, appointed with massive arrangements of white gladioli, snapdragons, carnations and white roses arranged with silver leaves, was filled to capacity with friends whom the Neslages have made during their 17 years' residence in Pampa.

WE WEREN'T REALLY eavesdropping but we heard that the Sidwell family had a gala family reunion last weekend on the Sidwell Ranch northeast of Canadian... sixty-five Sidwells got together for a family talk, church services in the ranch-home, and family fun... Ruby Hughes has returned from a trip to Zurich, Switzerland, where she went to welcome a new grandson, Jimmy, son of Carol and James Jones III... Carol and her husband are expected to return to the United States in about a month... Sam and Blanche Jacobson and daughter, Susie, left almost immediately after the Finkelstein wedding in their white Thunderbird for a vacation with family and friends in California... and in the Escofier Room of the Beverly-Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, California on Wednesday evening, they, too, were honored on the occasion of their Silver Wedding Anniversary... The Charlie Duenkel's granddaughter, Stacy, who lives in Sapulpa, Okla. is visiting with them... and this one-year-old darling is walking and talking and kissing... everyone! in about a month, the National Hairdressers Association will meet in New York and decide what the new hair trend is to be... but a couple of local lads, John McCausland and Frank Hatcher, have beat them to the punch... they have come up with a hair-style which they are hoping will sweep Pampa during July... has something to do with a clever gimmick they have for promoting Pampa Little Theater's August play, "George Washington Slept Here"... speaking of Frank, who loves music, hear that he has organized a dance band, which will be known as "The Modern Aires"... seems like a logical avocation for Frank, who is a foot specialist!... several families, who were hosts to members of the Moral Rearmament Force earlier this month, have received appreciative letters from their guests, who expressed how much they enjoyed their visit here... the letters praised the friendliness... the hospitality... and the "goodness" of Pampans... our guests have written that they appeared in Enid, Ponca City, and Okmulgee since leaving Pampa... they will be in Oklahoma City for performances on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in the Municipal Auditorium... they expected to arrive in Oklahoma City yesterday... several groups from Pampa are going to visit with the group again... among them Betty Wright... Ruby Copps... Beth Carr and the W. A. Morgans... how we'd like to go, too, to refresh our mind and warm our heart in the spirit of the MRA members' dedication... found out a little more about that Indian statue that Reba Williams has in her yard on North Wells Street... seems that it is not a cigar-store Indian of the olden days... but it is a Pontiac Indian that formerly was in front of an automobile agency here... Reba's daughter, Shirley, admitted it so much that when some remodeling was done at the car agency, it was given to her as a gift... ah, me, thought it was a little tall for a cigar-store Indian... too tall for sidewalk cowboys to reach up and strike a match on its nose... so another bubble has burst... but we'll keep on blowing them... Love, Peg.

Finkelstein-Brown Wed In Impressive Service

Miss Gail Finkelstein pledged her troth with Stanley E. Brown in an impressive wedding service performed by Rabbi Arthur Blumh of Amarillo on June 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Miss Finkelstein is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein, 1901 N. Russell. Mr. Brown's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Brown of Denver, Colo.

BRIDE

Escorted down the white - cloth aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride was formally gowned in imported silk taffeta fashioned with a portrait neckline and long, tapered sleeves, which ended in petal points over the wrists. The bodice, sleeves and front of the pencil - slim sheath were embroidered in seed pearls and crystal beads. The chapel - length train was designed as an overskirt caught to a self-silk rose to form back interest.

Her elbow - length veil of Belgian Lace was caught to a coif cap topped by two silk taffeta roses corresponding to the gown's back interest.

She carried an arrangement of Snow White roses atop the traditional Prayer Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Rhona Finkelstein served her sister as maid of honor. Miss Glenda Finkelstein, also a sister of the bride, Miss Diatra Brown, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Miss Rowena Kaplan of Houston, bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid.

The feminine attendants were dressed identically in gold silk organza designed with bodices of white lace over gold organza, scoop necklines and elbow - length sleeves. The gold organza bell skirts were encircled at the waistline with gold velvet which terminated in streamers just above the back hemline. Coif caps of lace - covered gold organza topped with silk taffeta roses complemented their dresses.

Each carried a swirled cascade of white feathered chrysanthemums.

Hubert Finkelstein of Houston, brother of the bride, served as best man. Groomsmen were Jay Levy and Jack Zelkin, both of Denver. Junior groomsman was Rickey Kaplan of San Antonio. Seating the wedding guests were Gene Hoffman, Al Lipson, Albert Wolf, all of Denver, and Stanley Latman of Borger.

Interlude music, played by Miss Cynthia Duncan, pianist, included the selections "Tru-mere" (Schumann), "Moonlight Sonata" (Beethoven), "Clair de-Lune" (Debussy) and "Thine Own" (Guston Lange).

Miss Duncan accompanied Mrs. Glenn Lewis of San Angelo as she sang "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and "Because."

For the processional, Miss Duncan played Lohengrin's "Bridal March" (R. Wagner) and for the recessional Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Finkelstein chose a pastel aqua lace and chiffon dress accented with stones and complemented with elbow - length white (SEE PAGE 14)

Home Demonstration Club Hears Talks On Dental Health, Safety

Mrs. Bob Brandon spoke to the Merten Home Demonstration Club on three health and safety topics during the meeting Tuesday in Mrs. Jack Howard's home, 1400 E. Browning.

Speaking on seat belts, Mrs. Brandon reminded the club that seat belts are becoming a necessity because today's increased speed causes more accidents. Seat belts can save lives by holding drivers intact and not letting them be thrown from the car.

Her suggestions on "Dental Health for Children," were two dental check ups yearly, regular and thorough brushing, proper nourishment, and avoidance of over-indulgence in sweets. For between meal snacks she recommended nuts, popcorn or cheese rather than sweets.

In her topic, "Emergency Actions to Save Lives," she suggested that members know how civil defense is prepared for emergency action and learn first aid and other emergency treatments for home accidents.

Members will meet at 9:30 a.m. July 5, in Mrs. A. M. Nash's home, 721 N. West.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. Members attending were Meses. Nash, Brandon, D. F. Flynn, Floyd Laramor, T. G. Groves, and Howard.

Do All Measuring Devices Give the Same Size for the Same Feet?

Measuring devices are the cause of endless arguments among shoemen. Some add a half size, others subtract; some have the children stand, others measure them sitting down. There is no one right way because shoe sizes vary. 9C from one company may be as big as 9½D from another.

It is a good idea to remember that a measuring device is used to save the shoeman's feet, not the customer's. Experienced shoemen can guess the size of eight out of ten feet without measuring them, but if they guess wrong they have to make an extra walk to the stock. When they learn how the measuring devices can be adjusted to the make of shoes they fit they get the right size the first time and have fewer complaints from their customers.

One thing that no measurer measures is the depth of the foot and that is very important. Nor is there any marking in the shoe to indicate whether it is shallow or deep. Again, the best answer is the old one — there is no substitute for the experience of the man who is doing the fitting.

GETTING GALS DOWN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Doctors have prescribed pills for two young women who work in the new 25-story city-county office building.
The gals — elevator operators — were afflicted by motion sickness.

"Modern?" That's like when you've got Gas Air Conditioning!

"Modern" is a real hard word to explain. Like, for instance, if you were talking about the "newest" in Summer comfort — the Sun Valley Gas air conditioner. It's the "most" in Summer comfort, because the air is the "coolest," and "cleanest" and stays that way when it's "hottest" outside. You might say it's the "economical"est, too, because it uses low-cost, dependable GAS. And, no moving parts in the heating or cooling cycles make it the "maintenance free"est of any unit on the market. So I guess you'd say "modern" ends everything with an "est," like the Sun Valley does.

KING-SIZED FILTER

Mama says it'll be all right for daddy to stay in the house to smoke his cigar now, thanks to Sun Valley's new twice as big filters.

BUDGET-SIZED ECONOMY

Mama says it's never too soon to learn the dollars and sense facts about utility bills. She says "constant efficiency" means it keeps you cool all the time, and doesn't cost any more when it gets hot.

NO MOVING PARTS

Sun Valley works like a coffee percolator, and who ever heard of a percolator wearing out?

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

INSURANCE

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy. My father is teaching me how to dance. He is supposed to be a real good dancer (at least that's what my mother says.) Well, maybe he was considered good in his day, but he dances like they used to way back in the early 40's and I can't get it. Anyway, even if I could I wouldn't care to dance that way because no one dances like that any more. How can I cut off his lessons without hurting his feelings?

LEARNING TO DANCE DEAR LEARNING: Don't be foolish. Let him teach you. It might come in handy when you have to dance with your girl friend's mother. In the meantime, get someone in your generation to teach you how to dance 1962 style.

DEAR ABBY: My two-year-old son sucks his thumb. I have discussed it with his pediatrician who advised me to ignore it. My problem is this: Whenever I take the child marketing, strangers will say to him, "Does that thumb taste good?" Or, "BIG boys don't suck their thumbs!" All this teasing and shaming have aggravated the habit. I have even had clerks pull his thumb out of his mouth while I paid for my purchases. What should I do?

MRS. J. DEAR MRS. J.: You can't control the remarks of strangers. Ignore them, too.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received an invitation to a shower by the mother of the bride. On the invitation was written: "PLEASE BRING SANDWICHES."

I am not a relative. I wasn't sure if she meant I should bring sandwiches for the crowd, or just for myself, so I called her up and she said to bring a sandwich just for myself as she'd serve coffee. I have never heard of a shower like this, have you? And I never knew the bride's mother could give the shower. Will you please straighten me out?

NEWS TO ME DEAR NEWS: It is news to me, too. YOU are all straightened out, my dear. It is the bride's mother who is confused. SHOWERS for brides should be given by friends - not relatives. And a guest should not be asked to bring her own lunch.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FORBIDDEN FRUIT": Don't waste any more time on someone who does not respect his present vows. If you finally "win" - you lose.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Searl-Watson Pledge Vows In Church Rites

Miss Linda Sharon Searl became the bride of Halbert Leroy Watson with nuptial vows pledged on June 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bible Baptist Church.

The Rev. H. M. Hutchinson officiated for the double-ring service performed in a setting of white wicker baskets filled with white gladioli with a background of tiered candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harvey, 524 S. Tigner. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Watson, 729 N. Banks.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a bouffant, ballerina-length gown of white nylon lace over taffeta and net. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline, and wrist-length sleeves of net ended in petal points at the wrist. Special trim for the skirt was a large bow in back and a scalloped opening in front revealing pleated net. Her shoulder-length white Tulle veil tapered in back and was held by a halo band with lace medallions and seed pearls.

Her bridal bouquet was of white roses over a white Bible with streamers tied in love knots.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Bona Loveless, maid of honor, wore a Mint Green nylon dress over taffeta and net with a lace jacket. She carried a bouquet of split carnations with mint streamers.

Jimmie D. Watson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Jerry Barrett of Clarendon and Jerry Pritchard were ushers.

Miss Elayne Thornburg played an organ prelude, "If I Loved You," Rogers and Hammerstein and the traditional marches.

Mrs. Jack Davis, vocalist, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt on a prie dieu for the benediction.

Mrs. Harvey, mother of the bride, wore a pink silk batiste dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige dress and jacket with light blue accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride's table, for the reception held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church, was appointed with a white net cloth over mint green. Mrs. Jimmie-D. Watson, sister-in-law of the bridegroom and Mrs. E. R. Gammage, cousin of the bride, presided at the cake and punch service. Miss Sandra Searl, bride's cousin, was guest registrar.

Miss Elayne Thornburg played a medley of nuptial selections during the reception.

For the honeymoon to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride wore a Mint Green cordolono suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Miss Myke Ashby Fred Brown Wed In May Ceremony

Miss Myke Ashby and Fred Brown repeated double-ring vows in a service performed on May 30 at 7:15 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Donald S. Hauck officiating.

Miss Ashby is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Ashby, 918 Christine. Mr. Brown's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Brown, 1025 S. Banks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a suit of white silk linen complemented with a chiffon rose hat encircled with a brief nose veil. She carried an arrangement of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Gary Neal, as matron of honor, wore a blue linen suit, net hat and carried a blue and white carnation bouquet.

Larry Ray served as best man. Miss Elayne Thornburg, organist, provided the traditional wedding music.

For the wedding Mrs. Ashby wore a navy blue linen suit accented with white. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Brown, chose a coral two-piece suit. Their corsages were fashioned from white carnations.

For a wedding trip to Lake Texoma, the bride traveled in her bridal suit and wore the white roses corsage from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were graduated from Pampa High School. The bridegroom is employed at Ideal Food Store, Number One. The couple is making their home at 405 McCullough.

What's to Blame?

Hair stylists, dermatologists and beauty products manufacturers give a number of reasons for the increase in baldness among women. Some of the most frequently cited are:

- Overuse of bleaches.
- Teasing or back combing.
- Constant permanent waving.
- The practice of scarcely disturbing a hairdo between settings.
- The constant use of nylon brush rollers.
- Daily use of hair sprays.
- Frequent switching of hair colors.
- Bad shampoos and many setting lotions.

JFK, Jackie Will Visit Mexico

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Across the Rio Grande, this country's traditional neighbor, Mexico, has been behaving too much in the neutralist manner of India to suit some U. S. diplomats. And President Kennedy will fly down there next weekend to see what he can do about improving the situation. For three days—Friday, Saturday and Sunday—Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, will be ceremoniously feted by President Lopez Mateos. Traditional Mexican hospitality, however, was not expected to produce any material change in continuing disagreement between the neighbor nations over international affairs, particularly how best to deal with the Cuba of Fidel Castro.

Mrs. Kennedy, assuming she makes the trip as the White House announced, will be a smash hit. Some time during the three-day visit, she undoubtedly will speak to the Mexicans in their native tongue and the local residents will go wild with enthusiasm.

Heroes Due Praise
The visiting President probably will make highly approving reference to some of the country's ranking heroes, possibly including those who gave their lives against U.S. forces many years ago. And explosive public accord was expected to brighten Kennedy's appearances, too.

These outward manifestations of friendship may soften, but not seriously change differences stemming from Mexico's official attitude against U.S. efforts to isolate Castro Cuba economically and politically.

The President and his entourage will fly from Washington Friday morning in Air Force jet transports, accompanied by a large press party. The official party traveling with Kennedy has not been completed, but it will include ranking members of his own staff plus such state department Latin American experts as Richard Goodwin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Inspection Tours Slated
Friday and Saturday will be devoted to ceremonial lunch meetings and extensive "exchange of toasts" which is the diplomatic mechanism for polite speeches by host and guest. There will be inspection tours in the Mexico City area, visits to housing projects and a folk dance fiesta; and after Roman Catholic mass Sunday, Kennedy and his party will fly back to Washington.

The President would have gone to Mexico sooner had it not been for the attitude of Lopez Mateos toward this country's policy on Castro. It is traditional for a U.S. President to make his first foreign visits to his more immediate neighbors. Kennedy visited Canada in May of last year, but since then has visited France, Austria, Great Britain, Bermuda, Venezuela and Colombia.

There was talk of his going to Mexico last winter, but on at least two occasions, the trip was put off indefinitely because of policies on Cuba. Shortly before the new year began, the White House said Kennedy would go to Mexico in the spring. Then this was changed to "during the first half of this year." Thus by arriving in Mexico City June 29, Kennedy will meet this last deadline by little more than 24 hours.

Pampans Will Take Part In Scout Trip
Seven Pampa boys will be among the 30 Boy Scouts from the Adobe Walls Council of the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma who will leave this area Aug. 6 for a canoe trip into the Quetico Provincial Park in Canada.

The group will return to their homes on August 21.

The Scouts who will participate from Pampa are David Bailey, Fred Tinsley, David Taylor, Scott George, John Elder, David Cain and Arthur Smalley. All Scouts will be chaperoned by men selected by the Adobe Walls Council.

The outing will start from the city, Minn., Canoe Base and Scouts will go by canoe from lake to lake. They will carry everything needed for eight full days of outdoor travel.

The program is designed for advanced Boy Scout skills and techniques in Scouting.

Leaders on the trip this year include Glen Briles, Turpin, Okla.; Bill Kindy, Guymon, Okla.; Stina Cain, Clarendon; and John R. Collard, Spearman.

Voiceprint
NEW YORK (UPI) — The "voiceprint" some day may be as important as fingerprints in identification, according to Engineer Lawrence Kersta of Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Kersta has developed a system of making a photographic wave pattern of an individual's voice from a single word. He said it is 97 per cent accurate and mimics can't fool the machine.
