Will Carpenter's Troubles Slow Manned Space Flight Program?

Answer Will Decide Next Flight's Mission

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY
United Press International

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas (UPI) — Space-man Scott Carpenter and American scientists sought today to determine if his control system troubles on three trips around the earth will prevent the United States from skipping ahead in manned space flight.

What the 37-year-old astronaut tells them will have much to do with whether Project Mercury officials decide to bypass at least one more three-orbit flight and send the next astronaut five, six or seven times around. This would precede a 17-orbit flight that would keep an American in space for 24 hours.

Carpenter made the country's second three-orbit flight Thursday in his Aurora-7 space capsule, following closely the trail that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. took last Feb. 20 but fighting considerably more problems than Glenn.

Carpenter's four hour, 56 minute space trip ended in what Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson called "a real cliffhanger" — a gripping three-quarters of an hour in which all contact with Carpenter was suddenly lost after Aurora-7 reached its most critical time, the plunge from space back into the atmosphere through the 3,600-degree reentry barrier.

The nation waited and prayed by its television sets and radios, and search planes scrambled aloft to join recovery ships hunting with mounting concern for the Navy lieutenant commander who was such a cool performer in space.

A Navy P2V patrol plane was the first to catch the faint beat of a homing signal on the Aurora-7 frequency, lock on to it and follow it to a spot in the Atlantic about 250 miles beyond the planned capsule landing area. And there was Carpenter, patiently waiting on a raft beside his bobbing capsule and waving a greeting to his rescuers.

During the next three hours, Carpenter waited in the raft while helicopters raced to him from the far-off recovery carrier Intrepid. Two Air Force rescue team members parachuted into the water to make certain Carpenter was all right, and a half-dozen planes circled overhead. At 3:38 p.m. EST (4:38 p.m. EDT) — almost eight hours after his 7:45 a.m. EST blastoff from Cape Canaveral — a helicopter pulled Carpenter aboard and took him to the carrier.

While he relaxed aboard the Intrepid, a "relieved" President Kennedy, congratulated him by telephone, and Carpenter replied by apologizing for "not having aimed a little bit better on re-entry."

When he arrived at this Bahamian island tracking station about midnight, Carpenter looked happy and relaxed and showed few signs of the ordeals of his busy, 22-hour day.

"Where do I go from here?" he asked astronaut spokesman Lt. Col. John A. Powers after he stepped from a two-engine plane which delivered him back ashore.

Glenn was the first to embrace Carpenter. Earlier, the first American to orbit the earth had told newsmen that the anxiety of the 40 minutes before Carpenter was found affected those closest to him. (See PROBLEMS, Page 3)

Absentee Voting Deadline Today In City Election

Deadline for absentee balloting in the Ward 2 city commissioner election was to fall at 5 p.m. today.

City Secretary Edwin Vickers said 16 absentee voters had been cast up until noon today.

The election is scheduled for Tuesday in the North Side fire station, 321 E. 17th St. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Candidates for the commissioner post to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Newt Seeger are Dr. Will Graham, George Hamlin and Herzan Brown.

Final Vote Slated On President's Farm Bill

It Has Stiff Production Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was scheduled for a final vote today on the administration's farm bill, a measure designed to cut the government's huge surpluses through stiff production controls.

The Senate took crucial action on the bill Thursday when it approved two amendments that would affect wheat and feed grains. Today it planned to vote on the entire bill.

The grain amendments would give farmers the choice between accepting rigid controls with high price supports or no controls with supports reduced to low levels.

2,500 Students In Oklahoma State University Riots

STILLWATER, OKLA. (UPI) — An estimated 2,500 students throwing beer bottles and rocks, rioted on the campus at Oklahoma State University Thursday night and early today. Six women in invaded dormitories, two policemen and a fireman were hurt.

The riot got so bad local police had to call for help from state troopers and police departments from surrounding towns. The national guard was alerted but was not used.

The riot lasted five-and-a-half hours. When two fire trucks rumbled up and the firemen turned firehoses on the students, some of them cut off the water and wrecked the equipment so it could not be used.

Then we just had to sweat it out," said Stillwater policeman Dick White.

Thirty-two state troopers came to the aid of the 26 local policemen and 17 campus security officers trying to quell the riot on this campus populated by 10,000 students.

Assistant police chief Marvin Helf said at least 40 students were arrested on charges of drunkenness disturbing the peace and destruction of property.

Frank McFarland, dean of men, said he was investigating the riot. "What I understand is that some students — you know how they do at the end of the school year — got together around the girls' dorm." McFarland said. "It may have started off as a party raid."

Some Words From Space By Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Astronaut Scott Carpenter's three-orbit space flight Thursday was plagued by erratic radio communications. But his first-hand descriptions of some of the mysteries of space travel were graphic.

Here are some of Carpenter's words from space on the things he did and saw and the problems he faced:

—On the luminous particles at each of three "dawns" first reported by Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.: "I am tracking now a very small particle; a little isolated particle about... there is another — very small. Could be a light snowflake. I have more of the white particles in view below the capsule. They appear to be traveling exactly my speed. There is one drifting off. It is going faster than I am, as a matter of fact. I haven't seen a great number of these particles, but I have seen a few of them. Their motion is random. They look exactly like snowflakes to me. There were some more of those little particles. They definitely look like snowflakes this time."

—On the problems of eating solid food in space: "The food has crumbled badly, and I hate to open the package anymore. Still getting crumbs all over the capsule. I can verify that eating bite-size food as we practiced for this flight is no problem at all — if crumbly foods are eaten with no problem."

—On the vari-colored balloon trailing on a 10-foot nylon line behind his capsule to test depth perception and color sense in space: "It has a random drift and there is no oscillation that I can predict whatsoever. The line leading to the balloon sometimes is tight, sometimes is loose enough so there are loops in it. Its behavior is strictly random as far as I can tell. The balloon is not inflated well either. It's an oblong shape out there, rather than a round. And I believe that when the sun is on it the day-glow orange is the most brilliant. And the silver."

—On the haze layer and "blue band" at the horizon reported by Glenn: "The haze layer is very bright. I would say 8 to 10 degrees above the real horizon, and I would say that the haze layer is about twice as high above the horizon as the bright blue band." (See CARPENTER, Page 3)

But There May Be No Such Person Alive

Search Is On For Official's Killer

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Rangers and local law enforcement officers searched today for the person who may have killed the man who was investigating Billie Sol Estes.

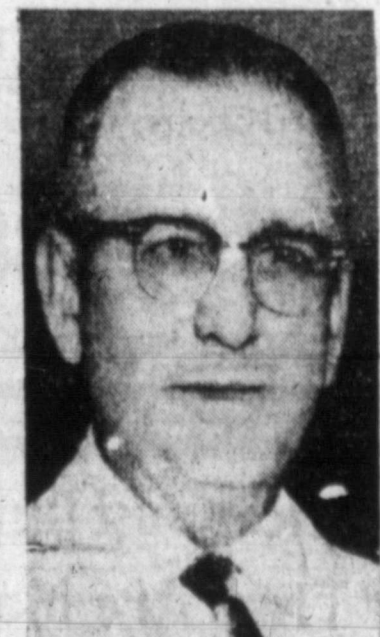

There may be no such person alive. A medical examiner's report said that Henry H. Marshall, who was looking into Estes' cotton allotment deals, probably was murdered. But the report left open a slight possibility that Marshall committed suicide.

If he did, no man ever worked so hard to destroy himself.

State officials investigating Marshall's death were unhappy today because the Department of Agriculture and the Justice Department refused to turn over a complete copy of a 175-page report entitled "Billie Sol Estes."

The Justice Department said portions of the report dealing solely with Marshall could be turned over, but not the complete report.

"This jury (the grand jury in

HENRY MARSHALL

... if he killed himself, he worked hard to do it!

investigating Marshall's death) would prefer to see the whole file and make its own decision as to what is material to this investigation," state Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said.

The story of the collapse of Estes' multi-million dollar business empire still is unfolding, but it is going to be difficult to match the story of the strange death of Marshall. He was the U.S. Agriculture Department employee who was found dead on his ranch near Franklin last June.

He had been shot five times with a 22-caliber bolt-action rifle. Local authorities conducted a hasty investigation — no attempt was made to get fingerprints off the rifle — and Marshall's death was pronounced a suicide.

When what Estes called his "house of cards" collapsed, people began thinking about Marshall. Members of his family, convinced he had been murdered, demanded a new investigation. Thursday the results of that investigation were made public. Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, medical examiner and a noted pathologist, found after conducting an autopsy on the disinterred body:

—According to the medical and chemical probabilities, it was a homicide, but he did not rule out the possibility that it was a suicide.

—Marshall was shot five times in the abdomen and four of the bullets came out of his back. The fifth bullet was never accounted for. All wounds were "possible contact or near contact," meaning that the rifle was held close to Marshall.

—The blood carried an estimated 30 per cent of carbon monoxide. Between 35 and 40 per cent is lethal.

—Marshall suffered a blow on the left side of his head of sufficient force to incapacitate him. There was a cut over his left eye.

Members of Marshall's family were incensed when Thursday's medical report left the door open to suicide.

Their question was how could a man shoot himself five times with a rifle, take carbon monoxide, strike himself on the head, and cut his forehead.

CoC Roundup Of Members Ends Today

The 20 teams in the Chamber of Commerce Membership Roundup drive were racing down to the wire this afternoon.

Deadline in the ten-day campaign falls at 5 p.m. today when final reports are due at the chamber office in City Hall.

Campaign officials said it probably would be Monday before complete compilation is made and winners in the membership drive competition will be announced at the monthly membership meeting of the chamber Monday noon in Coronado Inn.

Reservations for the luncheon will be taken at the Chamber of Commerce office as late as 10 a.m. Monday.

Speaker at the membership luncheon will be Bob Brummal, manager of the Southwestern Public Service Co. at Borger. Brummal will speak on "Who Profits from Profits?"

Prizes also will be awarded to the winners of Pampa's Crazy Day contests.

The four-man teams, each headed by a chamber of commerce director, today were urged to complete their calls on prospective members and to make their reports before the 5 p.m. deadline.

Preston Smith To Visit In Pampa

State Senator Preston Smith, candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the June 2 Democratic Run-off Election, will arrive in Pampa at 8:30 p.m. today to visit with friends and supporters.

Smith, from Lubbock, will be the guest of honor at a reception scheduled for Perry LeFors Field on his arrival and also at a Dutch Breakfast to be held in the Coronado Inn Saturday at 7 a.m. He will spend Saturday in the Pampa, LeFors and Borger area.

Bob Stinson, Smith's local campaign manager, said additional information on the visit is available for interested parties who will call him at MO 4-3211.

Children Asked To Keep Off Railroad Tracks

Police Chief Jim Conner issued a warning to parents today to keep their children from playing on railroad tracks.

R. A. Wycoff, Santa Fe agent, reported that boys playing along the tracks had broken out the glass in a number of switch lamps and filled the lamps with stones. Wycoff also reported that materials used in repair work along the tracks has been scattered and thrown away.

Chief Conner said that parents should instruct their children of the danger involved in playing on the tracks.

"They are not only being destructive," Chief Conner said, "but they are risking life, and limb. It is a very dangerous practice."

Police also said they had received a report that boys were breaking out lights in Lions Park last night.

Television In Review

Station, where a crowd watched the flight on a large CBS-TV screen, there was suddenly silence and grimmace.

It was almost possible not to think of Carpenter's wife, parents and four children watching and waiting for an answer. One television reporter noted that Carpenter had knives in case of sharks.

Ships and aircraft sped to the area of his expected landing. Then, suddenly, came the electronic word of contact. And moments later, viewers heard Col. John Powers announce that a plane had "sighted a life raft with a gentleman by the name of Carpenter in it."

The enormous, instantaneous relief that followed marked the climax of an event that up to then was relatively uneventful on television — if an orbital flight can be said to be uneventful.

There had been the excitement of blastoff, and some concern over the heat of Carpenter's suit and his dwindling fuel. But it had been a very businesslike flight. Carpenter's terse verbal reports back to Mercury control, heard by viewers, were less colorful than Glenn's.

Less newsmen were on hand, and there were fewer spectators on the beach near Cape Canaveral. The comparative lack of sensation of the second three-orbit journey — at least until the end — was satisfying because it meant more emphasis could be given to the practical, research matters at hand.

NBC-TV's "Hazel" came within 3 of a point of displacing "Bonanza" as top show in the national ratings for the two weeks ending May 6... Today's scheduled appearance of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas on CBS-TV's "Calendar" was postponed.

Shop Students Given Awards

LEFORS (Spl) — The annual Shop Show, a display of projects made by Lefors Shop students, was held recently in the Junior High Gymnasium under the direction of H. L. McCarty, shop teacher for Lefors.

Two trophies and honorable mention were given first, second and third place winners in three divisions, Mechanical drawing, Shop I and Shop II.

McCarty made the awards. Scott Dunnam received a first place trophy on a cabinet in Shop II; Eddie Roberts received a trophy for second place in Shop II; and Ronnie Line received honorable mention in third place in Shop II.

Jimmy DeGray placed first in Shop I with a cedar chest; Jimmy Hill received second in the same division with a night stand; and Phil Woodring received honorable mention with a night stand.

Troy Soblett was first in Mechanical drawing with a Gun Case; Gene Gee won a second place trophy with a bookcase drawing; and Wayne Coleman was third in the division with a bookcase.

The judging team from West Texas State College Mechanical Arts Dept., included Bill Waddell, Dennis Simpson and Tommy Henderson. Many other shop boys and girls were entered in the judging, and the judges found it hard to select the winners.

Mrs. H. L. McCarty was in charge of refreshments, aided by shop students in serving.

Racing Cars, Scooters Are In Complaints

Racing cars and motor scooters found their way into the complaint reports registered with city police last night.

Residents in the 1900 block of N. Faulkner St. notified police about 8:30 p.m. that a group of youths were "making a race track" out of N. Faulkner and W. 1st St.

Patrolmen dispatched to the scene reported that all was quiet when they arrived and there were no motor scooters in sight.

About five minutes earlier a report had come into headquarters that two automobiles were racing north in N. Cuyler St. When they reached the 500 block of Mary Ellen, the report stated, one of the cars ran up over a curb and nearly hit a bridge abutment.

Police hurried to the scene but found no trace of the racing cars or drivers.

Carubbi said about 65 homes will be needed to house the visitors.

A red-carpet welcome is being planned for the members upon their arrival in the city. The following program has been set. Tomorrow morning a representative of the cast will appear on the Jaycee all-day Radio Day program. Monday a delegation will be guests at the Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon to be held in Coronado Inn. Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. a group will appear on Tooley's Topic Time; 9:30 a.m. Staff Breakfast, and at 2:30 p.m. the full cast and crew will arrive in Pampa where they will be met at the Coronado Inn by their hosts. At 7:30 p.m. a Texas-style barbecue will be held outside the Coronado served by the Pampa Sheriffs.

A car caravan is being planned to travel to Amarillo and escort them to Pampa. Carubbi said anyone interested in taking part in the caravan is asked to contact the Chamber of Commerce office no later than 5 p.m. Monday where they will receive instructions as to the time of departure on Tuesday.

Wednesday, a lunch will be served for the cast in the Starlight Room in the Coronado.

The first performance will be held at 8 p.m. Hosts for the members of "The Dragon" will be responsible for getting their guests to the performances and social activities while in the city.

A gala parade will highlight Thursday's performance at 2:30 p.m. down Cuyler Street. Members of the cast will wear international costumes from the drama. The parade will feature a dragon used in the stage production.

A group from the cast will also be special guests of the Pampa Lions and Kiwanis clubs at their weekly luncheon meetings.

At 8 p.m. Thursday another barbecue will be held and the second night's performance will be held at 8 p.m.

Friday will mark the last performance with a public reception planned for 10:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Inn.

Tickets for the performances are on sale at the Chamber Office, Richard Drug, Furr's Super Market, Southwestern Public Service office and Wilson Drug. Transportation for Gen. Ho-Ying-Chin, former prime minister of China and presently chairman of the President's Military Strategy Board of the Republic of China, and his private aides who head the show, will be furnished by Harold Barrett Ford, Culbertson Chevrolet, Tom Rose and Parker Motor Sales.

"The Ladder," a short allegory dealing with basic problems of freedom, will be presented during each performance.

Debuted in the United States in April, the dramas have also been performed in Western Europe.

to the Mercury project at Cape Canaveral.

"I don't think there was anyone at Cape Canaveral who did not have some doubts. I know I did. But it has turned out to be a wonderful evening," said Glenn. Then he went off for an informal discussion with Carpenter about the flight before 48 hours of medical and engineering "de-briefing" began this morning for Carpenter.

The scientific debriefing team will quiz Carpenter about every phase of his flight and let him tell about his experiences in his own words on a tape recorder. But of prime concern was Carpenter's first-hand report of the control system difficulties.

Mercury Project Operations Director Walter Williams said at Cape Canaveral after the flight that the main thing responsible for Aurora-7 overshooting the planned recovery area, about 800 miles southeast of the cape, was a failure somewhere in the system which controls the capsule's "attitude" in space.

Because the capsule was a little off position, as it streaked down into the first thin layers of atmosphere, Williams said, it followed a shallower — and longer — trajectory toward the ocean. At the same time, air molecules superheated as the capsule raked past ionized, setting up an electrical field that cut off contact with the capsule. This is expected in reentry, but in Carpenter's case it lasted longer due to the shallow trajectory.

When a drogue parachute and then a 63-foot main parachute opened to lower Carpenter into the sea, he had overshoot the range of radar and radio. Williams could not say just what it was that went wrong in the control system.

United Fund Board Has Meeting Here

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund Board of Directors met Thursday at 4 p.m. to plan this year's activities.

The membership is composed of H. V. Wilks, president of the board, John Gikas, Lucian Young, Mrs. Dona Cornutt, F. E. Imel, E. L. Green, Loyal Davies, Frank Smith, E. E. Shelhamer, Kirk Duncan, J. B. Massa, Floyd Watson, Sam Begert, Melvin Jayroe, J. C. Roberts.

The meeting was also attended by George Scott, who has accepted the annual drive chairmanship for the year 1962-63.

Jimmy Massa, chairman of the budget and admissions committee, presented recommendations to the board. The Board of Directors approved a budget this year of $73,600. The campaign date was tentatively set for October.

Sheriff Made Director Of Officer Group

Gray County Sheriff-Rufe Jordan was one of 17 directors elected for the coming year by the United Peace Officers of America at their annual barbecue and dinner yesterday at Boys Ranch near Amarillo.

The peace officers group, which was responsible for the 12-grade school at Boys Ranch, was host to the 300 boys at the school during the morning and at the noon-day barbecue.

Other officers elected yesterday include Woody Pond of San Angelo, president; Capt. Raymond Waters of Lubbock, 1st vice-president; Sheriff Lowell Sharp of Deaf Smith County, 2nd vice-president; Sheriff E. S. Collins Jr. of Hartlevy County, secretary, and Judge Clarence Williams of Panhandle, treasurer.

Dog Population Said Growing In The Local Pound

The population of Pampa's dog pound, east of the city, has been growing by leaps and bounds lately.

Dog Warden Buster Collins reported today that between 125 and 135 dogs are in the pound, waiting to be bailed out by their owners.

Before they can be taken out, Collins said, the owners must pay a pound fee, have the dog vaccinated against rabies and buy a city dog license.

Some 200 licenses have been sold since the city began a campaign to rid the streets of stray dogs some two weeks ago. However, it has been estimated there are still several thousand untagged dogs in Pampa.

Collins said he "arrested" six dogs early today and jailed them in the dog pound.

Experts was a high rate of consumption of the hydrogen peroxide fuel used to steer the capsule. Williams explained that Carpenter used more fuel than Glenn because Carpenter did far more maneuvering with his Aurora-7. But, said Williams, "we have an unexplained excessive — and I mean very excessive — use of fuel between Hawaii and California" on the last orbit.

While talking with the Woomera, Australia, tracking station Carpenter broke off to complain that a loose washer was floating free in the weightlessness of his capsule and he had to fish for it. It was not until he was over the Bermuda tracking station that he commented: "I got a washer I have to put away."

Lefors Teacher Gets Scholarship

LEFORS (Spl) — Keith Geisler, Lefors High School English and Journalism teacher, was one of 13 Texas Teachers to receive a Journalism scholarship to the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colo.

Geisler will attend the seminar on Journalism beginning July 23 through Aug. 11.

He received the scholarship through the Wall Street Journal Newspaper Fund in New York. The scholarships are given to promote interest and teaching ability in Journalism.

Geisler has been a teacher for three years in Lefors, and will return again next year.

Burglars Hit Four Service Stations Here

Soft drink dispensers in four Pampa service stations were the targets of burglars last night.

The service stations hit were on N. Hobart St. and N. Perryton Pkwy. In each case the burglars made off with the coin boxes from the dispensing machines.

Total loot in the four places was estimated by police at approximately $20.

Losses were reported from C. W. Kenemer's Gulf station, 1909 N. Hobart; John Wall's Humble station, 2131 Perryton Pkwy.; Jeff Truly's Conoco station, 2101 N. Hobart, and M. C. Bennett's Echo station, 1524 N. Hobart.

Entrance in each instance was gained in a similar manner with the use of a screwdriver.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the service station burglaries here were very similar to a series of the same type of break-ins reported within the past few nights at Borger.

C. C. Matheny, 818 W. Foster, reported that thieves broke into his salvage shop sometime Wednesday night and stole 20 new hub caps valued at $126.

Clerk Will Keep Office Open For Absentee Voters

County Clerk Charlie Thut announced today that his office will be open all day Saturday for the convenience of voters who wish to cast absentee ballots in the June 2 Democrat and Republican runoff primary election.

The office ordinarily closes at noon on Saturdays but Thut said it would remain open until 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Deadline for absentee balloting in the June 2 elections will be Tuesday, May 29.

Up until noon today, Thut said, 105 absentee votes had been cast in the Democratic races. Republican ballots became available only yesterday, he said, and so far no absentee votes have been cast in the lone G.O.P. runoff race between Bill Tidwell and W. C. Epperson for County Commissioner No. 2.

"But you leave us doubt that," Bonner said. "Do you know what this does to my wife and me?"

Russa promised to keep on pushing the investigation. Local authorities say there are some persons they want to question in connection with Marshall's death, but concede they have no direct evidence against anybody.

A Robertson County grand jury has been in session since Monday to hear evidence about Marshall's death. It recessed Thursday until Monday just before the medical verdict was returned.

Cadillac

How to pay for a Cadillac — and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car — and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)
2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes many important things that are extra on other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)
3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing.

There is Cadillac's styling — so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort — so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance — so great that it is without rival on the world's highways.

So we suggest that you play it safe — and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

You might be closer to a Cadillac than you think.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and in regard to any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

We understand this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, to discharge and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and urge others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he depend to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral precepts.

Wrong Means To Good Ends

And many of his other comments are excellent analyses of the situation. Under the chapter on "The Free Society," he says: "The problem of the people at the bottom of the feudal pyramids that exist in Asia, the Middle East, Africa and South America is not solved by taking the wealth of the few and distributing it among the many. It would be quickly spent; and in a short period, the masses would settle back into the morass of illiteracy, poverty, superstition, and misery that has held them for centuries. "The problem of feudal nations is not solved by pouring in money. Dollars going in at the top seldom reach the bottom. "The creation of a free society can be realized only if the people at the base of the present feudal systems are allowed the benefits of economic, social, and political democracy. The villages must be transformed; they must be changed from places of squalor to health communities. From the China Sea to Africa to South America the external features of the villages are the same: filth and illiteracy that are staggering; disease and malnutrition that are shocking; misery that robs life of much meaning. "And he goes on with his recommendations of how to teach these peoples to be free.

But his inference is that the government of the United States should take the actions. And a state is based on aggressive force, so by its very compulsion it will be teaching these "underdeveloped" peoples to rely on government and not on their own efforts. If voluntary agencies do these things which Justice Douglas and most of us want, they are good. But if governmental agencies are used, they cannot have good ends. Once again we find ourselves in agreement with new deal philosophers on desirable ends, but find that the means proposed cannot achieve those ends.

Mr. Justice Douglas shows he realizes this in his chapter called "The Ideological Struggle." He hints in many wrongs done by communists in many lands.

Temperature Control

Hot arguments have a way of cooling off warm friendships.

In The Dark Of Night

In talking to a friend some time ago we were admonished "look out for the time when the Reds take over." We inquired to how we would know that it had happened. "You'll know," was the confident rejoinder. "When there's a creak at your door in the middle of the night and you are picked for investigation, it will be too late. We have recalled this conversation in the light of recent developments in the case of big government versus the steel industry. When some of the steel men announced a rise in the price of steel, for just a moment the steel slipped off the face of the government. For just the instant a single press conference, the naked brutality and inherent vice of the state was exposed for all to see. Then, the government, violence slipped again behind the shade of goodness and amicability and sweet reason.

But many a citizen in this nation had the opportunity of seeing what raw force looks like, and we have now heard it on evidence. The business community exposure. There is now not the slightest doubt in the minds of most that there is sufficient power in the hands of our highest tier to turn any incumbent of office into a dictator. When a private decision, made in a private sector of the economy, is met with personal malice, grim, tight-lipped determination, and when these misbegotten propensities are coupled with the power to enforce, then happens our friend who warned us.

It was on the right track. It was a matter of fact, the particular metaphor, the "knock at door," had a pertinency in instances which many may mislead.

By Neal O'Hara

Purely psychological: One big store had this sign posted in its various departments: "Don't just stand there. Buy something." Whether it was due to the signs the management isn't certain, but overall business increased slightly during the first two months after their appearance. The correct way to attend to the teeth is to brush the chewing surfaces with a scrubbing stroke, each area with at least 10 strokes, and be sure to brush the surfaces next to the tongue as well as those next to the cheek. A survey of what the American female wears shows working women have an average of 8.1 daytime dresses, unemployed women own 7.7 dresses. Women with some college education have an average of 8.2 dresses; non-collegiate women, 7.0. Today's favorite gag. The family and the dinner guest were seated at the table when Mother noted an important omission. "Betty," she asked her little daughter, who had helped set the table, "why on earth didn't you put a knife and fork at Mr. Brown's place?" "I didn't think he'd need them," Betty replied. "Daddy said he eats like a horse."

The diff: The maximum sonic boom would not exceed a pressure of more than five pounds per square foot. The loudest thunderclap ever recorded generated a pressure of about one-half pound per square foot. Etiquette item: If you're throwing a swell dinner party, with the proper wine for each course, you'd better leave asparagus off the menu. Because asparagus just doesn't click with any wine. Over-feeding is the most common cause of death among goldfish. One expert says they should be fed only every other day, and then only as much as they'll eat up clean.

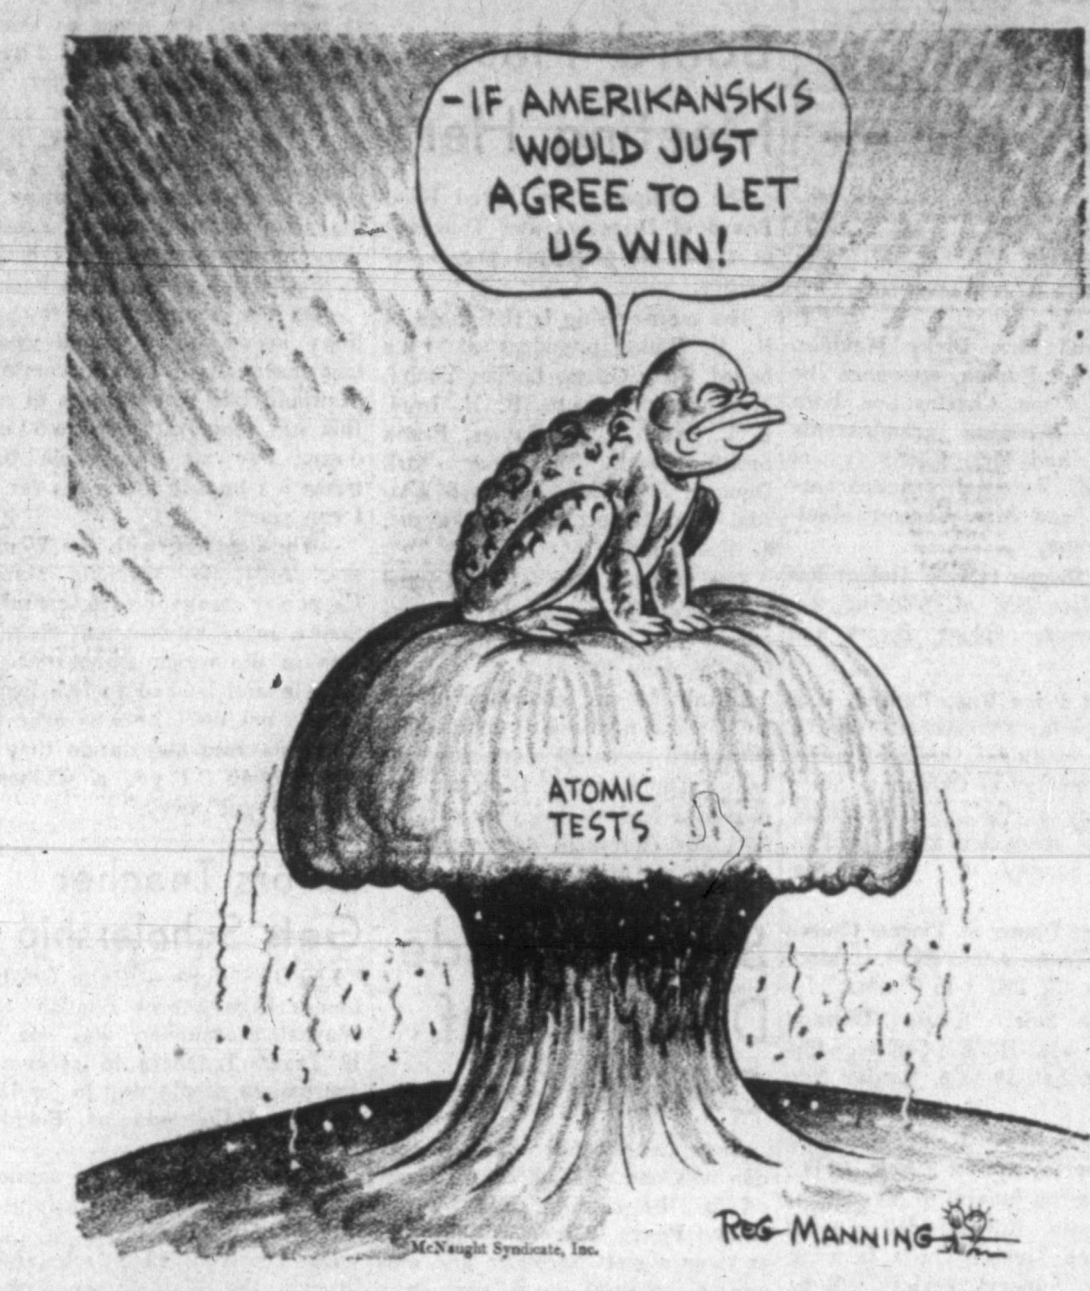

Thoughts while shaving: 1. We're all familiar with the notion that women like to keep their age a secret, so now get ready for a shock. The cold statistics show that in the taking of Uncle Sam's census in the past 70 years, far more men than women balked at reporting their ages. 2. The Kremlin has always insisted that Soviet Russia has a free press, although American newsmen insist that means only that a Russian newspaper is free to print what the government tells it to print. But Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubel, head man of Pravda, explained to Alice Mosby, long time American correspondent in Moscow, that "the purpose of the Soviet press is to inspire the people to work."

3. In an oratorical plug for his native city, U. S. Senator Jacob Javits puts it this way: "What gets me is that every American isn't just as bursting with pride about New York City as Frenchmen are about Paris, Englishmen about London, Russians about Moscow and Japanese about Tokyo." 4. Don't know whether Variety is kidding or not, but the show biz weekly calls the residents of Tangiers "Tangierines." Well, what else would you call them?

Country editor speaking: "The increasing popularity of boating may be due to a subconscious realization that if you have a collision and can swim, you have a better chance of coming out alive than now exists on a crowded highway." The spectacle was disgusting, revolting, about as un-American as anything we've seen in a long time. Here was the "knock on the door" and in the middle of the night. Here was the "investigation" being conducted by the attorney general of the U.S. himself.

Those interested in principles will have no difficulty in seeing that there wasn't the slightest difference between this action on the part of our government and identical actions for identical reasons perpetrated by alien governments. Free people will not put up with this kind of thing. Of course, our friend who warned that this sort of thing couldn't happen as long as Americans ran the show. What he was really worried about was the idea that maybe Russians would come over, seize the government and then go about knocking on doors. As we told him at the time, communism isn't a Russian exclusive.

Quotes From Christian Economics

WRONG ROAD TO PROGRESS (Christian Economics) EDWIN McDOWELL
President Kennedy's three-day journey into Latin America late in December, as part of a good will mission to launch his $20 billion, 10-year Alliance for Progress program of economic aid to that area, gained the plaudits not only of many U.S. editorial writers, but of Latin American editorial writers as well. In fact, Brazil's O Estado de Sao Paulo called the visit "one of the greatest events in the history of the American hemisphere."

Despite the possible charismatic good will engendered by the Kennedy visit, the question remained whether the costly Alliance for Progress will stimulate Latin America's economy in the proper direction. Will it, to use President Kennedy's words, "prove that free institutions can best answer their implacable demand for social justice, for food, for material welfare and, above all, for a new hope?" And will it be able to accomplish its aims of increasing incomes, providing adequate housing, eliminating illiteracy, effecting land reforms, introducing health and sanitation programs, reforming tax laws, improving working conditions, maintaining sound monetary and fiscal policies, while at the same time moving in the direction of freedom?

If the Alliance's charter is to be taken at face value, the answer surely must be an unqualified "no." This is obvious from the stated aims, one of which is "to reform tax laws, demanding more from those who have most, and redistributing the national income in order to benefit those who are most in need, while at the same time, promoting savings and investment and reinvestment of capital." In other words, by promising to demand more from those who have most, and by promising to redistribute the national income in order to benefit those who are most in need, the Alliance from the outset has succumbed to the very core of Marxist economic theory. "From each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs."

In addition, the charter promises further government involvement by pledging "to assure to workers fair wages and satisfactory working conditions," promising to provide adequate housing, and promising basic land reform. Just what shape this land reform will take was made clear by Chester Bowles, recently assigned as the State Department's specialist on Latin American affairs. Writing in the New York Times Magazine, Nov. 29, 1959, and before Castro publicly proclaimed that he long had been a Communist, Bowles said, "Whether history will record Cuba's Fidel Castro as an earnest patriot or as a fellow-traveling adventurer is anyone's guess. But one fact is already clear. His land reform program... is indubitably in line with Latin American sentiments."

Yet, as columnist Holmes Alexander observed, if this is true — and it appears obvious that even if it is not in line with Latin American sentiments, it certainly is in line with Chester Bowles' sentiments — it bodes ill for our Latin neighbors. For Cuban agrarian reform, Alexander reminds us, is virtually identical with the master Communist copy. In fact, the Cuban Agrarian Reform Law, approved on May 11, 1959, by the Council of Ministers, was literally the first major attack on Cuban capitalism, as numerous witnesses testified before Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. "Ostensibly, the Agrarian Reform Law destroyed landlordism and gave farms to the peasants," Alexander said. "Actually, the government became the landlord. The peasant was transformed into a serf of the state. He cannot plant what he chooses, or change his employment, or move elsewhere to work, or educate his children where he pleases, or make purchases save at the 'people's stores' of the State-operated National Institute of Agrarian Reform." (Last it be thought that Bowles' statement was merely a slip, some temporary aberration, it should be noted that in a speech before the Mexican-North American Cultural Institute, Bowles outlined a down-the-line Socialist program for Latin America, calling for high corporation taxes, a steeply progressive income tax, and the same egalitarian tax laws demanded in the Alliance for Progress program.)

ROBERT ALLEN Report SOVIETS TO RESUME NUCLEAR TESTS IN JULY—PLANS SCHEDULED SINCE END OF LAST SERIES PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Russia's new series of nuclear weapons tests will get underway early in July. That is around the time the U.S. will conclude its tests now in progress in the Pacific. This series presently calls for 27 shots. The Joint Chiefs of Staff are urging the addition of 17 others, but President Kennedy has not yet approved them. The new Soviet tests are slated to run for several months at least, depending on weather and other factors.

Preparations for these detonations are now being rushed to completion. Ships and planes are pouring in equipment and personnel at the Red's principal atomic testing base at Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic. Actually, Russia has been working on these new tests since the conclusion of its last series in 1961 — after abruptly breaking the long moratorium on nuclear weapons testing. U.S. scientists and military authorities have been fully aware of these covert Soviet preparations, and the forthcoming tests will be no surprise.

The self-righteous bleats of Premier Khrushchev and other Communists that they are resuming testing because of the U.S. series are pure hokum. The U.S. has incontrovertible evidence of this intelligence and other sources have been reporting for months that the Soviet was getting ready for another round of nuclear tests to "prove out" various experimental warheads and devices tested last year.

There have been guarded admissions of that in Russian scientific publications that have gotten into U.S. hands. In other words, while Moscow, Peiping and their satellites have been stridently hurling invectives and beating the propaganda drums against the U.S. for testing, the Soviet has been using that as a smokescreen to secretly proceed with a new series of tests due to start in six weeks. These shots will include a bomb in the 100-megaton range. A megaton is equivalent to 1 million tons of TNT. In the Russians' tests last fall, they detonated two so-called super-bombs in the 50-megaton range — one around 45 megatons and a second an estimated 57 megatons. Both were high-level air drops. The largest bomb ever tested by the U.S. was 17 megaton. However, the U.S. has nuclear weapons in the 50 to 100-megaton range.

WHY MORE ARE NEEDED— Military leaders and the Atomic Energy Commission are stressing two points in strongly recommending that 17 additional tests be included in the current series: (1) Much time and money would be saved by doing this, as the necessary personnel, testing and monitoring equipment and other facilities are available and could be used with relatively little additional cost. (2) In at least several instances, the proposed additional tests could lead to major breakthroughs in the development of new nuclear weapons.

While details of the current series are highly classified, the following significant items can be reported: —Of the first nine shots, only two were perfected weapons, the other seven involved experimental warheads and devices. The primary purpose of these tests was to pack more power into a warhead without increasing its size; also to determine the effect of the explosion on ground installations. —Air Force bombers dropped six devices, with destructive power up to 1 million tons of TNT, that were exploded at heights up to five miles above ground level. Another test of this kind involved a device of 5 megatons. —The most spectacular test so far was a fully armed Polaris missile launched by the nuclear submarine ETHAN ALLEN. The Polaris soared to a height of 180 miles, a distance of more than 1,200 miles, and exploded several miles from the designated target area. It did not "go into the pickle barrel" as officially claimed. —In two forthcoming spectacular tests, a fully armed Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile will be fired to a height of 90 miles, and a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile will detonate a warhead, 300 miles in space to determine the effect on radar and communications facilities.

FALLOUT — Representative Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee and other Committee leaders favor replacing the present five-member Atomic Energy Commission with a single administrator, President Kennedy also holds this view and has discussed it with Committee chiefs. But no legislation is contemplated this year because of the pressure of other atomic bills. Holifield plans to take up the one-administrator proposal next year. The joint committee has submitted an unannounced report to the President regarding France's security measures on atomic matters. The report is the result of a one-year study by members of the committee staff. "Despite all the talk about a 'deep rift' between Russia and Red China, a Soviet scientist has made the highly significant disclosure that the latter is actively participating in an Iron Curtain nuclear-research center at Dubna, some 70 miles north of Moscow. Dmitri Blokhintsev, director of this center, in an article in a Soviet scientific publication, reveals that China is paying 20 per cent of the cost of this institution — $3.2 million of its $16.5 million budget. Also that the Chinese have 70 scientists studying and working there. According to him, 12 Communist countries have a total of 420 'students' at the center, which has the latest and most expensive atomic equipment.

Dear Abby... Motel Reservation Has Legal Complications

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a lawyer. I heard from a reliable source that one day last week my husband and a young woman checked into a motel together. When I confronted him with this accusation he admitted it, saying that lawyers had to meet their clients in some odd places. He claimed that the young woman was seeking a divorce and didn't want to be seen going into a lawyer's office because people would talk, so he met her at a motel. Is this possible?

SUSPICIOUS: Only with reservations, my dear.

Hairdos are changing this season, but no matter what length you prefer to wear your hair, there's a style for you. The short, casual coil (left) is set with rollers and is easy to care for during the summer. The trumpet style (center) is created with ropes of hair interlaced and loosely braided. It's an unusual evening hairdo for long tresses. For the girl who wears her hair mid-way between long and short, the chic full style (right) can be achieved with extra large rollers. Rollers of all sizes will be with us for a long time to come. Only hair set with rollers has soft fullness, adding beauty to hairstyles.

Use Rollers To Set New Hairdo

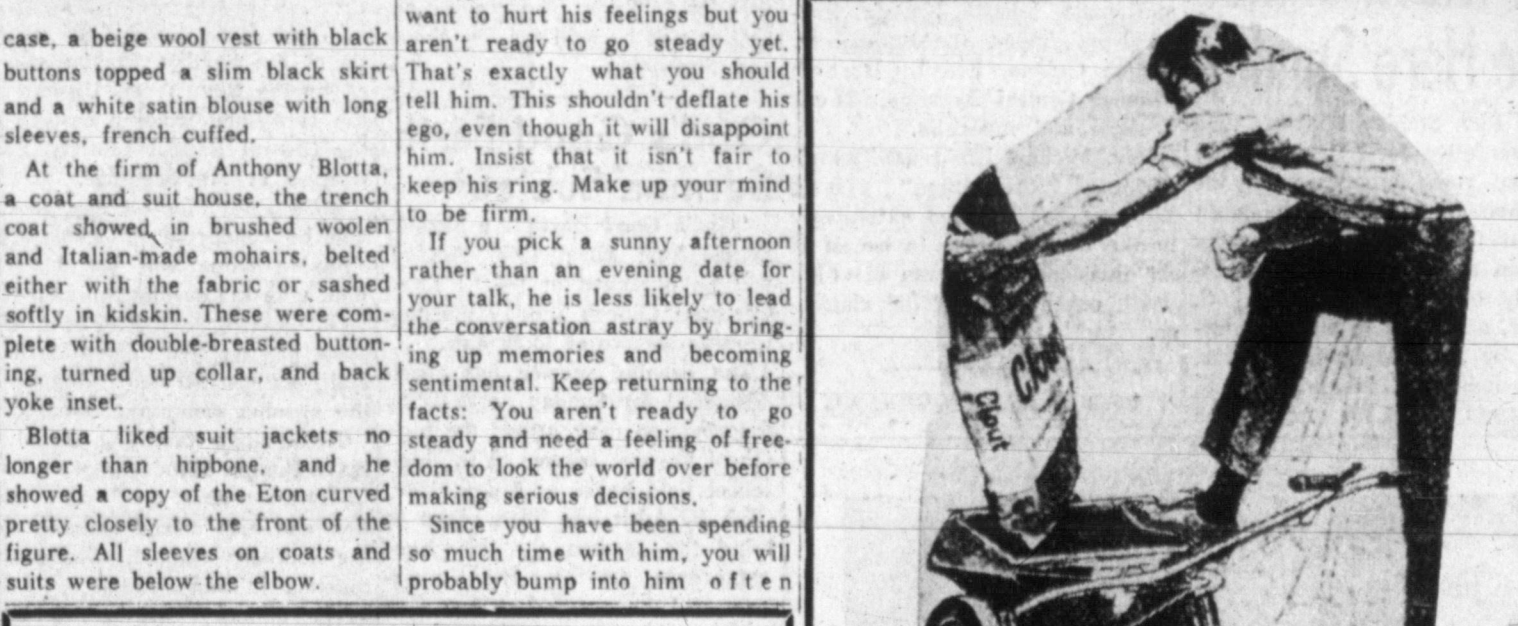

By ALICIA HART Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Hair styles change with the seasons, and this year is no exception. But there's no hard and fast rule about whether the hair should be worn short or long. No matter what length you prefer, there is a new coiffure for you. The new hairdos do, however, have one thing in common. They must all be set on rollers. The soft, full effect that makes these hair styles beautiful cannot be achieved with pins or clips. When you have your hair set in the salon, watch the way it's done. If extra large rollers are used, buy them for your own use at home. Should you find you can't sleep on plastic rollers, try the softer foam rubber kind. There are many pretty spring and summer hairdos, one of which will be just right for you. Here are some ideas created by Julius Caruso, style consultant for Lilt Reference Service. One style for short hair is a curler seeming coil that's a refreshing change from the becalmed bouffant. It seems curlier because it has a tossed look; but, again, it must be set on rollers. Slightly longer hair can be swept out into wings like a starched Dutch cap. Another style for this length is the A-shape coiffure, that flares out smoothly from a peaked crown into width at ear level. The biggest rollers you can find should be used for this one. For the girl with long hair, Mr. Caruso has created the trumpet hairdo for an elaborate formal evening. The hair can be turned upward and piled high, with ropes of hair interlaced into a loosely braided effect. For daytime wear, the classic French twist is chic for the long-tressed lass. If your hair has little body and curl, most of the new hair styles require a permanent every few months. The girl who hasn't the time or budget to go to a salon often can have her permanent at home. It's a cinch to do with a push-button foam type home wave. This can give just the right amount of curl to create the new airy look for spring and summer.

Take It From Kathy

Dear Kathy: My problem is a boy I have been going steady with for quite a while. I used to like him very much, but my feelings have changed since I accepted his ring. I don't want to hurt him but it's foolish to go with someone you like less and less. He tags along every place I go. Maybe I'm not ready to go steady yet. I've learned my lesson the hard way. I feel all hemmed in. Can you tell me how I can get the message across to him? S.B.I. Dear S. B. I.: It happens! Boy-meets-girl sometimes turns out to be a "friends, just friends," situation. Every boy needs to be a boy friend. It's far from kind to permit him to continue to believe that you care for him. If you fell in and out of love with great regularity there might be reason to hang your head, but an honest change of heart in this situation is nothing to be ashamed of. The only way to get the message across is to deliver it personally but tactfully. You don't want to hurt his feelings but you aren't ready to go steady yet. That's exactly what you should tell him. This shouldn't deflate his ego, even though it will disappoint him. Insist that it isn't fair to keep his ring. Make up your mind to be firm. If you pick a sunny afternoon rather than an evening date for your talk, he is less likely to lead the conversation astray by bringing up memories and becoming sentimental. Keep returning to the facts: You aren't ready to go steady and need a feeling of freedom to look the world over before making serious decisions. Since you have been spending so much time with him, you will probably bump into him often enough so the break won't seem very final. When this happens, think in terms of being an ally rather than a girl friend. Mention an attractive girl who has said something flattering about him. Help to find him a pleasant date. Comment casually about your own plans. Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

RUTH MILLETT The ten worst conversational sins are - Always - not just occasionally - doing more than your share of the talking. Being so anxious to have your say that you will interrupt anyone to put in your two cents' worth. Not paying attention when someone else is talking, which is always evident either because you get a faraway look in your eyes, your eyes keep wandering around the room, or you ask some question or make some comment that shows you haven't been listening. Stating facts, not to be challenged, what are, after all, merely your own opinions. Telling the same story or stating the same personal opinion over and over to the same people until they even know what words you are going to use, as though they were hearing an old record. Peddling gossip under the cloak of "feeling so sorry" for the person you are gossiping about. Not wanting to talk about anything but yourself and your family on the assumption that others will be every bit as interested in that topic as you are. Bragging. However you try to disguise it, bragging is just that to anyone who has to listen to it. Talking in a loud or whining or otherwise unpleasant tone of voice, because you've never bothered to listen to how you really sound. Insisting on always telling all the depressing news you know and on always taking a pessimistic view of things.

Great Male Robbery Of Spring Fashions

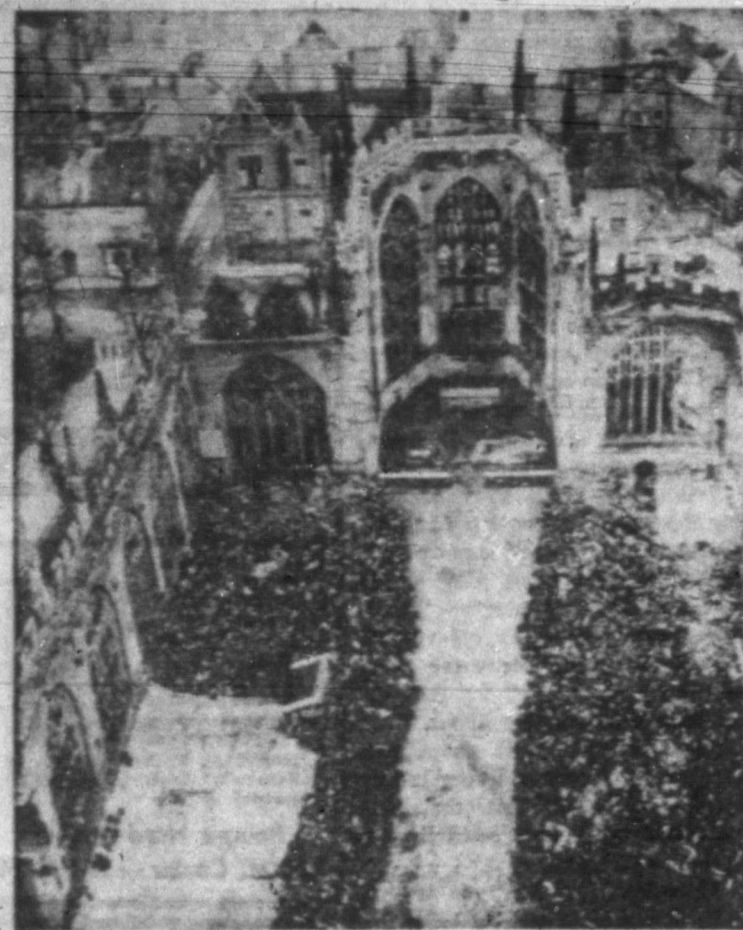

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor NEW YORK (UPI)—What's his now also is hers in apparel. The great male robbery is on on Seventh Avenue, center of New York's garment industry, where manufacturers are previewing their fall and winter collections of women's apparel for benefit of store buyers, fashion press, and an occasional celebrity. The fall clothes will be showing in stores by late July. Bill Blass, holder of the American fashion critics' Winnie award, used a whole harvest of men's wear ideas for his collection for Maurice Rentner, Ltd., where he is a vice president. The collection shown Monday afternoon brought out Mary Martin, Broadway and television star, and Valentina, the famous designer now retired. Blass, one of the most influential voices in the design world, used men's wear fabrics such as diagonal and herringbone weaves and flannels. The look of the T-shirt showed in overblouse treatments for daytime and evening. The back of suit jackets and coats had side or center vents, in the manner of men's suits. By the time Blass was through with the designs, the results were extremely feminine. The silhouette for day mostly was narrow, with natural waist, often belted. But Blass showed a softening of severe lines in skirts with center front inverted pleats, or soft gathers, and occasionally a bit of flare. Some daytime and evening dresses were full circle in the skirts, and belted tightly at the natural waistline. The vest served instead of blouse as the finishing touch for skirt-jacket combinations. In one case, a beige wool vest with black buttons topped a slim black skirt and a white satin blouse with long sleeves, french cuffed. At the firm of Anthony Blotta, a coat and suit house, the trench coat showed in brushed woolen and Italian-made mohairs, belted either with the fabric or sashed softly in kidskin. These were complete with double-breasted buttoning, turned up collar, and back yoke inset. Blotta liked suit jackets no longer than hipbone, and he showed a copy of the Eton curved pretty closely to the front of the figure. All sleeves on coats and suits were below the elbow.

Symbol of Courage--and Faith

Scarred walls of ancient Coventry Cathedral rose bleakly above mounds of charred rubble after the raid in 1940.

This new just-completed cathedral has been reconstructed on the same site of the destroyed 600-year-old structure.

Ancient Coventry Cathedral, blasted into a burned-out shell by Nazi bombers during the blitz of 1940 which almost completely destroyed the British industrial city of Coventry, has been rebuilt of pink sandstone. It is scheduled to be consecrated on May 25. Cost of the new $3,500,000 edifice is being paid by the British government, public subscription and through donations from individuals all over the world.

Dr. Bratcher Gives Topic For Sunday

"If I Had But One Sermon To Preach" is the sermon topic Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of First Methodist Church, will preach on at the two morning services this Sunday.

The 8:45 a.m. service is broadcast over radio station KPND. The special music for the 8:45 a.m. service will be the anthem, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" sung by the Junior Choir. The 11 a.m. service will have the special music furnished by the Sanctuary Singers.

There will be no Sunday evening fellowship held this Sunday evening due to the graduation programs scheduled at the high school.

Rev. Curtis Lee, First Methodist Church, White Deer, will be the guest speaker for the Sunday Evening Services at 7:30.

Annual Conference will begin Monday through Friday at Big Spring First Methodist Church. Delegates from First Methodist Church to attend will be Dr. Julian Key and Loyse Caldwell along with the Pastor, Dr. Hubert H. Bratcher.

Christian Science Services Outlined

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy all thy soul, and with all thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; this is the first commandment." This verse from Mark (ch. 12) is included in the Bible selections to be read at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson Sermon entitled "Soul and Body."

Further emphasizing the importance of uplifting and purifying thoughts and affections is this citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 365): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace."

Rev. West Tells His Subject For Sunday Sermon

"The Glory Of The Church" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Russell Greene West at 11 o'clock Sunday morning worship in the Church of the Brethren, 600 N. Frost.

In this message the pastor will point out that "thousands of people continue to pass by the churches of the community as though they were totally unimportant."

"Nevertheless it is the church which gives to the world The Bible, the greatest book on earth. It is the church which continually brings to the world the life and message of the Christ, the Son of God. It is the Church, and only the Church, which brings to the world a dynamic message of salvation, with its forgiveness of sin and the hope of eternal life. The fact remains that people are usually down on what they are not up on. This negative attitude toward the church, or even hostile attitude in Communist countries, grows out of total ignorance of God and His program for man. It has been said that "What you don't know won't hurt you." It must have taken a great thinker to coin that "brilliant statement."

A 7 p.m. church will conduct a public worship service of dedication and consecration. During this worship service Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Hubbard, 1229 Foster Street, will be installed into the Christian Ministry. The Rev. Byron E. Dell, District Executive Secretary of Thomas, Okla., will bring the evening message and conduct the service of consecration and installation. Due to High School Activities the Youth meeting which is usually held at 6 p.m. will not be held.

At the morning service both the Junior Choir and the regular church choir will sing.

Dr. Carver Gives Sermon Topics

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pampa, will be in the pulpit for both services of worship Sunday.

At the 11 o'clock morning worship his subject will be "Magnifying Christ." There will be a duet with Mrs. Gordon Bayless and Mrs. Walter Flynn and a solo by Paul Barrett, singing "I'd Rather Have Jesus" for the special music.

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the 7:30 evening worship and music will be provided depicting the Last Supper of our Lord. The pastor will speak on the subject "Aids to Memory."

At the 7:40 p.m. Mid-Week Service, Jack Paquer will be in charge and has also called a meeting of the Sunday School Superintendents for 6:30 p.m. The regular activities will be held for the choir and Sunbeams.

God's Good Earth Sermon Subject

"God's Good Earth," a sermon emphasizing Rural Life Sunday, will be preached at the First Christian Church Sunday morning worship service at 10:30 a.m.

The evening service has been dismissed for Sunday so that the congregation may attend the high school Vespers service at the high school field house at 5 p.m. Rev. Glyn B. Aditt has been asked to bring the sermon for this Baccalaureate service. His message will be entitled, "How Can I Make a Success of My Life?"

The Daily Vacation Church School for the First Christian Church will begin on June 5. It will run for two weeks. Interested families are asked to contact the Church office to enroll their children.

CONFERENCE HOST CHURCH — Here is the First Methodist Church in Big Spring, where the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will meet in its 53rd annual session starting Monday. The church is located across the street from the Howard County courthouse in downtown Big Spring.

Methodists' Northwest Texas Annual Conference Is Monday In Big Springs

BIG SPRING — The Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will meet in its 53rd annual session beginning Monday, May 28 and continuing through June 2. Conference officials estimate that nearly 1,000 Methodists throughout the West Texas and Panhandle areas will attend.

All services and meetings are scheduled in the modern First Methodist Church, across the street from the Howard County courthouse in downtown Big Spring. Bishop Paul V. Galloway, San Antonio Northwest Texas area, will preside over the conference. He has planned a series of meditations for each day of the assembly.

Dr. William H. Dickinson Jr., pastor of the Highland Park Methodist Church in Dallas, will be the preacher for the conference. He will give the sermon at each evening service.

Other activities of the annual meeting include an all-conference reception, a banquet for superannuate ministers, a minister's wives luncheon, memorial service, special music, ministerial training dinner, board of lay activities dinner, as well as the regular business sessions.

Courtesy cars will be provided, as well as a nursery for pre-school age children. Highlight of the conference will be the reading of appointments by Bishop Galloway, after the business of the conference has been concluded.

The Rev. H. Dewitt Seago is host pastor of the Big Spring church, which has reported a continuing expansion program for the last 10 years. The membership has built a sanctuary, remodeled the educational building, established a Latin American mission, and purchased a church plant and parsonage for African Methodist Church in Big Spring.

Other ministers on the program include Dr. John Donaho, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Church, Abilene; Dr. C. A. Bickley, former Big Spring pastor; Dr. J. O. Haynes, also a former pastor of the Big Spring church; Dr. H. Clyde Smith, district superintendent of the Big Spring district; Dr. E. D. Landreth, pastor of First Methodist Church, Lamesa; Dr. E. E. White, retired; Dr. Jordan Grooms, pastor of Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo; and Dr. J. Chess Lovren, pastor of First Methodist Church, Lubbock, Texas.

The scripture will be read from the book of Hebrews 12:5-14. A sextet of the church will sing as special music, the song "Speak to My Heart."

This will be preceded at 8:45 a.m. by the Sunday School Lesson, "Tests of Faith," as taught by the Sunday School Teachers.

At the 7:30 p.m. Worship Service, Rev. Allison will preach on the subject, "I Will Not Give Thanks" and the scripture will be read as found in Luke 17:11-19. During the Training Union hour, which meets at 6:30 p.m., the topic for discussion is that of "Finding Time for Family Worship."

Rev. Harper, minister of music, will direct the Junior, Senior Choirs and congregation in the song services, assisted by Mrs. Donald Stafford with Mrs. Ann Winegeart at the piano.

For the Wednesday Evening Prayer Service, which meets at 7:15 p.m., Rev. Allison will speak on the second phase of "The Church Looks at Three Essentials of Life" which is the "Injunction to Flee Idolatry" as found in 1 Corinthians 10:14-22.

Presbyterians Slate Special Observance

The First Presbyterian Church will hold a special Memorial Service during the 11 a.m. Sunday Worship Service.

The names of those who have been memorialized in the Book of Remembrance will be read and the Congregation will join the reading of Scripture and in prayer.

The Book of Remembrance is a living memorial which provides a lasting tribute to a departed loved one. The Funds received are used for the Amarillo Childrens Home and special projects at the Church and is under the direction of a special committee headed by Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff, and selected by the Women's Association.

The sermon, presented by Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor, will be "The Absent Christ," based on Acts 1:11, and the Choir will use as their Anthem "Incline Thine Ear."

as well as the regular business sessions.

Highlight of the conference will be the reading of appointments by Bishop Galloway, after the business of the conference has been concluded.

The Rev. H. Dewitt Seago is host pastor of the Big Spring church, which has reported a continuing expansion program for the last 10 years. The membership has built a sanctuary, remodeled the educational building, established a Latin American mission, and purchased a church plant and parsonage for African Methodist Church in Big Spring.

Other ministers on the program include Dr. John Donaho, pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Church, Abilene; Dr. C. A. Bickley, former Big Spring pastor; Dr. J. O. Lefors Women Attend VBS Meet

LEFORS (Spl) — In preparation for the Vacation Bible School for the local Baptist church, several ladies attended the annual Clinic and Workshop at First Baptist Church, Borger, recently.

Teachers from every age group attended the meeting, and brought back ideas and suggestions which should be very helpful in this year's VBS.

The meeting began with an introduction to the new 1962 Joint Worship Service, conducted by Stan Richardson, formerly of Lefors. Breaking up into age group sessions, the ladies were shown the new materials and methods they will be using in a few weeks. The meeting continued after lunch until mid-afternoon. The ten workers who attended will form the nucleus of this year's VBS faculty.

Vacation Bible School for the children of the community aged three through sixteen will begin May 28 and continue through April 8, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. week days.

Jr. Missionettes Planning Picnic

The Junior Missionettes of the First Assembly of God Church are planning their annual spring picnic Monday at 2 p.m. in Central Park.

Mackie Hudgins, president of the group, presided at the weekly meeting held Tuesday in the church fellowship hall, where the picnic was planned.

Miss Hudgins announced the picnic will conclude the year's activities of the Missionettes.

THE FIFTH GOSPEL

In Paul's second letter to the church at Corinth, verse 2, he made a striking figure about the fifth gospel. Most of us know that there are four gospels. This is all the gospel we need. But we do need more lives committed to the Gospel we already have. Paul tells that we are the fifth gospel "known and read of all men".

There are some distinguishing marks about the four gospels:

1. We find in the four gospels a sense of urgency.
2. We find in the four gospels a sense of stewardship.
3. We find in the four gospels a triumphant note in seeming defeat.
4. We find in the four gospels the love of God.

Many other marks could be given if space permitted. But the thing I want you to realize is this, that if we are the fifth gospel then this fifth gospel ought to correspond with the other four. The Poet has said it like this:

You are writing a gospel
A chapter each day.
By the deeds that you do,
By the words that you say,
Men read what you write,
Whether faulty or true.
Say, what is the gospel according to you.
— Author Unknown

The only gospel some will ever read is the fifth gospel, the gospel according to you.

B And B Cops Northern Win

B and B Pharmacy rang up their third straight victory without a defeat in Northern league play Wednesday night with a crushing 16-11 victory over Your Laundry.

Mike Hughes carded the victory, his second of the year. Hughes pitched a one hitter with Thomas of Your Laundry getting the only hit, a double.

Hughes also helped his own cause with a single and two doubles. McDonald had two singles and two doubles and John Garren had three singles to share swat honors for the winners.

B and B crashed out 13 hits during the onslaught. Heasley was the losing pitcher.

In another Northern league contest, Shelby Ruff won over Crall Products, 6-4.

Larry Turcotte was the winning pitcher while Rodney Hail was the loser.

Turcotte helped his own cause with a double, triple and home run. J. Marsh chipped in with a double to share honors with the timber.

For Crall, Hail had a double and a single and Bossay had two singles.

Turcotte won his own game with a two-run homer in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Phil Young, who proceeded Turcotte on the hill, struck out six and walked one. Turcotte struck out five and walked three.

For the losers, Hail gave up six hits, two walks and fanned eight. Osborne gave up two hits, struck out three and didn't walk a man.

In Eastern league play, Dunican downed Windsor Servicing, 9-1.

Steve Summers was the winning pitcher with a one-hitter.

Darrell Smith with two doubles and Summers with a pair of singles led the winners at the plate.

In Western league action, Rotary downed Mohawk, 11-8.

Gene Davidson was the winning pitcher. Davidson struck out six, walked four and allowed 10 hits.

David Schaub was the losing pitcher, striking out six, walking four and allowing 10 hits.

Leading Rotary with the timber were Craig Snell with four singles; David King with a home run with a man on base; and Mike Atchley and Butch Davis, each with a single and a double.

Leading Mohawk at the plate was Schaub with two home runs which accounted for five of the eight runs. Schaub blasted a three-run homer the first time and then connected for a two run homer the second time.

Kenny Wright, Mike Fortin and Leslie Morgan each chipped in with a pair of singles to share honors with the timber.

Orioles', Tigers' Pilots Almost Fought It Out

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

When two big league managers square off against each other, that's really news!

Bob Scheffing of Detroit and Billy Hitchcock of Baltimore did Thursday night and in a way, it's a shame the umpires kept them apart. Both men are in fine condition even though they're in their 40's and it probably would have been a whale of a scrap.

The trouble all came about during the ninth inning of a game which the Tigers won, 5-4, on Oriole catcher Charlie Lau's passed ball in the 11th.

Hitchcock had complained from the eighth inning on to plate umpire John Schwartz that Tiger starter Jim Bunning was using his belt buckle to put nicks in the baseballs he was throwing.

Finally, in the ninth, Hitchcock went out to the mound to examine Bunning's belt buckle along with Schwartz and first base umpire Charley Berry.

Scheffing came charging out of the Detroit dugout to join the discussion and in no time, the umpires had to pull the two managers apart.

"They were accusing him (Bunning) of cheating," Scheffing said later. "I don't think the opposing manager has any business being out there with my pitcher, arguing with him or picking a fight."

"I told Hitchcock to get the hell out of there. But I never touched him and he never touched me."

Schwartz said: "We can't do anything unless we catch the man in the act."

Bunning, who left the game with a blistered finger in the 10th, insisted "I don't know what it was all about."

Hitchcock, still burning after the game, said "I don't blame Bunning for not talking about it. I wouldn't talk about it, either."

Baltimore President Lee MacPhail had the last word. He said he was going to send some of the balls Bunning used in the game to Joe Cronin so the American League president could see the nicks for himself.

At any rate, Al Kaline, Rocky Colavito and Bill Bruton each hit homers and the victory was credited to reliever Ron Nischwitz. Hoty Wilhelm was the loser.

In other American League games, the first-place New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City A's, 9-4; the Boston Red Sox downed the Minnesota Twins, 7-5, and the Los Angeles Angels walked the Washington Senators, 7-3. The Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox were idle.

Over in the National League the San Francisco Giants beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the New York Mets, 4-2; the Cincinnati Reds blanked the Houston Colts, 5-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates subdued the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-2, and the Chicago Cubs climbed out of the cellar with a 4-3 decision over the Milwaukee Braves.

Yankee rookie Joe Pepitone continued his hitting heroics with a home run and a triple against the A's. The Yanks shelled Ed Rakow for five runs in the third inning and coasted thereafter as Bud Daley picked up his second victory with Jim Coates' help. John Blanchard and Manny Jimenez also homered.

Ed Bressoud's two-run double in the fifth gave the Red Sox their winning margin over the Twins. Reliever Mike Fornieles was the winner and rookie Joe Bonikowskie the loser. Vic Power homered for Minnesota.

The Angels rallied for two runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth against the Senators. Leon Wagner's triple and B.o.b. Rodgers' single produced what proved to be the winning run off Bennie Daniels, who suffered his fifth loss compared with one victory.

Reliever Ryno Duren was the winner, Bob Johnson homered for the Senators.

Willie Mays' second home run of the game featured a four-run rally in the seventh that gave the Giants their victory over the Phillies. The victory, credited to Stu Miller, snapped a three-game losing streak and kept the Giants 1 1/2 games ahead of the Dodgers.

Mays' two homers, his 12th and 13th, came off loser Cal McLish. Orlando Cepeda also connected for his 13th and Felipe Alou hit his sixth.

Frank Howard led the Dodgers to their victory over the Mets with a second inning homer and an eighth inning single that produced the winning run off loser Craig Anderson. Larry Sherry held the Mets hitless over the last two innings and gained his second victory.

Joey Jay won his sixth game for the Reds with a six-hit shut-out over the Colts. Cincinnati collected 14 hits, including four by Don Blasingame, three by Don Zimmer and a homer by Leo Cardenas.

Roy Face's effective relief pitching shut off a ninth inning threat by the Cardinals and saved Al McBean's fifth victory for the Pirates. The Pirates kayoed loser Ray Sadecki in the fourth. Dick Stuart socked his fourth homer.

Pinch hitter Jim McKnight's ninth inning single drove in the winning run for the Cubs against the Braves. Bob Buhl beat his former teammates to bring his record to 3-2. Bob Hendley was the loser. He drove in two of Milwaukee's runs and Eddie Matthews' homer accounted for the third one.

Indians Win Over Omaha

By United Press International

The first place Indianapolis Indians scored five runs in the first inning Thursday night and held on for an 8-5 American Association victory over Omaha.

Three of the Indians' first inning runs came on a triple by Jerry McNertney. Herb Score, who was relieved by Glenn Rosenbaum in the seventh, was the winning hurler.

Oklahoma City, trailing 5-4 going into the ninth inning, exploded for seven runs and blasted the Bears, 11-5, at Denver.

The key hit in the inning was a bases-loaded single by Al Owens which broke a tie and sent the 8Bers to a 7-5 lead.

Today's schedule had Dallas at Louisville, Omaha at Indianapolis and Oklahoma City at Denver.

Faulk, Rawls Share Civitan Golf Lead

DALLAS (UPI) — Mary Lena Faulk and Betsy Rawls, a pair of veterans with their putters swinging in the groove, started the second round of the $10,000 Dallas Civitan Women's Open Golf tournament today — two strokes ahead.

Miss Faulk, a 36-year-old Georgian, and the 34-year-old Miss Rawls both found the windswept back nine of Glen Lakes Country Club's 6,500-yard par 36-35-71 layout to their liking Thursday as they clipped one stroke off par.

Miss Rawls collected four of her five birdies on the back side en route to a 38-32-70, while Miss Faulk got three of her four sub-par holes on the homeward nine in posting a 37-33-70.

That put them two strokes to the good over veteran Murlie Lindstrom and Shirley Englehorn and also Lesbia Lobo, a raven-haired Texan playing in only her third tournament in two and a half years after giving up golf completely for eight seasons.

Miss Englehorn and Miss Lobo carded identical 38-36-72s, while Mrs. Lindstrom had a 37-35-72.

Defending champion Louise Suggs, seeking her fourth consecutive Dallas title, was among a half dozen pros at 73. Also at that figure were Kathy Whitworth, Ruth Jessen, Kathy Cornelius.

Marilyn Smith and Pety Berg, who came here fresh from her first victory in two years at Muskogee, Okla.

Miss Rawls had to rally for her share of the lead after bogeying three of the first seven holes. She picked up her first birdie with a three-foot putt at No. 8, then canned putts of 30, 20, 10 and 10 feet for birdies on the 11, 13, 16 and 17 games.

Miss Rawls, who ranks ninth among the money winners this season in one of the worst starts of her 11 year career as a pro, said Thursday's round was the first time her puts had been dropping.

"I've been coming close and rimming the cup, but they just wouldn't drop until yesterday," she said.

Miss Faulk, who has won one tournament this year and lost another in a playoff to rank third in money earnings behind Mickey Wright and Miss Berg, missed a couple of three-foot putts Thursday. But she also managed to get putts to drip from 30, 15, 18 and 3 feet to offset three bogies.

The strong winds were responsible for all three of her bogies, causing her to miss the green.

"I'm not used to playing the winds and it was a particularly good round for me under the circumstances," Miss Faulk said.

Villanova Slated For Repeat Of Cinder Title

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — The 86th IC4A track and field meet opens today with 31 colleges and schools competing and less than a handful accorded any chance of dethroning defending champion Villanova.

Trials were scheduled for today with the 18 final events scheduled for Saturday.

Defending champions in 16 events include Frank Budd of Villanova in the 100 and 220; Pat Traynor, Billy Joe and Jon Dante of Villanova in the steeplechase; the shot put and 880; Ed Kohler of Fordham in the discus; Jay Luck of Yale in the 440 hurdles; John Thomas of Boston University in the high jump; John Beliza of Maryland in the pole vault; and Winston Cooper of St. John's in the hop, step and jump, along with Fordham's mile relay team, the same foursome as a year ago.

Villanova, with five of the men who scored 42 of last year's winning 48 points available, retained the favorite to win and retire the championship cup, awarded when a team wins the title five times. The Wildcats and Manhattan are the only competitors with four legs each on the silver mug, and Manhattan doesn't appear a likely winner. Only five cups were retired in the 85 years of the meet—the last 30 years ago.

SIGNS UP
BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI) — Lamar Tech has signed three outstanding high school basketball prospects to letters of intent.

They are 6-2, John Lynch of Columbia, Pa., 6-6, David Smith of Waxahachie, Tex., and 5-11 Charles Kivell of Houston Reagan High.

CINDERMEN
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A seven-man team of University of Texas Texas senior college, championship in Houston Saturday.

Baylus Bennet, Jim Smith, James Cooper, Loy Gunter, Steve Guynes, John Eschle and Carlton Stowers will make the trip.

NFL Gains Pension Plan For Five Year Players

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Football League players, after much campaigning, today rejoiced over their newly-won pension plan, which completes the three phases of the Bert Bell NFL player benefit program.

NFL club owners approved a pension for players with a minimum five years of service in the windup session of their annual spring meetings Thursday.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who announced the plan, said the exact amount of the benefits would be determined at a later date when the first players reach the retirement age of 65.

In some respects the plan resembles the one under which major league baseball players operate, with benefits increasing for each year of service in the league beyond five. Baseball players with 10 years of service are eligible for maximum pensions of $250 upon retirement at 50.

NFL players, led by Billy Howton of the Green Bay Packers, began working for a pension plan a number of years ago. The late Commissioner Bell held them off until he could sell a larger package of benefits to the club owner.

That package went into operation three years ago when the players began receiving medical, sickness, accident and health insurance benefits from the plan. Rozelle said that more than $100,000 already has been paid to players under this program.

The second phase of the Bell plan involved group insurance. The owners Thursday approved a suggestion by George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins to raise from $5,000 to $10,000 the insurance benefits for rookies who make the grade in the NFL. These benefits go up to $20,000 for 10-year veterans.

Dog Racing Track Set For El Paso

JUAREZ, Mexico (UPI) — A $2.5 million horse and dog racing track will be built in Juarez across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex.

John S. Alessio of San Diego, Calif., and Rene Mascarenas of Juarez said they will finance the track and construction will begin in 90 days.

Alessio heads the Auga Caliente race track near Tijuana. Mascarenas is a former mayor of Jurez who is now general manager of a Juarez distillery.

The men said the Mexican government has given approval for the track. Alessio said the horse racing season would not conflict with that of Sunland Park in New Mexico, just outside El Paso. Dog racing will be held on most nights during the year.

The horse racing will be a mile long with a 3/4 mile straightaway. The dog track will be a quarter mile. The track will be built opposite Ascarate Park in El Paso. The track will hold its first season in the summer of 1963.

Military Activities Will Slow When Monsoon Clouds Gather Over Bangkok

EDITOR'S NOTE: UPI Foreign News Analyst Phil Newsom, who has covered the news on five of the seven continents, is on the scene in Thailand to report on the crisis in Southeast Asia. In the following dispatch he describes the American military buildup in Thailand.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI)—Heavy monsoon clouds are piling up over Bangkok's canals and temples, and soon drenching rains will halt most major military action throughout Southeast Asia for the next three months.

But meanwhile, the United States has given the Communists an impressive demonstration of its ability to deliver troops, backed by the enormous fire power of the Air Force and their own new weapons, to any area in this part of the world.

A tiny restaurant on Bangkok's dockside hardly had time to realize a new-found prosperity before

U.S. Marines had come and gone, their equipment unloaded and their new campsite established seven miles east of the important junction town of Udorn.

Udorn is 35 miles south of the Laotian administrative capital of Vientiane on the Mekong River. It probably is no accident that the Marines are in a position to drive swiftly northward should Washington and military authorities decide emergency action is required.

The reinforced battle group of the 27th Infantry of the 25th Army Division is stationed temporarily just south of Korat, about 150 miles northeast of Bangkok, near important rail and road junctions.

The Marines are backed by their own fighter bombers and helicopters, and a squadron of F100s from the 13th Air Force's base at Clark Field in the Philippines. These support planes are stationed at Ta Khli, the super-secret air base built for Thailand's air force.

These forces are clear evidence of the American intention to help Thailand defend its borders, although the only combat so far has been with elephants competing with the First Battle Group for water supplies, and the only casualty a Marine bitten by a cobra.

The forceful United States action, which is drawing increasing fire from Chinese, North Vietnamese and North Korean propaganda outlets, has been joined by Australia and New Zealand who are sending token forces. Others may come from the Philippines and Britain.

The Army's 27th Infantry, the famous Wolfhound outfit which distinguished itself in the Korean War, is taking considerable satisfaction in having landed ahead of the Marines.

"We welcome the Marines," said Col. William E. McKean in a crack hardly designed to soothe traditional rivalry between the two services.

The American forces in Thailand are under the command of pistol-toting Gen. James Richardson, who conferred Wednesday with Bangkok officials regarding the final disposition of his men.

The idea that the United States is planning a long haul operation in Thailand is suggested by the presence of an unusual number of officers of general rank for the size of the present 5,000-man force.

This has been taken as a hint that other forces may be assigned here in the future.

Solon Calls For Integrity In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Garner Shriver, R-Kan., said Thursday that members of Congress should shape up to the integrity and loyalty all Americans expect of public servants.

The Kansan was talking about the Billie Sol Estes case, adding that he hoped Congress "will fulfill its responsibility in ferreting out all the facts."

Said Shriver further, "the American people are entitled to complete assurance of the integrity and loyalty of all public servants—including members of Congress."

In a weekly report to constituents, Shriver pointed out that he was sponsor of one of the House resolutions calling for a "relentless, but fair and impartial investigation of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of the Agriculture Department" in connection with the Estes case.

Rutherford Got An Estes Contribution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., has reported that he received a $1,500 campaign contribution from Billie Sol Estes on Jan. 17 and that he fulfilled two requests for the Texas farm magnate.

Rutherford said in a statement that at the request of Estes' Pecos, Tex., attorney he arranged appointments with Agriculture Department officials to discuss cotton acreage allotments.

"I made the appointment," the congressman said, "as I have made appointments with the various governmental agencies for many residents of my congressional district. The department has subsequently ruled adversely on the position presented by Mr. Estes and his attorney."

The other request from Estes was to contact the State Department of missionaries of Estes' church, Rutherford reported. He said both requests occurred before Jan. 17.

Of the campaign contribution, Rutherford said: "My records reveal that no donation was offered or received during my six years in the Texas Legislature, in my campaign efforts in being initially elected to Congress or in my prior reelection efforts. I find that on Jan. 17, 1962, Mr. Estes did submit the amount of $1,500 which was received. This occurred prior to my announced candidacy for re-election."

President In Salute To Sam Rayburn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Thursday that although this is a government of laws it takes great men such as the late Speaker Sam Rayburn to make them work.

Kennedy, one of more than 3,000 members to serve in the House during Rayburn's record tenure as speaker, lauded Rayburn at cornerstone-laying ceremonies at the new $70 million Rayburn House office building.

He then used a stainless steel trowel to help fit into place a half-ton stone of Georgia marble into which will be sealed a helium-filled copper box containing mementoes of Rayburn's long House career and tributes from House members who loved him.

Shivers Won't Close Doors On Future Races

DALLAS (UPI) — Former Gov. Allan Shivers said Wednesday he "certainly would not close the door on any possibility" of his running for another public office.

Shivers, now occupied by the management of business interests in Austin, said he had been urged to run for many posts.

Shivers declined to endorse any candidates in the June 2 Democratic runoff election.

Edwin L. Drake's discovery of oil at Titusville, Penna., on Aug. 27, 1859, ushered in the oil era.
