Rainfall Continues; Pampa Has .10 Inch But Area Hit Harder

More rain blanketed the Panhandle area last night but little or no hail was reported. Pampa received only .10 inch while McLean received 1.25 inches and Panhandle .97 inch. Panhandle reported that during the past 24 hours, that community had received a total of 4.82 inches of rainfall.

Firemen at McLean were called to extinguish a grass fire yesterday afternoon when a bolt of lightning struck a pasture belonging to Mrs. T. A. Massay on the edge of the city limits. Firemen did not have to pour water on the fire because before they arrived on the scene a heavy down-pour extinguished the blaze.

Law enforcement officers are keeping a close watch on the Lake McLellan dam, due to the high waters and a report that the concrete structure had been cracked from the water pressure.

Sheriff's officers have been on the scene for the past two days keeping a close watch on the rising water. Officers said the danger of the dam breaking would not worsen if no more rain was received.

The weather forecast for Pampa and vicinity today called for partly cloudy skies and warmer with no precipitation.

Two tornadoes, hail whipped by hurricane-force winds, blinding dust and flood-causing rains struck Texas Monday.

At least nine persons were injured.

Thundershowers continued to fall in most sections of the state today. Forecasters said little change is expected.

Twisters touched the ground near Wink and Toyah in far West Texas. Both hit open ranch country. No damage was reported.

Heavy rains, up to four inches,

Fire Destroys Belongings Of Area Family

Fire destroyed all the personal belongings of a Perryton family Friday when a trailer which contained their household furniture, clothing and money caught fire 28 miles north of Pampa on Highway 70.

Highway Patrol officers who investigated the incident said the family of Johnny W. Johnson were moving from Perryton to Amarillo where they were to make their home.

Officers said the brakes on the trailer apparently caught fire and spread to the inside. Johnson told officers he could smell smoke and when he attempted to pull down the end gate of the trailer it was filled with flames. The automobile which was pulling the trailer was unhitched and not damaged.

Johnson said $4,500 worth of furniture and clothing and $1,800 in cash was destroyed.

Man In Suit Against US Government

DALLAS (UPI) - Chesley E. Hathcock of Yuba City, Calif., has filed suit against the federal government requesting an accounting of $250 million which he said the Internal Revenue Service has seized from accounts of an international investment syndicate he has an interest in.

Lawyer David C. McCord of Dallas filed the Hathcock petition late Monday in U. S. district court. The suit said that $116 million of the $250 million was seized from banks in El Paso.

Hathcock said that he is entitled to $67 million of the money seized by the government from three individuals and the Italian Society of America. Hathcock is described as an international dealer in surplus properties.

The defendants are Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, U. S. Internal Revenue director Mortimer Kaplan and Ellis Campbell, of Dallas, internal revenue collector for the northern Texas district.

The suit charged that Dillon, Kaplan and Campbell "impounded and seized" cash and real and personal property worth in excess of $250 million. It said Hathcock believes Campbell has seized other funds.

caused flash flooding on Palo Duro Creek. Five carloads of campers were stranded in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Rangers said they were on high ground and in little danger.

The flood of water into Lake

McClellan, in Gray County, and Lake Stockton, near Amarillo, threatened to collapse the dams. Fast runoff eased the situation. What the weather bureau called a wail of dust struck Lubbock, fol-

SILHOUETTES AGAINST THE SKY - The weather forecast today called for partly cloudy skies, warm temperatures, and little or no precipitation, which is welcome to the Top O' Texas area. ## City Talks Tax 'Inequities'

Some method of removing what were described as inequities in Pampa's tax valuation setup was contained in an appeal issued by Mayor E. C. Sidwell at a called meeting of the City Commission in City Hall last night.

Specifically, the mayor discussed - not as an attack on anyone, he explained - taxes paid by Pampa's banks and several savings and loan and finance companies.

Attending the session were members of the city commission, representatives of the loan and finance companies, the city tax assessor and collector, and representatives of the city tax equalization board.

Also in attendance were the city manager and city secretary.

Mayor Sidwell in his opening statement said:

"This meeting has been called simply to try to have an understanding of the problems with which we all are faced.

"It is my opinion that here in Pampa we have had glaring tax inequities for years. I have repeatedly brought this to the attention of our tax authorities - not just recently, but as far back as 1940 when I was serving on the school board."

Mayor Sidwell read from a report which showed a wide difference in the amount of taxes paid by Pampa's two banks as compared to taxes paid by savings and loan companies and five finance and investment companies doing business in Pampa.

City Attorney Bob Gordon explained that the Texas Legislature had set up an entirely different tax structure for savings and loan companies than that which covers the taxation of banks. Gordon explained in detail how the tax law works with the loan companies and how it works with the banks.

applied to the savings and loan companies were carried out in Pampa according to the provisions of state law.

Mayor Sidwell said he understood it was legal, but that he still felt that it was not fair to have a bank paying taxes of $5,500 a year, and a competitor down the street in a similar business paying $600 a year.

"I do not think it is fair that the banks should pick up the tab on that basis and pay so much more for the same services that the City of Pampa is furnishing to both of them," Mayor Sidwell said.

The mayor said he hoped it would be understood that there was no ill feeling against the loan companies. He said all that he and the City Commission are trying to do is to work out some kind of a solution to get taxes on a more equitable basis and be able to provide the funds that are necessary to meet the city's financial obligations.

"I do not believe we should have to go to Dallas or some other place to hire a tax expert to come in and iron this out," the mayor said. "I think we right here in Pampa can get together and work out a solution."

Mayor Sidwell explained that Pampa's tax valuation, especially personal property, has dropped appreciably this year.

When asked by the mayor, several representatives of the finance companies said they had no immediate solution to the problem.

Delinquent Tax Project By City To Start Soon

An effort to collect approximately $187,000 in delinquent taxes owed the City of Pampa will be launched immediately. City Manager Harold Schmitzer told members of the City Commission at their regular meeting in City Hall this forenoon.

The decision was reached as Mayor E. C. Sidwell and the commissioners renewed their efforts to plug up leak holes which they claim exists in the city's tax structure.

Mayor Sidwell said many of

No Decision Reached In Death Probe

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI) - Texas Rangers today planned to question a number of persons and search for new evidence in the mysterious suicide or murder of agricultural official Henry Marshall despite dismissal of a grand jury investigating the death.

The jury reported late Monday night it could not reach a decision because "the evidence is inconclusive to substantiate a definite decision at this time, or to overrule any decision heretofore made."

Dist. Judge John Barron of Bryan, who had called the grand jury at the urging of Dist. Atty. Bryan Russ of Hearne, Tex., dismissed the jury but emphasized it could be recalled in an emergency.

"This investigation is just now beginning," in terms of new evidence, Barron said. "The grand jury report is the action we needed so that we are free to go ahead with the investigation."

those who are delinquent in tax payments are firms with which the city does business regularly.

City records show that $187,969.70 in unpaid taxes have accumulated on the books as of today.

Many of these accounts are uncollectable for various reasons. Some of them are so small it would cost more to collect than would be realized in the tax amount due. Others have moved from the city. Some estates no longer exist. The delinquent roll dates back as far as 1926.

The records show some $22,000 in back taxes were collected during the 1960 tax year, between October 1960 and October 1961. The collections have been made on a routine collection basis of instituting individual suits and making individual collections.

"We're going to step it up with a new campaign to get as much of this money in as possible," Schmitzer said.

Letters will go to the delinquent taxpayers with a request that the taxes be paid or due process of law will be taken. Others may have their delinquent tax accounts deducted from bills presented to the city.

Tax Collector Aubrey Jones said today that figures on amounts collected during the past year are not yet available because books have not yet been balanced for the fiscal year which does not end until Oct. 31.

In other business today the City Manager and City Secretary were asked to prepare estimates with the city engineer on the cost of proposed improvements at City Hall including remodeling of the Palm Room as a meeting place for the commission.

Mayor Sidwell said perhaps the city could collect enough back taxes due to pay the estimated $9,000 cost of the city hall improvements.

The mayor again laid stress on what he called the importance of "letting the taxpayers in on what has been going on at City Hall."

Bean was charged with failure to file tax returns for the years 1956 through 1960. His gross income for that period was $53,296, half of the community income of $106,570 received by him and his wife during those five years. Mrs. Bean was not indicted.

A great amount of this information needs to be given to the public by our city officials - by those who conduct our business, the mayor stated.

"It shouldn't be the duty of the city commission alone to dig into inequities if they exist," he said. "It's up to the city manager, the tax collector and assessor and the City controller to keep the public posted on our finances and our tax problems."

Following a discussion of the developer's request to add a 20-foot lane in the Bethune Heights Addition for the purpose of collecting trash, the commission agreed to the city manager's suggestion to have a new subdivision ordinance drawn for presentation next week and ordered that a policy of placing all water and sewer lines in alleys instead of in the street be incorporated.

The commission heard a report of the recent meeting of the City Traffic Commission and tabled it for study.

A bill for $56.59 covering expenses of Police Chief Jim Conner to the Texas Police Association convention in Dallas was approved.

Judge To Be Sentenced On June 27

AUSTIN (UPI) - El Paso County Judge Woodrow Wilson Bean, 45, who pleaded guilty to five federal charges of failing to file income tax returns, will be sentenced June 27.

Bean, who calls himself a cousin of the legendary "Law West of the Pecos" Judge Roy Bean and a recent unsuccessful Democratic candidate for nomination to Congress, said he probably would resign as county judge Wednesday. He said he would do this "as a matter of public policy and in the interest of all concerned."

He could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison and fined $50,000. Dist. Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. deferred until June 27 Bean's sentencing. Bean will remain free in $2,500 bond.

Bean, who pleaded guilty Monday, has a date in Austin today with a federal probation officer, whose report Judge Rice will await before sentencing.

Bean was charged with failure to file tax returns for the years 1956 through 1960. His gross income for that period was $53,296, half of the community income of $106,570 received by him and his wife during those five years. Mrs. Bean was not indicted.

Bean admitted a few days before the May 5 Democratic primary that he had not filed a federal income tax return since 1952. He said he was opposed to filing income tax returns, and that the income taxes were withheld from his salary as judge. He said that more than enough money was taken out of his pay, and that the government owes him money.

Meetings Resumed With Negotiators

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg today began a last ditch effort to avert a flight engineer's strike against Trans World Airlines.

The strike was scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EST today, Goldberg resumed separate meetings with union and management negotiators with the deadline less than five hours away.

Joseph Suskiewich, a member of the union negotiating team, told newsmen "the strike is on" unless it is specifically canceled.

Union attorney Asher Schwartz said the engineers were busy preparing a "very important" document requested by Goldberg to detail one phase of their demands. Federal mediators, working past midnight, made no visible progress toward heading off the walkout by 615 flight engineers. The walkout would shut down the nation's fourth largest air carrier and idle an estimated 20,000 workers.

Goldberg met with representatives of TWA, the engineers and the Air Line Pilots Association from 9 a.m. EDT Monday until 12:35 a.m. today, with time out for lunch and dinner.

When he recessed the marathon talks shortly after midnight, he told the three parties to confer separately during the night and "do some further work on matters we have been discussing."

Goldberg gave no hint of any progress. He would only say that no new proposals were being discussed and that all problems involved had been reviewed during the long session.

As the TWA strike deadline approached, the Transport Workers Union called a walkout against American Airlines for midnight Friday. But American said there would be no disruption of its flights.

The walkout would involve 10,000 American Airlines employees in 56 U.S. cities. However, President Kennedy could block a strike for 60 days by naming an emergency board to hold hearings on the dispute and recommend a settlement.

Bean admitted a few days before the May 5 Democratic primary that he had not filed a federal income tax return since 1952. He said he was opposed to filing income tax returns, and that the income taxes were withheld from his salary as judge. He said that more than enough money was taken out of his pay, and that the government owes him money.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Senate rackets subcommittee turned its attention today to Baltimore's notorious "block" where strippers have entertained sailors and salesmen for decades.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., planned to take a look down East Baltimore Street - home of the city's gaudiest bistros.

McClellan is investigating alleged tieups between the AFL-CIO American Guild of Variety Artists and racketeer-dominated nightclubs where "house rules" force show girls to solicit drinks from male patrons.

Sebastiano Miceli, alias Sam Mitchell, a Chicago area club operator, also was scheduled to testify. A former U.S. prosecutor told the subcommittee last week that Mitchell and his brothers, all of whom served jail terms for bootlegging, controlled at least four night spots.

The importation of foreign-born strippers, particularly from Canada, also will figure in the hearing. Exotic dancers are said to be in short supply this year, particularly in the Chicago area.

Diefenbaker And Party Of Canada In Thin Majority

By WILLIAM NEVILLE

MONTREAL (UPI) - Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and the conservative party suffered a staggering 86-seat loss in the House of Commons, but clung narrowly to power today in Canada's 25th national election.

"We are still the government of Canada," the 66-year-old prime minister told a nationwide television audience. He admitted he was "disappointed" by what amounted to the most convincing political setback in Canadian history.

Three ridings (districts) were in the doubtful category when vote counting stopped early today, but it appeared the conservatives would win only 117 seats in the 285-seat House of Commons.

Diefenbaker could look to the 1958 conservative landslide, biggest in Canada's political history, as the single reason the party will hold minority control when the next parliament convenes in September.

A resurgent liberal party, headed by 1957 Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester B. Pearson, 65, captured 99 seats to form the main opposition. The liberals gained 48 seats from the number the party held when the last Parliament was dissolved two months ago.

How long the next Parliament would last was anybody's guess. Informed opinion suggested Canada will have another federal election within six months.

The conservatives, who held 203 House of Commons seats at its dissolution, could thank the three other parties in the election for allowing them to maintain a slim parliamentary majority.

The right-wing Social Credit (SOCRED) movement proved to be the real surprise, picking up 29 seats and rising from obliteration in 1958 to third place in the new Parliament. All but five of the seats were captured in the French-Canadian province of Quebec, a traditional liberal stronghold which went conservative in 1958.

It appeared Quebec voters decided to follow the SOCRED suggestion that "you have nothing to lose."

The new Democratic party, a socialist group in its first national campaign, won 19 seats. The party's jubilation was dimmed by the defeat of its national leader, (See Diefenbaker, Page 3)

Nuclear Test Is Slated Tonight

HONOLULU (UPI) - U. S. Joint Task Force 8 announced it will make another attempt tonight to fire its controversial high altitude nuclear test several hundred miles above Johnston Island, 800 miles southwest of the Hawaiian chain.

The explosion is now scheduled between 4 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. (CST) Wednesday. Commercial and military plane travel in the area was restricted.

The test was originally scheduled for Monday night, but high cloudiness over the Johnston area forced the latest in a series of postponements which have occurred since the rocket-borne nuclear project got under way June 1.

Hurricane-Hunter Satellite Orbits

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - America rocketed a hurricane-hunter satellite into orbit about 400 miles above the earth today and set it on a course that will permit it to monitor weather over most of the world, including Russia.

The 285-pound artificial moonlet, named Tiro-5, rode aloft aboard a Delta rocket at 7:19 a.m. EST. About 2 1/2 hours later officials announced it had successfully kicked into orbit.

Tiro-5, using a set of sensitive water-glass size cameras for eyes, circled the earth along an unusual path designed to extend its field of vision almost from the Arctic to the Antarctic circles - a far broader view than any of its four highly successful predecessors have had.

The Tiro-5 family of weather satellites already has been credited with saving many lives and a billion dollars yearly in property losses from hurricanes. Officials said Tiro-5 was taking "excellent" pictures.

Robert Gray of the federal space agency said today's launching was "pretty spectacular," despite a burned-out fuse which robbed the rocket of the use of precision ground-based computers in steering it into space.

Instead, the Delta had to make do with an automatic pilot it carried on board. The auto-pilot, while good, is not as accurate as the radio guidance, and there was the possibility that the orbit of Tiro-5 was a "bit higher than we had planned," Gray said.

The satellite was expected to make one circuit of earth approximately every 90 minutes.

The Delta rocket, seeking its ninth straight success in space launchings, blasted smoothly from its firing pad as the dawn broke over this huge testing center.

The three-stage machine climbed steeply and rapidly to the northeast, and disappeared within four minutes.

Earlier in the week, the United States launched a pair of "mystery" satellites from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. - one of them possibly a "spy-in-the-sky" moonlet with cameras designed to photograph military and missile installations in Russia.

Although Tiro-5 was angled so it too would travel over Soviet territory, its cameras were not considered sensitive enough for the detail demanded of such espionage work. The limitations of the cameras were explained by

U. S. space officials following previous charges that the Tiro satellites were actually "spies."

Rather, Tiro-5 had two quite peaceful purposes:

To hunt hurricanes and other tropical storms in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

To keep an eye on ice and fog conditions from the North Atlantic to the great iceberg fields surrounding the Antarctic.

The federal space agency said the launching of Tiro-5 was timed to coincide with the Atlantic hurricane season, which reaches its peak generally around late August or September.

their requests for release should be granted."

Training Of Cubans Apparently At End

FT. JACKSON, S. C. (UPI)—A program to train anti-Castro Cuban refugees in guerrilla warfare and parachuting within the ranks of the U. S. Army now appears at an end.

Recruiting of Cuban nationals began 10 months ago with a goal of signing 1,000 veterans of the abortive invasion of Cuba. But only 17 enlisted, apparently under a misunderstanding of what constituted their obligation.

Last week, the Army revealed that eight of the 17 have already been discharged despite the remaining 14 months of their voluntary enlistment. An Army announcement said the move was made "for the convenience of the government and at their request."

A public information officer said the secretary of the Army may release any individual if it is "in the best interests of the service."

"These men voluntarily entered the Army under the Selective Service Act," the officer said. "They did so under a misunderstanding from sources outside the Army as to the nature of the commitment they were making.

"In view of the circumstances, including the fact that these men had recently arrived as refugees from Cuba, it was decided that

The PIO said nine other Cubans remained in service at advanced North Carolina. No announcement training areas in Texas and was made on the status of the Cuban recruiting.

Cuban volunteers, earlier barred from service overseas or in units of the Strategic Army Corps, were forbidden to leave the continental United States.

During their training at Ft. Jackson, they acknowledged their allegiance to Dr. Miro Cardona, then leader of the Cuban colony in exile and former head of Havana University.

Three-Truck Mishap Is Investigated

Highway Patrol officers investigated a three-truck accident yesterday afternoon one half mile south of the city limits on the Le-fors Highway.

Officers said a pick-up driven by Clyde Eddington Sarvis, Pampa, who was driving south was attempting to make a left turn off the highway and another truck being driven by Robert E. Warren Jr., also of Pampa, was waiting behind the Sarvis vehicle when Jerry Carl Liebert of El Paso, who was approaching the trucks, slammed into the rear of the Warren truck, pushing it into the Sarvis vehicle.

Approximately $400 damage was reported to the Liebert pick-up and $100 damage to the Warren vehicle. The Sarvis truck was not damaged.

A passenger in the Liebert truck, Rita Liebert, was taken by private auto to Highland General Hospital where she was treated for a wrist injury and released. No one was reported injured.

2 Men Held On Burglary, Theft Counts

Two Pampa men, W. W. Willis and Harry E. Taylor, both 29 years old, are being held in county jail today on charges of burglary of a motor vehicle and theft of over $50.

Investigating officers, deputy sheriffs D. L. Day and Jimmie Bowers, reported that on June 15 an automobile owned by Mrs. Margaret Avinger, Pampa, was burglarized while parked on S. Cuyler St. at 12:20 a.m.

Mrs. Avinger told officers that $231.50 was taken from under the seat of her locked automobile. Both men have been arraigned and bond set at $3,000 on the theft and $2,500 for the burglary count.

● Dietsenbaker

T.C. Douglas, in Regina, capital of the Saskatchewan Province in which he once headed Canada's only socialist government.

Voting in one riding, Stormont in eastern Ontario, was postponed until July 16 because of the liberal candidate's death.

Douglas was not the only leader to fall.

Four conservative cabinet ministers and Commons Speaker Roland Michener were removed from the government ranks. The defeated cabinet ministers are Jacques Flynn, mines; William Hamilton, post office; Noel Dorlon, state; and David Walker, public works.

Maurice Lamontagne, noted economist and Pearson's right hand man, lost his second successive bid to win Quebec East, a riding which in the past elected two liberal prime ministers.

Besides the three ridings where the last polls to be counted could change the situation, two other factors could also alter some of the close ridings. Judicial recounts may be requested in some and the armed forces vote, to be counted next weekend, could be enough to swing others.

The overall result sent the country back to 1957 when Dietsenbaker ended 22 years of liberal rule by winning a majority victory of 112 seats. Then, however, he was on the way up.

Five years ago Dietsenbaker himself dissolved Parliament six months after it met and appealed for an over-all mandate. The electorate answered in record numbers.

Farley Rites Held Monday

GROOM (Sp) — Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. for Miss Harriett Farley, 79, who died Saturday morning at her home here.

Services were held in the First Methodist church with the Rev. C. R. Copeland officiating. Interment was in the Groom cemetery.

Miss Farley was born Dec. 16, 1882, in Richfield, Ohio, and had been a resident of Groom since 1908. Her parents, the Daniel H. Farleys, were pioneers in Groom. Miss Farley was a member of the First Methodist Church in Groom.

Miss Farley is survived by one sister, Mrs. Cal G. St. John of Binghamton, N.Y.; four brothers, Will S., John C. and Phil B., all of Groom; and Miner G. of Castle Creek, N.Y.

plaining the city's problems and the invited guests listening attentively.

"Pampa belongs to the taxpayers," Mayor Sidwell said. "All we are trying to do is to get solved the many problems we have — and get them solved in the best interest of everyone. I just can't visualize Pampa going ahead progressively without solutions to these problems."

"We need the help of all the people of Pampa."

"I honestly feel that our Tax Equalization Board has made a real effort to handle their job in good order and I want to commend them for it."

"This problem we have is just something that all concerned need to sit down around the table and work out and I believe it can be done without hiring outside experts to come in and do it."

The mayor said he recommended to the City Commissioners that they give the matter serious thought.

"Unless we do," he said, "I can see no immediate relief for the average taxpayer. It is a problem we must study hard and come up with some equitable solution."

The mayor said he could not see how Pampans were going to get the city services required unless all concerned face the tax problem in a "realistic and honest way."

He pointed out that within the next five to ten years the city is committed by the Canadian River Dam project, a sanitation and sewage plant, filtration plant and a highway improvement program, all of which will cost in the neighborhood of 3-million dollars.

"This calls for some serious study on the part of all of us," Sidwell said, "and I hope we will be able to sit down and work it out."

Pampan's Sister Dies In Amarillo

Miss Leila Hooks, of Amarillo, 57, a sister of Mrs. Joe W. Gordon of Pampa, died at her home Monday.

Miss Hooks had resided in Amarillo since 1917. She was a school teacher and a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors, besides Mrs. Gordon, include her mother, Mrs. B. R. Hooks of Amarillo, and a brother, R. S. Hooks of Amarillo. Funeral services are pending arrangements at Griggs and Sons Funeral Home, Amarillo.

Weather Hurts Wheat Harvest

Recent rain, hail and high winds have played havoc with wheat harvesting this spring in almost all areas of the Texas Panhandle, but it is hoped that by the end of this week things will be back to normal again, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

The harvest is almost 50 per cent complete in the Pampa area, but is currently at a standstill due to the inclement weather of late. Dry land acreage is averaging from 5 to 17 bushels and irrigated acreage averaging 35 bushels per acre.

Sarah Bernhardt, famous actress, made her last stage appearance on Nov. 30, 1922, at Turin, Italy.

Three Thefts Are Reported

Danny Spangler, an employe of the Gunter Auto Salvage, 1237 S. Barnes, reported to police yesterday afternoon that sometime over the week end, someone broke into the establishment and stole several automobile parts.

Spangler told officers entrance was gained by prying open a back door. Stolen were three Ford carburetors mounted on a manifold and an Oldsmobile intake manifold. Loss of the equipment was valued at $125.

Police received a report yesterday afternoon from Don Burns, 516 Doucette, that sometime between June 1 and 18, someone stole a 258 pound roll of copper wire from his home. The wire was valued at $45.

E. C. Mackie, 2219 Christine, reported to police yesterday that a wheel and tire was stolen from his pick-up truck sometime between May 20 and 23, while it was parked in the driveway of his home.

Mackie said the wheel and tire were missing before he left for vacation on May 23 but he did not report the theft until he returned home yesterday.

When the British captured it from the Dutch in 1664, New York had a population of only 1,000.

Police Probe Purse-Snatching Report Here

Police officers today were investigating a report from Mrs. J. R. Schuneman, 1328 Coffee, who said when she was approaching the Ideal No. 1 Food Store yesterday at about 4:20 p.m. a young man ran up beside her, grabbed her purse and ran.

Officers said Mrs. Schuneman told them she and a party in a pick-up truck parked nearby, ran after the youth, who was described as being about 17 years old.

Mrs. Schuneman said when they cornered the youth in Central Park, near the food store, he handed the purse to her and said he had just gotten out of jail and needed some money and ran off. Nothing in the purse was missing.

Petit Jury Is Dismissed Here

The Gray County 31st Judicial District petit jury was dismissed shortly after convening at 10 a.m. yesterday when the ten civil cases which had been set for trial were passed or had been settled prior to trial time.

Lewis M. Goodrich, district judge, presided over the jury.

Five Hurt In McLean Area Wreck

McLEAN (Sp) — An Ohio mother and four of her six children are in the Shamrock Hospital today with injuries they received in a one car accident yesterday afternoon 12 and one half miles west of here on U.S. Highway 66.

Investigating officer Charles Henderson of the State Highway Patrol said the late model station wagon headed west, which was being driven by Mrs. Joan Lewis of Cincinnati, Ohio, went out of control, crossed over the highway and turned over, landing on the east bound lane.

Accompanying Mrs. Lewis in the auto were six children and a baby-sitter who were enroute to Garden Grove, Calif., on vacation.

Four of the children and Mrs. Lewis were taken by ambulance to Shamrock hospital, where they are suffering from cuts and bruises. The other two children and the baby-sitter were taken by private car to Groom hospital where they were treated and released.

Officers today were attempting to locate other relatives.

● Rainfall

lowed by more rain. Precipitation totals of one and two inches were common.

The U. S. Weather Bureau clocked winds at 100 miles an hour at Quanah in the southeast Panhandle. Four persons suffered serious burns at Quanah when an explosion wrecked their storm cellar while they were in it seeking refuge from the storm.

Winds of 85 miles an hour knocked over several house trailers and left downed power lines sputtering on the ground through Sheppard Air Force Base near Wichita Falls. Five persons were injured.

The Weather Bureau said a "wall of dust" whipped into Lubbock followed by heavy rain on the wings of 60 mile-an-hour winds. Power lines were downed starting several minor fires, and plate glass windows were smashed.

At Estelline near Childress hail fell for half an hour. Police said thousands of acres of growing crops were ruined and more than 70 windows in the high school were broken. Farm roads and fields were flooded and cars and trucks stranded in some areas.

Baseball-size hail stones in Childress smashed 15 windows at the airport.

U.S. 287 east of Quanah was blocked for several hours by downed trees after high winds

Three Cases Of DWI Handled

Three cases of driving while intoxicated appeared on the docket in County Court yesterday.

Floyd Leon Stewart, 1101 Christine, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Bond was set at $500 for Louis Edward Blackwell, 1244 Farley, when he pleaded not guilty to the DWI charge.

Emily H. Gross, 121 S. Stark-weather, was placed under $500 bond when she pleaded not guilty.

and heavy rain raked the area. At Amarillo lightning caused $3,000 damage when it struck an underground cable near a grade school. About 300 feet of cable was burned out. Lightning struck an oil field tank battery two miles west of Sanger.

Lightning flicked from a thunderstorm pounding the Red River area and struck the Madill, Okla., transmitter of KXII-TV in Sherman twice, knocking the station off the air for several hours.

The Department of Public Safety in Amarillo said water was over U.S. 60 in three places 10 miles east of Amarillo.

Awards Presented To Women's Club At Regular Meeting

The Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday, June 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Club Rooms.

Mrs. Elmer Tinnin presided over the meeting and Mrs. Allie Morgan opened the meeting with the club collect.

Mrs. W. A. York was in charge of the program, "Woman in Government," in the form of a panel composed of Vera Lard (who died shortly after midnight), Merrile Kennemer and Laura Bell Cornelius. They encouraged women to keep informed on government affairs and to always be prepared to vote by paying their poll tax and then, being sure to vote.

Reports of State Convention was given by the four delegates, Nell Tennit, Bea York, Marguerite Nash and Hattie Harmon.

Awards for the year were given by Mrs. Lard for perfect attendance. Mrs. Lard also presented a gift from the club to Mrs. Tinnin, outgoing president and pinned the past-president pin on her.

The next meeting will be a social June 26 at 7 p.m. in the backyard of Mrs. York's home and secret pals will be revealed.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. A startling innovation is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It is surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of "wonder" Lycra spandex fiber. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga.

Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girdle or panty version.

Dear Abby.... "Clothes Hoarder" Isn't Exactly Kind

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is kind and considerate, but in the 20 years we have been married he has never been able to part with a single piece of clothing. He built a locker in the basement of our home and it is stuffed from one end to the other with outdated suits, shoes, shirts and underwear. Now he wants to build another locker, although there is scarcely room to turn around there. Am I wrong in expecting him to give away some of these clothes? He tells me they belong to him and to mind my own business.

HOARDER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: You say your husband is "kind and considerate." His behavior indicates otherwise. To keep clothing stored away for years, when others could make good use of it, is selfish. Explain this to your husband.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say to a friend who made you a cake for your birthday, knowing you had diabetes and cannot eat anything made with sugar? Don't say she probably doesn't know it as she goes with me when I visit my doctor.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Just say "thank you" and appreciate her thoughtfulness. You can have your cake without eating it, too.

DEAR ABBY: How should I sign my name? I have been a widow for five years. Am I still Mrs. Herbert L. Starr? Or am I now Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: Socially you may use either Mrs. Herbert L. Starr, or Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr. But, legally, you are Mrs. Amelia Jones Starr.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who has money for everything else, but when it comes to a telephone she uses mine. I don't mind letting her use my phone, or even calling her when someone rings her up here, but get this: Our only telephone is in the kitchen, and whenever this neighbor uses it she turns to me, smiles, and says, "Excuse me, Dearie." (This is my cue to get out of my kitchen!) What do you think of a neighbor who has the nerve to chase a woman out of her own kitchen?

BURNING
DEAR BURNING: She has gall she hasn't used yet. But if you are willing to put up with it, you deserve it.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Senior Center Corner By MRS. O. A. WAGNER Senior Citizens Center

The Rev. and Mrs. P. H. Gates, 111 N. Starkweather, are in Galveston, where they attended the graduation of their grandson, Phillip Don Gates, who was one of 117 candidates for an MD degree from the University School of Medicine on June 13.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Bessie DeZera in the loss of her brother, Frank Leslie Dittmeyer. Sorry we overlooked this last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Porter and children, Ruth and Richard of Shamrock visited Tuesday with Mrs. Porter's mother, Mrs. C. G. Miller and son, Bill.

We were glad to hear that our sick folks are feeling better; Mrs. Lucy Herlacher reports her brother, Frank, is slowly improving; Mrs. J. L. Love is improving; Mrs. Amanda Little is also on the "getting better" list; F. M. Heaston is better but still in the hospital. Was sorry to hear that Mrs. H. M. Norris had another fall that took her to the hospital for a day or two, but is home now and able to be up and about in a wheel chair.

We had two teenagers with us on Thursday at the Center, Miss Susie Gregory, granddaughter of Mrs. A. D. Hills and Miss Paula Cornelison of Skellytown, granddaughter of Mrs. W. J. Cornelison. They seemed to enjoy the games.

Mrs. F. B. Smith went to Amarillo last week to visit her granddaughter Cynthia Jean Smith, who was in a car wreck recently, but she is doing nicely.

Mrs. Mollie Hethcock had company last week but she played hookey and came to the Center on Thursday. Her daughter, Mrs. Birdie Osborne and great-grandchildren, Vickie and Kathie Van-Huss of Wichita Falls; Ray Sanger, a grandson and his son, Stephen are visiting the Hethcocks. Mrs. Hethcock is expecting her brother, Frank Bell, and his wife on Friday from Seattle, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gergaty of Dallas visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Etheredge recently. Mrs. Gregory is Mr. Etheredge's daughter.

Was nice to see Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor take time out of her busy life to come down and visit at the Center on Thursday.

We mourn the loss of Mrs. Vera Lard, charter member and past president of the Altrusa Club of Pampa and civic leader. For many, many years, she was one of the loyal boosters of Senior Center and had done much in the early organizing of it. We shall miss her sweet smile and cheerful greeting. A minute of silent prayer was offered in her memory on Thursday at the Center.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Edith Mills and N. L. DunWoody. Be seeing you, Love, Mrs. Wagner.

Birthday Honoree Receives Surprise

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Ben Jordan was honored with a surprise birthday party recently in her home. A group of friends brought a covered-dish dinner which was served in the Jordan yard.

Attending the affair were Messrs. and Meses. O. G. Riley; Paul Bryant; R. M. Hobby; Tom Masters; Russell Shaw; E. W. Crowder; Lamond Beaty; L. W. Sutton; Meses. J. J. Caudle, Jim Poindexter, Charlie Alford and E. W. Crowell.

Aaron's Homer Smashes Mets

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Hank Aaron hopes today that one of the longest homers in baseball history coupled with a .400 batting average since Memorial Day "means I'm finally gonna hit my real stride this year."

"I hit one ball harder in my life but I never hit one longer," said Aaron after his 465-foot grand-slam homer into the left center field bleachers at New York's Polo Grounds led the Milwaukee Braves to a 7-1 victory over the New York Mets. "I've had some trouble getting started this season but maybe I'm on my way now."

Aaron's soaring drive off Jay Hook was only the second ball ever hit into the left center field bleachers in the modern history of the park. Milwaukee teammate Joe Adcock hit the first, in 1953, and Babe Ruth is credited with having reached that sector twice in 1921 when the wall was about 30 feet closer to home plate.

Outfielder Lou Brock of the Chicago Cubs became the first major leaguer to reach the right center field bleachers on Sunday.

Philly Star Hopes Jinx Has Past

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The month of May has come and gone. Johnny Callison is hitting an impressive .332 and the Philadelphia Phillies outfielder is hopeful his May 30 jinx of the past is gone.

Two years ago, the up- and-coming youngster tore the cartilage of his knee sliding home on May 30 and was on the disabled list until July.

Last year, he looked great up to Memorial Day and then began a skid which dropped him far below his potential.

Small wonder then, that he looked at the calendar and breathed a sigh of relief when the ink date sped by while he was still sound and his bat rapping out hits.

The quiet, almost reticent Callison, in his third year in the majors at the age of 23, looked back at previous averages of .260 and .266 and said most of his success this season is hitting the ball where it's pitched.

That's one reason why the left-handed swinging Callison has been hitting to left field with power. He's hit doubles along the left field stands. He's clubbed three balls high off the center-field scoreboard in Connie Mack Stadium and set the bullpeners dancing with shots into the right field corner.

"When I came from the White Sox (in the 1959 Gene Freese deal) I guess I was expected to be a home-run hitter. I tried to pull everything Result — nine homers each year," Callison said.

Explaining that now he's "just hitting the ball," Johnny said that plan worked out much better. And he added, he was that type of a hitter when he first came into baseball.

Manager Gene Mauch praised Callison and said his steady improvement is the result of study and hard work.

"He's analyzing pitchers better," Mauch said. "The thinking part of hitting is starting to enter his game. All good hitters think."

Mauch said the youngster is approaching his real potential—getting a little closer to what people said he could be, to what was expected of him.

El Paso Still Leading League

By United Press International

The El Paso Sun Kings tightened their grip on the Texas League lead Monday night out-bombing the Albuquerque Dukes in a 2-run, 36 hit slugfest.

Gene Penavler came on in the fifth inning to stifle a six-run outburst and held the Dukes in check en route to the 14-10 El Paso victory.

The Austin Senators moved up slightly on the third-place San Antonio Missions Monday night with a 4-1 win. The game between second-place Tulsa, which is two games out of first, and dead-last Amarillo was postponed by rain.

Tonight Tulsa takes on Amarillo. Albuquerque meets El Paso and Austin stays at San Antonio.

although Luke Easter once did it in a Negro National League game.

Aaron, one of the National League's top power hitters since 1954, said he hit a ball "harder" for a homer in the sixth game of the 1957 World Series with the Yankees, but conceded, "I didn't know I had the strength to reach the bleachers at the Polo Grounds."

Aaron was batting only .279 on May 29 but since then has hammered away at a .400-clip that has raised his average to .325. He looks once again like the all-around power hitter who won batting titles in 1956 and 1958 and led the Braves to pennants in 1957 and 1958.

Aaron also had two singles and drove in a total of five runs to pave the way for Bob Shaw to win his ninth game against two losses. Shaw yielded 11 hits but had a shutout until the ninth when Joe Christopher singled in the Mets' run. Frank Bolling's homer and a triple by Gus Bell were the other big blows of the nine-hit Milwaukee attack.

Sandy Koufax bested Bob Gibson in a battle of fireball pitchers as the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, and the Cincinnati Reds downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5 and 4-2, in other National League games. The Minnesota Twins routed the Kansas City Athletics, 9-4, in the only American League game.

Tommy Davis' ninth-inning homer broke up the Los Angeles St. Louis game in which Koufax allowed five hits and struck out nine and Gibson yielded three hits and fanned eight. The victory raised Koufax' season record to 10-2 while the loss was Gibson's fifth against eight wins.

Don Blasingame, Frank Robinson and Chico Cardenas homered in the first game and Jerry Lynch homered in the nightcap for the Reds. Joey Jay won his 10th game and Bob Purkey gained his 12th victory against only one defeat.

Rich Rollins and Vic Power had three hits each to lead a 17-hit Minnesota attack that brought Camilo Pascual his ninth win. Ed Rakow was tagged for eight hits in 4 1-3 innings to suffer his eighth defeat against five victories.

Indianapolis Pads Lead Over Omaha

By United Press International

Indianapolis padded its American Association lead Monday night by defeating the Louisville Colonels, 4-2, while the Indians' hottest competitor was overwhelmed.

Second-place Omaha fell before a 14-hit Denver attack that handed the visiting Bears an 8-2 victory. In other action, cellar-dwelling Oklahoma City swamped host Dallas-Fort Worth 11-1.

The visiting Indians put together a single, triple and sacrifice fly for two runs in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie for their win over Louisville. The Colonels posed a bases-loaded threat in the ninth with two outs, but Ed Drapcho came in to retire the last batter and preserve the win for Frank Kreutzer. The Indians tagged losing pitcher Chi Chi Olivo with six hits.

Denver batters pounded four Dodger hurlers, with the lopsided loss going to Dick Scarbrough. Winning pitcher Doug Gallagher had a shutout going until the ninth frame, when Omaha got its only tallies.

Dave Roberts smacked the big blow for the 89ers, a four-run homer in the third. Joyner White got another round-tripper for the winners in the seventh, a five-run frame for Oklahoma City.

The schedule tonight had Oklahoma City at Dallas-Fort Worth, Indianapolis at Louisville and Denver at Omaha.

Kist Blasts Out 12-11 Victory

Kist won a real slugfest over First National Bank, 12-11 in a Pony league game played Saturday night at the Optimist park diamond.

Al Gomez was the winning pitcher while Maynard was the loser.

For Kist, Gomez had four for four, including a triple, two doubles and a single. Rickie Foster and Hammons each connected for a couple of hits apiece to share hitting honors for the winners.

For the Bank, Everson and Engle each picked up a couple of hits while Maynard slammed out a home run to share hitting honors for the losers.

Both teams picked up ten hits apiece.

Affectionately In Third Stakes Win

By United Press International

Affectionately, unbeaten in six career starts, is showing more than a touch of her sire's blazing speed.

The dark bay daughter of Swaps scored her third straight stakes victory in the filly division of the $37,480 National Stallion Stakes for juveniles at Belmont Park Monday.

With Braulio Baeza up, affectionately moved from second at the top of the stretch and won by three lengths. Charsiv finished second, almost three lengths in front of No Resisting.

Affectionately paid $2.30 for $2. There was no place or show betting with five fillies starting in the 3 1/2 furlong event. The victory boosted Affectionately's earnings to $59,806.

Baeza also booted home three other winners on the program, starting with Silver Service ($8,000) in the opener and winding up with Breezy Lane ($13,700) in the eighth and Boston Teardrop ($5,000) in the ninth.

Herbie Hinojosa rode four winners at Arlington Park, but Benny Sorensen aboard Intervener ($8,000) got to the wire first in the feature event, the $17,425 Meadowland Handicap.

Intervener defeated Newellah by 1 1/2 lengths. Hinojosa booted home both ends of the $17,400 daily double and later scored on Lethal ($9,600) in the sixth and LeLuck ($15,200) in the seventh.

El Salvatore, ridden by Phil Grimm, won the $10,000 Bunker Hill Handicap at Suffolk Downs and paid $6.20. Royal Bat finished second and Felix ran third.

Nalanda, owned by the Elkcam stable, scored his first victory of the year after three previous misses in the feature at Monmouth Park. Wide Horizon finished only a head back.

Nalanda, with Steve Brooks up, paid $11.20.

Wiegand Is New Wildcat Line Coach

CANADIAN (SpI) — Benedict "Dicky" Wiegand has accepted a contract as line coach for the Canadian high school Wildcat football teams this fall.

He will join the Canadian high school faculty as assistant coach on the staff of Coach Ned Jolly. Still to be filled is the post of assistant football and head basketball coach to replace Lawrence Overcast, who resigned here to accept a basketball coaching post at Miami.

Dicky Wiegand is completing his college work at West Texas State College this summer. A native of Edna, Texas, he attended Edna high school and two years at Victoria Junior College before transferring to West Texas State.

At Victoria, he played football under Coach Rusty Russell, and at West Texas he has been a two-year regular as an end on the WTSC Buffalo eleven led by coach Joe Kerbel.

Wiegand is married, but has no children.

Howard Says Yankees Better Than Cleveland

NEW YORK (UPI) — This could be the year that Elston Howard takes Bill Terry off the hook of loquacity and you couldn't blame Casey Stengel if he starts sending telegrams.

Old Case, in a way, has a piece of both their action.

In case this leaves you a bit confused, let's first survey the similarity of oratorical outbursts by the Messers. Terry and Howard.

Back in the spring of 1934, Terry was the manager of the proud and highly regarded New York Giants. In one of his sprint conferences, he was asked about the chances of the rival Brooklyn Dodgers.

"Is Brooklyn still in the league?" Terry demanded with proper disdain.

Now we come up to 1962, just after the mighty New York Yankees have dropped a doubleheader to the Cleveland Indians.

Howard, a fine catcher, went Terry a couple or three better in the matter of down-grading a rival.

"We're twice as good as they are," he asserted. "I wouldn't be surprised at all if they didn't even finish in the first division."

This is a statement which never, ever would be approved by Mister Dale Carnegie when that gentleman was laying down the ground rules on how to put the make on friends or influence your bookmaker.

Which is where old Case comes in.

In case it slips your mind, back when Terry made his crack against the beloved Bums who no longer flourish in Flatbush, a gentleman named Charles Dillon Stengel was the manager of that lowly but rather aggravated aggregation.

And, in case it slips your mind, up until two years back, the Kansas City kid was the manager of Elston Howard and the New York Yankees.

The same team, it might be added, which summarily fired Casey out on the seat of his britches because he was too durned-old. And if you don't think old Case is a feller who would like to stick a shiv clean up to there in them, well, ponder, you don't know either (A) human nature or (B) a feller whose initials are C.D.S.

Well, to get back to the first half of "who shot John," the Giants tangled up with those lowly Dodgers in the last two games of the 1934 season needing those two games to win the flag.

Casey had a "feller" named Mickey Mouse Tremark who was 5 foot, 3 inches on tip-toe, and a pitcher named Tom Zachary who, as old Case tells it "didn't have a muscle in his arm but just holds the ball out and lets his pulse carry it to the plate."

So to make a short story long, the Dodgers proved they still were in the league by beating the Giants in both of those two final games in 1934 — and beat them clean out of the pennant.

The record books show that the Cardinals won the gonfalon, as they say in better baseball circles, on the pitching of a couple of fellers named Dizzy and Daffy Dean. But actually, the Giants' own manager, the sneering Terry, did it by insulting our Dodgers.

So old Case, having been fired and all, must be sorely tempted today to send the Cleveland Indians a wire every day that remains this season.

All he has to say is: "Howard says you're a bunch of second division bums."

Certainly, Cleveland has to get the message.

Laver Is Seeking Tennis Grand Slam

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arnold Palmer lost his bid for a grand slam in pro golf but Australia's Rod Laver still has one going for him in tennis.

Starting at Wimbledon June 25, the red-haired, left-handed Aussie seeks the third leg of a tennis slam achieved only by Don Budge in 1938 when the American carot-top swept the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. championships. Rod has won the first two.

But like Palmer, who had his nemesis in young Jack Nicklaus, Laver faces a constant threat in his campaign for world domination for juveniles at Belmont Park Monday.

With Braulio Baeza up, affectionately moved from second at the top of the stretch and won by three lengths. Charsiv finished second, almost three lengths in front of No Resisting.

Affectionately paid $2.30 for $2. There was no place or show betting with five fillies starting in the 3 1/2 furlong event. The victory boosted Affectionately's earnings to $59,806.

Baeza also booted home three other winners on the program, starting with Silver Service ($8,000) in the opener and winding up with Breezy Lane ($13,700) in the eighth and Boston Teardrop ($5,000) in the ninth.

Herbie Hinojosa rode four winners at Arlington Park, but Benny Sorensen aboard Intervener ($8,000) got to the wire first in the feature event, the $17,425 Meadowland Handicap.

Intervener defeated Newellah by 1 1/2 lengths. Hinojosa booted home both ends of the $17,400 daily double and later scored on Lethal ($9,600) in the sixth and LeLuck ($15,200) in the seventh.

El Salvatore, ridden by Phil Grimm, won the $10,000 Bunker Hill Handicap at Suffolk Downs and paid $6.20. Royal Bat finished second and Felix ran third.

Nalanda, owned by the Elkcam stable, scored his first victory of the year after three previous misses in the feature at Monmouth Park. Wide Horizon finished only a head back.

Nalanda, with Steve Brooks up, paid $11.20.

the pressure really begins to mount.

When he has his touch, Laver is unbeatable. His anticipation is uncanny and he can execute seemingly impossible shots from any part of the court.

But "touch" in tennis is a fragile thing, as mysterious in its way as a star golfer's putting touch which can defect at the most exasperating and crucial moments.

Maintaining touch all season has been a major problem for Laver, since he plays tournaments virtually the year around. More often than not winds up in a final opposite Emerson, whose tennis is more mechanical than inspirational-meaning less prone to slumps.

Since Budge scored his tremendous sweep in 1938, only one other player has come close to achieving the "slam" in tennis. That was in 1958 when Ashley Cooper, another Australian, won three of the four and still can't figure how he blew the fourth one.

Cooper won the Australian title, lost in the semifinals of the French championships to Luis Ayala of Chile, breezed to victory at Wimbledon over Neale Fraser in the final and won at Forest Hills against Mal Anderson.

"I just didn't realize at the time how important that French title would be to me," said Cooper after winning the U.S. crown. "I had been playing badly but the incentive to win was there—and I didn't know it."

Laver has the incentive now. Americans are only an outside threat and so are the Italians, who twice in a row have knocked off U.S. forces in Davis Cup play. Emerson is the guy Rocky Rod has to worry about—and probably always will.

Ricki Adcock Is Voted Rodeo Queen

CANADIAN (SpI) — Eleven-year-old Ricki Sue Adcock is Canadian's 1962 Rodeo Queen.

The pretty little Miss was chosen by vote of spectators Sunday afternoon at the Canadian Rodeo arena, following a riding demonstration by members of the Junior Riding club.

Thirteen Junior Riding club members were listed on the ballots distributed to scores of visitors at the arena Sunday. The colorfully - costumed and hand-somely - mounted Riding club members staged demonstrations of riding skill in the arena while judges were counting the ballots.

The Junior Riding club is coached by Pauline Burrus, drill master.

The Club is under the supervision of Mrs. Bruce Graham, chairman; Arline Hext, secretary; treasurer; and Floyd Otis, Jim Smith, J. D. Bessire, and W. R. Hext, directors.

Thirty-one youngsters 14 boys and 17 girls, are in the club.

Ricki Sue, who will lead the Riding club in all Grand Entries this year and represent the Canadian Rodeo at a number of other shows, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Junior) Adcock, and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Debs Harper of Canadian.

Runner-up for the honor of being Riding club queen was nine-year-old Louise Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Red Snyder; and second runner-up in the voting was Phyllis Sorenson, who was not on hand for the presentation Sunday afternoon.

Hardin Roth Wins Over Mohawk Nine

Hardin Roth won over Mohawk Signs, 5-1 in a Western Little League game Saturday night at the Optimist park.

Alvin Achord was the winning pitcher, striking out 10 men while David Schaub was the losing pitcher, with nine strikeouts.

Achord had two for three and Washington one for two to lead the winners with the timber.

Hardin Roth now has a 8-1 record.

Your Laundry won over Crall Products 10-2 in a Northern little league game Saturday night at the Optimist park.

Lanny Roberts was the winning pitcher with John Merlott in relief. Lynn Mills was the losing pitcher.

Your Laundry connected with seven hits while Crall had three hits.

Leading Your Laundry with the timber were Randy Harris, Jerry Heasley, Steve Neely and Merlott.

Morey In Lead In South Meet

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (UPI) Dale Morey of Morganton, N.C., with a first round 67, led the field today going into the second qualifying round for the Southern Amateur golf championship.

But another distinguished Morganton amateur, Billie Joe Patton, was missing from play. There was still a chance that Patton, the 1961 Southern Association champion, would skip the qualifying rounds and show up when match play begins Wednesday.

Tied for second place at 69 were Charles Harrison of Atlanta, John Mundy III, and Marlen Vogt.

Next was Sonny Ellis of Atlanta with a 70, while Charles McCallum of Fort Lauderdale, Dan Ellisor of Ormond Beach, James Spencer and Bob Hinson had 71. Eight were tied with even par 72.

Dudley Wysong Jr., of McKinney, Tex., a National Amateur finalist last year and one of the strong favorites here, may have trouble making the championship flight after stumbling to a nine-over-par 81.

The 162-man field will be pared to 64 when match play begins. On Thursday and Friday, rounds will be played both morning and afternoon to cut the field to two, who will then fight for the championship over 36 holes on the par 72 Elinor Village Country Club course.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Monday morning, CBS-TV urged viewers to tune in later for the newly expanded daytime drama "The Secret Storm," which would show how "the tides of human emotion surge ever stronger" in all of us. That did it. I turned off the telephone, sent out for lunch, locked the door and waited impatiently for showtime. Those surges have had me worried for a long time.

For the young, brainwashed set, by the way, a daytime drama is just a dude network name for a soap opera, much the same as "senior citizens" are really old people with press agents.

Anyway, three o'clock finally rolled around, and "The Secret Storm" with it. And, unlike CBS' two arty con jobs of last week — "Noah and the Flood" and "Julie and Carol at Carnegie Hall" — this show delivered what it promised. The word, friends, is s-e-x.

Right off the bat, a young man tells his girlfriend's father that she left a high school dance, all boozed up, with another fellow. Well, dad tries to figure out what to do about that when in walks his wife with a handsome admirer. They've been at a cottage together.

Dad hasn't got time for that. He's angry at his daughter. Mom advises him to go easy on her. She knows how those things are. Pretty soon, the daughter, Amy, staggers in the door and collapses. This prompts dad to call the doctor with the most memorable line of the day: "She's not coherent. She's not even conscious."

Amy snaps out of it and asks for a drink. Mom pours her a shot of brandy. Amy downs it and says, "Oh, that's better." Some kid

I don't really have to tell you what her story was, do I? It seems her boyfriend with the booze forced her to have some drinks. Then he forced her into his car. Sure, Amy.

Well, it was a lot of surging for a half hour. And I doubt if many dishes will get washed from now on between 3 and 3:30 p.m. in television homes.

Earlier in the day, CBS-TV offered another expanded soap, "The Brighter Day," which it described as a program "of classic family conflict" with "a group of strongly defined personalities."

Monday's classic family conflict involved a boy with a strongly defined personality who takes his girl to a mountain cabin, boozes and tries to make love to her.

Unfortunately for him, she also has a strongly defined personality and pushes him off a porch into a ravine, killing him in what some might describe as a sort of classic family conflict.

Minutes later, another boy shows up, tells her he loves her and says she ought to lie down and rest. She does, and he turns the lights off. That's where the show ended.

By the way, if old people are "senior citizens," what does that make everyone else? Junior citizens?

The Channel Swim: Desilu plans to release the two-part program on which "The Untouchables" was based as a movie for American consumption; it has already been shown abroad. Writer Harry Golden and publisher Alfred Knopf guest on NBC-TV's "Today" show Thursday.

Lucille Ball, George Gobel and Johnny Carson have been added to the guest roster of Ed Sullivan's 14th anniversary show Sunday on CBS-TV. CBS-TV's fall schedule includes a weekly Saturday series designed to encourage reading among children between the ages of 8 and 12.

Irene Dunne is planning a television series in which she plays a nun. John Ireland stars June 28 in Archibald MacLeish's play about freedom on CBS-TV's "Accent On An American Summer."

Diversion Terraces Can Slow Rain Runoff

Tired of plowing in those little gullies in your field after every rain? Why not do something about it? What you probably need is a diversion terrace, says the Gray County Soil Conservation District.

A diversion is an individually designed terrace. It is constructed for the purpose of intercepting surface runoff and conducting it at a safe velocity to a protected outlet.

Diversion terraces have a number of uses, the most common use being to protect cropland from runoff from adjoining land; divert water into or away from ponds; protect active gullies from excess water; and break up the concentration of water on long, gentle slopes, the slope being too flat for standard terracing.

A certain amount of planning should be done before constructing diversion terraces. The outlet of the diversion should be protected by a good grass sod. The outlet should also be at a stabilized grade so no head cutting will take place. The outlet should also be capable of carrying the additional water brought in by the diversion without damage.

In many instances, outlets may not be available to take care of the excess water. They may first need to be established by shaping and planting to permanent grass. The diversion should not be constructed until the outlets are well established.

When diversions are put in to protect cropland from runoff from adjoining grassland, they should be constructed in the grassland. This will help eliminate the sediment from collecting in the channel. It will also allow the diversion to be utilized for grazing.

When diversions are put in on cropland they should be placed above any little gullies that may have formed. They should also be constructed with the side slopes fairly flat. This will allow them to be worked with farming equipment.

There are two types of diversions, that are generally used today. They are the channel type type being used for any slope and being constructed entirely from the upper side of the terrace. The ridge type is best suited for slopes of three per cent or less and may be constructed from both sides of the terrace.

When laying out a diversion, consideration should be given to the location and the amount of fall needed in the channel. The location of the diversion may be governed by a gully, outlet or building. The diversion should be started at the place which will govern its location. It may then be extended in either or both directions.

The grade of the diversion channel will depend on the average rainfall, type of soil, and whether it is rangeland or cropland. In low rainfall belts, the grade may be practically level while in humid areas it may be as high as three-tenths in one hundred feet for cropland.

The height of the diversion will depend on a number of factors. Some of these factors being the acres of drainage, the type of

Woman Died Of Extensive Sunburn
WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—A medical examiner said today that Mrs. Dorkus Sue Bonderant, 33, died from sunburn.

Mrs. Bonderant was found dead in her car early today. The body was found by her 12-year-old daughter.

The medical examiner, Dr. James Schofield, said Mrs. Bonderant suffered severe sunburn over 65 per cent of her body. He said an autopsy showed she had a temperature of 103 degrees at the time of her death.

Cooperators of the Gray County Soil Conservation District who have constructed diversion terraces on their farms are: Boyd Meador, J. J. Schmidt, W. E. Robinson, Mrs. Doshia I. Anderson, M. Henderson and H. L. Henderson.

Cost-Share assistance is available for constructing diversion terraces through the Great Plains Conservation Program and AC Program.

Teachers Move To Perryton
CANADIAN (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Waits have both resigned their teaching positions here to accept places in the Perryton school system in September.

Bill, who has been director of the Canadian high school band for the past two years, producing Sweepstakes Bands in both 1960 and 1962, will become assistant band master in the Perryton schools.

Mrs. Waits, who has taught speech and English classes in high school and junior high and has been primarily responsible for guidance work in the high school, will be a Junior High counselor in the Perryton schools.

The secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO in Texas has raised his hands in holy horror because Blue Cross — the insurance company — paid the expenses of Sen. John Tower when he came home to make a speech against the Administration's medicare plan.

What do you suppose is the cost of flying the President and his company up to New York in a DC-4B? Or for Lyndon to go out to Kansas City for a rally? Or for Senator Anderson to speak in Houston? And adding to that the other 30 rallies, you can be sure the taxpayer was gouged far beyond the lifetime advertising budget of Blue Cross.

Where's Our Flag?

A hint of what's to come is given in a statement made by Congressman James B. Utt of California and reported in the Congressional Record. Here's what Utt had to say:

There is no American flag on display. My question is, has our Air Force been turned over to the United Nations, or is the prominent display of the United Nations flag a bit of subtle propaganda?

Back Road To Communism

It is clearly evident that Stalin by the extension of government ownership of utilities, transportation and other enterprises. Where there is opposition to outright ownership, he instructed his followers to seek the largest possible measure of regulation and control.

Every new local or federal public ownership project," said Stalin, "is an added nail in the coffin that will finally contain capitalism. The tax burden will become greater every year for the American people, and each government-owned operation will throw an added burden on the private taxpayers.

TRUTH-FORUM

With Ed Delaney

So far we have been a successful failure in the cold war against the Soviet and Communist bloc of nations. Our State Department's "no-win" policy is obviously designed to further and not to frustrate the Soviet in its aims.

For example, no less than 400,000 tons of wheat, 100,000 tons of barley and great quantities of salad oil are to be shipped to Communist Poland this year. It will not be paid for in dollars.

In the territory of Germany, now held under Red Poland, are hundreds of thousands of acres of farm land lying fallow. They have not been cultivated for years, no crops are derived from them.

At a social do, Reginald, MacDonald Buchanan remarked to David Bruce, then the son-in-law of Andy Mellon of Pittsburgh, "If the father is anything like the son, I am afraid you are in for rough going."

ROBERT ALLEN Report ALLEN - SCOTT Khrushchev Pushing Feelers on 'Neutralization' Of South Vietnam on 'Neutral' Laos Model PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Premier Khrushchev had South Vietnam uppermost in mind when he wrote President Kennedy that the formation of a coalition government in Laos could serve as a guide in solving other crises between the West and the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Even before his optimistic message arrived at the White House, the Soviet Communist leader had Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin busy sounding out Secretary of State Rusk on whether the U.S. would agree to an international conference on South Vietnam.

Ambassador Dobrynin, taking advantage of a weekend cruise down the Potomac River with Secretary Rusk, suggested that the U.S. and Russia should work together to end what he termed "the growing threat to peace from the undeclared war in South Vietnam."

He proposed that President Kennedy join Premier Khrushchev in organizing a conference on South Vietnam similar to the one they arranged on Laos. He suggested it could be held in Geneva after the finishing touches on the guarantees for a "neutral" Laos are worked out later this month.

Secretary Rusk, one of the original authors of the plan to neutralize Laos, said he would pass the conference proposal on to President Kennedy. He hinted that the chances of the President's agreeing to this diplomatic effort would be greatly increased if Khrushchev used his influence to halt North Vietnam's aggression against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

PEIPING'S TRIAL BALLOON—Significantly, Premier Khrushchev's "overture" for an international meeting on South Vietnam is being supported and even duplicated by the Chinese Communists. Peiping put forward its trial balloon in a private message Premier Chou En-lai sent Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's head of State.

The neutralist Prince was urged by Chou En-lai to take the lead in publicly calling for an international conference to form a neutralist government in South Vietnam similar to those already established in Cambodia and Laos.

The Chinese Communist leader's message, copies of which were obtained by U.S. and British diplomats in Phnom Penh, also calls on Prince Sihanouk to support a Chinese-Soviet demand for the immediate removal of U.S. military personnel from South Vietnam.

President Kennedy and his advisers are privately sounding out congressional leaders of both parties for their reaction to the U.S. joining in an international conference on South Vietnam.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield's call last week for a re-examination of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia was the first of several trial balloons that the State Department is planning to float to determine the support in Congress for a modification of present policy in South Vietnam.

The surprisingly favorable reception of Senator Mansfield's speech by his Senate colleagues

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Over the 400 airline miles separating Algiers from the port of Marseilles goes an unending stream of Europeans seeking in metropolitan France refuge from the terror in Algeria.

By the time the Algerian independence referendum rolls around on July 1, it is estimated that more than a quarter of Algeria's former one million European inhabitants will have fled.

They leave in bitterness against gerian policies, and, as their numbers increase, they meet equal bitterness among the people they are crowding in upon.

Few left Algeria by choice. Rather, their numbers are symptomatic of a growing belief that seven years of civil war and OAS terrorism have made impossible cooperation between the Europeans and the Moslem Arabs who will become the new rulers of an independent Algeria.

For many, Algeria had been the only home they had ever known. Their tragedy compounded by the fact they had no real ties with the French at home and many were without funds.

For the French, they also created multiple problems: France has a chronic housing shortage which now has been complicated by the flow of refugees.

France, booming as result of the common market, has a labor shortage, but not of the unskilled or semi-skilled kind most plentiful among the refugees. France's labor needs are for industry.

Further, the embittered former settlers of Algeria created a new pool of hatred against the De Gaulle regime, and it was certain that among their numbers were OAS men bent on carrying their terror campaign into France.

A certain flow of refugees had been anticipated, but not in such numbers.

De Gaulle had counted on the European minority to provide a balance wheel which would ease the possibility of a swing toward Moscow by independent Algeria.

In Algeria itself, the leadership of the national liberation front which is expected to take power after the July referendum so far has restrained its followers from any large scale retaliation against the OAS terror.

This was in recognition of the fact that the Europeans could be of help under the new regime.

This week's truce, under which the OAS promises to cease its terrorism, is a shaky one and could be broken as one such OAS truce already has been.

Whether it will stem the flow of refugees also remains to be seen.

Hunted Doctor May Have Been In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(UPI) Detective Chief Andre Fournier said Monday that a New York physician and his pretty Cuban receptionist, wanted in the aborting-killing of a coed, may have been in Fort Worth as recently as last Friday.

The physician is Dr. Harvey Lothringer, 41. Parts of the body of Barbara Lofrumento, 19, were found in a sewer trap in the basement of his suburban New York home. Dr. Lothringer and Terry Carillo, 24, the receptionist, fled together.

A woman who operates a dry cleaning shop in Fort Worth told Fournier today that she was certain that a couple who brought a pair of trousers to her last Thursday were Dr. Lothringer and Miss Carillo.

She said they returned Friday for the trousers and told her they were leaving town. The woman said the couple looked like the man and woman whose pictures the Fort Worth Press printed Sunday, at Fournier's request.

A man telephoned the Press last Thursday and bitterly protested a headline which said: "Doctor hunted after coed, 19, disappears."

The caller said he was an investigator for a Senate committee. The address he gave was false.
