Pampa Worker Is Electrocuted

Jimmie Lee Christian, 26, 907 E. Brunow, was fatally electrocuted shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday at Laketon.

Gray County deputy sheriff Jim day in an accident one mile north Bowers investigated the accident, Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham, acting coroner, said that the death was caused by electric shock.

Bowers said Christian, who was self-employed, was working with two other Pampa men, Austin McDowell and Robert McDowell, tearing down the old brick Laketon school building he had recently purchased. Laketon is 18 miles east of Pampa.

Bowers said witnesses to the accident reported Christian was trying to move some electric wires lying across a dirt road about 100 yards from the building, not realizing they were hot, over a barbed wire fence to clear the road.

Bowers said the "hi-lines" leading to the school had earlier been disconnected from a transformer nearby, but the wires Christian was handling were those leading from a light pole to the transformer.

When the wires were disconnected from the transformer, it left them slack and Christian was trying to get them out of the way.

One of the men at the scene gave artificial respiration, and the other called an ambulance.

Bowers said the sheriff's office received the report about 7:15 p.m.

Rates are planned for Friday at 2 p.m. in the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Chapel with L. C. Pennington, pastor of the Church of God, officiating.

Survivors are his wife, Claudine, two children, Pamela and Danny, both of Barnsdall, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. Marion Bybee of Amarillo; his father, W. L. Christian.

House Is Nearly Ready To Pass TV Satellite Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House neared passage today of legislation to speed development of satellites that will someday relay television programs around the world.

The bill would set up a private corporation to develop, own and control a space communications system that would also open up new intercontinental links for telephone and telegraph messages.

House members turned back Wednesday an amendment that would have placed the ownership of the satellite relay system in the hands of the government.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee protested that the proposed charter would allow the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to "gain absolute control of this corporation."

But Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee, which approved the bill, called it "a look to the future" and said it "would allow the country to continue its leadership in world affairs."

Other congressional news: Schools: The administration's college construction proposal was back on the track after the House-Senate negotiations on a compromise version of widely differing college aid bills approved last winter. But House backers of the bill had to promise they would not try to ram through President Kennedy's scholarship proposals as an "all or nothing" proposition in the compromise bill.

Civil Rights: The debate over a bill to make a sixth grade education proof of literacy for voters in federal elections moved into its ninth day. Sources close to the 19-member southern bloc fighting the bill were still confident they could stop any attempt to cut off their talkathon.

tian of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. John Whitson of Pampa, Mrs. Dorothy Phillips of Hobbs, N.M.; two brothers, Francis and Louis, both of Pampa.

Mr. Christian was born July 16, 1935 in Woodward, Okla. and came to Pampa from Woodward with his parents when he was two years old. He served in the armed forces from 1954-56.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery with Robert McDowell, Austin McDowell, Donald McDowell, Jack Addington, James Bowers and Oneal Monk as pallbearers.

Oil Firms Are Reminded Of 'Pit' Project

Red River authority pollution officers have issued a reminder to all oil companies in the West Texas area for their cooperation in efforts to fight salt water pollution.

O. W. Ross, pollution officer for the Pampa area, said the Texas Water Pollution Control Board is very much encouraged in the work being done in the Pampa-Borger oil fields in filling open pits.

Ross said in Grayson County during the month of April, officers found salt water pits which contained water, ill and dead animals. Ross said one of the pits contained 39 ducks, three raccoons, three coyotes and a calf.

Other pits contained a similar amount of dead animals.

According to Ross, pollution officers checked 12,719 leases through April 1 and their efforts have resulted in filling of 9,313 open pits.

"Our job is to encourage the oil companies to put the waste from drilling a well back into the ground," Ross stated.

Chief Officer C. O. Glenn, Wichita Falls, said the major oil companies are cooperating in the salt water disposal efforts on oil field pollution and only a few of the smaller operators are reluctant to follow suit.

"It will probably be necessary to secure an injunction or restraining order on some of the smaller operators to make them comply with our rules and regulations," Glenn said.

Gray County Democrats and Republicans have been completing plans for precinct conventions to be held by voters of both parties immediately following the closing of the polls in Saturday's primary elections.

The precinct conventions will be held at each polling place by the Democrats starting at 7 p.m. and by the Republicans, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

J. E. Thompson, chairman of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee, said today there are 220 potential delegates to be elected to the Democratic County convention.

Clayton Husted, Republican County chairman, said the G.O.P. has a potential of 116 delegates for the Republican party's County Convention.

Each party, under state law, is allowed one delegate for every 25 votes cast in the County for its candidate for governor in the last general election.

Both Republicans and Democrats will hold their county conventions on Saturday, May 12, in the Gray County Courthouse. One will be held in the District Courtroom and the other in the County Courtroom.

Chairman Thompson said the minutes of Saturday night's precinct convention will be filed with the County Clerk Monday or Tuesday at which time names of the delegates to the county con-

Solon Says U.S. Paying Salaries Of Congo Cabinet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Ohio congressman says American taxpayers are footing the bill for $3,000-a-month salaries to Congolese cabinet members through U.S. foreign aid.

In testimony made public on Wednesday night, Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said:

"These characters... are paying themselves a salary which is about twice that of an American congressman, and — by God — we are paying the bill and I don't like it."

Hays, in a stinging lecture to U.S. foreign aid officials at a closed hearing of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said:

"Two thirds of them can't read or write, but they know how to get their hands on the American dollars, and you people know how to shovel it out to them."

Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland insisted that the United States was not doing anything of the kind. He said U. S. aid funds were helping to pay the cost of the U.N. military operation in the Congo and to provide $35 million worth of surplus food.

"Don't give me that old argument about it isn't the money," Hays said. "That is the argument Trujillo used when we gave him $500,000 in one year and he gave his son a $600,000 allowance. He said it wasn't the same money."

Local Armed Forces Day Plans Made

Highlight of Pampa's observance of Armed Forces Day Saturday, May 19, will be a 10 a.m. parade through the downtown area, it was announced today by Sgt. Wesley Langham, coordinator of the day's program.

The day will be started off with a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. in Coronado Inn for key personnel of local reserve units and the Pampa National Guard.

Brig. Gen. Everett Simpson of the Texas National Guard will be the principal speaker at the breakfast, which will be followed by a flag-raising ceremony in front of the Pampa Federal Building.

All units of the armed forces in Pampa and surrounding towns will take part in the parade which will be tied in with the parade scheduled by Pampa Merchants in connection with Crazy Day which also falls on Saturday, May 19.

The same procedure will be followed by the Republicans after their precinct conventions Saturday night.

Delegates to the county conventions will be named by both parties at conventions to be held in all 12 voting precincts in Gray County.

Both county executive chairmen explained that eligible voters may attend the precinct conventions of the party in which they cast their primary votes Saturday.

Voters who attend a precinct convention will be required to show their poll tax receipt when they enter the convention.

Delegates elected at the precinct level to attend the county convention one week later will elect other delegates at the county convention to represent the party in the decisions of the state convention later on.

The stepladder from the precinct to state conventions usually results in which party leaders will gain control at the state level, political spokesman point out.

Decisions reached at the precinct level Saturday night could very well affect decisions to be reached by the party that gains control of state political machinery and the Texas delegation to the parties' presidential conventions in 1964, the political observers say.

So, they say, if you wish to have a word in which will control your party and make the big decisions in 1964, it would be well to take part in Saturday night's precinct conventions.

Train Collision In Tokyo Leaves 83 Dead, 189 Hurt

Three-Way Crash Said One Of Worst In City's History

TOKYO, Friday (UPI) — Two passenger trains and a freight train collided on the outskirts of Tokyo Thursday night in one of the worst accidents in Tokyo history.

Eighty-three persons were reported dead and 189 injured in the three-way collision at suburban Mikawashima station between two commuter trains and a freight train.

The accident was Japan's second train wreck of the day. Earlier, 37 persons were injured when a freight train slammed into a jammed passenger train at Koga station about 35 miles north of Tokyo.

In the first wreck the passenger train was bound from Tokyo to Sendai in Northern Japan, carrying 1,200 passengers who were taking advantage of the May 3 Constitution Day holiday.

Screaming and moaning passengers tried to break out of the three derailed cars as an emergency force of 1,000 policemen, firemen and railway workers tried to help them.

Police said 20 persons were believed trapped under the coach that fell down the embankment. One commuter train and the freight brushed each other on parallel tracks near the station and three coaches of the commuter were derailed.

Then another commuter train crashed into the derailed coaches, causing one of them to tumble down the railway embankment, trapping passengers inside.

More than 100 city officials and law enforcement officers from 11 Panhandle towns and cities attended a dinner meeting of Region Two of the Texas Municipal League here last night in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

League members from Tulsa, Groom, Childress, Skellytown, Canadian, Wellington, Dalhart, Perryton, Hereford, Dumas, Fritch, Claude, Borger, Pampa and Amarillo listened to a program introduced by Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner and presented by three members of the Amarillo police department.

Amarillo Police Chief Wyley Alexander discussed the activities and benefits of the Canine Corps recently added to the Amarillo police system.

Asst. Police Chief John Amend of Amarillo explained the operation of the Amarillo department's teletype system and told of efforts now being made to form a teletype network connecting Panhandle cities and towns.

Capt. L. R. Wynne, polygraph operator for the Amarillo department, explained details of lie detector machines and their assistance in aiding law enforcement agencies to clear up criminal cases.

Last night's meeting, attended by 113 persons, was presided over by Mayor Hiram Cudd of Wellington, president of the Municipal League's Region Two.

Invocation was given by City Engineer Monroe Moore and the visiting officials were welcomed to Pampa by City Commissioner L. P. Fort.

City Manager R. B. Cooke stated today he had not completed his investigation of a charge made against a Pampa police officer at Tuesday's meeting of the City Commission.

A spectator at the meeting charged that his brother had been manhandled by the police officer at the time of his arrest for intoxication.

Members of the commission turned the matter over to the city manager and asked that he investigate the accusation.

Glenn, Titov Have 'Genial' Meeting In Washington

By ALVIN SPIVAK United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov and American astronaut John H. Glenn met for the first time today to discuss their historic journey through space.

The hands-across-the-universe meeting launched a busy day's schedule for the Russian and U.S. spacemen.

Glenn and Titov, and their wives, had a genial meeting in a second floor secretariat office at the National Academy of Science, they conversed through interpreters.

When they met, Glenn flashed a big smile and said, "hello." Titov responded in Russian, "Very pleased to meet you."

As cameramen took some time photographing their meeting, the two space heroes engaged in some banter inaudible to newsmen about their get-together and the day ahead.

At one point, Titov commented with a laugh: "Cosmonauts are prepared to fly in space but are not trained for delivering speeches."

Glenn invited the Titovs to have coffee. He ushered his guest and the two wives to a table where there was a large coffee urn, cups and some cookies.

Titov and his party motored to the academy from the Soviet Embassy for the 8:45 a.m. edit introduction to the Glenns.

A busy schedule of events was ahead for the two families.

First, it included a sight-seeing tour of Washington for Titov, with Glenn as guide and their wives accompanying them in a motorcade. Then, Glenn was to escort Titov to the White House for a 12:45 p.m. EDT, call on President Kennedy.

This afternoon, both spacemen were scheduled to report on their orbital experiences to the 18-nation Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) of the International Council of Scientific Unions. Titov and Glenn, delegates to the meeting, also planned to hold a joint news conference at 6:15 p.m. EDT.

Without going into many details of what his chat with Glenn would entail, Titov told newsmen Wednesday he was "sure only of one thing — that we have quite a lot of things to talk about."

"Space is very big," Titov asserted. "It is endless. It is very difficult for one man, though he stayed 24 hours, to know everything there. Two persons on a street at the same time notice different things. I am quite sure my discussion with Col. Glenn will be useful both for him and me."

Titov, a 26-year-old Red Air Force major, orbited the earth 17 times in a 25-hour flight on Aug. 6, 1961. Glenn, a 41-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel, made a three-orbit flight last Feb. 20.

After arriving from New York City Wednesday for a three-day stay here, Titov said he wanted to discuss with Glenn a number of matters, including the luminous flecks each saw from his space craft's window.

Titov told more than 150 reporters and spectators at a news conference in the ornate reception room of the Soviet Embassy that he was certain the mysterious "fluorescent spots" had the same origin. But though Glenn attributed them to paint peeling from the outside of his capsule, Titov said

Representatives From Area Cities In Meeting Here

More than 100 city officials and law enforcement officers from 11 Panhandle towns and cities attended a dinner meeting of Region Two of the Texas Municipal League here last night in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

A spectator at the meeting charged that his brother had been manhandled by the police officer at the time of his arrest for intoxication.

Police Chief Jim Conner said Tuesday that the accused officer had made a report of the incident shortly after it happened.

The city manager said today he was continuing the investigation.

Taxes Aren't Enough?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jeweler William Berns, stirred by a spirit of patriotism, left the principal of his $250,000 estate to Uncle Sam.

In his will, filed for probate Wednesday, Berns said:

"I make this bequest in appreciation of the freedom and liberty afforded in this country to all citizens, irrespective of race, creed or color."

The will provided that an income from his estate should go to his mother, Milly, until her death, at which time the principal will be turned over to the federal government.

Peace Corps 'Boots Out' Area Woman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., charged today that a 65-year-old woman recruited for the Peace Corps was dropped because, among other things, she could not run a mile before breakfast.

Tower said other physical exercises required of the former school teacher at the Peace Corps training center in Puerto Rico were morning pushups and swimming fully clothed with her feet tied.

Tower said the recruit, Mrs. Janie Fletcher of Panhandle, Tex., was highly publicized by the agency as the oldest person ever accepted for the peace corps.

However, he said, she was "then summarily abused, humiliated and dropped" from the training center in Puerto Rico and sent home to Texas where she had given up an $8,000 a year teaching job.

Tower outlined the case in letters to chairmen J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the Appropriations Committee. He urged a complete review of the Peace Corps' administration before the Senate acts on its $63 million authorized appropriation for the next fiscal year.

The Texas Republican said the incident in which Mrs. Fletcher was "highly publicized by public relations and promotional techniques, then dropped by those who scarcely knew her, for being unable to undertake virtual combat training, is a shocking example of thoughtless and careless expenditure of taxpayer funds."

BILL WATSON ... asks for votes

Watson Seeking GOP Judge Post Via Write-In Drive

A write-in campaign has developed in Saturday's Republican Primary for the County Judge post.

Bill Watson, owner of the Pampa Roller Rink, has announced that he is seeking Republican certification as the party's candidate for County Judge. There are no other announced candidates for the post and Watson's name will not be on the ballot.

Watson has been a resident of Pampa for seven years. A member of the Pampa Rotary Club, he is active in local civic affairs. He, his wife and three children reside at 305 Anne Street.

Watson said, "In view of the juvenile situation here and in the interests of a stronger two-party system in this county and in the state of Texas, I am offering myself as a write-in candidate for the office of County Judge in the Gray County Republican Primary."

Watson added that he derived his interest in juvenile affairs through contact with the younger set at the roller rink.

Author Upset His Ditty Is Called 'Tinny'

Hollywood
By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Musical composer Meredith Willson is singing the blues because one of his tunes, a ditty called "Chicken Fat," has been called "tinny."
Willson who wrote the hit show
"Music Man," is not a guy to take such a charge lightly.

The "Chicken Fat" detractor is Miss Delia Hussey, superintendent of health and physical education for Detroit, Mich., schools. Miss Hussey made her charge when recordings of the song were offered to Detroit schools as part of President Kennedy's physical fitness program.

The recording is being distributed nationally by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. So far there have been 50,000 takers, mostly people wanting to wiggle off a few pounds to the tune.

But in Detroit, the school board refused to allow physical education teachers to use the record.

Miss Hussey, a leader of Detroit's "Chicken Fat" opposition wing, charged that "the words are not exactly in good taste for school children."

The lyrics include lines like
"give that chicken fat back to the chickens" and "once more on the rise, nuts to the flabby guys, go you chicken fat go."

Miss Hussey's remarks were sour notes to Willson, who immediately fired off a letter to her, putting the issue on a patriotic basis.

"Please don't fight us, dear
Miss Hussey, because we are obviously in the same business," he said. "I mean the business of loving our country and our young people."

"Chicken Fat" was not written for children. It was written for older youngsters in whose vocabulary words like 'chicken,' 'nuts' and 'flab' are comparative drawing room conversation. In fact, among my teenage acquaintances the word 'chicken' occupies about 85 per cent of their conversations, the other five per cent being taken up with 'O.K.'"

To Miss Hussey's comments about the song being "tinny" and "jazzy," Willson responded with a suggestion for the lady.

"If you want to hear something really tinny and jazzy and bad taste, look into any one of your pupil's homes after school and dig that rock and roll garbage that has set us back not 20 years but incalculably," he said.

Willson said he was "shocked" into composing the tune after seeing statistics which indicated a lack of physical training programs in many schools. "Chicken Fat," he thinks might get kids hopping around again.

Morris Wasn't Fired, Just Off On His Vacation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William E. Morris, a high Department of Agriculture official reportedly fired for refusing to talk about his association with Billie Sol Estes, has not been fired after all.

He has been granted annual leave and at present is still on the department payroll.

Thomas Hughes, the executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, told a news conference April 16 that Morris had been sent his dismissal notice by registered mail. Hughes said the notice was sent because Morris failed to make himself available for questioning about the Estes case.

Morris was an assistant to the assistant secretary for stabilization. He dropped out of sight April 13 after testimony at a Texas court of inquiry connected him with Estes. The testimony was to the effect Morris accepted favors from Estes—including a $100 hat.

Other testimony alleged Morris' wife was on the payroll of Estes' newspaper at Pecos, Tex., while she was a secretary to Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla. Edmondson discharged Mrs. Morris immediately when she refused to explain. Hughes apparently was unaware that Morris, as a veteran employe of the department, could not be summarily fired.

Carl Barnes, chief personnel official in the department, told UPI Hughes was mistaken. He said the letter only contained charges against Morris for his refusal to appear for questioning. He said a return receipt was received by the department April 17, indicating Morris had received the agriculture department charges.

But Morris still failed to answer any questions. On April 23 he sent his lawyer to the department with a written reply to the charges.

Two days later, Morris appeared in person. Barnes said at that time Morris asked for leave and was granted it.

Morris also requested a hearing on the charges for May 8. That date was refused, but Morris was told he could explain to assistant secretary John Duncan—an official outside Morris' division—April 30, May 1 or May 2. Morris chose April 30.

Barnes said the next step would be for Duncan to make recommendations to him, Barnes. Then, Barnes would make a recommendation to higher departmental officials. He said if the final departmental action displeased Morris, he could appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

Barnes conceded that Morris committed a dismissible offense for failing to show up for work between April 16 and April 25. But he said no charges had been filed against him for this offense.

Morris refused to make any comment when questioned about the affair.

The Soviet spaceman recounted much of what he had said before about his own experience. He denied there was anything serious about the airsickness symptoms he felt at some points in his flight. He refused to divulge new details about how his craft landed, and about how many other cosmonauts were being trained in Russia.

"I think it has no importance," Titov said. "But I'll tell you more — for the next flight, our cosmonaut is ready. We'll not stop the flight because of a lack of cosmonauts."

Titov said the next cosmonaut would be the man who was his own "back up" pilot. He did not name the cosmonaut, however.

Rusk Is Expecting Red China A-Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told Congress it would not surprise him if Communist China exploded an atomic device any time after the next two years.

In testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee made public Wednesday, Rusk said he believed Red China is "working on missile delivery systems. We think it will take some time for them to work those out. I would think the schedule would be somewhat the same (as it would for the bomb)."

He said he would be surprised if Red China exploded an atomic weapon "within one year."

Wall Street In Review

(NEW YORK UPI)—Standard & Poor's "Outlook" says the stock market decline may have gone far enough for the time being; and at least a technical rebound would not be surprising. It says investment policy at this stage still calls for restraint, but there may be opportunities ahead for the nimble trader.

The big question of what the government will do next, coming at a time when the market's price structure was weakened, makes it advisable to maintain an attitude of caution, says Spear & Staff. The advisory service says the brevity of last week's rally indicates lower share prices in coming sessions.

Investors Research Co., says the near term gyrations of the market tend to obscure the favorable possibilities which will evolve in the months ahead. The West Coast Advisory Service says to prepare for participation in a major rise, investment accounts are advised to hold a fully invested position.

US Explodes 3rd Test In Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States exploded the third and largest nuclear device Wednesday in its atmospheric test series in the Pacific.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the explosion yielded a force equal to between one to five million tons of TNT.

The device was dropped from an airplane near Christmas Island like the first two in the series. All of the tests thus far apparently have been aimed at getting more punch into missile warheads, and the size of Wednesday's blast indicates it may have been an actual warhead.

LET'S TALK POLITICS
 LESTER A. JONES
 Democratic State Representative—87th District Candidate

Individual Rights
 I am a Democratic Candidate for State Representative from the 87th District. This is the ninth and final in this series of weekly columns which I have used to acquaint the voters of the 87th District with the issues to come before our next Legislature. Since I have voluntarily restricted myself to introducing no new issues in the final week of this campaign, this column will be general in nature.
 The undertone of all my previous columns has reflected my concern for the present trend in our government to strip the individual of his basic rights of human dignity. The time is ever growing shorter in which the possibility of retaining our human rights can successfully be defended.
 The most disturbing single element in our headlong plunge toward the precipice of totalitarian government has been the apathy of the people in accepting things as they are — "because one vote won't do much good." I wish you, the people of the 87th District, could read, as I have, the House Journal for the last two years, and see how many of our present laws survived by just one vote. This same principle of the importance of one vote extends thru all of your elective offices. You have in your hands, at the ballot box, the most potent weapon ever devised to guarantee good government. Take full advantage of your right to vote and let your voice be heard, emphatically, in the halls of our State Government.
 Go to the Democratic Primary May 3. Let there be no doubt as to your choice for State Representative of the 87th District.
 A detailed talk on this subject will be made on radio tomorrow morning.

Scientist Says Moon Is Big X-Ray Machine

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists have discovered that the seemingly inert moon is a giant X-ray machine.
 Dr. Richard W. Porter of New York told the International Committee of Space Research (COSPAR) Tuesday that the moon emits X-rays in response to a heavy bombardment it receives from solar and cosmic radiation.
 These so-called secondary X-rays are among the lunar characteristics which the United States wants to investigate with space instruments before it undertakes to land a man on the moon and bring him back.

 Porter, chief U. S. delegate to COSPAR, presented a summary report of American space achievements to the third International Symposium on Space Science opening here today.
 COSPAR is an organization of space scientists from 18 nations. Nearly 1,000 are gathered for the first international symposium to be held in this country. The 19 member Soviet delegation includes cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov.
 Porter said that in 1961 the United States launched more than 300 high-altitude balloons carrying scientific equipment to investigate the upper atmosphere.
 In the same period, it launched nearly 900 high-altitude weather rockets. In addition, it shot into space more than 75 larger rockets to investigate the environment in which men someday will travel on their way from the earth to destinations among the planets.
 "Accomplishing even more than these rockets were 31 artificial earth satellites and deep-space probes sent out to distances of many thousands of miles.
 Porter said that it had been theoretically predicted that the moon would emit X-rays as a result of the unremitting bombardment to which it is subjected by cosmic and solar radiation.
 He said instruments were flown on a high-altitude rocket "to determine whether or not X-radiation from the moon could indeed be detected." The experiment was successful and the suspected radiation was found to exist.

WARNS OF LOCUSTS
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department warned the mid-Atlantic seaboard Wednesday to prepare for swarms of 17-year locusts, whose appearance invariably causes alarm due to their large size and loud, incessant singing. The main damage from the locust is done by the females, who puncture holes in the branches of shrubs and trees to lay eggs.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Miss Tallulah Bankhead, the feghorn that walks like a woman, made a rare television appearance Wednesday night in a "Steel Hour" comedy about a mother whose daughter falls in love with a Japanese boy. So sorry.

Early in the CBS offering, "A Man for Oona," Miss Bankhead polished off a martini, and she undoubtedly needed it to get her through this latest East-West version of "Abie's Irish Rose."

In the play, Miss Bankhead's problem is that her daughter is an ugly duckling she wants to marry off. That's about the total substance of the play, which attacked us with all those dated English parlor types, including a silly young man named Freddie (naturally), who said such things as "I say... Smashing... Are you absolutely sure?... Cheers."

The writer, Michael Dyne, may have had a few martinis too because he seemed to think that jokes about the novelties of Freud belonged in the same period as fannies about Marilyn Monroe, Tony Armstrong-Jones and Yul Brynner.

Miss Bankhead, who was more of a cut-up in her day than "Ben Casey," once told this reviewer she usually arises at five in the afternoon, and Wednesday night she looked as if she'd slept until 20 minutes before show-time. The cameras tactfully kept at a safe distance.

Yet the thunderous, veteran actress was also responsible for the only light moments. At the end, after the girl elopes and does not see her mother for six months, she puts on a Japanese kimono and confronts her at a party. Miss Bankhead takes one look at her and says, "What are you endorsing, dear?"

Anyway, it turns out the husband is really a prince—a cousin of the Japanese emperor, which makes everything okay with Tallulah.

Miss Bankhead had good company in her distress. Nancy Carroll played a socialite who headed a "Committee for Destitute Gentlewomen." Yoshi Naka was the boy, and Astrid Wilstrud was the girl, who was additionally plagued by an older sister who went around saying "I'm preggie" to inform people she was expecting a baby.

The play was technically denoted as a farce, and that's what it was. I'd rather see Tallulah and Oscar Levant in "A Majority of One," or maybe "Peter Pan." It's pretty hard, of course, to knock a plea for tolerance. So hurrah for tolerance. But it was still a lousy play, dahling.

Joey Bishop, who himself was not happy on his show as a flunky-type publicity man, Wednesday night finally portrayed on his NBC-TV program what he's best at—being a comedian. That's what the show will offer him as next fall. Yet, though Joey was closer to playing himself, it seems his writers are missing one crucial point about him.

That point—obvious to anyone who has seen him on the Jack Paar Show or holding court at P.J.'s Club in Hollywood—is that beneath his warmth is a take-charge attitude with a latent threat of devastating humor. In short, he has backbone, and even though comedians like Charlie Chaplin and Jerry Lewis played patsies, they always carried the threat of fracturing their opponents. So should Joey. People like backbone.

The Chanel Swim: Zsa Zsa Gabor's scheduled slot as hostess of NBC-TV's "Tonight" show next week will be taken over by present emcee Merv Griffin. NBC says Zsa Zsa is tied up with personal affairs.

Bing Crosby Productions, boss of ABC-TV's "Ben Casey," is reported to have withdrawn its big salary raise offer to star Vincent Edwards after he demanded more; tentative plans call for him to get a normal contractual wage

He wants $7,500 a week, gets $1,750 now.

Steve Allen was asked to take over NBC-TV's "Today" show from exiting John Chancellor but refused to move to New York. Hugh Downs may wind up as "Today" host after he helps Johnny Carson get "Tonight" rolling in the fall. Ralph Bunche, U.N. undersecretary for special political affairs, guests on NBC-TV's "Continental Classroom" May 11.

Elect George W. Terry
CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRAT

STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 87th DISTRICT (GRAY, WHEELER AND COLLINGSWORTH COS.) SUBJECT TO DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY ON MAY 5.

The Man With A Cause
GOOD GOVERNMENT

I PLEDGE TO DO MY BEST

- To revise the complex State Sales Tax Law.
- To Secure the 87th District's fair share of money available for highways and farm to market roads — money that is available now but is being used elsewhere.
- To examine the Insurance Merit System and make revisions so badly needed.

FOR DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS - These are exact reproductions of the ballots which will be handed to Gray County voters when they go to the polls Saturday to cast their primary election ballots. The ballot on the left will be handed to those who vote in the Democratic primary. The ballot on the right will be handed to those who choose the Republican primary. The G.O.P. and Demo electors will vote in separate polling places in each of the county's 12 precincts. If you decide to vote in the Democratic primary you cannot cast your choice for any Republican candidates. By the same token, if you decide to vote in the Republican primary, there will be no choice of any Democratic candidates. In the double primary, a voter has only a choice of candidates on his particular party ballot. The one exemption would be the write-in privilege.

Demo And G.O.P. Voting Places Are Set For May 5th Primary

Preparations for handling the May 5 Democrat and Republican Primary elections in Gray County are virtually complete today according to County Clerk Charlie Thut.

County Clerk Thut said today that some 94 Republicans and 205 Democratic absentee ballots had been cast so far. Tuesday, May 1, was the deadline for absentee voting, Thut said.

Republicans and Democrats will conduct their own primary elections and there will be separate voting places for each party in all of the county's 12 precincts. These voting places, Thut said, must be at least 300 feet apart.

The polls in Gray County will be open Saturday, May 5, from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Both Democrats and Republicans will return their voting boxes and reports to the county clerk's office when the unofficial count has been completed.

Here are the locations of the voting places and the presiding judge in each precinct:

The Scene Today in...
Texas Politics

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International

Jack Cox took his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination to Corpus Christi Thursday, saying voters can write political history and join a fight in the Saturday primary.

"Never again in Texas will nomination by the Democrats be accepted as automatic election," Cox said of the primary and a heavy Republican slate. "I see... a wonderful opportunity for all of us to do real battle with the socialism of the new frontier of Jack Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson."

Cox said Wednesday in Houston he believes conservatives "will find a happy home, just as I did, in the Republican party."

His Republican opponent, Roy Whittenburg, was in Denton Thursday, maintaining he will be poll that showed Connally leading in the county.

"It is amazing," Starcke said, "that so many of Mr. Connally's local workers, who made up a big segment of those questioned... are going to be out of town Saturday and therefore had to vote absentee."

"Atty. Gen. Will Wilson kept the pace of his charges against Daniel and Connally Thursday, in a Dallas visit. Wilson accused Connally of "an unashamed attempt... to buy his way into the governor's office."

Wilson said Daniel has been fumbling the ball on every piece of important legislation during his tenure, and the attorney general pledged to be a "full-time, fighting governor" if elected.

Connally moved his campaign to Houston Thursday, scheduling afternoon visits on the coast. Connally will go on television Thursday night from Beaumont.

Don Yarborough, predicting victory in the primary race, said today on a trip to North and Northeast Texas, "all those truly concerned about preserving a climate of free enterprise for our small businessmen are supporting the Don Yarborough campaign."

Yarborough's campaign manager, Bill McIntyre, told a capitol news conference in Austin Wednesday Yarborough will lead the slate in the primaries, with strength particularly from coastal industrial areas and East Texas traditionally Democratic areas. McIntyre said Yarborough has picked to support from supporters of U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (who is no re-fation) and Jim Wright of Fort Worth.

Marshall Formby accused San Antonio Thursday, stamping opponents of "jumping on the bandwagon" of opposition to the merit rating auto insurance plan after Formby had made it an issue early in the campaign.

Edwin Walker told a Dallas audience Wednesday the state itself must reapportion its legislature, so that federal courts will not "presume to tell the state that her representatives must be re-apportioned."

Walker said action by federal courts puts Texas rights in danger and "such a state of affairs cannot be tolerated."

He spoke at a National Indignation Convention rally at Dallas.

In the race for lieutenant governor:

Republican Kellis Dibrell, in Dallas Thursday for a television show, lashed out at Democrats and Vice President Lyndon Johnson in particular. Dibrell accused Johnson of using "the instruments of power and fear" to build power.

Bill Hayes, Dibrell's GOP opponent, campaigned in San Antonio on a business theme, saying Texas needs responsible businessmen in elective offices. Hayes stressed the importance of coordination between state government and industry.

Campaigning on the coast, Sen. Preston Smith stressed the need for limiting state government trends that are "taking some freedoms from the people."

Dill Birds Are Tempting New Way To Serve Beef

BEEF DILL BIRDS give a tangy and different flavor to round steak. Inside each roll-up is hidden a pickle strip and a bacon slice, and the meat is slowly simmered with dill pickle juice. A delectable sour cream sauce provides the finishing touch.

A few new twists to cooking the family's best-loved meat cuts means. In most households round steak is a real favorite for its hearty beef flavor and deep down appetite satisfaction. This time let's try to surprise the family by shaping individual servings into "beef birds," the name given to rolled and stuffed round steak.

The first bite of these Beef Dill Birds reveals a stuffing of dill pickle and bacon. The Then pound flour, salt and pepper into the steak until it is 1/4 inch thick, using a meat hammer or the edge of a sturdy pie pan. The pounding will have some tenderizing effect.

Here's a cookery pointer to always keep in mind. Round steak is considered to be a less tender cut of meat and cannot be broiled like porterhouse, sirloin and rib steaks. Round steak requires moist heat cooking to develop flavor and tenderness.

BEEF DILL BIRDS
1 large or 2 small beef round steaks, cut 1/2-inch thick
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 slices bacon, cut in half
3 medium dill pickles, cut in half lengthwise
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup liquid from dill pickles
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Flavor? Tangy and so delicious, for the dill pickle liquid is used for braising the birds. You can prepare an especially tasty sauce for serving with the meat by thickening the cooking liquid and mixing in dairy sour cream and chopped parsley. Pour some over the birds and place the remainder in a sauce dish on the side. It's delicious on potatoes, too.

For beef birds, purchase round steak cut about 1/2 inch thick.

Spring and Summer are poetic words to the one who eagerly waves a good-bye to winter snows, and icy winds. Those magic words offer beauty, color, and pleasant anticipation to all. When the first flowers bloom, and wild geese wing their way north, then come warmer days, and before one can count to ten, trees are blossoming and bees are buzzing as they begin their harvesting.

Cheese Proves To Be Highly Valuable Food
By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q — Isn't cheese hard to digest? I've been told it is not only hard to digest but is also constipating. I hesitate to give it to my children.

A — To both your questions, the answer is "No." Careful scientific tests show that cheese is digested easily, even by young children. And it does not cause constipation. Cheese is a highly valuable food and wonderful eating.

Q — Will my children grow as fast on pasteurized milk as they will on raw milk?

A — It has definitely been proved scientifically that pasteurized milk produces the same rate of growth in children as raw milk.

Your bridge partner isn't likely to appreciate unsolicited advice, no matter how expert you might be.

Nutritious Foods Plentiful In May

Q — What nutritious foods will be plentiful this month?

A — According to U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, milk and dairy products top the list of plentiful foods for May. Others are eggs, broiler-fryers, and canned freestone peaches.

Q — Do my teen-aged son and daughter need as much milk as their six-year-old brother?

A — They not only need as much milk as their six-year-old brother — they need more. Teen-agers in their growth spurt need abundant in milk is vital to the building of bones and body frame.

Regal Results From Elaborate Cherry Souffle To Delight All Dinner Guests

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Souffle Rothschild is one of the most famous desserts of the Grande Cuisine. Elaborate in preparation, regal in result, it is too much work for the American home cook. So we have adapted the original Paris recipe into an American version for the gala dinner.

SOUFFLE ROTHSCHILD
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)
1/2 cup red maraschino cherries, finely chopped (about 20 cherries)
1/4 cup kirsch or maraschino cherry juice
Butter
Sugar
3 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup milk
1-3 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
5 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt

Blend 1/2 cup chopped cherries and kirsch or maraschino cherry juice together. Let stand 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Prepare a collar of wax paper to go around a 7-inch souffle dish or a 1 quart straight-sided casserole; butter inside and secure with string. Sprinkle sugar over entire inner surface. Blend flour, milk and 1-3 cup sugar together.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add egg yolks, 1 at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in 2 tablespoons butter. Drain cherries, reserving liquid. Add liquid, with vanilla, to souffle mixture and beat well. Beat egg whites and salt until soft peaks form. Add 1 tablespoon sugar and beat until stiff.

Gently fold into souffle mixture. Pour 1-3 mixture into prepared dish and sprinkle with chopped cherries. Cover with remaining mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Garnish with 1/4 cup sliced maraschino cherries, as desired.

Tenagers Overlook Dietary Lunch Value
Q — My teen-age son eats only potato chips, a soft drink and a piece of cake for his lunch at school. He says that is enough. Is he right?

A — No. The dietary value of such lunches chosen by children without guidance is very low in comparison with the Type A school lunch. The approved school lunch provides the child with a third to a half of the recommended daily allowances of nutrients for a day. Encourage your son to use the food provided by the Type A school lunch. He'll feel stronger and be able to play games harder.

Q — Does cooking vegetables in a covered pan save vitamins?

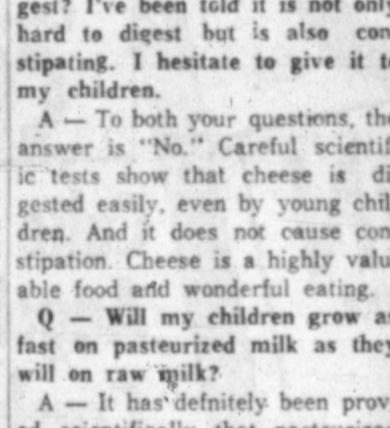

A — Yes. Covering the pan helps to retain some of the vitamins by making it possible to cook vegetables in only a little water. The percentage of water-soluble vitamins dissolved in the cooking liquid is less when a small amount of water is used than when a large amount is used.

Try MORTON'S TEA Cubes!

Here's a trick to make Iced Tea Season even more fun this year... and guaranteed to cause conversation! Brew loose-packed Morton's Tea for minimum of five minutes, preferably in earthen pot as the British do. Cool until tepid to touch, then fill refrigerator ice tray and freeze into "tea cubes." Later, when ready to serve, brew another pot of tea, fill glasses with "tea cubes" and pour fresh-brewed tea over them. Absolutely 100% Morton's Tea flavor... no dilution because the very "ice" itself is full-flavored Morton's Tea also! Incidentally, Morton's Tea is blended for flavor right here at home with Southwest-style Iced Tea in mind.

Some School Administrators Against Senior Class Trip

By PARTICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Thousands of high school seniors are marching on Washington, Gettysburg, Yellowstone, New York — and other interesting places.

The educational trips each spring give the seniors a kind of academic last fling.

In some places, the field trips almost have as much status as the prom. They are a time for mixing fun with learning.

But school administrators polled on the question of value involved in such trips voted 62 per cent in favor.

A new survey, based on a four per cent sampling of the 16,000 school administrators, shows that 72 per cent of the school officials do not favor senior class trips.

In reversing their view of the trips, the administrators noted that the trips take too much time — and cost too much money.

Also, as an Iowa administrator noted — "seniors are a different breed of cats as far as responding to supervision." They are almost free of the restraints imposed by teachers for so many years.

In some school systems, seniors spend most of an academic year's free time staging fund-raising events to fatten the field trip kitty.

In others, parents must help foot the bill. Some children, therefore, are excluded when the family can't come up with the money. They stay home. This makes for injured feelings or inferiority complexes.

The survey, conducted by "The Nation's Schools," a journal for school officials, found just 25 per cent of the administrators still favoring the trips.

Among those objecting was a Minnesota educator who nixed the trips because of behavior problems.

"Regardless of present-day thinking, children do not mature more rapidly now than they did 50 years ago," he noted. "Students still need absolute supervision and directions. The values derived from the visitations do not overcome the immaturity of the students."

Dividend Tax Plan Probably To Get Boost

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — With the stock market apparently having halted its slide for a time, the shareholder looking for things to worry about today can keep an eye on the status of the proposal to tax dividends and interest by withholding at the source.

The proposal — which would put a 20 per cent tax on dividends before they are paid out to stockholders, and which also would tax interest — remained in the bill as it went through the House and into the Senate, where it now rests.

Arguments for and against the proposal remain pretty much as they were when the tax measure started its journey through the national legislature.

Mortimer M. Caplin, U.S. commissioner of internal revenue, has said repeatedly that a strong withhold system for dividend and interest payments was one of two steps needed to modernize tax administration, close existing revenue gaps and encourage more effective voluntary compliance by taxpayers. The other step is broader cross-checking of returns through automatic data processing.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, has clung staunchly to the position which he set forth in a statement filed with the Senate Finance Committee last month: that the proposal would hit hardest at the elderly, the retired, those persons who depend on small incomes, because withholding even a part of their scheduled income — however temporarily — would mean a hardship.

Caplin, in a statement to United Press International, has said on this score:

"For those who might be overpaying their taxes, we would have quarterly refunds, which would be new, but clearly within our (IRS) capabilities. In 1961, distributed over 40 million refunds were distributed over 40 million refunds under wage withholding — far more than we would ever be called on to process under dividend-interest withholding."

Shop Show Set In Lefors School

LEFORS (Spl) — H. L. McCarley, shop teacher in Lefors High School, will present his students in a shop show in the Junior High Gymnasium, Monday, May 14, between the hours of 7:30 and 9 p.m.

McCarley announced that the shop show is not being scheduled with the Homemaking Girls Style show, as in former years, but will give an individual show in the gym where the boys will be available for the boys to display many more items they have made this year.

In previous years a trophy has been given to each first place winner in the three divisions, Shop one, Shop Two and Mechanical Drawing. This year, a change has been made as six trophies in all will be given, one to both the first and second place winner in each division.

A judging team from West Texas State College will again decide the winners and they will not be revealed until after the display.

The public is invited to attend, free of charge. Following the show, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria and the winners of trophies will be announced and presented.

Outgoing seniors who paid their poll tax are eligible to vote for favorite teachers.

UNIONS LOSE MEMBERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Membership in the nation's labor unions was reduced by about 500,000 between 1956 and 1961, the National Industrial Conference Board said Wednesday. It said union membership hit an all-time high of 17.5 million in 1956 and then tailed off to 17 million by the beginning of last year.

Silver Tresses Open New World Of Color To Fashionable Mature Beauties

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Do you still select the same colors in fashions and make-up that were best for you twenty years ago? If you do, you're missing a wonderful opportunity to blossom out.
Your complexion tone and hair color change as the years go by, and your "best" colors often don't do as much for you as they once did.
On the other hand, you may find that vibrant shades that you never could wear are now most flattering — particularly if your hair has turned silver gray — or white.

Try emerald green, soft blue and coral. You'll see how much more they can do for your new coloring than the accustomed black and navy.
Don't rush out and buy a bevy of bright hues. Experiment at home. All you need are squares of fabric in various shades and some clip clothespins. Drape the swatches around your shoulders and bodice and clip them at the neck. Then examine yourself in a good light. You may find that the lipstick and rouge you're wearing should be changed, too.
To crown your new personality, make the most of that silvery hair. Have it expertly styled, brush it faithfully and shampoo it as soon as it begins to look drab. You'll be delighted with the new "you."

Dear Abby... Kiss Spontaneous ... Not A Campaign!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman in college and, believe it or not, I have never kissed a girl. I mean really KISSED her. I have given girls little "innocent" pecks on the cheek, but that doesn't count. This may sound nuts but I have dated plenty of girls and, while everyone else is making out, we sit and talk. I spoke to a buddy of mine and he said, "Don't ASK a girl if you can kiss her. Just grab her and kiss her." I would die of embarrassment if she pushed me away. Does a guy just grab a girl or does he ask first?
SHY GUY
DEAR SHY: A kiss should be more of a spontaneous act than a planned campaign. If you have to ASK a girl for permission, the whole thing would probably be a big let-down. Wait until you get the "message."
DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife were married for three years. They were divorced and stayed apart for almost a year. Then they were re-married to each other. If they had not been divorced, they would be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary this June. Would it be proper to entertain at an open house for their "25th anniversary" any way, and ignore the time they were apart? Incidentally, a daughter was born to them before their divorce.
MIDWEST
DEAR MIDWEST: Be generous and ignore the divorce.
DEAR ABBY: My daughter was married two years ago, but it wasn't much of a wedding. She eloped with a schoolboy sweetheart. It lasted only a year and now she is getting married again. We want to give her a large church wedding with a white gown and veil, but our friends say that we can't do it because of that first marriage she had. In view of the fact that she never had a "real" wedding, don't you think we should go ahead with our plans?
HER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Although your daughter never had a large church wedding, she did have a "real" marriage ceremony. Forgo the veil and gown for a simple wedding.
DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Alone and in love" that if she is the woman who is in love with my husband, she'd better get used to being "alone" because there is not going to be a divorce in THIS family!

Take It From Kathy

by Kathy Peterson
Dear Kathy: I'm 15 and have started going steady. My mother doesn't approve because she doesn't think people should go steady until they are ready to marry. This is different. She doesn't understand. When boys and girls go steady now it doesn't mean they are ready to march to the altar. Parents are old-fashioned and don't realize how things have changed. When they were growing up they didn't even have television! Isn't it true that lots of girls younger than I am go steady?—Terry L.
Dear Terry: Your parents didn't have television but boys and dates aren't recent inventions. I'm sure your mother has had experience with both.
Going steady used to mean something serious and permanent. It still should. In the "old days" a boy and girl made this arrangement when they felt quite sure that they would not meet anyone they liked more and were considering the idea of spending the rest of their lives together.
"This is different" means that you consider your arrangement less permanent. Is it a form of insurance against lonely evenings? Is it just a means to prove you won a popularity race? Does it really make sense to go steady if you plan to date steadily only until someone more interesting arrives in the scene? I don't think so.
You'd be a very unusual 15-year-old if you didn't occasionally admire a good-looking boy other than your boy friend. As long as

Cholesterol... Major Medical Muddle

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Compare a penguin egg with a chicken egg, said a medical scientist. They contain the same amount of cholesterol. But if you eat the penguin egg instead of the chicken egg it will elevate your blood cholesterol level much less.

However, Prof. Arthur Grollman was not advocating a switch from chicken eggs to penguin eggs on the American breakfast table. He was using this as an example of how little, comparatively speaking, medical science knows about what the human body does with cholesterol.

"Addressing medical men in general, Dr. Grollman said: "We really should avoid giving patients the impression that cholesterol alone is the answer to the problem of atherosclerosis. Clearly it is not. We do not need to encourage the prevailing air of panic about cholesterol."

Certainly medical men should urge people to avoid excesses of fats in their daily meals, he said. But people should be urged to avoid excesses of anything else. And certainly the fat intake should be restricted for people whose blood cholesterol levels are high.

Nevertheless, "all of the facts about cholesterol and atherosclerosis are not in yet," he continued. Until they are, we can help our patients most just by encouraging ordinary discretion.

Grossman is professor and chairman of the Department of Experimental Medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and author of a number of standard medical science text books. In the technical journal, "Consultant," he was distressed that cholesterol has come to be considered an unalloyed evil.

"That's very far from the truth. The fact is it is vital to normal body function, and in many ways. It occurs in every body cell. Among its many important services:

Personal Signal System Is Due Release Soon

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Did you finish up a long day of many interruptions at the office and climb into your car tonight, thinking you were safe from messages at least for the trip home?

Live up that peaceful interlude while you can. It isn't going to last long. Science is gaining on you.

Western Electric has announced that it has reached the point where it can make a personal signalling system—it calls it the "Bellboy"—available in 15 to 20 United States cities between now and the end of next year.

It is designed to page subscribers on the move—to signal them to get to the nearest telephone and call office, home or any other predetermined number.

The Bellboy is a small radio receiver which would fit into a topcoat or overcoat pocket. When a signal is broadcast, it emits a call tone. The person calling the customer within the service area dials a seven-digit number. The first three digits signal in the telephone central office which has Bellboy facilities, and the last four numbers signal the party carrying the Bellboy.

According to the operation described in WE News Features, a company magazine, a recorded announcement notifies the caller that his call has been accepted; the central office equipment puts the fall into a coded radio signal which is broadcast in the area, and activates only the receiver carried by the person who is called.

When the called person gets the signal, he presses a button to shut off the alarm, then goes to the nearest telephone and calls the number of his office or his home, wherever he knows the signal originated.

excluded from the diet, the human body would have it because it makes it. "All body cells are capable of synthesizing cholesterol from the readily available 2-carbon acetate which is derived from carbohydrate, fat and protein," he added.

The liver is the important source of body-made cholesterol, of course, but even the walls of the arteries can make it. This means, he continued, that the cholesterol which circulates in the blood doesn't have to be the cholesterol which is deposited in artery-linings and is blamed for artery-hardening or atherosclerosis.

He was critical of many of the experiments which have indicted dietary cholesterol in artery-hardening. For one thing, experimental results in animals cannot be translated directly to people. For another, if you experiment with varying levels of cholesterol in human diets, you have to hold all other elements of the diets constant. In the main that hasn't been done.

Controlling blood cholesterol levels by varying the intake of dietary cholesterol "is not that simple," he said. "Cholesterol intake alone does not determine the level of serum cholesterol or necessarily affect the deposit of cholesterol in atheromata."

Two Cities In Texas To Be In Survey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Texas cities, Austin and El Paso, will be included in a four-month study concerning the changes in amount of radioactive material in foods, federal government officials reported.

The study will take four monthly samplings of the total diet of teenagers and infants in 30 American cities.

The study will be used "to help trace the changes in fallout elements in total diet resulting from the 1961 series of Russian nuclear weapons tests," the government said.

Some increase of strontium 90 is expected in food this spring as a result of the Soviet tests, but government officials said the amount of increase is nowhere near high enough to warrant reduction of food intake.

The diet of children and teenagers is being used for the study rather than that of adults, the government said, because growing bone tissue is most vulnerable to strontium 90.

El Paso was named among 10 cities which will be tested once each month of the four-month period. Austin was among the 20 cities which will be tested every other month during the period.

A Look At The Gubernatorial Candidates

Roy Whittenburg

This is another in a series of biographical portraits on the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor of Texas.

By United Press International
AMARILLO (UPI)—A stocky built father of seven who shuns automobiles in favor of a four mile walk from home to office is seeking the Republican nomination for governor through a pledge of honesty and integrity.

Roy Whittenburg maintains a dynamo schedule in his bid for the governorship. He takes his campaign to the precinct level, hitting Texas cities and towns on a whirlwind schedule.

The 49-year-old West Texan maintains his voting address at the small town of Plemons, his birthplace, and commutes between Potter and Hutchinson counties in his many business interests.

Whittenburg was reared on his father's ranch at Plemons, and still is active in the cattle business. The Whittenburg family, however, has varied interests. S. B. Whittenburg is publisher of the Amarillo Globe-Times. Roy handles the cattle and general business and Joe Whittenburg is the spokesman on ranch management at meetings of the family.

Roy Whittenburg never finished college. After graduation from Canyon High School, he enrolled in the University of Texas. He was called home a short time later due to the death of his mother.

Four years later, he returned to the university. He was barely settled in class when word came that his father had died. He returned to help run the family operations with the help of the other 12 children in the Whittenburg clan.

Whittenburg made a statewide swing in his 1958 bid for the U. S. Senate but lost to Ralph Yarborough. He polled 186,000 votes however, and feels his support has gained rapidly this year.

The West Texan doesn't miss a chance to speak on current issues. In the Billie Sol Estes story, Whittenburg said he has heard

BRITISH BEAUTIES

LONDON (UPI)—A legal battle in the high court over sponsorship of a beauty contest Tuesday brought forth this definition of a British bathing beauty:

"A young lady, aged between 16 and 26 who is agreeable to display her charms in a one-piece bathing costume" provided "that the costume must not include artificial aids or attachments."

and believes that Estes' grain elevators were filled with government grain before the paint was dry. He also slammed court appointments, the United States' current exchange policy with Russia, imports of foreign sugar and oil and government spending. He said he feels the United States is closer to dictatorship than at any other time. His attack on both national and state issues was brought about from a statement he prints in his campaign literature which begins: "Although there are state issues which are not national issues, there are no national issues which are not state issues."

Sun's Effect On Atmosphere Is Told At Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The top fringes of earth's atmosphere are hotter and denser when the sun's face is spotted than during those periods when the solar complexion is clear.

This was reported at the third international space science symposium by scientists of the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The symposium is being conducted by the Committee on Space Research (COSPAR) of the international council of scientific Delegates from 18 nations, including the Soviet Union, are attending the symposium.

The NASA scientists reported information obtained by Explorer IX satellite, a 12-foot sphere sensitive to density changes at altitudes where the air is so thin as to be almost non-existent.

Some scientists believe changes in solar activity also affect the earth's weather, which is manufactured for the most part in the lower atmosphere. Just how periodic heating and cooling of the thin air hundreds of miles up could influence the weather near the earth's surface has not been explained.

Another scientific paper discounted the idea that meteoric dust from space might affect the earth's weather. It was prepared by Gordon Newkirk of the High Altitude Observatory, Boulder, Colo., and John A. Eddy of the National Bureau of Standards, Boulder laboratory.

They said more than 2,000 tons of meteoric material strikes the earth every day. Many meteors are consumed by heat friction in the atmosphere. The smallest, however, are braked before they are consumed.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The New Jersey Taxpayers' Association (NJTA) comes up today with its annual report debunking the idea that federal aid to states and local communities is a kind of free lunch that doesn't cost anything.

Free lunch is a saloon term. Free lunch was an institution in the bad old days before prohibition-sought to impose itself on the drinking classes. But free lunch did not return with repeal. In some states it is specifically forbidden by the liquor laws.

Any old time saloon keeper could have told you, however, that free lunch was never free, whether it was soggy cheese and crackers in some dump or a noble spread of meat or fowl with appropriate trimmings in the saloons frequented by well-heeled fancy Dons. Of course the customers paid for the food in their liquor tabs. Else the owner of the store would not have set it out.

The beer drinker who happily thought the lunch was free was, of course, a sucker. But no more a sucker than are millions of citizens who bleed the U. S. Treasury for home town or home state projects in the belief that it doesn't cost them anything.

Not all citizens are such suckers, however, because of the 50 states there are 38 that are getting more out of the federal treasury than they pay in. Not much more, in some cases, and a great deal more in others.

The concern of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association is with those states that are, in fact, suckers for the something-for-nothing idea that the politicians peddle with respect to federal aid to states and local communities.

New Jersey taxpayers are the biggest suckers of them all. NJTA calculates that for every $1 of federal aid to projects in New Jersey, the taxpayers of that state have to put up $2.07. The other sucker states and the cost to teach for every $1 of federal aid are:

Delaware, $2.01; New York, $1.63; Connecticut, $1.51; Pennsylvania, $1.42; Wisconsin, $1.34; Maryland, $1.33; Ohio, $1.27; Michigan, $1.25; Indiana, $1.24; Massachusetts, $1.24; Illinois, $1.21; California, $1.17; and Florida, $1.05.

Among the other 38 states, the cost of a federal aid dollar varies from .99 cents in Virginia to 17 cents in Alaska. NJTA acknowledges that federal aid programs are ballyhooed as designed to equalize resources between rich and poor states but argues that it fails to do so. Only about one sixth of the overall federal-aid spending actually transfers resources from the 14 aiding states to the 36 aided states.

"Nationally," NJTA reported, $5.8 billion or 84 per cent of the federal aid dollars made the round trip to Washington last year and ultimately returned to the 50 states of origin under accompanying federal programs. Only the remaining $1.1 billion (18 per cent) was switched from the 14 aiding to the 36 aided states."

Among the "needy" states to which the 14 sucker states contribute are Iowa, Oregon, Montana, Oklahoma, North Dakota and Texas. The sum of federal aid to state and local governments is getting bigger every year: 1950, $2.2 billion; projected 1963, $9.9 billion.

Harvesters Show Top Form In Practice

A spirited crew of future Harvester gridders went through a brisk 2-hour workout Wednesday as spring training got underway at the high school.

Under the watchful eye of head coach Otis Holladay, the Pampa gridders went right into contact work the first day out, with the "yellow shirts" scrimmaging the "purple shirts" on the tough sod of Harvester stadium.

Donnie Ayers, a prime prospect for the quarterback role for the Harvesters this fall, looked real good running off tackle and feinting out defenders with his fancy ball-handling. Ayers played B team ball last year and will be a senior this year.

Some of the other "hosses" for coach Holladay, mainly Ricky Stewart, Jerry Glover and Kenny Hebert, watched from the sidelines as their co-herds went through their workouts. All three boys are still playing on the Harvester baseball team and won't get any contact work until next Monday.

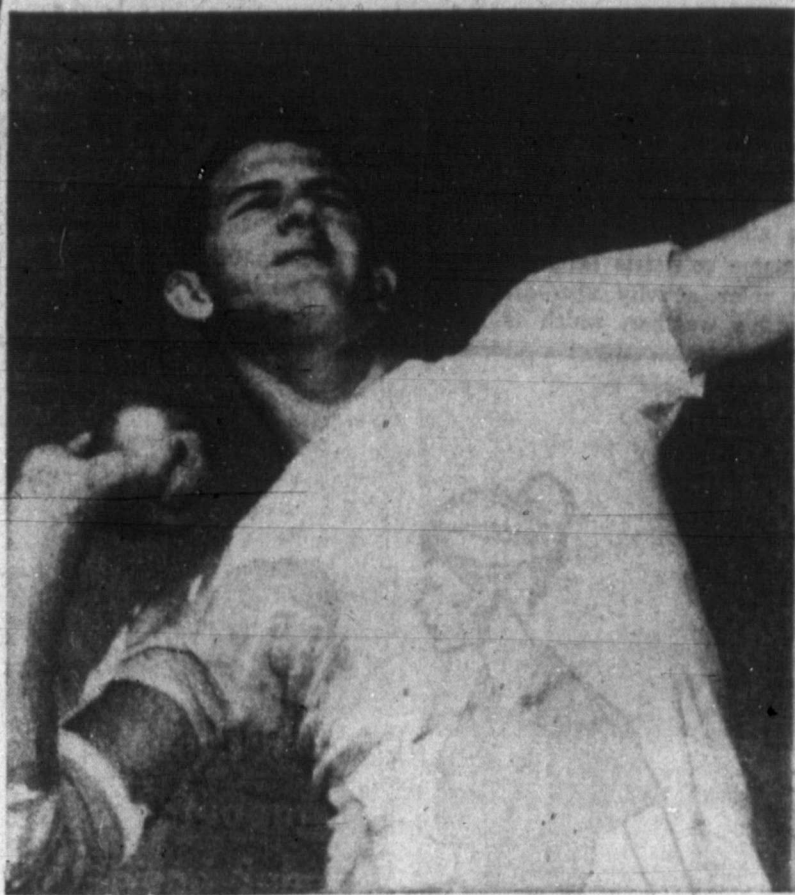

The diamond crew finishes up their regular season Friday in Borger. Blocking and tackling sessions also featured in the initial workout of the Harvester grid men as the four Harvester coaches looked on with delight as the Pampa hopefuls went through their workouts. Coach Holladay was especially pleased with the way his charges reacted the first day.

"If we keep up this spirit and determination, we'll be state champions this time next year." Could this be said with tongue in cheek?

Giants, Yankees Blasting Homers

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The fellow who said lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place never heard of the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees.

With the Giants and Yankees it seems that home run lightning strikes day after day... sometimes early... but more often in the late innings. Both lineups are loaded with whiplash-batting sluggers and there's just no telling when or where the blow will come.

The National and American league front runners did it again Wednesday to run their winning streaks to eight and seven games, respectively. The Giants now lead the NL by 1½ games while the Yankees have opened up an early 2½-length margin.

Willie Mays rocketed his eighth homer of the season halfway up the left field seats at Candlestick Park in the sixth inning to give the Giants a 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The winning streak is the longest the Giants have achieved since they transferred from New York to San Francisco in 1958.

Chicago White Sox rookie Joe Horlen had the Yankees beaten, 3-2, entering the ninth inning but suddenly found himself a 4-3 loser after throwing only two pitches. Yogi Berra hit the first one for a double and Elston Howard hit the next one for a game-winning two-run homer.

What makes the Giants and Yankees look even stronger is the powerful pitching each has been getting from a so-called question mark staff.

Juan Marichal struck out seven and pitched a seven-hitter to win his fourth game for the Giants. He was the sixth consecutive Giant pitcher to go the distance and he tagged the Pirates with their seventh loss in 10 games. When Pirate pitcher Earl Francis departed in the eighth, it marked the 22nd straight time the Giants kayoed their rivals' starting pitcher.

Ralph Terry, was tagged for three White Sox' runs in six innings but then Jim Coates took over to throttle the Sox on one hit during the last three innings. Bobby Richardson ran his hitting streak to 17 straight games for the Yankees and Al Smith had three of the White Sox' four hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals scored a 4-1 victory over the Houston Colts and the Chicago Cubs beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1, in other NL games. The Kansas City Athletics outslugged the Detroit Tigers, 12-8, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Minnesota Twins, 6-5, in the other AL action. Four major league games were rained out.

Former Harlem Globetrotter Bob Gibson struck out nine and walked only one in beating the Colts for the second straight time. Bill White homered and Julio Gotay had three hits to lead the nine-hit Cardinal attack that dealt Ken Johnson, who fanned 10, his fourth loss in a row. Jim Pendleton homered for Houston.

Bob Buhl, in his first start since being obtained from Milwaukee, allowed two hits in six innings to snap the Cubs' seven-game losing streak. Strike-out king Sandy Koufax whiffed eight in 9½ innings but committed a key error preceding a two-run double by Andre Rodgers in the fourth inning. Sandy's first strike-out of the night raised his career total to 1,000.

Gino Cimoli and Norm Siebern collected three hits each as the A's routed Don Mossi in a seven-run second inning and went on to pound five Detroit pitchers for 15 hits. Al Kaline, Dick Brown and Bill Bruton hit homers for the Tigers.

Rookie John Powell hit two-run homers to pace a rally that enabled the Orioles to overcome Minnesota's early 5-0 lead. Dick Hall went the last 3-1-3 innings to preserve the win for Hal Brown. Brooks Robinson had three hits for the Orioles.

HEAVY SITE

CHICAGO (UPI) — Promoter Irv Schoenwald says "Chicago looks very good" as the Septem-ber site for the Floyd Paterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight championship fight.

Schoenwald said he gained this impression after a telephone chat with Al Bolan of Championship Sports, who will stage the title match.

"Bolan told me his outfit wants the fight in Chicago," Schoenwald said. "He said he's confident that it will be held here."

Schoenwald said the final decision was up to Patterson, whose attorney, Julius November, was expected to come to Chicago next week.

Anderson, Key Relay Star, Has One Lung

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — Jerry Anderson, key furlong man on Texas A&M's potent sprint relay quartet, has only one lung, but it doesn't seem to bother his breathing on the cinder track.

The 20-year-old sophomore from the farmlands around Gorman, Tex., wouldn't know what to do with a full set of lungs if he had them. He was born with only one good lung in Oceanside, Calif.

Anderson's family moved to Gorman when Jerry was two years old and most of his early running was along the dirt roads which parallel the 400-acre Anderson tract.

Anderson's above-average speed began to show as early as the fourth grade when he started winning all the tag races. By the time he was in the sixth grade he was running with the eighth grade team.

"I was the only freshman on the Gorman track team in high school and was lucky enough to be the first runner from Gorman ever to participate in the state meet," Anderson said.

Although he appears a bit frail at 145 pounds, Anderson also lettered two years on the Gorman football team.

Anderson was a sprinter at Gorman, winning the state class B 220-yard dash and finishing second in the 100-yard sprint.

But, at Texas A&M Coach Charlie Parker—a former national sprint champion, himself—has had Anderson concentrate on the relays.

His best performances come in the sprint medley, where the Aggies haven't been beaten this season while Anderson was running a 220-yard leg. The team's best time has been 3:21.4, a school record.

Moss Advised To Give Up Auto Racing

LONDON (UPI)—Stirling Moss will be advised by family and friends to give up auto racing as a result of his track smash-up Easter Monday.

The 32-year-old driver is slowly regaining consciousness at Atkinson-Morley Hospital, Wimbledon, where a bulletin said his "periods of consciousness are increasing in length."

His friend and racing sponsor, Rob Walker, said Tuesday night he heard Moss muttering lap speeds and racing jargon and believes this indicates the driver's determination to get back on the track.

"I am certain he will race again," Walker said. "But if he asks me what to do, I shall tell him to retire."

Kentucky Derby Is Rated Real Tough

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The 88th running of the $125,000 added Kentucky Derby Saturday shapes up as a tough horse race and yet 18 horses were expected to be named for it today before the entry box closes.

"There are four or five of them that can beat my horse," trainer after trainer said with the exception of Casey Hayes, who handles favored Sir Gaylord, and LeRoy Jolley, conditioner of second-choice Ridan. They were confident but cautious.

Hayes, who has had two previous starters finish second and third, warned, "You still have to get the breaks." Jolley echoed these sentiments.

Behind Sir Gaylord, owned by the Meadow Stable of Christopher T. Chenery and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, were five dangerous contenders — Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County, Fred W. Turner's Sir Ribot, Verne Winchell's Donut King, and Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage. Next in ranking were Robert Lehman's Prego, El Peco Stable's Decidedly, Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, and T. Alie Grisom's Roman Line.

Then came the outsiders — Neil S. McCarthy's Royal Attack, Reverie Knoll Farm's Sharp Count, Golden Triangle Stable's Mister Pitt, F. B. Farm's Good Fight, Mrs. Joe W. Brown's Green Hornet, and Harold Estopinal and Adrian Arnaud's Touch Bar.

The 18th horse to be entered is Cicada, a brilliant filly also owned by the Meadow Stable. Without offering any further explanation Hayes said, "I will enter two of them but run only one."

This was interpreted in two ways, with Hayes giving no indication as to which was correct. Some say he wants to keep Cicada eligible for the Kentucky Derby as long as possible in the event something should happen to Sir Gaylord.

Others claim he wants her available in the event of rain. The filly is a superior runner in mud and could become the second of her sex ever to win the Kentucky track should be muddy on Saturday.

It cost each owner $250 to enter and will cost an additional $1,250 to start. By paying $250 for Cicada, Hayes buys another 24 hours to play out whatever he has in mind. Then he must decide whether or not to run Cicada in Friday's Kentucky Oaks, for which she is an odds-on favorite.

The chances of mud on Saturday were slim, according to the weatherman. The Churchill Downs course dries out rapidly and, while light showers were forecast for Friday, Saturday is expected to be bright, sunny and warm.

Aggies Hold Slim Lead In Baseball

By United Press International

Methodical Texas A&M plugged along today one-half game ahead of the University of Texas in the Southwest Conference baseball tussle. Both teams have games today and the lead could change hands quickly.

The Aggies blanked Baylor 6-0 Wednesday on the dazzling two-hit pitching of sophomore Johnnie Crain of Houston. Texas had a tougher time with Texas Christian, escaping with a 4-3 victory. In other conference action, hapless Southern Methodist fell twice to Rice, 7-1, 5-4—the 18th and 19th straight defeats for the Mustangs.

A&M Baylor and Texas tackles TCU again today. The Aggies stand 10-2 in conference play compared to the Steers' 9-2 mark.

The Cadets backed Crain's sharp hurling with 11 hits. Crain, who struck out six, pitched hitless ball for 6-1-3 innings until Baylor's Audie Cox beat out an infield single. Baylor is now 7-4.

Tom Belcher spaced seven hits over as many innings to hold off the Horned Frogs. Robert Myer came on in relief. The loss left TCU with a 4-8 record.

The Mustangs were a picture of futility in their games with Rice. When they exploded with a barrage of hits, their pitching fell apart, the hits fell off.

Deadline Today For Net Entries

Deadline for entries in the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament is 8 p.m. today.

The tournament, to be held Saturday starting at 9 a.m., will feature two divisions. The junior division will be open to all boys and girls under 18 as of Jan. 1, 1962. The other division will be open to all boys and girls under 15 as of Jan. 1, 1962.

Anyone interested in entering the tourney should contact John Bird, chairman at MO 5-4695 or Doug Halley at the Youth Center.

Snead had practice rounds of 66 and 69 without a bogey. Then Wednesday he wound up his warm-ups by shooting another 69 for the Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation. In this one, however, he had five birdies and a pair of bogies.

"The rough out there this time is real tough," said Snead after his round. "If the wind comes up, as it usually does for a day or two, it is going to be a hard course.

"Somebody probably can win it with 273 or 274, depending upon the weather. The greens seem to be better this year than usual."

That was an unusual statement from the Slammer, who has been

Same Old Story Once Again: Palmer Favored At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The first round of the $58,000 Tournament of Champions, golf's most exclusive event, gets under way today with the one and only Arnold Palmer listed as the favorite — a normal procedure in golfing circles these days.

But defending champion Sam Snead has been so spectacular in practice rounds that the odds on him dropped to 8-1, which placed him in the same category with three-time former champion Gene Littler, Doug Sanders and Billy Casper.

Palmer is listed at 5-1 in this gambling capital where they even post odds on whether tourists will make it across the street on "The Strip."

Snead had practice rounds of 66 and 69 without a bogey. Then Wednesday he wound up his warm-ups by shooting another 69 for the Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation. In this one, however, he had five birdies and a pair of bogies.

"The rough out there this time is real tough," said Snead after his round. "If the wind comes up, as it usually does for a day or two, it is going to be a hard course.

"Somebody probably can win it with 273 or 274, depending upon the weather. The greens seem to be better this year than usual."

That was an unusual statement from the Slammer, who has been complaining that he is having his usual putting troubles.

In his round for the Stagg Foundation, which the nation's golfers will shoot against, he had one three-putt green and missed a couple from about six feet.

Palmer, who won the Texas Open last week and has been hot all winter with big wins in the Masters, Palm Springs and Phoenix events, has not been brilliant in practice.

However, he is noted for always being tougher when the chips are down.

Big Mike Souchak, a 15-1 shot, claims he is playing "real good, for me." He had a final tuneup of 69.

Young Phil Rodgers, who has been slightly off his stick, has been listed at 12-1, but others at 15-1, include Doug Ford and Jay Hebert.

Play in this event doesn't start until 1 p.m. PDT (4 p.m., EDT) during the first three days.

However, tee-off time on Sunday will be 10 a.m., due to national television commitments.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Nelson Fisher of the San Diego (Calif.) Union has been elected president of the National Turf Writers Association, succeeding Maurice Shevlin of the Chicago Tribune.

NICKLAUS LEADS

BURNEYVILLE, Okla. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus led an impressive array of non-champions into today's opening round of the second annual $20,000 Waco Turner Open at Burneyville.

Nicklaus, two-time National Amateur champion, was the early favorite as around 128 golfers sought the $2,800 first prize.

Among them were such well-known pros as Mason Rudolph, Dan Sikes, Johnny Pott, Marty Furgol, Bill Collins, Bob Goetz, Jerry Steelsmith, Don Whitt, Charlie Sifford, Ernie Vossler and the 1961 runner-up Rex Baxter Jr.

Last year's winner, freckled Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex., won't be back to defend his title. As a champion, he qualifies for the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions, which accepts only PGA tournament winners of the previous 12 months.

San Francisco Joins Up With NBA Cage Group

NEW YORK (UPI)—San Francisco joins the National Basketball Association today, taking over the Philadelphia franchise—but it will be no deal unless Warriors owner Eddie Gottlieb can come home with a new club.

Gottlieb goes before the league's board of governors, scheduled to convene here at 10 a.m. EDT, seeking permission to sell the Warriors to a San Francisco group for a reported $850,000 and an okay to form a new club for Philadelphia.

Gottlieb has been negotiating for the sale of the Warriors with the San Francisco group for some time, and the sale price was reached a long time ago. However, owners of the New York Knickerbockers and Boston Celtics are against the sale because of the imbalance a new alignment would create. Also, trips to Philadelphia have been profitable over the years and they do not wish to lose out on the sure income from games there.

Thus, Gottlieb would not be able to get the necessary seven votes to sell the club, with New York and Boston voting against. Since the portly Philadelphian, who has helped build the Warriors into one of the most colorful attractions in the NBA, mostly because of Wilt Chamberlain, knew this from the start he is expected to ask the league governors for permission to create a new franchise in Philadelphia as part of the deal to sell the Warriors.

Such a move, it is felt, would have excellent chance of approval. Gottlieb has more or less resigned himself to the fact that the only way the deal would work is for him to set up a new club. He is hopeful that deals with the other clubs in the league would enable him to build a fairly representative team.

If approval is granted for the two-fold move then Baltimore interests, who have been seeking to gain a franchise, once again would be held off. Under the new setup the league would line up with San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago in the Western Division and New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Syracuse and Cincinnati in the Eastern.

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to set its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Result Of Dictatorship

When government owns almost everything, bosses everything, and makes all the decisions, what do the masses of plain people get?

Answer: The short end of an ever-shortening stick.

Take, for example, the new Cuban rationing system announced by Fidel Castro. Most Cubans will be allowed three-quarters of a pound of meat per month per person, half a pound of fish for 15 days, six eggs a month, two ounces of butter a month and, to make up for this incredible diet, larger quantities of the bulk foods, such as beans, rice and potatoes.

According to Castro, this is, primarily, the result of a "brutal economic blockade" — imposed, of course, by the United States. A more accurate description is that it results from the imposition of bureaucratic fiat, with the inevitable waste and incompetence, on a nation, an economy, and a helpless, terror-ridden people. Dictatorship always produces one thing — scarcity for the masses.

Republics And Majorities

Some of conservative persuasion have created quite an embroglio over the known fact that this nation was designed to be a republic rather than a democracy. They have apparently assisted in fostering the view that so long as we CALL ourselves a republic, we will be safe.

Historically, republics and democracies have alike been subject to the same fallacies. Both employ what is called the "democratic process" and hence both rely on decisions formulated in the "public mind." Let James Madison, no exponent of the democracy concept, comment on this subject:

"There is no maxim, in my opinion, which is more liable to be misapplied, and which, therefore, more needs elucidation, than the current one, that the interest of the majority is the political standard of right and wrong. Taking the word 'interest' as synonymous with 'ultimate happiness,' in which sense it is qualified with every necessary moral ingredient, the proposition is no doubt true. But taking it in the popular sense, as referring to immediate augmentation of property and wealth, nothing can be more false. In the latter sense, it would be the interest of the majority in every community to despoil and enslave the minority of individuals; and in a federal community, to make a similar sacrifice of the minority of the component states. In fact, it is only re-establishing, under another name and a more specious form, force as the measure of right."

This was Madison's view in 1786. In the Virginia Convention of 1788 his views had undergone strengthening and he opined then as follows:

"Since the general civilization of mankind, I believe there are more instances of the abridgment of the freedom of the people, by gradual and silent encroachments of those in power, than by violent and sudden usurpations: but, on a candid examination of history, we shall find that turbulence, violence and abuse of power, by the majority trampling on the rights of the minority have produced factions and commotions, which, in republics, have more frequently than any other cause, produced despotism. If we go over the whole history of ancient and modern republics, we shall find their destruction to have generally resulted from those causes. If we consider the peculiar situation of the United States, and what are the sources of that diversity of sentiment which pervades its inhabitants, we shall find great danger to fear, that the same causes may terminate here, in the same fatal effects, which they produced in those republics. This danger ought to be wisely guarded against."

The germ of the American ideal is the right of individuals, which right must not be supplanted by majorities. If it is true, as our original Declaration of Independence states, that each individual is equipped with the same number of rights, it follows that a majority of individuals cannot have rights which they do not have as individuals.

And this fact makes a mockery of all force and of all taxation and other devices by means of which individuals can be despoiled for the alleged "good" of the masses. Among the rights most of us cherish is the right of refusal. A slave is always free to acquiesce or to die. A free man is free to say no and to continue to live and be free. And it is always true that the degree of freedom recognizable in any nation is discernible directly in the freedom of minorities to refuse.

In the end, each of us is a minority of one. No matter how thoroughly we may agree with our neighbor on a given point, there is bound to come a time or a place wherein we will have interests not fully shared by those who are close to us. If our neighbor, in concert with another, may set our rights of refusal at naught, then we will find a condition emerging in which rights are non-existence in practice, though they may still exist as an ideal. It is time for us to recognize the ever-present danger in relying upon majority decisions as a method for determining what is politically right or wrong. Such decisions can never be right. They are only wrong in varying degrees. For even a decision which might be right were it reached voluntarily, becomes wrong when it is forced on everyone.

TRUTH-FORUM

With Ed Delaney

"With this nation's survival at stake our armed forces are paralyzed by our national policy of 'no win' and retreat from victory." Those are words from the testimony of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker before the Senate committee investigating charges that military and other government personnel are "muzzled" when it comes to pointing out the dangers of communist tactics and objectives.

Our policy is one of "no win" and of conciliation with the Soviet and its satellites. What Walker said is true but it is not new. It has been observed in our dealings with the Soviet since 1944, and even before that. To cite part of the record: Robert Murphy, former under secretary of state for political affairs and top American political advisor in Berlin from 1945 to 1949, made an address in Corning, N.Y. recently, as appearing in the U.S. News and World Report. Murphy was discussing the Berlin problem, both the present and of the past, at the time he was endeavoring to shape policies and decisions there.

Referring to the so-called blockade of Berlin by the Soviet in 1948, Murphy said the Reds merely put a wooden pole across the highway from the West into Berlin, guarded by two Mongolian soldiers. Then the Soviet told the powerful United States not to use that highway. The then mayor of Berlin, Ernst Reuter, who knew communist tactics, said the Russians were bluffing. If we would ignore that wooden pole and enforce our rights, said Reuter, the Soviet would never challenge us.

Both Murphy and Gen. Lucius Clay, then American commandant in Berlin, agreed with Reuter. They both telegraphed Washington urging that we call the Soviet bluff by sending transports over the highway. They were both recalled to Washington for instructions. Gen. George Marshall, then secretary of state, said the joint chiefs of staff felt that our defense establishment was too weak to risk defying the Soviet. The Berlin airlift was the result, costing us some $11 million a month for over a year — all because of a wooden pole across an east-west highway guarded by two Mongolian soldiers. The utter idiocy of the argument advanced by Marshall is apparent. We could not take the "risk" of sending motorized equipment over the ground lanes into Berlin, but we could and did send transport planes on tens of thousands of flights through the airplanes into Berlin without any risk.

The "no win" policy of the State Department was as evident then, in 1948, as it is today when former Gen. Walker is making such an accusation. Murphy stated also that President Truman did not agree with reasoning or lack of reasoning as advanced by Marshall and the chiefs of staff. Truman said if they would put before him an order, as Murphy and Clay recommended, he would sign it.

The Soviet won in that case, even though the airlift did keep the West Berliners from starvation. The Soviet made a bluff and we did not call it. The building of the barrier through Berlin is in violation in agreement made with the Soviet in 1944, in London, which guaranteed free access to all parts of Berlin. Here again we failed to call the Soviet bluff when they began erecting that wall around their thousands of prisoners. A "no win" policy for us, but always a "win" for the communists.

The former Gen. Walker who was relieved of his command in Germany and subsequently resigned from the Army, declared before the Senate committee that

The American Way

By ROBERT MORRIS

THEY MUST BE WRAITHS. (EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Morris, President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief counsel of the Senate's Subcommittee on Internal Security.)

Even though the damage wrought by Khrushchev's fifth column here among us has been monumental, with our paralysis with respect to nuclear testing in the atmosphere putting it now again in sharp focus, the powerful campaign to minimize or deny its existence continues to flourish.

Every day's press gives prominent space to those "experts" who contend that there is no danger to our survival as a free nation from within. People who have had no experience whatever in the highly technical area of internal security are being heralded as authoritative voices swelling the chorus that tells us all is well in this vital area.

Seven hundred million Chinese are in bondage largely because of what our communists and fellow travelers accomplished here. Cuba is Soviet today because of pressures within the United States. In the Congo, where there are no indigenous communists, Soviet power has been imported by Rajeshwar Dayal and a clique of U.N. officials, with our support, who have fashioned a classical communist coalition government.

Espionage, according to our attorney general, is now more extensive than ever. Soviet intelligence, downgrading its communist party here, has been putting stress instead on its underground apparatus, its U.N. delegations and representatives, and its blackmailing and its pressuring of officials with past indiscretions and deviations of character.

As J. Edgar Hoover keeps warning us, the communists in the United States are stronger than ever because external Soviet power behind them is stronger than ever. The external and internal threats are not mutually exclusive. The internal threat is greater than ever because the external threat is greater.

One of the poorest gauges of Soviet power within the United States is the numerical strength of the American Communist Party. After the Internal Security Act of 1950 was passed, Soviet Intelligence began to dismantle the CPUSA. It became the target of the law and emphasis was put elsewhere.

Yet, people who proved themselves competent in assessing the progress of the communists up until then, kept their eyes on that ball, on the erroneous assumption that that was still the prime Soviet instrumentally. Meanwhile, particularly after Khrushchev's ascent to power, Soviet tactics changed and entirely new strategies were employed.

Khrushchev's weapon "peaceful coexistence" which calls for our neutrality while Soviet aggressions continue, is highly successful today because the leaders of our society do not even understand it. Obligingly, Americans of good reputation are stepping forth and are taking upon themselves the task of neutralizing our churches, our educational structures, our powerful foundations and our mass communications media. Under "peaceful coexistence" it is literally true that evil men, will triumph if only good men do nothing and remain neutral in man's greatest struggle.

Castro is assembling a powerful arsenal. He is building missile-launching pads and has the rockets and missiles. He is assembling thousands of MIG planes and Soviet tanks—all directed against our land. Yet the Committee for Fair Play of Cuba, Soviet financed and directed, moves among us and is attempting to paralyze us from counter action against this obvious menace.

We are losing our lead in nuclear weapons principally because this same advance guard of Khrushchev has successfully maintained its campaign over the last five years and induced us to assume the fatuous posture of refusing to test in the atmosphere, even at random, our existing stockpiles or our new weapons.

When one observes the spectacular successes of the Soviets here in the United States in the last few years and then hears over and over that there are virtually no communists here, he can only conclude that Soviet forces must be wraiths.

he was made "a scapegoat of an unwritten policy of collaboration and collusion with the international communist conspiracy."

It will be difficult for the appeasers to disprove the indelible record of where we collaborated with the Reds when we should have clobbered them. Walker's testimony gives encouragement to those who demand an end to the "no win" policies of the government.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

According to English dictionaries "peaceful coexistence" means "living side-by-side in peace." According to the Communist Manifesto it "... is a form of class struggle between socialism and capitalism. It implies intensification of the struggle ... for the triumph of Socialist ideas."

According to Mr. Khrushchev "Peaceful coexistence ... facilitates the activities of Communist parties."

"Peaceful coexistence" for the Communists means a one-way street on which the Communists may foment riots, promote local wars and revolutions and as Khrushchev says: "The Communists fully support such just wars and march in the front rank with the peoples waging liberation struggles."

While the Communists may fully support such wars as "just" and "sacred," the West may not interfere in such activities or try to promote the liberation of Communist - enslaved peoples anywhere because to do so would be "warmongering."

Both the Communist Manifesto and Mr. Khrushchev declare: "The ideological and political disputes between states must not be settled through war." A general war would destroy Communism as Khrushchev well knows and he therefore opposes it and advocates disarmament while, at the same time, stepping up activities in the promotion of a great many local wars. He can win these because so far the West has tolerated them and continued to retreat rather than arouse itself to full-scale action for the destruction of Communism. As long as the Communists can deceive and cajole the West into following that ideology, they are winning and we are losing.

Suppose a gang of thugs invade your front yard and camp on your porch. You prepare to resist but they plead for "peaceful coexistence" and offer to evacuate the porch and camp on the front lawn. You avoid a fight by accepting. The next day they are inside your front door again pleading for peaceful coexistence, as you prepare to drive them out. For the sake of peace you accept their offer to leave the porch and camp on the front porch. The next day they enter your house and seize your wife and your daughter and then plead for peace. "Let's don't fight," they say, "but dwell together as friends." They then offer to release your wife and daughter in return for the privilege of dwelling in a portion of your house with every protestation of peace and friendship. You accede rather than fight and the next day they take over the whole house and enslave you and your family.

That is a crude illustration of the way the Communists operate. Their understanding of peaceful coexistence is an arrangement permitting them to pursue their propaganda, subversive activities, infiltration and local wars everywhere — all in the name of peace and friendship while the West may not resist or aggressively oppose, for that would make us warmongers.

Unless the West is capable of understanding this ruse and is firmly resolved to stop it at whatever cost, it will continue under freedom, self-government and Western Christian civilization as we have known them are obliterated.

Take your choice, my friends. If these values are not worth defending, then give up and perish. But if they are, then act like men and be worthy of your great heritage.

Fact

The advertisement has existed from ancient times. Traders made themselves known and called attention to their products by mural inscriptions before the age of printing. A papyrus, reputed to be 3,000 years old, was discovered at Thebes. On it was written a form of the modern lost and found advertisement: a reward was offered for a runaway slave.

Allen - Scott Report

NASA to Probe Life on Moon, Venus and Mars 10 Year Plan Disclosed To House Committee

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The search for life in space is becoming the most "exciting" mission in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's rapidly expanding program.

A well-financed and scientifically designed 10-year program is being quietly prepared by NASA scientists to determine whether life in any form exists on the moon, Mars and Venus.

This search for extraterrestrial life, which is getting underway this year, involves the launching into space of some of the most complex instruments ever devised by man.

That's the private report Homer E. Newell, director of NASA's Office of Space Sciences, presented to the House Space Committee in outlining the first public details of this program.

"The most exciting mission of the space program is the search for extra-terrestrial life," Newell told the Committee. "Although no real answers to this question are presently available, we hope within the next decade to obtain the answers with a well-financed and scientifically designed program." Newell revealed that NASA's search for life on the moon will begin later this year "by sending instruments which will examine the planet for evidence of organic compounds, proteinaceous substances, and living organisms."

A specially-made radioisotope device, called the "Multivator," will be sent aboard the next Ranger spacecraft. It will conduct 24 different scientific observations of micro-organisms on the moon.

Devised by Nobel Prize Winner, Dr. Joshua Lederberg, this instrument is in essence a miniature biological and biochemical laboratory. Its observations will be radioed back to earth. Scientists believe these findings will accurately tell whether there is any form of life on the moon.

Newell reported that two other highly complex instruments also would be used to probe the moon for life.

The "Wolf Trap," designed by Dr. Wolf Vishniac at the University of Rochester, will suck in soil and air samples that will then be used to inoculate a culture medium.

Subsequent biological activity will cause the growth of any organisms in the samples. The findings, after being radioed back to earth, will tell whether any of the organisms are comparable to those found on earth.

A high-resolution TV camera is also being designed to detect plants and organisms. At least one of these cameras should be ready for use early in 1963.

EXPLORING MARS — After exploration of the moon, NASA's search for life in space will center on Mars and Venus during the next three to four years.

"Mars and Venus are the two planets which will receive our early attention," Newell told the legislators. "Both of these planets are extremely interesting; Venus because of its mysterious clouds, and Mars because of the appearance of certain qualities indicating the possibility of life and a climate not too hostile to man."

The answer to life on Mars is expected in 1964 when NASA lands a Mariner spacecraft on the planet.

"TV pictures will be taken of Mars in 1964 to establish whether any life-like forms are present on the surface," Newell reported. "It is not generally thought that life on Mars will compare with anything like the variety we know on earth, but we will never know until we undertake this experiment."

After listening to Newell's startling testimony, Representative George Miller (D., Calif.), chairman, concluded the hearing, stating:

"A serious discussion of such a subject would have caused laughter and ridicule a few years ago. The subject is one that scientists prefer to talk about only in private to avoid public scorn. Today's discussion points up a significant transformation taking place in Congress and the Administration in their consideration of scientific problems."

PROBING THE HEAVENS — So intriguing is the possibility of communication with other planets that the National Academy of Sciences sponsored an unannounced conference earlier this year at Green Bank, W. Va., to review the situation. Many of the world's top scientists attended. Green Bank was chosen for the meeting because of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory there. Since 1960, one of its station's huge dish antennas has been used, unsuccessfully so far, to intercept signals from other planetary systems. Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Experimental Station in England, believes there is a real possibility of life on other planets. In an unusual appearance before the House Space Committee, he reported that at least four per cent of the billions of stars in the universe must have planets capable of sustaining organic development. Dr. Harrison S. Brown, a noted geochemist at the California Institute of Technology, describes the possibility of extraterrestrial life as "one of the most important and exciting questions confronting the world today." He told the committee recently that "life is a very abundant commodity in our universe."

WAGES AND PRICES IN STEEL

(Christian Economics)

Some idea of where the responsibility for the wage-price spiral lies, may be gained from reflecting on the fact that steel prices rose 174 per cent from 1940-1960 while hourly employment costs of the industry rose 322 per cent, nearly twice as much, during the same period. During those same years, hourly wages increased from 90 1/2 cents to $3.82. This far more than overbalanced the productivity gains resulting from some $15 billion of new capital invested in the steel industry during these years. The new and more efficient equipment purchased with this money tended to decrease unit costs but not as much as the 322 per cent increase in wages tended to raise them. Shipments of steel per man-hour worked improved less than 40 per cent while the cost of the labor rose by the previously stated 322 per cent.

A study of these figures makes clear the reason for advancing steel prices. It is estimated that the increase in wages of steel workers becoming effective October 1 will add some $200 million per year in labor costs to the steel industry in our country.

We are not opposed to labor. We want the maximum possible for our workers. But pricing ourselves out of the market resulting in unemployment is not the way to obtain it.

Lower wages with lower prices and full employment is the way to better living conditions. Higher and higher hourly wages with higher and higher unit costs and shrinking markets with a accompanying unemployment is the way to lower living standards and more suffering.

The free market results in the maximum of employment and the maximum real wages for all producers. Any interference with it decreases the amount of human satisfaction and the total over-all production of wealth.

WE CAN'T DO EVERYTHING

(Industrial News Review)

It is high time the illusion was dispipated, that increases in defense spending are almost entirely responsible for late year jumps in total federal spending.

Between fiscal 1955 and fiscal 1963, Tax Foundation tells us, 30 per cent — going from $41 billion to $53 billion. In that same period all other federal spending soared 68 per cent — more than twice as much, in percentage terms — going from $24 billion to $40 billion.

Much of the increase can be accounted for by federal aid to state and local governments — aid which goes to pay for a thousand and one projects these governments used to provide for themselves or, considering them unnecessary, didn't provide at all. An average of 14 cents out of every dollar of state and local government financing in fiscal 1960 came from the U.S. Treasury. Total: Almost $7 billion — enough to buy quite a quantity of weapons, or to bring about a noticeable dent in taxes.

It doesn't look as if we can make ourselves militarily secure in dog-eat-dog world, maintain the value of the dollar, and finance an endlessly demanding Welfare State — all at the same time.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On some San Salvador streets, nails were scattered to puncture automobile tires.

Some names were missing from qualified voter lists. And signs proclaimed El Salvador's one man, one party election simply was a boost for "military tyranny and the Yankee embassy."

But the election returning El Salvador from provisional to constitutional government went off rather peacefully, chiefly because the election of former army Lt. Col. Julio Adalberto Rivera was a foregone conclusion. His national conciliation party was the only one in the race.

Although it is traditional in El Salvador, tiniest and most densely populated country in Central America, that no presidential support of the military, Rivera had labored manfully to remove himself from the army label.

He campaigned on the slogan that a candidate need only know "the problems of his people and how to meet them."

The single candidacy left something to be desired in the way of democratic processes. Rivera's army background disturbed some and his announced policies of social reform bothered others, especially those aligned with the "14 families" who for generations have held most of El Salvador's land and practically all of its power.

But the lack of opposition could not be laid entirely at Rivera's doorstep and throughout Latin America the election itself had a significance out of proportion to El Salvador's size. The issues involved precisely the requirements set forth by the United States for participation in the Alliance for Progress Program.

The first of these, on Oct. 28, 1960, overthrew President Jose Maria Lemus, whose police brutality against student demonstrations had aroused widespread resentment.

The new rulers proved unable or unwilling to halt a drift to the left and themselves fell on Jan. 25, 1961.

On Feb. 15, President Kennedy announced the new Salvador government had declared its "determination to bring about free and democratic elections...and it seeks solutions for the economic and social difficulties which that country has faced...we hope to be able to assist El Salvador..."

Both the United States and the new government acted swiftly. The U. S. set up loans or credits totalling around $40 million and sent in experts to aid Salvador's agriculture. In almost daily decrees the government set up widespread reforms, including both tax and land.
