

Commissioner, Oil Company Squabble Due 'Showdown' Thursday

A squabble between City Commissioner Leon Holmes and the Continental Oil Company will come to a head here Thursday when Justice of the Peace J. W. (Bill) Graham conducts a hearing on an eviction notice.

Holmes, who has leased the Conoco Service Station at the intersection of highways 60 and 70 for eight years, received a letter "telling him he had 30 days to vacate the premises (of the station) and when he refused to do so, the eviction papers were served," according to O. G. Keatts, 1723 Chestnut, Continental's district representative.

Keatts is under $100 bond following an altercation at the service station last Wednesday. A charge of aggravated assault against Keatts was filed in County Court Wednesday after Holmes alleged Keatts tried to wrest a paper from his (Holmes') wife, Dorothy, while the two were going over some inventory lists at the station. Keatts pleaded not guilty and posted the bond.

Holmes said that he intervened in the dispute between his wife and Keatts and "I turned him around and hit him in the jaw, then pulled him away and hit him again." Charges against Keatts were filed the same morning.

Holmes said Saturday that he did receive a letter June 30 telling him to move out and take his equipment with him. "I wrote the company for an explanation and got no reason," he said.

Holmes added that, "I believe that the reason for the eviction stems from the June 5 City Commission meeting when I voted against acceptance of Conoco's low bid on the 1962-63 city gasoline contract. I voted against it because I felt a local jobber should have received the contract since Conoco pays no taxes in Pampa on trucks, storage and investments. Keatts was present at the meeting when I voted against the contract and he left on vacation immediately thereafter. Three weeks later, June 30, I received the 'move-out' letter. When I leased the business in 1954 I understood I could lease the station for a life time."

Keatts, who said a statement from his company would be forthcoming about the first of the week, said of Holmes that, "As a representative of the company, his lease is expired. The Continental Oil Company offered Holmes cash for his equipment and stock, but he refused."

Holmes said of this, "If a reasonable amount of settlement had been offered I would have accepted. I am still operating the station and will continue to do so until I am advised by my attorney to quit the premises."

Holmes, serving his second term as City Commissioner, is also regional vice-president of the Texas Service Station Association.

The hearing in Judge Graham's court is slated for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Photo Negative Led To Charge In Murder Case

DALLAS (UPI) — The body of the dead woman was on the bed but detectives found in the room a photographic negative that showed the same body on the floor.

That was the main reason homicide detectives charges James Harvey Moore, 24, Saturday with maliciously murdering his 19-year-old wife, Mary, last Thursday.

Moore is a former ambulance driver. In a handwritten statement, he admitted choking his wife in a jealous rage, but did not say he killed her.

Homicide detectives also found that a patrolman knew about Mrs. Moore's death but did not report it because he is a friend of Moore.

Moore himself telephoned police last Thursday and said he had come home to find his wife dead. Police found her lying on her back in bed, fully clothed.

There was a string of beads around her neck and bruises on her neck indicated that someone had used the beads as a garrot. There also was a negative of a photograph made by a camera (Polaroid) that develops and prints the pictures it takes.

Another print made in the police laboratory from the negative showed Mrs. Moore's body on the floor. Police started looking for the camera.

Moore admitted owning such a camera. Homicide detectives found the camera, as well as two of Mrs. Moore's rings, in the possession of the patrolman.

The patrolman, not identified, signed an affidavit saying he knew about Mrs. Moore's death but did not report it. When Moore saw the affidavit he wrote out a statement.

He said he and his wife got into an argument. She told him she did not love him and wanted a divorce.

"I asked her if she had been running around on me and she said 'Yes,'" his statement said.

He said he grabbed her by the throat and they fell struggling to the floor. When she hit the floor, Moore said, he took his hands from her throat.

Factory Militia Shows Up Reds Are Strengthening Berlin Anti-Refugee Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — Tough Communist factory militiamen showed up in numbers along the Berlin anti-refugee wall Saturday for the first time since the barrier was built almost a year ago.

About 200 of the brown-uniformed "fighting group" joined in strengthening the Communist wall. West Berlin police said about 270 regular East German border troops also were on wall-building duty.

Four Russian officers drove into West Berlin Saturday to look at a small hole blown in the concrete wall about 1 a.m.

The hole was about the size of a man's head. West Berlin police said they made no arrests.

Russians on Prowl
At least two sedans carrying Russians were reported prowling the side streets around the U.S. headquarters Saturday.

The appearance of the factory militia surprised West Berlin officials.

The factory groups last were seen in any numbers when the wall went up last Aug. 13. They were sent back to their jobs with a ceremonial parade on Stalinallee—now renamed Karl Marx Allee—and acclaim from East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht.

The factory battle groups are considered extremely loyal to Ulbricht, who has been closely associated with the Communist militia since it was founded during the 1918-1923 Red uprisings in Germany.

The factory group fighters are dedicated Communists. Many are veterans of the Spanish civil war. Their principal nominal duty is to protect their factories and industrial installations against attacks in war or revolution.

Military Arm
In practice, they are the military arm of the party organization and can be called out of the factories at any time in case of uprising or rebellion. Armed with light weapons, mostly Czech-made submachine guns, they are trained street-fighters.

West German government officials estimate about 320,000-350,000 East Germans are members of the factory battle groups.

During the night, a Communist border guard escaped across the wall, but another refugee was caught by six Eastern policemen, West Berlin police reported. The arrested man was believed to be a border-guard who attempted to flee.

Resumption Of Nuclear Tests Seen

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union starts a 10-week series of secret war games in the Arctic Sunday which were expected to mark the resumption of its nuclear tests.

Military maneuvers were scheduled to take place over a vast stretch of icy land and water between the Baents and Kara seas and to last until Oct. 20. Western observers expect the first atomic explosions of a new Soviet test series to come on opening day, or shortly afterward.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky is believed to be in the far north to observe the war games, which an official announcement issued July 24 said were designed to test "various types of modern arms."

Heads for Vacation
Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev headed for a Black Sea vacation and apparently plans to skip at least the initial phases, if he plans to view the maneuvers at all.

The war games will include units of the Soviet northern fleet and air and rocket forces. Although there has been no announcement, it was considered possible that other Warsaw Pact nations may hold maneuvers to coincide with the Soviet Exercises.

Western observers believe the Soviets might include tests of a new Polaris-style missile they claim to possess. The official Tass news agency reported several weeks ago that Khrushchev had watched the firings of one of these missiles from a submerged atomic submarine at Leningrad. But the dispatch did not indicate whether a nuclear warhead was used then.

It also was considered possible the Russians could be planning further tests of the anti-missile missile which Khrushchev has said is accurate enough to "hit a fly in space."

But military experts of the United States, whose own Nike Zeus anti-missile missile has successfully intercepted an Atlas nose cone in flight, have said they still do not believe Russia has an anti-missile defense that can ward off all attacks.

44 Wait To See If They Caught Dread Disease Which Killed British Scientist

LONDON (UPI) — Forty-four persons waited in isolation and tension behind closed doors today to see if they caught the dread disease that already has killed one British scientist.

The 44 were those who came in close contact with Geoffrey Bacon, 44, a germ warfare expert who died Wednesday of pneumonic plague following experiments at the government's super-secret Microbiological Research Center (MBE) in southern England.

Medical experts said those who were exposed must wait eight days to know if they caught the plague from Bacon. Thus far, authorities said all of Bacon's known contacts were free of the disease.

"If no further cases of the disease appear by Aug. 12, the chances of it spreading will then be extremely remote," the director of the research center said.

Authorities hospitalized 30 persons who came in contact with Bacon before he was stricken last Sunday with the pulmonary variation of the "black plague," or bubonic plague, which killed millions of persons in Europe in the Middle Ages. Twelve others, including Bacon's wife and two children, were under observation at home. Two others, the daughters of a meteorological officer at the research station who are now in Al Adem, Libya, were confined there. All are under strict quarantine and all are being treated with preventive medicine.

Bacon was a scientist at the MBE, located in Porton, a town near Salisbury southwest of London. The MBE is the British government's germ warfare center, and newsmen who visited the site last month were told that the plague germ was being studied there. It was believed Bacon was working on the germ, and may have fallen victim to it.

By the middle of October, a seven-mile section of State Highway 273 between Pampa and Lefors will be completely rebuilt to replace a crooked 18-foot-wide concrete pavement with a straighter, modern, asphaltic-concrete highway.

"It begins one mile south of Pampa on State Highway 273, extends seven miles southeast toward Lefors and includes two loop routes, both to be called Loop 171. One connects 273 with U.S. Highway 60, east of Pampa, and the other extends from 273 west to State Highway 70," G. K. Reading, supervising Texas Highway Department resident engineer, said.

"Construction will start later this year on another section from the North Fork of Red River to a point nine miles north of McLean. Nine miles of highway 273 from McLean has already been reconditioned and leaves only six miles in the vicinity of Lefors to complete the gap."

The engineering supervision is conducted from the Pampa office of the State Highway department, under Reading's direction.

He estimates the cost of the project in operation at $900,000, which includes $300,000 for the two loops and a highway overpass over the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, seven miles southeast of Pampa.

The only major structure on the project is this grade separation structure, four-tenths of a mile, $90,000 concrete and steel bridge with a 44-foot-wide roadway and 20 concrete supporting columns.

"The project is financed by state and federal funds with Gray County participating 50 per cent in all additional right-of-way costs," he said.

"At present we are completing the grade separation structure. (See HIGHWAY, Page 3)

In Meeting Of City Commission

First Reading Of Rezoning Ordinance Okayed; Bid Let

The City Commission okayed the first reading of an ordinance rezoning three separate areas of the city, let a bid, and interviewed another engineer in its meeting in City Hall Friday night.

The first reading of Zoning Ordinance No. 184 was approved, setting the stage for rezoning three areas of the city into the highest strictly residential zoning available, "A" Dwelling.

The three areas, one in south Pampa near Carver School and the other two near high school in north Pampa, will, if the ordinance is approved on the next two readings, be zoned for only one house on each lot with residents not allowed to conduct a business from their homes, among other regulations.

Sullins Plumbing Company was awarded the job of air conditioning the Palm Room in City Hall at a cost of $3,980. The air conditioning will have a 122,000 B.T.U. capacity and will be completed within 14 days.

In other action, the commission heard a report from the Public Improvement Committee for Ward Four in which it was recommended that the city provide playground equipment in Hollywood Park, just south of Carver School, and restore or move several old buildings in the park said to be in bad condition. The group also advised installing several traffic control signs in the area. The commission is studying both requests.

Members of the committee present were Jerome Henry, W. J. Moore and James Morgan.

Also, the group: —Approved payment of bills, in the amount of $24 for the purchase of 40 pads of U.S. Department of the Interior. (See COMMISSION, Page 3)

Wants Estes Assets

DALLAS (UPI) — A renewed effort will be made Monday to dispose of bankrupt farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes' assets to the highest bidder.

The top offer was believed to have been made by Morris D. Jaffee, 40-year-old San Antonio businessman. Jaffee headed a group reported to have made an offer of $6.5 million. The properties are subject to debts of $13.5 million.

In New York, the president of Commercial Solvents, Maynard G. Wheeler, planned to surrender Monday on an indictment returned at Amarillo, Tex. accusing him and Estes of conspiring to violate Texas' anti-trust laws and fix fertilizer prices.

The father told their pastor and together the two of them found the bodies of Herman Paulson, 44, his wife, Lorraine, 35, and their three daughters.

The bodies were found in separate rooms in their white frame farm home northwest of this tiny rural village near the Minnesota border.

Each had been shot through the head.

Brockings County, State's Attorney Gordon Myrdal refused to release the name of the boy. He said he would not reveal the name until formal murder charges are filed Monday.

The slayings occurred about 10 o'clock Friday night, "as near as we can tell," Myrdal said. "The boy told the father what he had done this morning."

The body of 13-year-old Karlyn Paulson was found nude in an upstairs bedroom, tied hand and foot with clothesline rope and leather shoestrings.

Youth Kills 5 On Neighboring Farm

VOLGA, S. D. (UPI) — A farm youth shot and killed five members of a neighboring family Friday night and blurted out the story to his father, authorities said Saturday.

W. L. Loving Promoted To Cabot's Top Worldwide Carbon Black Post

The promotion of W. L. Loving to one of the top positions in Cabot's Carbon Black Division is one of the many changes in the West Texas area since Loving was a resident of this city for many years.

Among several organizational changes recently announced by Louis W. Cabot, president of Cabot Corporation, Loving was given world-wide responsibility for the management of the company's carbon black business. This will include such activities as production, scheduling, planning, technical research, quality and cost control. He will also be in charge of the U.S. Carbon Black Sales organization, Sales Service organization.

Loving came to Cabot in Panama in 1935, starting as a member of the Research and Development group. The family resided at 1308 Charles, and took an active part in community affairs. In 1940, he became Director of Research and Development, Western Region, and in 1954 was made Executive Assistant to the General Manager, Carbon Black Department.

He was elected a Vice President in 1955, and in 1960 was transferred to Boston to become Vice President, Carbon Black Research and Domestic Production.

Students Attend Student Council Workshop Meet

CANADIAN (Sp) — Members of the Canadian High School Student Council and their sponsor, Mrs. Lovilla Kessie, left Saturday morning to attend a week long Student Council Workshop at Sul Ross State College at Alpine which begins today.

Susie Owens, Janie Jackson, Annette Arnold, Joyce Thorne, Kenny Koch, David Cook, Bill Grist, Mike Cullender and Eddie Snyder will attend the week-long workshop. Mrs. Kessie will serve on the staff as a counselor. Mrs. Albert Thorne will also accompany the group.

Director of the workshop will be Walter L. Reed, principal of Levelland High School. Consultant will be Miss Julia McKemie of Hughes, Ark., executive secretary of the Arkansas Student Council Association.

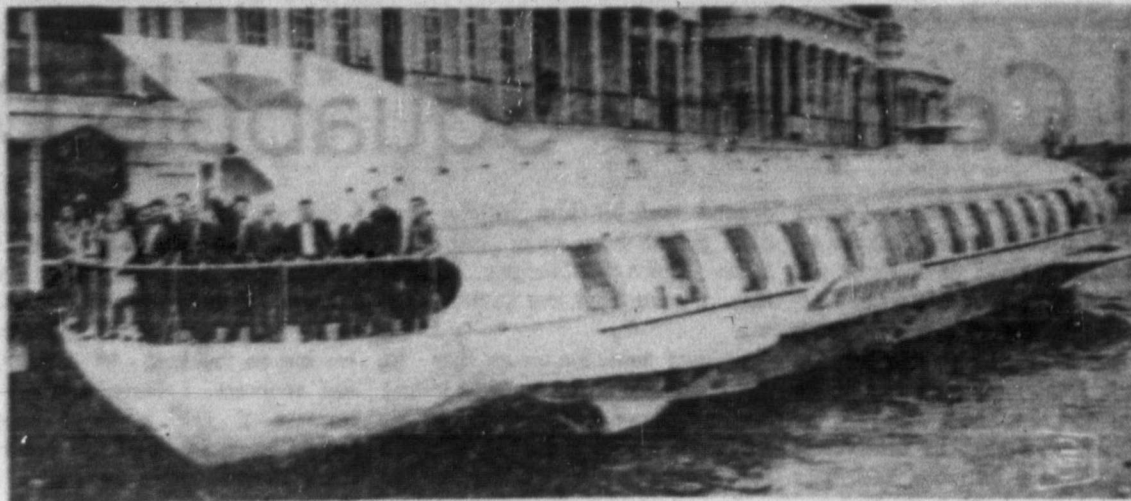

The Canadian group plans to spend Saturday night in Carlsbad, N. M. and on their return trip, stop in Big Springs on Friday night.

Vaccination Program Set

LEFORS (Sp) — Dr. N. L. Nicholl, Pampa veterinarian, will be in Lefors Friday, August 10, to vaccinate dogs against rabies. Mayor Frank Wall announced this week.

All persons owning dogs are asked to bring the animals to city hall for the rabies shots.

After this date all dogs not bearing a tag will be picked up. The city plans to go to the expense of building a pen to keep stray dogs in that are not given the rabies shot.

(Continued From Page 1) expected to announce individual nuclear explosions in any new test series. But highly-sensitive monitoring stations abroad were expected to pick up and analyze the blasts. The last Soviet nuclear test was recorded on Nov. 4 1961. It would up a series of more than 50 nuclear explosions last year, including one of more than 50 million tons—the equivalent of 50 million tons of TNT. Soviet propaganda has portrayed the new Russian testing program as an answer to the current U.S. atomic tests in the Pacific. But Khrushchev has indicated the Soviets may test to consider these the last tests. In an interview last month with visiting U.S. newspaper editors he indicated the Kremlin may push hard for an atomic test ban agreement when this test series is completed.

The Lighter Side On Sorting Out The Longs

By DICK WEST United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—The recent primary election in Louisiana was my signal to perform another genealogical service of the type rendered last year when I successfully explained the difference, as well as the connection, between the Biddle Drexels and the Drexel Biddles of Pennsylvania. I shall now attempt to sort out and label the Longs. It would perhaps be well to begin this task by separating the Louisiana Longs from the non-Louisiana Longs. This will help the reader to keep them straight in his mind. Since the founding of the republic, there have been a total of 15 Longs in Congress, plus a Longworth and a Longyear. Longs with appendages, however, are not germane to this study and the reader is advised not to let them muddy the water. Of the 15 short Longs, there have been 11 non-Louisiana Longs and 4 Louisiana Longs. Next year, if all goes according to form, the Louisiana Longs will get No. 5. Three in Senate Non-Louisiana Longs include two present members of the Senate, Edward V. of Missouri and Oren E. of Hawaii. The only Louisiana Long currently in Congress is Sen. Russell B. Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. feels Wednesday's market reaction was strictly technical. While some moderate offerings will still have to be absorbed, he believes that buying opportunities will again present themselves shortly. This, he says, is a good sign "and we would not be at all surprised after some further consolidation, to see the industrial average move even higher. In this respect, there is no strong overhead resistance above the 600 level so that we could well see an important extension of the summer rally." Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says the most encouraging factor on recent declines has been the drying up of liquidation. He says however, that it is too early to be certain that another setback from the 500-600 levels of the industrial average could not carry back to the 500-700 area of stronger support. Goodbody & Co. says recent stock market action has been encouraging, but investors, will probably have to await post-Labor Day business developments to offer a solid basis for any major new move. In the meantime, the house would take advantage of present opportunities to acquire good quality stocks which, at current prices, offer clearly defined long-term value and reasonable income.

KANSAS CITY, MO. — A Federal Aviation Agency spokesman, commenting on the near-collision Tuesday of two jetliners with 184 persons aboard: "The error obviously was at the control center. The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Sunday, Aug. 5 the 217th day of 1962 with 148 to follow. The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus. On this day in history: In 1858, the first cable across the Atlantic Ocean was completed, stretching between Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, and Valentia, Ireland — a distance of 1,900 statute miles. In 1861, the U.S. government levied a tax on income, setting a three per cent rate on all income in excess of $800. In 1876, "Wild Bill" Hickok, a U. S. marshal and one of the most colorful figures of the Wild West, was killed in a saloon in Deadwood, S.D. In 1917, the entire U.S. National Guard was drafted into the Army for World War I service. A thought for the day: William Gladstone, the English statesman, said: "National injustice is the surest road to national downfall."

"Parts of the road have been relocated to produce flatter curves, better alignment and easier grades. In April, we started with 18-foot-wide concrete pavement and have widened it to a 26-foot-paved riding surface with an eight foot paved shoulder on each side." Gilvin and Terrill, Inc., of Amarillo, the project's contractor, employs 60 men and uses a half million dollars worth of equipment on the project. The highway is part of a federal route from McLean to Hartley and is being reconditioned because the old highway was inadequate to handle its increasing traffic load. State Highway officials in Pampa who are responsible for the project are Reading: Joe Farrow, chief inspector; Robert Morris, engineering aid in charge of laboratories; George Jones, chief inspector of bridges; T. R. Kelley, senior resident engineer and assistant to Reading and James Baird, party chief in charge of surveys. "Every piece of material used in these highways is pre-tested in our laboratories here or in the state laboratory in Austin," Reading said. "To build this highway, dirt was first treated with a hydrated lime solution to make it moisture-proof. "A rough grade base material, Caliche, is being applied and the final base of crushed gravel will be applied before hot asphalt and concrete is poured over the roadway." "This is part of the state highway improvement program which is being done all over the state," Reading concluded.

But Grandeur Fades

Missiles, Like Old Soldiers, Never Die

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Missiles, like old soldiers, never die. But as far as grandeur in the public eye is concerned, they do tend to fade away.

One of these veterans of rocketry made a rare public appearance Wednesday in the skies above this sprawling test center and—after a few, thunderous minutes—turned back the pages of space-age history books.

It was called Jupiter, and there was a time, only two or three years ago, when that was one of the most awesome of a string of "glamor" names for a new breed of giant machines that were starting to fly through space.

Jupiter gained its fame on three counts—it was one of America's earliest ballistic missiles, it was a direct descendant of the fearsome V-2 rocket of World War II and it was the pride and joy of the one rocket scientist whose name everyone seemed to remember. Werner von Braun.

Good Old Days

In what some around here refer to as the "good old days," hundreds of thrilled spectators would line the beaches daily and nightly—sometimes around the clock—to witness a launching of Jupiter by von Braun and a U. S. Army team that was trying to build a tremendous new weapon.

Generally, it would be a military flight of about 1,500 miles. But sometimes, the crowds of amateur "birdwatchers" were lucky enough to view a satellite launching by the Uno-2, a sort of "T-model" space booster that used a Jupiter as the first stage.

Wednesday, there were no large crowds. The few witnesses were mostly tourists who are enamored of names like Mercury and Atlas and Saturn and who saw this relic of a bygone era blast off only because they happened to look up at the right time.

Even the inside of the blockhouse was different. Gone from the "countdown" was the tight, guttural German, to be replaced by a final "three . . . two . . . one . . ." in crisp, business-like Italian.

Routine Exercise

When the Jupiter had done its job by landing a dummy warhead on a target some 1,500 miles away, the official announcement by the U. S. Department of Defense reflected the change in the times by calling the shot "a routine combat training launch exercise."

Jupiter was washed out of the U. S. space program when newer, more powerful rockets came along to do the job cheaper and more efficiently.

As a military weapon, Jupiter stands at the head of the class in reliability. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization considered it dependable enough to station 60 of the rockets, with nuclear tips, in Europe—30 in Italy, 30 in Turkey.

The Italian troops of that nation's 36th Aerobrigade came here Wednesday to practice firing the Jupiter, and both men and weapon passed the test.

New Game Of 'Chicken' Out

WICHITA FALLS (UPI) — The grand jury inspected the new Wichita County jail Wednesday and found young inmates playing a game called "chicken" with lighted cigarettes.

The game was played like this: One prisoner pressed his left arm against another prisoner's right arm, with a lighted cigarette between the two arms.

As the cigarette burned down, it blistered the arms of the prisoners. The first one to pull away was "chicken."

The grand jury was shocked. It ordered Sheriff Ham Vance to stop all his prisoners from smoking.

CAVALCADE OF STAMPS

CAVALCADE OF STAMPS—The first U.S. postage stamps sold by the post office department in 1847 were the 10-cent Washington, upper left, and the 5-cent Franklin, upper right. The commemorative Remington, lower left, was the first five-color stamp ever issued and is generally regarded as the most striking stamp produced by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Stark design of the multicolor nursing commemorative, lower right, was both praised and criticized by philatelists, who the Post Office says provide the liveliest reading received by any federal agency.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On the record so far of the Democratic-controlled 87th Congress, Republicans might be content if the Democrats won the 88th Congress to be elected in November.

A Republican presidential nominee in 1964 then might reasonably hope to duplicate the triumph of Harry S. Truman in 1948. Truman made the Republican-controlled 80th Congress his principal 1948 campaign issue. He said the 80th was the worst, ever, a do-nothing Congress.

The Democrats had nominated HST reluctantly. They didn't expect him to win. The Truman-Alben W. Barkley ticket won and carried a Democratic Congress into office as well. Grateful Democrats promptly rewarded HST and Barkley at the taxpayers' expense. The President's salary was hiked from $75,000 to $100,000 annually and he was voted a $50,000 annual tax-free expense account.

Financial Rewards

Congress voted also to raise congressional salaries and provided tax-free expense accounts for the vice president and speaker. Congress appropriated $2,500 to provide Barkley a gold medal. These rewards were symbolic of Democratic surprise and delight at finding their party in control of government after a campaign they had entered with little hope and no confidence.

The record of the first Kennedy Congress is badly marked. A smart campaigner could turn such a record against a Democratic presidential nominee in 1964. Republican campaigners expect to harvest votes on that issue this year. They combine hope with confidence that the voters will return a Republican majority to the House of Representatives in November.

If so, President Kennedy's 1964 reelection campaign will be unwritten by an effective alibi for whatever may afflict the Democrats in the new 88th Congress.

The composition of the Senate is such that the Republicans cannot win control. Senate terms are staggered so that only one-third of the seats regularly are filled at any congressional election. A Republican House in the 88th Congress, however, would blur the issue of responsibility for what Congress does or does not accomplish.

Program in Jeopardy

The record of the current 87th Congress is not blurred. Congress would look better if it were. This is the eighth month of this session. Most of the Kennedy program has been defeated so far or stymied. The elderly gentlemen who chair the two appropriations committees wrangled for weeks on a question of protocol. Only now is the appropriations log-jam beginning to break up.

The Senate lost itself in a filibuster against the space communications bill. The filibuster was conducted by New Deal-Fair Deal-New Frontier statesmen who long have denounced the filibuster technique as an obscenity. The ease with which these liberals have risen above principle fits the pattern of this 87th Congress. The pattern is not one to increase the respect of the voters for the national legislature or for the legislators.

The Democrats are offering Republicans a real chance to pick themselves up off the floor.

How Is Estes Weathering The Storm?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Few men have fallen as fast and as far from the pinnacle of respect and power as Billie Sol Estes. How is Estes weathering the storm? This is a report from his home town.

By JAMES T. YOUNG
United Press International
PECOS, Tex. (UPI)—Last March, one of the most regular churchgoers in Pecos was a wealthy young businessman named Billie Sol Estes. Four months, three indictments and a congressional investigation later, he still is.

There are enough charges already against Estes, 37, to put him behind bars for life if he is convicted. Grand juries are looking for new charges. He is bankrupt and most of his possessions will soon be sold. But he manages, thanks to $120,000 bond, to lead an almost normal life.

On Sunday morning, his big white Cadillac pulls up in front of the Pecos Church of Christ at Fourth and Bois D'Arc streets.

He, his wife and his five children—one son and four daughters, ranging in age from 5 to 12—attend Sunday school.

Then they attend church. Sunday night, the Estes family is back for night services. Wednesday night, the whole family is back for prayer meeting.

If Estes is worried, he does not show it in church. He wears expensive black or dark blue suits. Sometimes he spruces up with a red necktie.

The congregation and his pastor, Rev. W. S. Boyett, greet him with outstretched hands and smiling faces. The only difference is that Estes is no longer an elder of the church.

He resigned as an elder while he was in jail in early April.

What are Estes' troubles four months after they started piling up?

First is a federal indictment of 29 counts, charging mail fraud, fraudulent documents interstate.

Three co-defendants—Coleman McSpadden, Ruel Alexander and Harold Orr—pleaded guilty July 13 to five counts of the indictments while Estes pleaded innocent to all 29. Their guilty plea staggered Estes.

If U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson gives McSpadden, Alexander and Orr the maximum, it will be 40 years each in prison and a total fine of $41,000 each. There is a widespread belief that McSpadden, Alexander and Orr may be willing to testify against Estes when he comes to trial.

There is an additional federal indictment of eight counts of interstate transportation of fraudulent documents against Estes and the others. Federal officials, it was understood, will dismiss it because the charges are incorporated in the 29-count indictment.

There are four untried state indictments of four counts each against Estes at Pecos, charging swindling, theft, embezzlement and theft by bailee. "Theft by bailee" means theft of property left in his trust.

A federal grand jury in Dallas is considering indicting Estes again. At least one state grand jury is investigating. The federal government has fined him $554,000 for crooked cotton acreage allotment deals.

He is in bankruptcy and his secured creditors are busily filing foreclosures against him. Estes has admitted debts of $38,387,935.87. He claims assets of $20,793,155.95. At best, $67,594,779.92 of his debts will never be paid. Most of his unsecured creditors—those without mortgages—will be left out in the cold.

But there is no sign Estes is suffering—yet. His brother John, an Abilene, Tex., dentist, pays a $177 a month note on his big house. There was a time when even the Estes maid ran errands in a Cadillac. Estes is now down to the one he drives to church, a 1961 model.

Office Manager For Hemphill's ASCS Is Named

CANADIAN (Spl)—James A. Carpenter will begin his duties Monday as office manager of the Hemphill County ASCS, taking the place of Don Watson, who has been transferred to the Hansford County ASCS office at Spearman.

Carpenter, who is presently acting office manager of the Lasalle County ASCS office, has a BS in Animal Husbandry from ACC and an MS in Animal Breeding from Texas A&M. He trained in Grayson County.

Carpenter and his wife, Sue Ann, are the parents of a four-month-old son, Dale Andrew. They are members of the Church of Christ.

He will keep the house, its furnishings and probably the Cadillac, despite the impending sale of his assets. In Texas, the house and furnishings may not be sold out from under him. If the court judges he needs the Cadillac to make a living, he can keep it too.

Many people in Pecos think he has money put away. Commercial Solvents Corp., which furnished most of the fertilizer he sold to farmers, loaned him $400,000 just before he was exposed. The $400,000 has not turned up in any bank deposits, although Estes has sworn that he has no hidden assets.

Estes is never seen on the streets of Pecos. He has a patio and swimming pool behind his big home where he whiles away the time. His children act as if nothing has happened.

They play in front of the house and stay overnight with friends. Friends stay overnight with them.

He still has many friends in Pecos. There was a time when nearly everybody in Pecos was for him. The balance now appears to have changed so that the majority of the townspeople is against him.

Openly, Estes does not appear to hold a grudge against those most responsible for his downfall. He shook hands recently in a courtroom with Oscar Griffin, former editor of the semi-weekly newspaper Pecos Independent.

Griffin probably is as responsible as anyone for calling the attention of Estes' creditors to his shaky empire. Griffin now works for the Houston Chronicle.

Estes even asked Griffin how he was getting along in his new job. But Estes will not be interviewed.

Estes had made Pecos one of the best known small cities in the country. Pecos apparently has not been hurt by his exposure. Ray McPherson, executive vice president of the First National Bank, told stockholders recently that the scandal even appeared to have helped the local economy.

He said retail sales in Pecos were the highest in history, up 15-20 per cent. Hotels and motels thanks to visiting reporters and investigators, did more business the first six months of this year than they did last.

McPherson said, the future looks bright for Pecos. It is doubtful that it does for Estes, but if he is worried he does not show it.

Water Safety Courses End

CANADIAN (Spl)—A number of young people have recently completed a Junior Life saving and Water Safety course at the municipal pool.

Those taking the course and receiving badges were Denise and Diane Adams, Dana Dempsey, Dora Mae and Bob Hext, Janie and Diane Jackson, Georgia Newell, Janice Selby, Deena Shahan, Donna Zenor, Susan Owens and Marilyn Wood.

Mike Spoon, student from West Texas State College, was the water safety instructor.

Polio Cases In Texas Hit 139

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas has had 139 cases of polio in 1952 compared with 36 cases of the disease at this time last year.

The State Department of Health reported last week seven new cases of polio in Texas for the week ending July 28. The cases last week included six paralytic cases and one non-paralytic case of polio.

The latest cases of paralytic polio included two in Dallas County and one each in Harris, Midland, Nueces, and Parker counties.

The department said the year's total includes 11 paralytic and 29 non-paralytic cases so far, compared with 19 paralytic and 17 non-paralytic cases to date last year.

GET A HORSE

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UPI)—Used car dealer Charles E. Willis lost his driver's license for speeding offenses so he got a horse and buggy.

"I'll never get caught for speeding," he said Thursday, "but they may get me for blocking traffic."

RECORD STILL SPOTLESS

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Arnold Graeber, 80, who claims he has driven 2 million miles without a traffic ticket, kept his record spotless Thursday with a 260-mile round trip from his home in Rolfe.

Graeber protested a summons for failure to have a Des Moines inspection seal on his car and had the charge dismissed because he is not a resident of the city. He could have paid a $1 fine by mail.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Luis Moya, 23, facing execution Wednesday along with two other convicted killers, after their clemency appeal was turned down:
"I can't speak for the other two, but there was no question about my guilt. I don't feel any more nervous or apprehensive now than I did before. I just hope this feeling keeps up until the last."

Here's What Caused Him To Sock Her In The Eye

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is a light-hearted discussion of family financing in terms of the federal budget.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — So

okay I shouldn't have socked her in the eye us being married ten years with almost no trouble but she's off on this kick about running our budget the way the government does and when she says I gotta ask for a pay cut to pump money into the economy I let her have it.
She's reading this magazine where it says a woman called Elizabeth Rudel Smith is treasurer of the United States and signs her name on dollar bills and she says she always knew women was smarter than men and from now on she is going to run our budget.

I got the Yankees at Cleveland on the TV and Donovan has this three and two count on Maris in the top of the fifth with no score and two on so I don't pay much attention when she sticks this piece of paper in front of me and says sign here.

Soon as I sign I can see we're in hock to the building and lean for a thousand bucks and she says this is deficit financing and what is good for Uncle Samuel is good for us. I says what's wrong with our budget now hundred a week take home pay which takes care of the mortgage and the installments on the TV and the car and even five bucks a week for the savings bank but she says its a balanced budget and under some conditions it's a cleeshay to say a balanced budget is good. I says cleeshay or no cleeshay what's the sense of borrowing dough when you're doing okay as is and she says make up your mind whether you want to drop anchor or sail on.

No Vegetable Garden
So Saturday I'm out in the yard to look at the vegetable garden and nothing ain't been planted and I asked her about it and she says she paid the Elliott boy next door fifth smackers not to plant our vegetables and I says that's crazy and she says if you don't take acreage out of production, you have uncontrollable surpluses and who do you think you are Orville Freeman or Erza Taft Benson maybe?

So I'm in front of the TV Thursday night having a beer and humming along with Mitch when she turns it off and says we got to talk about balances of payment and it can't wait for the program to finish, I says what the hell is balance of payments and she says it's money going out of the country and coming in and am I just going to sit there listening to Mitch while the U.S. stock of gold is drained away?

I says she and I ain't got no gold to be drained away and she says ha ha, that's what you think and she opens up this box and pulls out a bracelet and necklace and I says migawd how much did you pay for them? She says four hundred and twenty smackers and I starts yelling bloody murder and she says shut up I suppose you would rather see this gold drained away to the Bank of England or one of them Swiss places. I says I got just one question to ask and she says ask not what your country can do for you but what can you do for your country and slams the door on the way to bed.

No Canadian Vacation

So couple days later I'm thinking about going fishing and maybe spending a week of the vacation up in Canada. She says no dice on Canada and I says why not and she looks at me like I'm a dumb cluck and says something about the external flow of funds. I says I don't know what that is but I'm going fishing in Canada and she says you can't spend money in Canada what we got to do is get people from Canada to come down here and spend money.

I says whose fishing trip is this and who says I can't go to Canada and she says shut up I already spent the fishing trip money and I says for what? She says I sent it to Yugoslavia as part of our foreign aid budget and here you want to go upsetting the balance of payment by running off to Canada when the Commies got to be stopped. I says sarcastic like sure women is smarter than men but it has been my feeble minded impression that you can't stop the Commies in Yugoslavia because they already own it and how about that madame president? You can't tell she has been reading some books or magazines or papers because she gets a dreamy look in her eye and says who knows when a tiny crack in the Iron Curtain will grow into a gateway to freedom?

Come the first of the month I says to her what about the bills and she says everything is okay and taken care of and I says I am not a nosey man but I happen to be the guy earning this money and how's about me seeing the budget? She says there's no use you looking at it because it ain't one of them cleeshay budgets and you wouldn't understand. I says maybe so but I got a bad feeling we're in the hole what with paying off the building and loan at 98 bucks a month and keeping our gold away from the Swiss yodelers and not planting vegetables and looking for tiny cracks in the Iron Curtain.

Raises Debt Ceiling

She says I'll betcha never heard of lifting the debt ceiling and I says no and she says well the great United States of America does it all the time and borrows some more money and right now the debt ceiling is 300 un-teen billion dollars if you would like to put that in your pipe and smoke it.

I says thank God you can't get your hands on the withholding or I would have tax trouble with the great United States of America and anyway what has 300 un-teen billion dollars got to do with us?

She says I went to the building and loan and told the man what Mr. Dillon said to Congress about raising the debt ceiling and then I says to the man how about a little raising of the debt ceiling for me and he says why certainly madam would another thousand be all right and just have your husband sign here.

I says I ain't gonna sign and she says you better if you know what's good for you because you're going to ask for a pay cut and we gotta have a higher debt ceiling. I screams I ain't going to ask for a pay cut and has she gone clear off her rocker and she says calm down because the government is thinking about cutting taxes to pump some more money into the economy and that's just like the government asking for a pay cut. I says the only thing I'm going to pump is my fist into your kisser and that's the true story of why I let her have it after ten years of matrimony.

Foreign Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst

BRUSSELS — Here in Belgium's ancient capital, a handful of men are engaged in negotiations fateful to the entire western world and with a heavy penalty the price of failure.

The negotiations concern Britain's entry into the six-nation European-Common Market.

If these negotiations succeed, then the common market, now an economic community of 170 million people, may swell to 300 million and become an economic bloc more powerful than any now in the world.

Failure could mean the fall of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government in Britain and severely shake the hard-won unity now existing within the Six—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Threat of Failure
Time is running out and in the way are many stumbling blocks.

The greatest chance for success lies in the knowledge of the consequences of failure. At odds are Britain's determination to protect the members of the British commonwealth, and the Six's equal determination that if Britain joins the Common Market she must do so with full acceptance of all the political and economic conditions to which the Six already are bound.

Agriculture is the stumbling block at the moment, but others equally difficult lie ahead. Pressing the British is the knowledge that in September they must make a progress report to the prime ministers of the commonwealth.

Effect on MacMillan
Should they be unable to report agreement on protection of commonwealth goods, then opinion throughout the commonwealth and at home as well, easily could crystallize into hard opposition that could result in failure and the fall of the Macmillan government, either now or in elections next year.

The modern building housing the Common Market headquarters here lies near a great archway commemorating Belgian independence and on a street called the Avenue de la Joyeux Entree (Street of the Joyous Entrance).

Nuclear Power Facilities Hold High Interest

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the past year, one plant joined the operating list of nuclear-powered generating facilities developed by investor-owned electric companies in the United States, and changes in other figures show the high degree of interest the companies maintain in future developments in this field.

Creating a nuclear-powered generating facility is not a rush job, and perhaps more significant than the figures for plants in operation are the changes shown from 1961 to 1962 in the numbers of plants under construction, in preliminary planning, or under consideration.

A recent report from the electric companies public information program gave some measure of the activity, short and long range, shown by utilities in the growth of nuclear-powered generating. The report was issued as of June, 1962. Taken in comparison with the last previous edition, issued in April, 1961 or approximately 14 months earlier, here is what it showed:

Latest addition to the operating reactor group was that of the 5,000-kilowatt experimental Saxton Reactor, at Saxton, Pa. It was built by the General Public Utilities Corporation on the Pennsylvania Electric Company system. The Saxton reactor went "critical" last April 13, although full operation was not scheduled until later this summer.

Five other reactor plants in which electric companies are participating are slated to go into operation in 1962 and another in early 1963. They are listed as under construction or design.

"Ever had a Newspaper Route?"

When a young man applies for a job he really wants—a job with "a future"—he is very apt to be asked, "Have you ever had a newspaper route?" His answer to that question may well decide whether or not he'll get the job.

Why? Because more and more employers are realizing that former newspaperboys already have a solid business background.

They've bought newspapers at wholesale—sold them at retail—and operated a business of their own. They've already learned that the only way to conduct a successful business is to give service ... to keep present customers satisfied ... and to get new customers.

Many of today's executives were yesterday's newspaperboys. They know that a newspaper route is the one part-time job open to a Young American that teaches initiative, the value of money and the importance of getting along with people.

Yes sir ... there's no doubt about it. For jobs with "a future", employers prefer former newspaperboys.

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write or phone us.

A COMEDY "CHARGE"—Danny Kaye is off on another hilarious escapade in a new film, "The Man From the Diners' Club."

lights, 500 of them, were wired up to the piano keyboard and Mertz, befuddled as he was by the Fred Mertz of "I Love Lucy" fame, was called in. "And believe me," he laughed, "everybody laughed when I sat down at this piano."

Maybe we're just lucky. Librarian didn't think of it first. With his crazy "piano," Mertz plays the lights in tempo to eight bars of music written for him, and he also can "play" the alphabet, stopping on any letter or combination of letters.

It's like this, you see, in the story. Danny, as a Diners' Club accountant who feeds credit information into the IBM machine, unwittingly approves the nation's No. 1 gangster for club membership.

When the FBI moves in, Danny tries to remove the gangster's file from the electronic index machine. The machine fights back, spewing out all 1,250,000 file cards all over Danny.

Eventually the gangster marks Danny for death and in the classic chase finale the words "Charge it" keep Danny & Company moving almost as fast as Mickey Rooney's creditors.

Also involved is red-haired Cara Williams (Gladys of Pete and ...), playing a stripper and girlfriend of the gangster (Telly Savalas). Producer Bill Bloom believes the story has enough laughs "to break up a sphinx" and about Danny he's amazed. "He was even funny in a wardrobe test, eating a hot dog, dropping it into a goldfish bowl on the set, and then pretending to catch and eat the goldfish."

When the director said "Cut" he fished the hot dog out of the fish bowl and walked off, ad libbing, of course: "Charge it."

TO GREET MUSICIANS WASHINGTON (UPI) President Kennedy is expected to greet the musicians and music lovers Monday at the fourth of a series of youth concerts sponsored by his wife.

The concert will be played on the White House lawn by the 100-member Interlochen, Mich., National Music Camp Orchestra. The First Lady will not be able to attend. She will be en route from Hyannis Port, Mass., to New York to leave for a vacation in Italy.

It's 'Kneesy' To See Red Skelton's Aboard

By RED SKELTON (Sitting in today for Erskine Johnson)

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) —There used to be a saying that as the stock market dropped, so did women's hemlines. In the high-flying days back in the late Twenties, stocks were high and so were skirts.

Nowadays the stock market is flopping around like a seal, but hemlines are STILL going up. I have a theory about this reversal, which will probably become known as "Freddie the Freelander's Law of Diminishing Skirts."

It's simple: As "The Red Skelton Show" gets longer, skirts get shorter.

Along about the time I started thinking seriously about doing an hour-long show instead of the half-hour show I've been doing on the CBS television network, hemlines started making their first tentative moves to the north. Along about the time "The Red Skelton Hour" was announced, the Ya-Ya Girls in London started getting into the papers with skirts up to 8 inches above the knee.

Who knows where skirts will be by the time the hour-long show gets on the air September 25?

I noticed this upward climb with considerable pleasure. The shorter the skirt, the less material used, and — theoretically — the lower the bills from the dress shops. As a husband and the father of a teen-age girl, I applaud the trend. Husbands and fathers, an underprivileged minority, tend to follow that line of reasoning.

As a man who has the welfare of American women at heart, I find that other lines of reasoning also beckon:

Because skirts now stop just on the sunny side of the kneecap, an obvious requirement is that women keep their knees healthy.

Women will have to stop playing marbles, for instance. Skinned knees are almost as bad as long skirts.

And since we're all going to have to live with knees for a while, I would like to start a campaign for the return of the dimpled knee, now only a happy relic of the days when I was younger and skirts were in their first high-rising cycle.

We could always go to the beach to inspect knees, but for red-headed types like me, who can get a sunburn from a flash bulb, it just isn't practical.

A knee dimple is not functional as such; it serves no apparent practical purpose. It is an end in itself, a thing to be enjoyed like a Rembrandt or a 40-foot putt.

When hemlines fell shortly after the stock market crashed in 1929, some of the most admirable dimpled knees in America went behind an ironed curtain. It was a national disaster.

To my mind two of the greatest contributions of the Jazz Age were the Charleston and the dimpled-knee. Brought back, they can do more for national morale than an income tax cut.

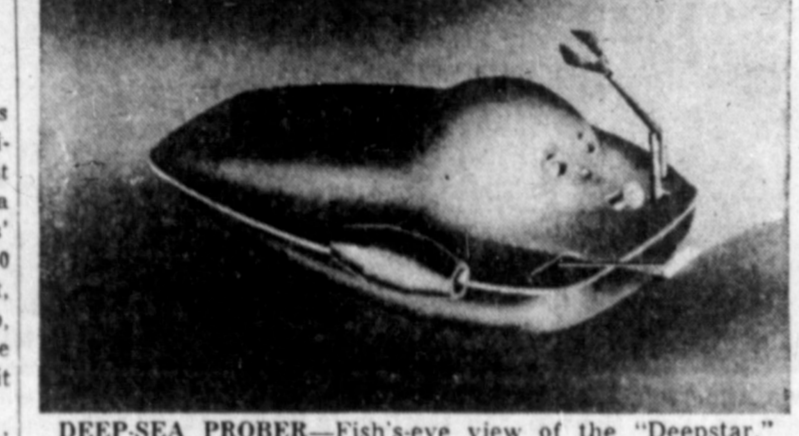

Right now I can't offer any suggestions on how knees can develop dimples, but I'm giving it a lot of thought. I think about it whenever I'm not thinking about what would happen to skirts if I did a regular two-hour show on television.

Most movies are made on credit, you know, but how about the plot of one based entirely ON credit.

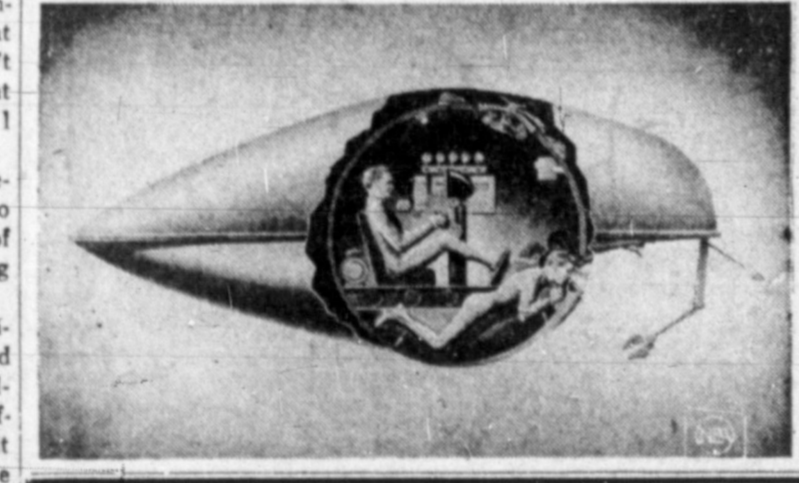

Well, not entirely, exactly. The push-button electronic age is in the act, too. You might even say it is a new kind of celluloid romantic tangle — a giant IBM-like machine standing between Danny Kaye and Martha Hyer. But the "charge it" system is really the heavy that gets Danny

HUNGRY AND HOMELESS

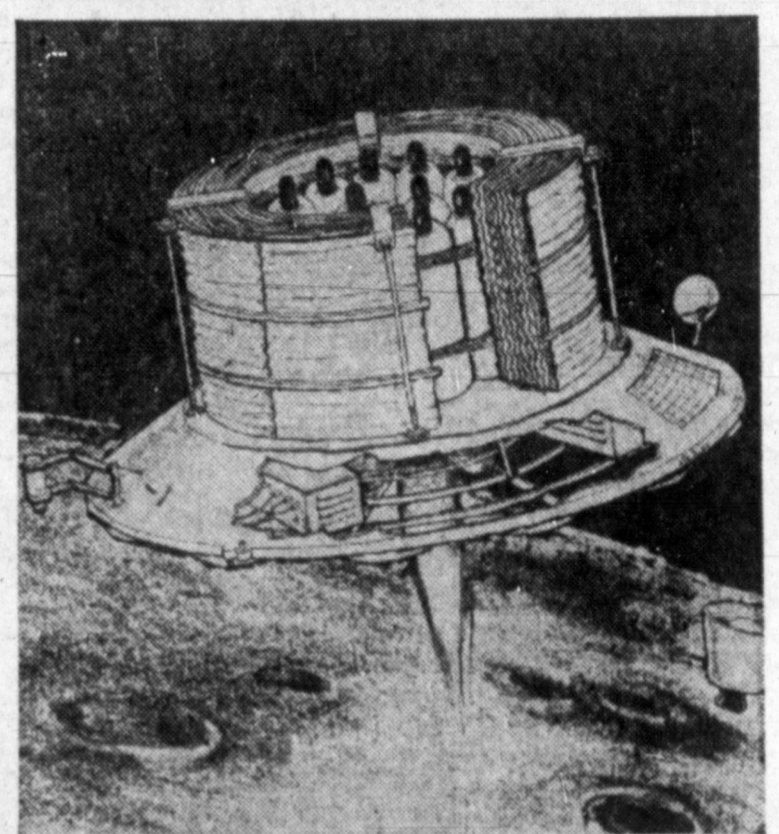

NAIROBI JUVENILE PROBLEM—Each year thousands of children leave their homes in the African reservations and enter Nairobi, Kenya, to join an army of hungry and homeless youngsters. The runaways and Nairobi orphans scavenge in dustbins and trash cans (top) for food, but do get a regular mid-day meal at various child welfare centers (bottom). About 20 per cent of all crimes in Nairobi are committed by juveniles, some of them as young as seven years old, in an effort to find something to eat.

WHAT HAVE WE HERE?—Kevin Anderson, 2, of Springfield, Ky., is willing to try anything once, especially if it's something to eat. However, his reaction to barbecued chicken (right) was expressive enough for anyone's taste. He gave the offending chicken leg one more bite, and went back to peanut butter sandwiches.

San Francisco Posts Win Over Pittsburgh, 6-5

Kuenn Singles Across Winning Run In Seventh

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Harvey Kuenn, playing with an injured right wrist, lifted the San Francisco Giants to a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday by singling across the winning run in the seventh inning.

It was Kuenn's third hit of the game and climaxed a strategy-stuffed inning that saw Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates use three pitchers.

The tie-breaking blow came off Elroy Face after pinch hitter John Orsino had knotted the score 5-5, with a bunt single that tallied Felipe Alou, Diomedes Olivo, the Pirates 42-year-old rookie southpaw, was pitching at the time and wound up with his first defeat as a major leaguer. He has won three.

Jack Sanford, who gave up 10 hits including a two-run homer by Bob Skinner, escaped with his 14th win. Bob Bolin pitched the last two innings for San Francisco and stayed out of trouble.

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston pitcher Gene Conley, making his first start since his mystery disappearing act of last week was driven out in the sixth inning Saturday in a 5-3 Washington victory over the Red Sox.

Conley gave up the first of two bases-empty home runs by Reserve Senator infielder John Schaeive and another solo homer by Don Lock before being removed.

Washington reliever Ed Hobaugh collected his first decision for a winning four - inning relief stint after starter Pete Burnside gave up all three Boston runs in the five innings he worked.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bill Stafford hit Al Smith with the bases loaded in the ninth inning Saturday to give the Chicago White Sox a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Frank Baumann was the winning pitcher, holding the Yankees to five hits and retiring the last 12 men in order.

Stafford retired the White Sox in order in only one inning, issued nine walks and gave up nine hits. However he was tough with men on base as the Sox stranded 16 runners.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics rapped out 13 hits to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 8-3, Saturday behind the combined four - hit pitching of Diego Segui and John Wyatt. Segui, making his first start in 10 days after suffering a pulled shoulder muscle, recorded his eighth victory against five losses. He tired in the eighth inning and Wyatt finished, setting the Indians down in order in the ninth.

All of the Cleveland runs resulted from homers. John Romano slammed a two - run drive in the first and Al Luplow hit a solo shot in the eighth.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Craig, staked to six runs in the first inning, pitched the New York Mets to their first victory of the season over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday, 9-1, in the opening game of a scheduled doubleheader.

Charley Neal, Marv Throneberry and Clarence Coleman each hit a home run to swell the Mets' total to 12 homers in the last three games. This was New York's first victory in nine games against the Reds.

Craig, who leads both leagues in pitching defeats with 17, scattered nine hits in gaining his sixth victory. He struck out seven batters and eased up when the Mets provided him with a 9-0 lead after five innings.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Rookie right-hander Ray Washburn of the Cardinals had a no-hitter for six and one-third innings this afternoon but had to settle for a four-hitter as the Redbirds beat the Houston Colts 2-0.

Carl Warwick, a former teammate of the Cardinal pitcher, got the game's first hit in the seventh inning when he lined a clean single between short and third.

The 24-year-old pitching star faced only 29 men two more than the minimum, in picking up his 10th victory of the season to go with defeats.

At one stretch of the game he retired 18 straight batters.

DETROIT (UPI)—The Minnesota Twins struck for four runs in the first inning Saturday, two coming on Harmon Killebrew's homer, to quickly nail down a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Although blanked by three Detroit relievers for the last eight and two-thirds innings, the Twins early outburst of southpaw starter Don Mossi proved enough. It was their ninth victory in 10 starts over their Detroit "cousins" this season and second straight in the four-game series.

Killebrew, homering for the second day in a row, highlighted the Twin uprising that included Lenny Green's double, Bob Allison's triple, a walk, and singles by Rich Rollins and Bernie Allen. Allison scored on a wild pitch by reliever Phil Regan.

Susman Advances Into Final Tennis Round

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (UPI) — Wimbledon tennis queen Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., and Margaret Smith of Australia Saturday moved into the final round of the Eastern Grass Court tennis championships.

Mrs. Susman the top - seeded entry, defeated Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., 9-7, 6-0, while Miss Smith, seeded No. 2, turned back third-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 6-4.

Last week Miss Smith won the Pennsylvania Grass Court crown at Merion by beating Mrs. Susman in the final.

The first set was closely fought, although Mrs. Susman managed to jump ahead 4-2. Miss Caldwell tied the count at 5-5, after Mrs. Susman made several crucial errors by her erratic play. The next five games went on service but Mrs. Susman ended the set when she cracked her opponent's serve in the 10th game after leading 15-40.

Mrs. Susman came back very strong in the second set. She won the opening game at love and then reeled off the next five in a row in quick order. Miss Caldwell was completely out of the battle during this set.

Miss Smith found the going rough for the first part of the opening set in her contest with Miss Moffitt. The Californian made use of an effective court placement to take a 2-1 advantage. Miss Smith, using deep drives, went ahead 4-3 and closed out the set at 6-3.

The second set saw Miss Smith use the same strategy, scoring most of her placements on down-the-line and cross-court placements. Miss Smith won the important ninth game on four straight points off Miss Moffitt's service. In the final game the Australian gave up only one point before ending the match.

Indiana Wins Soap Box Championship

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Indiana Saturday recaptured the All-America Soap Box Derby crown when 14-year-old David Mann of Gary, Ind., edged Tedde Morrow, 12, Lancaster, Ohio, and Mark Joseph Kordon, 11, Akron, in the 25th running of the race.

Mann won the final heat in 27.9 seconds and received a $7,500 scholarship.

Morrow received $5,000 in scholarships for second place and third-place winner Kordon received $4,000 in scholarships.

Six Ohioans were among the nine finishers who shared $30,000 in scholarships.

It was Indiana's eighth title in the All-America race. Robert Turner of Muncie was the first National Derby winner in 1924.

Indiana also had a four-year domination of the nationals during 1957-1960.

Palmer, Player Head Golf Field

AKRON (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player will head a star-studded field in the American Golf Classic beginning here Thursday at Firestone Country Club.

Sam Snead, Gene Littler, Billy Harper, Bob Gouby and Cary Middlecoff are among others on and, but these stars will be opposing a handsome Louisiana pro who practically "owns" the new Firestone course in the name of Sy Hebert.

Hebert will be gunning for a third straight win on the 7,165-yard par - 70 course.

Bud Wilkinson Fitness Minded

NEW YORK (UPI)—At 46, Bud Wilkinson is personable, persuasive and as physically fit as the athletes he coaches on the University of Oklahoma football team.

As such, he was President Kennedy's choice for one of the toughest jobs on the new frontier: Toughening up the soft American.

Wilkinson flew into New York recently to enlist support for the President's commission on youth fitness which he heads. He made his pitch to about 35 news executives at a lunch.

"Nobody's really against us on this program," Wilkinson told them, "but nobody's really for it, or if they are they only pay lip service to it."

"This program, getting all our youngsters physically up to par is not an end in itself."

"We all know, I think, that to function best mentally, we must be physically fit. In this war for survival which we are engaged in, it is important that every single one of us performs at our maximum mental, as well as physical level."

Says 82 Per Cent Unfit
As high as 8 per cent of America's elementary school-age children, he said, cannot perform minimum physical feats. And perhaps only 30 per cent of the nation's schools have adequate physical education programs to help remedy this.

First goal of the commission, he said, was to try to bring the nation's youth up to par. Appeals are being made to school boards, educators and principals to adopt supervised physical education programs.

John Denson of the New York Herald Tribune, one of the editors at the lunch, said of Wilkinson: "I think he got home to all of us. What we've got to do is find some way to get to them, maybe a series of stories, to get across to them that they are more clear-headed when physically fit."

Articulate television personality John Charles Daley agreed.

Daley said he would do all he could to help promote the in-school fitness program. But he said he thought the better approach might be an in-home program in which Daley said he would like to see it become "an American habit" for parents and children to get together in the home for the exercise needed to keep them all fit.

Blames Good Life
Wilkinson painted a stunning picture of the softness of all Americans. He blamed the good American way of life for it.

Carry Back Rallies For Victory

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI)—Carry Back, burdened by the highest weight of his career, rallied Saturday for a two-length victory in the $57,400 Whitney Stakes at Saratoga.

Ridden by Jockey Johnny Sellers, Carry Back turned in one of his patented closing rushes to defeat Crozier in the 1 1/4 mile event.

Carry Back, 1961 Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner and the third leading money winner in the world with total earnings of over a million dollars, carried 130 pounds as he surged from fifth place mid-way in the race to secure the victory.

Garwol trailed Crozier by four lengths in third place and barely nosed out Guadalcanal for that money position.

Carry Back paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.90. Crozier, second choice behind Carry Back in the betting, returned $3.70 and $3.20 and Garwol paid $4.50 for show.

SWIMMING ON TV

NEW YORK (UPI)—The men's National AAU swimming championships from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and the men's National AAU diving championships from Philadelphia will be presented on ABC-TV on Sunday, Aug. 12 from 8 to 8:30 p.m., EDT.

Even those tasks requiring the least effort, he said, such as opening cans or sharpening pencils are often done now by gadgets.

"I certainly am not against these technological advances," Wilkinson told them, "but I think that we should adopt a program to give us the exercise we are missing because of them."

As recently as 10 years ago, he said, an American could get enough exercise to maintain muscle tone in his arms and hands simply by driving and parking his car three times a day.

"Now," Wilkinson said, "it requires no effort at all. You can get into the smallest parking place by using one finger, and you don't have to shift gears, you push a button or move a lever. And if your car isn't equipped with air conditioning, you can adjust the windows with another button."

Texans To Stay Put In Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Texans branded as "absurd" a report they are moving to New Orleans because of competition from the rival National Football League Cowboys.

Cro Duplantier, executive sports editor of the New Orleans States-Item, said in Chicago Friday that the Texans, of the American Football League would go to New Orleans.

Duplantier said the most likely prospect was that "Dallas Texans Owner Lamar Hunt was ready to throw in the towel in his fight with the rival NFL Cowboys."

"We are in business in Dallas and plan to stay," Hunt said. "The rumor is absurd. I doubt if the Cowboys have any plans of leaving either."

Tex Scramin, general manager of the Cowboys, said at Marquette, Mich., where his team is training, "we know nothing of this and we've got more important things to do than worry about where Lamar Hunt's team is going to play next year."

Kubek Back In Uniform For Yanks

CHICAGO (UPI) — All-Star shortstop Tony Kubek returned to the New York Yankees Saturday, signed a new contract, and hit a home run in batting practice.

Kubek, who just completed a second ten month tour of duty in the Army at Ft. Lewis, Wash., was placed on the Yankee roster just before Saturday's game with The Chicago White Sox.

Saturday morning he agreed to terms of a new contract for a "substantial" increase in salary, reportedly in the neighborhood of $30,000-$35,000.

"I don't know how long it will take me to get my batting eye or polish up my fielding," Kubek said. "I know I have a lot of work ahead of me before I'm ready, although I'm in good shape physically."

Yankees Cop Two Victories For Crown

CANADIAN (Sp) — The high-flying Yankees notched two more victories Friday and Tuesday nights to clinch the 1962 Little League championship. . . but they had a close call in Friday night's game with the third-place Cardinals.

The Yankees scored early, nicking Cardinal hurler Buddy Wood for three runs in the first inning . . . two of them off Joel Whitefield's home run; and added two more in the third frame off pitcher Gary Filler, again on a home run by Whitefield.

The Cardinals, after scoring one run in the first inning on a steal by Loren Price, were shutout for four innings by Yankee hurler Terry Robinette, but the Dodgers came to life in the top of the sixth with two runs on a homer by Gary Keim and a third run by Filler on an infield grounder by Keith Wood which was muffed by the Yankee short stop. The rally opened after two were out, however, and Robinette put out the fire by striking out Eddie Longhofer to end the game.

Robinette gave up only two base hits. The Yankees got one base hit off Buddy Wood and three off Gary Filler. There was only one error by each team.

Thursday night, the Dodgers had clobbered the Red Sox 14 to 6 as Jerry Horberger pitched a one-hitter.

The only hit off Horberger was a lead-off single by Bobby Gutierrez in the third inning. Not another Red Soxer reached first base as Horberger struck out 17 batters, walked none.

The Dodgers got four hits and four runs off starting pitcher Randy Pennington, and hit reliever Richard Pennell, who took over in the fourth inning, for ten runs on seven hits. There were thirteen Red Sox errors.

Monday night the Dodger clinched second place by beating the Cardinals 10 to 2, with Hornberger again on the mound giving up one run on two hits in three innings. Ortega relieved in the fourth and gave up four hits and one more run.

Eddie Longhofer pitched for the Cardinals, and was nicked for only five hits, but these were strategically placed. Three runs scored on a homer by Hal Roberts in the second and Roberts hit triples in the fourth and fifth frames.

Tuesday night's game between the Yankees and Red Sox was a runaway affair which was finally called after four innings on account of rain. Officially the four-inning score was Yankees 22, Red Sox 1. Unofficially, the Yankees had knocked in thirteen more runs in the top of the fifth, with only one out, when the game was finally halted.

Joel Whitefield pitched for the Yankees, and held the Red Sox hitless for four innings. The only run came in the third when Pennell walked, stole one base, reached third on an error, and came home on an infield single by Goodwin.

The Yankees scored three runs in the first inning, twelve in the second, six in the third and one in the fourth. Red Sox pitchers were Randy Pennington, who pitched the first and part of the second frame, and Richard Pennell who finished the game. Berry took the mound in the top of the fifth but the shelling he took didn't go on record.

Record Attendance Foreseen For Coaching School Meet

LUBBOCK (UPI) — The giant week-long Texas High School Coaches Association summer coaching school comes to town next week and all signs point to a record attendance.

Advance registration has pushed to around the 1,700 mark, as far in excess of any previous advance, and the school's attendance mark of 3,333 coaches set last year in San Antonio is expected to topple.

Prospects are also bright for new attendance marks at the annual all-star basketball and football games which climax the school on Friday and Saturday nights.

The basketball game record of 5,336 was set here in 1956, the last time the world's largest school was held here, and another big gathering is anticipated for the 10,000-capacity coliseum.

The 1956 all-star football game drew only 12,114 fans, far short of the record 20,408 set at Houston in 1953. But, athletic interest has grown here since the admission of Texas Tech into the Southwest Conference and local officials are forecasting a new grid mark, too.

The school attended by approximately 90 per cent of all the coaches in the state, has altered its schedule somewhat this year and the lecture portion of the school will be confined to four days—Wednesday through Saturday—instead of the normal five-day cycle starting on Mondays.

The all-star athletes, however, still will begin workouts on Monday and will be housed at Texas Tech, site of all workouts and the games.

Carl Spoonemore, who coached Albany to the state Class A crown last fall but who now is a Lubbock coach, will tutor the North football all-stars, while Dick Sheffield of Dallas will coach the South.

John Ethridge of Dimmitt heads the North-basketball staff, while his South rival will be E. E. Walker of Freeport.

The coaching school faculty will include Ray Graves of Florida and Leo Strang of Massillon, Ohio, whose teams rival some of Texas' best in year-in, year-out success, for football; Tex Winter of Kansas State and Bob Rodgers of Texas A&M in basketball; John Murff of the Houston Colts in baseball, and Jack Patterson of Baylor in track.

All-Star Tilts Slated In Midget Loop

PERRYTON (Sp) — The Young Men's Christian Association's all-star games in the midget league will be played August 7, 9 and 11 (if necessary).

The games are scheduled to begin at 6:00 p.m. and will be played at the YMCA ball parks. The boys selected to play on the all-star teams were chosen by coaches in the midget league.

Coaches for the National League will be D. E. McLemore, Oscar Pruitt, George McNabb and Dee Averitt. Players for the team are Bill Brittain, Bill Dieball, Scott Doores, Gene Dougherty, Mike Fitzhugh, Mike Flowers, Mike Manning, Randy Mitchell, Joe Mosier, Larry Neufeld, Jerry O'Brien, Danny Shackelford, Randy Sterns, Randy Tevis and Richard-Traylor.

Dewey Blank, Gerald Shavor, R. L. Zink and Roy Throckmorton will coach the American League team with the following players: Terry Balzer, Dave Bell, Alan Dunlap, Tommy Hart, Kenny Marlar, Danny McWhorter, Rocky Rylee, Danny Sanders, Danny Schroeder, Teddy Seemann, Dean Throckmorton, Gene Throckmorton and David Graham.

YMCA Slates Softball Tournament

PERRYTON (Sp) — The Perryton Young Men's Christian Association is sponsoring a softball tournament to be held the week of August 13th through August 18.

The tournament will feature games each night except Wednesday and Sunday with games at 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. Teams from all surrounding towns are expected to enter this single elimination tournament. Trophies will be presented to first, second and third place winners.

The YMCA will provide mpires, scorekeepers and announcers for each of these games. The public is invited to attend and admission will be free. Announcement of teams entered in the tournament will be made at a later date.

EMERSON ADVANCED
HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Roy Emerson of Australia advanced to the third round of the German International Lawn Tennis championships Tuesday when Alfred Krienburg of Germany retired in the middle of the second set. Emerson was leading, 11-9, 3-0, at the time.

Patterson Might Have Tough Time With Liston

NEW YORK (UPI) — The major mystery today behind the September heavyweight championship match between Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston is what ever happened to Cus D'Amato, the Svengali of sock.

D'Amato is the stocky professional fight manager who was mouthpiece and puppeteer in Patterson's planned progression to the title. His voluble crusaders against the boxing powers of the time had much to do with making Patterson the shadowy unknown he remains at the moment.

But as Patterson readies for the Liston bout, D'Amato is singularly in the background.

"Nobody knows what has happened," one of the boxing insiders commented at Chicago during the All-Star game. "Usually, it always was D'Amato who picked out the camps, okayed all the arrangements and did just about everything.

Florio Took Charge
"But when it came time to arrange and approve Patterson's Chicago setup, it was his trainer, Dan Florio, who came in and took care of everything," the observer added. "It just isn't like D'Amato if he's still firmly in the saddle."

Which he may not be.

For there is a strong feeling in some quarters that there might have been a falling out between Patterson and D'Amato over Floyd's insistence on making his next defense against Liston.

It figures as the toughest one ever. And, there having been any number of "outs" considering Liston's police record and New York state's refusal to permit the bout, it is the fight mob's opinion that Cus would have ducked such a threatening foe.

When he was the ever-present front man, Cus dictated terms and "opponents." That is put into quotes because it is a pitiful roster which includes such tempting targets as Tommy Jackson, the gentle hurricane; Pete Rademacher, who was making his first pro start in a title match; Roy Harris, with little or no pretensions as a threat; Brian London, who had a bridge named after his ring efforts, and Tom McNeely, who subsequently had proved he couldn't lick his lower lip.

Spoon Plug Makes Bass Fighting Mad

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
United Press International

One lure that not too many fishermen have started using but that can make a bass hopping mad for a strike is the spoon plug, a well-known Austin fisherman says.

Conrad Fath of Austin, one of the area's best fishermen, says the spoon plug is a fairly new wrinkle of an old technique. It is a metal spoon-type lure with a lip on it to give it some action.

Fath says the most success he has known with the spoon plug is with a fast trolling action, to make it wobble "like a river-runner or bomber or other wiggling lure."

"Trolling very fast with it makes it actually dig into the bottom," Fath says. "The lip will hit the bottom and dig in, throwing up a cloud of mud—and this is a terrific lure to make the big bass strike."

Fath says the lure apparently makes a bass think something is digging in to get away from him, "and this can really infuriate the bass."

"A bass will let a similar lure go by if it is moving free," Fath says. "but et one dig into the bottom, and you've got a strike. They will hit the spoon plug hard."

Woodling Is Still On Losing Team

Veteran outfielder Gene Woodling has answered a flock of foolish questions in his long baseball career but one such had him dumbfounded the other day when he reported for the first time to the floundering New York Mets.

The Mets bought him from the Washington Senators.

"How does it feel to be with a loser, Gene?" someone asked him.

After a painful 30 seconds of silence, Woodling exploded: "For gosh sakes, don't you ever look at the standings in the other league?"

The key to the success is the change in weather. For the past few weeks, high winds have been frustrating fishermen along the coast, with ruddy water a maddening companion.

"But the gulf was just as slick as a floor a few days ago," Moore said. "We found kingfish just a mile beyond the whistling buoy, and every boat that was out there was having good luck. We were catching them up to 20-pound sizes. Most of the kings we caught on mullet, trolling them slowly behind the boat. There was no problem with seaweed and we had the darndest bunch of fishing I ever saw."

Moore said he will not be surprised if the blue, clear water and calm gulf do not bring the kings right up to the rocks off the jetties at Port Aransas.

Wasn't Considered Threat
That leaves out three fights with Ingemar Johansson. But face the fact that Ingo wasn't considered such a much when he first crawled into the ring with Patterson, another fact subsequently proved.

D'Amato's cautious maneuverings are understandable if you delve into his background. For years he ran a gym on the Lower East Side and he never married, he once explained, "because all of a sudden I looked up and I was in my 50's."

A man with bristly white hair who looks like a Prussian fencing master, D'Amato denied that he sought power in the boxing world. Yet he used Patterson as a club against "the mob." This generalization included the International Boxing Club once headed by Jim Norris as well as the "Ivy League boys" who came along later.

"They're clean-cut, well-dressed guys," D'Amato said of the IBC successors. "They're the guys I look-out for. After all, the boxing people speak a language I understand."

So he tilted at all the windmills, knocked over a few here and there but, in the final analysis, made certain that he was the front man by refusing to let Patterson fight anybody tough, Floyd's demand that he prove himself against Liston may have knocked D'Amato right off the

Clarendon Is Favored In District 2A Race

The Clarendon Broncos are the logical picks for the District 2A championship of 1962.

Returning 15 lettermen off a team that won 5 and lost 5 last year they appear to have more depth, size, and experience than any other 2A club. The lettermen include 2 ends, 4 tackles, 2 guards, 2 centers, one quarterback, 3 halfbacks, and one fullback. Of this group, 7 are regulars.

Strongpoints of the Bronco attack seem to be passing and depth. Coach Bill James, formerly of Gainesville High School will feature a wing-T attack.

The Canadian Wildcats should push Clarendon for the district title. They are returning ten lettermen off a squad that won 1, lost 9 last season. Canadian appears to have more team speed than any club in District 2A. (They won the District track meet handily). Canadian has 1 end, 4 guards, 1 center, 2 halfbacks, and one fullback who are returning lettermen off last year's squad.

Of these 10 lettermen, 4 are regulars off last year's team. Ned Jolly has replaced Red Cleveland as head football coach at Canadian.

The Memphis Cyclones will return a massive line that will exceed 200 pounds plus and will be experienced. Memphis' main troubles seem to be finding three backs to go with Bill Pounds, their fine running back of last season. Memphis had a 7-3 won lost record in 1961.

Returning lettermen include 2 ends, 2 tackles, one guard, and one halfback. Memphis has 6 returning regulars. They are coached by Don Lambert.

The Wellington Sky Rockets have been moved down one notch into class A and have a new mentor in Don Beck. Beck came to Wellington only last spring from Perryton High School where he was an assistant football coach and head track coach.

Wellington will in all probability be in class AA the next classification and could be a real sleeper in District 2A this coming fall. Wellington returns 8 regulars and 14 lettermen in all.

The McLean Tigers, winners of last year's District 2A championship, lost most of their talent to college football and are not heavily favored to repeat again this year. McLean has 7 returning lettermen of which 6 are starters. Gone are the three W's, Watson, Willingham, and Windon who helped the Tigers to a fine 9-2 season last year.

Darrel Davis has the returning nucleus and may mold another fine ball club. The strong points of the Tigers seem to be the defensive line. Main weaknesses are depth, speed, and passing. McLean will operate from a Wing T, and slot T.

The Lefors Pirates are not given any chance to be contenders for the championship of District 2A. Lefors, the smallest school in District 2A, will try to build a team around 2 offensive starters and four defensive starters from last year's squad. The pirates lost heavily by graduation and replacements in their backfield are not likely. The Pirates had a 5-4-1 record in 1961. Main weaknesses are depth, passing, and speed. Basic formation will be the split T. Dunny Goode.

Cabot Cops Pair Of Victories

Cabot Smutt Hounds posted a pair of victories Thursday and Friday night's in softball competition at the Hobart Street park.

Thursday night, Cabot downed the Carson County nine, 6-5 and then Friday night Cabot trounced Pentecostal Holiness church, 11-8.

Pitcher Delbert Daniels singled in the winning run in the 14th inning Thursday night to provide the margin of victory over Carson County.

Reid opened the inning by striking out, but reached first base when the catcher dropped the ball and threw wildly to first base. Reid then stole second and raced home on Daniel's single.

Daniels struck out 10 and walked five while allowing three hits in carding the victory. Bob McKinney was the losing pitcher, striking out 15 and walking two. McKinney gave up five hits.

Daniels led the winners with the timber, also, with two for five. Friday night, Daniels also posted the win, giving up six hits while striking out five. P. D. James was the losing pitcher, giving up seven hits and striking out five.

Don Gallagher led Cabot with the timber with a home run and a double. Brumfield led the losers with three for four.

Tuesday Cabot has a tentative game with Frank Phillips of Borger on tap for 7:30 p.m.

Quality Is Sought In Aggie Camp

DALLAS (UPI)—Quantity isn't a problem in the Texas Aggie football camp, so Coach Hank Foldberg and his new regime spent spring training seeking quality.

At least, that is the theme of the first press brochure of the 1962 season to reach Southwest Conference sports desks today.

The 72-page booklet, authored by AM sports publicist Tommy Blake, even manages to by-pass the usual "three-deep" listing normally found in the information-packed brochures. Instead, it lists the "three-deeps" for both the Maroon and White squads in the AM spring game.

Foldberg who was called in from a successful tenure at Wichita to replace fired Jim Myers as head coach and athletic director, inherited 28 lettermen at Aggie land, including 15 two-year numeral earners.

The 1961 Aggies had a 4-5-1 record, including conference triumphs over Texas Tech ($38-7), Baylor ($23-0) and SMU (25-12) and played TCU off its feet before bowing 15-14.

The brochure points out that the coaches "sought, and found, the top-ranked 44 athletes on the AM squad," but that the overall strength of these 44 "remains to be determined."

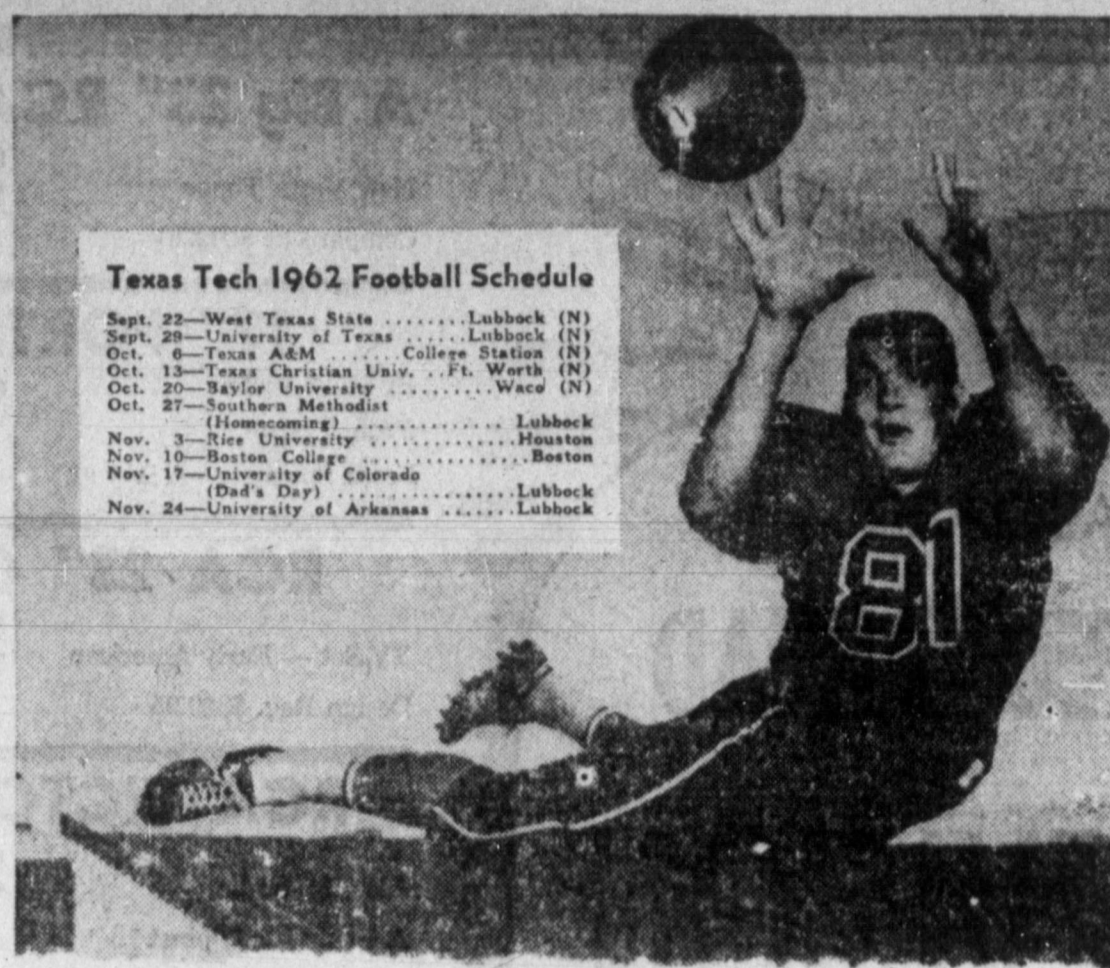

"Personnel changes were made almost daily during spring drills," Blake wrote, as the coaches "shuffled and re-shuffled the candidates from one team to another — and sometimes from one position to another."

"The shuffling and four weeks of drills sifted out the best 44 boys, yet failed to produce a three or four deep lineup by positions," the prospectus said.

Foldberg declared all posts are still wide open, but on the basis of spring drills, Blake pointed out that the "Aggies to watch include center Jerry Hopkins, (fullbacks) Sam Byer and Jerry Rogers, halfback Jim Linnstaedter and (tackle) Melvin Simmons."

Simmons, a transplanted guard from Odessa, was among a sizeable group of freshman-team graduates who made indelible impressions on Foldberg's staff in spring workouts.

The others include three quarterbacks — James Willenborg, John Spurling and Joe McIlhany, guard Yancy Bounds, ends Ken McLean and John Brotherton, tackle Ray Gene Hinze and fullback Mike Kohlman.

NO BREEZE — End David Parks soars high after the football. Catching it isn't easy; nor is the Texas Tech 1962 schedule. The Red Raiders, in their second season under Coach J. T. King, meet West Texas State, Boston College, and University of Colorado besides their seven Southwest Conference foes.

Patterson Still Maintains Texas League Batting Lead

By United Press International. Amárrillo's Sammy Miley pulled to within four percentage points of the Texas League batting lead today. But still in first place with an average of .363 is Joe Patterson of Tulsa, who dropped 12 points during the week.

Miley's .359 clip put him well ahead of third-place Hector Martinez of Albuquerque, who had a .348 in latest figures.

Patterson stole four bases during the week to lead in that department with 23.

The leader in number of hits with 134 is El Paso fielder Jesus Alou, whose average of .347 put him in fourth place.

Cap Peterson, El Paso shortstop, reached 100 runs batted in and is also out in front in total bases with 242, including 29 doubles, seven triples and 22 home runs.

Chuck Dees of El Paso has the most doubles with 32. Jerry Robinson of El Paso hit five home runs over a five-game period to pull away in the lead with 29 round-trippers. Albuquerque catcher Bill Bryan is second in the home run derby with 25.

In pitching statistics, Lazaro Gomez of El Paso leads in the number of victories with 12 against 5 defeats.

Tulsa lefthander Gordon Richardson has the best earned run average at 3.01. He is one of three 11-game winners along with Morris Stevens of San Antonio and Monty Tarrh of El Paso.

Another southpaw, Harvey Branch of San Antonio, has little serious challenge for strikeout honors. He has fanned 170 batters. Ed Merritt of Amarillo is second with 127 strikeouts.

Fishing Is Bad Throughout State

The water levels are low and fishing is from bad to worse both in inland and coastal waters of Texas.

On the coast, sportsmen do not know whether the moon is playing its annual trick on fish or whether the wind-and-drought combination has pushed tides down. But the tides are extremely low, particularly in the Graveyard area of the Laguna Madre, where the upper and lower Laguna meet.

Terry Leary, Texas Game and Fish Commission coastal fisheries official, said the fish, which swim into the Graveyard at high tide and get trapped at low tide, are dying by the thousands of pounds. In the past week or so, thousands of redfish, drum and trout have died of the combined effect of hot water and salinity caused by low tides that trap them in the Graveyard hole.

Leary says unusually low tides come fairly regularly each year at the same time. Rainfall ordinarily drops, and apparently the effect is heightened by natural low tides from the moon's orbit.

But if fishermen were finding many fish caught in the holes at low tide, they were not finding any good fishing along the Gulf, Leary said.

He said winds have been whipping up the Gulf for longer than last year, when fishing was also slow.

The inland fishing is mostly poor because of dry weather. North Texas has received heavy rains in the past week, but the central Texas string of highland lakes in the state's near-brought areas are low.

Conrad Fath, veteran outdoorsman in the Austin area, said, "no fishing is worth a darn on the lakes except trotline for catfish."

Fath said even some of the catfish have been dead when fishermen pull them up, because of oxygen pressure of the water from heat.

O'Malley Is Called Real Diamond Boss

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Veeck, former major league club owner and general manager, today charged baseball Commissioner Ford Frick with "dealing in 'double standards' and branded owner Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers as "the real boss of baseball."

Veeck, writing in the latest issue of "Look" magazine, said that O'Malley "is the real boss of baseball" because "somebody has to make decisions in the absence of any contributions by the official commissioner."

He said that Frick's reign "has been disastrous for baseball because it has covered a time when baseball has been in a period of transition and has needed strong and imaginative leadership." He added that Frick "openly employs double standards" in allowing National League club owners concessions denied their American League counterparts — with the exception of Yankee co-owner Del Webb.

Veeck accused Webb of "driving me out of baseball" in the first of two copyrighted articles in Look magazine.

"Along with many of my American League colleagues," Veeck said, "I have always felt that Frick could be counted on to throw his weight to the National League. In return, he has always been able to count on solid National League support."

Veeck also wrote that Frick passed up an opportunity to join President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson at the 1962 season-opening game in Washington because he chose to attend a party thrown by O'Malley in Los Angeles to dedicate the Dodgers' new ballpark.

"That decision," says Veeck, "put John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson in a new perspective."

The volatile Veeck also took a couple of pop shots at Calvin Griffith of the Senators. He charged that Griffith broke an agreement with him that paved the way for Gen. Elwood Quesada to obtain the new Washington franchise. He said Griffith broke the agreement when the Boston Red Sox' Tom Yawkey called for an open vote during a secret expansion meeting.

"Cal Griffith sat unhappily, his hands folded under his chin," Veeck said, "and, when his club was called, he said, 'Minneapolis votes for Quesada.'"

"A chip off the old block," added Veeck, who said Cal's foster father, Clark Griffith, had similarly broken a promise to him when Veeck was trying to move his franchise from St. Louis to Baltimore.

IS IT MY imagination... or were things just a little bit less interesting around town this week... seemed as if something were missing what with the teenage pledge week over... missed those cute teenage girls and their shenanigans... running around with their funny-looking caps pulled down to their eyebrows... their hair straggling out from under... and carrying those eternal buckets and things... heard that Chestnut Street will never be the same quiet street it was before the Kit Kat Klub invaded it to hold a part of their Pledge Night at the home of Sandra Tomson... everyone was suppose to WALK to her house with their little box full of mock treasures... (a flea circus a slice of polka-dot bread, colored tears, pieces of chewed gum, a fish, a mouse in a coffin just to mention a few of the mentionables)... but if they renege and had their parents using them... then they had to walk away a few blocks and walk back again... a cattle truck was used to take the poor pledges to the Bull Barns in a sprinkle of rain for another part of pledging ceremonies... and the final part was held at the home of the club sponsor, Mrs. Ben Organ, who always seems to be having as much fun as "her girls"... on the morning after, we spied a pledge's Black Mark Book lying in the middle of Duncan Street... imagine whoever lost it doesn't want it back... ever!

As every thread of gold is valuable, so is every moment of time. — John Mason.

THOSE TRAVELING PAMPANS... the George Friaus have returned from a trip to Santa Fe... saw Lucille Massa doing some last-minute errands downtown this week just before she and Jimmy took off for a cruise to those American Islands, the Hawaiians... Betty and Jay Meador should be coming back soon from their trip to California and the World's Fair... and so should Tex and Orval DeWeese and son, Robert... the Dr. Phillip Gates' family went up that way too this summer... wonder if Pampans ran into Pampons on that pacific costal highway leading to and from Seattle... seems as if everyone... but us... went that route this summer... wedding bells tolling in Fort Worth beckoned several Pampons to that city... several friends attended the nuptials of Linda Lee Horttor and Jim Selby... Mabel Dockery... Lillian Darby and son, George Chris Schneider... Albertine Triplehorn and daughter Carol, who was one of the bridesmaids.

Friendship is a strong and habitual inclination in two persons to promote the good and happiness of one another. — Eustace Bugell

CLAUDINE VAIL went too... she had a fine artistic hand in part of the wedding... she designed the cloth used on the bride's table at the reception and Betty, the bride's mother, made it... the net cloth, over white satin, was applied with white sequin pearl doves with breasts of gold sequins and a large arrangement of white sequin pearl wedding bells tied with a white felt bow... the floor-length cloth had a five-inch white felt scalloped border... sounds fabulously beautiful and one to pass down from generation to generation... Helene Huff and Colonel Wilfred McCormick said their "I do's" quietly on Wednesday morning in the First Presbyterian Chapel... attended a Wedding Breakfast with their family and a few close friends in the home of Ann Heske before slipping away for a honeymoon to Las Vegas, the World's Fair and into Vancouver, B. C., Canada... they will make their home in Albuquerque, N. M. upon their return.

WELCOME TO PAMPA: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dykes, formerly of Villa Platte, Louisiana... Hugh is with Cabot Inc. and they will make their home at 1133 Terrace.

NEW HOMES... understand that the new house in the 1800 block of Dogwood... next door to the Joe Crees will belong to the Earl Schmiedings... caught a glimpse of golfers, Ellen Campaigne and Merdella Chapman rounding the corner of the pro-shop at the Country Club the other day... also saw Melba Martin sunning in a new orange sun-hat that just set off that lovely tan of hers... which, I heard, she got while fishing in Arkansas... Inez Carter was out overseeing a bit of yard work... the grounds around her home always look so refreshingly cool and well-kept... Congressman Rogers, back in town for a day or two, visiting with his family, who are spending the summer here, and with Dick Hughes... that boy so attentive to Marilyn Steele last Saturday night at the Club was Stewart Crutchfield of Cactus... Marilyn celebrated her birthday on July 21... ditto Stormy Jordan... can't believe that Stormy is retiring from the Texas Company... he's so young-looking, but then so is Lillian... new bride, Mrs. Orland Butler, nee Marilyn Shelton, was grocery shopping recently... Jean Rogers lunching with friends at the Country Club recently.

We have nothing to fear when Love is at the helm of thought, but everything to enjoy on earth and in heaven. — Mary Baker Eddy.

SEEMS I HEARD THAT Mrs. J. H. Ayres entertained her children and grandchildren with a family dinner in her home on North Wynne last week... THAT the Bob Syper and sons, Stephen and Rickey, have a lot of amusing stories to tell their friends about their trip to the Fair in Seattle and Canada... THAT Dick Walker has the loveliest roses at his farm on the Miami Highway... THAT cute Marilyn Fite is working at her daddy's store during the summer... THAT there were a lot of "young faces" at the honorary shower Ruth Spearman and Jean Duncan gave for Cynthia Duncan and the hostesses who have given pre-nuptial showers for Cynthia and the cutest young faces belong to Mary Margaret and Melinda Spearman, Ruth's grand-joys and to Brenda Duncan, who helped her mother with hostess duties and to Celeste Duncan, who played a background of delightful piano melodies, while guests sipped coffee and talked of Cynthia's forthcoming marriage on the Ninth to Bill West... THAT a group of Judy and Johnny Robison's friends entertained with a "Not Goodbye" party for them on Friday evening in the Country Club... THAT a very lovely coffee was given for their mother and grandmother, Audrey Robison and Rosie Poston, on Wednesday morning in Ruth Osborne's home with Jane Reynolds and Margaret Holt assisting hostesses... THAT Sandy Williams proved how glamorous black and white checked gingham can be in a sun-dress; hers is overlaid with heavy lace... THAT blonde-haired, brown-eyed Carla Jo Combs, who has more joie de vivre than any little girl we know, is no longer five... she's now six as of last Saturday and gave a party to celebrate it... that's all we've heard this week. Love Peg.

Huff-McCormick Solemnize Vows In Chapel Ceremony

Miss Helene Adele Huff became the bride of Wilfred McCormick of Albuquerque, N. M., Wednesday morning, August 1, in the First Presbyterian Chapel. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Huff, 1116 Christine. The bridegroom is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. I. B. McCormick. The Rev. Glyn D. Adsit, minister of the First Christian Church, conducted the single-ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of white chrysanthemums. White tapers in candelabras flanked the altar.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length sheath gown of champagne Belgium corded lace with a scalloped Sabrina neckline. Her handmade satin hat was covered with meline and featured an eyebrow veil. She carried a white orchid with stephanotis atop a white Prayer Book. For something old, she carried her mother's college graduation handkerchief of handmade lace; for something new, she wore a strand of pearls; for something borrowed, she carried her sister's Prayer Book; and for something blue, she wore the traditional bridal garter. The bride had a sixpence in her shoe.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Ruth Britton Huff, sister of the bride as maid of honor, wore a pure silk suit of butterscotch with matching silk hat and silk slippers. She carried a cymbidium orchid in a circlet of white carnations. Miss Kathryn McCormick, daughter of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid, wore a cafe au lait silk suit with hat and shoes to match. She also carried a cymbidium orchid in a circlet of white carnations.

Robert McCormick, son of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, played as prelude music, Bach's "Be Thou But Near." Other music included Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Mrs. Huff, mother of the bride, wore a Dior blue silk suit, complemented with a blue flowered hat and a corsage of orchids.

RECEPTION
Following the wedding ceremony for members of the immediate family, a breakfast reception was given in the home of Mrs. Ann Heske, 1120 Somerville. The bride's table and the cake table were covered in white taffeta. A crystal epergne with

Mrs. Alex Watkins Honored With Party
LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Alex Watkins was honored with a surprise birthday party in her home Sunday night following church services. A pink and white birthday cake, was served with home made ice cream. Attending were Messrs. and Meses. J. B. Martin, Sue and Darlene; W. W. Bratcher, Ralph Caruth and Lyssa; and W. G. Hughes and Diane.

Horttor-Selby Solemnize Vows

Miss Linda Lee Horttor became the bride of James Allen Selby in a double-ring ceremony performed at seven o'clock in the evening on August 4 in St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Fort Worth.

Miss Horttor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Horttor of Fort Worth, formerly of Pampa. Mr. Selby's parents are Prof. and Mrs. Walter E. Selby of Manhattan, Kan.

The Rev. Hunter M. Lewis solemnized vows before an altar of white gladioli and carnations flanked by white vigil-light candelabra. Twined Ivy among satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

Mrs. Zac Reiser, organist, played Trumpet Tune and Air (Purcell) Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring (Bach); Deck Thyself, My Soul With Gladness (Brahms) and Benediction (Rowley.)

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pearl white pure silk organza over taffeta and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The all-lace basque bodice was designed with a bateau neckline of scalloped lace and bracelet-length sleeves onto a skirt in a deep yoke that held the voluminous skirt of silk organza terminating in an aisle court sweep.

Her triple French Illusion veil fell from a Flemish bonnet of matching lace.

She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley on a white satin Prayer Book.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Jerry Ann Lawrence of Kansas City, Mo. was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Triplehorn of Pampa, Miss Mary Elizabeth Davidson of Kansas City, Mo. and Miss Barbara Whittum of Worcester, Mass.

The feminine attendants were dressed identically in turquoise satin-faced organza veiled over taffeta. The basque bodices were designed with scoop necklines and short sleeves. The waltz-length skirts were fashioned with a front controlled sheath accented with bouffant sides and back formed by unpressed pleats.

Their matching pillbox hats were designed with a self rose in back accented with velvet ribbon streamers.

Each carried a cascade of white glameias.

Richard L. Horttor, bride's brother, attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Donald D. Methvin of Fort Worth, Larry Selby of Emporia, Kan., James Fleming of Overland Park, Kan. Seating the wedding guests were Jake E. Whitworth of Arlington, Robert Haase of Prairie Village, Kan. and Donald Anderson of Salina, Kan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Horttor chose a beige peau de soie dress designed with a Sabrina neckline with a low v-back, a box-pleated beige chiffon skirt with a deep hem with matching accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids. Mrs. Selby, bridegroom's mother, wore a cinnamon sheath chiffon dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Gold Room of the Fort Worth Club with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horttor as hosts assisted by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Selby.

The bride's table, which held a three-tiered wedding cake, was appointed with a white net cloth over satin, draped to the floor. The net cloth was applied with white sequin pearl doves breasted with gold sequins and a large arrangement of white sequins pearl wedding bells tied with a white felt bow. The cloth, handmade by the bride's mother and designed by Mrs. Robert Vail of Pampa, had a five-inch white felt scalloped border.

Miss Janice Selby, bridegroom's sister, registered guests. Included in the houseparty were Miss Jo Ann Holmes, Miss Barbara McGrew of Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Robert Thrutchley, bride's aunt and Miss Kay Cowan.

For a wedding trip to Nassau, the bride traveled in a navy blue silk suit with matching accessories and wore a white orchid.

Following the trip, Mr. and Mrs. Selby will be at home at 5428 Audro Drive in Cincinnati, Ohio. Out-of-town guests included Mmes. Homer Dockery, Christine Schneider, H. O. Darby, Robert

Chairmen Outline Year Of Service At Altrusa Club Meeting In Library

Plans for a year of service to the community were outlined by the chairmen of the four major committees of the Altrusa Club of Pampa at a salad supper and business meeting held Monday evening in Lovett Memorial Library.

Projects for 1962-1963 that will offer a variety of service areas were presented to the membership by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Altrusa Information chairman; Mrs. F. A. Hukill, International Relations chairman; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Public Affairs chairman and Mrs. Thelma Bray, Vocational Information chairman.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Lorene Locke, president, reports were also given by Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, recording secretary and Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, corresponding secretary.

The resignations of two members were accepted with regret. Mrs. Loyce Caldwell, who is moving to Dallas and Mrs. Margaret McCollum because of illness in her family.

It was announced that the Altrusa Club would have an entry in the Top of Texas Rodeo Parade on August 22 at 3 p.m. with the Public Affairs committee in charge of arrangements.

A letter from Miss Cathy (Key) Papanthanasopoulos of Patra, Greece, expressing friendship and appreciation to the club was distributed for members to read.

Mrs. Grant Anderson reported that a sink, donated by her, a cabinet and plumbing had been installed in the Pampa Youth and Community Center for use at social meetings; the club having financed the plumbing and cabinet installation. This new facility, to benefit those serving refreshments at the Center gatherings, was given by the club in memorial of a member, the late Mrs. Frank Lard, because of her service to and interest in young people.

Mrs. Ray E. Wilson announced that Pampa Little Theater would present a three-act comedy, "George Washington Slept Here" on Aug. 9-10 in Pampa High School auditorium. The play, written by Moss Hart and George F. Kaufman, is being directed by Mrs. Elbert Walker.

Preceding the business meeting, a salad supper was served buffet with quartet table appointed with rose-designed paper cloths centered with small arrangements of garden flowers.

Miss Nedra Reagan Becomes Bride Of Donald Tinney In Canadian

CANADIAN (Spl) — Miss Nedra Lee Reagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Reagan and Donald Wayne Tinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Tinney of Pampa were united in marriage on July 21, in a ceremony held at 7 o'clock in the evening in the First Christian Church. James T. Mitchell read the double ring ceremony which was performed before an arch of white asters and greenery flanked by candelabra with white candles.

Jerry Don Oliphant, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. Mitchell who sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer."

BRIDE
Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin. The bodice was of Chantilly lace styled with a rounded neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The skirt of white net over satin was trimmed with applied lace medallions. Her veil fell from a lace and pearl tiara. She carried a dozen white roses on a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
The matron of honor, Mrs. Melvin Walser, and bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Mayers of Midland and Miss Wanda Tinney of Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical dresses of blue brocade taffeta with scooped necklines and full street-length skirts. Small blue veiled hats, white gloves and shoes completed their costumes. Each carried one white rose. Candelighters were Glissa Dickens and Mary Jane Hill. Gibann Dickens was the flower girl and Kim Clark of Pampa, a cousin of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Bobby Tinney of Pampa as best man. Ushers were Ted Gentry a cousin of the bridegroom and Wayne Smith, both of Pampa.

RECEPTION
The parents of the bride were hosts at a reception following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

An arrangement of white and blue carnations centered the bride's table and was flanked by blue candles in silver holders. Wedding cake, mints and punch were served. Karen Norris served the punch and Mrs. Bobby Tinney of Pampa served the cake.

Guests were registered by Beverly Shockley of Knott. Mrs. Tinney is a graduate of Canadian High School and attended West Texas State College in Canyon. Mr. Tinney attended schools in Pampa, the University of Oklahoma and West Texas State College. He is employed as an accountant by McKesson-Robins and Co.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico Mrs. Tinney chose a blue silk sheath dress and black accessories. The Tinneys are at home at 1223 W. 9th, Apartment 4, in Amarillo.

Dear Abby... Children Can Send "Thank You" Notes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our parents just celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary. My sisters and brothers and I invited all our friends and gave mother and dad a memorable surprise party. The guests brought lovely presents. Neither our mother nor father can read or write English and everybody knows it. I suggested writing thank you notes to each person who brought a gift and sign it. "The children of Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So."

My sister says she never heard of anything so ignorant. She says WE should write the thank you notes as though our parents had written them and sign THEIR names to them. My dad has been signing his name with an "X" at the bank for 35 years. Who is right?

THE CHILDREN

DEAR CHILDREN: Because it was a surprise party and you children invited the guests, it would be proper for you to write the thank you notes and sign them. "The children of Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So."

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old son is interested in a girl he met at school. We have nothing against her, but she is not of our faith. Recently she has been taking our son to church with her. We think this is a little too possessive for a 17-year-old girl. Should we put a stop to it or ignore it? We don't want to do the wrong thing. How have other parents faced with this problem, handled it?

A YOUNG MAN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The girl is not "taking" your son to church without his consent. He may be going out of curiosity or courtesy. Say nothing about it. If you "forbid" him to go, you will only force him to spring to her defense. P.S. Why doesn't he invite her to his church? What's the sauce for the goose, you know.

DEAR ABBY: I am ten years

Ingram Reunion Meets In Home

WHITE DEER (Spl) — The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ingram met recently in the Ingram home for a family reunion.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Dick Ingram, Randy and Tracy, of Richardson; W. L. Payton, Barbara, Richard, Cynthia, Debbie and Randy of Gentry, Ark.; Sam Goodlett and Smitson of Pampa; J. C. Laney of Stinnett; Ronald Ingram and Tracy Sterling of Amarillo; Leo Smith, Mike, Susan, Mark and Shelly of Portales, N.M.; Bob Bybee and Greg of Borger and Don Walton and Don of Bushland.

If it's suggested that bridge be played for stakes, you have a perfect right to decline.

COFFEE KLATCH — Among the social courtesies being extended Mrs. Charley Robison and her mother, Mrs. Rosie Poston, prior to their leaving to make their home with their family in Enid, Okla., was a Coffee given Wednesday morning by Mrs. D. E. Holt, Mrs. Wiley Reynolds and Mrs. Jake Osborne in Mrs. Osborne's home. The hostesses presented the honoree with a silver serving bowl. Refreshments were served from an applied organically covered table centered with a Gothic arrangement of pink roses accented with blue crystal pea-fowl figurines. Other members of the houseparty were Mmes. Skeet Roberts, Hardy Pitts, Loyal Stockstill, Bill Davies, Ed Williams and Hershel Wilks. Pictured above are the hostesses and honorees, left to right, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Robison, Mrs. Poston, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Holt. (Daily News Photo)

Pastor Reads Candlelight Nuptials For Jo Anne Smith, Leon Stephens

PANHANDLE (Spl) — Mrs. Jo Anne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Merrick of Amarillo, was married recently to Leon F. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stephens, Panhandle.

Double-ring services were read in the home of the bride, before the fireplace, which was flanked by candelabra. Harold Collard, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated.

Attending the couple, were Mrs. Nell Carter and Wes Elder, both of Amarillo.

Serving as ringbearers were Gayle and Michael Smith, children of the bride.

Attending the wedding and reception, which followed, were families and close friends of the couple.

At the reception, the bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Appointments were of crystal and silver. Serving the cake, was Mrs. A. M. Anglin.

Melita Harris Is Birthday Honoree

LEFORS (Spl) — Melita Harris celebrated her 6th birthday with a party on Sunday afternoon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Harris.

Pastel green and white cake, decorated in the birthday theme, was served with ice cream.

After the honoree opened her gifts the children played games on the lawn.

Attending were Wyatt Fenno, Barbara Brobst, Paula Wall, Debra Langley, Doris, Mollie and Martha Carlton, Alpha Jo Elliott, Diane Hughes, Connie Schumacher, Mmes. Walter Hughes, Aubrey Carlton, and David Harris, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Harris.

Mrs. Burress Feted At Lullaby Shower

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Derwood Burress was honored recently with a baby-shower in the civic center.

The serving table centerpiece was a pink baby bath tub with blue water and green foliage and plastic fish floating in it. A small wicker basket with a tiny plastic doll depicted the Baby Moses scene, and the whole scene was lighted with a blue bulb reflecting through the water.

A sheet cake, white trimmed in pink inscribed "Baby Burress," was served by Miss Judy Lane as Miss Barbara McDowell served the pink punch from a crystal service.

Favors were tiny plastic baby dolls with pink and blue net diapers pinned with tiny gold safety pins.

Hostesses were Mmes. Earl Lane, Dede McKnight, Rob Roberson, Junior Taylor, Grady McCool, Garrel Roberson, Miss Judy Lane and Miss Barbara McDowell.

Attending were Mmes. Bailey Carter, Alba Shores, Hugh Terry, Earl Hendricks, Dow Willis, H. H. Graham and daughter Beverly.

Miss Carruth Is Party Hostess

LEFORS (Spl) — Miss Lyssa Carruth was hostess for a swimming party in the Lefors pool recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carruth as assisting hosts.

Following the swim, guests were taken to Leforian Park for cake and cokes.

Attending were Johnny Lofton, Dickie Sims, Michael Allison, Terry Sanders, Narlene Cates, Sharon Harrington, Charly Gustin, Sue Stubbiefield, Rodney Airington and Janice Harrington.

Pampa News Women's Editor

NEXT THURSDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHTS, an eight o'clock curtain will go up in the Pampa High School auditorium on Pampa Little Theater's play, "George Washington Slept Here," a rollicking comedy about a couple who buy a house because of its rumored historical heritage. But from there on any resemblance between a historical play and a hilarious three-act comedy is deliberately and painstakingly planned.

The play, written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, is being directed by Mrs. Elbert Walker, speech and dance teacher, and presented under special arrangement with the Dramatist Play Service, Inc.

And about Mrs. Walker... when laurels are recorded for patience and good humor, this little lady deserves several stars in her crown for bringing a play triumphantly through a summer of rehearsals interrupted by vacations of cast members, "baby sitting nights," and those times when temperaments and temperatures reached the soaring mark.

And in her position as director, she also had to cope with switches in characters. Like, for instance, Forrest Hills, who had been cast in the role of "Mr. Prescott," a cantankerous farming neighbor, whose many other activities prevented him from completing the role.

And me, in whom Mrs. Walker confidently saw the character of Rena Leslie, the stage actress. But after nights of rehearsal, I found that too many years had elapsed between my first starring role as the Bride in Lincoln School's pantomimed production in El Reno, Okla. of "Little Bobby Shaftoe" with the first grade choir singing background music. So, Martha McComas, who is becoming a veteran, so to speak, alter her role as "Aunt Martha" in "Arsenic and Old Lace," graciously stepped in to provide an interpretation of the role, which will be more in keeping with the tempo of the comedy.

It came to us, while slouched down in one of the seats on the darkened rows of the high school auditorium, that most of you will be well aware of actors on stage on play nights; Glenna Lea Miller as Mrs. Newton Fuller and Bob Swanson as Newton Fuller, the couple who buy the house and restore it to livability; their daughter, Madge, played by Jodi Hudson and her boyfriend, Jerry Douthit; the hilarious Mr. Kimber, played by Jim Terrell; and "very naughty" Raymond, played by Bob Hale; the "aristocratic" Mrs. Douglas played by Marie Jones.

You will also not overlook the stage presence of Clayton Evans, the stage star, as played by John Callarman and his wife, Rena, played by Martha McComas; nor Mr. Prescott portrayed by Don Pope; nor the slithering, non-talking, Miss Wilcox brought to "life" by Chleo Worley.

Your interest will also be caught by the characterization Glenn McConnell gives to the fraudulent wealthy "Uncle Stanley," while his wife, Odever, plays the part of the Newton's maid, "Hester." fleetingly, also, you will see Georgia Mack as "Katie," the cook; Jerry Douthit, Homer West, Dale Walker, as young friends of Madge, who are spending the weekend at the "Newton Place." These will all be before the stage lights.

But what about those lights, and the make-up, and the props and the painting... and all the other details, which make the actors on stage look "good."

These backstage "actors" are really the unsung heroes and heroines of "George Washington Slept Here" or any other play for that matter.

A case in point, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, whose artistic talent is widely known, is doing a landscape mural that will only be seen during the first act, when the stage is "undressed." The mural to which she is giving a lot of time, thought and talent will only be visible through the uncurtained windows and when the "front door" of the living room is open. Yet, it is an important part of the play's scenic atmosphere.

Elbert Walker, who has been named stage manager, is just a little bit more than that as is true with most any "Little Theater" group. We were fascinated by the contraption he has rigged for the "rain-through-the-roof" scene. And since it is of mechanical nature, the only description we can think of to help you appreciate the scene, is that when it rains in the first act the rain is coming from an old-fashioned water-cooler, placed high up above the stage, which has a release attached to the spigot that can be operated off-stage.

Also working behind the footlights is Shirley Allen, who does most of the "telephoning" and has worked on props and make-up

The Amuse You Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. John Jones for games of "42" and Scrabble.

Present were Mmes. J. L. Cleveland, Paul Bryant, Tom Hext, Charles Teas, L. P. Ward, Carl Studer, J. B. Lindley, George Tubb and one guest, Mrs. F. D. Teas.

"NOT GOODBYE" — School friends of Judy and Johnny Robison honored them with a dancing party on Friday evening in the Pampa Country Club. After the rodeo, Judy and Johnny will be joining their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Robison in Enid, Okla., where they will make their home. Music throughout the evening was provided by the Continentals of Amarillo. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served during intermissions from a table appointed with a wicker suitcase filled with a massive arrangement of garden flowers. Hosts and

... by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: I like a boy who lives in another town and we used to write frequently. I kept his letters in my purse and one day my best friend found them and read them. She told me she was going to write a mushy letter telling him I was in love with him and wanted to go steady. That is pretty silly, because I'm just 13. He must have been angry because he hasn't written since. I know the worst thing to do is chase a boy. I will see him within the next few weeks and I just don't know how to face him. What shall I do?—Kay J.

Adding a spicy note to the Thursday and Friday night productions will be the intermission band music provided by "The Modern Aires" directed by Dr. Frank Hatcher. There will also be refreshments available in the high school auditorium, according to Donna Bedingfield, Roberta and Don Hickman.

It takes everyone, cast and crew, to make a play successful, but that is what Pampa Little Theater feels it has in "George Washington Slept Here."

Just how good "George Washington Slept Here" is from a Little Theater's point of view is indicated in that fact that Amarillo Little Theater, a veteran organization, has also chosen it for production during its 1962-63 season. Mrs. Walker selected "GWSH" last April and it would seem that ALT shares her good taste in comedy and providing an evening of entertainment.

Pampa Little Theater is a community project. There are established interests in music, art, and gardening in this West Texas in love and of the things she threatened to say—her note might not have been written at all. Just in case, avoid any reference to details.

Just mention these things: A girl friend found his correspondence accidentally and threatened to send a note just to tease. You hope she didn't but are afraid she did. Exchanging letters has been fun and you hope this unhappy situation won't affect his friendship with you.

Make your explanation brief but sincere. When you see him, ignore the subject unless he asks.

Anything you say can be overheard by everyone in an elevator.

There's Difference In Nosiness, Interest

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

I once knew a middle-aged bachelor who was acutely jealous of his privacy.

If you asked him where he was going for the summer, his face would stiffen and he would say, "I haven't decided." If you asked him if he had seen a mutual acquaintance, he would say shortly, "I don't recall." If he wanted to come and see you, he would make such a mysterious production of the visit that he exhausted you before he got around to making it. Before arriving, he would telephone at intervals to make sure that you were not entertaining someone he didn't want to meet.

He generally behaved as though he felt himself to be a secret agent operating in enemy territory.

And in a way he was. The only son of a woman who had used interest in all his activities to maintain control of them, he saw everyone else's interest in his doings through the distorting lens of his deep but unfocused resentment of her domination.

friendly interest and prying, he regarded all interest in him with suspicion — an enemy territory through which he had to move in carefully guarded secrecy like a spy.

Similar confusion may be the problem of this reader:

"A new neighbor of ours is always asking nosy questions of my 3-year-old son. I have never met this woman because we have just moved into this neighborhood, but my daughter has made friends with her child. She came home yesterday from their house very upset because she didn't know how to answer this woman. She says she was asked what her father's work is, what church he intends to join and other things that are none of her business."

Why do you read malice into these questions? Perhaps they are expressing friendly interest in stead of nosiness.

HONORARY PARTY — An informal coffee honoring Miss Cynthia Duncan and hostesses, who have entertained for her, was given Wednesday morning by Miss Nina Spearman, Mrs. Ruth Spearman and Mrs. Kirk Duncan in Mrs. Duncan's home, 2322 Duncan. Refreshments were served from a table appointed with a Madiera cloth centered with a cathedral arrangement of Deep Pink Majestic Daisies. The honoree was presented with a pink daisy corsage and her mother, Mrs. Ray Duncan, with a corsage of white daisies. Miss Celeste Duncan played a background of piano selections during the social hour. Among the guests attending were those pictured above, foreground, Miss Nina Spearman; second row, left to right, Mrs. Duggan Smith, Miss Duncan, Miss Rhona Finkelstein; and back, Mrs. Kirk Duncan. Miss Duncan will become the bride of Bill Deen West on Aug. 9. (Daily News Photo)

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: Some time ago I read in your column, I think that it was improper to wear chiffon before 5 p.m. I stand corrected if it wasn't your column, as I do read your column regularly and seems I saw it there. I am having a discussion with my neighbor which is getting rather heated. Any help that can be given by you will be greatly appreciated. Mrs. M. M.

Dear Mrs. M. M.: No, it wasn't my column. It's true, of course that a very dressy black chiffon is not meant for daytime wear, short length or not. Styling has a great deal to do with the time when a dress may be worn. But here is an expert answer from designer James Galanos, who says:

"I have done many shirtwaist dresses in chiffon, certainly for daytime wear. In fact, the chiffon shirtwaist dress might be termed an American classic. But I've also used a chiffon blouse with a tweed suit and I've done chiffon shifts for day wear.

In the last five years or so, we've lost many of our inhibited notions about fabrics. Wool, for instance, is now for evening. And corduroy is sometimes combined with satin."

Dear Gaile: You do so much for everyone that I have decided to ask your help with my problem. I am 54, weigh 121, am 5 feet 4, have black-brown hair with some gray in it. My complexion is fair with freckles though I try to protect my skin from the sun. My eyes are hazel. Now, I find that I need glasses. (My face is oval). What color and shape do you suggest? What styles do you prefer?—C R.

Dear C. R.: To take your last questions first, you really haven't a fashion color problem. With your hair and fair skin you can wear the high colors, pastels deep colors, too. This will be largely a matter of your own personal preference. Certainly many shades of blue would look lovely on you and so would the blue-greens. Try color with a critical eye.

As for styles, you have no weight problem and so you can (and should) follow the current fashions. Advice as to the right frame for your glasses comes from designer Martin Singer of the Harlequin Corporation. He says:

"You are fortunate in having an oval face as almost any frame shape will become you. But you might try one of the new fashionable narrow frames. Or, perhaps one with a slight upward tilt at the temple. And the straight narrow frames are very smart. As for color, if blue is one of your best colors and your closet if filled with it, then follow through with pretty clear blue frames. But since glasses are fashion accessories, why not have two pairs in two colors? And don't forget to let your eye shadow pick up and emphasize the color of the frame."

Please send your fashion problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Teen Make-Up Miracles

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The modern miracles of make-up have put luscious lipsticks and exciting eye products within the reach of every teen-ager. But unfortunately, when she begins to use them, she's often transformed overnight from a pretty young girl to an overly made-up caricature.

Never, at any age, was make-up meant to change the face or personality, except on the stage. Helena Rubinstein, pioneer in the beauty industry, feels that cosmetics were created to enhance natural good looks and to minimize one's bad features. It's fun to use make-up in the proper proportions. But heavily made-up eyes, excessively pale lips, and hair teased into a tortured coiffure paint a picture that's ghoulish, not girlish.

With the beauty tools at our disposal today, there's no excuse for inept application of make-up. For example, the new long, pencil-slim lipstick can be used both for outlining and filling in the lips, and it's easier to handle than a brush. It comes in shades that are delicate, but strong enough for the proper accent.

Most parents don't object to eye make-up on young girls, but, again, it's a question of degree and design. Don't use a black pencil unless you are a very dark brunette. Light or dark brown are usually preferable. Follow the natural arch of your brows and, when tweezing, only remove the hairs underneath that arch.

Use eye shadow sparingly, and cover it with a touch of powder to subdue the effect. If you can't apply eye liner perfectly, don't use it at all until you've practiced. The new cake eye liner, applied with a sable brush, is easiest to use. A hand mirror placed on a table beneath your chin is a great help. You can draw the line with your eyes looking directly downward.

Mascara is a good beauty friend if held in the right hands. Used lightly, it enhances the lashes and sweeps them upward, but when used heavily, it becomes cakey and theatrical in its appearance.

After your make-up is on, you can be a young beauty or an overdone horror. The difference lies in the simple word, "lightly."

GOLD PUMPS

Contrary to what some women seem to think, gold leather is not for street wear. Those pumps in gold with medium heel are definitely for evening.

Mrs. T. A. Mastin, Miss Judy Neef, Mrs. George Neef
... bridal shower

TO WED

Miss Judy Neef Feted At Shower

Miss Judy Neef, bride-elect of Ted Mastin, was honored with a bridal shower on Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. R. E. Dauer, 1015 S. Faulkner, with Mmes. Roy Williams, J. B. Townsend, Emmett Osborne, Carl Pachin, R. E. Mitchell, W. F. Taylor, W. R. Bonnell, Charley Meadows and Ronnie James as assisting hostesses.

In the receiving line were the honoree; her mother, Mrs. George Neef; the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. T. A. Mastin and Mrs. Dauer.

Miss Mary Anne Skaggs was a guest registrar. The honoree and mothers wore ivory carnations arranged with gold ribbon.

Refreshments were served from an ivory Italian drawn-work linen cloth centered with an ivory driftwood tree nested in a silver and gold net bows. Copper measuring cups and spoons were hung on the tree limbs; two gold lovebirds were perched on the top limbs. Each was tied with gold bows and gold wedding bells. The arrangement was flanked by gold tapers flecked with gold in silver holders.

Gold punch and individual cakes, decorated with ivory bells was served by Miss Jenny Goff and Miss Glynette Dawkins assisted by Miss Judy Gordon. Napkins, inscribed in gold with "Judy and Ted" completed the appointments. Approximately 80 guests attended or sent gifts.

Stephanie Eastham Celebrates Birthday

WHITE DEER (Spl) — Stephanie Eastham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eastham, celebrated her seventh birthday with a party in White Deer Park.

Cake and punch were served to Janice Ryals, Keith and Mark Eastham, Dean Wheeler, Jan O'Conner, Teri Miller, Marvin and Kent Mitchell.

Presley-Steele Unite In Home

LEFORS (Spl) — In a home ceremony at 5:30 p.m., on July 19th, Miss Carolyn Faye Presley became the bride of Dwain Steele. Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Presley are parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Steele are the bridegroom's parents.

A. G. Roberts, uncle of the bride, officiated for the single ring ceremony.

The bride, wore a white brocade sheath dress with gold accessories. She attended Lefors Schools and was drum major for the Pirate Band last year. She will continue her high school studies in September.

The bridegroom attended Lefors schools and will continue his studies through correspondence. He is employed for his father-in-law, O. L. Presley Contractors.

The couple will make their home in Lefors.

Attending the wedding were parents of the bride, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ed Cates and sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. David Fulton.

FRESH FASHIONS

Don't watch for a single "look" in fashion this fall. Fashion is evolving season by season, just as it should. The new fashions will have a fresh, different look.

Judy Lane, Danny Wilemon Marry In Double-Ring Home Ceremony

LEFORS (Spl) — Miss Judy Lane and Danny Wilemon were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony at 8 p.m. on July 27 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Roberson, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lane. The bridegroom is the son of Freeman Wilemon, Pampa and Mrs. George Jones of Louisiana.

The bride was attired in a white embossed sheath dress designed with a fitted bodice with cap sleeves and a three key-hole neckline effect trimmed with tiny buttons. The bouffant skirt was enhanced with an overskirt of bridal tulle. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle was held to a rhinestone headpiece. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses atop a white bible.

Mrs. Garrel Roberson, matron of honor, wore a pink sheath dress with a white overskirt and a pink and white split carnation corsage.

Garrel Roberson, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lane chose a blue dress, embroided with a darker shade of blue. She wore white accessories and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Jones was unable to attend her son's wedding.

A reception was held in the Roberson home immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a pink cloth with a white lace cloth overskirt, carrying out the bride's colors of pink and white.

Miss Barbara McDowell presided at a crystal punch service as Mrs. Garrel Roberson served the cake. The cake was made with two large hearts merged together, iced in white and trimmed in pink with "Danny and Judy," inscribed in the hearts.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Raton, N.M. and will be at home in Lefors.

Mrs. R. W. Beck HD Club Hostess

LEFORS (Spl) —Mrs. R. W. Beck presented a program on "Foods and Nutrition" for the Lefors Home Demonstration Club at a meeting held recently in the her home.

The program was taken from a lesson prepared by the Institute of Home Economics, Agricultural Research Service and taught to the club leader by Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County Home Demonstration agent.

A daily food guide was given to each member by the hostess.

Mrs. B. D. Vaughn, vice president, conducted the business meeting, which included a secretary's report by Mrs. Cedar Torres.

The club voted to sponsor its annual rummage sale the last week in September.

During the recreation period, games were played. Miss Paula Beck and Miss Karen Sue Bishop entertained with songs.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

It's wise to remember a few handy tricks when planning to repaint a room with proportions that leave something to be desired.

A light color tends to make a low ceiling seem higher. By the same token, dark paint tends to lower a too-high ceiling. A long narrow room assumes better proportions if the end walls are dark and the longer and side walls are a lighter color.

Deep tones are going to make a large room cozier and lighter tints will seemingly expand that wee box of a room. Unattractive woodwork, doors and mantel are more conspicuous when painted to contrast with the walls. Matching paint will blot out undesirable features and hold together the room with too many windows and doors.

Give some consideration to the room's good and bad points before starting to repaint.

Dear Polly: In a recent column you mentioned Austrian and Roman shades made from drapery material. Please elaborate on this as I have never heard of these shades. Also I have a decorating problem. Living room walls are bluish gray, also the fireplace. My couch and one chair are gray. Drapes are white with small rose flowers, green leaves and gold design. What color chair and rug should I buy?—Mrs. D. B. H.

Dear Mrs. D. B. H.: Both Roman and Austrian shades are made of fabric and draw up from the bottom. The Roman shade presents a plain, straight appearance until the cords are pulled. The dresser Austrian shade hangs in festoonlike swags, making scallops at the bottom, even when hanging down over the window. They take at least twice as much material as Roman shades. The proper tape and cords used in making these shades is obtainable in most drapery departments where you can usually buy a booklet describing the actual sewing procedure.

Your living room must be on the dull side; a gold carpet should help liven things up. The new chair could be covered with stripes or plaids in blue, gray, green, gold, rose and so on.

Dear Polly: I live alone in a second floor apartment that has a glassed-in porch across the front with six windows. It is so nice when the children come to visit. But the draperies I have at the sides are not enough, for the people across the street are always looking in. I would like some kind of an inexpensive curtain at the bottom so we could see out and they couldn't see in.—Mrs. A. M. R.

Dear Mrs. A. M. R.: Cafe curtains, made of a semisheer cotton, could cover the lower half or even three quarters of each window. Light would come in and your Peeping Tom neighbors would have to seek their entertainment elsewhere.

Dear Polly: I would like your opinion on mixing furniture made of different types of wood. In my living room, I have walnut tables, etc, but have the chance to buy a lovely blond piano. Walls are knotty pine. Since I have this walnut in the living room, should I buy walnut dining room furniture or could I use cherry-wood?—Mrs. E. K. T.

Dear Mrs. E. K. T.: Different woods can be used in the same room with a pleasing effect. The blond piano should look all right. But with it, pine walls and other walnut furniture, I would stick to walnut in the adjoining dining room unless the cherry has a brown tinge rather than the usual reddish look.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

Are Loafers "Bad" for Children's Feet?

Loafers have not been on the market long enough to say how they will affect the nation's foot health.

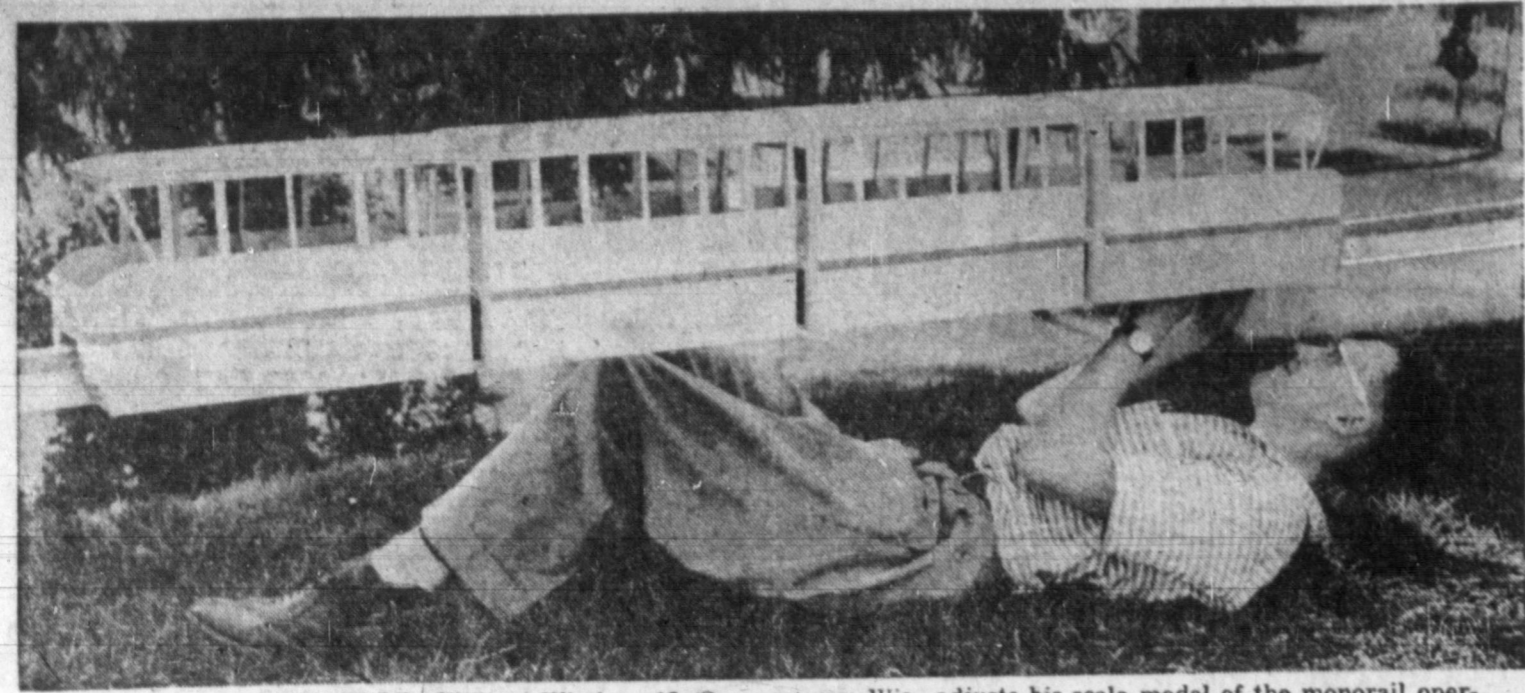

A comparison could be made with the wooden shoes worn by Hollanders. Strange as it may seem, those necessarily large, stiff "loafers" developed strong arches because the wearers must learn to use their toes to hold them on as they lift each foot to step forward.

Of this we can be sure, loafers are conducive to removing shoes in the house and there is nothing better for foot health, for posture and good carriage than walking barefoot.

Two Walls Divided Berlin A Year Ago

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Two walls, not one, divided Berlin a year ago this Aug. 13. The one of bricks and barbed wire and steel split the city physically. The other established a new diplomatic wall.

Allied efforts to whittle down the diplomatic hurdle have failed in the last 12 months just as have the attempts to get the physical wall out of the way.

The political attitudes of the Allies and the Communists have, if anything, hardened as the key issues dividing them have been more clearly defined.

No settlement has been reached in the months of probing on Berlin and none is in immediate sight.

On the surface the Berlin crisis mood has eased and both sides appear to have tacitly agreed to disagree. But the truce is vague and its duration undefined. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could call it off at any time.

Intermittent rumblings in the Kremlin have been pointing lately to the possibility of new Soviet moves over the deadlocked Berlin issue. Yet to balance this there also have been signs that Khrushchev is chary of provoking a major crisis now to force a Soviet-type settlement.

Lack Basis For Decision
The West has little to go by in assessing Soviet intentions except for the "impression" that Khrushchev understands he cannot force the Allies out of Berlin without running the risk of a war, and a nuclear war at that.

To all appearances, Khrushchev does not want war. He probably cannot afford one despite his boasts of Russian military superiority over the United States. And he knows the terrible consequences for Russia however such a war might end.

Moscow's comparative inactivity over Berlin in the past year appears in fact to be largely due to the impact of Western—notably United States—determination to draw a firm line of "so far, no further" on Soviet attempts to change the status of the divided city to Communist advantage.

Probe Defines Division
Ten months of diplomatic "probing" between the United States and Russia into Berlin peace prospects merely have helped to define the dividing issues more clearly.

The Russians have made it clear that the essence of their Berlin policy is to get the Allied garrisons out of the city. They have accentuated their position by branding Berlin a NATO base.

The West, in turn, has left Moscow in no doubt about its determination to stay in Berlin and to keep free access to the city.

Russian "alternatives" have been rejected by the Allies as maneuvers to get the Communists into West Berlin through the back door. One such move by Khrushchev sought to replace the Allied forces with a mixed force drawn from the smaller NATO nations and the Warsaw Pact countries, and placed under United Nations command.

The probe which has been carried out in Moscow, Washington and Geneva by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may go on at different levels.

Russians Revive Threat
But the Russians have been showing signs of restiveness and have revived their threat to sign a separate peace treaty with the Communist East German regime. At one time, the Soviets threatened that in such an event Allied rights in Berlin would be wiped out automatically. They have become more cautious lately, apparently fearing that such a move could spark off an armed clash with the United States.

The West has, in fact, put the Russians on notice—Rusk renewed the warning to Gromyko only last month in Geneva—that a separate peace treaty cannot erase Allied rights in the divided city.

The West appears resigned to Russia signing a treaty with the East German regime—the Russians may feel they must do it under pressure from Communist public opinion—provided it leaves the Berlin status unchanged.

Virginia Is Looking For More Settlers

Recent hints from the Communists have suggested the Russians may frame their peace treaty so as to leave the Berlin issue where it stands now. Such reservations would avoid an immediate showdown with the West. But they also would prolong the dangers and uncertainty—and leave those two Berlin walls intact.

Clergyman Hits Court Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A ranking Protestant clergyman has urged rewriting the Constitution's First Amendment to block the Supreme Court from again "deconsecrating" the nation.

The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop of California, told a Senate hearing that the high court distorted the First Amendment in striking down a non-sectarian, voluntary, state prescribed New York school prayer.

In forbidding the state to establish religion, he said, the founding fathers intended only to forbid setting up a particular denomination as the national religion. The court, he said, has stretched the word "religion" way beyond the original reference to specific churches. And the separation of church and state, he argued, does not mean the separation of church from society.

Bishop Pike told the Senate Judiciary Committee that the government has no business telling Americans to "get with" religion. But neither should the government prevent local authorities from fostering non-sectarian, voluntary recitation of prayer.

If it did so, he said, the minority would be able to impose its will on a majority.

The bishop, a lawyer who has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court, said the First Amendment should be redrafted to prohibit "the recognition as an

Virginia Is Looking For More Settlers

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—With about 400 years of experience in handling settlers behind her, the old Dominion state, Virginia, today is looking for more.

The first ones clambered off tiny sailing ships on the Coastal Plain, where later were to grow the shipping and industrial complex embracing Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News. It was 375 years ago this month that the first child born to English parents in the colony of Virginia came into the world at Roanoke; Virginia Dare.

But today the settlers whom the state wishes to encourage come with blueprints and specifications in their hands, and often as not step from private planes.

Virginia, like many another state below the Mason-Dixon line in recent years, has decided to campaign actively to present the state's attractions to industrialists.

It has set up a division of industrial development and planning, directed by Joseph G. Hamrick, a management consultant engineer, working out of the office of Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr.

The state has a solid network of industry now, but Hamrick says it has room for more. Harrison said that the industrialist sizing up the state should consider its approach to the tax problem as a key to what to expect. There is no state debt, he said; Virginia feels it is important not to operate on credit if its use can be avoided.

"If you come to Virginia," he said, "you'll know you're not going to pay taxes on past mistakes and extravagances of previous governments. This business of loading succeeding generations down with a debt, we don't believe in."

established church of any denomination, sect, or organized religious association."

Gift Made To Program In Lefors

LEFORS (Sp) — The presentation of $175 to the Summer Recreation program was made at a ladies night meeting of the Lions Club in the civic center Monday night.

Following a buffet dinner, Boss Lion Fred Blackwell called the meeting to order and called for introduction of guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. James Blackman, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Diehl.

Harry Garrison, school supt., introduced his uncle, Harry Wofford, guest speaker, who was present with his wife.

In his talk on Good Living, Wofford, Wheeler County Clerk, emphasized the support of the people of essential things such as the fact of "more blessed to give than to receive," he said. "We better watch as we keep up with the Joneses, or we will find ourselves 'way ahead of them, with a lot of bills that must be paid.'"

We must have a principle to stand by, spiritual moral living, instead of wearing out the line between right and wrong, because the wound of doing wrong will always be with us, and a guilty conscience takes joy out of living."

Walter Elliott reported that the Lions Club has U.S. Flags for sale, $5.00 complete with pole and brackets for mounting.

Thank You Notes were read to the club from Ex-Sweetheart LeAnn Pafford and from the Girl Scouts and leaders for the use of the scout bus.

The flag salute was led by Ted Gustin and the prayer by L. D. McCauley.

Attending other than those mentioned were Messrs. and Mrs. L. D. McCauley, W. R. Combs, B. J. Thacker, Boyd Beck, Alex Swann, Dunny Goode, Ted Gustin, Walter Elliott, D. T. Pfeil, Joe Clarke, Harry Garrison, Harry Wofford, R. E. McDonald, John Archer, J. R. Sparkman, Miss Barbara McDowell, Rev. Eddy L. Spivey, Fred Blackwell, and Mrs. Charles Roberts and Jan.

BETLES: KEEP OFF—These fellows don't look like gardeners' helpers, but they are. They treat the interior of aircraft with DDT aerosol to keep the spread of Japanese beetles in check. Work is done under direction of U.S. Department of Agriculture. Many times during beetle flight season—from May until mid-August—they enter airplanes and are carried to noninfested parts of the United States and other countries. Now, beetle infestation exists mainly along the eastern seaboard with spot infestations toward the west. Treated plane is safe, odorless and dust free.

EXPECT FURTHER TESTS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Informed sources said today they expected further underground nuclear tests in Nevada, where there have already been 49 shots in the current series.

Sources said President Kennedy, when he told his news conference Wednesday that "there are not any further tests in Nevada," was referring to further fallout-producing atmospheric tests.

Five Limousines To Deliver Mail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire wonders why the Senate needs five $6,714 Lincoln limousines to distribute its mail around the capital.

The Wisconsin Democrat said Thursday the latest report of the secretary of the Senate listed the automobiles under the category "mail transportation."

"While I believe the mail of the Senate should be treated with dignity," Proxmire said in a Senate speech, "there is no reason for it to move in such luxury."

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager of a $146.7 million money bill to finance Congress and related agencies in the current fiscal year, said the limousines were an old Senate custom.

South Texas Badly Needs More Rain

COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — South Texas is badly in need of rain and the northern half has about all it needs for the time being, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Widespread sections of the state had little or no recorded rainfall for the entire month of July while other areas, smaller in size, received record or near record falls.

The hot, dry weather has caused cotton to open at a fast clip in south central, upper coastal counties and southern counties in the Blacklands, the service said. Grain sorghum harvesting has moved northward with some early fields already combined in north central and the Rolling Plains districts.

Corn is maturing rapidly in central Texas and is being harvested in south central and the upper Gulf Coast as the rice harvest is continuing in the latter areas.

Spotted light to heavy rains in far West Texas improved ranges but some counties are still reporting extremely dry spots, the service said. In central West Texas, except around Abilene, the stock water situation is bad as stock tanks continue to dry up and the same is true in southern counties. Range fires are a threat to dry ranges in even wider areas, the service said.

Bollworms continue to cause cotton growers much concern except in the High Plains. First bales have been ginned as far north as the central Blacklands and the peak has been passed in southern areas. Some early grain sorghum fields have been harvested as far north as the Rolling Plains.

Livestock conditions vary with the local situations but generally are in good condition except in southern areas. Sheep shearing has started in Kinney and Val Verde counties and goat shearing in central West Texas.

"SPACE TRUCK" ON LUNA.—Here's how an artist sees a rocket-launched "space truck" which would supply men on the moon. Shown loaded with corrugated building material and oxygen tanks, the saucerlike design is intended for maximum stability on rough terrain, and for ease of unloading. American Rocket Society members meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, were given first viewing of the GE design.

New Books Available In Pampa's Library

Lovett Memorial Library offers two new adult novels, seven teenage books, and eight Spanish books for summer readers.

"Uhuru" by Robert Ruark is an adult novel of Africa today as uhuru (freedom) is about to be realized.

"The Sound of Bow Bells" by Jerome Weidman: a writer of slick magazine serials finds his way back to his youthful aims and loyalties.

The Library has recently bought seven novels and non-fiction for teen-agers.

"Candle in the Night" by Elizabeth Howard: a teenage story of 1812 when Detroit was the West.

"Of Parties and Petticoats" by Emily R. Dow: written especially for teenage girls.

"The Haunted Treasure of the Espectros" by Gordon Shirreffs: an adventure story of the lost Espectro mine and an ancient mystery.

"Challengers of the Deep" by Wilbur Cross: the story of submariners and the exploits of the men who build and sail them.

"Robert Goddard, Space Pioneer" by Anne Perkins Dewey: the biography of the man who built and fired the first liquid-fuel rocket almost 40 years ago.

"From the Eagle's Wing" by Hildegarde Swift: the biography of John Muir, a pioneer geologist and adventurer who began the American national park system.

"Bonanza Girl" by Patricia Beatty: a hilarious book based on true events of the Idaho Territory in the 1880's.

For those young men going into the service the Lovett Library now has "Practice for the Armed Forces Tests" by David Turner.

The Lovett Memorial Library has received eight Spanish books for first and second year Spanish students. Brief, light stories written in a gay and colorful setting, they are helpful summer refresher books.

These books are: "El Cuco Que No Podia Contra" (The Cuckoo That Couldn't Count) by Jean Lee Latham and Bee Lewi; "Tulita la Patita" (Gertie the Duck) by Nicholas Georgiady and Louis G. Romano and "Elena la Ballena" (Mabel the Whale) by Patricia King.

Two books of fairy tales including The Three Bears, Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella and The Sleeping Beauty, written primarily for beginning students of Spanish, have English and self-pronouncing Spanish words. These books are edited by the Berlitz Schools of Language.

Also on the shelves are two new Spanish-English dictionaries.

Decision On Sanford Dam Road Is Due

AUSTIN (UPI) — State highway engineer D. C. Greer said last week the Highway Commission will soon reach a decision on modernizing the last outmoded section of road that will serve the Sanford dam and reservoir. A delegation from Potter, Hutchinson and Moore counties, headed by J. H. Eubanks of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce asked for the modernization Wednesday. The Highway Commission has completed one section of improvements on Texas Highway 136 north of Amarillo. Funds to improve another section of the road were allocated recently, Greer said.

The two previous improvements left the eight-mile section covered by Wednesday's request. Backers of the plans to make the road a two-lane modern highway told the commission an added traffic load will come from construction workers and suppliers for the Sanford dam. The highway boosters also said the road will serve the flow of traffic to take advantage of the reservoir's recreational facilities when it is completed. Bill Cook was the New York Rangers' top goal-getter each year from 1928 to 1934.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Wages And Tariffs

There is little question but what American labor unions have assisted in forcing up wages in this country. There is also no question but what this practice has resulted in unemployment, which is still with us.

But there is a growing feeling in some quarters that because of these wage and unemployment events, some kind of tariff barrier should be erected between this nation's producers and the producers of other nations. The theory is that the American worker ought to be protected in his unconscionably high wages against the lower wages of foreign workmen in their respective lands.

This idea stems from the fact that labor costs do, of course, impair the American ability to compete, and this is not questioned. But one evil (labor unions) cannot justify a second evil (a protective tariff).

In point of fact, if the businessmen in this country were as staunchly arrayed against the labor boss threat as is often pretended, then the businessmen would do well to encourage the abolition of all tariffs, since it is the tariff more than any other single thing, which serves to protect labor unions and to prevent the effect of an imbalance in wages from being experienced by the very men who cause the imbalance, the trade union leaders.

But high wages are not the major concern. What is, is a high unit cost of production. Americans have always paid higher wages than most employers and the reason related to our relatively higher productivity, to the fact that it isn't the wages that wreck an industry, it is the low unit cost which preserves it.

In the 30's, American farmers were the highest paid farmers in the world. They raised wheat in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and the Dakotas, which wheat was harvested, threshed, sacked and transported all the way into the interior of China. There in China, coolies, the lowest-paid agricultural workers in the world, labored in wheat fields. But the customers for wheat found that they could buy American wheat and pay for all the handling and transportation clear into the interior of China, and they could do this at less cost than they would have to pay for China-grown wheat raised right there in the Chinese interior by the lowest-paid agricultural workers on earth.

It wasn't the labor costs which were the determining factor. The unit cost of production is the telling item, and of course wage rates are only one item that affects unit costs.

We were reminded recently that Henry Ford, backed in 1914 or '15, raised the wages of his workers to $5.00 for an eight-hour day. Ford workers were at that time the highest-paid mechanical workers on earth. Yet Ford was able to UNDERSELL all other automobile firms and to go on to win nearly 60 per cent of the automobile market. It wasn't the high wages, it was the low unit cost which did the job.

These factors are important as we consider the situation in the steel industry. And to its credit, we must note that many of the responsible steel executives, in spite of the Kennedy lashing, are still not favorable to a tariff to prevent the influx of foreign-made steel.

Altho it is true that Japan, Germany and the Common Market countries are building steel mills and improving their capacities at a tremendous rate, this is still no reason for invoking government in an effort to preserve a trade island in the Western Hemisphere where labor boss wages can be kept high and where without competition from other countries, prices can be kept up, too.

Competition is a many-sided jewel, and while wage rates provide one facet of competition there are scores of others. The basic item of real importance is that when we have an unimpaird market, customers the world over will be able to purchase the best steel at the lowest possible price. And the customer is the only logical person to make the decision as to what price to pay or what kind of steel to purchase.

But in addition to encouraging the best firms to produce the best steel by leaving such choices to the customers, it is important to know that America holds the edge competitively in many other areas.

To produce steel requires raw iron ore and coal. America leads Common Market countries and Japan in both of these commodities. Again, when it comes to processing, American processing of ore is finer than anything any European or Asiatic competitor has come up with to date.

Altho the American business community has been sorely attacked by its own government in order to benefit our competitors, the fact is that once such activities cease, the American knowledge in steel and elsewhere can quickly fill the gap. And don't forget that American customers want a controlled quality in the items they buy, plus the kind of service foreign competitors can scarcely provide across two major oceans.

Let's not make the mistake of injuring the American ability to trade freely across political borders, simply because American labor bosses have pushed wages up to unrealistic highs. The answer is to let the trade be free. Wage rates will then be forced to level off and production will tend to level up, with more and better bargains available for more customers the world around.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

There's one orderly drug store in Birmingham, Ala., largely patronized by teenagers — and here's how: Some 200 youngsters have joined its Teenage Club and signed this pledge: "We hereby agree that in return for the privileges of reading the comics, monopolizing the fountain, free cokes once a week, and other benefits, we will conduct ourselves as ladies and gentlemen while in X's drug store." You may not have noticed it, but the advertising campaign for "soup 'n sandwiches," which started nine years ago as a summertime promotion, is now being pushed the year round.

News item in the Pueblo (Col.) Chief: "Many thought that a bullet cannot go off unless it is fired by a gun." One way to keep from getting a cold is to stay away from people who have colds. Sneezing and coughing send an invisible shower of germ- or virus-laden droplets of moisture into the surrounding air and these, containing cold viruses, can travel as far as 40 feet.

Today's favorite gag: A new neighbor wished to do some shopping, so asked the children next door if they could care for her pet poodle during her absence, and they agreed. Some hours later she returned to retrieve her animal and the youngsters handed it over. "Have you taken good care of Pierre?" she asked. "Oh, yes, ma'am," the children chorused. "And he can swim now," the youngest added.

Trick of the grade: Some writers of TV and radio scripts, aware that advertising and editorial executives who handle their stuff unconsciously seek lines to cut out, purposely include lines in their scripts that will obviously be blue-penciled — thus giving the censor a whiff at his executive function, but protecting the writer's pet lines. Observes a cynic: "We wonder whether thoughtful Scandinavians ever stop to ponder on what they got back for all the money they've paid out for peace prizes."

Thoughts while shaving: I. Just before the recent market crash, some industrial stocks were selling at around 23 times their projected 1962 earnings. And we can recall that early in 1929, several months before that year's historic market crash, John J. Raskob, then General Motors' financial wizard, had created a sensation when he said he saw nothing wrong with stocks selling at 16 times their projected earnings.

2. Mysterious is the term "dialectics" as employed by the Communists, but Khrushchev has explained it succinctly thus: "Dialectics is a way of thinking that allows one to understand that a thing can be simultaneously its opposite." (Now do you understand?) . . . 3. There's the householder on a suburban estate who once in a while hangs out a neat sign on the gate reading, "No." The neighbors' curiosity was a mightily aroused until he explained the "No" is a message to the milkman. His house is well back from the street, and when the milkman sees the sign it saves him a lot of steps. . . . 4. Up to a decade ago hurricanes were generally ignored by most persons in the New England states until the high winds hit the coast of Virginia, Maryland and New Jersey. But nowadays they all become apprehensive as soon as any meteorological disturbance is detected 1500 or 2000 miles south of Miami, Fla.

Country editor speaking: "Children's growing pains distress parents, says a psychologist. This may be news, but not to parents."

BID FOR A SMILE

A lady was visiting a training camp. She saw a recruit going around the parade ground with a sharp-pointed stick spearing cigarette butts and paper. Stopping him, she asked:

"Doesn't that sort of work fatigue you a great deal?"

"Oh, no, replied the soldier. I was born to it. My father used to harpoon whales."

A wealthy but thrifty lady brought in an elegant gown for cleaning.

Lady — I see you are doing them for 49 cents this week. But remember, I'm particular about my clothes.

When she returned to get the dress, a moth flew out.

Lady (at the proprietor)—You cheat! A moth in my expensive dress!

Clerk—Madam, what do you expect for 49 cents—a butterfly?

"There's a Gentleman Out Here Who Stutters!"

The American Way

ANOTHER GLIMPSE AT POLICY

During the last two weeks the country was given another fleeting glimpse of the underlying policy that is leading, with each passing month, to the eclipse of our wonderful nation. The glimpse was once again a stolen one and the severe curtain of executive privilege was hurriedly drawn lest the American people wake up to what our planners have in store for them.

Washington correspondent Willard Edwards, an experienced and discerning reporter, wrote two articles on June 17 and 18. On June 17, he wrote an article that represents the ultimate in current planning. Rostow is chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Board and his report represents the collective thinking of himself and a large staff of his planners.

The Edwards articles were based on authentic sources and have not been denied by State Department spokesmen.

According to our planners, the Soviet Union is mellowing and becoming a "mature" nation; that there is a diffusion of power away from Moscow in the Communist bloc; that Soviet Russia is coming to realize that the severity of the class struggle concept is becoming outdated.

Therefore, they urge that we should try, not to overcome Communism, but to help it in this evolutionary process. "Capitalism will not triumph over Socialism. Rather the victory will be one of men and nations voluntarily cooperating under the principles of the United Nations Charter," writes Mr. Edwards of this extraordinary but official assumption.

This same conciliatory treatment is recommended for Red China. The Chinese Communists can be encouraged to evolve "to a peaceful state by showing them we have no aggressive intentions." In the meantime "unnecessary provocations" are to be avoided.

The corollaries neatly fall into place. Each one should bring joy to Khrushchev. Edwards writes of these:

"Gentle treatment of the satellite nations is advocated. No official attacks should be made against their regimes, whatever the provocation, and even criticism should be softened. Western Europe, at the same time, must be encouraged to closer relationship with the satellites and urged to furnish aid to them.

"East Germany, the policy draft says, cannot be forever insulated from dealings with the United States and business must be transacted with them.

"Above all, no encouragement or support must be given to armed uprisings in eastern Europe." Government intelligence officials, dealing with the realities of our times, are naturally disturbed. Some have expressed themselves in opposition to Rostow's thinking. Edwards quotes these to o:

"They note no lessening of Communist intransigence nor of grim determination to 'bury' the free world. They see in the Rostow recommendations a total misconception of the nature of Communism conspiracy, a naive brushing off of its treachery as evidenced in a long history of broken treaties and agreements while steadily pursuing the goal of world conquest.

When Wait Rostow was called before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he refused to produce this basic policy report. He invoked the overworked doctrine of Executive Privilege and was upheld. Instead he fuzzed over the outlines of our policy and skillfully concealed the sinister nature of his report.

Meanwhile our wonderful nation, led by the Rostows, moves toward its dissolution and toward merger, with a minority status, with Soviet power. This is apparent with all our moves from Geneva to Laos.

Willard Edwards and his sources are to be congratulated. They demonstrate again what one or two persons can do to slow up the process by making it known.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Dietary Report Abounds in Cheer for Ulcer Patients

Some medical eyebrows may be raised and some shrieks of protest from die-hard nutritionists may be heard as a result of an ulcer report recently published by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Assn. The views — which correspond with my own, gained through 40 years of experience — will free many peptic ulcer (stomach and duodenal) sufferers from unnecessary hardships of rigid diets.

The report, in summary, says:

Ulcers are not healed by diet, injections, nor by medications alone, but because the man with the ulcer comes under the care of a physician who is able to transmit to the patient some of his own confidence in the tendency of the ulcer to heal.

Rigid dietary treatment does not hasten peptic ulcer healing. Satisfactory healing of an ulcer can be obtained on a liberalized diet in which the choice of foods is more or less left to the patient provided that the chosen foods are made readily available, are attractively served and are eaten under favorable and pleasant conditions.

Dietary restrictions, need not be placed on certain foods thought to be irritating unless they cause immediate distress to the particular patient.

The rate of recurrence of peptic ulcer is determined by its natural history in the particular patient. Even under virtually ideal conditions of management (as in the personnel of the Royal navy), the natural rate of recurrence is little influenced.

The intelligent patient will obviously avoid those foods he knows from experience cause him to have heartburn, pain or other digestive symptoms. He will avoid coffee and alcohol. He will thoroughly chew all foods. And he will take some simple antacid tablets or powders that experience has shown him serve to prevent or relieve distress.

Even so-called indigestibles (onions, garlic, turnips, parsnips, radishes, mustard, pickles, etc.) do not produce any more irritation to the stomach of the ulcer patient than to those whose stomachs are normal. Provided that "roughage" foods (fruit skins, lettuce, cabbage, kale, nuts, celery, etc) are thoroughly masticated, they scarcely ever injure a peptic ulcer. Certainly, before prescribing limitations to the diets of persons with peptic ulcer, we need better evidence that ordinary foods are either stimulating or irritating to the stomach.

And, finally, "a temperate and common sense approach to the diet should provide for essential nutritional and acid-reducing features without making the diet an end unto itself or the patient a dietary cripple."

To which I add a chorus of Hallelujahs!

Allen-Scott Report

Communications Filibuster Triggered By Backstage Democratic Meeting

WASHINGTON — If and when the Senate votes on the filibustered communications satellite bill, it will be overwhelmingly approved by at least three-fourths (75) of that chamber.

That is conclusively shown by three backstage head counts.

The latest of these polls disclosed only 17 votes against the measure — all of them liberal Democrats. Every Republican senator is for this legislation, proposed by the Kennedy Administration and, three months ago, passed by the House 354 to 9.

Only obstacle to the sweeping enactment of this bill is the filibuster by a group of Democratic liberals.

Importantly behind the sharp cleavage among them is a significant confrontation that took place in the office of Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont. It was largely as a result of this unannounced meeting that the usually united liberals split on this issue.

Among those participating in this discussion were Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert Humphrey, Minn., and Senators Quentin Burdick, N.D., Albert Gore, Tenn., Estes Kefauver, Tenn., one of the principal filibusters.

Also present were Deputy Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach, Administration spokesman on this legislation, and Lawrence O'Brien, White House liaison chief with Congress.

After some general talk about the measure, Mansfield, looking at Katzenbach sternly in the eye, asked, "Is this a give-away? As you know, that charge is being seriously made, so what about it? Is it or isn't it a 'give-away'?"

"It is not," emphatically replied the 40-year-old former Chicago University law professor. "If this were a give-away, I would not be sitting here supporting it."

PRO AND CON — Senator Mansfield raised another major argument against the legislation. "Is the State Department adequately safeguarded in this proposal?" he demanded. "Is the Department given sufficient authority to protect the interests of the country?"

"The answer to that is yes, for a very good reason," declared Katzenbach. "The State Department assisted in writing this bill. It drafted the provisions relating to the Department's powers. Those provisions are unchanged. They were approved by the House, and are still in the measure."

Senator Burdick wanted to know why the communications satellite couldn't be government-owned.

"If it is felt that private business should be brought into this project," said the North Dakotan, "why can't the government own it and lease it out to private operators?"

"That just wouldn't work," asserted Katzenbach. "Private business wouldn't be interested. Investors would be extremely reluctant to put money into such a proposition."

Senator Kefauver, who has a substitute bill calling for government ownership, questioned Katzenbach closely on why the Administration is opposed to that. Kefauver contended the government should at least own 50 per cent of the stock of the undertaking. Katzenbach did not relent. Instead, he sidestepped by saying this decision had not been made by him.

Attorney General, "and I am supporting it. I feel it is a reasonable and practical measure, and I favor its enactment."

"If that's the best that can be said for it," declared Senator Gore dryly, "then I'm still against it."

That ended the meeting — and the battle of the liberal dissenters was on.

NEW RED BUILD-UP — Defense Secretary McNamara brought back one piece of quieting information from his latest Pacific Vietnam conference on the sinister South Vietnam situation.

General Paul Harkins, U.S. commander there, reported it has been definitely established that the 345th and 346th regular North Vietnam divisions have moved into South Vietnam through Laos. They did that before the recent signing of the 14-nation pact for a coalition government.

The two North Vietnam divisions total about 12,000 combat troops. They have no heavy weapons or armor. Their arms consist of rifles, machineguns and mortars. But these Red units are well trained and have battle-experienced officers.

None have yet appeared in action. But General Harkins expects them to be used by fall, in a coordinated drive to cut off Saigon, capital of South Vietnam.

DIPLOMATIC CHANGES — Despite numerous reports to the contrary, West Germany's controversial Ambassador Kroll is not being recalled from Moscow, Chancellor Adenauer, who publicly announced Kroll would be replaced, has changed his mind and has privately told the Soviet Ambassador that Kroll will continue there. That's one of the "last pieces" of information Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson cabled to the State Department before leaving for Washington.

Czechoslovakia is shifting Ambassadors in Washington. Ambassador Miloslav Ruzek, who has been here since 1959, is leaving in the fall. His successor is still unnamed. And Yugoslav Ambassador Nikeric, who has represented his country since 1955, is also being moved to another post. His replacement is as yet undesignated.

Major General Nasiri, head of Turkey's state police, is completing an extensive tour of U.S. police departments. Purpose of the trip is to introduce U.S. police methods in Turkey.

A machine that is able to learn, make decisions, profit by its mistakes when they are pointed out by a human "teacher" and tell how it solves problems that baffle man was developed in 1961. It was called the Cybertron. It does not work as do computing machines. Like a human, it is "allogical"; it will tackle problems for which no formula is known.

Making It Worse

To dwell unnecessarily on the mistakes of the past is to extend the error into tomorrow.

Are We Idiotic Sheep?

The government, on occasion, must investigate.

This is a duty of government, in pursuing ways and means to advance the public interest. But, if some officials have their way, investigation and regulation and other such weapons will become, so to speak, a way of life for government, and an end in themselves.

An officer of a leading American chain store company observes that some of our leaders "seem to be of the opinion that we retailers sell hazardous, dangerous food products; that FTC must be a more vigorous policeman over retail advertising and selling practices; that the government must give consumers information to make them more competent shoppers; that Federal intervention is required in consumer credit; that retailers and their suppliers use deliberately deceitful packages to cheat the public and that everything can be solved by more and bigger government."

In other words, the idea is that retailing (and all other business, too) is chock-a-block full of crooks, that consumers are, in large part, just idiotic sheep, and that it's up to Big Brother to call the tune.

Well, that would be the way to bring about a stultified economy, in which every decision of any consequence was made by some bureaucrat with a handbook — and in which freedom of choice and freedom of initiative would be meaningless phrases.

Domestic Oil Producers Urging Tightened Controls Over Imports

WASHINGTON (SpI) — Domestic oil producers last week urged Congress to tighten oil import controls to correct unhealthy conditions in the U.S. oil producing industry and strengthen the nation's energy mobilization base.

Harold Decker, Houston, president of the 6,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America, told the Senate Finance committee that oil imports had continued to take a rising share of domestic oil market in spite of both voluntary and mandatory import controls since 1955.

In testimony prepared for delivery to the Senate group, Decker urged strengthening of the security provisions of the House-passed Trade Expansion Act (H.R. 11970) to roll back imports other than residual fuel to the ratio existing in 1956, this year "prior to the continuing decline in the health and vigor of the domestic oil industry."

The domestic petroleum industry, said the Houston oilman, has "suffered a continuing decline" in all its activities in the past six years and is now "in serious economic difficulty."

He said while domestic crude oil output has been stagnated for six years, the Soviet Union has raised its oil production 100 per cent in this period and issuing oil in an "effective, aggressive war on the economic front throughout the world."

Detailing the declining activities in the domestic oil industry since 1956, Decker said exploratory drilling is off 39 percent, total wells drilled 19 percent, rotary rigs active 33 percent, and the

Card of Thanks

MRS. SALLY LARNER
We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement and to express gratitude for the beautiful floral offerings.
You all have not been forgotten. The one we love so well.
The loneliness that has been ours since our dear one has passed away. Come winter time, come summer time, come sweet and cleansing rain, come springtime and the Autumn both and moon and stars and dew, come seed time and the flowering and the harvesting of grain.
The earth will cease and time grow old.
But we shall meet again.
Now you will see little white, And dream in peace, please God, Then one day we shall follow you, And sleep, too, beneath the sod.
To rise with you and walk again, With a vague sense of remembering, That we had loved in other lives, Before this new ascending.

Drilling Problems To Be Probed At KU Institute

LAWRENCE, Kan. — A study of problems in drilling and completion of wells designed to improve work in the field will be examined at the Deep Well Drilling and Completion Institute Oct. 17-18 in Liberal, Kan.

Offered through the University of Kansas Southwest Extension Center, the institute will cover topics in new drilling techniques, salt water system, pressure build-up calculations in formation testing, open hole mud well logging, electric logging in fresh and salt water muds, cementing casing and techniques, fracturing fluids and techniques, kill fluids and small diameter well completions.

The institute also will feature equipment displays provided by several supply companies.

Speakers for the institute include Gene Bowman of the Big Chief Drilling Co., and Curtis A. Henley of the Magnet Cove Barium Corp., both of Oklahoma City, Okla.; J. L. Lumms and J. D. Ray of the Pan American Corp., and Dr. R. G. Hamilton of the Hamilton Well Log Consultants, all of Tulsa; S. A. Billington of the Pan American Corp., Liberal; John Dolan of the Petroleum Research Corp., Denver, Colo.

M. L. Klein of the Halliburton Co., Amarillo, Texas; G. H. Alfred of the National Lead Co., and F. O. Bohn of the Lance - Wells Co., both of Houston, Texas; Joe W. V. R. Feazel Honored On Retirement

BORGER — Vernie R. Feazel, pumper in the production department for Sinclair Oil & Gas Company at Borger, retired August 1 after nearly 33 years with the company.

Feazel joined Sinclair No. 1, 1929, as a pumper at Wewoka, Okla., where he worked 11 years. He was employed by Sinclair for five years at Bonita, Texas, and for 11 years at Pampa before his transfer to Borger in 1957.

He was born in Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Feazel have one son, Roy Feazel, Pampa, and one daughter, Virginia Plumlee, Dallas.

The Feazels were honored with a retirement party in the Lefors Civic Center Tuesday night by friends and fellow employees.

George Crumrine presented the couple with a cash gift from their friends.

Mrs. O. O. Bishop registered the guests, Mrs. Bruce Heard served at the coffee service and Mrs. C. N. Barber, over-all hostess, had charge of table decorations and banquet service.

The group was called to order by C. N. Barber and Bert Jones led in prayer before the gift was presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Feazel have moved to Sherman to make their new home.

Utility Gas Sales Climb 1.9% In May

The nation's gas utility industry sold 1.9 per cent more gas in May than a year earlier.

The American Gas Association, in compiling figures for the industry, said the increase resulted despite warmer weather during May which cut down the household heating demand in some parts of the country. This was more than offset by the addition of customers, which now total more than 34 million, and the increased use of gas appliances.

Total gas sales in May were 7.6 billion therms. One therm is equal to 100,000 British thermal units (Btu) and could, for example, operate a gas refrigerator for 80 hours.

Residential and commercial sales reached 3.5 billion therms during the month, up 1.1 per cent from May, 1961. Sales to industry rose 2.5 per cent to 4.1 billion therms.

During the 12-month period ending May 31, gas sales totaled 93.1 billion therms, up 5.3 per cent from the previous period.
