Former Treasury Secretary Says He Was Right To Keep Stock

Denies Wrongdoing In Cabinet Position

By JERRY LANDAUER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—George M. Humphrey declared under oath today that his stockholdings in a company that held a controversial government contract did not influence his decisions as secretary of the treasury "one dot."

Humphrey said that he issued a "flat order never to be involved in any manner affecting a company in which he was financially interested."

Further, he said it made "a lot of sense" to keep his stock while serving as President Eisenhower's first secretary of the treasury.

Humphrey made his statements in testimony before the Senate stockpile investigating subcommittee.

"I owned that stock," he said, "I couldn't burn it up and I couldn't bury it... If I sold it I would be a substantial bank depositor and banks are directly under control of the secretary of the treasury."

Humphrey recalled that the Senate Finance Committee knew of his holdings when it approved him for the Cabinet post on January 19, 1953.

Committee Clearance
"The committee in charge of it said I shouldn't (sell)," he testified. "I abided by their decision."

Humphrey told the subcommittee it was the government, not his mine company, that insisted on "crash action" to sign a $111 million stockpile contract five days before he took office.

The subcommittee has heard charges that the M. A. Hanna Co., which Humphrey headed, milked the government on stockpile contracts.

Humphrey said he either did not attend or left promptly when a controversial nickel contract involving the Hanna firm came up for discussion at meetings of the Cabinet-level defense mobilization board.

Humphrey recalled that he gave up corporate salaries totaling $300,000 a year to accept the $22,500 a year post.

"I took a terrific financial loss by being in Washington," he said. "I'd do it again to help under the circumstances."

Humphrey said Hanna was reluctant to sign the contract because a new method of smelting nickel ore had not been proved. Because the company could not take risks involved in an unbusiness-like program, Humphrey said, it asked the government for certain protective contract clauses.

Took No Advantage
Humphrey denied that the firm took advantage of nickel shortages during the Korean conflict to hold out for huge profits, to dig more metal ore.

According to previous sworn testimony, Hanna cleared $15 million (See HUMPHREY, Page 4)

We Still Say 1st Foot On Moon To Be American

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Top U.S. space officials today stuck firmly to their prediction that the first man to set foot on the moon would be an American, despite Russia's twin cosmonaut accomplishment.

They pictured the Soviet feat as a "baby step" which told nothing about who would win in the hard running of the space race.

James E. Webb, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said he would change his forecast only if Russia started using next month something like the giant Saturn rocket the United States expects to have in service in 1965.

He conceded that while the U.S. space effort is fast-paced, it is not a crash program. He said an extra $1 billion to $2 billion a year could be spent but would speed progress only slightly and might hinder military projects.

Webb and three other top NASA officials gave these views Wednesday at a news conference called to answer questions about Russia's latest cosmonaut venture.

A Soviet correspondent put into words the question puzzling many American reporters. Sergei Vishnensky of Pravda wanted to know why official answers at the news conference about America's space progress sounded so much more optimistic than other views attributed to NASA officials and U.S. scientists.

Agreement Cited As UN Triumph

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The signing of a U.N.-sponsored agreement transferring Netherlands New Guinea to Indonesia was hailed here today as a diplomatic triumph that averted a possible major military conflict in the Southwest Pacific.

The agreement, signed Wednesday night after eight months of negotiation, climaxed a 13-year dispute between The Netherlands and Indonesia, and ended three centuries of Dutch control of the primitive territory.

Under the accord, West New Guinea will be placed under U.N. administration Oct. 1 for an interim period. The United Nations will transfer sovereignty of the territory to Indonesia next May 1.

The agreement ordered a cease fire in hostilities between Dutch and Indonesian forces at the territory to go into effect Saturday.

Fighting between Dutch marines and Indonesian paratroopers in West New Guinea had been reported virtually right up to the signing of the pact. In its drive to gain control of the territory, Indonesia had landed at least 2,000 soldiers over the past few months and had threatened a large-scale invasion.

Indonesian President Sukarno had told his people many times since the beginning of the year that West New Guinea, which Indonesians call West Irian, would be in their possession by 1963.

Russians Boasting Of 'Superiority' In Space

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia claimed space superiority over the United States today and prepared a hero's welcome for its two cosmonauts who made history with dual flights totaling almost three million miles.

A Soviet scientist indicated that the "space twins" had not achieved a link-up in the cosmos as had been speculated by some Western experts.

The cosmonauts, Maj. Andriy Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, were undergoing extensive medical tests for the effects of the prolonged weightlessness and other stresses experienced during their marathon space journeys.

Expected In Moscow Soon
Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev planned to greet the cosmonauts and lead the ceremonies in Red Square. There was no announcement when the celebration would take place, but informed sources believed it might be Friday.

While Russians talked jubilantly about the achievement of their new heroes, they speculated about new Soviet space experiments in the near future. One Soviet scientist predicted Wednesday that man would reach the moon in this decade, and Venus and Mars in the next.

The combined distance traveled by Nikolayev and Popovich was equal to five round trips to the moon.

Many Well-Wishers
The Soviet news agency Tass said the crush of well-wishers at the landing spot in central Russia was so great that Popovich was prompted to say, "it was much more comfortable in space."

Nikolayev and Popovich landed safely Wednesday in a prescribed area in the Kazakhstan Desert after circling the globe in parallel orbits at 17,500 miles an hour. They were reported in excellent condition.

Nikolayev was 100 miles up in space for about four days, completing 64 orbits covering 1,615,000 miles. Popovich traveled 1,243,000 miles in 48 orbits during the three days he was up. Both broke all previous records for extended flights in space.

Soviet biologist Mikhail Mityukov reported that pieces of ice were still banked along several street corners this morning.

John Connally, Other Demo Big Guns Will Be Present For Big Rally Here

John Connally, Democratic candidate for governor, will be in Pampa next Wednesday for the Top O' Texas Appreciation Reception and Dinner to be held at 5 p.m. in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Lynn Boyd, general chairman on arrangements, announced today that Connally had made a definite commitment to change his plans so he could be in Pampa to join other top candidates for Democratic state and district offices.

Others previously committed to attend the big Democratic rally are Preston Smith, candidate for lieutenant governor; Waggoner Carr, candidate for attorney general; Rep. Walter Rogers, seeking re-election in the 18th Congressional District; Grady Hazlewood, seeking re-election as state senator; Grainger McElhane, seeking re-election as state representative, and Fritz Thompson, candidate for state representative from Borger.

"We now have all the Democratic candidates for the top offices coming for the rally and it probably is the first time during the campaign that all of the candidates will be in the same place at the same time," Boyd said.

Boyd added that most of the candidates and possibly all of them will be here in time to take part in the Rodeo Parade Wednesday afternoon.

The reception will start at 5 p.m. and the dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. at the Coronado. Connally and the other candidates then plan to attend the opening performance of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Wednesday night.

Committee chairmen in charge of the reception and dinner include, in addition to Boyd: reception, Mrs. Lois Wilkinson; tickets and finance, Bob Stinson, and transportation, Frank Culberson.

School Budget Hearing Tonight
Public hearing on the proposed budget for the 1962-63 school year will be held at 8 p.m. today when the Pampa Independent School District trustees meet in Pampa Junior High School.

Last year's budget totaled $2,270,447 and there was no increase in the school tax rate which currently is $1.95, of which $1.48 went for 1961-62 school operating expenses and 47 cents to pay off bonded indebtedness and interest.

Tonight's meeting is open to the public and all persons interested in the operation of the schools and the financial setup are invited to attend.

The budget will be the only matter of business to be considered tonight, according to Jack Edmondson, school superintendent.

Injunction Sought In Missile Project Strike

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Contractors at space construction centers here Wednesday night asked for an injunction against a strike which has halted work on the giant rocket for America's manned flight to the moon.

Work on some 40 projects, most connected with space programs, has stopped because 1,500 workers refuse to cross picket lines set up by 150 members of striking Local 558 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Officials of the Marshall space flight center and the Army Ordnance Command said the strike could cause a delay in the nation's moon exploration program. The Saturn rocket, which will launch the three-man Apollo spacecraft toward the moon, is being constructed here.

that it violated labor's no-strike pledge on missile and space projects.

But IBEW President Gordon Freeman in Washington said the strike was no violation of the agreement. In a telegram, he told Kuczma the union exhausted all available procedures for peaceful settlement before setting up pickets.

Three contractors, at a meeting called by space authorities, asked officials of the National Labor Relations Board to seek an injunction to stop the strike.

The parties who filed the charges with the NLRB were the Greenhut Construction Co. of Pensacola, Fla., Baraco Electrical Construction Co. of Pensacola and the North Alabama Contractors Association.

The union local began picketing Tuesday in protest of the use of two non-union workers by the Baraco firm at the center. They said they attempted to peacefully negotiate, then called the strike a "last resort."

John E. Kuczma, executive secretary of the President's missile labor commission, called for an end to the strike on grounds

At the Clark Road exit, officer Richard Diiodato found sawhorses and three two-by-two-foot signs, white with black lettering, reading "detour." There also was a battery-operated blinking "danger" sign with flashing yellow lights on top and half a dozen rubber traffic cones blocking Route 3.

It was very efficiently done, looked official. The only catch was there was absolutely nothing wrong with Route 3 to necessitate a detour. Diiodato removed the signs and traffic proceeded instead of being diverted off on Clark Road into the wilderness of a state park as dozens of cars had been.

That was about 8:45 p.m. Tuesday.

An hour later, a 22-year-old pre-med student from Ecuador named Ricardo Unda Freire was tooling along on his motor scooter near Randolph, Mass., about 25 miles northwest of Plymouth.

At the intersection of highways 28 and 128, he came upon a red, white and blue mail truck parked at roadside.

"A man hailed me and I stopped my motor scooter," Unda Freire said. "The man said, 'call the police! We've been robbed of a million dollars!'" surpassing even the Brink's holdup in Boston in 1930.

The robbers got not a million but $1.5 million in unmarked cash from six banks on Cape Cod. About $400,000 of it came from the Barnstable County National Bank in Hyannis, Mass., where the Kennedy family often cashes checks when in Hyannis Port residence.

Today the Boston-Plymouth-Cape Cod area was the center of a manhunt unprecedented in New England annals.

State police armed with riot guns checked motel after motel around the vacation-busy Cape, looking for the hideout of the five men and one girl—armed with submachine guns and sawed-off shotguns—believed to have staged the holdup.

The young man sped to an outdoor phone booth and, in excitement, Spanish-accented tones, relayed that unusual piece of information. Randolph police told him to come to the station and tell them all about it.

And so broke the news of the great mail robbery, the biggest cash haul in American history.

Government Pumped $38 Million Into Public Education In Texas

By PATRICK CONWAY
United Press International
AUSTIN (UPI) — The federal government has pumped more than $38 million into public education in Texas during 1960-61, the Texas Education Agency said.

The big grants went for vocational training, school lunches, construction and maintenance and vocational rehabilitation.

Programs were administered by the State Board of Education, Texas Education Commissioner and the State Department of Education. The Board of Education, an elected group, sets policy for the education agency.

W. W. Jackson, San Antonio, chairman of the agency, issued a detailed compilation of federal programs beginning with a reading program for the blind that was established in 1879.

The Board of Education, Jackson said, is unalterably opposed to a centralized national system of education and to national control of state education management.

All national funds appropriated for the use of the states should lose their identity and their capacity for forming education policies at the time of their appropriation and should become subject, without onerous obligation, to the management and expenditure by state and local boards of education," the report said.

Jackson said the board has always allowed local school districts to operate with the least possible state control and to deny these districts the right, if they desire, to participate in federal programs would be a departure from the policy of local control.

The federal government spent $4.3 million for construction and $11.9 million for maintenance in school districts where enrollment increases resulted from federal activities. More than 700 districts reserved construction funds and 248 districts received maintenance money.

The Public School Lunch Program spent $5.2 million in Texas during 1960-61 and $2.5 million was spent on the Free Milk Program. More than 1,300 schools participated in one or more of the programs. In addition the Texas Department of Public Welfare distributed $3.8 million worth of food to 3,470 public schools.

School districts that do not receive state minimum foundation funds for vocational teaching received $2 million from the federal government. This program allocated $706,816 for agriculture training, $459,257 for homemaking education, $131,189 for distributive education, $535,308 for industrial education and $200,139 for vocational nurses training.

Expenditures for vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled, in industry totalled $4 million in 1960 and 61. Other major grants were $3.2 million for national defense education, and $1 million to train unemployed persons and upgrade job abilities among the employed.

Musical Instruments Now Are In Shopping List For School Children

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—When you plan your school shopping for the young ones today, said Paul Richards, you might find that the list includes a horn or a violin or a piano along with the new shirts and shoes.

Classroom openings are only a few weeks away and thousands of children from the very young up to the senior class age will be learning to beat, strum and tootle by platoons. The growth and improvement of school instruction in music, Richards observed, has not only eased the strain on the eardrums of multitudes of parents, but has given a healthy boost to the musical instrument industry.

"The high school band, for example," said the youngish-looking Richards, president of Richards Musical Instruments Inc., Elkhart, Ind., has changed in number and appearance even from the time when I was a boy.

"The average high school band at one time may have been 25-30 players. Now, bands of 100-120 are common. And most of them now get better teaching, better supervision than they did 20 years ago.

"Now, as then, the high school band often is the image of the school, or the community."

Richards, on a trip here, said he saw the growing consumer product potential of the Common Market as a challenge to American musical firms to improve their production techniques.

"Surely, there's plenty of competition in the European markets," he said. "There are firms in Europe with a long tradition of good instrument making. But we already have shown we can sell there, and we think the American musical industry can do even more."

For the first quarter of the year, sales in the instrument industry were up 8 per cent over the preceding years, he said.

Approximately 85 billion paper towels are used annually in the United States.

Clerk And Husband Have A Big Debt To Uncle Sam

PORT WORTH (UPI)—A part-time department store clerk and her husband, a recreation parlor employe, today owe the Internal Revenue Service $109,968.

The U.S. Court of Claims ruled Wednesday that Mr. and Mrs. David L. Zips of Fort Worth owe taxes on $169,660 in cash and stock bonds given to Mrs. Zips in 1953 by George Westinghouse Jr., who is now in a Canadian mental hospital.

Mrs. Zips, who was Marie McCally at the time of the gift, said "I'm shocked."

Westinghouse gave away $540,000 in cash and blue-chip stocks in a five-month giveaway spree in 1954-1955 to three women. Mrs. Zips, an English woman and a Denver woman.

Westinghouse was found of unsound mind. He was committed to a sanatorium, and Federal Judge Joe Estes ordered Mrs. Zips to return the remainder of the money in 1956.

There was not much left. Zips married Marie shortly after she got the money. "Most of it just went," he said.

"We lost about $40,000 in bad stock investments," he said. A robbery in 1957 cost the couple about $12,000 worth of goods bought with the money. They were terrorized for 25 minutes before the bandits escaped with diamonds and furs. Some of the merchandise was later found near the spot where the body of hoodlum Sid Foley was found a week earlier.

Thieves Make A $620 Haul At Pampan's Home

Burglars made a $620 haul at the home of Paul Walker, 734 E. Murphy, while the family was on vacation during the past week. The report, filed with police yesterday, indicated that the theft took place Wednesday night, Aug. 8, the day the Walkers left. It was discovered when they returned yesterday.

The thieves stole a steam iron, electric drill, set of acetylene welding gauges, two acetylene heads and tips, a rivet gun, three automobile tires and several other miscellaneous items, all valued at $620.

Bed sheets, pipe wrenches and a small music box comprised the loot of thieves who entered an unoccupied house at 813 S. Barnes sometime during the last week. The theft was reported to police by Mrs. Luther Terry, 512 N. Christy. Entrance was gained through a bathroom window after the screen had been removed.

A shed in the rear of the house also was broken into and ransacked, but nothing was reported missing.

Mrs. John Osborne, 1824 N. Wells, reported that sometime over the week end, someone entered the Osborne home while the family was away. The prowlers entered through a kitchen window. Nothing was reported missing.

Humphrey

(Continued From Page 1) before taxes in an eight-year period on gross ore sales to the government of $26 million. The government also bought refined nickel from the Hanna enterprises.

Humphrey said Hanna's profits were far lower than government accountants had calculated. The net profit to Hanna from the combined mining-smelting operation was $7,335,000, he said.

From 1953 to 1961, years which included Humphrey's government service, Hanna paid him dividends of $2.3 million and the value of his company stock jumped by $3.7 million, according to Walter H. Henson, a supervisor in the General Accounting Office.

Henson said the nickel mining and smelting contract Hanna sealed with the government five days before Humphrey took office contributed heavily to the dividends and the growth in Humphrey's capital wealth.

Henson gave the figures under the prompting of Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., who said the public should know about Humphrey's outside income "while working for the people of this country in government."

Humphrey volunteered the fact that his former company held a government contract when he testified before the Senate Finance Committee on Jan. 19, 1953, two days before he took office.

"It feels pretty bad to owe that much when you don't have anything," said Zips. "I don't have any idea what we'll do."

Zips said he and his wife make less than $400 a month, and $30 of it goes to a former wife in Abilene for child support.

'Cattle Theft' Is Topic For Police Meet

"Cattle Theft," will be the topic for discussion at a meeting of peace officers and cattle raisers at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the City Hall at Cananda.

Sheriff Walter Adams of Canadian will host the meeting and said today that all peace officers and cattlemen are invited and urged to attend the session.

Principal speaker will be Joe Fletcher of Fort Worth, head of the Texas Cattlemen's Association.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Texas Ranger Bill Henslee are expected to head the Gray County group planning to attend the Monday night conference.

Robbery

(Continued From Page 1) at the Hyannis Post Office. Shortly before 7 p.m., seven more sacks were picked up at the Buzzards Bay Post Office. Then Schena and Barrett headed up Route 3 toward Boston, driving about 45 miles an hour in drizzly, cold weather as the day's light began to fade.

Schena and Barrett, in five hours of subsequent questioning told what happened then:

Shortly before 8 p.m., as they neared the Plymouth by-pass, a light-colored sedan whipped past them at 80 miles an hour. A few miles later, the mail truck came upon a man in police uniform standing by two parked cars. Before they could reach for their .38 caliber revolvers, gun barrels were thrust into the mail truck windows and Schena and Barrett were told to drop their weapons on the floor or we'll blast off your heads."

The robbers wore white gloves, no masks. They bound and gagged but did not blindfold—the two Post Office men and put them in the back of the truck with the sacks of money. One of the robbers, who was addressed as "Tony," got in the back with them.

The scene was five miles north of the phony "detour." It had not been there when they passed by. It must have been set up seconds later so that not another motorist came up Route 3 at the time. Southbound cars on the divided highway were screened off by a 100-foot wide area of ground rising to a 15-foot crest.

Two other men got into the mail truck and drove off, soon leaving Route 3 and taking to back country roads that bumped and jostled Schena and Barrett, tied back to back, on the truck floor.

Three times the truck was stopped and each time Tony pulled out some of the dirty white sacks and handed them to a man in front called "Buster." He presumably tossed them out to accomplices in other automobiles.

About 50 miles after the stick-up, the car was abandoned outside Randolph. Tony's parting words were: "You can't see anything, you don't know anything and don't call the cops for 15 minutes."

It took Schena and Barrett just about that long to work themselves loose and it was at that moment the young man from Ecuador appeared on his motor scooter.

Police believe this was partially an "inside" job although no suspicion of any sort rests on Schena and Barrett. They were sent home to their families for rest.

The currency pickups are on irregular schedule known only to employees. It was also known only too few that the state police escort had been removed.

Suspicion pointed briefly to two top men on the FBI "wanted" list — bank robbers Albert Nussbaum and Bobby Wilcoxson—but authorities said today they did not believe the pair was involved. The truck driver and guard could not identify pictures of them as among the four men they saw.

To solve the $1.5 million hold-up, the Post Office was limited by law to offering a reward of only $2,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the robbers.

Weather

Lightning took two lives Wednesday in South Texas and the cooler front brought high winds, heavy rains and hail Wednesday night to the Panhandle.

Some Shower Activity The Weather Bureau reported early today that the leading edge of the front had advanced to the Childress area of the Panhandle, and that showers and thunderstorms had pushed south of the Red River into Northeast Texas.

An isolated shower was reported at Jacksboro, northwest of Fort Worth. Temperatures were generally in the 60s early today in the Panhandle, South Plains and the Big Bend area. Readings elsewhere were mostly in the 70s, except at San Antonio, where the early morning low was 68.

Forecasters said the cold front would edge into Central Texas by Friday morning.

The only Weather Bureau reporting points which recorded rain in the 24-hour period that ended at 6 a.m. today were Amarillo with .45 inch. Laredo with .26. Brownsville with .07 and Lubbock with .04. Overnight lows ranged from Alpine's 58 degrees up to 79 at Corpus Christi. Wednesday's high was 105 at Presidio.

Drought Dented Rain which accompanied Wednesday's violent weather in South Texas ended month-long periods of drought in some arid areas and dented the heat wave.

What may have been a tornado ripped through the Pride of Texas Camp nine miles northwest of Mission, demolishing two small tenant houses and knocking utility poles down. Carl Barnett said the damage apparently was caused by a tornado.

Jack Williams, the manager of a drug store on San Antonio's northwest side, said a "small twister" slammed into the area, felling power lines and breaking out plate glass windows.

Anaspacio Martinez, 17, was killed by a bolt of lightning while hoeing cabbage south of San Antonio. Lightning also struck and killed Balthazar Mendoza, 42, of Camargo, Mexico, while he worked in an open field northwest of Mission.

Burglars Loot Freight Caboose

Burglars looted the caboose of a freight train while it stood on a siding in Pampa yesterday.

Engineer Jack Purdue of Amarillo said he pulled the train onto a siding near the Santa Fe station at 3 a.m. yesterday and left it parked there.

When the crew returned at 2 p.m. yesterday, it was discovered that a screen had been torn from the caboose door and someone had entered and stole a brown leather bag, man's leather jacket, an electric shaver, and other miscellaneous items.

The stolen items were valued at $52.90, Purdue told police.

On Senator's Home Movies

By DICK WEST United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—It used to be my custom to invite friends in for an evening of home movie viewing.

Before long I didn't have but one friend left, and he hated me. So when I saw this notice that Sen. Allen J. Ellender was going to show some home movies in the Senate Office Building auditorium, I felt, out of compassion, and obligation to attend.

I figured that if I didn't show up, the senator would have the auditorium to himself. But to my surprise, and maybe to his, there was a goodly crowd on hand.

If being a senator means you can get people to watch your home movies, then I'm announcing my candidacy right now.

Ellender, a Louisiana Democrat, has been making round-the-world trips in recent years as an emissary of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Took Along Camera Like any other tourist, he takes along a camera. But unlike other traveling congressmen, he pays some of his own expenses.

When we had assembled in the auditorium, Ellender told us, in an accent redolent of the bayou country, that we were going to see some shots of "Moe S. Coe."

I was still wondering who Moe might be when the screen lighted up and there was Ellender waving at us from in front of the Kremlin.

Moscow was only the first stop. He also took us, via the magic lantern, to more remote areas of the Soviet Union, including a collective farm where we watched a pumpkin harvest.

Although the film was a black and white silent, Ellender dubbed in a narration that helped us identify what we were seeing. It's a good thing he did, for without it I would never have guessed that those Russian peasants were harvesting pumpkins.

Went Into Detail I thought they were playing a Soviet version of soccer.

Nipp Rites Scheduled Tomorrow

In filming his adventures, Ellender paid the same painstaking attention to detail as in the written reports on his journeys, one of which included the observation that the canals in Holland were filled with water.

For instance, he informed us that the Volga River "is used for transportation and fishing," and that hogs were being raised "for breeding and slaughter."

All in all, it was a most enjoyable travelogue which I hope will serve to stimulate public interest in viewing home movies.

If ever you should desire to see a 30-minute film showing my son cutting his first tooth in slow motion, don't hesitate to give me a ring.

None Injured In Freak Accident

Police said Russell E. Head, 1104 Sandelwood St., was involved in an unusual accident when his car crashed into the side of the Pak-A-Burger drive-in, 1688 N. Hobart St., late yesterday afternoon.

According to police reports, Head was turning into the drive-in when the front door of his car flew open. When he grabbed to catch and close the door he lost temporary control and the car hit the building.

Damage to the building was estimated at $125 and $25 to the automobile. Head was uninjured.

'Denny' Roan Is Patrolman Again

Floyd D. (Denny) Roan rejoined the Pampa police department today as a patrolman.

The appointment was announced by Police Chief Jim Conner who said Roan comes back to the force after an absence of four months.

Roan resigned last March. He was serving as a police captain at the time of his resignation.

It was just 15 years ago today, Roan said, that he first joined the force as a patrolman on Aug. 16, 1947.

On The Nation's Economy

By DICK WEST United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — All sorts of theories and opinions are being offered these days to explain why the American economy isn't growing at a rate fast enough to please everybody.

Some say it's because business has lost confidence in the administration has lost confidence in Congress.

Still others say it's because Congress has lost confidence in Billie Sol Estes.

I have even heard it said that it's because Peter Lawford has lost confidence in Frank Sinatra.

Apparently, however, it has not occurred to anyone, except me, that it's because every one has lost confidence in the Washington baseball team.

Follow "No Win" Policy It must be obvious to even the most casual observer that the local club has been following a "no win" policy and that its hitters have been "muzzled" at the plate.

Perhaps you have heard those terms used in another context. That shows how influential baseball can be.

Other cities have, of course, harbored chronic failures on the diamond. But only a person living in the U.S. capital, can appreciate how truly depressing a ball club can be.

I think the record will show that there hasn't been a pennant here since Franklin Pierce was in office, or a first division finish since the administration of Chester A. Arthur.

These years of frustration and despair are certain to have had a psychological impact, even on those who aren't baseball fans. And since this is the place where national policy is formed, the consequences are felt far beyond the ball yard.

Affected By Game Suppose that a Treasury official goes out to the park for a twilight doubleheader. The next day he is spotted in the corridor by a couple of tourists, who notice his pained expression.

"Things must be worse than we thought," they tell each other. The word gets around and the next thing you know stocks have dropped another 10 points.

Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to stimulate the economy in 1933 by telling the nation it had "nothing to fear but fear itself."

It seems to me that a similar declaration by President Kennedy might help out in the present situation.

He should go out to the stadium, stand resolutely on home plate and assert in ringing tones that "you have nothing to fear but the Yankees, Twins, Angels, Orioles, Indians, White Sox, Tigers, Red Sox and Athletics."

Pampan Asks What Causes Vandalism?

Harold Burris, 513 Doucette, had his car parked in front while he was working last night in the Pampa Motor Freight Co. office, 412 W. Brown St.

Today he was still trying to figure out what causes vandals to go into action.

Burris told police that all of a sudden about 9:15 p.m., a car stopped in front, a youth jumped out and, with some kind of instrument, bashed in the rear window of his automobile. Burris said the youth then jumped back into his car and drove away.

Cost of replacing the broken auto window was estimated at $62.

Burris, who moved to Pampa only recently, said he couldn't think of a motive for the act of vandalism.

In another case, Mrs. W. L. Green, 855 E. Kingsmill, reported that two windows were broken out of a garage in a house she has at 100 E. Foster St.

One of the world's largest open pit copper mines is located at Santa Rita, N.M.

When you buy a share of stock, you own an interest in every single thing a firm has; when you buy one of its bonds, you don't own any part of the company. The bond or debenture is merely a promise to pay.

Suppose out of 1,000 shares outstanding, you own one share. Then you have an undivided one-thousandth share in the company, not in any particular thing but in every piece.

When you buy a bond, you own no part of the company. The firm promises to pay the loan back when the bond matures.

As a rule, bondholders have little say directly about the firm or how it picks its officers and manages its business. Of course, lenders exercise indirect influence since they must have confidence in the firm and its management before they will part with their money.

Bondholders get their interest before any stockbroker gets his dividends; and should the firm go broke, they get paid out of its assets before the stockholders get a nickel.

Preferred stock, as a rule, yields fixed dividends before the common stockholders get anything, but preferred stock dividends are payable only if declared by the corporation.

As a rule, common stockholders risk more and therefore stand to make greater profit (or loss).

The legal invention of the entity called a corporation has made vast public investment in industry and commerce possible. By allowing anybody to buy in or to lend to the firm, a corporation has made large scale research, production, and marketing possible while each investor can study and decide where he wants to risk his capital.

Television In Review

By DOC QUIGG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Young Keir Dullea turned in a taut, sensitive performance Wednesday night as a boy who has had a nervous breakdown and confesses to a murder when none has been committed.

The suspenseful play was "Cry in the Dark" by the Kraft Mystery Theater's offering on NBC-TV. It was the story of a youth deeply hurt and resentful of the neglect shown him by his father, a U.S. senator, and of the brittleness of his older brother.

Larry Gates as the senator and Richard Anderson as the brother gave talented performances. The hour-long show held my close attention through numerous distractions incident to summertime living in America — a feat that summertime television often fails to achieve.

It may have been the chicken potpie I had for dinner, but much of "While The City Sleeps," ABC-TV's mood picture of a chunk of the city of Los Angeles between dusk and dawn, came out with fuzzed outlines on my screen — although there was nothing blurry about the script, narration, and background music.

Matter of fact, the music was so overstated at times that I had the irritating impression somebody was shouting at me. However, again, this might have been the product of the foul humor I developed when the restaurant served me potpie with a crust that was soggy cardboard. Of such is the genesis of critical opinion.

It was one of ABC's "Focus on America" series, and this one was done by KABC-TV, Los Angeles. It was competent, much of it excellent, — a characteristic of this whole series — but I kept waiting for something to happen that would quicken or change the mood pace and nothing did. Some of the candid shots of nighttime doings were inspired.

Maybe it needed Sinatra and his platoon to race by on pogo sticks. Despite the multiplicity of subjects covered, I kept thinking I had seen the whole thing in the newsreel theater travelogue in the 1930s (a fine decade for newsreel travelogues).

Hugh Downs brought Sammy Davis onto the "Tonight" show Wednesday night with the announcement that the many-talented Davis "may be the greatest all around entertainer of all time." Downs said he would vote for the late Al Jolson for that title if it were not for Davis.

Davis put on a display of gun-slinger dexterity that may have been a surprise to most viewers. He is a longtime devotee of that western pastime and spends — or used to spend; I don't know whether he has time now — several hours a week practicing the fast draw.

He disclosed, on the show, that he has shot himself several times in the right leg while engaged in the lightning movement of extracting gun from holster. Downs displayed his own gunbelt, which has a piece of bent metal fastened to the bottom of the holster to deflect a bullet in that kind of accident.

Pleading lack of practice, Davis declined to do a trick in which Downs would stand with hands a foot and a half apart, with Davis facing him, and clap them quickly together. The trick is that Davis would draw when he saw the hands begin to move and have the barrel between the palms when they met. He can do it all right. I tried it with him several years ago. What a reflex.

Downs asked him to do some imitations, and he asked Skitch Henderson to play "Embraceable You" as a framework for them ("Pick a key; I love adventure.") Davis sang a serious chorus and then went into uncannily accurate versions of Tony Bennett, Jimmy Stewart, Cagney, Eckstine, Cole, Vaughn Monroe, Laine, Armstrong, and Jerry Lewis.

If Davis displayed all his talents, it would take an entire evening — which is exactly what happened some years ago in a Broadway show called "Mr. Wonderful."

Downs had his good fortune also to have as his guests Bob and Ray, one of the great comedy teams in the history of radio. Wednesday night's show was live — for the first time in three years. And as Downs remarked on the New York local section before the network was cut in, "this is happening right now . . . If we say 'water closet' now, it can't be cut out of the tape because there's no tape." Ah, shades of the dear, dead days beyond recall.

Turbine Engines May Be Used On Cars Of Future

By ALEX ADWAN
TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — When the motorist of 1975 says "filler er up," he may be talking about kerosene instead of gasoline.

One automobile maker (Chrysler) has announced it will have 50 to 75 gas-turbine cars in operation in 1963. The firm anticipates volume production by 1966. Other car makers also are experimenting with turbine engines for cars and trucks.

Whether the turbine will replace the internal combustion engine is anybody's guess. If it does, it will mean as much change in the oil industry as in the auto industry.

A Shell spokesman doubts that the change will be sudden, and he predicts the petroleum industry will be ready if the need arises.

"Depending on how well Chrysler has solved certain technological problems, the gas turbines could come on in a rush," said Roy W. Griffith, chief automotive engineer in Shell's products application department.

"Even if they prove successful, however, I don't believe we'll see them on the road in significant numbers for at least 10 years or more," he said.

In an interview in Shell News, Griffith said there probably would be a wider use of turbines in trucks and buses before any mass production of passenger car turbines. He believes the new engines will be first introduced in sports cars.

Present turbines burn kerosene or diesel generally, but a new fuel would probably be developed if the market ever materializes.

U. S. oil companies have proved they can switch on a new fuel on a mass production basis. They did it within a few years as the market for jet fuel grew to replace a big percentage of the regular aviation fuel market.

Cabot Plugs Australian Location

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional hearing on "fish flour" legislation may provide some food for thought, but it is no place for a man with a weak stomach.

Fish flour, as you may know, is a protein concentrate made from whole fish — scales, fins, eyeballs and all. It currently is the subject of a controversy caused by a Food and Drug Administration (FDA) ruling that it is adulterated.

Several members of Congress have introduced bills to overturn the ruling, contending that the FDA acted on aesthetic rather than scientific grounds.

They argue that fish flour actually is wholesome and nutritious and that the public should be allowed to decide for itself whether it is appetizing.

Hearings on the issue are being held this week by a House commerce subcommittee. By the time the subcommittee's first session was over, even I was feeling a little queasy.

It wasn't the discussion of the fish flour that got me, I sampled some and found it virtually tasteless. What turned my tummy was the way the congressman talked about other types of food.

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., pointed out that gelatin "consists of the hoofs, bones and tendons of cattle."

This inspired Rep. Leo W. Cabot Corporation plugged and abandoned an "Australian outpost" some 2,000 miles from the nearest production last week but earned a checkbook on a three million acre lease in Australia.

Cabot has moved off location, which took 15 trucks to move on to, because the rainy season is coming. The site of the wildcat is Queensland in the northeastern extremity of the island continent.

Two Pampans travelled to the country "down under" to operate the drilling phase. G. M. "Moon" Martin, production superintendent, and Kenneth Payne, staff geologist, were on hand when the well was spudded on June 14 and when it was plugged and abandoned at a total depth of 3,829 feet.

E. L. "Gene" Green Jr., newly appointed general manager of the Western region of Cabot, preceded the two on a survey of the Australian prospect, which is a farmout of Ohio Oil Co. He described the site of the location as "crocodile country" with crocodiles as long as 30 to 40 feet long.

Cabot shares alternate leases with Ohjo under the agreement. The 15 trucks which carried supplies and rig on location hauled a total weight of 220 tons. The convoy travelled some 1,200 miles to its destination. Some of the mileage was without benefit of roads and one truck fell off the side of a mountain in the tortuous journey. The trucks broke through bridges, forded streams and broke new trails on the trip to the dry hole.

Location had to be spotted by surveying by the stars. The site of the test was some 400 miles northwest of Cooktown. It is at 14 degrees south latitude and 143.5 degrees east longitude.

Green said Cabot expects to do some geophysical work now. He said the country is wonderful and used the same description for the people.

O'Brien, D.N.Y., to recall that the last time he went grocery shopping he saw some cans of rattlesnake meat and grasshoppers.

I might have weathered the rest of the hearing had not Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., started talking about shellfish. Noting that some folks are repelled by lobsters, Keith said he relishes them, including "the green."

"I don't know what he meant by 'the green,'" and I didn't stay to find out. I went, green-faced, to lunch. Had a hamburger, well done.

Capitol Hill Commentary

By PETER KNOX

LONDON (UPI) — There is a growing feeling in Europe that the old continent might have to bail the United States out of trouble in Latin America.

The story running the rounds of the diplomatic channels and getting increasingly into print is that President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress plan is moving with disappointing slowness.

One reason for the tortoise pace, as seen from this side, is the age-old suspicion Latin Americans feel for North American motives. Sober papers like the London Times and the Guardian of Manchester both have mentioned these doubts in articles on the alliance.

Few people here believe Europe could ever seriously expect to rival the United States' influence in Latin America. Fewer still believe Europe would want to. There is a growing body, however, that thinks Europe is going to have to step up its help to Latin America.

Sought by Kennedy

The indications are that President Kennedy and his advisers would not only not resent Europe showing some more interest in Latin America, but actually are encouraging it.

Latin Americans over here, both diplomats and businessmen, also have shown that they want more European money, know-how and encouragement to lessen their dependence on Washington.

Under present plans, Western Europe, together with Japan, will chip in about $300 million annually for Latin America, against the $1.4 billion the U.S.A. is pouring in there—apart from another $300 million which comes from the international agencies that are also heavily dependent on U.S. money.

Everyone recognizes that it will be tough to get more money out of European governments for Latin America, although West German Minister for Economic Cooperation Walter Scheel has visited there on an extended tour discussing ways to improve cooperation.

Even if the government money were to be slow in moving to Latin America, there was a growing feeling that it would find its way there eventually.

One commentator said: "There is clearly a limit to the amount the United States can provide in her position as foster parent to the whole subcontinent."

"This means that the door is left wide open for far-sighted businessmen from West Germany, Holland and Italy who are prepared to take a fairly safe gamble on the future of what is a rapidly-expanding market. If at any time they falter, then the Soviet Union will be more than willing to substitute."

The fear that communism will sweep Latin America is a real fear here, although perhaps not as vital as in the United States. But it is an impelling motive for Europe to help out increasingly in the area.

46 ORBIT SHADOW LONDON (UPI) — Commenting on the fact that Soviet Cosmonaut Pavel Popovich appeared unshaven in television pictures of him in space, a British television commentator said Tuesday night: "It looks like 46 orbit shadow."

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — When anyone measures himself for a White House, he needs to write a book to show that he is a statesman as well as a politician.

Ten years ago, Dwight D. Eisenhower went to the Republican national convention as the author of "Crusade in Europe" and Robert A. Taft as the author of "A Foreign Policy for Americans."

Adlai E. Stevenson, who had not sought the 1952 Democratic nomination, had written no book but he remedied that deficiency before campaigning for the 1956 nomination.

In 1960, the bookstores featured a catalog of speeches by Richard M. Nixon and another by John F. Kennedy, who earlier had published "Profiles in Courage." Lyndon B. Johnson had no book under his name and had to settle for the vice presidency.

Books may be a source of embarrassment when new circumstances lead a political figure into a position which deviates from a viewpoint previously set down for eternity in cold type. Political parties, which maintain research staffs to point up such inconsistencies, live with the biblical quotation:

"My desire is that the Almighty would answer me and that mine adversary had written a book."

Rockefeller Volume The publishers' output this year includes "Why Not Victory" by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and a more recent addition, "The Future of Federalism," by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Both may be seen contesting for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Rockefeller has a book based on the lectures he gave at Harvard last winter. He suggests that the federal idea has worked well in the past and has promise for the future because it encourages "diversity within unity" along with "creativity, imagination and innovation."

He believes that the free nations should look to the federal idea in tackling some of the world problems that confront them today.

His book also contains a complaint which has been heard in some of Rockefeller's more political pronouncements this year. He says that politics is being distorted by "the obsession with political labels which results in the rigid classification of laws, leaders and policies as 'liberal' or 'conservative'."

Confusing Labels

"We all know that, in any serious historical sense, these terms have lost all meaning," says Rockefeller, who is tagged as a Republican liberal whether he likes it or not. "The use of such artificial labels in political debate, merely distorts the issue and confuses the citizen. . . ."

Today's political jargon puts a liberal label on anyone who believes in big government, in an enlarged role for government, in letting government deal with problems not easily handled by the private community.

Perhaps Rockefeller should not worry too much about the labels

Combine Summer Fruit In Light Salad Dessert

This Heavenly 24-Hour Salad combines the fruits of summer—green grapes, bananas, fresh pineapple, Bing cherries, oranges, plums and cantaloupe balls with miniature marshmallows and a Creamy Dressing made using fresh sour cream.

Here is a summer salad that tastes even more luscious when served the day after it is made. That's because the zesty flavor of the Creamy Dressing blends with the succulent fruits when you chill the salad for 24 hours.

The Creamy Dressing combines dairy fresh sour cream with orange juice and eggs for a sweet-sour mixture that is the ideal flavor complement for your medley of fresh fruits. You'll also want to use this Creamy Dressing often as a topping for a favorite molded salad, fresh or canned fruit cup or over grilled fruits accompanying meats. Your dressing can be made ahead and stored in your refrigerator for weeks in a tightly covered container.

In a hurry? Simply spoon dairy fresh sour cream right from the carton and blend it with your fruits. Whether you make your Heavenly 24-Hour Salad with the Creamy Dressing or spoon sour cream right from the container, you'll be treating your family and friends to the most refreshing salad they've ever tasted.

Dairy fresh sour cream is low in calories too. For instance, a tablespoon of sour cream has only 28 calories, compared with the 92 calories in a tablespoon of mayonnaise. Because it is made fresh from sweet coffee cream, it always has a uniform, velvety smooth texture and tart 'n tangy flavor.

Look for dairy fresh sour cream in handy 8, 12 and 16 ounce cartons in your grocer's dairy case or ask your milkman. You'll want to use it often for your Heavenly 24-Hour Salad and other recipe favorites, from dips to desserts.

Novel Main Dish From Meat Loaf

At dinner, you can make a variety of entrees from cereal. Meat Loaf nests made with whole wheat flakes add flavor and moistness and act as an extender in the ground meat mixture. For quick summer lunches, the 25 minute cooking time for these individual meat loaves will save hours for summer leisure.

Baked in custard cups like tart shells, the meat loaf cups can be filled with a creamed vegetable for a novel main dish combination.

Pecan Muffins Sweeten Lunch

A luncheon accompaniment that's certain to please is freshly baked muffins, served warm, with a salad meal. Pecan Crumb Muffins, made with packaged Corn Flake Crumbs are a tempting choice. Serve them with a fresh fruit salad plate comprised of cottage cheese, slices of cantaloupe or honeydew melon, sweet cherries and peach halves.

PECAN CRUMB MUFFINS
4 cups Kellogg's Corn Flakes or 1 cup Kellogg's Corn Flake Crumbs
1 cup milk
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped pecans

¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup milk
Crush Pec slightly; combine with remaining ingredients, mixing well. Press meat mixture lightly into 8 ungreased custard cups or muffin cups, shaping to form nests. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Remove from cups and serve filled with creamed peas or other creamed vegetables.

Don't hog the court. Play a set and then let someone else play.

Dear Abby.... Forget And Forgive Or Even The Score?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I don't know which way to turn. My husband travels a lot on business. I could tell something was wrong when he came back from his last trip. He finally broke down and confessed that he had broken his marriage vows. He said it didn't mean anything, he loved me, and it would never happen again. I have a neighbor who is my best friend. I tell her everything and I told her about this. She said I would feel better if I went out and evened the score. Before I

Decorative Tiles Used To Remodel

Thinking of remodeling your youngster's bedroom? If so, consider using materials that will withstand the rough wear they will be subjected to by your "citizen of tomorrow."

Boys are especially adept at scuffing and finger-marking walls, doorways, light switches and even ceilings. While girls are less prone to this, they can become a problem when they begin using fingernail polish, lipstick, mascara and other cosmetics which, when spilled or dropped, leave permanent marks.

If you are tired of repainting an entire bedroom every third year or so, why not surface the walls—or at least bottom portion of each wall—with a durable material such as ceramic tile? Real tile can be cleaned with a quick rub of a damp cloth.

Tile now comes in more than 250 shades and in a wide variety of sizes and shapes so it will be easy for you to choose the type you want. There are rugged, masculine colors for a boy's room and soft, gentle shades for all girl's room.

In addition to its lasting beauty, surfacing a bedroom with ceramic tile will result in a long-range economy. That's because tile never needs to be painted or waxed. Its first cost is its final cost.

Three Girls Return From Colorado Camping Trip In Pikes Peak Region

Two girls from Pampa, and one from Miami have returned to Texas after completing the second term at Camp Wanaka for Girls, Woodland Park, Colo.

Cile Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Gordon, 1917 Mary Ellen; Katie Cree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cree, 1819 Dogwood, and Pat Tolbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tolbert of Miami, were among the 75 girls from seven states and Old Mexico who spent four weeks in the Pikes Peak region.

CHOOSE CORRECT SHADE

Your lipstick won't clash with the bright fashionable colors if you remember to wear a lilac shade of lipstick with shades of purple and pink; a golden apple shade with greens and russet shades; and a golden strawberry shade with oranges and golds.

SCHOOL CONFERENCE

By Janet Henry

My daughter, you say, is so quiet
You scarcely can hear her at all?
When reading or spelling
Or showing-and-telling
She speaks in a voice soft and small?
She sits in her chair very meekly—
No thought of disturbing another?
You're wondering why
She is always so shy?
I'm certain you have the wrong mother!

HEART-BROKEN

DEAR HEART-BROKEN: If the score is odd or even — you both lose. Don't play this kind of game. Forgive your husband and never mention it again. P.S. Your "best friend's" judgment doesn't warrant the confidences you share with her.

DEAR ABBY: My best girl friend just turned 16 and she received a dress from her boy friend for her birthday. Her mother made her give the dress back. When I told my mother about it she said the girl's mother was right and if I didn't think so I should write to you and ask you your opinion.

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: The mother was right. Gifts of apparel are too personal for a boy to give a girl who has "just turned 16."

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for "FROM MISSOURI" who said her sister-in-law was the world's biggest liar because she said her baby turned over all by itself in its crib at 9 weeks, and she had another child 2½ years old who could do the Twist.

Well, when my baby was carried from the delivery room to the incubator the nurse laid her down on her stomach in the crib, and before she could walk away the baby had reared up on her elbows and flipped over on her back. The nurse was so astonished she turned her over and she did the same thing again. The nurse called two doctors and three nurses and they saw this. Incidentally, I have a friend whose baby walked at 7 months.

The Mature Parent

For Your Own Sake

Limit Generosity

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our daughter-in-law has written, asking us to look after her three children, while she accompanies our son on a month-long business trip this summer.

I have not been able to sleep since getting the letter. As my husband is badly crippled with arthritis, looking after him takes all the strength I've got. My daughter-in-law knows what she is asking when she asks me to take on the care of her three active youngsters, all under 10 years of age. She says it's my son who told her to ask this though I am sure that she is the one who is pushing this trip with him.

Why are you so angry at her? She is as free to ask you for this as you are to refuse it. Why can't you use your freedom to refuse it?

I don't know the answer. However, I do know that we could become very angry at a daughter-in-law who asks for more than we want to give her, if we idealize our kindly feelings toward other people.

If we secretly think of ourselves as an especially generous parent to our children, any demand they make which we can't grant will make us so uncomfortable that we'll become impatient and critical of them.

We don't want the limits of our unselfishness exposed to us. So they are ungrateful and inconsiderate to ask for what we don't want to give them. Our daughter-in-law and our son should so plan their affairs to enable us to preserve our pride in our boundless generosity instead of showing us up as interested in our own comfort.

How dare a son's wife face us with the truth: our resistance to being bothered with the care of three exhausting children while she goes gallivanting off on a holiday?

It may be that you are shifting the anger you feel at the limits of your own generosity to your daughter-in-law. If so, you'd better accept them.

Sooner or later, we all have to look at our high-flown delusion of our kindliness is limitless — and return to earth — from outer space.

The problem is always the problem of re-entry from our lonely flights into unearthly grandeur back into our earthly, limited human selves.

Once we can digest the idea that our generosity is imperfect, answers begin to suggest themselves. For example, you might find it possible to sit down and write to your daughter-in-law, "Though I'm not up to looking after the children for the entire period of your trip, I'd be glad to have them for a time. . ."

The point is, if our kindness must be boundless, we cannot consider the limited kind. We must give everything we're asked for — or nothing at all.

Woolens Star In Fall Fashions

By GAILE DUGAS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA) — Vibrant, rich shades in American wools that are lighter and fluffier than ever before take the center of the fashion stage for fall.

There are literally hundreds of differing weights, weaves and designs from the delicate to the bulky. On its own or combined with fur, American wool is handsome and dramatic.

Slightly more shaping turns up in the longer suit jacket. Many suits display wool jersey over blouses in flashing color matched to the jacket lining. A gray suit for instance, is sparkled up with gold blouse and lining.

A fluffy white mohair coat is trimmed with black beaver and a shaggy plaid coat in muted browns gets huge collar and cuffs in honey beige lynx.

Mohair, better than ever, is fluffy, clustered, combed or brushed. Plaids and checks are sometimes bold, sometimes muted.

Browns lead off the fall color list, beginning with spice tones and running through to deepest coffee shades. Red is a standout in a new rusty wine, flame and paprika. Blues are fall favorites in every shade but navy. Royal and teal are strong, and the black-and-white combination is a prime favorite in plaids, tweeds and checks. And gold begins with amber and follows through with saffron topaz and antique.

Distress Signals For Motorists Are Outlined By Texas Highway Patrol

Have you ever been in distress beside the roadway with a flat tire, out of gas or any of the other numerous things that seem to plague us as motorists on our highways?

"Forty-six states including Texas, have adopted uniform distress signals to be used by motorists in trouble. The problem now is to educate the public to their meaning and use," Major Harry Hutchison, Commander of Region No. 5 of the Department of Public Safety, said.

The American Association of State Highway Officials is responsible for crystallizing and standardizing the following rules.

In an emergency on freeways, whenever possible, drivers should stop their cars on the right hand shoulder well away from the thru traffic lane.

At night the tail lights and interior lights of the stopped vehicle should be turned on. If the vehicle is equipped with a turn signaling indicator having an "emergency" switch, it should be turned on so that both the right and left turn signals will flash simultaneously. Where a disabled vehicle is stopped in such a position that part or all of a traffic lane is occupied, portable warning devices should be placed to the rear of the stopped vehicle to notify oncoming drivers of the traffic hazard. For example, the white cloth may be hung from the window next to the driver's seat so that it is conspicuous to passing motorists. In addition, when practical, the hood of the car should be raised.

Whenever help is needed, a white cloth or handkerchief should be placed in the rear of the stopped vehicle to notify oncoming drivers of the traffic hazard. For example, the white cloth may be hung from the window next to the driver's seat so that it is conspicuous to passing motorists. In addition, when practical, the hood of the car should be raised.

While waiting for help, motorists should remain within their cars or nearby in a safe position off the traveled roadway. They should not stand or walk in or near traffic lanes, or leave their cars unattended.

After observing a distress signal, passing motorists should notify the nearest police, highway, or automotive service official at the first convenient opportunity, giving the location of the motorist in need of assistance.

"If all motorists will remember eliminated. Too many people are being killed or injured in Texas because they don't know what to do when they get into trouble out on the highway," he concluded.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Smilen & Safian, Inc. believe a powerful market for traders should develop during the next several days, especially among growth stocks.

More cautious traders may wait for stocks to break out of their present ranges before buying them, the firm says, but with the present strong market tone, it recommends buying now in anticipation of any break out.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that for the short term there does not seem to be anything dramatic in the offering to pull stock prices out of their recent narrow trading rut. For the longer term, however, it thinks it is time to start taking a more constructive attitude and begin buying rather than selling at today's prices.

Standard & Poor's says that while its projections point to some recession during the balance of the year, there is no reason for expecting it to be either sharp or long-extended.

According to International Statistical Bureau, Inc., the current pessimism, which has been exaggerated by the drastic decline in the stock market, is hardly justified on the basis of fundamentals. General business is not as good as the most optimistic forecasters indicated at the end of 1961, it says, but neither is it as unfavorable as the current pessimists stress.

Investors advisory service says while a later testing of the June lows cannot be completely ruled out, a base for further upside progress appears to have been formed.

New Members Are Appointed To Gray County Historical Survey Group

County Judge Bill Craig this week appointed several new members to the Gray County Historical Survey Committee which, together with committees from 44 other surrounding counties, will have their first Panhandle-wide meeting Saturday at the Vic Mon Motel restaurant at Amarillo. The County Historical Committee will work in cooperation with the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society which received its appointment in 1960 from the Texas State Historical Association in Austin as the official historical organization of the county. Both agencies will employ facilities of Lovett Memorial Library at Pampa as a depository for records and data of historical importance to the local area.

The newly appointed members include Tracy D. Cary, second vice-president of the Texas State Genealogical Society and president-founder of the Pampa Society; Mrs. Cliff Vincent, chairman of the Old Settler's Reunions; Mrs. George Ingram; Mrs. Willie B. Guill; Mrs. Walter Spoonmore; Mrs. Carmie Heflin; Mrs. Bob Anders, and Mrs. Alice Short Smith of McLean. Previous members of the committee included Mrs. Lillian Snow, Mrs. Inez Carter, M. K. Brown, C. P. Buckler, and Fred Hobart. Two members of the first committee were J. E. Williams and Ivey E. Duncan, both of whom were actively engaged in the preservation of regional history until their decease.

LITTLE LIZ
The world is full of people who don't know what they want but are killing themselves trying to get it.

GETS PLAQUE — Donald Booth, right, a vocational agriculture teacher in the White Deer school system, is awarded a plaque here in recognition of his work with newspapers in his district by J. D. Nixon of Beaumont, president of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association. The award was presented during the association's annual awards breakfast recently in San Antonio.

White Deer School Gives Starting Dates

WHITE DEER (Spl) — With the summer vacation season rapidly drawing to a close, White Deer-Skellytown school officials have released the schedule for opening the 1962-63 school year.

School Superintendent Ray Schultz, who released the school calendar this week, said registration for all students new to this district, grades one through eight, will run for two days beginning August 22 and 23, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Grade school students who attended the White Deer Elementary School and Skellytown Elementary School during the 1961-1962 school year will enroll on Tuesday, Aug. 28, at the beginning of the school day.

All high school students will enroll, both new students and students who were enrolled in this district last year, as follows: freshmen and sophomores August 22, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Juniors and seniors August 23, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All students registering in the White Deer - Skellytown schools for the first time will need to present a birth certificate and book card, and in addition, high school students will need a transcript of work completed. All students are required to have a smallpox and diphtheria vaccination. School officials also recommend that all students be inoculated against polio, Schultz said.

Buses will not run during the registration period, but will run August 29, the first full day of school.

The first faculty meeting is scheduled for August 27, at 7:30 a.m. at the Skellytown Cafeteria. The school calendar, as recently approved by school trustees, provides for 178 days of classroom instruction.

JUST PRACTICING

HAMMOND, IND. (UPI)—Virgil Trinoskey bagged five wild ducks in a gasoline storage tank field before police arrived to stop him from hunting without a license, without a federal duck stamp, out of season and within the city limits.

Trinoskey said "I was just practicing my duck call."

DIVING BOARD STOLEN

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Ben Grady, manager of the Wildwood Country Club swimming pool, could hardly believe his eyes when he reported for work Tuesday.

During the night, someone had stolen the pool's low diving board. It weighed about 250 pounds, Grady said.

The Lighter Side On Motel For Politicians

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anyone who has been more than three blocks from home in the past five years undoubtedly is aware of the fantastic boom in motel construction.

If you build a better motel, the world doesn't have to beat a path to your door. The government will provide a six-lane divided highway.

Motels, I hardly need point out, have been becoming increasingly luxurious, palatial and super deluxe; not to mention expensive to stay in.

Any day now I expect to read that a motel has just opened with hot and cold swimming pools, restaurants, night clubs, cocktail lounges, theaters and the other familiar accoutrements of modern roadside lodges.

Only the builders discover that they forgot to provide a place for the guests to sleep.

Gets Press Release

What got me on this subject was a press release I received heralding the opening this fall of the Skyline Inn, a motel located on Capitol Hill and designed to appeal primarily to politicians.

Figuring that this might be the ultimate ultimate, I arranged to have a chat with Frederick Fox, a noted Broadway stage set designer who served as an architectural and decorative consultant for the project.

It soon became apparent that, whatever his other talents, Fox doesn't know much about designing motels for politicians. At least his plans didn't fit my concept of what a motel for politicians should be like.

The motel I have in mind would have three types of rooms. One, located in the right wing, would have Birch furniture of the Louis XIV period.

Suggests Pink Left Wing The second, in the left wing, would be done in pink. The third, accessible only from the rear entrance, would be for the exclusive use of back-door spenders.

In addition to temperature controls, each room would have a helium outlet for inflating trial balloons. Another knob would adjust the smoke content to the density suitable for selecting candidates.

There would, of course, be swagger sticks available for pointing with pride, and a picture window from which to view with alarm.

Other features would include built-in lobbyists, a night deposit service for campaign contributors, steam shovels for digging up dirt about opponents and electronic mud slingers.

The dining room, rather than having tables and booths, would serve meals from a public trough, and the swimming pool would be equipped with a floating stable for changing horses in mid-stream.

Gridiron Practice Is Slated To Get Underway August 31

Though it's still the good 'ole summer time and hot weather still prevails in Pampa, the grid-iron legions of coach Otis Holladay will start their first phase of football practice August 31, some two weeks away.
Holladay, in his first year at the helm of the Harvester gridmen, said the first day of practice will consist mainly of hitting the dummies and going over fundamentals. Actual contact work won't begin until a couple of days later.
"We can't start the boys out the first day doing any blocking or tackling. They haven't done any contact work since last spring and it will take a few days to get back into the swing of things," Holladay commented.
Holladay said he looked for about 56 boys to turn out the first day of practice for the varsity with about 52 boys due the first day for the Shockers. Of the 56 varsity aspirants, 15 lettermen will be donning the jerseys for the green and gold.
"Most of our depth will be in the backfield, but we have quite a bit of weight in the line and should be an improved team from last year's squad," Holladay stated.
The new Harvester grid coach said that workouts would be one a day Monday through Friday in the afternoons with two workouts slated for September 1 and one Labor Day September 3.
"We hope we can have a little interquad scrimmage a round September 5 to see how the boys have progressed," Holladay said. "The boys have been running at the school right along and are getting their muscles pretty well loosened up."
Holladay expressed optimism from last spring's workouts and said the boys seem to be eager to kick off the season in a big way.
"The predictions say we'll finish sixth like we did last year, but I think we just might surprise someone if we have a few breaks along the way," Holladay said.
"I think it should be a tossup between Borger and Tascosa for the title, but I hope we can make the race a little more interesting and win a few more games than last year," the Harvester coach revealed.
Last year, the Harvesters had a 2-8 record and ousted Babe Curfman from the head coaching

Drysdale Is Faltering In Bid To Win 30 Contests

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

And now add Don Drysdale's slump to what may be a Los Angeles Dodgers timetable to disaster.
Hailed only a week ago as likely to become the majors' first 30-game winner since 1934, Drysdale has lost two straight games, making his chances to reach 30 very remote and endangering his position as the Dodgers' pennant-saving "stopper." He's plainly showing the double strain of trying for 30 and of "carrying" a Dodger staff weakened by the loss of Sandy Koufax.

The Pittsburgh Pirates dealt Drysdale his second straight defeat and extended the Dodgers' longest losing streak of the season to five games Wednesday night with a 6-3 victory. With a 21-6 record and only 41 games left on the Dodger schedule, Drysdale would have to win practically every game he starts for the remainder of the season to score 30 wins.

Dodgers Chances Suffered
What's more important is the effect on the Dodger pennant chances. Big Don hasn't pitched a really strong game since he notched No. 20 against the Chicago Cubs on Aug. 3. Since then he's won a 7-5 "struggler" over the New York Mets and been kayoed in two subsequent starts. All the signs indicate that Don is tiring at a time when the Dodgers need him most.

The Dodgers retained their 1½-game first-place lead because the San Francisco Giants bowed to the Cubs, 7-4, Wednesday but the fast-closing Cincinnati Reds moved to within ½ game of them with a 4-3 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves. The Reds may be the team to watch — it was at this time a year ago that they made their winning move and they have a four-game weekend series with the Dodgers on tap.

The Houston Colts defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, and the Philadelphia Phillies swept the Mets, 9-3 and 8-7 in 13 innings, in Wednesday's other National League games.

Yanks Beat Twins
In the American League, the New York Yankees beat the Minnesota Twins, 9-3, and retained their six-game lead over the Los Angeles Angels, who shaded the Boston Red Sox, 5-4. The Detroit Tigers defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-1, the Kansas City Athletics downed the Washington Senators, 8-4, and the Cleveland Indians rebounded from a 10-2 loss to top the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, in the nightcap of their two-night doubleheader.

Roberto Clemente drove in three runs with two singles and Bill Mazeroski knocked in a pair with a triple and a single to lead the Pirates' assault on Drysdale. Bob Friend yielded homers to Wally Moon and Willie Davis but went 8 2-3 innings to win his 13th game.

Dick Bertell's two-run seventh-inning single provided the winning runs for the Cubs, whose rookie second baseman Ken Hubbs set two records by completing his 58th consecutive game without an error and handling 321 chances without miscue. Ernie Banks hit his 31st homer for the Cubs and Willie Mays hit No. 37 for the Giants.

Robinson Drove In Three
Frank Robinson drove in three runs with two homers and Bob Purkey reached a career high of 18 wins in one season as the Reds scored their 24th victory in 30 games. Robinson's homer gave him 18 in the month of August and raised his league-leading batting average to .342.

Relief pitcher Russ Kemmerer got pinch-hitter Stan Musial to hit into a game-ending double play that saved Houston's triumph. Don Demeter hit two homers to lead the Phillies' easy victory in their first game with the Mets and then Johnny Callison broke up the 13-inning nightcap with a run-scoring double.

Ralph Terry pitched a seventh-inning for his 17th win and Tom Tresh tied a club record for short-stops by hitting his 15th homer as the Yankees made it two in a row over the Twins before a record crowd of 41,536 at Minneapolis-St. Paul. Bill Skowron also homered for the Yankees and Lenny Green and Earl Battey connected for the Twins.

Wagner Led Angels
Leon Wagner's two-run triple was the big blow of a four-run first inning that stood up for the Angels' victory with the help of Jack Spring's shutout relief pitching in the eighth and ninth. Don Schwab suffered his 13th setback against six wins for the Red Sox. Hank Aguirre pitched a four-hitter for the Tigers, who ran their season edge over the Orioles to 12-2. Jerry Adair ruined Aguirre's bid for a shutout with a third-inning homer.

Jerry Lumpe drove in four runs with a two-run homer, a single and a sacrifice fly as Kansas City's Dan Pfister gained his third win. It was the 12th straight time the Athletics beat the Senators and raised their season advantage over them to 14-3.

The White Sox sent 13 men to the plate to score 10 runs in the ninth inning of their opener with Cleveland but Jim Perry pitched a six-hitter for the Indians in the nightcap to spoil Early Wynn's bid to score the 299th triumph of his career.

National Women's Swim Championships Start Today

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National AAU women's outdoor swimming championships open today, but the contestants in a men's invitational international match will probably steal the first day show.
The only event for women today will be preliminary heats in the 1,500-meter freestyle, while the men will race in the 400-breastroke and the three-meter diving.
The men's events will pit teams from the United States, West Germany, Japan, Australia and Mexico and since there are eight lanes in the Portage Park Olympic pool, site of the meet, there will be preliminaries only in platform diving.

The women's events could be another in the series of record breakers by teen-age U.S. swimmers. Defending champions return in all 14 individual events and in both relays, but none of them were certain victors.

KNICKS SIGNED TWO
NEW YORK (UPI) — Whitey Martin and George Blaney have signed contracts with the New York Knickerbockers for their second year in the National Basketball Association. Both were reserve backcourt men last season.

Stagg Is Toasted On 100th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "I didn't think I'd make it," said Amos Alonzo Stagg, "but I did. I'm 100 years old today. Some way or other, it's hard to believe."

The "grand old man" of American sports reached the century mark and a nation of sports fans paused to celebrate his birthday.

From coast to coast they toasted the world-renowned coach, sage, wit, rules-maker, sports inventor, and deeply religious builder of men.

President John F. Kennedy sent a telegram Wednesday to congratulate Stagg, calling him "a persuasive and shining example" as a teacher, coach and citizen.

A year ago, Stagg kidded: "Time is running out for me. I don't know if I'll make it to the century mark. But it would be nice. Not many people do."

He made it, and from Springfield, Mass., where J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee is the speaker; to San Francisco, where coach Jack Curtice of Stanford headlines the cast, the eulogy of Mr. Stagg will be under way today at luncheons and banquets.

Other speakers include such men as sportscaster and former All-American griddler Tom Harmon at Stockton, Calif., Stagg's home for the past 30 years; writer Bob Considine in New York; Secretary of Navy Fred Korth at Annapolis; Jordan Olivar, Yale coach, at Los Angeles; Babe Hollingbery, former Washington State coach, at Seattle; and Dave Meigs, a member of Stagg's 1905 championship football team at University of Chicago, at Chicago.

In West Orange, N.J., Stagg's birthplace, there has been a week-long celebration. Other cities also are feting the man who has done more for the game of football than any person in history.

Stagg is confined to a convalescent home in Stockton and it is considered doubtful that he'll be able to attend the party in his honor at Stockton. But there will be thousands of anecdotes told during the parties across the land.

Tiger Puts On 'Agbada' To Begin His Biggest Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dick Tiger, middleweight champion of the British Empire, planned to wear his native Nigerian "agbada" costume today because this is his 33rd birthday.

"It's the beginning of my most important year," explained the stocky, muscular fighter. "It's the start of the year in which I'll win the world championship from Gene Fullmer."

Tiger and Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, are now scheduled to fight for Gene's portion of the 160 pound crown at Candlestick Park, San Francisco, Oct. 16. Their 15-rounder has been postponed twice because of delays in completing a theater-television arrangement.

Fullmer, 31, is recognized as world champion by the National Boxing Association. Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., is considered world champion in most other areas. But Tiger's prowess is recognized everywhere. He is named top contender for both Fullmer and Pender in all ratings.

Nigerian Gains Respect

In his only two fights this year, both in the United States and both on television, the aggressive, hard hitting contender from Aba in eastern Nigeria gained tremendous respect.

He gave tough Florentino Fernandez of Cuba such a beating at Miami Beach in January that the referee stopped the bout at the end of the sixth round so that

Lefors Cops Win Over Shamrock

LEFORS (Sp) — Tuesday night the Pee Wee baseball All stars, coached by Manuel Allison and Dale Garrett, played the Shamrock Pee Wee All Stars, on the Lefors baseball park, and won the game, 13-6.

Friday night, the Lefors Pee Wee All Stars journeyed to Shamrock to defeat them 7-5, with Louis Davis of the Yankees winning for Lefors. Jerry Dunn was leading hitter for Lefors. Davis played on the Yank team and Jerry on the Cards team during the season.

Little League All Stars, which are composed of members from the four Lefors teams, beat Shamrock 9-6 Friday night, with Dennis Keith winning pitcher. From the Cubs. Top defensive play was made by Bruce Ginn, Dennis Dunn and Gary Smith.

Liston Predicting A KO In Bout With Patterson

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Charles (Sonny) Liston, predicting a knockout in eight rounds, prepared to leave by plane today for Chicago to begin training for his Sept. 23 title bout with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

"I figure that it will take me two rounds to figure out his style and then I'll go to work and try to end it before the eighth round," Liston said.

The bulky boxer said that "if Mr. Patterson uses a bicycle, I'll just keep waiting and catch up to him and make him fight." He admitted that the match "might be a tough fight, if, by chance, he (Patterson) gets up when I hit him with the big right hand."

Before boarding the plane, Liston said he weighed 222 pounds and will be down to 212 for the opening bell.

Big Sonny, already established as a 3-2 favorite, will use the defunct Aurora Downs race track, 45 miles west of Chicago, as his training camp. Patterson had been dicker for the site but Sonny beat him to it, apparently with a better offer.

Asked to explain why he was made the favorite although only the challenger, Liston shrugged off the question.

"All I want is the title and the 12½ per cent of the gate," Liston said.

Hubbs Sets Marks For Second-Sackers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Like Stan Musial, who is about twice his age, Ken Hubbs can set a new record every game he plays in.

All Hubbs has to do is keep from booting the ball.

Hubbs, a 20-year-old rookie with the Chicago Cubs, installed two new standards for National League second basemen Wednesday when (1) he completed 58 consecutive games without an error, and (2) 321 chances flawlessly.

Red Schoendienst held the old marks, setting both in 1950 when he completed a string of 57 games without error and also handled 320 chances at second base for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hubbs went into Wednesday's game with the San Francisco Giants with 312 chances and he added nine in the Cubs 7-5 victory.

He tied Schoendienst's record of successive chances without a boot when he threw out Tom Haller on a routine play and eclipsed it in the ninth he took a toss from shortstop Andre Rogers for a force play on Carl Boles.

But there was an anxious moment in the fifth inning. Hubbs had to run three steps to his right to backhand Tom Haller's grounder. He knocked it down, picked it up and dropped it. He did not make a throw.

The official scorer, Jerry Holtzman of the Chicago Sun-Times, ruled it a hit, calling it a "tough chance."

McKinley Is Favorite In Tournament

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — Top-seeded Chuck McKinley faces Gordon Forbes of South Africa, the third-seeded foreign player, today in the quarter-finals of the 81st annual Lawn Tennis tournament at the venerable Newport Casino.

McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., one of the nation's top Davis Cup players, was forced into extra games 6-2, 13-11 Wednesday to defeat unseeded Bill Higgins of Lawton, Okla., in a tournament that has been marked thus far with upsets.

Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico, a former national junior champ but unranked nationally at present, and Tom Edelson, who's third in northern California but unknown nationally, staged stunners Wednesday in the second round singles matches.

Pasarell used a strong service and forehand to defeat fifth-seeded U. S. Davis Cupper Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 12-10, 6-4.

Edelson took the measure of fourth-seeded Bill Bond of La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-1. Bond is 10th ranked nationally.

AFL Winds Up Grid Draft Today

DALLAS (UPI) — San Diego and Houston will wind up the American Football League's first and last "equalization draft" today with sixth round picks.

A total of 13 players have been selected in the telephonic draft with Denver getting the most players — five.

Each of the eight teams designated 35 players as frozen and unavailable for selection. The remainder of the players on the team's roster was eligible for selection. A team could "freeze" players on its own roster instead of making draft choices.

Denver took two players Wednesday — halfback Charles Bolden of Houston and end Jerry Richardson of San Diego. The Dallas Texans picked guard Sonny Bishop and center George Bellotti both of San Diego.

The other teams decided to "freeze" players on their own rosters.

Oakland and Denver, bottom teams last season, were the only clubs to take part in the first three draft rounds Tuesday.

The AFL said it would not have another "equalization draft."

Cabot Loses Initial Tilt

Skellytown administered the first defeat for the Cabot Smut-hounds Tuesday night, winning 12-4 at the Lions park.

Cabot had won seven in a row previous to Tuesday nights game. McKinley was the winning pitcher, with B. H. White the loser. Watson and Masters led the winners at bat.

Thursday night, Cabot battles Phillips at 7:30 p.m.

Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in . . . then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck . . . selection is still good . . . deliveries are prompt . . . and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time.

Come in and take full advantage of it!

Blueprint For Recovery

A challenge to show courage to match the title of his book "Profiles of Courage" has been tossed to Big Brother John F. Kennedy. E. C. Harwood, director of the American Institute for Economic Research at Great Barrington, Mass., has written an open letter to President Kennedy to outline the institute's proposals for returning the United States to fiscal sanity.

We are fearful that the letter will never reach the eyes of Mr. Kennedy or if it does the Harvard and London School of Economics-trained young man in the White House will be unwilling to see the logic behind the statements. Among other recommendations, Harwood urges JFK to quit heeding the "outmoded notions of Keynesian economists," and this is highly unlikely unless there are enough Americans who become alert to show the

Superiority

The person who begins to discipline his thinking so that he does everything for profit consciously, will have to serve his fellow man. The person who determines never to injure another as he seeks all the profit he can acquire is the superior person.

Biggest Deception Is Government Deception

Probably the greatest scandal of all time is the normal practice of government officials to fool the public. Few if any things done by governments are things which could not be done by free men operating on their own initiative. Therefore, government carries on a constant program of self-glorification, equating itself with the national ideal, making it appear that love of government is the same thing as love of country, and both openly and covertly insinuating itself into the minds of people as the one thing they must have and the one thing they can trust.

This type of pleasant foolery is found in the usage of certain words which crop up in government terminology. Take, for instance, the perennial "limitation" enacted by Congress to control the public debt. When has any such law ever limited the debt in fact? But the word "limited" is always included so that you will have a sense of safety. It wouldn't do the government men any good if you were to realize that there is no limitation; and that what Congress has amended this year, it can amend again next year.

Or take the matter of gasoline taxes which were inaugurated by the federal strappy way back in 1932 as a "temporary" measure. Let's examine the use of the word "temporary." In 1932 a "TEMPORARY" TAX for one year was put on each gallon of gasoline. The tax was 1 cent per gallon and it was due to "expire" one year later. In 1933 the "temporary" 1 cent tax was increased to 1 1/2 cents and extended another year. Temporarily. In 1935, 1937 and again in 1939, the 1 cent tax was continued "temporarily" in two-year stretches. In 1940 the "temporary" 1 cent tax was again increased to 1 1/2 cents temporarily. In 1941 the "temporary" was changed to permanent. In 1931 the gasoline tax of 1 1/2 cents was increased "temporarily" to 3 cents. It was supposed to expire in March of 1934.

TRUTH-FORUM

With Ed Delaney

Regardless of all the White House propaganda to the contrary the prestige of President Kennedy, both at home and abroad has dipped to an alarming low. No one is responsible for this but Mr. Kennedy. He has surrounded himself with a corps of Harvard refugees, so-called professors and specialists, some of whom were the laughing stock of students, even at Harvard. These nonentities, misfits, failures, intellectual charlatans and advocates of socialism are listened to by some obsequious politicians, administration appointees and a segment of the press, because they drape around themselves the aura of the White House. In fact the President appears to be a captive of these fakery.

These fuzzy brained quacks, many of them imbued with and continually spouting the theories of Fabian socialism, have no knowledge of business, of government or of economy, no experience other than that of lecturing to students, but they have the arrogance of a Mussolini handing down edicts to a subservient people. The list of such persons whom the President has placed in plush jobs at Washington includes Arthur Schlesinger Jr., administrative assistant, Walter Heller, the thoroughly discredited economic chief, Henry Kissinger, Jerome B. Wiesner, national planning, Stewart Udall, secretary of the Interior, Walter W. Rostow, chairman of the State Department Policy Planning Board and others.

Recently some members of Congress denounced Prof. Walter Rostow and his socialist panaceas for curing our economic and international ills. Mr. Kennedy defended Rostow, saying that he was "only doing his job." That job seems to be the wrecking of our economy and brainwashing the American people. This Rostow says that international communism is "mellowing" and that some kind of cordial co-existence with the Soviet and communism is the course for us to take.

Automated pulchritude: One cosmetics company has a "Beauty Brain," a computer into which is fed information on a woman's skin tone and complexion type, environment, social background, health, grooming habits and personality. From this comes an analysis and recommendations for specific treatment and cosmetics for her to take.

Rep. Alphonzo Bell of Calif., was one of several in Congress who blasted that ridiculous notion of the foreign policy chairman of the State Department. The assertion that the Kremlin is "mellowing" in its revolutionary fervor, said Bell, "is absolute nonsense."

He continued by saying "there is not a shred of proof for that notion. Khrushchev has stated that Communists will give up communism only when the shrimp learns to whistle" and there has not been a shrimp whistle heard in the world, so far.

Has the Soviet released any of the captive nations which our previous presidents, Roosevelt and Truman helped Stalin to enslave? One may assume that the building of the wall of hate through the heart of Berlin is graphic proof that communism is "mellowing." The shooting down of those who try to escape from communist East Berlin is another evidence that communism is "mellowing." The guerrilla warfare being waged by the communists in Asia and the brutal domination of Cuba by Communist Castro, does not indicate that communism is "mellowing."

All this is proof however that Walter W. Rostow is aiding the communist cause. It is proof that his "job" to which the President referred is, apparently, to "mellow" the minds of the American people so they may accept with out too much opposition, a coalition with the Soviet and a complete departure from our republican form of government.

Back in the days of the presidential campaign of 1960, on Sept. 12, Senator Kennedy addressed a labor convention in St. Louis. Among other gems of wisdom dropped into the news records of that date by the senator, was the comment that our people "are weary of the continued decline in our national prestige, a decline which has led to economic justice at home and abroad."

Those words of Mr. Kennedy in 1960 are applicable today. His personal prestige is on the toboggan, due largely to the coterie of socialist, pro-communist advisors with whom he has surrounded himself. In recent weeks I have reported on the continuing decline of the President's prestige in the parts of Europe where I made it my business to do some investigating. From various parts of this country we hear that those who were beguiled into supporting Mr. Kennedy in 1960, are today actively supporting his opposition.

"By the Way, When Does It Reach the Danger Point?"

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The threat by House Appropriations sub-committee Chairman Otto Passman, D-La., to cut $2 billion off the $4.6 billion authorized for foreign aid this year is considered no empty gesture. He has increasing support for it from both Democratic and Republican conservatives. They might not make a $2 billion cut, but $1 billion is possible.

Sentiment in Congress is running strongly in favor of a meat ax operation of this kind. It has the Kennedy administration worried, for several reasons.

Foreign aid will probably be the last of the appropriation bills to clear Congress. Earlier money bills haven't been cut too heavily. The $47.9 billion national defense appropriation was increased $229 million. Making up for some of this by a big back out of foreign aid has political appeal.

It would be a final bid to economy-minded voters who don't like foreign aid anyway, just before Congress adjourns to campaign for re-election. With support from 72 Republicans in the House and 23 in the Senate, the preliminary foreign aid authorization bill sailed through Congress with only a $206 million, 4.5 per cent cut. The $100 million U.N. bond issue was left in. Restrictions on aid to Yugoslavia, Poland, India or other nations that have been playing football with the Russians were watered down. Curbs on countries that appropriate American properties overseas without compensation or arbitration of claims in 6 months were softened.

This was hailed as a great Kennedy administration victory when the President signed it. That burned the Republicans who had voted for it as bi-partisan foreign policy. Many got highly critical mail from their districts.

Some of them, like Rep. Walter Judd, R-Minn., have already notified the State Department they will have to vote for foreign aid cuts just to square themselves with the home folks. Congressmen constantly walk on eggs this way.

Many Republicans say they have voted for foreign aid since the Greek-Turkish crisis and the Marshall Plan in the Truman administration. They continued to vote for foreign aid in the Eisenhower administration. But they say now it gets harder every year. In the past they felt they had the President pitching for it with White House press conference statements, radio and television broadcasts. They explained the importance of foreign aid to national security and sell the people on it. This year they feel that Kennedy, macabre, was: "He'd steal a red hot stove."

ROBERT ALLEN Foreign Relations Committee's Probe of Lobbyists Worries to State Department Former Lobbyists

WASHINGTON — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's forthcoming investigation of lobbyists for foreign governments and interests is causing quite a bit of uneasiness in high State Department quarters.

Certain top officials are worriedly trying to find out how far this dynamite-loaded probe will go. Reason for their concern is that they have been foreign lobbyists themselves.

Foremost among them are Undersecretary of State George Ball and Foreign Aid Administrator Fowler Hamilton.

Both are aware the Foreign Relations Committee has dug up official records showing that some years ago Ball and Hamilton were very active lobbyists in behalf of legislation favorable to Cuban sugar growers and mill owners.

According to these records, Ball received more than $270,000 — making him the all-time highest-paid foreign sugar lobbyist.

These official files also reveal that Ball hired more than a score of other lawyers in this massive lobbying drive in Congress. A number of these lawyers concentrated on influencing lawmakers with whom they had ties.

Also important U.S. business firms were vigorously propagandized to back Ball's Cuban sugar clients.

This significant heavily-financed and wide-ranging lobbying operation is spelled out in detail in the published hearings of an investigation of "political activities, lobbying and campaign contributions" conducted in December 1956 by a special Senate committee.

Chairman was Senator John McClellan, D-Ark., now head of the Labor Rackets Investigating Committee which has conducted numerous hard-hitting probes ranging from Teamster mogul James Hoffa to the malodorous Billie Sol Estes scandal.

Other committeemen included Senators Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn. BIG-TIME LOBBYIST — At the time of this investigation, Ball was a member of large law firm with offices in Washington, Wall Street and Paris.

His client was the United States Cuban Sugar Council. Its aim was to make sure that its interests were well taken care of in the new Sugar Act congress would have to pass when the then-existing law expired.

For this purpose, Ball organized and conducted a nationwide campaign to line up U.S. business interests to back the Cuban Sugar Council. Following is how he explained that to the Senate investigators:

"We reached the conclusion that the maintenance of an adequate sugar quota for Cuba was desirable in the interest of the American taxpayer, the American consumer, and the great body of American industrialists and agriculturalists who sold their produce in Cuba, and that it was in the best economic interest of the United States.

"The problem of Cuba was finding in the United States individuals and corporations who were residents of the United States, whose areas were directly represented in Congress, who could speak as American nationals, and whose economic interests were very closely identified with those of Cuba, so that they had a stake in speaking for the preservation of an adequate sugar quota for Cuba.

"The Senate probes were curious as to why Ball employed so many lawyers. He explained that as follows:

"We employed law firms in five areas in the U.S., and supplied them with the list (of American firms doing business in or selling goods to Cuba) with the idea that they would make direct contact with these firms and advise them of their interest in the Cuban market."

"Did you regard that as lobbying or educational activity?" asked Senator McClellan.

"All the activities of these correspondent counsel around the country, including the activities of our Washington and New York offices in making contacts with American suppliers and educating them," replied Ball, "we regarded as lobbying and so reported in our lobbying report."

"How many people were actually employed in this endeavor?" asked George M. Fay, committee counsel.

"There were 23 altogether," answered Ball.

"And those telephone calls to American suppliers were for the purpose of urging them to be active in behalf of your legislation," continued Senator McClellan.

"That's right," acknowledged Ball. "They did make some contacts, and some of the law firms made contacts with members of Congress. Some doing not."

"COSTLY LOBBYING — In response to questions, Ball disclosed that "contact" was made with a top official in the White House — Dr. Gabriel Hague, special economic adviser to President Eisenhower.

"I think I called two or three times on Dr. Hague," said Ball, "and gave him a copy of our brief and explained our position to him."

"Was that when the bill was pending in Congress?" asked Fay.

"It was after the bill had been introduced in April 1955, and before the House committee hearings got underway," replied Ball.

After a series of questions aimed at ascertaining how much Ball received for these lobbying operations, Senator McClellan said:

"According to your testimony, the total amount you got in connection with this legislation is $271,327.31."

"That is right," agreed Ball.

"Those are the receipts from the point of view of my firm."

"The fee is included in the $271,000," said McClellan.

"That is correct," said Ball.

"You reported $271,327 as receipts and expenditures?"

"That is correct," said Ball.

"That is the total money received and to be expended on this account."

"What is the actual amount for lobbying?"

"On what we have received so far, we have reported $60,000 for lobbying," replied Ball. "That is purely an estimate, but there will be another $27,000. We have not yet filed that because we have not received it. But I think it will be in that neighborhood."

"Then roughly a total of $87,000 for lobbying."

"Somewhere in that neighborhood," agreed Ball.

Justice Department records show that Foreign Aid Administrator Fowler Hamilton was among the numerous lawyers employed by Ball in these extensive Cuban sugar lobbying operations.

HOW BOBBY FEELS ABOUT IT — Apparently there is a very important reason that big, shaggy Labrador retriever of Attorney General Robert Kennedy is walked about the corridors of the Justice Department by a pretty clerk despite the regulation banning dogs in government buildings. The President's younger brother explained this seeming disregard of the law to newsmen in San Francisco. "That is permissible when the dog is on a special mission," said Kennedy seriously. Inexplicably, he was not asked what this mysterious mission might be, and he didn't volunteer the information. . . . Senator Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., elected in 1960, is still nominally a "rookie," but both her Democratic and Republican colleagues regard her as the chamber's best presiding officer. She is constantly sought to fill this thorny role, while patient and considerate, she is firm and decisive. She insists on strict orderly procedure, and makes that rule stick.

Odd-Man-Out Role No Bother To President Charles de Gaulle

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG PARIS (UPI) — French President Charles de Gaulle has proved once again that the odd-man-out role does not bother him in the least.

If anything, he thrives on it. It was shown again in the abortive Brussels talks last weekend on Great Britain's request for acceptance into the six-nation European Common Market.

After an all-night session, with all seven delegations already punch-drunk with fatigue, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville suddenly handed Britain's Edward Heath a long, highly complicated financial document and told him he must sign it on the spot if he wanted agreement then.

Forced Delay
The result was that the talks were recessed until October and Britain's entry into the Common Market was delayed by several more months at least.

present in the Brussels Conference room — he was in fact vacationing at his country home — Couve de Murville's tactics bore the hallmark of De Gaulle's inspiration.

Couve de Murville is a completely faithful agent and interpreter of De Gaulle's foreign policy. He went to the Brussels talks with written instructions to be as tough and uncompromising as possible.

This put France considerably out of step with the other market members, most of whom would like to see Britain join as soon as possible.

Minority View
Not that De Gaulle apparently wants to keep the British out of the Common Market for ever. But he considers that they are the askers and that there is no reason to make things easy for them, regardless of what the other member nations may think.

This was a typical De Gaulle stance.

He was the odd-man in the Atlantic alliance last winter when he alone flatly opposed Berlin peace talks or even diplomatic "probing" with the Russians.

He was the odd-man again when he refused flatly to send a French delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference.

He set himself at odds with his Common Market partners when he rejected their ideas for a closely integrated political union of Western Europe and refused to go for anything stronger than a loose federation of sovereign states.

De Gaulle is pushing 72 — an age when many men mellow.

An Open Letter To President Kennedy

The President
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

A little more than a year ago we wrote to you an open letter in which we said: "In your book, Profiles in Courage," you reveal admiration of Senator Lamar's political courage. As an example you cite his stand in the mid-1870's on the question of more inflation as a supposed remedy for a depression versus deflation and restoration of a currency redeemable in gold. By an interesting coincidence, unless we are seriously mistaken, you are or soon will be in a situation similar to that in which Senator Lamar found himself."

Few people seemed to realize a year ago how soon the Nation might be confronted with the prospect of a severe recession. In view of recent developments in the financial markets, however, the significance of the sentences quoted above presumably will be more apparent.

We hope you will understand the message is not a boastful "we told you so." The situation is far too serious, the threat to the very survival of our Nation is much too great for such considerations to be entertained. We do not exult in the serious losses already incurred by many, nor do we find satisfaction in the disasters that a depression would bring, regardless of how fully such developments confirm the usefulness of our earlier analyses. And we feel sure that you would not disparage these efforts to bring to your attention useful results of research that has extended over four decades. Therefore, we reproduce below some additional paragraphs from the earlier open letter to you.

"As was the situation in 1873, the United States is beginning to experience the aftermath of prolonged inflation begun in time of depression, greatly augmented during World War II, and continued in postwar years. In Senator Lamar's day the proponents of still more inflation were clamoring for the 'easy money' way out of depression problems. Today the Keynesian economists are providing the rationalization for similar pleas that the government attempt to restore prosperity by still more inflating."

"The panacea proposed by the Keynesians is a continuation of policies followed for two decades, policies directly responsible for the situation in which we now find ourselves. The monetizing of Government debt during World War II created a huge amount of inflationary purchasing media, much of which was hoarded at first by the early recipients, because the things they wanted to buy were not available."

"During the postwar years, the inflationary purchasing media have been dissipated gradually, and some of the increasing private noncommercial debt has been monetized, thereby creating more inflationary purchasing media. Each successive postwar recession has been cut short by the continued disbarring of inflationary purchasing media created during World War II and by further inflation derived from monetizing Treasury deficits and increasing private noncommercial debt."

"In each instance, the short-run consequence, quick recovery to boom levels, has been what the Keynesians and many of the Nation's best informed economists have expected. However, the Keynesians have been blind to the longer run consequences, whereas many leading money-credit economists and our own organization have correctly foreseen those consequences, which now confront the Nation."

"The great inflation of the past two decades has shifted about $200,000,000,000 worth of assets from the Nation's thrifty citizens and from endowed institutions in addition to an incalculable but perhaps even larger amount from all whose incomes have been relatively fixed (such as retired individuals and teachers) to those who have benefited from inflation's progress. One of the chief beneficiaries has been the Government, whose tax revenues have increased greatly; other beneficiaries have been the holders of monopoly privileges including some elements of organized labor as well as numerous others.

"Thus have been fostered dreams of an affluent society able to afford global foreign aid, costly Government intervention in agriculture with accompanying waste of resources, and expansion of business enterprises without sufficient consideration of costs here compared with those abroad. In these and other ways too numerous to list, economic growth has been retarded and the Nation's economy has been seriously distorted.

"Now the consequences of past money-credit follies confront us. Some Keynesian economists urge that the disciplinary warnings of the gold outflow be disregarded; a few even urge that gold be discarded from the Nation's money-credit system. They recommend more inflation by monetizing more Government debt. Although some Keynesians favor more spending, others favor tax reductions; but the basic notion is the same, i.e., that Government deficits should be monetized to restore prosperity."

"For the educated person who has not been trained as an economic scientist, the situation must indeed be puzzling. Among the Keynesians are some of the Nation's best known economists whose academic positions and professional offices seem almost to be a guarantee of their competence. How is one to decide when the doctor disagrees, especially when one finds on the side of the inflationists several economists in one of the Nation's most venerable and respected universities as well as others in a leading scientific institution?"

"No doubt, you will be subjected to great pressure to foster more inflation. In addition to the dedicated Keynesians convinced that their nostrum is a useful remedy, various pressure groups will clamor for what they think will promote their interest. Labor leaders who can see only the short-run benefits of more increases in wages instead of decreased wage rates in some industries, speculators in real estate and stocks (especially those speculating on thin margins), bankers whose investment-type assets are excessive and largely frozen, and others who hope to gain from more inflation or fear to lose if deflation occurs will join in the clamor. And adding their not inconsiderable bit will be many intellectuals whose education cultivated verbal facility but failed to make them wary of perpetual-motion schemes such as those proposed by the Keynesian inflationists.

"To resist the pressures that will be brought to bear on you will require political courage of a high order."

"We do not imply that on you rests the sole responsibility for choosing a wise course of action. Congress has a responsibility even greater than yours, because Congress makes the laws you are to enforce. And in the background, carrying the final and inescapable responsibility, stand the independent, informed minority of citizens who constitute the balance of political power in a republic such as the United States."

"The Institute's responsibility is to continue research such as that which has provided the scientific warranty for the assertions herein and to inform every citizen who will trouble to read what we publish. We propose to increase the number thus educated as rapidly as possible beyond the half-million present readers of our principal publications. Research and the widest possible dissemination of the results thereof comprise the extent of our responsibility. On thoughtful, informed citizens will rest the responsibility for indicating to professional politicians the direction chosen by the Nation's independent balance-of-power minority."

"Turning now from our earlier letter, at this time we should emphasize that the Keynesian economists evidently have been seriously mistaken. Your Council of Economic Advisers predicted in their Annual Economic Report last January that the Nation would experience "strong and sustained expansion" of business activity in the months ahead. That has not occurred. Moreover, more than a decade ago, the Chairman of the Council participated in preparing recommendations to West Germany that fortunately were discarded in favor of a diametrically opposite course of action that accounted for the "miracle" of West Germany's recovery and economic growth.

"The situation is similar to one that occurred in the practice of medicine. Decades after Dr. Semmelweis' research had revealed the cause of puerperal fever, mothers were still dying in childbirth because of the delayed acceptance of the results of scientific inquiry. For the many families involved those were great personal tragedies, but they are insignificant in comparison to the consequences that must follow failure to apply scientific inquiry to economic problems. Even before the Great Depression of the 1930's the results of extensive scientific research were available. Many published articles not only correctly analyzed the situation before the panic of 1929 but also predicted the consequences of unsound fiscal and monetary panaceas intended to restore prosperity during the 1930's.

"During and since World War II the worst economic blunder made during World War I and in the 1920's have been repeated, some on an even larger scale. The obvious consequences are numerous economic distortions that hinder economic growth and are reflected in the gold problem, excessive unemployment, and the recent panic in the stock markets. Again the Institute's continued research has revealed the nature and extent of the principal economic blunders.

"A challenge to show courage to match the title of his book "Profiles of Courage" has been tossed to Big Brother John F. Kennedy. E. C. Harwood, director of the American Institute for Economic Research at Great Barrington, Mass., has written an open letter to President Kennedy outlining the institute's proposals for returning the United States to fiscal sanity.

"We are fearful that the letter will never reach the eyes of Mr. Kennedy or if it does the Harvard and London School of Economics — trained young man in the White House will be unwilling to see the logic behind the statements. Among other recommendations, Harwood urges JFK to quit heeding the "outmoded notions of Keynesian economists," and this is highly unlikely unless there are enough Americans who become alert to show the politically astute young man in the White House that he is on the wrong track.

"The Register is reprinting Harwood's open letter on an adjoining page today. We recommend that concerned Americans read this letter with the recommendations. And if they do not have time as present save the paper, and read it later. As Harwood points out, in the 1870's, Congress had the courage to reverse the inflation trend and return to the gold standard, with the result that there was a price decline, but the "highest and best sustained rate of industrial growth in our history."

"We hope that by some miracle, the message gets across to those in power, and we urge all readers to study this recommendation and pass it on to others who do not have access to the sound economics contained in the Harwood letter.

"To disregard the work of economic scientists and rely instead on the outmoded notions of Keynesian economists, regardless of how impressive their academic credentials may seem, would be to repeat the fatuous blundering of the 1930's that left nearly 10,000,000 still unemployed in 1939. Such action would parallel that of the medical doctors who, in the pride of their academic and professional distinctions, refused to learn from the scientific inquiry that revealed the cause of puerperal fever. But in the present instance, instead of death for a relatively few individuals, the consequences could be catastrophic for millions of people and perhaps would imperil survival of our Nation, or survival of those aspects of our Nation that once made the United States the hope of the world.

Yours very truly,
American Institute For Economic Research

'Old Heads' Gave Added Life To Watch Company

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When a company going down hill does a turnaround from red to black in two years, watchmakers will tell you today, it reflects new, fresh, and vigorous management.

Ordinarily, this would mean that the new management also was youthful, the old heads — young-shoulders type. But the makers can cite a different story.

For the fiscal year ended in March 1960, Gruen Industries Inc. maker of watches, showed a consolidated net loss of more than $1.8 million. Then it got the new top management.

For the next fiscal year, the loss was reduced to a little over a half million. For the 1962 fiscal year, up came a profit of more than $100,000.

Elderly Take Over

The men who were responsible, Gruen officials say proudly, were both in their 60s when they took over. One was John H. Ballard, who after 30 years was being retired as president of Bulova, and became president of Gruen. The other was Edward L. Love, former executive vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, semi-retired from the active financial community, who became chairman of the board.

"Ballard came first, and then Love," recalled Rudolph Epstein, vice president, secretary and treasurer who also came to Gruen after the change in management.

"In two years, we reduced overhead by a quarter-million dollars. Numerous lawsuits
"Our creditors and customers were hard to deal with," Epstein said. "There were lawsuits, too, and the other parties knew that we were negotiating from a weak position."

"To show you how things have changed under the new management, last week we settled the last of those suits, an $800,000 action.
"We settled it for $400."
"Further," he continued, "these two top men keep an eye on everything through reports; enlightened management is only as good as the information which is fed to it. Now, we don't tell anyone anything we can't back up."

Outline For A Solution

During the crisis that lies ahead, the United States will be forced to make an important choice. The alternatives will be:
1. To continue inflating without regard to the loss of gold, thereby risking an internal flight from the dollar and economic collapse, or,
2. To deflate, rapidly or gradually, and thus restore balanced internal and external economic relationships.

Choosing the first alternative would reflect continued acceptance of the economic advice responsible for the Nation's present plight. Inflation involves a terrible price in the long run, and presentation of at least part of the bill seems not far distant.

Choosing the second alternative would reflect acceptance of economic advice from those who have repeatedly warned of the dangers of inflating.

Have the American people enough common sense to refuse to accept any more advice from those responsible for the present situation; will the Nation's citizens instead seek advice from the economists who have continually opposed the "perpetual motion" notions of the "creeping" and other inflationists? We don't pretend to know the answer to this question; only the citizens, or the better informed minority who hold the balance of political power, can provide the answer. All that we can do is outline a possible solution if the present predicament, not an easy, painless remedy, because we know of none, but one that should provide a way out.

1. In order to prevent a "run on the dollar," the Government should reassure its foreign creditors that another devaluation will not be undertaken. Mere words of reassurance will not be enough, however; governments invariably issue such reassuring statements before a devaluation is accomplished. Actions rather than words will be required, as follows:

a. The Treasury should continue to pay out gold on demand to foreign creditors, but they should be informed that licenses for gold withdrawals (the means by which the outflow can be controlled) will be limited to such amounts as will not jeopardize the United States by depleting its essential war and emergency reserves. (The exact rate of outflow, perhaps $100,000,000 per month or some such amount, should be no more than can be continued without danger during the interim period discussed below.)

b. Foreign creditors should also be informed that their demand claims on gold will be honored in the order received. Most of the short-term foreign claims now are invested in Treasury bills, savings accounts, or other interest-bearing obligations. Foreign creditors who desire to withdraw the gold they are entitled to would have to convert such short-term investments to demand claims on dollars (i.e. treasury or demand deposits) and present those claims to the Treasury for payment. Thus on all claims presented for payment, foreign creditors would forfeit their interest earnings. This is the price they would pay for an earlier place in the waiting line, and presumably that would reduce the amount of claims presented for immediate payment.

c. The United States should authorize and announce a return to the gold standard with full redeemability of currency according to the promise on the face of it at the end of an interim period, perhaps 5 to 10 years in the future. Congressional action would be required, as in 1873 when Congress voted to resume gold payments in 1879.

Thus the present vulnerability of the Nation's gold reserves would be ended for the time being.

Foreign Commentary

LONDON (UPI)—The ambitious plan for sweeping European unification has suffered a severe setback. But it has not been abandoned.

Britain, rebuked by her European allies earlier this month, has swallowed her pride. The Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has decided to resume negotiations for entry into the Common Market next fall.

Her intention remains to secure membership in the six-member European alignment of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, while still maintaining her special ties with the commonwealth. The United States strongly favors an integrated Europe, with Britain as a part of it.

If the plan comes off Europe would represent a unified market of more than 200 million people — an incomparably better match for Russia than in her divided state and, together with the United States, a powerful barrier against the Reds.

But whether the plan will come off now remains a bigger question mark than ever.

France is the chief opponent, ostensibly for economic reasons, fearing that once the door is opened to commonwealth produce her own European agricultural markets would be swamped.

But political considerations seem an equally powerful reason behind France's toughening stand.

President Charles de Gaulle to all appearances dreams of a Europe led by a revitalized France, strong enough to stand on its own feet independent of the United States.

He is believed to consider Britain a dangerous challenger to French leadership, one she is a member of the European club.

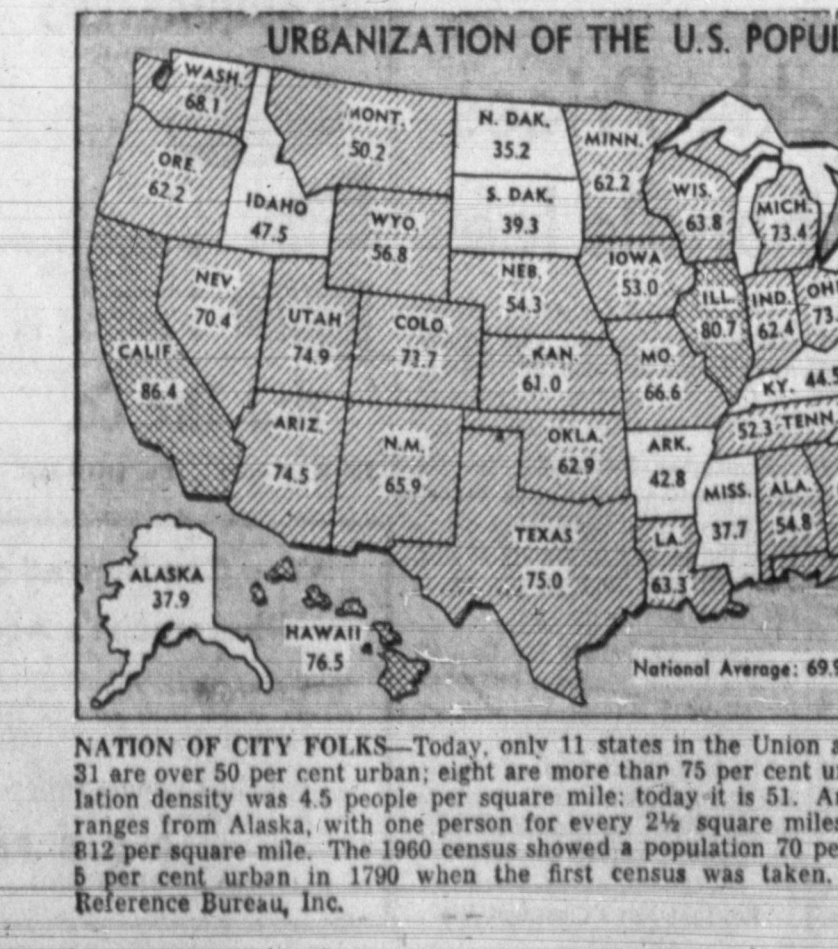

With Britain in Europe he apparently feels the United States also would retain its influence on the continent. Britain is a firm backer of NATO and of the Atlantic alignment with the United States.

This is why some diplomatic observers fear Britain's chances for entry into the Common Market remain slender.

The pause may help to clarify and smooth things. But there are those who fear that existing divisions may in fact become deeper, with France trying to sway the other members and to raise the price for British membership beyond what Britain can afford to pay.

PAY HIKES NIXED
VICKSBURG, Miss. (UPI)—Several months ago Mayor Johnny Holland and Aldermen O. J. Bori and Charlie Guion voted to give themselves substantial pay raises by amending the city charter.

Opponents objected and filed petition that resulted in a special referendum on the question Wednesday. The voters turned down the proposed pay hikes by a margin of 1,587 to 1,464.

NATION OF CITY FOLKS—Today, only 11 states in the Union are predominantly rural. 31 are over 50 per cent urban; eight are more than 75 per cent urban. In 1790, the population density was 4.5 people per square mile; today it is 51. Among the states, density ranges from Alaska, with one person for every 2 1/2 square miles, to Rhode Island, with 812 per square mile. The 1960 census showed a population 70 per cent urban, as against 5 per cent urban in 1790 when the first census was taken. Data from Population Reference Bureau, Inc.

AMERICANS ABROAD—About one and one-half million Americans traveled overseas last year. They spent $2.6 billion dollars, about the same as in 1960. Of this, $1.7 billion was spent in foreign countries (Newschart above shows the major countries and areas); the remainder, $895 million, went for fares to these countries. Foreign carriers got 53 per cent of this transportation cost. Number of American travelers abroad has more than doubled since 1951, with all the increase going to air travel. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Judge Throws Rutherford Suit Out Of Court

By JAMES T. YOUNG
ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—A district judge Wednesday threw out of court a suit asking to have Rep. J. T. Rutherford's name stricken from the Nov. 6 general election ballot because the legal action was unconstitutional.

Dist. Judge John Sutton held that Articles 1408 and 1409, under which Robert Frias brought the lawsuit, have previously been held unconstitutional. Frias was one of three candidates Rutherford defeated for the Democratic nomination for the 16th District congressional seat from West Texas.

In Washington, Rutherford said that he was "gratified but not surprised by the verdict of the court in connection with the politically inspired lawsuit today (Wednesday) resolved in my favor."

Frias contended that Rutherford violated the Texas election code in filing a belated, amended statement of campaign contributions for the May 5 Democratic primary in which he listed a $1,500 check from Billie Sol Estes.

"I do not think it necessary," Sutton said, "to rule on whether the lateness of the reporting was in good or bad faith."

Frias pointed out that Rutherford's supplemental report listing the Estes contributions was filed eight days after the May 15 deadline. His attorneys did not plan to appeal.

Rutherford's chief counsel, Warren Burnett of Odessa, said the lawsuit was prompted by the notoriety surrounding Estes' name and had no basis in law.

Under any other circumstances," Burnett said, "there wouldn't have been a lawsuit. It's the name of Estes and the hysteria that goes with it that caused the lawsuit."

Rutherford said he failed to include the check from Estes in his original list because "it slipped my mind." He said the check represented a $300 contribution from Estes and $500 from each of two other men from West Texas.

Plane Makes Emergency Landing

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (UPI)—A Continental Airlines DC3 with 23 persons aboard made a forced landing Wednesday at the Stephens County Airport near Breckenridge when fire broke out in an overhead fan.

No one was injured. Damage to the plane was slight. The plane carried 20 passengers and a crew of three.

The fire caused some smoke in the passenger compartment. Crew members shut off electrical power and air conditioning.

The plane was flight 187 from Dallas to Albuquerque, N. M. It had landed at Fort Worth en route to the next stop at Abilene. The fire was discovered when the plane was 10 miles east of Breckenridge.

Ike Is Not Impressed With 'New Frontier'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower needs 12 columns of type to tell what he thinks. It is wrong with President Kennedy's policies and only one column to tell what he thinks is right.

Republicans are delighted by this recurrent display of pugacity by their chief spokesman, although some complain that it came too late. Many of them believe that more aggressive partisanship during his eight years in the presidency would have kept the White House under Republican control.

The ex-President appraises the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post and finds much cause for alarm. His indictment is largely an elaboration of what he has said in his political speeches and news conferences this year.

He is appalled by the upward trend in federal spending and what he regards as a too-casual attitude toward government deficits. If he agreed with his own economic advisers who favored balancing the budget over the business cycle rather than from one July 1 to the next, he never says so.

"Stunt Race" Eisenhower restates his objections to the administration farm bill and medicare plan, to the methods used in the steel price dispute and to the "stunt race" for the moon and the planets.

But he objects most to the apparent thirst for more and more power centered in the federal government—and particularly in the executive branch. "Here he lists half a dozen proposals which he views as power grabs, including presidential requests for standby power to lower taxes and step up spending for public works if a recession is threatened.

Although he was generally counted as a supporter of the Kennedy foreign trade bill, Eisenhower points to that measure as a request for too much power for the President.

"The leader of a democracy is not the source of power; he merely directs it," the former President says. "Power derives from and must remain in the people."

Kennedy might not quarrel with that statement, but he left no doubt in the 1960 campaign that he and Eisenhower disagreed about how a President should "direct" the use of power.

Eisenhower writes that there are some Democrats "who have a solid, healthy, common-sense political philosophy and frequently act accordingly." He mentions only two Democrats by name, both favorably—Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Historical Timepieces Shown Here

A group of authentic timekeeping devices, going back to the days when time was a matter of sun, fire, water and sand, are being displayed this week in a "Cavalcade of Time" exhibit at Cizon's, 112 W. Foster.

The historical timepieces, obtained specially from The Watchmakers of Switzerland for the two-week showing, will be accompanied by a display of today's modern quality watches. Among these are wrist chronographs, chronometers, and self-winding, calendar and alarm watches, along with the latest in the world of men's and women's watch fashions.

In explaining the "Cavalcade of Time" exhibit, Gary Neal of Cizon's, stated: "to me, the history of timekeeping, from crude improvising by the cave-man to today's modern watches, presents a fascinating saga."

"During the Middle Ages," he went on, "an oil-burning lamp was used to measure hours, comprised of a calibrated supply of oil in an inverted urn-like globe. This had a two-fold purpose of illuminating the dark as well as measuring time. Such fire clocks showed true imagination, ranging in method from burning ropes to calibrated candles or Chinese punk."

The unique parade of watch origins appearing in the "Cavalcade of Time" will be on view at the Pampa store through Sept. 1.

Chevrolets Will Be Made In Texas

DETROIT (Sp) — Assembly of Chevrolet sedans will be added to the schedule of the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant at Arlington, Texas, it was announced today by S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Chevrolet Motor Division.

The first Chevrolet to roll off the assembly line of the B-O-P plant at Arlington is due to be completed on Tuesday, September 4, as the plant begins output of 1963 models.

Knudsen said the new Texas production is being scheduled in order to meet the increasing public demand in the Lone Star State.

SNAKE BIT CHILD

Lakeland, Fla. (UPI) — Two-year-old Barbara Lynch was listed in a "poor" condition at Lakeland Hospital Wednesday after she was bitten by a rattlesnake.

The snake struck the child Monday while she was playing in the backyard of her home. She was bitten once and grazed several times as the reptile continued striking.

Caroline Sees Real 'Spectacular'

RAVELLO, Italy (UPI)—Little Caroline Kennedy had a bird's eye view of one of Italy's most colorful tourist attractions Wednesday night from her mother's 900-year-old rented villa.

Caroline, 4, watched from the terrace of the Villa Sangro as the Mediterranean village of Maiori, 1,000 feet below, celebrated the religious Feast of the Assumption by filling the skies with a cascade of multi-colored fireworks.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, giving her daughter a first look at the old world during a two-week vacation on the Amalfi coast, took a moonlight cruise aboard an 82-foot yacht owned by friends.

Earlier, she wandered over the ruins of Paestrum, a 2,500-year-old Greek settlement with some of the best-preserved classical Greek monuments in existence.

Mrs. Kennedy spent the afternoon and evening cruising aboard the luxury yacht with her close friends, the Agnelli family, Italian automobile tycoons.

The American First Lady also scheduled a "must" visit to Pompeii, the ancient city near Naples buried in 79 A.D. when Mt. Vesuvius erupted.

Mrs. Kennedy and the Agnellis spent 11 hours on their sightseeing trip Wednesday, taking time out to swim in the blue bay of Salerno.

Caroline, left ashore while her mother went boating, took a walk into Ravello with a new-found friend, an Italian laborer's daughter named Ernestina Sorrentino.

Tool Boxes Stolen

E. Ray Jones, 1004 Crane Rd., reported to police this week that someone over the week end two tool boxes filled with tools valued between $200 and $300 were taken from his home.
