Cuba's Purpose In Buildup Pondered

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cuba's big build-up of Soviet bloc military technicians and equipment is being accompanied by daily charges that planes from the United States Naval Base at Guantanamo are "violating" Cuban air space and territorial waters.

What the relationship between

Massachusetts Mail Robbery Reward Hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day today hiked the reward in the $1.5 million Massachusetts mail robbery from $2,000 to $50,000—the entire amount Congress gives the postal service for annual rewards.

Day also disclosed to House investigators he had instituted four immediate changes to prevent similar postal robberies, although he called the way money was handed before the Aug. 14 Plymouth, Mass., mail truck holdup "unique."

Day told a House Government Operations Subcommittee, "There is no comparable situation elsewhere at the present time and our transportation people around the country can recall nothing quite like it in the past."

The nation's postal chief gave a detailed explanation of events leading up to the cash robbery in U. S. history, even surpassing the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup in 1950.

Day said a number of security precautions normally followed in transportation of cash were not taken in the run from Cape Cod to Boston.

He also said state police were supposed to have been keeping a close watch on the postal truck at various spots along the route run but were not spotted by the truck's driver or guard.

Although Day said the Plymouth robbery does not in itself "justify a radical, overall change" in security measures he said that he was making certain changes in post office procedures.

Subcommittee Chairman Jack Brooks, D-Tex., called the one-day hearing at the request of Rep. Edward Boland, D - Mass., who said he was appalled at the "apparently lax methods" of security involved in the Aug. 14 theft.

Brooks said he was interested not only in the Massachusetts robbery but also wanted to know what steps would be taken to prevent future hi-jackings of mail trucks.

The robbery was staged by a band of white-gloved thieves armed with submachine guns.

Marketing Referendum Thursday

Gray County farmers and ranchers will go to the polls Thursday for their vote in the wheat marketing referendum.

Voting throughout the county will be from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the Grandview School, Laketon Store, McLean City Hall and the Pampa ASCS office, on Miami Highway, east of the city.

According to Evelyn Mason, manager of the county ASCS office, ranchers and farmers have received their wheat allotment which is computed in the same way and on the same program that was in effect in 1961 before wheat stabilization programs.

Voting will be on the same kind of program that was in effect before this year on wheat. Persons voting were urged to read over their allotment very carefully.

Husbands and wives are eligible to vote.

Another election will also be held Thursday. Ballots have been mailed to county residents with 10 nominees for community committeemen for next year. Voters were asked to fill out the ballot and return it to the Gray County ASCS office, Pampa, not later than Sept. 10.

these twin developments may be — if any — remains uncertain. But American officials are known to be concerned, particularly since the Soviet-supplied equipment may include surface-to-air missiles.

Installation of such equipment around Guantanamo, for example, could dangerously increase Cuban-American tensions over the huge naval installation which Premier Fidel Castro hopes some day to control, political sources said.

For the past two months Cuba's Armed Forces Ministry has been issuing daily communiques in which American planes, ships and submarines are accused of "violating" Cuban territory. Most of the alleged violations occur around Guantanamo.

The most recent of these charges, issued Sunday, said a U.S. plane flew over several towns in Matanzas Province during a 28-minute sweep over Cuba just after midnight Friday morning. The Castroite communique did not explain how the plane's national origin was determined.

Later on Friday, the announcement charged, a twin-engine plane flew over a Cuban vessel in Cuban waters northeast of Mariel.

The student revolutionary directorate, the Miami-based Cuban exile group which claimed responsibility for the attack, said the assault included the shelling of a Havana theater while a meeting of "technicians" — presumably from the Soviet bloc — was in progress. They theorized that Castro himself may have been in the theater at the time.

Although Washington officials were using the term "military technicians" to refer to the Soviet bloc arrivals, Cuban exiles were insisting that they were soldiers in mufti.

The flurry of reports began last Monday when Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, said in Miami that 5,000 Russian bloc soldiers and five Russian ships loaded with modern armament had arrived in Cuba.

House Sets Quick Votes, Debate On 2 Key Items

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders today scheduled abbreviated debate and quick votes on two key items of President Kennedy's program that tied up the Senate for weeks before passage.

The measures were a constitutional amendment to outlaw poll taxes and a bill to establish a communications satellite system. They were brought up under a hurry-up procedure limiting debate to 40 minutes, barring change and requiring a two-thirds majority for passage.

This "suspension of the rules" procedure is not often used to handle controversial legislation, but House leaders apparently felt sure they had the votes.

They were particularly confident on the satellite bill, which passed the House 354-9 last May 3. An almost identical bill set off a long liberal filibuster and a vote to limit debate for the first time in 35 years before it passed the Senate 66-11 Aug. 17. All the House had to do to send the bill to the White House today was accept minor Senate changes.

PASO To Back John Connally

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations (PASO) gave its endorsement Sunday to Democrat John Connally for governor — providing he names Latin Americans to state posts.

A PASO spokesman said Latin American support for Connally hinges on whether Connally will hire Latin Americans, to work in the Department of Public Safety.

PASO also said it would endorse Democrat Waggoner Carr for attorney general. It made no endorsement in the race for lieutenant governor or congressman-at-large.

Youth Is Killed In Accident

Two young Canadian boys remained in fair condition in Highland General Hospital late this morning following a highway car-truck accident early Sunday morning which took the life of their 18-year-old companion.

Pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, 16.4 miles east of Pampa on U.S. Highway 60, was Thomas Waters, driver of the automobile.

The injured boys, Jack M. Rutledge, 19, and his brother, Carl E. Rutledge, 17, both of Route 3, Canadian, are suffering from face lacerations and cuts and bruises.

The three were riding in a 1960 Chevrolet which struck a produce truck driven by Willie Pat Wilkinson of Dothan, Ala.

Highway Patrol officers who investigated the accident said the Waters automobile, which was headed east, veered across the center line and met the truck which was headed west, nearly head-on. Wilkinson was not injured.

Officers said the accident happened on a curve and that it was possible the Waters vehicle swung wide when making the curve and failed to get back into the proper lane.

The Rutledge brothers were both thrown from the car and the Waters youth was pinned inside.

Heavy damage was caused to the truck and the Waters vehicle was demolished.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Stickley Funeral Home of Canadian.

JFK, Mac Propose 'First Step' Nuclear Test Ban

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today proposed a "first step" nuclear test ban which would drop on-site inspection on testing in the atmosphere, underwater and in outer space.

In a joint statement, the President and Macmillan expressed strong preference for a treaty banning all nuclear testing in all environments, but they also suggested a limited alternative if it might win Soviet acceptance after years of fruitless negotiation.

THE ROAD TO VENUS — Although Venus comes to within 25 million miles of the earth at its closest approach, America's Mariner probe will have to travel many times that distance. Because of fuel limitations, it will coast for some 108 days after blasting off in an orbit that will cross that of earth's and swing in behind Venus, as shown in drawing above. Mariner's path is aimed to take it past Venus at a distance of about 100,000 miles on the sun side, while its instruments examine the clouds that shroud the planet.

Dr. Edward Teller Top Speaker At Nuclear Seminar

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Edward Teller, father of the hydrogen bomb, is the featured speaker today at the opening session of a two-day seminar on nuclear energy.

Teller spoke on a wide range of scientific topics in a news conference Sunday. He said he did not know if the Russian cosmonauts rendezvous in space.

"I don't know," he said. "I don't have any direct line to Moscow, I don't think we know if they are capable of docking in space."

Teller called for the United States to share peaceful nuclear devices with the rest of the free world. He said all our allies should enjoy the peaceful benefits of nuclear progress.

The seminar opens today with a speech by Dr. Ralph Overman Drew, executive vice president of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation who will speak today on the future of civilian nuclear power.

Teller said there is no reliable way to determine whether the

Another Soviet Nuclear Test

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—The Soviet Union today set off a nuclear explosion at its Arctic testing area of Novaya Zemlya, the Uppsala Seismological Institute reported.

The blast was the seventh known to have been detected by Western monitors since the new Soviet series began earlier this month.

The Russians set off two nuclear explosions Saturday, according to the institute.

Dr. Marcus Bath, chief of the institute, said today's explosion was in the 9 to 11 megaton range — about the same general power as Saturday's explosions.

A megaton equals the explosive power of a million tons of TNT.

Full-Scale Probe Of Slant Drilling Opens

DALLAS (UPI) — The House General Investigating Committee today begins a full-scale probe into the slant-hole oil well drilling scandal that has rocked Texas oil circles.

A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said that 17 new subpoenas had been issued, bringing the total subpoenaed to 104. Wilson indicated the hearings might last several days.

Wilson said the deviated drilling probe might uncover a scandal that involves more money than the Billie Sol Estes agriculture mess. Wilson said no single oil operator has done business on the Estes scale, but that the total involved might surpass that attributed to the Pecos farm magnate.

Attorneys for the subpoenaed oil operators planned to meet early today to discuss their plan of defense before the committee. One attorney for a subpoenaed oilman said the committee's right to investigate drilling violations might be challenged.

Witnesses before the committee, headed by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger, will be questioned by Wilson, asst. Atty. Gen. Linward Shivers and committee counsel David Witts.

Those named in the subpoenas issued Sunday included Robert M. Lockwood, David McAngus and Robert Flowers of Austin; First National Bank of Longview and the Longview Bank and Trust; A. B. Martin of Troup, and Roy Payne, R. W. Bean, L. R. Burns, Hilton Head, Ted Lendley, W. T. (Bill) James, J. G. (Jack) Lewis, Pete Leon Peters, John P. Riley and Phil Gibson, all of Kilgore.

Commission Sets Budget Session

Pampa's City Commission will meet tonight for preliminary discussion of the $1,563,102 budget for fiscal 1962-63 recommended last week by City Manager Harold Schmitzer and city department heads.

The proposed budget shows a request for $90,652 less than last year's budget of $1,653,754.

Tonight's meeting will not be a regular meeting of the commissioners but a special committee of the whole session for the purpose of studying the budget requests.

The regular weekly meeting of the commission is scheduled for 7 p. m. tomorrow in City Hall.

A public hearing on the budget has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 7 p. m.

TOO SUCCESSFUL

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sergei Verzhin, a former Soviet cycling champion and a master of sports, has been sentenced to five years in prison for speculation in foreign radio equipment, the newspaper Sovetskiy Sport said Sunday.

Verzhin was arrested last week at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington.

Business in Washington and the world situation permitting, the President was expected back here next week end. He spent Sunday night at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss. His son, John Jr., has been staying with his maternal grandparents at their luxurious summer home, Hammersmith Farm, while Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline have been vacationing in Italy.

Mariner-2 To Probe The 'Mystery Planet'

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — U.S. scientists today shot a gold and silver-plated instrument package toward Venus, and said it may reach to within 100,000 miles of the "mystery planet."

The 447-pound space probe, named Mariner-2, was hurled free of Earth's gravitational pull by a 130-ton Atlas-Agena, rocket launched at 2:35 a. m. edt.

Mariner-2 is a mechanical explorer which, at the end of its 181-million-mile voyage, may help scientists determine whether life could exist on Venus, Earth's nearest planetary neighbor.

Federal Space Agency scientists said Mariner-2 will reach to within 600,000 miles of Venus. But the spacecraft carried a special "mid-course guidance" rocket which could sharpen the accuracy considerably.

Scientists plan to fire the mid-course rocket about eight days from now, and there is a chance it will swing Mariner-2 around so it will reach within 100,000 miles of the cloud-covered surface of Venus.

An early small but significant guidance error—possibly caused by a slight waver in the 10-story booster rocket during lift-off—dimmed the hopes that scientists had of putting Mariner-2 to within 10,000 to 30,000 miles of the planet.

But it still ranks as one of the most spectacular successes in U. S. space exploration. The closest that any American probe had ever approached a planet previously was 8 million miles—the distance that Pioneer-5 came to Venus after it was launched in March, 1960.

Scientists cautioned "We still have a long way to go," but said "The mid-course guidance should make a big difference. We are extremely pleased by this shot so far."

Jack James, project director, said radio information indicated the $18.5 million Mariner 2 itself was performing, but that "we still have a long way to go."

Mariner 2 should make its closest approach to Venus on Dec. 14, and then bypass the planet to swing into a huge orbit around the sun.

Venus is something of an unknown planet—the enigma of the solar system, earth's closest planetary neighbor and yet the most mysterious because of the fixed clouds that perpetually hide its surface.

Mariner 2 carried six scientific instruments that form an electronic "eye" to peer through the clouds and find out what is underneath.

What is "down there" is meaningful because it will help answer one of science's oldest riddles—is there life on other planets, or is earth unique in this respect? Venus and Mars are the only two members of the solar system considered to have even a slim chance of possessing life as we know it.

Mariner 2 was designed to scan Venus and find out what its temperature is, whether there is any oxygen and water in its atmosphere, and what its surface is.

Police Dogs To Display Talents

Police Chief Jim Conner and members of the Pampa police department, along with City Manager Harold Schmitzer and members of the City Commission, will be on hand at Recreation Park tomorrow afternoon for a demonstration of the use of police dogs for crime detection and prevention.

The demonstration will be staged by Amarillo Police Chief Wiley Alexander and two or three members of the Amarillo department and their canine corps.

The move to look into the possibility of adding a police dog or two to the Pampa department came recently at a City Commission meeting when it was suggested the plan might prove to be a deterrent to criminal activities in Pampa.

The demonstration was set up for 2 p. m. tomorrow following a conference between City Manager Schmitzer and Police Chief Conner last week.

President was expected to join her here. While he is here next week end, he probably will make a brief helicopter side trip to Hyannisport, Mass., to visit his father, former ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Flying back to Washington with the President today was the entire Rhode Island congressional delegation, solidly Democratic — Sens. Claiborne Pell and John Pastore, and Reps. John Fogarty and Ferdinand St. Germain.

Kennedy left Washington late Friday and spent two nights at his Hyannisport home which has been occupied most of the summer by his sister, Eunice (Mrs. Sargent Shriver) and her children.

After church Sunday in Hyannis, the President flew by helicopter to the sloping lawn of the Auchincloss estate where he had a joyous reunion with young John. He took the toddler almost immediately to Bailey's Beach for an ocean swim and play around the club pool.

The President kept track of the Cuban situation over the week end in telephone calls and through intelligence briefings by his Naval aide, Capt. Tazewell Shepard.

Dear Abby... Abby Guides Girl To Door Marked "Exit"

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a man who is old enough to be my father, but who has shown more than a fatherly interest in me. Besides, he is married. I am a waitress and he is my boss. When I started to work here he gave me some very good advice on how to handle myself, and I appreciated it. I noticed later that every chance he had to talk to me he got on the subject of "sex." I always changed the subject, but he managed to get back on it again. He even asked me some VERY personal questions about myself, which I answered truthfully because I AM a nice girl and didn't see any reason to hide it. I am getting uncomfortable around him because he gets on the sex subject all the time. Do you think he has evil intentions? How should I guide myself?

A NICE GIRL
DEAR NICE GIRL: Guide yourself OUT the door and find another job. A man knows his chances are good as long as he can get a girl to talk or think about sex. (And his chances keep improving if she doesn't get him off it.) Take a big tip from me and quit while you're ahead.

DEAR ABBY: My future husband and I were making plans the other night and want to know what you think. We are both horse crazy and so are most of our friends. Even my mother is a good Western rider. We can't afford a big church wedding, so what do you think about getting married on horseback? We would have western music. My fiancé said as much as he likes the horseback idea he kind of wanted to have me married in a gown, but you can't very well combine the two, can you? I don't suppose many people have heard about a wedding of this kind, but we know people who have done it and it worked out fine.

HORSE CRAZY
DEAR CRAZY: If you can find a galloping clergyman, go ahead and have your Western wedding—and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am 35 and have just received my FOURTH divorce. Every woman I married was older than I. (The last one was 14 years older but no one knew it.) I seem to get hooked by the same kind of selfish, domineering, bossy type woman every time. All I want is someone who will love me, take care of me and think of me before herself.

IS that asking too much? Show me a girl under 35 with those qualifications and I'll marry her.

FOUR-TIME LOSER
DEAR LOSER: You don't want a wife — you want a mother. When you start to think in terms of what you can GIVE a woman instead of what you can GET, you'll be a man, my son. And only then can you expect a successful marriage. But not until.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Final Summer Outing Pleasanter With Food

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

By a puzzling twist of timing, as the summer grows hotter and more humid, opportunities to savor through a lengthy outing with family and like-minded friends multiplies. Just when we should retreat to the shade and wait for cooler autumn breezes, we find ourselves pressured to get out of the hammock and get moving.

Where? We have to go to sports car rallies, symphonies - under-the-stars, state, county and 4-H fairs, horse shows, Indian pageants. Something for every taste is provided, yet nothing is within walking distance. One of the first rules of late-summer outings is that you must crowd into a car and drive through blazing heat to get where you're going.

The pressures are not as easy to resist, as a novice might think. For example, if you or your child is an exhibitor in a fair, you won't want to while away the hours all by yourself till the judges come. So you telephone around to suggest an "outing," in the name of wholesome recreation. By no coincidence at all, one of the telephonees is "positively delighted" and just so happens to be selling tickets to the locally-sponsored horse show. So that's two outings set up.

A high-spirited enthusiasm (in someone you cherish) for sports cars or horses or heifers is enough to propel you outward, to examine the objects of his admiration.

Well, the calendar fills up. As one who has stumped through hog barn, horse barn, cow barn, hung at the rail to watch the races, judged the dahlias, quilts and flower arrangements and waited in the bleachers in the sun for the main event, I finally pinpointed one reason for my grumpiness at the prospect of another round of outings.

It's the food, or lack of it. A paper-thin hamburger or greasy chicken or cold popcorn or warm potato salad is no way to face up to an outing. If it's going to be a long day, it is folly to rely on short-order stands for satisfying food. I know of a few exceptions, but by and large it is safer and more satisfactory to pack your own lunch or supper, as attractively as possible, and seek out a pretty spot to enjoy it.

More work in the beginning but more fun in the end is to plan a "proper" sort of menu with fresh fruits and vegetables for nibbling, a hot dish and cold refreshments. If, at this date, you are not alert to the dangers of summer picnic food, read almost any morning newspaper.

But there is no good excuse for any illness to result from bacterially-riddled food at a private picnic. With so many ways to keep cold foods cold, and the ease with which a portable grill can be toted to cook foods that need it, it's a cinch to serve up tasty, wholesome food.

Those foamed plastic chests are not intended for hard knocks but they do a splendid job of keeping foods chilled. I added to my supply of these inexpensive chests this summer when one came free with an assortment of 25 different sized glasses which we wanted for casual family use. This little treasure chest has been used repeatedly for keeping chilled drinks cold or casseroles of hot food hot on route to an outing.

For serving, those low, ground-hugging tables and folding chairs are fine. Yet, carry napkins and plates and forks so that dining will be a pleasure. Most of the surroundings I've seen afford no setting whatever for picnicking, but a little scouting will turn up a city park, a high hillside or a friendly farmer who is willing to let you settle under an oak tree for the feast.

RUTH MILLETT

The end of summer is the time when most housewives make plans for a "new" year.

The housewife's year doesn't begin in January. That's the middle of her year. The housewife's year begins in the fall.

By then vacation days are over. The easy-going living that belongs to summer is at an end. The children are back in school. Clubs and organizations that have suspended meetings for the summer months are meeting again. Major household jobs that have been put off until cooler weather at last have to be faced. Social life that has lagged through the summer months quickens its pace.

So fall is a new year for the housewife; the time when she makes a new start, lays her plans for the months ahead and buckles down to work.

Late summer then, before fall activities begin, is the ideal time for the housewife to take stock of her life and to give it a good overhauling.

It's the perfect time to weed out unnecessary activities before they are picked up once again from force of habit. It is the time to weigh each demand on her time and energy to see if it still has merit. It is the time to decide what she should say "yes" to and what she should dismiss with a definite "no."

If a housewife doesn't do this kind of weighing and considering and deciding about her life in the late summer, she tends to put it off for another full year. Without realizing what is happening she is back in the same old groove, doing the same old things, for no better reason than that is what she did last year and the year before and the year before that.

So before summer draws to a close and fall is upon you, do a little stock-taking and plan the "new" year ahead.

The Mature Parent False Trust Cruel To Trusting Child

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

A neighbor I trusted has gossiped about me to my brother so that he has refused to see me for more than a year. As I have no way of putting him right I have to leave this situation to God. The problem is: my resentment at letting my little girl go over to play with this woman's child. Though her daughter is welcome here, I want no hospitality from the mother. How can I tell this to my daughter without exposing my bitterness? I do not want to teach her hate.

ANSWER: I do not like the word "hate."

It is one of those big condemning words which falsely pious people love to use to make us ashamed of any protesting feeling in us which they find inconvenient. It is a smothering word that obliterates the different meanings of our protesting feelings, treating a justifiable indignation to the same condemnation as an unjustifiable vengefulness.

So, instead of assuming that your recoil from this neighbor's treachery is evil "hate," I suggest that you ask yourself, "Do I hate — or do I feel indignation at this woman's abuse of my trust? Indignation, you know, is defined by the dictionary as "righteous anger" and is based on respect for our dignity.

I think you'd better try to defend your anger in this situation instead of treating it as you now are like a prosecuting attorney. You don't want to injure this woman in retaliation, do you? You simply want no more to do with treachery. All right, then. That's indignation — a feeling that cannot possibly contaminate your child. So share it with her. Say: "I no longer trust Mrs. C's friendship for me. That's why I've looked so funny and unhappy when you talk about going over to play with Janey. I'd rather that she came here to play with you. But what you do about that is your business. I'm just telling you why it makes me uncomfortable."

Your child knows that you don't like your neighbor. So it will be kind to confirm her knowledge for her.

It is not fair to children to express neighborly love for people we do not actually like at all. We don't fool them. Their eyes show them the strain behind our false smiles as their ears detect the stiffness in the voice. That acuteness for true feeling in others is one of the protections they have been given to survive in this difficult and often hypocritical world. But if the parents they trust keep on pretending to beautiful emotions they do not feel, the acuteness begins to grow dull. They begin to trust the lying words that are spoken to them.

Such false trust is one of the cruelest things we can give to children.

Arrive for dinner exactly on time, or even five minutes ahead of time.

Well, the calendar fills up. As one who has stumped through hog barn, horse barn, cow barn, hung at the rail to watch the races, judged the dahlias, quilts and flower arrangements and waited in the bleachers in the sun for the main event, I finally pinpointed one reason for my grumpiness at the prospect of another round of outings.

It's the food, or lack of it. A paper-thin hamburger or greasy chicken or cold popcorn or warm potato salad is no way to face up to an outing. If it's going to be a long day, it is folly to rely on short-order stands for satisfying food. I know of a few exceptions, but by and large it is safer and more satisfactory to pack your own lunch or supper, as attractively as possible, and seek out a pretty spot to enjoy it.

More work in the beginning but more fun in the end is to plan a "proper" sort of menu with fresh fruits and vegetables for nibbling, a hot dish and cold refreshments. If, at this date, you are not alert to the dangers of summer picnic food, read almost any morning newspaper.

But there is no good excuse for any illness to result from bacterially-riddled food at a private picnic. With so many ways to keep cold foods cold, and the ease with which a portable grill can be toted to cook foods that need it, it's a cinch to serve up tasty, wholesome food.

Those foamed plastic chests are not intended for hard knocks but they do a splendid job of keeping foods chilled. I added to my supply of these inexpensive chests this summer when one came free with an assortment of 25 different sized glasses which we wanted for casual family use. This little treasure chest has been used repeatedly for keeping chilled drinks cold or casseroles of hot food hot on route to an outing.

For serving, those low, ground-hugging tables and folding chairs are fine. Yet, carry napkins and plates and forks so that dining will be a pleasure. Most of the surroundings I've seen afford no setting whatever for picnicking, but a little scouting will turn up a city park, a high hillside or a friendly farmer who is willing to let you settle under an oak tree for the feast.

Manners Make Friends

Don't mention any names that might be overheard if you're gossiping.

Late-summer outing is made more pleasurable when something hot and something home-cooked accompanies the participants.

Attacks Against Tax Revision Bill Anticipated

By United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration leaders braced themselves today for attacks from opposite sides on the administration's tax revision bill.

The expected battle loomed as the Senate began what probably will be a week of stormy debate on the much amended measure.

A formidable group of opponents lined up against a proposed $1 billion a year tax credit for business, the bill's key feature.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., gave a preview of the type of debate expected when he delivered a four-hour speech Saturday against the tax credit feature.

In other action, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery that the Interstate Commerce Commission should block all rail mergers until the pending New York Central-Pennsylvania consolidation is settled.

Top Marxist Economists In Meeting

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union convened a meeting of Marxist economists from a score of nations today to discuss how to deal with such Western economic challenges as the European Common Market.

A 10,000-word article published in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda Sunday, sharply condemning Western capitalism in general and the Common Market in particular, provided what apparently will be the main working paper of the conference.

The article was prepared by the Institute of World Economics and International Relations of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, sponsor of the conference. The theme of the conference is "The Problems of Modern Capitalism."

The Pravda article accused the Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Common Market six—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands—of fostering German militarism, exploiting the working classes and tying the economies of underdeveloped nations to "the whole coalition of imperialist powers."

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev also personally attacked the Common Market in a signed article in the party's ideological monthly, Kommunist. The article has been circulating in the West in international communism's journal titled "Problems of Peace and Socialism."

Jack Kralick Gets No-Hitter For Twins

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

That bulge around no-hit Jack Kralick's tummy could pay off in world series vittles for the Minnesota Twins.

It's a long shot, of course, but it is harder to believe than the New York Yankees losing six straight games with the pennant in their grasp . . . or the Cincinnati Reds' drive on the National League flag being stopped by a Houston Colt team which had lost nine straight games?

Or, for that matter, that Jack Kralick of Youngstown, Ohio, should pitch the fifth no-hitter of the big league season—setting a record for the lively ball era and missing by a ninth-inning walk the first perfect game in regular-season play since 1922?

It's been that kind of a season—so don't count out the Twins who are only three games out of first place in the American League with five weeks of the season left to be paced off.

Kralick, 26, who was "beefed up" to 175 pounds this year in hopes of adding to his stamina, pitched his classic 1-0 victory against the Kansas City Athletics

Sunday. Kralick pitched a perfect game for 8 1/3 innings before walking George Alusik. He then retired the final two batters to miss by Alusik's walk the first regular-season perfect game since Charley Robertson pitched one in 1922.

Twins Move Up

The victory moved the Twins to within three games of the Yankees, whose 2-1 loss in Baltimore ran their losing streak to six games. The second-place Angels, three games behind the Yankees and .001 ahead of Minnesota, beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-0, the Cleveland Indians whipped the Boston Red Sox, 10-3 and 4-0, and the Washington Senators scored a 5-2 victory after losing to the Detroit Tigers, 5-3, in other AL games.

The Reds who had won 32 of 40 previous games, were sandbagged by the Colts, 2-1, behind the five-hit pitching of George Brunet and 6-4 on Johnny Temple's two-run ninth-inning single. They fell 4 1/2 games off the pace but could rebound suddenly because they open a three-game series with the first place Dodgers Tuesday night in Los Angeles.

The Dodgers retained their 2 1/2 game lead with a 14-5 victory over the New York Mets while the San Francisco Giants topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-4. The Chicago Cubs beat the Milwaukee Braves, 4-1, and the Pittsburgh Pirates gained a 7-6 victory after losing to the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, in other N.L. action.

Robin Roberts pitched a five-hitter and Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile homered for the Orioles who swept the five-game series with the Yankees. Tony Kubek's second-inning homer was the only Yankee run.

Lee Thomas drove in three runs with a triple and single and Don Lee pitched an eight-hitter for the Angels as White Sox' lefty Frank Baumann suffered his fifth defeat against six wins.

Indians Take Opener

The Indians rolled to their first game victory as Bubba Phillips knocked in four runs with a single and a homer and then Dick Donovan pitched a two-hitter for his 17th win of this season and as the 100th of his major league career. Homers by Bill Burton, Norm Cash and Steve Boros led the Tigers to their first game win but then the Senators bounced back behind the eight-hit pitching of Claude Osteen.

Maury Wills stole his 70th, 71st and 72nd bases of the season—eight short of Bob Bescher's NL record—and Tim Lincecum and Willie Davis homered for the Dodgers who scored 12 unearned runs as a result of five Met errors.

Jack Sanford went 6 2/3 innings to win his 12th straight game and 18th of the season for the Giants whose seven-hit attack was led by homers by Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou. Art Mahaffey, seeking his 18th victory, suffered his 11th defeat.

Dick Ellsworth's six-hit pitching enabled the Cubs to top the Braves and Bob Skinner's two-run homer sparked the Pirates to their second-game win after Bill White's two-run eighth-inning homer lifted the Cardinals to their first-game victory.

Doug Sanders Is Big Winner At Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Doug Sanders is a man who likes to bide his time until its time to strike. But when he's ready to make his move, look out.

The handsome Californian put on a serious finish Sunday, after being six strokes off the pace, and won the $35,000 Oklahoma City Open by two strokes. He climaxed his remarkable rally by rolling in a 22 foot eagle putt on the 18th hole.

As it turned out, that was the big one and saved him from a sudden death playoff with Johnny Pott, who was putting on as fast a finish.

Pott, who was playing behind Sanders, birdied the 18th and 19th holes to move even. Sanders had eagled when the young Pro from Gulf Hills, Miss., teed off on the 18th. He would have had to duplicate Sanders shot to tie, but had to settle instead for a par and second place.

Sanders, a 29-year-old professional from Ojai, Calif., shot a 67 on the par 36-72 Qual Course, his best round for a 72-hole total of 280. He was eight under par for the tournament series.

The victory was worth $5,300 to Sanders, who won his second straight tournament. He took the St. Paul Open a week ago.

Pott came in with a two under 70, for a 7 hole total of 282. Don Masengale of Jackboro, Tex., who led Hill by three strokes until he fell apart Sunday, was third with 284.

DEFEATS COMPATRIOT — ST. MORITZ, Switz. (UPI)—John Sharpe of Australia won the men's singles title in the Suvretta tennis tournament Sunday by defeating compatriot Jim Shepherd, 6-3, 6-2, 8-6.

Senator Southpaw Claude Osteen struck Cash with a fast ball and the home run slugger fell to the ground clutching his left hand in pain.

McLean Tagged 4th Pirates Chosen As District 2-A Winners

In a pre-season poll of the coaches of district 2-A, the Lefors Pirates have been given the favorites' role in the 1962 football race.

The defending champions, McLean's Tigers, dropped all the way to fourth place in the poll, which is about as reliable as a six-cylinder Stutz Bearcat with a cracked block.

Lefors Coach Dunny Goode, who led the nation in rushing while a stellar tailback for the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys during his college days, as most coaches would do, denied his team the lofty position they were voted.

Goode cites his team's heavy losses but then admitted, "We will have a larger, but slower, team this year. Although we will be fairly strong on defense, our offense will be weak."

One-hundred-sixty-pound all district halfback Rodney Airington, who has good speed, blocking ability and is a stout defender, will lead the Buccaneers on the offense, Goode believes, while other returning all district offensive regulars are ends Don McCool (170) and Wayne Coleman (170), and guard Marvin Todd (180).

Halfbacks Tommy Smith (180) and Anthony McCool (145), were defensive regulars.

Don McCool has been moved to guard, Coleman has switched from end to center, and Anthony McCool will perform at quarterback.

Wrong Horse Won But Stable Happy

The wrong horse won the race, but for $76,407.50 the Greentree Stable isn't likely to become too upset over the outcome.

The race was the Hopeful Stakes for 2-year-olds on closing day at Saratoga Springs Saturday and the 5-4 favorite was Greentree Stable's Catullus, unbeaten in three previous starts. But it was his unheralded stablemate, Outing Class, who came home the surprise winner.

None of the top contenders fared well as 18-1 shot Alabama Bound finished second, a length and three-quarters behind Outing Class, and 160-1 outsider Final Ruling finished just another head back in third. Catullus was ninth in the field of 12 and Bonjour, the second choice, was seventh.

Outing Class negotiated the six and one-half furlongs in 1:17 flat under Donald Pierce and as an entry with Catullus paid $4.50, $3.40 and $3.20. It was the second win in three starts for Outing Class, a son of Nasrullah.

Willie Shoemaker rode the favored Kootenai to a four and one-half length victory over Shirley Jones in the $55,750 Arlington Matron at Arlington Park. Kootenai returned $6.00, to win and covered the mile and one-eighth on a sloppy track in 1:52 4-5.

T.V. Lark paid $5.80 in winning the $29,300 Philadelphia turf handicap at Atlantic City; Bayou Bourq ($5.80) captured the $28,650 Del Mar Derby at Del Mar; Half Breed returned $6.60 in the $10,000 Lawrence Handicap at Rockingham; and Grand Wizard (7.20) won the $10,000 Krehbiel Handicap at Hazel Park.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings.

Cutting Federal Spending

All politicians promise economy in government. At the same time nearly all of them promise bigger pensions, more spending for public works and public services, etc., etc.

Few people seem to notice that there's a contradiction, but there are not many economists (President Kennedy's advisors excluded, of course) who contend that a family, a state or a nation can economize by going deeper into debt.

That, however, is the Kennedy proposition. "Let's have a tax cut!" says JFK. Everybody applauds, Well, nearly everybody. Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia is one who sits on his hands. It isn't that he's opposed to a tax cut. He's all for it—provided federal spending is cut at the same time. We'll be worse off than before, he says (and how can any rational man doubt it), if we go deeper into debt.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States enters the picture by suggesting some ways in which federal spending could be cut, as follows:

—The President should practice what he preaches on the wage-price line by halting the push for a $1,200,000,000 payroll boost for federal employees.

—Nearly a billion dollars could be cut from the foreign aid appropriation by placing greater emphasis on loans rather than outright grants, and those nations that can afford it ought to contribute something toward the program.

Principles, Not Persons

Hero worship has its limitations, just as heroes do. It is better to love freedom and individual responsibility than to pattern ourselves perpetually upon some noble figure who had, it always turns out, feet of clay.

The Next Long Step

In mid-July the President appointed a council, made up of six men and six women, which is to act as a government watchdog for the consuming public. It will report to the Council of Economic Advisors. The new group consists of university professors, executives of consumer and other citizen organizations, and a nationally syndicated financial columnist.

A body of this nature may be able to provide useful factual information on matters affecting consumers. But there is a danger whenever such an official body is created, and the fact that its members are of undoubted ability and integrity in no way lessens that danger. There are forces

"Congress Votes Aid to Reds." That headline or one with slightly different wording, appeared in newspapers across this country recently when Congress approved the giving of foreign aid funds to communist countries—at the discretion of the President.

The victims of communism are not helped by the millions of dollars the United States may foolishly give to their captors. On the contrary, it only tightens the shackles of slavery which the communist dictators have imposed on millions of people.

Some senators and representatives endeavor to absolve themselves from the charge of aiding the enemy by citing the proviso in the foreign aid bill which gives the President authority to extend or withhold funds from communist dominated countries if in his opinion it is in our national interest to do so.

Allen-Scott Report Freeman To Face New Probe by Fountain Committee, On Estes Grain Storage, Agriculture Dept. Policies. ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman has another thought coming if he has the solacing idea he is finished with those searching congressional investigations of the malodorous Billie Sol Estes scandal.

Last month, Freeman spent some unhappy days fielding barbed questions by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, headed by Senator John McClellan, D-Ark. When these tough probers finally released Freeman, he apparently figured this ordeal was behind him.

But that fervent hope was premature. The House Government Operations Subcommittee, headed by Representative L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., has decided to put Freeman on the griddle.

This committee, which has a long record for exposing waste, incompetence and worse, proposes to interrogate him on two dynamic-loaded matters: (1) Estes' large and lucrative grain storage operations that brought him $4 to $5 million a year; and (2) the Agriculture Department's policies and practices regarding the huge and highly profitable grain storage business.

This industry has pyramided to gigantic proportions zooming from a few million dollars a year a decade ago, to more than one-half billion. Also this business has left a long and smelly trail of shady politics and questionable activities.

The forthcoming grain storage investigation will not be the first one. In 1960, Representative Fountain's committee conducted a sweeping probe that uncovered numerous instances of gross squandering of government funds, adulteration of grain and other abuses.

Among other jarring disclosures, the investigators found that grain was being stored in government bins for less than 9 cents a bushel as against more than 16½ cents in private warehouses, and that 50 firms had received payments in excess of $1 million in 1959, with one of them getting upwards of $23 million.

In a scathing report, the House committee recommended a series of immediate and drastic remedial measures. What the Agriculture Department did about them is conjectural.

It was very little, if anything, on the basis of the Billie Sol Estes scandal. That's what these probers propose to find out in this new grilling of Secretary Freeman.

IGNORED EXPOSE — Representative Fountain's committee, following its extensive investigation leveled five major charges at the Agriculture Department, as follows: (1) "Storage rates paid by the Commodity Credit Corporation to commercial warehouses had been double the cost of storing grain in government bins. A cut in these rates is not only justified but long overdue."

(2) "The Agriculture Department has used commercial facilities for storage in preference to utilizing available government-owned facilities without regard to whether such preference is wasteful or inefficient. This arbitrary preference policy has resulted in the unnecessary expenditure of many millions of dollars."

(3) "The Commodity Credit Corporation relied heavily upon representatives of the grain trade in developing grain storage policies. Advisory committees composed primarily of warehousemen storing grain for the government were consulted on most major decisions involving CCC grain storage policies and procedures and their advice was usually followed."

(4) "The CCC has stored and is still storing vast quantities of grain under contract with private warehousemen in 'non-conventional' facilities. In some cases such facilities are being used because of a shortage of storage space; in other cases they are being used even though government-owned facilities in the same area are left empty.

Edson In Washington Policy Changes Looming On Air Industry Radar

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Major changes in United States government policy for the regulation of international air transport are now considered inevitable. No decisions have been made, but the issue will come to a head in the early fall. Then it will be up to President Kennedy to set new policies and, if necessary, ask Congress for new legislation next year.

Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Alan S. Boyd is firmly set against having the government operate the international air carriers, as many foreign governments do. The American government's role, he believes, is to set guidelines so that the airlines can operate in the public service.

He points out that there are now two principal considerations. One is the "chosen instrument" issue, under which there would be one carrier operating abroad under exclusive rights. The other is to keep any chosen instrument out of domestic operations on its own, so that it can draw connecting traffic from all domestic airlines.

Boyd has an interesting idea now for the creation of "regional chosen instruments." He believes that no one company should be given a monopoly of all foreign routes. But one company might be given rights to serve one area or one route to an area, on an exclusive basis.

In the Pacific, for instance, Northwest might keep its great circle route to the Orient via Alaska, while Pan American retained the route via Hawaii.

In the Atlantic, one company might get a northern route to Europe, another the southern. This is, in effect, what the recent CAB order instituting investigation of a staff report recommends. Pan Am would get exclusive

Television In Review

(Rick Du Brow is on vacation and will return Tuesday. Today's guest columnist is Richard Boone, star of CBS-TV's "Have Gun, Will Travel" series.)

By RICHARD BOONE
Written for UPI
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — On Sept. 15, "Have Gun, Will Travel," begins its sixth season on the air. Like the autumn leaves that soon will fall, recollections come to mind.

Our CBS-TV series has traveled a great deal — California's High Sierras; Oregon timber country; Southwest Utah; New Mexico; Arizona — and there have been laughs and tears along the way. We were at Squaw Valley a year before the winter Olympic games. We found snow at 9,000 feet. The thin air took its toll on cast and crew, but luckily we had oxygen tanks to revive the stricken. Also, one of our crew fell in love with Lili St. Cyr and married her a short time later.

In the red rimrock country of New Mexico, just after dawn, there is the indelible picture of Navajos — we used them as Apaches — arriving at our location with their horses of all different colors, their appearance as subtle as the dawn as they came from behind boulders, out of arroyos, almost as if from nowhere. They just appeared.

I feel a certain pride in the young actors who have had a chance to start with our series, some of these from our own crew. Also, pride and thanks in extraordinary performances from such acting talents as Charles Bronson, Martin Gabel, Barbara Baxley, Crahan Denton and Ken Curtis, to name just a few.

It is good to know, too, that some of television's best writers have sent us scripts over the years and will see their creations coming up this sixth season. Shimon Wincelberg, who first gained fame with his writing on the old Kraft Drama Hour; Harry Julian (Bert Harte) Fine, another veteran of television's "live" dramatic days; Gene Roddenberry, Don Ingalls and others.

As No. 6 rolls in, I know it has been fun these past five seasons. We've done our best to keep the show creative and interesting, as well as keep our freedom to do what we think is best.

Scientific advances, contemporary problems and just plain everyday life add to our vocabulary words which were completely unknown to us as recently as five years ago. For example, a phrase, associated with the atomic age, became quite common in 1960, "atomic cemetery." Such a cemetery is a place where radioactive waste may be buried with the minimum danger of contamination.

James Hoffa... One Of Nation's Most Powerful Men

EDITORS NOTE: Jimmy Hoffa, as head of the Teamsters Union, probably is the most powerful single labor leader in the country. His union is the biggest one, and if he chose to do so he could tie the nation into knots by pulling the truckers off the highways. This is the first of five dispatches on Hoffa, his amazing rise to power and his incredible ability to survive investigation.

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Any list of the most powerful men in the United States wouldn't make sense unless it included James Riddle Hoffa. If he were so minded, he could make half a dozen phone calls and plunge the nation into chaos.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers is the world's biggest union with a claimed membership of 1,720,000. As general president, Hoffa is the boss with a salary of $75,000 a year and an unlimited expense account. He doesn't control all the drivers who roll trucks across America's highways, but he controls enough of them to make a shambles of the economy of the nation's cities if he chooses to do so.

A Teamsters strike in New York, for instance, would leave perishable foods rotting on the docks and at the rail terminals. Delivery of fuel and milk would almost cease. Garbage would pile up. The pinch would be felt in 12 hours. Within four or five days the big city would be beaten to its knees.

The thought that a nationwide strike could make the same thing happen all over the country is frightening enough to be a nightmare. It would not be correct to say it frightens Hoffa because he doesn't frighten easily. But it gives him pause and he has gone on record as follows: "There never will be, as long as I have anything to do with it, a national transportation strike."

Whatever Hoffa's enemies say about him — and there are plenty of them and they have spoken volumes — nobody ever accused him of being dumb. Any nationwide strike has the best chance of succeeding if all the local and regional contracts expire almost simultaneously. The Teamsters have been working toward that strategic position and will be close to their goal in 1964.

Hoffa's career is a study in survival. When it seems inevitable that prison doors will clank behind him, he somehow snatches victory out of defeat. He has been tried and acquitted on charges of bribing an attorney to spy on the Senate Rackets Committee. He has been tried and acquitted of tapping the telephones of subordinates in the Detroit office of the Teamsters Union. Samuel Baron, former field director of the union, accused Hoffa of slugging him and had some wounds to show, but the case has not been prosecuted for lack of corroborating evidence. Hoffa and his union were expelled by the AFL-CIO, but he went on picking up members and broadening the areas of his authority.

"Subpoenas are dropping around us like confetti at a country fair," George S. Fitzgerald, a Hoffa attorney, exclaimed when they had their backs to the wall and were fighting a half-dozen court actions at once.

Hoffa's powers of survival still are being tested in two pending legal actions. He must stand trial in the coming months on charges of misusing $500,000 of Teamsters funds in a Florida real estate development. He also must stand trial on charges of receiving a share of $1 million in illegal payments from Commercial Carriers Inc., a trucking firm. It is doubtful whether any day has dawned in the last six years which didn't find Hoffa engaged in litigation.

Last week a federal grand jury in Chicago began an investigation of the handling of the Teamsters pension fund. U.S. Atty. James P. O'Brien said five special assistant attorneys general would present the case. He described the Teamsters pension fund as a 180-million dollar organization.

He became a labor leader at the age of 19 when he was working for 32 cents an hour unloading freight cars for the Kroger Grocery Co. in Detroit. The men had to stay near the unloading platforms 12 hours a day although they were paid only for the hours they worked. Hoffa chose a time when a big shipment of strawberries had just arrived. Then he led a committee of six into the executive offices and gave management the alternative of raising pay or letting the strawberries rot. The raise was forthcoming.

From that day Hoffa began clawing and fighting his way to the top of the labor movement and he was not too particular about the men who boarded his bandwagon. The Senate Rackets Committee had this to say about the men who rose with Hoffa:

"Hoffa employed persons as business agents and organizers despite the fact they had been accused of armed robbery, kidnaping, larceny, book making, throwing stench bombs, impersonating government officers, felonious assault and carrying concealed weapons."

Hoffa doesn't bother to deny that some of his associates have unsavory records, but merely says: "I never turn my back on anybody."

His appearance before the Senate Rackets Committee made Hoffa known to persons outside the labor movement and it was there that he encountered a young man named Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the committee. They first met when a mutual acquaintance invited them to dinner. The dislike was intense and mutual. Hoffa was quoted as having described Kennedy as "a spoiled little jerk" after they parted. Kennedy was confident he had the goods on Hoffa and predicted he would send him to prison.

It was a roaring feud from the start and it still goes on. Kennedy, because of his position as attorney general, makes no public comments about Hoffa these days, but it is significant that federal grand juries in 14 cities are digging into the affairs of the Teamsters Union. There isn't much doubt that over the last six years Hoffa has been the most investigated man in the United States.

Tuesday: Bobby and Hoffa fight it out.

In order to digest the food you eat your body manufactures enzymes. If your enzymatic action falls below par you often suffer heartburn, indigestion, gas and other uncomfortable forms of stomach distress! Now you can aid digestion before distress begins! A new digestant enzyme capsule, called MIAZYME, supplements the enzymes in your body, thus helping prevent distress and acid rebound. Anti-acids only relieve distress after it strikes. So why risk stomach upset when just 2 MIAZYME capsules a day may eliminate discomfort and open the door to new vistas in food enjoyment. So safe, no prescription is needed. Help break the anti-acid routine... ask your druggist for MIAZYME today. Satisfaction guaranteed. Only $1.50. Economy size, $3.00.
