THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1962

Poetry And Pain Of Footwear

By GAILE DUGAS Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) - You're standing at a drugstore counter. Next to you is a woman wearing shoes with pointed toes and fourinch needle heels.

"Would you give me some corn pads?" she says to the druggist. "I just bought some new shoes and they're killing me."

Or a good friend comes for dinner. Halfway through the evening, she remarks that her feet hurt and kicks off her shoes. Through her sheer nylons, you see the deformed little toe.

"How come?" you ask. "Oh, that came from wearing corrective shoes when I was 12." she says airily. She doesn't seem to realize the contradiction in her remark.

Either of these women could be your wife, sister or daughter.

Right now, kick off your shoes and take a look at your feet. Is the big toe pushed up? The little toe noticeably deformed? Have your bunions, calluses or corns? Most likely, you have one and possibly all of these foot problems. For, starting in 1946, the toes of | women's shoes gradually grew

UP FOR GRABS - Pampa Country Club golf professional Hart Warren, left, and H. M. Luna, Top O' Texas Golf Tournament committee member for PCC, are shown here with some of the prizes to be given winners at this week end's 25th annual ToT tournament. See that new Oldsmobile in the back ground? All you have to do to win that is be the first one to shoot a hole-in-one in the to urnament. It's on display at Tom Rose Motors here so . . . look it over if you want, then sign up for the tournament and get that hole-in-one. It's that simple! Warren is shown holding one of the classy sets of irons that will go to the winners of each flight. Luna is holding one of the lovely trophies which will be awarded.

Both women scored impressive first-and-second-round victories to set up their 18-hole clash today over the rolling, well-kept Country Club of Rochester course.

Mrs. Decker, showing the form that earned the top prize in 1958 and 1961, overpowered Helen Reynolds, Mansfield Center, Conn. 8 and 7, on Monday and was just as good Tuesday in a 5 and 4 triumph over Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N.C.

After Mrs .Trainor handed Donna Kosar, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, a 4 and 2 licking Monday, she treated her daughter roughly Tuesday, Mrs. Trainor, who won the Rochester Women's district crown 13 straight times and 17 in ali, ground out a methodical 4 and 3 victory over 20-year-old Anne

Martin Buber recognizes the need for such men when he writes:

"Collectivity is based on an organized atrophy of personal existence, community on its increase and confirmation in life lived toward one another. The modern zeal for collectivity is a flight from community's testing and consecration of the person, a flight from the vital dialogic, demanding the staking of the self, which is the heart of the world." Mrs. Helen Southard, staff psychologist for the National YWCA, whose very work is promoting fellowship, attacks the false worship of "togetherness" in similar vein, saying: "No individual can survive if he has to put his faith in a group. He has to have his own resources and be able to get along on his own." Yes, it is time to take a second look at the religion of togetherness which is absorbing us like a big soft sponge. We have the feeling that we are sucked into the sponge with the gentleness of conformity, but the end will be the squeeze of coercion spattering our shattered seives in the wastes of decadence.

studies of various medical care programs know what this measure actually will do for the aged (and at what cost) and what it will do to the nation's social security program. When the case came to trial in federal district court, Cheasty told this story: On the night of March 12 he took some documents prepared for him by the FBI and, in a taxicab driven by an FBI agent, picked Hoffa up at his hotel. He gave Hoffa the documents, but told him he would have to get them back later that night. Hoffa gave him some money, and a few hours later therewas another meeting at which the documents were returned to

Taking out insurance isn't a bit like buying eggs or cigarettes or a stick of candy:

Insurance is a serious, thoughtful purchase. And the people you love depend on you to buy wisely.

So you need to depend on a man who knows his business. A man with "know how" under his hat.

Your Metropolitan representative is a Texan who qualifies.

He has been trained in Metropolitan's own schools.

He works in insurance full time and does not divide his time with any other business. He has in his portfolio a wide range of policies with as modern and flexible provisions and benefits as you can find in insurance today.

He can bring you, with no obligation, a service called the Family Security Check-Up: With his help you check your family's financial health-much as you check physical health. Together, you review your assets and responsibilities-and he leaves with you a simple, easy-to-read chart which tells you where you stand-helps you plan for the future. Your Metropolitan representative is a neighbor you'll be glad to know. There are 800 mer and women working in 40 Metropolitan offices throughout the State of Texas. As a company, Metropolitan has shown its faith in Texas with investments of more than $900,000,000 in the State. All told, 44,000,000 people are insured by Metropolitan. Numbers are important, but equally important is the man who serves you.

Talk insurance with your neighbor who's got "know how" under his hat. Your Metropolitan representative!
