24 Die In Take-Off Crash Of Jet Liner Near Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — A Europe-bound Brazilian jetliner with 104 persons aboard crashed on takeoff from the international airport Monday night and plunged burning into Guanabara Bay.

At least 13 of the American DC8's 93 passengers and 11 crewmen were killed in the crash. There were 38 known survivors in hospitals here. The other 53 were listed as missing pending further investigation.

Newest Space Rocket To Be 'Quick-Firing'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's newest space rocket, the Air Force Titan III, will be able to launch giant space craft in orbit with short notice and a fast countdown.

It will be a radical advance of the launch vehicles most familiar to millions who "sweated out" the long delays and countdowns that marked the John Glenn and Scott Carpenter orbital flights.

Military men consider the record-launching feature a key military attribute of the Titan III, a multi-stage booster ordered into development Monday for use in the mid-1960's.

They foresee a need, in time, to get satellite interceptors, reconnaissance vehicles and other space craft into orbit on brief warning — a need not felt in civilian space exploration efforts.

Has Variable Power
A prime asset of the Titan III, too, is its design as a standard space "workhorse" of variable power that can lift 5,000 to 20,000 pounds of manned and unmanned military payloads into near-earth orbits of about 300 mile altitudes.

Maximum power will be more than 2 million pounds thrust at liftoff, believed to be double that of Russia's current giant booster.

High government sources say they do not know of any Russian development of bigger boosters than now being used to put cosmonauts in orbit.

A monster combination of fast-firing solid and stable liquid fuel motors, the Titan III is expected to become the keystone of the military space effort in this decade.

The development program will cost from $500 to $1 billion. Three launch pads are planned at Cape Canaveral.

Needs Not Determined
In approving the Titan III for development and announcing selection of Martin-Marietta Corp. as prime contractor, the Defense Department clung to its longstanding contention that specific requirements for military operations in space are not as yet clearly determined. But it said development of a large booster was essential to be ready to handle whatever needs are demonstrated in the future.

The Titan III will be one of two mammoth boosters in the works in the 1960's. It will be able to launch far bigger payloads than the Russians claim to have launched so far, but it is not thought of as the primary entry in the space race.

America's present hope in that contest, which is boiling down to a race for the moon, is the advanced Saturn. The Saturn will deliver 7.5 million pounds of thrust and send the three-man Apollo craft on its lunar journey. The target date is 1968.

An earlier version of the Saturn will deliver 1.5 million pounds of thrust and should be able to put multi-ton payloads in earth orbit in late 1964 or 1965.

Churchill Leaves London Hospital

LONDON (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill, who was carried into a hospital on a stretcher nearly two months ago, went home today in a wheelchair, waving a big cigar and grinning at the well-wishers who cheered.

The 87-year-old warrior, dressed in his favorite gray suit and with a hat on his lap, was greeted by hundreds of V-for-victory signs from a cheering crowd outside Middlesex Hospital.

Fund Drive Opening Set For Sept. 25th

Thirty-five leaders of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund met this morning at breakfast in the Coronado Inn to organize the kick-off of the campaign on September 25. Those present included division chairmen and majors and captains.

Campaign Chairman George Scott stated the $73,600 goal of the drive is the largest ever adopted by the board of the United Fund.

West Berlin Police String Barbed Wire Barricades

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin police strung barbed-wire barricades on their side of the Berlin wall opposite East German government headquarters today in a move to prevent further anti-Communist rioting.

At the same time, Mayor Willy Brandt conferred with the Allied commandants to discuss the crisis and seek means of preventing future outbreaks of violence by West Berliners incensed over the Communist shooting of East German refugees.

West Berlin police were put on a special alert at midday. Barbed wire barricades were strung along 250 yards of the border on the western side of the wall along Wilhelmstrasse, opposite the East Berlin headquarters. This stretch has been a gathering place for West Berliners who have stoned both East and West Berlin police.

Medical Aid
The leaders considered a city government proposal that Western soldiers, especially medical men, enter East Berlin to aid refugees shot trying to escape. The rioting was touched off by the shooting of an 18-year-old refugee who bled to death alongside the wall last Friday while both sides stood by.

Officials in Washington said U. S. military authorities would be instructed to offer medical assistance to refugees shot down while trying to escape over the wall. The officials said U. S. Army ambulances and medics will be stationed by the wall with authority to drive into East Berlin to offer aid.

Situation Termed Grave
An allied spokesman called the situation "grave," and a Moscow Radio commentator said Berlin "threatened a conflict in the center of Europe."

Thousands of howling, jeering West Berliners stoned and pursued Soviet army vehicles and clashed with their own police in bloody street fights along the wall dividing the city. Two Red soldiers were left bleeding from head and hand injuries.

Some of the top Democratic candidates for election this fall in the state of Texas will converge on Pampa tomorrow for a Democratic Rally and Dinner at the Coronado Inn starting at 5 p.m.

Among those to be present include John Connally, candidate for governor; Preston Smith, candidate for lieutenant governor; Waggoner Carr, candidate for attorney general; Grady Hazlewood, candidate for state senator in the 31st senatorial district; Grainger McIlhenny and Fritz Thompson, candidates for state representative; and Walter Rogers, candidate for congressman from the 18th district.

The Reception will precede the dinner starting at 8 p.m.

Democratic leaders from Gray, Hutchinson, Potter, Hemphill, Wheeler, Carson and Ochiltree counties have indicated they will attend the Democratic rally.

Boyd stressed that both the dinner and the reception will be open to the public, but reservations should be made and tickets should be bought in advance.

Boyd stated that the reception and dinner had been planned for the early evening hour in order to give the guests plenty of time to attend the opening performance of the Top O' Texas Rodeo at 8 p.m.

Flood Toll In Colombia Mounts

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—The official toll of Friday's flash flood in Florencia mounted today to 134—47 known dead and 87 listed as "missing."

Press reports from the stricken provincial capital estimated the number of dead and missing at 150. At least 2,000 persons were driven from their homes and damage was estimated at $500,000.

President Guillermo Valencia's government rushed emergency supplies of food, medicines and clothing to the flood victims. A coordinated plan of flood aid was being worked out.

Cosmonauts Hold News Conference

Russians Came Within Three Miles Of Each Other In Space

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD
MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia's twin astronauts disclosed today that they came within three miles of each other in their record-breaking flights through space and floated back to earth by parachute. They said there was no attempt and no plan to link up their five-ton space ships in orbit.

Maj. Andrian-Nikolayev, who made 64 orbits of the earth, and his "space twin," Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, who completed 48 orbits, gave details of their journey at a joint news conference at Moscow University. The conference lasted three hours and 43 minutes.

Nikolayev told the 1,500 newsmen and observers at the televised session that retro-rockets first slowed the speed of his space ship, Vostok III, while it still was in orbit more than 100 miles above the earth.

Flaming Re-Entry
Then he said he was "separated in a capsule" from the instrument compartment of the ship, making a blazing re-entry into the earth's atmosphere safely inside.

Annual Parade Is Set For 3 P.M. Tomorrow

Small fry cowboys and cowgirls, dressed in gayly colored western attire, paraded through the downtown area of Pampa today, kicking off the 18th annual Kid Pony Show and Top O' Texas Rodeo week.

The Kid parade was held at 1 p.m. preceding the first performance of the miniature rodeo at 2:30 at the Rodeo grounds in Recreation Park.

The second and final Kid Pony show will be staged at 8 p.m. today with a variety of events. During the afternoon performance the 5- to 11-year age group highlighted the action.

At the 8 p.m. performance the 12-to-15 year age bracket will be vying for top honors.

General admission tickets are available at the gate for the miniature rodeo tonight and no reserved seat tickets will be sold.

The huge parade scheduled to move through downtown streets beginning at 3 p.m. tomorrow will officially start this year's professional rodeo.

According to parade officials the parade will form at Hobart and Foster streets, move down Foster to Frost, north on Frost to Browning, then on Browning to Cuyler and on Cuyler to Craven where the parade will disband. The route will end at Craven Street this year to eliminate traffic congestion on U.S. Highway 60.

This year's rodeo will have a number of special attractions in addition to the regular rodeo competition in saddle bronc riding, bare back riding, bull riding, steer wrestling and calf roping.

Leading tomorrow's parade will be the Canadian Wagon Train which left Canadian Monday morning and is scheduled to arrive in Pampa late today.

Deadline for all rodeo entries will be 5 p.m. today. Rodeo headquarters are located in the Pampa Hotel, where reserved seats may be purchased at $1.50 general admission and 50 cents for reserved seats. Children up to 12 will pay 75 cents for general admission and 50 cents for reserved seats.

The quarter horse show is scheduled for Thursday and Friday with deadline for entry at 11 a.m. Thursday. Judging will begin at 1 p.m. Thursday in the rodeo arena.

A special attraction mixed with the rodeo action Friday and Saturday nights will be the Beef Calf Scramble. Contestants in this event must be members of 4-H clubs or FFA Chapters in Gray, Roberts or Carson Counties and must be between the ages of 13 and 16 years old.

Leading the grand entry at the final performance Saturday night will be the famous Santa Rosa Palomino Riding Club of Vernon. This club has won over 100 trophies for their outstanding precision horse riding and have performed at the Pike's Peak Rodeo, Fort Worth Stock Show and the New Mexico State Fair.

The club will participate in the 1963 Cotton Bowl Council parade scheduled for New Year's morning.

Producers for the rodeo are the nationally-known Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Okla.

This year's rodeo is expected to have the largest entry list of cowboys and cowgirls in local rodeo history with approximately $6,000 in cash prizes at stake.

Police Still Working On Attack Case

Police Chief Jim Conner stated today authorities still are working on the case of the 24-year-old Pampa woman who was criminally assaulted in her S. Somerville home early Sunday morning.

Two suspects questioned for several hours yesterday afternoon, Chief Conner stated, were released pending further investigation.

According to the story told police by the woman she was awakened in her bedroom and assaulted by a hooded man who threatened her at knife point. The man left with the admonition that he would return and kill her two children if she reported the case to police.

Television In Review

(Rick Du Brow is on vacation. Stanley Kramer, movie producer and director, is guest columnist today and tells why he is using so many television stars in his newest film.)
By STANLEY KRAMER
Written For UPI

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—After several years of being glared at by television, I have come to the conclusion that it is a giant maternity ward. Everyone's interested in it, there's always a lot of confusion, and some great personalities are born.

This is undoubtedly a conclusion that other people have reached, but it's the one I like to use to answer what has become a recurring question in recent months—namely, why are we using so many television people in our new motion picture?

For the benefit of those who may have come in late, we are currently doing "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," a $6 million comedy in ultra panavision and technicolor, that stars Spencer Tracy, Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Buddy Hackett, Ethel Merman, Mickey Rooney, Dick Shawn, Phil Silvers, Terry Thomas, Jonathan Winters, Edie Adams, Dorothy Provine and Jimmy Durante for United Artists release.

Television Developed Talent
As can be seen by a casual reading of the list, the majority of these people are from television. And with good reason. Television has developed more talent in the last decade, particularly in the field of comedy, than any other medium.

Now it is all very well to argue that Milton Berle was a well-established star long before television made him everybody's Uncle Miltie, or that Jimmy Durante was a headliner before even radio, or that Spencer Tracy has never even been on television, except on the late, late, late show.

But the truth is that Berle and others never achieved the stature in any other medium that they have on television.

It would be untrue to figure that these people populate the cast, because of the audience they have created with their television characterizations.

This will, at the time of release, undoubtedly be helpful. But each one of these people has gained something important from television, something that they bring to the roles in "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World." That something is timing.

Timing Is Important
The oldest cliché in show business is that nothing is as important as timing. Like most clichés, despite its triteness it is absolutely true. And in the last decade or so there has been nowhere for a budding comedian to learn timing but on television.

Vaudeville has ceased to exist, nightclub audiences aren't that soberly discerning and that stage has little opportunity in which to permit new talent to develop. But television is something else again.

There, facing the critical reactions of millions and hemmed in by a strict budget and schedule, only the really good ones survive. And the training they received, much, you'll recall, in live television which permits no slips, is what I had in mind in casting them.

At the moment, we're about one-quarter way through shooting and I'm more than satisfied that the day-to-day working procedure proves my point. As to the audience reaction—next year, I'll ask YOU.

Douthit To Head Little Theater

Jim Douthit was named president of Pampa Little Theater Inc. at a business meeting of the group held last night in Holy Souls Parish School, 612 W. Browning.

Douthit succeeds Homer West, who has served as the charter president of the organization. Named to serve with him are Bob Hale, vice president; Mrs. Marie Jones, serving a second term as secretary; Mrs. Glenn McConnell succeeding herself as treasurer. Dr. Frank Hatcher was named a three-year governor to serve on the board of governors with Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, two-year governor and Don Pope, one-year governor.

Included in the business meeting was a recommendation for a change in by-laws to be amended to read that officers will be elected the third Monday in August in order that they may coordinate the next season's plays. It was also approved that in setting up a season's ticket drive, three additional types of memberships would be available in addition to active, student and honorary: Angel with a $100 or more annual contribution; Patron, $50 to $100 annual contribution or Sustaining, $25 contribution.

Active memberships in PLT are $10 for two members in one family; $7 single membership and $1 student membership, payable annually.

Mrs. Connell reported that a net profit of $371.42 had been realized from PLT's August play, "George Washington Slept Here."

Members approved a petition submitted by Wynne Veale that a percentage of profit from ticket sales, donations from patron, sustaining and angels be deposited in a special account earmarked building fund.

Following the business meeting, John Callarman, who is to direct PLT's December play announced that he had selected "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams and that try-outs would be held at 812 W. Browning on Sept. 5-6-7. Mrs. Jones has been named assistant director.

Police Probe Five Cases

Police officers recovered stolen property and received reports yesterday of a breaking and entering, a theft and one case of indecent exposure.

Between Aug. 8 and Aug. 15, a vacant house at 813 S. Barnes, belonging to D. B. Brown, 512 N. Christy, was entered by two juveniles, ages 12 and 16. Officers have recovered the table model radio, claw hammer, miniature cedar chest, spool of copper wire and two butcher knives that the boys admitted they took from the house.

While being questioned by officers, the 16-year-old boy and another 15-year-old boy admitted to breaking into the Falstaff Warehouse, 321 W. Atchison. Officers recovered a pair of boots, four cases of beer and $4 in cash that the boys said they took and hid under a bush.

Mrs. C. E. Kuykendall, 105 S. Summer, called the police to report that between 6:30 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. yesterday, someone took the directional light lever from her 1959 Chevrolet.

Strikers Start Back At Redstone Arsenal

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) - Limited work began on America's space program at Redstone Arsenal Monday with the return of about half of 1,500 workers involved in a walkout.

Work on around 40 space projects at the Marshall space flight center and the Army Ordnance parked in her driveway.

Officers investigated the report of a breaking and entering at 5:50 p.m. yesterday at the Church of God, at the intersection of Campbell and Reid. Two windows in the northeast corner of the building were open and a window curtain was lying on the floor, but nothing was disturbed.

Officers received the report at 9:30 p.m. yesterday that a boy about 17 years old, driving a two-tone green automobile, stopped a 12-year-old girl on the corner of Nelson and Montague and asked her if she wanted a ride. When she refused and he exposed himself to her, she ran home.

Missile Command had been halted since last Tuesday by picket lines thrown up by striking electricians in protest against the hiring of two non-union men by a contractor.

A federal court order prohibiting picketing and interference with work apparently cleared the way for a resumption of work. Only a trickle of workers reported for early shifts Monday but by evening the turnout was heavier.

A Marshall official said "about half" of the men involved in the walkout had returned to work and this number included about 60 members of the striking electrical union. He would not speculate, however, when the walkout would be completely over.

Contractors worried by a hint from Marshall industrial relations director Paul Stiles that contracts would be terminated if work did not resume, planned to meet in Birmingham today to discuss their relationship with the space center.

Russians

(Continued From Page 1) did that," Popovich exclaimed. "You understand - I had no weight, I could float freely in the cabin, turn around without feeling any unpleasantness."

Both men spoke, as have all previous Russian and American spacemen, of light particles flying past their ships. The Russians said these particles were exhaust from the engines.

After saying that they parachuted to earth in the final leg of their return, Popovich and Nikolayev said both space ships were recovered.

"And, if we were allowed," Popovich said, "we could fly in them again."

Nikolayev said the side of his capsule blazed with flames of different colors—red, green, blue and others.

"There are very interesting crackling sounds during the incandescent part of the descent," he told the conference.

Dear Abby... Cool The Fire Or Get Heartburn

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been with the FIRE DEPARTMENT less than a year, and the girl I am going with has told me if I want to marry her I had better find something else to do for a living because she refuses to put up with those crazy hours. Should I try to talk her into marrying me anyway or should I find another job?

DEAR ROOKIE: Better find another girl. If she's burning to marry you, she won't throw cold water on your old job.

DEAR ABBY: Do you recall your answer to a young girl (or maybe it was to her mother) when you were to settle the question of when a girl is "her own boss."

MRS. A.C. It may not be verbatim, but this is close: "When a girl leaves her parent's home, pays her own room and board, buys her own clothes, pays for her own dental and medical care, finances her own education and pays for her own entertainment, then she has the privilege of choosing her own company, making her own decisions and being her own 'boss.'"

DEAR ABBY: Not too long ago I redecorated my living room. It took a lot of time and effort, but when I got through it looked very nice. Now both my neighbors on either side of me have put up wallpaper and drapes exactly like mine! One even ask me where I bought my lamps, and she went down and bought a pair just like them for herself. My husband said I should be flattered. Tell me

Style Conscious Women Will Wear Autumn Suits With 'Muffled' Look

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — That new fall suit of yours may not have much around the knees but it will make up for everything by keeping your ears warm. This, girls, is the year of the muffled suit.

Suit jackets generally are longer. Skirts are short. But while they're a little below the knee, they may be narrow or pleated or A-shape or seamed. Sleeves often are set-in. And very often, the top of the suit displays a wide

Tight-Fitting Clothes Do Not Give Slimming Look

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Any woman who thinks tight-fitting clothing makes her look slimmer, couldn't be more wrong.

This fact should be given considerable thought when you buy play clothes and swimsuits for your vacation. Heavy thighs and legs bursting out of tight shorts or bulging in tight pants just look heavier than they actually are.

Fuller Bermuda shorts, or a pretty cotton skirt, would be much more flattering. A skimpy two-piece swimsuit has no place on any woman with a bulging midriff. It will only emphasize her need to lose weight. Instead, she should wear a well-cut, one-piece suit.

Play clothes should be roomy, anyway, if you plan to take part in outdoor sports. You can't exercise in a strait jacket. So if you choose your casual clothes and beach wear in neat, well-fitting styles, you'll be comfortable and look better too.

Travel Tips

If you plan a motoring trip for your vacation, there are a few things you should remember to do, so that you will look your best in spite of wind, sun and flying dust.

First, wear little make-up, for you'll probably be mopping your

RUTH MILLETT

"The American woman has an inferiority complex," says a visiting Frenchman. And why not? Except for one day in the year—Mother's Day—all the American woman ever hears is that she is a spoiled darling who doesn't appreciate how lucky she is.

She may work the same hours as her husband at a paid job and keep house, too, in order to have those luxuries. But instead of being praised for her industriousness and her competence in being able to hold down two jobs, she finds that working wives are blamed for everything from juvenile delinquency to unemployment.

If she makes a full-time career of homemaking and uses her brains and talents and time for the exclusive benefit of her own family she is told that she has "retreated to the cave" and is wasting her education and opportunities and slighting her responsibilities as a citizen.

If she makes a determined effort to be a responsible citizen and works hard for civic improvement, she is either accused of neglecting her home or laughed at for being the clubwoman type who is always chasing around to meetings and taking herself too seriously.

If her goal is to become a successful career woman she is merely tolerated in a man's world and is charged with having sacrificed her femininity in her scramble to get to the top in her chosen field.

So how can she win? Whether she is a full-time homemaker, a working wife, a successful career woman, or a community leader there is always someone ready to tell her she is making a mistake in choosing the kind of life she is leading.

Under those circumstances, who could be self-confident?

Men: Let her know she's appreciated. Profit from Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of this paper, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and GOP congressional leaders sound like they are speaking the same language when they talk of tax cuts.

This superficial appearance of bipartisan harmony will vanish quickly when they begin to talk about details of a tax bill. But in his speech last week, Kennedy could say:

"Our tax rates...are so high as to weaken the very essence of the progress of a free society, the incentive for additional return for additional effort."

"For these reasons, this administration intends to cut taxes in order to build the fundamental strength of our economy, to remove a serious barrier to long-term growth, to increase incentives by routing out inequities and complexities and to prevent the even greater budget deficit that a lagging economy would otherwise surely produce."

McLean Schools To Open 27th

McLEAN (Sp) — Superintendent of Schools Lee Welch has announced August 27 as the opening date for the 1962-63 school term.

Beginning Monday morning Aug. 20, the football team and the high school band kicked off pre-opening activities, with the football players meeting at 6:30 a.m. and the band at 10 o'clock. The band will hold daily practice sessions and the football team will work out twice daily at 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

High school registration will be held Thursday and Friday, Aug. 23 and 24 with elementary school registration Friday afternoon. Classes will begin Monday morning, Aug. 27.

The teacher roster is complete with only five new teachers on the combined faculty. The new teachers are Nelson Christie, Mrs. Rhe Veigel, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dwyer in high school and John Ramp in elementary school.

Robert L. Green is high school principal and Jack Riley is elementary principal.

Pre school opening activities not mentioned above include a breakfast for the faculty and school board members at 7 o'clock Friday morning and a faculty meeting at noon the same day.

Halleck Replies
And Rep. Charles A. Halleck could reply for the Republican leadership in Congress:

"There is no doubt whatsoever that this nation needs its tax structure overhauled to stimulate expansion and modernization of our productive facilities to create more jobs. This is the certain way to relieve our unemployment and economic problems and we have repeatedly advocated it."

Everyone knew what Kennedy was talking about when he spoke of an "across-the-board, top-to-bottom cut in both corporate and personal income taxes" in 1963. But the rate-payers will have to wait to read the fine print in his message to see what he meant by "long needed tax reform that logic and equity demand."

To the more liberal Democrats, "equity" in tax reform means closing "loopholes," particularly a reduction in the 27½ per cent depletion allowance allowed for oil and gas producers. In the last big tax reform bill, in 1954 Congress decided that equity demanded new depletion allowances for those who mine the soil and sea for such products as sand, gravel and clam shells.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., read the President's remark about the "tax reform that logic and equity demand" and asked:

Whole Issue
"What in the name of heaven does that mean? We on the Ways and Means Committee try to figure out what is logical and equitable and that is the whole issue. 'One man's loophole is another man's equity.'"

Curtis thus gave the nutshell description of what to expect in the 1963 struggle over a tax bill.

The objective of "tax reform" will be to recover some but not all of the money lost to the treasury in general income tax reductions. There will be quarrels between the parties and within the parties.

A major tax bill never breezes through Congress. It was April 20, 1961, when Kennedy sent Congress a tax program much narrower than the one promised for next year. A mangled version of the bill was passed by the House this year and is out of the Senate Finance Committee, awaiting action in the Senate, where more blood will be spilled.

A little political fakery is sometimes necessary. When the Senate voted on that 1954 tax bill, 94 of 96 senators voted for one or the other of two versions of a personal income tax cut. Both were defeated because two senators voted against both versions.

Weekly Report To Texans

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

An appraisal of our American will and purpose: It was my recent privilege to address the concluding dinner of the recent Human Events Conference, in Washington. This conservative conference is bipartisan, and heard such distinguished speakers as Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) and Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.). It was the third time I have addressed the conference, and I have since been receiving numerous requests for copies of my remarks. So, believing that you will be interested, a summary follows:

With the President in control of the White House, with his party controlling the Senate by a majority of almost 2 to 1, controlling the House by a majority of 3 to 2 — why can't he get his major legislation passed? Indeed, he has been able to get only a very small percentage of it. It's simply because, I think, the members of the Congress have been reading their mail, and they know the New Frontier is not popular, and some of those who can't read, are going to be retired from public life in November.

There is an unfortunate tendency these days, on the part of many members of our great national legislature, to want to delegate away their responsibilities to the President. I feel it's time we stopped leaving too much to the arbitrary will, whim, and discretion of one man. We are still a government of laws and not of men.

As a member of the Senate, I have introduced a resolution which would express the sense of the Congress that our objective in the cold war should be victory over Communism. Victory is a dirty word. The State Department has decreed that it should be expunged from the speeches of public officials. Thank goodness they don't censor my speeches.

Why can't we talk of victory? Are we such fools that we think we can co-exist with a great world power that is bent on our own destruction? Do we think that the remaining free nations of this world are going to follow our leadership if we don't have the guts to lead, if we don't have the courage to assert a goal that we not only dream about, or aspire to, but can actually hope to achieve?

The Soviet Union is weak, relatively. We are the strongest nation in the world, militarily. We are strategically, and technologically superior. We have, in our hands, the ability to destroy the Communist world and have enough left over, according to the Defense Department, to settle the hash of any third power that wanted to get in on the act.

We know that the Soviet economy is weak. Whenever the wealth and resources of a country are marshalled and channelled in a particular direction, wherever individual initiative is stifled and people are not free to make economic decisions, there is not a strong economy.

If we are engaged in war with the Communist world, their economy could stand a sustained war. We are the ones that are in a strong position. Isn't it folly for us, now, to talk of compromise, concession, and negotiation, when we should be pressing for victory in the cold war? Are we going to sit around until they perhaps become strong enough to beat us?

There are those connected with the New Frontier, who feel that they have a great human attitude toward the underprivileged peoples of this world. They regard themselves as the saviours of the poor and downtrodden. But, I submit to you, that it is those of us who want to create a climate of freedom in this world, who are the champions of downtrodden people throughout the world.

I am not advocating war. Indeed, my whole thesis has always been that if we possess superior force, and the will to use it, if we have to, it will reduce the likelihood that we will have to fight a major war. We can proceed under the protective cover of military superiority to win the cold war on the political, economic, and ideological fronts.

We certainly can take pause when we read that Mr. Rostow has proposed that we unilaterally disarm, admit Red China to the UN, extend them diplomatic recognition, that we find areas of "mutual interest" with the Soviet bloc, that we make concessions because they are softening. If they are softening, it's not because, suddenly, they have been seized with a great feeling of good will toward the West. If they are softening, it's because they know that they are too weak to beat us. It is because they sense the determination of free men everywhere to preserve and expand freedom. They know that they hold suzerainty over captive peoples only by force of arms and suppression of the truth, and by no other means.

I have stood in the runs of a cathedral in Coventry, England, and seen a plaque which said, "the latter glory of this place shall be greater than the former."

I have stood in the rubble of one of our Texas coastal towns and watched people digging out and rebuilding, after the destructive force of a hurricane.

I have toured the wall that divides Berlin, and am continually moved and impressed by the magnificence of the human spirit. God has endowed us with an innate nobility that enables people to triumph over catastrophe, to meet crisis with courage and resolution. I can tell you that the people of Berlin are not defeated. They are not ready to make concessions, and they're under the gun, my friends. I hope American resolution can be equally as strong.

I'm confident that the resolution of our people is as strong. I hope our national leadership will understand this. After all, our God-given qualities have enabled us to make progress as a people.

We have striven for centuries to better ourselves, to discipline ourselves, to do for ourselves and our community what must be done, and look how far we have come. Is it time, now, for a group of intellectual snobs to tell us we are no longer capable of making our own decisions?

And so, our mission, this year, is to show in the ballot boxes, in November, decisively, that the American people do not want to abdicate the responsibility for governing themselves to a few conceited men.

I am reassured by the spirit which is evidenced throughout our country, and I'm confident that we will apply ourselves to the task. The question of who is going to be set in governance over us and to what extent we are going to be allowed to govern ourselves — the question of the preservation of our free institutions — and the question of victory in the cold war will be resolved by you, the people of the great American republic.

Governor Boosts Use Of Seat Belts

Governor Price Daniel said recently that activities of numerous state-wide organizations during recent months had brought about a major increase in public interest and public use of safety belts in automobiles.

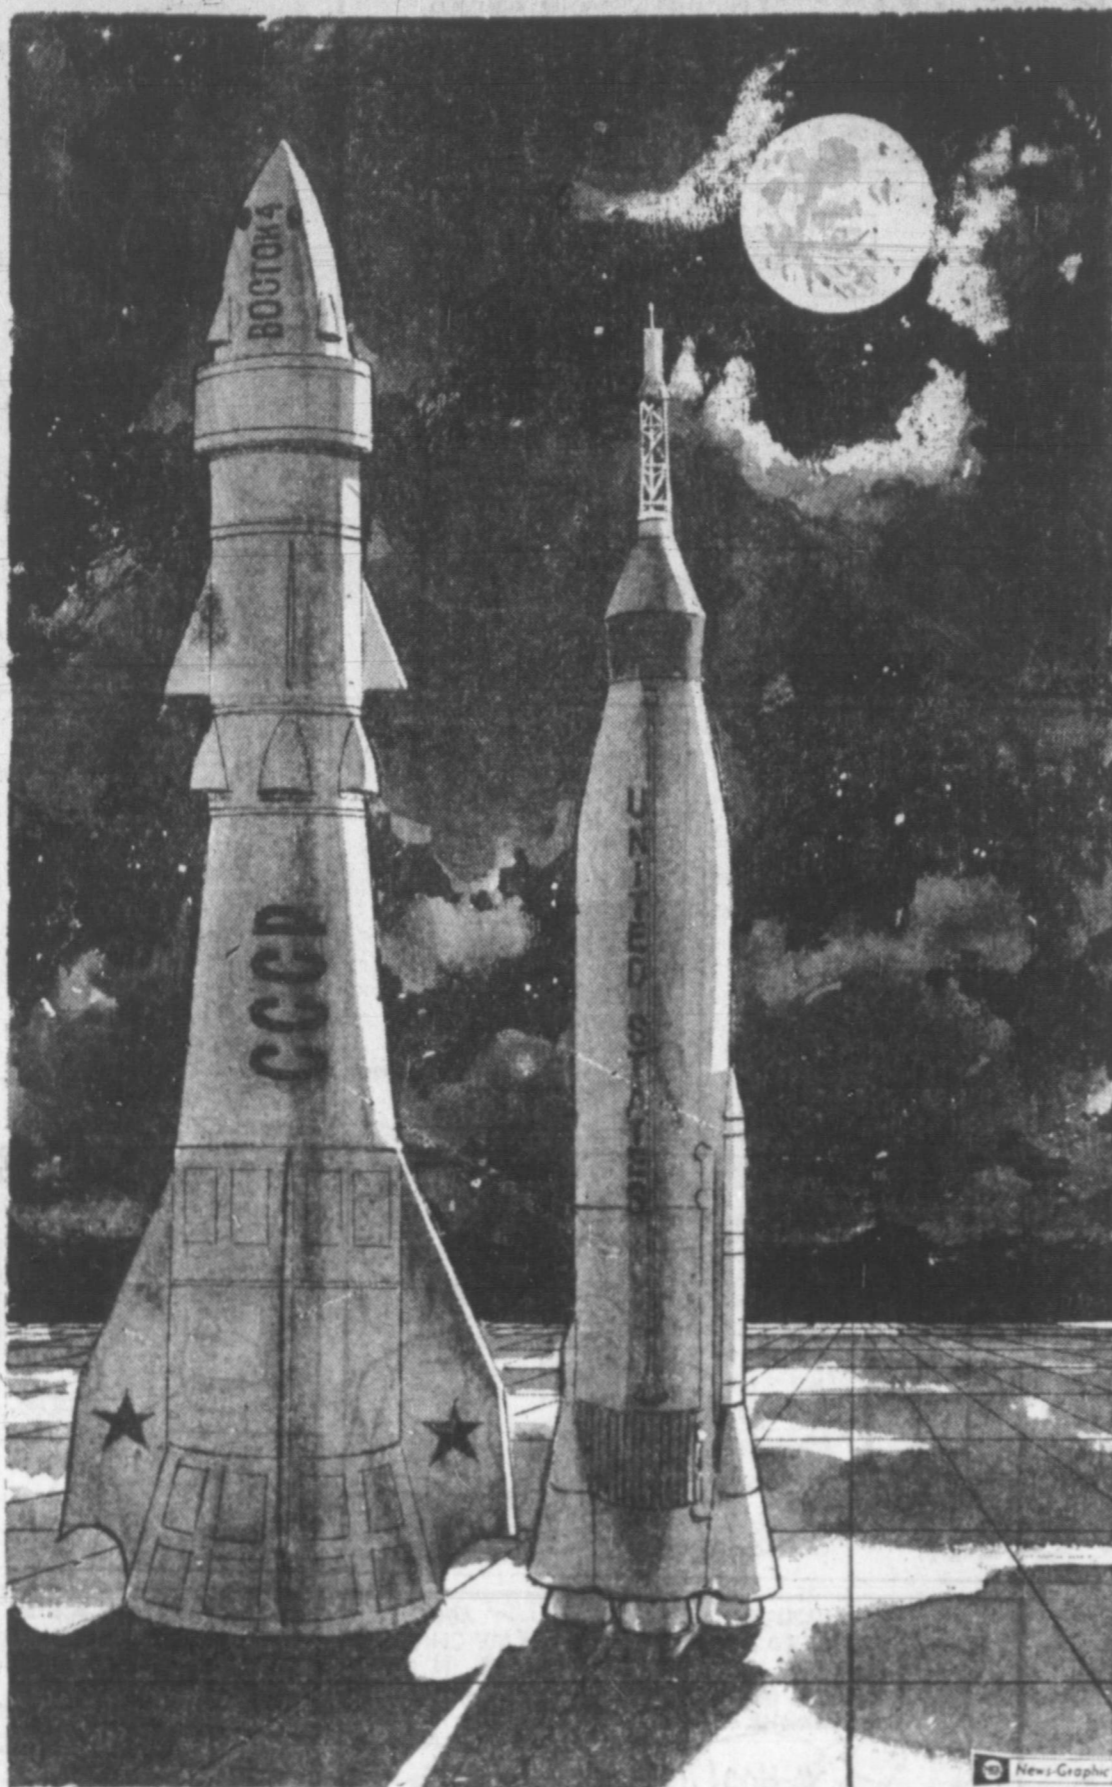

The Governor welcomed five members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, who called at his office to tell him of their campaign and to request his approval of their plans for a seat belt sales campaign in the Victoria area. The group included Dave Ritchie, Phillip Tibiletti, Roger Van Rekom, Dick Hoxworth and Bob Rubenstein.

The Governor told the Victorians that Junior Chamber of Commerce groups "had been among the most active of the many civic organizations in Texas who have been urging their members, as well as the driving public, to use seat belts to protect themselves against injury or death in traffic."

Governor Daniel said the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs had been among the leaders in the seat belt campaign in Texas during the past year, cooperating with the General Federation in Washington.

"There is evidence that thousands of Texas drivers are beginning to realize the importance of protecting themselves at all times while in an automobile, especially if they are driving," the Governor said. "Seat belts have been made readily available throughout Texas, it is neither difficult nor expensive to have them installed, and they will definitely prevent chest and head injuries. Perhaps most important, they will keep the driver and passengers from being thrown from an overturning vehicle."

The Governor said the "most urgent reason for the universal use of seat belts in Texas cars is outlined by Texas Department of Public Safety statisticians. They tell me their accident reports indicate that 500 lives could have been saved in Texas traffic in 1961 alone if drivers and front seat passengers, in particular, had been wearing seat belts. This would have reduced the 1961 Texas traffic toll by nearly one-fourth. Seat belts are much cheaper than hospital bills, car repair bills and human misery."

VOSTOK VS. MERCURY—The U.S.S.R. has permitted the first representation of the rocket boosters used to launch its cosmonauts. Drawing of a Vostok spaceship atop its rockets, left above, is based on a drawing which appeared in the Communist newspaper Pravda. It is not known how closely it resembles the actual vehicle. Beside it is the U.S. Atlas-Mercury combination, used to orbit this country's astronauts. The drawing is not to scale, for the Soviets have never revealed the dimensions or any other details about their huge booster. It is, however, larger and much more powerful than the Atlas.

Robinson wasn't the only hero even though his homer was his 14th of the month, setting a Cincinnati club record. Besides Robinson, there was Bob Purkey, who recorded his 19th victory despite homers by Willie and Tommy Davis in the sixth inning.

Shoe Squeeze

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavy imports of footwear from Japan and Italy are forcing down prices of domestic cowhide. U.S. imports of non-rubber footwear during the first five months of 1962 rose to 25.7 million pairs or more than twice the 12.8 million imported in the same period last year.

WON'T THROW STONES
OXFORD, England (UPI) — Jim Francis said he was walking his pet black Labrador when he heard a sound "like the clinking of billiard balls" emanating from inside the dog.

Concerned, Francis took the dog, Trixie, to a veterinarian. An operation produced eight large stones, which were removed from the dog's stomach.

"I have often thrown big stones for Trixie to retrieve," Francis said. "In the future, I shall throw a football."

Texas Will Have More Miles Of Highway Than Other States In US

AUSTIN (UPI)—Upon completion of the interstate highway system, Texas will have more miles than any other state, the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas said.

The bureau said Texas will have 3,027 miles of interstate highways crisscrossing the state from Galveston to El Paso, Laredo to Texarkana and through Amarillo in the Panhandle.

With 1,090 miles already open to traffic, Texas' completion record of 36 per cent is slightly ahead of the 33 per cent national average to date. An additional 273 miles are now under construction and more mileage is in right-of-way acquisition and engineering stages.

By the completion target date in 1971, the 3,027 miles of interstate highways in Texas will have cost an estimated $2,141,443,000. As of June 12, remaining work was expected to cost $1,174,494,200.

Each $100,000 of the $2 billion plus spent on the system will produce nearly 10,000 man-hours of labor at the site and over 11,000 man hours of off-site labor for production of equipment and materials.

A stronger economic stimulus, the bureau said, will come from commercial and residential enterprises adjacent to the highways.

Special loops are under construction to carry traffic around the metropolitan areas of Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Completion of the system might save as many as 300-400 lives in the state each year, the bureau said.
