Penny Boost In Cost Of Stamp

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee has made it virtually certain that it will cost a penny more to mail a letter next July 1.

The House Post Office Committee also approved a pay raise bill for federal employees that would cost more than the Senate proposal, but Chairman Tom Murray, D-Tenn., has balked at sending it to the floor.

The Senate proposal would institute government worker pay boosts in two stages. The first would come on the first pay day after Kennedy signs the bill; the second on Jan. 1, 1964.

Showdown Due In Enrollment Of Negro Student

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and the federal government headed today into a showdown over attempts by Negro James Meredith to enroll at the University of Mississippi.

There were these rapid-fire developments:

Meredith, under an order issued Monday by an eight-judge federal panel in New Orleans, was expected to register today at the Jackson branch of the Oxford, Miss., school.

Barnett, sworn to go to jail or close the school rather than see it integrated, issued an executive order that federal officials be arrested by state police if they try to carry out the court edict.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals countered today with a blanket order specifically barring Barnett and all state officials from arresting or prosecuting Meredith or from interfering with federal officers enforcing the court order that he be admitted.

It also banned "injuring, harassing, threatening or intimidating" Meredith and ruled out any civil action against him or anyone else because of the enrollment effort.

F Campaign Is Picked Off At Breakfast Here

The 1962-63 Pampa-LeFors United Fund campaign for $73,600 was kicked off today with a breakfast in the Coronado Inn for volunteer workers in the drive.

Approximately 148 of the 225 citizens were present at the breakfast where they received instructions on how to contact donors and were given prospective donor cards.

The Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, presented the inspiration address. He explained the functions of each of the seven agencies which are supported by the United Fund and told of the services done by each agency to the people of Pampa and the surrounding area.

He also urged all workers to explain to their donors that this is an opportunity to share in the community.

The instructions were presented by the group by Floyd Watson, introduced J. C. Roberts and J. Gikas, who presented a short program on how to call on a prospect and the questions they may ask at the campaign.

Another brief skit was presented by Cameron Marsh and Sam Begg on how to contact the business firms.

The kickoff for the drive was presided over by J. C. Roberts, general chairman of the drive.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Warren, chairman of the special committee, announced that the list of names would be presented to the division chairman who had the best percentage of workers at the meeting; the division chairman who had the most work on his team at the meeting; the first volunteer to arrive at the breakfast.

Four Wounded As Police Quell Disturbance In St. Louis Suburb

Police Chief's Home, School Hit By Fires

By THOMAS BECHERER
United Press International

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Three policemen and a bystander were wounded today by a shotgun blast when heavily armed officers tried to quell a noisy demonstration by more than 300 persons in front of suburban Kinloch's city hall.

As some 85 St. Louis County police and authorities from other suburbs rushed to the scene of the near-riot, fires believed set by arsonists destroyed the Dunbar Elementary school and damaged the new home of the community's police chief.

More than 30 persons were arrested at the scene of the shooting in the predominantly Negro suburb. The shot was fired from the window of an apartment building in a slum clearance project.

Two of the victims, county officers Kenneth Armstead, 29, and Hugh Hodges, 26, were reported in serious condition and county policeman, William Rushing, 33, and the Negro bystander, Anthony Williams, 32, were treated and released.

Police said the shooting and the fires were the latest and worst outbreak of violence since a Negro youth was fatally wounded in the abdomen Sunday while struggling with Kinloch policeman Israel Mason, a Negro.

Some persons in the throng that blocked streets around the city hall chanted, "We want Mason, we want Mason."

Donnell Dorich, 19, a Negro, was killed as Mason tried to serve him with a warrant on charges springing from a drag race. He resisted arrest, and in the ensuing struggle Mason's 38-caliber revolver went off.

On Sunday night two shotgun blasts were fired through the window of the Kinloch police department and a rash of fires broke out.

Police Chief Roosevelt Hoskins suspended Mason pending a hearing into the incident, but noisy street gatherings continued.

In the nighttime hours leading up to the demonstration, authorities were distracted by a wave of false fire alarms until the blaze broke out at Hoskins' house and the school.

Mayor Clarence Lee, after meeting with the board of aldermen near the glowing embers of the school, announced that a 10 p.m. curfew would go into effect tonight.

"The situation is very, very serious, and we've got to keep the streets clear," Lee said. He said he will consult with the city attorney to see what other safety precautions can be taken.

Authorities, armed with riot weapons, machine guns and using police dogs, dispersed the crowd, but feared more violence would come when the curfew took effect.

Three Negroes, Charles Williams, 19, Norvell Case, 23, and Henry Bradford, 24, were charged with felonious assault in connection with the shooting.

THUNDERBIRDS TAKE OFF — Shown here breaking ground together are the Thunderbirds, official Air Force precision demonstration team, which will feature the Air Show scheduled Saturday afternoon at Pampa's Perry LeFors Airport. Crowds at the big air show also will be entertained with parachute jumping and sky-diving. The Pampa Shrine Club will serve a barbecue luncheon from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. From 12 noon to 1:30 p.m., the Amarillo Air Force Band will give a concert and the Thunderbirds start the aerial show at 2 p.m. The air show will be free to the public. Jaycees will have charge of concessions and assist in parking at the airport. School children from the Top O' Texas area are especially invited to attend the air show.

'Even Kennedys Say He's Guilty'

Estes' Attorney Asks Trial Delay Because Of Deluge Of Publicity

TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — President Kennedy and every other citizen of the United States has pronounced Billie Sol Estes guilty of theft, defense attorney John D. Cofer said today in a motion for postponement of his trial.

Cofer, in a motion for District Judge Otis T. Dunagan, said the farm and fertilizer financier should not be tried any time in the "immediate foreseeable future."

His motion was pending as Estes' trial moved into its second day. Dunagan was expected to grant the delay.

No Relief From Drizzle Is Seen

Weathermen report no immediate relief is in sight from the soggy drizzle which has hung over the Pampa area for the past two days.

Pampa and vicinity have received an unofficial .95 inch of rainfall since early Monday morning.

The local forecast for today calls for continued cloudy through tonight with scattered light rain continued through Wednesday.

Panhandle has had .58 inch of rain.

"Throughout the publicity," Cofer said, "the defendant has been generally referred to as an embezzler, as a thief, as a man guilty of fraud, as a bankrupt boy financier, as a modern Ponzi and as a briber of government officials."

James E. Turriff, Dallas, Ellis Mattox, Pecos, E. C. Gillette, McCamey, Marcus Dingler, Pecos and J. S. Wheeler, Hereford.

Seventeen defense witnesses were present Monday out of 50 subpoenaed. The witness list numbers more than 100.

Cofer Monday objected to live television coverage of the trial, charging it would prejudice the jury.

Of Plane Which Ditched In North Atlantic

They're Still Searching For Survivors

SHANON, Ireland (UPI) — The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, carrying survivors of the Flying Tiger Super Constellation that ditched in the North Atlantic, today flashed an account of the plane's last moments.

Other ships and planes searched the gray seas as the 20,000-ton carrier steamed toward the Irish coast. They sought a handful of persons — including a mother and two children — who still might be clinging to a life raft from the ill-fated airliner.

A U.S. Air Force search and rescue spokesman at Prestwick, Scotland, said there was little hope of finding more passengers alive "unless a raft is remaining afloat somewhere." But James Correa, a senior executive for the airline, continued to hope.

There is one life raft still missing on the gale-lashed seas. Investigators were reported looking into the possibility the plane somehow had taken on contaminated fuel.

Search Through-Night
All through the night Royal Air Force Shackletons, working in shifts, patrolled the sea in hopes of sighting flares from the one life raft still missing of the six originally launched from the sinking airliner. Three ships covered the waters below.

At dawn six more U. S. and British planes took off to resume scouring an area 50 by 80 miles, working on the supposition that the life raft, if still afloat, drifted east by northeast.

An RAF spokesman said the seas were improved from Monday but hopes were falling with every passing hour.

"Those people still missing now have little chance of survival, very little indeed," he said. "The time factor is against them."

He said they all had time to prepare their clothing before leaving the plane just before Sunday midnight "but the sea is still cold and there are six-foot waves. If they are alive they must all be suffering from exposure."

Children Among Them
Among those officially listed as missing were the wife (Rachel) and two children (Luana and Uilani) of Staff Sgt. Bernard P. Hoopii who had been flying to Europe to join him.

Two other women also were among the missing: The wives of Capt. John P. Devlin and Capt. Robert C. Eldred. Devlin was listed as dead and Eldred as a survivor.

U. S. Army personnel and 3 crewmen comprised the rest of the missing list.

Among the rescued was Capt. John D. Murray, 44-year-old father of five, who expertly set the plane down on a boiling sea in gale winds and pitch blackness.

London newspapers called him "the miracle pilot" who "pulled off a thousand-to-one combination of a miracle and textbook skill."

Others agreed, including Lt. Joseph K. Lewis, pilot of the Air Force plane that was on the scene when the Super-Constellation ditched.

"The passengers rescued owe their lives to Captain Murray," he said.

Man Dies In Mishap Last Night

David May Rae, a 62-year-old ranch hand on the Emmett LeFors Ranch, southeast of Pampa, was killed last night when the pickup he was driving skidded on a slippery dirt road and overturned approximately one mile south of State Highway 132, 7 miles east of here.

According to Highway Patrol officers who investigated the accident, Rae and his wife, Euna, who is 56-years-old, were returning home from Pampa at 7:05 p.m. when the accident occurred.

Rae was thrown from the vehicle which rolled over him and landed upright beside him. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

His wife was not injured but was taken by ambulance to Highland General Hospital where she was held overnight for observation.

Rae had worked on the LeFors ranch for three years.

Mrs. Rae told officers her husband had taken the dirt road to avoid the traffic on the main highway.

The body will be sent to Goldswaithe, where funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from the Wilkins Funeral Home. Mr. Rae was born Mar. 2, 1900 in Llano County.

Survivors are his wife, Euna Betty; one son, Raymond of Houston. (See MISHAP, Page 3)

Roberts, chairman of the Retail division, front, John Gikas, chairman of the services committee, left, and Kirk Duncan, heading the individual division, are among the 10 committee chairmen who were present at today's United Fund Kickoff breakfast which attracted 148 of the 225 community workers who received instructions for the current drive. New High School Students' Profile Shows What They Buy, Wish For

Among senior high school boys, college is the number one reason for saving money, but girls save "to buy clothes." So reports a nation-wide cross-section survey of junior and senior high school students. The survey, which covered such widely separated subjects as car ownership, savings, eating and drinking habits, brand preferences, movies and pets, was conducted for Scholastic Magazines, Inc., publishers of classroom periodicals.

Asked "What was your total income last week?" students' answers ranged from $1 to $99, with $6.77 the over-all average and $11.67 the average for senior high school boys. Income is derived mostly from regular weekly allowance and part-time jobs.

Seven out of ten students (72 per cent) save about half, generally in savings accounts. Major reason for saving for senior boys is college, secondly to buy a car. Two-thirds of all boys are licensed drivers, one in five senior high boys already owns a car.

Most senior high school students drink milk regularly (89 per cent.) Two out of three drink carbonated soft drinks. Canned and frozen juices also are popular. Four out of five students regularly consume ready-to-serve foods like ice cream, cookies, crackers, and spreads of all kinds.

One-third of the students own typewriters, two-thirds own bicycles. Almost 50 per cent have their own record players, and go to the movies more than once a month. Two out of three have a dog or a cat, or both, at home.

There are 18,700,000 boys and girls enrolled in junior and senior high schools. The U. S. Census Bureau estimates that total enrollment will increase to a total of 20 million by 1965 and 22 million by 1970.

Utah law requires big game hunters to wear red colored headgear, shirt, jacket or sweater.

Dresses in Black
Estes, 37, appeared in court Monday dressed completely in black. He was arrested March 29, and since has been indicted by both federal and state grand juries in connection with loans obtained on nonexistent anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks. He is free on bonds totaling $140,000.

His present trial, which was moved from the headquarters of his once fabulous farm and fertilizer empire in Pecos, concerns a chattel mortgage signed by Pecos farmer T. J. Wilson on 75 anhydrous ammonia tanks and 65 fertilizer applicators valued at $121,850.

The state contends Estes obtained the mortgages by false pretext, never intended to supply the tanks and then converted the mortgage to his own use.

Finance Man Missing
James E. Turriff of Dallas, a former official of the CIT Corp., was one of the missing witnesses. Cofer said he needs several defense witnesses to testify that they did not believe they would receive anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks on which they signed mortgages. He said they were aware only of extending credit to Estes.

The state claims Estes told the farmers they were purchasing the tanks.

Estes doodled on a scratch pad during proceedings. His wife watched the trial on television at a hotel. The Estes financial empire is no more. Morris D. Jaffe of San Antonio paid $7 million for the estate Saturday, subject to U.S. Dist. Judge R. Ewing Thomason's approval.

Professor Soon Is To Have Biggest Class Ever For Economics Course

By FREDERICK H. TREESH
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — The raising of an eyebrow, the turn of a head—these things can be a tip-off to a teacher of a complicated subject whether he is "getting through" to his class of 30 or so students.

Dr. John R. Coleman, who next week begins teaching the biggest class in the history of education, won't have the benefit of student reaction in preparing and delivering his lectures. His classroom is a television studio and his students—thousands of them—will be in their own living rooms.

Dr. Coleman, professor of economics and dean-elect of the division of humanities and social sciences at Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, is the "national teacher" of a college-credit economics course, "The American Economy," to be broadcast by some 235 television channels this year. The first of the 16½-hour lessons will be broadcast on a national network (the Columbia Broadcasting System) Monday afternoon (Sept. 24) for playback by individual stations at a time they choose.

Excited And Challenged
The ruggedly handsome, 41-year-old Ph.D. says he feels excited and challenged by the opportunity to bring to a large audience a solid, broad-based course in economics, a subject educators found was lacking in many Americans' high school and college curriculum. The impetus for the course came, in fact, from a report by the national task force for economic education which found that half of the country's high school social studies teachers had not studied economics themselves.

"I have a great responsibility on my shoulders," Dr. Coleman said. "I'll have the biggest audience ever for an economics class on the first day. My job is to hold them."

Dr. Coleman believes he will actually have two audiences. There will be the general public, to whom he believes the course will be helpful in making every decision involving their own economics and in their role as voters.

Teachers In Audience
"The other part of the audience, smaller but at least as important, is the high school teachers," Dr. Coleman said. "Many high school teachers feel unprepared to teach economics. If the course is not helpful to these teachers, then I have failed," he said.

Dr. Coleman said he will "lecture with a quiet pitch" on topics from national output, banking, corporate activities, monopoly and competition to labor organizations, government spending, world trade, and comparative economic systems.

The teacher says he believes some of his lessons will be highly controversial because of their subject matter—the proper role of government in the economy, America's trade policies and the comparison of economic systems. Dr. Coleman said it would be his function to analyze, not take a point of view.

"But I'll have guests who will take a position—vigorously," he said.

Guest List of Notables
The guest list includes President Kennedy, former President Eisenhower, former U. S. Budget Director David E. Bell, onetime Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, India's ambassador to the United States, B. K. Nehru; AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther, industrialist J. Irwin Miller and educators from Harvard, Carnegie Tech, Columbia, Princeton, the University of Chicago, Yale, Swarthmore and other universities.

"The American economy" is sponsored by the Learning Resources Institute, the American Economic Association, the Joint Council on Education and the National Task Force on Economic Education. It was financed, to a large measure, by 99 of the nation's largest corporations.

Not Influenced
Dr. Coleman was most adamant that the corporations who helped finance the course had not attempted to influence its content or point of view.

"I'm very sensitive about that. I can assure you in the strongest possible terms that I would not have participated if there had been any pressure," Dr. Coleman said. "The support from business comes without ties. Our course will be objective."

Dr. Coleman, a native of Copper Cliff, Ontario, received his B.A. degree from the University of Toronto. He earned an M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. Before joining the Carnegie Tech faculty in 1955, he was affiliated with the University of Chicago and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dr. Coleman, his wife and their five children live in Pittsburgh.

Some 300 colleges in the United States are allowing credit for the television economics course. Text books to supplement the on-the-air instruction have been prepared with Dr. Coleman's aid. The 16½-unit course will continue through May 24 for those

Chrysler To Cut Some Car Prices

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. making the industry's first announcement on 1963 car prices, has reported it will cut some Chrysler models by as much as $134.

But other Chrysler and Imperial models will cost as much as $128 more because previously optional equipment like power windows and bucket seats have been made standard for 1963.

Other firms will release their price lists in the next few days. There will be no big across-the-board hike for the fifth straight year, it was learned.

Today's announcement, from C. E. Briggs, Chrysler-Plymouth Division general manager, dealt only with Chrysler and Imperial models.

Briggs said the price cuts are designed to give the division "an additional competitive advantage." In effect, he added, "we have still held the price line" on the models which cost more because options have been factored into the basic price.

BOB FISHER ... to perform here

Pianist To Be Among Stars In 'Zogi Revue'

Bob Fisher, pianist and musical director, will be an added attraction when the TV Thrill-Orama Zogi Revue appears here on October 11th.

According to "Zogi," producer of the show, Fisher is a versatile artist whose performance at the piano will offer something of appeal to all ages. His repertoire will include classical, popular favorites, and something for the teen-age taste, even some twist music. No newcomer to the musical world, Maestro Fisher, has a background of European training and wide experience in the concert field and in modern contemporary music. Always popular with the audience is his unique rendition of the "Sextette" from Lucia using only the left hand.

Zogi says, "Mr. Fisher is truly a talented artist, and I am proud to be able to present him in your city. He comes to our company directly from some of the finest supper clubs across the country and has made many appearances on television as well as on the concert stage."

Zogi TV Thrill-Orama Revue is a two hour performance presenting outstanding TV acts, illusions, comedy, and music. They will appear at the Pampa Junior High School auditorium under the auspices of the Optimist Club. Advance tickets, at a reduced price, may be purchased from any club member.

In the Soviet Union often the arts are used to advertise the Communist revolution. Most recently the Twelfth Symphony of Dmitri Shostakovich exemplified this strategy. It depicts in its four movements the four stages in the revolutionary career of Lenin. It was guaranteed to be successful when it was played in Moscow last October during the celebration of the 44th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Some Christmas Gift Suggestions

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here it is nearly the end of September, which means that another Christmas season is almost at hand, or under foot.

And that means it's time for me to get going with my annual early bird shopping service.

Most shopping services wait until November to start making gift suggestions, but I like to beat everyone to the punch, particularly if it's spiked.

What I do is winnow the gift catalogs that start arriving in mid-summer, keeping on the lookout for trends and items that I think will be of interest to the clientele of this column.

My findings are then passed along to my readers so that they will have plenty of time to forget them before they actually have to start shopping.

Medical Influence
This year, if I read the signs right, we are in for a medical Christmas. The mail order houses are offering a wide range of gifts that reflect our preoccupation with our health.

I spotted several items that should be ideal for the hypochondriac who has everything.

The latest thing in this line is a "pill purse" made of "gay colored rayon" and containing five plastic bottles and a spoon. It should delight your wife or sweetheart and is a steal at $1.98.

As an extra touch, you can stop in at your friendly neighborhood apothecary and have the bottles filled with pharmaceuticals before you wrap it.

Another item that should spread joy on Christmas morning is a "scientifically designed, medically approved tube for use in mouth to mouth breathing."

"It could save the life of a loved one in case of an arrested

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I saw Monday night's debut of "The New Loretta Young Show" on CBS-TV, but I still don't believe it.
 I was about to call CBS to ask whether perhaps someone in the control room had picked up the wrong can of film and accidentally aired some old throw-out rehearsals; but, no, there it was—the most embarrassing thing I have ever seen on a television network.
 In the new weekly half-hour series, Miss Young portrays a widow who writes for magazines to help support her seven children. And Monday night, instead of getting right down to business with a story, the entire half-hour was devoted to a cloying introduction to her and her clan as a television family.
 Anything, of course, can be done well. But the form used for Monday night's introduction was a "Person to Person" type of interview in which an actor (I think) portrayed an alleged newsman trying to get the family organized to be on the air—but had problems because they were so doggone natural and unaffected and just-folks. Oh, my.
 The point was that this swell group just wasn't going to sit still and be shown as the stereotyped typical American family, but of course that's exactly what it came out as. Two young sons were singers—Heaven help us, more Ricky Nelsons, perhaps. And although Miss Young, is a lovely woman, whose corn can sometimes be forgiven, I really am not interested in hearing her talk to the nation about togetherness (pro or con) and family matters—even under the veneer of a character who is averse to making typical statements about such matters.
 Apparently someone thought this gimmick of introduction—which might have been okay for five minutes—would be supremely clever. Instead, the overall effect was that of having a nightmare in which all the cute families from all of television's domestic situation comedies were being typical all over your living room with a vengeance.
 After such a fiasco, things can only get better.

Gold Orchids Are Dentist's Hobby

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Jeff B. Bruton, a University Park dentist, has no trouble filling his time when he is not filling teeth. He molds solid gold orchids with the same process he used to make false teeth.
 In the last two years, Bruton has made more than a dozen gold orchids and hopes to have a collection of such orchids in 20 or 30 species to display at flower shows.
 Bruton grows the real orchids, and is a past president of an orchid society.
 "I select a full orchid bloom from many greenhouses, make the mold and ease the bloom down into the compound," Bruton explained. "When it sets, I burn out the bloom and then have the mold ready to pour the gold or silver."
 His collection includes orchids in polished gold, green gold, silver and sand blasted gold in sizes ranging from the small Epinedrum orchid to the large Phalaenopsis or moth orchid.
 "I don't sell the orchids," he said, "but occasionally my wife tries to get her hands on them for jewelry."
 Jackie Gleason's new show on CBS-TV features him and guest Art Carney in their old "Honeymooners" roles in its debut Saturday. Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana is set to headline a comedy series on NBC-TV next season; he will play an elevator operator in a luxury apartment building.
 Singer Kay Starr, who has a financial interest in ABC-TV's new series, "Mr. Smith goes to Washington," is a performer in the premiere episode Saturday with star Fess Parker. W. Willard Wirtz, new secretary of labor, appears on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" Sunday.

Misspelling Words Can Lead To A Short Tenure As Secretary

Woman To Woman
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Memo to secretaries: Bone up on the 600 most frequently misspelled words, misspelled — office words and you'll be letter perfect.

"Secretary," by the way, is the first word on the spelling list compiled by the National Office Management Association (NOMA) and based on words submitted by bosses tired of correcting the hired hands.

Word No. 600 — dismissal — seems a subtle reminder about what happens to employees who constantly fail to get the other 599 words right.

The list doesn't contain any "way out words" — say "discom-bobulate" and related jaw-breakers. Rather, it's full of garden variety words used daily in correspondence coming from typical offices, ranging from the Pentagon to a button factory.

Eliminates Some
In fairness to those tackling the list, controversial words recently were eliminated. These are words correctly spelled two or more ways.

T. W. Kling, director of personnel educational service for NOMA, said the controversial words include installment, fulfill and license.

These words also can be spelled: instalment, fulfill and licence.

Kling said the list, revised during each of the last eight years, aims only to help improve spelling.

Of an estimated one million who studied the list and then took a test based on it during the last year, only six per cent came through letter perfect.

"Good spelling," Kling said "is something one must work at. Even the genius must 'go look it up' when in doubt. We would like everyone to turn automatically to the dictionary when a question about spelling occurs. It's much more reliable than guessing."

New Additions
Words added to the new edition of the frequently misspelled list include — assume, voucher, disappearance, dividend, equation, confuse.

To advance spelling, aren't there rules one can memorize and refer to when in doubt?

Many of the rules, according to Kling, have exceptions which must be memorized. The best approach, as he sees it — Look the word up, memorize it. That's the only short-cut he recommends.

"We had a ditty in school to help us with one spelling problem," he said, "but it went the long way around." The ditty:

"If the letter C you spy, place the E before the I; If you do not spy a C, place an I before the E."

"But either, neither, leisure, seize are four exceptions if you please."

Those who like their rules in shorter version learned it this way: "I before E — except after C."

WASHINGTON — Report issued today by the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees, on the danger posed by Soviet aid to Cuba:

"The situation in Cuba should be taken seriously but not hysterically. Existing military capabilities in Cuba do not endanger the security of the United States."

Miracle Modern Kitchen Has Practical Approach

Modern steel kitchen has an extra utility closet by the back door. It serves as a collection and distribution center for clothing requiring cleaning and repairing.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A traffic control cleaning center for outgoing and incoming household clothes and furnishings might be the answer to a growing problem.

I mean, how often are your ears assaulted by irate questions like these: "Why hasn't my brown suit been cleaned?"; "Didn't you take my black shoes to the repair shop?"; "Mother, WHERE is my green skirt?" And so on.

Frantic exasperation is not easy to reason with but I try. Soothingly, I suggest that it is difficult to have the blasted suit cleaned when no one indicated the need. Co-operation, I like to say, has to be the watchword in a busy household or chaos results. These little lectures of mine evoke only casual interest.

Recently, I saw a more practical approach in a miracle modern kitchen. Steel cabinets in a baked-on yellow finish with natural wood-on-steel door fronts, lined this kitchen, making it a superior and handsome work room. But near the back door, the kitchen designer had installed an extra utility or broom closet. I don't know his intention but this seemed a perfect spot to establish a traffic control center.

With an extra utility cabinet, family members could lug their own duds down the stairs and hang them up for transportation to professional or coin-op dry cleaner; shoes, ditto, for repair shop.

When the homemaker has duly chauffeured the articles to and from their destination, she could put them back in the central closet. The owners could then claim them and put them away.

I haven't the space by the back door for such a utility closet but I do have near our basement garage door. There is space in such a cabinet for shoes and for hanging up garments. Those of us who use self-service coin-op dry cleaning shops know that clothes must be kept on hangers to prevent heavy wrinkling and subsequent pressing.

Dear Abby... Marriage For Dollars Doesn't Make Sense

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was a widow for 15 years, then I met a man who had wealth and social position. After going together for a year we were married. Everyone "ooohed" and "aahed" over how lucky I was to get him. He promised me everything. No more going to the office (I was a secretary) and we would just travel, have a lovely apartment and enjoy life. Well, instead, he moved into MY home and I haven't missed a day's work in six years. I come home every evening and make supper. I spend Saturday and Sunday doing the laundry and marketing. I have not seen one cent of his money, and he has plenty of it. Whenever I hear about women marrying millionaires I laugh to myself. I married one and life hasn't changed for me. I tell people I work just to keep busy. Hah!

DEAR STUCK: It is a man's obligation to support his wife. After six years, don't you think you ought to review the bidding? Could it be that he felt you married him for his dollars? Otherwise, it doesn't make sense.

DEAR ABBY: All I can find in the stores today are snippy, sour-pussed clerks who try to rush you into buying something. Whatever happened to all those nice old sales ladies who invited the customers to take their time and look over all the merchandise?

DEAR SHOPPER: They all died of overwork trying to get their stock back in order.

DEAR ABBY: I have gone with this young man about five months. I have only one thing against him. He sleeps too much. Whenever we go to a movie, he falls asleep right away. He even sleeps through church services. It is very embarrassing to see a young man sleeping all over the girl he's with. I have never known a person who could fall asleep so fast. When we are at my home in the evening, I can't even hold a conversation with him because he goes to sleep right in the middle of it. I can't stand it any longer. Please give me some advice. I am 24 and he is 26.

SLEEPY'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: A healthy young man should not require as much sleep as your friend appears to need. Catch him when he's wide awake and tell him to see his physician for a check-up.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Senior Tackle Chosen As 'Toughest Harvester'

Tackle Dee Wright has been chosen for the title, "Toughest Harvester" for the past week, according to Harvester Coach Holladay.

Wright is a senior letterman and holds down the right tackle position for the Green and Gold.

Holladay said, "Dee was chosen on the basis of his consistent aggressiveness through the past week. He is one of the Harvester leaders as far as morale and hard work is concerned.

The "Toughest Harvester" award is a back-the-Harvesters project of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. The winner each week is a guest of the club in its luncheon meeting in the basement of the First Methodist Church, where he is introduced to the club membership.

Wright was introduced to the club this noon by assistant coach Eural Ramsey. He was chosen for the honor because of his work during the past week's workouts and his performance in the Harvesters' 12-0 win over Phillips.

One of the varsity players is selected each week by the coaching staff for the award. The tackle has been preceded by tailback Jerry Glover and fullback Curtis Fletcher.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wright, 115 S. Starkweather.

Other "Toughest Harvester" attributes must be aggressiveness, blocking and tackling ability and leadership, Holladay said.

The players are chosen over the week end each week with the period of judging being from each Monday through that week's game, including workouts. The announcement of the player selected is made on Tuesday, the day he is honored by the Jaycees.

The Harvesters worked on their winged-T offense in workouts yesterday and plan some attention to the defensive game for today.

After seeing and hearing the scouting report on this week's opponent, the defending state AAA champions, the Dumas Demons, Holladay said only that the visitors, "are going to be awfully tough."

The game will be played here in Harvester Stadium Friday night with kickoff time scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

YOU GOTTA HAVE HEART—Sonny Liston watches as Dr. John Bellucci checks the heart of Floyd Patterson as the combatants are examined prior to their 15-round fight for the world heavyweight title at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

Patterson's Title On Line Tonight

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—With fair, hilly weather forecast for tonight, the red hot and fabulously heavy title match between champion Floyd Patterson, "good little man," and Sonny Liston, a "good big man" who is very bad outside the ring, will be fought at Comiskey Park.

This scheduled 15-round bout between Liston, a burly ex-con and strong-arm guy, and the smaller, faster Patterson of Scarsdale, N.Y., is expected to attract a million in total global receipts—an all-time record for a fight any other one-night entertainment.

Although light rains fell early today night, the prediction of weather "in the low 40s" for tonight indicated top coats for men and fall coats for women spectators among the 35,000 or more at the White Sox baseball park, where a gross gate of about $300,000 was indicated.

Plagues Liston

Liston, who motored into Chicago from his camp at Aurora Downs, Ill., Monday night, was delighted at the promise of very cool weather.

"Remember what I said in camp," he told friends. "If it's a cold night, I won't let the fight last very long."

Before Sonny's weather modification, he predicted a kayo over Patterson within five rounds. Now, he apparently figures on a sicker ending.

In the wagering, Liston is favored at 8-5, but a sampling of 104 writers from the United States and foreign countries showed that 62 picked Patterson to win and only 42 favored Liston.

Liston, 28, is favored in the betting to achieve his 27th straight victory because of height.

Tale Of The Tape

CHICAGO (UPI)—Here's the tale-of-the-tape for today's heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston:

Patterson	Liston
28 yrs.	28 yrs.
200 lbs.	215 lbs.
6 ft. 11 in.	6 ft. 1 in.
84 in.	84 in.
17 1/2 in.	17 1/2 in.
44 in.	44 in.
46 1/2 in.	46 1/2 in.
33 in.	33 in.
16 1/2 in.	16 1/2 in.
14 in.	14 in.

25 1/2 in.	25 1/2 in.
16 in.	16 in.
12 in.	12 in.

weight, reach, fist-size and maybe punch advantages. His 84-inch reach is the second longest in heavyweight title history. Ex-champion Primo Carnera had a reach of 83 1/2. Patterson's is only 71. And at six-foot-one, Sonny is two inches taller than the champion. Sonny's gloved 14-inch fists, look like bowling balls.

Likely Aggressor

Sonny is expected to be the aggressor because of his physical advantages and to shuffle after the champion and to use his long left jab as a battering ram, setting him up for smashing left hooks or straight rights.

Twenty-seven-year-old Floyd, making his eighth defense in his 10th title fight, apparently is just as eager for tonight's battle as is Liston. Before he and his handlers drove into Chicago Monday night from his camp near Elgin, Ill., he reminded his men:

"Gee, I hope this fight is staged Tuesday night, exactly as scheduled. I just couldn't stand a postponement—I'm so eager to get that Liston into the ring—and finally earn the prestige I deserve."

Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, did not want this Liston fight; but Floyd overruled him and told Tom and Al Bolan of Championship Sports, Inc., to make the match. It was a matter of pride with Patterson, who is already a millionaire.

Provides For Rematch

Of course, Floyd does not score the probable $1,700,000 he will receive from all sources for tonight's bout. Moreover, should his superior speed and devastating combinations with hooks fail to defeat big Sonny, they have a contract for a return bout within a year.

Sonny is guaranteed $200,000 for his efforts tonight; but his 12 1/2 per cent of the promotion's net receipts should give him about $400,000. However, if he wins the title, he receives only $50,000 and expenses and puts the rest in escrow as a guarantee to give Floyd a return shot at the title within a year.

Fight Films Will Be Shown Here

The official fight films of tonight's Floyd Patterson vs. Sonny Liston heavyweight championship bout in Chicago will be shown here next week.

Paul West, manager of the local theaters, said the complete round-by-round films will be shown Sept. 4, 5 and 6 at the Capri Theatre. The big punches, West said, will be shown in slow motion.

Also on the card at the theatre will be, "Phantom Of The Opera."

Champagne Chilled For NY's Yankees

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The champagne is chilled and waiting for the New York Yankees and it should at least be already ordered for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The official uncorking could be tonight for the Yankees. It will take a little longer for the Dodgers. But only a miracle can save the pennant hopes of the Minnesota Twins and San Francisco Giants now.

The Yankees' magic number to clinch the American League pennant is one - and they have two chances to make it tonight. They will win it themselves if they beat the Washington Senators and they will win it anyway if the Cleveland Indians defeat the Twins.

The Dodgers' magic number in the National League is four - and it could go down to two tonight if the Dodgers defeat the Houston Colts and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Giants.

Both front-runners play all their remaining games at home. The New York Mets, who can't stay out of the news even when they want to, can add another record in reverse to their first-year history by losing tonight to Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves. The next Met loss will be their 117th - setting a new NL record and equalling the major league record of 117 losses in a season set by the 1916 Philadelphia Athletics. The Mets are an even better bet than the Yankees. The Yankees have five

Longhorns Obviously To Open Conference Play

By United Press International

It was obvious that Darrel Royal's University of Texas Longhorns open conference play this weekend. Royal brought his crying towel to a news conference Monday in Austin.

The Longhorns are favored to whip Texas Tech by 20 points Saturday in Lubbock. Royal commented on the point spread. "They better fumble on their five."

The Longhorns came from behind to whip Oregon 25-13 last week. Oregon opened the gates by fumbling on their five yard line for a quick Steer touchdown. "About as disappointing as I've ever seen... It looked like we were trying to win the easy way."

Poage "Doubtful"

The Longhorns do face some injury problems for the Tech game. Fullback Ray Poage, an All-America candidate, may be out because of a bruised shoulder. Tackles Scott Appleton, Staley Faulkner and end Sandy Sands are listed as doubtful for the Tech game.

Other Southwest Conference coaches made lineup shifts and put their squads through light drills Monday.

Rain forced Frank Broyles to take his strong Razorback squad indoors for a practice in helmets and shorts. Broyles said "four or five of the older boys did well defensively" in last Saturday's 24-7 romp over Oklahoma State. Broyles promised the defense would "get more attention this week" in preparation for Saturday's game against Tulsa at Fayetteville.

Raiders Puff

The Texas Tech Red Raiders ran wild springs. Coach J. T. King shifted quarterback Richard Mahan and fullback Jim Zanios to the halfback slots. Wingback David Rankin missed Monday's drill.

Coach Abe Martin took his spoor Texas Christian Horned Frogs to the movies. The Frogs watched with glee as they whipped favored Kansas 6-3. TCU travels to Florida this weekend, to take on Miami.

Baylor coach John Bridgers, shocked by his team's 19-0 collapse to the University of Houston, moved three members of the Bears' third squad up to the second team. Baylor plays Pittsburgh in Waco Saturday night. Billy Allen moved up to the guard slot. Lewis Sessums took the second squad left tackle position and Ken Hodge replaced a senior letterman at right end. Bridges moved Bobby Maples, a sophomore, into the second squad quarterback slot replacing Robert Christian who injured his knee against Houston.

SMU In Shape

Southern Methodist coach Hayden Fry said his Mustangs will be in top physical shape for the Southern California Trojans Saturday night in Dallas. The Trojans beat SMU 21-16 at Los Angeles last year.

Cliff Dunham, director of the Optimist Boys Club Boxing Program, has announced that there will be a meeting of the Optimist Club Boxing Committee tomorrow night in the Boys Club building at 7:30 p.m.

Any person interested in boxing is urged to attend the meeting, Dunham said.

"We need coaches and assistant coaches," he said, "and a person does not need to be an Optimist Club member to take part in the program. Each coach will have equal rights on decisions made in the program, regardless of their membership or non-membership in the Optimist Club."

Registration for the season's boxing program is scheduled in the Boys Club building this Saturday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Workouts start October 1st and the first bout is tentatively scheduled for October 18.

Homecoming At Clarendon Slated

CLARENDON (SpI)—Plans have been completed for the annual Clarendon High School and College student reunion to be held Saturday.

The Homecoming football game will be played on Bronco Field Friday night with Shamrock.

Registration at the high school beginning at 9 a.m., Saturday will set off the day-long activities. The business meeting and election of officers will be held at 3 p.m. Times of class meetings will be posted. The classes of 1918 and 1928 will be honored this year.

Tickets for the banquet, starting at 5:30 p.m., can be purchased in advance from Genella Eads and Hubert Kidd at $1.25 per person. A dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium.

There will be free baby sitting provided throughout the day.

Walter Rogers Reports

On Constitutional Government

This week our great Nation celebrates the anniversary of an event that motivates the very lifeblood of each of us—the adoption of the Constitution 175 years ago. As a mark of profound respect, I addressed myself to my colleagues in the House in a short message which I repeat here for your thought and comment.

The observance today of the 175th Anniversary of the Adoption of our Constitution is reason sufficient for jubilation and I wholeheartedly rejoice with every free American on this great occasion. But as I reflect upon the real significance of this event, my heart tells me that we, as legislators, must redouble our efforts to return to the true concepts of the Constitution. I speak not as a Democrat but as an American to Americans. Patriotism is universal and transcends all narrow partisan confines. Let us unite in marking this day with a vow to heed the danger signals that are so prevalent today and resolve to restore the principles of constitutional government expounded by Thomas Jefferson, one of the founders of our great American democracy.

Historians regard Jefferson as the sculptor of the first ten amendments which we commonly refer to today as the Bill of Rights — THE REAL KEY TO AMERICANISM!!!!

Otherwise this great document has been amended 13 times. But just a few weeks ago, right here in this Chamber, under parliamentary procedure which blocked free and open debate, another amendment to the Constitution was approved. But approved, I might point out, over the protestations of members like me who believed that the abolition of the poll tax was just one more abrogation of states rights — and another insult to Thomas Jefferson who said, as long ago as 1823, "I see... with the deepest affliction, the rapid strides with which the Federal branches of our government is advancing towards the usurpation of all the rights reserved to the States."

This not to suggest that I have lost faith in the Constitution nor in the American people. On the contrary, the Constitution has withstood the fire and brimstone of practically daily attack from both within and without and, I am proud to say, it stands today as the bedrock of the government of free man. It is the perfect answer to Communism and any other ideology of those who would subject man kind to slavery.

The theme of my protest is rather that "the people, to whom all authority belongs" as Jefferson put it, are being robbed. The authority of the people, according to the Constitution, should be voiced through duly elected representatives to Congress. But the prerogative of the Congress, if we are not more prudent, will be further encroached upon by the Executive and the Judicial branches. Did we not have repeated examples of this piracy during the reign of the Reorganization Plans when the Executive Branch sought repeatedly to vest adjudicative powers in civil service employees?

And the Judiciary Branch has sought by "constructions" to usurp the rights reserved to the States. Certain decisions of the Supreme Court in recent years have absolutely nullified many State laws by the doctrine of Federal preemption which is predicated upon the supremacy clause contained in the Constitution. I do not propose that we alter that. However, there is an area of concurrent legislative jurisdiction where both the Federal government and the State government may constitutionally legislate and where both a Federal and state law may be effective at the same time. It is from this area that the Supreme Court by its "constructions" is evicting the jurisdiction of the States.

Thus it remains for us, the Legislative Branch, to protect the people whom we represent and whose rights are thus being usurped. This we have attempted to do and will continue to pursue either by Congressman Howard Smith's bill, HR 3, the States Rights bill, or any other proper legislative means. To correct this trend, I have introduced H.J.Res. 70, which proposes an amendment to the Constitution to empower Congress, by statute, to limit the authority of the courts of the United States to determine that statutes of the United States or of any State are repugnant to the Constitution.

If left unchecked, the Supreme Court can stray far afield of the powers given to it under the Constitution. Should it do so, and many recent decisions would in-dictate a definite trend in that direction, we may witness proof of the soundness of the fears of Thomas Jefferson when he warned, "... the germ of dissolution of our federal government is in the constitution of the judiciary... a body... working like gravity by night and by day, gaining a little to-day and little to-morrow, and advancing its noiseless step like a thief, over the fields of jurisdiction, until all shall be usurped from the States, and the government of all be consolidated into one."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana has a number of distinctions, including at least one bestowed upon himself.

It is the name "Osagyefo" by which he likes to be known and which means "the redeemer."

But that there are at least some who disagree with this benevolent title for the first Negro prime minister of a British colony and first president of the first colonial territory in tropical Africa to achieve independence, has become increasingly evident in recent days.

Over the weekend in Accra, Ghana's capital, Nkrumah's government proclaimed a state of emergency which just about ended what privacy Ghanaians had left in Nkrumah's drive to establish himself as an absolute ruler.

Search of Homes

The proclamation permitting search of private homes "in the public interest" officially was attributed to a bomb explosion, of which there have been several in recent weeks.

One blast outside the gates of Nkrumah's official residence killed a child.

On Aug. 1, a bomb exploded close to Nkrumah's car while he was travelling through northern Ghana.

Last week, two bomb explosions injured a number of persons on the eve of Nkrumah's 53rd birthday. As a result, birthday celebrations were canceled.

Nkrumah is a man who does not like to be criticized.

The record is filled with deportation orders against his opponents, ranging from opposition political leaders to tribal chieftains.

Ghanaians may be imprisoned for periods up to five years without trial if their actions are considered prejudicial to the defense of Ghana, to relations with other countries or to Ghana's security.

Criticism Dangerous

Nkrumah spent 10 lean years in the United States from 1935 to 1945 during which he sold fish in Harlem, slept on Philadelphia park benches but at the same time managed to get himself a master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

Back at home on the African Gold Coast he went to jail for stirring up independence riots, but stepped out of jail to become prime minister.

He has declared himself a Marxist-Socialist but has warned against bracketing anti-colonialism with communism.

He virtually has eliminated political opposition by setting up one-party rule in a unique example of at least one form of African democracy.

Exchanges Insist On Certain Rules

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's principal stock exchanges, in showing their intentions of safeguarding interests of investors and members alike, frequently circularize member firms to freshen their acquaintance with the rule book and to point out where someone slipped.

The dominant note of these messages to members usually is: The rules are there, now follow them.

Latest example of this kind of communication came from the New York Stock Exchange department of member firms. It pointed out the responsibilities of partners or officers of member firms in supervision of checking the essential facts on new accounts.

Under Rule 405 in the exchange book, the big board says in part that every member organization is required through a general partner or an officer who is a holder of voting stock to:

- 1—Use due diligence to learn the essential facts relative to every customer, every order, every cash or margin account accepted or carried by such organization....
- 2—Supervise diligently all accounts handled by registered representatives of the organization....
- 3—Specifically approve the opening of an account prior to or promptly after the completion of any transaction for the account....

Branch office managers may approve the opening of an account, but it must "within a reasonable time be approved by a general partner or an officer who is a holder of voting stock. These rules and others which follow are specific enough, the exchange's circular points out they have to be put to rest. It warned against sole reliance on registered representatives checking essential facts on accounts, then went into detail as to what to guard against.
