not forget that much of what they learn is going to be learned out of school. And we should see to it that what they learn includes taking care of themselves. In the final analysis, education gets down to self-reliance in an intelligent manner.

Parents should teach, and they should also warn their children. Chiefly, the child should learn never to become friendly with strangers who offer them rides, candy or other favors.

Have your child study this page. Study it yourself. And we join in hoping that your child may complete his school days in good health and emotionally secure.

WARNING TO ALL BOYS AND GIRLS:

Look Out for All Strangers

This is an open letter to all boys and girls, from the smallest child to the teen-age group:

It is molesting of small children.

Your mother and father, your teacher and the police want to keep you safe. You can help them by being careful while you are playing and while you are going to and from school.

The pictures on this page show how you should look for people who may want to hurt you.

Always tell the police or your parents when any of these things happen:

When a stranger asks you to go

When a stranger tries to join in your play.

When a stranger talks to you in the movies.

When a stranger touches you in the movies.

When a stranger tries to make you disobey any of the rules on this page.

And Remember -

Always mark down the license number on the stranger's car.

Take a good look at the stranger. Remember what he looks like.

Look at these pictures carefully. Remember to do as they tell you.

Be sure to have your parents look at this page.
