McNamara Asks Swift OK On Callup Authority

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara appealed today to the Senate Armed Services Committee for swift approval of President Kennedy's new request for authority to mobilize up to 150,000 combat-ready military reservists.
McNamara said the authority would provide a "flexibility of response which could be crucial" if world crises suddenly get worse. Congress was expected to grant the request before adjourning, although many lawmakers were not too enthusiastic.
The secretary said he and the President hoped the requested authority would not be needed. But he said the United States at any time may "face a challenge requiring an immediate and effective response" while Congress is out of session.
Closed Session
Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., promptly ordered a closed session of his committee today to speed action on the request. The House Armed Services Committee will meet Thursday.
With McNamara were Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Norman Paul, assistant defense secretary for manpower, and other Pentagon officials.
In his prepared testimony, McNamara said Kennedy "has made crystal clear his recognition of the threats with which we are faced, and the policy of this government not to allow the export of Communist aggressive purposes by force, in this hemisphere or in other areas of the world."
The defense chief did not mention Cuba, Berlin or any other area by name in the prepared statement. But his reference to this hemisphere reflected congressional and administration concern over the Soviet buildup in Cuba. They also are acutely aware of rising tensions in divided Berlin.
Reservists Praised
McNamara said most reservists called up last year under similar authority performed well and the potential need for a similar call-up has been considerably reduced by increases in regular forces.
The President asked for authority to order 150,000 ready military reservists to active duty for one year and to extend for one year the enlistments and period of service of any member of the armed services or National Guard whose tour of duty would expire before Feb. 28.
No reservists involuntarily ordered to active duty last August could be called up under the requested new authority.
Dodd offered this six-point program to guide U.S. policy:
A commitment to a "declaration of freedom and independence for the Cuban people."
Informing the Cuban exiles in this country that the United States will support and recognize a provisional Cuban government in exile.
Invoking the Monroe Doctrine to proclaim a total embargo on shipments of Communist military materials and military personnel to Cuba. He suggested the possibility of the United States supplying ships with surplus food for every ship with Red arms that was turned back.
A greatly intensified propaganda effort directed to all the people of the western hemisphere.
A total blockade, if necessary, on all shipments to Cuba except food and consumer goods.
Open assistance to Cuban "freedom fighters" through support of their organizing efforts. A decision on military assistance would come at a later date.

Nationalist China Takes U2 Incident Responsibility

Solon Proposes Overthrow Of Castro Regime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., today proposed a blueprint for overthrowing the Castro regime. It would be based on wholehearted U.S. support for the efforts of "the Cuban people to liberate themselves."
Dodd said he was opposed to proposals that U.S. forces invade Cuba. He said, however, that the United States should openly and publicly support Cuban "liberation forces" in meeting "an act of Soviet aggression against the Cuban people."
Dodd, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, said total dictatorships give rise to total popular revolutions. He cited as examples the uprisings in East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Tibet.
He said such a revolution in Cuba could succeed where the others failed because Russia or Red China could not intervene in Cuba as they did in the other countries.
Dodd offered this six-point program to guide U.S. policy:
A commitment to a "declaration of freedom and independence for the Cuban people."
Informing the Cuban exiles in this country that the United States will support and recognize a provisional Cuban government in exile.

Communists Claim Mainland Violation

By KENNEDY A. GALE
United Press International
TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Nationalist China today assumed full responsibility for the flight of an American-made U2 plane which the Communists claim to have shot down over the China mainland.
Peiping practically ignored Taipei and laid the whole blame on the United States. It issued a propaganda blast that blistered U.S. policies on Cuba, Berlin, Southeast Asia and other trouble spots around the world.
Peiping Radio said the plane was shot down Sunday over southeast China by "an air force unit." It gave no further details and did not disclose the pilot's fate.
Nationalist Chinese officials said intelligence experts were trying to learn just what happened—whether the extremely high altitude plane was forced down to lower altitudes by engine trouble or whether the Chinese Reds possibly had used Soviet ground-to-air missiles to knock it down.
Tells Of Missiles
A Chinese Communist pilot, Liu Chen, who defected to the Nationalists last March, said he had learned before leaving the mainland that Peiping had received ground-to-air missiles from the Russians.
Officials in Taipei and Washington disclosed for the first time that Nationalist China had bought two U2 planes from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in July, 1960.
A State Department official in Washington said so far as he knew no restrictions had been imposed at that time as to how and where the Nationalists might use the planes.
A Nationalist spokesman said the planes arrived in December, 1960, and had been making successful flights over Communist China ever since.
Absolve U.S.
Government spokesman James Shen, confirming that one of the two planes was missing, said it was owned and operated entirely by Nationalist China. It was "strictly a Chinese operation," he said.
But Peiping linked the flight with the current Far East tour of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who is to become chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the American "failure" in Laos and other cold war issues.

Gray County Budget And Tax Rate OK'd

Gray County commissioners this morning set a general tax rate of 1.29, the same as last year, when they approved a total county budget figure of $1,115,425. The overall figure, which compares with $986,000 for last year, does not include any pay increases for county employees.
County Judge Bill Craig said that county operation for the 1963 fiscal year is broken down as follows:
General and salary fund, $406,700; jury fund, $3,718; permanent funds (court house and jail), $55,000; road and bridge funds, $584,178; bond interest and sinking fund, $125,804; and hospital interest and sinking fund, $52,812.
Immediately following the budget hearing and approval, commissioners approved the 1.29 tax rate for the county.
The 1.29 tax rate is based on an estimated property valuation of $54,457,000 which is about one million dollars lower than last year, Judge Craig said.
The tax rate is the same as it has been for the past eight years and will be divided as follows:
General road and bridge special fund, 11 cents; jury, one cent; general fund, 45 cents; permanent fund, 3 cents; farm-to-market and lateral road fund, 30 cents; hospital interest and sinking fund, 10 cents; and bond interest and sinking fund, 14 cents.
The county commission also voted to accept a $20,000 bid from the Champlin Oil and Refining Co., of $62.50 per acre bonus for 320 acres for a five-year gas and oil lease of the west half of block 5, league 287, in the Gray County school lands in Gaines County.

Ex-Butterball Starts Reign As Miss America

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jacqueline Jeanne Mayer, a one-time 50-pound butterball who shaped up to become Miss America, bid adieu to privacy today to begin her one-year reign as the nation's symbol of beauty, talent and charm.
The 20-year-old co-ed, who traded the title of Miss Ohio for that of Miss America 1963, came to New York Sunday night from the scene of her coronation Saturday in Atlantic City, N.J.
For the next 52 weeks, the Senusky, Ohio, singer-actress will have little time to call her own as she tours the nation and overseas making personal appearances and putting her endorsements on her sponsors' products. That should add another $65,000 to the $10,000 scholarship she pocketed by beating out 53 competitors to win the title in the six-day Miss America pageant.
The smiling brunette, who stands 5-feet-5 and is a slim 36-22-36, bears little resemblance to the chubby 150-pounder she confessed to being in her mid-teens. Dieting and more dieting, she said, put shape back into her figure and brought her down to her present 115 pounds.
"Ever since I was a chubby girl, I dreamed of Miss America because she represents the ideal American girl," Jackie said.

Ben Bellist Troops Camp Near Algiers

ALGIERS (UPI)—Thousands of troops loyal to Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella camped outside Algiers today despite the Political Bureau leader's pledge that city was to be "demilitarized."
Anti-Western army leader Col. Houari Boumediene, who some observers feel has political ambitions of his own, Sunday marched about 4,000 troops armed with Communist-supplied equipment to the edge of the city.
Ben Bella went to the soccer stadium where 25,000 cheering Algerians were holding a rally. He took the opportunity to promise them elections, land reform and full employment.
"Today the people's national army is in Algiers and I can tell you the Political Bureau has triumphed, thanks to the people," Ben Bella declared.

Slant-Drill Probe Resumes Today

DALLAS (UPI)—A judge, part-owner of an illegally-slanted well in the rich East Texas oil field, may be the first witness today when a legislative committee resumes a probe into Texas' $50 million oil piracy mess.
The General Investigating Committee of the House plans to reopen the inquiry at 10 a.m. today.
The first witness may be Dist. Judge David Moore of Gladewater, Tex., who told the first investigating committee hearing that he may take a lie detector test and produce records to clear him of a connection with the illegally-slanted well. He said he would decide in the recess period.
The meeting will continue to probe into bribing of state officials to allow unscrupulous oilmen to drill their wells directionally to steal oil from beneath leases of legitimate operators.
Witnesses subpoenaed for the first hearing who did not testify will appear before the committee today, committee counsel David Witts said Sunday.

'Little Miss Q's' Grandmother And Mother Face Child Neglect Charges

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The mother and grandmother of "Little Miss Q," a 4-year-old girl that lots of people wanted, faced a court appearance today on child neglect charges.
The mystery of "Little Miss Q," the nickname given the girl some three weeks ago when she was found huddled in a doorway near the bus terminal here, was solved during the weekend.
Her name is Jeannie Lee Odom. Her mother, Mrs. Louis Littler, 27, and grandmother, Mrs. Ruby St. Clair, 44, both of Chicago, identified her Saturday night.
They then were arrested on charges of neglect. There also were indications they may be formally accused of child abandonment.
The reunion solved a mystery of identity which had led persons throughout the country to inquire about the child to see if she was their own.
Mrs. Littler said she was at the bus terminal station Aug. 20 but became ill and left Jeannie Lee with Mrs. St. Clair while she went to a washroom.
Police said Mrs. St. Clair apparently continued on to Kentucky, leaving the girl in the waiting room. The child wandered away.
They said when Mrs. Littler returned to discover her child gone, she assumed Jeannie Lee was with Mrs. St. Clair.

Cuban Guerrillas, Soviet Troops Clash

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A Cuban exile group Sunday reported what it said was the first encounter between guerrillas and Soviet troops in Cuba.
The Union of Free Journalists of Cuba said the fighting occurred near Yaguajay in the Las Villas province. A statement signed by Modesto Vazquez gave no date in mentioning "the colonialist intervention of Russian soldiers," nor details of the fighting.
The statement gave as sources Cubans who had been "asylum" in Havana and recently arrived here.

Integrationists Ask JFK's Intervention

DAWSON, Ga. (UPI)—Desegregation leaders have called on President Kennedy "to stop the Nazi-like reign of terror in southwest Georgia."
Two Negro churches were destroyed by fire Sunday and a white man attacked an FBI agent investigating the blazes.
Virgil E. Puckett, 58, was arrested on charges of striking a federal officer. He waived preliminary hearing today before U. S. Commissioner D. C. Campbell at nearby Albany, scene of mass arrests and racial demonstrations since December.
FBI agents Joseph O'Rourke and Paul Mohr said they were conducting an investigation at the scene of one of the burned churches when Puckett drove up in a pickup truck and began shouting obscenities at them.
O'Rourke said he went to the truck, identified himself and told Puckett to move on. He said

Spy's Brain May Be Injured, Doctors Say

LONDON (UPI)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen hovered unconscious since his life and death for the fifth day today and doctors disclosed his brain had been damaged.
The Lithuanian-born convicted Soviet spy was "less deeply comatized" than he had been previously, a 10:30 a.m. hospital bulletin reported, but he still was suffering frequent convulsions. The convulsions began Saturday, presumably as a result of the brain damage.
The hospital issued its bulletin as the 61-year-old psychiatrist completed four full days in a coma as a result of swallowing an overdose of barbiturates last Thursday to block his deportation to the United States.
"Dr. Soblen is less deeply comatized than he was, but he is

Man Injured In 'Space Capsule' Fire In Training

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Capt. Carl C. Fletcher Jr., 29, of Marietta, Okla., was in serious condition today from a fire in a test space capsule Sunday at the School of Space Medicine laboratory here.
Fletcher's companion in the capsule, Capt. Dean B. Smith, 32, of Huntington Valley, Pa., was not seriously injured in the smoky fire. Fletcher and Smith had been sealed in the capsule for nearly two weeks. Their mock flight was to have ended today.
Officials at the school said quick action by Airman I.C. Henry W. Hall, 26, of Rusk, Tex., may have averted a tragedy.
Fletcher and Smith, blinded by smoke, radioed Hall that the fire had broken out. Hall broke the seal on the capsule and pulled the two men out.
Fletcher was taken to Lackland Air Force Base Hospital. The hospital said Fletcher suffered from smoke inhalation. Smith was treated and released at Brooks Air Force Base Hospital.
"But it would have been much worse if this had happened in space," an Air Force spokesman said. "This is why such tests are made."
The capsule sustained an estimated $10,000 damage.
Fletcher's and Smith's "flight" was the 14th in a series of two-man orbital simulations. The officers live as they would under actual space flight in the tests. One sleeps while the other mans the controls.

Group Says Food Processors Hike Livestock Prices

CHICAGO (UPI)—A militant farm group, rebelling against low produce prices by keeping commodities off markets, today blamed food processors for the highest livestock prices in more than three years.
The National Farmers' Organization (NFO), more than a week after its "all-out holding action" on cattle, hogs, sheep, corn and soybeans began, called for government investigations into rising meat prices.
Meanwhile, NFO "minute men" and food industry officials closely watched the markets to assess the effects of the "hold," aimed at forcing buyers and processors to sign contracts guaranteeing stable, higher prices for farm products.
Oren Lee Staley, president of the fledgling farm group, said at NFO headquarters in Carning, Iowa, that "big companies" were responsible for "abrupt increases" in meat prices.
"The higher prices the housewife is being asked to pay are unjustified and uncalled for," the 39-year-old Staley said. "It's a case of the middleman taking advantage of the consumer."
Staley, of Rea, Mo., declined to identify the "big companies" but gave their names to the Justice Department and to House and Senate investigating committees.
The NFO holding action began Aug. 31, but the first big test came last week in the usually heavy marketing period following a Labor Day week end.
At week's end, beef prices were at the highest level in 40 months and hog prices were higher than at any time in the past four years on some of the 12 major Corn Belt markets.
However, both Staley and market experts predicted the real test of the market "boycott" may come this week, when NFO members and outside supporters will be tempted to ship their livestock while prices are high.
The NFO, with an undisclosed number of members in 16 states from Pennsylvania to Idaho, was organized in Corning seven years ago and has staged several "test" holds, which market experts claimed had little effect on prices.

Temperature Dips To 37 At Dalhart

By United Press International
Temperatures dropped to a frosty 37 degrees in the Texas Panhandle early today.
Pampa's low last night was 46. Heavy showers set off by the chilliest cold front of the season drenched areas of South Texas with nearly three inches of rain.
Dalhart recorded an overnight low of 37 degrees. It was 45 at Amarillo and 47 at Lubbock. Highest overnight readings were 82 degrees at Corpus Christi and Galveston. Sunday's high was 102 at Laredo.
Heavy showers falling just ahead of the cold front dumped 2.75 inches of rain at Victoria during the 24-hour period ended at 5 a.m. Corpus Christi had 1.66 inches.

Cuban Raiders Promise More

CARACAS (UPI)—The leader of the Aug. 23 sea raid on Havana said Sunday the Cuban exile organization which organized the surprise attack plans "many other raids" against the Castro regime.

County Judge Earl Sharp Longview, Near East Texas Field, Was Among 15 Others Subpoenaed Sunday

The office of Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said subpoenas were served Sunday on five more East Texas field oil operators. They were identified as Douglas Godfrey and Gavle Oglesby, both of Kilgore, J. D. Laird and J. L. Guley Jr., both of Tyler, and A. B. Martin of Troup, Tex.

Integrationists Ask JFK's Intervention

Puckett got out of the truck shouting and then hit Mohr, breaking his glasses.
Since desegregation activities were stepped up here last month, three Negro churches have been burned down, four Negro homes have been fired on and a white youth working in a Negro voter registration drive has been shot and wounded.
Scene of Meetings
Negro voter registration meetings had been held in one of the churches which burned Sunday. A minister and a deacon in the other church have been active in the vote drive.
Terrell County Sheriff Z. T. Matthews said he did not think efforts to register Negroes to vote had anything to do with the church burnings.
Matthews said the whites "don't like the mingling" of white and Negro members of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), the group which has spearheaded the registration efforts.
The sheriff said white youths and girls were living in Negro homes here while working with SNCC.
Issues Denied
However, Prathia Hall, 22-year-old Negro co-ed from Temple University, said there were no white girls with SNCC in this area. "We may have had visits from white girls at our headquarters," she said, "but none are staying here."
Mrs. Lucy B. Mallory, 52, a Negro who lives near the Mount Olive Baptist Church, said she saw the church on fire from her window at about 2 a.m.
Mrs. Mallory said she awakened her husband but he was unable to put out the blaze. "I didn't sleep a wink after that," she said. "I am scared to death."
A short-time later fire broke out at the Mount Mary Baptist Church.

Garden Hose Shoos Raiding Birds Away

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR GIRLS — I had no idea birds so enjoyed feasting on tomatoes and other garden stuff until so many of you started to write about your pet bird chasers. One letter signed "Suburban House Wife" really took the cake as far as I am concerned. She cuts green plastic garden hose into pieces about the length of a snake. These are draped over the plants and coiled around the garden to really scare the pool birds away. I will have to admit I never before knew that birds were afraid of snakes.

DEAR POLLY — Before hanging a picture or mirror, I make a pencil dot on the wall where the nail is to go. This is covered with about an inch of cellulose tape. The nail is driven in where the pencil dot is without making a crack in the wallpaper or a ship in the plaster.

DEAR POLLY — I always blot my lipstick with a tissue to remove any excess but in spite of this, I sometimes have lipstick marks on handkerchiefs or a dress neckline. From the looks of my napkins after a party I don't think any of my friends even attempt to blot. No matter how I hand-washed and rubbed, those red stains remained until I learned to rub them with vaseline and rinse with tetrachloride before washing.

FASTIDIOUS
DEAR POLLY — My teen-age boys wear heavy white athletic socks and when they are past any more darnings, they go into my cleaning basket. I slip them over my hands to wipe dust off painted surfaces like the mantel, anything that does not get the furniture polish treatment. Lamp bases and shades, accessories and books are easily wiped clean with these sock gloves.

Junior Service League To Aid EC Classrooms

As one of its first projects under its new format, the Junior Service League of Pampa, formerly Pampa Education Club, will sponsor a formal Charity Ball on Oct. 4 in the Pampa Country Club.

A new teacher in exceptional classroom work this year is Miss Myrna Montgomery, a speech therapist, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Montgomery of Miami. Miss Montgomery will be teaching the orthopedically handicapped children in Sam Houston.

She was graduated from the University of Wichita in Wichita, Kan. with a Bachelor of Arts in education. She has been doing speech therapy for the past two years in the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita.

Mrs. Birdie Turner has been teaching in exceptional children's classrooms for six years; four years in Sam Houston classrooms and two years in Dalhart.

Her work this year will be with the mentally retarded children, ages 6 to 12 in Sam Houston. "I'd like for parents to know that we are following the program set up in the regular classroom; reading; numbers; and spelling. We are following the classroom guide put out by the Texas Education Agency," Mrs. Turner said. "We don't use the very same text books. There are a special series of reading books that are on a fifth and six grade level, but are written in 1st and 2nd grade comprehension."

Mrs. Turner was graduated from West Texas State College and received a Masters of Education degree from WTSC in 1952. She completed certification work this summer at WTSC and received a lifetime certificate to teach mentally retarded children. She has been teaching for 27 years.

A Junior High School classroom is a new addition to the Exceptional Children school work which was added last year and will be entering its second year under the tutelage of Mrs. Bernice Lorenz, formerly of Stinnett.

Mrs. Lorenz, also received a lifetime teaching permit for exceptional children this summer where she also has a BS and ME in education from WTSC. She has 18 years teaching experience; one year at Hereford working with exceptional children.

This year, again, she will be teaching 12-18 year - old student arts and crafts, socialabilities and some school subjects.

"The girls" are taught sewing and the boys learn woodwork, leather-craft and they have physical education with the regular classes," Mrs. Lorenz said.

With the removal of the EC classrooms from Travis to Sam Houston, there is a need for many things. "Facilities are being added in the classrooms, but since the program is being expanded, there is a need for so many things," a Junior Service League spokesman said.

The Mature Parent Begrudging Give

Runs Into Trouble

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: You recently described the mistake we have been making with our 12-year-old girl — "begrudging giving." I am now trying to say "No" when I don't want to give her what she asks for. There is already a slight improvement, but room for much more. Though she pushes herself at school and gets excellent marks, at home she is unco-operative and lazy, leaving her clothes and books around helter-skelter. I know she needs praise, but how can I give it when she does so little to please? I cannot reach this child.

ANSWER: Maybe she begrudges giving to you for the same reason that you have begrudged giving to her.

Why have you felt unco-operative when she has asked you for things?

Is it because she's so hard to satisfy? This is usually our reason for joyless giving to children. We know that if we allow Jimmy to stay up to the end of a television show, he will not appreciate the privilege but use it to try and bully us into another extension of bedtime. We begrudge giving to unco-operative children because we know that no matter what we do for them, it will never be enough to satisfy their greediness for more services, more indulgence, more things.

Perhaps your daughter feels the same way about giving to you. Maybe her experience has led her to believe that no matter what she does to please you, it is never enough to satisfy you.

"Could this be true? Have you somehow convinced her that you will always find some fault in the way she hangs up her clothes, tidies her room and clears the dinner table? If so, she may have lost all hope of ever satisfying you—and become a "begrudging giver" herself.

New version of the mirror-over-the-mantel decorative effect combines small framed mirrors with a larger one and dull gold Oriental plaques and pictures. The reflective advantage of mirrors to make a narrow room appear wider is not lost in this arrangement.

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: My husband and I will fly to the south of France and Lisbon for two weeks in October. As this is a rather quick trip, we will be doing as much sightseeing as possible during the day and going out in the evening. As this will be our first trip abroad, will you please advise me on what type of wardrobe to take? Thank you so much.—Mrs. J. W. W.

Dear Mrs. J. W. W.: The logical designer to put this particular question to is Guy Duvivier of Christian Dior — New York. And this is what he has to suggest: "You do not say so but I assume that on your first trip to France, you will visit Paris. Actually, the clothes you wear in Paris will also do for the countryside. Take a textured tweed suit but nothing dressy. And no black sweaters to wear with the suit. "Take a lightweight coat, of course, one with an interesting fuzzy surface. Stick to really smart dark grays and browns and have some little berets in brown suede. Take a large black alligator bag and walking pumps. Take some dark cocktail dresses but nothing too dressy. And one really sensational evening gown. France is likely to be cold and possibly rainy in October so go prepared. Have a marvelous time!"

Dear Gaile: My husband and I plan to fly to England for a two months stay in the spring. I have a Troy petite two-piece navy blue silk linen, navy shoes and bag. Would a lightweight suit and navy tweed coat be a good selection? What clothes are suitable to take? I am 60 years old, 5 feet 2, weigh 120 pounds, have brown hair, blue eyes. The more vivid colors suit me well but I enjoy wearing navy. Thank you for help with my clothes problems.—Mrs. B. H. B.

Dear Mrs. B. H. B.: London is chic but the English countryside is tweedy and you'll feel out of place here if you're overly dressy. Advice on what to take comes from Hannah Troy since your letter indicates that you wear her designs. She says: "Enliven that navy blue with another color: emerald green. Otherwise, you'll get that dull, safe, all-navy look. Have a three-piece suit and possibly a coat in emerald green tweed or a rough-textured wool. A suit with over-biouse will be perfect. Take a daytime print in green and blue silk. "Have two soft cocktail and dinner dresses, possibly in classic black with accessories in a single brilliant color. Take some sweaters; England can be cold in spring and central heating, as we know it, doesn't exist in many places. Have a smart raincoat with matching travel umbrella."

Interesting small old picture frames are no longer so easy to find in second-hand shops but a search will be rewarded, especially in smaller towns and auction sales. Mirrors cut to square or rectangular shapes to fit in the frames are not very expensive, our local paint and glass dealer assures me.

Mirror, Mirror On The Wall Is Prettiest Of All

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Snterprise Assn.

Wall decorations present a dilemma to the homemaker who has had walls freshly papered or painted. Should the old pictures, mirrors and bric-a-brac be rehanging in the same locations? Should new arrangements be tried? Should we chuck the old and try for something completely different?

The pristine, unspotted walls with old nail holes spackled and covered and frame marks erased offer a clean slate, so to speak, for new ideas. But neither are we eager to mar the clean surface with experimental holes.

Several months ago we repapered our living room. I'm still slowly edging decorations back on the walls. Surprising to me is that new paper can give such a different character to a room. I had to "live with" the refurbished effect before I could make up my mind. The walnut-framed sepia print of the old family homestead was the first to return to its vantage point. I gathered up some black and white engravings from other rooms and (shakily) with paper and measuring tape made a simple grouping on another wall.

What to do about the unframed mirror which used to be over the mantel has me stumped. When I rest it on the ledge (the old hole holes were filled) it looks rather out of date. But the reflecting power of a mirror is needed. A narrow room, such as ours, does appear wider with the help of a mirror. The reflected colors of curtains and pictures are decorative, too.

A report by Anne Cain, a mirror manufacturing firm, has some ideas which may enlighten us and help me fill the over-the-mantel spot. Miss Cain points out that a few seasons back, slim mirror panels used in twos and threes were popular with homemakers to add ribbons of pattern and color both to large wall areas and stairway settings.

The newest ways to incorporate mirrors into wall groupings is to combine framed mirrors with other wall accessories. Possibilities are extensive and range from the use of two or three small framed mirrors — perhaps in hexagonal or octagonal shapes — interspersed with art objects or sculpture to a larger grouping using pictures, plaques and mirrors.

The grouping may carry out one color, such as a gold motif, or it may combine colors. Darker wood frames may be used with gold frames. There is no reason why my unframed mirror couldn't be framed in a walnut-stained or gilded molding and combined with other framed pictures.

An effective grouping pictured with this article combines a large rectangular mirror in a gold-anodized aluminum frame with three mirrors, two square and one rectangular, in carved gold frames. Dull gold Oriental plaques and a framed locket fill out the arrangement.

The use of unframed plaques reminds me that a friend of mine showed me how to do my own. He takes a piece of wood about a half-inch thick and the size he wants. He hacks up the edges a bit with a saw so it won't look too new and perfect. Then he glues to the face of it a piece of interesting fabric (toiles are favored) or an oriental scroll. Next he shellsacks or varnishes it, depending on how antique he wants it to look.

Junior Service League To Aid EC Classrooms

As one of its first projects under its new format, the Junior Service League of Pampa, formerly Pampa Education Club, will sponsor a formal Charity Ball on Oct. 4 in the Pampa Country Club.

A new teacher in exceptional classroom work this year is Miss Myrna Montgomery, a speech therapist, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Montgomery of Miami. Miss Montgomery will be teaching the orthopedically handicapped children in Sam Houston.

She was graduated from the University of Wichita in Wichita, Kan. with a Bachelor of Arts in education. She has been doing speech therapy for the past two years in the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita.

Mrs. Birdie Turner has been teaching in exceptional children's classrooms for six years; four years in Sam Houston classrooms and two years in Dalhart.

Her work this year will be with the mentally retarded children, ages 6 to 12 in Sam Houston. "I'd like for parents to know that we are following the program set up in the regular classroom; reading; numbers; and spelling. We are following the classroom guide put out by the Texas Education Agency," Mrs. Turner said. "We don't use the very same text books. There are a special series of reading books that are on a fifth and six grade level, but are written in 1st and 2nd grade comprehension."

Mrs. Turner was graduated from West Texas State College and received a Masters of Education degree from WTSC in 1952. She completed certification work this summer at WTSC and received a lifetime certificate to teach mentally retarded children. She has been teaching for 27 years.

A Junior High School classroom is a new addition to the Exceptional Children school work which was added last year and will be entering its second year under the tutelage of Mrs. Bernice Lorenz, formerly of Stinnett.

Mrs. Lorenz, also received a lifetime teaching permit for exceptional children this summer where she also has a BS and ME in education from WTSC. She has 18 years teaching experience; one year at Hereford working with exceptional children.

This year, again, she will be teaching 12-18 year - old student arts and crafts, socialabilities and some school subjects.

"The girls" are taught sewing and the boys learn woodwork, leather-craft and they have physical education with the regular classes," Mrs. Lorenz said.

With the removal of the EC classrooms from Travis to Sam Houston, there is a need for many things. "Facilities are being added in the classrooms, but since the program is being expanded, there is a need for so many things," a Junior Service League spokesman said.

COMEBACK FOR DOBBIN—Automobiles towing boats on trailers are a common enough sight on the nation's highways, but a horse and buggy towing a boat, complete with outboard motor, is a real traffic-stopper. Shortly after this picture was taken in Middlebury, Ind., the driver stopped at a service station for gas and oil—for his outboard motor, of course.

President Arrives Back In Nation's Capital; Will Visit With Eisenhower

By MERRIMAN SMITH UPI White House Reporter WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy arrived back in the nation's capital today for a meeting with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Berlin.

Kennedy, who spent the week-end with his family at Newport, R. I., arrived at Andrews Air Force Base, aboard the presidential jet.

The chief executive wrote to Eisenhower recently asking for a first hand report on the former president's recent summer tour of Europe and Great Britain.

In addition to Berlin, Kennedy and Eisenhower are expected to discuss European problems in general at the lunch meeting.

The President, who spent a placid yachting weekend in New England, also was to see a report from his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, on the weekend destruction of Negro churches in Georgia.

Other troubled situations awaiting detailed examination included the loss over Red China of a Nationalist Chinese U2 spy plane bought from the United States in 1960. On another front, he expected a new report from Acting Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz on efforts to settle the telegraphers strike against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway.

Kennedy will be back in Washington only briefly. He leaves early Tuesday with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for a survey of military and civilian space installations at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Huntsville, Ala.; Houston, Tex., where he will speak Wednesday morning at Rice University, and St. Louis. He is due back in Washington Wednesday night and may hold a news conference next Thursday.

Republican Battle Is Primaries' Headliner

By United Press International A Republican battle in New Hampshire over the Senate seat is the late Sen. Styles Bridges' GOP nomination for his four-year unexpired term. Both New Hampshire congressmen, Reps. Perkins Bass and Chester E. Merrow, also seek the nomination against Sen. Maurice J. Murphy, now serving by appointment.

Gov. Wesley Powell, once Bridges' administrative assistant, is seeking renomination for a third term. One of his two GOP challengers is John Pillsbury, another former Bridges aide.

New Hampshire's other senator, Norris Cotton, has only one opponent, Norman LePage, in his quest for Republican nomination for a regular six-year term. In the Democratic primary, Alfred Catalfo Jr. is unopposed for the nomination for Cotton's seat and Thomas J. McIntyre is unopposed for the nomination for the Bridges seat.

In other states: Arizona: Gov. Paul Fannin and Rep. John J. Rhodes are unopposed for renomination in the Republican primary. Rep. Morris K. Udall is unopposed in the Democratic primary. Sen. Carl Hayden, who has served in Congress since 1912, has one opponent, Stephen Shadegg and Evan Mecham are seeking the Republican senatorial nomination.

Colorado: Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols and Sen. John A. Carror are unopposed for renomination in the Democratic primary. Rep. Peter H. Dominick is unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.

Minnesota: Gov. Elmer L. Anderson is unopposed for renomination in the Republican primary. Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. The biggest contest is between Rep. H. Carl Andersen, who was mentioned during the investigation of the Billie Sol Estes case, and State Rep. Robert Odgaard for a congressional nomination.

Rhode Island: Gov. John A. Notte Jr. is seeking renomination in a Democratic primary contest against Mayor Kevin K. Coleman of Woonsocket and Francis A. Manzi. The GOP also has three candidates for governor.

Vermont: Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr., Sen. George D. Aiken and Rep. Robert T. Stafford are unopposed in the Republican primary. The only Democratic contest is between former Rep. William H. Meyer and W. Robert Johnson for the senatorial nomination.

Utah: Sen. Wallace F. Bennett is opposed by former Gov. J. Bracken Lee, now mayor of Salt Lake City, for the Republican senatorial nomination. Rep. David S. King is seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination. Democratic Rep. M. Blaine Peterson is unopposed for renomination.

Washington: Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, heavily favored to win a fourth term this year, has one Democratic primary opponent. Two Republicans are seeking the Senate nomination to oppose him.

Wisconsin: Sen. Alexander Wiley is seeking renomination for a fifth-term in the GOP primary against one opponent. Gov. Gaylord Nelson is unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination. There are three candidates in the Republican gubernatorial primary. John W. Reynolds is unopposed on the Democratic side.

Missing is the county unit system, which gave rural voters a greater voice in state politics. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At all drug counters.

New York Titans In Opening Game Win

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

For three years now Lee Grosscup has been trying to tell everyone that he's a pro quarterback and he proved it convincingly in his first game for the New York Titans in the American Football League.

Grosscup, a bench-warmer three seasons for the New York Giants of the National League and a reject by the Minnesota Vikings last week, threw an 80-yard touchdown pass to Art Powell the first time he got his hands on the ball in the AFL.

In an incredible performance for a newcomer who had joined the club only 48 hours previously, Grosscup completed two more TD tosses Sunday in leading the Titans to a 28-17 upset victory over the Oakland Raiders.

The Houston Oilers began their quest for a third straight AFL championship by beating off the Buffalo Bills' desperate last-half comeback for a 28-23 triumph in Sunday's only other game. On Saturday night, the Dallas Texans trounced the Boston Patriots, 42-28.

Fem Softball Title Game Set Tonight

The championship of the Top O' Texas Women's Softball Tournament will be decided in a game to be played here tonight.

The Pampa team hosts Stinnett in the final and deciding game at 7:30 at the Optimist Club Park.

Both teams suffered one loss in the double elimination tournament started here a couple of weeks ago with each team's only loss being to the other.

Pampa defeated Dalhart twice and Stinnett once in the tournament and Stinnett beat Fritch, Dalhart and Pampa once. Dalhart has won third place in the tournament and tonight's game will decide first and second places.

The teams will play seven innings under the lights.

Pastrano Is After More Fights Now

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Willie Pastrano's manager, Angelo Dundee, says "there are several things in the works" for the swift boxing scientist who dethroned Argentina's tough Adolfo Diaz here Saturday night.

Dundee said Sunday he is working on a Swedish tour for Pastrano in which he will appear with heavyweight Ingemar Johansson. Dundee also said Pastrano might meet light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson in a title bout, but he had received no word on that fight yet.

Promoters in Philadelphia had said prior to Saturday night's nationally televised fight that they would give Pastrano a shot at the title—if he looked good.

Pastrano, 26, made it a contest of two styles as he sailed away his 37th win in 74 fights. It was Diaz's sixth loss in 25 fights.

He Won Golf's 'World Series'

Nicklaus 'Has It Made'

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — At 22, blue-eyed Jack Nicklaus had it "made" today but he was only beginning to "shoot at the moon."

His aim in the golf business, which he had begun to dominate with victory over Arnold Palmer and Gary Player in the fairway "world series" on the heels of his U.S. Open triumph, is the big grand slam. That means winning the U.S. and British Opens as well as the Masters and PGA.

Nicklaus, unboasting but heavily favored by the years, is looking for two such slams, or maybe more.

"I hope people wouldn't think I was bragging," he said after he conquered the Firestone Country Club "monster" course with a two-round five-under-par effort and a four-shot win over both his rivals, "but I think you should always shoot high."

Jockeys Guild To Eye Films After Suspension

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Jockeys Guild, which managed once before to temper a similar penalty, today will look at films of the race which brought 2½ months of imposed idleness for rider Manuel Ycaza.

Ycaza drew a 10-week suspension Saturday from the Illinois State Racing Commission for making a "frivolous claim of foul" after his mount finished second in history's richest horse race the Arlington-Washington Futurity.

When Ycaza was fined $200 and suspended for a similar offense in the Preakness last May 19, the guild managed to get the suspension cut to 10 days.

If the guild should decide against backing Ycaza in his current difficulty, the jockey could still appeal to the Illinois commission for reduction of the penalty.

However, Arlington's state track steward, Ted Atkinson, himself a former great jockey, insisted that it was the commission which ordered the stiff penalty, believed to be the most severe ever imposed for such an offense.

"The track stewards did not make any specific recommendations on the penalty to be imposed," he said. "This is obviously a much more severe penalty than has been levied in the past."

Ycaza, riding favored Never Bend, finished second behind a Rex Ellsworth entry, Candy Spots, in the $367,000 Futurity. Afterward, he claimed that his mount was fouled by another Ellsworth entry, Big Kim.

Hank Moreno, who rode Big Kim, denied it. So did Willie Shoemaker, who was up on Candy Spots. The stewards, after looking at films of the race, agreed and recommended that Ycaza be disciplined.

grinned. "Let's not forget this one. And I certainly hope they invite the defending champion back next year."

Future Is Rosy

Whether they do, or not, this is one young man whose future appears extremely rosy. Prior to picking up this $50,000 he already had earned $52,068 with his magic sticks this year. They won't count this $50,000 in his official money winnings.

But as long as it's those good old Yankee dollars, young Jack couldn't care less.

And at 22 you can't blame him for dreaming of not one, but possibly two or more slams. After all, in addition to his fantastic game and swift success, the biggest thing he's got going for him is the years.

Bob Goalby To Leave Professional Golf After Winning Denver's Open

DENVER (UPI) — Bob Goalby took the occasion of his victory in the $30,000 Denver Open tournament to leave the professional golf tour today and return to his home town to play more or less for fun.

Sunday's conquest in the 72-hole tournament over the Denver Country Club course enriched the 31-year-old Goalby by $4,300. He is the tour's sixth leading money winner at $43,920.

Goalby fashioned a one-under-par 69 on the final round to edge into first place with a three-under-par 277. It was only one stroke over the 278 of Jack Fleck, Los Angeles; Billy Maxwell, Las Vegas, Nev.; Bob Nuden, Portland, Ore.; George Bayer, Miami; Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and third-round leader, Bill Johnston, Phoenix, Ariz. They received checks of $1,816 each.

Goalby, enjoying his best pocketbook year on the tour, surged into the lead on the 10th hole Sunday, as Johnston took a bogey. But he nearly lost it on the 18th, where he missed a four-foot putt.

"I thought I was dead," said the 185-pound six-footer.

He had good reason for his thoughts because Wall, Johnston and Bayer were bearing down on him in the final threesome.

Johnston, needing a birdie to tie, could do no better than par. However, Bayer and Wall needed only pars to force a playoff. But both bogeyed as Goalby sat on his golf bag and watched from the edge of the green.

Goalby, whose only other victory this year came in a playoff against Wall in the Insurance City Open at Hartford, Conn., said he would return home to play in a $3,500 tourney at Belleville, Ill. Late this month he plans a golfing trip to New Zealand.

Miss Englehorn Is Women's Golf Tourney Winner

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—The women's professional golfing tour added a nervous new champion Sunday in the $8,000 Eugene Women's Open.

Shirley Englehorn, a 21-year-old Spokane, Wash., girl tied her own course record of 69 on the final day to win the $1,230 first prize by seven strokes with a 72-hole total of 292.

Miss Englehorn shot her first 69 in the second round Friday. She was so nervous the next day she was unable to eat and "just ran out of energy." She soared to a live-over-par 79 on Saturday and lost all but one stroke of her lead to Jackie Pung, Daly City, Calif.

She collected four birdies and one bogey on the front nine Sunday for a three-under-par 35. She added two more birdies on the second nine, with the help of a 30-foot putt on the 15th hole.

It was only the second victory of the professional tour for Miss Englehorn, but it promoted her to fifth in the money - winning ranks with $9,147 so far this year.

Miss Pung was one over par with a 75 in the final round and finished second with 299.

Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss., came in with a 73 to take third place at 301. Another stroke behind were Ruth Jensen, Micki Wright and Betsy Rawls.

'Coyotes' Will Open Defense Of AAAA Grid Title

By United Press International

Wichita Falls' powerful Coyotes open their bid for another state title this week to headline an opening Class AAAA schoolboy football schedule that also includes four play-for-keep district tilts.

The Coyotes, boasting 17 lettermen but only three regulars from the defending championship outfit, aren't expected to be extended too much, however, when they tackle Lubbock High's Westerners Friday night at Lubbock.

Favorites Idle

District play gets under way in the bulky El Paso and Dallas districts although the district favorite in each isn't involved. In I-AAAA, El Paso Irvin and El Paso Jefferson meet in a game that counts while favored Yaleta Bel Air journeys to Pampa for an outside game. In 6-AAAA, defending champs Woodrow Wilson plays Dallas Samuel, Kimball meets Adamson and North Dallas plays Hillcrest while favored Bryan Adams travels to the suburbs to meet strong Garland.

The opening week schedule is packed with headline attractions besides these.

Favorites Active

Runners-up Glensia Park plays Houston Milby, highly-regarded Pasadena hosts Spurgin Houston, Houston is at Garland, Beaumont, Beaumont South Park at Nederland, Port Neches at Brownport, Waco High entertains Corsicana, Houston Lamar is at Corpus Christi Rav and Austin McCallum at Corpus Christi Carroll in the southern half.

In the northern brackets, Borger is at San Angelo, Fort Worth Arlington Heights is at Amarillo Tascosa, Dallas Jefferson at Highland Park, Denton at Haltom City and Tyler High at Paris.

Class AAA, which got under way on a small scale last week, also has some top attractions on this week's schedule, including champion Dumas' debut at home against Amarillo Palo Duro and San Antonio's potent Greyhound against Brownsville.

Sweetwater is at Breckenridge in a renewal of their perennial West Texas strongboy rivalry and highly-louted Orange hosts Beaumont French.

Austin In Wir Over Sun Kings

By United Press International

The Austin Senators whacked the El Paso Sun Kings 9-6 Sunday night, tying their Texas League playoff series at two-all.

The winner of the fifth and deciding game will meet the Texas Oilers for the Texas League title.

Ronald Hunt got the Senators off to a running start in the first inning with a two-run homer. The Senators got four runs in the first, then added tallies in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings to ice the game.

The host Sun Kings' best starter, Doug's Ribant from the mound with three runs in the eighth but reliever Tette came in to choke the heavy El Paso bats.

Ribant got the win for Austin. The loser was El Paso right-hander William Fender.

Top in Soccer SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Big all retained the World Soccer Cup this year with a 3-1 victory over Czechoslovakia.

The Austin Senators whacked the El Paso Sun Kings 9-6 Sunday night, tying their Texas League playoff series at two-all.

The winner of the fifth and deciding game will meet the Texas Oilers for the Texas League title.

Ronald Hunt got the Senators off to a running start in the first inning with a two-run homer. The Senators got four runs in the first, then added tallies in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings to ice the game.

The host Sun Kings' best starter, Doug's Ribant from the mound with three runs in the eighth but reliever Tette came in to choke the heavy El Paso bats.

Ribant got the win for Austin. The loser was El Paso right-hander William Fender.

"Some Republicans are acting like 'guerrilla warriors' — hit and run. While their high command denies responsibility, they are saying 'Come on, Mr. President, we've got you a war — you provide the troops.' This is very careless and reckless politics."

Paddle, Paddle --for 50 Miles

The Red Cross "Swim and Stay Fit" project, launched a year ago to add stimulus to President Kennedy's physical fitness program, is going over with a big splash. Participants keep topped up by swimming a total of 50 miles over an indefinite period of time in multiples of 440 yards. Suit patches are awarded to those completing the prescribed 50 mile swim.

Richard Brown made up the idea so, naturally, he had to participate. He's national director of the American Red Cross Water Safety Service and is at left, above, receiving his award.

This was the first family to finish the 50-mile swim simultaneously. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Censor and their son, Alex, of Long Beach, N.Y.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans who are condemned to earn and spend a dollar which continues slowly to shrink in value are not alone in questioning the stability of U. S. money.

There is gossip abroad that the United States will be compelled soon to devalue the dollar officially in its relationship to the price of gold. There is more than gossip. There is the fact that Europe's central bankers are so doubtful of the paper dollar's staying power that some prefer not to hold dollars in their vaults as a backing for their own currencies. Many of them prefer to hold gold.

U. S. citizens may not exchange their paper dollars for gold. President Franklin D. Roosevelt withdrew that privilege in 1933 in the process of taking the United States off the gold standard. Foreign governments' central banks, however, can exchange for gold the dollars they accumulate. Foreign nations who gain dollars in trade with the United States may exchange those dollars through the banks.

When a foreigner exchanges an accumulation of U. S. dollars for U. S. gold, that foreigner has protected himself against a further slide in the dollar's real value, its purchasing power. Most especially he has protected himself against any action by the United States to devalue the paper dollar by increasing the price at which the U. S. Treasury will exchange U. S. gold for U. S. dollars.

The gold price fixed by FDR in 1933 was $35 an ounce. This had the effect of reducing the value of the dollar in terms of gold from 100 cents to 59 cents. President Kennedy found it necessary some weeks ago firmly to deny any

Do you believe man is not condemned by the doctrine of "original sin," but is inherently capable of improvement? NEW YORK (UPI) — Whether we like it or not, says L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. one reason for the present "sexless" market is that we are still in the backwash of a speculative boom which was carried to absurdities, and we have not yet developed new patterns of speculative enthusiasm.

"Barring something challenging and unexpected, perhaps this type of market is exactly what we should have expected — and there probably will be more of it. Brokers complain that their ideas for action, for the most part have not been paying off."

Hooper says "When you buy a stock that 'looks good' and 'acts well' more often than not, it gets up a little and then goes 'dead.' A market like this tends to discourage public participation, so volume is small."

Bache & Co. says it notices two clear market points in terms of the Dow-Jones industrial average, namely the Aug. 23 closing high of 616 and the Aug. 31 closing of 602.32. It says a rise through the former would confirm that the short-term trend remains upward, but a closing below the latter level, such as occurred Wednesday, accompanied by increased off buying, "would be looked upon with suspicion."

Institute for Economic Research calculates that foreign claims of all kinds against U. S. gold now exceed the total of U. S. gold stocks by $1.9 billion.

The almighty dollar is in a bad way at home and abroad although the voters seem not to know or, maybe, to care.

Another Remedy Possible
Another remedy would be an adjustment of the U. S. balance of trade with all the world's that at the end of a trading year the balance would be in favor of instead of against the United States. When the balance of trade is against the United States, foreigners accumulate dollars or other claims against the United States in excess of any currencies or claims against foreigners that may have been accumulated by the United States.

This excess of foreign claims in dollars and otherwise against the United States represents a potential direct or indirect drain on U. S. gold stocks. The American

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — During the talent competition of CBS-TV's weekend "Miss America Pageant," Miss Wisconsin sang something approximating "I'll Be Anything You Want Me To Be."

I wanted her to be quiet; but her courageous attack on music, and the other usual lapses in a program of this type, still were secondary to the most shocking development of the 2 1/2-hour broadcast Saturday.

A fine, subdued performance by Bert Parks as master of ceremonies, singer, showman and general comforter of the competing young ladies. And if that isn't shocking news, I don't know what is.

It simply was not the same Parks whose loud, used-car-salesman manner abashed the airways in ABC-TV's "Yours For A Song."

He kept his stupefying-mouthful of teeth discreetly unobtrusive, and for this I would like to thank him personally. Earlier in the day, the dentist had claimed one of mine, and the prospect of staring at Parks' pearly-whites for 2 1/2 hours was thoroughly depressing.

Yet, outside of introducing beauty judge Arlene Dahl as "Irene

Dahl," he was virtually flawless in probably the best beauty pageant ever televised.

The best part, of course, was summed up by a fellow in the audience who let out an unbridled "yahoo" as Miss Missouri stepped forward. But, unlike the recent amateurish Miss Universe telecast the producers also integrated their lovely ladies—of past contests as well—into song-and-dance numbers, sometimes getting the effect of a lavish revue.

Parks and dancer Bobby Van did a clever musical routine complete with magic tricks. And four runners-up from last year joined Parks for a catchy show-stopping song entitled "Everybody Can't Be A Winner." Other numbers were less successful; but the format aimed in the right direction, it was a good try and there was a minimum of assinine speeches.

The choice of Miss Ohio—Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, a sophomore at Northwestern University — seemed a good one for Miss America. And there was a wa touch at the end when Pa brought her mother, father, sis and brother on stage without trite. Miss Mayer herself appeared many levels above so of the sorority pajama-partyty she defeated.
