Argentina's Government In Action Against Rebels

Forty Prisoners Are Reported Captured

By DAVID F. BELNAP
United Press International

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Government forces went into action today against a rebel armored column moving on Buenos Aires and captured 40 prisoners.

The first terse government announcement did not say whether any actual fighting took place or if there were any casualties.

A communique said the prisoners were taken south of the large industrial city of Lanus, only six miles south of Buenos Aires.

A rebel communique claimed widespread internal dissension in the armed forces and said the present military command had "lost control" of the situation.

The rebels also claimed the army air force had not only refused to take part in military operations against them but warned the government it would attack their forces the moment they launched an attack on Campo de Mayo.

The dispute which threatens economically-troubled Argentina with civil war is between two rival army factions over the appointment of Gen. Jose Octavio Cornejo Saravia as secretary of war and Gen. Juan C. Lorio as army commander in chief.

Truck convoys were bringing 1,400 troops here from the provincial garrison at Azul and the aircraft school in Mar Del Plata. A trainload of troops was arriving from the airborne school at Cordoba.

Newspaper reports which could not be confirmed immediately said the American-made light cruiser Nueve De Julio (formerly the USS Boise) was on the way here from the naval base at Puerto Belgrano.

Supporters of ousted ex-President Juan D. Peron sped through the streets of suburban Palermo early today, scattering propaganda leaflets from the windows of their automobiles. No other disorders were reported.

Reports from Camp Mayo said rebel Gen. Juan C. Ongania, who proclaimed himself commander of the army Wednesday, had set up his headquarters at the cavalry school on the big army base.

Newsman on the scene said heavy artillery emplacements at the camp had been reinforced, while mechanized patrols scouted the approaches to the base.

President Jose M. Guido decreed the formation of the special three-service command Wednesday.

November Or December Date Seen

Kennedy-Khrushchev Meet In US Indicated

(EDITOR'S NOTE — There has been speculation on both sides of the Iron Curtain concerning a possible Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting this winter. UPI diplomatic correspondent Stewart Hensley, after checking high American sources and sounding sentiment among Communist representatives in Washington, reports his conclusions.)

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The impression is growing in informed quarters here that President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev probably will meet somewhere in the United States in late November or December.

Berlin, the Communist buildup in Cuba and disarmament undoubtedly would be top items for discussion if any such summit session took place.

So far as is known, neither side has made specific proposals or commitments. However, Khrushchev has told recent American and other visitors to Russia that he thought an informal talk with Kennedy might be a good idea. He went on to say to one U.S. official that he would be busy through October but free after that.

The President has kept his own counsel. But there is no tendency in official quarters to discount the possibility of a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting. In fact, it is acknowledged that events seem to be moving in that direction.

U.S. officials believe Khrushchev is preparing to push the Berlin issue to new crisis proportions late this year. They acknowledge a meeting between the Soviet and American leaders might be a good idea before things go too far.

Communist sources here say they would not be surprised if Khrushchev came to New York in late November or early December to speak before the United Nations General Assembly. This would give him an opportunity to meet with Kennedy without investing the conference with too much formality.

both Soviet and American officials appear anxious to avoid any "formal" summit meeting which would raise world expectations of some dramatic progress which simply is not in the cards.

On Key Programs

It's 'Make Or Break' For Administration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration forces reached the "make or break" stage today in their drive to salvage key portions of President Kennedy's farm and education programs before Congress adjourns.

The House was called into session two hours earlier than usual for showdown votes on these two issues before launching floor debate on Kennedy's embattled foreign aid program.

For all three bills the outcome was uncertain.

Democratic leaders were counting on some Republican help in steering to final House passage a compromise bill that would provide $2.3 billion in federal aid to colleges and needy college students.

But party lines were stretched taut in a hammer-and-tongs struggle over the farm bill.

The bill contained the complex wheat production advocated by two-price plan for controlling wheat production advocated by Kennedy. The House earlier this year killed a broader administration bill which would have extended production controls to feed grains.

Both the education and farm bills were compromises of differing measures approved earlier by the House and Senate. Administration forces appeared confident the Senate would accept them, if they could be pushed through the House.

With the lawmakers speeding decisions on a wide range of legislative issues, members of both parties voiced hope that Congress could wind up its business and adjourn a week from Saturday.

Other congressional news:

Wirtz Appointed Labor Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved President Kennedy's nomination of W. Willard Wirtz to succeed Arthur J. Goldberg as labor secretary in the Cabinet.

Wirtz, formerly under-secretary, was cleared by voice vote.

Wirtz has been acting secretary since Goldberg resigned to become an associate justice of the Supreme Court. Goldberg's nomination is pending in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Rusk Says U.S. Is Ready To Intercept Atomic Arms Shipments From Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told press in testimony made today that the United States made clear it would intercept Communist arms or troop shipments from Cuba to other Latin American nations.

The two committees subsequently approved a blunt fight-if-we-must resolution to give Kennedy the support of Congress in any action he deems necessary to curb Fidel Castro, including use of U.S. troops if necessary.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee followed up by approving a similar declaration this morning. The full Senate, and possibly the House, were expected to add their endorsement by nightfall.

In his testimony, Rusk noted that U.S. ships and planes have been instructed to defend themselves if fired upon in international waters. He testified that the United States is conducting a "close surveillance" of the Caribbean and intends to enforce the right to continue it.

That, he said, "could lead to certain incidents which would involve the use of the armed forces of the United States."

Rusk also discussed the circumstances in which U.S. armed force might be committed in the Cuban situation. He said no great nation "can ever abandon its elementary right of unilateral action if that becomes necessary for its own security."

He stressed, however, that the United States has "strong commitments" for joint action around the world and is engaged, with 42 allies "nose to nose with the Soviet Union around the globe."

Bound to Spread
"It is almost inconceivable that the engagement could become hot at one point and not become hot at others, and at each of these points we are necessarily involved with our allies," he said.

The only question surrounding the resolution was how quickly it would be sped through Congress.

"The situation in Cuba should be taken seriously but not hysterically," the Senate report said, stressing that the most dangerous aspect is "the threat which the Cuba regime, strengthened by the recent Soviet arms buildup, poses against the nearby Latin American countries of the Caribbean."

A principal objective of the proposed resolution, the report said, is to "prevent that threat from materializing through force or the threat of force."

The resolution, which won the support of the 33 Senators on the two Senate committees Wednesday, would express the determination of the United States to use all necessary means "including the use of arms" to resist the spread of Cuban communism in the western hemisphere.

It would also declare the determination of this nation to prevent creation in Cuba of an "extensive" network of Communist agents.

Gunbattle Breaks Out On The Day Algerians Marching To The Polls

ALGIERS (UPI) — A gunbattle broke out between rival troops today during the first national elections since Algeria became independent from France.

A spokesman for the Algerian army said "several dozen" soldiers were wounded in a clash with Willaya 4 forces in the Baimen eucalyptus forest east of Algiers. Willaya 4 is the military district encompassing the capital, whose leaders have opposed strongman Ahmed Ben Bella's bid for power.

Ten truckloads of troops roared through the streets of Algiers, loaded with soldiers carrying submachineguns at the ready. They headed for Bain Romains, a small village near the forest.

The trucks rushed past lines of Algerians waiting to vote for a single slate of candidates chosen by Ben Bella's political bureau. Ben Bella set up the bureau to run Algeria until a popular government takes over.

The spokesman said he had called on the bureau to send troops to put down the Willaya forces, reported occupying ridge positions in the forest.

He said the fighting broke out when Army soldiers tried to rescue a kidnapped Belgian couple. There was no further information, but the Belgian consulate confirmed that three Belgians were missing.

Polls throughout the country opened for 10 hours to accommodate 6,459,736 registered voters, most of whom were expected to turn out despite a backdrop of violence.

world problems," he said.

"They are problems which cannot be met by one nation in isolation or by many nations in disarray," he said. "When burdens are shared, there is no undue burden on any nation. When risk is shared, there is less risk for all."

Kennedy spoke to the 17 annual meeting of the governors of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank. The two multi-nation institutions were set up in 1945 to promote world trade, the stability of currencies and economic growth.

The dollar is not only the U.S. national monetary unit, "it is an international currency," he said. "It is the most effective substitute for gold in the international payments system. If the dollar did not exist as an important reserve currency, it would have to be invented."

Export Markets
Kennedy also urged other industrialized countries to "maintain at home prosperous and easily accessible markets for the products of the growing nations." He asked them to help formulate commodity price stabilization agreements to protect the export earnings of less developed lands.

The developing countries, he said, should "make certain that the benefits of increased output are shared by the many and not by the few."

In a prediction which was not included in his prepared remarks, Kennedy said the United States expects to wipe out the balance of payments deficit by the end of next year.

Pampa Key Club Sets Leadership Banquet Friday

Students and two sponsors of Pine Bluff, Ark., High School will be among the honored guests at the Pampa Key Club's fourth leadership banquet scheduled for 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in high school cafeteria.

The banquet annually honors elected and appointed student officers of Pampa High School. Adult community leaders also are guests, with the "Ultimate Leader of the Year" selected and presented with a plaque from the Key Club.

Pine Bluff students are members of their citizenship committees, a unique unit of their school, designed to improve and develop individual and group citizenship.

The group arrived in Pampa Friday and was guest of a luncheon yesterday afternoon. A reception and dance is scheduled for tonight in the Youth Community center.

Tomorrow noon the students and sponsors will be guests of the Pampa Key Club.

The banquet tomorrow night climaxes their Pampa visit. The primary reason for the visit to Pampa, according to C. B. Garrison, principal of the Arkansas school, was to seek further information on the local Key Club leadership and other school projects.

The group will study the Teacher Recitation Day, Pampa Science Fair, Welcome to School the Harvester Band, A Chorus Choir, musical productions and several departments of the Pampa program.

A recent letter from Robert J. Hester, director of Key Club national in Chicago, stated Pampa was the first Key Club organization to include community service projects.

JFK Urges Free World To Share Cost Of Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appealed to other nations today "on the hard and factual grounds of self-interest and common sense" to take up more of the burden of free world defense and foreign aid.

The President also declared that the dollar has achieved "a new strength in the world market." Speculation against the dollar has lost its allure, Kennedy said in a speech to finance ministers of 80 non-Communist countries.

Kennedy pledged "to keep the dollar fully convertible into gold" for other governments "and to back that pledge with all our resources of gold and credit."

"Sustaining the strength of the dollar, the world's chief reserve currency, and providing for future expansion of the international financial system are not American problems, they are free

Russians Extend Nuclear Lead In Recent Testing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians once more are rapidly extending their lead over the West in the testing of giant nuclear weapons.

The current Soviet test series, atomic sources said today, proves again that the Russians are more interested in perfecting city-killers than in developing small "limited war" weapons for battlefield use.

The United States, these sources believe, still excels in the smaller weapon field.

Since Russia resumed atmospheric testing in early August, nearly 70 per cent of the explosions have been of megaton size or bigger. A megaton is the power equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

Ten out of 14 Soviet explosions announced here by the Atomic Energy Commission have been of megaton caliber. They have ranged from one or two megatons to 30.

The proportion of giants in the current series to date has been even greater than it was in the 1961 Soviet program when about 50 per cent of the explosions were in the megaton range.

The United States this year has exploded 27 nuclear test devices (See RUSSIA, Page 3)

Fire Prevention Week Plans Are Outlined Here

Plans were outlined this forenoon for the observance of Fire Prevention Week in Pampa Oct. 7-12.

A dozen committees were set up for various activities during the week at a meeting of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

These committees include finance, publicity, poster distribution, school poster and essays, display of school posters in downtown Pampa, films for school use, service club announcements, fire drills, open house at fire stations, home inspection blanks, sirens at noon, and fire truck rides.

Lindy Houck, general chairman for the Fire Prevention Week plans, said today:

"I would like to stress the importance of a good fire prevention observance in Pampa.

"Every effort should be made to educate the public as to the prime importance of a good fire record in Pampa since it will save lives, property and money for everyone.

"I trust that the members of the various committees and the general public will not take this project lightly, but enter into it with all possible enthusiasm."

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne is assisting Chairman Houck in coordinating the work of the various Fire Prevention Week committees.

Co-chairmen to coordinate work of the various committees, announced shortly before noon today, include: George Neef, Lindy Houck, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne, L. V. Bruce, Joe Cree, Joe Fisher, Paul Payne, Police Chief Jim Conner, Bert Nuckols, and Jack Edmondson, superintendent of schools.

in the Pacific. Only six were megatonners or bigger. They represented about 22 per cent of the total. The largest of the big U.S. weapons was a pigmy compared to the biggest of the Soviet shots.

All this does not necessarily mean the Russians have a bigger arsenal than the West of nuclear weapons ready for use. Most U.S. experts believe the West has the larger multi-purpose stockpile.

Nor does it mean that Russia's weapons are more efficiently mated to the missiles designed to carry them. The aim of atomic weapons is to increase the destructive power of warheads with weight.

President Kennedy reported last March that the Russians in their 1961 series made "great gains" in boosting this yield-to-weight ratio.

The baby's father, who is stationed with the United States Air Force in Korea, is expected home in time for the services.

The Villines' infant was pronounced dead on arrival in Highland General Hospital at 4:10 a.m. Tuesday.

In addition to the parents, she is survived by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Barker of McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Villines of Andrews; great-grandmother, Mrs. L. R. Thomas of Roswell, N.M.; great-great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Barker of McLean.

Hub Cap Thieves Are Active Here

Hub cap thieves have been busy during the past couple of nights in Pampa.

Delbert Daniels reported six hub caps stolen from cars on his used car lot at 858 S. Hobart.

M. A. Gibson of Gibson Motors, 200 E. Brown, said six wheel discs were stolen from two cars on his used car lot last night.

Miss Wanda Powell, 414 1/2 N. Gray, said while she was visiting a friend on N. Gray last night someone stole four hub caps, valued at $80, from her parked car.

Gives Talk For Jaycees

Charlie Wilkerson, program chairman for the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, gave the program himself at the club's weekly luncheon in the basement of the First Methodist Church Tuesday.

Wilkerson, a member of the board of directors, told of how much he had enjoyed being a member of the club, what he had done for him and what he felt was important for club members to seek in the way of service. And then, at the end of his talk, Wilkerson resigned his post as director because of a lack of time to fill the obligations of the position.

Wilkerson, however, will remain a member of the club and will devote what time he can to club projects, according to Jaycee president A. J. Carubbi.

The club voted, at the suggestion of member Paul Mfgrove, to write a letter of appreciation

Flink for his part in helping to uncover the activities of two Soviet espionage agents. The letter will tell of the club's appreciation of Flink and his willingness to endanger his own life and the lives of loved ones in the service of his country. Flink is 27 years old.

In other activities at the meeting, it was announced that the club will sponsor a Junior Bowling Tournament with dates to be announced later. Curtis Fletcher, honored by the club as "Toughest Harvester" of the week, was introduced to the membership by Coach Brown L. Smith.

A motion that the club contribute to a family which lost most of its possessions in a fire at Moberlie early Monday was referred to committee and a report will be made at the meeting next Tuesday.

ROGERS INVOKES JEFFERSONIAN PRINCIPLES — Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa is shown here "introducing" a youth to Thomas Jefferson in observance of the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution.

Rogers Calls For A Return To Jeffersonian Principles

Representative Walter Rogers (D-Texas) this week took advantage of the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution to call for a return to the Jeffersonian concept of constitutional government.

In remarks before the House, Rogers hailed the Constitution as the "perfect answer to Communism or any other ideology of those who would subject mankind to slavery."

He denounced the "piracy" of both the Executive and Judicial branches of the government in seeking to "rob the American people of their constitutional authority through their duly elected representatives in Congress."

Referring to the most recently proposed constitutional amendment to outlaw the poll tax, the Texas lawmaker blasted the movement as "one more abrogation of states rights—and another insult to Thomas Jefferson, the

Water Rights

Probably the most refractory conflict in the whole field of natural resources law, which will no doubt tax the abilities of the legal profession to the utmost if and when it is solved within the framework of the Constitution as written, is the Federal government versus the State governments with reference to the control and jurisdiction of water rights.

Because the matter so clearly and vitally affects the Western States and our section of the country, I have been keenly interested in the subject for a number of years. As a member of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and Chairman of its Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, I have been very close to the problem, its background, and the several approaches to a solution. There are so many facets involved that the entire subject is perhaps not widely understood. Hence, I thought it would be of interest to treat the subject in my newsletters.

Congressional responsibility in the field of water resources stems from constitutional provisions establishing the right of the Congress "to regulate Commerce... among the several States," "to provide for the common Defence and general Welfare," and "to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States."

The Congress has taken an affirmative interest in the development of water resources. It is interesting to note that the early congressional efforts to legislate in this field were made against frequent and long-sustained objections of the executive branch of the government. Since the first efforts in the early 1800's to use Federal funds for the improvement of waterways for navigation, there has been a distinct reversal and the Executive branch today frequently finds the legislative body reluctant to bring the Federal government further into the various phases of water resources development.

In 1820 funds were appropriated for a navigation survey of tributaries of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. Later Congress adopted the general policy of appropriating Federal funds to carry out improvement of rivers and harbors, work which had previously been considered to be the responsibility of the States.

A number of the early river and harbor bills were vetoed, based on the strict construction theory of constitutional interpreting. Next, activity was expanded to take in flood control. In 1879 the Mississippi River Commission was created, one of the first steps toward a national flood control policy. But it was only 26 years ago, that such a policy was developed, in the Flood Control Act of 1936.

Multiple-purpose water resources development in the Western States had been initiated earlier, under the Federal Reclamation Act of 1902. Boulder Dam, authorized in 1928 was the first of the massive multiple-purpose water development projects that have characterized the more recent development of the West.

It was followed by the Bonneville, Grand Coulee, Central Valley, and other large projects. The great depression gave impetus to this movement and saw creation of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In the years since World War II, Congress has expanded Federal activity in the field of water resources into many areas. Recreational developments were authorized, funds were appropriated for the preservation and propagation of fish and wildlife. The Water Pollution Control Act of 1948 furnished planning, research, and assistance to the States, and expanded later to include grants to the States and municipalities for construction of a sewage treatment works.

Thus, over the years, Federal activity has expanded to encom-

NEW YORK (UPI) — James Dines says this is an ideal trading period in the market because a continued period of "vigorous selectivity" is expected.

According to the A. M. Kidder & Co. analyst, the Dow-Jones industrial average will continue to move "churningly and irregularly higher" and is on the verge of a minor uptrend toward the 620 area.

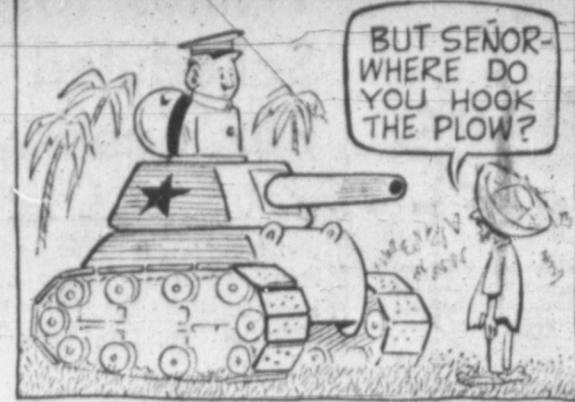

Hornblower & Weeks says strong leadership, capable of encouraging conviction of a possible resumption of the uptrend, remains lacking. In the meantime, however, numerous attractive individual issues, affording above-averaged returns, have appeal for patient investors.

Oppenheimer, Newborg & Neu says prices movements and turnover remained restricted last week and "we adhere to our previously expressed opinion that September might still see slightly better prices."

Alexander Hamilton Institute says the action of the market indicates the likelihood of a trading range developing over the next few months, extending generally from the June lows to somewhat above the August highs.

pass almost every phase of water resources development, with annual expenditures of about one and one-third billion dollars in recent years. With programs of this magnitude, and always, it seems, increasing, conflicts brought about by the dual Federal-State sovereignty over water have been on the increase. In a future newsletter I will discuss the nature of these conflicts.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — If history repeats itself, as advertised, President Kennedy's effort to deal with unemployment by spending a lot of government money is likely to be an expensive bust.

Franklin D. Roosevelt found out about that at great cost to the U. S. treasury. The record so suggests that when large sums are appropriated for such make-work and pump priming purposes, some of the money is likely to go for politicking.

The late Thomas L. Stokes caught the New Deal politicking with make-work money in Kentucky where Harry L. Hopkins sent some treasury funds in an effort to improve the lot of the common man. Publication of Stokes' findings brought angry New Deal denials. But the facts killed Hopkins and Stokes got a Pulitzer Prize for a good and honest job of reporting.

The record of New Deal politicking with make-work money may or may not be complete with the Kentucky incident. There is dispute about that. The record of the New Deal effort to send unemployment away with treasury funds is complete in the tabulations of the sums advanced and the results achieved.

Money to Spend
Congress has authorized an appropriation of $902 million to President Kennedy for make-work or pump-priming projects. He signed the authorization last week. Congress still must appropriate before Kennedy can spend the money. FDR's first draft on the U. S. treasury to get the country moving again and to lick unemployment was for about $3 billion. That was in the spring of 1933.

That was the high year of depression unemployment in the United States. Nearly 13 million persons were listed as unemployed; 24.9 per cent of the labor force. More appropriations were to come and alphabetical agencies were established to disburse the funds—Federal Emergency Relief Administration with Hopkins in charge; Works Progress Administration with Harold L. Ickes, the old curmudgeon, on top.

The Encyclopedia of American History relates that FERA and WPA were attacked on grounds of inefficiency, extravagance, waste and political corruption. They were defended on grounds of constructive achievements and a rise in the national purchasing power.

The charge of corruption against WPA was laid after Hopkins had taken over from Ickes. Ickes in some ways was a close man with the taxpayers' dol'firs. Hopkins, a social worker by profession, was a fast man with a buck.

Pre-War Prosperity
By 1936, unemployment had been reduced to about 9 million. By 1938, unemployment was up to 10.3 million. It was down to 8.1 million in 1940, a year in which the United States was spending big for arms for itself and the British, then engaged in war with Hitler.

Nearly 10 per cent of the U. S. labor force, 5.5 million, was unemployed in 1941, the last year of peace before this country entered World War II. The drop from 10.3 million in 1938 to half that in 1941 apparently must be attributed to spending for armaments, not to the preceding pump priming which continued through those years.

The year of greatest war effort was 1944; unemployment was down to 670,000. It was over 1 million in 1945; up to 3.6 million in 1949. In March 1960 the unemployed numbered 4.2 million, down about 150,000 from March 1959. Unemployed today are 3.9 million; 5.3 per cent.

Farmers Need Good Records, S Manager Says

Farmers need to keep a record of their farm workers and of crew leaders, according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo District Social Security Office.

Geldon points out that farmers must report and pay social security taxes if a worker earns $150 or more in cash wages in a year, or if a worker works on 20 days or more during the year for any amount of cash paid on a time basis (hour, day, week or month). The employer tax and the employee tax are each 3 1/4 per cent, or a total of 6 1/2 per cent of wages. These earnings are reported on Internal Revenue Form 943.

Farmers are also required to report the name, permanent address, and employer's identification number on Page 2 of Form 43 of any crew leader or farm labor contractor who furnished him with agricultural workers.

To obtain the proper forms, and employer's number, farmers should complete a Form SS-4, Geldon states. These can be obtained from the nearest District Director of Internal Revenue, or the Amarillo Social Security Office.

The Global View:

Wishful Thinking On Reds In Cuba Is As Great A Danger As 'Loose Talk'

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst
NEW YORK (NEA) — At what point will President Kennedy consider Russia's military build-up in Cuba a threat to the security not only of the United States but of the whole Western Hemisphere? This question, in one form or another, is persistently asked by Latin Americans who refuse to accept Fidel Castro's revolution as the wave of the future.

President Kennedy recently cautioned against "loose talk" about the explosive Cuban situation. But in the view of specialists on Red strategy it is equally dangerous for the United States to ignore facts and indulge in wishful thinking. In their view, there are five points crucial to any realistic appraisal of Russia's infiltration of Cuba:

- Premier Khrushchev is not likely to challenge openly the principles of the Monroe Doctrine in the near future. He is again reporting to the "salam tactics" that he has been employing on West Berlin. He will nibble away at the Monroe Doctrine slice by slice until it has been reduced to a dead letter.
- The Russians have already succeeded in clipping the wings of an erratic Fidel Castro. Latin American diplomats recently stationed in Havana told this writer that Castro, although still useful as a "front," is no longer the key man in Cuba. Real power is now wielded by Alexander Alexeyev, the Soviet Ambassador, and Blas Roca, leader of the Cuban Communist party.
- Moscow now has in Cuba a base for training Latin American agents in subversion and guerrilla warfare and generally for making mischief in the Western Hemisphere. Russia's Cuban-based technicians are already active in strategic Panama and oil-rich Venezuela. In both countries, there are new outbreaks of student strikes and guerrilla attacks.

There is indeed more than mere coincidence that the renewed demonstrations against the U. S.-owned Panama Canal erupted soon after the return of Thelma King from a "social" visit to Moscow and Cuba. Mrs. King, a deputy of Panama's National Assembly, is one of Castro's leading partisans in the Caribbean. "My goal is complete Panamanian sovereignty in the Canal Zone," she told me in a recent interview.

I have since received a letter from Mrs. King in which she warned that unless the United States gave up control of the canal now "tomorrow will be too late."

— The Administration's passive acquiescence in the Russian arms build-up in Cuba has dealt a serious blow to U. S. prestige in Latin America. One outstanding pro-Western Latin American leader commented more in sorrow than in anger: "Perhaps Mao Tse-tung was right after all and the United States is only a paper tiger." Latin American newspapers printed prominently Khrushchev's remark to Robert Frost that the United States was "too liberal to fight."

— The Russian invasion of Cuba is causing panic among businessmen and industrialists. Capital is again escaping from Latin America to Switzerland, West Germany and other countries, wrecking the prospects of Progress. Many Latin American businessmen — who have learned nothing from history — are even giving financial aid to the Communists in the hope that somehow they could buy immunity for themselves after the Red takeover.

These are facts. And reporting facts, however unsavory, is not indulging in "loose talk."

Dord Fitz To Present Area Show

WELLINGTON (Spl) — Dord Fitz, internationally known artist, art teacher and gallery owner of Amarillo, will be presented Sunday, Sept. 23, in a lecture and showing of his paintings in the major art exhibit slated for Wellington this fall.

Presented along with him will be Robert Perkins, Amarillo dress designer, who will study in New York on a scholarship after Jan. 1. There will be a relationship between each dress and a painting, the correlation of the two makes this exhibit unusual in its presentation.

The exhibit will be in the community building and will begin at 3 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The Domestic Science Club is sponsoring the exhibit.

Mr. Fitz has art classes in Childress, Stratford, Dallas, Pampa, Spearman and Perryton, as well as in Amarillo in Texas; in Liberal, Kan.; and Oklahoma classes in Beaver, Boise City, and near his ranch home in Northwestern Oklahoma. He started a new class here in Wellington Sept. 13. This class meets from 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursdays and is held in the high school library. A new class has also started in Memphis, to meet on Thursday mornings.

He has an M.A. degree in painting under Philip Guston from the State University of Iowa. He has also studied and painted with Fletcher Martin, Grant Wood and Jean Charlot. He attended the Art Institute of Chicago and received the A.B. degree from Eastern State College, Kentucky.

Prior to establishing his art school and gallery in this section of the country, he taught fourteen years as a university professor and served in the Army during World War II. He resigned his position as a professor of art at the University of Kentucky to move with his family to their Oklahoma ranch near Higgins, Texas.

From there began his art movement in this section of the country. His gallery, located at 1709 Polk in Amarillo, features frequent exhibits of work by acclaimed artists, and exhibitions are free to the public.

Among world recognized artists who have had work exhibited and who have been guests in the Amarillo gallery have been sculptor Louise Nevelson, Elaine de Kooning, and Leon Smith of New York City.

Among other world famous NYC artists whose works have been exhibited at the Amarillo gallery have been Franz Kline, Bill de Kooning, and Fairfield Porter. In 1960, paintings and sculpture by seventeen top New York City women artists were featured in exhibit at Mr. Fitz's gallery, and eight of those artists were present for the opening of that exhibit.

Mr. Fitz is using art as a means of awakening people to a way of creative living. He says "Each being, through experiences with the art elements can learn enough of the mechanics of manipulation of the elements in space that an idea of his can become a physical manifestation, and in this instant he becomes a creator."

Results of his work are evidenced in the new meaning to life found by people who have come in contact with his art movement and the painting and the sculpture that have been accomplished under his tutelage.

Each spring an exhibit of work by students of Mr. Fitz is featured at a New York City gallery. These exhibits have always received high acclaim by the New York art critics. Many of the students and Mr. Fitz attend the opening of this spring NYC exhibit. Several people from this area have made the trip to New York City for this student exhibit.

Fact

Every woman will remember all the trouble caused by the introduction of pointed-toed, high-heeled shoes. Many women complained that their heels were getting caught in every grate, and city engineers were upset because this type of shoe was said to be the cause of extra wear on sidewalks. For all these reasons, and probably countless others, this type of shoe has been nicknamed the "witch pump."

Price High For Title, 'Astronaut'

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

United Press International - CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The price for the title of "astronaut" comes high. Nine young men, freshly knighted as such, are about to find out how high.

They stood on a stage in Houston, Tex., Monday and, in the full glare of world attention, publicly accepted the role of spacemen, second generation. In their eyes were visions of daring flights into space, and in their hearts was a common goal—the moon. But between that wooden stage and the dust of the moon lay at least five years of hard, grueling work and preparation.

Some of it will be fun, even glamorous.

Much of it will be utter misery. All nine doubtless will be given reasons for wondering whether the Pandora's box they opened in volunteering for spaceflight was really worth it. For some, the years ahead hold frustration and despair. These are the ones who, in the end, will still be chained to earth.

Bound for Moon

But for one of America's nine new astronauts, fate is holding an especially high card. This is the man—who, around 1966 or 1967, will be the first American to set foot on the moon. To this one, the price of "astronaut" will have been worth it, however steep.

His name? Your guess right now is as good as the next fellow's.

There are nine possibilities: Neil Armstrong, 32; Air Force Maj. Frank Borman, 34; Navy Lt. Charles Conrad Jr., 31; Navy Lt. Cmdr. James A. Lovell, 34; Air Force Capt. James A. McDivitt, 33; Elliot M. See Jr., 35; Air Force Capt. Thomas P. Stafford, 32; Air Force Capt. Edward H. White II, 32; and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, 32.

That one of them will be the first American on the moon seems almost certain. This was the purpose of the federal space agency in dipping into a test pilot "fountain of youth" to come up with men who will be young and experienced when the first lunar landing teams are picked.

Usually conservative Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the manned spaceflight center in Houston, mentioned that age was going to make it "more difficult" for the original seven Mercury astronauts.

Youth is Essential

Youth with its associated reflexes and reactions and sharpness is a necessity. Even the training program requires a man to have stern stuff to merely survive.

The mastif trainer is a clever gadget that whirls you in three directions at once, sloshing your blood and turning your brain inside out and with violent sickness seemingly its only purpose.

The centrifuge simply goes round and round in one direction—but so fast that your navel reaches for your spine, and your weight, if it is around 160 pounds, climbs to about one ton.

There are the seemingly endless hours inside heat chambers, mechanical devices that make Sahara summers seem like cool breezes in the evening. And pressure chambers, where all they do is to remove the breathing air.

And infinite treadmills and rooms with noise and rooms with too much noise and a multitude of other devices that man concocted with a genius that seems to border occasionally on the evil. The theory is that if a man can survive them, he can survive anything.

U.S. Patrols Caribbean

Red Arms In Cuba Pose Four Critical Problems

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States has quietly begun a regular patrol of the Caribbean around Cuba in an attempt to waylay arms being smuggled to leftist revolutionaries in other Latin American nations.

A key government official says privately:

"It's understood that the Cubans are running these arms by small boat and by air drop."

The exact nature of the U.S. patrol is secret. Its existence was uncovered by this reporter in a week of talks with high officials in the State and Defense Departments about the nature and scope of the Communist arms threat in Cuba.

These officials say that four major problems have been created by Nikita Khrushchev's shipment of 3,500 to 5,000 "technicians," anti-aircraft missiles, motor torpedo boats, electronic equipment and new economic aid.

1. The supplying of arms, supplies and equipment by refugee groups to anti-Castro guerrilla fighters in the Cuban mountains will be made much more difficult, says a State Department official.

The landing of fresh anti-Castro cadres will be a more tricky business. The motor torpedo boats will be a danger by sea. Anti-aircraft missiles will be a menace to air drops.

2. "With Khrushchev's new aid to Cuba he has thumbing his nose at us with impunity in our own backyard," says a high Defense Department aide. "It weakens our position in Berlin, in Latin America, in Asia."

Another military man says "It gives an impression of U.S. weakness" which discourages U.S. friends and encourages Communists.

3. The new economic aid could cause the failure of the economic boycott, the major State Department policy for bringing about the economic collapse of Cuba. So thinks one U.S. diplomat.

The theory has been that the Red Cuban economy is so inefficient that the loss of U.S. dollars would eventually cause Cuba to wither. The sugar crop has been a failure of late because of a shortage of men willing to work in the sugar fields. This in a country where there's chronic unemployment. The tobacco crop also has had hard sledding because of a shortage of labor. The men just won't work. The way it looks now to some State Department economic experts, there's going to be trouble in the rice, corn and bean crops. By next spring, the Cuban Reds would be due for real trouble without the increased Soviet aid.

4. Worst of all, says a key aide to Defense Secretary Robert S.

McNamara, "this new aid is another significant step in a series." We don't know what they will try next. A submarine base, an offensive missile base. We can't let things go that far."

Says a military officer: "Like Berlin, the Russians take a step and then wait. If they get away with what they've done, they take another step. That's what worries us."

The United States has quietly started a move among Latin American countries that will lead, diplomats hope, for a way to prevent citizens of the Americas from sneaking to Cuba for guerrilla training and then sneaking back to their home countries to form underground Red military and political cells.

This training of Latins is similar to that given by the North Vietnamese to the Viet Cong for their South Viet Nam operations and by the Russians and Red Chinese to Red North Koreans before the Russian occupation of North Korea. This Cuban training has been stepped up in the past half year.

The United States also will attempt to strengthen the economic semi-boycott of Cuba.

The power to call up the reserves is primarily a gesture, requested of Congress by President John F. Kennedy because officials don't know what else to do to meet the situation, some key government men say privately.

A Defense Department planner says the last cell up of the reserves is believed to have done some good in slowing Khrushchev down.

"If something did happen in Cuba or Berlin," says a military man, "the reserves would be needed for backup if regular units were sent overseas." The military men see a possibility of a Communist-inspired revolt in Latin America coupled with a plea by the beleaguered government for U.S. military help. But they don't seem to seriously expect this during the period President Kennedy has asked for special powers.

Back of this current Khrushchev buildup in Cuba, Defense and State men recall, is a series of Russian-aid programs for Cuba which fit a pattern.

First, the Soviet Union supplied Cuba with the MIGs and other fighter aircraft, the medium and heavy tanks, the field artillery and the anti-aircraft artillery to give the Cuban ground forces "an armored, artillery, anti-aircraft and anti-tank capability largely lacking in the past and unknown to other Latin American countries of the Caribbean area," in the words of a State Department analyst.

Second, the Soviet Government supplied so many small arms to the Cubans that Castro has more than enough to supply large numbers to underground forces in any country in the Caribbean he wishes to subvert. More than 200,000 small arms reportedly had been shipped to Cuba by early this spring.

Third, Red bloc instructors have been moving into Cuba in numbers for more than a year. They've supervised the training of Cubans and of "visitors" from other South and Central American countries. They've been serving as advisers to some individual Cuban Army units.

'Wide Country' Star Will Watch As Stunt Men Take Bumps For Him

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — No court of law would allow Raymond Burr to prosecute in a murder trial, nor would a hospital encourage Vince Edwards to perform brain surgery.

For the same reasons, neither will Earl Holliman ride a bucking bronc in a rodeo.

Holliman, you see, stars this year as a champion bronc buster in another new television series. In "Wide Country," which debuts Friday night, the long, lean actor starts a season which should hike insurance rates for stunt men.

While they crash off their mounts on various segments of their anatomy Earl will be safely watching from the sidelines.

But don't damn him for being chicken-hearted. Earl's a tough guy from the oil fields of Louisiana. Bust broncs, he can't. Noses and teeth he can bust effortlessly.

Somewhat defensively Holliman says, "When we began filming the show I wanted to climb aboard some bucking horses. But when I saw a couple of guys get hurt I changed my mind. It would have been foolish for me to try."

Holliman plays a modern cowboy who follows the rodeo circuit making money the hard way. Most of the action in each episode takes place outside the arena, leading the actor to describe his series as a horsey "Route 66."

'Swaps' Aided Monetary Situation

FINANCIAL REVIEW
By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The word "swap" may recall stories of horse trades or vague memories of schoolboy "deals," but the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has released a report showing how it fits into the usually more sophisticated dealings of international finance.

To swap means to exchange or to barter, and in its report the Fed told how it had used swap arrangements to guard against fluctuations of the dollar and other currencies, to avoid unnecessary losses of the nation's precious gold reserve, and to help fiscal authorities abroad deal with domestic problems resulting from an inflow of funds.

The Fed's report was issued as part of the policy of the U.S.

Treasury and the big bank in giving information about foreign exchange operations in which the Fed has been authorized to deal since mid-February. It referred pointedly to the way the swap arrangements helped this summer when fluctuations swept the exchange markets after the abrupt stock market drop.

The drop sent millions of dollars scurrying into Switzerland and the Netherlands, and foreign central banks have the privilege if they wish to exercise it of calling on the United States to back up its dollars with gold. Individuals abroad cannot do this, but the banks can, and this represented a potential danger to the gold supply. The administration is pledged to maintain interconvertibility of the dollar and gold at $35 an ounce.

Here, the report explains, is where the swap arrangements went to work, with such success that after the whole upheaval the Swiss National Bank bought no more than $50 million in gold from the United States during the whole speculative period.

 3 cups of sifted flour
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 6 tablespoons butter

Cinnamon-Apple Oatmeal Provides More Vitality For Day At School

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 A good breakfast eater shows more vitality and more interest than the teen-age boy or girl who eats an inadequate breakfast, or skips breakfast frequently.

When breakfast is skipped, according to nutritionist Dr. Henrietta Fleck of New York University, 1/4 to 1/3 of the nutrients needed for the day are omitted. Regional surveys of teen-age diets reveal that 6 out of every 10 teen-age girls and 4 out of every 10 teen-age boys suffer diet deficiencies. Vitamin C and calcium were especially short.

Fruit juice and cereal and milk supply vitamin C and calcium and other important nutrients. CINNAMON-APPLE OATMEAL (6 servings)
 4 cups hot water
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 cups rolled oats, uncooked, quick or regular
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 2 medium-sized eating apples, washed and cored Combine water and salt in large saucepan and bring water to boiling point. Stir in oats; cook as directed on cereal package. Stir sugar and cinnamon into hot, cooked cereal. Slice apples very thin. Cut apple slices into quarters. Distribute atop cereal. Serve plain or with milk or cream.

ment can be met with from one or two pints of milk per day. It should not crowd out other foods. There is no advantage to the consumption of the 2.3 grams of calcium obtained from two quarts of milk per day. It is not inconceivable, the magazine adds, that some harm could ensue to certain individuals.

Q—Are bright red strawberries a good source of Vitamin A?
 A—Strawberries are not considered a good source of vitamin A. They are, however, an excellent source of vitamin C.

You Can Cook This Inside And Carry It Outside To Enjoy On Back Porch

It's Autumn . . . that glorious time of the year when your dining room is still outdoors. You'll want to cook your dinner inside and carry it outside to enjoy on your back porch or patio.

Our menu is America's favorite: butter - crisp oven fried chicken and corn-on-the-cob.

You can be a carefree cook when you oven fry your chicken in pure creamery butter. Simply melt (1/2-cup) of butter in a baking pan, add flour dusted pieces of chicken and bake for 45 minutes. Your oven fried chicken will be extra delicious, golden brown and with a tender, crunchy crust when it's prepared in butter.

Corn-on-the-cob, golden-kernelled and fresh from the farm, deserves lots of pure creamery butter too. Serve it melted and piping hot in individual butter servers. Butter is unequalled for giving all hot vegetables a marvelous flavor and delicate aroma.

OVEN EASY CHICKEN (4-5 servings)

Shallow baking pan
 Preheated 350 degree oven

1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pound chicken cut up for frying
 1 cup flour
 5 teaspoons salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 4 teaspoons paprika
 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
 Rinse chicken in cold water and dry. Mix flour, salt, pepper and paprika in a paper bag. Melt butter in baking pan in oven. Put 3 or 4 pieces of chicken in the bag at a time and shake to coat thoroughly. Remove baking pan from oven and place chicken on pan in a single layer, skin side down. Bake 30 minutes. Turn chicken; bake another 15 minutes or until tender. If chicken cannot be served at once, reduce heat and brush with more melted butter.

Low In Cost—High In Pleasure

Some of the world's best recipes have been money savers—corned beef and cabbage, pot roast and lamb stew for example. Here is a new economical cake recipe that should become a favorite because of its delicious pudding-like texture and light chocolate flavor enhanced by several popular spices.

Thrifty Chocolate Spice Cake

1 cup sugar 2 squares semi-sweet chocolate or 1 square unsweetened chocolate 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon butter 1 cup raisins 1 1/2 cups water	1 1/2 cups sifted flour 1 teaspoon baking soda 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 1/2 teaspoon ground clove 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
--	--

Combine sugar, chocolate, 1/2 teaspoon salt, the butter, raisins, and water in heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Simmer 5 minutes without stirring. Cool thoroughly. Meanwhile, measure sifted flour, add soda and spices, and sift together. Add flour and nuts to the cooled chocolate, stirring until all flour is moistened. (Do not beat.) Pour into a greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 40 to 45 minutes.

Serve cake warm. Top with a dollop of softened cream cheese or whipped cream and your favorite sauce. Makes 9 servings.

POLLY'S POINTERS Here's How To Protect Vinyl Floor Covering

By POLLY CRAMER
 DEAR POLLY — To keep your dinette table and chair legs from making marks on your vinyl floor, glue pieces of heavy wool fabric or old carpet to the bottoms of the legs. Chairs will slide easier and there will be no marks on the floor.
 MRS. R. C. DEAR POLLY — Cheese that has become moldy does not have to be discarded. Put it in a covered container with a few lumps of sugar. The mold leaves the cheese and goes into the sugar. Eat the cheese and throw away the sugar. Slow cheese eaters can keep the fresh cheese in a jar with some sugar to avoid mold, too.
 MRS. M. W. DEAR POLLY — To mend a rip in sheer curtains, apply colorless nail polish and then press the torn edges together with your fingertips. It will be hard to tell the curtains were mended.
 BONNIE DEAR POLLY — A warm, dampened cloth is better than a napkin when eating fried chicken or corn on the cob. Place a folded one on a bread-and-butter plate at each place.
 MRS. JAMES W. DEAR POLLY — To keep a rocking chair from "walking" when you are rocking, glue strips of felt on the bottoms of the rockers.
 RUTH G. DEAR POLLY — To keep a solution for removing burned grease from aluminum frying pans. Can anybody help her? Remember, a common, everyday trick to you may be brand new to our readers — and to Polly.
 POLLY DEAR POLLY — Polly has a kitchen-bright silver dollar for every idea she selects for publication. In the event of duplication, the first to reach her will get the Polly Dollar. Polly receives hundreds of suggestions, all of them to be checked for originality and practicality. Only a few of the best can be used.
 If you're giving a wedding present, your shower gifts need not be expensive.

Dear Abby... Recommend An Enemy For Charity Date

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: Just because I am a bachelor, I am always elected when someone needs an escort for a lone lady. I have been stuck with more of these lemons and am getting tired of it. My immediate superior (I work in an insurance office) asked me if I would take his sister to the Charity Ball. I know his sister as I have been stuck with her before. She is fat and talkative and a real pill. I can't say I am going to be out of town as he knows my schedule. What other excuse can I use?
 THE EXTRA MAN DEAR EXTRA: Tell him you are busy on that evening, and then recommend a friend. (or better yet — an enemy.)
 DEAR ABBY: My wife and I separated and a divorce was filed. I am 50 and she is 48. I started seeing a divorced woman of 32. We planned to marry when I became free. My wife fell ill and my lawyer advised me to drop the divorce proceedings, saying it would be impossible to get a divorce while she was ill. It turns out that my wife has an incurable disease which could last for years. I have doctor bills to pay and must hire nurses around the clock as my wife is helpless. I asked my girl friend to forget me and find a nice young single man, but she phones constantly and insists upon seeing me. How can I convince her that there is no future for her with me?
 OBLIGATED DEAR OBLIGATED: You have stated your case as clearly as it can be stated. Refuse to speak to your girl on the phone and do not see her again. When repeated efforts to see you fail, she will eventually give up.
 DEAR ABBY: I have been driving for years and have never had an accident or a ticket. I have a friend who doesn't drive, so I drive her around quite a bit. It's no inconvenience as she is a neighbor. But she is a backseat driver of the worst kind! Every minute I hear, "Turn left and use Main Street. Watch out for that car ahead of you! Don't pass yet! We're coming to a stop sign!" I don't want to hurt this woman's feelings, but if she only knew how her directions irked me! How would you handle this situation?
 A "SLAVE" DRIVER DEAR "SLAVE": Free yourself with one outspoken response: "I am driving this car and you, my dear, are driving me batty. Please be quiet and let me get us both there safely."
 Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

New, Smoother Styles Require Healthy Hair

ALICIA HART Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 If you've tried the new smoother hair styles, you realize more than ever the need for clean, healthy hair. No matter how expertly the beauty salon has set your sleek fall coiffure, it loses its body and shining smoothness as soon as it needs shampooing. Proper hair care at home can keep your hair looking trim and smart, between visits to your hairdresser.
 Brushing, of course, is all important. When you brush your hair, you don't merely remove the dust. Bend your head down and brush each strand to the end. This way you stimulate blood circulation and the oil glands in the scalp.
 Your hair must be supple and shining if your smooth hair style is to look its best. And this can create a problem for women who have sensitive scalps and fine hair. Frequent shampooing can irritate a tender scalp, and since fine hair is supercharged with electricity, the gentlest of shampoos must be used.
 If you have this problem, why not use a baby shampoo that has passed exhaustive tests for safety and mildness?
 One such is gentle to the scalp, thoroughly cleanses the hair, and will not irritate the eyes. It comes in an attractive teardrop-shaped bottle to remind users that shampooing will cause "no more tears."
 It's wise, too, if your hair is baby fine, to use a comb with wide teeth and a smooth surface to prevent breaking the hair. Don't give up brushing because it seems to break the hair-ends. The brushing will encourage new and healthier growth.
 When you set your hair, don't use metal pins or clips that have sharp edges. And use the large foam rollers that are soft and easy on the hair.
 With the proper care, your hair can be a shining crown this fall.

This baby-sitter instructs her young charge in one good grooming habit. Working up a thick lather, she teaches her how to scrub her nails with a nail brush.

Teenagers Should Look Well-Groomed To Be in Demand For Babysitting Jobs

ALICIA HART Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 There's always a job for a qualified baby sitter. And the smart teen-ager will realize that she'll be in great demand if she takes the job as a serious responsibility rather than an easy way to earn money while she watches television.
 When you accept a sitting assignment, arrive on time, neatly dressed. If you are to handle a small baby, make sure that your fingernails are not only clean, but neatly trimmed so that you won't scratch the baby's skin with a jagged nail.
 Don't wear a charm bracelet or a decorative pin. They could easily hurt a small child should he grab at them.
 Before the parents leave, find out what time the children must be put to bed and what snacks are permitted. Be sure, too, that you have a phone number where the parents can be reached.
 Accidents often happen in the bath. If the child is to take a bath at bedtime, have the soap, towels and floating toys at hand before putting him into the tub. And once he's in the sudsy water, don't leave him for a minute!
 Don't let your "sitting" assignment literally. Try to be a competent substitute parent, and your clothing and beauty fund will grow. A good baby sitter is always in demand.

Take It From Kathy

by kathy peterson
 Dear Kathy: The boy I like is on the shy side. He asked me to go to dances with him but he doesn't pay my way or even come to get me. He's too young to have a license so of course he doesn't drive.
 Would it be all right for him to have his parents come get me or could I meet him there?
 —F. D.
 Dear F. D.: If the dance is planned for couples, you should definitely arrive with your escort. Never meet him there.
 Some church and school dances are set up in such a way that most of the boys and girls arrive in groups. In a situation like this, you could go with girl friends and pay your own admission. However, it wouldn't be a real date. You'd have the right to dance with a variety of partners. Unless you chose to be with this boy exclusively for the evening he'd have no claim in your time.
 Being shy or young doesn't excuse poor social behavior. On a real date, a boy is supposed to call for his girl and return her safely to her home. This isn't just a nice, old-fashioned custom. It's a worth-while modern practice. If he's too young to drive and can't arrange transportation, of course it would be all right for his parents to provide a ride.
 After reading your letter, I wonder how on earth you got home. Why isn't the return trip a problem when it seems difficult for the boy to take you to the dance? If the answer is that he brings you home, he can certainly find a way to escort you there!

scenes, to toss in some small-town Saturday night comedy — that made the 90 minutes something special.

It would be easy to write off the whole thing with some snide or cute remark about Westerns; but there is no question that, in the first show at least, the extra half-hour added a new dimension to the realism of a weekly series. "Wagon Train" never saw such a good night.

O'Brian's part was almost allegorical and theatrical, as if operating in a fantasy: As a mysterious stranger who rides into town, he plays the smiling fool; yet people feel uncomfortable in his presence, as if knowing they are the fools. Like the devil, he tempts the schoolteacher with liquor and love; like a conscience, he tortures those involved with the hanging with his naive but knowing questions. At a birthday dance, he does rope tricks — ending with the forming of a hangman's noose.

As the end approaches, O'Brian abandons the part of the fool; and he and Drury are rousing, brawling, brilliantly-filmed fist fight that would have done Victor McLaglen proud. Finally, after extracting the truth from Miss Dewhurst, O'Brian admits he is the dead man's son. In the showdown, as he threatens to kill the sheriff — though no one knows who really committed the crime — O'Brian is convinced by Drury to merely leave because he has won the truth and his point.

The scenes between O'Brian and Miss Dewhurst were lusty and sensitive; the music was a plus, ranging from rollicking to ethereal; and the ranch format smacked of the success of "Bonanza," with similar characters. Yet all the while one got the feeling that when this series slips — which seems inevitable — it will fall with a huge thud because it will seem longer than eternity with 90 minutes each outing. It is CANADIAN (Sp) — A grant of $52,000 in Hill-Burton funds was approved recently by the State Board of Health for the projected Edward Abraham Memorial Home here.

The amount is to be matched by local funds for construction of a $302,000 nursing home for elder citizens.

Cash and pledges already on hand for the Chamber of Commerce - sponsored project total $130,000, according to Harry Wilbur Jr., chairman of the finance committee for the project.

Of this amount, $75,000 was donated by the Abraham families of Canadian to get the Memorial Home project underway. The gifts were made with the understanding that they would be matched by local contributions.

The Memorial Home will be named for Eddie Abraham, popular Canadian businessman, who died last October. At the time of his death, he was heading a Chamber of Commerce committee to promote just the type of Nursing Home which will now be built in his name.

Architect William Appleby of Altus, Oklahoma, who has been retained to draw tentative plans for the Memorial Home, will now begin work with the construction committee on detailed plans so that bids for construction may be asked.

A location for the home has already been selected. . . a hilltop site in the south part of Canadian near the city water tower donated by Malouf Abraham for that purpose. The site has already been leveled and graded.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, Commissioner of Health for the State of Texas, formally notified the finance committee of the Board of Health grant in a letter from Austin dated Monday.

LEFORS PIRATES — Here is a team picture of the District 2-A Lefors Pirates. The squad, favored to win the conference, plays AA White Deer, also district favorites, tomorrow night at White Deer. The team opened the 1962 season two weeks ago in a 31-0 win over class B Groom. Lefors has seven lettermen back from last year's team which won five games, tied one and lost four. Coach Goode has a small squad but the team is expected to be tough, "as always," by opposing mentors. (News Photo)

Bums, Giants, Yanks, Twins Win

'Class Tells' In Major League Baseball Tilts

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Class tells. It's the name of the game in baseball... proved over and over... year after year... but rarely more clearly than Wednesday as the two remaining contenders in each league battled for the big payoff.

In the National League it was Don Drysdale for the Los Angeles Dodgers and Willie Mays for the San Francisco Giants, and in the American League it was Yogi Berra for the New York Yankees and Harmon Killebrew for the Minnesota Twins.

They're men their teammates look to in time of crisis and here's why:

—Drysdale pitched a five-hitter to give the Dodgers a 4-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and score his 25th win of the season.

—Mays smashed a three-run homer to snap the Giants' six-game losing streak with a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

—Berra lashed out a pinch double to spark a four-run ninth-inning rally that enabled the Yankees to beat the Washington Senators, 8-5.

—Killebrew hit his 41st and 42nd homers of the season in the Twins' 12-5 win over the Detroit Tigers.

Maintain Leads

With 10 days to go, the Dodgers still lead the Giants by 3 1/2 games while the Yankees maintain their four-game bulge over the Twins. The Dodger magic number is seven and the Yankee magic number is five.

The Pittsburgh Pirates just about ended the Cincinnati Reds' mathematical hopes with a 1-0 win and the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in other NL games, while the Los Angeles Angels topped the Baltimore Orioles, 9-4, the Cleveland Indians outlasted the Kansas City Athletics, 10-9, and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, in other AL action.

Drysdale, first NL 25-game winner in six years, struck out nine to take over the league lead with 218, and gained his second shut-out of the season. Tommy Davis

Favored Pirates Are Real Question Mark

LEFORS (Sp) — Coach Dunny Goode's Lefors Pirates have been picked to win District 2-A this year, but no one knows for sure why.

The team lost four games last year, came out second in district and lost heavily via graduation. Also, the Pirates are among the lightest squads in the area.

But, behind this facade, lies the rumor that Lefors is "tougher than ever" this year. The team, with seven returning lettermen, blasted Groom, 31-0, in the opening game two weeks ago and had an open date last Friday.

Tomorrow night the Buccaneers travel to White Deer to take on the Class AA Bucks. White Deer, favored to win its district, is also favored in tomorrow night's game. In any event, the game should be a severe test for both squads, however the outcome.

Leading the Pirate offense will be senior two-year letterman fullback Rodney Airington; two-year senior letterman halfback Tommy Smith, who scored four touchdowns against Groom; junior letterman halfback Neal Cates; and two-year senior letterman quarterback Anthony McCool.

Other lettermen on the squad are junior center Wayne Coleman, junior guard Don McCool, and junior guard Marvin Todd.

Expected to help fill the gap from graduation are tackles Bill McMinn, Edgar Brown and Eddie Joe Roberts, and end Terry Bromlow.

Other team members are James Alexander, Dick Archer, Bill Beck, Joe Harvey, Danny Hill, Kenneth Minter, Bill Nichols, Danny Robbins, Dow Trusty, Phil Woodring, Keith Jernigan, Jerry Lane, Terry Sanders, Dick Sims, John Lofton, Bill McBee and Johnny Dunn.

Coaches in addition to Goode include Dale Prescott, Eddy Clemmons and Harley Lewis.

Here's the remainder of the Pirate schedule:

Sept. 21, White Deer, there
Sept. 28, Stratford, here (Homecoming)
Oct. 5, Stinnett, there
Oct. 12, Gruver, there
Oct. 19, Canadian, here, x
Oct. 26, Wellington, here, x
Nov. 2, Clarendon, there, x
Nov. 9, Memphis, here, x
Nov. 16, McLean, there, x
x denotes conference game

There will be six football games for the Top O' Tex area schools tomorrow night, as all teams play but Canadian and Mobeetie.

Lefors tackles White Deer at White Deer, in the headline and McLean and Groom battle at Groom in another game of large interest in the area.

Other contests pit Panhandle against Clarendon at Panhandle, Perryton versus Stinnett at Perryton, Wheel against Erick, Okla., at Wheeler, and Miami versus Tyron there.

Canadian and Mobeetie have open dates.

Six Games Scheduled For Today

All of Pampa's football squad but the Robert E. Lee Eighth Grade will see action this week with five Junior High teams at the "B" team Shockers playing today and the Harvesters taking on Phillips Saturday.

The Shockers entertain Boy's Ranch at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Harvey Stadium. The home squad will be after its second win of the season as it dumped Perryton's "B" team last week, 14-0.

Two other home games are a tap today with the Pampa Junior High Seventh Grade team playing Phillips Seventh Grade at 4 p.m. on the field inside the track high school.

The other home contest pits 10 Junior High Seventh Grade against Dumas Seventh Grade at the Lee practice field, also at 4 p.m.

Three games will be played neighboring communities with Pampa Junior High Eighth Grade tackling Phillips Eighth Grade there, at 4 p.m. today.

Another sees the Lee Rebe's Ninth Graders playing White Deer "B" there at 4 p.m. Still another has the PJH Reapers Ninth Graders visiting Shamrock "B" team at 4 p.m.

Dumas Still Rated Tops

Wichita Falls, Dumas, Denver City and New London earned the No. 1 spots in the United Press International's first weekly Texas schoolboy football ratings.

The two defending state champions among the quartet — Wichita Falls of Class AAAA and Dumas of AAA — had close calls in their openers, but deserve their top rank until someone knocks them off the high perch. Wichita Falls beat Lubbock High 20-14, Dumas edged Amarillo Palo Duro 3-0.

Phillips Could Be A Tough Foe

Blackhawks Small But Rugged; Game Set For Saturday Night

The Phillips Blackhawks, football foe of the Pampa Harvesters at 8 p.m. Saturday, could be a surprisingly tough opponent.

The Hawks have in the past been the scourge of Panhandle gridirons and, in spite of one of the team's smallest squads in some time, came out on the top end of the score in the opening game last week.

Phillips defeated a tough Shamrock crew, 28-0, last Friday night at Shamrock. The team pulled off the victory with the no. 1 and no. 2 quarterbacks out of the game. The pre-season lineup showed Eddie Dickie, a senior letterman, as the team's signal-caller and junior Glen Roe, a "B" teamer, as number two quarterback.

Then, in a pre-season scrimmage, Dickie received a broken arm and Roe was injured in the same melee. Roe will be back this Saturday night when the Harvesters invade Phillips, but he now will have to "beat out" junior quarterback Lynn Alexander, a fellow "B" teamer last year, who has been doing a yeoman job as the man under.

Alexander, the probable starter, weighs a hefty 141 pounds but is a hard man to catch in a foot race.

Other probable starters include halfback Jerry Newcomb, a senior letterman who tips the scales at 156 pounds; wingback T. R. Stiles, another senior letterman, 157 pounds; and fullback Mike Webb, junior, "B" team, 167 pounds.

Starters on the forward wall will probably be end Hank Boykin, sophomore, 168 pounds; end Bobby Raley, senior letterman, 167 pounds; tackle Bill Killion, junior, 184; tackle Russell McGough, senior letterman, 166 pounds; guard Phillip Mahan, senior letterman, 169; guard Bob Wakefield, junior, 141; and center Richard Reneau, junior letterman, 152.

Reneau is a converted back and has speed to burn as a center. Expected to see plenty of action at quarterback for the Blackhawks is sophomore Lynn Johnson, 162 pounds.

Newcomb, Raley, Reneau and Mahan are the regulars back from the squad which chewed up Pampa last season, 38-0.

That win was one of four for the Phillips squad last time out, compared to six losses.

Grob Services Are Scheduled In Houston Friday

HOUSTON (UPI)—Reggie Grob, 19, the second Southwest Conference football player to die this month from heat stroke, will be buried Friday.

The University of Texas football squad and Longhorn coaches will go to Houston for the sophomore guard's funeral.

Grob suffered a heat stroke Sept. 1, the first day of football practice. He died Tuesday in Dallas from liver failure, one of several complications brought on by the heat stroke.

Wednesday, the Spring Branch High School, Grob's alma mater, renamed its football stadium in memory of Grob, Grob's younger brother, Charles, may play in the Reggie Grob Stadium. Charles is on the junior varsity football squad at Spring Branch.

SMU Center
The other SWC football player to die of the Texas heat this month was Southern Methodist University junior letterman center Mike Kelsey. Kelsey and Grob both were hospitalized with heat stroke Sept. 1. Kelsey died the next day.

The two deaths were the first in 42 years of Southwest Conference records.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Waltrip Funeral Home Chapel in Houston. Burial will be at Memorial Oaks Cemetery.

Darrel Tully, head football coach at Spring Branch yesterday said Grob was a youngster of outstanding ability, both mental and athletic.

"Boys of his character make coaching a pleasure," Tully said.

Parents At Side
Grob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grob of Spring Branch, a Houston suburb were at his side when he died at the Dallas hospital.

Harvester Coach Otis Holladay said this morning that his squad should be "in top shape" for the game, barring further incidences of "light flu" which seems to have visited the Green and Gold camp during the week.

Five players "had the bug" slightly yesterday, wingback Ralph Palmer, defensive line-backer Gary Epperson, tailback Jerry Glover, and squadmen Doug Locke and John Fite. Quarterback Kenny Hebert also was feeling a mite under the weather yesterday but it was hoped he would come through in better health today.

Holladay said the team "has been pretty tired this week... we've worked them pretty hard. We'll let up some today and tomorrow, though, and they should come back a little."

Holladay plans to go with the same starting outfit which took the field against Bel Air of El Paso last week, with Hebert at quarterback, Glover at tailback, Palmer at wingback and Curtis Fletcher at fullback.

The line starters were Howard Reed and Clay Lively, ends; Keith Reimer and Dee Wright, tackles; Carl Clark and Glen McCathern, guards; and John Brown, center.

Defensive starters will be Wright and Reimer at tackles; Brown and Clark at guards; Donny Ayers, Ricky Goodwin and Epperson, linebackers; Fletcher and Reed, corner linebackers; and Glover and Travis Tucker, halfbacks.

The Harvesters will have a good weight advantage in the contest as starting Green and Gold linemen average 190 compared to Phillips' 164 and the locals' backfield averages 166 to 155 for Phillips.

Gretel, Weatherly In Third Match Today

By JACK V. FOX

United Press International
NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Gretel and Weatherly go sailing again today for the America's Cup—and the Australians are confident they will win the series if they lead home Weatherly in the third race.

The United States hasn't surrendered the silver cup of yachting supremacy since it won the first series 111 years ago. In fact, when this latest renewal opened last Saturday, some experts were wagering that Weatherly would win in four straight races.

That bold prediction looked good when Bus Moshbacher's defender won the first race in a finish that seemed overwhelming. Then Gretel came back Tuesday to gain a thrilling homestretch victory by 150 yards and deadlock the best-of-seven series. The win was the first by a challenge in 28 years.

Now it's developed into a real "horse race."

On the eve of the third race, the mayor of Newport had the Aussies to a ceremonial reception at which the Australian syndicate, headed by Sir Frank Packer, were declared honorary citizens of Newport.

At this gathering, an Australian syndicate member privately made this prediction:

"We are going to win this match. The America's Cup will rest beside the Davis (tennis) Cup."

Winds of up to 20 knots were forecast for the beginning of the race at 12:10 p.m. EDT. If they behave as usually, the winds will run much higher later in the day.

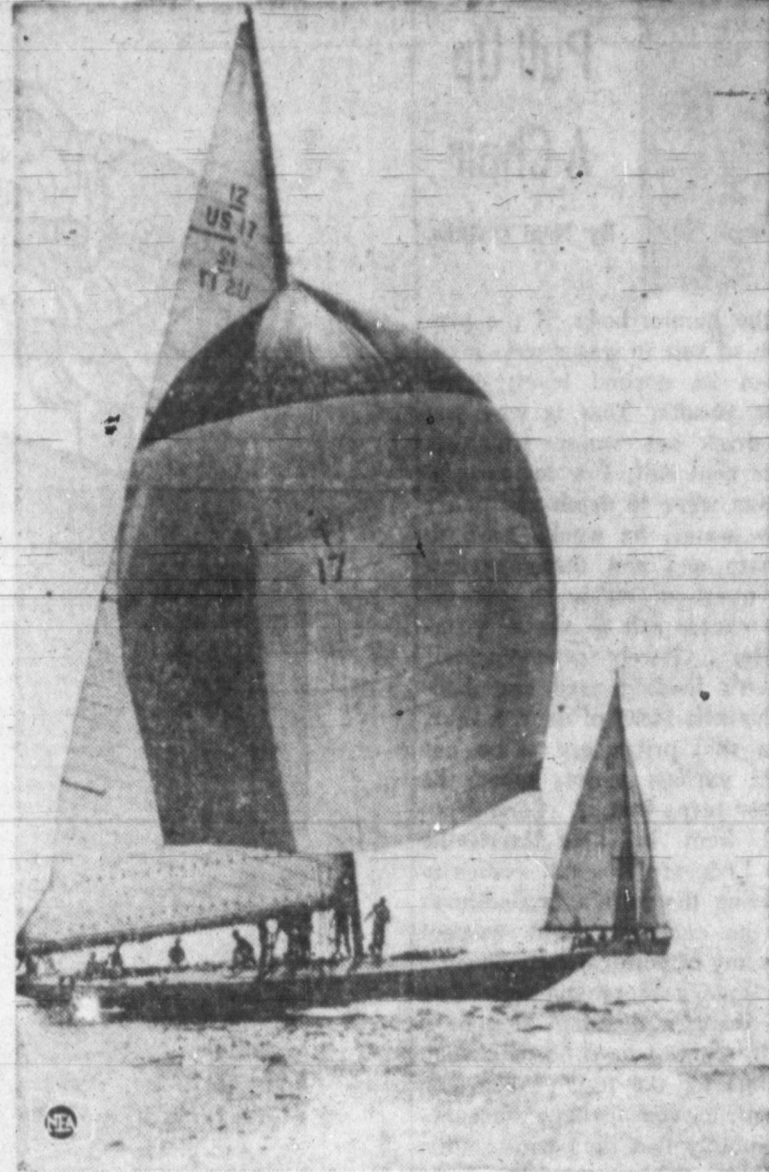

Ladies Open Golf Tournament Opens

VISALIA, Calif. (UPI)—Fairways princess Mickey Wright and challenger Ruth Jessen tee off today with 30 other pretties in the first round of the $10,000 Visalia Country Club Ladies Open golf tournament.

The San Diego blonde has won eight tournaments this year to lead the ladies in the money-winning department with $16,948. Miss Jessen, a long-hitter from Seattle, has finished first twice and captured $12,024 in prize money.

EXPECT RECORD CROWD

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—The largest crowd ever to witness a football game at West Point is expected to turn out Oct. 30 when Army hosts Penn State. All 30,000 tickets have been sold for the contest, thus ensuring an all-time turnout since additional stands were constructed earlier this year.

READY FOR RACE — The American yacht Weatherly, foreground, sets her spinnaker here off Newport, R. I. The ship is defending the America's Cup against Australian challenger Gretel in the best of seven series which is tied now at a draw, one win apiece. The two sailing speeders square off today in the third match. The Coast Guard Ketch Manitou is in the background here.

Errorless Games Record Marked

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Aspromonte of the Houston Colts completed a record 56 consecutive errorless games at third base Wednesday night although neither the Colts nor New York Mets threw a ball.

The rainout of the scheduled two-night doubleheader meant that a Sept. 9 game between the teams at Houston was officially declared a 7-7 tie. Aspromonte's streak had been in a state of suspended animation pending the completion of the Sept. 9 game.

Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs set the previous record of 54 consecutive errorless games by a third-baseman in 1942.

SIGN HARVARD STAR

HINGHAM, Mass. (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants have announced the signing of shortstop Dave Morse, captain of last season's Harvard baseball team. Morse will report to the Giants' training camp at Casa Grande, Ariz., next spring.

Nicklaus Is Challenging Billy Casper

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, fresh from two consecutive victories, challenged Billy Casper's three-year domination of the $25,000 Portland Open golf tournament today.

The 22-year-old U. S. Open champ from Tucson, Ariz., and the rotund shotmaker from Apple Valley, Calif., teed off together in the same three-some, providing a fat bonus for the fans.

Casper, on top of his games as fourth leading money winner of the year, was after an incredible fourth straight Portland victory but it was the first time he had faced as hot a challenger as Nicklaus.

Casper has won more than $9,000 in the last three Portland Opens. He fouled the same 6,675-yard Columbia-Edgewater course last year in 273, bettering par by 15 strokes.

Eleven winners of 1962 tournaments were on hand among the 120 pro entries. Besides Casper and Nicklaus, they included Lionel Hebert, Phil Rodgers, Tommy Jacobs, Doug Sanders, Dave Marr, Jacky Cupit, Bill Collins, Bruce Crampton and Billy Maxwell. Crampton, of Sydney, Australia, was paired with Casper and Nicklaus for the first two rounds.

PURCHASE FULLBACK
MONTREAL (UPI)—The Montreal Alouettes of Canada's Eastern Football Conference have bought fullback Larry Hickman from the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a straight cash deal.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here!

...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN... TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road bears no resemblance to the modern highways on the Mexican mainland. It's fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, punch, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles.

All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

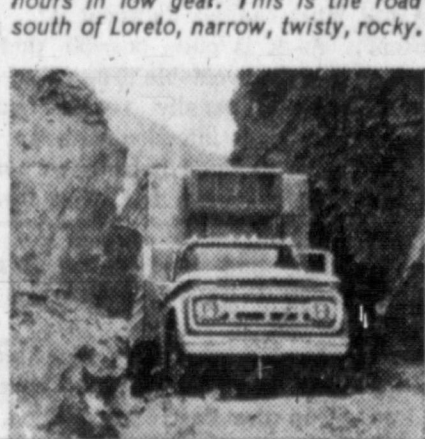

QUALITY TRUCKS COST LESS

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. This is the road south of Loreto, narrow, twisty, rocky.

When you came to a river, you got wet. This Baja river bottom was covered with rocks the size of melons.

Tight squeeze for the conventional medium- and heavy-duty units. Their new narrower front ends certainly paid off here (7 inches slimmer).

The new ladder-type frames on all models took severe punishment from terrain such as this.

Temperatures as high as 122 degrees F. burned the land in the desert area around Dry Lake.

See the "New Reliables" now at your Chevrolet dealer's!

Responsibility Of Voters

This being an election year the cries of the reformers are loud in the land. But, unfortunately, most of the reformers, save those who really seek reform in the grand sense, are merely interested in a shift in power.

They can, with total veracity, point to the evil, the corruption, the mendacity of those who presently hold power. But their arguments become less than convincing when they attempt to cause a belief that by changing the names of the persons in power a massive reformation will occur.

No reformation comes into existence when a mere lessening of the tax burden ensues, when a system which takes about 25 per cent of all net earnings is replaced by a system taking, say, 32 per cent of all net earnings.

While it may be true that new names and faces in the halls of power might cause a fractional reduction in the payment for them, this cannot be classed as a reformation. And when one considers earlier efforts at reformation under the Eisenhower administration, one is led to wonder if such a change is a change at all. The more we change this way, the more we remain the same.

We are reminded of the quip which appeared recently in the New York Times. A comment had it: "F. D. Roosevelt taught us that the presidency could be a life-time job; Truman taught us that anyone could be president; Eisenhower taught us that a president wasn't really necessary; and Kennedy is teaching us that having a president could be dangerous."

Which of the foregoing administrations were "reform" administrations? So many of our politically oriented friends have short memories. They have long recollection relating to the sins of the opposition, but ready alibis for the sins of their own favorites.

All of which gets to the point. The relationship between the man who hires a job done and the person who does the job is the relationship of agency. In civilized countries it has long been believed that the principal (the employer) is equally responsible for the acts of the agent (the em-

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

In the human body, if the proportion of salt to water goes higher than its normal level, dehydration results. That is why you can't drink sea water, which is 3.5 per cent salt. For instance, if a person were to drink one quart of sea water, he would have to eliminate one and three-quarters of a quart of water to get rid of the excess salt — virtually impossible. . . Purely psychological: Chicago's leading used car dealer, who sells 14,000 of them a year, orders that prices are to be cut at his various outlets when the weather turns bad. . . Candid political item in the Harrisville (Ga.) Ledger: "When it comes to budgeting the town's expenditures she (the candidate) will respect the policy of political expediency."

Modern merchandising: One store doing a diamond ring business in a small town opens charge accounts for the 15-19-year group. Delinquency on teenage accounts is definitely less than with adults. The store insists the teenagers must have some sort of job, and during the interview they're treated like adults. . . Today's favorite gag: The guest of a dude ranch and an old Western guide were preparing to camp overnight in rattlesnake country. "Jake," asked the tenderfoot, "is there any other cure for rattlesnake bite besides drinking whiskey?" "Jake looked at him and drawled, "Who cares?" . . . In the nation's 12 biggest cities the combined white population in 1960 was two million less than in 1950. The combined Negro population in those same cities increased by 1.8 million. But the Negro populations are not increasing in the suburbs. . . It must seem incredible to most Americans that that famed Whiskey Insurrection of 1794 — which required 15,000 militiamen to quell — was caused by a government tax of 7 cents a gallon on hard liquor. Today's federal tax on whiskey and other hard liquor is $10.50 a gallon, and many states put an extra excise tax on top of that.

Thoughts while shaving: 1. The other afternoon on a turnpike just outside Boston a middle-aged man rode up to a motel in a taxicab, and just before he registered said to the clerk, "I don't own an automobile, but is it all right if I stay here overnight? I came here in a cab." . . . 2. The man wasn't kidding, either. He was a bit naive, maybe, but he seemed to think that because of its name, a motel caters to motorists only. . . 3. Everyone knows what a stand-in is in the making of movies, but we've just learned they also have "dance-ins" for such cinematic dancing stars as Cyd Charisse, Leslie Caron, Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly. . . 4. All our life we thought the name of that off-sung musical greeting was "Happy Birthday to You." So it's quite a surprise to learn that its correct title is "Good Morning to All," and it was written some 70 years ago by two young women, Patty and Mildred Hill. The song originally appeared in a volume titled "Song Stories for the Kindergarten."

er than the market demand for gold. Only recently in a couple of foreign countries, gold was selling on the open market at prices ranging from $41.85 to $50 for a double eagle.

That is a price higher than the decreased price of gold in this country. But if government remains in a position to dominate the money market, no cure would be found were the government to arbitrarily set the price of gold at some other figure.

If the government raised the official price of gold to $40 per ounce, this would cause a major devaluation of our dollar at home. This would be an inflationary move.

If the government lowered the price of gold to $30 per ounce it would increase the demand for gold in foreign places. Thus, it should be seen that whatever the government does, officially, respecting gold, the result will be harmful. If the government does nothing the result will be harmful, too.

Government has no business in the money market. Only a free market can determine honestly and fairly what money is worth. Only when the money is private can the government be held in check.

Reds Manage To Keep U.N. As Debate Group

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The 17th session of the United Nations General Assembly in New York should begin a year of consolidation for the world forum, says Harlan Cleveland, U.S. assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs.

Last year the General Assembly got talks started on peaceful uses of outer space, disarmament, economic development and trade. This year the emphasis is to be on keeping the peace.

The original idea that the U.N. would be the answer to all the world's problems has of course long since been abandoned. It is fully recognized that the U.N. is no Holy Grail.

But there is no inclination on the part of President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk to downgrade the U.N. They believe there is an increasing role for the U.N. to play in the peaceful settlement of disputes — particularly where the presence of a third party can help mediate them.

Soviet Russia and its Communist satellite delegates have not yet revealed their hand for this session. But in the past they have tried and been fairly successful at keeping the world organization as nothing more than a diplomatic debating society.

The previous 16 General Assemblies have passed many large, inspirational resolutions. Most of them have lacked substance. The General Assembly of course has no power. It can't decide issues like a world court or carry them out like a world power.

But the broad resolutions the Assembly has passed in recent years have tended to weaken its influence. The American plan now — supported by other free nations — is to make sure that every issue is looked at and handled more responsibly.

One recent example of good U.N. action is cited in a mid-night border battle between Syria and Israel. By 3 a.m., U.N. peace force officers were on the ground. By 7 a.m., they had it settled. This is "technological improvement in peace-keeping."

Other examples cited include U.N. mediation of the Thai-Cambodian dispute over a Buddhist temple on their border, agreement between The Netherlands and Indonesia over the future of western New Guinea and a new procedure for settlement of differences between Israel and the Arab countries.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN Prompt Care Is Indicated For Child With Gallstones

Q—Our 10-year-old daughter has been found to have gallstones, and an operation has been recommended to relieve her indigestion and attacks of quite severe abdominal pain. Do gallstones form so early in life? Is an operation advisable in a child so young?

A—Gallstones in children are not as uncommon as many would believe. A report of 80 such instances in Swedish children between the ages of 6 and 15 years of age points up this fact. In these instances, as in the case of your child, the operations is not only advisable, it is imperative. Delay can only add to the difficulties and increase operative risks and complications.

Q—For many years, our young daughter has been in the habit of stealing little, unimportant things in our home — candy or costume jewelry or small coins. Since my husband and I remember going through a phase of filching when we were her age, we've scolded her very gently and tried to explain the need for respecting the property of others.

Last week, however, the problem became more acute when she was sent home from school for stealing a classmate's purse that contained only a few pennies and a clasp that is not as nice as the one she owns herself. How do you think we should deal with this situation?

A—As you remark, it takes a time for children to recognize the rights of private property. Each of us goes through a period of claiming or actually taking the property of another. Children do it with the toys of others. In my opinion, this is not actually kleptomania. I suppose it can lead to kleptomania, and, as such, may require action on the part of a teacher.

If the stolen objects appear to be of no actual use to your daughter, it may be that she craves attention, or more affection than she is receiving. If that is so, punishment may make matters worse. Why don't you and your husband do a bit of soul-searching before you deal with the child?

Q—We have twins who were prematurely born. Their teeth are coming in and they are a dirty yellow color. What can cause this? What can we do about it?

A—It is quite possible that this is an unavoidable drug effect. Prematures usually require protection from infection with an antibiotic product. It has recently been observed that those who receive penicillin and Jews was given credit to the Secret Army Organization.

Editor: Why is it only now, when it is too late to do anything to save the Western position in Algeria, are Americans learning the facts?

Why didn't wire services and telecasters publish stories six months or a year ago that told of the Communist-complexion of the Arab rebels? Why didn't news media report shipments of Soviet arms — and the presence of Chinese military advisers — to readers in the United States? Why did the New York Times, with its unparalleled overseas news staff, fail to give its nationwide readers the inside story of Communism in Algeria?

The News and Courier, a regional newspaper in Charleston, S.C., had these facts in its possession and printed them more than a year ago. They knew what the score was in Cuba when the Times, the wire services and the telecasters were saying that Fidel Castro was liberating Cuba. They reported the facts concerning Algeria.

The truth is that the Red character of the Algerian revolution was evident to all who wanted to see, just as was the true character of Fidel Castro's revolution. What about the Algerian atrocities? Look Magazine has been printing horror stories about the regime of the late Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. Yet there have not been full reports in Look and other liberal journals on the atrocities committed by the Algerian rebels.

Today in France Magazine reports that the Algerian rebel organization has "killed TEN TIMES as many Moslems, Euro-

WASHINGTON — A mysterious Soviet arms shipment to Cuba has U.S. intelligence and defense officials both deeply puzzled and very concerned.

A large lead casket, weight of which left deep tracks in an unpaved road, was unloaded — from the Soviet freighter "Hortensia" when it docked at the Cuban port of Casilda on August 9.

Accompanied by 200 Soviet military "palbearers," the heavily guarded "mystery" cargo was rushed to Banes, which is now ringed by heavy Soviet military and ground-to-air missiles.

The town of Banes and port of Casilda have been closed for weeks to all Cubans, even Castro's military personnel. More than 500 Cuban families were evacuated from these areas more than three months ago.

The heavy lead casket looked very much like the storage crates used by the U.S. military to ship nuclear warheads from one part of the country to the other, according to a Defense Intelligence Agency's analysis of information from eyewitness Cuban refugees.

This alarming similarity has caused a number of veteran intelligence officers to warn that the lead casket is either being used to store nuclear warheads or for the storage of gas-type shells.

The latter estimate is based on Cuban refugees that poison gas has been unloaded from Soviet ships and is being stored at secret Cuban bases.

The DIA now estimates that there are approximately 2,300 Soviet military "advisers" and "technicians" stationed at the Banes base. If this and the other DIA estimates are anywhere near accurate, Banes will be added to the "war time" priority target list of the Strategic Air Command.

The new Soviet air base at San Antonio de los Baños was added to SAC's target list last week after a squadron of Soviet MIG-21s, the Red's fastest jet intercepter, showed up at the base.

Already, more than 500 Soviet pilots and ground personnel are at the base and more Russian personnel are reported to be en route. At least one Soviet TU-16, medium jet bomber, has been photographed on the runway.

Both the Soviet TU-16 "Badger" and the MIG-21s, with a special bomb holding equipment, are capable of carrying nuclear weapons to any city in the U.S.

A LOBBY AT WORK — House investigators, probing the nation's largest tax-exempt foundations, have turned up an interesting letter showing how one of these organizations is using its money to influence the thinking of college professors and students on "economic subjects."

The letter, now in the files of Representative Wright Patman's small business committee, was addressed to a number of East

Mystery Soviet Arms Shipment—In Lead Casket—Disturbs U.S. Intelligence; May Be Nuclear Warhead

Coast and Midwest colleges, and comes from the newly formed Southwest Foundation for Economic Education, Houston, Texas.

Signed by Miss B. A. Zimmerman, executive secretary, the letter offers to furnish speakers and pay their transportation and stop-over expenses for all types of college forums, stating:

"The Southwestern Foundation for Economic Education was established and financed recently for the purposes of hearing and deriding the cost to groups such as yours, of securing outstanding speakers for your community and appropriate forums, to develop a public consciousness of economic subjects."

The letter goes on to point out that "The Incorporators of the foundation viewed with concern the Soviet Union's growing success in conducting an economic war against the U.S. and other nations, and the ignorance of both the American people and government leaders about this economic warfare. They also believe that, given adequate knowledge and agriculture, and labor can compete successfully in the struggle for world markets, with the increasing productivity of Western Europe, Japan, and the Soviet Bloc."

Noting the lack of funds for university groups to use to obtain nationally known speakers, the foundation's letter suggests:

"If you think your faculty members and/or student body would be interested in having a speaker from our roster address them during the coming months, I would appreciate your advising me accordingly and giving me the names of those persons whom I should contact. The SFEF will pay direct all transportation and stopover living expenses for the speaker. The only request we make is that we be sent a copy for our record and use of the talk by the speaker we provide."

"War is fought not only with guns, but — often more effectively — in the market place, through the channels of international trade and commerce. Many professors and students' groups and classes in the various colleges and universities, who are interested in and should know about recent developments on the world economic scene, often cannot afford the cost of bringing good speakers to their local and regional meetings. The Southwestern Foundation for Economic Education was established to defray these costs."

This and other examples of how both "right-wing" and left-wing" foundations are now engaged in trying to influence the "minds" of all Americans on critical issues of the day will be highlighted in Representative Patman's third blockbuster report on the tax-exempt foundations. The report is scheduled to be made public in October.

Notes From Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — In short, says Spear & Staff, Inc., "we feel justified in adopting a somewhat more aggressive attitude at this time."

The advisory service says while further market reactions cannot be ruled-out, the technical position seems to have improved a great deal. The majority of its indicators have strengthened and the charts of many leading issues are building, or have built, good consolidation patterns at or not far below present price-levels, it says.

S&S adds that any possible correction is unlikely to penetrate these formations, and more likely, would be stopped before support levels are reached.

Technicians say that the market is its own best forecast and in the light of this statement it must be noted that rails have been better forecasters than industrial, says Joseph E. Gravelle. The E. F. Hutton & Co. analyst notes that even though rails show diverging movement turning down while industrial are still moving up, it has served as a technical reason for some caution and increased selectivity.

A thought for the day — Swedish statesman Axel Oxenstierna said: "Behold, my son, with little wisdom the world is governed."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
The new bronze plaque in the General Assembly building of the United Nations in New York reads:

"In memory of Dag Hammarskjold ... and those who with him lost their lives ... in quest of peace in the Congo."

The unveiling came just one day short of a year after Hammarskjold died Sept. 18, 1961 in the crash of his chartered plane in a forested wilderness near Ndola, Southern Rhodesia. This mission had been to negotiate a cease-fire between United Nations and secessionist Katangese forces.

But even as the U.N. in New York paid deference to Hammarskjold and U.N. and Congolese forces in Leopoldville dipped their flags in his memory, it was almost as if a year had not passed.

For in Elisabethville, the dreary drama of the Congo continued almost without change, almost as if all that were happening now also had happened at least once before.

Change of Command
Hammarskjold was dead and U Thant of Burma had taken his place.

But Katanga President Moise Tshombe continued to play his mercurial role, and events followed almost a carbon copy of the past. Agreement... a cease-fire... charges of broken faith.

Early this month, Thant presented to Tshombe a plan which went far toward granting self-rule to the provinces of the Congo but which at the same time also contained an ultimatum to go into effect should Tshombe persist in his refusal to rejoin a united Congo.

The plan provided that Katanga should share its rich mining revenues, which in the last year came to around $50 million, with the central government and that its 12,000 soldiers should be integrated with Congo forces.

Close to the deadline set by Thant, Tshombe cabled his "enthusiastic" endorsement.

Another Reversal
Yet Tshombe's record of first agreeing and then twisting away called for a certain amount of skepticism. The skepticism proved justified.

Pointing to the bodies of two dead policemen, Tshombe accused the United Nations of breaking the cease-fire. He declared:

"I do not believe in U Thant's good faith any longer, nor in the Western nations who guaranteed his plan."

Officially, U.S. policy continued to call for the reunification of the Congo, by force if necessary, in the belief that without the wealth of Katanga, the Congo never could stand by itself.

The accord is played by more than 1.3 million Americans.
