City's Engineer Blasts Council In Resignation

City Engineer Monroe O. Moore Saturday handed his resignation to City Manager Harold Schmitzer. The city engineer gave a copy of the resignation to The Pampa News. It reads as follows: "Memo to City Manager: 'From City Engineer: 'Subject: Resignation. 'For the past one and one-half years every official act and every announced decision of the governing body of the City of Pampa has offended my sensibilities and seemed to be contrary to my accepted ideas as to Political Science and Municipal Management and seems to conflict with my training as a Christian and as a Professional Engineer; therefore, I feel it is my duty to end my association with the City of Pampa and I do hereby submit this Resignation to become effective immediately.' The letter of resignation, dated Sept. 16 (today), was signed, Monroe E. Moore, PE." City Manager Schmitzer, contacted at his home Saturday, commented that he had received the resignation from the city engineer. The city manager said he orally accepted the resignation with regrets yesterday and that he planned to give Moore written acceptance tomorrow morning. Moore said he had nothing to add to his written resignation, except that it was prompted by an accumulation of things over the past year and a half. Moore had been with the city as an engineer since June of 1957. He said his plans for the immediate future were uncertain and that presently he had no other job in mind. "I've had a couple of offers in recent months," Moore said, "but I turned them down. Now I guess I'll have to renegotiate."

Pampa Tax Rate Will Be Set In Tuesday Meeting

Pampa's tax rate for the 1962-63 fiscal year will be set Tuesday night when the City Commission meets in regular weekly session for final approval of the coming year's budget. The current city rate is $1.45, which was a reduction of five cents over fiscal 1960-61. Tentative approval was given to the $1,563,102 city budget at last Tuesday's commission meeting, but one or two situations still were to be resolved. It was indicated the tax rate probably would remain the same, but a definite figure will not be available until Tuesday night.

Another top item on the Tuesday night agenda will be the consideration of the ordinance to repeal Ordinance 107-A, passed in 1928. Repeal of this ordinance would abolish the Board of City Development and cut the Chamber of Commerce off from city tax support. A motion to have the repeal ordinance drawn and submitted for action Tuesday was passed unanimously by the City Commission last week.

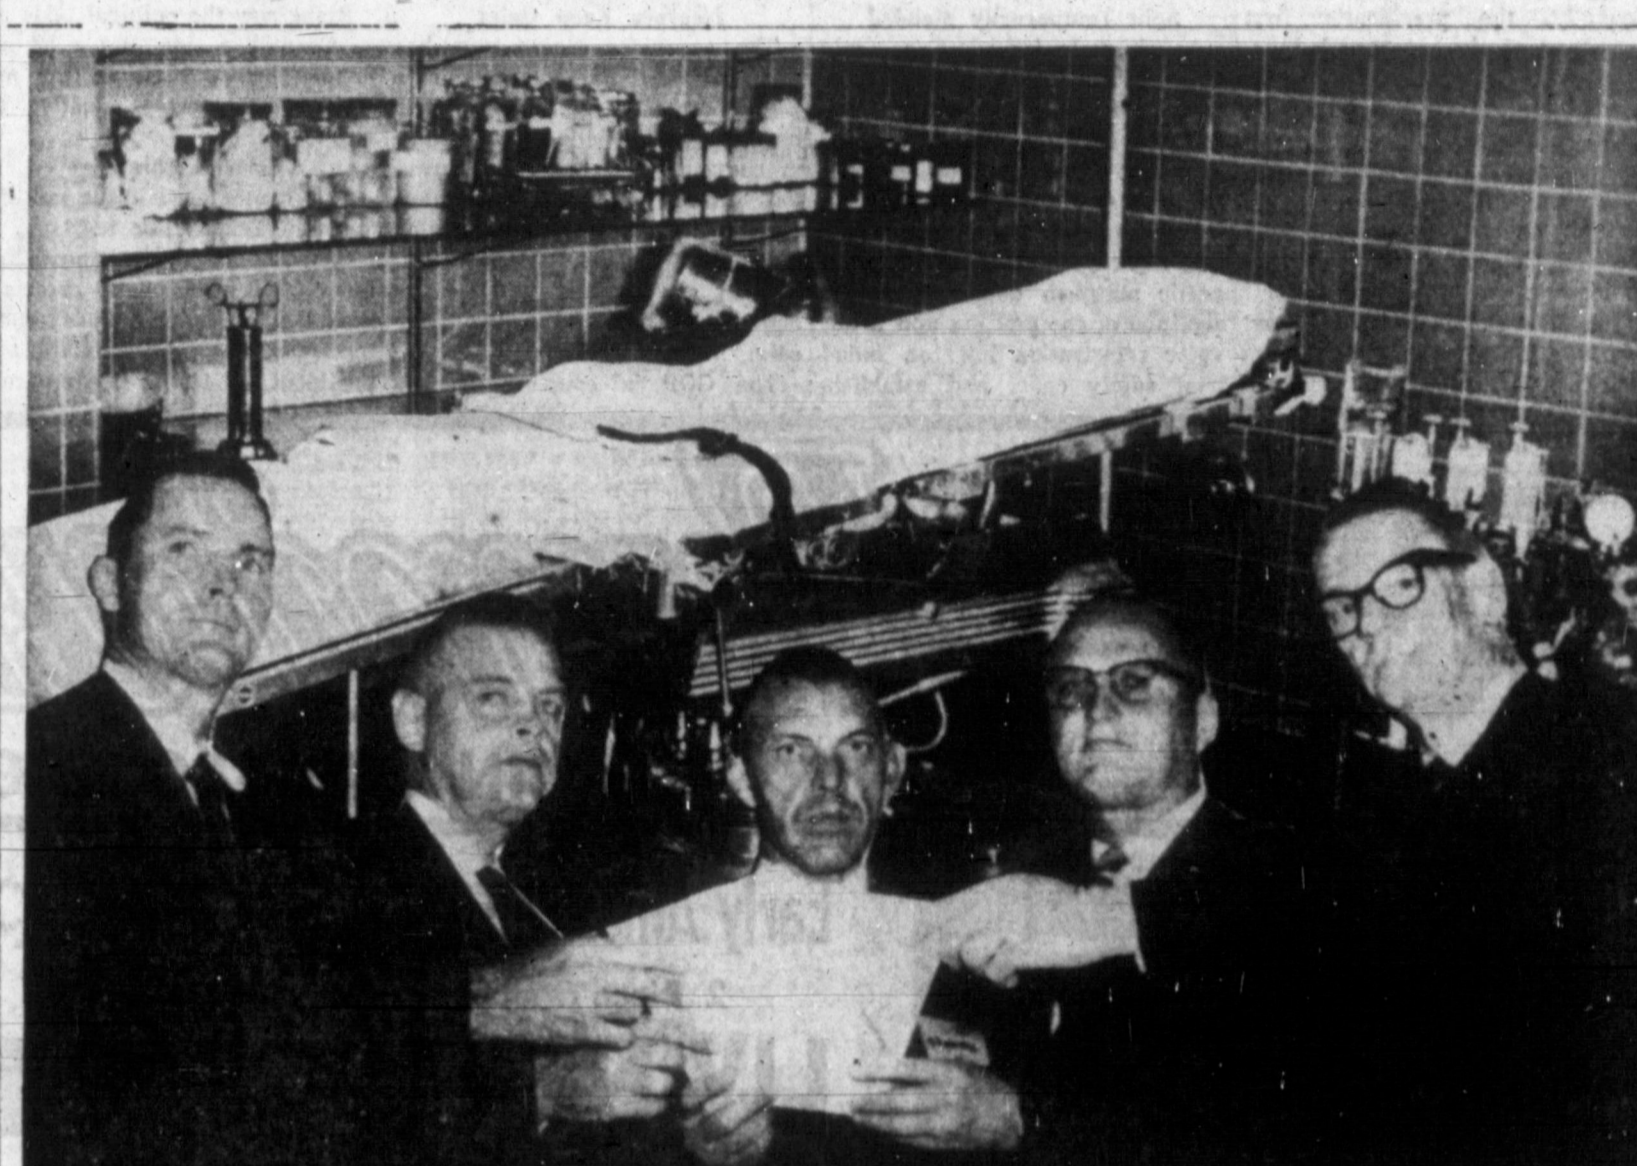

The BCD, until last year, had been receiving an average of $25,000 a year in city tax money. Last year the Commission cut the amount approximately $8,000. This year, the Commission offered to continue support of the Chamber of Commerce if the C. of C. would accept an ordinance which would separate the BCD and the Chamber. In a statement to the Commission last Tuesday night the Chamber of Commerce indicated it preferred to operate under the existing BCD ordinance without any changes.

The Commission then voted to repeal the current ordinance and withdraw BCD tax money support. Other business scheduled for Tuesday includes the approval of current bills and recommendations of the city manager.

Pampa's Rep. Walter Rogers has been accorded the honor of buying the first sheet of the Sam Rayburn Commemorative 4-cent stamp when it goes on sale at the local post office at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow. Postmaster O. K. Gaylor will make the first sale of the stamp that honors the Texan who served as House Speaker for 17 years—twice as long as any other man in Congressional history. Stamp collectors and the general public are invited to attend tomorrow morning's local ceremonies. The stamps will go on sale to the public immediately following the purchase by Representative Rogers.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson is scheduled to attend the first day stamp ceremony at Bonham, Texas, this afternoon. Representing the Post Office Department there today will be Assistant Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen.

85 Physicians In Attendance For Society's Meeting

Approximately 85 physicians in the fields of surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics and internal medicine, were in Pampa Saturday to attend the day-long Panhandle District Medical Society meeting held in the Coronado Inn. Physicians from several states in the middle west were present for the sessions which got underway at 10 a.m. Saturday. Highlight of the day's activities was the election of officers to fill the 1963 service year. Dr. Alvin W. Bronwell, Lubbock, was elected president. He replaces Dr. Macfield McDaniel, Pampa, President-elect for the coming year will be Dr. H. Fred Johnson, Amarillo. Other officers include Dr. John Locke, Slaton, first vice president; Dr. Walter Brooks, Quanah, second vice president, and Dr. E. K. Jones, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

Featured speaker during the noon session was Dr. George W. Waldon, president of the Texas Medical Association. Both morning and afternoon sessions featured technical information talks by doctors in their special field of work. Saturday's activities were concluded with a dinner and dance which got underway at 7:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado. General arrangements chairmen (See PHYSICIANS, Page 3)

Government Restricts Use Of Sabin Type III Polio Vaccine To The Young

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has decided to continue the nation's mass polio inoculation program but restrict the controversial type III Sabin vaccine to those of school age and under, informed sources said tonight. The disclosure came as Surgeon General Luther L. Terry and his top medical advisers prepared to wind up a day-long conference on findings in Canada, where the use of type III oral vaccine has been suspended temporarily.

Dr. Ed S. Williams, one of Pampa's two administrative coordinators in the local mass inoculation, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 7, said last night, the program for inoculation with Type One Oral vaccine will go ahead here as planned. "Types One and Two have been cleared for use both for adults and children," Dr. Williams said. "The government's restriction applies only to Type III Sabin vaccination which it has limited to children of school age and under." Dr. Williams stated that Lubbock has cleared the inoculations for persons of all ages and starts its program today. Amarillo also has cleared the Type I vaccine, he stated, and will go ahead with the program. The announcement, he stated, was made at the convention of the Panhandle District Medical Society here last night in Coronado Inn, shortly after word was received that the government had cleared the program with only the restriction on Type III. The source explained that it was more dangerous to give the vaccine to adults because they were less likely to get polio from natural sources. Therefore, he said, it meant adults had a greater chance of contracting the disease through a vaccine than school-age children. An official announcement of the decision was expected later. One of those at the conference was Dr. F. P. Nagler of the Canadian Health Ministry whose government announced earlier this week that it was shelving use of the Type III vaccine at least temporarily. The Type III Sabin vaccine which is taken orally like a cough syrup is designed to combat a form of paralytic polio that has become more widespread in the last six years.

'Celia' Loses Her Punch

MIAMI (UPI)—Tropical Storm Celia lost its punch Saturday and faded into a disorganized area of squalls with top winds of only 35 to 40 miles an hour. Hurricane hunter planes reported the area of squally weather was about 460 miles east-northeast of San Juan, P.R., drifting slowly toward the north-northwest. In its final advisory on Celia Saturday, the Weather Bureau said the squalls were located at latitude 21.5 north, longitude 60.0 west. Squalls extended out 150 miles northeast of the center of the area. The Weather Bureau said it was unlikely that Celia would become a storm again, but if it did, advisories would be resumed. Celia was discovered Wednesday, packing winds of 70 miles an hour. At that time, forecasters said it appeared to be building up to hurricane force. But the storm encountered upper air currents and other conditions that sapped its strength.

Republican Candidate Approached By Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department announced Saturday night that two Russian employees of the United Nations have been expelled from this country for trying to recruit a New York political candidate for "illegitimate intelligence activities." Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the candidate, Richard A. Flink, 27, was offered $3,000 to work for the Soviet cause. Flink, running for the State Assembly, pretended to work with the two Russian agents but instead cooperated with the FBI.

The Russians, who have already left the country, were identified as Yuri A. Mishukov, 31, and Yuri V. Zaitsev, 38. Kennedy said that in return for a $3,000 contribution to Flink's campaign fund, Flink was to slant speeches to organizations, provide information about the inside operations of U. S. government agencies and personal information about influential members of the Republican party. Flink accepted the $3,000 and turned it over to the FBI. Mishukov, a translator in the U. N. office of conference services, left this country under U. S. orders July 5. Zaitsev, a political affairs officer in the U. N. political and security council affairs department, took his forced departure on Aug. 7. Kennedy said that the FBI kept track of their activities through the cooperation of Flink who lives in Howard Beach, N. Y. Flink is a former student assistant in the U. S. Attorney's office for the southern New York district. The Attorney General said Mishukov told Flink that Moscow "would contribute $3,000 to his political campaign in return for Mr. Flink's agreement to advocate certain policies, if elected, in speeches to organizations." He said the $3,000 ultimately was paid to Flink and impounded by the FBI. Kennedy said Mishukov also wanted Flink "to provide information regarding internal operations of U. S. government agencies, and personal information about influential members of Mr. Flink's political party." A Justice Department spokesman said Flink actually had first been approached by Mishukov in the fall of 1959. Flink was then a young lawyer. He is now 27 years old. The Attorney General said Flink reported the contact to the FBI. He said that before Mishukov left the United States July 5, he arranged for Flink to meet Zaitsev who was to be his "replacement" and who was to "carry out the promises made by the Soviets." Kennedy said the Justice and State Department informed the United Nations Secretariat of the activities of the Russians and both were discharged. Mishukov was a translator in the U. N. office of conference services. Zaitsev was a political affairs officer in the U. N. political and security council affairs department. Zaitsev left the country Aug. 7. The Attorney General said that (See RUSSIANS, Page 3)

Man Arrested In Prowler Investigation

Police Saturday were investigating the case of a prowler reported seen in the yard of Mrs. James J. Ham, 1057 Varnon Dr., at 10:15 p.m. Friday. Patrolmen Don Aycock and C. L. Wallace, the investigating officers, said they found footprints in the yard that led to car tracks which were traced to a nearby club. Three men were taken into custody at the club, according to police, and the shoes of one of the trio, they stated, fit the footprint found in the yard. The prowler suspect was arrested on an intoxication charge. He denied that he was drunk and also that he had been prowling. The other two men were released after questioning. The man held on the intoxication charge was released on $25 bond and signed a statement offering to take a lie detector test to prove his innocence, police said. Police said they answered two calls to the 900-block of S. Reid Friday night to check on a reported prowler. A 14-year-old girl, staying with five other smaller children, said they had seen a man's hand at one of the windows and they became frightened. Investigating officers said they could find no trace of a prowler in the neighborhood. If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdws. Adv.

Two Men Admit Breaking Into Drug Store Here

Asst. Police Chief J. O. Dumas announced Saturday that full confessions had been obtained from Pampa man and his newly-arrived acquaintance in connection with a break-in at John's Pharmacy, 2104 Perryton Pkwy., early Thursday morning. Clarence E. Powell, 28, of 2234 Christine St., and James A. Winegart, 23, of Rt. 1, Glenora, La., were arraigned in Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham's court Friday afternoon, each on charges of burglary with intent to commit theft. Police also stated that John Ruby, manager of the drug store, said he had recovered the $0. at first thought missing, but at a revolver still was missing from the store. Winegart, in his statement to police, said he had acted as a lookout for Powell while the latter broke in the rear door of the drug store. Powell, in his statement, said "had met Winegart in a bar and the two of them left in Winegart's car and decided to break into the pharmacy. Powell, however, said in the statement he was looking for a bag of dextro-amphetamine sulfate, but was unable to find it. He said he pried the cash register open with a screwdriver, but there were only a few pennies in it. Powell stated that he took the thing from the store. The two men were apprehended by Patrolman James Britton and Lt. William B. Robinson had spotted a car parked near John's pharmacy and then flashed a description of it to other patrolmen when the driver pulled away. eluded him as the policeman followed with his lights off. Lt. Robinson later returned to the scene where the car had been kept and discovered the drug had been broken into. Patrolman Britton spotted the car on W. Foster St. and Winegart and Powell were in it. They were taken to police headquarters after lengthy questioning by Friday, both men signed statements admitting their part in the break-in, police said.

Rogers Will Buy First Of New Stamps

Pampa's Rep. Walter Rogers has been accorded the honor of buying the first sheet of the Sam Rayburn Commemorative 4-cent stamp when it goes on sale at the local post office at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow. Postmaster O. K. Gaylor will make the first sale of the stamp that honors the Texan who served as House Speaker for 17 years—twice as long as any other man in Congressional history. Stamp collectors and the general public are invited to attend tomorrow morning's local ceremonies. The stamps will go on sale to the public immediately following the purchase by Representative Rogers.

Pampa Gets .72 Inch Of Moisture

Pampa received .72 inch of rain day night and early Saturday moisture spread across the top of Texas in scattered but heavy general thundershowers. Before, about 13 miles southeast of Pampa, received 1.60 inch of rain.

Big 3 Bars Red Armored Cars In W. Berlin

By JOSEPH FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI)—The Big Three Western powers Saturday barred Soviet armored cars from entering West Berlin without prior authorization from the commandants of the Allied Berlin garrisons. A statement issued by the U.S., British and French commandants did not mention what the Western Allies would do if the Soviets tried to defy the ban. It was the third time in less than two weeks that the West had cracked down on the Russians on the issue of the armored cars. Friday the Russians bowed to an Allied demand to stop using armored vehicles to transport guards to the Soviet war memorial in the British sector. On Sept. 4, the Russians submitted quietly to an Allied order forbidding them to send armored cars through "Checkpoint Charlie" in the U.S. sector and ordering them to use instead the shorter route over the Sandkrug Bridge in the British sector. Beat Deadline In bowing to the Allied demand to switch back to the use of the regular bus for the guard changes, the Russians beat a Western Allied deadline by 24 hours. They used the bus again Saturday. It was escorted to and from the memorial in Tiergarten Park by two West Berlin police patrol cars and a British military sedan. The Russians began sending in three armored cars daily on August 21 after their bus was stoned for three days by West Berliners protesting the fatal shooting of a young East German refugee. They sent the armored cars into West Berlin without seeking Western permission. Berlin's Allied commandants said this practice could not be repeated in the future. "It has been and still is the accepted practice for any sector commandant who, for one reason or another, wishes to send an armored vehicle into another sector to seek and obtain the prior authority of the commandant of the sector concerned," the joint statement by the Western commandants noted. "This practice has been followed consistently by the Allies since the start of the occupation. It is not the intention of the three commandants to modify it." The Russians recently abolished the post of the Soviet commandant of Berlin and an East German general was appointed in his place by the Communists. But the West has refused to recognize the unilateral action and has been dealing with the Soviet commander in East Germany. The Western Allies took the tough stand because they believed the Russians were using the armored cars in a flamboyant attempt to intimidate West Berliners and exercise occupation rights in West Berlin they tried to deny the West in East Berlin.

Cantankerous Texas Democrats On 'Good Behavior' For Tuesday

By LLOYD LARRABEE

AUSTIN (UPI)—The usually cantankerous Texas Democrats will try to be on their best behavior Tuesday when they meet in state convention at El Paso. They must unite to stop an aroused Republican invasion into state politics.
 At stake in the Nov. 6 gubernatorial election is the prestige of the Kennedy administration, the state power of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and their beloved one-party system.
 Just how long this new harmony will last depends a lot on the kind of platform the convention draws for gubernatorial candidate John Connally, the president's first secretary of the navy and Johnson's close political ally.
Liberal, Labor and Latin
 Unless liberal, labor and Latin voters get a few of the planks they want, they may decide to "go fishing" on election day and help the GOP elect its first governor in history.
 The GOP candidate is Jack Cox, who ran for governor as a Democrat two years ago.

Republicans convene the same day in Fort Worth. The GOP will give Cox everything he wants to use to break the Democratic stranglehold on the state capitol.
 Although Connally has been cold to several of Kennedy's programs, Cox is already clobbering him with everything the president is for.
 Connally does not condone the president's medicare plan and federal aid to education.
 He also had his problems winning the Democratic nomination. He beat Houston liberal Don Yarborough by 25,000 votes in a runoff. Yarborough solidly endorsed the new frontier.
Split Temporarily Mended
 A liberal-conservative split among the Democrats which developed after Yarborough's defeat was temporarily mended when the state AFL-CIO endorsed Connally—with conditions.
 Labor made it clear they would take back its support if the Democratic platform does not contain abolition of the poll tax and a fair voter registration law, an industrial safety code, and establishment of a state department of labor.

 Texas' large Spanish-speaking vote also gave Connally a conditional endorsement. They want the state platform to endorse Kennedy's medicare for the aged, federal aid to education and cabinet status for the department of urban affairs, and abolition of the poll tax and fair voter registration.
 The Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations also urged abolition of "right to work" laws and criticized the state AFL-CIO for failing to insist state candidates take a stand on the issue.
Negroes Keep Quiet
 The organized Negro vote has not announced its intentions. Democrats are going to have to have a lot of wheeling and dealing in convention. If the platform is too "liberal" it will drive more conservatives into the blossoming Republican party. If it isn't, liberals may desert the fold to help the GOP build a two-party state.
 The GOP is courting liberals with a line about putting conservatives in the Republican party where they belong.

 Liberals helped the GOP elect John Tower to the U.S. Senate to replace Johnson after Democratic candidate Bill Blakley embraced a conservative program.
 If Cox desires, Tower is expected to help him campaign. The senator is currently riding a surge of popularity in Texas.
 Kennedy and Johnson are expected to keep hands off. Cox gigs Connally continuously with jibes that he is "Johnson's boy," sent back from Washington to keep the LBJ brand on the state-house.
 Right now the political odds are on Connally's side. But a lot can happen before Nov. 6. One mistake could cost Connally the election.
Colorful Campaign
 The campaign will be colorful, the way Texans like it.
 Connally uses the smooth approach, but occasionally reverts to the hand-pumping, buddy-buddy tactics of his old friend the vice president. At 44, he is prematurely grey and handsome. He has a strong television image.

 Cox, who is 39 and a former college boxer, has a more vigorous approach. As a speaker he is a spellbinder. A West Texas boy, he also likes the down-to-earth approach. On occasions he will grab a guitar and cut loose with a western ballad.
 Both have attractive wives to help them in their campaigns. Connally's wife was a former beauty queen at the University of Texas.
 This is Connally's first political race. Cox is a former state legislator who was beaten by incumbent Gov. Price Daniel in 1960 and also lost a congressional race by 436 votes in 1952.

STATE PREXY — Mrs. R. C. L. Robertson of Houston, center, state president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Texas Medical Association, was a featured speaker at the auxiliary's luncheon held yesterday in the Pampa Club, Coronado Inn. The medical auxiliary's meeting was in conjunction with the District Three Medical Society's clinical meeting. Mrs. Robertson, pictured with Mrs. Macfield MacDaniel, general chairman, left, and Mrs. Raymond Laycock, president of the Top of Texas Auxiliary, spoke to the luncheon group on the auxiliary's objective, "Seek To Save," which will be the theme throughout the state this year. Approximately sixty doctors' wives were registered for the one-day meeting. (Daily News Photo)

Cabot Division Has Family Day Saturday

The third Family Day for the employees of the Cabot Corporation, Machinery Division, was held Saturday, at the plant site four miles west of the city on the marillo Highway. Approximately 1,500 employees and members of their families attended festivities. Plant tours, equipment and product displays, prize awards, door prizes, favors, refreshments, and barbecue highlighted the occasion.

Families began arriving at 1 p.m. and were received at a registration booth located just outside the main office building. Employees, retired employees, their wives and husbands were assigned numbers which qualified them for participation in the door prize drawing. Name tags were checked and prominently displayed so each person could be readily identified.

R. A. Baker, Don Forsha, C. G. Commons, Rue Hestand, Bruce Dehart and other members of the management staff were on hand to extend an official welcome to all employees, their families and guests. At the beginning of the plant tour, each person was presented a floral head-piece - the girls and ladies receiving bonnets and men and boys, Indian hats. Starting with the Fabricating plant where more than 31,000 Cast Pumping Units have been assembled, the tour moved on through the Machine Plant, a department of hundreds of machines that are operated by skilled craftsmen in turning out precision parts, shafts, gear boxes, drums, etc. In the Ordnance Plant, the visitors saw the big electric furnace that makes the high quality steel from which gun tubes are forged, machined, and heat treated. The end of the tour and general assembly point was in the Erick and Assembly Plant. On display in the plant yard

Pioneer Cottage Gets Medallion
Pampa's Pioneer Cottage, presently located at the intersection of Starkweather and Browning streets, was awarded a Texas historical medallion Saturday, according to a report from the State Historical Survey Committee. The Pampa Historical Society recently presented the application for the medallion to the County Commissioners, who approved application to be sent to Austin where it was awarded. Several other buildings in Pampa were included in the application for medallions.

Cancer Group Sets Meeting Here Monday

Board members of the Gray County Cancer Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Lovett Memorial Library where they will hear Tom Williams, district field representative of Amarillo, discussing the responsibilities of committee chairmen for the 1962-63 year.

Williams will orient the board members on their specific duties and present tips to help them in their work.

Bob Carmichael, Pampa, first vice-president of the association, will talk on objectives of the association. Regular board meetings scheduled are Nov. 28, 1962; Jan. 23, 1963; and March 27, 1963, all at 7 a.m. in the Coronado Inn.

According to Mrs. J. P. Foster, president of the association, the annual meeting is scheduled for May, with details and the specific date to be announced later. Officers for the association are: President, Mrs. J. P. Foster; first vice-president, Bob Carmichael; second vice-president, Dr. M. McDaniel; secretary, Mrs. K. F. Dunn; and treasurer, Paul Keim. At tomorrow night's meeting, all committee chairmen are to present a report to the board on their activities.

Treadwell, Paskel L. Crutcher, Dassis L. Nickel, George Eyer, and William C. Smith. Master of ceremonies for the event was Howard Stanfield of the machinery division.

Bond Is Set In Carrying Of Firearms

A 24-year-old Pampa woman pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs for unlawfully carrying firearms when arraigned in County Court Saturday.

The woman, Henri Lois Johnson, 409 Oklahoma, was picked up in the 500-block of Elm St. about 12:30 a.m. Saturday after police had been notified of a disturbance at the Oklahoma St. address.

According to police reports, Patrolmen J. E. Britton and Charles LaFever were called to the scene where Mrs. Ernestine Wilson told them her estranged husband, Willie J. Wilson, 507 Oklahoma, had come to her home and dragged her out of the bathtub, took her outside and rolled her in the mud in the front yard.

Officers Britton and LaFever said Wilson had left and they learned Mrs. Johnson, sister of Mrs. Wilson had gone looking for him.

When they found Mrs. Johnson they said she had a sawed-off 22-caliber rifle concealed under her sweater.

Later they found Wilson and he was taken into custody on a charge of disturbing the peace. The officers' report said Wilson was released on bond.

Traffic accidents cost the lives of 3,160 persons in the U.S. during May, 1962.

Bo Scout Porch Light Drive Set

The Boy Scout Porch Light Campaign to recruit boys 11 and older into the Scouting program has been set for Tuesday between the hours of 7 to 9 p.m.

The Campaign will operate from the offices of Southwestern Public Service. The organization and distribution of boys to be called on will be done by ladies of the Jayettes. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be calling on the homes of boys that have their porch light on, and will explain the Scouting Program, and invite the boy to visit a nearby Troop meeting.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken on the campaign as a service project to assist boys in getting registered in the Scouting Program. All boys interested are requested to turn on their porch light Tuesday night at 7 p.m., and they will be called on.

Pampan Faces Morals Charge

A 73-year-old Pampa man was released under $2,000 bond Friday afternoon to await action of the Gray County grand jury on a morals charge involving his five-year-old granddaughter.

Police said the man had been arrested after complaints from neighbors, a baby-sitter and his own daughter-in-law.

The elderly man has denied the charge. He was arraigned Friday in the court of Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham.

Man Fined $25

William Maurice Scanlon, 1813 N. Wells, was fined $25 and costs Friday in County court when he changed a former plea of not guilty to guilty on a charge of opposing and resisting an officer in arrest of another for misdemeanor without warrant.

Russians

Flink was a graduate of Brandeis University and the New York University Law School.

He served for about one year as a student assistant in the United States Attorney's office for the southern district of New York.

His first approach by the Russian came shortly after he left this job.

The Justice Department spokesman said that since the initial contact, Flink had acted under FBI instructions.

Kennedy said their activities were "a gross abuse of the privileges of residents accorded to employees of the Secretariat...and a violation of the obligations of an international civil servant."

H. D. Hale's Services Set For Monday

Funeral services for Herbert Daniel Hale, 64, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Ennis Hill of Lubbock, former pastor, officiating.

Mr. Hale, an engineman for Phillips Oil Co., was pronounced dead on arrival at Worley Hospital at 10 p.m. Friday.

He was born May 6, 1898, in Arkansas and had been a resident in the Panhandle area for 38 years. He resided at the Phillips Fairway Booster Plant, south of Pampa.

Mr. Hale was a member and deacon of the Calvary Baptist Church; member of Pampa Masonic Lodge AF&AM 966; Pampa Chapter of Royal Arch Masons; 32nd degree Mason of the Dallas Consistory; Khiva Shrine Temple of Amarillo; and veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Lola Lee of the home; one son, Nathan, who is a student at Tarleton College at Stephenville; three daughters, Mrs. Marvin Hall of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. Noble Lane of Houston, Mrs. H. L. Nelms of Seminole; one brother, Sam of Floydada; one sister, Mrs. Ollie Harbur of Chillicothe; and eight grandchildren.

Interment will be in the Hillcrest Cemetery in McLean under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Masonic graveside rites will be conducted by the Pampa Masonic Lodge.

Pallbearers will be E. W. Baker, Micky White, R. O. Clements, J. M. McCracken, Raymond Hawkins, Travis White, Ben Holcomb and Walter Sheppard.

Cub Scout Open House Project Is Set At All Elementary Schools Here

A Cub Scout Open House Meeting will be conducted at each of the elementary schools within the next two weeks, according to George Etheredge, Round-Up Chairman for the Santa Fe District.

The meetings are for boys who are not already in the Cubbing Program, and are 8, 9 and 10 years old, and their parents.

The meetings will start at 7:15 p.m. at each school and a boy may join the neighboring pack of his choice. The schedule of Open House Meetings are as follows:

Travis, September 17; Horace Mann, September 18; Stephen F. Austin, September 19; Baker, September 20; Lamar, September 24; Sam Houston, September 25; Woodrow Wilson, September 27; Carver School, September 28.

A special invitation is extended to boys 8-10 to attend the meeting at their school and hear the Scouting story. They are not obligated to join. The meetings will be conducted by George Etheredge and Tony Andress, Vice-Chairman of the Round-Up Program which also includes a Porch

Light Campaign for boys 11 and older to join Boy Scouting.

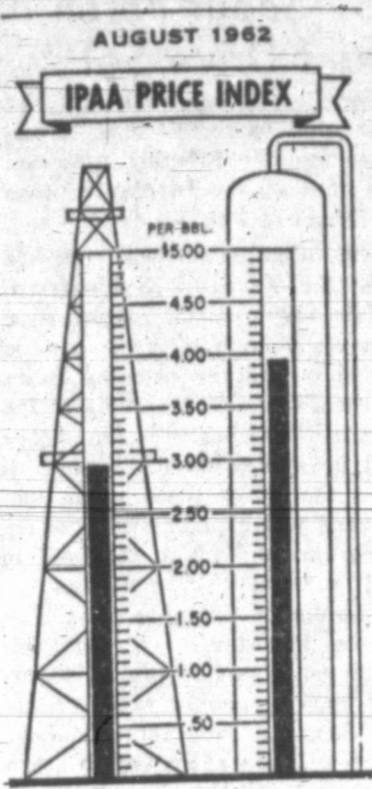

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will make calls to the homes of boys that would like to learn more about the Boy Scouts, and receive and invitation to visit a neighboring Troop. The Porch Light Campaign is set for Tuesday night, September 18 from 7 to 9 p.m. Boys and their parents interested in being called on are requested to turn on their porch light.

This is the annual Round-Up Program of the District to assist the Units in extending the Scouting Program to the boys that have turned 8 or 11 years old during the summer.

On International Film Festival

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the visitors in the capital this week was John Frankenheimer, a young show biz whiz who has been winning all sorts of awards for television and motion picture direction.

Feeling that he might have something to contribute to world affairs, I sought out Frankenheimer for an interview. Oddly enough, my lunch was right.

Frankenheimer said he didn't think the government was doing enough about using movies as an instrument of foreign policy to build good will for America.

Among other things, he proposed that an international film festival be held in Washington each year.

No sooner had I returned to my desk than the long arm of coincidence reached out and knocked me over with a feather.

Announces Festival
There I found a press release announcing that a film festival would be staged here this very autumn — No. 7-9 to be exact. How's that for speedy action, Frankenheimer?

Sponsor of the festival will be the Agriculture Department, which arranged the event as part of its centennial observance.

More than 100 films have been entered from the United States, Canada and Latin America. I stopped by the department to get a list of the entries and from all indications the festival will be a real gasser.

One film that should do well is entitled "The Tongaxie System of Milking Cows." I don't know who, what or where. Tongaxie is, but you'll have to admit it's a catchy title.

Another film I'm looking forward to seeing is "Breeding Better Corn," which was produced by the Funk Brothers Seed Co. If it wins an award at the festival, it could establish Funk Brothers as a rival to Warner Brothers.

In retaliation, Warner Brothers could go into the seed business.

Face Tough Task

The list also includes a film called "Beef Up Feet Lot Profits" and one called "How to Beef Up Feet Lot Profits." Festival judges may be hard pressed to choose between them.

Financial Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite the lack-luster performance of the market during the past week, near term technical indications remain constructive, says Richard T. Leahy of J. W. Sparks & Co.

The willingness of the list of hold at the 600 support zone together with favorable volume suggests the possibility of a renewal of the recent near-term upswing. However, Leahy points out, it seems only reasonably that the trader and investor alike continue to cast a wary eye at the disturbing foreign situation.

It could well be that the list will be confined to a moderate range over the next few months, bounded by a bottom above the June low and a top above the August high. Position ratings for chemicals, radios, and television manufacturers have been raised from average to most favorable.

United Business Service says it would continue relatively conservative policies, switching doubtful stocks into better quality issues and building some cash reserves.

According to Standard & Poor's, include "Feed Automation Through a One Inch Pipe," "Fire Fighting in Country Elevators," "Modern Trends in Swine Production" and "An Introduction to the Arabian Horse."

This may not be exactly the kind of festival Frankenheimer had in mind, but it shows that the government is more alert, film-wise, than he suspected.

If Frankenheimer would be willing to direct it, I have an idea for a film that I believe would create a sensation at the festival. It would be titled "The Billie Sol Estes Story."

The service favors drug share for the long-term.

The technical pattern of the last few days suggests a continuance of the better market tone and it seems likely that the advance will broaden out to embrace even more sectors of the market, says Martin Gilbert of Vantage-Alstyne, Noel & Co.

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo

Ted Kennedy, Ed McCormack Battle Tossup In Massachusetts

BOSTON (UPI)—The bookmakers were offering even money Saturday night in the battle between Teddy Kennedy and Eddie McCormack for the Democratic senatorial nomination. It is even money that both of them will knock themselves out before the bell rings for the main bout on Tuesday.

Eddie is state attorney general and is trying to do two jobs at once. He spends several hours each day dashing in and out of grand jury rooms presenting cases and doubtless hoping to leave the impression that he hasn't time to kiss all the babies in Massachusetts. Then he stalks the voters in their native habitats and advises them that Teddy is too young to be a U. S. senator and what has he ever done for Massachusetts in all his 30 years?

Fatigue lines are beginning to show in Eddie's face and when he goes on television without makeup they look like canals.

Teddy Overtrained

Teddy has overtrained and is a victim of laryngitis. For a politician, this is the equivalent of Arnold Palmer breaking both wrists on the eve of the National Open Golf championship. The blow fell on Teddy at a rally in Rosindale Friday night, but the symptoms were there early Friday. He spent three hours in a steam bath trying to get the scratch out of his throat, and announced he was ready for battle.

In an attempt to prove it he scheduled eleven political appearances for Saturday night and Sunday. Laryngitis is a lurking menace for any member of the Kennedy family in a political campaign. The President fell victim to it just before the critical West Virginia primary in 1960.

There is a Republican primary for the senatorial nomination being held here, too, and it is a pleasure to report that both candidates so far are sound in mind and limb. The candidates are Congressman Laurence Curtis, 69, and George Cabot Lodge, 35, a son of Henry Cabot Lodge. Curtis says Lodge is too old to be effective. This matter of ages pops up so often in both Democratic and Republican contests that the mind travels back to a song popular in World War II when young ladies lamented the absence of eligible men to the strains of "they're either too young or too old."

Rated Even

The Curtis-Lodge race also is rated even. In the jargon of the gamblers both Democratic and Republican contests are "six to five and take your pick." That means you put up $6 to win $5 and the extra money goes to the bookie to support him in a manner to which you have accustomed him.

Teddy's board of strategy is holding a hot potato which it can't eat or throw away. President Kennedy has taken elaborate precautions to avoid charges that he has turned the heat on in behalf of his brother. But the President has to vote and he has to come over here from Newport to do it. If he lands here with television cameras whirring and reporters out in force, the McCormack supporters are going to scream foul. If he arrives in midday, for instance, he might swing some last-minute voters. Or he might alienate some.

Teddy's brain trust is cerebrating furiously on how to handle this problem. The President swings a big political club in his home state and thousands who are against Teddy are all out for President Kennedy. Automobile stickers read: "I back Jack, but Teddy's not ready."

Frogmen Spend Day Under Water

MARSEILLES, France (UPI)—French frogmen Robert Falco, 35, and Claude Wesley, 30, spent the first day of their planned week at the bottom of the sea without incident, an attending physician reported Saturday night.

Dr. Xavier Fructus, member of the oceanography team of Cmdr. Jacques Cousteau, examined the men at their "home" 33 feet beneath the surface and said they worked, ate, relaxed and slept with no troubles under pressures never before experienced by man for such a long period.

A diver took them hot food.

The two men descended to their steel cylinder home wearing frogmen's equipment. They are able to relax inside the watertight cylinder without aqualungs but don them occasionally to explore

Khrushchev May Want To Meet With President JFK

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may be maneuvering for a meeting with President Kennedy before forcing a Berlin showdown, diplomatic sources said Saturday.

Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow said it looked as if Khrushchev wants a summit conference before the end of the year to determine whether a negotiated East-West settlement is possible.

The Soviet leader is not planning to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly in New York next week. The Soviet delegation is being led by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

But Gromyko was expected to sound out the prospects of a Khrushchev-Kennedy get-together, after the general debate of the U.N. assembly.

Moscow's announcement earlier this week that it will not press Berlin negotiations until after the November congressional elections in the United States was believed intended to allow time for another round of top level talks.

Kennedy left the door open for such a meeting with Khrushchev when he recently stated he would be prepared to meet the Soviet leader if he came to the United States.

Khrushchev, in turn, has left neighboring waters.

Cousteau and his colleagues are able to observe the men through closed circuit television. Their schedule calls for the men to spend two hours each morning and four each afternoon outside the cylinder at pressures roughly twice that of the atmosphere.

Man Found Dead

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—Jasper Eric Hayley, 44, was found shot to death Saturday in his locked bread truck behind a Wichita Falls grocery store.

Dr. J. A. Scofield, county medical examiner, ruled the death suicide. Scofield said Hayley telephoned a friend a few minutes before he shot himself.

Reserve Bill Okay Is Predicted By Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee predicted Saturday that despite some Republican grumblings a bill giving President Kennedy standby authority to mobilize 150,000 ready reserves in event of crisis will be passed without change.

The influential Georgia Democrat will be in charge of the measure when it comes to the House floor a week from Monday. The legislation, which administration spokesmen say is needed more for a potential emergency in Berlin than Cuba, already has passed the Senate 76-0.

One Republican critic, Rep. Charles S. Gubser of California, contended Saturday the bill was "written with political consequences in mind." He said he would offer an amendment to strike out a provision exempting reservists called to duty last fall from being summoned again.

Gubser emphasized that under ordinary circumstances the reservists who already have served should be exempt.

"But suppose a really bad situation developed," he told UPI in an interview. "These are the men with the highest military proficiency we have."

Sen. John G. Tower R-Tex., also took issue with Kennedy's request for the callup authority which would be effective while congress is not in session.

Apparently the U.S. Marines and U.S. Army divisions have been misled," Tower said in a statement. "Every time a crisis arises our reserves are yanked out of their civilian lives. The last time this happened, the East Germans constructed the Berlin wall with impunity."

The Texan added: "Are we proposing now to call reserves to cover capitulation or surrender in Cuba or in Berlin? I don't see that again imposing on civilians is the answer to the Cuban problem or a substitute to giving the American people the security they have a right to expect."

Gubser and other Republican critics prompted Democratic leaders to abandon a hurry-up procedure which they hoped could rush the bill to the White House Monday.

Instead, Vinson agreed to clear the measure with the Rules Committee next week. It would then be called up for a House vote a week from Monday, he said.

The Georgian said he would speak for two hours of debate and that the bill be opened to amendment.

LEROY BENEFIELD ... Missionary Speaker

Brotherhood Speaker Is Announced

Leroy Benefield, missionary to the Philippines, now on furlough, will be the speaker at the Pala Duro Associational Brotherhood meeting Monday night at the First Baptist Church here.

The meeting will get underway with the serving of a meal at 6:45 and the program following at 7:30.

Benefield was appointed by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in 1958 for service in the Philippines. He has been leading in evangelistic and agricultural work in Cotabato Province, on the island of Mindanao.

By sharing his agricultural know-how and introducing new farming methods and new crops, he has made the region's farmers receptive to his preaching and opened the way for introducing the gospel.

Much of Benefield's efforts have been directed toward expanding the agricultural program at Southern Baptist College, M'lang.

Enrolling in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Benefield earned the bachelor of divinity degree. While a student he pastored churches in Cloudy and Sobol, Okla., and Cleburne, Texas, and then the Rattan Church until he went to the Philippines.

The state flag of Arkansas has 29 stars: four in a diamond and 25 around the border.

Man Hangs Self; Is Implicated In Murder Effort

PARIS (UPI)—The ringleader of a killer-commando gang which allegedly tried to murder President Charles de Gaulle hanged himself Saturday by his knotted shirt from the bars of his Paris cell.

The body of Henri Niaux, 48, a former army officer, was discovered Saturday morning hours after he had undergone a grueling interrogation at criminal headquarters. He was arrested Friday in his hometown of Agen in southern France and immediately transferred to Paris.

Niaux was the eighth arrested of a 12-man group, believed members of the Secret Army Organization (OAS), which fired on De Gaulle, with submachine guns Aug. 22 in a carefully planned ambush in suburban Paris.

Three of the four still at large have been positively identified, said the search for the remainder of the gang was "practically over."

Police followed a scattered trail of clues through southern France and back to Agen—before seizing Niaux.

They first questioned the former signals corps commander Thursday. They arrested him Friday and brought him to Paris after discovering a batch of OAS-type documents.

Police believe Niaux gave instructions for the Petit-Clamart ambush in early August at a meeting on Boulevard Pasteur, near Montparnasse, at the home of Alexis Ducasse, son-in-law of retired air force Gen. Gaston Venot.

"I want to tell you I will answer to my responsibilities," police sources quoted Niaux as saying in his interrogation Friday night.

They described him as seeming "exhausted."

They said criminal brigade Inspector Jean Bouvier stopped the hearing then, sending Niaux back to his cell to rest.

They found him shortly after, hanging dead from a bar of his temporary cell in the annex of the Palais de Justice. He had torn his shirt into strips and knotted it into a make-shift rope.

Reds In New Atom Blast

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI)—The Soviet Union Saturday exploded a nuclear bomb with the explosive force of about 15 million tons of TNT in the atmosphere over its proving grounds in the Arctic.

The latest explosion in the current series in the Novaya Zemlya area was registered on the instruments of the Uppsala Seismographical Institute, at 8:06.38 a.m. GMT (3:06.38 a.m. EST) or about four minutes after the bomb was detonated.

Dr. Marcus Baath, head of the institute, said the site of the explosion was about 2,200 kilometers (1,367 miles) northeast of Uppsala in the Novaya Zemlya region in the Russian Arctic.

Dr. Baath estimated the force of the explosion as in the 15 megaton range. He said it was the second biggest recorded here since the Soviet Union began its current series of tests on Aug. 29.

Wildcatters Get Two Oil, 13 Gas Finds

AUSTIN (UPI)—Regular drillers completed 176 oil wells and 55 gas wells during the week, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The completions bring the total for the year to 7,326 oil wells and 2,386 gas wells compared with 6,665 and 2,210 respectively to date last year.

Wildcatters had two oil finds and 13 gas finds for the week, bringing their yearly totals to 278 oil and 762 gas wells, compared with 327 oil and 560 gas wells to date last year.

Wildcat oil finds were one each in the San Angelo and Wichita Falls districts. Gas finds were 10 in the Corpus Christi district, two

Phillips Will Build Frozen-Earth Propane Storage Facility In Utah

Phillips Petroleum Company has announced plans to construct a 3,000,000 gallon frozen-earth facility to store refrigerated propane, an LP-Gas, at its Woods Cross refinery near Salt Lake City, Utah.

The sides of the storage excavation, 95 feet in diameter and 95 feet deep, will be continuously frozen during both construction and operation.

By means of a mechanical refrigeration system, the propane will be stored at essentially atmospheric pressure at a temperature of approximately 50 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit. Complete operating and safety control features are included in the design.

The new facility will provide storage for propane produced in the general area. The propane will be transported by rail, truck or pipeline from various production points during the summer months. This increased summer storage capacity will enable Phillips to improve further its service to Philgas customers in the area.

Although refrigerated storage of propane at atmospheric pressure is not new, this will be the first frozen-earth storage container for refrigerated propane on a commercial scale in the U.S. Phillips holds two U.S. Patents covering major features of the installation.

Traffic Death Rate Is Up For Students

AUSTIN (UPI)—Traffic deaths among high school and college students have had a dangerous upward trend in Texas, Gov. Price Daniel said Saturday in a school traffic safety appeal.

Daniel asked all connected with schools, and above all, high school students themselves, to emphasize traffic safety during Texas School Traffic Safety Week next week and throughout the year.

The annual safety effort is aimed at stopping an upward trend in the deaths of drivers aged 15-24, Daniel said.

"From 1957 through 1960," Daniel said, "traffic deaths in this group had dropped from the record high of 615 in 1956 to 510 in 1960. Then they increased sharply, to 567 in 1961." Daniel also appealed to car owners to buy seat belts, which he said could be a factor in saving as many as 500 lives a year.

Women In Church

Seven freshmen women at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., have qualified in national competition for $200 Samuel Robinson Scholarships administered by the United Presbyterian Church's Board of Christian Education. In addition to the seven Westminster College freshmen, 20 others were awarded Samuel Robinson Scholarships for the academic year, including four men and 16 women students. Four are students at Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash.; three are at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn.; three are at Park College, Parkville, Mo.; two attend Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa.; and two attend the College of Wooster, in Wooster, Ohio. Six other colleges had one winner each.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Zeller of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, are recipients of a "coeducational" "Churchman of the Year" award presented by the Cedar Rapids-Marion Area council of churches. The plaque was presented "in recognition of faithful and devout witness and service... in all areas of life." Mrs. Zeller is a former national recording secretary, and a former president of United Church Women of Iowa.

The Protestant Council of the City of New York at its General Assembly presented one of its 1962 Distinguished Service awards to Mrs. George M. Billings for "outstanding contribution to the cause of Protestantism in the City of New York." Mrs. Billings, secretary of the Council, was founder and first president of United Church Women of Brooklyn, New York.

A bill seeking to amend and codify the law relating to marriage among Christians in India has been introduced into the Lok Sabha (Lower House) of the Indian Parliament. The bill, which is termed the "Christian Marriage and Matrimonial Causes Bill," is based on recommendations of the Law Commission which consulted several Christian groups in India. The new bill would allow that when both parties are Christian the marriage can be solemnized either as a civil marriage before a marriage registrar, or as a sacramental marriage conducted by ministers of churches recognized by the government or licensed by it.

Business Letter-Writing Course Set Next Month

Thirty per cent of the average business letter consists of needless words. One of every twenty letters is written to correct an error or omission in previous correspondence. Four letters out of five contain trite, "horse-and-buggy" phrases that waste the reader's time and kill his interest.

These are a few of the findings of W. H. Butterfield, a leading authority on letter writing, who will conduct a Business Letter Clinic in Pampa on Tuesday evening, October 2. Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the clinic will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Author of sixteen books and many magazine articles on business correspondence, Butterfield has conducted letter-writing programs for business and professional groups in more than 100 cities. His letter clinics have been offered five times in both Dallas and Oklahoma City. He conducted such a program in Pampa in 1959, also sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

"How you say it is just as important as what you say in your business letters," says Butterfield. "Sometimes the reader is influenced even more by the tone of a letter than by its contents. A friendly, human tone wins his cooperation and good will. A blunt tone irritates him. A mechanical bores him."

Many letters contain too much "I" and not enough "you," Butterfield points out. "The reader has little interest in what he can do for you. He wants to know what you can do for him."

Standup Drivers Seek Protection

NEW YORK (UPI)—The average passenger or driver in today's automobile has a chance to lessen chances of injury in an accident through the use of a seat belt, many widely-publicized tests have shown.

But what of similar protection for the relatively small but essential group of drivers who drive their trucks from a standing position much of the time?

Many of these are used by the postal department throughout the nation: about 13,000 of them are in action daily to make pickups from boxes, sack deliveries and on other missions. Some delivery services use similar vehicles.

Since last March, the American Seating Co., Grand Rapids, has been working on development of a lap and shoulder harness to be used in conjunction with an adjustable seat for such drivers. It is at present undergoing an evaluation test.

Research has shown that in case of collision, the driver of a stand-up truck is in danger of being thrown forward or completely out of the cab, even should his vehicle not be moving at the time of impact. Yet, particularly in a mail truck, the driver must be free to move about, sit or stand and bend over.

Engineers for American, which is one of the largest makers of seats for theaters, auditoriums and meeting places, worked out an assembly of straps to fit over the driver's shoulders and across his lap.

This harness is attached to a reel device behind and above the driver's head. The reel allows the driver to move normally, and takes up slack with a self-rewinding drum.

Matter of Fact

Every bride should know that her veil is the modern form of the flammeum or large yellow veil which completely enveloped the Greek and Roman brides during the marriage ceremony. Such an overall covering was long used by the Jews and the Persians.

avoid in letter writing is among the twelve letter-improvement charts used during the clinic. Other materials cover negative words and how to avoid them, shortcuts to concise writing, effective selling psychology, how to write clearly, how to give letters a friendly tone, correct form and layout, how to build good public relations by mail, and a "check list" for successful letters. The $4.50 registration fee for the Business Letter Clinic includes the set of twelve letter-improvement charts.

Formerly Chairman of the Department of Business Communication at the University of Oklahoma, Butterfield later served as Educational Director of the National Retail Credit Association, St. Louis, and Editor of its Better Letters Service. From 1948 to 1958 he was Executive Director of the University of Illinois Foundation. He is now Vice President for Development at Texas Tech.

Listed in "Who's Who in America," Butterfield is a past president of the American Business Writing Association. In reviewing one of his recent books, Printers' Ink magazine called him "the most expert of the authorities." Butterfield is author of the section on "Letter Writing" in World Book Encyclopedia.

"We feel that the letter clinic

W. H. BUTTERFIELD... instructor will be helpful to many business and professional people," says E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. "The short course Butterfield conducted in Pampa three years ago was very well attended, and the reaction to it was so favorable that we have arranged for another one-evening clinic. This program is open to everyone who wants to write better letters. It is being offered as a service to the businessmen and women of this community."

Specification Revision In Publication

Revised "NGPA Liquefied Petroleum Gas Specifications and Test Methods" have been published by the Natural Gas Processors Association which incorporate important changes in products specifications recently approved by the Association.

Most significant change is the inclusion, for the first time, of a specification for a heavy duty engine fuel, designated Propane HD-5. Other notable changes include a reduction in the permissible vapor pressures of Commercial Propane and Butane-Propane mixtures. Otherwise, commercial products are little affected.

By action of the NGPA Board of Directors, the new specifications become effective "not later than January 1, 1963," thereby allowing the industry some leeway in working off stocks produced under present specifications.

Copies of the revised publication, known throughout the gas processing industry as NGPA publication 2140, are now available from NGPA offices.

150-Pounder Is Top Hand At Karate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—James Arwood, 23, is a slim black-haired young man who doesn't look like he could splinter boards with one swipe of his hand or transform cement blocks into piles of dust with a single blow. But he can.

He is neither a magician nor a superman endowed with herculean strength, but an exponent of the fascinating art of karate.

Arwood, a native of Halls, Tenn., became interested in karate while in the U. S. Air Force stationed in Japan. He studied under the Japanese karate masters and became proficient enough to earn a black belt, emblematic of a high degree of skill.

Karate, which means "empty-handed," is a system of techniques of blocking or thwarting an attack and counteracting the opponent by means of punching, striking or kicking.

In practice sessions, Arwood tests his skill by striking pine boards, one-inch thick. He can break six with his hand and eight to 10 with his foot. He weighs only 150 pounds, but when he hits the boards the result is shattering literally.

Karate was mostly a hobby with him at first. But last year Arwood opened his own karate studio, the Memphis Karate Dojo.

Pampa Mayor E. C. Sidwell has proclaimed the week of Sept. 17-23, as Constitution Week in Pampa.

President Kennedy recently issued a proclamation designating the week as Constitution Week throughout the United States in celebration of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States of America.

This entire week is being observed by the Daughters of the American Revolution and patriotic citizens everywhere.

Computer Flight Planning Method Used On Many Of Nation's Airlines

By ROBERT J. SERLING UPI Aviation Editor WASHINGTON (UPI) — Suppose you're about to drive to work and would like to know the fastest, safest route on any given morning.

You just walk over to an electronic computer and feed into it all the necessary data. The amount of traffic on each possible route. Road and weather conditions. Any construction delays. The speed at which you intend to drive. The kind of car you own.

Then you push a button. Out comes the suggested route. In effect, that is what many airline pilots can do today. Computer flight planning has been a reality on United Air Lines exactly three years this month. It also has gone into operation on American.

United's new Weather Center in Chicago has two flight planning computers. One assembles meteorological and route data along with operational requirements such as fuel and load. It transmits this information to the second computer which digests and analyzes the data. In about 20 seconds, it can produce the most efficient and economical flight plan.

No less than 35 data items are fed into the "brain." They include temperature, winds, weather outlook, altitudes, fuel consumption and flight time for each flight segment, reserve fuel, takeoff and landing weights, payload and operational costs.

United uses computer flight planning for 82 daily transconti-ental trips and 88 California-Hawaii weekly trips. It figures the method is saving at least $3 million annually in direct operating costs because the computer can figure out the best routes more efficiently and quickly than a mere human.

American, too, is happy with the computer plans which is being employed on 186 daily jet flights. In pre-computer days, it took a dispatcher 30 minutes to come up with alternate flight plans and another 30 minutes for the crew to look them over and pick the desired one. The computer can turn out four top choices for each of the 186 flights in less than five hours.

United's and American's computers actually select the two least expensive routes and the captain making the final decision. American reports it has been able to fly the "least cost" route 75 per cent of the time — at savings estimated to run close to $5 million annually.

Jet fuel consumption can vary by as much as 15,000 pounds according to what route is taken on a transcontinental flight. A route that adds only five minutes of unnecessary flight time would add $60 to the cost of the trip.

Projected to United's 82 daily transcontinental flights, this means extra operational costs of nearly $5,000 a day or $1.8 million a year if an inefficient flight plan added five minutes to each trip.

The Patterson-Liston Fight

Floyd-Sonny 'Debate' Is A Real 'Space Fight' In Cash Category The Champ Wants To 'Prove' Himself Again

By JACK CUDDY UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forget about space flights for the moment, suggests dapper, dark-haired Marty Smith, and concentrate on the great "space fight" at Chicago, Sept. 25.

That world heavyweight championship battle between Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston will be boxing's "moon shot" — the biggest boost the fight game ever got — says the president of Graff, Reiner and Smith, Inc.

They're the guys who guaranteed an orbit — high $2 million to Championship Sports, Inc., for the ancillaries alone — television, radio, movies, etc.

"After this fabulous fight at Comiskey Park," says 41-year-old Martin W. Smith, "and after the tremendously rich purses for Floyd and Sonny are announced, every athletic young fellow in the world will dream of becoming a champion fighter."

That terrific boost from the Patterson-Liston gala will be somewhat ironical, says Marty — winking with his left eye through the tortoise-shell glasses — because the bulk of the riches will come from television, which allegedly ruined boxing during the past 15 years.

Smith, who did his early sparring with semantics as a major in English at New York U. and the University of California at Los Angeles, was scheduled to use his most compelling words today while "finalizing" the Archie Moore-Cassius Clay fight for Oct. 22 or 23 at Los Angeles. Bookings outrank other fights. Before flying from New York to California, over the weekend, Marty said: "We already have booked more than one million seats in the United States and Canada for closed circuit television. That's almost twice as many as for any previous fight."

He added that, if they close the Moore-Clay bout, they will book about 500,000 seats for that November attraction.

Because of the magnitude of the investment in the Patterson-Liston fight, and the proposed investment in the Moore-Clay bout, Smith said he and David J. Reiner had formed a separate new corporation to handle the November fight. Sheldon Graff of Los Angeles is their partner in the

Rebels Defeat McLean 'B', 28-6

The Lee Junior High School Rebels defeated McLean's "B" team last Thursday by a 28-6 score.

The team, playing its first game of the season, "did a good job," according to Coach Don Myers.

Louis Meers scored two touchdowns for the Rebels, Nolan Ellis caught a pass from Larry Daniels for another, and Joe Roden scored the other as the local school rolled to victory.

This week the team plays White Deer's "B" team, there.

By OSCAR FRALEY UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson can't sing but he figures he has something in common today with Elvis Presley — and along with Sonny Liston.

Elvis-the-Pelvis currently is appearing in a motion picture titled "Kid Galahad." It won't win an Oscar, or make as much money as Patterson and Liston when they collide for the heavyweight crown at Chicago on Sept. 25.

But it is about a box fighter who battles his way out of nowhere while conquering shadowy events which pursue him.

Patterson and Liston both know about the seamy side of life. Liston can't sing. But Patterson did after a private showing of the film at his training camp.

The essence is that the world heavyweight champion would like the boxing world to forget backgrounds and, in the ring's bright new world, simply let the pair of them settle the current issue with their knuckles.

Do Their Best

"It annoys me to hear fighters and the fight business maligned and slandered," Patterson said. "I think that most people in this business go in and do their best. You're attacked if you lose, yet we are the ones who get hurt and, sometimes, suffer lasting after-effects."

Boxing, Patterson asserted, saved him from juvenile delinquency and "maybe from becoming a criminal."

"There isn't much question that I was a delinquent when I was a kid," he related slowly. "My mother put me in the Wiltwyck School for Boys. That's how it was that I learned to box. And now that I'm a champion I am regarded as a respected citizen. Only boxing did that for me."

Same For Liston

"It is, he says in "disagreeing" with the way Liston "has been treated," much the same story for his opponent.

"Liston dragged himself out of the gutter with his own fists," Floyd insisted. "Now they keep bringing up his unfortunate background. In a way I resent this intrusion on personal lives. What I'd like is for us to settle this thing with our fists, not our backgrounds."

The first fight with Ingemar Johansson still rankles deep in Patterson's mind, particularly the stories which recounted his loss.

"I was knocked down seven times, but I got up every time," he glowers. "Yet from the stories of the fight you would hardly picture me as anything worthwhile."

Which means that, adding his insistence on fighting Liston despite the fact that the challenger's unsavory background gave him an easy out, Patterson is eager above all to prove himself a worthwhile champion.

Not The Same

"The trouble with things like this," he said, alluding to the motion picture he had seen, "is that it shows gangsters having an influence on the fighters. The truth is that the fight game is not like that now. Sure, it may have been different in past years and probably was. At least, that's what I've been told — and what I've read."

"But not now," Patterson concluded. "It's about time the public gave the fighter a bit of the credit he deserves. Certainly I'd like to see more respect for the man who denies himself everything, makes sacrifices to be in condition and by his own work and courage brings himself out of nowhere to acceptable stature."

Patterson spoke like a man who was his own judge and jury. Which, in a way, he is this time as he climbs through the rope. Nobody questions his current situation, even though there still may be doubts about Liston.

When I met Ingemar Johansson the first time, they touted everybody into thinking that the Swede was a bum. The way they underestimated him was a joke, if it weren't on me.

Came the return and what did they do? They compounded their original mistake by going completely the other way on Johansson, they made him a Viking god who would crush me with one fistful of his thunderbolts. When I got my chance, I caved in the roof on their man and once more they were at a loss for an explanation.

Ok, here we go, Sonny and I. What will be the alibi this time, experts?

Honestly, I don't want to sound so harsh or bitter. But I do get a little mad from time to time.

By SONNY LISTON Heavyweight Challenger (Written For UPI)

CHICAGO (UPI) — From what I have heard, Floyd Patterson seems to think he outsmarted me in pushing our fight back to now, instead of having fought me a few years ago.

But believe me, as sure as we're meeting Sept. 25 at Comiskey Park in Chicago, he outsmarted only one person — himself.

I'll admit the last active year I had was 1960, when I fought five times and knocked out four fellows, including Cleveland Williams, Zora Folley and Roy Harris.

Since then I have spent most of my time waiting for Patterson to act like a champion and fight his No. 1 challenger. I did get a little workout knocking out Howard King in Miami Beach, even less of a one with that German, Albert Westphal.

But, if I was on the beach, how much was Patterson doing? After he gave Ingemar Johansson a good licking in their second fight, he looked sick as an old cow in the third fight and was lucky to win after being down twice in the first round. Then he had that terrible looking thing with Tom McNeeley the same night I fought the German.

If he changed any in that year, it wasn't for the better, as facts show. And, as for myself, I can only say I'm a little madder at him. I have lost nothing, I've just rested and waited. I'll be sharper than ever. And he will have fooled himself.

DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas Longhorns were the odds-on pick for the Southwest Conference football championship in a poll of the 16 sports writers who made the conference press tour to all eight schools.

Eleven of the 16 voted Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns the outright No. 1 choice and no writer picked them below a tie for second.

Arkansas, co-champion with Texas last fall, was an equally strong second-place choice, while getting two first-place votes plus two more for another repeat co-championship with Texas.

Texas Christian, which was third in the balloting, got the remaining first-place vote.

On the basis of first-place counting one point, second place two points, etc., here's how the writers picked the conference race after a first-hand look at the squads.

Texas, 20½ points; Arkansas, 34; TCU, 57; Texas A&M, 61½; Rice, 76; Baylor, 91½; Texas Tech 108, and Southern Methodist, 127½.

Here's What Fighters Themselves Comment

By FLOYD PATTERSON World Heavyweight Champion (Written For UPI)

CHICAGO (UPI) — The experts will be wrong again on Sept. 23, when most of them will pick Sonny Liston to beat me in Chicago for the heavyweight title. I promise this. I predict this.

Why and how can I be so sure? Well, ever since I first won the title, these all-mighties of the sport have been telling people things about me that proved untrue.

When I met Ingemar Johansson the first time, they touted everybody into thinking that the Swede was a bum. The way they underestimated him was a joke, if it weren't on me.

Came the return and what did they do? They compounded their original mistake by going completely the other way on Johansson, they made him a Viking god who would crush me with one fistful of his thunderbolts. When I got my chance, I caved in the roof on their man and once more they were at a loss for an explanation.

Ok, here we go, Sonny and I. What will be the alibi this time, experts?

Honestly, I don't want to sound so harsh or bitter. But I do get a little mad from time to time.

By SONNY LISTON Heavyweight Challenger (Written For UPI)

CHICAGO (UPI) — From what I have heard, Floyd Patterson seems to think he outsmarted me in pushing our fight back to now, instead of having fought me a few years ago.

But believe me, as sure as we're meeting Sept. 25 at Comiskey Park in Chicago, he outsmarted only one person — himself.

I'll admit the last active year I had was 1960, when I fought five times and knocked out four fellows, including Cleveland Williams, Zora Folley and Roy Harris.

Since then I have spent most of my time waiting for Patterson to act like a champion and fight his No. 1 challenger. I did get a little workout knocking out Howard King in Miami Beach, even less of a one with that German, Albert Westphal.

But, if I was on the beach, how much was Patterson doing? After he gave Ingemar Johansson a good licking in their second fight, he looked sick as an old cow in the third fight and was lucky to win after being down twice in the first round. Then he had that terrible looking thing with Tom McNeeley the same night I fought the German.

If he changed any in that year, it wasn't for the better, as facts show. And, as for myself, I can only say I'm a little madder at him. I have lost nothing, I've just rested and waited. I'll be sharper than ever. And he will have fooled himself.

DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas Longhorns were the odds-on pick for the Southwest Conference football championship in a poll of the 16 sports writers who made the conference press tour to all eight schools.

Eleven of the 16 voted Coach Darrell Royal's Longhorns the outright No. 1 choice and no writer picked them below a tie for second.

Arkansas, co-champion with Texas last fall, was an equally strong second-place choice, while getting two first-place votes plus two more for another repeat co-championship with Texas.

Texas Christian, which was third in the balloting, got the remaining first-place vote.

On the basis of first-place counting one point, second place two points, etc., here's how the writers picked the conference race after a first-hand look at the squads.

Texas, 20½ points; Arkansas, 34; TCU, 57; Texas A&M, 61½; Rice, 76; Baylor, 91½; Texas Tech 108, and Southern Methodist, 127½.

Bow High? Old Salt Says You're An 'Ignoramus'

By KENNETH J. CARR United Press International

If you're one of those boaters who glides along with your boat about three feet out of the water, you're an ignoramus.

At least that's what the Old Salt says.

The Old Salt is that burnished looking chap that hangs around every boat-yard, dock or marina.

He has that weather-beaten look — an old two-bit captain's hat, looks as if he's been out of the water for the better part of his life. That's what made it the way.

The Old Salt is always ready to give advice and it usually is worth listening to — as in this case.

"A bow out of the water is a safety hazard as well as an indication that the skipper got his navigating experience in the God's desert," the Old Salt said.

He added that the driver's forward vision is obstructed by the bottom of the boat. Every time the craft hits a wave, the resultant slap, makes for anything but a cozy ride. Speed and fuel efficiency are also out down.

There are two easy ways to remedy the situation. One is to arrange the boat's load; the other change the motor tilt.

If more than one person is aboard, the passengers may be shifted around for the proper trimming.

If only the driver is aboard, the boat can be trimmed by placing sand bag, extra fuel tank or other piece of gear towards the bow.

However, the Old Salt warns to overdo it. A boat plowing the water, bow down like a crane diving sub, is no improvement.

The angle setting of the motor can be changed by tilting it either forward or backward. To bring the bow down, the motor should be set in closer towards the transom.

If the boat squads, move the motor away from the transom.

A bent or nicked propeller set up vibrations and may in time result in serious damage to the operating parts of your outboard motor.

Losses in power and speed and other effects of a damaged prop. It should be checked periodically to be sure that all blades are properly pitched.

Outboard owners can keep their motors looking new by touching up scratches with easy-to-use spray cans of paint.

Factory colors, available in these pressurized cans, can be purchased from most marine dealers.

Lefors 'B' Schedule Is Announced

Air Conditioning experts agree... WATER cooling is BEST!

Youngsters learn mighty early about the cooling effect of water when the weather's hot. And air conditioning engineers know that water cooling is far more efficient than air cooling. The reason is simple... 85° water can absorb more heat from your home than 100° air.

That's why ARKLA-SERVEL Sun Valley's GAS air conditioners are WATER cooled! Water cooling, plus Sun Valley's "no moving parts" principle, gives you two big advantages unavailable with other air conditioners. One, a Sun Valley gives you CONSTANT EFFICIENCY, while air cooled units lose as much as 15% efficiency. Two, Sun Valley operating COSTS REMAIN CONSTANT, while air cooled equipment operating costs rise as much as 23%.

KING-SIZED FILTER — Sun Valley's double filtering capacity STOPS ALL HOUSEHOLD DIRT! It even traps cigar and fish odors, giving your home Spring-like freshness all year long.

NO MOVING PARTS — In the heating or cooling cycles of the Sun Valley... nothing to wear out or break down! Sun Valley is year-around comfort for the mortgage life of your home!

CONSTANT EFFICIENCY — Sun Valley has no compressor-riding friction to run up your operating costs. It doesn't cost a penny more to operate the Sun Valley for an hour when it's 115° than it does when the temperature is 90°.

Dodgers Stretch Lead To 4 Tilts

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers scored two runs on a triple steal and Glen Hobbie's wild pitch in the ninth inning Saturday to run their winning streak to seven games and increase their National League lead to four games with a 6-4 win over the Chicago Cubs.

The surprise ending climaxed a wacky contest complete with seven errors, four by the Dodgers. It gave the pitching victory to Ron Perranoski, who almost blew the game an inning earlier with a wild toss over the first baseman's head.

The Dodgers, who tied the score at 4-4 with Wally Moon's two-run double in the eighth, opened the ninth when Tommy Davis was safe on an error by shortstop Andre Rodgers. Ron Fairly singled but was erased in a double play which sent Davis to third.

Hobbie, fourth Cub pitcher, hit pinch batter Tim Harkness with a pitch and walked John Roseboro to fill the bases. All runners broke for a triple steal, Davis scoring on a theft of home, and Harkness following. Harkness scored on a wild pitch, but all runners were credited with stolen bases.

Seven Games In Area; Weather Hurt Offenses

Seven games were played by Top O' Texas area football teams Friday night.

Tulia squeaked by White Deer, 14-12, in one, while Panhandle clipped McLean in another, 18-0.

In other results, Canadian defeated Sanford - Fritch, 24-0; Gruver topped Groom, 24-0; Wheeler outlasted Mangum, Okla., 14-8; Miami and Turpin tied, 12-12; and Mobeetie lost to Lakeview, 20-6.

In the McLean-Panhandle game, the rain held scoring plays to short gainers but, in spite of the soggy conditions, the Panthers did well with their passing game.

At Tulia, White Deer struck first, getting a touchdown when Tommy Elliott scored from three yards out. The try for extra points failed.

Tulia scored next with a 33-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Frank Hooper to end "Happy" Rogers. Hooper kicked the extra point; score, Tulia, 7, White Deer, 6.

The Bucks scored again, though, to take half time leading, 12-7, when Jimmy Thurmond scampered over from three yards out.

After a scoreless third quarter, Tulia scored via a lateral from Hooper to John Howell in a play that carried 13 yards. Hooper got the extra points and Tulia won, 14-12.

Gordon Rivers scored two touchdowns to lead the Canadian Wildcats to their win.

Dunk Porter and Mendell Hunter scored Wheeler's two touchdowns and Jim Flowers starred for the Miami Warriors, while Cochran scored for Mobeetie.

Mets Doomed To Finish In Tenth

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets mathematically doomed themselves to a 10th-place finish Saturday and tied another major league record for adversity when they bowed, 9-6, to Bob Purkey and the Cincinnati Reds.

Purkey was credited with his 22nd victory of the season, although he needed relief in the eighth inning from Jim Maloney when the Mets staged one of their patented futile rallies for three runs. Maloney retired the four batters he faced.

The Mets' pitching staff tied a major league record when Jerry Lynch tagged Jay Hook for a two-run homer in the seventh. This was the 187th home run yielded by the Mets' pitchers this season, tying the mark set by the 1956 Philadelphia Athletics.

Sanford, seeking his 23rd victory of the year, experienced his seventh defeat instead. He had allowed only two hits when the Pirates went to bat in their big inning with the score tied at 1-1.

Bob Friend, who drove in one of their runs with a single and registered an earlier double, picked up his 17th victory with a five-hitter. He struck out eight.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Harmon Killebrew came off the bench Saturday to drive in five runs with his 38th and 39th homers and pace the Minnesota Twins to a 12-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Killebrew, who was benched after Wednesday's game, was inserted in the lineup in the second inning after rookie outfielder Tony Oliva was injured. Killebrew belted a three-run homer in the second off Cleveland starter Barry Latman and smashed a two-run belt off Pete Ramos in the sixth.

The five runs batted in brought Killebrew's total to 109 for the season.

Sanford Loses

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for four runs in the eighth inning Saturday to end righthander Jack Sanford's winning streak at 16 games and send the San Francisco Giants down to their fourth consecutive defeat on a 5-1 count.

Sanford, seeking his 23rd victory of the year, experienced his seventh defeat instead. He had allowed only two hits when the Pirates went to bat in their big inning with the score tied at 1-1.

Bob Friend, who drove in one of their runs with a single and registered an earlier double, picked up his 17th victory with a five-hitter. He struck out eight.

Weatherly In Cup Victory

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — The United States' defending sloop Weatherly handed Australia's Gretel a decisive trouncing in the first race of the America's Cup Saturday before an armada of 2,200 spectator boats—including President Kennedy's destroyer.

Brilliant skipper Bus Mosebacher brought the blue-hulled Weatherly around the 24-mile course in the swift time of three hours, 13 minutes, 57 seconds, to leave the Aussies trailing by almost three quarters of a mile.

The Aussie boat crossed the finish line three minutes and 46 seconds behind the American boat.

It was a disheartening defeat for Jock Sturrock and his Australian crew in this 19th world series of yachting which has seen the United States capture the silver cup in 1951 and hold it ever since.

Harvesters

(Cont'd From Page 9) landers and eight yards lost by the visitors on running plays. Subtract from the 186 yards the penalties and lost yardage and we had a net of 59 yards gained offensively. But then, the defense threw in a touchdown, so what have we to complain about? Coach Otis Holladay, in a jovial mood after his first win as the new Harvester head coach, singled out center John Brown, guard Carl Clark, tackles Keith Riemer and Dee Wright, and guard Glen McCathern for yeoman work on the line and said, "As rusty as we were, we're real proud of the fight the kids put up, the persistence of effort they demonstrated. We feel like that, with a lot of hard work, we'll be able to smooth out this bunch and be ready to go."

Okay, coach. This week the team plays Phillips, there, in a Saturday night game due to start at 8 o'clock. —JRC

Bulletin Buffs Win

CANYON (Special) — The West Texas State College Buffs opened their 1962 season in high-scoring fashion here in Buffalo Bowl Saturday night, soundly thrashing the Trinity Tigers of San Antonio, 61-0.

Little Pistol Pete Pedro highlighted the Buff attack, getting two touchdowns to start himself off in good style in the touchdown scoring parade.

The Buffs virtually cleared the bench before the game was over, playing freshmen as well as the Varsity squadmen.

West Texas travels to Lubbock for the next game, Saturday night, against Texas Tech's Red Raiders. The Buffs lost last year's encounter at Lubbock, 17-14.

Quarterback Has Emergency Surgery

AMARILLO (UPI) — Mike Reeves, sophomore star quarterback for the Childress High School football team, underwent emergency surgery Saturday for leg injuries suffered Friday night when his team was defeated 20-0 by Hamlin.

He was operated on by an Amarillo specialist. Reeves, who had averaged 22.8 yards per carry before he was knocked out of the game, was injured during a roughing-the-kicker penalty play. He suffered torn cartilage, ligaments and muscles. Childress was ranked number two in pre-season Class AA polls.

Villanova Wins

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — Villanova exploded for three touchdowns within six minutes in the final period Saturday to break open a tight game and defeat West Chester, 31-6, in the opening game for both teams.

A crowd of 12,000 saw the locally-televised game at Villanova Stadium. Villanova, which threw back two serious West Chester threats in the first period, held a slim, 6-0, lead at halftime, based on a 90-yard touchdown drive sparked by Lou Rattino. The Wildcats moved ahead to a 12-0 lead in the third period on a 66-yard pass from Richie Richman to Larry Glueck.

'Wright' Direction SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The 1964 U.S. Women's Open golf championship will be played at San Diego, home town of three-time winner Mickey Wright.

Wyoming In 13-0 Triumph

BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI) — Wyoming's Cowboys scored late in the second and final periods Saturday to wrest a 13-0 victory from the surprisingly tough Montana State University Grizzlies.

The Cowboy scores came after two first period thrusts over Montana's goal were nullified by offside penalties.

The Grizzlies drove close three times in the game but Wyoming stiffened to keep MSU scoreless.

Wyoming got its first touchdown with 1:10 remaining of the first half when left halfback Dave Madia drove over from the five. The kick for extra point was wide.

The touchdown came at the end of a 40-yard drive in 10 plays with Madia doing most of the legwork.

The Cowboys' final score came with 3:20 remaining in the game. Quarterback Mike Wright, who engineered the 45-yard drive tossed an 11-yard touchdown pass to left halfback Mike Walker. George Squires' kick for the extra point was good.

Condition Of Reggie Grob 'Very Grave'

AUSTIN (UPI) — Reggie Grob, the University of Texas football player who suffered a heat stroke during the opening workout, was in "very grave condition and just holding his own," a university spokesman said Saturday.

An artificial kidney was placed in the 19-year-old sophomore from Houston Friday night during an emergency operation, the spokesman said.

Hospital spokesmen have listed Grob on the critical list for nearly two weeks.

Grob has been in Brackenridge hospital since the opening Texas drill Sept. 1. A kidney malfunction that flared up after the heat stroke worsened his condition.

Grob, Jim Besselman and Lee Hensley suffered heat strokes during 95-degree, 41 per cent humidity weather. Besselman, 19, was a high school teammate of Mike Kelsey, the Southern Methodist center who died Sept. 2 in Dallas following a heat stroke.

Hensley, 20, is a fourth team tackle from Henderson. He and Besselman recovered and were released after several days observation.

Coach Darrell Royal halted the workout after Besselman had to leave and Grob was seen staggering.

Miami Tops Pitt In Season Opener, 23-14

United Press International PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Quarterback George Mira put in an early bid for All-America honors Saturday by engineering Miami's Hurricanes on three long scoring thrusts that humbled the Pitt Panthers, 23-14.

Mira, a ball-handling wizard from Key West, Fla., was at the controls during sustained drives on 97, 73 and 94 yards that turned the NCAA's initial 1962 college football "Game of the Week" into a thrilling spectacle for a nationwide (CBS) television audience and 32,756 disappointed Pitt Stadium fans.

Touchdown honors for the Hurricanes went to junior left halfback Nick Spinelli, from nearby Coraopolis, Pa., and reserve right halfback Jack Sims of Hollywood, Fla. Spinelli scored on runs of one and eight yards in the second and third periods and Sims caught a 15-yard scoring pass from Mira in the final quarter. End Bobby Wilson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., kicked two conversions and booted a 25-yard field goal in the second period.

Final Points Although they moved the ball well at times, the Panthers were held to a touchdown with only 19 seconds left in the first half and a consolation six points as time ran out in the game. The first score for Pitt came on a pass from halfback Paul Martha to end Al Grigaliunas, with less than a minute left on the scoreboard clock, halfback Ed Clark raced four yards for Pitt's final points of the day.

Mira, a junior, noted for his pinpoint passing, surprised the Pitt defense throughout most of the first three periods with a brilliant running game as he consistently outmaneuvered would-be Pitt tacklers. Then as the Panthers defense geared for his running, Mira limbered up his arm and it paid off in a touchdown heave to Sims.

Hero's Role A portion of the hero's role also went to senior fullback Nick Ryder whose shoeing tackle of fullback Rick Leeson in the second quarter stopped the ball carrier two yards of the goal line. It was then Miami's forward wall defense made a brilliant goal line stand and took possession on its own three.

Mira then launched the first of Miami's three long touchdown drives by moving his team in methodical fashion 97 yards in 13 plays that ended when Spinelli cracked over right guard from one yard out.

In the third period, Mira broke loose on a 36-yard gallop that sent Miami rocketing to another touchdown on a drive that covered 73 yards in just eight plays. Spinelli ran the last eight yards for the TD, the closest score for the Hurricanes started on their own six-yard-line following a punt and 14 plays later Mira hit Sims with a strike in the end zone.

SANFORD WINS POLL CINCINNATI (UPI) — Twenty-game winner Jack Sanford of the San Francisco Giants has been named the National League's "Player of the Month" for August in a poll of baseball writers and broadcasters. Sanford won six and lost none during August.

Closed-Turn Stitching by Florsheim

New "Stitchless" Look of Elegant Simplicity

With clothing trends emphasizing trim design, there's news in Florsheim's closed-turn stitching which defines a line without a stitch showing. It's a new look — classical in its simplicity and elegant in its good taste. Notable: closed-turn stitching is a slow process requiring skill and infinite patience. You won't see it in ordinary shoes. But, you can see it in a variety of new Florsheim styles.

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican conservatives are discovering in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's record something for which they can cheer. It also is something for which conservative citizens might be expected to vote.

That something is Rockefeller's fiscal responsibility, a record of balanced budgets in New York State. The latest Republican congressional committee newsletter remarks that Rockefeller has just announced a balanced stated budget for the fourth consecutive year.

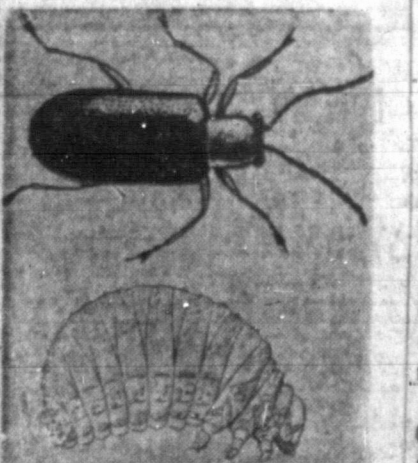

Rockefeller's devotion to governmental solvency probably will help to elect him to a second term in November. It could be of great assistance in winning him the 1964 presidential nomination.

Most Likely Man
Rockefeller appears now to be the most likely 1964 Republican nominee. To remain eligible, of course, he must be reelected by a fat majority, larger than his margin of victory the first time around. The difficulties and divisions besetting the Democratic party in New York suggest that Rockefeller will be reelected and probably by a big margin of votes.

His record of balanced budgets would blunt conservative Republican opposition. He will be vulnerable, however, to the charge of being a big spender in the Democratic tradition. Rockefeller came up in the 1962 fiscal year with a budget surplus of $1 million. He spent $2.3 billion. Rockefeller estimates state income for the current fiscal year at 2.6 billion, an increase of $254 million over fiscal 1962. He will spend all of it. His fiscal 1963 budget is in precise balance, providing for neither a surplus nor a deficit.

Courage to Tax
So, Rockefeller has credentials as a tax-and-spend politician. Rockefeller differs from the big spending New Deal-Fair Deal-New Frontier Democrats, however, in having the courage to lay on taxes to pay for his spending.

His fiscal record looks especially good when compared with that of the man he succeeded as governor, Averell Harriman, a notable New Dealer. Harriman rang up big deficits in the Democratic tradition. Rockefeller's first major act after his inauguration in 1959 was to hike state income taxes. That took courage, a rare item among politicians.

IDENTIFIED—Cereus leaf beetle that attacks all cereals and some grasses was identified in the United States for the first time this year by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The insect, which has done damage in Europe for many years, has been found in parts of Michigan and Indiana. Its favorite crops are oats, barley and wheat. One-quarter inch adult is shown above; larva below.

Another Rockefeller asset is that he appears to be ready, willing and anxious to take on President Kennedy in 1964. He has said that Kennedy can be licked and evidently considers himself the man to do it.

Fluctuation of Water Supplies in August Cited

AUSTIN (UPI)—August was a month wiped out much of the Texas water supplies, the Texas Water Commission reported.

Heat and drought wrote most of the August water story for the state, but heavy rains late in the month wiped out much of the deficit in moisture for parts of the state.

The commission said Texas major reservoirs declined in total conservation water storage from 9.2 million acre-feet to 8.7 million acre-feet. At the end of the month of August, storage was at 74 per cent of capacity.

Stream runoff was above average in the Wichita Falls and Fort Worth areas because of locally heavy rains scattered in August. Streamflow was down in the Houston, Austin, and San Angelo districts of the water commission.

Water Level Dips
At El Paso, which had heavy rains in September, the water level at an observation well dropped to its all-time low of 230.58 feet. Most other observation wells declined in August.

The heat pushed temperatures to an all-time high of 111 degrees for Wichita Falls in August, then a cold front dropped it to a record low for August of 54 late in the month.

Beaumont-Port Arthur's 107 degrees was an all-time high, and the area's average maximum of 97.3 degrees was the highest ever for any month since the weather records began in 1917.

Dry August
San Antonio went through 54 days in July and August without rain and Austin was dry for 55 days. El Paso had its first August on record without rain—a condition alleviated by heavy September rains.

Through August, rainfall deficiencies in Texas ranged from about an inch below normal at Austin and Midland-Odessa, to more than 10 inches below normal for Corpus Christi, Galveston and Houston. But Amarillo and Dallas had 10 inches more rain than normal for that time of year.

By mid-September, Austin had erased its deficit with moderate rains.

DECIDES TO COLLECT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—City Engineer Irving Goldfien has decided to collect "savings" he made more than 20 years ago. Goldfien asked Thursday for 664 hours off, accumulated by working overtime on a sewer project in 1938-40, so he can retire in November instead of next May.

INDISPENSABLE MAN

FARNBOROUGH, England (UPI)—Airman Tim Mahoney, 20, said today the Royal Air Force has rejected his application for discharge on the ground he is a key man.

Mahoney's job is mopping laboratories at the Institute of Aviation Medicine.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC... this morning... The Day of the Column... while hanging out the Daily Dozen... and inspecting the yard for all the work that must be done to get plants and flowers bedded for a long winter's sleep... we heard the music of the Harvester Band... played on the high school grounds and carried on a West Texas breeze... it floated through the autumn air to where we were standing in our backyard... something about the lilt of it and the thoughts of the young people providing it made the day seem brighter... don't imagine the band students concentrating on the notes... realize how much the neighbors in the area enjoy these open-air concerts... but we'd like for them to know.

Poetry is music in words; and music is poetry in sound. — Thomas Fuller.

WHAT ELSE have we heard?... that Lenore Sloane had a blightful surprise for the "Piddlers" last week... when a former college roommate of hers dropped by for a brief visit... Alice Mariott of Oklahoma City and Lenore attended Oklahoma University together... Alice is a well-known authoress and anthropologist... she was enroute home from the Hopi Indian Reservation near Gallup, N.M. where she had read excerpts of her new book to a couple of elderly Hopi women... for their opinion as to authenticity and facts... Alice brought along some of her prized Indian art much to the delight and enlightenment of the "Piddlers"... we heard also that El Progresso Club had a lovely luncheon this week to start their club off with a Bang... a table of lovely Aster arrangements surrounding dolls... fashionably dressed... to illustrate their study theme of a "Woman's World"... which sounds like El Progresso members will not want to miss a single study club meeting this year... Madelle Buehert also had brought out to the club every yearbook that El Progresso had for the past 39 years... which Kaleidoped 39 very interesting years... that group will soon be 70 years old... the club, that is... Billie Osborne certainly had look a fashion-plate of autumn-loveliness the other afternoon... in a Coffee-Knit two-piece dress topped with harmonizing high crown felt hat... entering Olive Hills home on North Russell for a luncheon... Olive was hostess members of the Civic Culture Club... wish someone could pass along that delicious Sauer Kraut Salad recipe that one of the members brought... we've heard nothing at raves about it.

After silence that which comes nearest to expressing the inexpressible is music. —Aldous Huxley

WHILE SUMMER TRIPS and summer vacations are a dimly almost forgotten memory... to most of us... Hattie and Mack Harmon just returned this week from a most interesting one... they've been to points of historic interest in New Mexico... one of the highlights of their trip was a visit to 10,678-foot-high Sandia Crest... from this spectacular point, Hattie said they viewed a breath-taking panorama of more than 10,000 square miles, including metropolitan Albuquerque... the romantic Rio Grande Valley and neighboring peaks and volcanoes... "Sandia" is the Spanish word for watermelon... we learned, not easily... and this huge, rocky range was named by Coronado (how that fella got around) when he and his Conquistadors wintered at a new nearby Pueblo in 1540... Hattie and Mack said they discovered that the Sandia Mountains are a popular recreational area... and provide superb hunting in the fall... camping and picnicking through the warmer months... and there are excellent runs for ski enthusiasts... and another interesting item to anthropologists is that the oldest traces of man in the New World were found in a cave on the side of the mountain... "Sandia Man" was judged to be 25,000 years old... now that's back there a far piece.

Civilization is a movement and not a condition; a voyage and not a harbor. —Arnold Toynbee

ROLLING IN AND OUT of dress shops this week... our minds concerned with that seasonal eternal topic of "what's new" this year... we picked up a few interesting things from our sales-lady friends... it seems that belts will take a lot of fashion news this fall... beginning with those inglike belts of leather and going on to braided belts and shelled belts in suede or satin... the stole is back... as if we were ever away... but we found that the wool stole, deep-fringed, is back in fashion full force... often triangular shape... some are designed to be worn as deep hoods... FOUR INCH HEELS are definitely out this fall... sort of looking at the new heel-heights and shapes... much stiffer and a lot easier and safer to walk on... looks as the old hair brush is coming back into use again... what is the new, smoother, sleeker hairdos... that "bird-nest" affiant is definitely out... so get out your hairbrushes, gals... which have been gathering cobwebs for lo' these many years the bottom of your dresser drawer... it looks like a simper... safer... but as elegant as ever world of fall fashion.

What we see depends mainly on what we look for. —John Lubbock

HERE WERE wedding bells down in Austin... that are probably still ringing in the ears of Willetta and Eugene Olds... to have just returned from the nuptials of their son, George and his pretty blond-wife, Virginia Lee McDonald... both are students at the University of Texas... where Virginia is a special education major... and George is completing his major in chemistry... Libby Shotwell is all excited over those new drapes that are going up this week in the City Club Room... were a lot of pretty gals out milling around the lobby of the Coronado Inn last Tuesday morning... Nina Thienes... Barbara Turnbo... Sally Davis... Madeline Hamilton from Borger... Alice Ann Knox... and Gail... just to name a few... found out that they are members of that newly-organized Petroleum Engineers Society... and they were having a membership coffee there that morning... it seems their husbands' oil fraternity has a meeting always on the second Tuesday of a month... so the gals planned their social affairs on the same... so they can go out, too... they'll all get together next month in Borger for a dinner meeting... and there's once planned sometime during the year, too... we've been our annual Pampas Grass Tour this week... and must report that we have seen a few plumes... a lot of the Grass killed last winter during one of our hot summer days... turned into a blizzard... and those that did sturgeon through don't have the strength to put out plumes... but luck this year... sure do miss their beautiful reminder that fall is here. Love, Peg.

Virginia Schmidt Becomes Bride Of George E. Olds In Austin

Mrs. George Eugene Olds Virginia Lee Schmidt

Miss Virginia Lee Schmidt became the bride of George Eugene Olds with wedding vows solemnized on September 2 at the home of the bride's brother, Dave Schmidt Jr. on Windsor Road in Austin. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. M. Gibble, pastor of the University Christian Church, in the presence of the immediate families and close relatives. Baskets of white stock and carnations interspersed with greenery flanked with white tapers in tall candelabra formed the background.

BRIDE Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a street-length dress of seafoam blue fashioned with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves and a bell-shaped skirt designed with nine tiers of pressed down tucks. Her illusion veil with tiny velvet bows and sequins, matched her dress as did her other accessories. Her jewelry was a hand-carved opal necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with an orchid. Honor attendants were Miss Suzanne Schmidt, cousin, and Dave Schmidt, brother of the bride. Miss Schmidt's dress was of beige brocade cotton with cap sleeves worn with a small hat

Alpha Iota Plan Fall Rush Series

Plans for a rush party to be held Oct. 8 were discussed by the Alpha Iota Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority at a meeting held Monday night in the home of Mrs. Jim Guy, 1805 N. Christy. Mrs. Benny Shackelford announced that the scrapbook entry placed third at the national convention held in Denver, Colo. this summer. A coffee for members and friends is scheduled for September 24 in the home of Miss Sheila Chisholm with Miss Judy Neslage as co-hostess. Refreshments were served during the social hour to the 15 members attending.

overlaid with petals matching her dress.

Candles were lighted by Miss Amy Schmidt, also a cousin of the bride.

RECEPTION Following the ceremony, wedding cake and punch were served. The tiered cake, topped with a bride and bridegroom, rested on a table covered with a handmade cloth of lace over linen centered with an arrangement of white carnations and stock. Mrs. Ed Endel and Mrs. Ed Onstott of Dallas, aunts of the bride, presided at the serving table. After a brief wedding trip, the couple will live in Austin, where both are students at the University of Texas. The bride will enter her sophomore year as a special education major and her husband as a senior majoring in chemistry.

The Mature Parent

Not Easy To Grow Up In Love

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My divorced sister is dating a man who is not only unreliable but cruel to her. What worries us in the effect of her infatuation on her 6-year-old boy. The way she lets this man treat her and speak to her in front of the child is a disgrace. She is losing friends, and just stays at home waiting for him. But if we try to tell her what she is doing to her life she gets angry and says that as soon as they're married everything will be different.

ANSWER: Occasionally, when an infatuated person is visibly feeling the anguish of discouragement over the "love" affair, we can make sense.

She can hear us if we say, "Oh, come on. You're just scared of being licked. You're putting up with this abuse, not because you love this man but because you've got to force him to acknowledge your worth. You think that if you're just sweet and patient enough you'll succeed."

If the suffering is painful enough, the victim can sometimes look at the idea that what holds her to the punishing love is her own triumph - demanding egotism.

But sometimes she can't look at it. She may have to continue into deeper humiliation and hurt before she can finally give up the struggle to force appreciation and say, "all right, I'm licked."

This is very hard on the relatives and friends. But even though it hurts us to see a sister make a fool of herself, I believe in standing by her in hope of the moment when she can confess her exhaustion and pain. Then we can put into words what she has begun to realize herself.

Right now, your sister can't help making a fool of herself, for it is in our childhoods that we learn inefficient methods for making others love us. If we have grown up with a mother who always restores us to favor as soon as we admit we were "bad" to express criticism of her, we're bound to conclude: "The way to get people to love me is to never object to anything they do."

Our memory retains this childish conviction so when a man comes along who threatens us with desertion if we object to anything he does, we naturally feel, "This trouble between us is up to me to fix. If I want to keep him, I must increase my outgo of un-

Federation Themes Are Outlined At Luncheon

Mrs. Emmett Osborne, third vice president of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Club presented a program on "Federation" at the Civic Culture Club's one o'clock luncheon held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hills, 1911 N. Russell.

During her talk on "We Hold High The Torch Of Federation", Mrs. Osborne outlined the themes of the national, state and district federations.

Mrs. Osborne traced the beginning of federation back in 1868, when a well-known newspaper woman, Jennie June Croly was barred from attending a dinner given by the New York Press Club. With twelve other women, she organized the club, which she named Sororis.

"In these more than 70 years, protesting sweetness and obedience. It may take suffering, time or a psychoanalyst to awaken the infatuated person to the fact that the child's method for getting mommy's approval has become a woman's resistance to sexual defeat.

URGES WEATHER STUDY WASHINGTON (UPI) — National Science Foundation Director Alan T. Waterman said Thursday that a man-made umbrella in space might become an important tool in realizing the age-old dream of modifying the weather.

Waterman recommended to a House space subcommittee that the United States study the possibility of producing artificial clouds that could shade the earth against the burning rays of the sun.

the general federation has grown from this small group of 13 women to be the most far-reaching group of organized women in the world with a membership of 11,000,000 in the United States and in more than 50 other countries." The Texas Federation was founded in 1897 at Waco.

"Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold of Concord, N.H., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has selected as her theme for the next two years, "To Strengthen the Arm of Liberty."

"Our purpose," Mrs. Arnold has said, "in the General Federation for the next two years will be 'to Strengthen The Arm of Liberty' to reinforce the spirit of freedom so that the torch may never flicker but glow with greater brightness in an atmosphere of faith, not fear; in a new dedication to moral courage and humanitarian ideals and with a new concern for spiritual values and the sanctities of life that our Godless adversaries can never destroy."

"Mrs. E. H. Morris of Canadian, president of the Top of Texas District," Mrs. Osborne told the group, "has selected as her theme, 'To Be Well - Intentioned and Well - Informed.'"

Mrs. Morris is stressing adding to the Lola B. Mundy Scholarship Fund, which is in the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State College in Canyon.

"Mrs. A. T. Carelton of Houston, president of the Texas Federation has taken as her theme, "New Dimensions In Search For Growth". Stress will be placed on education and particularly the library work with special emphasis on scholarships for Library Science."

"Members of the Federation," Mrs. Osborne continued, "are proud to be participants in its international program to promote understanding and good will. The well-balanced program of action of Federation is popularly and democratically determined. Clubs are self-directing in developing their programs and projects geared to local needs."

"The members of the Federation will meet the challenging responsibilities and opportunities that surround us by dedicating efforts to make the Federation a vibrant force in the community; the community which is the action power of the Federation and to expand the international opportunities and relations unique to the Federation because it is truly an empire of organized women on which the sun never sets."

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Carl E. Axelson, Mrs. Stanley Brandt, program chairman, distributed year-books.

It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. Axelson 1336 Garland on Sept. 25.

Attending were Mmes. H. W. Waters, Katie Vincent, J. B. Townsend, Louise Sewell, W. C. Scott, C. F. Pennington, Emmett Osborne, George Neef, W. J. Morris, A. C. Houchins, A. D. Hills, R. E. Dauer, Irvin Cole, Stanley Brandt, Chester Williams, Carl Axelson and a guest, Mrs. Ray E. Wilson.

Sorority Founder To Speak At BSP Area Convention

Walter W. Ross, founder of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, will be guest speaker at the sorority's area convention, it was announced at the Xi Beta Chi Chapter meeting held Monday night in the home of Mrs. Gerry Grayson.

The convention is planned for Sept. 30 in the Vic - Mon Motel in Amarillo.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Jeff Truly, president, conducted a discussion of plans for the Valentine Dance to be held Feb. 9 in the Coronado Inn with Schozz Dunn and his orchestra providing the music.

In correspondence read from the International Office of Beta Sigma Phi, it was revealed that the Valentine Girl Contest closes Nov. 1; the year book contest on Nov. 15; and the song contest on Dec. 1.

Mrs. Bea Clary, a transferee from Lubbock, was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Dot Francis of the ways and means committee reported there would be a rummage sale during the month of October, with the date to be announced at the next meeting.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Brayson assisted by Mrs. Iris Buckingham and Mrs. Ralph Esson.

Attending, other than those previously mentioned, were Mmes. Barney McMullan, Jack Vaughn, Byron Hilbun, James Scholl, Jim Poole, Virginia Vaughn, Lemond Hall and Joe Fischer.

LITTLE LIZ

The reason women's clothes have so little to the imagination is that men are supposed to lack imagination.

Wentley's CHATTER

we have been tending to KNITTING . . . and we want to needle you, but . . . have a YARN to tell.

you see, the old proverb "a stitch in time saves" is both literal and figuratively true in this case. We hope you will not think we are just bragging when we say you knitted garments are selling everything . . . it is just off hand, we would be thought people would be getting tired of buying one knit garment another. felt sure the market was saturated and that we'd wake up some morning with shop full of knits.

this might happen, but so it has not come to pass. simply cannot get enough knits — one-piece, two-piece, piece or costume; you name and we have it — a really tasteful collection.

we cannot begin to count number of times a woman made this statement . . . show me a knit; I do not have the figure for it." after my persuasion, they finally agreed to try one on, just for themselves and maybe something to us an lo . . . a pleasant surprise.

it all goes back to the fact knits are knitted differently; is a casual soft line to them. is very unlike the "cup-and- figure-hugging garment. there's a new freedom about them; it looks, can be worn from morning night, dressed up or down they come in all sizes.

for the size we suggest din knits, they come in both dress and suit type, sizes 14½ to 22½ and all in between they are guaranteed not to stretch and are priced $39.95 and $49.95.

we could talk until doom about BUTTE knits, butte is to do 80% of the knit business and it would not surprise us bit . . . it is just a matter choice — the one-piece costume or the 3 piece suit priced from $29.95 to $49.95.

PTA City Council Tells Activity Plans For Year

The Pampa City Council Parent Teacher Association met Tuesday evening in the Lamar School Auditorium with the president, Mrs. Judy Hudson Jr., presiding over the meeting. A balance of $93.57 was reported by the treasurer, Mrs. John Holt, Jr.

Mrs. Hudson read a letter from District 19 P.T.A. president, Mrs. Jerry Alexander, which stressed the attendance of all program chairmen and others at the Leadership Workshop to be held in Canadian on October 24.

The following recommendations from the executive committee were read by Mrs. A. N. Green and approved: 1) That the proposed budget of $240 be accepted; 2) That the delegates to the State P.T.A. convention travel to Fort Worth from Clarendon by train; 3) Joe Page, Lamar School principal, explained that the delegates would leave Tuesday, November 13 and return the following day. The fee will be $14 per delegate for the train, reservations are to be turned into Mrs. John Holt Jr. before October 1. Membership chairman, Mrs. E. Southard, reported that to date there are 1,417 members of the P.T.A. units.

Mrs. Floyd Scott, radio chairman, reported that radio programs are presented each Friday evening at 9:15 on radio station IDN.

The Exceptional Child chairman, Mrs. Jack Sloan, reported that during the summer a Boy Scout unit, swim classes and a Church school were held for the exceptional children.

Mrs. H. V. Wilks, study course chairman, gave the following dates for the P.T.A. Study Courses. The overall topic will be "Know Your School; October 4 at Wilson school; "The Third Parent"; October 11 at Lee Jr. High from 7 to 9:30 p.m.; "Physical Fitness for Our Youth," October 18 at Houston school; "Know Your Child's Basic Courses," October 25 at Mann school; "Why Fine Arts in School," November 1 at Lamar School; "Wake the Town and Tell the People," November 8 at Travis school; "Moral Responsibility of Parents to the School," November 15 at Austin school will be the make up course. All morning classes will be from 9 to 11:30.

The publicity chairman, Mrs. Derrel Hogsett, requested that the publicity chairman from each P.T.A. unit cover the publicity for their study course.

New by-laws for the City Council P.T.A. will be written by Mrs. Carlton Nance, a past president of the City Council P.T.A.

Mrs. Hudson requested that each unit display a framed copy of the Parent-Teacher Association Objectives at each of their meetings. Refreshments of coffee and rolls were served from a table covered with an ecru lace cloth, centered with a basket of fruit and yellow candles in tall, slender holders of brass. Serving were the Lamar P.T.A. hospitality chairmen, Mrs. Riley Walters and Mrs. Jack Nichols.

There were 40 persons present from the following schools: Austin, Baker, Houston, Lamar, Lee Jr. High, Mann, Travis, Wilson, and the Exceptional Child Association.

Ruth Millett Dieting Doesn't Fatten Bank Accounts

News item: "American dieters have been asked to donate the money they save on food each week to the overseas relief programs of the churches."

That sounds like a fine idea, except for one unhappy fact. Dieters don't, as a rule, save money by going on diets.

For one thing, a diet, if made up mostly of lean beef and fresh fruits and vegetables, isn't money-saving eating. Really cheap food is more often fattening food because it relies heavily on starches.

For another, the dieter, in order to keep his mind off food, often spends a lot on entertainment. If he stays home to read or watch television, the refrigerator is handy and tempting. So he goes out and spends money on movies, bowling, concerts, sports events and so on.

Then there is the matter of clothes. The dieter is always having to buy new clothes or pay to have the old ones altered to fit him.

Some women, in order to make themselves stick to a diet, even go as far as to buy a tempting new wardrobe in a size smaller than they can get into, so that they HAVE to lose, or leave the clothes hanging uselessly and accusingly in the closet.

And breathes there a woman with so little feminine vanity that she doesn't want to attract attention to the ten pounds she has managed to shed by careful dieting by giving herself an all-over "new" look, new hair style, new make-up magic, maybe even a new hair color or a new high-fashion wig?

So dieting is rarely money-saving in the long run. What a woman saves by cutting down on her food intake (if she saves any-

Take It From Kathy

... by Kathy Peterson

Dear Kathy: My two sisters and I are just about the same size. We always want to swap clothes. I don't want to be selfish, but I like to take good care of my things. When I want to wear something I often find that it has been stretched just enough to spoil the way it looks, or that it has been worn when I didn't know about it. We are always arguing, but we never wind up agreeing. Am I right to be angry?—Sis.

Dear Sis: The closer you are to each other, the more important it is to respect their rights and keep manners dusted off. Personal property should NEVER be borrowed without permission. How about a peace pact? Make a list of things that can't be touched by swapping like pocket-knives, coats and jewelry. Each of you has the right to take the rules for borrowing her things. If one sister borrows so much more than the others that it's unfair, perhaps she'd be willing to give services in payment of clothes. Some things might be nuisance jobs for you but a breeze for her—like sewing on buttons.

You should all agree to make sure an article is returned in perfect condition, and to ask permission each time before borrowing. Otherwise, those battles would start again.

Discuss each sister's problems thoroughly and decide on all the conditions in advance. Don't forget to include penalties for breaking the rules.

Dear Abby....

Limit Entertainment To Age Of Young Wife

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have been married for two years. My husband is 23. He likes to go to places where they serve hard liquor and listen to the music. He says he has to go alone because, even though I'm married, I am not old enough to go to those places, and he is too strait-laced to lie about my age. So he goes alone and I sit home. Is this fair? What can I do about it? It will be three years before I'll be old enough to go with him.

UNDER AGE

DEAR UNDER: Strait-laced? If you fall for this line you belong in a jacket of the same name. He knew how old you were when he married you. He should limit his entertainment to places he can take his wife.

DEAR ABBY: When people need glasses, they get them. So why don't people who are hard-of-hearing get hearing aids? My mother doesn't hear half of what's going on, but she pretends she does. Of course she doesn't fool anyone. When I suggest taking her to a hearing specialist she gets insulted and fights with me. Is there some sort of stigma attached to using a hearing device? Please print your reply.

She reads EVERYTHING but she doesn't hear much.

WORN OUT FROM YELLING
DEAR WORN: There is no stigma attached to using a hearing device. (The modern ones are scarcely visible.) Those who don't hear "half of what's going on" are missing half of the fun in life. (P.S. MY hearing is excellent and I own no stock in the hearing aid companies.)

DEAR ABBY: Why on earth would a man buy a girl a set of rings, give them to her and tell her not to wear the engagement ring out in public until he tells her it is okay. I am 22 and he is 28.

LIKES TO KNOW

DEAR LIKES: I don't know, but I would certainly find out before spending any more time with him. He could be (a) married, (b) involved with someone else or (c) afraid of his mother.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Yes, Fabric For

Walls Is Practical

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR GIRLS — Several of you have written to ask again:

Is fabric applied to the wall really practical? How is it applied to the wall? How is it cleaned? My experience has been that it is even more practical than paper and certainly is easier to put up and easier to take off when you tire of it.

Thinner than usual wall-paper paste is applied to the wall rather than the fabric when the job is done by amateurs such as you and I. Smooth it on with a clean cloth or dry brush. After the fabric is thoroughly dry, paste marks can be removed with a damp cloth or sponge.

Periodic cleaning with the upholstery brush on the vacuum cleaner keeps it in tiptop shape for a long time. Any further cleaning needed can be done with a dough-type wall-paper cleaner.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Stop feeling guilty about throwing away those extra bits and pieces of leftover soap. Tie them in a soft piece of flannel and dip in boiling water until they are soft. Then place in cold water until firm and you have a solid ball of soap.

MRS. C. W. B.

Using Mrs. C. W. B.'s basic idea, I put pieces of toilet soap (shaved up) in individual salad molds to make fancy cakes of soap. The filled molds were popped into a shallow pan of boiling water, boiled until soap was melted and then put in the refrigerator to harden. It's really fancy looking soap out of leftovers.

POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Now that the time has come to let down hems in the children's school clothes. I think mothers will bless this idea. After hem is ripped out, sponge over the hem crease with two parts of white vinegar and one part water and then steam press. The crease will press right out. This works on wool as well as cotton materials.

MRS. J. S.

DEAR POLLY — This is a hint for keeping plants watered when going away for a few days. Soak a large sponge. Place it at the base of house plants and they will remain moist for days.

MRS. M. G.

Polly has a shiny silver dollar to exchange for every idea she selects for publication. In the event of duplication, the first to reach her will get the Polly Dollar. Polly receives hundreds of suggestions, all of them to be checked for originality and practicality. Only a few of the best can be used.

Pampa Music Group Plan Special Meets

The Pampa Music Teacher's Association held its first meeting of the new year on Tuesday in the Pampa Hotel for a business meeting and luncheon.

Tracy Cary, president, presided at the meeting which opened with the singing of "Texas, Our Texas."

Plans were announced concerning special meetings for the year. Mr. William Murphy of Lubbock has been invited to speak in November to the teachers and their pupils and parents on "The Role of the Parent in the Child's Music Education."

A Christmas party is planned for December in the home of Mrs. W. H. Fuller, and an organ recital, which is open to the public, will be held in April.

Mr. Cary gave a report of the national Music Teacher's National Convention which was held in the Dallas - Sheraton Hotel in Dallas in June.

Petroleum Engineers Wives Get Activities Underway With Coffee

Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society entertained with a membership coffee on Tuesday morning in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

During a brief business meeting, Mrs. Nathan Turnbo, president, announced that the October meeting will be a combined dinner meeting with members of the Panhandle Society of Petroleum Engineers, AIME, in Borger. "The November program," she said, "will be a style show presented by the Borger High School homemaking students, who are instructed by Mrs. J. C. Shaw, a PEWS member."

The resignations as vice president by Mrs. Don Hester, who is moving to Dallas and Mrs. Harold Lawley as year book chairman, were accepted with regret. Mrs. B. C. Jackson was appointed to the office of yearbook chairman.

Copies of the PEWS bylaws were distributed and will be voted upon at the October meeting.

Coffee and rolls were served during the business meeting.

Charter officers for the PEWS are Mmes. Nathan Turnbo, president; James Hamilton of Borger, vice president; W. A. Thienes, treasurer and Paul Davis, secretary.

Pampa ABWA Chapter Plans Friendship Tea

When the American Business Women's Association decides to give an anniversary party, it invites 10,000 guests.

Sunday, September 16, some 350 tea parties will be held nationally, to emphasize the "Hand of Friendship" theme suggested by the Association's National Board of Directors.

Mrs. Rex Barton is chairman of The Pampa Chapter's tea, to be held at the City Club Room, Sunday afternoon, from three to five o'clock. Among the local officers and members greeting guests will be the Chapter President, Mrs. Glen Ritter.

Over a cup of tea, in cities all over the country, 10,000 women will be getting better acquainted with the Association's purposes of (1) improving employer-employee relations, (2) keeping women up to date on business techniques, and (3) the advancement of women in business through more efficient service to business.

The association, nationally, is the outgrowth of an idea by a Kansas City businesswoman. He talked with personnel directors and business men and women in various fields, which confirmed his belief that an organization was needed to "fill the needs of all businesswomen and yet not conflict with other groups."

The first chapter was chartered in 1949. There are now more than 350 chapters in 46 states, with a total membership exceeding 20,000.

Monthly dinner meetings at which outstanding local speakers are heard; boss night banquets, emphasizing the value of employer-employee relations; and special educational programs, make for a well-rounded chapter schedule.

Being primarily educational in nature, chapters are encouraged to sponsor local scholarships for worthwhile women aspiring to improve themselves educationally. So enthusiastic has been the response, that scholarships awarded by local chapters throughout the United States, last year alone, amounted to over $35,000. In addition, a National Fund was established in 1953. This fund enables chapters to participate in scholarship projects of a larger nature than those usually sponsored by a local chapter, and normally are confined to outstanding students working towards college degrees. Any chapter wishing to make application on behalf of a candidate is privileged to do so.

The Pampa Chapter is now in its 3rd year and has awarded some $725.00 in scholarship since being organized May 15, 1960.

Business women interested in learning more about the Association are invited to call Miss Jeanne Casey at MO 4-2794 between the hours of 8 to 11 o'clock a.m.

Dan True Gives Interesting Weather Data To Top o' Texas Garden Club

Top o' Texas Garden Club had as its guest speaker, Dan True, KFDD-TV weatherman at its Tuesday evening meeting in Lovett Memorial Library.

Following a weather forecast, Mr. True spent the remainder of the evening answering weather questions for members and guests.

He discussed "sun spots" and their relation to weather changes; effect of ocean currents on weather not only in the coastal areas, but widespread.

He brought out that the "heat budget" is the major cause of weather change, when heat is lessened or increased it effects overall weather picture.

"Predictions," he pointed out "are based on past statistics, but they don't always follow through, which adds spice to the weather game and leaves the weatherman sometimes out on a limb."

In discussing cycles of weather,

Horticulture Quiz Set By Pampa Club

Pampa Garden Club will hold its first fall meeting on Sept. 17 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell, 1200 Mary Ellen with Mrs. Bert Robinson as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ira Carlton will conduct a Horticulture Quiz, during which members will try to identify specimens of shrubs, trees, vines, etc. Each member is asked to bring a horticulture specimen from their yard for display.

On September 24, the club plans to make a pilgrimage to the state game preserve near Canadian. Mrs. Joe Weaver will be in charge of transportation.

If you don't have a wedding gift sent until after the ceremony, write a note of apology to the bride.

It was announced that Mrs. Fred Hinkley will be hostess for the Sept. 25 meeting at 1:30 p.m. in her home, 501 N. Nelson.

Labor Law Program Is Set In Dallas

A national institute for petroleum landmen and a program on labor law will be presented by the Southwestern Legal Foundation in Dallas during October, according to Boyd Taylor, Pampa attorney.

Taylor, Foundation resident representative, stated that the petroleum landmen's conference will be held Oct. 5-6, and Labor Law on Oct. 18-20, at the Southwestern Legal Center on the campus of Southern Methodist University.

Subjects for review at the landmen's institute will be: oil and gas law of special significance to landmen; landman's views of property acquisitions and mergers; the landman and anti-trust; tax problems in acquiring oil and gas leases; joint operating agreements; present trends in well spacing and possible effects of Normanna and Port Acres Decisions.

Also, voluntary vs. compulsory unitization; rate of return method of measuring profitability of investments; significant problems in the production of natural gas; present drilling and completion methods and their effect on costs of exploratory and development wells, and threshold of recognition.

Topics to be reviewed at the labor law institute will be: third seat at the bargaining table; government, management and labor points of view; duty to bargain; President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities; Landrum-Griffin Act; have Titles I-VI served the legislative purpose?; labor injunction reappraised; labor relations in the space program; developments in the law of secondary boycott and hot cargo.

Also, "new look" in representation proceedings and trends in recognition and organizational picketing; pediatrics, jurimetrics and other legal labor pains; labor relations under AEC and NASA programs; management rights under the collective bargaining contract.

The developing common law of labor arbitration as reflected in arbitrators' opinions and awards and some recent developments under Section 301 of the Labor-Management Relations Act will also be reviewed.

Copies of the programs may be obtained from the registrar, Southwestern Legal Foundation, 3315 Daniels, Dallas 5, Texas.

Water Flood Performance Report Due

A new method has been perfected in the Spraberry Field of West Texas to increase recovery by about 90 per cent. It will be explained at the Fall Meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME on Oct. 7-10, 1962, in Los Angeles.

First water is injected into oil reservoirs for several months — without any production taking place from the producing wells in the field. Next, injection is stopped and production is started. Engineers are calling it the "push and pull" method of recovery — and it works.

The cyclic operation causes the expansion of sands, oil and water to expand — expelling part of the fluids during the "pull" process. Capillary pressure withholds the water from being produced during the production cycle.

The method was developed by engineers of The Sohio Oil Co. The Fall Meeting paper is entitled "Large Scale Water Flood performance, Spraberry Field, West Texas". The authors are Lincoln F. Elkins and Arlie M. Skov, of Oklahoma City.

This is one of 64 papers to be presented at the meeting — covering such subjects as economic evaluations, secondary recovery drilling, gas technology, well completions and logging.

Wide-Ranging Program Shaping Up For Meeting Of Association

DALLAS — A wide-ranging program, including discussion of U.S. monetary policy as well as Texas petroleum issues, is shaping up for the 43rd Annual Meeting of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association in Dallas, October 8-10, Tom F. Hill, Sun Oil Company executive serving as general arrangements chairman, announced Saturday.

The annual gathering, which is expected to draw some 800 independent oil and gas producers and company executives, will be held in the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

Particular industry attention will be focused on the opening session address scheduled by Texas Railroad Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr.

Included in the roster of speakers are two native Texans who have recently reached national prominence in oil and banking circles: Fred H. Moore, New York executive vice president of Socony Mobil Oil Company and president of Mobil Oil Company, and Dr. Charles E. Walker, New York, executive vice president, American Bankers Association. Moore, a Texas Technological College graduate, began his career as a geologist for Magnolia Petroleum Company in 1935. Dr. Walker, a former vice president in the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, went to his present post from a position as economic adviser to Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson during the last year of the Eisenhower administration.

Hill announced that in spite of the seasonal influx of visitors caused by the State Fair and other activities that week, Dallas hotels have pledged sufficient rooms if Association members make their requests well in advance of the meeting.

Various Association committees, including the executive committee, will meet Monday afternoon, October 8. A reception for all convention delegates and their wives will be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel that evening.

The morning session, Tuesday, October 9, will include addresses by Association President Clyde Tomlinson, Longview, Commissioner Murray, Moore and Walker. The annual Association Golf Tournament, headed by E. L. Smith Jr., Dallas, will be played that afternoon at Brook Hollow Golf Club. The annual dinner and dance are scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Ernest Thompson Ill But Hoping To Return To Job

By WILLIAM CLAYTON AUSTIN (UPI) — Ernest O. Thompson, Texas Railroad commissioner, was reported Saturday hoping he will recover enough from an illness to get back to work soon.

Thompson has been ill since early summer. Even his closest associates do not know how seriously ill or whether he intends to retire from the post he held longer than any other man.

But speculation is inevitable that he might retire, and several names are mentioned as possible prospects for the commission post. Among them are Gov. Price Daniel, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, oilman French Robertson and Harlingen Congressman Joe Ilgore.

Teen Age Success
Thompson, born 1892 and built successful business career while in his teens, became ill following European trip earlier this year. He had a checkup, but since then as returned to his Amarillo home. He is reported having digestive trouble that may be a recurrence of a gall bladder infection he suffered in 1951 on a trip to The Hague for the World Petroleum Congress. He became quite ill, and returned to the U. S.

The symptoms of his current illness are similar—loss of weight, digestive trouble, and intermittent periods of improvement. Thompson dislikes any reference to possible retirement, and with good reason. He has served in the commission since 1932. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt made him a personal representative in 1937 to the World Petroleum Congress.

Conservation Authority
He was credited with having defused the price war that resulted from frenzied production of oil in the rich East Texas Oil Field during the first explosive oil strikes. The American Petroleum Institute termed him the greatest conservation authority in the world on conservation, and the late Sam Rayburn said of him, "he knows more about oil than any other man in the world."

Should Thompson retire, a replacement would be named by the governor to serve until the next general election. The replacement would have to run for election at that time for the remainder of the term following that.

Thompson's current term runs for more years. The commission's term staggered six-year terms.

ED ENVOY IN CONGO
LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Soviet diplomat Serge Nemtshino, first Russian ambassador to the Congo in two years, took up his post here Thursday.

SANTA FE (UPI) — September oil allowables of 35 barrels daily in the southeast and 70 barrels daily in the northwest will be the same next month.

The State Oil Conservation Commission Thursday continued the allowable levels made for September.

The commission said the 60-barrel daily unit allowable in southeast New Mexico fields will bring a total allowable of 328,884 barrels daily.

The 70-barrel unit allowable in the northwest was estimated to yield a total allowable of 29,803 barrels daily.

Production was estimated at 264,776 barrels daily in the southeast and 22,831 barrels in the northwest. This will be a .48 per cent reduction in production in the southeast and a 9.07 per cent drop in the northwest.

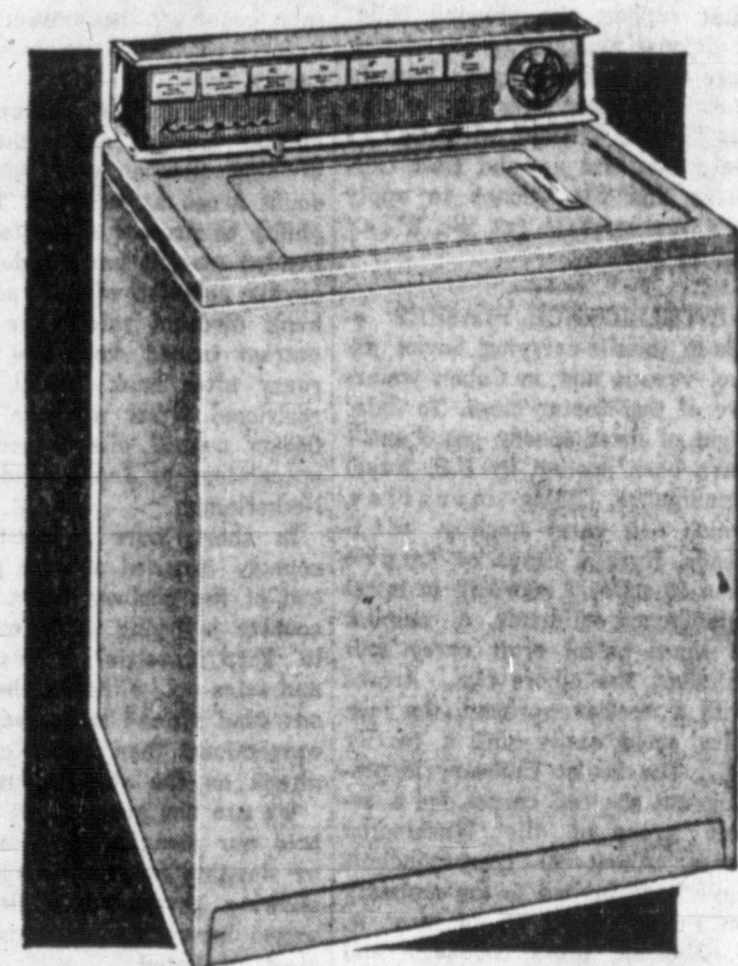

Purchasers nominations for the southeast in October total 264,127 barrels and 82,916 barrels in the northwest. This is a statewide total of 316,143 barrels daily, a decrease of 877 barrels daily from the September totals.

The Wednesday, October 10, morning session, in addition to addresses by speakers yet to be named, will see presentation of the Association's Distinguished Service Awards and election of officers prior to noon adjournment.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Who Can Argue With Such Percentage Points?

We've always had the greatest respect for statistics — especially those which purport to prove that the average family consists of 4.7 members and consumes four tenths of a pound of prepared mustard. The strength of these statistics lies in the obvious fact that if you set out to dispute them, you must offer some others in their place.

We can't offer any more substantial statistics than those put forth by the National Frontier Program of the Republic of Mexico relative to commercial facts of life on the border.

For example, who is to dispute the National Frontier Program assertion that "the quality of U.S. goods is 82.2 per cent better" than the Mexican counterpart? We might wonder which goods the NFP is talking about and how they arrived at the nice little fraction of two-tenths, but we couldn't begin to prove that it isn't so, either.

Brownsville merchants might be surprised to learn that their "presentation of merchandise" is only 2.5 per cent better in Brownsville than in Matamoros and that "sanitary conditions" are only 2.5 per cent (a favorite percentage, it seems to us) better in Brownsville than across the river.

Brownsville prices were said by the NFP to be "generally 75 per cent lower than in Matamoros," but there again we must wonder which goods were selected as the test — not, for example, rum, tequila or leather handbags.

We conclude that the National Frontier Program's statistics are "generally" 79.3 per cent accurate, 37.7 per cent political, and 100 per cent indisputable.

Let's Not Hogtie Ourselves

The stop-gap tax revision bill has been raising plenty of high wind and holler in the Senate of recent date — all of which, in turn, raises a fair question:

Why the three-alarm emergency to jam this measure through at this time?

In the first place, it can hardly be described as a desirable piece of legislation. Furthermore, the Administration has in work a comprehensive tax reform bill which it will introduce next year. Even more to the point — the crucially important foreign trade bill, which will affect the immediate future of U.S. participation in the European Common Market, has yet, at this writing, to become law.

It seems amply clear that it would be a serious, and possibly even a fatal, error to push for passage of the current tax reform measure before the foreign trade bill defines the nature of our future foreign trade operations.

Let's be sure that we remain competitive. Let's remember that it is our free enterprise system that has made us what we are, and that our companies overseas contribute far more dollars returned to the U.S. than the total dollars invested in their operation.

The fact is, according to the Department of Commerce, that private enterprise creates a favorable balance of payments situation for the United States. It is the drain of foreign aid and military assistance that creates the unfavorable balance. Why make

Burial Party Gathers In Cuba

With Congress, and particularly the Senate beginning to get tough about the Administration's continued softness on Cuba, Secretary of State Dean Rusk is reported to have told a group of Latin American ambassadors that any government has a responsibility to protect itself and its national security.

This is interpreted to mean that we might possibly take action all by ourselves to protect the U.S. against the enemy massing in Cuba.

ba. Whether a decision must wait until we are clobbered by the Russians is anybody's guess. But the President's insistence in one breath that the Monroe Doctrine lives, and in the next that we mustn't invade Cuba, and that we do not know about Russian missiles or troops in Cuba, has at last stirred our solons into the realization that the US is the prize the Russians want, not Latin America — which will fall anyway when we do.

THE BIBLE—EVER A SOURCE OF HELP

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

The home breakfast would be more popular today if it were as much a status symbol as it was 50 years ago, motivational research discloses. In the early 20th century the business day was longer, especially for the help, and the home breakfast was pretty much an executive prerogative. The successful man was the one who could afford the time — and few such could be pried out of the house with breakfast. . . . In hot weather, water lost from the body by sweat should be replaced as soon as possible to prevent fatigue. U.S. Army tests have shown that when men in the desert followed the dictates of thirst, they replaced only one-half to two-thirds of water loss by sweat. Therefore in hot weather, it is better to drink more water than you want.

Item in the Columbia (Mo.) Missourian: "The city council will hold a hearing on the proposed asphalt paving, curb and guttering." . . . Hey, girls: You may now use throw-away dishcloths, each containing enough detergent and lanolin to wash a full sink of dishes, at a cost of about two cents per.

Today's favorite gag: The swift-driving motorist lost control of his car and ran into a telephone pole. When he came to his senses he was on the ground clutching telephone wires. "Thank goodness," he murmured. "It's a harp."

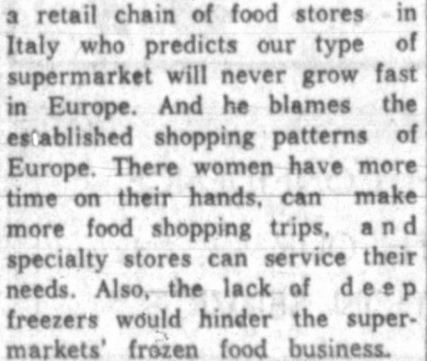

A seven-story apartment building 12 miles from Cape Canaveral promotes its view of rocket launchings from its balconies as "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Few groups are more worried about automation than today's steel-workers. Yet half a century ago when the Bessemer process for producing steel from pig iron was introduced, seven men then were able to do the work formerly requiring 60. . . . Observes a cynic: "Among the English language's many puzzling words is 'economy,' which means the large size in soap flakes and the small size in an automobile."

Thoughts while shaving: 1. Khrushchev occasionally displays refreshing candor. There was the time he addressed a large group of Soviet workers and bawled them out for shirking at their appointed tasks. Then, when a workers' committee cravenly thanked him for the scolding he had given them, Nikita snarled: "Don't lie. Nobody shouts hurriedly when he is criticized." . . . 2. In show business any dialog or action bordering on the risique is called "blue." It's derived from the newspaper term "blue pencilling," which means that written words, sentences or paragraphs are crossed out by a copyreader or an editor. (It is not precisely censored; it's just elided.) . . . 3. The fact is, though, that in long stretch of newspapering we've never seen any copyreaders or editor use a blue pencil for that purpose. It's usually a pencil with a heavy, black, devastating lead in it. . . . 4. It's an executive of a retail chain of food stores in Italy who predicts our type of supermarket will never grow fast in Europe. And he blames the established shopping patterns of Europe. There women have more time on their hands, can make more food shopping trips, and specialty stores can service their needs. Also, the lack of deep freezers would hinder the supermarkets' frozen food business.

Matter of Fact

Those who fly will welcome the news that a way is being developed to clear airport runways of fog for brief periods, at least. The method has been demonstrated in parts of the Arctic and Antarctic. There, fog composed of supercooled droplets was removed by seeding.

Soviet Mig-12 Fighters, TU-16 Jet Bombers Spotted Over Cuba, Believed Flown by Russians

WASHINGTON — Russia is sending "offensive" type jet aircraft to Cuba.

Already, a dozen Mig-21s, the fastest of the Soviet jet fighters, have been spotted both in the skies over Cuba and at airfields near Havana.

Two Soviet TU-16 "Badgers," medium jet bombers, have been photographed in Cuba by U.S. intelligence sources.

These new Soviet aircraft are in addition to 130 Mig-19s and Mig-17s that the Russians turned over to the Cuban air force earlier this year.

The tall-tale vapor trails of the "Badgers" — the first Soviet bombers to appear in the Western Hemisphere — indicate that these twin engine jets are being used on electronic snooping missions that range within forty miles of the Florida Coast.

Also, the first Mig-21s, because of specially designed plastic camera attachments, were described in U.S. intelligence reports as "U-2 type aircraft" when they appeared in Cuba.

However, a closer examination by U.S. intelligence agents disclosed that the planes were the high-flying, supersonic Mig-21s with reconnaissance equipment attached to their slim fuselage.

A squadron of six Mig-21s showed up last week carrying infrared air-to-air missiles similar to the U.S. Air Force's deadly Sidewinder — which the Chinese Nationalists have used effectively in knocking down Soviet-built Migs over the Formosa Straits.

Soviet pilots are believed to be flying the Mig-21s and TU-16s while the Mig-17s and Mig-19s are being flown by Cuban pilots trained in Prague. Intercepted radio calls bear this out. For instance, all Mig-21 pilots use the Russian language in communicating with their ground bases.

CUBA TO BERLIN — The growing Soviet air build-up in Cuba comes at a time when the Russians are increasing and modernizing the East German air force along the air corridors from West Germany to West Berlin.

The Soviets are replacing the Mig-19s, located at seven airfields near the corridors, with Mig-21s. An estimated 200 jet planes are involved. These planes are being flown by both Soviet and East German pilots.

As reported in this column on Sept. 4, the East Germans are expected to soon begin harassing the Allies' Berlin air traffic with newly installed "electronic counter equipment."

These electronic devices, similar to those being installed in Cuba, are showing up in East Berlin and along the three air corridors linking West Berlin to West Germany.

These "ECE" stations are being readied to blockade the corridors by jamming the guidance control systems of Allies aircraft flying into the big Tempelhof Airfield in West Berlin.

For instance, "ECE" equipment has just been installed on top of a seven-story building in

The Nation's Press

WE'RE NOT ALONE (Chicago Daily Tribune)

In four countries of western Europe, as the chart below shows, the stock market has taken a heavier beating than it has in the United States. In two of them, Germany and Britain, the decline began before it did in this country.

In Germany, stocks reached their peak in August, 1960, and since then have lost about 37 per cent of their market value. In Britain, the market turned down in April, 1961, and has dropped by 29 per cent. In Japan, the decline began in July, 1961, and has amounted to 17 per cent. In France, the decline began just last April and has amounted to only 12 per cent.

One thing all this suggests is that the world markets are no longer dependent on United States markets, if they ever were. In each country, the market seems to have reacted to events in that country.

In Germany, for example, the market tumbled after the wall dividing Berlin was built and doubt arose as to West Berlin's ability to prosper separately. The London market headed down after the adoption of a 7 per cent bank discount rate. The Swiss market turned down last February after bank credit was restricted. Other methods of inflation control discouraged the speculators in Japan and the Netherlands.

In short, ours is not the only country worried about a possible end of the postwar boom. Each country is trying in its own way to keep industrial prices down and sales up, although the methods used abroad have been more conventional than Mr. Kennedy's attack on the steel industry.

We are not going to be able to hold our own in world markets by slapping industry's hand while allowing government deficits and wage increases to continue almost unabated.

INTELLIGENCE FLASHES

These missile-carrying Soviet patrol vessels now in Cuban waters are of the Komar class. To date, eight of these speedy patrol craft have been spotted by U.S. Naval Intelligence. Their missiles, which can carry nuclear warheads, have a range of "more than 200 miles," according to latest intelligence estimates. A number of these patrol craft carry four missiles, the others two. Armed with a nuclear warhead, the missiles could easily sink a carrier.

The Soviet Embassy is putting out the red carpet for a select group of the Washington press. About 20 correspondents have been invited to the embassy on Friday, Sept. 14, to meet A. J. Zinehak, press counselor and J. K. Kolomoysky, counselor.

In the Soviet Union, the two "counselors" are known as key Soviet intelligence agents. Since coming to Washington, they have changed "titles" but not "jobs."

One Washington correspondent was invited because of his telephone number — National 8-7350. Since one of the phones at the Soviet Embassy is National 8-7550, the correspondent ends up getting a number of the Russian Ambassador's calls. The word from the Red Ambassador is that he wants to discuss "this little difficulty" . . . James Devine, whose nomination as the State Department's security chief was sidetracked by congressional opposition, is going to be sent to Geneva, as minister of the embassy. He joins Robert Truby, former assistant secretary of state for public affairs, who was shifted after he fell from the favor of Secretary of State Rusk . . . Prime Minister Macmillan has informed President Kennedy that he is planning a TV broadcast in an effort to win public support for Britain's entrance into the European Common Market . . . Charles Patrick Clark, Spain's high-priced lobbyist in Washington, is passing the word to selected editors that he would like to confer with them — especially in small groups. He is concerned about U.S. foreign policy.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, Sept. 16, the 259th day of 1962 with 106 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Virgo.

On this day in history: In 1630, village in Massachusetts changed its name from Shawmut to Boston.

In 1893, the Cherokee strip in Oklahoma was opened to homesteaders.

In 1920, a bomb exploded on Wall street, killing 20 persons and injuring at least 100.

In 1945, the Japanese surrendered Hong Kong.

A thought for the day — Mark Twain said: "There are several good protections against temptations, but the surest is cowardice."

Those 'Secret' Reds Won't Dare Report

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Another team of six so-called Russian farm experts, accompanied by a woman interpreter, are now in the United States for a month's tour of spying on American agriculture.

They don't call it spying, of course. Neither does the team of United States farm experts headed by Federal Extension Service Administrator E. T. York Jr., who will guide the Russians around.

When an American U2 plane goes up to observe the Far East weather and gets lost in a storm over Sakhalin Island, the Russians call that spying and write nasty notes about it.

But when a Russian agricultural mission comes here to fathom the secrets of American farming, it becomes a cultural exchange. There is no doubt, however, that the Russians can take back far more valuable information than the U2 pilot got.

Every report that the Department of Agriculture has been able to get hold of on farm production in Russia, Red China, Czechoslovakia and all the other satellites — including Cuba — reveals that the Communists have failed as farmers.

The situation is worst in Red China, where near-famine conditions prevail. No food production figures have been given out by the Red Chinese for four years.

But the five-year chaos created by collectivization of farms in 1955 was multiplied by two years of drought and a population increase of 30 to 40 million. In the last three years Red China has had to contract for a half-billion dollars' worth of capitalist grain to survive.

Soviet farm production as reported by USDA's "Foreign Agriculture" is only somewhat better. Three years after launching its latest seven-year plan to increase last year was only 1 per cent.

Czechoslovakian agriculture under the Communist system has never regained its prewar level. The same story is told for the other satellites. The United States has made surplus foods available to Poland and Yugoslavia although they export some foodstuffs of their own.

One of the few amusing aspects of the recent Russian invasion of Cuba is that some of the Soviet "technicians" are farm experts who will show the Cubans how to raise sugar cane.

In the five-year pre-Castro period when Cuba sold most of its sugar to the United States and American companies owned and operated many of the mills, Cuba produced up to 6.4 million tons annually. This year production was down 30 per cent to 4.5 million tons.

The main reason, according to "Foreign Agriculture" was the indifference of both skilled and common labor. The pay offered wasn't worth the workers' efforts. Those who did work could buy nothing with their meager wages. So there was a "crop failure."

Next year it may be worse because replanting has been cut by a third.

There is much that the Russian farm mission under Minister of Agriculture Konstantin Georgiyevich Pysin and his predecessor Mikhail Aleksandrovich Ohlansky can learn in the United States if they keep their eyes and ears open.

They will not necessarily pick it up at the Beltsville, Md., experiment station or Ros Garst's Iowa farm or the grant colleges they will visit in Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, California or the Seaworld's fair.

The secret weapon which Russian farm spies can take with them — if they dare report it to Khrushchev — is the individual, free enterprise system of farming, bolstered by a complex cockeyed system of government support prices and subsidies which offer farmers an incentive to produce too much.

First, let's set a few facts straight. I approve of scouting. I've worked with scouts for awhile and can see years ahead for me, but!!!

In the October suggestion of Cub Scout Quarterly, issued by Den Mothers to aid planning, this is the little item:

"October 24 is United Nations Day when we encourage friendly American and UN flag-gather. The UN is an example of nations' struggle for peaceful existence through co-operation rather than war. It represents hope for peace with justice. At a third den meeting, spend some time discussing the UN and countries co-operating. Secure co-operation of each Cub Scout Mother to plan and serve a family Nations Day menu for family. Table decorations are planned to remind them of interesting friends among the Nations."

This absolutely stuns me. Scouts should never be used in being used in this matter.

October 24, 1945 is the day the UN was joined. Why should we celebrate UN day on the day it was joined? Why should we celebrate UN day???

I believe God placed the breast of every man a long peace, and after some trial errors (League of Nations, an organization may come which will respect the sovereignty of each member nation and provide an opportunity for discussion of problems, but I don't believe UN is that organization. Let its record. Let's face that failed, remove ourselves, a for a new idea and ideal field.

Meantime, who guided the commendation for our Cub Scouts? perturbed! May I suggest other perturbed mothers who join me in telling our leaders how we feel and write to the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Thank you for the opportunity to express my alarm. Please my name on file. If any truly interested, I'll be happy to work with them.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Majumdar

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 In Moscow, an angry parent leaps to his feet and demands to know why his son is being taught German instead of English.
 The teacher replies that assignments to language studies were made by alphabet instead of by pupils' choice and she will try to find out why.
 The incident was reported in a recent dispatch from Moscow and the author noted that, as an American and a parent, he saw certain similarities to parent-teacher meetings he had attended in Connecticut.
 Just as in the United States, this is the start of a new school season for millions of children behind the Iron Curtain.
 Radio Free Europe, which beams news of the free world to Communist satellite nations and also conducts a continuing study of events behind the curtain, has just released a survey of Communist educational methods and some of the headaches encountered by the planners.
Education Stressed
 Strong points seem to be seven: "The importance of education to nine years of free, compulsory education, not only in the Soviet Union but in all the East European satellites, with heavy emphasis on language as well as technical studies."
 The survey notes: "Communist leaders learned a long while ago that to maintain a position of authority in a subjugated society it is necessary to pay special attention to education of the young."
 "That is why today in the Soviet Union and the captive countries of Eastern Europe the role of education occupies a position of importance second only to party ideology."
 is twofold: The rising generation must be indoctrinated to fulfill its role in a Communist society, and it must provide the necessary number of technically skilled workers to try to match the progress of a free society."
Political Courses
 That also means that at every opportunity the Marxist-Leninist theme of supposed superiority over the free societies is hammered home in the classroom. Lenin was willing to sacrifice a generation in order to fit the youth of Russia to the iron mold of his concept of the dictatorship of the proletariat—certainly a concept far less dramatic than man's attainment and stubborn hold upon his freedoms.

LINKING EUROPE WITH ASIA—Within five years, two modern, all-weather highways will carry commercial and tourist traffic between Europe and Asia as far as Teheran. As shown on map, southern and northern routes will begin in European Turkey and cross into Iran, linking up major cities in both countries. The master plan is the result of co-operation between the two governments, with advice and assistance from the United Nations, International Road Federation as well as other international agencies.

 But the Communists, too, have their difficulties.
 The more time spent on Marx and Lenin, the less time there is for science and languages. Parents complain of the work load on students who must spend one day a week in "practical work" in factory or field.
 Poland quietly has dropped compulsory Marxism - Leninism

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy, promising swift retribution if Cuba ever becomes a threat to U.S. security.
 "Unilateral military intervention on the part of the United States cannot currently be either required or justified, and it is regrettable that loose talk about such action in this country might serve to give a thin color of legitimacy to the Communist pretense that such a threat exists."

from secondary schools. Religion still may be taught in Czechoslovakian and Hungarian schools.

Mississippi Governor Resists Integration

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Gov. Ross Barnett, stating that Mississippi faces its "greatest crisis" since the Civil War, directed state officials Thursday night to go to jail rather than obey federal desegregation orders.
 "We will not drink from the cup of genocide," he told a statewide television audience. "There is no case in history where the caucasian race has survived social integration."
 The 63-year-old son of a Confederate soldier invoked the controversial doctrine of interposition, ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court, to prevent the federal court-ordered desegregation of the University of Mississippi next week.
 The doctrine declares void any federal law which usurps rights reserved to the states, but the Supreme Court decided in a Louisiana case that interposition "is not constitutional and is illegal defiance of constitutional law."
 Barnett said the operation of public schools, colleges and universities is vested in the states and, therefore, under state control and jurisdiction. A federal judge has ordered that James Meredith, a Negro, be admitted to the university at the start of the fall term next Wednesday.

The governor said every public official, including himself, should be prepared to make the choice of whether to submit to federal mandates or go to jail, if necessary, to uphold Mississippi's segregation laws.
 "If there be any official who is not prepared to suffer imprisonment for this righteous cause, I ask him now to submit his resignation and it will be accepted without prejudice," he said. "A man who is prepared to stand firm will be appointed in his place."

Department Store Sales Increase
DALLAS (UPI)—Department store sales in the 11th Federal Reserve District showed a 13 per cent average increase during the week ending Sept. 8, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas has reported today.

Fort Worth led the climb with a 34 per cent increase over the corresponding week a year ago. Houston sales were up 17 per cent, San Antonio up 16 per cent, Dallas up 13 per cent and El Paso up 6 per cent.

Barnett said the operation of public schools, colleges and universities is vested in the states and, therefore, under state control and jurisdiction. A federal judge has ordered that James Meredith, a Negro, be admitted to the university at the start of the fall term next Wednesday.

in Moscow, an angry parent leaps to his feet and demands to know why his son is being taught German instead of English.

The teacher replies that assignments to language studies were made by alphabet instead of by pupils' choice and she will try to find out why.

The incident was reported in a recent dispatch from Moscow and the author noted that, as an American and a parent, he saw certain similarities to parent-teacher meetings he had attended in Connecticut.

Just as in the United States, this is the start of a new school season for millions of children behind the Iron Curtain.

Radio Free Europe, which beams news of the free world to Communist satellite nations and also conducts a continuing study of events behind the curtain, has just released a survey of Communist educational methods and some of the headaches encountered by the planners.

Education Stressed

Strong points seem to be seven: The importance of education to nine years of free, compulsory education, not only in the Soviet Union but in all the East European satellites, with heavy emphasis on language as well as technical studies.

The survey notes: "Communist leaders learned a long while ago that to maintain a position of authority in a subjugated society it is necessary to pay special attention to education of the young."

"That is why today in the Soviet Union and the captive countries of Eastern Europe the role of education occupies a position of importance second only to party ideology."

is twofold: The rising generation must be indoctrinated to fulfill its role in a Communist society, and it must provide the necessary number of technically skilled workers to try to match the progress of a free society."

Political Courses

That also means that at every opportunity the Marxist-Leninist theme of supposed superiority over the free societies is hammered home in the classroom.

Lenin was willing to sacrifice a generation in order to fit the LINKING EUROPE WITH ASIA—Within five years, two modern, all-weather highways will carry commercial and tourist traffic between Europe and Asia as far as Teheran. As shown on map, southern and northern routes will begin in European Turkey and cross into Iran, linking up major cities in both countries. The master plan is the result of co-operation between the two governments, with advice and assistance from the United Nations, International Road Federation as well as other international agencies.

Washington—President Kennedy, promising swift retribution if Cuba ever becomes a threat to U.S. security.

"Unilateral military intervention on the part of the United States cannot currently be either required or justified, and it is regrettable that loose talk about such action in this country might serve to give a thin color of legitimacy to the Communist pretense that such a threat exists."

from secondary schools. Religion still may be taught in Czechoslovakian and Hungarian schools.

Department Store Sales Increase

DALLAS (UPI) — Department store sales in the 11th Federal Reserve District showed a 13 per cent average increase during the week ending Sept. 8, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas has reported today.

Fort Worth led the climb with a 34 per cent increase over the corresponding week a year ago. Houston sales were up 17 per cent, San Antonio up 16 per cent, Dallas up 13 per cent and El Paso up 6 per cent.

Mississippi Governor Resists Integration

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett, stating that Mississippi faces its "greatest crisis" since the Civil War, directed state officials Thursday night to go to jail rather than obey federal desegregation orders.

"We will not drink from the cup of genocide," he told a statewide television audience. "There is no case in history where the caucasian race has survived social integration."

The 63-year-old son of a Confederate soldier invoked the controversial doctrine of interposition, ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court, to prevent the federal court-ordered desegregation of the University of Mississippi next week.

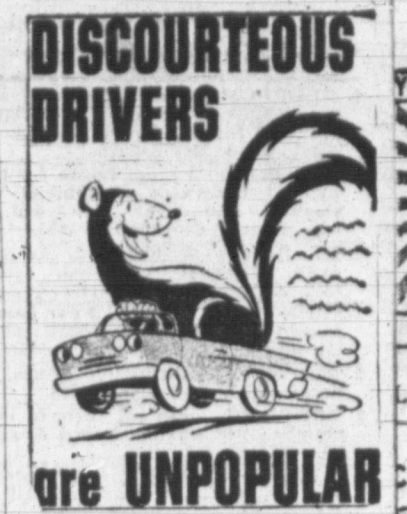

The doctrine declares void any federal law which usurps rights reserved to the states, but the Supreme Court decided in a Louisiana case that interposition "is not constitutional and is illegal defiance of constitutional law."

Barnett said the operation of public schools, colleges and universities is vested in the states and, therefore, under state control and jurisdiction. A federal judge has ordered that James

Meredith, a Negro, be admitted to the university at the start of the fall term next Wednesday.

The governor said every public official, including himself, should be prepared to make the choice of whether to submit to federal mandates or go to jail, if necessary, to uphold Mississippi's segregation laws.

"If there be any official who is not prepared to suffer imprisonment for this righteous cause, I ask him now to submit his resignation and it will be accepted without prejudice," he said. "A man who is prepared to stand

Don Gaspar de Portola, leader of a Spanish expedition to northern California in 1769, discovered the California redwood.

A firm will be appointed in place.
