Corporation's Founder

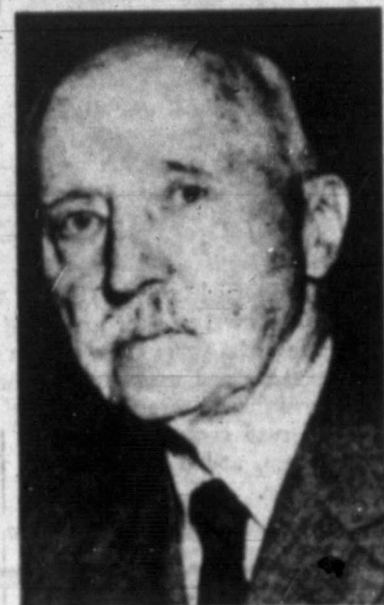

Godfrey Cabot Dies; Age 101

Godfrey Lowell Cabot, founder of the Cabot Corp. which has vast holdings in all parts of the world, died today at the age of 101 in Boston, Mass.

Dr. Cabot, who brought the Cabot plants to Pampa in 1926 and 1927, passed away peacefully in his sleep at the home, 242 Beacon St., in Boston.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 p.m. Monday in Boston. E. L. Green Jr., general manager for Cabot Corp., Southwest

GODFREY L. CABOT
... dies in Boston

Division, said here this afternoon that all Cabot offices will close at 1 p.m. Monday.

Flags will fly at half-mast at the Cabot Shops here through the hour of the funeral Monday afternoon.

Dr. Cabot was the founder and past president of the major worldwide carbon black company, originally known as Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc. The company was merged nearly two years ago with three subsidiaries, Cabot Carbon Company, Cabot Shops, Inc. and Cabot Gasoline Corporation, to form Cabot Corporation of Boston, Massachusetts.

To many, Dr. Cabot was well known as a philanthropist and patron of science. He gained distinction for his notable services to the chemical industry in the United States and Europe, his scholarly attainments and for his participation and contribution in various forms which have directly and indirectly resulted in benefits toward mankind.

Many honors were bestowed upon him for his noteworthy activities. He was the recipient of two Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, one from Harvard University and the other from Norwich University. An honorary degree of Doctor of Science was conferred upon him by Morris Harvey College. Among other distinguished titles, he was named Grand Old Man of the Natural Gas Industry in 1953 and Elder Statesman of the National Aeronautics Association in 1955.

Dr. Cabot has three children, 14 grandchildren and 22 living great grandchildren. He marked his 101st birthday last Feb. 28.

8,755 Persons Eligible To Vote Nov. 6

Gray County has some 8,755 persons eligible to vote in next Tuesday's general election, County Clerk Charlie Thol said today.

At mid-noon 401 absentee votes had been cast at the county clerk's office. This compares to 115 cast in the 1954 off-year election, 421 in the 1956 presidential election, 69 in 1958 and 702 in the 1960 presidential year.

Deadlines for absentee balloting falls at midnight tonight. The clerk's office in the Gray County Courthouse closes at 5 p.m. today.

That today released the location of Gray County's 12 voting places for the upcoming election.

They are:

Pct. 1—Lefors Community Center; Pct. 2—Baker School; Pampa; Pct. 3—Grandview School; Pct. 4—Alamogordo School Gym; Pct. 5—McLean City Hall; Pct. 6—Laketon Store; Pct. 7—Horace Mann School; Pampa; Pct. 8—Hopkins, C. M. Gatlin residence; Pct. 9—Court House; Pampa; Pct. 10—Phillips Camp, Community Center; and Pct. 12 South Side Fire Station, Pampa.

Fidel Thought To Be Seeking Way Out Of Impasse On Cuba

Back Down By Kremlin Anticipated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's actions in Cuba were based on a considered judgment that overall U.S. nuclear superiority over Russia would make the Kremlin back down.

This opinion was strongly urged by the President's top intelligence and military commands during the mounting hours of crisis.

It is one of several points being made in interviews administration officials now have time to give newsmen about the recent turmoil of events.

These other points also are being stressed:

—After the first "hard" evidence of Soviet offensive weapons in Cuba Oct. 15, administration thinking focused very quickly on the strategy of blockade and military buildup rather than on bombing or invasion.

—On Oct. 27, the day before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev agreed to remove his missiles from Cuba, no bombing or invasion had been decided upon. The next steps would have been progressive tightening of the blockade to include defensive weapons, strategic items such as oil, and finally a total blockade.

—However, had the situation on unchanged, and especially if there had been signs of a hostile Soviet response, it has assumed the final decision on bombing or invasion might have been faced within "several days."

THE FOUR SPECTACLES — Here are the members of "The Four Spectacles Quartet" which will be one of the featured barbershop groups on the Pampa Kiwanis Club's Parade of Quartets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium. Also appearing will be the 35-voice Golden Spread Chorus from Amarillo. Proceeds of the affair will go to help the Kiwanis Club's Boys and Girls Work program. Reserved seat tickets still may be purchased today at Richard's Drug Store and will be on sale at the box office before showtime tomorrow night.

'Parade Of Quartets' Slated Here Saturday

One of the best musical entertainments of the Fall season will be on tap in Pampa Junior High School Auditorium tomorrow night when the Pampa Kiwanis Club stages its annual Parade of Quartets.

The Parade will bring to Pampa four of the most outstanding barbershop quartets in the Southwest, including the Pioneers, who

Russia's Newest Venture In Space Heads For Mars

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Russia's newest space venture hurtled toward Mars today at the beginning of a seven-month voyage to try to photograph the mysterious "canals" and icecaps that have fascinated scientists for centuries.

Soviet astronomer Nikolai Barabshov, writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, predicted the space probe would find the "seas" of Mars are "full of vegetation," explaining why they appear green in spring and summer, brown in autumn and gray in winter.

Russia launched the unmanned interplanetary probe last Thursday night, saying it was the first Soviet shot toward Mars.

(U.S. space administrator, James E. Webb said in Washington last September that the Soviets had failed on two attempts in October, 1960, to send probes to Mars.)

Officials announced that by 2 a.m. (EST) today the nearly one-ton, instrument-loaded automatic station was some 210,000 miles from earth. Initial Moscow reports said all equipment aboard was functioning normally.

There was no indication how close to Mars the probe is supposed to go.

The "Mars I," more than four times heavier than America's Venus-bound Mariner 2, was launched from a heavy satellite in a "parking orbit" around the earth, according to the official news agency Tass.

The United States has used "parking orbits" on its Ranger shots to the moon.

Administration Broadens Efforts To Keep Track Of Newsmen Contacts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration appeared today to be broadening its efforts to keep track of contacts between federal officials and newsmen, particularly in the Cuban crisis.

There was no agreement, even among officials, as to whether the objective was to "control" or suppress information or merely "coordinate" its release.

The State Department disclosed that its officials have been instructed to report to the department's Public Affairs Bureau including name and organization, date and subject matter.

This followed issuance earlier this week of a similar regulation by the Defense Department.

A White House spokesman said "no comment" when asked early today whether similar rules were to be applied at the executive offices.

"I'm from New Jersey," the mother replied, "it won't do you any good."

signed to impose news flow restraints was "childish and erroneous."

He said the sole purpose was to give his Bureau of Public Affairs "a rudimentary record of the department's relations with the press."

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said Tuesday, however, that the timing and content of news announcements and the level of officialdom at which they were released were important factors in the "overall weaponry" available to President Kennedy in time of crisis.

Manning declined to associate himself with that statement. He said the reporting of officials "after the fact" on contacts within the department with reporters "is designed neither to change nor inhibit the department's long-standing practice of encouraging the fullest possible dialogue between newsmen, broadcasters and others in the communications field and those directly responsible for making or carrying out policy."

Solon Gave Early Warning Of Cuban Buildup

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., has disclosed that he had no more information than the Kennedy administration when he warned of a Cuban arms buildup seven weeks before President Kennedy announced the U.S. quarantine.

Keating, in an interview Thursday, said the Caribbean island now is completely under the control of the Soviet Union.

The junior senator from New York said his speeches on and off the Senate floor between last Aug. 31 and Oct. 12 warning of the arms buildup and Soviet missiles in Cuba came "from either an official source or some other source that had been checked with an official source."

There was little doubt at the time, Keating said, that he was getting information from Defense Department sources. Some also apparently were coming from Cuban exiles. Other quarters thought Keating was getting reports from Latin American sources available to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a long-time authority of the area.

Sources weren't refugees.

The senator never confirmed the latter.

"It has been repeatedly said that my sources were Cuban refugees," he said Thursday. "That is not so."

Keating said he felt there was nothing political in President Kennedy waiting until Oct. 22 to announce that the Russians had brought offensive weapons into Cuba but he said administration action "baffled" him.

He said it was his own "speculation" that "while the administration had the facts, there were differences within the administration."

He said it "didn't want the American people to have the facts" until it had a policy.

The senator said he made a speech in the Senate Oct. 10 warning of six intermediate range missile sites under construction in Cuba.

"It was emphatically denied by the administration," he said. "The information," he said, "was not only available to the administration, it was in their hands."

Needed Proof

Another possible reason for the delay, he said, was because the United States may have felt it could not convince our Allies of the buildup unless it had pictures to show them. This, Keating said, was not his idea but was reported "by some columnist."

Keating said on Oct. 15 a national meeting of newspaper editors was told by the administration that there "was no thought of anything like a blockade."

"Then on Oct. 22, the President said everything I had said on the 16th."

"On Sept. 4, the President confirmed the existence of Russian personnel, material, short-range ground-to-air missiles and sites in Cuba. He termed the buildup "defensive."

On Oct. 22, Kennedy gravely reported to the nation that he then had evidence of "offensive" Russian missile installations and ordered the Cuban arms blockade.

Soviet Influence Is Expected To Work

By MERRIDIAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials speculated today that Premier Fidel Castro might be seeking a way out of the impasse over verifying removal of Soviet missiles and other offensive weapons from Cuba.

Castro spoke at length over Havana television Thursday night. Government officials studied accounts of the speech in which the Cuban leader proclaimed flatly that his country "will not accept inspection."

Although Castro was denunciatory and accusatory toward the United States, officials saw several signs that he might come around, possibly under Soviet influence, to acceptance of a compromise arrangement.

Among these signs was Castro's reference to a proposal by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev that the International Red Cross be invited to affirm the dismantling of Russian bases and shipment of the weapons back to the Soviet Union.

Confirms Proposal

Possible involvement of the International Red Cross had not been made public before. But U.S. officials confirmed that it had been among Khrushchev's proposals, possibly brought by Vasily Kuznetsov, the deputy Soviet foreign minister, who was sent to the United Nations earlier this week.

Khrushchev suggested the Red Cross as a verifying body if United Nations inspection was not acceptable. This apparently was relayed in a private communication to President Kennedy. In his published message to Kennedy last WASHINGTON (UPI) — Aerial photographs taken over Cuba confirm that Soviet missile bases are being rapidly dismantled, the Defense Department announced today.

BULLETIN

Sunday, however, the Soviet leader mentioned only the United Nations.

"We are both ready to come to an agreement that representatives of the U.N. may verify the dismantling," Khrushchev told Kennedy Sunday.

Other Systems Possible

While on-the-ground neutral inspection of secret missile sites in Cuba may be impossible or highly difficult to set up, officials here said this did not rule out alternate systems for verifying that Russian weapons have been dismantled, crated and started on their way back to the Soviet Union.

Definitive appraisal of Castro's outwardly adamant opposition to inspection may not be possible until he meets in Havana late today with Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, Khrushchev's ace trouble-shooter and economic specialist.

Mikoyan had dinner in New York Thursday night with U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and John J. McCloy, chief of Kennedy's Cuban Crisis diplomatic task force.

Earlier, Mikoyan talked with Acting U.N. Secretary General Thant, just back from two days of unsuccessful efforts to win agreement from Castro on a U.N. inspection agreement.

Relayed To Washington

Results of the Mikoyan conferences in New York were relayed to Washington and were likely to figure in the President's morning crisis evaluation conference with the National Security Council executive committee.

The Defense Department also was expected to have ready Monday an expert appraisal of aerial reconnaissance photographs made over Cuba Thursday by U.S. planes. The naval arms blockade around Cuba continued, much to Castro's annoyance.

Despite Castro's oratorical thunder, there was no relaxation in the U.S. position of having to be entirely certain that Soviet weapons of offense were out of Cuba. These would include new Russian jet bombers as well as missiles.

Pampa Severed From Gas Firm's Gate-Rate Charge

An upcoming order from the gas utilities division of the Texas Railroad Commission will discontinue Pampa's application for a gate-rate charge for gas delivered at the city's gates for domestic and commercial use.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell announced today that the commission agreed to grant the order after the mayor and City Atty. Bob Gordon, along with gas company officials, conferred with railroad commissioners in Austin yesterday.

From preliminary reports, it is understood the gas company and Pampa city officials were in agreement that Pampa's situation in the company's application for a 28¢-cents gate rate charge was entirely different from the other 56 cities and towns included in the petition.

Pampa had maintained from the beginning that it should be severed from the application because of its location in the heart of the Panhandle gas field, and that the gathering system and transmission lines serving the city were installed principally to deliver gas to Pampa only and not as a unit on a trunk line to serve other municipalities.

City Atty. Gordon protested inclusion of Pampa in the application at a hearing in Austin on Oct. 1 and asked severance at that time.

City officials have met with gas company officials since then and discussed the matter. Yesterday's discussion in Austin resulted in agreement by both parties. (See CITY, Page 3)

Two Events Slated To Honor Rogers

Two events, one Saturday and the other Sunday, will honor Congressman and Mrs. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock, a barbecue will be held at the Tri-State Fairgrounds in Amarillo honoring the 18th District Congressman.

Rogers will make a campaign speech over television from the Fairgrounds at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets to the barbecue are $2 each in the "Dutch Treat" affair and can be purchased at Democratic Headquarters in Pampa, Lynn Boyd of Pampa, campaign worker for Rogers, said, "Since Walter Rogers is a hometown boy, we want a good crowd in attendance at the barbecue, from Pampa, so we've everybody will come out."

On Sunday afternoon, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock, a reception will honor Congressman and Mrs. Rogers.

The reception will be held in Coronado Inn here and is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boyd.

Boyd, a former Pampa mayor, urged everyone in the community to come out and visit with the Congressman and his wife during the Sunday afternoon reception.

ALL SET FOR SATURDAY'S BAZAAR—Above are members of St. Paul's Methodist Church displaying items which will be sold between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday in Fellowship Hall of the church building. Pictured left to right are Mrs. E. N. Franklin, Mrs. Don G.

Workshop Of Phonics Is Conducted In School By Mrs. Aubrey Jones

The series of Phonics Workshops conducted by Mrs. Aubrey Jones and Miss Lelia Clifford in St. Matthew's Episcopal School attracted teachers from Pampa, Miami, White Deer and Lefors schools, according to Mrs. Jones.

The instructors reported the workshop sessions were well received and some 27 regular members and a number of guests attended each meeting.

The teachers and the guests all were interested, she stated, in the phonetic approach to learning to read.

Miss Clifford assisted as consultant for first grades, having taught the system in first grade for several years and also used it in private tutoring for all ages.

during summer vacations and week ends.

Sally Holcomb assisted at one session as upper grade consultant because of her experience in using the phonetic system in sixth grade as remedial reading on that level.

Mrs. Jones stated that all three instructors have taken part in workshops under the author of the system.

She explained the phonics system by stating that it can be used as a key to unlocking unknown words and can be given by small parts daily in pyramidal fashion to build up a child's power to unlock strange words.

Also, Mrs. Jones stated, the system leads to dictionary use.

Dear Abby... Views Of People Today - A Strange Philosophy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband asks my advice about money matters, then he does as he pleases and we end up in a financial mess. I am ashamed to admit that we have been married 29 years and don't own a thing. He spends every quarter before he makes it and buys things on time. I keep telling him we need security for our old age and he says, "Let the state bury us." I even tried to get him to start a little savings account and he says that's the trouble with our economy today, everyone is saving, which causes a depression. Money should be kept in circulation at all times. I'm too old to work and he's too sweet to leave. Now what?

TRAPPED DEAR TRAPPED: The state will "bury you." But if your husband's thinking ever becomes universal, the state (and the people) will be digging its own grave.

DEAR ABBY: I have read your column for years and have never seen a problem like mine. I am a secretary and an excellent one. I am bored to death with my job. My boss travels most of the time and there is nothing for me to do in his absence. Sometimes the phone doesn't ring for weeks. I spend my time reading and writing personal letters. I have even brought knitting to work. I like working for this man when I WORK, but I feel useless 75 per cent of the time. I have told him to get a part-time girl because I am not earning my salary. He says, "You let ME worry about that!" What would you do?

BORED TO DEATH DEAR BORED: Resign with a letter explaining why. And carry a carbon copy of it when you apply for a more challenging position. You won't be "bored" or jobless long.

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law is under the impression that you may take home from a night club, restaurant or hotel, ash trays or anything else that has the establishment's name on it. He claims it is their form of advertising and they expect people to take things. I say it is stealing. I would like to have your opinion on the subject.

DEAR M.: No one has the right to assume he may help himself. A person who would slip items into his pocket (or purse) and rationalize it with the excuse that it's "expected"—or "it's a form of advertising"—is a petty thief or a cheapskate. Or both.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "PUZZLED WAITRESS": I think the reason most people sit down at a cluttered table before it is cleared off is so they can get to the tip before the waitress does.

EX-WAITRESS What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

MY RECORD IS MY PLATFORM

You cannot change a record and the record proves that Grady Hazlewood works for the best interests of the people of the Panhandle.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Grady Hazlewood is recognized as a friend to Texas education by leading state and local educators. He sponsored amendments to the Appropriation Bill that gave West Texas State College financial support comparable to that of other colleges. The Hazlewood Act, by Senator Grady Hazlewood, provided free tuition for World War II and Korean War Veterans. Continue progress in Texas education, re-elect Grady Hazlewood.

"MERIT RATING" CAR INSURANCE

Grady Hazlewood was the first legislator to oppose the so-called "Merit Rating" Car Insurance Plan. Almost single handedly, he fought a campaign to get rid of this unjust plan. As a result of his efforts, this plan was abolished. For alert and effective legislation, re-elect Grady Hazlewood.

SPENDING

As a member of the Senate Sub-Committee on Spending, Grady Hazlewood helped cut $24,000,000 off the proposed Appropriation Bill. He also voted against spending $1,500,000 for a parking garage for State employees at the last special session. For controlled government spending, re-elect Grady Hazlewood.

OTHER...

Grady Hazlewood sponsored amendments to Rural Aid Bill that gave statewide aid to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. Authored substitute tax bill which reduced by one-third the proposed Gasoline Tax increase, saving Texas motorists over $17,000,000 per year. Authored Canadian River Dam Authority and three subsequent amendments. Opposed stopping Gasoline Tax Refund to farmers. Opposed state control of underground water.

Fourteen Indicted In State Hot Oil Scandal

QUITMAN, Tex. (UPI)—A grand jury Thursday indicted a county judge, a former railroad commission employe, and 12 other persons in connection with the multi-million dollar East Texas hot oil scandal.

The Wood County grand jury returned 38 indictments. Three indictments were returned against Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp, who was charged with one count of bribery and two of theft.

L. D. Murphy, a former Texas Railroad Commission employe, was also named in an indictment charging him with taking a bribe. The Railroad Commission regulates the oil industry in Texas.

Sharp was expected to be a key witness in a Texas House Committee's investigation of illegal slanted oil well drilling in Dallas Monday. He did not answer the subpoenas and sent word through his wife that he was undergoing treatment at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Wood County Dist. Atty. James T. Flynn said Thursday's indictments stem from investigations into slanted well drilling in that county. Indictments have also been returned in Upshur and Gregg counties on alleged slant hole violations.

The Rusk County grand jury meets next week. More indictments in the hot oil scandal may be returned.

Flynn would not say if more indictments were expected in Wood County.

Here is a list of the other persons indicted Thursday in Wood County and the charges against them:

Leon Gibson, Kilgore, conspiracy and theft.

H. M. Harrington Jr., Longview, four conspiracy to commit theft and one theft.

Ralph Massad, Kilgore, one conspiracy and one theft.

Reid Allgood, Longview, one conspiracy and one theft.

Charles W. Lutes, Longview, three conspiracy, three theft.

J. W. Eaton, Kilgore, two conspiracy.

Douglas Godfrey, Kilgore, two conspiracy.

J. W. Tyner, Tyler, one accomplice to theft.

J. K. Maxwell, Kilgore, one conspiracy.

W. T. Maxwell, Kilgore, conspiracy.

H. C. Jones, Kilgore, conspiracy.

J. G. Walker Jr., Tyler, one conspiracy, four theft.

The grand jury no billed R. W. Fair and Eugene Talbert, both of Tyler, and Massad on one count.

Flights over Cuba had been flown on a regular basis since they were first ordered by the Eisenhower administration. At no time were they completely suspended during the Cuban buildup.

—But bad weather and fear that the Soviets could shoot down high-flying U2s may have delayed discovery of the missiles in Cuba for a few days — at most a very few weeks. They were still discovered at a very early stage of construction.

The flavor of what went on behind closed doors in Washington is given by a comment by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, made at a policy meeting in the tense period before the Kremlin said its position fully known.

Khrushchev had just sent two contradictory letters to the President, a private one (still unpublished) looking toward a settlement, and a public one offering an unacceptable trade for U.S. missiles in Turkey.

"In this eyeball to eyeball confrontation," Rusk told the group, "the Russians have blinked at us." (some remember the word as "winked.")

Labor Leader Indicted For Embezzling

By JOHN HERBERS
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—James G. Cross is a soft-spoken, bespectacled man of 30 who looks more like a banker than a labor leader. He first made headlines in 1956 when he was accused of having his opposition in the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union (BCW) beaten up during a San Francisco convention.

The grand jury refused to indict him because of conflicting testimony. But Cross' troubles were only beginning. Robert F. Kennedy, then chief counsel for the Senate rackets subcommittee, accused Cross of bilking his union so he could live in luxury.

He was indicted on a charge of lying to the committee after he testified that he was not present when his opponents were clobbered in San Francisco. But he was acquitted for lack of evidence.

Pressure mounted within the labor movement against him, however, and last year former Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg ordered a new investigation under the Landrum-Griffin Act after it was reported that Cross planned to retire with a $250,000 pension. While the probe was under way he resigned and went to live in Boca Raton, Fla., on a $900 a month pension.

Politics In Texas

By United Press International
The campaign headquarters for Democratic gubernatorial nominee John Connally Thursday put on a new drive "to get out the vote" for the Nov. 6 election.

"Apathy among voters is our most dangerous enemy," said Democratic state chairman Eugene Locke. "The failure of a Democrat to vote in this election is actually a vote for the Republicans."

Connally's "campaignathon" to reach the voters at 30 Texas cities in 48 hours was underway.

Republican nominee Jack Cox said that Connally has been hurling "wild" charges.

"To The Winds"

"John Connally, in his bewilderment, has thrown all caution to the winds," Cox said. "I feel safe in predicting that we will not hear even one really constructive idea from him the few remaining days before election."

Cox said in Dallas Thursday night that he offered Texas leadership. He said his opponent's theme was "followship."

Connally said in Austin Thursday that Republican claims of "a deluge of dollars" by Connally "are pure propaganda."

Connally's first official stop was in San Antonio Thursday night. His 3,618 mile trip will take him to every part of Texas from El Paso to Texarkana and from Wichita Falls to Brownsville. The tour ends at San Antonio Saturday night.

Connally said in San Antonio that Cox missed 706 roll call votes during Cox's three terms in the Texas House of Representatives.

Cox moved into the Gulf Coast area today at Port Arthur and Orange. He also planned to visit Tyler and Athens.

Mrs. Forman Rites Slated For Saturday

Mrs. J. B. Forman, 1623 E. Fisher, died last night at 7:30 p.m. in Highland General Hospital.

She was born March 4, 1877, in Kawine, Wis. She married J. B. Forman in March of 1892 and in 1909 they moved to Laketon in a covered wagon, where they lived in a dugout, from Watonga, Okla.

They moved from Laketon in 1914 to Greenlake where they lived until 1921 when they moved to Albuquerque, N.M. In 1923 they moved to Amarillo and in 1926 to Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1935 they journeyed back to Pampa to make their home.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Leasure Sr., of Hereford, and Mrs. Ray Frazier of Pampa; two sons, Bill and John of Pampa; two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Regh of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mrs. Sophie Schultz of Michigan City, Ind. There are 11 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren. The grandchildren will serve as pallbearers.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Duemmel-Carmichael Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Earl Maddox, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will follow in Fairview Cemetery.

Billfold Stolen At Youth Center

Robert Bybee, 2306 Charles St., life guard at the Pampa Youth and Community Center swimming pool, reported to police today the theft of a billfold containing $51 from his locker at the youth center.

Bybee told police that someone pried the lock loose and took the billfold from the locker late yesterday afternoon or early last night.

Booster Club's 'Burger Supper' Is Slated Today

The Band Booster Club for Pampa High is holding a hamburger supper tonight in the Pampa High School cafeteria starting at 5 p.m. until just before game time.

The organization will serve hamburgers, stew, pie, coffee, milk, cokes, and potato chips at reasonable prices.

The public is invited to attend the supper.

ties that Pampa should not be included in the application at this time.

However, it was indicated that Pampa might be in a position to be included in a gate rate charge five or ten years from now.

"Right now," Mayor Sidwell said, "the matter has been decided in our favor."

The mayor said that the city attorney, presently out of the city, will report details of the settlement at next week's meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

Pampa Girl Is Yearbook Beauty

STILLWATER, Okla. — Kristi Karen Brown, Oklahoma State University sophomore from Pampa, has been chosen along with five other coeds to highlight the pages of the 1962-63 edition of OSU's yearbook, the Redskin, as a Redskin Beauty.

Miss Brown, a representative of Delta Zeta social sorority, was selected by a panel of four judges who based their decisions on the beauty, personality, poise and photogenicity of the coeds.

The campus beauty is the daughter of Howard E. Brown of Phillips.

No New Clues In Safe Burglary

Police today said they had no new clues to the burglars who stole a safe containing $600 in cash and approximately $600 in checks from the Public Finance Corp., 117 E. Kingsmill, Wednesday night.

It was mistakenly reported in yesterday's News that the safe contained $3,600 in cash.

City, county and state law enforcement officers working on the case are still following the theory that the burglary was the work of the same persons who hauled away safes from the Pampa Safety Lane in September and from the M. E. Moses store in August.

In each instance the safes were rolled through the back door to a waiting vehicle and carted off.

Redskins, Dallas in NFL Action

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

Paul Hornung, the "Golden Boy" of the Green Bay Packers, turns to action Sunday against Chicago Bears team that is desperate, revenge-bent and on a force defensive binge.

The Bears are desperate because, with a 4-3 record, they cannot afford another defeat in the National Football League race.

They are in a vengeful frame of mind because they now have lost to the Packers six straight times, including a 49-0 shellacking last Sept. 30.

Redskins Favored

The Washington Redskins, leading the Eastern Division with a 4-1-2 record, are 5-point choices at home over the Dallas Cowboys, while the second-place New York Giants (3-2) are picked by 13 at home over the St. Louis Cardinals.

In other Sunday games: The Detroit Lions are 8 over the Rams at Los Angeles; the San Francisco Forty Niners are 4 at home over the Baltimore Colts; the Cleveland Browns are 13 at home over the Philadelphia Eagles, and the Pittsburgh Steelers are 6½ at home over the Minnesota Vikings.

The Redskins, whose pass defense was riddled for 7 touchdown throws by Y. A. Tittle when they lost their first game of the season to the Giants last Sunday, face a Dallas team that tops the NFL in points scored, and yardage gained.

The Giants now have played two strong teams against Detroit and Washington, and coach Al Sherman has his guard up against a letdown. The Giants won their earlier meeting this season, 31-14, but the Cardinals have scored upsets in Yankee Stadium two seasons running. Both teams are in good shape.

Detroit Travels West

Detroit, with a 4-2 record that makes it the Packers' leading Western Division challenger, takes the show on the road for two straight games on the West Coast. The Rams, who won their first game of the year last weekend, still have a long injury list, including center Art Hunter, tackle Frank Varrichion and end Duane Allen.

Old Ref

Calls 'Em

The Old Ref out-fumbled Pistol Pete Pedro last week as he fumbled on seven of his game predictions. The WTSC star fumbled on four times, but he didn't carry the ball as many times as the Old Ref. The Buffaloes were upset by Arizona, 8-3, giving the Old Ref a shock.

Other fumbles by the Old Ref: Perryon over Littlefield, McLean over Memphis, Canadian over Clarendon, Texas over Rice, and Baylor over Texas A&M.

In one of his predicted upsets, Notre Dame over Northwestern, the Wildcats clawed Notre Dame and are now No. 1. The Old Ref just has had his whistle full of blowing gum on that call. His other three upsets came through in the fashion for him: Ohio State whipped Wisconsin and Navy battered Pitt. The Amarillo band had more wind than the Old Pro anticipated as they clobbered Monterey by a Top 5-sided score. He had predicted Amarillo to beat the Plainsmen by a scant point.

The Old Ref has guessed right in 50 of 65 games this season. His average is still a healthy 77 per cent, but another week like last week and he'd better stick to ping pong matches or championship soap scotch.

The games this week look especially well matched. (No Arkansas-Hardin-Simmons game), perhaps the two toughest games to call for the Old Ref are LSU against Ole Miss and Pampa against Palo Duro. He thinks LSU and Pampa will cross the double strike markers the most.

Tech Over Rice

The Old Ref feels that upsets are in the wind in the college ranks. He predicts Air Force over Wyoming, Washington over Southern California, and Notre Dame over Navy. His upset prediction for the SWC is Texas Tech over Rice.

The Old Ref gives his opinions on sports tidbits every Tuesday afternoon in a column he writes for the Pampa News called "Old of Sez So."

Official Predictions

PAMPA OVER PALO DURO — The good word is stop Burke and the Pampanos will say it tonight, 1-13.

BORGER OVER MONTEREY — The Bulldogs will keep on biting and growling, 25-6.

TASCOSA OVER AMARILLO — The Rebels will let the air out of the Sandies, 27-14.

LUBBOCK OVER PLAINVIEW — Who does basketball start in Plainview? 48-8.

WICHITA FALLS OVER IRVING — Just another conquest for the Coyotes, 22-7.

DUMAS OVER LITTLEFIELD — Sorry Littlefield, you've had your lory, 33-13.

PERRYTON OVER HEREFORD — The Rangers will mount a bunch of Whitefaces and ride tall in the saddle, 37-13.

PANHANDLE OVER GRUVER — Get much contest for the Panthers, 22-4.

LEFORS OVER CLARENDON — The Pirates' treasure chest is padded with gimmicks to win a championship in Dist. 7-A, 37-13.

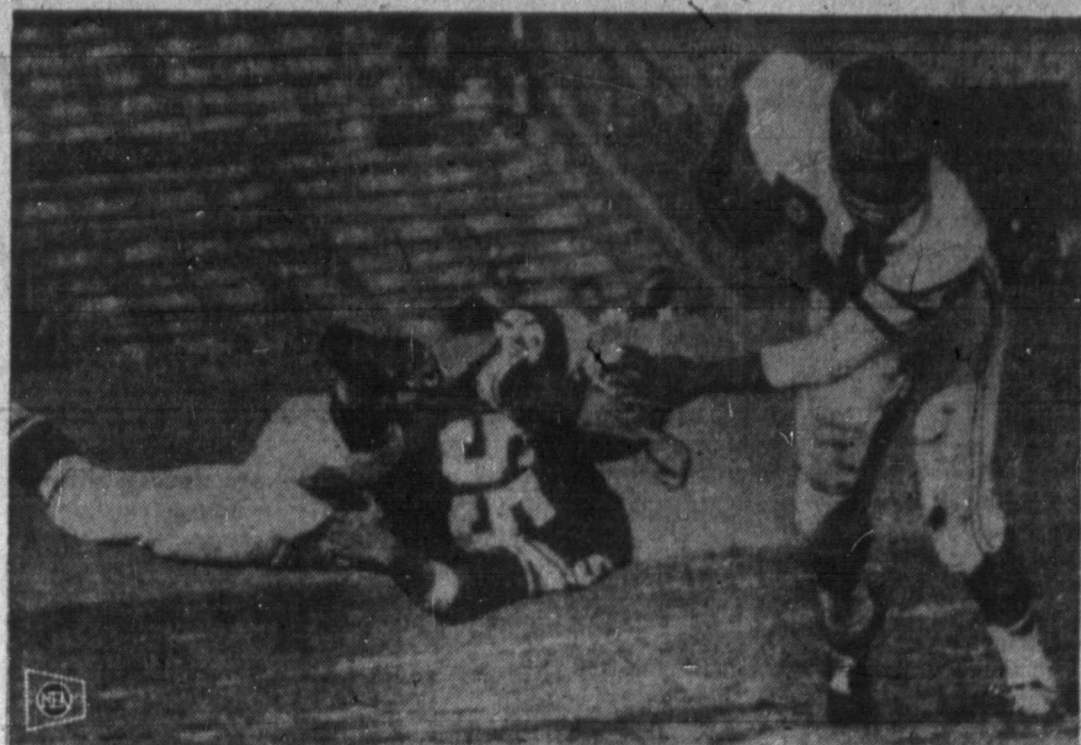

WELLINGTON OVER MCLEAN — The Skyrockets are ready to explode, 19-8.

WHITE DEER OVER SPEARMAN — The Lynx are tame kitties, 38-13.

FOLLETT OVER GROOM — The Tigers will turo to kitties, 32-12.

WHEELER OVER TEXTLINE — It will be a big night for Wheeler, 43-13.

BOWLING GREEN OVER WEST

GET AWAY, MAN!—Clarence Peaks of the Philadelphia Eagles eludes the attempted flying tackle of Minnesota's Cliff Livingston after taking a Sonny Jurgenson pass good for a 10-yard gain at Metropolitan stadium in Bloomington, Minn. Vikings won another one.

55TH YEAR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1962 5

Texas, Mustangs In SWC Tussle

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The University of Texas Longhorns and the surprising Mustangs of Southern Methodist meet Saturday in the headline game of a full schedule of Southwest Conference action.

The so-called experts say the Mustangs will take the plunge, having picked Texas an 18½ point favorite for the Austin tilt. Southern Methodist currently leads up the league with a 2-4 record. Texas has won two, lost none but suffered a 14-14 tie to Rice University last week.

In what should be a hot offensive game Tadas Christian and Baylor struggle at Fort Worth Saturday afternoon. TCU is 2-1 in the conference race alongside two other league rivals — Arkansas and Texas A&M — all one half game back of Texas. TCU is favored by a touchdown.

Tech Wins

Baylor owns a 1-2 mark in league play and has beaten only winless Texas Tech.

Arkansas is favored to take the Aggies by two touchdowns in a night game at College Station. And the Red Raiders of Tech hope to whip Rice, favored by 18 points, in a daylight game at Houston. Rice is winless, but has the 14-14 tie with Texas to its credit.

All league teams ran through fairly light practices Thursday preparing for the full slate of activity.

Coach Darrell Royal of the Texas squad said Jerry Cook, who pulled a thigh muscle in Tuesday's workout, is a doubtful participant against SMU.

The Mustangs worked out in sweatsuits Thursday. They will hold a short workout today before leaving for Temple, where they will spend the night.

Trull Lauded

Coach Abe Martin of TCU said Baylor quarterback Don Trull is one of the top signal-callers in

Shockers Topped By Tascosa "B"

The Shockers of Pampa fell victims to the Tascosa "B" team yesterday afternoon in Amarillo as the Shockers late drive fell short of the mark leaving the 25-28.

The hosts scored in the first quarter to go ahead six to nothing, but failed on the extra point attempt. The Shockers tied the score in the second quarter and went ahead as Sam Bryan scored on a two-yard plunge for the TD and Ronnie Oler ran over the extra points.

The Tascosa team was not to be denied as it added two more touchdowns to its cause in the third quarter while the Shockers scored on a touchdown toss from Oler to Mark Westbrook good for 50-yards.

Both teams scored in the final quarter with Bryan scoring the Shockers touchdown on a two-yard run. The final score was 28-28.

The Optimist Boxers have moved their matches to Saturday night next week and will host the Canyon Jaycees (formerly Dee's Pharmacy of Amarillo) and Lefors.

'Don't Let Me Die...

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — "Don't let me die... please don't let me die."

Those were the last words uttered by 21-year-old Ricardo Rodriguez, the world's most promising sports car driver, after he cracked up Thursday in speed trials for Mexico's first Grand Prix race.

The idol of Mexican teen-agers lost control of his Lotus car, hit a railing and burned over several times on the final steep turn at the Sports-City track.

A witness, the first person to reach Rodriguez after the accident, said Ricardo was still alive and muttering, "don't let me die" when he was pulled from the wreckage. He apparently succumbed moments later, the witness said.

Pedro Rodriguez, 22-year-old brother and racing partner of the dead man, declined to discuss the accident, but persons close to the famed pair said it was "very unlikely" he would race as originally planned on Sunday. A total of 29 entrants had signed up for the event.

Robert E. Lee Blasts Shamrock

Robert E. Lee's Rebels blasted a hapless "B" team from Shamrock, 42-8, in a game played at Harvester-Field Thursday afternoon with the Rebels owning a 22-0 half lead.

Joey Roden ran the opening kickoff back 63 yards for the first TD. Roden made the score 8-8 as he ran over the extra points.

Gary Crossland scooted 36 yards for the second Rebel TD. Roden intercepted a Shamrock pass and raced 60 yards for his second TD. Louis Meers added two more points to the Rebels score.

Meers ran three yards for another Rebel TD. Nolan Ellis intercepted a pass and ran five yards for another TD. Crossland passed to Teddy Bird for the extra points.

The visitors scored their lone touchdown in the closing moments of the fourth quarter.

Coach Don Myers cited Wayne Hill for doing an excellent job in the game. Hill recovered a fumble and blocked a kick that set up one TD. He also singled out his defensive ends, Nolan and Lolan Ellis for doing a good job.

Coach Myers felt his charges turned in a fine defensive effort by the whole team.

Bobby Gilbreath Dies in Hospital

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bobby Gilbreath, 20-year-old hurdles star on the Texas A&M College track team who was stricken with sleeping sickness, died Thursday at Hermann Hospital in Houston.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

"Texas A&M has lost a hard worker, a good student and a fine leader," said Aggie track coach Charlie Thomas.

Thomas and the youth's parents were at the boy's bedside for two nights preceding the death.

Gilbreath was stricken last week with encephalitis, an inflammation of the brain that results in nerve cell destruction.

Hebert At QB

Harvesters Try Out Palo Duro Tonight

Pampa's rejuvenated Harvesters face the challenge of stopping the best back in District 3-AAAA backed by an all-senior starting lineup.

The Harvesters host the Palo Duro Dons in a 7:30 game tonight slated for Harvester Field in the Pampanos quest for their first break-even season in recent years. The Harvesters are 2-3 for the season in the win-loss column.

The big job facing Coach Otis Holladay's charges is to stop the hard running Floyd Burke. The Palo Duro speedster runs a 9.7 hundred. The stubby halfback is also one of the best blockers in the Panhandle.

For tonight's game, Coach Holladay has moved Kenny Hebert back into the quarterback spot in the starting lineup with Donny Ayres shifting over to the tailback spot. Hebert will probably see action in the tailback spot also.

Ralph Palmer is back into the starting lineup in the wingback spot with Randy Matson in the fullback position. Matson may carry the brunt of the Harvester running load.

Coach Holladay rates Palo Duro as the third best team the Harvesters have met this year ranking Dumas and Tascosa ahead of the Dons.

Besides Burke in the Dons backfield will be Donnie Walton at the other halfback with Doug Hendrick at quarterback and Stuart Reef at fullback.

Some of the basic plays the Dons run are the trap plays up the middle, off tackle runs, sweeps, and the reverse pass. The visitors also use a flanker back.

Weight Advantage

Weight seems to be the lone advantage of the Harvesters in comparing the statistics of the two teams. The Dons average 159 pounds in the backfield as compared to the Harvesters 172.

Matson, 215, makes the big difference in weight comparisons.

In the line, the Dons will give up approximately six pounds per man as the Harvesters weigh around 177 pounds per lineman to the Dons' 171.

The Harvesters, with a 3-3 season mark, have beaten Phillips, 25-6, El Paso Bel Aire 19-7, and Amarillo, 7-6. The losses resulted at the hands of Dumas, 40-6, Tascosa, 26-4, and Monterey, 35-12.

3-2 Record

The Dons have downed Midland Lee, 26-4, Carter Riverside, 7-0, Lubbock, 22-13, and tied Monterey 14-14. Dumas edged the Dons, 3-0, in a season opener and Berger blanked the Amarillo school 28-0. Last week the Dons pounced hapless Plainview, 40-0. The Harvesters were idle last Friday.

Next game on tap for the Harvesters is next Friday night in Lubbock against the Westwrens.

Odds Favor Wildcats By Two Touchdowns

By United Press International

Top-ranked Northwestern and second-ranked Alabama are favored by two touchdowns or more over their opponents for Saturday's college football games.

But third-ranked Southern California and fourth-ranked Mississippi are expected to have their hands full.

Another close game involves unbeaten Nebraska, ranked No. 18, and 14th-ranked Missouri, which is a three-point favorite to knock off the Cornhuskers.

Southern California will be shooting for its sixth consecutive triumph against eighth-ranked Washington, unbeaten in six games, but tied twice. The Trojans are favored by three points to remain on the perfect record list.

LSU, with a 5-4-1 record, gets the nod by three points over Mississippi (5-4) in another tough Southeastern Conference battle.

In other games involving teams in the top 18, fifth-ranked Texas, which tied Rice last week and dropped from the No. 1 ranking, is a 16-point pick over Southern Methodist. Michigan State, rated

No. 7, is a 16-point favorite over Minnesota, and ninth-ranked Arkansas is a 13-point choice over Texas A&M.

Rejuvenated Navy is an eight-point favorite to hand Notre Dame its fifth straight loss in one of the East's top games. Syracuse is favored by 4 over Pittsburgh. Penn State 7 over Maryland and Dartmouth 14 over Yale.

In top southern games, Tulane is 1 over Virginia Tech. Georgia Tech 3 over Duke. Georgia 5 over North Carolina. Auburn 6 over Florida. Clemson 7 over North Carolina. South Carolina 7 over Virginia.

Ohio State is rated 13 points better than Iowa. Purdue is 23 over Illinois and Wisconsin 16 over Michigan, in other Big Ten clashes.

Iowa State is 1 over Oklahoma State. Texas Christian 7 over Baylor and Rice 13 over Texas Tech in the Southwest. A tie in the Far West. Air Force is rated by 1 over Wyoming. UCLA 3 over California. Oregon State 6 over Washington State and Oregon 13 over Stanford.

Jay Herbert of Lafayette, La., fired an opening round 71 while U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, had a 74.

West Texas St. Buffaloes Try Bowling Green Falcons

CANYON (Sp) — The biggest, and probably the best, football team to face the West Texas State Buffaloes this year comes to Buffalo Bowl Saturday afternoon for the final home game of the year.

Bowling Green State's Falcons, undefeated but once - tied in six outings, will fly in from Ohio and attempt to win their second straight from the Buffaloes. In the series inaugural last year at Bowling Green, the Ohioans won, 28-6, on a slippery field.

The Falcons, coached by Don Perry and playing control football, have drubbed Dayton, Toledo, Marshall, Western Michigan and Kent State. To point up the fact that Bowling Green moves in the same class as the Big Ten teams of the Midwest, take a look at some comparative scores. Just last week, Bowling Green suffered its only record blemish as it tied Miami of Ohio, 24-24. Two weeks ago, this same Miami club handed Purdue, one of the Big Ten leaders, its only loss of the season, 10-7.

Reynolds, 64, 258

Led by All-American candidate Bob Reynolds, who is 6-4 and 255, the Bowling Green line is massive. It averages about 225 pounds per man and will top the Buffs in that department about 22 pounds each. No. 1 back to watch is Don Lisbon, a 190-pound speedster who can do it all.

The Buffs, hoping to rebound from their first loss last week at the hands of Arizona, 6-3, at Tucson, are still hampered with injuries. Coach Joe Kerbel is hopeful the squad will be in its best shape in three weeks for the big Falcons. The Buffs suffered no new injuries last week but some old ones were aggravated.

A crowd of about 18,000 is expected for the first day game of the season for West Texas. Good weather conditions could boost it higher.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

REV. CARSON N. SNOW, JR.
PASTOR, CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

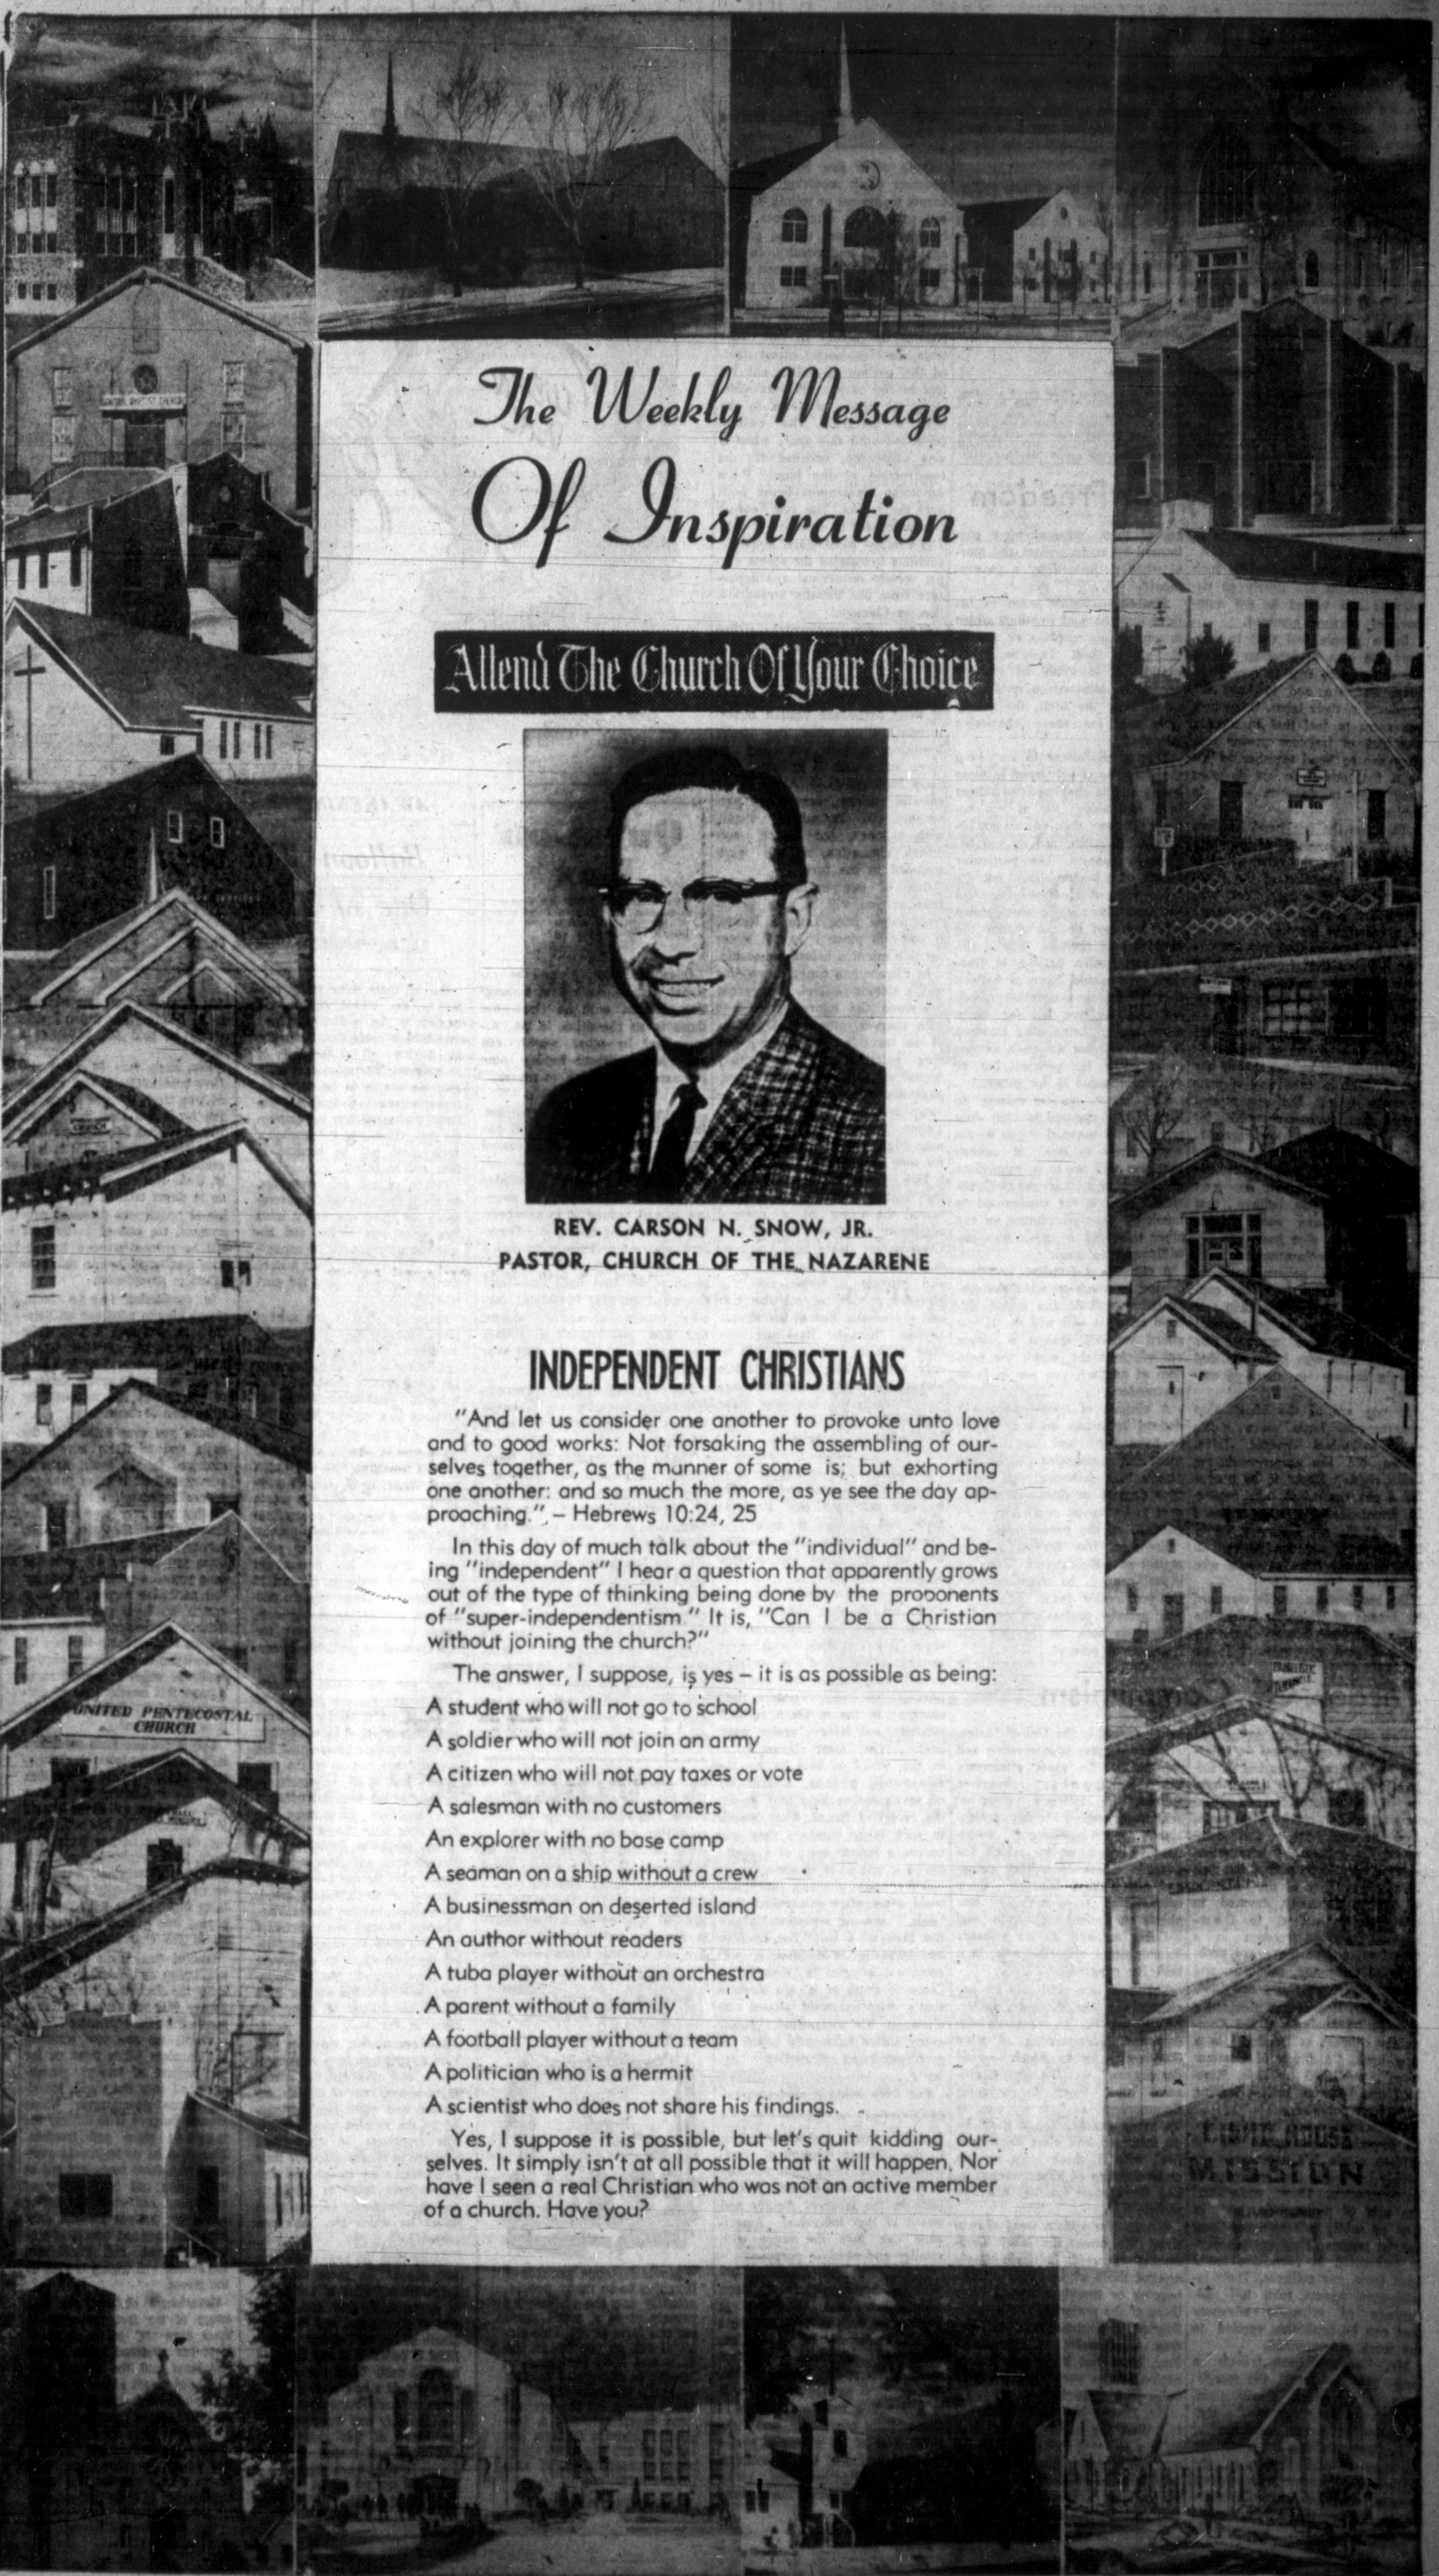

INDEPENDENT CHRISTIANS

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching." — Hebrews 10:24, 25

In this day of much talk about the "individual" and being "independent" I hear a question that apparently grows out of the type of thinking being done by the proponents of "super-independence." It is, "Can I be a Christian without joining the church?"

- The answer, I suppose, is yes — it is as possible as being:
- A student who will not go to school
 - A soldier who will not join an army
 - A citizen who will not pay taxes or vote
 - A salesman with no customers
 - An explorer with no base camp
 - A seaman on a ship without a crew
 - A businessman on deserted island
 - An author without readers
 - A tuba player without an orchestra
 - A parent without a family
 - A football player without a team
 - A politician who is a hermit
 - A scientist who does not share his findings.

Yes, I suppose it is possible, but let's quit kidding ourselves. It simply isn't at all possible that it will happen. Nor have I seen a real Christian who was not an active member of a church. Have you?

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the right of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Are You Really For Freedom

Almost everyone says he is in favor of freedom.

The meanings attached to such a protestation are nearly as numerous and varied as the numbers of persons involved.

Some people feel that to support the idea of freedom means for them to be free to own property, to earn and to keep the products of their labor. Other people seem to feel that to support the idea of freedom means that they are to band together to see to it that others do not do what they wish to do with what is theirs.

Thus, on the one hand freedom means the sanctity of property rights; and on the other hand it means the abolition of the property rights of others. Yet both ideas are supported with claims of a belief in freedom.

Let us suppose that you are one who believes that freedom means your right to own property which you have honestly acquired. How total is your belief?

Do you believe that no one has a right to take any of your property? Or do you believe that no one has a right to take any of your property unless the government states that it has a need for some of what you have earned?

Do you believe that governments have no rights that individuals outside of government do not have? Or do you believe that governments have some rights which no one else has?

If, as our Declaration of Independence holds, governments obtain their powers from the consent of the governed, then it would follow that no government can possibly have more rights than the men who have conferred certain powers to that government.

If you are of the view that governments have more rights than individual people have, where did the governments get those rights? Would it be proper for a government to take property from someone who objected when at the same time it would be improper for one person to take property from someone who objected?

Do you have a double standard by means of which to judge the actions of your fellows or the actions of your government? Is an act of theft immoral when performed by an individual and moral when performed by a government?

Sometimes people seem to believe that the uses to which stolen money is put explain or excuse the act of theft. That is, they would feel it would be morally proper for someone to steal money if, after the theft, the money were used for some charitable purpose.

This is equivalent to saying that freedom is only good in some hands and in the hands of others is a bad thing. But if you believe this way then you do not believe in freedom, nor do you believe in honesty. The particular beliefs of a person should not deprive him of his freedom. And the particular uses to which stolen money is put do not change the character of theft.

If you really believe in freedom, you would have to believe that freedom is a necessary good, not only for you but for every other human being. And freedom is enhanced, not so much as you insist on it for yourself but as you recommend it for others.

The same pattern relates to theft. Being opposed to theft does not merely mean that you do not want others to steal; it means that you will see to it, regardless of opportunity, that you will not steal. Theft is not condemned so much by your punishment of the other thief but by your own unwillingness to steal.

A climate of freedom does not depend so much on what the other fellow will do, but it does depend on what you will do. If you guard yourself against a single act which might impair the freedom of another, you are in favor of freedom.

A climate of honesty does not depend so much on your ability to have laws and law enforcement and punishment for the man caught in a dishonest act. But it does depend on your own willingness to be honest at all times regardless of the provocation.

Freedom, like honesty, is a matter of self-discipline. Freedom is self-control, no more no less. Do you really favor it? Or do you merely profess to favor it while you seek to remove the freedom of others?

Target Of Communism

Few men have made so detailed a study of Communism — external and internal — as has J. Edgar Hoover, who has been Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for close to 40 years. And few men have at their command his sources of information — for a very large part of the vast research activity of the FBI is, of obvious necessity, devoted in one way or another, to Communist threat to freedom in a travelers, and to the grave problems of espionage, sabotage, and all the other subversive activities.

Now Mr. Hoover has provided a penetrating analysis of the Communist threat to freedom in a new book, "A Study of Communism," published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc., a leading American publisher.

Communist world membership, he reveals, has reached the 40 million mark. It's agents are superbly trained in the techniques of indoctrination. They understand the arts of propaganda, and of how to subtly infiltrate non-Communist groups. They are especially interested in recruiting members from our colleges. Their intelligence agents take full advantage of scientific advances that can be profitably applied to the work of espionage.

Mr. Hoover's book travels a long road — from the foundations of modern Communism, through its evolution, to the consolidation of power, a recounting of its imperialistic successes the world over, and, finally, to the challenges to freedom which it represents. And he makes it abundantly clear that Communist's prime target is the United States. Every chapter is interesting and significant. "To meet effectively the Communist subversive thrusts," he observes, "it is essential to employ highly professional counterintelligence measures — measures for which the average citizen is neither equipped nor trained. Modern day counterintelligence, with its emphasis on professional skills and training as well as its reliance on competent scientific aids, is a task for experts."

But there is a vital role for our citizens too. And this role, as Mr. Hoover sees it, "... demands wisdom and understanding of the Communist forces which would destroy us." We, the typical citizens, must learn to recognize Communism, as best we can, in its many masks. There must be an informed and alert electorate. And, with it, there must be an understanding of what freedom is, and there must be the will to maintain it.

Mr. Hoover adds a word of caution: "To often, the label 'Communist' is used indiscriminately against those whose views are unpopular or merely differ from those of the majority. Misidentification of Communism can lead only to disunity and irrational fear. Moreover, it divides us as a nation at the very time we need unity and strength."

Mr. Hoover has no doubt that it is within the ability of our free society to meet this challenge. To quote him once more, "America was founded on freedom. It has grown and prospered, spiritually and materially, under freedom.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

Quite often you hear the expression about receiving the red carpet treatment or rolling out the red carpet. Its origin goes back hundreds of years to the golden age of kings and royalty. In the United States, the expression gained great popularity about 50 years ago when the Twentieth Century Limited was inaugurated. To emphasize the luxury of this new train, the New York Central started the custom of rolling out 200 feet of red carpet, six feet wide, along the entire platform to the head of the train. The custom continued until this year, when it was suspended, because of the construction of the huge Pan American skyscraper, being built over the tracks. The red carpet treatment will be resumed in 1963. The Century passengers, however, continue to receive the status carpet service on arrival and departure from the LaSalle Street Station, in Chicago.

One transcontinental airline picked up the idea and boards its passengers on red carpet. Also a large bus system in the east, places a small strip of red in front of their extra-fare limited buses. I rode one the other day from Baltimore to New York City in three hours and 40 minutes. The extra fare was $1.65. A hostess in colorful uniform, served the passengers, like her airline sister, with a lunch, hot coffee, soft drinks, cigarettes, etc. All were included in the fare.

One of our southern readers tells us you will be able to extract more juice from a lemon, if you will place it in hot water for five minutes before squeezing. In Elizabethan times a wedding was a riotous festival. The groom presented the entire assemblage with scarves, gloves and garters of the favorite color of the wedding pair, and the ceremony went up with banquets, masques, pageants and epithalamiums — songs and poems in honor of the couple. Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night Dream" was written for such an occasion.

The success of the monorail at the Seattle World's Fair has inspired the owner of a tropical aquarium at Miami to build one. Construction starts next week on the Rickenbacker Causeway. It will provide a scenic ride, a bird's eye view of all the fish and a dramatic shot of the Miami skyline, Biscayne Bay and the blue Atlantic. However it will be only half as long as the Seattle elevated. Two other monorails are now in operation, one near Lake Arrowhead, Calif. and in Disneyland near Los Angeles.

Aerial warfare is hardly modern. In 1870, French and Prussian balloons met over the Prussian lines and soldiers in each exchanged rifle fire. The Prussian bag was punctured and crashed to the ground.

A survey by a nation-wide hotel chain reveals that children staying in hotels rate hamburger as their favorite dish, with ice cream second. And the average parent traveling in the southern part of the country orders fried chicken; in the northern sectors, mothers and fathers prefer roast beef. The most vicious killer in the world is said to be the saw-toothed piranha, a fish six or seven inches long that haunts the rivers of Brazil. They attack in such large numbers they can reduce a human body to a skeleton in a matter of seconds.

Don't know of any four-letter word more often misspelled than "dais," meaning a platform above the floor of a hall. The chances are virtually 50-50 that it will come out in print as "dais." Come to think of it, it's a word that's mispronounced almost as often as it's misspelled. How many times have you heard it pronounced as if spelled "dye-iss"?

Far from being a modern product, margarine was invented in 1869 by a Frenchman named Hippolyte Mege-Mouries. He put his scientific genius into action in order to win a prize offered by Napoleon III for a cheap and wholesome butter substitute. LET'S FACE IT: The most respected automobile manufactured in America today is still the police car. Catholic Digest—Nov. 62.

And, in its deep and abiding faith in the ultimate triumph of freedom, America still holds the key to the future of mankind. With faith in the inherent dignity and worth of the individual, Americans can face the future with vitality and resolute purpose. The book's last chapter deals with the basic contrasts between communism and freedom. It touches on such diverse elements as the economy of a nation, education, elections, employment, government, human rights, law, political parties and so on. It is a massive indictment of all Communism represents and desires, and of its ultimate goal—the destruction of the principles, rights and obligations that this country and the Free World stand for.

Maybe We Should Give This One A Quick Look In The Mouth

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Can a man be rational without having an assumption of right until he finds out there is an exception to his assumption? In other words, can you reason without having some standard from which to reason?"

Reason is simply a comparison. Lord Kelvin contended that if you cannot measure, if you cannot reduce to numbers what you are speaking about, your knowledge is of little value. If you can measure it and reduce it to numbers, know something about it. Therefore, you must have a yardstick or a unit of right which you assume to be true until somebody can point out that it violates another truth or another axiom, and then you haven't a proper assumption and have to start over again.

For that reason, every assumption or every contention is always subject to examination, to being challenged. That's the reason The News invites our readers to point out any of our inconsistencies, any of our dilemmas, any of our contradictions from what we use as a guide of human conduct.

As the late Isabel Paterson said, is that you do not agree with someone without giving a reason why you do not agree. When you simply say you do not agree, then you leave the impression that you are the standard of right and wrong and do not need to explain what principal you use to determine right from wrong.

Our government, sworn to provide a republican form of government, now preaches the advantages of mob rule, of fascism, socialism and other isms embraced by the socialist conglomerate. The employers of government continue to blindly patronize their employees, even though the employees have failed to efficiently and conscientiously carry out the duties for which they were employed.

Every time the people patronize any one of the more than 700 corporate activities of the federal government, they add to the cost of government and the magnitude of the cost of our government is reflected in our fantastic national debt. When our government enacts a new piece of legislation it costs more than $150,000. The only way the people can get ahead of this game is to find ways and means of hiring employees who, when they pass a bill, save $15,000 by its passage. If we could do this, just sit down

AWAKENING

Balloon Will Burst One of These Days

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

One of these days many people in the United States will awaken to the realization that they hold in their own hands the key to cure all of the evils of government. The solution is probably too simple to be easily accepted without prolonged and profound thinking. When the employer stops patronizing the employees, government will be brought to task and to terms.

People, of and for themselves, do not make war. Only a government can make war and it must then goad and heckle and harass and propagandize its employees so that they will fight a war, not for themselves, but for government.

People engaged in the market place activities do not create depressions. Government intervention in the activities of the market place creates depressions and financial oscillations which zig and zag in a manner beyond belief.

Government, by its own actions and its intent concentration upon perpetuating itself, creates complex problems so that the people will believe that only government can solve the problems government has created. Every problem created by government reaches its tentacles upward to the people, because only the people can provide the money with which government may pay for the tremendous problems it creates.

Our own government was created for the express purpose of providing protection for the lives and the property of its employees. At this late date government has accomplished neither of the purposes. Instead of performing efficiently in the work for which it was employed, government has time after time placed the lives of the people in grave jeopardy through wars and other entanglements with foreign governments. Because of its insatiable greed, government has by law making, directive invoking and a thousand and one other machinations placed the property of its employees in grave jeopardy and is continuing to follow the same path which has ruined so many nations in the past.

Pat Gets License

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mrs. Peter Lawford, wife of the actor and sister of President Kennedy, has obtained a new driver's license. Mrs. Lawford was cited recently for driving with an expired driver's license Sept. 15 after being involved in a minor traffic accident.

The Hollywood branch of the motor vehicle department said Wednesday Mrs. Lawford passed an examination for her license at the office Oct. 17.

Eisenhower Offers His Farm To U.S.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT
WASHINGTON — Former President Eisenhower is offering to sell his Gettysburg farm to the government for the purpose of making it a form of "shrine."

The handsome and modernly-equipped estate is reportedly valued at upwards of $750,000. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall and Senator Joseph Clark, D-Pa., visited the farm and conferred with Eisenhower on the proposal. The former President plans to move his permanent residence to Palm Springs, Calif. He and Mrs. Eisenhower spent last winter there in a cottage built especially for them on the edge of his favorite golf course.

A SURE WINNER
PAIGNTON, England (UPI) — Mrs. Jennifer Rogers, 25, a former convent school teacher, has opened her new bookie shop. It's on Winner Street.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Not long ago, in Hollywood, Steve Allen's nightly syndicated video show unleashed a wild burlesque of Darryl F. Zanuck's new movie, "The Cast," and the producer was Darryl F. Zanuck.

Early this week, in New York, Johnny Carson's "Tonight" program — which competes with Allen in many key cities — offered a fine interview with a gorgeous young lady about how to marry a millionaire. She stressed the importance of good clothes, being seen at places like the Colony Club, and made Zsa Zsa Gabor sound like the girl next door.

Whether or not you like or dislike Carson or Allen this otherwise bad new season is a banner one for night-owl viewers in one respect: If you live in an area where both these late-night encozes are seen the miracle of television enables a mere flick of the dial to switch you to the two centers of American show business on opposite coasts, and to sample the unique tone of each.

Generates Informal Feeling
Neither host gives a fully-rounded flavor of his city, it is not their jobs to do so. But the Allen program does generate the informal, screwball feeling that is Hollywood; and "Tonight" does operate in the more chichi aura that is a reasonable stereotype of the upper echelon of New York show business. My own feeling is that the Allen show gives a more representative taste of its home base.

Allen is by far the more interesting host. A man of literary bent — he is the author of a new novel, "Not All of Your Laughter, Not All of Your Tears" — he also is a proven performer. On any given night, you are likely to see him playing the piano or trumpet or vibes or anything else he may have picked up after a few tries; or you may see him in the middle of a wild bit of slapstick, or interviewing a Harold Lloyd.

On various nights, he has formed a comic team to play basketball against the professional Los Angeles Lakers; let his cameras roll through the all-night Hollywood Ranch Market; and indulged in an enlightening, straightforward interview with a conservative political candidate.

Receives Good Ratings
In the ratings, Allen is giving "Tonight" a hard time, clobbering it in some areas. Carson is simply not much to look forward to as a rule. He has no special talent as a performer, except for occasional ordinary bits of comedy; and his conversation and manner are hardly spellbinding. Merv Griffin, no particular favorite of mine, nevertheless has been getting a livelier program out of his "Tonight" type, format in the afternoons than Carson is at night; a minor victory, one might say.

Here in Hollywood, respect for Allen's entertainment ability and aid to young talent is enormous. Whenever you go to the "in-clubs or the private parties, there is a good chance his show will come up for admiring talk. In addition to such past discoveries as Steve Lawrence and Bill Dana, he has given a big hand to two new video stars: Marty Ingels of "I'm Dickens...He's Fenster" and Tim Conway of "McHale's Navy."

Billie Sol Talk Stirred Assemblage

TERRELL, Tex. (UPI)—"Didn't our hearts burn within us as he talked to us?"
"Amen."
"That's right." "Yes sir."

The speaker was Billie Sol Estes. He was honored guest Wednesday night at the regular Wednesday night devotional at Southwestern Christian College, a Negro ministerial school. His short, quiet speech drew praise from minister Floyd Rose. The 10-student group at the devotional concurred that the speech did cause their emotions to stir within. Estes helped Brother Rose, a minister of the Nebraska Avenue Church of Christ in Toledo, Ohio, study for the ministry. Rose pointed out his son's name is Billie Sol Rose.

"I think Brother Rose is one of the greatest speakers in the nation, white or colored," said Estes.
Estes and his wife Patsy drove the 60 miles from Tyler, Tex. for the service and spent the night at the college. He returned to Tyler today where he is on trial on state charges of theft and swindling.

NEVER NABBED CULPRIT
WOODSTOCK, Conn. (UPI)—The Woodstock Horsethief Detecting Society made an embarrassing announcement Wednesday. It reported it has rounded up nary a culprit since it was founded in 1793.
