US, Soviets Near Potential Showdown In Cold War As Russian Army Mobilizes

EMBARGO DECLARED — President Kennedy decreed an embargo be placed on the shipment of all "offensive weapons" to Cuba in an address to the nation late yesterday. In other activity which took place shortly before the announcement, the Defense Department also "cancelled" an amphibious maneuver in which more than 6,000 Marines were to have landed at Vieques Island (A) near Puerto Rico. At Roosevelt Roads, P. R., the Navy abruptly cancelled a tour of newsmen aboard warships. At McDill Air Force Base, Fla., (B) the 18th Air Force arrived. McDill is both a Strategic and a Tactical Air Force Base. At Key West (C) the Federal Aviation Agency hastily put a control tower into operation at International Airport. (NEA Telephoto)

Aimed At This Nation Photographs Show Commies' Missiles

By DARRELL GARWOOD
WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. photographs taken high over Cuba show launching pads in jungle clearings and missiles half-hidden by canvas.

A Pentagon spokesman said the pads were pointed toward the United States. Nearby, he said, were trailers carrying 1,000-mile rockets that could reach deep into the heart of America.

The spokesman said the photos also revealed that pads were being constructed for 2,200-mile intermediate missiles capable of hitting an area stretching from Canada to Peru.

He told about 150 newsmen at a special briefing that the government did not know positively that there were nuclear warheads in Cuba.

But he said it was "almost inconceivable" that Russia's latest medium and intermediate range missiles, capable of traveling up to 2,200 miles, would be used with anything but nuclear warheads.

Photos Enlarged

The photographs, enlarged 30 times, were pasted on stage placards beside the spokesman. He pointed at the first of them and said in the drone of a lecturer: "This is the photograph of a portion of Cuba, which became available to us Monday midnight or Tuesday morning."

"These are launchers, here and here, aligned to a specific section of the United States. These missiles on trailers are backed up against the launcher, the missile is grasped by the launcher, erected, and the trailer moves away."

"This is a mobile installation," he continued. "It can be put in place in a matter of days. We have sequential photographs separated by a period of a day or two, and you can see the movement of the equipment onto the site, the erection of certain buildings used in checking out missiles, and the movement of convoys carrying the missiles onto the site."

Thousands Of Feet

The spokesman said the photographs were part of "literally thousands of feet" taken by U.S. planes and analyzed by "literally hundreds of photo interpreters."

He said the only thing hard to make out in the photographs was which of the figures shown were Cubans and which were Russians.

There also was a picture of a site for assembling Russian IL28 jet bombers carried in metal cocoons on the decks of Soviet freighters.

One bomber was already assembled, and a long row of crates containing parts sat around waiting to be put together.

The pictures were so clear the reporters could count the tents and the trucks and see a barbed wire fence going up around a missile site.

From High Altitude

The spokesman spoke of the great altitude from which the pictures were taken, but he did not say what kind of airplane took them. They appeared to be taken from directly overhead.

Observers said the plane may have been a U2 of the type Gary Powers was shot down in while flying across Russia for the Central Intelligence Agency.

One photograph showed a close-up of four missiles, three in round containers and the fourth partly covered with canvas. The fins and the grim black snout showed plainly.

The spokesman produced another picture of a 1,000-mile range ballistic missile in a Moscow parade. He said an expert using callipers compared the two pictures and concluded they were the same model.

Forces Are On Alert First Encounter At Sea Is Due Shortly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — From the small West Berlin garrison to worldwide bomber bases, the U.S. armed forces were on a special alert today to be ready for any Soviet counter-moves to America's blockade of Cuba.

The first test of the blockade, with a possible clash between Communist bloc and American ships, may be only hours away. Ships of both Russia and its satellites were reported churning through the North Atlantic toward the area where a cordon of U.S. warships was deployed to prevent any more offensive weapons from entering Cuba.

The result could be a direct confrontation of Soviet and American forces at sea, a situation potentially more lethal than the occasion last year when Russian and U.S. tanks pointed their guns at each other across the Berlin Wall.

The Defense Department said Monday night it was prepared to sink any Soviet ship carrying missiles to other offensive weapons toward Cuba if the vessel refused U.S. orders to turn away.

Alert Worldwide

Detailing plans to enforce the blockade, a defense spokesman said the American armed forces around the world had been put on a stepped-up alert to deal with any of a series of moves the Russians might take in reaction to the Cuban quarantine.

He listed a "few" of the measures soon after President Kennedy finished his address to the nation, making clear that the alert had been gathering momentum for two days.

Air defense units have been reinforced on the U.S. East Coast. The Marine garrison at Guantanamo Bay Naval Base has been doubled. Civilians have been evacuated from Guantanamo.

The Strategic Air Command, which always keeps half its bombers on 15-minute alert, is on an increased alert status as are all other U.S. armed forces. Units have been designated to protect U.S. merchant shipping.

The blockade of Cuba should be in full operation by Wednesday.

Purpose Of Move

Its purpose, the defense official said, is to prevent any offensive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia neared a potentially hot showdown in the cold war today as Communist ships plowed through the Atlantic toward a U.S. fleet blockading offensive arms shipments to Cuba.

The test of purpose and strength could come by nightfall. A Defense Department spokesman said Monday night the U.S. forces were expected to encounter the first Soviet bloc ships within 24 to 48 hours—by tonight or Wednesday night.

Technically, the blockade announced by President Kennedy was not yet in effect. But U.S. vessels already were patrolling the Atlantic in the greatest crisis since Korea, and possibly since World War II.

In Moscow, the Soviet Union responded by cancelling all military leaves, halting discharges from military service and calling a meeting of military officers of the Communist Warsaw Pact—the Red answer to NATO.

'Border War' In India Grows

Restrictions Lifted For Red Chinese Advance

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Red China lifted any restraints on its invasion of northern India today, formally authorizing its troops to ignore the border and presumably to advance as far as force will carry them.

"Chinese frontier guards fighting in self-defense no longer need to restrain themselves to the bounds of the illegal McMahon Line (the border)," Red China's Defense Ministry said in its first formal comment on the current border fighting.

The announcement broadcast by Radio Peiping did not say how far the Red invaders expected to advance.

The Communists claimed that their troops had captured several Indian outposts on the eastern front, but said Indian troops were offering fierce resistance in some unspecified areas.

Gears For War

Premier Jawaharlal Nehru called on the nation Monday night to put its economy on a war footing. He declared that "we will fight the Chinese Communists out."

For the first time in years of sporadic border fighting, Nehru formally recognized Red China as the "enemy." In a nationwide broadcast, he vowed that "we shall not surrender."

Red China threw tanks into the border war Monday for the first time. Its troops were reported to have advanced at least five miles into Indian territory.

The Red Defense Ministry reported "general advances" on both the eastern and western fronts, but added that Indian

'Order Of Combat Alarm' Is Given To Cuban Militia By Fidel Castro

HAVANA (UPI) — The Cuban government announced today that Premier Fidel Castro gave the "order of combat alarm" to all Cuban armed forces Monday night and the country's combat units "were placed on a war footing."

The official communique said Castro took the measure at 5:45 p.m., Monday, acting as commander in chief of the armed forces and responding to "the news from the United States and mobilization of American military forces against our country."

"Hundreds of thousands of men were mobilized in only a few hours," the announcement said. "Squads of the united party and all organizations of the masses are mobilizing with impressive patriotic fervor... the nation is awake and on a war footing ready to repel any attack."

"Each weapon is in its place and beside each weapon are the heroic defenders of the revolution and country."

The pictures were so clear the

If last night's concert sets the standard for this year's Pampa Community Concert Association, season members may well look forward to successive programs.

Flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya, "gypsy on all four sides," presented a dazzling display of Spanish music for solo guitar to a capacity audience at Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

"Senor" Montoya's entire concert, consisting of seventeen programmed numbers and three encores, was improvisations or arrangements on varied Spanish songs and dances in the Flamenco idiom.

Of special interest to this reviewer was Montoya's unusual and phenomenal use of the left hand in solo and accompanying

Cape Canaveral 'Space Port' Has New, Grim Job Today

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — This huge "spaceport," which may have gotten key pictures of missile bases in Cuba, took on a new and grim job today as a gathering spot for forces to back up the U.S. blockade of the island nation.

More than 30 warplanes, including 24 F106 jet fighters, were on standby at Patrick Air Force Base, the administration center 19 miles south of here which runs Cape Canaveral.

Stored in hangars nearby were two U2 high-altitude jets which are reported to have flown numerous reconnaissance missions over Cuba to get photographs of military build-ups on the Communist-run island.

The Air Force declined to discuss the mission of the U2 planes here, and said the other planes had been brought in on orders of the Air Defense Command to "bolster" defenses in the southern United States.

The destination of the airplanes was not known. But throughout the night their roar—which veteran observers can easily tell from the more familiar sound of a rocket blasting off — kept this area on edge.

The missile testing schedule here went on as usual. Late Monday night, the Army blasted its Pershing "shoot and scoot" rocket to its 34th success in 41 tries. The missile was launched from a simulated battlefield position — aboard a transporter-erector-launcher located on the uneven sand just off the edge of a concrete launching pad.

A planned attempt to put a satellite named "Anna" into orbit today was postponed until Wednesday, but Air Force spokesmen pinned the trouble on difficulties in the two-stage Thor-Able-Star rocket, not on any connection with the Cuban crisis.

Otherwise, no special precautions were evident at Cape Canaveral as the result of any possible threat from Cuba, 600 miles to the south.

AND THE LAMP WENT OUT — Shown here in rehearsal for the Pampa Little Theatre's presentation during the "Gay Nineties Revue" to be staged in the Junior High Auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. are three members of the cast for the play, "And The Lamp Went Out." The "Gay Nineties Revue" is being staged in connection with the Pampa and Gray County 60th Anniver-

Anniversary Parade Set For 4 P.M.

All parade entries are asked to report not later than 3:45 p.m. at the starting point, Craven and S. Cuyler Sts.

Wesley Langham will serve as parade marshal.

The parade, which will feature Pampa's three high school and junior high bands and old-time floats and entries, will move north on Cuyler St. to Browning, west to Frost, south to Foster and west on Foster to the disbanding point.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The enormous tension that preceded President Kennedy's television address Monday gave the brief talk a simple, stark, monumental drama unmatched in American video history.

The space flights, Telstar, the other moments of crisis—all have provided extraordinary viewing. But with the present situation involving an enemy only 90 miles from America, Monday's talk had an emotional war-or-peace immediacy that superseded in urgent content all else since the inception of the television medium as a popular U.S. communications form.

All day the tension had built. From the time it was announced the President would speak at 7 p.m., EDT on a matter of the "highest national urgency," the question of what he would discuss became predominant and a challenge to the nerves. Berlin? Cuba? Blockade? What?

But as the day wore on, and the news reports brought together the stories of ship movements and other related military maneuvers, it became increasingly clear the focal point was Cuba, and that the decision was to blockade.

Nevertheless, when the time finally came for the President to speak, few could have predicted the shock effect of his disclosures and plans.

From his opening greeting, "Good evening, my fellow citizens," he was firm, forthright and fluffed lines of his speech only a few times. He read his words, looking up frequently, as though he had gone over them many times and knew them almost by heart. Occasionally, the extreme nature of the crisis drew from him the slightest traces of emotion, but for the most part his expression changed little.

As he disclosed the dangerous weaponry of Cuba, announced the blockade (which he termed "quarantine") and warned Russia of direct retaliation if the island should fire missiles anywhere in this hemisphere, the talk had two uncompromising qualities:

—The chilling bluntness of facing unpleasant truths; and the back-stiffening attitude of one who says, in effect, "Don't tread on me."

Beyond all question it was a tough speech which kept building its impact with the forensic ability of a proven formidable debater. Cause upon cause was listed, with the resulting action by the United States being withheld until well into the talk.

A personal message from the President to the Cuban people, tough in the extreme in its language concerning the consequences of Communist rule, was constructed for maximum propaganda use of a human approach.

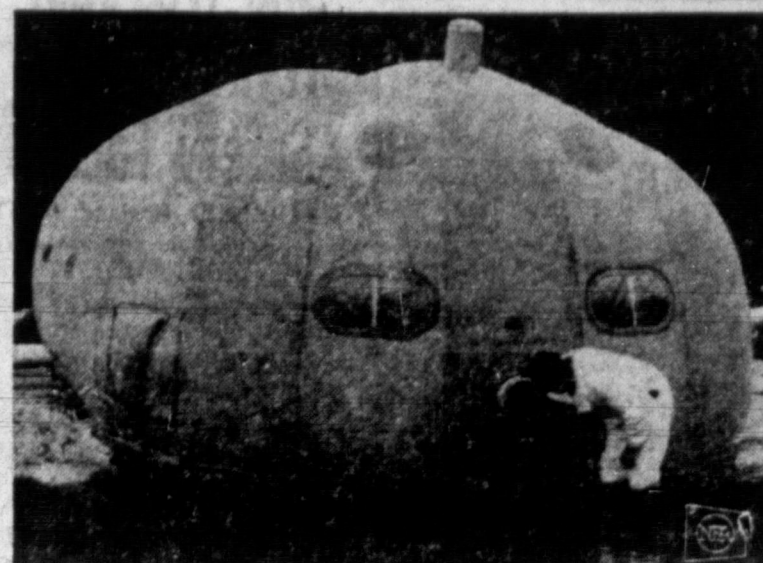

The rhetoric and delivery were up to the extraordinary subject, with the direct simplicity of the words—crystal clear, especially, one passage in which the President said he knew he was presenting a "difficult and dangerous effort" to follow as a course.

To The VOTERS of Gray County

Many voters are misinformed as to how they can vote in the general election. Regardless of which Primary you voted in, you may vote either a straight Republican, straight Democratic, or split ballot including write-in.

We urge you to keep your ballot as neat as possible and be sure to cross out ALL candidates and parties you do not want to vote for.

This year on November 6th there will be one of the most complete slates of Republican candidates ever put on the ballot in Texas. They are dedicated Americans who will work to protect the Constitution, maintain our government as a constitutional republic and conserve our wealth and resources for the coming generations.

We, the Republicans of Gray County, take this means to urge you to consider the real issues at stake in this election and vote Republican.

She Was Just Trying A New Safety Tactic

GRAVELEY, England (UPI)—When Mrs. Anne McDonald (33-24-35) put on a pair of tight slacks and a brief blouse, she was a traffic-stopper. Which is just what she had in mind.

Mrs. McDonald, a mother of four children, said she got to worrying about drivers ignoring the 30-mile-per-hour speed limit through this small village.

"I saw truck drivers whistling at a pretty girl in the village," she said. "So I put on my beach clothes, walked down the village wiggling my hips and stuck out my thumb as though I were hitch-hiking.

"It wasn't long before the first truck stopped."

Instead of getting in, Mrs. McDonald told the driver, "I do hope you will observe the speed limit through our village. Thank you for stopping."

But Mrs. McDonald, who carried on her campaign for two weeks, said the response from the disappointed truckers has forced her to quit.

"Some of the language was not very nice," she said. "I don't think I shall do it any more."

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For more than three months now Secretary of State Dean Rusk has denied newspaper reporters the opportunity to question him publicly on policy toward Berlin, Cuba, Laos and other areas on which the administration urgently is seeking campaign year support of the American people.

There has been no news conference with Rusk since July 13. The secretary has been too busy. He is, indeed, a busy man, with a reputation of being one of the hardest working diplomatic technicians, ever.

During a recent fortnight in New York, he conferred with 70 visiting foreign ministers. His work day often begins at 8 a.m. and continues until midnight. His world travels are at a rate greater than those of any of his predecessors. No one can accuse Rusk of shirking his duties unless, perhaps, it is his duty to maintain the American tradition of regular and frequent news-conferences.

Too Busy
The contents of Rusk and his aides that he has been too busy to meet the press might be acceptable, except for some conflicting facts. Since July 13, Rusk has found time for five television interviews. He has made three public addresses. This suggests the secretary finds something distasteful or dangerous in the American tradition of frequent public exposure to press questions with no holds barred, and importantly no chance to edit the tape.

The late John Foster Dulles once confided to newsmen that he had contemplated abandoning public news conferences. He was fearful of the danger inherent in off-the-cuff answers to vital questions. But Dulles resisted the impulse and he held frequent news conferences until cancer killed him. President Kennedy is an example of a man in a position of great responsibility who is not afraid to meet the press, television and radio reporters—all in one bundle, and with no tape monkey business.

Tape Editing
Tape editing protects statesmen against bloopers in response to penetrating questions. It is not precisely alleged here that the tape has been edited in behalf of Rusk after his television interviews. But the tape has been edited in behalf of others in the State Department who wished they had not said something after they had said it. Whether Rusk's taped interviews are edited or are not edited is of no matter. The fact that Rusk always can, if he desires, delete some of his words from a taped interview apparently is the protection he desires. With the newspaper reporters no such protection can be had.

It may not be possible to persuade Rusk of the virtues of an open press conference where nothing can be rigged in his favor. He may be the best judge of his own limitations. There have been men less able than Rusk in his position during the past 35 years who did not shrink from open news conferences.

To this moment, newsmen would like to nask Rusk in open conference why Nikita Khrushchev's decision to postpone Berlin negotiations until after the U. S. election has so suddenly assumed the character of a threat to force a Berlin showdown at that time.

A garden of low-growing plants or hedges planted in a formal intricate design, is called a "knot garden."

On 'Old Glory'

Fifty stars and thirteen stripes — each star a symbol of the heavens and the divine goal to which man has aspired from time immemorial; the stripe a reminder of the rays of light emanating from the sun. And the colors, red, white, and blue, recognized throughout the world as the emblem of liberty. This is our flag.

But how much do we actually know about this pennant that spells freedom of religion, of speech and of peaceable assembly; the right to bear arms plus other equally important rights that give each American security and protection so that no State shall deprive a person of life, liberty or property without due process of law. This could also be interpreted to include a man's reputation — one of his most valuable possessions.

The story of the origin of our national flag is not unlike the history of our great country. We received our birthright from the peoples of many lands who gathered on these shores to build a new life and found a new nation. So, also, did the pattern of the Stars and Stripes rise from numerous origins back in the mists of antiquity to become emblazoned on the standards of our infant Republic.

The earlier flags used by our forefathers reflected their struggles in the new world. Oftentimes beavers, pine trees, rattlesnakes, anchors and various like insignia with mottoes such as "Hope," "Liberty," "Appeal to Heaven," or "Don't tread on Me" were used on the earlier banners.

However, the first flag to have any resemblance to the flag so familiar to use today was the Grand Union flag, sometimes referred to as the "Congress Colors." It, too, was made up of 13 stripes, alternately red and white, representing the Thirteen Colonies. The blue field in the upper left hand corner bore the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew, signifying union with the mother country. This flag was first flown by the ships of our Colonial Fleet in December of 1775.

Although some historians dispute the story, it is commonly believed that Betsy Ross made the first flag and on June 14, 1777 the Continental Congress established the Stars and Stripes by Resolution even though they did not specify the arrangement of the stars. Establishment of a national flag became a necessity so that our ships at sea would be recognized and not mistaken for pirate ships.

When the Star Spangled Banner was first flown by the Continental Army, General Washington is reputed to have said, "We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

As new states were admitted to the Union, it was first suggested that a star and a stripe be added but it was soon recognized that the flag could become unwieldy so the law of April 4, 1818 proclaimed that a star be added for each new state on the 4th of July after its admission. No change was made in the flag from 121 with the admission of New Mexico and Arizona until 1859 when a star was added for Alaska and a year later our 50th star, representing Hawaiian statehood.

Recognition of the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was given by the Congress in 1942 and 1954 when the phrase "under God" was officially added. President Eisenhower, at that time, said that "in this way we are reaffirming the transcendence of religious faith in America's heritage and future; in this way we shall constantly strengthen those spiritual weapons which forever will be our country's most powerful resource in peace."

A very fine booklet was authorized to be published which gives the complete history of the flag, suggestions about displaying it, and approved customs for its use. I will be glad to obtain a copy for anyone indicating an interest in receiving one.

API Meet Scheduled On Thursday

"Current Trends in Well Stimulation" will be the subject for discussion when the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Paul M. Wiley, chapter chairman, in announcing the session said the question "What's New?" concerning oil well stimulation and workover practices will be covered by a panel of four speakers who will review the latest developments, most recent trends and up-to-date methods.

Wiley said all chapter members and interested persons in the oil industry are urged to attend the meeting.

Pampan Is Soldier Of The Month

John M. Mooriman, Pampa High graduate of the Class of 1941, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dailey, 2241 Charles, recently was named one of two Soldiers-of-the-Month at Ft. Benning, Ga., where he is stationed.

Mooriman is with the 2nd Howitzer Battalion, 10th Artillery, 1st Infantry Brigade.

Ft. Benning officials said it was the first time in history that two men have been accorded the honor for the same month.

According to officers, Mooriman set a rugged pace in vying for top honors. Criteria for selection included knowledge of individual duties commensurate with duty assignment; knowledge of the organization and chain of command; military courtesy, appearance and bearing, and knowledge of world affairs.

India

Reports Succeed
A Red broadcast reported the capture of "Chipu, Jihchang, Changto, the Hatung Pass and other places" on the eastern front.

The Communists accused India of starting the fight and the Red radio indicated the Peiping regime would be willing to consider a negotiated surrender.

"The Chinese side will decidedly not rule out the possibility of reopening peaceful negotiations to settle the Sino-Indian boundary question," the Defense Ministry statement said.

It charged that India "bluntly closed the door to negotiations" earlier this month, presumably when Nehru ordered the Indian army to drive the Communists out of Indian territory.

Rites Held For Infant

McLEAN (Spl) — The infant son of Airman and Mrs. William F. Villines was stillborn on Oct. 21 at Amarillo Air Force Base hospital. Graveside services were held yesterday afternoon in Hillcrest Cemetery at 4 with Rev. Dan Belz, pastor of McLean First Baptist Church, officiating. Lamb Funeral Home was in charge.

He is survived by his wife, Audrey, of the home; six sons, J. Ernest of Richmond, Va., Glen of Portland, Ore., Ray of Plainview, Charlie of Borger, and Fred and Ward of Amarillo; and one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Preston of Amarillo.

Other relatives of the deceased are two brothers, Arthur of McLean and Luther of Waco; two sisters, Mrs. R. L. Jones and Mrs. Jim Cook of Amarillo; 11 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Concert

In one particular improvisation, "Saeta," such effects as drums and cornets were clearly audible in a military procession.

The first of three encores was the "Jota," or Spanish folk music followed by "Senor" Montoya's imitation of the Scottish bag pipes replete with all the Flamenco accoutrements. The final offering, and much to the delight of the audience, was the Flamenco version of the "St. Louis Blues."

As supremely satisfying as this program was, one might still wish for the addition of singers and dancers of this same calibre to complement and fulfill the demands of this driving and stimulating music.

Bouquets to the Pampa audience for its fine concert manners. The genial, grand Montoya was very well received and enjoyed.

"Initially, we will stop ships of all nations moving into Cuba" to inspect their cargoes, he said. If they have "defensive" weapons such as rifles aboard, they will be allowed to pass. But the "category of prohibited goods" later may be expanded.

The spokesman said the blockade force will "halt, stop and search" vessels heading toward Cuba. They will be requested to yield to search. Boarding parties will inspect manifests and cargoes. If offensive weapons such as missiles and crated bombers are discovered, the ships will be allowed to proceed to any port except Cuba.

If any ship's captain refuses to be searched or to change course, the U.S. official said, "we will use force."

Dear Abby...

It Might Help To Try A Direct Attack!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe all men have marriage in mind when they give a girl an engagement ring? I have been going with this man for three years. For a year I have been wearing his ring. He never says, "I love you," or "Let's set the date."

Sometimes I don't believe he cares for me at all and that he gave me a ring just to keep me dangling. I love him but I can't tell him that when he never tells me he loves me. We never talk about our love or our future. I am tired of his stalling. I want to share his life. I am 25 and he is 29. What must I do?

NAMELESS
SEAR NAMELESS: Give him back his ring — and tell him why.

DEAR ABBY: My husband loves animals. He keeps a pet skunk in our house. This skunk has not been deodorized and I live in constant fear that this pet will "forget" himself one day. Wouldn't you call this mental cruelty?

FEARFUL
DEAR FEARFUL: The skunk is a peaceful little creature who sprays the evil-smelling liquid only in moments of extreme fight or anger. (It's his weapon to drive off enemies.) So be nice to your bushy-tailed pet and he'll be nice to you.

DEAR ABBY: When I married for the second time, I was a young widow. We were married in his church. After the ceremony my husband pointed out a book-stand memorial which he had donated in memory of his first wife. Her name stood out in large letters. Here we had been married in front of this!

After 25 years and 3 children we still sit in the same pew directly opposite this memorial. I have said nothing, but have felt plenty. Sometimes I think I can't go to church another time. Am I wrong? I've asked to change churches, but he refuses. I'd feel silly telling anyone the reason. What should be done and by whom?

WANTS TO CHANGE CHURCHES
DEAR WANTS: You can't blame your husband if you have never told him of your feelings in the matter. Confide in your clergyman. He will not think you "silly" and will probably have the solution for you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STUDENT IN TROUBLE: Don't do anything foolish. Send me your name and address and I will tell you where to go for help.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

The Lighter Side
On 'Packet For The Bride'

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every now and then I run across something that is so heartwarming it almost gives me heartburn.
Such was the case when I heard about the Agriculture Department's "Packet for the Bride."
The packet, a collection of government pamphlets, represents the department's conception of what every bride should know.
It includes a "Dear Bride" letter from Secretary Orville L. Freeman who noted that some of the pamphlets "tell you of grading and inspection services the Department of Agriculture performs to help make sure that our food supply is wholesome and of dependable quality."
There's nothing like getting a marriage started off on the right foot.
If I were a bride, I would want to take one of the packets along with me on my wedding trip. In fact, I am able to visualize the scene that might transpire as the newlyweds arrive at their honeymoon hotel.
He: Well, here we are.
She: Yes, here we are.
He: Might as well get unpacked, I guess.
She: Yes, I guess we might as well.
He: What's that in the top of your suitcase?
She: It's my bridal packet from the Agriculture Department.
He: May I see it?
She: Well, I suppose it will be all right, now that we are married and everything.

He: Here's a pamphlet on "How to Prevent and Remove Mildew." Gee whiz, honey! I don't think you ought to get information like that out of a book. Didn't your mother tell you about mildew when you were growing up?
She: Of course she did, silly. But you know how old-fashioned mothers are. They make you feel that mildew is something to be ashamed of. This pamphlet gives you the facts about mildew in a straightforward, unemotional way.
He: Here's a booklet on how to combat carpet beetles. Sweetheart! I'm your husband! Couldn't you trust me to take care of things like that?
She: Of course I trust you. It's just that I want our honeymoon to be perfect. There's no sense taking a chance on having it spoiled by carpet beetles.
He: You're right, dear. We must never let anything come between us. Ready for bed now?
She: You go ahead if you're sleepy. I'll be along as soon as I finish this pamphlet on detergents.

Texas Holds No. 1 Rating In Nation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Texas, Northwestern and Alabama stood close 1-2-3 today in the United Press International major college football ratings.

Texas remained the front-runner for the third straight week by scoring its fifth consecutive victory Saturday night, a 7-3 triumph over Arkansas. Northwest-

Wright Named Tough Harvester

Dee Wright, defensive ace for the Harvesters, was named the "Toughest Harvester" for last week by the Pampa coaches for his fine performance against rival

Wright — defensive ace

Amarillo High in Pampa's 7-4 upset victory.

Coach Otis Holladay commended Dee for turning in his "best job defensively all year." Wright is the only Harvester to receive the honor citation twice this season.

Wright, a 192 lb. senior, was a guest of honor at the weekly Luncheon of the Pampa Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

The "Toughest Harvester" is a weekly award sponsored by the Pampa Jaycees as part of the organization's back the Harvesters program.

Other past "Toughest Harvesters" are Jerry Glover, Curtis Fletcher, Ricky Stewart, and Ricky Goodwin.

The period of judging the player selected is from Monday through that week's game, workouts included. The citation goes to the boy, selected by the coaches, who best meets the following requirements — aggressiveness, blocking and tackling ability, leadership, and desire.

In commenting on Wright's defensive play, Holladay stated that it required two and three Amarillo blockers to block out Wright on nearly every play.

Dee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wright of 115 S. Stark-weather.

Workouts

The Harvesters worked out in shorts Monday afternoon. Workout plans for this week include the sophomore and juniors working out together to give the coaching staff some idea of next year's team. A regular game between the futures and the seniors is slated for Friday afternoon.

Emphasis this week will be on generally improving the ball team, according to Holladay.

Rugged Battles Slated In Class AA Division

By United Press International

District leadership will be at stake in at least three head-on meetings to highlight a light, but important, Class AA Texas schoolboy football schedule this week end.

Rockwall, one of five unbeaten but tied teams left in the division, hosts Commerce in a game which should decide District 11 honors; Rusik is at Pine Tree in a showdown in District 16, and Pleasanton—another tied but undefeated team—tackles Potene in a 27-AA showdown.

In addition, important bearing on district races will be at stake in such meetings as Canyon at Tulia in District 2, Hamlin at Winters and Haskell at Ballinger in

8. Hooks at Paul Pewitt in 13, Mason at Fredericksburg in 18, La Grange at Columbus and Bellville vs. Katy in 21, Dayton at Humble in 23 and Sweeny at Needville in 25.

The Winters-Hamlin and Bellville-Katy clashes are the only ones in which unbeaten-untied teams appear in grave danger of being knocked off.

Winters and Bellville, along with Denver City, Stamford, Jacksboro, West, Anahuac and Los Fresnos boast the only perfect records in the division.

Denver City plays twice-beaten Stanton, Stamford tackles four-times loser Anson; Jacksboro is idle, West plays winless Teague, Anahuac meets four-times beaten Liberty and Los Fresnos plays once-beaten, once-tied La Joys.

West in 17-AA and Georgetown in 20-AA already own undisputed district records and appear capable of staying atop the standings.

'Cat Williams Fights Bailey

HOUSTON (UPI) — Cleveland Williams of Houston, fifth-ranked heavyweight contender, is a prohibitive favorite tonight in a 10-round bout with Dave Bailey of Philadelphia at Sam Houston Coliseum.

Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston will referee as Williams makes his first start since drawing with top contender Eddie Machen in July. It also will be Williams' first start for his new owners, Houston Oilier owner K. C. (Bud) Adams and oilman Hugh Bonham.

Heavy Fog Mars Races

By United Press International

Racing fans had a lot of trouble following the horses at Golden Gate Fields Monday, but not too many complained as long as they were able to find the mutuel windows.

A heavy ground fog at the California track made it almost impossible for viewers to see the course for the first five races and at one point announcer Jose Fernandez gave up and turned off his microphone.

Injuries Plague SWC Players

By PAUL FREEMAN

United Press International

Injuries hit Southwest Conference football contenders Monday and University of Texas coach Darrell Royal predicted the Rice Owls will give his No. 1 ranked squad a rough tussle Saturday.

Texas A&M coach Hank Foldberg said fullback Jerry Rogers will undergo surgery this week to repair a torn cartilage in his right knee. Rogers is lost for the season, Foldberg said. The Aggies held a general purpose drill for Saturday night game with Baylor University at Waco.

The injury bug also got to the Texas Tech and Arkansas squads.

Two Hogs Out

Guard Tommy Polk and fullback Danny Brabham were held out of practice Monday with injuries suffered last Saturday in Arkansas' 7-3 loss to Texas. Arkansas coach Frank Broyles predicted that both would be able to play against Hardin-Simmons Saturday night in Little Rock.

Two of the big guns in the Tech ground game, tackle Sonny Armstrong and Fullback Coolidge Hunt, sat out the sidelines as the Red Raiders drilled for Saturday night's game with Southern Methodist at Lubbock. Both may see action against the Mustangs, however.

Royal predicted a tough time lies ahead Saturday for his Longhorns, now the chief target in the conference. He recalled the Longhorns went to Houston high-ranked nationally four years ago and got clobbered by Rice 34-7. Royal praised wingback Ernie Koy Jr., linebackers Johnny Treadwell and Pat Culpepper and the Steers' team spirit.

And in Houston, the Owls polished defense and saw some lineup changes for the Texas game. Rice business manager Emmitt Brunson said fewer than 1,000 tickets are unsold for the Texas game. Rice stadium seats 70,000.

Ponies Praised

SMU coaches lauded four players for outstanding play in the Mustang's 15-7 victory over Rice. Linebacker John Hughes drew plaudits for being outstanding on defense, halfback Tommy Brennan got the highest backfield score all around and John Knee and Ray Schoenke got the highest scores of defensive and offensive linemen, respectively.

Baylor held a passing drill and stressed goal-line defense against Aggie plays.

Abe Martin's Texas Christian University squad, idle this Saturday, watched films of Saturday's victory over A&M, then ran through a light drill. Martin said fullback Tommy Crutcher will be out for two or three weeks with a shoulder separation.

Fullmer, Tiger Vie For Title Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Champion Gene Fullmer and challenger Dick Tiger, a pair of battered battlers with identical physical measurements, tangle tonight for the World Boxing Association's middleweight championship, with the man from Nigeria an 8-5 favorite.

To Fullmer, the idea of odds making Tiger the favorite is incomprehensible.

"Those guys making the odds must be on Cloud Nine," says the Mormon mauler from Utah. "It just doesn't make sense. I've fought them all and defended my title eight times. How could I be the underdog?"

The bout will be staged in Candlestick Park, home of the San Francisco Giants and the recent World Series. A crowd of between 15,000 and 20,000 will be on hand, putting between $150,000 and $200,000 in the cash registers.

On Theater TV

The battle will be sent "out on a closed TV circuit to theaters around the nation. There will be no radio or TV of the match which starts at 7:30 p.m., PDT (10:30 p.m., EDT).

Of the money, Tiger gets a flat $25,000, plus expenses. Fullmer will get 45 per cent of the gate, plus 66 2-3 of the theater funds, which may run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The gamblers have made Tiger the favorite because he knocked out Florentino Fernandez in six rounds, while Fullmer went 15 rounds to win a decision on the same basis. Also, in this same fight, Fullmer appeared to be fading in the stretch.

Another reason for picking Tiger is that he is supposed to be much faster than the flat-footed Fullmer.

Disputes Speed Talk

"That's a lot of talk that doesn't mean a thing," says Marvin Jensen, manager of Fullmer. "He's no faster than Fullmer."

Top Teams Try Stern Opponents

By United Press International

Powerful defending champion Wichita Falls, Class AAAA's top-ranked outfit, opens its district schedule this week and the game with Richland Hills highlights the Class AAAA-AAA schoolboy football slate.

For Richland Hills—like the Coyotes—is among that rapidly-dwindling list of undefeated-untied teams in the state's upper echelon of prep football.

Both have won five without defeat and both have compiled 137 points in doing so. But, the Coyotes' opposition has been a bit sterner and the champs will be solid favorites to take the first official step back towards the title playoffs.

This game, plus ninth-ranked Abilene High's joust with San Angelo provide about the only threats for an upset to any of the division's ranked teams.

Second-ranked Port Arthur meets Port Neches, third-rated Borger plays Lubbock High, fourth-ranked Denison is idle, fifth-rated Spring Branch plays Spring Branch Memorial, sixth-ranked Dallas Samuelli meets North Dallas and seventh-rated Pasadena plays Texas City.

In AAA, the situation is almost the same. Fifth-ranked Orange plays undefeated-but-tied Bridge City and seventh-ranked San Benito meets once-beaten Mission. Otherwise, the going should be comparatively easy.

Top-rated Dumas plays Level-land, second-ranked Brownwood faces Vernon, third-ranked Nacogdoches meets Garthage, sixth-rated McKinney meets Paris, eighth-rated Bay City tangles with El Campo and 10th-rated Angleton plays West Columbia.

Buffaloes Lead Independents

By United Press International

West Texas State, the only unbeaten-untied football team among the Texas independent colleges, hopes to take a healthy Pistol Pete Pedro to Arizona next weekend.

Pedro lost a ground gaining duel with New Mexico State's Preacher Pilot by a 4 to 1 margin last Saturday but West Texas won the game 20-12.

In other action this weekend, Houston travels north to meet Boston College, Texas Western takes on Arizona State at Arizona. Hardin - Simmons tackles Arkansas at neutral Little Rock, Trinity is at Arlington State, Abilene Christian is at Mississippi Southern, McMurry hosts Corpus Christi, Texas Lutheran hosts Eastern New Mexico and William Jewell is at Austin College.

Hardin-Simmons cracked its 27-game losing streak last weekend with a 14-6 victory over Trinity at Abilene.

The only other independent college playing at better than 500 per cent is Austin College, which defeated Ouachita 15-14 on Jerry Bishop's 27-yard field goal with 20 seconds to play. The Kangaroos have won four of six games.

In other action, Mississippi State beat Houston 9-3, Arlington State, beat McMurry 25-13 and New Mexico Highlands upset ACC 26-20.

Mauch Named Top Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies, who combines fiery on-the-field leadership with patient understanding of his players, was named the National League's "Manager of the Year" today by the United Press International.

The honor went to Mauch for his key role in making the Phillies the hottest team in baseball for the last two months of the season. The spurt, 30 victories in their last 44 games, enabled them to end the season with an 81-80 record — 30½ games better than their 1961 finish.

Mauch was named by 12 of the 24 baseball writers comprising the UPI's 1962 board of baseball experts. Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers received six votes, Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants had three, Casey Stengel of the New York Mets got two and Fred Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds had one.

The Phillies were 15 games under .500 when they "jelled" in June. No single move was responsible; rather it was the falling into place of many pieces of the Philadelphia jig-saw puzzle — all of which Mauch had been working on for some time.

The key men in the resurgence were pitcher Art Mahaffey (19-14), Dennis Bennett (9-9) and reliever Jack Baldschun (12-7 in 67 games), converted third-baseman Don Demeter and outfielders Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzalez. Mauch also received credit for the development of catcher Cal Darymple and second-baseman Tony Taylor into dependable players.

Taylor, playing in 152 games, teamed with shortstops Ruben Amaro and Bobby Wine to help the Phillies rank third in the league in fielding and fourth in double plays. At season's end Mauch had developed a highly maneuverable squad that was passing from a stage in which several key players were platooned into one in which all or most will play regularly.

Darrell Royal Credits Team Spirit, Kicking

AUSTIN (UPI) — University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal Monday listed team spirit, good kicking and all-around good football as the reason his Longhorns remain undefeated and No. 1 in the nation for the third consecutive week.

Royal commented the Longhorns looked "real snappy" Saturday night when they came from behind to defeat Arkansas 7-3 for a fifth straight win.

"They've got to be excellent competitors—we came back from almost certain defeat against Oregon and from even more so against Arkansas," Royal commented at his weekly news conference.

Key Boots

"This team has competed well and fought good at all times. And the kicking of Ernie Koy has been no small factor," Royal said. Koy leads the Southwest Conference with an average 42 yards per boot.

The Longhorns face Rice, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Texas Christian and Texas A&M in that order and appear to be headed for another conference championship and maybe a national title.

Royal failed to find any specific points to criticize his squad on for the first time in recent weeks.

He had high praise for his defensive squad and called Pat Culpepper and Johnny Treadwell "the best pair of linebackers in the nation."

Culpepper was in the Arkansas game during 65 defensive plays and took part in 17 tackles, Royal said, and Treadwell played in 47 defensive plays, had 12 tackles "and didn't make a single mistake."

Walker Says Action Was 'Inevitable'

DALLAS (UPI)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker said Monday night that President Kennedy's action on Cuba "was inevitable" but "ill conceived."

Walker, who is free in $5,000 bond on charges of inciting insurrection during the integration rioting at the University of Mississippi in Oxford, said "I have stated in Mississippi and I repeat in Texas that the truth and the tragedy of the action was well and timely stated on a sign in Mississippi which read: 'Cuba that way'."

"Never would I have expected to see 23,000 troops and marshals sowing discord and disunity in the face of an enemy that was at that very moment building missile bases in Cuba."

"Never would I have expected to see such distrust for the administration of a state while the Communists were being trusted."

"It is time we concentrate on our true enemy and recognize him as a total enemy extending from Berlin to Cuba to the Himalayas."

"Action in the Caribbean was inevitable, but it is ill conceived when it limits our means and exposes our total goal to unlimited action by the enemy."

Huge Soviet Ship Is Key US 'Target'

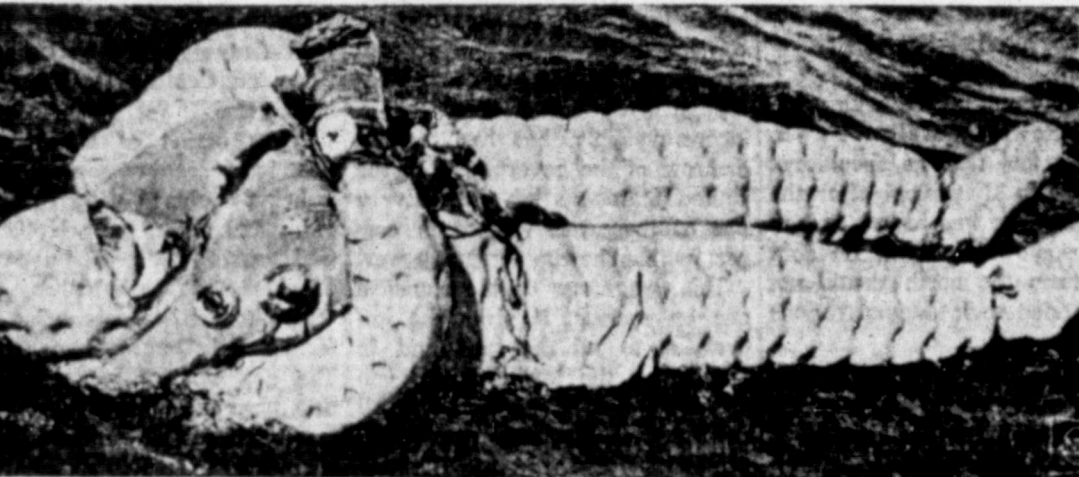

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A huge Soviet ship specially rigged to carry ballistic missiles was described by defense sources today as a key target of U.S. forces blockading Cuba.

If it continues on its normal schedule in the face of the Cuba quarantine, these sources said, the Russian vessel should turn up in the Atlantic in a week to 10 days.

It was said to have completed a delivery to Cuba in recent days and to have returned to Russia.

The first tests of the blockade were expected long before the special missile transporter could start a return voyage to Cuba. But if the prize quarry should cross the Atlantic again, it will be requested to submit to search like other ships and ordered to change course away from Cuba if it is carrying the usual missile cargo.

The Navy is prepared to sink it if necessary to keep it out of Cuba.

UP FROM THE DEEP—British Navy Petty Officer David Rossen bobs in the Mediterranean Sea near Malta after ascending 260 feet in 52 seconds from the submarine Tiptoe. Seven men in test proved it is possible to escape from subs at great depths without using any kind of breathing equipment. Inflated life jackets helped speed them to the surface. Buoyancy suits were inflated after the ascent. Prior to this, no British crewman had survived an emergency ascent of more than 150 feet without using special apparatus.

Texans In Government Back Decision By The President

By United Press International

Texans in government lauded President Kennedy's "calm declaration of courage" in announcing a blockade of Cuba Monday and some expressed hope that the action was not too late.

Both candidates for governor lined up behind the Kennedy policy pronouncement.

GOP gubernatorial hopeful Jack Cox joined with Rep. Bruce Alger, the only Republican congressman from Texas, in saying the action should have been taken sooner.

"The decision is fraught with grave risks," Rep. George H. Mahon of Lubbock said, "but it is safer than a policy of weakness."

"The United States cannot and will not permit the construction of a dangerous military base in Cuba," Mahon, chairman of the house subcommittee on defense appropriations said.

Russia Threat Laundered

Alger praised Kennedy for "making it plain that any potential missile launching from Cuba would be considered by this government as a launching from Russia and he treated accordingly by retaliation against Russia herself."

Cox echoed Alger's views on supporting the President and added "he hoped America had acted soon enough in the Cuban crisis."

Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, a member of the House Armed Services Committee said "we cannot accept peace at the cost of freedom."

Rep. Bob Casey of Houston said reservists might be mobilized for active duty. Casey thought the president had acted soon enough. The President "could do no less than he did," Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth said.

"Weakness invites attack. Firmness often prevents it," Wright said.

Casey added that the U.S. action was timely. "The policy of our country has been not to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries," Casey said, "the President has moved judiciously."

Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Connally, Kennedy's first Navy Secretary, applauded the President's decision.

"I think it reflects the attitude and determination of the people of this state and this country," Connally said.

Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney praised Congress for appropriating money for the stiff action against Cuba. Roberts said he was "thankful that Congress saw fit to support any action which he determines necessary."

"The time has come to lay aside partisan differences in order that we may be united as a people behind our commander-in-chief," said Rep. Homer Thornberry of Austin.

"We face a stringent hour and we face it courageously," Thornberry said.

NO. 2 MAN?—In a symbolic position two steps to the rear, Liu Shao-chi, left, joins Red China's boss, Mao Tse-tung, in waving to National Day paraders in Peiping. Liu, chairman of the Chinese People's Republic, and Premier Chou En-lai are rated equally as No. 2 man behind Mao in Red regime.

The nation's largest retail jewelry firm announced its net sales increased 18 per cent, reaching a record high of $30,051,056 for the current six months, as compared with $25,904,995 for the same period a year ago.

Net earnings after taxes rose to $1,016,857, up five per cent from $964,862 for the comparable period a year ago.

Earnings per share amounted to 31 cents this year based on 3,233,106 shares outstanding on September 30. This compares with 29 cents a year ago and based on 3,316,840 shares outstanding.

Zale President Ben Lipshy said that during the six-month period 30 new units were either opened or acquired. This compares with 19 during the same period a year ago.

Uprisings In Cuba Are Predicted

HOUSTON (UPI)—A man who once held Cuban Premier Fidel Castro prisoner said today that President Kennedy's action is the spark that will set off a popular Cuban uprising against Castro.

Former Cuban Col. Andres P. Chamont said that "within 30 days there will be a popular uprising in all six provinces of Cuba."

"Within 10 days there will be serious uprisings in two provinces—for these rebellions were already scheduled," Chamont said.

The former Cuban officer is now director of the anti-Communist Association of Free Cubans. He lives in Houston.

In 1953 Chamont commanded the Curtel Moncada garrison in Oriente province when Castro led 300 rebels against the fort. Chamont's men killed more than 300 of Castro's men and took Castro prisoner.

Raising Of Chlorine Is Postponed

VIDALIA, La. (UPI)—The U. S. Corps of Engineers today delayed for 24 hours the lifting of a potentially deadly chlorine tank from the bottom of the Mississippi River.

Marine salvage crews had maneuvered into position today to lift the first of the four 75-foot tanks which pose a threat to 80,000 inhabitants of a two-state area.

However Col. Warren S. Everett, district engineer, postponed the raising until Wednesday so a dredge could remove more sand from the barge that sank with the four chlorine tanks last year.

The engineers had planned to remove one tank today and to transfer it to a waiting barge destined for the Wyandotte Chemical Co., 85 miles to the south at Geismar, La.

Post-Election Crisis

The next crisis in the alleged "cold war" will boil up soon after this country's November elections.

The locale: West Berlin. We have the word of no less a power and authority than Premier Khrushchev for that. Robert S. Allen, in a recent column writes: "... Khrushchev frankly told Dr. Bruno Kreisky, Austria's foreign minister, that he plans to throw a blockade around West Berlin in November if President Kennedy doesn't agree to his terms to neutralize that city."

"Neutralize" is an attractive, even innocuous, word. But neutralization of Berlin, in the Khrushchev definition, is a horse of a very different color. It would mean that the West would agree to withdraw the 11,000 troops it now has stationed in and about the city, in a state of combat readiness. Soviet troops, of course, would be withdrawn too, but this would be meaningless — the vast Soviet armies would be just next door. The present occupying power would be replaced by neutral nations — all small, all with little stomach for getting caught in the middle between the behemoths of East and West. It doesn't take much of a thinker to see what this would do to the Western military position and, perhaps much more important in the long run, to Western prestige throughout the world.

Mr. Allen — and what he says agrees with the opinions of many other qualified observers — adds that the President's military advisors "are convinced that Khrushchev isn't bluffing. They point out that the Kremlin leader would lose tremendous face with the western and neutral diplomats that he has discussed his plans with if he didn't carry them out." Another Khrushchev threat, this one of long standing, is that he will conclude a peace treaty with East Germany. In that event, the East German government would be given the high cards in dealing with military and other traffic movements in and out of West Berlin, along the enemy-controlled corridor. If trouble broke out, Khrushchev then, presumably would come to East Berlin's aid with Soviet troops, on the pretext of assisting an ally and deterring an aggressor. The explosive consequences inherent in this possibility need little elaboration.

The Berlin situation, moving as it is with apparent inexorability toward a climax whose result no man can now accurately forecast, may be the primary reason for what many regard as an undue hesitancy on our part in dealing with the Cuban situation. Khrushchev has said that if we blockade Cuba, he will use military means to get the Soviet supply ships through. And he has also said, in effect, that he would regard any U.S. military action against Cuba as an act of war. So the problem of this country is one of where to consolidate and to prepare to use strength, if that must be done. It would be military folly to disperse and thin our forces and our resources the world over. Then there would be no massive power available for any one place, should raw, massive power become our need.

"Perhaps Khrushchev will not go quite as far as he intimates. Perhaps there will be some form of rapprochement between East and West that will ease the tensions. But all the signs point to the gravest kind of dangers ahead, this fall and winter.

Upward From Drudgery

The American man never tires of telling of the strides he has made to relieve his womanfolk of household drudgery. Our multi-billion-dollar appliance industry is no less grateful than the queen of the household. Household automation has been universally beneficial.

Now, apparently, the ingenious American is well on his way to eliminating most of the unpleasant and repetitive drudgery associated with masculine productive toil. A major advance toward freeing people for the tasks that require judgment has been made in the sleepy Connecticut village of Bethel, which has been stirred by plans of giant Pullman Incorporated to erect a plant that will produce robots to serve as a kind of "hewer-of-wood and drawer-of-water" for industry.

Unimate, as the robot is known (combining "universal" and "automation"), already is at work for a major electrical equiper and a leading automotive producer. In the auto plant it removes from a furnace frames for a convertible, quenches their 500-degree heat in a water tank, shakes off the excess water and then places the frames on a conveyor which takes them to the assembly line.

Unimate needs no physicist or electrical engineer to work it. Any setup man can instruct the robot to assemble parts, load a lathe, operate a welding gun, tend a die-casting machine, feed a press, spray paint and remember some 200 sequential commands. A self-contained machine, it requires only an electrical power connection. When its job is done in one part of the factory, it can be moved by fork-lift truck to a new location.

Indeed, a whole generation of robots now is in swaddling clothes. More and more, we can expect to see routine chores performed by the Unimates, which will make our industrial plant more competitive and, equally important, create new industries, new jobs and new challenges.

What, for example, would you think if we told you a Unimate wrote this editorial?

Pull Up A Chair

As may be easily guessed, the two words most frequently used in telephone conversations are "you" and "I" — in the order named. And the three next words most often used are "the," "a" and "on," also in the order named. If George Washington had accepted a third term as President — as he was vigorously urged to do — he would have died during his term of office. And if Calvin Coolidge, late in his first elective term, had not announced that "I do not choose to run for President in 1928" and had been elected for another term, he too, would have died in office.

Hypnotism has been successfully employed in the treatment of persons severely burned, a group of University of Texas medics reports to the A.M.A. Journal. Suggestions made while such patients were under an hypnotic spell not only made them less sensitive to pain, but aided in having them eat more food. It also encouraged them to exercise limbs they had been keeping still because of pain.

Sales of air conditioners, ranges, water heaters and the like are lost daily because so many U.S. dwellings are not wired adequately for additional electric appliances. If only 10 per cent of such buildings were rewired, it would add a $2 billion appliance sales potential. Observes a cynic: "It's a great kindness to trust people with a secret — they feel so important when telling it."

Today's favorite gag: Applying at the accounting department for his first job, the recent high school graduate was momentarily stymied by a question on the application blank which read: "What machines can you operate?" He thought a moment, then wrote: "Slot and pin-ball."

An example of how the American housewife has changed is the current hefty sales of cake mixers. The fact is, cake mixes were introduced on the market 40 years ago, but made virtually no impression and were quickly abandoned. It was less than 10 years ago that cake mixes were revived.

Thoughts while shaving: I, then there's the neighborhood tot who's starting to become skeptical about nursery rhymes. When mama recited that Little Jack Horner stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum, the youngster said, aw, it couldn't be done. If Jack Horner stuck his thumb in a pie, the kid argued, Jackie boy couldn't extract a plum, unless he stuck in his forefinger, too. (These modern kids are bright, aren't they?) ... Then there's the other neighbor who entertained her four-year-old with the oldest that goes: "Ask your mother for 50 cents to see the elephant jump the fence. He'll jump so high that he'll touch the sky and won't come down 'till Fourth of July." This youngest thought a moment, then asked: "What did the elephant go up in — a space ship?" And we aren't trying to make a rhyme when we say, "Aw, what's the use of Mother Goose?"

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Can there be an excessive profit?"

One would have to define "excessive" before one could tell. There certainly could not be an excessive profit if there were not some special law that gave a business a monopoly. There might be a large profit but never an excessive profit, which would benefit the recipient would have to cause a profit in order to benefit the recipient would have to be distributed. It would have to be used for enjoyment or invested, which would furnish tools or loaned or given away. In any event, so-called excessive profits would harm no one and benefit everyone if they were earned on an unhampered market basis.

What we need are more profits and the more profits there are, the higher real wages will be and the better off everybody will be.

"I Move You Surrender!"

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

From time to time, I have written about some of the reasons for the persistent unemployment and slow rate of industrial expansion that plagues our country. I now wish to point out other factors contributing to this unhappy situation. Noteworthy among them is the small tax write offs allowed in our country compared with those of other industrial countries. On a machine with an estimated life of fifteen years, in the United States one may write off 35 per cent in the first three years as compared with 63 per cent in Italy, 65 per cent in Japan, 72 per cent in Sweden and 75 per cent in Britain.

In the United States, taxes on consumption (sales taxes) are low while taxes on income are very high. In Europe, just the opposite is true. Europe and Japan encourage capital formation, which supplies more jobs for workers, by low income taxes, while the United States discourages and penalizes capital formation by high income and capital gains taxation. This strikes directly at industrial expansion and means fewer jobs. It is undoubtedly one of the major reasons for unemployment in our country as compared with labor shortages in other industrial countries. Europe's tax policy encourages risk taking and investment while our policy discourages and penalizes the bold entrepreneur.

Other industrial countries are reinvesting from 15 to 24 per cent of their total spending in new plants and equipment against a substantially less 12 per cent in the United States.

In Europe and Japan, labor unions have restrained their demands for higher wages and have, therefore, enabled industry to remain competitive. In our country unrestrained labor union demands have forced unit costs higher and higher making it impossible for our industry to compete on many products.

On the whole in most industrial countries government cooperates with industry while our government maintains a hostile attitude toward many of our leading industries.

In most other industrial countries, profit is regarded as not only legitimate but essential, whereas in our country there is still a disposition to regard profit as something very questionable, in fact undesirable and even shameful. While the volume of business has expanded, wage costs have not only kept profits from rising but have actually resulted in greatly reduced real profits.

The American Way

By Robert Morris

Editor's Note: Robert Morris, Past President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief counsel of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security.

You may not agree with what General Edwin A. Walker says. You may feel that he should not have gone to Mississippi after the demonstrations had begun, just as some people feel that freedom riders from the north should not have carried their demonstrations into the south.

General Walker is concerned over our present policy of preparing to merge our military establishment with a U.N. Peace Force made up, for the most part, of nations hostile to our way of life particularly when the Assistant Secretary General in charge of disarmament and military affairs for the U.N. is the tough Soviet E. D. Kiselev. Walker has been a military man, a battlefield hero, and he feels it would be disastrous for the United States to dissolve the Army he served all his life, as our present policy provides for the years ahead.

Not The Issue You may not agree with his concern on this or on his stand for states rights but whether you do or not, that is not the issue in the present Walker case. While General Walker was engaged in what he contends was a peaceable assembly in Mississippi, he was apprehended by United States marshals, charged with four crimes bearing on insurrection and sedition, not allowed to post bail, ordered by a federal judge to a federal mental prison for a sixty to ninety day period and as I write this, five days later, still denied the precious writ of habeas corpus.

When the federal judge ordered him to undergo psychiatric examination, Walker was not even in his jurisdiction. He had no lawyer present. It was a clear violation not only of the Statute but of General Walker's rights under the Constitution.

Political Prisoner Thus, General Walker becomes the first political prisoner in the United States. This is a situation that warrants a serious assessment of where we are and where we are going. If this legal precedent is set, we are in serious trouble in the months and years ahead.

All of this comes at a time when the Communist party here in the United States is openly defying the laws of the land that require it and its members to register with the Department of Justice. Apparently, and in contrast to the attitude in the Walker case, the Department of Justice is doing little or nothing about his defiance.

I was Counsel to the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee for five years and had to watch the way Communists were treated after their arrests under the Smith Act, the various espionage acts and related legislation. Not one hard core Khrushchev henchman was treated the way General Walker is being output if we have the wit and the courage to admit our mistakes and change our policies as indicated.

ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There are significant new signs that Russia is making secret military preparations both at sea and on land for a Berlin showdown next month.

Soviet submarines have been observed for the first time operating in wolfpacks in the North Atlantic.

Nine wolfpacks, each comprising six to ten submarines, were spotted and put under surveillance by U.S. and British naval units during Russia's recent North Atlantic maneuvers.

This six-week naval exercise produced more than 140 Soviet submarine sightings and contacts by British ships alone. They identified 34 as missile-firing subs.

Significantly, two nuclear-powered submarines took part in the maneuvers — the largest Russia has ever undertaken in the Atlantic. One of these A-boats was photographed by a British submarine in waters less than 100 miles from the U.S. Coast, northeast of Boston.

A second Soviet A-boat was photographed by a British naval plane on the surface near Iceland. It was identified as a Polaris-type submarine, capable of firing three IRBMs while submerged.

This British photograph is the first indisputable evidence the West has been able to obtain showing that Russia has succeeded in building a missile-firing submarine similar to our Polaris. The photograph supports Premier Khrushchev's address to the 22nd Congress of the Communist Party on October 17, 1961, when he boasted:

"Construction of a submarine fleet is proceeding successfully. It is being equipped with atomic engines and armed with ballistic as well as self-guiding (samanyodvashchivaya) rockets."

"Until now the submarine performed only tactical maneuvers. The new nuclear weapons and new propulsion systems make it possible for a submarine to go out onto the high seas and perform operational missions. The atomic submarine and its armament can destroy a large enemy naval base, a large industrial center, or an aircraft carrier formation."

MORE EVIDENCE — U.S. intelligence has gathered additional evidence of the existence of a Soviet "Polaris" missile-firing submarine. Two intermediate range ballistic missiles, launched from a submerged Russian sub in July, were tracked by radar by a U.S. nuclear submarine and by a long-range U.S. missile-tracking station.

One missile firing, watched by Premier Khrushchev, took place in the Barents Sea. The missile landed in the target area after traveling 1,600 miles — approximately the same range as the improved Polaris.

In addition to the swarm of submarines, more than 150 other Soviet naval vessels, ranging from heavy missile-firing cruisers to minesweepers, took part in this huge naval exercise. It covered an area of more than 2,000 miles and involved nearly 300 ships and submarines.

According to a British intelligence estimate, the maneuvers were designed primarily to test Soviet naval tactics against Western shipping in the North Atlantic in the event of war.

You may not agree with what General Edwin A. Walker says. You may feel that he should not have gone to Mississippi after the demonstrations had begun, just as some people feel that freedom riders from the north should not have carried their demonstrations into the south.

General Walker is concerned over our present policy of preparing to merge our military establishment with a U.N. Peace Force made up, for the most part, of nations hostile to our way of life particularly when the Assistant Secretary General in charge of disarmament and military affairs for the U.N. is the tough Soviet E. D. Kiselev. Walker has been a military man, a battlefield hero, and he feels it would be disastrous for the United States to dissolve the Army he served all his life, as our present policy provides for the years ahead.

Not The Issue

You may not agree with his concern on this or on his stand for states rights but whether you do or not, that is not the issue in the present Walker case. While General Walker was engaged in what he contends was a peaceable assembly in Mississippi, he was apprehended by United States marshals, charged with four crimes bearing on insurrection and sedition, not allowed to post bail, ordered by a federal judge to a federal mental prison for a sixty to ninety day period and as I write this, five days later, still denied the precious writ of habeas corpus.

When the federal judge ordered him to undergo psychiatric examination, Walker was not even in his jurisdiction. He had no lawyer present. It was a clear violation not only of the Statute but of General Walker's rights under the Constitution.

Political Prisoner

Thus, General Walker becomes the first political prisoner in the United States. This is a situation that warrants a serious assessment of where we are and where we are going. If this legal precedent is set, we are in serious trouble in the months and years ahead.

All of this comes at a time when the Communist party here in the United States is openly defying the laws of the land that require it and its members to register with the Department of Justice. Apparently, and in contrast to the attitude in the Walker case, the Department of Justice is doing little or nothing about his defiance.

I was Counsel to the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee for five years and had to watch the way Communists were treated after their arrests under the Smith Act, the various espionage acts and related legislation. Not one hard core Khrushchev henchman was treated the way General Walker is being

Soviet Sea, Land Maneuvers Warn of New Berlin Crisis: Polaris-type Russian Subs Photographed in Atlantic

WASHINGTON — There are significant new signs that Russia is making secret military preparations both at sea and on land for a Berlin showdown next month. Soviet submarines have been observed for the first time operating in wolfpacks in the North Atlantic. Nine wolfpacks, each comprising six to ten submarines, were spotted and put under surveillance by U.S. and British naval units during Russia's recent North Atlantic maneuvers.

This six-week naval exercise produced more than 140 Soviet submarine sightings and contacts by British ships alone. They identified 34 as missile-firing subs. Significantly, two nuclear-powered submarines took part in the maneuvers — the largest Russia has ever undertaken in the Atlantic. One of these A-boats was photographed by a British submarine in waters less than 100 miles from the U.S. Coast, northeast of Boston.

A second Soviet A-boat was photographed by a British naval plane on the surface near Ireland. It was identified as a Polaris-type submarine, capable of firing three IRBMs while submerged. This British photograph is the first indisputable evidence the West has been able to obtain showing that Russia has succeeded in building a missile-firing submarine similar to our Polaris.

The photograph supports Premier Khrushchev's address to the 22nd Congress of the Communist Party on October 17, 1961, when he boasted: "Construction of a submarine fleet is proceeding successfully. It is being equipped with atomic engines and armed with ballistic as well as self-guiding (samannavodnyashchivshaya) rockets."

"Until now the submarine performed only tactical maneuvers. The new nuclear weapons and new propulsion systems make it possible for a submarine to go out onto the high seas and perform operational missions. The atomic submarine and its armament can destroy a large enemy naval base, a large industrial center, or an aircraft carrier formation."

MORE EVIDENCE — U.S. intelligence has gathered additional evidence of the existence of a Soviet "Polaris" missile-firing submarine. Two intermediate range ballistic missiles, launched from a submerged Russian sub in July, were tracked by radar by a U.S. nuclear submarine and by a long-range U.S. missile-tracking station.

One missile firing, watched by Premier Khrushchev, took place in the Barents Sea. The missile landed in the target area after traveling 1,600 miles — approximately the same range as the improved Polaris.

In addition to the swarm of submarines, more than 150 other Soviet naval vessels, ranging from heavy missile-firing cruisers to minesweepers, took part in this huge naval exercise. It covered an area of more than 2,000 miles and involved nearly 300 ships and submarines.

According to a British intelligence estimate, the maneuvers were designed primarily to test Soviet naval tactics against Western shipping in the North Atlantic in the event of war.

The exercise was regarded as a Kremlin warning to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that their European supply lines are vulnerable and will be a Communist target in an East-West conflict.

ON THE LAND — In Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany, Warsaw Pact armies have either completed or are in the process of completing large-scale maneuvers.

Colonel General Marian Spychalski, Poland's Defense Minister, was in charge of the recent Polish army exercises, which were closely watched by Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, Soviet commander-in-chief of the Warsaw Pact forces.

This was the first time since the 1954 Poznan riots that a Polish General had been put in charge of such maneuvers. Soviet troops teamed up with Polish soldiers and airmen, and again with East Germans, in the maneuvers along the Czech-German-Polish frontiers. Other army exercises by Soviet bloc troops are planned for areas near West Berlin late in November.

Intelligence reports tell of increased conscription into the East German army, and heavy new shipments of Russian arms — including modern anti-aircraft rockets — into the area surrounding Berlin and the Allies' access corridors. These alarming reports have caused President Kennedy and his top aides to sound their warning that a new West Berlin crisis is approaching.

LOOKING FORWARD — Dr. Alberto Franco Nogueira, Portugal's Foreign Minister, has informed the State Department that Portuguese Angola will not cooperate in United Nations economic sanctions against Katanga's Moïse Bembo. The Angolan port of Benguela is one of the two major channels through which Katanga goods reach the outside world and through which military supplies are being funneled into Katanga. The other supply route is via northern Rhodesia. Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., in a Voice of America broadcast this week, said he fully supported the sale of a U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to France. He promised President Kennedy that he will work to obtain the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee's approval of the sale. Russia, in an effort to drum up support for a "peace conference" with East Germany, is trying to line up a headline-worthy group of countries to participate. Communist Dictator Tito of Yugoslavia was one of the first to agree to send a representative. Tentative date for the conference is December.

Meredith Is Starting 'Ole Miss' 4th Week

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Negro James H. Meredith, his phalanx of guards diminished to a handful of U. S. marshals and about 500 Army troops, today began his fourth week at the University of Mississippi.

He returned to Ole Miss late Sunday from a weekend off-campus, accompanied by several marshals. A jeep containing three soldiers also was in the vicinity.

Meredith said with a chuckle "I don't remember" when asked how he spent the weekend. He said, however, he did not see his wife, who attends a Negro college in Jackson.

The tree-lined, 114-year-old campus was quiet as students returned for classes. The 28-year-old Meredith will complete his first month of court-ordered and Army-backed enrollment this week.

Ministers of all North Mississippi Presbyterian churches Sunday read to their congregations a pastoral letter dealing with the crisis caused by Meredith's attendance.

"The spirit of hatred and strife which manifested itself is contrary to the spirit of Christ," the letter said in referring to the Sept. 30 rioting on the campus.

Adopted last week by the lay and clerical group, it admonished Presbyterians "to act only in those ways which promote order and peace and to urge their every influence to that end."

A minister here urged that Meredith be accepted by the community.

"Christians are commanded to treat all men with concern, interest and love," said Clifford A. McKay Jr., to his congregation at the First Presbyterian Church.

"In a closely knit interdependent society like ours," he said, "words can hurt, destroy and kill. In our freedom to debate and disagree, we are not free to destroy our friends or communities. We are not free to vent our hostility and our guilt upon some scapegoat. We are not free to shatter the bonds and respects of the past and thereby destroy the institutions and relationships that shall leave blots and wounds upon all our lives," McKay said.

Launch Site Work Near Completion

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI)—Construction is nearly complete on the launching center near Palestine and plans are underway to lift a $5 million telescope into the upper atmosphere via giant balloon.

The National Center for Atmospheric Research has reported that Princeton University is installing the telescope at the launching center, five miles west of Palestine.

The first launch is planned for early February. More than 140 scientists will be on hand to study data compiled in infra-red pictures of the planet Mars.

The balloon will carry its telescope and instrument payload to 80,000 feet and take pictures of Mars as the Red Planet approaches its closest point to earth.

The instruments will be returned to earth by parachute.

The launching project is directed by Dr. Martin Schwarzschild of the Princeton University observatory and is sponsored by the National Science Foundation, Office of Naval Research and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Foreign Commentary

Notes from the foreign news cables.

Danger signals:
Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's pronouncements against nuclear tests and the American naval base at Guantanamo have set off speculation in Paris that he soon will start campaigning for evacuation of French military bases in Algeria, including the Sahara and the French air and naval base at Mers-El-Kebir. Such a campaign would be to reopen the Evian agreements which led to Algerian peace and would endanger the whole program of French economic assistance to independent Algeria.

Summit?
Speculation that Premier Nikita Khrushchev might visit the United States already is leading to talk of summit sessions. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is thinking of a possible Washington trip if Khrushchev makes it. There also is talk of summit-level talks among Washington, London and Paris. De Gaulle is unlikely to attend but would be consulted either directly or through embassy channels. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is to visit Kennedy on Nov. 7 and his opinions also would be asked. Motivation against a four-power summit session: No results.

Sino-Indian border dispute:
Winter arrives shortly along the Sino-Indian frontier. In the past, the snow has choked off the fighting. But Red China's announcement that it will shoot down Indian aircraft "intruding into Chinese territory" may lead to aerial entanglements over the snow-bound mountain passes. The Communists claim the whole Himalayan range down to the plain of the Brahmaputra River. And with winter coming on, Indian supply planes likely will step up air drops to frontier posts.

SYMBOLS OF OUR BUSINESS

It may seem odd that a common broom or lowly safety pin should have any connection with the natural gas transmission business: They do, symbolically.

These two well-known items are emblematic of NGPL's constant programs of good housekeeping and safety.

At Company installations the NGPL folks keep lawns mowed, facilities painted and floors clutter-free. Everything is kept in working order. This good housekeeping is good safety practice, too, because it creates a desire to work harmoniously and efficiently with the least possible risk of injury. The folks at NGPL are proud of their good housekeeping and safety records. They regard them as tributes to the challenges which are being met by the NGPL team.
