Reds Warn Nuclear War Could Start Over Cuba

Political Uproar Develops Over JFK'S Visit To Houston Manned Space Center

Delay In Talks On Berlin Is Proposed

By WILLIAM J. FOX
United Press International

HOUSTON (UPI) — A political uproar developed in Texas today over President Kennedy's trip to see Houston's manned spacecraft center and examine a full-scale model of America's spaceship to the moon.

He will also make a speech billed as non-political, but Texas Republicans, making their strongest bid for governorship since the end of reconstruction, call the visit and speech political blackmail.

Kennedy will be met in Houston by Gov. Price Daniel and former Navy Secretary John Connally, the Democratic nominee in the November gubernatorial election. Jack Cox, the Republican nominee, denounced the Kennedy visit.

Pickets May Appear
Today, Cox' Houston campaign headquarters said it has learned of plans to picket the President's appearance "under the guise of Jack Cox supporters."

"We feel obligated... to go on record as saying this is a deliberate hoax to embarrass both our candidate and the Republican party," a campaign spokesman said.

The chief executive is due at International Airport at 6:25 p. m. The President will seldom be out of view in his two-day visit to Houston which calls for a public welcome, three long motor trips, a public speech and the visit to the manned spacecraft center headquarters.

When President Kennedy visits the center Wednesday he will be met by five astronauts. He will then see a full-scale model of the Apollo spacecraft lunar landing craft.

The President will speak for 20 minutes, presumably on science and space, then make a long motorcade to the center. Space lab personnel will give him a secret, 40-minute briefing concerning the progress of project research and development.

He will continue from there to the airport.

President Kennedy's visit to Texas will be the fifth by a President of the United States. Harris County officials have designated Wednesday until 1 p. m. as a holiday.

The Soviet Union warned the United States today that a nuclear world war could start over Cuba, but softened this with an offer to delay talks on Berlin and Germany until after the November election.

The two points were linked in a long statement read to more than 100 foreign correspondents at the Soviet Foreign Ministry in the latest Kremlin move in the cold war.

Moscow's threat of a nuclear holocaust followed by a few hours charges by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro that the United States is preparing to attack his country. Almost simultaneously, Havana announced that two Cuban ships and one British freighter were attacked by "private craft" armed by "imperialist America."

Russia said President Kennedy's call for standby authority to mobilize 150,000 reservists was part of "preparations for an aggressive act," and said an assault on Cuba "will be the beginning of the unleashing of war."

Military Alert
Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's government said it would not call up its own reserves, but said military leaders had been alerted "to take all measures to bring our armed forces into the highest state of combat readiness."

Despite the strong language used in the statement on Cuba, Western observers noted that Soviet leaders repeatedly have claimed the Berlin and German questions were the most important threats to world peace.

This view was reinforced by the fact that the Kremlin statement concluded on this conciliatory note:

"The Soviet government has declared more than once and declares now, we are stretching out a hand of friendship to the people and government of the United States."

Other developments: Republican National Chairman William Miller said that the United States should impose a total blockade of Cuba.

Prisoner Release
Attempts to negotiate the release of 1,100 prisoners captured in the abortive April 1961 Cuban invasion were caught up in the latest crisis, James B. Donovan, attorney for the Cuban Families Committee, said in New York today.

Private U. S. sources have offered his group medicine and food in "very substantial quantity" for use in the talks with Castro's regime.

BCD Statement Due Hearing At Meeting Tonight

A statement from Pampa Board of City Development was scheduled for delivery to Mayor E. C. Sidwell today following a meeting of the BCD last night.

According to E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, the statement relates to the proposed city ordinance which would establish the BCD as a city department the same as other tax-supported city governmental units.

Mayor Sidwell is expected to submit the statement to the city manager and other city commissioners at tonight's City Commission meeting, scheduled for 7 p. m. in City Hall.

The new ordinance, if adopted, would require monthly reports on BCD expenditures and accomplishments and would set forth that money spent by the department in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce be used for Pampa's industrial and business expansion.

In effect, the proposed ordinance would divorce the BCD and Chamber of Commerce, which have been operating as one unit for the past 34 years.

For its activities outside industrial and business promotion, the ordinance would make it necessary for the Chamber of Commerce to go on a basis of voluntary financial support from its members.

Also scheduled for tonight is a public hearing on the city's recommended budget of some $1,563,102 for fiscal 1963-64.

Slant Drill Probe To End Today

DALLAS (UPI) — A legislative hearing into alleged piracy of oil in some Texas oilfields was expected to end today.

"We plan to wind up in the afternoon," said Rep. Charles Ballman Jr., of Borger, chairman of the House General Investigating Committee. "Whether any more hearings will be necessary is up to the committee. Right now things are up in the air."

Eighteen East Texas oil operators and drilling contractors declined to testify Monday before the committee.

One witness pleaded the Fifth Amendment 43 times. Sixteen other witnesses, including two state judges, failed to appear. Six sent medical excuses.

At a previous hearing, the committee heard charges of widespread bribery of officials and theft of millions of dollars worth of oil in the rich East Texas Field — the world's largest.

A Slight Angle
Witnesses testified that some operators drilled wells at a slant to steal oil from neighboring leases.

J. S. McCubbin of Gladewater, an oil operator, pleaded the Fifth Amendment 43 times Monday. J. L. Patton of Tyler took the Fifth Amendment 13 times, J. K. Maxwell of Kilgore 9 times and W. T. Maxwell of Kilgore 5 times.

Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp of Longview, who appeared before the committee in Dallas last month, was reported to have been admitted to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for medical tests. He previously had testified he had no knowledge of two crooked wells in which he owned an interest but others operated. He said he would consider taking a lie detector test.

Gone Dove Hunting
An attorney for Dist. Judge David Moore of Gladewater said the judge went dove hunting before being notified that he was to have appeared.

L. D. Murphy, former district engineer for the Texas Railroad Commission at Kilgore, also failed to show up.

Ballman said further attempts would be made to subpoena the missing witnesses.

The main testimony Monday came from E. N. Martin of Austin, a handwriting expert for the State Department of Public Safety. He testified about a bank account in the name of Robert V. Jobe at Shreveport, La.

Pampa will send a delegation to Higgins Saturday to take part in the Will Rogers Day parade and celebration there.

Pampans also will attend the Friday night ceremonies when Will Rogers Jr. will be the principal speaker, following a barbecue for the public.

The Saturday delegation from Pampa is expected to leave City Hall at 9 a. m. Anyone wishing to make the trip is asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office and arrangements will be made for transportation.

Canadian Nursing Home Gets Grant

CANADIAN (Spl) — A grant of $152,000 for the Edward Abraham Memorial Nursing Home in Canadian has been approved by the Texas Board of Health, according to an announcement from Austin today.

The State Board approved a total of approximately $12-million for 24 projects under Hill - Burton funds.

The Hill - Burton construction program is designed to assist in the construction of non-profit nursing and hospital facilities up to 80 per cent of the total costs of building and equipment.

Program Topic Is Traffic Safety

E. E. Shelhamer, educational chairman for the City Traffic Commission, was guest speaker at the Altrusa Club luncheon meeting held Monday in the Coronado Inn.

Shelhamer described the main function of the Traffic Commission as "to help cut down on traffic accidents inside and outside the city limits of Pampa."

"Fifteen board members, appointed by the City Commission, comprise the Traffic Commission," he said. Five new board members are appointed each year; thus, leaving 10 old members to serve with the new members. The new members are elected for a three-year term.

"We meet the second Monday of each month and study traffic complaints, which have been turned in. The City Traffic Commission takes up and studies the complaints, which would ordinarily come before the City Commission."

The complaints are studied by an investigating committee; a recommendation is made and turned over to the City Commission. Then the commission either grants the recommendation or sends it back to us for further study.

"Traffic complaints, usually range from putting up stop signs; designating one-way streets; marking no parking or loading zones.

"Let me say here," Shelhamer advised, "do not make oral complaints to the City Commissioners nor City Traffic Commission. If you will state your complaint in a letter to Bob Hudson, Traffic Commission chairman, then the complaint will be taken up at our meetings, the second Monday of each month, and turned over to the investigating committee, which will then study it and make a recommendation."

"The Traffic Commission is made up of three committees; the investigating committee; the publicity committee; and the educational committee. We have several ex-officio members, who serve on the board; Chief of Police Jim Conner; City Manager Harold Schmitzer; City Attorney Bob Gordon; City Engineer Monroe Moore and Director of Public Works Jiggs Cook."

As educational chairman, Shelhamer commended the Altrusa (See PROGRAM, Page 4)

Fugitive Spy Dr. Robert Soblen Is Dead After Overdose Of Barbituates

LONDON (UPI) — Fugitive Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen died unconscious and in convulsions today, five days after taking a massive overdose of barbituates to foil his deportation to the United States.

The 61-year-old New York psychiatrist was pronounced dead at Hillingdon Hospital at 10:40 a. m. with his wife, Dina, at his side.

To all appearances, the Lithuanian-born espionage agent had taken a last desperate gamble and lost — miscalculating the effect of the sedatives he consumed in a final bizarre attempt to escape serving a life term in a U. S. federal prison.

Solomon Kaufman, the attorney who had waged his battles in court arrived at the hospital seconds after he expired.

Describes End
Dr. C. G. Barnes, consultant physician at the hospital, who had directed the fruitless battle to save Soblen's life through a five-day coma, told of the end.

"After a series of increasingly severe convulsions, Dr. Soblen died at 10:40 a. m.," Barnes said.

"His death was not due to drugs. It was due to exhaustion following convulsions which were due to brain damage."

Pampa Republicans, Demos Set To Leave For State Conventions

Gray County Democrats and Republicans are getting ready to take part in their annual state party conventions next week in Fort Worth and El Paso.

Delegations from both parties are set to pack their bags for the trips which will see them leaving Saturday and Sunday for the pre-convention activities in both the G. O. P. and Democratic camps on Monday and the actual convention sessions in the widely-separated cities on Tuesday.

The Republicans will meet in Fort Worth and the Democrats will be in El Paso.

Gray County's Democratic delegation of some 38 delegates and alternates will be headed by Jimmy Thompson, chairman of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee. Clayton Husted will head the Republican delegation of 22 delegates and alternates.

Husted is the G. O. P. County Executive Committee chairman. James A. Leonard, executive director of the Republican Party of Texas, said in Austin today that all sessions of the Republican State Convention will be held in the Hotel Texas at Fort Worth.

The Republican activities will begin with public hearings before the Pre-Convention Platform Committee at 2 p. m. Sunday. The G. O. P. Executive Committee meets at 10 a. m. Monday and the first session of the convention opens at 9:15 a. m. Tuesday. The Democratic convention in El Paso is expected to follow much the same pattern.

Among the Democratic activities on Monday preliminary to the general convention Tuesday in the El Paso County Coliseum, will be three separate fund-raising dinners scheduled for Monday night.

Husted today released the names of the Republican delegation as follows: Delegates — Clayton Husted, chairman; Mrs. James Brown, Gris Rogers, Mrs. Warren Fatheree, Charles Norton, Dr. Smith B. Sypert, James Campbell, Hobart Fatheree, David Fatheree, W. A. Morgan and Mrs. Lois Wilson. Alternates — George Crow, James Brown, Leonard Glass, Mrs. Gris Rogers, Walter Stein, Jack Skelly, W. D. Price Jr., Mrs. Mary Sue Black, Mrs. Henry Gruben and H. H. Hish.

60th Birthday Event Slated

Tentative plans were made today to hold a 60th Birthday Celebration in Pampa at a meeting of the Retail Merchants Committee at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Activities discussed for the celebration were a three-day sales promotion by retail stores, an "Old Timers Parade," an amateur show, and a western jamboree. Dates suggested for the affair are Oct. 24 through Oct. 27.

Christmas activities were also discussed including the annual Christmas Parade and the Christmas season night opening hours. Retail stores will remain open until 8 p. m. from Dec. 15 through Dec. 24.

Another meeting to work out details of the birthday celebration and Christmas activities will be held Friday at 10 a. m. in the Chamber offices, according to Lou Troja, acting chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee. He urged that all members try to attend and also bring a friend.

Girl Scouts Have Over 800 Girls In Pampa And Lefors Programs

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of seven articles about agencies which are supported through the Pampa - Lefors United Fund and the various activities they perform. This year's drive to collect $76,600 will begin Tuesday, Sept. 25, with a kick-off breakfast at 7 a. m. in the Coronado Inn.)

In Pampa and Lefors, Girl Scouting is supported through United Fund contributions. All of the money is used in the Council's program of promoting the Girl Scout program here, with none of it going to the national organization.

There are 788 girls registered in Girl Scouting in 49 troops, while Lefors has 31 girls in 3 troops.

Girl Scouting is more than a club — it is a way of living. The Promise and Laws provide the driving force behind the movement and its program and is subscribed to by every girl and adult in Scouting.

Helping others, giving service whenever and wherever it is needed, working with the group toward a common goal, developing qualities of leadership and learning to work under another's leadership are all packed into the Girl Scout program.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: One of the more recent provocative contributions to dialogue about presidential "image" has come from a Roman Catholic nun, Sister Mary Paul Paye. She is on leave from College Misericordia at Dallas, Pa., for graduate study of mass communications at Syracuse University.

Sister Mary Paul, writing in the nation, thinks the American public is being dangerously over-exposed to the superficial charms of President Kennedy and his family. Furthermore, she puts most of the blame on the press. Her article which has been analyzed nationally, said at the outset:

"The gentleman smiles; The youngster slides up to a pony on the lawn, the lovely lady bows. Cameras click, tape-machines whirl, and the American public is exposed again to that dangerous phenomenon: The personality cult of the President. I protest — vehemently, vigorously, apolitically and almost alone."

Nun Advances Proposals
Sister Mary Paul recommended several antidotes, among them a greater emphasis in the newspapers and on radio and television to news and features of "inherent value" rather than "the social affairs of the First Lady" and similar stories of so-called human interest appeal.

"The White House — elections or no elections — should guard itself more stringently against frivolous reporting," is another recommendation by Sister Mary Paul.

While the nun's stature as an authoritative critic of the presidency seems to stand largely on publicity which her article received, she came unwittingly close to expressing feelings sometimes heard within the first family and its circle of intimates.

The President and his wife, for example, would like far less public attention paid to their recreational pursuits. They'd be much happier if reporters and photographers ignored yacht cruises and water skiing.

In fairness to the President, however, it must be reported that he accepts a certain amount of this type of news coverage as inevitable. His wife is not quite as philosophical, but she does cooperate at times in presenting to the world public pictures of herself and her children at play.

Critics of the manner in which the President and his family are reported and photographed at such places as Hyannis Port, Newport and Palm Beach might ask themselves several test questions:

—Do they think the newspapers should have kept quiet about the golf and trout fishing of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower? Or his taste for weekends at Gettysburg, Augusta and the quail fields of south Georgia; and Newport?

—What sort of political climate would exist should all outlets of information — press, radio and television — cooperate in withholding news of any Presidential activity other than matters involving national security?

—Would these same critics want the White House, under any other administration, to be in the position of being able to determine what should and should not be printed about a President and his family?

BOUND TO COME
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It had to happen. Someone has invented a gimmick to bore square holes. A government pamphlet Sunday listed the device among 183 new inventions.

LEON F. MONTAGUE ... to speak here

Rotary Club Will Hear Past Officer

Leon F. "Monty" Montague, a past officer of Rotary International, will be guest speaker at the Pampa Rotary Club's noon luncheon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Montague is an old Kansas cowboy who has long been interested in beautiful lawns and is now traveling and speaking through the courtesy of Scotts, Marysville, Ohio.

He started his education in a one-room school. This led to degrees of bachelor of science and master of science from Kansas State University, graduate work at Harvard University, and membership in Phi Kappa Phi national honorary scholastic society.

He was reared on a cattle ranch and spent his early years raising Purebred Hereford cattle. On one of his Kansas farms during the 30's, he grew five million tree seedlings annually for the government's dust bowl shelter belt project.

"Monty" has been a Rotarian for 30 years, serving as president of the Rotary Club of Abilene, Kansas, and as governor of his Rotary district. Prior to becoming a member of the staff of Rotary International, he had organized 17 Rotary clubs and has visited Rotary clubs in 48 states of the U.S.A. and in 17 other countries.

Since his retirement from the world headquarters staff of Rotary International on June 30, 1950, Montague has spoken to more than 50,000 business and professional leaders in major cities throughout the United States and Canada.

Officials In Amarillo For Convention

Gray County Judge Bill Craig and four county commissioners were in Amarillo today attending the Panhandle meeting of the County Judges and Commissioners' Association.

Scheduled to present the main address was John Connolly, Democratic candidate for governor. Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa, who is seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket for Representative of the 18th Congressional District, was also on hand for the convention.

Approximately 75 judges and commissioners had registered for the meeting which will include election of officers for the coming year.

Commissioners attending from Gray County include Joe Clarke, Lefors, Precinct 1; Nat Lunsford, Pampa, Precinct 2; J. M. McCracken, Groom, Precinct 2; and Truitt Johnson, McLean, Precinct 4.

Both Husted and Thompson said they knew of nothing special that the local delegations would initiate at either of the conventions but said they would be ready to participate in the various platform discussions and other convention activities.

Husted said the Gray County group planned to attend a Republican Rally Monday afternoon and a G.O.P. "GO" Party set for Monday night.

Chairman Thompson stated that the Democrats from Gray County also were planning to take part in pre-convention activities of their party on Monday prior to the opening of the convention Tuesday forenoon.

Three Cases Of Theft Reported

There are 210 adults working with the 49 troops in Pampa and in Lefors there are 10 adults working with the three troops, as leaders, assistant leaders and troop committee members.

Many other adults serve as Council officers, board members, members of board committees. Pampans serving in this manner include Mrs. J. B. Maguire, Jr., second vice-president; Mrs. Jas. P. Brumley, secretary; Mr. Paul Keim, treasurer; Mrs. Bob Andis; Mr. T. M. Whiteley, Mr. B. M. Behrman, Mrs. James Scholl, Mrs. Herschel Wilks board members-at-large; Mrs. Eugene Turner, chairman of District II.

The Quivira Council employs a professional staff of four persons, at present, who help the volunteer workers to learn their jobs, to help give training, to be informed and ready to give advice on all phases of Girl Scouting, to help organize areas of the Council now without Girl Scouting and to perform such other duties as requested by the board of directors. Members of the professional staff are Mrs. Marian Osborne,

Underwriters Planning For School Here

Plans for a Life Underwriters Training Council school were outlined at a monthly meeting of Top O' Texas Life Underwriters Monday in Poole's Steak House.

Instructor for the first part of this year's school will be Preston Cox, president of the TOTLU, and instructor for the second section will be Al Kelly, assistant manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. at Borger.

Eighteen members and guests attended yesterday's luncheon including three new members, Woody Tinney and Gene Fort of Prudential Life, and James McCarty, staff manager of National Life & Accident Insurance Co.

Diplomas were awarded to the following who completed a two-year course of LUTC School: Robert Barnett, Walter Burkhardt, Preston Cox, Jack Frost, Robert Gabel, Homer Gibson, Josh Hopkins, Al Kelly and Weldon Lewis.

Rites Slated For Former Pampan

Funeral services for Ed W. Jones, former long-time Pampa resident, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Long Beach, Calif., where the Joneses have made their home for the past 17 years.

Mr. Jones died unexpectedly Sunday at his home, 320 Prospect Ave., in Long Beach. Survivors are his wife, Pearl, and three daughters, Mrs. Oletha Ward of Long Beach; Mrs. Etha Garlington, Saratoga, Calif., and Mrs. Martha Post of Midland, Texas.

Mr. Jones came to Pampa in the mid-20s and resided here until 1945 when the family moved to California.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's guidelines for dealing with the problem of Communist Cuba seem now to be firmly established.
The basic Kennedy policy is that the United States urgently seeks the cooperation of Latin American in dealing with Cuba. That cooperation is being sought through the Organization of American States (OAS). If the OAS will not come along, Kennedy probably would try to persuade individual Latin American republics to become associated with whatever may need to be done with respect to Cuba.
Basic Policy
That is basic U. S. policy. It is basic because the cooperation of Latin America would blunt Communist propaganda accusing the United States of Yankee imperialism. Much of the world, but Latin America especially, is susceptible to that kind of propaganda.
Kennedy cannot permit Latin America, however, to enjoy a veto power on U. S. Cuban policy merely by refusing to cooperate. National security and domestic politics require that when the time comes, Kennedy must move, whether the Latin Americans lating to the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The presence in Cuba of offensive ground-to-ground missiles. Any other significant offensive capability in control of either Russians or Cubans.
You may be sure that this statement of Kennedy guidelines for action is being examined in depth by the Russians. The Kremlin could test the President's determination by bringing about any one or all of the conditions which Kennedy said must not be permitted to develop.
Reason Enough
National security would be reason enough for Kennedy to react aggressively if the Russians decided to test his will. But the Russians should not overlook U. S. domestic politics in their calculation of Kennedy's course if the conditions he cited came about.
Cuba is becoming a prime issue in this year's congressional election. The thought that politics ends at the water's edge is nonsense. A Kennedy policy successfully tagged as appeasement or of weakness toward Cuba would be politically disastrous for the Democratic Party.
Kennedy has drawn a guideline beyond which he has said the Cubans, the Russians and their associates may not trespass.
In a test of wills, the necessities of national security and of domestic politics require that Kennedy move with everything he commands to make his will prevail.

move with him or sit it out.
That time will have come when any one of several conditions exist in Cuba. The conditions that would demand U. S. action with or without Latin American cooperation were clearly stated by the President on Sept. 4. They were:
Any effort by Fidel Castro to export by force or threat or force his aggressive purposes.
Organization in Cuba of a combat force from any Soviet bloc nation.
Establishment of a Russian military base in Cuba.
Violation of the 1934 treaty re-

Homecoming Is Scheduled At Lefors

LEFORS (Sp) — Homecoming for Lefors High School students is set for Sept. 29, with the homecoming football game between the Pirates and the Stratford team.
The committee, headed by Bob Clemmons as president, met recently to make plans for the event.
Approximately six hundred invitations have been mailed to students.
The menu for the meal is barbecued beef, which will be served in the cafeteria following the business meeting and crowning of homecoming King and Queen. The meal prices have been changed to a $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children and not more than $4.50 per family.
Other members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vincent, Mrs. Bob Clemmons, Mrs. James Gatlin, and Eddy Clemmons.

the budget figures will hinge on developments over the BCD Chamber of Commerce issue and also the decision on whether Pampa will employ the use of police dogs in the city police department.
Several other matters including paving, salvage bids and parking meters are scheduled for discussion at tonight's meeting which will be the first to be held in the city commission's new meeting place on the second floor of City Hall.

Pampa Little Theater's December Play Cast; Rehearsals Will Start

John Callarman, director for Pampa Little Theater's December play, "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams, announced Monday night, at the group's meeting, that the roles had been cast in the play.
Miss Martha Marsh has been cast in the role of Laura, the emotionally crippled young daughter of Amanda, the pseudo-aristocratic mother, who lives in the "southern belle" days of the past to be played by Mrs. Lon Hickman.
The two male roles will be taken by Don Pope as Tom, Laura's poetic brother, and Dale Walker will play Tom's friend, as the "All-American" athlete.
The play will go into immediate rehearsals for presentation Dec. 21-22 in the Pampa High School auditorium.
Season tickets for the four productions planned by PLT during the current season are now on sale and include the December play, "The Glass Menagerie."
At the Monday night meeting, the three other plays to be included in the current season were reviewed by the directors who will present them.
In March, Jack O. Miller will direct a musical farce, "Manana Is Another Day" written by Theo-

Bankston described his feelings at being stopped with "What have I done now?"
"It was a pleasant surprise," he said, "to be stopped and asked if I minded being nominated as a courteous driver. I feel that courtesy more than anything else is safety first in action."
During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Loren Locke, president, Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Public Affairs chairman announced that articles of clothing and bedding for "Christmas In September" project for the Colored Day Nursery should be brought to the Sept. 24 meeting.
Mrs. Irl Smith reported that the next program will be on "Cooperation and By-Laws."
Mrs. C. G. Gillespie was introduced as a special guest.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Canada's tall, gray-haired Prime Minister John Diefenbaker is a prairie lawyer who has been described as having an almost mystical belief in an almost mystical institution.

That institution is the commonwealth of nations formerly known as the British commonwealth whose 13 independent member nations represent more than half a billion people on nearly every continent of the globe.

As a champion of this family of nations bound by no legal ties but only by past association with Britain, it was natural then that Diefenbaker should take over leadership of those who fear its imminent dissolution.

His target as commonwealth prime ministers assembled in London was Britain's effort to join the European Common Market, a six-nation super-market at present composed of France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands.

Political Unity
The ultimate goal of "The Six" is European political unity as well as economic.

Those who oppose British entry do so on both counts. They fear the end of the commonwealth as a force for world stability and they fear for the effect on their own economies should Britain disappear behind a common European tariff wall.

In Diefenbaker's mind there also undoubtedly was more than the question of the commonwealth as a powerful, although somewhat intangible, world force.

Most commonwealth foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactures enter Britain free of duty. Canada exports $1 billion worth of goods a year to the United Kingdom and under the present system enjoys a highly favorable trade balance.

Campaign Started
Diefenbaker lost no time over the weekend in launching his campaign.

He suggested the prime ministers' conference find a plan to vastly increase commonwealth trade and thus provide Britain with an "alternative" to the common market.

But actually there were few who believed Diefenbaker could change Britain's course.

Britain has said that if she is forced to choose between the commonwealth and the common market, she will decide for the commonwealth. But there was also the uncomfortable conclusion that Britain neither could provide the growing outlet that commonwealth producers need, nor were commonwealth markets growing fast enough to absorb all the goods that Britain must export.

Records Are Important In Tax Matters

Keeping proper records of travel expenses for federal tax deduction purposes is a vital matter in the life of Mr. Hard Working Businessman — be he self-employed, or corporation employee.

Ellis Campbell Jr., Internal Revenue Service Dallas district director, has more helpful tips — especially for the man who travels using his personal car, taxis, or other public transportation for business trips.

"Business trip records should include: dates, places and business purpose of travel; transportation cost for each trip; number of days away from residence overnight; itemized statement listing total costs for meals, lodging, baggage, cab fares, and such; receipts for large expenditures; how paid — by cash, credit card, check, or direct charge to employer; and last but far from least," Campbell said, "personal expenses for vacation, or wife, should be separated and by no means included as business travel expenses."

The district director added, "The businessman using his personal car for transportation should indicate business connection and purpose of all business trips; keep total mileage and copies of all car-expense bills; as well as method of payment of expenses — by cash, credit card, or check."

"When in doubt," Campbell concluded, "telephone or visit the nearest IRS office and remember," he reminded, "reliable record keeping during the year will make that April 15 chore a much easier one for all concerned."

The Lighter Side

On Legislator's Adjectives

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When President Kennedy sent his foreign aid message to Congress this year, officials of the program were encouraged by the reaction of Rep. Otto E. Passman.

His optimism was based on the fact that Passman denounced the message as "preposterous."

To you and me, this might seem like faint cause for rejoicing. But to the foreign and officials, "preposterous" seemed a milder expletive than Passman normally employs.

He normally denounces the foreign aid budget as either "idiotic" or "asinine."

Some of the officials even entertained the hope that the Louisiana Democrat was softening his opposition to this type of spending. They found out, however, that you can't judge Passman by his adjectives.

Favorite Pastime
A new volume of hearings on the foreign aid program was published today by its House appropriations subcommittee. It shows that knitting hairshirts for witnesses attempting to explain aid operations is still a favorite Passman pastime.

One exchange that hooked my attention came when the chairman and his colleagues discovered that the U. S. government was sending aid to Yugoslavia under one part of the program and aiding refugees from Yugoslavia under another part.

"Are we not finding ourselves supporting all factions?" inquired Passman.

"On what basis do you justify aiding refugees from a country that we are aiding financially?" chimed in Rep. George W. Andrews, D-Ala.

"I am afraid I cannot answer that on the record, Mr. Chairman," replied Richard R. Brown, director of the refugee program, who was in the witness chair at the time.

U.S. Has Them
Passman then pointed out that "even in the United States we have refugees."

"You could just about justify a refugee program for Louisiana because Texas emigrants had gone into Louisiana," he said. "Would it not work that way?"

"I do not think so," Brown responded.

Personally, I think the administration is missing a good thing by not bringing Louisiana into the program. That might be one type of foreign aid that Passman would pass.

Basis of Radio
Henrich Hertz, in 1887, showed that waves emitted by an electric spark produced another spark in a nearby loop of wire and these "Hertzian waves" are the basis of radio.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In his debut Monday as permanent host of NBC-TV's "Today" show, Hugh Downs ended an interview with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy with this farewell:

"Give my regards to Ethel and the children."

So I suppose we'd better like Hugh—or else. Well, let's see. He is loyal, trustworthy, helpful, friendly, courteous and kind. He is also sincere, upright, hard-working, dedicated, experienced and personable.

What ain't he got? Well, a public attitude, for one thing. And unless things change sharply, one suspects the daily two-hour morning program will be putting a lot of people to sleep instead of waking them up. In words of one syllable, it was dull.

A host without an attitude is just an announcer. Television's most successful hosts—Arthur Godfrey, Jack Paar and Dave Garroway among them—have had a point of view, for better or worse.

But the fact is, Downs is still mainly a polite announcer. Anyone who watched him as Paar's sidekick on "Tonight" knows his value stemmed entirely from his boss' tongue-in-cheek attitude toward his monotone explanations of anything and everything. When guest hosts on "Tonight" adopted a straightforward attitude toward Hugh, he was amusing no more.

Downs' "Today" cohorts—Jack Lescoulie, Pat Fontaine and Frank Blair—gave their all to their new boss Monday. But for a while, it seemed like "The Jack Lescoulie Show" with Hugh Downs. And a good thing too. Lescoulie kept things going with zest, filling Hugh in.

Downs succeeds John Chancellor as "Today" host—with Chancellor going back to the news staff.

I have not given up on Hugh, however. Once upon a time, at Ciro's restaurant in Hollywood, sedate movie producer Darryl Zanuck arose from his seat at a party and started swinging from a trapeze used in earlier entertainment. Downs may yet find his trapeze and start swinging.

On ABC-TV's "Who Do You Trust?" Monday, comedian Woody Woodbury replaced Johnny Carson, who will take over the "Tonight" show Oct. 1. "Who Do You Trust?" is a daytime quiz

Powell Sings Better Than Most, Even When He's Got Laryngitis

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television viewers will see Dick Powell, vintage 1937, next Fall when he dons a uniform and sings an "Anchors Aweigh" type song for the first time in years.

And, even with a case of laryngitis, he sounds better than many of today's vocalists. During Powell's early Hollywood career, Powell sang in uniform so often that he risked not being recognized wearing civvies.

The last time Powell sang was in 1961, but that was for a recording session, nothing like the marching musicals which featured him wearing Army, Navy and Marine uniforms before World War II.

Powell's latest service stint was for a part in "Ensign O'Toole", the new series being filmed by his Four Star Television.

He played a Navy Chief Petty Officer named "Powell, Richard E" who auditions for a service-men's show.

Before filming his scene, Powell complained about laryngitis and an assistant director was sent for cough drops.

"I thought of bringing one of my old records to take the place of my voice," he said. "But the record was made with a band and we're just using a piano for this number."

After trying to sing the cobwebs out of his throat, Powell reported for work. He was ready, but his voice seemed reluctant.

However, once cameras started rolling and a pianist played "The Song of the Marines" from Powell's 1937 movie "The Singing Marine," Powell came back like an old firehorse.

Standing in a beribboned uniform, he struck up a rousing rendition of his old "Marines" bit, singing "We're Showing Right Off" and bidding farewell to "Sally and Sue."

"I had been 25 years since Powell sang that song in a picture and neither time nor laryngitis marred his return to uniform."

When he finished singing, he received a round of applause from other actors, directors, technicians and visitors who dropped by for the event.

The privilege of singing the old tune cost Powell's firm $50, paid to Warner Bros. studio, which owns "Marines."

DALLAS (UPI)—The Collins Radio Co. earned $2,675,000 or $1.20 per common share for the fiscal year ended July 31. Sales in 1962 were $208 million, compared with $216 million in 1961.

Asthma and Hay Fever Relief Comes in Minutes...and Lasts For Hours

Tiny Tablet Now Available Without Prescription!
New York, N. Y. (Special)—Medical Science has developed a new, tiny tablet that not only stops asthma spasms, but brings relief to those who suffer from hay fever attacks. Authoritative tests proved this remarkable compound brings relief in minutes—and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms. This fast-acting formula is prescribed by doctors for their private patients who suffer from asthma or hay fever. And now sufferers can obtain this formula—without prescription in most states.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Trove Of Helps

In "Gift" Drawer
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR GIRLS — My "gift drawer" is both a time and money saver. There is always some little treasure tucked away for the unexpected wedding gift or almost-forgotten birthday. Throughout the year, I purchase attractive things on sale or unusual items that might be hard to find when on an order for specific people ahead of time when a special price is offered. It really beats last minute rushing when one is likely to grab just anything to end the shopping.

POLLY
DEAR POLLY — If you want to paint stair-treads and must use them meanwhile, paint every other one and let them dry. Then paint the remaining steps.

R.C.H.
DEAR POLLY — I hope someone has a tip for removing the labels from cups, pans, etc. they seem to be applied with a gummy substance of some sort that is very hard to remove.

MRS. K. B.

Any suggestions, girls? The best I can offer is to try soaking the labels in water to which vinegar has been added.

POLLY
DEAR POLLY — Before driving nails for picture hooks, first see where the nails for the baseboards were driven. Nails for baseboards are always put in the studs which give support that the plaster alone fails to provide.

MRS. J. G.
DEAR POLLY — To tie tight, secure packages to be mailed use wet string, it shrinks as it dries and thus gets tighter.

MRS. W. H. F.

Polly awards a shiny silver dollar for every idea she selects for publication. In the event of duplication, the first to reach her will get the Polly Dollar. Polly receives hundreds of suggestions, all of them to be checked for originality and practicality. Only a few of the best, can be used.

Out of town guests were Norris and ZoJuanna Spurgeon of Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Sargent, Ailyn, Norman and Nathan of Stinnett; Mrs. Orville Franklin and Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Butler and Chris, all of White Deer; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Culver; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Nix, all of Groom; Mrs. Allen Young, Lonnie and Patricia of Skellytown; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tipton of Dumas; Mrs. Allan L. Smith of Richmond, Va. was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry G. Franklin were honored on the occasion of their Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary with a reception in their home, 513 N. Magnolia, by their children, Miss Jean Franklin of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Purgason of Lubbock.

In the receiving line were the honorees, Mrs. Franklin wore a corsage of silver and white split carnations; Mr. Franklin, a white carnation boutonniere.

Mrs. Norris Spurgeon of Clarendon, who had served Mrs. Franklin as maid of honor at the wedding 25 years ago, was guest registrar. She wore a corsage of pink split carnations as did the honorees' two daughters.

B. A. Franklin, father of one of the honorees, and Carl Tipton, who had served as best man at the wedding, wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Background music during the reception was provided by Miss Donna Marie Smith of Groom, niece of the couple.

The refreshments table was appointed with a silver and white cloth centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional bridal figurines.

The Mature Parent

Father's Lie... Should Be Confessed

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Several week ends ago my husband lied to our 13-year-old boy. He promised to buy him a boat which a neighbor at our lake cottage wanted to sell. After talking it over, we both realized that the boy doesn't swim well enough to take the boat out. So my husband told him that the neighbor had sold it for more money. As we do not make a habit of lying to our youngsters, we are troubled by the way my husband handled this, although there is no possibility that the child will discover the falsehood.

ANSWER: I believe in telling the truth as nearly as we know it. Especially to children.

Your husband's purpose in lying was protection, wasn't it? It was born of the wish to protect him, not only against possible danger but against hurt to his pride as a swimmer. It is a lie to accept as understandable — as well as mistaken. It should be confessed, I think, without any sense of guilt.

Unless, of course, your husband requires himself to present an example of moral perfection. Since he is not perfect, he has no right to try to present an example of moral perfection to his child. I congratulate him on the conscience that is insisting he acknowledge the understandable weaknesses that produced his lie.

As children will understand the temptation to parade themselves as bigger and better than they are, they are experienced in the understanding of lies. They treat our confessions of falsehood more generously than we are accustomed to receive their confessions to us.

Indeed, the confession of a lie we have told a son or daughter can be the beginning of new love between us.

As I have already suggested, the only example any parent should want to give a child is the example of his own moral struggles.

Those of us who claim to offer an example of moral perfection are never loved. We only discover what frauds we are. Then we are remorselessly hated, not because our weaknesses have been exposed but because we have pretended not to have any. To children this is often the unforgiven sin.

It is fine for a child to be told that we have fallen into weaknesses. Our confession of it says to him, "You see, like you I am a person who still has growth to make."

I hope that your husband tells his boy that he lied to him.

Recent Latin American Visitor Gives Photographic Narration For Guild Meet

Miss Inez Clubb, who has recently returned from a tour of Latin American countries gave interesting "Observations of Life in Latin America," at the recent meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild-meeting held in the home of Mrs. Laura Penick, 1810 Chestnut.

Following an introduction by Mrs. Grace Boston, Miss Clubb showed pictures of her own making of the natives and the country side. She stated "Even though the Latin American countries have electricity, it is very inadequate. The buildings do not have sufficient heat and the farms in Chile use outdated farming implements. The homes of the more primitive peoples are very meager."

"One of the most popular drinks is Mate made from the leaf of a tree," she said. "It looks and tastes very much like our tea. Peru raises beautiful long staple cotton, which is a most impressive sight to the tourist."

Mrs. Diana Wood gave meditations following the program.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Laura Penick, president, year books were distributed and discussion was held relating to the study and programs for the ensuing year.

Misses Ila Poole, Grace Boston, Laura Penick, Ivo Denison and Rachael Jones, Maggie Smith and Ethel Stilwell, reported on the Mt. Sequoia Retreat. Mrs. Larlar Wilkerson gave a report on the Ceta Canyon retreat. Miss Pool, conference secretary, was given praise for the exceptional planning done for this meeting.

Attending, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. Mildred Cook, Mattie Fountain, Doris Fish, Emma Ogden, Frankie White, Ethel Johnson; Misses Lillian Mullinax, Margaret Wilkerson, Alma Wilson. Mrs. Carrie Stallings was welcomed as a guest.

Austin Parents To Have Orientation Program At School

Stephen F. Austin PTA will hold its first meeting of the 1962-63 unit year on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium with the unit president, Mrs. S. E. Syper, presiding.

Mrs. George Cree Jr., immediate past president of PTA City Council, will give a brief talk on the goals and objectives of PTA. The program will also include an introduction of the Stephen F. Austin teaching staff; at which time each teacher will be presented with a corsage and a PTA membership.

Following the business meeting, parents will be dismissed to their children's rooms where they will hear an orientation talk by the teachers. Each teacher will outline for the parents just what she plans to accomplish during the year; what she expects from the child, and what the child can expect from her. Any questions the parents might have will be welcome following this talk.

A nursery will be provided for younger children, and there will be a movie in the cafeteria for those children five years old and over.

Kitchen Drydger Doesn't Pay Off

Every now and then some man complains in print that today's housewife has lost all pride in cooking. There may be some truth in the statement. But it is no wonder if she has.

Let her spend hours in the kitchen making a cake by grandma's favorite recipe and some guest is sure to ask her what cake mix she used.

Let her whip up a truly delicious sauce or a delectable dessert and someone is sure to moan about all the calories in it.

Let her make a batch of homemade rolls and she'll find that practically everyone at the table has enough strength of character to take only one or none and the poor weak person who takes two or three is sure to give her an accusing look for providing so much temptation.

Let her start talking food or recipes to other women and she will know from their half-hearted attention that she should be talking about something really important and stimulating, and not be making noises like a housewife.

Let her confess that she makes home-made bread or jams or jellies and other women will say condescendingly, "My dear, how do you find the time for putting in the kitchen?"

So how can a woman manage to take much pride today in being a good cook when nobody wants to talk about cooking, except in terms of short cuts, and practically no one over 12 years of age can look at food without accusingly counting calories? And despite all the diet cook books, a good cook can't create masterpieces while concentrating on calories.

Dear Abby letters for this week were lost in transit. This column will appear as soon as an additional copy is received.

Major League Roundup

Chance Repays Club 'In Spades'

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

They say sparing the rod spoils the child but in Bill Rigney's case apparently made a star pitcher of an over-grown choir boy named Dean Chance.

Chance is the 21-year-old right-hander who went nightclubbing last night with Bo Belinsky and almost a ticket to the minors for the spade. Rigney reconsidered at the last moment, and the fireballer Chance has repaid that confidence in spades.

Dean, a strapping 6-foot, 3-inch, 200-pounder, pitched a one-hitter Monday night as the Los Angeles Angels beat the Minnesota Twins, 9-1, and remained in the thick of the American League race. The Angels remained four games behind the second-place Twins.

Chance yielded the Twins' only run in the eighth inning with a scratch eighth-inning homer. He struck out nine batters and walked two in raising his season record to 13-8 and narrowly missing the sixth no-hitter of the season. Jim Fregosi and George Thomas homered to lead the Angels' seventh-hit attack.

Changes Made

Rigney recalls how he changed a mind when he was about to send Chance to Dallas-Ft. Worth of the American Association.

"He asked me for one more chance," says Rigney. "And I told him, 'Okay, but when you're pitching just remember how close you came to pitching in the minors instead of the majors.'"

The Yankees increased their AL lead to 3½ games over the Twins with a 3-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers while the Los Angeles Dodgers held their half-game National League lead by downing the Chicago Cubs, 8-1, after the San Francisco Giants ran their winning streak to six games with a 4-1 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Chicago White Sox beat the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, in other AL games. In the other NL action, the Milwaukee Braves downed the New York Mets, 5-2, and the Cincinnati Reds whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3.

Mantle Hits 400th

Hector Lopez' ninth-inning single broke a 1-1 tie for the Yankees and gave Ralph Terry his 21st win. Mickey Mantle, who earlier belted a 440-foot drive into the center field bleachers at Tiger Park for the 400th homer of his career, scored an insurance run in the ninth on an infield out.

Tommy Davis hit a grand slam homer and Maury Wills stole three bases to raise his total to 88—second highest in modern major league history—to pave the way for Don Drysdale's 24th win for the Dodgers. Drysdale fanned eight and pitched a three-hit shut-out for eight innings with rookie Jack Smith finishing up. Wills' season stolen-base total is exceeded in modern history only by Ty Cobb's 96 thefts in 1915.

Billy O'Dell's five-hitter and Willie Mays' 43rd homer enabled the Giants to add momentum to their late pennant drive. Chuck Hiller also homered and Felipe Alou had two hits for the Giants, who tagged the Pirates' Harvey Maddix with his sixth loss against nine victories.

Ray Herbert pitched a 10-hitter and doubled home a run himself to win his 16th game for the White Sox. Luis Aparicio had three hits for the White Sox and Gino Cimoli and Wayne Causey had two each for the Athletics.

Hits Pinch Single

Pinch hitter Dick Williams singled with the bases filled in the 12th inning to give Baltimore's Wes Stock his third win after Robin Roberts held the Red Sox to five hits and one run for 10 innings. Chuck Schilling's game-winning single in the eighth inning sent the game into overtime.

Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron homered in the eighth inning as the Braves dealt right-hander Bob Miller his 12th defeat without a victory—matching the season winless mark for modern pitchers. Tony Cloninger pitched a seven-hitter to win his seventh game for Milwaukee.

Frank Robinson's second homer of the game came in the 11th inning to give Joe Nuxhall his seventh victory for the Reds. Ernie Broglio suffered his eighth loss against 11 wins for the Cardinals.

Senior Back Is Honored As 'Toughest Harvester'

Pampa Harvester tailback Jerry Glover has been chosen by the Green and Gold coaching staff for the season's first "Toughest Harvester" award.

The "Toughest Harvester" award, a project of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, will honor one of the PHS players each week when the player selected will appear at the club's weekly luncheon on Tuesdays.

Qualifications for players to be chosen as "Toughest Harvester" are, according to Coach Otis Holladay, aggressiveness, blocking and tackling ability and leadership.

The players will be chosen over the week end each week with the period of judging being from each Monday through that week's game, including work outs. The PHS coaching staff will make the selection.

Glover has been selected for his work since practice sessions began on the school campus and another will be chosen for the current week, to be honored at next Tuesday's Jaycee meeting. Glover, the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Tom Glover, 318 N. Dwight, plays tailback in the Green and Gold's new winged-T formation. He is a senior and lettered last year as an end. Glover weighs about 175 pounds and stands approximately six feet tall.

Holladay announced this morning that the team will work out twice today with a one-hour session in shorts slated for from 3 to 4 p.m. and another under the lights of Harvester Stadium starting about 6:30 p.m.

Holladay said, "We feel we need to work under the lights once at least before Friday night (when the Harvesters open the season in a home game against El Paso Bel Air at 7:30 p.m.)."

Holladay said his team is suffering from no serious injuries, just a few bruises, and is showing "a lot of hustle and promise."

The coach singled out Hank Henry, Rodney Caldwell and Claude Middleton for praise as a result of their work outs in recent days.

Henry plays tailback, Caldwell is learning both quarterback and wingback, and Middleton holds down the left end position.

Quarterback Club To Meet Tonight

The Pampa Quarterback Club will hold a regular meeting tonight in the cafeteria at High School.

The club meets at 7:30 p.m. Forrest Hills is president of the organization.

Jofre Is Favored Over Joe Medel

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Unbeaten Eder Jofre of Brazil is favored at 13-5 to defeat Mexican Joe Medel again tonight in their world bantamweight title fight here at Irapueta Stadium.

In this scheduled 15-rounder before an expected 17,000 spectators, Jofre, Sao Paulo's "Golden Bantam," will be making his fifth defense of the 118-pound crown.

He also will be trying for his 15th straight knockout and his 45th unbeaten professional performance, including three draws.

Before 26-year-old Eder won the title, he knocked out Mexico City's Medel in the 10th round for Los Angeles, Calif., on Aug. 18, 1960.

However, since then the 24-year-old Medel came through 10 fights unbeaten, although held to one draw; and he is now rated the world's No. 1 contender.

Pampa Women Lose Title Tilt

Pampa's women's softball team was defeated by Stinnett, 14 to 8, last night in the championship game of the Top O' Texas Women's Softball Tournament.

With last night's loss, Pampa was awarded the second place trophy.

That's pretty fair loot for a bachelor but Jack Kramer, the "retired" promoter who now advises some of his old hired hands who have formed a new promotional group, thinks the sky's the limit for Rod as a pro.

STRAINING AT THE HELM—Co-skipper Jock Sturrock takes Gretel for a practice spin off Newport, R. I. The Australian challenger bids for the America's Cup against the American yacht Weatherly in a best four out of seven series beginning on Sept. 15.

Rocket Rod Laver Is Now World's Top Tennis Player

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new United States tennis champion is a 24-year-old, left-handed Australian who looks suspiciously like the fellow who also won the Australian, French, Wimbledon and assorted other titles this year.

They're one and the same, of course—Rocket Rod Laver.

Rod was born in Gladstone, Queensland, with exactly the right physical characteristics to become a "grand slam" winner. Like Don Budge, who scored his grand slam the year Rod was born (1938), Laver has red hair. Don is a right-hander but obviously the main thing is the red hair.

Now the Rocket—a nickname he picked up because of his slashing style of play and because he lived for many years in the town of Rockhampton—is the hottest pro prospect in years.

Like any good boy with an amateur status to protect, Laver won't discuss the pros but he admits:

US' Weatherly Defeated Australian Challenger Gretel In Preview Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Weatherly has defeated the Australian challenger Gretel in an unofficial and unscheduled America's Cup preview race.

The race was instigated Monday by Bus Moshbacher, Weatherly's skipper, who chased Gretel for about 15 minutes before overhauling the 12-meter challenger.

Yachting observers immediately established the American defender a solid favorite following the performance.

The unscheduled race took place as Gretel and her workhorse Vim were heading out to sea for a race of their own. Moshbacher, who was heading into shore, spotted the Australians, went about and took off after Gretel.

The chase lasted about 15 minutes during which Weatherly at one time closed the gap to some 100 yards before Moshbacher veered off and headed back to shore. The race took place in winds of eight knots.

Alan Payne, Gretel's designer, later admitted that Weatherly "caught up quite a bit" and was the faster boat this time. He gave no reason for Gretel's failure to hold off the American yacht.

Both Payne and Moshbacher maintained there "was no suggestion of a full fledged race, but following Gretel's trials the Australians went into an unscheduled meeting with Frank Packer, head of the syndicate sponsoring the Australian challenger.

To make matters worse for the Aussies, Weatherly was carrying an old 1958 hood mainsail and an old jib while Gretel had a new hood mainsail and jib.

Austin Vs. Tulsa In NL Playoffs

By United Press International

The Austin Senators whipped up four runs in the 14th inning of a marathon playoff game Monday night, defeated the El Paso Sunings 11-8 and won the right to meet Tulsa in the Texas League championship playoffs.

The Senators got 21 hits off five El Paso hurlers. Austin bombed El Paso starter Wayne Schurr on the mound in the fifth with a six-run outburst, then added one run in the seventh of the regulation nine innings. The Sunings pushed across one run in the ninth to force the game into extra innings.

Austin scored four runs in the 10th stanza while the hosting Sunings could get only one, that on a homer, by outfielder Charles Teuscher. Teuscher hit two bases-empty homers, the only four-baggers of the game.

Senator left-hander Dick Kelley of the victory. Bill Lindner absorbed the loss.

Impulsive 'Go-For-Broke' Could Have Caused Speed-Driver's Death

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI)—Saddened crew members theorized today that high speed racer Glenn Leasher impulsively changed a scheduled test run into a go-for-broke record attempt when he crashed to his death here Monday.

That was the main theory discussed by crewmen and race officials who tried to piece together the events which shattered Leasher's racer and his dreams of becoming the world's fastest man on wheels.

Leasher, a 26-year-old nonchalant Burlingame, Calif., veteran of drag strip racing, was killed instantly when his racer, "Infinity" apparently exploded while making a run over the vast salt expanse.

Although no accurate speed was obtained, it was believed Leasher was traveling in excess of 300 miles per hour when the four-foot-high, jet-powered racer blew apart. An ambulance driver said the victim may have been moving at 400-500 m.p.h.

Complete Loss

How the mishap occurred may never be determined. The racer, a venture of Leasher's and three other San Francisco Bay area automotive enthusiasts, was a complete loss. Parts flew in every direction after the car veered off course, skidded, then burst into a ball of fire.

Crew members found the air speed indicator torn from the vehicle. The smashed indicator was locked at 300 m.p.h.

Crewmen said that when the handsome blond speedster got into the vehicle to make the run he had given them the impression it would be a test run.

"It's possible Glenn decided to go for the record and really opened up the throttle," said one crewman.

Crew Is Puzzled

What puzzled everyone was the fact Leasher did not use his parachutes; nor were there skid marks

Nicklaus' Victory Proves There's...

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus' come-from-behind victory over Arnold Palmer in the "world series" of golf twisted an old adage today to prove that there's many a slip twixt the lip and the cup.

Buff Donelli, the Columbia football coach, once observed rather mournfully during a losing campaign that "you can't get the job done if you don't have the horses." Meaning that you can make all the preparations in the world but if the talent isn't up to par you might as well have stood in bed.

And in the "world series" against Nicklaus and Gary Player, Arnie had everything going for him except his clubs.

His biggest asset was a lean, wiry caddy named Bob McCready, the 21-year-old student son of an Akron doctor. With McCready on his side, all Palmer had to do was hit the shots.

Association Begins

Their joint story began several months ago, before the American Golf Classic played at the same Firestone Country Club where Palmer took his lumps Sunday.

McCready, a senior and top student at Akron University, proved that he was in the right field in studying finance. First of all he carefully measured out a 200-yard piece of string. The next item was a notebook.

Young Bob is engaged to a pert blue-eyed blonde named Sue Eischer, a first-grade teacher in Akron's parochial schools. Drafting her aid, he went to the Firestone course each evening after the members were finished playing and carefully measured every facet of each hole on the 7,165-yard layout.

For His Man

A four handicap player who won the Akron district championship for boys 18 and under when he was 17, Bob thought of becoming a golf pro "when I was young." But at the advanced age of 21, while he has given up that ambition in favor of next taking graduate work at Stanford, he knew that his carefully charted distances from every spot on the course would be helpful for his man when he caddied in the American Classic.

Palmer, using Bob's meticulous information, ran off and hid from the field in the Classic. Arnie finished a fat five shots on top and was the only man in the field to break par.

"I figured that if he knew the distance to the green from any point on the course, it might be

Eddie Lopat Is New Manager For Kansas City, Replacing Hank Bauer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eddie Lopat is Kansas City's new manager for 1963, replacing Hank Bauer, the man he worked under this season, it was learned today by the United Press International.

Lopat, who is finishing out the year as the Athletics' pitching coach, already has okayed terms under which he will make his major league managerial debut.

The 49-year-old Bauer is being let go because he was unable to boost the A's any higher than ninth place, the position the club occupies today and promises to wind up in.

Owner Charlie Finley denied Monday night that Lopat is about to take over although it is known he feels a change may make a difference in the A's fortunes next season.

Bauer and Lopat declined to confirm—or deny—the planned change. Said Bauer: "Nobody has told me anything yet." Said Lopat: "I know nothing about it."

Finley believes KC has the necessary hitting to move up next year in such men as Norm Sieber, Jerry Lumpe, Ed Charles and Manny Jimenez and he thinks that with ex-Yankee scoutpaw Lopat at the helm, the pitching will be vastly improved, too.

Lopat's previous managerial experience has been confined to

Jockey Guild Will Press For Hearing

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Jockey Guild will press for a hearing before the Illinois State Racing Board on the 10-week suspension of Manuel Ycaza.

The board had not yet received official notice of the guild appeal and there was no date set for the hearing. Board chairman William Miller was vacationing in Florida and could not be reached for comment.

Bert Thompson, Midwest representative of the guild, said Monday the 60-day suspension ordered after Ycaza claimed his mount was fouled in last Saturday's Arlington-Washington Futurity resulted from Ycaza's failure to properly explain to track stewards.

"Jockey Ycaza assured me after a long discussion that there is a complete misunderstanding and that he is certain his failure to explain his position properly is the reason for the misunderstanding," Thompson said.

"The Jockey Guild strongly believes that this ruling is so severe that it could be very injurious to the welfare of racing in this country," Thompson said.

Meanwhile, the racing board amended its suspension statement, charging Ycaza with a "completely unwarranted" foul claim. Previously, the statement charged Ycaza with a "frivolous claim of foul."

Ycaza claimed his mount, favored Never Bend, was fouled by the Rex Ellsworth entry Big Kim in the $367,000 Futurity, history's richest horse race. Never Bend finished second behind Candy Spots, another Ellsworth entry ridden by Willie Shoemaker.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Deluxe Relief Of The Future

A report from New York states that Public Housing Commissioner Marie McGuire hopes that in the future public housing projects will have swimming pools on their roofs surrounded by roof gardens. Bowling alleys also would be very nice.

Public housing, of course, is subsidized by the taxpayers. The tenants pay only what the management (somebody working for the government) decides they are able to pay.

So if public housing projects are to have swimming pools, roof gardens and bowling alleys — among a number of other goodies — these little-fringe benefits will be provided at public expense. The majority of the public can't afford such luxuries for themselves, it might be pointed out, but isn't that too bad? The way to get "me" is to get on relief.

Well, why not pools and gardens and bowling alleys for those who are living at least in part off of the public? It's all a matter of recreation, which is supposed to be necessary to health and happiness. So if it's a necessity, then, naturally it must be provided for those who don't have it, people like Mrs. McGuire figure.

Never mind how things were in the time when anybody who had a "paid-for-by-the-public" roof over his head was so ashamed he got out from under it as fast as he possibly could make other arrangements; and a food stamp chicken, regardless of the perfection of its qualities, tasted like gall; and for that other necessity, recreation, the girls played hopscotch, the boys cowboys and Indians, and they got together to play follow the leader to find out which boy was the most daring and which girl was the biggest tomboy.

That was eons ago when people were free and the citizens were at work making the US into a land of plenty.

Nowadays, the popular idea is to swap freedom for security. The government promotes this idea with just such notions as Mrs. McGuire put forth, and pretty soon, just as the Communists and Socialists always have said, we'll be completely dependent upon government and everybody will be totally "secure."

That kind of security is beguiling. It isn't security at all. To the contrary, it is the most insecure kind of "security." Security — true security — our forefathers knew, is a matter of individual talent, skill, determination, discipline, ambition, character — all those traits and accomplishments that children used to be told were virtues and that security was possible only if you developed them.

But the idea now is to get on deluxe relief.

Direct Contact

If those who pay taxes were to be put in touch directly with those who receive subsidies without the government being present to lend its false halo of respectability, we wonder how long the present welfare program could endure.

One-Way Balloon

After defense, interest on the national debt is the largest single item in the federal budget. It runs to $9 billion a year — 10 per cent of the whole.

Yet what might be termed the "new thinkers" in government circles are practically unanimous in poor-pooching the debt's importance. They support this minimization by a species of legerdemain. That is, they take the gross national product (which is the total value of all the goods and services we produced) for some period and show that the debt is smaller as a percentage of this than it used to be.

Henry J. Taylor, one-time Ambassador to Switzerland and long a writer on national and international affairs, does a good job of revealing the joker in this argument in one of his recent newspaper columns. He writes: "This dodge is a rationalization employed by all political spenders who ride the coat tails of British economist John Maynard Keynes. . . There is a catch, however, which all the pseudo-intellectual yackety-yack does not seem able to explain. . . When the gross national product goes down, the debt does not go down. The idea is tied entirely to a one-way balloon. And in a decline you're stuck (and sunk) with the debt, and the interest on the debt, and the interest on the interest on the debt; all of which the citizens have to pay, no matter what."

It's going to take a lot more than a trick statistical comparison to write off a $300 billion debt to the $9 billion a year it costs us to service it.

Pull Up A Chair

By Neal O'Hara

As costly as rare perfumes are dries mosquitoes, now selling at $12 a gram. The insects, when defatted, are ground up and used by doctors for allergy tests and inoculations. The growing demand has sent the price soaring in recent months. . . The manufacturer of one brand of chocolate widely advertised, "If this isn't the most luscious fudge you've ever made, we'll eat it." But not one purchaser squawked and demanded the penalty. One woman did write to complain the fudge didn't work with her and the result was too runny. But she didn't send in the deficient fudge to have the maker eat it. . . Sartorial item in the Albuquerque Tribune: "The college principal had clothes."

After sales testing in all areas of the U.S., hamburger and gravy as a dog food is on the market to stay. . . Purely psychological: To charge customers slow in paying their bills after a few gentle reminders, one Washington, D.C., store finds this message effective: "Your request for credit was not ignored. Our request for payment should not be." (That usually does it.)

Today's favorite gag: The induction officer, an old timer, asked the young recruit if he were married. "Well, no, sir," replied the rookie, "but I'm engaged, and that's as good as married." "It's better, if you only knew it," observed the recruiting officer. . . Utopia — until: Up to the outbreak of World War II, Iceland, with a population of 150,000, had neither policemen nor prisons.

Too many Americans still believe in the myth that pregnancy causes tooth decay in the mother, and that the unborn child absorbs calcium from the mother's teeth, the American Dental Assn. reports. . . Modern merchandising: To stimulate sales of his automatic dryer, one Los Angeles dealer offers $25 for a customer's old clothesline on purchase of the dryer.

Thoughts while shaving: 1. Columnist Sara Welles of Printers' Ink mag challenged an advertising executive to give the 10 words that "spark" women the most in the field of marketing. He came across with these: Easier, children, husbands, relax, save, healthier, beauty, kiss, she, dream. . . 2. To a suburban mother of five she asked for the 10 words that sparked her most and got these: Beautiful, intriguing, exciting, fascinating, glamorous, colorful, not-too-sexy (family type things), eye - appeal, enticing, cleanliness. . . 3. Another woman, mother of two, a suburbanite and part-time working mother, offered these 10 as her choice: Boutique, fashion, design, decor, travel, art, child, education, health, peace. . . 4. Another woman, also suburban and the mother of two grade-schoolers, had these as the words that most spark her: Carefree, fun, educational, love, beauty, lighter, family, future, happiness, stronger. Quite a variety, what? All right, dear feminine reader, what are the 10 words that spark you most in the realm of marketing?

Country editor speaking: "More people these days are trying to keep up with advancing prices than with the Joneses."

The Almanac

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 11, the 254th day of 1962 with 111 to follow. The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus. Those born on this day are under the sign of Virgo. On this day in history: In 1777, Gen. George Washington's troops were badly defeated at the Battle of Brandywine. In 1841, all members of President John Tyler's cabinet resigned except Secretary of State Daniel Webster, in protest over the President's veto of the banking bill. In 1940, Buckingham Palace in London was damaged by German air raiders. In 1945, former Japanese Premier Tojo tried to commit suicide to escape prosecution as a war criminal.

A thought for the day—Napoleon Bonaparte, the French militarist, said: "Unite for the public safety, if you would remain an independent nation."

Cases of 'Battered Children' Point Up Adults' Cruelty

By HAROLD T. HYMAN

Cruelty to children is becoming "increasingly prevalent" according to the experiences and opinions of a group of pediatricians, psychiatrists and social workers gathered together at a special meeting held by the Children's Bureau to look into the problems related to what they now call "the battered child."

In extreme instances, medical examiners attributed to parental beatings fatal injuries such as brain hemorrhages, multiple bone fractures, perforations of the intestines and ruptures of spleen and liver. In nonfatal instances, X-ray specialists noted separations of the growing ends of bones, presumably due to a whiplash flinging of a child by an adult.

Now some of these injuries are undoubtedly inflicted in all innocence. How often one sees an adult, parent or otherwise, lift a child by an arm, pull it by a leg or grab an arm to drag a youngster from danger.

But the problem that confronts those who have been alerted to the consequences of physical abuse to children by cruel or vicious parents is difficult of solution. Certainly the problem might well be made worse if the child were taken from the home and placed in an institution or if the parent were arrested.

In Massachusetts, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children has made a commendable beginning to solution of the "battered child" problem by placing itself between the physician who suspects an incident and the courts.

Taking as their goal effective treatment of the family as a whole, agents of the society attempt to reduce childhood indiscretions and parental acts of cruelty. Their example is strongly recommended to other agencies where similar problems exist.

Even the most patient of parents feels the need sometimes to apply his palm to the seat of a rambunctious child. Few counselors object to proper use of physical discipline. Many, in fact, believe that "a good healthy spanking" clears the emotional air both for parent and child.

The important thing is for the parent who is unable to control his physical strength to gain the wisdom to realize that fact. He must deny himself the privilege of laying a hand on his child.

An occasionally naughty child is much better than a physically or emotionally crippled one.

President Postpones Decision As Administration Factions Argue Over U.S. Support to Cuban Government-in-Exile

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A sharp policy dispute has developed within the Kennedy Administration on whether the U.S. should support the establishment of a Cuban government-in-exile.

This major disagreement has been going on at the very top of government since President Kennedy disclosed that the Soviets had shipped huge quantities of arms, including ground-to-air missiles, to Cuba.

Proposed by Senator George Smathers, D-Fla., the secretary of the powerful Senate Democratic Conference, the Cuban government-in-exile plan was put before President Kennedy at last week's White House meeting with Democratic Congressional leaders.

Strongly endorsed by the other Congressional leaders, the Smathers proposal calls for the U.S. to recognize and furnish arms and money to a government-in-exile headed by an outstanding refugee to be picked by Cubans now in the U.S. Its headquarters would be one of the Caribbean nations near Cuba.

Already, Guatemala, Costa Rica, and El Salvador have offered to permit this anti-Castro group to organize in their countries if the Kennedy administration gives assurances of its support.

So far as can be determined, President Kennedy has not yet decided to accept or reject the Smathers plan. Instead, he acted cautiously, asking the Florida legislator to furnish a memorandum outlining in much greater detail the main objectives of his proposal.

Earlier in the meeting, Smathers told the President that a green light for the establishment of an exile government would be the first step to give the U.S. a legal basis on which to aid the Cuban refugees in toppling Castro's red regime.

Smathers argued that this U.S. action would have a tremendous psychological effect on the harassed Cuban underground, which is fighting for its very life. He flatly warned that if the U.S. did not act immediately future efforts to free Cuba from Communism would be very costly in American lives.

THE OPPOSITION—The Smathers proposal has brought strong opposition from Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and Secretary Assistant to the President McGeorge Bundy and Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.

This trio expressed concern about the political and military consequences in the hemisphere and elsewhere of providing U.S. support for a government-in-exile that was planning to use military force to achieve political ends.

They vigorously argued that it would be next to impossible to get the Cuban exiles to agree on one refugee leader to head up the government-in-exile. This assertion was flatly denied by Smathers and his supporters, who claimed the Cuban refugees are ready to unite behind one of a half-dozen Cuban leaders, now members of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, or with other refugee groups in the U.S.

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

Another argument offered against the Smathers proposal by the Rusk-Bundy-Schlesinger group was that nothing should be done until the foreign ministers of Brazil and Mexico are consulted, since their governments have opposed recognition of a Cuban government-in-exile.

Supporters of the Smathers proposal, including the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Ambassador deLesseps S. Morrison, U.S. Representative to the Organization of American States, countered this objection by reporting that nine Latin-American countries, including Venezuela, are ready to approve it now.

Faced with these opposing views, President Kennedy decided to put off a decision until the matter could be formally threshed out in the National Security Council, the government's highest policy making body. The NSC is expected to meet later in the week.

Meanwhile, both groups are flooding the White House with memorandums in support of their opposing positions. Also, they are trying to enlist additional supporters for their cause.

The policy conflict is not following normal departmental lines. For instance, the Central Intelligence Agency, while deeply involved in the discussions, is not united for or against the Smathers proposal.

The State Department is more dubious about backing a proxy Cuban government than any other agency of the Kennedy Administration. Legislators who have talked with Secretary Rusk say that he appears afraid to support any policy that completely shuts the door to future U.S. Dealings with Castro.

INSIDE CUBA — U.S. intelligence sources have pinpointed nine Soviet missile sites in Cuba. These sites contain ground-to-air missiles with a range of from 80 to 90 miles, not 25, as reported by President Kennedy. Naval intelligence has photographs of two Soviet ships that carry missiles, with ranges of more than 100 miles. These oversized patrol craft were turned over to the Cubans late in August. . . An estimated 50 Soviet jet pilots are now in Havana. These pilots are not instructors, but "volunteers" that have joined the Cuban Airforce.

It was in August. He was traveling up the Rhine, and vineyard after vineyard had been pointed out to him.

American — They're very beautiful, but, say, where are your quarries?

German — Quarries? What do you mean?

American — I mean quarries, of course. I've seen your vineyards, and now I want to see your stone-yards!

German — We haven't any.

American — Haven't any? Why, where in hell do you get your stonestones?

Fall Elections Boost Foreign Affairs Action

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — All of a sudden, in the wake of President Kennedy's press conference, foreign affairs have assumed a more important role in the November election campaign. Since the stock market's precipitous drop of three months ago, the principal American concern has been domestic economy.

That has influenced most of the legislation before Congress — recession curbs, taxation, the farm bill, manpower retraining, drug control and the few that have been turned down — unemployment insurance extension, medical care for the aged and urban affairs. Major bills still to be taken up are also largely domestic issues: aid to education, transportation policy, conservation and wilderness preservation.

Congressional consideration of foreign issues has been limited largely to the U.N. bond purchase, foreign trade expansion and the foreign aid program. Even these have been considered primarily for their effect on the domestic economy.

The actual conduct of foreign affairs has of course been left to the President who has constitutional responsibility for it. There has been the usual amount of partisan political kibitzing and criticism, but that is only to be expected.

Now, however, this balance has been made subject to complete reversal with President Kennedy's acceptance in principle of Soviet Russia's indicated willingness to sign a nuclear test ban effective Jan. 1, 1963.

This is still extremely tentative. There is much hard bargaining for adequate safeguards before it can be made effective. But a nuclear test ban is the first step toward disarmament. And as the President says, "there's no time to lose."

The Geneva Disarmament Conference is now scheduled to recess on Sept. 8 to Nov. 15, which is after United States elections. In this period, while the American political campaign is at its height, the U.N. is to try to find some formula for breaking the disarmament deadlock during the General Assembly session scheduled to convene Sept. 18.

Kennedy reveals there will be a western Big Four foreign ministers meeting before that session convenes, to co-ordinate policies. There is still no definite information on whether Russia's Khrushchev will come to the General Assembly, and there is no assurance that a conference on Berlin will be held by representatives of the four occupying powers in Germany.

But the rapidly developing international tension would seem to increase the likelihood for possibilities, Kennedy has said that he "would have no objections" to seeing Khrushchev if he comes to New York during U.N. session.

They have a new subject to discuss in the increasing Russian attack on Cuba. Whether there are Russian troops in Cuba or not, the threat to the United States is even more direct than Soviet pressures against the West in Berlin.

It would take only one premeditated, Communist move in Cuba — like an attack on the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo — to bring on a major conflict between the two powers.

Tensions have been easing three other trouble spots — Laos, New Guinea and the Congo. The U.N. role in the last two situations is considered most important.

But all these crises may come to a head after the Congress adjourns in mid-September or shortly thereafter. In the resulting lull of interest on domestic issues there could be a build-up of news interest in foreign affairs.

This could conceivably influence the election, in the opinion of political observers in Washington. If there is mounting criticism of the way the Kennedy administration handles these matters, could react in favor of the Republicans.

On the other hand, if there is the usual rallying of American public opinion to support the president in time of crisis, political benefit might accrue to the Democrats.

More than 100,000 persons have been buried in Arlington National Cemetery since 1864 and, at the present rate of burials, it has been estimated that the cemetery's 420 acres will be completely filled by 1970.

WHO HAS THE POWER? (California Feature Service)

After a paralyzing strike-lock-out that stopped major construction in Northern California for nearly two months, contractors and the AFL-CIO Laborers Union signed a new contract recently. It calls for a 70 cents per hour package increase in wages and benefits, bringing the on-the-job cost of a laborer for an 8 hour day to more than $33.00.

According to home building industry spokesmen, the new contract, with pacts arrived at with other construction unions will boost the price of a $25,000 home by about $600.

There can be no doubt that the settlement is highly inflationary — far more so to the average person than the recently projected increase in the price of steel would have been. Perhaps it is time for many people to re-examine old concepts about the relative power in this country of corporations like U.S. Steel and unions like the Laborers Union.

Statistics show the seriousness of juvenile delinquency. Cases of delinquency continued to rise last year, with the number of children involved standing at about 2 per cent of the entire child population, 3 per cent when traffic offenses are included. Studies carried out in several reasonably typical sections of the United States indicated that from 20 per cent to about one-third of the youngsters in areas studied came to the attention of the courts prior to their 18th birthday.

Manned Space Center Not Real 'Center' At All

By ALEX ADWAN
HOUSTON (UPI) — The Manned Spacecraft Center President Kennedy will visit here Wednesday is not a center at all, strictly speaking.

What the president, vice president and other high government officials will see, in part, is a group of temporary installations in a dozen buildings scattered over Southeast Houston and Harris County.

They will see workmen clearing and leveling 1,600 acres for the new, permanent $123 million nerve center of America's man-in-space effort. And they will see other signs of Houston's role in space exploration just about every place they look.

The permanent center will be at Clear Lake near Galveston Bay between Houston and Texas City.

Until it is finished in 1964, the 1,300 National Aeronautics and Space Administration employees will work in commercial buildings that happened to be available when they started moving in a year ago.

Former Soft Drink Firm
The technical services department occupies a building on the Gulf Freeway previously used by a soft drink concern.

Life systems personnel, the men and women charged with keeping astronauts alive in space, are temporarily headquartered in a building once used by an oil field supply firm.

NASA activities represent only a part of the man-in-space activity the president and his party will see in Houston.

Nearly 60 commercial concerns have established offices or other facilities here to be near the spacecraft center.

At Rice University, where the president will make a public speech Wednesday morning, scientists are working on 17 space research projects supported by a $300,000-a-year NASA grant.

From the time he leaves his plane at the Houston airport, President Kennedy will see new construction, much of it related directly or indirectly to the city's new space role, and much of it related to Houston's still-growing oil and petrochemical industries.

New Hangar Jobs
The presidential party will see workmen at half a dozen hangar sites at the airport, enlarging or expanding old facilities and building new ones to the tune of $2 million worth, mostly for private companies.

The president and other dignitaries will see pickets in front of several downtown construction projects unless a strike is settled before he arrives. A 200-member millwright union local has tied up work on a dozen big projects.

President Kennedy also may see the site of a planned $375 million "space city" development near the space center site. The plan, announced by Humble Oil and Refining Co. and the Del E. Webb Corp., calls for residential and business development of 15,000 acres to serve employees of the spacecraft center and related installations.

What the president will see mostly will be a mass of Texas humanity.

Sidewalks to be Jammed
Thousands are expected at the airport, and police expect the sidewalks to be jammed along the route from the airport to the Rice Hotel downtown.

When he speaks Wednesday morning, the president will see an estimated 35,000 school children dismissed from classes for the occasion. Half of the 70,000 seats at Rice Stadium have been reserved for them.

The president will see and hear proud civic and business leaders who view the development of space industries in Houston with the same joy that an earlier group watched the growth of the oil and petrochemical industries.

The Houston Chamber of Commerce figures space activities already have helped bring enough people here to jump the Bayou City from the nation's 7th largest city, as reported in the last census, to the 6th largest, ahead of Baltimore.

Commonwealth Prime Ministers Set 'Important Meeting' This Month

By LAURENCE MEREDITH
United Press International
LONDON (UPI) — The Commonwealth prime ministers will begin a meeting here Sept. 11 that may be their most crucial gathering in the history of the Commonwealth.

This conference has been called chiefly to discuss the effects on Commonwealth trade with Britain, if Britain joins the Common Market. Some of the prime ministers are strongly opposed to Britain entering the European Economic Community on any terms.

It will be the 11th gathering of Commonwealth prime ministers in London since the end of World War II. At the first post-war conference in April and May, 1946, only Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa were represented.

Delegates from 15 Commonwealth countries will attend this meeting. The countries are Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Ghana, Malaysia, Nigeria, Cyprus, Sierra Leone, Tanganyika, Jamaica and Trinidad-Tobago.

Represents Rhodesia
The prime minister of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland will also attend the conference as he has since 1955 following creation of the federation in 1953. But since the federation is not a full member of the Commonwealth its prime minister does not take part in discussions and decisions on Commonwealth external or constitutional matters.

Ministerial representatives from British Guiana, Kenya, Malta, Singapore and Uganda were invited to be present as observers, because they have vital interests in British trade. Uganda will be an independent Commonwealth nation in October and Kenya probably within the next year or 18 months. All the territories are deeply concerned about the future of their trade relations with the United Kingdom if it joined the European Economic Community.

Source Of Vitality
The periodic Commonwealth prime ministers' meetings are part of the continuous process of consultation that is the source of the vitality of the Commonwealth Association. Consultation, not dictation, is the keynote of the gatherings. The prime ministers of 16 member countries represent sovereign states and are responsible to their own parliaments. None is under any obligation to underwrite the responsibilities undertaken by any other.

By the very nature of the rules of procedure for these conferences the little of a concrete nature can be expected to emerge from the Common Market discussion at the forthcoming meeting. But there will be a thorough airing of the demands of many Commonwealth countries that their trading privileges in the rich British market be fully protected.

Lake Is Site For Reunion

The family of the late Sam L. and Lou Brown of Cuthbert, Texas, held its annual reunion at Lake J. B. Thomas, southwest of Snyder, over the Labor Day week end.

All thirteen of the children were present, along with most of their children, grandchildren, several cousins, aunts, uncles and a host of friends.

Attending from the Top O' Texas area were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson of Skellytown, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller and children of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Marlar and sons of Lefors, Mrs. Leslie Andrews and son, Earl, of Pampa and Allen Williams of Shamrock.

The thirteen sisters and brothers attending were Raymond of Golden Colo., Jim of Ira, Texas, Lee of Silver, Texas, Burr of Coahoma, Texas, Lawrence of Belen, N.M., C. C. of Lamesa, Fletcher of Colorado City, Milton of Campbell, Calif., Loyd of Carlsbad, N.M., Mary Thompson of Gordon, Addie Burrow of Ackerly, Minnie McCarthy of Ira, and Myrtle Thompson of Skellytown Texas.

School Safety Week Proclaimed

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed the week of Sept. 17-21 as fifth annual Texas School Traffic Safety Week. Daniel expressed "deep concern" over the upward trend in traffic deaths among Texas high school and college students the past two years.

The governor urged both school officials and students to conduct a vigorous traffic safety program through various school activities during the special week and throughout the school year.

HE GREW HAIR

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr. of Hotchkissburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for an interview with a representative — saved and regrew his hair in only a few months with the exclusive home method. He did not have male pattern baldness.

Will be in Pampa, Texas
Tomorrow Wednesday Only

The Ebb Hair Specialists' Staff Director R. J. Webber on his regularly scheduled visit will be at the Pampa Hotel, Pampa, Texas, Sept. 12. Every hair-worried person should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Ebb method is known to many people all over the United States. You can have a conference with the Ebb representative regrading your hair and scalp problems at no cost to you whatsoever, learn how the scalp treatments work, and the results you can expect in a short period of time.

Results guaranteed by the Ebb organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Ebb method nor any other method is effective, and the Ebb method will not help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

If your scalp is still creating hair and you have dandruff, or excessive hair fall, excessive oiliness, dryness, or itchy scalp, you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Many have reported satisfactory results from the methods used by Ebb. Why burden yourself, with unhealthy hair and scalp? Anyway it costs you nothing to come in and learn how many people have been helped by the years of Ebb experience plus the wonderful opportunity or help it offers. Just go to the Pampa Hotel, Pampa, Texas on Wednesday, September 12 only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for R. J. Webber, he will do the rest.

Interviews are given in private. You will not be embarrassed in any way. (Adv.)
